

They're still all full up

'No vacancy' at county's feedlots

The long drouth, helped in the past few months by a healthy cattle market, has swelled area cattle feeding operations to near-capacity. And no let-up is expected this time, local feedlot managers agree.

Most cattle feeding operations report between 90 and 100 per cent capacity, the situation they have been facing since December of last year. It was during December that many independent cattle raisers felt the pinch of the drouth on their grazing land and were forced to begin moving their animals into feedlots.

The lack of moisture brought an abrupt end to normal wheat pasturing many cattle raisers were accustomed to. Their animals were not getting sufficient gains from the dry wheat and the feedlots provided the only answer.

At the same time, mid-December cattle prices of about 26 cents a pound vaulted to its present level of about 31 cents a pound and this prompted owners to send their animals to the pens for additional gains.

James McCarty, manager of Big Tex Cattle and Grain feedlots, said the tonnage of cattle this year is "way down from last year, about 25 to 30 pounds."

"The numbers in the lot are real good, though," he said. "We are at capacity (24,000) right now and we don't normally expect this time of year."

"Normally we are at about 20,000 and we would hold this through the middle of August."

The normal availability of yearling cattle is down, also, McCarty said, and it won't be long until feedlot operators will be looking for replacements.

"What we need now is a real good rain," McCarty said. "If we had had a lot of moisture earlier a lot of these yearlings wouldn't even be here."

The movement of cattle that usually keeps the animals moving from pasture to feedlots then out has almost stopped, McCarty said. He said he feels the local feedlots will be able to take care of the number of cattle in this area.

"But, like I said, what we really need is a good rain. If we had it we would keep the cattle on grass and would have a more steady supply of local cattle. That way we wouldn't have to go off and get the cattle."

"It would just be a healthier situation. When it rains, everybody benefits," he said.

Wayne Barber, manager at Texsun Feed Yards, said his pens have been full since about mid-February and this is attributed, to a certain extent, because of the dry conditions and the increase in prices on feed cattle.

"Prices are quite a bit different now than they were in December. They have come up a good, strong six cents in the past four months, and this has helped fill the pens," Barber said. "As long as the fat price will hold up to about 31 or 33 cents, there will be good feeding practices."

Barber said the movement of cattle, though not necessarily on a cycle as it used to be, is steady with fall cattle coming off grass and spring cattle coming off wheat.

"The drouth has helped the feeding operations to a certain extent and I think this has also improved the prices."

Lloyd Olson at Hereford Feedyards, said the supply of cattle came in earlier this year than it normally does, but again, this was probably because of the drouth. The earlier cattle also showed less weight than usual, he said.

Sugarland Feedyards manager Melvin Cordray said they are operating at about 90 per cent capacity and the pens have been "full all winter."

CAPACITY CROWD — Area cattle feeding operations have experienced near capacity conditions since about mid-December because of the shortage of moisture that has cut down on the grazing of animals. Cattle that cannot be grazed are being brought to the feedyards in large numbers. The feedyard shown is just southeast of Hereford. —Photo by Betty Koelzer

Golfers over 40 hit links

The 13th annual Golf Begins At 40 tournament will be conducted at the Hereford Golf Course Saturday and Sunday. Defending champion Jack Williams of Plainview is expected to be among the players.

Entry deadline is 7 p. m. Friday for the 36-hole, stroke play tournament. Entry fee is $15. Players will be fought by handicaps, with a special flight for players over 60.

Competitors will play 18 holes on Saturday, with each player showing up at random during the day to start play whenever he wishes. Pairings and starting times will be set for Sunday's final round of 18 holes.

Course pro Cal Garrett said if the tournament works out like it has in the past, players not in the tournament will be worked onto the course whenever a tournament group is not ready to tee off.

The course "is green, in pretty good shape," course superintendent Donald Bridges said. "We're green and growing, actually so fast we're having trouble keeping up with mowing it. Some out-of-town golfers last weekend said our greens are some of the best they've played on all year."

Jeanne Hair meets 'dilemma' in spelling bee

Jeanne Hair, winner of the County Spelling Bee in March, missed the word "dilemma" during Saturday's Regional Spelling Bee in Amarillo, and was the 13th student to drop out of the competition.

Jeanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hair of 209 Star, spelled it "d-i-l-e-m-a." She missed it during the third round of spelling among some 45 students from New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas.

A sixth grade student at Shirley Elementary School, Jeanne won the Junior Spelling Bee and the County Spelling Bee here March 19.

Grady Cope, a sixth grade teacher at Shirley, who helped Jeanne work on her spelling after school, said the words used in the spelling bee in Amarillo were not in the pamphlet distributed to contestants.

"We had a pamphlet, but the words were not taken from it," he said. "Jeanne had never seen even the words given. I think this might be why the bee lasted only 16 rounds, because the kids were not familiar with the words given."

David Johnston of Berger won the Regional Spelling Bee.

It's auction time again for Lions

The annual Hereford Lions Club Radio Auction will be on the air today, Friday and Saturday.

The merchandise available in the auction has been donated by merchants around the community. Proceeds will go to the Opportunity Plan scholarship plan operated by West Texas State University.

"We want to make this the very best auction we've ever had," auction chairman John Alkin said. It will be at Sugarland Mall, in the place formerly occupied by Chaparral Restaurant.

KPAN will broadcast the auction, which will start at 4 p. m. and end at 8 p. m. each day, Thursday through Saturday. KPAN's Roy Faubion will be at the mike along with Lions Charlie Bell, Charlie Riggs and Bob Holman.

A special phone number will be given for radio listeners to call in and submit bids on the items. Bids will be aired over the radio as they come in, and the various merchandise and its donor will be described.

Persons also will be able to go to the Mall and see the items up for sale and bid for them in person.

Some of the items will be sold on Thursday, some on Friday, and bids will be started on some on Thursday and continued on through Saturday.

Deposits go up over '70

The early bleakness of the overall farm picture dipped into the deposits of both local banks, lowering resource totals from the December call by more than $4 million. But the picture was good in contrast to 12 months ago.

In their quarterly statements of condition just issued the combined resources of the Hereford State Bank and First National showed a drop from $46,539,964.06 to $42,208,672.29. This was a decrease of $4,331,312.

The deposits in the two banks showed a sizable increase over those of the same time last year, however. The Hereford State Bank had an increase of $1,473,778 compared to the same time of 1970, and the First National Bank had an increase of $2,419,044 during the same period.

Deposits at the First National at the close of business April 20 of this year were $24,765,758.62 and at the Hereford See DEPOSITS Page Two

Aim for state, coach urges

More than 600 high school athletes, parents and boosters of the local high school sports program, heard West Texas State football coach Gene Mayfield challenge the boys Monday night to aim for no less than the state championship next year.

"Set your goals high," the principal speaker urged. He said in each of his 17 years as a high school football coach "we planned on winning the state championship. I don't think you ought to ever play for defeat."

Mayfield, who never had a losing season while coaching at Littlefield, Berger and Odessa Permian and averaged winning at least eight games each season, said he never wanted his players to even know how to act when they lost.

"If you know how to act, then it means you were thinking beforehand about the possibility of losing. If you don't plan, every time you line up, to go to the state championships, you're going to be satisfied with less, and that's not good," he said.

Seven athletes were honored with News Service Awards at the banquet. The honors, given by Radio Station KPAN and The Hereford Brand for outstanding performance in each of the seven sports, went to Susie Sebastian in volleyball, Rudy Gonzales in baseball, John McNeely in golf, David Cupell in tennis, George Fuller in track, Mike Wartes in basketball and Harold Schmucker in football.

The athletes presented plaques to all the coaches and gave gifts to the cheerleaders.

Mayfield said the most important ingredient in a successful ball player is the ability to get himself emotionally involved in whatever he's doing.

"Don't play on the edges. Some players hold back. Why? I think because subconsciously they are afraid that what they have to offer won't be good enough. Let me tell you this, the only time you have to be embarrassed is when you don't get involved, when you don't give it everything you have," said the man who this year takes over the reins of the WT football team.

Mayfield said he has had big teams and small teams over the years, but the greatest rewards came with the small teams. In 1968, his Odessa Permian team had no business being in the state playoffs, he said. But despite its limited ability and lack of size, the team went all the way to the state finals and almost won that game. The players' success was due to their deep emotional involvement in football, he said. They keyed themselves up to a high pitch and refused to believe that they could lose and they seldom did, he said.

Wartes was pleased with the large turnout.

"A lot of people did a lot of work and the people really supported us at the banquet," Wartes said. "It was all very nice and we owe our appreciation to a lot of people."

Cancer drive 'looks good' in this county

The 1971 Cancer drive "looks very good" in Deaf Smith County, a spokesman for the local chapter said Wednesday.

The annual drive is being conducted in Deaf Smith County this week. It began with concentrated efforts in the rural, residential and business districts Tuesday and carried over into Wednesday and today.

Bud Eades was in charge of the business drive, Bobby Owens and the Key Club in charge of the house-to-house drive, and Margaret Carnahan in charge of the rural drive.

Edgar Lemons are seeking reelection to their posts as directors for Deaf Smith County, and A. W. Anthony Jr. and A. W. Gober are seeking reelection for Parmer County.

Movies will be provided for the children of those attending the meeting. Drawings will be conducted throughout the meeting and more than $600 will be given away in door prizes.

Checks totaling $84,068.37 will be paid to members. This figure represents 10 per cent of the money each member paid for his electrical requirements in 1969.

with hands clasped, is Gene Mayfield, West Texas State football coach, the principal speaker at the banquet. Wayne Thomas, at lower right, was master of ceremonies.

Spring grid drills start for 'Faces'

With the first Class AAAA season under the belt, the Hereford Whiteface football hopefuls take the field Monday to see what the prospects are for improving next fall on the 2-8 record chalked up in 1970.

Head football coach and athletic director Larry Wartes has nine returning lettermen back, and the emphasis for the three weeks of the spring training will be on fundamentals, he promises.

The returnees are linemen Steve Clark, Richard Sierra, Ralph Waits and Win Short and backs John Page, Danny Harris, Eugene Suttle, Danny Charest and Rudy Gonzales. All started at one time or another during the year.

Wartes will have to find the right combination to replace last year's passing combination of his son Mike Wartes, a unanimous all-district quarterback, to split end Harold Schmucker, which led District 4-AAAA in the aerial department. At least part of it is available, from early indications, in Keith Kitchens, a sophomore quarterback who carried the junior varsity to success last season.

"Overall, I think we have more ability. We just hope we can put them in the right place and get the best players out there," Wartes said Wednesday.

"Of course, when I say I think we have better kids, they are inexperienced though. They haven't played, and they have to prove themselves as players."

Take the linemen, for example. The raw talent probably is better than last year, but Clark is the only one with a lengthy playing log. Clark, who will be a senior next year, could be outstanding, Wartes feels. With Sierra, Short and perhaps Clark again, the defensive line situation may be stronger than the offensive alignment. Several backs and ends are capable of holding down linebacker and defensive end spots, too.

The practice sessions will be open to the public. The juniors and seniors will hit the field at 4 p. m. daily, with the freshmen starting earlier than that and lasting until after 4.

"We'll work about an hour and a half a day. Because of our inexperience, we'll probably have a little bit more contact than we usually would in a practice session," Wartes said.

There probably will be at least one scrimmage a week, with the last one scheduled for Saturday afternoon, May 22.

Spring training must end by the 22nd. Wartes said the team probably will practice 15 or 16 of the allowable days from May 3-22. Teams may not practice on Sundays.

Band preps for major competition

The Hereford High School Band arrives in Corpus Christi today for its biggest challenge of the year — competition against Texas' best Class AAAA high school bands.

Like Hereford, all bands at the Buccaneer Music Festival made it to Corpus Christi by winning sweepstakes — superior ratings in marching, sight-reading and concert.

The band will engage in actual competition on Friday, starting in the morning and continuing through much of the day. They'll find out late Friday or early Saturday now they have fared

Band... Juvenile bill should pass House Friday

(Continued From Page One) In headup competition against the state's major bands. Hereford was eligible for the Buccaneer Music Festival on each of its previous eight sweepstakes prior to 1970-71 but was competing in Class AAA before. The AAAA division involves about twice as many bands, and of higher caliber generally. "There will be about 30 Class AAAA bands at Corpus Christi. Most of the good bands in the state will be there," Hereford band director Ben Gollehon said before leaving. The band will spend Saturday on the beach next to the Gulf Coast and return Sunday to Hereford. The trip to Corpus Christi comes on the heels of the band's performance at the Greater Southwest Music Festival last weekend in Amarillo. The high school concert band made a superior, or "I" rating, but Clovis captured the outstanding band trophy. The junior high bands also shined. Both La Plata and Stanton made a "I" in concert to win consideration for outstanding junior high band, and La Plata won it. "They (La Plata) have been to a lot of festivals but they've never come out that good," Gollehon said. "It's the first time they've won the outstanding band award." Both Stanton and La Plata won Sweepstakes this year. This was the first festival of the 1970-71 year that had an outstanding band award. Between the two junior high schools, they brought back 50 soloist medals. From La Plata, the following rated Superior (I) at solo and ensemble contests in the Southwest Music Festival in Amarillo: Flute solo — Sandi Gans; cornet solo — Greg Barnes, Donny Fortenberry; French horn solo — Sue Roberts; trombone solo — Dan VanderZee; baritone solo — Lynn Lauderback; snare drum solo — Wesley Eades, Lee Line; and trumpet quartet — Craig Barton, Randy Hoelscher, Joel Pittard, David Readhimer. The following La Plata students were rated Excellent (II):

Clayton voted against two important bills that passed in the House this week. He voted against allowing 18-year-olds to vote, stating he felt "most of them are not totally prepared to take this responsibility. I feel they should be out on their own, experiencing how it is to make a living, before they have the voting right." Clayton also expressed the fear that 18-year-olds, given the right to vote, could seriously affect the city governments around college campuses. He stated he was afraid the amendment added to the bill, which declares that students being supported by their parents must vote at their hometown, would be declared unconstitutional. Clayton also voted against the bill giving women in Texas equal rights. "I hold the women of Texas on a pedestal, and I do not want them brought down to the equal of men by giving them equal rights," Clayton said. He added that he felt passage of the Wayne Williams, vice president at the Hereford State Bank, said the increase in deposits compared to the same period last year, was due mainly to "just normal growth and the fact that banks are getting back money that went for interest on government bonds and notes." Williams said the lowering of the interest rates on treasury notes and bonds, from last year's 7 1/2-8 1/2 per cent, has put the banks in a position to compete with their interest rates on time deposits. The rate now is between 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 per cent on CDs (certificates of deposit) and a lot of money went out into treasury notes," he said. "Now we are getting some of that money back."

Bronco League final meeting set for Friday

A final meeting before the season gets underway will be held at 8:30 Friday for all representatives of the Bronco League. The meeting will be held in the Pioneer Natural Gas warehouse. John Bunch, president of the league, said the meeting will be to discuss schedules, candy sale, setting a date to pick up equipment and uniforms, and to go over all the new rules that will govern the Bronco baseball league. Bunch also said that any boy who did not make try-outs but would like to be on a team can go by the baseball fields any afternoon and contact an official of the league.

Man is accused of attempting to kill officer

A 61-year-old Hereford man was jailed Monday night after local policemen struggled with him and took away a loaded revolver in a skating rink. Damacio Diaz Bocanegra of 408 Ave. I was jailed and charged with assault with intent to commit murder. His intended victim, police said, was officer Oscar Martinez. Martinez and another officer, Ricky Powers, were watching activities at a dance at the skating rink shortly before midnight Monday. Martinez said he went into a restroom on the northeast portion of the building and saw Bocanegra inside, wearing dark sunglasses and holding his left arm behind his back. Martinez said he greeted the man with "Hi, what are you doing here?" and Bocanegra swung around with a gun, stuck it in Martinez' stomach, cursed him and said he was going to kill him. Martinez struggled with the man, he said, and maneuvered him outside the restroom and called for Powers to help him. Between the two officers, they overcame Bocanegra, handcuffed him and took him to jail. "You are not going to send me to the electric chair so I am going to kill you yet," the 5-foot-9, 165-pound Bocanegra yelled at him, Martinez said.

Car-train wreck at local crossing injures woman

A west-bound freight train rammed into a car at the east edge of the city limits shortly after noon Monday, injuring a 19-year-old Hereford woman. Mrs. Betty Morgan was reported in good condition at Deaf Smith County with three broken ribs and several bruises. It was feared at first that her small son was in the accident also, but he was not found at the accident site. It was learned later that he was at a relative's house. The car was going south at the Progressive Road crossing. The train hit the vehicle on the left rear, on the driver's side. The car banged into several railroad cars and came to rest in a ditch south and west of the crossing. It was the third vehicle-train accident in the past two years at the crossing, which bears no signals, barriers or other warning devices. A person died in one of the accidents.

FUTURE SHOCK

TORONTO — Future generations may be unhappy because their mothers resented having to interrupt their careers to have babies, social anthropologist Lionel Tiger warned. Tiger suggested that society reorganize its work practices so that women can have their babies and careers at the same time.

SS checks to hike already large total

Deaf Smith County residents who are receiving social security checks each month will add a total of approximately $142,000 a year to the total they have been collecting.

The estimate is based upon figures for the local area, contained in the latest annual report of the Social Security Administration. It lists the number of retired and disabled workers on the pension rolls, as well as their dependents and the amounts being paid. All of them will be aided by the new legislation. Those who have been receiving no more than $768 a year, the current minimum, will be getting $945. The maximum for an individual will now be $2,537 a year and for a couple, $4,964.

Local residents who have been getting $100 a month, or $1,200 a year, will now receive $1,320. Those at the $1,900 level will get $1,980 in the future.

Prior to the new change in rates, pension payments in Deaf Smith County averaged $851 per recipient per year, according to the Social Security Administration.

This year, with the increase, the average will rise to $936 per beneficiary.

Total payments throughout the local area, based upon the number who were on the pension rolls as of the early part of 1970, will add up to about $1,558,000 this year, a considerable rise over the prior total of $1,418,000.

The increase in benefits is retroactive to January. The bigger checks will start going out during the first week of June. The additional amounts for the months prior to June will be issued soon afterward.

There will be no immediate rise in payroll taxes to pay for the larger benefits. The only adjustment provided for is a change in the income base subject to such taxes from $7,800 to $9,000 effective next January.

SCENES OF MENACE — Spooky presences and menacing weapons are much in evidence in the mystery-comedy, Ghost of Rhodes Manor, which will be Hereford Community Players' spring production to open Friday evening in the Little Bull Barn Theatre. The performance, by an all-woman cast directed by Juanita Owen, will be repeated at 8 p.m. Saturday. Viola Moore, secretary masquerading as a writer of mystery stories, takes notes, photo at left, while Elaine Clark wields her umbrella against Martha Watson, the ghost she has come to interview, and Donna Flesher as the grim caretaker looks on. In scene at right Sylvia High as the nervous maid registers terror as "the shadow" advances with a knife toward the writer, Sylvia Emerick, and Mary Hetzel as a mysterious stranger keeps her eye on the hypnotist, Lana Weyerman, who has been discovered lurking in the wardrobe. Joyce Haug as the owner of the reportedly haunted mansion stands in the background.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Ghosts, laughs mixed in Players' weekend show

Comedy of the old-fashioned sort that draws on characters, lines and situations for the laughs, is the hallmark of the mystery-farce, Ghost of Rhodes Manor, which Hereford Community Players will present Friday and Saturday evenings in the Little Bull Barn Theatre.

With an all-woman cast, the play is directed by Juanita Owen. Amy Gilliland is serving as producer. Curtain time is 8 p.m. and tickets will be on sale at the box office at $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

The plot, not hampered by any relation to reality, concerns an abandoned mansion at some distance from a town, reputed to be haunted. Action takes place at night, with lights going out, knives flashing, screams resounding and in one scene, a murdered body floating out the door — all giving the backstage crew plenty of work.

To pose the mystery and then solve it, the comedy has a mysterious stranger accompanied by a hypnotist, a mystery story writer and a woman who says she is a reporter, converge on the house one night.

For more complication, the writer and her secretary have changed places so far as the public is concerned, because the shy writer hates to talk to strangers. A jittery maid, a woman sheriff, the caretaker and owner of the old house are others involved in the play, not to speak of ghosts, real and imi-lation. Only three of the actors have appeared in previous Community Players productions, although others have worked offstage. Lana Weyerman, who will portray the hypnotist, has been seen in The Curious Savage and Dear Delinquent.

Viola Moore, who was one of the prim British misses in Charley's Aunt, will have the role of the secretary; Joyce Haug, who appeared as a dowdy teacher in Street of Good Friends, will enact Mrs. Rhodes, owner of the haunted house; Donna Flesher, playing the caretaker, was one of the actors in the children's play, House at Pooh Corner.

As swaggering Biddy Haggerty, the Irish sheriff Polly Bullard will take an acting role after assisting in the staging of several plays and directing The Curious Savage. Martha Watson, as the ghost, Elaine Clark, the alleged reporter, and Sylvia Emerick, the writer are others who have previously worked backstage.

Making debuts in this comedy will be Mary Hetzel as the stranger and Sylvia High as the maid.

The Little Bull Barn stage has been rebuilt by Players members after it was dismantled for the annual 4-H and FFA stock show and an in-the-round production of the Glass Menagerie. Sets have been repainted for this show also.

HHS '46 grads plan reunion at homecoming

Twenty-fifth anniversary of their graduation will be observed by Hereford High School's class of 1946 during the annual HHS Homecoming next fall, members have decided.

Efforts to contact members of the class have resulted in replies from almost all, and the committee hopes to be able to reach every one. In planning for the anniversary, members have heard suggestions that HHS classes of other years may wish to plan reunions at Homecoming time this year, and if so, they invite those interested to contact some of the 1946 graduates so that plans may be made jointly.

Contacts may be made with Mmes. J. W. Stengel, J. A. McWhorter, Bill Howard, Hilton Higgins, L. H. Lookingbill Jr. or any other member.

Mike Patrick, local manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company tells us that the company engineers are indeed working on a device to be used in conjunction with the telephone to give the alarm when a tornado is approaching. They are having some problems with it however, and have not as yet perfected it. But you can bet they will, and we're hoping that it won't be long in coming.

—HB—
And Ray Cowser, who always has a few words to say about such things, allows that the reason we didn't have tornadoes in the 1930s was that those dry West Texas winds just tore them to pieces. He's got a point there.

—HB—
As the days pass, we hear more and more stories about families who didn't know about the storm until a relative called from another city.

In the case of the L. B. Russells, it was their daughter who called. She phoned from Honolulu, Hawaii to check on the parents and discovered they didn't know there was anything amiss. L. B. is principal of the school out at Walcott and he now lives out there.

And Mrs. Merlin Kaul, who resides over on Avenue J, knew that the alert had been sounded. She got up and came to town to one of the tornado shelters, but when the all clear was sounded, she went back home thankful, by the way, that the storm had missed us. She arose the following morning, dressed and drove to Walcott where she is now teaching and did not know about the damage a block away on Star Street and Avenue K until returning home in the afternoon.

—HB—
And then there's the story about the lady who shall remain anonymous, running up and down the hall with bra in hand saying "Oh my gosh! Oh my gosh!" All the time her husband was trying to get her dressed so they could go to a storm shelter.

—HB—
But the best story we've heard to date is the one about Earl Stagner. Earl first decided that he and Joy should get into the bath tub and pull a mattress over them, but soon discovered it wouldn't work. Earl is a pretty good sized fellow and both of them just wouldn't fit in that tub. So, he leaves Joy in the tub with the mattress on top and tells her he's going to get under the bed.

Well that sounded good at first, but after thinking about it a minute, Joy just couldn't figure how in the world a man as big as her husband was going to crawl under a bed, so out she comes and goes into the bedroom to investigate. And sure enough Earl was under that bed. He had picked it up, set one corner of it on a chair, and crawled under.

That's ingenuity.
—HB—
On the more serious side, we are ever thankful for wonderful people that we have in Hereford, and how lucky we are to be living in this fine community.

For instance, we understand that the Frank Balls were worrying the other day about a family who had lost almost all their furnishings in the storm and it was reported that Mr. Ball, whose home was almost totally destroyed, had offered to give those people some things to help them get started again. Instead of worrying about his own misfortunes, he was trying to help someone else.

We didn't ask Frank about this, but having known him for several years and knowing his concern for his neighbors and the community in which he lives, we'd bet it's all true. That's the caliber of people that live here.

—HB—
We understand also that Mike Waldrip, the young man who put out the first picture pamph-

West Hereford H. D. Club hears guest speaker

Mrs. Joe Peters was guest speaker to West Hereford Home Demonstration Club at a meeting Tuesday in Mrs. D. W. Almon's home. She spoke on Value of Real Estate, a phase of the club's study of money and property management.

Mmes. Robert Boyd, Blanche Hardin and W. H. Awtry Sr. were appointed on a nominating committee, during a business session with Miss Mary Bradley presiding. Mrs. W. A. Waters received the hostess gift.

Other members at the meeting were Mmes. Roy Boyd, John Jacobsen Sr. and D. R. Grimes.

Annual rainfall drops more than 4 million tons of sodium chloride, 2.5 million tons of sodium sulphate and 36 million tons of calcium compounds on the United States.

let following the storm, contributed $200 of the proceeds to the Hereford Disaster Relief fund.

Also, the tornado book now being sold by the Hereford Lions Club is moving well and some of the proceeds from that sale will go to the relief fund.

—HB—

One more story before we get off this tornado bit.

Dr. Duffy McBrayer, whose house was severely damaged during the Monday morning storm, called his friend Don Lowder to come help him move some furniture to keep it from getting ruined. Don, in turn, asked Gerald Payne and Mack Tubb to join him. When Gerald and Mack arrived at the McBrayer home however, they pulled up in front (on Park Avenue) and not being able to see any damage from that direction, decided that perhaps Don was "pulling their legs." They drove off — went home and went to bed. In the meantime Don had arrived and spent the rest of the night alternately moving furniture, and wondering where the additional help had gone.

Needless to say, he wasn't in a very good mood the rest of the day.

Forty years ago, the first chapter of the sorority was formed in Abilene, Kan. There are now approximately 9,000 chapters and over 200,000 members in the United States, Canada, and twenty-four foreign countries.

In addition to the banquet, traditional ceremonies will be observed. The history of the local chapters will be reviewed and the new members will receive their first welcome to membership.

Mrs. Howard Gore is serving as Chairman of the Founder's

Day Banquet. The Toastmistress for the evening is Mrs. John Schneider.

Other members who will have a part in the program are: Mrs. Joe Frank Huckert, President of Kappa Iota Chapter, Mrs. Bill McDonald, President of Exemplar Chapter, Mrs. Larry Summers President of the Preceptor Chapter and Mrs. Clifff Jones who will lead the Founders Day Pledge.

Let's cook something

Everyone likes tart

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

When the occasion arises for a special dessert at her house, Mrs. Ulys Pierce has a recipe for a sure-fire success. Her family always calls for it at Christmas or other holiday dinners; guests always like it and it is easy to make.

The recipe was given Mrs. Pierce by Mrs. Buri France, at her request after she had sampled the dessert at Mrs. France's home. It is called Orange Tart, but is actually a cake with a special sauce. This is how she makes it:

ORANGE TART

- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1 tsp. soda
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 2 eggs
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- Grated rind of 2 oranges
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- Flour to make a medium stiff batter.

Mix and bake in two 9-inch square pans. Cut in squares and serve with topping.

TOPPING

Mix 2 cups sugar into juice of 2 oranges. Use granulated sugar, not powdered. Much stirring is required to dissolve the sugar.

For a special touch, top with whipped cream.

OBVIOUSLY, this is an old-fashioned recipe. You can tell by the instructions to "add flour to make a medium stiff batter" instead of specifying the amount of flour. Also, there are no mixing instructions, but anyone who has made a few cakes can supply these lacks.

Mrs. Pierce disclaims baking as a favorite activity, saying she had "rather get outdoors." She likes to work in her yard, and is delighted with a new fence just completed around the backyard of the Pierce home at 216 Fir, which will protect her vegetable garden and young fruit trees.

The family has lived in that house five years, and previously occupied a home on Knight street to which Mrs. Pierce came as a bride. She and her husbands were both members of families at Westway before their marriage. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Sikes, who came to Deaf Smith County in 1928.

"WHEN WE first lived in the house on Knight Street, it was in the west edge of Hereford, away out from downtown," Mrs. Pierce smiles. "Now, from here on Fir Street, that house is away toward downtown. We certainly have seen Hereford grow!"

Music has been an interest for Mrs. Pierce since childhood, when she began piano lessons. She later had teacher training and taught piano. Now that work is limited to a few pupils, but she still enjoys it.

The Pierces attend the Church of Christ and Mrs. Pierce is an assistant teacher of a Bible Class. She is a member of West Hereford Home Demonstration Club, where she says association with longtime friends gives her much pleasure. She also belonged to the Harmony Club, a music club no longer in existence.

FOUR CHILDREN make up the Pierce family, with seven grandchildren now added. The younger daughter, Laura, is still at home, a senior in Hereford High School this year.

Another daughter, Shirley, is Mrs. John Bulary, who has lately moved to Denver, so Mrs. Pierce says a summer trip to Colorado is on her schedule this year.

The two sons are Nelson, in the real estate business at Lubbock, and Glen, of Big Spring. The Glen Pierces are the parents of Mrs. Pierce's youngest grandchild, only a month old.

Wife leaves to join husband at German base

Janie Gomez, the wife of Army private Angel Gomez, will leave Friday for Germany to join her husband who is stationed there.

Mrs. Gomez, along with their 1-year-old son Patrick Lee, will spend the remaining two years in Germany with Gomez. He has been in the Army for five months and will serve two years in Germany before being discharged.

Herd nails Bulldogs 11-4

The Hereford Whitefaces, out of the district race, gave the baseball title to the Monterey Plainsmen Tuesday by nailing the contending Plainview Bulldogs, 11-4, with an eight-run outburst in the seventh inning.

The Whitefaces will entertain Lubbock Coronado here Friday.

The Plainsmen, 11-1 in district play with only three games remaining, clinched their fifth straight District 4-AAAA baseball title. Hereford's win over the second-place Plainview Bulldogs dropped the Plainview club to four games behind Monterey and destroyed all chances of a shot at the title.

Alan Wagner collected the win in Tuesday's game, allowing the Bulldogs only six hits.

Donnie McDermitt connected for a homer and two RBI Tuesday while Gary Lemons contributed a triple. Only four of the Whitefaces' 11 runs were earned, as they took advantage of several Plainview errors.

The score was tied at 3-3 going into the final frame, but the Whitefaces reached into their bag of tricks and came up with eight runs to break the tie. Plainview came back in the bottom of the final frame to add one run, but it wasn't enough to overcome the lead of the Whitefaces.

The Bulldogs' Terry Underwood got the only extra base hit for the Plainview team, a triple.

The win was the third in 12 district games for the Whitefaces.

Thursday rites are scheduled for Mrs. Brewer

Dear Mr. Farmer:

WE HAVE SOMETHING SPECIAL TO OFFER YOU THIS YEAR ON YOUR MILO INSURANCE

NOW IN EFFECT A

20% DISCOUNT

We are writing milo insurance at a 20% discount from the regular normal rates. This makes our price 20% less than most other companies can write this same coverage. In most cases, it will save your hundreds of dollars on your hail insurance premium.

NOW IS THE TIME TO INSURE when you plant your crop. By doing so, it will assure you coverage when your milo comes up, and you will not have a forty eight hour waiting period to be covered. Also, it will give you a 6% re-plant clause; which would pay you to re-plant your crop; if it is hailed out. Your cost will be no more now; than if you wait until May, June or July.

In the past, we have not been able to provide adequate coverage in various townships, and consequently some of our hail insurance customers were unable to purchase their milo insurance at a discount. Therefore, we suggest that you act now in order for us to provide you with maximum coverage for a minimum cost.

President urges self-policing by toy industry

By The Associated Press
The toy industry is trying to police itself, but some manufacturers ignore danger signs that might lead to more stringent controls, says Rickey Smith, youthful president of a family-founded company that manufactures toys. He was in New York to attend the toy market.

"If you make a bad refrigerator, you may not hear much about it, but toys involve children, and when many toys are proved unsafe, it is a blow to the entire industry."

Certain regulations have been established by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, but in Smith's opinion, there are a lot of unfair-to-children practices not covered by such regulations.

There are puzzle-type games also portrayed in slow motion on television. These make a game look easier to do than it is, and the game may seem to do more than it really does. This proves disillusioning to a youngster who cannot accomplish the same results, Smith explains.

Unsafe toys that have been removed from toy shelves include dolls, rubber squeeze toys and toy ovens. The bulbs on some ovens would get as hot as 400 degrees.

Smith would like to see all tar-raw materials tested for color fastness, non-toxic qualities that do not irritate the skin or affect the eye sight. Edges should be rolled on steel toys to avoid cut Pains should be tested.

His criticism of some manufacturers is not motivated to boost sales of his own products which include basketballs and decorated rubber balls. Three toys made by his company, Sun Products, are among the top 10 toys on a "hit parade of toys" sales barometer used by many members of the industry.

He has been associated with the company 10 years, he says, and because he is new in the toy industry, he doesn't want to make enemies, but he "doesn't want to see the toy industry go down the drain because some individuals have no regard for the facts."

"The average layman cannot tell whether some toys are safe merely by their appearance. Too many factors enter into the manufacture of a toy. The consumer must rely on the manufacturer to make toys that are fun and safe."

Small talk

IT STRIKES me as very odd to write about Lois Hollingsworth and Billie Huddleston as "out-of-town guests," or even as "out-of-town members" at Beta Sigma Phi meetings. But they are, from Amarillo and Libera, Kan., respectively.

Taking note of their new home towns at a sorority meeting the other day, I also checked up on Genevia Summers, who someone told me had moved to Amarillo. But she says not really.

"I just have an apartment and am camping over there some," she explains — that's a result of an expansion in the Summers' drive-in operations.

EARLY TREATMENT
LONDON — Early treatment cuts the death toll from cancer, a new British survey shows. A study of 100,000 people carried out in 1961 concluded that about half the patients treated early for cancer during the year survived for at least another five years. For cases where treatment began late, only 8 per cent of the men and 17 per cent of the women survived 5 years.

IN CASE anybody was unhappy because the Community Players changed from their fare of comedy to a serious play last time, he simply must see the Players' current offering tomorrow or Saturday night. However it might be described, serious it ain't.

Because it is family-type entertainment, strictly for laughs, student tickets will be sold for 75 cents, half the price of an adult ticket. Oh yes, the name of the show is Ghost of Rhodes Manor, so there is mystery, thrills and chills involved, naturally.

It will be staged in the Little Bull Barn Theater, and the stage has been rebuilt for it. When the County Commissioners gave the Players permission to use the Little Bull Barn for a theater, they warned that the stage must be removed each year for the stock show, and it was built with that in mind.

It was taken apart and stacked neatly for the stock show, and for the staging of The Glass Menagerie in-the-round.

Now it is in place as a conventional stage again, and has been rigged for ghostly light and action effects for Rhodes Manor. Bobby Byers, who is a star backstage performer, as-

For example, a 4-year-old child sees something difficult being done slowly, and he thinks he can do it. He presses his parents to buy the toy that really is beyond his capabilities. Herd nails Bulldogs 11-4

The Hereford Whitefaces, out of the district race, gave the baseball title to the Monterey Plainsmen Tuesday by nailing the contending Plainview Bulldogs, 11-4, with an eight-run outburst in the seventh inning.

The Whitefaces will entertain Lubbock Coronado here Friday.

The Plainsmen, 11-1 in district play with only three games remaining, clinched their fifth straight District 4-AAAA baseball title. Hereford's win over the second-place Plainview Bulldogs dropped the Plainview club to four games behind Monterey and destroyed all chances of a shot at the title.

Alan Wagner collected the win in Tuesday's game, allowing the Bulldogs only six hits.

Donnie McDermitt connected for a homer and two RBI Tuesday while Gary Lemons contributed a triple. Only four of the Whitefaces' 11 runs were earned, as they took advantage of several Plainview errors.

The score was tied at 3-3 going into the final frame, but the Whitefaces reached into their bag of tricks and came up with eight runs to break the tie. Plainview came back in the bottom of the final frame to add one run, but it wasn't enough to overcome the lead of the Whitefaces.

The Bulldogs' Terry Underwood got the only extra base hit for the Plainview team, a triple.

The win was the third in 12 district games for the Whitefaces.

Thursday rites are scheduled for Mrs. Brewer

The funeral of Mrs. Cordelia Elizabeth Brewer, 83, is scheduled at 10 a. m. today in Central Church of Christ, of which she was a member. A. T. Martin, minister, and Bob Ware of Littlefield, former pastor, will conduct the service.

Burial will be at 3 p. m. in Fair Lawn Cemetery at Elk City, Okla., her former home. Gilliland Funeral Home is directing arrangements.

Mrs. Brewer died Tuesday in an Amarillo nursing home. She came to Hereford in 1951 from Carlsbad, Tex., and left in 1966 to make her home in Amarillo.

Born Nov. 6, 1887, in Missouri, she married W. W. Brewer in 1908 at Elk City. His death occurred in 1955.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Chester Wiggins of Hereford and Mrs. Roy Lockett of Pampa; a brother, Estel Maniar of Wewoka, Okla., and five grandchildren.

FAIR DEAL

WOKING, England — Television rental manager John Eastbrook reported to Surrey police an unusual robbery at his shop.

Thieves took six unusable color sets from the display window, he said, and put in two sets of their own as replacements — each worth $750 and in perfect working order.

Special event cakes are topic of discussion

Graduation cakes and grooms cakes were the topic of a program given by Mrs. M. D. Henson at a recent Sweet and Fancy Decorating Club meeting.

Mrs. Henson discussed proper ways of decorating a grooms cake and displayed a graduate cake topped with the silhouette of a graduate and a diploma of molded butter cream.

Seven members were present along with two visitors, Mrs. Jim Ritter and Maudie Henson, and a new member, Mrs. Corky Holt.

Mrs. Lloyd Smith and Mrs. Henson were in charge of cakes for Kings Manor during April.

LESS SMOKED

LONDON — Tobacco smoked in Britain fell by two million pounds — about one per cent — in 1970.

The Tobacco Advisory Committee reported a drop in consumption of both cigarette and pipe tobaccos. There was a trend towards filter tip cigarettes but the total weight of tobacco used for all cigarettes was lower than in 1969.

On March 21 and September 23, day and night are of equal duration in every part of the world.

Officers named for art guild

Guests presented the program and a number of others were present with Hereford Art Guild members to hear it, at a meeting in Community Center Tuesday evening. Officers for next year were named in a brief business period.

Dr. John English was chosen as 1971-72 president, with Mrs. Joel Newman as vice president, Mrs. Charles Newell secretary and Mrs. Hilrey Aven publicity chairman. They will take office next month.

Mrs. Romaine Swan of Amarillo, known over the Panhandle as a painter and teacher, gave the program, an inspirational chalk talk. As she told The Legend of the Dogwood she illustrated with chalk sketches. A vocal solo, Old Rugged Cross, by Mrs. Buddy Peeler with Mrs. J. C. McCracken as accompanist was sung at the close.

Hostesses, Mmes. Jim Lipscomb, Billy Hutson and W. O. McCutchen, served refreshments in a social hour. Mrs.

Ludwig Kovacs conducted business.

In addition to those on program guests were Zelma Kuykendall, Audine Wible, E. W. Young, Mmes. Jimmy Allred, T. E. Braddy, N. D. Bartlett, Jay Boston and J. R. Hickman.

Members present included Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Perrin, Mmes. Bess Werner, Alex Peterson, Mark Schaffner, Bruce T. Brown, John Gilliland, W. C. Thomas, Alvin Smith, Jack Wilcox, Ray Cowser, A. E. Guinn, E. W. Young, Alwyn Foster, O. H. Culpepper, E. E. Doak, Victor Eiliston and Robert Veigel.

CARD OF THANKS

Dear Mr. Farmer:

WE HAVE SOMETHING SPECIAL TO OFFER YOU THIS YEAR ON YOUR MILO INSURANCE

NOW IN EFFECT A

We are writing milo insurance at a 20% discount from the regular normal rates. This makes our price 20% less than most other companies can write this same coverage. In most cases, it will save you hundreds of dollars on your hail insurance premium.

NOW IS THE TIME TO INSURE when you plant your crop. By doing so, it will assure you coverage when your milo comes up, and you will not have a forty eight hour waiting period to be covered. Also, it will give you a 6% re-plant clause; which would pay you to re-plant your crop; if it is hailed out. Your cost will be no more now; than if you wait until May, June or July.

In the past, we have not been able to provide adequate coverage in various townships, and consequently some of our hail insurance customers were unable to purchase their milo insurance at a discount. Therefore, we suggest that you act now in order for us to provide you with maximum coverage for a minimum cost.

TORNADO DEBRIS — An unidentified man adds more debris from last week's tornado to a mounting pile in the city junk yard. In the background, heavy black smoke billows from wood, paper and other matter being destroyed by fire. Ordinarily nothing is set afire at the junk yard, but the heavy volume of accumulating debris made it necessary this time.

President urges self-policing by toy industry

By The Associated Press
The toy industry is trying to police itself, but some manufacturers ignore danger signs that might lead to more stringent controls, says Rickey Smith, youthful president of a family-founded company that manufactures toys. He was in New York to attend the toy market.

"If you make a bad refrigerator, you may not hear much about it, but toys involve children, and when many toys are proved unsafe, it is a blow to the entire industry."

Certain regulations have been established by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, but in Smith's opinion, there are a lot of unfair-to-children practices not covered by such regulations.

degrees of speed so, in addition to being unable to cope with the toy, the child may think of himself as a failure at play."

There are puzzle-type games also portrayed in slow motion on television. These make a game look easier to do than it is, and the game may seem to do more than it really does. This proves disillusioning to a youngster who cannot accomplish the same results, Smith explains.

Unsafe toys that have been removed from toy shelves include dolls, rubber squeeze toys and toy ovens. The bulbs on some ovens would get as hot as 400 degrees.

Smith would like to see all tar-

raw materials tested for color fastness, non-toxic qualities that do not irritate the skin or affect the eye sight. Edges should be rolled on steel toys to avoid cut points should be tested.

His criticism of some manufacturers is not motivated to boost sales of his own products which include basketballs and decorated rubber balls. Three toys made by his company, Sun Products, are among the top 10 toys on a "hit parade of toys" sales barometer used by many members of the industry.

He has been associated with the company 10 years, he says, and because he is new in the toy industry, he doesn't want to make enemies, but he "doesn't want to see the toy industry go down the drain because some individuals have no regard for the facts.

"The average layman cannot tell whether some toys are safe merely by their appearance. Too many factors enter into the manufacture of a toy. The consumer must rely on the manufacturer to make toys that are fun and safe."

Small talk

By SUE COLEMAN

IT STRIKES me as very odd to write about Lois Hollingsworth and Billie Huddleston as "out-of-town guests," or even as "out-of-town members" at Beta Sigma Phi meetings. But they are, from Amarillo and Libera, Kan., respectively.

Taking note of their new home towns at a sorority meeting the other day, I also checked up on Genevia Summers, who someone told me had moved to Amarillo. But she says not really.

"I just have an apartment and am camping over there some," she explains — that's a result of an expansion in the Summers' drive-in operations.

A FRIEND here who knows that May 10 will be Mrs. Leona Gates' 52nd birthday, has suggested that other friends of that former Hereford resident may like to join in a card shower for her. Mrs. Gates lived here until she moved to Wichita Falls about five years ago.

Her address is Regency Rest Home, 2400 SW Parkway, Wichita Falls, and the friend who phoned me even provided the zip code, 76308. Mrs. Gates has a son, Francis, in Hereford and another, Donald, in Wichita Falls.

EARLY TREATMENT
LONDON — Early treatment cuts the death toll from cancer, a new British survey shows.

A study of 100,000 people carried out in 1961 concluded that about half the patients treated early for cancer during the year survived for at least another five years. For cases where treatment began late, only 8 per cent of the men and 17 per cent of the women survived 5 years.

GUESTS OF MR. AND MRS. G. L. Bumpass and son, Dan, of 1013 Grand last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Grady McDaniel and children, Lorri Anne and Jim, of Wichita Falls. Mrs. McDaniel is the former Peggy Bumpass of Hereford, daughter of the G. L. Bumpasses.

IN CASE anybody was unhappy because the Community Players changed from their fare of comedy to a serious play last time, he simply must see the Players' current offering tomorrow or Saturday night. However it might be described, serious it ain't.

Because it is family-type entertainment, strictly for laughs, student tickets will be sold for 75 cents, half the price of an adult ticket. Oh yes, the name of the show is Ghost of Rhodes Manor, so there is mystery, thrills and chills involved, naturally.

It will be staged in the Little Bull Barn Theater, and the stage has been rebuilt for it. When the County Commissioners gave the Players permission to use the Little Bull Barn for a theater, they warned that the stage must be removed each year for the stock show, and it was built with that in mind.

It was taken apart and stacked neatly for the stock show, and for the staging of The Glass Menagerie in-the-round.

Now it is in place as a conventional stage again, and has been rigged for ghostly light and action effects for Rhodes Manor. Bobby Byers, who is a star backstage performer, as-ures me that a "murder victim" will float off stage in one scene, and the ghost's face will zoom over the set in another.

WALLHIDE: FOR THE HUSBAND WHO CAN'T HIDE.
So your wife wants you to paint a room or two. No use trying to hide. She'll find you. Fast.
The best thing to do is buy a paint that eliminates most of the work: Wallhide Latex Flat Wall Paint.
Wallhide is a latex paint that does away with stirring, scrubbing, and priming. All you have to do is apply one easy coat. And stains are gone, rough spots are smoothed over. Paint dries in thirty minutes.
Wallhide makes clean-up easy, too. Simply rinse out your brush with soap and water. That's all.
So you see, it would take more effort to hide than to paint.
WALLHIDE . . . the husband helper.

Junior highs sweep honors in crafts fair

Members of the Stanton and La Plata Junior High Industrial Arts Departments, in competition with other area junior high schools, took top awards during last week's Industrial Arts Crafts Fair at West Texas State University.

La Plata's Industrial Arts Department was named the "Outstanding Junior High School" for the second year, and Stanton's representatives placed high in several categories.

Entries were in the areas of drafting, recreational weapons, jewelry, woodworking, metal working, power mechanics and electricity. Also, written examinations were given in these areas.

David Zinser of La Plata was named high overall scorer on the written examination and Walter Beltran of Stanton was second.

Those who placed for Stanton were Jimmy Taylor, first in power mechanics testing; Julian Benavidez, first in ceramic division; Benavidez and Donny Henson first in area; Pablo Liscano, Steve Jones and Beltran second in area; Jesse Codero, Ramon Mireles, Charles Martinez, John Paetzold, Beltran and Steve Loerwald third in area; Danny Askew first in level; Rita Samanigo, Dennis Nunley, David Loerwald, Beltran second in level; and Dale Simon, Beltran, Benavidez, Fr Frank Torres, Armando Gonzalez, and Francisco Aguirre, third in level.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

We, three concerned citizens of Hereford, are writing to comment on the accident at the railroad crossing near U. S. Highway 60 and Progressive Road Monday. This accident and injury would not have happened if the crossing had been protected by electronically controlled arms such as the one at U. S. Highway 60 and Main.

We were sitting across the street and did not hear the train's warning signal. In the case a warning is not given or heard, the electronically controlled arms would prevent this type of accident. People say it takes money to install this type of safety device, but which is more important: money or a person's life?

It seems like Hereford is waiting until something happens before they take action. Since it has already happened, we feel that the officials of Hereford should be demanding this type of protective devices be installed at all railroad crossings within the city limits. The next time it may be one of their wives or loved ones. After all, it could have been you!!!

Shriners cancel Children's Clinic

The annual Oasis Shrine Children's Clinic that was scheduled for May 8 has been cancelled.

J. P. Jones, a member of the sponsoring Oasis Shrine organization, said Tuesday that a series of "conflicting circumstances" for a number of the specialists involved, caused the cancellation.

A number of the specialists notified the local Shrine organization last week that they would be unable to attend. Jones said the clinic probably will not be re-scheduled this year, but each of the specialists indicated they would like to assist next year.

For God So Loved The World

In His Hand

What high company; What a privilege to be held in the palm of the strong hand of God. No man dare trying to stand alone... to walk without Him. Just as surely, no man can fail when God is with him. "My Father, which gave them me, is greater than all; and no man is able to pluck them out of my Father's hand."
 John 10:29. He has everybody in His Hand. He who would be wise should step upon the strong hand of God this day and take Him at his word. He said, "My grace is sufficient for thee."
 Only trust Him. Help support His cause. Attend church every week and may the Lord ever be with thee.

You In The Church
 The Church In You — form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

La Plata choir to give musical

La Plata Junior High mixed choir will present a musical comedy entitled Howdy Cowboy tonight and Friday evening in the school cafeteria beginning at 7:30.

The story tells about Howard, a conceited Eastern teenager who arrives at a ranch in the west where his father has ordered him to spend his summer vacation.

Cameron Clements plays the easterner who has made up his mind the western life is not the life for him.

Monty Campbell and Libbie Parten, the ranch foreman and his wife, and David Hutchens the ranch owner, all are presented as Howard makes a change of heart which brings about a happy ending.

Shyla Thomas, Linda Womack, Holly Laymon, Alan Olson, Carmela Burges and Jay Boren also have major roles in the play. Mexican specialty dancers are Diedra Dziuk, Earl Behrends and Ray Shannon.

Directing the play is Mrs. Lynn McClarty, assisted by Mrs. Randy Thomas, speech teacher.

Choir members are selling tickets for a dollar for adults and 50 cents for students. They will also be available at the door.

Guild auditions in piano slated

Annual auditions for piano pupils, sponsored by local members of the National Guild of Piano Teachers, are scheduled next week at First Christian Church, with 103 pupils registered to participate.

Mrs. Bill Penn is chairman of the auditions this year.

Ruth Flynn Reese of Denver will serve as judge to rate the young pianists. Those who play in these auditions are candidates for membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians, which is sponsored by the Guild.

Each entrant who qualifies will receive a pin and certificate of membership. This event offers piano pupils opportunities for further honors, at district state and national levels, and finally in competition for the Van Cliburn Award.

Participating teachers here are Mmes. Tom Burdett, Ellis Coombes, Suzette Dziuk, Joe Hacker, Sam Long, Paul Lyons, Frances Parker, Alva Lee Peeler, Penn and Glenn Snyder of Hereford, and Mrs. Mack Bush of Canyon.

They have been invited to a salad supper Sunday evening in Mrs. Penn's home, to meet Mrs. Reese.

The guest judge teaches in her own studio in Denver, and grubby things that even revolutions are made of," Dahl wrote in his introduction.

That squares with his view that Americans in general are all too prone to fill the gap between ideals and reality with rhetoric.

What does exist, Dahl said, "is a crisis of authority in the United States, a psychological crisis in the minds of people when they begin to doubt the rightness, the legitimacy of authority in their society."

"I think a great many American institutions ought to be changed, but I think it would be a great mistake to go about it with simplistic and one-dimensional ideas about authority."

Dahl's book examines the criteria for just authority and concludes there can be no rigid pattern, but rather a flexible frame work of balances and compromises between personal interest, competent leadership and the amount of effort an individual wants to invest in his governance.

She holds the bachelor of music degree and has done advanced study at St. Louis Institute of Music, as well as study in Germany, Mexico City, Salzburg and Rome, and with artist teachers in the United States. In the spring of 1970 she traveled through the Orient and learned more of the music of that region.

Convention attendance planned for county H. D. Club members Conventions at which Home Demonstration Club women of Deaf Smith County will be represented were discussed at the County H.D. Council meeting Monday afternoon in the courthouse.

The district meeting of Texas H.D. Association will be held in Booker next week.

State and national convention of the association are scheduled in Dallas next September, with women of this county more than usually interested because Mrs. A. E. Hodges of Hereford is the THDA president this year. As state president, she will be official hostess to the national HDA.

Mmes. Leroy Johnson, C. F. Newsom and Roger Williams were named to a committee which will nominate Council officers for next season.

It's PIONEER again this year. Here's why:

DOUGLAS K. NIX, Hereford, averaged 9,098 pounds of grain sorghum per acre last year from 201 acres of Pioneer brand 828. The crop was planted April 28 to 30 and harvested between September 23 and October 7 at 14 per cent moisture. It was irrigated six to seven times including a pre-plant watering. Mr. Nix likes the way 828 responds to high fertility and moisture levels and plans to plant 300 acres this year. We are proud that so many good farmers like Douglas Nix choose Pioneer brand hybrids year after year.

They're all glass

People are seeing through new sky-scrapers going up

Imagine a twin-towered building with enough glass for 3,600 homes — that's the equivalent of enough glass for a city of about 13,000 people. Add to this the logistics of getting the glass up to 110 stories above ground level and glazing the window areas at the extreme height.

This is the task currently facing glass workmen on the tallest buildings in the world: the two 110-story tower buildings of the World Trade Center being built by the Port of New York Authority in Lower Manhattan.

A construction feat comparable to the great pyramids of Egypt or as a feat equal to putting a spaceship in orbit, the $650-million project was born 10 years ago and will still take another three years to complete. It will be the hub of all international trade activity between Eastern American ports and many other nations, ports and governments of the world.

Glass too, plays an important role in this project. Where the pyramids were great monoliths of stone, the World Trade Center windows will permit occupants to enjoy the metropolitan view and enhance the overall design, while retaining an efficiency of building operation.

Statistics for this project are staggering: it will contain 9-million pounds of aluminum, 200,000 tons of steel and the equivalent of a ribbon of glass almost 65 miles long and 20 inches wide. It will provide 9-million square feet of office space for an office population of 50,000 people, plus accommodations for 80,000 kilowatts of electricity daily, enough to supply a city the size of Schenectady, New York.

The towers are being completed in stages. While the steel is being erected, the aluminum curtain wall and glass are being installed on the upper floors, tenants are moving in on the lower floors.

Each tower is 1,350 feet high, 100 feet higher than the Empire State Building, long the tallest in the world.

Skilling, Helle, Christiansen, Robertson, structural engineers in New York, designed a new structural system that allows the building weight to be supported by columns on the facade of the building, with fewer supporting core columns throughout the inside. The result is a facade with window areas between each column sweeping up the 110 stories. This new system increases rentable floor space to approximately 40,000 square feet on each floor. Architects for the project are Minoru Yamasaki and Associates, Troy, Michigan, and Emery Roth and Sons, New York.

Over 611,000 square feet of glass will be used on the project. Two types will be used. Bronze Tuf-flex, a tempered heat absorbing glass, 3/4-inch thick will be used on the tower floors. Heavy duty Parallel-O-Plate glass 3/4 and 1/2-inch thick will be used on the lobby floors.

Approximately 44,000 lights of the tempered Parallel-O-Bronze glass measuring 19-3/4 inches wide and 87 to 117 inches high will be used on the towers. The heat absorbing glass reduce air-conditioning costs because the glass absorbs part of the sun's energy, lowering the cooling load requirements, in addition to reducing glare.

To withstand the wind loads specified by the architect, the bronze colored glass is fully tempered in a special process that heats the glass and then cools it suddenly. This process increases the glass strength to three to five times that of annealed glass.

Glazing began last summer and will continue for about two years. But before the first light of glass was set in place, new techniques had to be worked out for glass transportation and glazing. As the size of any project grows, so does the problem of efficient material handling.

Some of the innovations worked out by Libbey-Owens-Ford Company, the glass manufacturer, and Collyer-Sparks Company, Inc., glass distributor and glazier, include:

The development of a new system of transporting glass to the building site. Since the World Trade Center is located in a densely populated area, the site has limited storage space for building materials. L-O-F designed and fabricated a number of steel "bucks" or racks with straps to transport the glass to New York from the Toledo manufacturing plant. These bucks are returnable and eliminate the problem of disposing of wood crates in which glass normally is shipped. Three bucks hold enough glass to glaze an entire floor. Shipping glass in these special bucks also reduces crane or elevator time to get the materials to each floor.

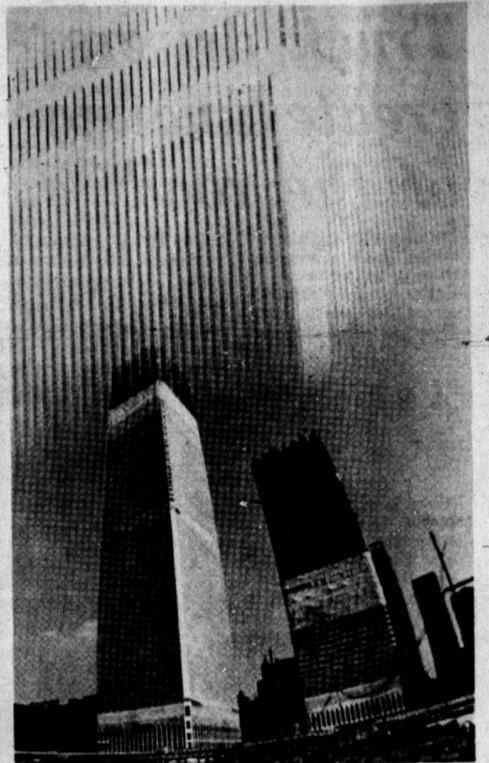

The tower glass is glazed from the inside using a dry rubber gasket to hold the glass in place. This eliminates working from mobile platforms suspended on the outside of the building from extreme heights.

Glass for the lobby is all pattern cut to complement the feeling of immenseness from the soaring columns. Its shape is similar to that of a large slender bottle and is being glazed with a portable "T" beam rail with an electric hoist which lets each section of glass into place with a five-cup vacuum frame. The vacuum frame was customized to handle the unusual shape of the glass. Once an elevation is glazed, the system is dismantled and moved to another elevation and repeated until all sections are complete.

Built and operated by the Port of New York Authority, the World Trade Center is hailed as the first building of the 21st century. Tishman Realty & Construction Co., Inc., is the general contractor.

Contemporary designers feel that all the unusual construction techniques, worked out for this building, including the design of the building footers, special cranes that can lift themselves as the building grows, new elevator transportation systems, and use of glass, will be needed to meet the demand of business in the century ahead. But even today, these innovative approaches to the construction and installation of all the myriad materials such as glass, aluminum, steel and concrete, in no small way, are helping to provide the facilities to meet the world trading center needs of the 21st century.

MUCH GLASS — The colossal scope of the world's tallest building, the World Trade Center in New York City, can be seen in this unusual montage. The glass is being manufactured for the $650-million project by Libbey-Owens-Ford Company. There is sufficient glass in the twin-towered, 110-story buildings to supply the glass needs of 3,600 average American homes.

TWIN TOWERS — The World Trade Center in Lower Manhattan is a twin-tower, 110-story building. Enough glass is glazed in it to make a glass ribbon 65 miles long and 20 inches wide. The towers, each 1,350 feet high, will house an office "population" of 50,000 people, some of whom already have moved in on the lower floors while construction still is going on above.

HAVE YOU BEEN CONVERTED IN THE NEW TESTAMENT ORDER?

In giving the early history of the Lord's Church, the book of Acts records many conversions. These New Testament conversions all meet the same plan as revealed in the Lord's last commission (Matt. 28:18-20; Mk. 16: 15-16; Lk. 24: 46-48.) Acts 8:26-40 reveals the conversion of the Ethiopian eunuch. Being one of the clearest and most captivating it deserves the close attention and following of all.

The eunuch was a devoutly religious man, yet he needed conversion. According to modern conception if a man is religious he is all right. However, from the inspired account of the eunuch we learn it is possible to be:

honest, but honestly mistaken; sincere, but sincerely in error; religious, but religiously wrong; devout, but devoutly deceived.

That the eunuch was religious can be seen in that:

he had been to worship; he had traveled about 1000 miles in order to worship; he was reading the Bible; he was desirous of being taught more perfectly; and he readily obeyed the gospel when he understood his duty.

Since the eunuch was genuinely and truly converted under the guidance of Spirit guided preaching, we must desire our conversion to pattern his. Only in this way can we be sure that our conversion is genuine.

In Being converted the eunuch:

HEARD THE GOSPEL, "Philip...preached unto him Jesus" (verse 35).

BELIEVED, He turned from false religion, Judaism which had been done away at the cross (Col. 2; Eph. 2). Such is repentance.

CONFESSED, "And he answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God. (verse 37).

WAS BAPTIZED, "and he (Philip) baptized him (eunuch)" (verse 38).

Please observe in your reading of this case of conversion, that the following denominational practices are omitted:

voting on the candidate; relating an experience; sprinkling for baptism; the confession, "I believe that God for Christ's sake hath pardoned my sins."

Was your converting patterned after that of the eunuch? If not, you should be seriously concerned and resolve to make the necessary adjustments to meet with the Lord's requirements!

Truck drivers create language of the road

ITAMBACURI, Brazil (AP)—Brazilian truck drivers have developed an elaborate sign language to warn of dangers on the road and provide some private "conversation" for those in the know. Uninitiated motorists are puzzled and sometimes irritated by the flashing lights, honking horns and incomprehensible gestures of the truckers who spend their working lives on Brazil's highways, and are just as glibly as their pedestrian countrymen. At a roadside restaurant along the Rio-Bahia highway, an old trucker explained that signs differ among the drivers of coffee trucks in the south, the bus drivers along the busy Rio-Sao Paulo road, and those lugging heavy equipment north and returning with cocoa or fruits. "But the thumbs up signal is universal for A-OKAY," he said, "and thumbs down means danger." The trucker probably did not know it but the thumbs-up and down gestures have been used around the world since the days of the Roman circuses when the position of the thumb determined whether or not the gladiators and Christians would be thrown to the lions. But there are other signs of the road which are more recent and some which might even be Brazilian innovations. Variations of the use of the free hand, the lights and the horn have become the tools that provide the vocabulary of the "lingua franca" of Brazilian highways.

A flashing rear left turn signal warns the driver behind not to pass. When the road ahead is clear the truck or bus driver will flash both turning signals. A warning to slow down is given in daytime by a downward motion of a hand with the palm held straight out, horizontal to the ground. At night, the brake lights signal is flashed several times to warn those behind. For those in front rapidly flashing the headlights several times will do the job. In the daytime, a driver is warned about a police check up ahead by a gesture imitating the forefinger tapping against the thumbs as if knocking ash off a cigarette. A right hand resting on the left shoulder with the thumb up tells drivers an inspector of their company is at a check point ahead. At night, the drivers are of course less articulate, having to rely primarily on lights and sometimes on the horns. Several rapidly repeated flashes of the headlights generally mean danger, but there is no distinction between the dangers of rain accident, animals or highway police. The horn is used to announce a driver is getting ready to pass the vehicle ahead. Three short blasts of the horn in the daylight or the flash of the headlights, or the turn signal, are often used to call the attention of the oncoming vehicle to pay attention to a sign. Although the thumbs-down signal is the general sign for danger, for those with a greater "highway language" vocabulary there are other signs specifying the details of the danger. Rain ahead is shown by letting the fingers of the hand hang limp from the palm, imitating a shower. Cattle on the road are shown by rapidly moving the fingers of the hand, imitating the legs of cattle. An accident ahead is shown by the lights and then beating the palm of the hand over the top of the steering wheel. Or three flashes of the headlights at night. Now a plain hello on the road is said by two rapid toots on the horn or a short flash of the headlights followed by a longer one. To reply to a hello the driver will give one flash of the headlight or one toot of the horn. Either gesture can also be accompanied by a thumbs up signal.

Great antagonists come face to face

Ever heard or read about the Roman siege of the Jews in 73 A.D., when Flavius Silva and Eleazar ben Yair, two great antagonists (the besieged and the besieger) met? The story is now available at Deaf Smith County Library.

THE ANTAGONISTS
By Ernest K. Gann
This is the story of one of the most thrilling of all historical events, the Roman siege of the Jews in the year 73 A.D., when two great antagonists, besieger and besieged, faced each other.

The Roman General, Flavius Silva, Comander of the Xth Legion and Procurator of Judea; and Eleazar ben Yair, leader of the 900 Jews still resisting the power of Imperial Rome and stubbornly clinging to freedom on the Heights of Masada.

For Flavius Silva the problem is one of competing pressures—tactical, political, psychological—as his engineers work to complete the vast assault ramp that he must have before the onslaught of the summer's fearful heat, else the siege is doomed. He must endure the daily taunts of the Jews—hurled down from their precarious summit and the equally maddening orders from Rome, which demand immediate triumph. And he suffers as well the contempt of his beautiful captive, the Jewess Sheva, a woman armed only with the power to arouse his passion and, more dangerously, his love.

For Eleazar ben Yair there is the constant struggle to hold firm his people: the Priests and the warriors, Pharisees and Sicarii, the hotheads impatient for revenge, the counseling surrender. Each day brings the inevitable assault closer to its catastrophic conclusion as the ramp grows higher. Above all, Eleazar seeks the strength and the means to deny Rome her victory over the frail band of followers for whom he is the focus of hope and for whom Masada is the final outpost of integrity.

In his magnificent evocation of Masada and of the epic contest polarized around these two towering figures, Gann has worked out of the very center of his talent: moment by moment the reader is swept along in the building tide of military preparation, militant ideology and turbulent personal emotion that swirls around the antagonists as the novel surges toward its awesome climax.

The legacy of purpose, courage and conviction that shines through this superb story remains a source of inspiration to this very day.

THE PEOPLE ON THE HILL
By Velda Johnston
One of the seven had committed a crime; the other six had by their silence become accomplices of the criminal act. Until that terrible night, they had been casual friends, making a pleasant social occasion of walking their dogs in Central Park.

Now, united by a desperate need to protect their secret, they ruthlessly snubbed Karen Wentworth when she returned from the South. They knew that she was too honest to join their conspiracy, too intelligent not to suspect something was wrong. And because she loved David Bryant—David who was responsible for the whole appalling mess—she might try to find out what had happened. Puzzled and hurt, Karen did not guess that she had become David's deadly enemy or that her curiosity could have fatal consequences.

Here, set in Manhattan's swinging upper East Side, is the engrossing story of seven respectable people who suddenly assumed a common guilt and of a girl who innocently walked into a whirlwind of danger.
Once again the author of The Phantom Cottage and The Light in The Swamp has written a spellbinding novel of romantic suspense.

Draft Board to meet May call

The local Selective Service Board will call some 21 young area men to meet the local quota for the May draft call for the state.

Cleta Ailshie, secretary for the local board, said five will be called for induction and 12 for physicals on May 3. She said there will probably be about four additional young men called up for physicals to help offset those from this area who will take their physicals through another board.

Melvin Glantz, state director of Selective Service for Texas, set the limitation for the May call at 125. The local secretary said the highest number that will be called for the May quota will be 116.

"This is the highest we have ever had to go to meet our quota," she said. "We didn't have enough below the 100 mark to meet the quota so we had to go higher this time."

The induction call for the state for May is 959 men and the national induction call is for 15,000 men.

A total of 3,440 will be ordered from the state for pre-induction physical examination during May and the lottery number Simpsons took their parents to Wellington and visited there and the Robert Simpsons brought them back this week.

Several from the community attended the meeting in Amarillo last Saturday afternoon to hear Nicky Cruz, a member of the team including Art Linkletter, give the program. 2 at daughter's golden wedding Attendance at the Golden Wedding party of their daughter was an unusual occasion for Mr. and Mrs. George Parker, 109 Ave. J, last weekend. The Parkers celebrated their own 68th wedding anniversary in January.

Their daughter, Alta, and Delbert Brunsteter were married when the bride was only 17 years old, when the Parkers lived at Perryton. The Brunsteters have been residents of Alva, Okla., all their married life and celebrated their 50th anniversary in their home there.

They have two daughters, Mrs. Paul Heap of Tulsa and Mrs. Ken McLean of Lawton, and three grandchildren who were present to be hosts for the anniversary party.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker were accompanied to Alva by Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jackson; Mrs. Jackson is another of their daughters. The Parker family lived at Alva for a number of years, then moved to Perryton for a short time before coming to Hereford in 1933 to make their home until the present.

Jury assesses probated terms in district court

A jury gave two men probated sentences in district court action here last week.

Levi Ross Mullins, 53, Box 1268, Amarillo, pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated, second offense, and asked for the jury to sentence him. He was assessed three years in the penitentiary but it was suspended and he was placed on probation for the three-year period.

Robert Randall Reid, 20, Box 20, Jal, N.M., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and the jury sentenced him to two years probation.

The jury went along with the recommendation of an Amarillo psychiatrist and ruled that James O'Laughlin, 41, was insane. He was charged with theft over $50 in connection with a truck that was stolen from a local fertilizer company. O'Laughlin was arrested three months ago in San Bernardino, Calif.

Storm cellars take new look

Jay Swayze, local designer and builder who patented the first underground home in Plainview, is building storm cellars along the same pattern as his underground homes.

Kiwanians view film-welcome new member

Virgil Slentz, presented a film on Ecology at Hereford Kiwanis Club's noon lunch Thursday.

The film depicted problems facing farmers and the environment due to insects and their dependence on plant life for survival.

Slentz was introduced by Bobby Veigel, program chairman for this month.

James L. Picket, 109 S. Douglas, was installed as a new member by R. C. Hoelscher. He was sponsored by Lee Umsted. Picket has been a resident of the city for four years and is salesman for Tide Products Inc.

British publishers issued 32,000 books under separate titles in 1969. More than 23,000 were new books, the rest reprints or new editions.

Three birds which cannot fly are the emu, kiwi and ostrich.

The storm cellars, starting at 12 feet by 16 feet, cost approximately $3,000 and are available to home builders or individuals. Swayze said manufactured storm cellars are being built at his plant in Plainview at a rate of one a day, and he has already received orders for four of them.

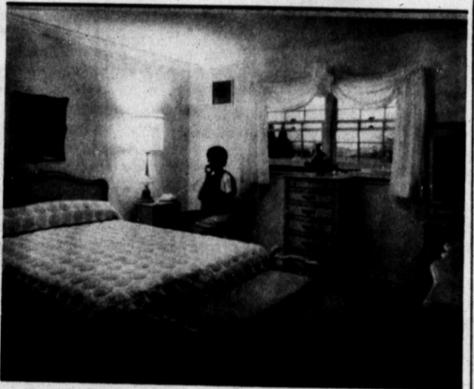

Swayze patented his underground home in 1961 and built the Plainview home in 1962. Under this same patent, he is able to manufacture the storm cellars.

The storm cellars are installed on the "ship-in-the-bottle" principle. They are first encased in a "shell" underground and include windows and outlets for electricity and telephones.

Paintings are hung outside the windows of the cellar giving it an atmosphere of a normal above-ground home.

Swayze said his company will build a portable storm cellar and put it on wheels to take throughout the area to show builders how it is constructed. The weight of the cellar will be less than 10,000 pounds.

The cellars can be constructed and installed in one day and be ready for use immediately. Swayze said they also can be converted to a fall-out shelter with just the changing of a radiation filter.

STORM CELLAR? — This small room, built underground for a storm cellar, does not bear any resemblance to an underground room because of the mural that gives the illusion of a serene countryside. Jay Swayze, local designer and builder, is constructing such storm cellars in this area.

It's PIONEER again this year.

Here's why:

CECIL MORRISON, Hereford, averaged 7,802 pounds of grain sorghum per acre last year from 460 acres of Pioneer brand 820. Seeded 8 pounds to the acre on 32-inch rows, the crop was planted between May 10 and May 20 and harvested between September 25 and October 20. Part of the crop had only two waterings after planting; the remainder had three. Mr. Morrison has planted 820 every year for the past four performance. He plans to plant his entire feed grain acreage in 820 again this year. Naturally we are pleased that so many good farmers plant Pioneer brand hybrid years after year.

Pioneer is a brand name; numbers identify varieties. Reg. trademark of Pioneer Hi-Bred Corn Company, Des Moines, Iowa U.S.A.

Mrs. R. L. Layman, president-elect, was the official delegate from Hereford Garden Club and Mrs. Ray L. Johnson alternate. Mrs. L. W. Norvell is president of the club this season.

Tech rodeo team boasts top athletes

LUBBOCK — This team at Texas Tech University doesn't have a band to lead it onto the playing field. It doesn't have cheerleaders at every competition to encourage it to win. In fact, it doesn't even take a jet to an out-of-town contest.

Pony League plays weekend practice games

Pony League Baseball will present a view into the upcoming season this weekend with three exhibition games planned Friday and Saturday.

Members of the league teams also are taking orders for the annual candy sale that is now going on. Members are going from door-to-door taking orders and as soon as the drive ends, and the total number of orders are received, the players will deliver the candy.

The candy is on sale for $1 a box and can be purchased from any league member.

Friday's exhibition games will pit the Tigers against the Orioles in a 6 p.m. game, and at 8 p.m. the White Sox will go against the Red Sox.

Saturday the Twins and Indians will meet at 8 p.m. in another exhibition game.

The average Swede eats 45.1 pounds of fish or shellfish annually — four times the per capita consumption in the United States.

However, the Tech Rodeo Team does contain some of the most athletic students at the university.

The team consists of six men, with two alternates, and four women. In the past year the cowboys and cowgirls have attended seven rodeos with the boy's team placing third and girls second in the Southwest Region of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) contests.

The team members have traveled to Eastern New Mexico University, New Mexico Military Institute, Sul Ross College, Panhandle A&M, West Texas State University, Oklahoma State University and Midwestern State University.

Sponsored by the Tech Rodeo Association, the team is ramrodded by one of their "old pros" — Pow Carter. Carter, president of the 1971 Rodeo Association, is a senior animal production major from Fort Sumner, N. M.

He has been rodeoing for the past seven years and is a champion calf roper and steer wrestler. Currently he is ranked second in calf roping in the Southwest NIRA competition.

Carter was once named American Junior Rodeo Association

(AJRA) All-Round Cowboy and has gone to the national finals in collegiate rodeo competition the last two years to compete in roping.

The Rodeo Team differs in another way from other Tech teams. All the practicing is done on the athletes' own time. Whether working out with their individual horses on calf roping or barrel racing, or attending "buckout" sessions at Dub Parks Arena to practice riding broncs, the team members show great incentive in mastering their sport.

Other team members are: Jim Koontz, a senior animal science major, also from Fort Sumner, is another veteran of seven years of rodeoing and is a champion roper.

Doug McCloy, a junior from Morse, Tex., is an animal production major. He went to the NIRA finals last year to compete in bullriding.

Lewis Brooks, a junior animal production major, is from Sweetwater. He was a champion AFRA bareback rider in 1969.

J. W. Meyers, a junior from Shattuck, Okla., is an animal business major. He is a college champion bull rider.

Ab Hendley, a junior animal business major from Big Spring, was a champion AJRA roper in high school and college. He is the 1971 Rodeo Association vice president.

Billy Hale of Spur is a senior and one of the Tech Team's ropers.

Stan Hackfield is a sophomore roper from Loraine.

Linda Griffin, a 1971 rodeo queen contestant, is a graduate of Eastern New Mexico State University. She is working on her master's degree in physical education. Miss Griffin has rodeoed for four years and is a champion in barrel racing and a goat tying.

Gladys Pinkert, also a queen candidate, is from Albany. She competes in barrel racing.

Jacque McAshen of Artesia, N.M., is an education major and specializes in barrel racing, goat tying and breakaway roping.

Judy Clement, the fourth member of the women's team, is a junior from Dalhart and competes in barrel racing and goat tying.
