Business Change

J. J. Mickle, of Memphis, has contracted to take over the business of The Powell Trading Company, and invoicing will begin next week. In the trade the Messrs. Powell get some valuable Hall county land and other property.

W. P. Powell and his sons have been in business for the past several years and have popularized their store with the people by their courteous and pleasant treatment of all. We have never regretted the passing of a firm as sincerely as we do in this instance, and we are sure the public generally hold similar views.

Mr. Mickle is a prominent business man of Memphis, a member of the Mickle-Burgher Hardware firm at that point. We are glad to welcome him to Clarendon. Messrs. E. H. Powell and C. C. Powell will retain their positions with the store, the former as bookkeeper, the latter as manager of the grocery department.

—Stocking has the wall paper.

From Panhandle District.

T. S. Bugbee of Clarendon, president of the Panhandle Stockmen's association, is here, "just to get a line on the convention and see how things are done in brown style at the livestock exposition." Mr. Bugbee maintains a keen interest with the Texas association, though he is more closely affiliated with the Panhandle association. However, the interests of the two associations are identical, and a general pull together is indulged in. Mr. Bugbee expects a great convention and show of the Panhandle association at Roswell during next month.—Fort Worth Record.

One of the biggest amusement enterprises ever attempted in late years is the production of "A Runaway Tramp" on an elaborate scale, with their special scenery, their own special stage, and all produced under canvass. You will see it played in full, without being cut short on account of small hall and no scenery. Don't miss seeing it at Clarendon March 29.

HE LIKES DONLEY COUNTY

One of Our New Investors Writes Interestingly of His Observations and Expectations.

Mr. F. T. Dexter, who came down from Colorado a few weeks ago to "see the country," and who, seeing, was convinced to the extent that he bought a farm near Southard, writes the following letter to his home paper, the Ft. Collins (Colo.) Courier:

To the Editor of the Courier.

So numerous have been the inquiries coming to me concerning my recent trip to Clarendon, Texas, and the local interest manifested in that section is so great that I feel that I can do nothing better than write a brief letter concerning the things I have seen and the conclusions I have reached after a thorough investigation, and thereby let my friends know something of the features of that country, although I realize that mere words must fall far short of conveying a full understanding of the subject.

When on the 19th day of February I boarded the train with a party which the Western Real Estate Exchange was escorting to Clarendon, it was with no intention of investing in Texas lands: the rates offered were so low and the prospect of a pleasant trip so promising that I joined the party for the latter purpose alone, but upon my arrival at Clarendon, and after driving over some of the farms which our former Lamar county friends and neighbors have bought for homes I found the attractions and inducements irresistible and joined the Lamar county colony of land owners. I found Henry Spotts, formerly of Loveland, enviably situated on a grand farm of 710 acres, and drove over the full section bought by Harvey Brownell, and these farms, with many others owned by people from here and elsewhere I cannot but pronounce the equal of anything I have ever seen. The soil is a rich, sandy loam, varying from dark to red and yellowish red, and beneath all is a reddish subsoil that holds moisture almost indefinitely, and with the annual rainfall of thirty inches a crop is almost assured. The country around Clarendon has for four years been recognized by all stock men as the best grazing land in Texas, a heavy growth corresponding to our blue-stem, gramma or buffalo grass, covering the ground like a carpet. The supply of mesquite has never failed through long years of grazing and indicates the wonderful fertility of the soil. The country is admirably adapted to alfalfa, it is growing practically the year round. One piece I saw had been seeded last October, and is today coming on with perfect stand, having grown all winter. Alfalfa is surely destined to become the principal crop. The corn matures in quantity and quality equal to that of the great eastern corn states, and the late planting and early maturing makes of it one of the easiest crops raised. But it is impossible for me to mention even a small part of the crops so abundantly grown there. Kaffir corn, milo maize, all kinds of small grain are extensively and profitably cultivated, and the shipping facilities are excellent. And such ideal conditions for stock feeding! Every pound of feed yields its full proportion towards building up live weight, instead of being wasted in merely "wintering over" the stock. Wild winters, good range, home grain and unsurpassed shipping facilities surely make of this section a stock feeder's paradise. Pure, soft water may be readily obtained any place the farmer chooses to put his well, and in inexhaustible supply. For either large or small fruit, I believe the country cannot be beaten. The apples grown there are beauties, and much as I have heretofore boasted of the Colorado peach, I must admit that the country in the vicinity of Clarendon beats Colorado as a peach country, especially in points of early maturing for the market.

The county seat, Clarendon, I found to be a hustling city of about 3000 inhabitants, and I was most favorably impressed with its importance, present and prospective. I wish I might go more fully into the details of this country, but space forbids. I feel it due the Western Real Estate Exchange to acknowledge on behalf of the entire party, as well as myself, our representation of their courteous treatment, and I take it upon myself to give my friends assurance that every appreciation they have made or are making is fully in accordance with the facts as you will find them should you take the trip.

F. T. DEXTER.

Saved Her Son's Life.

The happiest mother in the little town of Ava, Mo., is Mrs. S. Ruppee. She writes: "One year ago my son was down with such serious lung trouble that our physician was unable to help him; when by our druggist's advice I began giving him Dr. King's New Discovery, and I soon noticed an improvement. I kept this treatment up for a few weeks when he was perfectly well. He has worked steadily since at carpenter work. Dr. King's New Discovery saved his life." Guaranteed best cough cure by Dr. J. D. Stocking, Druggist. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A Novelist's Mission.

The neglect of Disraeli's writings may be in part due to the fact that most people think it is below the dignity of a statesman, or of any man following what is called a "serious" profession, to compose works of fiction. Certainly, many do not yet understand that the man who writes novels may be a very wise man; they do not realize that accurately to portray human nature and to present pictures of life is not only a most worthy, but also a most difficult task, requiring for its performance an intelligence far above the average, acute powers of observation, and a keen sense of humor. For surely the great novelist is the observer sounding the depths, while others glance at the surface and examine the mysteries of life, while others are content to overlook even the obvious.—Melville's Victorian Novelists.

Harmon, of Lizemore, West Va., says: "At last I have found the perfect pill that never disappoints me; and for the benefit of others afflicted with torpid liver and chronic constipation, will say: take Dr. King's New Life Pills." the Cheapest is the BEST

Cement blocks will prove to be the best building material known. They have strength, durability and beauty of finish. They will make a more beautiful house than stone, lumber or brick. They fit together perfectly, giving a wall a finished appearance that can only be attained by the symmetrical arrangement of material. I am now making a 6-inch block that is a beauty and on which I can make prices that will interest you. They are the cheapest and BEST material you can buy to build a home. New Theory of Sleep.

Sir William Gowers has recently developed a new theory of sleep. According to his explanation, the suspension of consciousness in sleep is probably due to a "break and make" action among the brain cells. The activity of the brain is considered to be due to nerve cells, from which spring nerve cords that go on dividing and subdividing until they terminate in little knobs. Formerly it was believed that the nerve cells of the brain were in permanent connection by means of their terminals; but now it appears that these are only in opposition and capable of being separated. The hypothesis is that during sleep such separation takes place, and the fact that narcotic substances are capable of inducing sleep is held to support this view.

Nerve Sick

If weak, worn-out, nervous, cannot sleep, have indigestion, headache, neuralgia or periodic pains, it is because your nerves are weak. It is the lack of nerve force that makes the stomach, heart, lungs, etc., work imperfectly—become sick. Dr. Miles' Nervine cures the sick when it restores nerve strength, and puts the power behind the organs to do their work.

"Almost three years I suffered from nervousness, indigestion, and palpitation of the heart. I could not eat or sleep with comfort, or walk or talk without suffering. Altogether I was in a bad condition. My doctor did not seem to do me any good. I had tried so many remedies that I did not have much hope of any of them doing me any good. Dr. Miles' Nervine was suggested by a friend. I got relief from the first, and after a few days I felt like a new person. It not only relieved my heart and nerves, but has invigorated my whole system. I am very grateful because since I have stopped using it, I have had absolutely no return of my old trouble."

TO OUR READERS.

Your indulgence is asked this week: The editor has just passed through the most trying ordeal of his life—the death of his father; and in addition to that has had sickness at home. In consequence he has been unable to be at his post, and unfitted for duty had he been there. The paper has been under the care of Mr. Alvis Weatherly, and his multitudinous duties as editor, manager, foreman, printer, etc., etc., have conspired against him, although he has done as well as could have been done under the circumstances. Our patrons will please bear with us until the work of the office again gets straightened out. I hope to be with you again next week.

Very truly,
JOHN E. COOKE, Editor.

Rowe Ramblings.

ROWE, TEXAS, Mar. 19.
EDITOR BANNER-STOCKMAN:

Farmers are now making war with mother earth with a view to early planting. Old Sol is now dispensing his long pent up power with such intensity that it reminds one of "summer solstice."

The business firm of Jones and Gault is now moving from Rowe to Healdy, the new town one mile east. A party from Quanah has the contract to move the building.

The Presbyterian church will also be moved and several other houses. The new town is spreading out with such incredible celerity that it may soon be able to reach out and shake hands with Memphis.

There is considerable sickness in this community. The most prevalent is la grippe.

Miss Callie Johnson has been sick for several days and Miss Josie Lochridge is teaching in her place.

It is with sadness that we chronicle the death of little Hettie Putman, the 5 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Putman of Healdy. She died on the morning of the 15th inst. and was laid to rest on the following day. Bro. Dickey conducted the funeral services in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives. The parents and relatives of the deceased have our heartfelt sympathy in this, their sad hour bereavement. The passing away of this sweet flower has made a wound that time can never heal, though death leaves a shining mark and reminds us that henceforth we should be more faithful in the discharge of our duty to the living. "The Lord hath given and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

A Sunbeam, Indeed.

The gloom that was cast over the home of the editor on Sunday was brightened twenty-four hours later by the arrival of a son, who was immediately christened William Henderson Cooke, after his grand father who died the day before. May he be as good a man as his namesake, and may his life be as long and useful, is our prayer.

Next Sunday will be the occasion of the annual congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church of Clarendon. The work of the closing year will be reported and new plans laid for the coming year. We hope to have all who feel an interest in our work, present; especially members.

—Our line of cold drinks cannot be surpassed in any city. The Globe.

WILLIAM HENDERSON COOKE.

Dr. Wm. H. Cooke, father of the editor of this paper, died at his home in Clarendon Sunday afternoon after an illness of about one week. The cause of his death was pneumonia. He was taken sick Monday night and a physician summoned. On Tuesday his condition was worse, and on Wednesday alarming, and his absent children were sent for. He grew steadily worse and died as above stated. His wife and five children, Mrs. Dr. J. R. Briggs, of Dallas; Robt. F. Cooke, of Fort Worth; Mrs. Albert Erwin, of Denton; John E. Cooke and Mrs. Marguerite McCormick, of Clarendon, were all present at his death and for several days prior. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon and was conducted by the Masonic Lodge, of which he had been a member for more than half a century. So great was the esteem in which this good man was held that with one accord the business houses closed and the public school dismissed and the entire community united in showing love, reverence and respect by attending the funeral. A larger concourse of people was never seen on a similar occasion in Clarendon, while the number of lodge members in attendance was greater than ever before.

Although more than 75 years of age Dr. Cooke possessed a vigorous constitution and was actively engaged in the practice of dentistry. He also took an active interest in church and lodge affairs. He was a consecrated Christian, and since childhood had been a worthy member of the Baptist church, always taking a deep interest in the affairs of the church, being a deacon, and also being especially interested in Sunday school work.

Dr. Cooke was a man who bore his troubles with christian cheerfulness, always presenting a sunny side to the world, and the people at large feel that in him they have lost, even though they were only chance acquaintances, one who was always willing to help them in their hour of trial. But those near and dear ones he leaves feel his loss most keenly, and can again comfort only from the fact that his finite self was so close to the infinite that the transition from the material to the spiritual was only a step and the reward certain, and that, measuring time by life eternal, it can't be long until the family will be a re-united one in the house not made with hands, where all is love and peace and joy.

A sketch of the life of deceased will be given in these columns as soon as the editor feels able to prepare it.

ALVIS WEATHERLY.

LITTLE ONE UNFORTUNATE

Small Son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith, of Bray, Killed by Drinking Coal Oil.

The Bray community was shocked at the sudden death of Roy Eugene, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith, which occurred Tuesday night. The little child's age was two years, lacking six days. The manner of its death was unusually singular. Mrs. Smith had placed a cup of coal oil on a shelf and the little one made an attempt to get it with the result of overturning it in its face. This caused it to gasp for breath and in doing so became strangled, some of the oil entering its lungs. Despite all attentions no relief could be given, its death occurring in about three hours. The funeral took place at the Rowe cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

This death is the second one in the family in the last few weeks.

GREEN CUT BONE MEAL

READ and if you will admit that the explanation is reasonable and the method practical.

This article known as GREEN CUT BONE MEAL is manufactured from the bones of animals, while the bones are fresh.

Have You Poultry? If so, Read On.

Green Cut Bone contains every ingredient necessary for the formation of eggs; albumen, carbonate and phosphate of lime; compound of calcium, sodium and magnesia, and a trace of iron.

Every element in the egg (yolk, white or shell) abounds in raw bone, which is practically an egg in another form. Successful poultrymen know these facts and regard raw bone as a necessary part of the diet for poultry.

- It will double the number of eggs when you want them most.
- It stops egg eating.
- It stops feather picking.
- It prevents roup and other ills.
- It makes eggs more fertile.
- It hatches more vigorous chicks.
- It makes chicks grow faster, stronger and larger.
- It makes broilers earlier.
- It makes pullets lay sooner.
- It surpasses in value any other food you can give them, and
- It makes every hen a paying hen.
- It imparts every essential for poultry life.

Green Cut Bone Meal Dispenses With Condition Powders and Other Chemical Compounds

DIRECTIONS: Feed an ounce about three times a week, for every adult fowl. This can be fed in mash or scattered.

This bone being so highly nutritious we would not advise feeding it to brooder chicks oftener than three times a week. When you scatter the Green Cut Bone among the wildest scramble ensues, the little fellows tumbling over each other in their eagerness to get it. The fowl demands raw animal food. This food, "fed as directed," will keep the fowls healthy and productive.

Burton-Betts.

In the presence of a large gathering of friends at the Methodist church Wednesday night, Rev. G. S. Hardy, presiding elder of the Plainview district, spoke the solemn words that joined the lives and fortunes of Mr. C. A. Burton and Miss Gabie Betts. Although the wedding was a very quiet affair the popularity of the bride and groom caused the church to be filled to overflowing, and many who were anxious to witness the ceremony were denied the privilege because of the crowd.

Mr. Burton's popularity is evidenced by the fact that he has been elected county and district clerk of Donley county for the past two terms without opposition, while Miss Betts, in her capacity of primary teacher in Clarendon College, won the friendship of all with whom she has come in contact. In fact it is probable that this marriage carries with it the best wishes of more people than any like event that has occurred in Clarendon for months. The Banner-Stockman considers itself a warm friend of the contracting parties and wishes for them all that perfect conjugal felicity implies.

The Meaning of Easter

The True Gladness of the Easter Day

By Rev. William Byrne,
(Catholic Vicar-General Archdiocese of Boston.)

ESTER Sunday is the day on which the church commemorates the resurrection of our Lord from the dead.

By raising Himself from the dead, Christ triumphed over all His enemies, and gave the most convincing proof of His divinity. He foretold His resurrection. "The Son of Man shall be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth." (Matt. xii, 40.) Speaking of the temple of His body, He said: "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up." (John ii, 19.) "On the third day He shall rise again." (Matt. xx, 19.) "I lay down my life that I may take it again. I have power to lay it down and take it up again." (John x, 18.)

The resurrection of Christ was a miracle; that is, something beyond the power of any created being to effect. Christ by His divine power recalled His soul to His body, and arose from the tomb glorious and immortal. He appeared frequently to His apostles and disciples after His resurrection; and to cure the doubting mind of St. Thomas, allowed him to touch the wounds.

The true significance of this festival is well expressed in the gradual and sequence of the Easter liturgy. "This is the day the Lord hath made; let us rejoice and be glad. Christ, our Pasch, is immolated."

"Let Christians offer praise to the Paschal victim. The Lamb has redeemed the flock. The sinless Christ has reconciled sinners to His Father. Death and Life waged a wondrous conflict. The Lord of Life by dying lives and reigns."

The resurrection of Christ is the model of our spiritual regeneration and the pledge of our immortality.

William Byrne '05

The Hope, Memory and Reality of Easter

By Rev. Albert Parker Fitch,
(Of the Congregational Church.)

THE Resurrection, which we celebrate on Easter day, means one of two things to most people. It is either a memory or a hope. To the young into whose souls the wise years have not ground their experience of pain, their proof of the utter unreasonableness and malignant cruelty of life, if this life here were all, to them Easter is a far-off fading memory which has no especial significance for to-day. Jesus' resurrection is an infinitely remote event, a magical wonder. It occurred under other skies, in a distant land, amid a worn-out and forgotten civilization. To be sure there is historical evidence for it, but they accept it, if they accept it at all, with about as much vividness of perception as they accept the death of Alexander or the assassination of Julius Caesar.

Then, to older men and women, the resurrection is not so much a memory as a hope. It is a hope born of a desperate necessity. We remember little children who sleep in tiny graves to-day and our hearts demand that they be Easter graves. We remember great souls, passed on now, to whom we gave our worship in our youth. We have lived beside them and seen their deathless effort, their far-reaching aspiration, their virtue, strength, wisdom, power, light—all the persistent heroism of the soul. And then, when the highest station had been reached, when the noblest song was quivering at last upon their triumphant lips, we've seen it all end. Virtue, strength, wisdom, power, light, all vanished! Nothing left but dust to dust, ashes to ashes, rottenness to mother earth. And, seeing all this, the resurrection is not a fading memory to such souls. O, no! it stands for a desperate hope. There must be something beyond. Somewhere, sometime these shall live again.

But to the Christian, to that happy man whom Jesus has found, the resurrection is not a memory and not a hope; he forgets both of these in his joy in its present reality. The Easter assurance of immortality is not a far-off promise, it is a present gift; not a future hope, but an immediate possession. For God has come into him and taken possession of him, and he is living for the things of God in the eternal light and power of God, and he is already one of the immortals.

Albert Parker Fitch

The Question Answered By the Resurrection

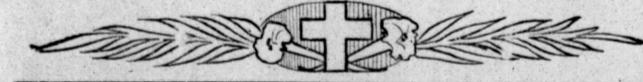

By Rev. Reuben Kidner,
(Of the Episcopal Church.)

THE meaning of the resurrection is that it confirms the belief in the immortality of the soul, which all mankind everywhere have held. Socrates, just before the end, says to his friends: "But that which I some time since argued at length, that when I have drunk the poison I shall no longer remain with you, but shall depart to some happy state of the blessed." On an ancient Greek tomb we read: "Mother, leave thy grief, remembering the soul which Zeus has rendered immortal and undecaying to me for all time, and has carried now into the starry skies." This is another Greek utterance: "Dying, thou art not dead! thou art gone to a happier country. And in the isles of the blest thou rejoicest, and thou shalt not hunger or thirst any more. Yea, and thy gods are thy light, and glory is ever upon thee."

Thoughts like these occupied the minds of the best and wisest long before the Christian era. Intimations of immortality abound in all literatures. The resurrection is not a bolt out of a clear sky. It is rather a stage in a process of evolution. It builds upon that which has gone before. It adds to what is already known. It confirms what was surmised. It gives form and shape to shadowy, but persistent and indestructible hopes and longings. The thought of the ages prepared the way for belief in the resurrection, and, when it happened, millions were ready to believe.

Do Not Crowd the Season.

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, as there is much more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by all druggists.

room, Verona, N. J., the black thief was killed and the ring recovered.

Mrs. Stoddard loves birds. She calls her home "The Aviary." She feeds birds and builds homes for them on the estate. So they become quite fearless, but, of all, a crow has shown the greatest tameness and familiarity.

The windows of Mrs. Stoddard's room were open, her rings were on a dresser. A maid entered the room;
the crow was on the dresser; it said
"caw" pleasantly to the maid, flew out of a window and perched on a tree branch near. The maid told Mrs.
Stoddard, who could not find her engagement ring, where she had left it.
She was loath to believe that any of her pets was dishonest, but the crow was under such strong suspicion that Adolph Schmidt shot it. He cut open its crop; there was the ring.

Around the bird's leg was a leather band with three flaks of a small brass chain, showing that it had been in captivity at some time.

GAIN IN EGYPT'S POPULATION.

Next Census Is Expected to Show
a Good Increase.

Egypt is to have a new census taken. Taking the census in Egypt, and, in fact, in all eastern countries,
is an extremely difficult and delicate task, as from the time immemorial the ordeal has been looked upon with disfavor of orientals. The population of Egypt has been a very irregular one, varying in proportion as the country came under the subjection of successive invaders. Thus, when Egypt became a Roman province in B. C. 30 her population was estimated at about 18,000,000.

That peace counts for a great factor in the increase of Egyptian population can be proved by the fact that in 1897 the census gave the total as 9,734,405, or an increase of 43 per cent in 15 years. With that as a basis, taking into consideration that there have been no events calculated to cause a decrease, that the Egyptians are a prolific race and that the prosperity of the past decade has attracted numbers of foreigners to the country, one would not be far wrong in computing the figures of the next census to be over 13,000,000—rather more than less.

Parting at the Station.

Those who listened at the man and woman parted at the station heard this conversation:

"Goodby, dear."
"Goodby. Don't forget to tell Bridget to have the chops for dinner."
"All right."
"And be sure and feed the canary."
"Sure."
"Lock up the silver every night."
"Very well."
"And don't forget that the gasmater is coming to renew the burners. Be sure and have him put the four-foot burner in the servant's room."
"I'll remember."
"Order kindling wood on Wednesday."
"All right."
"Consult the list I made out if you forget anything."
"I will."
"Better not kiss me. People will think we are just married."
"Not if they have been listening."

Dentist's Shrewd Scheme.

A Lawrence dentist, according to the Kansas City Journal, has discovered a scheme for making his patients keep their mouths open. Almost every one has seen the picture which is rivaling "The Whole Dam Family," and is called "A Yard of Yawns." The picture is a yard long, containing the pictures of a whole family, each member of which, from great-granddad to the baby, is yawning violently. Yawning, as many people know to their sorrow, is violently contagious, and one person yawning has often set a roomful of people to yawning. The dentist simply has the picture hanging in view of the dental chair, and he says that all of his patients are constantly yawning.

An Opportunity Sighted.

"Why don't you buy stock in that company?"
"It doesn't seem to me that the men running it have good business judgment. They say that in a month the price of the stock will be double."
"Yes?"
"Well, why don't they wait a month before selling it to me?"

Easily Satisfied.

"Notoriety is dearer than anything else to that man."
"Yes. He's all puffed up for an hour if he happens to see his name in the city directory."

You Wouldn't Believe Me

If I should tell you that you can obtain as good and in some cases better photographic work right here at home as you can in large cities. I have an ax to grind when I make the assertion and you know it. However, just to satisfy your curiosity, get a city picture, put a MULKEY photo by its side and see for yourself. Isn't this fair enough?

H. MULKEY Photographer.

the most delicious cream on the market. If you are a new resident of our town ask some of our old customers about the orderly place we

In Millinery

All depends on the style and quality. No lady wants a hat unless it is of the season's style or one of inferior goods.

Stylish Millinery

of standard quality is as staple as staple dry goods, groceries, hardware or furniture and is never on "bargain counters" or "job lots" as is the goods of a style a season or two ago. In buying my millinery I go to the best markets and buy only from houses of unquestioned reliability, hence I have no hesitancy in saying all my millinery goods are the

Standard of Style

and quality. My showing this season far surpasses any previous season and I'm sure you could make a selection that would please you. My every season's large increase attests the correctness of the styles and the quality of the goods I sell.
