THE NEW TOWN OF HEDLEY

Donley County's Second Largest Town, Less Than One Year Old, Yet is a Dandy.

The Banner-Stockman editor had the pleasure of spending the day in Hedley last Saturday. It was the first time we had been with these people since the town was removed from Rowe, the beginning of which was last October.

We found Hedley even a larger and a better town than we had expected, although much had been told us of its growth and development. The first thing that was impressed upon us was that the town is somewhat handicapped by being so far from the depot and switch, but it seems to us that this is a difficult which will in time adjust itself. While it is true that appearances do not always bear out the statement, yet it is a fact that railroads are, primarily, built for the accommodation of the general public; therefore, Hedley's rights to a station will in due time be recognized and same will be provided.

Two stocks of general merchandise, one owned by Bond W. Johnson, the other by Jones, Hendrix & Gault, are kept busy all the time. In fact, Bond assured us in all seriousness that his trade was as good as any store in Clarendon with possibly one exception. Jones, Hendrix & Gault, right across the street, also report a good business. Both firms handle a complete line of general merchandise.

Postmaster J. H. Ramsey is located in quite a large building and has a nice stock of dry goods and shoes. Mr. Ramsey is from Navarro county, has only been here a year or such a matter, and is well pleased with the country, the county, the people and his business outlook. He is a cordial fellow, one whom a man is always glad to get acquainted with.

G. A. Wimberly was found behind the counter at the Rowe State Bank, of which he is cashier and general manager. This bank showed individual deposits subject to checks at its last statement in May of nearly $15,000. Considering its youth this is a good showing. We had quite a chat with Mr. Wimberly and found him well posted on the business and industrial conditions. As a popular and accommodating man he has the former cashier "skinned a city block," and we are sure the bank's affairs are in good hands.

O. R. Caldwell, who a year or so ago was one of our readers down in Collin county, is now conducting a confectionery store at Hedley and seems to be doing well.

D. W. Jones is another Collin county man who is doing well in Donley. He has a large blacksmith shop, does sign and carriage painting, etc., and reports a good business.

What the community would do without Lee Blair, we don't know. Lee has sold lumber to these people for years, and has an intimate acquaintanceship with the entire countryside. As manager of the Cicero Smith Lumber Co. he has built up a trade of which that company should be and doubtless is, very proud. He carries a big stock and is ready with quotations at a moment's notice as he knows the business like a book. We are sure that if the company is as appreciative of its manager as the people of the community are he will be a permanent fixture. We learned that another lumber yard is to be established there in the near future, part of the stock being already on the ground. The J. C. Woolbridge Lumber Co., of Memphis and elsewhere, is the firm, and the present management devolved upon Homer Wilkins.

Our good old friend, S. L. Adamson, is now proprietor of the Hedley Telephone Exchange. He reports a good business with prospects looking up. Many of the farmers of the surrounding country have phones at their homes and find it a great convenience. Mr. Adamson is new to this particular business but says he is learning lots each day and is giving satisfaction to his patrons.

W. R. Lewis & Son conduct the Hedley gin. It was built last season with four stands and all the modern appliances, expecting to handle 500 bales. The output was more than double that figure, and together with the gin at Rowe the entire number of bales ginned in that country was about 1500. Nearly all this cotton was bought and shipped by the merchants. This year the acreage in cotton is increased over last year and Mr. Lewis is expecting to be called on for much more service, therefore he will prepare for it by installing four more stands.

The Hedley Hotel is quite an addition to the town. J. E. M. Hedley is the proprietor. The table is furnished with all the market affords, and that is a good deal to say. The building is large and the accommodations good. Mr. Hedley is also in the real estate business and writes insurance. He seems to be quite a valuable addition to the town's citizenship, as is evidenced by the burg being named after him. He also reported business good.

There were very few farmers in Hedley Saturday. The day was fine and as field work had been somewhat delayed all were busy at home—too busy to come to town unless absolutely necessary. Most all the farmers are now catching up with their work, we were told, though some are yet badly in the grass. Work hands are very scarce, and cotton chopping had progressed slowly. The general crop conditions however, are exceptionally fine. The entire country looks like one continuous farm, while the comfortable farm houses dotting the landscape, with the orchards and shade trees, gives to the community the appearance of being the farmer's paradise.

With its surrounding country, numerous farmers and more coming, there is nothing to prevent Hedley from eventually becoming an important town. The situation is excellent and the water good and abundant. We were informed that the town had a system of water works operated by W. E. Reeves and giving promise of becoming quite a large lucrative industry. It is the only town of its size having such an accommodation.

The Revival Meeting.

The revival meeting at the Presbyterian church closed Tuesday night, after running for about ten days. Ten additions to the church resulted, and church interest and enthusiasm was greatly enhanced. Bro. Roberts is a splendid speaker. We were sorry not to be able to hear him oftener than we did, and all who heard him are loud in praise of his ability to hammer home the truths of the gospel in a manner combining logic, oratory and spiritual feeling. In company with Bro. Dickey he is at Hedley this week, and will conduct a meeting there to last about a week. The Hedley people can be assured of something good.

Panhandle Wheat.

Manager Curtis of the Burrus Mill & Elevator company has returned from a week's trip through the Panhandle country. In speaking of wheat he said that it was in better shape there than in this section. Out through the Panhandle it will make twenty to twenty-five bushels to the acre, while in Tarrant county he believes that twelve bushels to the acre will be about the limit. Some good wheat has been coming in, though, and is of unusual good quality. It will average fifty-five to fifty-nine pounds to the bushel.—Ft. Worth Record.

Had you noticed the pleasing effect of the electric lighted passenger coaches on the Denver? Some of the coaches have not yet had electric lights installed and they show up very poorly by the side of those which have. If the Denver will keep up her present rate of improvement for a few months and apply it to the road bed the people will not have to make excuses for riding on the road.

Game Fish.

I respectfully request that there be no more fishing in Allan or Richardson creeks for at least two years, as I have recently stocked same with game fish.

College Interest Growing.

Rev. W. B. Wilson returned Wednesday from a trip over the south plains country. On the trip he obtained contributions aggregating $1300 to be applied upon the College building fund. He says he met a number of old Clarendon College pupils who expect to be back again this year, and also found many more who expect to enter for the first time this year. Bro. Wilson seems greatly encouraged over the prospects of the College, both in an educational and financial way.

WILL BRIDGE THE DRAW

We Can Soon go Over Without a Boat, a Flying Machine or Wings.

In the year of our Lord 1907 there came upon the county dads and the city fathers a softening of the heart and they hearkened to the cry of distress that had been dimmed into their ears for these many years, and hearkening they acted—and with promptness. In other words, after many years of more or less patient waiting the people of Clarendon are to have more bridges across the draw that runs through the center of the city. Two bridges already span this draw near the business section, but the demand for a crossing in the south part of town has been great, more especially during the past few months as the building has been very active in the south and east part of town and the people of these parts were compelled to walk a half-dozen blocks during wet weather in order to get to their work if it chanced to be in the business portion or in the west part of town.

In the building of these two bridges the city and county act in conjunction, each building a bridge. The bridges are to be on Kearney and Second streets, the one on Kearney street being situated at the southeast corner of the public school block, while the one on Second street is to be placed at the rear of the McCrae & Hodges livery stable near the Christian and Baptist churches. The bridge on Kearney street will be a 50-foot affair and the one on Second street will be thirty feet long. Both will be steel and of modern construction.

There will be little delay in the building of the two bridges. In fact it is understood that work is to begin immediately, the contract having already been let, dated July 15 and calling for the completion of the bridges within ninety days. The Missouri Bridge and Iron Co., of Topeka, Kansas, has the contract.

Off to Childress.

The Clarendon contingent at the Childress celebration yesterday was rather large. Quite a number of local shooters went down for the gun club shoot, while others went solely for the purpose of having a good time. Clarendon people should always turn out for most anything in the shape of amusement that Childress dishes out to them for in the first place Childress is a good entertainer and is always good about furnishing her share of the crowd when Clarendon celebrates.

EXTORTION OR MISREPRESENTATION?

The only case of extortion that has come to our notice in the Clarendon celebration was perpetrated by one of the leading hotels. It is claimed that this hotel charged $2.00 for its beds on Thursday night when its regular price is 50c. Many people were absolutely compelled to remain over night, for it was impossible to get even standing room on the train.—Childress Post.

While we did not believe that the above charge had any real foundation yet we investigated the matter with the result that both the leading hotels, S. E. Atteberry and W. J. Adams, proprietors, absolutely deny the charge. Both gentlemen are anxious that they and the town be set right in the matter. The editor is also desirous of seeing the same result accomplished, and we believe we but voice the sentiment of the entire town when we call on Brother Thomas for his evidence. If any man was charged $2.00 for a bed, or if any man was asked that price for a bed, the people of Clarendon, including the two hotel men, want such party to come forward and state his case. We are inclined to think that some sore head was putting up a hoax on our Childress brother, and that he will so find when he starts his investigation.

WE use some space this week in reproducing some of the nice things said of Clarendon by the newspaper boys who enjoyed our hospitality on the 3rd and 4th. Editor Thomas, of the Childress Post, and Editor Brewster, of Amarillo, were seemingly the best pleased of the bunch, and their writings seem to be heartfelt. Brother Thomas is a fair man we are sure, and will see to it that the statement made in Childress concerning overcharges by Clarendon hotel men will be traced down or else declared to be nothing more than the idle vapors of some irresponsible party. To all the boys we say again, thank you, and come to see us again and often.

THE Banner-Stockman agrees with the Chronicle concerning the mud holes back of the public school building and the cows drinking from same. At the same time cautioning people to not let their milch cows drink at these holes is not sufficient. People as a rule will not confine their cows in a bare town lot while there is plenty of grass and no cow law. A few may do so, but the majority will not. Either Clarendon should have a town cow law or those holes should be done away with. Really, both should obtain, but one MUST be done if the town cow is not to drink from the town mud hole.

The city of Clarendon should provide a public watering place for stock. The trough maintained by the county is not only not situated right, but half the time is dry. Being supplied from the court house well it has water only when the wind blows, and sometimes not even then. The city should provide plenty of stock water for the farmers and others who may need it.

AN honest confession is good for the soul of even an editor. The Hereford Brand admits that publishing a paper at $1.00 per year is a losing game, yet frankly states that The Brand is not worth more, consequently a higher price cannot consistently be charged. Your excuse is sufficient, brother.

If the town pool was a nuisance and needed draining why should not the perpetual mud hole below it be considered likewise a nuisance and therefore abated?

Big Hereford Bargain.

N. N. Martin, proprietor of Donley county's famous Louie Star Herd of Registered Herefords, having sold his ranch is now looking for a purchaser for his herd. The herd consists of 8 bulls, 11 yearling heifers and 31 head of cows from two years old up. Anyone who may be desirous of acquiring a strictly first-class herd of registered stuff will do well to investigate this proposition. We understand that the herd can be bought for $50 around, this spring and summer calves thrown in. These cattle cost Mr. Martin from $100 to $160 per head when they were yearlings, and all of them are of the very best strains of blood. Mr. Martin's address is Clarendon. He will make terms to suit purchaser. tf

We wish to give our readers a fair warning concerning the advance in subscription price which goes into effect October 1st. Therefore we say again that up to October 1st one dollar will pay for one year, back dues or in advance, and you have the privilege of paying as far in advance as you choose at the dollar rate. It is not that we want to make more off our subscribers that we advance the price, but simply a matter of saving ourselves loss. With the present high price on paper, ink, type, and the increased scale of wages together with the increased cost of living, it is impossible to publish a paper at a dollar a year and not lose money on the deal. tf

C. C. BEARDEN.

The old confederate veterans were royally treated by the people of Clarendon on the 3rd and 4th. Every courtesy and kindness was shown them and the old soldiers in gray seemed proud and appreciative of it all. This was exactly as it should be. If there is any class of people in Texas to-day who deserve special consideration and kind treatment, it is these brave sturdy men, who for four years suffered diseases, privations and wounds for the Southland. Let us always tip our hats out of respect to these old heroes, for they will soon be gone.—Childress Post.

The Doctor Away from Home when Most Needed.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like cramp colic and cholera morbus require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save your life. For sale by all druggists.

THIS, THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

Editor of Daily Panhandle Falls in Love With Clarendon at First Sight.

The following is an excerpt from the writeup given Clarendon and her 1907 celebration by Editor S. A. Brewster of the Amarillo Daily Panhandle:

At Clarendon the train was met by a large reception committee of the citizens. On the train was a large delegation of the old Confederate Veterans from Amarillo, with their banner. There was a delegation of the Woodmen of the World, which had an unveiling at Clarendon in the afternoon and a large number of private citizens mostly friends and admirers of Senator Bailey.

The editor of the Panhandle was met by Mr. John E. Cooke, editor of the Banner-Stockman, who conveyed us to his home in his private conveyance and properly cared for the editor and his wife during the day and evening till the train bearing the Panhandle man to his home arrived. During the day we were shown the city and a portion of the country by Mr. and Mrs. Cooke, and very much enjoyed the view.

Clarendon is a most beautiful city. It is one of the oldest towns of the Panhandle. It has a loose, sandy loam, and the rainfall is ample and most evenly distributed during the growing season. Citizens have planted trees, and the city is a beautiful bower of shade and green grass. The sight of the beautiful shade and green grass was an appreciated one, and reminded the editor and his wife of their home in Illinois, where green trees and blue grass predominate, and the scenery was the most beautiful witnessed in the Panhandle. The editor of the Panhandle invited the editors at Plainview to hold their next meeting at Amarillo, but the editors decided on Clarendon for the next year's meeting. So long as we had to be defeated we know of no city in the Panhandle where we would rather the convention would go, after viewing the beautiful city, and meeting her generous and open hearted people, than Clarendon, and we are satisfied.

The entire city was in gala attire, every store and business place was decorated with the stars and stripes, and the business houses all closed in the afternoon, to be able to give the proper entertainment to the visitors. There were eating booths on the streets, and preparations had been made to serve the visitors with barbecue. Fifteen animals, had been roasted for the Wednesday's barbecue, and twenty were roasted for the barbecue on the fourth. After the speaking, which was not over till 1:45, the refreshments were served in the courthouse square under the shade of the fine, large trees, on the tables ranged around the park, and it was enjoyed by the thousands which were in the city.

The editor of the Panhandle enjoyed to the limit his day's outing, and his visit in the beautiful little city of Clarendon. His wife was delighted with the green grass and shade seen in Clarendon, for the first time in Texas, the best state in the union, if we can only get the pleasures of the shade and green grass of Clarendon.

The editor acknowledges his obligations to Editor Cooke and his most estimable wife, for delightful entertainment during the day. Also he enjoyed a pleasant visit with Editor Blake of the Chronicle, and his estimable wife, during the day and evening, and of course we made both the newspaper offices headquarters during our leisure time in the beautiful city of Clarendon.

We met many of the prominent citizens of Clarendon during the day, and an acquaintance with the mayor and the business men and officials of the town, explains fully why Clarendon is such a beautiful and prosperous city.

Pay now and save that half dollar. tf

IT COVERS the EARTH

The blue canopy of heaven is the natural covering of the earth, but an angry sun penetrates this canopy and makes things hot for the people here below. There is another thing that covers the earth just as successfully in its way. Sherwin-Williams Paint covers the earth and it is impervious to the glare of the sun, the sweep of the wind and ravages of time. For sale by

THE CLARENDON BARBECUE IS ARRESTED AT ROWE BIG FIRE AT CHILlicothe

The Editor of the Childress Post
 Thinks it was the Best
 He Ever Saw.

Following the time honored custom, the good people of Clarendon arranged their beautiful and picturesque little city in holiday attire and invited her neighbors for hundreds of miles to come and celebrate the anniversary of our country's birth there. To say that the invitation was generally and gladly accepted would do small justice to the character and size of the immense crowd that for two days thronged the beautiful shaded walks of that classic city. From the north, from the south, from the east and from the west, they came until the whole town seemed filled to overflowing with the most orderly, jolly and joyous crowd in which it has ever been our good fortune to mingle.

The local management deserves high praise for the big hearted, unselfish hospitality that was extended to all. One was impressed with the fact that the primary purpose of the celebration was not to enrich the local business men, but it was easy to observe that it was intended to be a real and enthusiastic celebration.

During the two days there were many eloquent and soul stirring speeches made, all the orators responding except Gov. Lanham who failed to appear.

The crowd was probably larger on the 4th than on the 3rd and estimates on the number present ranged from 7,000 to 10,000. Altogether it was an event long to be remembered by those who were present and reflected much credit on the splendid people and town of Clarendon.—Childress Post.

I haven't been troubled with it since until this week, when I had a very severe attack and took half bottle of the twenty-five cent size Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and this morning I feel like a new man." Depot Agent Thomas Charged with a Serious Offense—Makes a Big Bond.

Sheriff Patman was phoned for to come to Rowe Wednesday morning, and on arriving there found that the constable had arrested Mr. Thompson, the depot agent, the charge against him being the unlawful entering upon the premises of another. It is charged that Thompson entered McHan's store at Rowe and abstracted certain articles.

The case was taken before Justice of the Peace Cavness and the prisoner's bond fixed at $1000. The fact that this large amount was immediately filled by some awfully good citizens shows that Mr. Thompson has strong friends in the locality and that they do not believe him guilty.

There are several accounts of the occurrence in circulation but the Banner-Stockman thinks it best not to print any of them as public sentiment might thereby be prejudiced one way or another. Mr. Thompson is a young man, has been the agent in Rowe for a year or so, and has previously stood high in the estimation of all.

Nearly Half a Million Dollars Worth of Damage in the Business District.

Half of the business portion of Chillicothe was burned Tuesday morning. The fire originated in Parker's confectionery store about 2 a. m., burning out a saddle shop, Watson's hotel, Sander's real estate office, a barber shop, Griffin's drug store, Wald's furniture store and the opera house, a meat market, the Chillicothe Lumber Co., G. R. Jones, hardware, Dr. Fain's drug store, Judge Randal's office, a grocery store, and the Grange hotel. But few were insured.

Press dispatches state the lumber company was insured for 40 per cent of its loss, $16,000; the Jones Hardware Co., was insured $2,000, the loss being about $9,000. The two drug stores, furniture and opera house and the two hotels had no insurance. The Ft. Worth and Denver depot was saved by hard work of a train crew and citizens. It was the most disastrous fire the town ever had. The total loss will reach nearly $500,000.

Take the Postmaster's Word for it.

Mr. F. M. Hamilton, postmaster at Cherryvale, Ind., keeps also a stock of general merchandise and patent medicines. He says: "Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is standard here in its line, it never fails to give satisfaction and we could hardly afford to be without it." For sale by all druggists.

RISES WITH A COMPLAINT.

Alkali Eye Displeased with Vaudeville Performance.

We went up to Houston for meat with the lumbermen, not that we air a lumberman at all, but we air more or less interested in the plan of makin' booze for sawdust, an' it was up to us to be aatin' these ducks when they air a-doin' at present with their output of they ain't drinkin' it up we'd like fer make them a proposition lookin' ter th' startin' of a distillery. Ef sech a distillery is started we kin guarantee ter dispose of th' output. Whilst we was in Houston we was th' guesseed, th' honored guesseed, of th' Majestic th'ater, an' we have ben sufferin' in nervous prostration ever since; a duck who done a chair balancin' act used bottles o' beer ter balance on and his feet was th' most thirilin' one we ever seen; he was liable ter fall at any minute an' we'd like to ast what'd become o' that beer ef he had fell? He'd a-busted them bottles as sure as shootin'; we was so nervous at th' bare thought o' sech a accident that we ain't got over shudderin' yet. Later.—Since writin' th' above we hev learned that them beer bottles wuz empty, an' that fact makes it even more agervatin'.—Alkali Eye, in the Houston Post.

TRUE TO HIS PROMISE.

By Their Own Testimony, Doctor Had Rejuvenated Patients.

A German doctor who claimed to have discovered the secret of restoring youth, advertised in London that he could in two days rejuvenate the most decrepit hag. This brought a crowd of ancient dames to his house. At the first interview he invited each patient to write her surname, Christian name and age on a piece of paper. The ages whereto they pleaded guilty varied, but all ruled high. The doctor undertook to give each patient the promised elixir next day. On the appointed day the doctor regretted that he unfortunately had mislaid the paper containing his youth-seekers' ages, and he, therefore, requested each one to write it down and call again. In writing down her age the second time each woman took many years off the age she previously had admitted. The doctor, pretending to have found the first papers, called them to witness, comparing the lists, that he had kept his word, inasmuch as in 48 hours they had all become many years younger.

HORRORS OF DARK AGES.

Visions Conjured Up in Torture Room of Ancient Tyrant.

The horror of horrors in all Italy is found at Padua, known as the torture rooms of that demoniac monster of cruelty, Ecelino, a thirteenth century ruler of Verona, Padua, Vicenza and Brescia. His cruelties finally became so intolerable that the church proclaimed a crusade against him. The peasantry rose and a farmer killed the brute with a scythe. I was shown an upright box in which was the skeleton of a victim. Two apertures enabled the condemned to see a table, just out of reach, crowded with food and drink. To-day, it is stags food and the wine is colored water, but the realism is intense. The climax of shudders was reached when I came to a block in the center of a small square room. Nailed to the chopping block, severed midway between the wrist and elbow, lay the dainty hand of a woman. Just as it had been chopped from the living arm! The instant my eyes saw this sight the coil seemed to resound with the shrieks of the terrified woman, and, although the hand I gazed upon was of wax, the mental shock produced was dreadful beyond conception.—Brooklyn Facts.

FATHER HAD HOPES FOR HIM.

Dumptyous Youth Got Benefit of a Little Plain Talk.

The following is related of a certain well-known New York business man and his son: The son had just left Harvard and was fired with ambitions which did not include going into his father's office. When he arrived home his parents began seriously to discuss his future. He stated what his ideas were and spoke of the professions as most likely to afford scope for his genius. The law, he thought, would be the likeliest career. His father, however, had not a very high opinion of his abilities, and said so without mincing words. "I think," he declared, "you had better make a beginning by adorning one of my office stools. We can think about your talking up the law afterward." The young man did not see it that way. Office life he loathed, and said it was an existence fit only for a dog. "Well, my son," returned the father, dryly, "you're not a dog yet, but you'll grow."

Dog Jealousy.

There is a strong trait of jealousy in a dog's nature. A story is told of a Birmingham dog that had been a great pet in the family until the baby came. There was suspicion that he was jealous, but he could not be detected in any disrespect to the newcomer. It always happened, however, that when the dog was left alone with the baby the dog began to cry. No signs of trouble were ever to be seen upon entering the room, and the dog was always found sleeping peacefully before the fire. Finally one day a peep through the keyhole disclosed the canine rubbing his cold wet nose up and down the baby's back.—Outing Magazine.

Care of a Canary.

When moving a canary from a small to a larger cage, you should take the trouble to satisfy yourself that the bird is not frightened in its new habitation, for it sometimes happens that it is absolutely afraid to fly down from its comparatively lofty perch, and thus gets starved to death because it cannot reach its food. If you see your bird in this dilemma, try and coax it down; and if it will not come, take hold of it gently and deposit it on the floor of the cage.

Seldom Wear Out

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain—not only once, but as many times as it is necessary to take them. Many persons who suffer from chronic ailments find in them a source of great relief from the suffering which they would otherwise be compelled to endure. Their soothing influence upon the nerves strengthen rather than weaken them. For this reason they seldom lose their effectiveness.

"I am 62 years old and have suffered for 42 years from nervous troubles, rheumatism and neuralgia, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, and pain around the heart. The Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have been a blessing to me. I don't know what I should do without them, and they are the only remedy I have ever used that either did not wear out in less time than I have been using them, or else the injurious results were such that I would be obliged to cease their use."

DOOM OF MIGHTY LONDON.

Fire About the Only Agent Which Can Cause Its Destruction.

With hints of German invasion and of an approaching earthquake, the question "What will be the doom of London?" seems a not unreasonable one. What will be the end of the great city? What will bring about the ruin over which Macaulay's New Zealand is to cast his moralizing eye? Several answers may be given. The destruction of London at the hands of a victorious invader is possible, but extremely improbable. London may be besieged, even bombarded; she cannot be destroyed. Flood? This again may be dismissed as most improbable; and one calamity only remains to be considered, namely—fire. Now, London has suffered more than once terribly from this cause, and in 1666 the city was practically wiped out. Every one knows this; but it is not every one who knows that the great conflagration was predicted 15 years before by Lilly, the astrologer, and by another astrologer, Nostradamus, a century before that. Nostradamus cast his prediction in a French quatrain, the gist of which was that in 1666 London would be visited by a conflagration which would destroy St. Paul's and 89 other churches.—Casell's Saturday Journal.

With a Proviso.

"When universal peace is finally established," said Alfred H. Love, the president of the Universal Peace union, in an interview in Philadelphia, "then many a man who now ridicules the peace movement will claim to have been its lifelong champion. It is always so. We thump and kick a poor, weak, struggling movement at its inception, and when it has succeeded and no longer needs our help, we give it the most solicitous support. There was once a young lady whose betrothed, a very poor young man, was about to set out for South America to seek his fortune in the rubber trade. As he took his leave of her the night before his departure, he said, tremulously: 'And you swear to be true to me, Irene?' 'Yes, Heber,' cried the girl; 'yes—if you're successful.'"

Not Equal to Luxuries.

A dapper young man took a seat on a bench in Madison Square Park, says the New York Press. Sunning himself at the other end of the bench was as fine a specimen of the genus hobo as ever disfigured a landscape. After seating himself the dapper young man drew a handsome silver case from his pocket and extracted therefrom a cigarette. With the cigarette between his teeth, he drew out a silver matchbox, to find it empty. Snapping down the lid, he turned to the tramp, hesitated, then said: "I beg pardon, my friend, but do you happen to have a match?" Hands plunged into his trousers' pockets and legs sprawled out before him, the tramp surveyed his neighbor with an air of deep melancholy. "Say," he muttered hoarsely, "who do you think I am—J. Pierpont Morgan?"

Among the Worst City Noises.

All American cities are afflicted with too many noises, most of them wholly unnecessary, and in the opinion of scientists this is the cause of many of the nervous disorders which are characteristic of the nation. None, however, is so useless and annoying as the raucous yelling of the street peddlers who drive their carts at a snail's pace through the residence districts, shouting at the top of their voices from morning until night. The practice is offensive enough to well persons who have enjoyed a night's rest, but to the sick and to night workers who are compelled to sleep in the daytime it is an intolerable hardship from which they have a right to be protected by law.—Kansas City Journal.

Honeymoon on Desert.

During the honeymoon trip of Hon. William Bourke Cockran to Europe and Egypt, he spent part of the time with his wife in a tent on the desert of Sahara for the benefit of Mrs. Cockran's health.

Abandons Buzzards Bay.

Ex-President Cleveland has evidently abandoned his former summer home on Buzzards bay for that home in Tamworth, N. H., where he has spent the last two summers with his family.

HAS REAL GRIEVANCE,
Prisoner Suffers Inconveniences in an Indian Jail.

A prisoner in Rampore Boalla jail, has a clear grievance against the government. There are certain inconveniences inseparable from prison life which all reasonable criminals more or less unwillingly accept, but the most complained draw the line at being marked down and eluded by a leopardess in the seclusion of the prison yard. The animal seems to have been inspired by a suffragette-like curiosity as to the inside of a prison, and having got in by the highly irregular method of leaping the wall she ensconced herself among the low brick piers on which the old barracks are raised from the ground. In the early afternoon she espied a prisoner in the yard clearing up, and, like the impulsive creature she is, promptly leaped upon him, striking him to the ground and clawing his back. Then, with the fickleness of her sex, she suddenly changed her mind, and in an access of shyness ran away and hid herself among the brick pillars. Now Col. R. R. Weir, inspector general of prisons, happened to be in the village, and to him the incident was reported. Though it cannot be said that the duties of an inspector general of prisons included the destruction of vermin, Col. Weir did not stop to consider technicalities, but borrowed a rifle. After some difficulty in getting within striking distance of the intruder as she lay in her fastness, he succeeded in planting his first shot behind her shoulder, after which nothing remained to be done but to drag off the carcass and record its tape measurements as more than seven feet.—London Daily Telegraph.

A Substitute.
Being very close-fisted Mason had never allowed himself the costly habit of smoking. He always felt himself a loser when anyone treated to cigars. But on one occasion, when the party he was with entered a stationery and cigar store, he made up his mind to have his share of the treat. "Won't you smoke this time?" asked the leader. "No, thank you," replied Mason; "but if you don't mind, I believe I'll take a pencil."—Harper's Weekly.

It's the Frogue.
"Why do we call a handkerchief a bracelet?" asked the commissioner of an Irish recruit at a recent police examination. "Faith, because it is intended for arrest," replied the applicant. And he got the position at once.

Real Hard Cider.
John Fair, a highly respected citizen of Montgomeryville, Armstrong county, has at his home a small keg containing several quarts of cider which was made by himself 51 years ago, says the Philadelphia Record. Altogether there were several kegs of the liquid, but now only a few quarts remain, and Mr. Fair is guarding that jealously. The cider is so old that it has turned black in color, and so strong that less than a teaspoonful will put a drinker in the Happy Land.

An Explanation.
"Fat men are invariably honest," said the deep thinker, "and I believe it's because they are so sensitive about their fat." "I don't see what you mean?" "Well, if they should be dishonest, and get caught at it they might have to wear convict suits with the stripes running in the most uncoming becoming way."

F. D. Parks, of Stamford, was here this week visiting friends and prospecting for a location. The editor saw Capt. E. E. McGee at Hedley Saturday. Capt. McGee is an ardent old rebel, and the fact that he was not here on the 4th to meet with the ex-Confederates in their annual reunion was the cause of some comment as he has always taken a big interest in affairs of the local camp, being for several years the commander of same. The captain's excuse is good and sufficient. On the morning of the 3rd he was requested by a neighbor, Marion Winter, to go with him to Dallas in company with his 12-year-old daughter on whom it was necessary to perform an operation for appendicitis. He of course consented and forego his trip to Clarendon. He returned from Dallas on the 11th, and reported the little girl in such bad shape that the operation had not yet been performed. The Banner-Stockman trusts that the child will recover, and that nothing will prevent the jolly captain from being with us next time.

ANOTHER GOOD MAN GONE

Death's Invading Hand is Again Felt in Clarendon and a Valuable Citizen is Gone.

W. P. Powell died at his residence in this city last Friday night shortly after dark, aged 58 years. The announcement of his death was received with genuine sorrow by all our people, for during the three years that he had been among us as business man, church member and citizen he had endeared himself to a constantly widening circle of friends and acquaintances.

Mr. Powell had really been at death's door for several weeks. His last illness dates back more than two months when he was stricken down at the ticket window in the union depot at Ft. Worth, where he had just passed a trying day of business exertion. He was removed to the hospital and finally regained consciousness and was permitted to return home, but never regained his strength. He remained up and about town for a few weeks, then took to his bed where he remained until the end. The disease was some form of brain trouble, a clot of blood having formed at the base of the brain, paralyzing the faculties as well as one side of the body.

The funeral was held at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon, his pastor, Rev. W. C. Hilburn, officiating. The Masonic and Knights of Pythias Lodges were in attendance in a body, and the Order of the Eastern Star and the Pythian Sisters were also represented. The Masons took charge of the remains and the interment was under their care.

No somber drapery marked the funeral, but instead the altar was piled high with all manner of flowers and the casket buried with floral offerings. The Masons occupied the right and the Knights of Pythias the left of the church, and seldom indeed is so large an attendance of lodge members seen at a funeral. Deceased's Sunday school class occupied its usual place, and a vacant chair bedecked with crepe denoted the absence of their beloved teacher. Brother Hilburn's sermon was inspiring to the christian and consoling to the bereaved ones. He touched lightly, yet feelingly, on the life of the departed one, telling briefly of his many noble Christian traits of character, and the vast congregation seemed spiritually to breathe a deep "amen" to all that the speaker said.

The Banner-Stockman knew Mr. Powell, not only as a business friend, but in a true spirit of friendship. Throughout the time we never found him otherwise than strictly honest, impartial and courteous, with a fund of good humor seemingly unending. We have never known a man with a more pleasant, friendlier disposition, and in consequence of that disposition deceased numbered his friends only by the limitation of his acquaintanceship. He was a popular lodge man, a conscientious church member, and as husband and father, tender and true. The community has lost a splendid citizen. We are joined by our citizenship universally in extending to the bereaved family a heart-felt sympathy.

College Notes.

The new six horse power gasoline engine for furnishing water for three buildings is being placed this week by Mr. J. W. McCurry. Over it he will build a frost proof house of cement blocks. The dormitories have never had sufficient water and this engine will take the place of the old windmill and give an abundant supply.

Letters were received this week from Cassius Carter and Miss Forest Gray asking about arrangements for next year.

Messrs. Neeley, Willard and McNairy have rooms at the Young Men's Dormitory and are attending the Normal.

The College Circle will give an ice cream supper at the College campus under the trees and on the galleries next Friday, July 26, at 6 p. m. The ladies have arranged a series of gatherings of this sort for the purpose of raising their $1000 contribution towards the new building.

News comes from Dallas announcing the death of Mr. Tugwell, father of our popular and efficient primary teacher. Miss Tugwell has the heartfelt sympathy of all the College and town people.

Married.

Mr. John Miller and Miss Dollie Gatlin were united in marriage Wednesday evening, Rev. C. C. Bearien officiating. It was a pleasant affair, and after congratulations, the happy couple and friends repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nath Goldston, where an elegant supper awaited them. Mr. Miller is a young man of exemplary habits and sterling business qualities, and Miss "Dollie" is a favorite among a large circle of friends. The Banner-Stockman bespeaks for them many long and happy years, as they travel together along the road of life.

—All kinds of cots, duck and woven wire, mattresses to fit. Sleep cool and have pleasant dreams. Kerbow & Asher. tf
