Gosh, what a shame to lose someone as young, talented and energetic as Doug Josseland.

Doug was one of the first people I met after I moved to Hereford four years ago. I was familiar with his name, but didn't really know him.

Over the course of the next year, I got to know him pretty well, and he, me. I lived in the apartment directly above him, and you get to know some things about people that way, things you'd never otherwise know about folks.

For instance, Doug was one of those folks who could sleep until about 7:50 a.m., get up, shower, shave and get dressed in 10 minutes and always look great. He didn't do that every morning, but he did it more than once.

Doug was a great neighbor. We'd run into each other quite often, and more than once he'd help me. I remember the night I moved my ex-wife out of my apartment and into a small U-Haul trailer. I don't know that my ex ever got her mattress and box springs out of that trailer, but Doug and I got that baby wedged in there, somehow.

After I had lived there about a year, Doug moved to his new place and I didn't see him quite as often. That didn't mean that Doug's kindness stopped. He didn't have to listen to me when I offered "advice" on chamber matters, and he didn't have to ask me what I thought about this and that. But he was always courteous enough to ask, and listen.

That meant a lot to me. Doug Josseland is someone that will always be close to my thoughts, my memory, my heart. I'm grateful to have counted him as a friend, and I thank God I got to share some time on Earth with him.

One of my favorite pictures was of Doug doffing his white cowboy hat at the 1990 chamber banquet, where the theme was "Hats Off to Hereford." When Doug produced his white hat, someone toward the front (I think it was Scott Keeling) said, loud enough for Doug to hear, that he looked like Jim Hightower.

Today, we take our hats off to Doug Josseland. The song may have ended, but the melody lingers on.

Cockrum arraigned

Billy Edward Cockrum, 36, of Hereford is facing a $450,000 bond after his arraignment Tuesday in conjunction with a May 18 murder in Amarillo.

Cockrum, who was arrested in June in Wyoming, decided last week to waive extradition proceedings and be returned to Amarillo. There, he faced first-degree murder charges in connection with the death of Catherine Trace Angell, 28, of Amarillo.

Angell's body was found in an East Amarillo Blvd. apartment. An autopsy showed she had been strangled. Soon after Angell's body was discovered, a warrant was issued by Amarillo police for Cockrum.

Cockrum was arrested without incident by Casper, Wyoming police after a female companion was arrested for shoplifting at a Casper store. Cockrum had originally indicated he would fight extradition to Texas and bond was denied.

Cockrum, a former Hereford-area feedlot employee, is in Potter County Jail in lieu of bond.

ISABEL RODRIGUEZ

TERESA CASTILLO

Fiestas Patrias queen to be chosen Saturday

A queen to reign over the annual Fiestas Patrias celebration in Hereford will be chosen in a special competition at 8 p.m. Saturday at San Jose Catholic Church in Hereford.

Isabel Rodriguez, daughter of Gloria and Gilbert Rodriguez, and Teresa Castillo, daughter of Maria and Arnulfo Castillo, will compete for the title.

Five out-of-town judges will assess presentations made Saturday night to select the 39th Fiestas Patrias queen in Hereford. The young lady selected will reign over events planned Sept. 14-15 to mark the 181st anniversary of Mexico's cry for independence from Spain in 1810. Castillo's presentation will deal with the past, present and future of Mexico's independence, while Rodriguez will discuss the past, present and future of quinceaneras, a religious celebration marking one's 15th birthday.

Rodriguez, 16, is a junior at Hereford High School, spends much of her day in the cosmetology program at HHS, and was in the one-act contest play last spring. Much of her summer was spent helping her mother in her beauty salon while an employee took a leave of absence.

Rodriguez is looking forward to Saturday's contest. "I thought it would be fun and interesting to do," Rodriguez said. "I felt I could learn something from it and then share that with others so they might learn, too."

Rodriguez feels strongly about her heritage. "My parents were born in Mexico, and I was almost born there. My dad was 15 when he first came to the United State. He brought my mom over after they got married, and one year later I was born."

Isabel said she and her family visit Mexico often, and that has helped her become even more familiar with her culture.

Another draw for the contest for Isabel was the scholarships to be awarded. She has plans for college and an out-of-the-ordinary career. "I want to learn multiple languages and work as an interpreter, such as at the United Nations."

Castillo, a 1991 graduate of Hereford High School, was a state champion in cross-country and trace, and was also in the band. Despite all of her activities, and preparing for college this fall at Odessa College, she made time in her hectic schedule for the queen's contest. "I thought it would be fun and interesting. I like to keep busy and really work and to go for what I want to go for...and learn."

Teresa hopes to earn scholarship money to further her education: she plans to coach after graduating from college.

With her parents' support, Teresa gave a presentation on Mexico to her government class last fall. Her dad brought her coins from Mexico, and Teresa said the class broke out in cheers when she told them her mother had made tamales for all of them. She proudly adds the project earned her a 98 in the class.

Teresa has been pursuing the topic of Mexico's independence for her presentation, and believes the experience will help her in college.

Both Rodriguez and Castillo have been busy with the fund-raising aspect of the contest. Isabel has spent several months with various projects, and Teresa ran a concession at her church's weekly bingo events. Castillo said she was able to brush up on her Spanish while speaking to bingo players, and her bilingual speaking will be an important part of her contest presentation.

Holy Salsa!
New products erupt in market

WASHINGTON (AP) - Looking for a little something to slather on that grilled chicken breast tonight? Your choices just expanded by 124.

That's how many new condiments burst onto the market in July, when a record-breaking 1,837 new products were introduced for sale in supermarkets and gourmet, health food and drug stores. Most were foods, and most of the foods were gourmet.

Eleven new kinds of salsa made a debut - including some odd multi-ethnic combinations such as Spanish Verde Kosher Salsa.

Who's supposed to buy all this new stuff? Experts say that ubiquitous American creature: the well-traveled, health-conscious yuppie.

But these are the 1990s, and there's a recession on. So the items are aimed at folks who can't afford a new car, but are still willing to plunk down $6 for a jar of pickles.

"We had thought going into this year with war and recession that new products would drop," said Lynn Domblaser, publisher of New Product News, which has been tracking the introduction of new items every month for more than 26 years.

"I think it has to do with better-educated, younger people taking more time to look at the labels and see that they are more healthy for them," said Michael Schlosser of Simon David gourmet food stores in Dallas. "Most of the gourmet products are natural products."

It's increased travel, said Marvin Krauss, marketing director of Gourmet magazine. "People travel to France. People travel to Italy. They are exposed to new ingredients that they come home and start looking for."

"These (new products) were ideas that have been in the pipeline and happened to hit the market this year," he said. "It's the influence of the 1980s coming to fruition in the 1990s."

Adrienne Ash, president of A.R. Ash and Associates Inc. in Tucson, Ariz., which makes nothing but salsa - spicy Mexican tomato sauce - agreed that the yuppies of the 1980s played a part. People saw a market and developed products for a more sophisticated palate, she said.

Domblaser said the kinds of food products introduced this year show manufacturers are aiming for the adventuresome eaters often found among educated people in their 20s and 30s. Gourmet condiments like Chili from Hell mix and Habanero Products from Hell were new last month.

Family Secrets' Secret Mustards, Papa Joe Costa Rican Red Pepper Sauce, Zingers Hot Pickles and Pepper Pizzazz Pepper Jelly are a few others.

The publisher also said ethnic combinations are proliferating.

"We always see Italian and Oriental foods, but we're seeing more Thai and Indian cuisine this year," Domblaser said in a telephone interview from her Chicago office.

Pickens asks withdrawal of WTSU report

AUSTIN (AP) - Dallas oil magnate T. Boone Pickens said he is weighing legal action over a report by the state auditor alleging apparent financial mismanagement at West Texas State University in Canyon.

Pickens on Thursday asked Auditor Lawrence Alwin to withdraw the report, issued in April.

The audit said apparent mismanagement while Pickens was chairman of the school's board of regents cost West Texas State the chance to increase its endowment by up to $2.5 million when it failed to raise matching grants.

Alwin criticized the handling of $1.5 million in endowments pledged to the school in 1987 by Pickens and Mesa Limited Partnership, his oil and gas company.

The report has spawned a grand jury investigation in Randall County. District Attorney Randall Sherrod said the panel heard witnesses Thursday, and said he expected the probe to continue through October.

Pickens, who has been highly critical of the report, says an independent audit shows West Texas State actually made money on the transactions.

Last month, he aired his complaints before a meeting of the Legislative Audit Committee, which oversees the auditor's office. However, several lawmakers at the meeting stood by Alwin's report.

In a letter to Alwin, Pickens on Thursday questioned the motives behind the audit, which he said was "fatally flawed in its preparation, objectivity and conclusions."

"Any citizen of Texas whose private or public activities had been investigated with the bias, sloppiness and disregard for individual rights evidenced by the SAO (auditor's office) throughout the WTSU matter would be justifiably outraged and likely seeking corrective action and, perhaps, damages," Pickens wrote.

"We are similarly outraged and are carefully considering our legal remedies," he continued.

Sharon Leggett, Alwin's first assistant, said the auditor was out of the office until Monday.

"We have received the letter, and Mr. Alwin's out of town today, and until we have the opportunity to review it, we would prefer not to comment," Ms. Leggett said.

In the report, Alwin also charged that West Texas State, prompted by heavy athletic department losses, had used funds restricted for other purposes to finance operations of the university's auxiliary enterprises.

West Texas State was merged into the Texas A&M System on Sept. 1, 1990. The auditor's office said the merger should rectify most of the problems found during the investigation.

Bush bracing for aid requests

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Bush administration is bracing for renewed pressure from its European allies and members of Congress to do more to help the crumbling Soviet economy.

Advocates of increased aid argue that it's needed to prevent the collapse of the Soviet Union and to ensure against another coup.

The Soviet Union, emerging from the traumatic takeover that removed President Mikhail Gorbachev from power for three days this week, is looking to the United States for help.

"We're going to face a rather hard winter," said Ambassador Viktor Kompletov. Although he declined to make specific requests, Kompletov did issue one plea to the administration when speaking with reporters Thursday.

"Please, give a substantial political signal to American businessmen" to invest in Soviet projects and ventures, he said.

The defeat of the Soviet hard-liners is likely to spur the transition to a market economy - both on a national level and in the increasingly autonomous Soviet republics that already have adopted private-market reforms far more progressive than Gorbachev's halting attempts.

These developments are expected to place pressure on the United States to help.

"We feel this will open the debate again," a U.S. policy-making official said Thursday.

"The Europeans, especially, will renew their pressure on a subject we thought had been closed" at the London summit of the major Western democracies in July, said the official, speaking on condition he not be named.

The United States this year has withstood pressure from European nations and from some prominent Democrats - including House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo. - for direct cash aid to the Soviet Union.

Asked Thursday about additional Soviet aid, President Bush rejected any immediate change in the U.S. position. "We'll be talking to our European friends about this. But we agreed at London on a certain path," he told reporters in Kennebunkport, Maine.

Leaving the door open, however, Bush added that "if there's something that we could do that might further enhance economic recovery we'll always be glad to take a look."

At the same time, he lifted a hold on economic programs that he had placed when the coup began.

But Congress is likely to demand much more than that when it returns from summer recess after Labor Day.

"I'm certain there will be greater sympathy in Congress to (Russian President) Boris Yeltsin," said Sen. Richard Lugar of Indiana, a high-ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Some will be urging direct aid to Yeltsin and other republics, he predicted.

But administration officials envisage problems with such

Groups ask for ethics clean-up bill

Governor hesitant to add to session call

AUSTIN (AP) - A proposal to put a state ethics commission in the Texas Constitution will face opposition from Common Cause unless it's changed before the Nov. 5 election on the issue.

Common Cause, Public Citizen and the League of Women Voters on Thursday said Gov. Ann Richards should put an ethics clean-up bill on lawmakers' agenda this special session.

But Richards' press secretary, Bill Cryer, said she is unlikely to do so. The governor has said she wants to keep the session as short as possible.

"If we added ethics to the call, it would likely turn into a multi-month session. It's a very controversial bill," Cryer said.

Tom Smith, Texas director of Public Citizen, said, "If they've got enough time to discuss whether we ought to sell beer in the stadium in Irving ... they've got enough time to fix the ethics legislation."

Smith said the Legislature should take action even if Richards does not put the issue on the special session agenda, which she controls. He said that lawmakers may debate and pass a constitutional amendment without action by the governor.

Common Cause's executive committee has voted to not support the constitutional amendment as currently proposed for the Nov. 5 ballot, said Suzy Woodford, the group's state executive director.

Smith and Evelyn Bonavita, president of the League of Women Voters, said their groups had not made a decision on supporting the amendment.

Public Citizen is leaning against it, Smith said. Ms. Bonavita said the league would decide in September.

"Once it's in the constitution in this form, it's going to be a lot harder to change it," Ms. Woodford said.

If the amendment is rejected, an ethics commission still would be created under the law but would not be in the constitution, she said.

A law can be changed through legislative action. Changing the constitutional amendment after it is approved would require not only a two-thirds vote of the Legislature but a vote of the people.

A major concern of the watchdog groups is that ethics commission members would be chosen from nominees suggested by Democratic and Republican lawmakers. Members of the Legislature may be the most common subjects of ethics inquiries.

Smith said six of the eight ethics commission members would have to vote to take action, start an investigation, audit a lawmaker or implement a rule. He said the commission would be a "toothless watchdog."

The eight members also could deadlock, Ms. Woodford said.

Common Cause and Public Citizen said the makeup of the commission may be unconstitutional, since not all Texans are Democrats or Republicans.

Most of the action and information considered by the commission would be exempt from the state's open meetings and open records laws, the League of Women Voters added.

"By exempting all of this from government-in-the-sunshine laws until the commission has reached the stage of a formal hearing, the Legislature forces the public to view with enormous suspicion whatever the Texas Ethics Commission does and whatever decisions it reaches in secret," Ms. Bonavita said.

There is no deadline for submitting lists or making appointments in the law, Ms. Woodford noted.

Richards sent letters asking House Speaker Gib Lewis and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock to forward recommendations to her by 9 a.m. Friday. However, lawmakers in the House and Senate said they were unlikely to meet that deadline.

"We think that the law will work fine. We think that the major consideration will be the people that she puts on that board, and we know she is going to put highly qualified people on that board," Cryer said.

Bandit dies, helpers flee with cash

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - An armed bandit died of an apparent heart attack after he was stricken while scooping money out of the safe of a barbecue restaurant, police said.

Officers said a man identified as Rudolfo Naranjo, 49, of San Antonio, was dead on arrival at Baptist Medical Center Thursday night after he was stricken during a robbery of the Bill Miller Bar-B-Q restaurant.

The man had a handgun in one hand and was reaching into the floor safe at the time he collapsed.

Police said Naranjo and two other men walked into the restaurant Thursday night. One walked to the front of the restaurant while the man identified as Naranjo forced the manager at gunpoint into the restaurant's office. The third kept watch on counter employees, officers said.

"(The man holding the gun) started tearing the office apart asking for money," restaurant manager Alfred Martinez said. "Then he noticed the safe on the floor."

Martinez said the gunman ordered him to open the safe, then knelt down and stuck his arm inside.

"All of the sudden he stopped," Martinez said. "There are some steel teeth inside the safe so I thought he got stuck."

Martinez said he had already pressed a silent alarm button to alert police. The other two bandits entered the office and told their companion to "hurry up," police said.

"They went over to him and noticed he was out," Detective Sissy Kokal said. "They dragged him as far as the back door, then grabbed his gun and told the employees to call for an ambulance."

The men then grabbed the gun and a money bag from their stricken companion and fled. The other men were not armed, police said.

The men fled with the money bag and some restaurant uniforms, police said.

Judge's ruling fails to halt work in Legislature on redistricting

AUSTIN (AP) - Lawmakers will continue working on redistricting plans despite a court decision that those plans are unconstitutional because they're based on faulty population figures.

State District Judge Mario E. Ramirez of Edinburg ruled Thursday that voting boundaries for state and federal districts must be scrapped because they are based on census data that has undercounted Texas' population, particularly minorities.

Ramirez ordered the state to compensate for the undercount and submit new redistricting plans by Sept. 30.

Texas Attorney General Dan Morales said the state will appeal Ramirez' decision, which means the state will not have to comply with the judge's order while the appeal is pending.

Morales' decision to appeal was "unfortunate," said Judith Sanders-Castro, director of political access for the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund.

"It would only hurt the state of Texas," she said.

Ms. Sanders-Castro noted that the filing period for candidates to run for office starts in December "and people don't yet know what districts they are going to be running in."

Despite the appeal, state Rep. Greg Luna, D-San Antonio, said, "We will prevail. It's going to occur. We have the law behind us."

Ms. Sanders-Castro said that with existing data on the undercount, lawmakers can adjust population figures on their own and continue working on redistricting plans.

Gov. Ann Richards said Texas wants the population figures to be adjusted, but requests to do that have "fallen on deaf federal ears."

"This state court judge is attempting to use the redistricting vehicle to get at the Department of Commerce and the census count. Obviously the state has no numbers of its own that would stand a federal challenge," Richards said.

"Not only has the Department of Commerce or the Census Bureau not agreed to adjust the figures, they have refused to make their figures available to us, which are the only figures that would withstand federal scrutiny," she added.

On April 18, the Census Bureau said that it had failed to count approximately 500,000 Texans in the 1990 census. But on July 15, Secretary of Commerce Robert Mosbacher announced no adjustment would be made to its census figures.

Yearning For Camelot
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - Mark Twain's Connecticut Yankee wasn't the only American to have a thing about King Arthur's court. Arthurian lore and legend still fascinate Americans, according to a medievalist at the University of Rochester. References like "Camelot" or "Excalibur" appear in the names of motels, restaurants and even nursing homes, says Alan Lupack.

Why?
"The ideals and values people crave are embedded in these stories," he says. "They have helped shape our values of honor, justice and charity, and our relationships between men and women."

The legend, he adds, allows us "at least to dream of a world where men can live in harmony."

No Olympic Games were held in 1916, 1940 or 1944 because of World Wars I and II.

Herd improves over course of scrimmage

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The varsity Herd was not successful in the first half of Thursday's football scrimmage against Monterey, but they showed signs of improvement over the second half, scoring twice in their last set of offensive plays.

Monterey outscored Hereford 6-2 overall, with two of the Plainsmen's scores coming on interception returns.

"We weren't physical enough in the first half. They took the fight to us," Herd coach Danny Haney said. "But that'll come around. They (the Herd's younger players) are not used to that level of play."

Monterey moved the ball up and down the field on their first offensive set of 20 plays. They scored three times on drives starting at their own 30 yard line, with each drive aided by a long pass play.

During Hereford's first turn on offense, the Herd was stopped cold on almost every play. One bright spot—a 52-yard touchdown scramble by quarterback Richard Sanderson—was wiped out by a clipping call on the Whitefaces.

The second half was much better for the Herd.

"I liked the way they came back in the second round," Haney said.

"The kids really came back and played."

The Herd defense settled down in the second half. At one point, they were controlling the Plainsmen, even getting a pair of sacks from end Mark Kreighsauer, but immediately after the second sack, Monterey completed a 35-yard pass and eventually scored on a short run.

Hereford's first-team offense didn't score in the second half, but they did move the ball. A Monterey defensive back saved a touchdown on fourth down and goal at the five-yard line by blatantly interfering with the receiver. That gave the Herd a first down at the Monterey two, but the interference paid off for the Plainsmen when Ron Donahue picked off Sanderson's next pass two yards deep in the end zone and returned it all the way for a score.

That was the last score Monterey got, but Hereford was just getting started. The Herd scored twice in its last offensive set, fueled by the running of Chris Brummett. He scored both touchdowns; the second being set up by a 48-yard pass from quarterback Chad Sandoval to Sean Smith, who was caught at the eight-yard line.

Hereford got work for three quarterbacks: Ben Perry, Sanderson and Sandoval. All three showed some good things, Haney said, but he was not yet ready to single any of the quarterbacks out.

Several Whitefaces suffered injuries Thursday, but only two are likely to miss any time, Haney said. Leo Brown had a hip pointer early in the scrimmage, and Craig Hillrunner suffered bruised ribs. X-rays showed no ribs were broken.

Earlier in the day, the juniors and sophomores held separate scrimmages, and both prevailed. The sophomores outscored Monterey 2-1, and the juniors were impressive in outscoring the Plainsmen 3-0.

The juniors' defense was particularly impressive in Monterey's first offensive 20-play set. The Herd did not allow a first down, and Plainsmen lost yardage as often as they gained.

Place-kicker Mark Moseley of Washington put 161 points on the scoreboard in 1983 without scoring a touchdown.

Cornered

A Monterey runner (in white) is wrapped up by Hereford's Joel Gayton as other Herd defenders Rudy Olivares (57), Chris Brummett (17) and Mark Kreighsauer (84) converge. The Whitefaces were outscored in Thursday's scrimmage at Whiteface Stadium, six touchdowns to two.

Bumbling Oilers top Rams

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - What is was was football - exhibition style. A crowd announced at 63,285, more than the Liberty Bowl's capacity of 62,425, watched the Houston Oilers bobble their way past the Los Angeles Rams 16-13 Thursday night.

"Preseason games are funny," said Rams coach John Robinson. "You don't get the home crowd intensity, but this crowd seemed intense, intelligent and into football."

The teams, meanwhile, were into fumble-ball.

There were 11 turnovers, including three interceptions and one fumble by Houston quarterback Warren Moon. "I didn't have a good night," Moon said in an understatement. "I underthrew the ball a lot, and it sailed on me as well."

But Steve Jackson and backup quarterback Cody Carlson rallied the Oilers, who trailed 10-7 at halftime, to the victory. Late in the third quarter, Jackson blocked a Dale Hatcher punt through the end zone for a safety that pulled Houston to 10-9 with 3:46 to go.

Carlson then moved the Oilers 55 yards in six plays, capping the drive with a 9-yard scoring pass to Tony Jones with 21 seconds left in the quarter.

The Rams had a chance to take back the lead in the fourth period, but quarterback Chuck Long fumbled the snap on third down and ex-Oiler Tony Zendejas hit a 40-yard field goal with 6:49 left.

Houston coach Jack Pardee said it was a nice way to win, but admitted it was a sloppy game for both sides.

"Too bad for such a nice crowd," Pardee said. "They were really into it the whole game. Playing on a neutral site makes it fun to play football."

The final exhibition game saw most starters leave at halftime.

Starter Jim Everett tied the game at 7-7 with 5:05 remaining in the first quarter when he hit Damone Johnson with a 2-yard pass to cap a 64-yard drive. Zendejas put the Rams up 10-7 with his 46-yard field goal with 8:43 left in the first half.

Houston's run-and-shoot offense stumbled in the first half with four turnovers as Moon was intercepted three times. The Oilers' first drive ended when Michael Stewart intercepted Moon's pass. Darryl Henley picked off two Moon passes in a 40-second span of the final 1:48 to stop Houston.

Robinson was among those who are happy the exhibition season has ended.

"We were trying to play a lot of people ... (without) making a lot of preparation," said Robinson, who noted the crowd was intense in Memphis, one of several cities trying to attract an NFL expansion team.

David Lang was a bright spot for

Los Angeles as he filled in for veteran running backs Cleveland Gary and Marcus Dupree. He finished with 68 yards on 21 rushes, while catching three passes for 21 yards.

But Houston turned one of Lang's two fumbles into the first touchdown of the game on a quarterback sneak by Moon at 9:37 of the first quarter.

Jays' lead over Tigers shrinks to one game

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

The Blue Jays have gotten plenty of hitting, pitching and defense so far this season. Lately, though, they've gotten something else - inconsistency. Toronto's edge in the AL East again shrunk to one game Thursday night when they blew a late lead at home and lost to the Milwaukee Brewers 8-7.

B.J. Surhoff got four hits and singled home the tying run as Milwaukee rallied for five runs in the seventh inning and went on to win. "The positives were that we scored seven runs and had really aggressive baserunning," interim manager Gene Tenace said. "But we've been inconsistent. One night we get hitting, one night we get pitching, or the defense malfunctions. ... It's called a little adversity."

Tenace is managing in place of Cito Gaston, who missed his second straight game because of a bad back.

The Blue Jays led 6-3 in the seventh before reliever Duane Ward (5-5) gave up a one-out single to Willie Randolph and walked Darryl Hamilton. Robin Yount and Greg Vaughn hit consecutive run-scoring singles and Surhoff's single off Bob MacDonald tied it. With two outs, Jim Gantner and Bill Spiers hit run-scoring singles for an 8-6 lead.

John Olerud hit his career-high 15th home run in the bottom of the seventh, bringing the Blue Jays within one run.

Mike Ignasiak won his major league debut. He pitched 2 1-3 innings and gave up Greg Myers' two-run homer. Doug Henry pitched two innings, striking out the side in the ninth, for his fifth save.

Rangers 4, Royals 2

Pitcher Tom Gordon made a three-base throwing error in the eighth inning that allowed Texas to score the go-ahead run.

Julio Franco led off the eighth with a single and Rafael Palmeiro hit a bouncer in front of the mound. Gordon (9-11) threw past first base, enabling Franco to score for a 3-2 lead, and Ruben Sierra hit an RBI double.

Kenny Rogers (9-8) pitched three hitless innings for the victory.

Twins 5, Mariners 4

Randy Bush's three-run homer in the ninth inning tied the score and Scott Leius won it with a two-out homer in the 10th.

Mike Schooler (0-1) was perfect in five save chances this season, but could not hold a 4-1 lead in the ninth. Al Newman walked with one out, Chuck Knoblauch singled and Bush hit his fifth home run of the season. Leius hit his fourth home run off Schooler the next inning.

Rick Aguilera (4-4) got the victory.

Red Sox 7, Indians 6

Boston scored the tying run in the ninth on third baseman Jeff Manto's two-out error and won in the 10th with the help of another error.

After Boston made it 6-all in the ninth, Luis Rivera bunted with one out in the 10th and was safe on first baseman Carlo Martinez's error. Wade Boggs and Jody Reed followed with singles that won it.

Greg Harris (10-11) got his second victory in less than 24 hours. Steve Olin (2-6) lost for the second straight day.

Carlos Baerga's second home run of the game, a three-run shot, put the Indians ahead 6-5 in the eighth.

Athletics 2, Angels 1

Bob Welch outdueled Chuck Finley.

Welch (11-8) pitched a four-hitter. He struck out seven and walked two in his seventh complete game of the season, and lost his shutout on Wally Joyner's 19th home run in the ninth.

Finley (15-7) pitched seven innings and allowed five hits, including Mike Gallego's home run and Terry Steinbach's RBI double.

Gooden yanked despite shutout

By JIM DONAGHY
AP Baseball Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - If Dwight Gooden stubs his toe, it's usually enough of a concern to bring in a medical team for instant analysis.

New York Mets manager Bud Harrelson and pitching coach Mel Stottlemyre noticed something was wrong with Gooden in the first inning and spent the next four innings in high-level discussions.

The charts were brought out and they kept a careful eye on the right-hander's velocity. Yes, something was wrong with their $5 million man.

Harrelson pulled Gooden after five innings because of tightness behind the pitcher's right shoulder even though he had a shutout going. The Mets went on to beat the Cardinals 6-0, but right now results aren't all that important to New York.

Thoughts of a pennant race have drifted out of the Mets' minds, so their main concern is the future. Gooden, of course, remains a big part of that future.

"Doc stiffened up and he was losing velocity," Harrelson said. "He wanted to stay in, but with Doc you don't play games."

The Mets still remember 1989, when Gooden missed the second half of the season with a small tear in the back of his right shoulder.

"It's no big deal. I'm not concerned," Gooden said. "It happened in the first inning when I reached back for a little extra against Pedro Guerrero because he usually jumps on me. I felt something grab ... felt tightness. I've had the same thing in spring training."

Gooden (13-7) gave up only three hits, but walked five.

Charlie O'Brien, who mostly catches when Gooden pitches, had three hits, including a two-run homer off Bob Tewksbury (8-9) in the sixth inning to make it 4-0.

The Cards failed to score in the sixth inning after Pete Schourek walked Tewksbury with two outs to load the bases. Tim Burke then pitched three solid innings for his first save as a member of the Mets, finishing the combined five-hitter.

Giants 11, Astros 8

Jose Uribe went 5-for-5 with two doubles. Kevin Mitchell hit three doubles and drove in two runs.

Jeff Bagwell hit a three-run homer in the third, putting the Astros ahead 3-2. The Giants scored four times in third, two on a single by pitcher Don Robinson.

Jeff Brantley (5-2) pitched two innings and struck out four, and Dave Righetti got the last four outs for his 20th save. Darryl Kile (5-8) was the loser.

Phillies 4, Pirates 3

Darren Daulton singled home the winning run with the bases loaded in the 11th inning.

The Phillies loaded the bases with one out on a single by Wes Chamberlain off Bill Landrum (1-3), a walk, a sacrifice and an intentional walk, and Daulton singled against Bob Kipper.

Chamberlain hit a two-run homer in the third. Mitch Williams (8-4) pitched two innings for the victory.

Braves 4, Reds 1

Brian Hunter homered and drove in three runs. Charlie Leibrandt (12-11) pitched eight strong innings.

Hunter, who flied out with the bases loaded in the first inning, hit a two-run single with the bases loaded in the fifth for a 3-1 lead against Scott Scudder (4-4). Hunter led off the eighth with his eighth home run.

Leibrandt gave up six hits and left after a leadoff single in the ninth. Jim Clancy closed for his sixth save.

Cowboys look ahead to Browns

IRVING, Texas (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys watched a lot of tape and films before tonight's NFL preseason game with the Atlanta but the subject they saw wasn't the Falcons.

The Cowboys were locking in on the Cleveland Browns, who will provide the opponent in the regular season opener on Sept. 1 in Cleveland.

"Our primary objective is to get ready for the Browns," said Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson, who no longer puts a high priority on winning preseason games.

In fact, the Cowboys will likely play their starters only in the first half against the Falcons in the final exhibition tuneup for both teams. Dallas is 1-2 and the Falcons are 2-1.

"We need to evaluate some more talent before we make the cut to 47 players," Johnson said. "I learned my first year not to make preseason games important. And I want to try to cut down on the injury factor by playing a lot of players."

The Cowboys went all-out to win in Johnson's first year and posted a 3-1 preseason record. Then Dallas went 1-15 in the regular season.

Last year Johnson evaluated talent as Dallas went 1-3. The Cowboys had a 7-9 record in the regular season and Johnson earned AP Coach of the Year honors.

On the opposite side of the fence, Atlanta coach Jerry Glanville has always felt an urgency to win in the preseason.

His teams are 18-5 in the preseason.

It's the first preseason meeting between the two franchises. Dallas holds a 9-5 record in regular season games.

Glanville should feel at home in Texas Stadium. He is 3-1 against the Cowboys in the stadium.

Some Dallas players feel they have a little revenge coming against Atlanta.

"They knocked us out of the playoffs last year and we owe a paycheck," said Dallas middle linebacker Jack Del Rio.

With quarterback Troy Aikman sidelined with an injury, the Falcons stopped a Babe Laufenberg-led offense for an easy 26-7 victory over the Cowboys.

Some 10,000 tickets were available for the game in which the Cowboys rated a field goal favorite.

Daly, Henke flop in World Series

AKRON, Ohio (AP) - John Daly and Nolan Henke each made his first appearance in a World Series of Golf Thursday.

Neither will easily forget it.

Daly, a crowd favorite since winning the PGA Championship two weeks ago, had three double bogeys and five bogeys on the way to a fat 80. Meanwhile, Henke shot a 4-under-par 66 to lead after the opening round at the Firestone Country Club.

Henke was primed for a Daly-like number heading into the round. After years of playing a draw, he had suddenly started hitting the ball left to right.

But a chance encounter with another player's teaching pro Wednesday evening helped him to make some much-needed adjustments.

"I was just hoping I wouldn't make a fool of myself today," said Henke.

He had six birdies and two bogeys in his 66, which gave him a two-shot advantage over former Masters champion Larry Mize and 42-year-old comeback kid Bruce Fleisher.

Symbolic of Henke's play was the eighth hole. He sliced his drive so far to the right it ended up in the second fairway where Joey Sindelar and Paul Azinger were playing in the last pairing.

Henke still got his par and had enough control to hold off the field.

Daly was disappointing himself and a huge gallery that followed him around the 7,149-yard, par-70 layout.

In the showdown between Daly and Firestone's signature hole - the 625-yard, par-5 16th "monster" - Daly hooked his drive into the deep woods and eventually settled for a double-bogey.

The 16th was also the undoing of the early leader, Jodie Mudd. Four-under through 15 holes, Mudd was in his backswing on the tee when a marshal stopped him because the group ahead was still in range.

Mudd never regained his composure and hooked his drive into a creek on the way to a double-bogey.

"I'm pretty bitter about it," said Mudd, who finished at 1-under 69.

Mize overcame a slow start with three birdies on the back to shoot his 68. Fleisher had 16 pars and a couple of birdies to share second place.

The winner collects $216,000 from a purse of $1.2 million.

Small size doesn't stop Rice nose guard Sign

HOUSTON (AP) - Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz was half correct in his assessment of Rice nose guard Matt Sign.

He is small. At 5-10, 220, Sign looks out of place when he lines up in the Owl defensive line.

The Fighting Irish coach was wrong about Sign's playing ability. He can play.

"A lot of people say he plays with a lot of heart," Rice coach Fred Goldsmith said. "He does but there's a lot of guys with heart who can't play very well.

"Explosion is his key. He's not very tall but he's got very strong legs and the explosion to make things happen and to fight through blocks. Then the intensity and heart to get to the ball becomes a factor."

Sign, a junior from Arlington, has led Rice defensive linemen in tackles for the past two seasons. He got 63 last season and had five sacks for 32 yards in losses.

He's one of seven returning defensive starters from a team that finished 5-6 last season, a mere two-point conversion away from its first winning season since 1963.

Sign came to Rice after an unhappy recruiting visit to Notre Dame.

"They decided I was too small after they saw me," Sign said. "Lou Holtz didn't even say hello. You spend all that money to bring me up and it's common courtesy to give me a handshake and a hello. I really didn't appreciate that."

Sign is accustomed to being labeled the underdog. He carries the underdog theme to baseball and the movies he watches.

"I love the (Cleveland) Indians, they're my favorite team," Sign said. "I mostly like their hats. They are a traditional team and I'm a traditional guy. They play on grass, they play in an old stadium. I liked all the Rocky movies."

Sign actually has fun with his role. "I guess someone has to be the underdog, it might as well be me,"

Sign said. "It's kind of fun. People are always looking to see what you are going to do next."

Sign took to Goldsmith's defensive alignment immediately.

"This defense fits me to a tee because you don't have to be so big to play the nose guard position," Sign said. "You are kind of like a down linebacker. You can go make a lot of plays. I'm glad Coach Goldsmith gave me a chance."

Goldsmith has led a resurgence in football interest on campus that Sign can sense.

"They used to look and say, 'he's a football player, they don't win,'" sign said. "But now they see we're coming along and we're going to get that winning season this year and everything's great."

"They've really been supportive. Now they come up and want to talk to you."

"Now they don't just want to talk books, they want to talk football too."

Investigation finds steroid sales

AUSTIN (AP) - Sixteen forged prescriptions for anabolic steroids were filled during a 14-month period at two drugstores near the University of Texas, an investigation found.

The Austin American-Statesman reported today that four pharmacists were involved in filling the prescriptions bearing the names of five doctors. The names of the patients were not released by the Texas State Board of Pharmacy.

The board began its investigation after the American-Statesman reported in March that a pharmacist said he had unknowingly filled several forged steroid prescriptions bearing the name of an orthopedist in Duncanville.

The name appeared on a forged prescription in February that was presented by University of Texas reserve football player Brent Beauchamp at a pharmacy in southwest Austin.

Last month, a Travis County grand jury indicted Beauchamp on a charge of obtaining drugs by fraud, a third-degree felony punishable by up to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Possession of steroids, without a proper medical reason, is a federal offense. Doctors can prescribe steroids for burn victims, cancer patients and menopausal women.

But athletes continue to use steroids to build and enhance muscles. Side effects of continued use include heart, liver and kidney damage, high blood pressure, sterility, mood swings, baldness and severe acne.

Fred Brinkley, executive director of the pharmacy board, said he is unaware of the board ever investigating a case involving so many forged prescriptions linked to an "abusable" drug like steroids.

Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: I am on vacation but I have left behind some of my favorite columns that you may have missed the first time around. I hope you enjoy them. — Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Many parents lack consideration when they name their newborn infants. I'd like to give you readers some guidelines. Their children will be forever grateful.

1. Don't choose a name just because it is popular at the moment. Ten years from now Jessica or Candy will be one of eight in her class with the same name.

2. Choose a first name that goes well with the last name. If your family name starts with N, don't give your little girl a first name ending in N because a name like Marilyn Nash will come out sounding like Marilyn Ash.

3. Don't name your child for a TV celebrity, movie star or sports figure. In five years the star may be forgotten and you'll be sorry.

4. Don't combine your husband's first name with a feminine ending and invent something "cute" like Markella or Johnette. In later years the poor kid will be asked, "Is that one name or two?" "What was that name again? John what?" "Would you please spell that name again?"

5. Don't let your husband talk you into naming the baby Herkimer or some such name just because it has been in the family for a long time. It's not worth it. I'm signing this -- Made My Mistakes and I'm Sorry

DEAR SORRY: Thanks for the advice. Too bad you didn't sign your name--or let us know what you did to your children that prompted you to write.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the teen-ager whose father called him belittling names brought back some heartbreaking memories.

I was a tall girl for my age. My dad took delight in calling me "The Big Ox" or "The Long Drink of Water." I also had a crooked tooth in front. He never lost a chance to call it to the attention of a new friend by asking, "How do you like our snaggle-tooth witch?"

Because of my father's merciless belittling (Mon called it "teasing a little"), I grew up self-conscious and shy. It wasn't until I left home for college that I realized I was far from ugly and not much taller than most girls my age.

Although I still have moments of insecurity -- I've come to realize that my father did this to compensate for his own feelings of inadequacy.

Name-callers have their own private hang-ups. When young people understand this it can help them feel less bitter. -- Receiving End

DEAR RECEIVING: Your letter contained almost all the advice I was prepared to give. I'd like to add one more thought, however. Most parents who are unable to show affection to their children were denied affection by their own parents. Sometimes it takes therapy to break the chain. In the absence of professional help, just understanding can perform miracles.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For several years we have enjoyed entertaining our nieces and nephews before they married. In this way we were able to meet the new in-laws and families. Recently, we were told, "Forget the fancy dinner party. Just add the cost to the price of the gift." We were shocked and hurt. What should we do? -- P.W.L.

DEAR P.W.L.: Forget the fancy dinner party and give exactly what you would have given prior to that tasteless suggestion.

PERFUME INSERTS

Dear Heloise: When I receive a charge-card statement, it usually has a sample of perfume in the envelope.

If you're not allergic to perfume, these samples make ideal deodorizers. I just unfold the paper to expose the perfume and place them in closets, lingerie drawers, linen closets, bathrooms and clothes hampers. — Janice Lockhart, Somerset, N.J.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: There isn't a week that goes by that we don't receive several recorded sales pitches. These calls cannot be disconnected, even if you hang up the receiver.

It was an unusual occurrence, but one day I received one of these phone calls, which tied up my line. Only a short time later, I had an extreme emergency with my son, and it required a call to 911. Fortunately, this didn't happen while the phone was forcefully engaged.

Now of course this doesn't happen every day and hopefully will never happen to most people. But what if it does? Suppose the line is tied up with some kind of sales pitch on a recorder when an emergency call needs to go out?

I despise these phone calls at any time of the day or evening, and of course never buy anything over the phone, but what can we do? — Barbara Crowl, Dover Pa.

I agree, these calls can be a nuisance. We spoke with Southwestern Bell (the telephone company in our area) and this is the information they shared with us.

In Texas, the Public Utility Commission has specific rules governing the use of automatic-dial announcing devices.

According to these rules, the device must disconnect from the called person's line not longer than 10 seconds after the called person hangs up. Violation of this or other rules can subject the company to prosecution.

To check if this rule applies to your state, contact your local telephone company or Public Utility Commission. — Heloise

CLASSIFIED

364-2030
313 N. Lee

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.28	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.46	9.60
5 days per word	.55	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not in solid-word lines-those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

SELAH!

THE BOOK OF PSALMS, ISRAEL'S ANCIENT HYMNAL, HAS BEEN CALLED A BIBLE IN MINIATURE BECAUSE ITS 150 SONGS CONTAIN EVERY KIND OF RELIGIOUS EXPERIENCE—HYMNS OF PRAISE, LAMENTS SEEKING DELIVERANCE FROM TROUBLE, SONGS OF TRUST IN GOD'S HELP, PSALMS OF WISDOM, SACRED HISTORY, PROPHECY, ROYAL PSALMS FOR THE CORONATIONS AND WEDDINGS, LITURGIES FOR SPECIAL EVENTS, ETC.

THE CHORUS AT WORK, SINGING A PSALM IN THE TEMPLE, AT THE FEAST OF THE NEW MOON. LINED UP BEHIND ONE OF THE LEADER PRIESTS, WHO IS THE CELEBRANT OF THIS FEAST, ARE THE SINGERS, COMPOSED OF TENOR, BASS, AND ALTO VOICES, BEHIND WHICH ARE THE MUSICIANS, CYMBALS, PSALTERS, AND LUTES. ALL UNDER THE CHIEF MUSICIAN'S ARLE DIRECTION, IN THIS CASE, HEWAN, SON OF ASAPH, (DAVID'S REIGN, CIRCA 1,000 B.C.)

SELAH! THIS MYSTERIOUS WORD IS FOUND IN AMONGST THE PSALMS, REPEATEDLY—BY ACTUAL COUNT, 71 TIMES! SCHOLARS AND ETYMOLOGISTS CAN'T SEEM TO TRACE ITS MEANING—A MUSICAL PAUSE? A LITURGICAL DIRECTION? INSTRUMENTAL INTERLUDE? NO TWO AUTHORITIES SEEM TO AGREE! NO ONE KNOWS! AH, WELL—SELAH!
