Merry Christmas!

That Amazing Starlight

*I remember the trip: long, two days, two nights, and chilly.
Mother said we had to go, dad just packed.
Me and my little sister delighted in taking turns riding dad's back when our legs gave out.*

*I thought it would be a treat to see the city.
Dad wasn't so thrilled; mom just smiled and stayed quiet.
The place we stayed was crammed full of people and noise ... oh, what a noise it was.*

*The second night held a genuine surprise:
after sunset, the whole town seemed very still.
We slept deeply, but mom woke me about midnight:
"Nathaniel, come with me, quickly!"*

*Out on the street it felt like summertime warm,
and there was that star - an incredible bright shine!
I asked mom what it was ... "Wait! Come!"
So we walked faster than I thought she could walk.*

*Six blocks, I counted, to the right,
four to the left, one more right,
and we were there ... at a cattle stall washed bright by that amazing starlight!*

*Hushed, almost holding our breath now,
mom took my hand and led me into the stall,
back to the back, in the corner, and there we saw a baby!
A baby, in a cattle stall, made visible by the light of a star!*

*I remember that trip like it happened yesterday.
And I remember the next thirty years because the baby,
the one from the cattle stall manger - we grew up as friends, played in the dirt, and learned how to worship God together.*

*And I remember the joy of His kindness and servant spirit,
His healing and forgiving spirit, His touch of gentle grace;
and the agony of His suffering, His death, and my anguish at the thought of His being gone forever.*

*But I also remember how His face shown, like that amazing starlight from so long before, as He stood before us alive!
Jesus! The Savior of the World, conqueror of death,
Bringer of Peace ... and my life-changing friend!*

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

Parties settle on April 3 date for primaries

AUSTIN — Battles over redistricting may have put Texas' 2012 election cycle in an apparent state of suspended animation, but movement on a related subject occurred last week.

The Texas Democratic Party and the Republican Party of Texas on Dec. 16 issued a statement announcing that the two parties submitted a joint agreed proposal on the 2012 General Primary Election to the U.S. District Court three-judge panel in San Antonio. And, later the same day, U.S. District Judge Orlando Garcia signed into effect the proposed agreement.

The agreement provides for an April 3 unified primary date, along with adjusted dates, deadlines and requirements in respect to its administration. One of those dates was 6:00 p.m. Dec. 19, the deadline for candidates to submit an application for a party primary ballot.

In an official statement, Steve Munisteri, state chair of the Republican Party of Texas, said, "We are hopeful that with both a timely ruling from the U.S. Supreme Court and subsequent finalized maps, that this agreement not only preserves the original structure of a unified primary, but provides us enough time to accomplish it in a fair and orderly fashion."

In his official statement, Boyd Richie, state chair of the Texas Democratic Party said, "We're glad to have worked out an agreement which we feel works best for Texans. Given the less than ideal circumstances, we think that this election schedule is a workable solution that will create the least confusion for the voters. We're pleased that the agreement maintains a unified primary which will save taxpayers money."

Meanwhile, the U.S. Supreme Court has set Jan. 9 as the hearing date of arguments on merits for parties to the pending redistricting lawsuits.

Order expanded, extended

Gov. Rick Perry on Dec. 14 announced the Federal Emergency Management Agency expanded its disaster declaration for wildfire assistance to include 119 Texas counties and extended the incident period from April 6, 2011, through Aug. 29, 2011.

The term "incident period" is defined by FEMA as "the time span during which the disaster-causing incident occurs." The original federal disaster declaration issued by FEMA on July 1, 2011, covered wildfires between April 6, 2011, and May 3, 2011, and only included 45 counties.

The governor's initial statewide disaster proclamation was issued on Dec. 21, 2010.

Since then, the governor's office stated, responders have fought more than 26,000 fires that have burned more than 3.9 million acres, and state and local response costs are estimated at more than $330 million.

Texas cities score high

On Dec. 16, the governor's office touted Texas as dominating a newly released index of "best-performing cities" in the nation.

Santa Monica, Calif.-based Milken Institute's annual index put Texas cities in four of the top five spots and nine of the top 25 "thanks to the state's healthy economy and robust job creation climate," the governor's office said.

The Milken Institute said it measured job, wage and technology performance over a five-year period to determine the best-performing cities, and the study found that Texas employers were responsible for one of every five jobs created in the nation from June 2010 to June 2011.

San Antonio was the top performer among the nation's 200 best-performing large metros and Houston-Sugar Land-Baytown ranked number one among the 10 largest metros.

According to Milken Institute, "the study attributes Texas' success to having a favorable business climate, low business costs, renewed trade with Mexico and South America, and ongoing energy exploration and alternative fuels research."

After San Antonio's first-place finish, the following Texas cities placed in the top 25 metropolitan areas in the study: El Paso, 2; Austin-Round Rock, 3; Killeen-Temple-Fort Hood, 5; Houston-Sugar Land-Baytown, 16; McAllen-Edinburg-Mission, 18; Dallas-Plano-Irving, 20; Fort Worth-Arlington, 24; and Lubbock, 25.

'Frac' ingredients to be posted

Texas Railroad Commission members on Dec. 13 adopted a rule requiring Texas oil and gas operators to disclose on a national public website (www.fracfocus.org) the chemical ingredients and water volumes used to hydraulically fracture wells in Texas.

The agency's hydraulic fracturing chemical disclosure rule will be required for wells that the Railroad Commission has issued an initial drilling permit on or after Feb. 1, 2012.

Before the rule passed, Texas operators conducting hydraulic fracturing were voluntarily entering chemical data into the fracfocus.org website for about half of all wells in Texas undergoing hydraulic fracturing, the agency reported.

Words from Faith & Grace

by Cecil R. Biggers, Lutheran Lay Minister

Merry Christmas! We celebrate the birth of our Savior as we study Isaiah 62: 6-12, Psalm 97, Titus 3: 4-7 and Luke 2: 8-20.

Isaiah is speaking to the returned exiles. The walls of Jerusalem are actually still being repaired. The message from God is that God is going to provide security for Israel. The people of Israel will be safe in harvesting their crops and secure in their dwellings; the salvation of God is coming! Think on this, dear Christian, it is difficult to think of the things of God when you are hungry; it is difficult to think of the things of God when you fear for your life. When we fall into the love of God and his protection, we do not worry excessively about the difficulties of this life.

The Psalmist sings a song of enthronement. This song was probably written during the exile. The message is that God is the ruler of Israel and all peoples and of all creation. Therefore those who believe in God rejoice because God guards the lives of the faithful.

In Titus we are reminded that when through the loving-kindness of God, our Savior appeared it was because of God's mercy not because of our merit. Through our baptism we have received the Holy Spirit whereby we are justified by his grace and become heirs to the hope of eternal life.

The traditional scene of Christmas, the herald angels proclaim the birth of the Messiah! These glad tidings are brought not to the rich, not to the powerful, but to lowly shepherds. The shepherds upon hearing the news promptly go to Bethlehem to see this great event. They find Mary and Joseph and the baby, Jesus. When Mary hears the tale of the shepherds, she treasures the words and ponders them in her heart. The shepherds leave rejoicing and praising God.

Thus, we have the first advent of The Christ! May the Holy Spirit keep you in faith until Christ's Second Advent! Rejoice! Maranatha!

Weekly Update

Texas, December 19- Average retail gasoline prices in Texas have fallen 3.7 cents per gallon in the past week, averaging $3.04/g yesterday. This compares with the national average that has fallen 4.3 cents per gallon in the last week to $3.23/g, according to gasoline price website TexasGasPrices.com.

Including the change in gas prices in Texas during the past week, prices yesterday were 23.5 cents per gallon higher than the same day one year ago and are 11.3 cents per gallon lower than a month ago. The national average has decreased 13.4 cents per gallon during the last month and stands 26.4 cents per gallon higher than this day one year ago.

"Gas prices across much of the nation continue their downward move, bringing the national average for a gallon down to its lowest level since late February," said GasBuddy.com Senior Petroleum Analyst Patrick DeHaan. "While some motorists are thinking these falling gasoline prices are nice, I'll unpleasantly remind them that gasoline prices will still set record highs this Christmas across much of America- motorists have never seen average prices this high on Christmas. As prices typically reach a low point during early winter, this sets up a troubling start to 2012 in terms of gasoline prices. Summer gasoline prices typically are 80-120 cents per gallon higher than where prices stand around Christmas," DeHaan said.

GasBuddy operates, TexasGasPrices.com, and over 225 other local gasoline pricetracking websites that follow prices at over 125,000 gasoline stations in the United States and Canada. GasBuddy also uses Facebook (facebook.com/gasbuddy) Twitter (twitter.com/gasbuddy), and phone apps to keep motorists ahead of changing gasoline prices.

Be part of the solution! Shopping at home benefits everyone. Local merchants can provide things you can't get in the "Big Cities."

- 1. Have any "Big City" businesses ever bought tickets for local fundraisers or contributed to worthwhile community projects?
- 2. Have they ever bought ads in the school yearbooks or tickets to school activities?
- 3. Have they ever put your posters in their windows?
- 4. Do they attend local school activities and cheer from the sidelines?
- 5. Have they always been handy and willing to service their merchandise when you need it?
- 6. Have they always cheerfully and quickly exchanged merchandise or let you return merchandise for a cash refund without a receipt?
- 7. Have they ever special-ordered something for you and then given you a discount?
- 8. How many of their employees volunteer to help with local community service projects?
- 9. Have they ever bought popcorn, cookies or magazines from local children?
- 10. Have they ever bought a show animal from local children or supported them in a bike-a-thon?

Your local small merchants provide these extras because they are your friends and neighbors and you see them everyday in your community. All they ask in return is a chance for your business!

Merry Christmas!

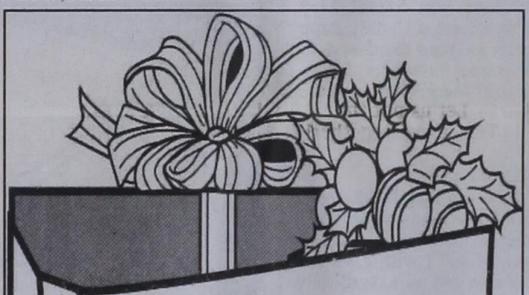

Wow! I'm glad I got your letters! We have so much snow here at the North Pole that I was afraid the mail might be slow. But, the mail man is as quick as all the reindeer!

The reindeer are outside now playing reindeer games: Dasher is running in the snow - spelling out "Merry Christmas;" Dancer and Vixen are building snow elves; Prancer and Cupid are having a snow ball fight (with some snow balls that look like candy); Blitzen is playing in the snow with his toys; Comet is flying from roof top to roof top (he flies real good); Dancer is making reindeer angels in the snow by laying down and waving his legs; and Rudolf - he's in the barn polishing his nose and practicing his leadership skills.

Mrs. Santa and I watch them through the windows and laugh at all the fun the reindeer have.

We all love you and can't wait to see you Christmas eve! Keep being good!

Love, Santa Claus
