CRIP CONVENTION IN BROWN COUNTY SAID TO BE VERY PROMISING

A representative of the Banner-Bulletin spent some time Saturday afternoon interviewing many from different sections of Brown county in regard to crop conditions throughout this section, touching incidentally upon various other phases and features of the general situation.

In spite of the general belief that there would be no fruit, it is very probable that there will be a considerable quantity of peaches in certain parts of the county, as examination shows that not all the peaches were killed by the late freeze. In spots, here and there, quite a lot of peaches are found, nothing like even half a crop where the fruit is found, but still enough peaches to make a crop. All the plants were not killed, and this observation applies in good measure to the old kind or old field plum as it is used to be called. One farmer stated the situation rather aptly when he said the improved plums are very fine when the seasons hit all right, but it seems that in their hurry to get busy and make a big show they run the risk of being caught by Jack Frost and get out too early. On the other hand, the old time corner plum takes its time, waits until Jack Frost has gone for keeps, and then comes out with a fairly good crop. That is the situation this year—very good crop of common plums in many localities.

The outlook for a big melon crop in Brown county is very good. Many farmers have planted a large acreage, and in addition have planted considerable acreage in cantaloupes. All it has been found by actual experiment that there are in Brown county hundreds of acres of land well adapted to the raising of just as fine watermelon and cantaloupes as are raised in any other section of the state, which have been furnishing the market at Brownwood with such fine variety of melons the past several years.

In many localities in Brown county the berry crop is very fine, notably in the Bangs locality where hundreds of acres of berries are now getting ripe and where hundreds of hands are engaged in harvesting and shipping the luscious crop. The acreage in berries in the vicinity of Bangs is probably in the vicinity of three hundred. The Salem and Sand Creek localities, five miles northwest of Bangs have a large acreage this year and the crop is very fine. Picking is now in progress, and starting this week and giving employment to a large number of people—mostly boys and girls just out of school—who will be just within the next few days.

The following well known citizens of the Bangs locality have big berry crops this year: Brady Martin, A. D. Byrd, Kid Langtry, Charles Shutt, Jack Shultz, J. M. Aldridge, Luther Fitzgerald, Charles Heath, W. W. Welch, John Regalado, Noah McCaughey, J. R. Whately, Tom Lilly, Jeff Sawyer, Jeff Davis and many others. The berry crop is much larger than last year and the quality of the fruit is said to be much better than last year. The berry crop comes out at a time when there are no other berry crops, and turns thousands of dollars into the channels of trade at Bangs.

Reports indicate that there will be a much larger number of chickens and pigs on the market in Brown county this year than any previous year. This is true because there are more people getting interested in the poultry industry than at any other time in the history of the industry, and also because, the marketing of poultry products is handled in a more satisfactory way than it used to be handled.

The oat crop is very fine, and the same is true as to maize and fetaria where these crops have been planted. The wheat crop is better than it has been in many years and so is the barley crop, there being a limited number of acres in barley in Brown county this year.

Corn looks well, and cotton in many localities has been chopped to a standstill and plowed one time. Throughout Brown county gardens are looking well.

There is every indication that the peach crop is going to be larger and better in all this section of the central west this year than it has been in several years. So far no reports have come regarding insect pests and it is believed there will be little trouble from this quarter this year. Of course there will still ample time for insect developments and no doubt such developments will show up as the season makes progress.

As a whole Brown county industrial and agricultural conditions are considered as being very satisfactory from every point of view and old timers say Brown county is in better condition than it has been in several years.

PROBLEMS OF FARMERS ARE CONSIDERED

GALVESTON, Texas, May 25.—(P)—The agricultural problems of Texas were of paramount interest at sessions of the Forty Second Annual convention of the Texas Bankers Association which convened here today with bankers from all parts of the state in attendance.

"The success of the farmer determines, in a large measure, the success of the banker," declared Francis H. Welch of Taylor, president of the association, in a pre-convention statement.

Mr. Welch took an optimistic view of Texas conditions, advocating diversification as the key to farm prosperity and declared himself a member of the association, in a pre-convention statement.

The importance of encouraging foreign capital to invest in Texas to foster development along many lines, was stressed by W. S. Farish, of Houston, president of the Fidelity Oil and Refining Company.

Other matters to come before the convention were the educational requirements of Texas, irrigation, control of flood waters, cattle and sheep industry, oil production, state bank system, credit risks and advertising methods.

Oscar Wells of Birmingham, Ala., president of the American Bankers Association; T. O. Walton of College Station, president of the Texas A. & M. College; C. N. Bassett of El Paso and Fred W. Catterall of Galveston were on today's program besides Mr. Welch and Mr. Farish.

COTTON PRICES STEADY, FIRST PRIV. CROP ESTIMATES BILLIONS

The cotton market continues to hold fairly steady in the face of assurance of another large acreage, and possibilities on another large crop. The steadiness is attributed, mainly to unfavorable start conditions, which, with the crop already off to a very late start, and the nights here and there, keeps alive the opinion that after all unfavorable climatic developments and insect deprivations may hold production down to a point where present prices or even higher may be paid for the new crop.

Crop accounts from all over the belt are far from favorable. Everywhere the crop is late. West of the Mississippi River there has been too much rain during planting season, and the nights have been very cool, thus retarding germination and growth. The same conditions prevail some distance east of the river, while in the Carolinas and in north Georgia they are suffering from a drought which is growing more serious daily.

In south Georgia and north Georgia the drought seems to be the worst, while in North Carolina and Virginia, throughout these states there are thousands of acres of cotton which was planted weeks ago but which has failed to germinate, the seed remaining dry in the ground, lacking sufficient moisture for proper germination. These conditions cause the cotton trade generally to remember that it is sometimes the case of "promise much and give little" and that continued unfavorable growing conditions may curtail production to an appreciable extent.

Added to this is the fact that spinners of cotton both domestic and foreign are taking raw cotton in increasing quantities and there is considerable betterment in the demand for spot cotton. It was reported that certain co-operative agencies sold large quantities of low grade cotton during the past week.

As in the past several weeks, the future trend of values in cotton depends largely upon the weather. With continued unfavorable developments and resultant further delay, the price of cotton may be expected to advance sharply. On the other hand should the weather turn favorable; should warm, dry weather ensue in the west and central portions, and should the drought be broken in the east, the price of cotton may be expected to decline sharply. For there are still large stocks of old crop cotton in the south, and it conditions another big crop, much lower prices are almost sure to result.

Wednesday, the first of the private crop estimates were released and were considered moderately bullish. J. W. Jay and Co. New York Statistical Bureau, estimated the condition of the crop at this time at 72, with an indicated acreage decrease of 2 per cent.

Watkins Bureau, reputable statisticians estimate the condition at 71 per cent of normal as against their estimate of 75.2 per cent at this date last year. It was indicated Wednesday that another prominent firm would issue a cotton report in the next day or so that would show a condition somewhat better than either of these issued today. Middling cotton in Brownwood Wednesday was quoted at 17.75.

SEEKING NEGRO COMPANION OF MISSING YOUTH

CORSICANA, Texas, May 26.—(P)—County officers are searching for Pruitt Dukemeier, 20, employee of Fortson Brothers at Rice, who disappeared Tuesday while enroute in a truck to Richland in company with a negro. Efforts also are being made to locate the negro and truck.

Dukemeier was sent to Richland where he was received here, stating that it was a well developed case of rabies. The exodus of milk drinkers followed.

Fear Rabies

MINERAL WELLS, Tex., May 26.—(P)—An automobile caravan of 25 persons who had been drinking milk given by a Jersey cow afflicted with rabies left here last night for Austin to take the Pastur treatment, and at the same time efforts were made to locate a rabid wolf from which Louis Harvey, 16, escaped yesterday by climbing a tree on a farm near here.

The cow, property of T. B. Bradford, developed strange symptoms and died Tuesday. The head was hurriedly taken to Ft. Worth for laboratory examination and shortly afterward a telegram was received here stating that it was a well developed case of rabies. The exodus of milk drinkers followed.

FARM BUREAU TRAINING SCHOOL WAS WELL ATTENDED

The Farm Bureau Training School for community leaders Thursday was a success in every way, about seventy people from nine different communities attended both morning and afternoon sessions. Fifty-five of this number were leaders who had been selected by their communities to attend the school in some more comfortable quarters prepared to carry on the work of improving the community in which they live, thus carrying out the aims of the Farm Bureau movement.

The American Farm Bureau Federation was represented by a telegram from Mr. E. P. Taylor, director of organization. Mr. Taylor very cleverly explained the purposes and aims of the Farm Bureau movement, using the quotation that had been printed on the backs of song leaflets prepared for use in the school by Mrs. Ila Miller, assistant secretary of Brown county Farm Bureau, the statement is as follows:

"The Farm Bureau is a voluntary co-operative association having for its object the well-being of agriculture, economically, educationally and socially. Its purpose is to assist in making the farm business more profitable by the use of modern methods and attractive and the community a better place in which to live. It seeks to perform in an organized way certain activities which cannot be accomplished through individual effort.

Mr. Taylor explained that since the American Farm Bureau Federation and the State organizations had no reason for existence but to contribute something toward the betterment of farm homes and conditions in the rural communities socially, economically and educationally. The burden of organization rest upon leaders in the communities. The community organization must be built first then the county Farm Bureau, the State Farm Bureau and American Farm Bureau Federation all follow.

The Farm Bureau is an organization of service, its aims are to serve all the people, members and non-members. Mr. Taylor presented a chart that had been invented by Mr. L. R. Campbell, secretary of Texas Farm Bureau Federation, it groups Farm Bureau activities under four heads:

- 1—Education: Farmer, Public, School, College, Special.
- 2—Welfare: Prevention, Eradication, Sanitation, Nutrition, Insurance.
- 3—Social: Home, Community, Spirit and Ideal.
- 4—Economic: Marketing, Purchasing, Finance, Transportation, Taxation, Legislation.

Mrs. L. R. Campbell of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation discussed the problems of rural communities and suggested ways in which farm women could help the Farm Bureau movement. In many communities women clubs have already been organized to carry out the aims of the Farm Bureau. Mrs. Campbell stated that she can be given by the Extension Service through Home Demonstration Agents, Mrs. Campbell has been a member of one of these clubs for several years and she suggested that they be given every encouragement. To give the women's club work by other Farm Bureau activities Mrs. Campbell suggested that once a month the club women help with a community night program of entertainment, etc. At these meetings reports are made and problems of general interest discussed. Mrs. Campbell's contribution to the program was enjoyed and appreciated by everyone.

Just before noon Thomas Taylor, dean of Howard Payne College addressed the school on some important phases of American legislation as they relate to the farming industry. Among other things, Mr. Taylor was outspoken in favor of the National Congress passing some kind of legislation seeking a solution of the farm surplus problem.

Other people who appeared on the program were: L. R. Campbell, secretary of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation; L. A. Nunn, president of the Brown County Farm Bureau; Mrs. Ila Miller, assistant secretary of the Brown County Farm Bureau; Miss Maxie Malone, Brown county home demonstration agent; H. G. Lucas, secretary of Brown County Farm Bureau; O. P. Griffin, county agent. Mr. M. L. Cooper was chairman of the meeting throughout the day.

A special feature of the day was a picnic lunch. After the lunch some peppy Farm Bureau songs were sung with Mr. Loftis of Howard Payne College, and the Mercantile Company served coffee and the County Farm Bureau Esquimo pies in addition to the sumptuous feast that had been prepared by the women in attendance.

TWO TRAINS IN HEAD-ON CRASH ELEVEN HURT

TEXARKANA, Texas, May 26.—(P)—Passenger trains Nos. 2 and 3, Kansas City Southern Railroad, crashed head on at Acorn, 6 miles north of Mena, Ark., early this morning. Eleven persons were reported injured, though information received here said none was seriously hurt.

Will Hartman, Daquessa, Ark., fireman on No. 1, and F. L. Linn-cock, address unknown, express messenger, on number 2, was the most severely injured, according to information received here. They were given emergency medical treatment at the scene of the wreck and are still at the scene. Passengers were given a severe shaking up but those injured received only light cuts and bruises, it was said.

Hartman, the more seriously hurt, sustained a severe scalp wound. The two engineers apparently escaped injury, though one of them was splintered in the collision. No. 2 was standing still when No. 1 ploughed into it, it was reported over a long distance from Mena. No. 1 which had a sidetrack wreck, was going about 25 miles an hour when it crashed into the other train.

BROWNWOOD PEOPLE SAY PHOTOGRAPHERS HAVE BIG CONVENTION

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Rodgers who are attending the Southwest Photographers convention at Fort Worth, sends word back to Brownwood friends that the convention is one of the largest and best ever held in Texas. It is estimated that about 300 people—all photographers are in attendance, and the program is very fine. The social features put on by Fort Worth and the photographers of Ohio, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa, no pains being spared to make the occasion one of great pleasure as well as business.

One of the principal speakers at the opening of the convention was Charles Abel, of Cleveland, Ohio, publisher of the Photographic Journal, and he spoke in substance as follows:

"Modern photographers realize that the ideas of the public change continually," Mr. Abel, who is a national authority on photography, declared in explaining the purposes of the convention and the problems of the picture makers. "New styles are coming in from year to year, and we must keep in touch with the advancement that has taken place all over the world. So once a year we go to school; that is really these conventions of ours which are."

Tendency Toward Miniatures

Tendency at present to get away from the large portrait to smaller ones exquisitely finished, and that are as expensive as the large pictures, Mr. Abel said. This is now possible as the photographers all over the country are getting to be expert craftsmen and technicians through the education and inspiration of their organizations and publications, it was declared.

The difference between the portrait painter, the sculptor and the photographer who is an artist is that the former two have the benefit of several sittings in which to study the subject of the picture whereas the photographer has generally only a few moments in which to analyze and pose his subjects, Mr. Abel declared.

Guy N. Reid of Fort Worth, president of the association, opened the convention, introduced the prominent guests and speakers and then gave the floor to A. B. Cornish of Rochester, N. C., who spoke briefly on "Reminiscences."

Mrs. Lewis Kerr of Fort Worth spoke in "Color and the Importance of Color" and Will Have in the Future of Photography." An exhibition of photographs at the convention is an exceptional one.

BEN F. TWEEDE

Ben F. Tweede, well known citizen of Bangs, who died May 19th, was buried at the Salem cemetery Thursday, May 20th. Funeral services were conducted at his home by Rev. Daniels and Rev. Waddell. Large and beautiful floral offerings were in evidence. Mrs. Tweede left a wife, a daughter, Mrs. Mungler, and a son, Donovan, and several grandchildren. John Tweede's brother, a brother, attended the funeral, together with Mrs. Hickman of Baird and Mr. Kennedy of Coleman. The pallbearers were: Leman Brown, Vergus Weaver, Frank Turner, J. D. Simpson, all of Santa Ana, and W. D. Semore and John Regalado of Bangs.

DAVIDSON TALKS OF PROHIBITION ISSUE IN COLORADO SPEECH

COLORADO, Tex., May 22.—Opening his address with the statement that neither Ferguson nor Moody might be induced to make any public utterance during the present gubernatorial campaign, Lynch Davidson speaking to Mitchell and Howard county voters here this afternoon, declared the people of Texas will call upon every candidate for a statement on this important subject before the primary election in July.

"Jim Ferguson has always been supported by the liquor interests," Mr. Davidson said. "Any statement he might be induced to make will be farthest with reasonable accuracy. However, he prefers to keep silent, hoping thereby to bolster up his deceiving political fortunes."

Everybody knows an organized fight is being conducted against the Volstead Act. This campaign is nation-wide in its scope.

"In my opening address at Palestine and again at Lancaster, I went on record against tampering with the Volstead Act and declared for rigid enforcement of our prohibition laws. There is no question but that the majority of our citizens are happier, healthier and more prosperous under present conditions. I realize that prohibition enforcement is not yet what it should be; that the nation and every state faces a grave problem in suppressing the rum-runner and the boot-legal. But even so, time is the ally of prohibition, and much progress has already been made.

"Great as is the cost of prohibition enforcement, it is as nothing when compared to the saving in man-power and health to the nation. Never has the working man of America been more prosperous than he is today.

"The powerful Eastern periodicals and newspapers, with nationwide circulation, have been subsidized by the liquor interests and are printing wet propaganda designed to mold public sentiment. The former secretary of state represented the American Petroleum Institute.

"Political action," he asserted, "is superficially attractive, but difficult and unlikely to succeed. Something might be accomplished by removing legal obstacles to intelligent cooperation.

"Scientific effort holds the promise of the future. The cracking process has done more for conservation than any legislative scheme could ever hope to accomplish."

He cited figures to show that the cracking process, by which crude oil is made into gasoline, had doubled the nation's potential gasoline resources.

"He said, 'might consider permitting cooperation among the owners of oil lands, under adequate government supervision, enabling the owners to avoid wasteful competition in development and get out of the automobile and wade in the creek. There he took the money from his victim's pocket and shot him four times."

Judge C. H. Jenkins, who has just returned from a business trip to Austin, has brought to the General Water Committee of Brownwood a map showing in detail the proposed water project which is being considered here. The map shows the volume of water to be impounded by a dam at various heights, and the acreage that will be covered by the project. It is expected that the map will be of considerable value as the water committee develops its plans for the water project.

A copy of the resolutions will be submitted to the governor.

SEARCH WILL COUNTRY FOR MAN'S BODY AFTER FINDING HIS CLOTHING

FREDERICKSBURG, Texas, May 22.—(P)—Through the Gillespie county hill country, a sheriff's posse today searched for the body of a 24 year old man named Scherer, whose blood stained auto was found Thursday in the brush after he had been missing from his home at Albert, a community, 13 miles from here, since Tuesday.

Looked in the back of the car was blood stained clothing, identified as the garments which he wore Tuesday. There were bullet holes in the car to support the theory of murder.

The chief justice of the United States Supreme Court always wears a new suit gown when he swears in a president.

WELL HEALTH OF HUSBAND CAUSE OF TRAGIC ACT

COMANCHE, Texas, May 27.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Zin Barry, each about 35 years of age, were discovered this morning, Sunday, lying in a barn at the home of his father, E. S. Barry, two miles north of the town of Proctor in this county, where they had been making their home since their marriage three months ago. There was a bullet hole in the head of each, with a 32 calibre revolver lying near Barry's body.

An inquest was conducted by Justice of the Peace Jesse Purvis, and the verdict of the jury was that Barry had shot and killed his wife and then fatally wounded himself.

The couple were lying with their arms about each other, indicating probably a suicide pact, in the opinion of officers who investigated the case. It was thought that the couple had been dead only a very short while when their bodies were discovered.

No motive for the tragedy is known, other than the fact that Barry had been in ill health. Mrs. Barry was a daughter of Mont Howell, Her maiden name being Miss Mary Howell. Her father is a well known Comanche county citizen. She had been a teacher in the Proctor schools for a number of years, and recently was re-elected to teach next year. Barry was a farmer, and was well known.

Sheriff J. T. Gilbreath and County Attorney Tom Reese went to Proctor Wednesday evening, and assisted in conducting the investigation of the tragedy.

PANHANDLE, Texas, May 27.—(P)—A short time after they had gotten out of the automobile, they were killed. Davis shot his wife then killed himself. Three children survived.

A microphone has been invented in England which so magnifies the rank fire in total tonnage of shipbuilding.

BODY IS FOUND AFTER SEARCH BY BIG POSSE

DALLAS, May 27.—(P)—Fred Tilford, negro, brought here last night from a creek near the home of Prewett Dukemeier, 20, according to Dallas county officers. Dukemeier's bullet riddled body was found in a creek near Richland last night. The officers said the negro had signed a confession admitting that he killed the boy after robbing him of $37 and then threw his body in the creek.

Tilford, the police stated, related how he had forced his victim to wade into a stream at pistol point and then shot him down after robbing him.

Tilford said that he and Dukemeier were on their way from Rice to Richland in an automobile. The negro carried money in his pocket which was to pay a farmer who had a claim against Tilford. At a spot near Richland Creek, the negro said he drew a revolver, disarmed the boy, forced him to get out of the automobile and wade in the creek. There he took the money from his victim's pocket and shot him four times.

Judge C. H. Jenkins, who has just returned from a business trip to Austin, has brought to the General Water Committee of Brownwood a map showing in detail the proposed water project which is being considered here. It is expected that the map will be of considerable value as the water committee develops its plans for the water project.

SCIENTIFIC EFFORT IS REQUIRED IN OIL PRODUCING INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(P)—Encouragement of scientific effort, rather than political regulation of production, was suggested as the best oil conservation policy for the government, by Charles Evans Hughes in an address today before the Federal Oil Conservation Council. The former secretary of state represented the American Petroleum Institute.

"Political action," he asserted, "is superficially attractive, but difficult and unlikely to succeed. Something might be accomplished by removing legal obstacles to intelligent cooperation.

"Scientific effort holds the promise of the future. The cracking process has done more for conservation than any legislative scheme could ever hope to accomplish."

El Paso is Chosen as Meeting Place for Texas Doctors

HOUSTON, May 27.—(P)—El Paso was chosen as the 1927 convention city of the State Medical Association at a meeting at its headquarters here today.

Dr. Joseph Gilbert of Austin was elected president for 1928, according to the custom of choosing him two years in advance.

The association directed its publicity and enforcement committee to continue its campaign for enforcement of the medical practice act in order that "the state may be cleaned of quacks."

Mrs. Annie Wright, 81, was a visitor in Brownwood yesterday, spending last night with her daughter, Mrs. E. McGhee, and returned here this morning. Mrs. Wright came over to witness the graduating exercises of the Brownwood High School, her granddaughter, Margaret McGhee, being among the number of graduates.

HATCHER DEFENDS HIS RECORD DURING PAST ADMINISTRATION

HILLSBORO, Texas, May 22.—(P)—His first official act upon assuming office, was to deposit $2,600,000 of state funds in 22 county banks to aid the farmers, W. Gregory Hatcher, state treasurer said here today in his opening speech for re-election.

He said he was proud he had appointed as many women as men to posts in the department, "for they are equally as intelligent and often more efficient than men in the business world. It is noteworthy that no woman has ever defaulted in a public office position." By borrowing $2,600,000 from reserve depository banks of Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio he had last January been able to keep the state on a cash basis, "though the comptroller's report showed a deficiency of $2,250,000 January 1," he said.

A meeting was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Godbold to launch a campaign to raise $25,000 for Howard Payne College during the year. Representatives were here from a majority of the counties included in the district. This campaign is to be put on by the women of the Association and the plans and to plan ways and means of reaching the women of the district. Rev. J. Wesley Lotis, a field worker for Howard Payne College, met with the women and assisted in the plans for this undertaking.

The noon hour lunch was served in the Texas-Flynn Hall. Attending the meeting were Association presidents and other leading workers who are: Mrs. D. D. Kemper of Goldthwaite; Mrs. L. D. HOWARD PAYNE GIVES DEGREES TO GRADUATES

"The sole ambition of human effort should be to answer the two great fundamental questions propounded by the Creator to the supreme exponent of all created. When God created the world he commanded, and this command implied two things, intelligence and character."

"In recent years we have become vitally concerned about the perpetuation of religious education in our educational program."

Dean Davis then went on to tell of the crisis now confronting us in our educational lives, and the need for character, of the dangers of swinging too much towards the materialistic side of life.

"The church school, he said, should offer no apology for religious teachings, for it is through them that the salvation of the world is to come."

Dean Davis spoke of Howard Payne, its founding upon the tenets of the Baptist faith and its great and glorious record in Texas for graduating a class of men and women that offer an inspiration to the people of which they come in contact.

He then closed with a few words upon the need that Howard Payne should be endowed, can be endowed and shall be endowed.

Diplomas Presented Lyman Stanley opened the program with the professional follow-up of the graduates of the year. The Treble Clef Club then rendered two numbers.

The W. D. Powell award for service and scholarship was given to Miss Althea Ragsdale. The degree of LL.D. was then given to Dean Davis by Doctor Godbold and Doctor Davis, in recognition of his service in behalf of education and his helpful influence on the boys and girls with whom he comes in contact.

BOREN FARMS IDEAL PLACE—VAST OAT CROP NOW BEING HARVESTED

With Guy Bartholomew, "Big Boy," a representative of this paper spent several hours Tuesday afternoon on the Cox and McInnis farm, eight miles north of Brownwood, just off the Brownwood and Cross Cut roads. This is one of the most big farms or farm tracts in Brown county, not all in a state of cultivation, of course, but practically every foot covered with fine range for pasturage.

It can be said that 520 acres are in a state of cultivation and that of this 286 acres are in oats that are now being harvested by machines pulled by tractors, and in which about fifteen people are engaged in operating and shocking the big bundles of oats as they come from the great binder. The oats are being shocked in great heaps or stacks almost as fast as cut, and in two or three weeks time they will be threshed.

C. H. Boren, in charge of the Cox and McInnis farm and lives on the place, where more than half a century ago L. P. Bausch, a Brown county pioneer, settled and built a stone house. The walls of the stone house still stand only a short distance from the residence of modern years, occupied by Mr. Boren and his excellent family.

Speaking of Oats Did you ever stand in the center of a 286-acre oat field when oats were good and look all around you—on every side, apparently as far as the eye can reach, just a great waving, undulating sea of grain bending, and nodding in the gentle breeze, oats five feet and more in height.

He then closed with a few words upon the need that Howard Payne should be endowed, can be endowed and shall be endowed.

Is Ideal Locality The home and farm of the Borens is located in a beautiful and desirable place to be there, and the writer had the pleasure Tuesday afternoon, the house is large, roomy, substantial. It is supplied with all modern conveniences.

THREE HORNS TO THIS DILEMMA

OUR ESTIMABLE journalistic friend, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, has again laboriously undertaken to show to its readers that "Dan's the man" by repeating all the vituperative charges that could be remembered against Jim Ferguson.

The Bulletin, and a number of its readers, are not willing to permit Ferguson to make the issue governing the selection of the next Governor of Texas. We are not willing to agree that we must elect Moody in order to avoid electing Ferguson.

As we pointed out several days ago, The Bulletin has no special objection to Mr. Moody. We have admired him, and have repeatedly voiced approval of his work as a public official.

We do not agree with our friend, the Star-Telegram, therefore, that Ferguson has made the issue, because we are not willing to permit Ferguson to make issues for us.

NO ANTI-LYNCHING LEGISLATION

THE DANGER that Congress might enact a federal anti-lynching bill seems to have passed. The Senate Judiciary Committee declined to report the McKinley bill, and the Dyer bill appears to be hopelessly lost in committee.

The agitation for a federal anti-lynching law, applying heavy penalties upon counties in which lynchings occur, began three or four years ago when this type of lawlessness appeared to be at its peak. Public opinion demanded that something be done to halt the mob rule that threatened to sweep over the country; and a federal law, superseding the laws of the states, was suggested.

There's something wrong somewhere. State Treasurer Hatcher, seeking re-election, is telling the people how he saved several million dollars for the state. But Ferguson says his wife saved it, and Moody says it wasn't saved at all. Who is right?

Our republican friends, according to an exchange, apparently do not know the difference between the volunteer system and the selective draft. They have to hold a primary in Texas, but are hand-picking the primary candidates.

Contemporary Thought

ART

Topeka State Journal: That deep down in every human heart is a yearning for the beautiful, as strong and as natural as the instinct to eat, is a fact that many do not appear to realize.

Indeed, the thing does not stop here, for the interested study of paintings, drawings and sculpture will teach one to see and appreciate form, light and color to such an extent that a mere walk along a country road will, at every step, reveal beauties of color and form that are a constant delight to be had for the mere looking, and which the untrained mind and eye never comprehend.

Webster's Dictionary gives two general definitions of the word art. First, "Skillful dexterity or the power of performing certain actions, acquired by experience, study or observation."

Unfortunately for the world, the first definition and the first three words of the second, restricted to the creation of things not regarded as essential to human existence and not much needed for human comfort or happiness, are what most of us would use in explaining the meaning of art.

"Taste" is popularly regarded as a person's right to like or dislike what he pleases; and good taste, as a God-given faculty, enabling the possessor of it instinctively to select what is beautiful or harmonious in adornment, dress or conduct.

To even the simplest kitchen utensils belongs a beauty when it is properly made, that gives a pride and satisfaction to its user. Thus do principles of art enter into the most commonplace matters of our existence.

And who are those who stand ever ready to unlock for us the world's treasury of beauty with its worth of happiness? The artists and the craftsmen and the musicians, who by the use of "esthetic principles," rules of taste and knowledge of harmony controlled by natural ability, coupled with conscientious study and realization of a high mission, stand ever ready to deliver the precious message.

So let us not despise the artist and his calling, neither let us look slightly upon the efforts being made by groups of far-seeing laymen all over the United States this week to promote a popular interest in art, through guilds, clubs, popular lectures, classes and movements like the "Art and Better Homes" week, which is being observed in Topeka just now.

Daily Washington Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Has the jacksnipe any better title to demand the federal government's protection than the jack rabbit?

Isn't the jack rabbit just as noble an animal as a jacksnipe is a bird?

If a lot of special rights, privileges and immunities are to be guaranteed to jacksnipe, under laws of the United States, why can't jack rabbits, with perfect propriety, claim the same ones?

All these questions were hotly argued in the Senate the other day, in connection with the action taken on what's known as the "migratory bird bill."

The jack rabbit was ably represented but it did not win.

Among former members of Congress it seems to be the consensus of opinion that there can't possibly be too many birds but that rabbits, unless they can be induced to practice birth control, always are liable to become a pest.

That it's discriminatory against jack rabbits was not the only reason, however, why the "migratory bird bill" was fought.

It provides, among other things, for a whole batch of new officials.

Obviously its purpose is to protect migratory birds, which, being interstate travelers, aren't adequately protected, if they're represented by the game laws of the respective states.

So "bird sanctuaries" are provided, here and there throughout the whole land, where birds can lay eggs and hatch 'em in safety, and increase and multiply to beat a full house.

Theoretically it sounds friendly to the birds. But—

During the "open season" hunting's to be allowed in part of each "sanctuary." "Shooting grounds" they call 'em. A "shooting ground" and a "sanctuary" are two terms that don't ring on the ear exactly alike.

The bill also requires that anybody who goes migratory bird hunting, except on his own land, to have a federal license. Price $1. At that figure a lot of licenses undoubtedly will be taken out.

The fund's total probably will run into the millions.

And 40 per cent of it's to be spent in hiring federal game wardens—a nice additional bit of patronage for politicians to dish out.

The state rights folks in Congress raise the point that we have a great plenty of petty federal officials now. They don't want any more.

Others sensibilities are shocked at the idea of inviting a migratory bird to make a "sanctuary" his temporary home without advising him that it adjoins a "shooting ground."

They say it will make for "drives," such as they have in European preserves, where so-called sportsmen go out and butcher codies of semi-famous game, without giving it a chance. They accuse shotgun and ammunition manufacturers of having thought this scheme up.

If a "sanctuary" is a good thing—and he didn't insist that it is, with a "shooting ground" attached—but if it is—if it's good for jacksnipe, then he demanded it for Jack rabbits, too.

The Place of Vision in Human Lives

Text: Genesis 28:10-22

AND Jacob went out from Beersheba, and went toward Haran.

And he lighted upon a certain place, and tarried there all night. Because the sun was set, and he took of the stones of the place, and put them for his pillows, and lay down in that place to sleep.

And he dreamed, and behold, a ladder set up on the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven: and behold, the angels of God ascending and descending on it.

And behold, the Lord stood above it, and said, I am the Lord God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Isaac; the land whereon thou liest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed;

And thy seed shall be as the dust of the earth; and thou shalt spread abroad to the west, and to the east, and to the north, and to the south: and in thee and thy seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed.

And behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of.

And Jacob awoke out of his sleep, and he said, Surely the Lord is in this place, and I knew it not. And he was afraid, and said, How dreadful is this place! this is none other but the house of God, and this is the gate of heaven.

And Jacob rose up early in the morning, and took the stone that he had put for his pillow, and set it up for a pillar, and poured oil upon the top of it.

And he called the name of that place Bethel; but the name of that city was called Luz at the first.

And Jacob vowed a vow, saying, If God will be with me, and will give me bread to eat, and raiment to put on, and will bring me again to my father's house in peace; then shall the Lord be my God.

And this stone, which I have set for a pillar, shall be God's house: and of all that thou shalt give me, I will surely give the tenth unto thee.

example of Jesus of Nazareth. But we must not be too critical of these ancient stories. We must not expect the full rigidity of Christian faith in the far off dawn of human history.

We must understand the religion of the past in the light of the past, and when we thus understand we can see that though Jacob, especially at this time, did not seem to have all the clearness and magnanimity of Abraham, or the sincerity of Isaac, he had at least something of that stability upon which something worth, while may be built.

His Ambition. With all his faults Jacob stood in the line of succession. He had at least capacity for vision though his ambition led him into selfish and narrow actions. It was associated with a certain driving power and energy.

He appears at his best at Bethel. We find him many years after coming back to Bethel at a time of great danger when his misdeeds are apt to wreck upon him the vengeance of heaven.

Public Opinion

COMBATING THE PECAN NUT CASE BEARER

To The Bulletin: Pecan trees are putting on a good show this year, and the pecan nut case bearers are watching the pecans with pride. A careful observer will have noticed a small greenish worm tunneling within some of the pecans since they first started growing in the spring.

This worm is to become the parent of other worms which later destroy much of the pecan crop. During the latter part of May this larva or worm transforms to the adult pecan nut case bearer, which is a small dark colored moth. This moth immediately begins to lay eggs on the tips ends of the small nuts.

About a week later these eggs hatch, and the tiny worms, just large enough for the trained eye to see without the aid of a magnifying glass, begin to bore into the pecans, causing them to fall off. Each of these worms detests from three to five nuts before it completes its growth.

Many persons will be interested in protecting their pecans from this insect, but after it has begun to feed on the nuts it will be late to get the best results. Where a person has only a few trees, collecting and destroying the larvae and pupae (that stage of the insect between the larvae and adult while they are still in the tender shoots) might be done with effective results. United States Department of Agriculture Farm Bulletin No. 1364 gives the following recommendation for the control of this insect: Spray with a mixture consisting of one pound of arsenate of lead powder, fifty gallons of water, and four pounds of hydrated lime. Three applications of this spray should be made as follows:

(1) Soon after the nuts have set, that is, when they are about the size of garden peas;

(2) A week or ten days after the first application;

(3) Four or five weeks after the second application.

Care should be taken to cover each cluster of nuts thoroughly with the spray.

Any inquiries concerning pecan insects should be addressed to the United States Entomological Laboratory, at Brownwood, Texas, where they will be given immediate and careful attention.

The Passing Day

BY WILL H. MAYES, OF AUSTIN, TEXAS

SOUTH TEXAS is fast becoming the "Winter Garden" of this country. Cameron and Hidalgo counties will this season sell more than $1,000,000 worth of tomatoes. These counties could easily supply the world with its winter tomatoes and have land left for other things. As the season advances the tomato crop is harvested farther and farther north in Texas. The Texas crop begins on the way to the market nearly nine months of the year. When once Texas really awakens to its production possibilities and creates a satisfactory system of distribution and markets there will scarcely be any limit to its production.

Railroad Excursion Rates. The Texas railroads are encouraging travel by offering excursion rates to places of interest in the State. This begins to look a little like the old ways of the roads when there was competition to secure travel. The automobiles are doing much to increase the railroad travel in reach of the masses. With the steady improvement of roads and autos, railroad rates are going to have to be reduced to meet the competition. Travel is educational and should be encouraged. There is no better encouragement that can be given than to bring it in reach of the people.

Pullman Rates High. The rates on Pullman coaches seem entirely out of proportion to the passenger fare on railway trains. The same charges are made that were in use during the war and the 50 per cent surcharge that goes to the railroad appears to be an unjustifiable burden on the traveling public. In addition to this surcharge, the roads that are making popular excursion rates when occasion justifies them are now making one rate for all travelers in day coaches and another for three in Pullman cars, in addition to the regular Pullman car charge. The traveling public is complaining, and at times rather bitterly, of the Pullman surcharge on railroad fares.

Killing the Snakes. Poisonous snakes are endangering the lives of many people in many parts of the State. Snakebite serum is in much demand in localities infested by rattlesnakes. The remedy is all right, but what Texas needs is a campaign of prevention. Poisonous snakes should be exterminated wherever they can be brought about by the right kind of effort. No trouble or expense should be spared where the lives of people are involved.

Vaccinate the Dogs. Dog-bites are nearly as dangerous as snake-bites. They are much more common because the dogs are household pets and daily associates of men, women and children. Any dog is likely to become infected with hydrophobia at any time, and to pass on the infection to people and animals. Dogs can be inoculated against hydrophobia and thus their bites made harmless. Besides the loss in annual life, thousands of dollars are spent every week of the year for treatment for mad-dog bites, and many people die from the bites of dogs. Every owner of a dog should be required to have it vaccinated against hydrophobia.

Bathing Girl Shows. The Baptists in their State meeting at Houston passed a resolution condemning the bathing girl shows. At these shows girls are paid to exhibit their forms to the inspection of the vulgar crowds who attend by thousands to see the shows. Naturally the better exhibition of the whole body, the better the chances are for securing prizes. The shows have thus become public exhibits of almost the nude bodies of girls, clad in the scantiest of bathing costumes. How a modest girl can submit herself to such a thing, and to the body beyond the comprehension of most people. The Baptists were right in stating their disapproval.

Burbank's Religion. It is a great pity that Luther Burbank did not live long enough to explain fully his views as to religion, and that his public utterance shortly before his death was largely misinterpreted. In keeping with his habit of making notes of everything, he wrote while on his death-bed: "Do I ignore what is generally called the spiritual nature of man? This is the corona, the flower of life, the fruit of which is altruism, the desire to help ourselves and others to higher and better thoughts and actions, in other words, to a more perfect state of harmony with environment. Study this statement closely and see if you can reconcile it with infidelity."

Children in Tobacco Industry. The Child Bureau of the Labor Department, investigating the part that children under 15 have in the cultivation and manufacture of tobacco. Unless conditions have changed since the writer was a boy, the health of many children under 12 is being impaired by the most sickening work in tobacco fields and factories. He recalls seeing a pet squirrel die in a few moments from the fumes of tobacco in which young children were at work. The tobacco industry in any stage from the planting to the finished product is about the worst employment in which children can be engaged.

Supremacy in Fine Steel

In the percentage of Costly Chrome Vanadium Steel used, Dodge Brothers Motor Car outranks any other automobile in the World, regardless of cost.

It is everywhere conceded that Chrome Vanadium Steel is the toughest and most enduring metal ever created for use in the vital parts of a motor car.

It may not be so well known, however, that Dodge Brothers Motor Car ranks first in the world in the use of this costly and fatigue-proof material.

Dodge Brothers power assembly is almost entirely Chrome Vanadium—motor, connecting rods, crankshaft, transmission, universal joint, drive shaft, differential and rear axle.

Even the front axle is Chrome Vanadium—the entire steering unit—and every leaf of the springs. In fact, wherever any manufacturer uses alloy steels, Dodge Brothers use costly Chrome Vanadium. And in numerous instances Dodge Brothers employ it where plain carbon steel, even in the costliest cars, is commonly thought sufficient.

This has been true from the day Dodge Brothers built their first motor car.

This explains why the words Long Life, Safety and Dependability are habitually associated with the name Dodge Brothers wherever motor cars are serving mankind.

RODEO AT COLEMAN

COLEMAN, Tex., May 26.—Plans have been perfected in this city for the staging of a Rodeo and Wild West Show at the American Legion Park in this city July 2 and 4. Hackberry Slim was in Coleman Monday and leased the park and concessions and barbecue rights.

He also leased the adjoining baseball park, and will begin assembling his attractions for the eventful days.

Berry Picking Is Now In Progress at Bangs Big Crop Seems Sure

Berry picking is now in progress in the Bangs country and it was stated today that a large number of people are engaged in gathering it for market. It is estimated that there are at least 250 acres in berries in the vicinity of Bangs, that is to say beginning in the suburbs and extending back five to seven miles. The berries are of the finest quality, and considerable volume has reached the Brownwood market.

The very best berries are created and marketed, and others also of fine quality are used in preparing jams and preserves. The berry industry of Bangs is attracting statewide attention, and comes at a season of the year when other lines of business are rather dull, turning thousands of dollars in use in the community and helping business generally.

HEAVY GRAIN YIELD REPORTED BY FARMERS OF COLEMAN COUNTY

COLEMAN, Tex., May 24.—Wheat and oats in Coleman county are turning out better than in any previous year, according to information being brought to Coleman by farmers who have started cutting.

B. C. Howell at Pocandale farm says that his oats will make better than 75 bushels to the acre and W. H. Ransberger will have to borrow land to stack his surplus. At Talpa it is estimated the yield will exceed 100 bushels to the acre.

Coleman county has not had any hail this year to amount to anything and ideal growing and developing conditions have prevailed. Oats planted in the fall are maturing. There is a large acreage planted after spring rains being that will not mature for several weeks. They are fine and the yield from them will likely exceed the fall oats, as oats were injured slightly by freezes at the wrong time.

The acreage to cotton in Coleman county, according to farmers will be cut perhaps 20 per cent and what is planted will be cultivated intensively. As a whole the county is in better shape than it has been in for scores of years.

FLORAL LOVELINESS OF UNSURPASSED KIND DELIGHTFUL PICTURE

People who have not been in the rural districts of Brown county, and in other counties of the central west, during the past few weeks are missing much in the way of beauty and indescribable display of floral loveliness.

The writer has seen Brown county in all her varying moods and costumes as the seasons have passed with the passing years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Haddon have been visited when the hand of after-heated summer rested heavily on hill and dale, and when there was no flower on which the tired vision might rest. But even in those arid times the sunniness, the perennial floral optimism waved its green leaves from the rocky precipices and barren places where all other forms of vegetable life had long since died, and where even the rock spider, aridist of all insects, perished from sheer drought.

He has seen the land in all seasons, but never before has he seen such a riot of wild flowers as now comes with a State in every foot of ground in the valleys and on the hills. In many localities it looks as if a great red rug, or carpet, dotted with dashes of blue and white, were being spread over the entire scene. The other areas where the wild petunia poem "knee deep in flowers" is not in a few acres but in hundreds of acres cover the face of the earth with indescribable loveliness relieved in color scheme by the thistle, that closely resembles the great white poppy, and the wild hollyhock, gentian with its rich purple, mock daisies by the million, black-eyed Susans, by the billion with here and there great splashes of buttercups, and still a few bluebonnets in the dampest places, waving a sad farewell to the spring season, in which they have reigned in queenly grace. There are 14,000 people in Brownwood and this season every one of these people have picked at least half a dozen bluebonnets and vowed that next year they will raise bluebonnets of their own. A trip to the country is worth while—go far out, keep going, go to the hills into the lava, and far away, towards the dim and distant valleys to the south and southwest and as you go the loveliness increases—but it is worth while, worth a whole day just to get away, and come with Nature in her wasteful floral creation.

CRAWFORD CASE AFFIRMED BY HIGHER COURT

AUSTIN, May 26.—(P)—William Lester Crawford, young Dallas attorney, must serve a five year prison sentence for killing Paul O'Day, a fellow attorney, the court of criminal appeals decided here today. The court affirmed a manslaughter conviction from Dallas.

The killing, according to Crawford, was caused by statements made by a negro witness in depositions preceding the will trial. These statements were referred to by O'Day in preparing his brief on appeal.

O'Day was shot by Crawford as the former entered an elevator in a downtown building. The criminal appeals court held there was no reversible error in Crawford's trial.

The court granted the states' motion for rehearing and affirmed the ten year sentence of J. A. Claxton from Milan, convicted of murder in connection with the slaying of Otto Jueck, July 23, 1924.

The five year sentence of Ab Weaver, convicted in Navarro county of murder in connection with the killing of T. Aeverhart, February 22, 1925, also was affirmed.

The ten year murder sentence of S. E. Goss from Fannin county was reversed and remanded because the trial court erred in refusing to charge on negligent homicide in the second degree. Goss killed Claude Rainey, September 14, 1925. He contended the killing was accidental. The car in which Goss was riding passed a truck on the running board of which Rainey was riding.

Evidence was introduced to show the truck had been backing.

Miss Nell Stoltzfus, county health nurse, assisted by dentists, put on a dental examination program at the Bangs school a few days ago. Three dentists took part in the examination. It was found that in the entire school 164 students needed dental treatment.

There are more McCormick and Deering grain binders in use than all other makes combined.

These machines have a world-wide reputation for dependability under all conditions. The McCormick has a reputation for strength and ability to stand hard usage, while the Deering has long been recognized as the lightest draft machine. The combination of the best features of both machines in the McCormick-Deering means all the advantages of the sturdy McCormick construction with the Deering lightness.

Because many farmers have become accustomed to the McCormick or Deering binding attachments and prefer one or the other, a buyer can have his choice of either one when purchasing a McCormick-Deering binder.

There are ninety-four years experience back of the McCormick-Deering grain binder. Can you imagine any condition in harvesting grain that has not occurred in that time? Every year experts follow binders in the field, study their operation and make improvements where they are needed to meet unusual conditions. The construction has been strengthened where necessary. Every practical device to save time for the owner has been added, not only for the ordinary operation of the machine but to facilitate repair when necessary. The new McCormick-Deering binder is as near perfect as it is possible to build a machine for harvesting grain.

Any boy big enough to drive a team can drive and operate the new McCormick-Deering grain binder. The adjustments for successfully harvesting grain under varying field conditions are few and simple. During the busy season it is a great advantage to have a machine that a boy can operate when harvest help is scarce.

The elevators are of the full floating type, that is, they adjust themselves to varying conditions of the grain. Whether the straw is heavy or light, the upper elevator canvas will rise or fall to maintain contact with the straw and carry all the straw up to the binding attachment. No clogging in heavy straw, no loss when straw is light.

We deliver and put up all machines.

No doubt you can remember cutting your grain when ground was pretty soft, and mud and undergrowth collected between the main wheel and the driving chain on the binder. Perhaps you had to stop several times to clean out this space.

In the new McCormick-Deering there is a three-inch space between the rim of the main wheel and driving chain. Mud will not collect nearly so readily because the space is wide and there is nothing to hold an accumulation. What collects on the edge of the main wheel will not interfere with the running of the driving chain because the space is wide enough to prevent dirt from touching the chain.

Rising Star Road Is Discussed by Judge Davis at Luncheon

The main feature of the Lions Club luncheon, which was held in the Mulberry room of the Southern Hotel yesterday was the address of County Judge E. M. Davis, who discussed the proposed Rising Star-Brownwood highway. Judge Davis went to some length into the subject and said he believed the time would come at no distant date when this project would be a real highway, as the State Highway Department had practically agreed to comply with such requests as had been made by the commissioners' court of Brown county.

The famous John Tarleton band of Stephenville is to be in Brownwood tonight and the following committee was appointed to see that the proper courtesies were shown the visitors: D. D. McInroe, L. E. Shaw and W. D. McCulley.

The meeting was entertained by a "Pair of Jacks", who are now appearing at the Lyric theatre, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Armstrong, in her inimitable Charleston dancing, was the real bit of the occasion. The little dancer was accompanied by Jack Davis at the piano.

Lucas Farm Scene of Unsurpassed Beauty; Grain Harvest Is On

Brownwood people will miss a sight they will not have a chance to see again soon, perhaps, if they fail to drive out to the Bayou bridge on the Comanche road and take a look at the Lucas farm. It is a sight to behold, for grain harvesting is now in progress and almost as far as the eye can reach shock upon shock, and shock after shock of golden grain is stacked in rows ready to be hauled to shelter or threshed. It is now being cut and tied in bundles, and shocked. Go and see it. Don't wait a moment. Drive out tonight, the moon shines, and see it. Take Kodak and get a picture. It is worth seeing. Right at the doors of Brownwood a great harvest of golden grain is in progress. Then drive on beyond the Lucas residence and take a close-up view of the thousands of white leghorn chicks. Looks like little snowballs rolling around on the ground.

Assault charges have been filed against two Indian Creek women by members of the sheriff's department. They will be tried in justice court June 1.

O. A. Beal, of the Zephyr locality was in Brownwood Wednesday and had a good report concerning crop conditions in his part of the county. He was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. L. E. Timmins, and a big load of chickens, butter, eggs and vegetables was brought to the Brownwood market.
