Deaf Smith, Hidalgo County Swap Rankings In State Agriculture

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Texas Agricultural Extension Service

The nip-and-tuck battle between Deaf Smith and Hidalgo Counties for the title of No. 1 county in Texas in agriculture saw a reversal of the status of the state's two top farm areas in 1976, according to preliminary figures provided by the DEAF SMITH County rose to the pinnacle of agricultural production status within the state in 1975, but Hidalgo County, the No. 2 finisher in 1975, managed to edge Deaf Smith County for the 1976 title.

Hidalgo County had an estimated income in cash receipts from marketing of crops and livestock in 1976 of approximately $198 million.

Second place finisher Deaf Smith County maintained its traditional position near the top with an estimated total of $161 million.

Government payments were not included in the figures supplied by the extension service.

THE COUNTY'S drop to the number two position can be attributed largely to a poor year for local agriculture in 1976.

Lack of moisture resulted in a failure of the dryland wheat crop and the irrigated wheat crop came up short. Later, vegetable growers were faced with a poor market and the fall corn and grain sorghum harvests were also staged amidst poor market prices.

The decline in the market situation triggered a corresponding decline in the overall crop production income here, and declines in placements of cattle in local feedlots during the second half of 1976 and poor cattle markets also cut into the total agricultural income figure.

The county's 1976 income in cash receipts from agriculture was below the 1975 figure of $180,860,000 which came mostly from the sale of corn, wheat, grain sorghum and cattle.

HIDALGO COUNTY improved on its 1975 figure of $175,652,000, with the sale of key crops including grain sorghum and vegetables.

The "Magic Triangle" area of Deaf Smith, Parmer and Castro counties maintained its dominant role in Texas agriculture in 1976, with Parmer County remaining in the No. 3 position it held in 1975.

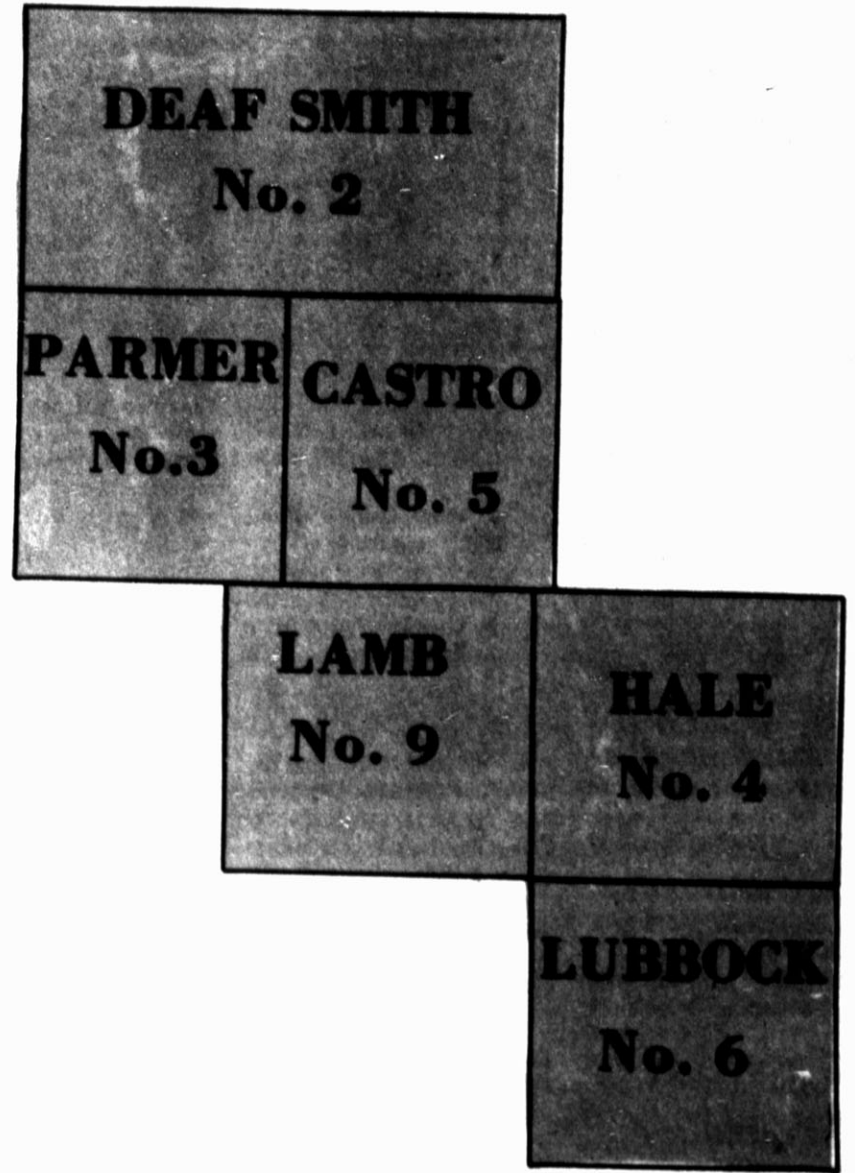

The preliminary 1976 cash receipts figure for Parmer County was set at $149 million.

Castro County finished No. 5 in the state for 1976 with marketing of crops and livestock amounting to $133 million, to complete the important link of the Magic Triangle counties to state agriculture.

HALE COUNTY ranked No. 4 in the extension service report for 1976 with receipts of $138 million.

This diagram shows the striking concentration of local counties that ranked in the top ten in 1976 in total agricultural cash receipts, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Six of the top ten counties in the state were located in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains region. Despite a bad income year in 1976, local counties managed to maintain their traditional position at the top of Texas agriculture, and all three counties in the local area's "Magic Triangle" were ranked in the top five.

Inaugural Invitee

Jimmy Carter will soon be in the White House following the Thursday inauguration, but he didn't forget some of the people who put him there. For instance, Mrs. Argin Draper, an area resident and former Home Demonstration agent here, received one of the large printed invitations to the festivities in Washington D.C. She couldn't make it but her husband Tom Draper flew to the capital Tuesday to attend the parade, swearing-in and a special party to which he was invited. They were among a selected few area people to get the valued invitations for their work in Democratic Party activities locally. Mrs. Draper also wears a gold "peanut" necklace given her by a Georgian aunt in support of Carter.

Sunday Evening Services Planned For Prayer Week

The Week of Prayer for Christian Unity observance continues this week with the Sunday evening services at St. Anthony's Catholic Church beginning at 7 p.m.

The service was held today at the First Christian Church for those recognizing the need for a stronger commitment to uniting Christians around the world. It involved a covered dish dinner with participation from most local pastors.

The Ministerial Association is sponsoring the service, which also includes the participation of area pastors. The Homily will be delivered by Rev. Mack McCarter, pastor of the First Christian Church, and prayers for Christian Unity will be provided by Rev. Jordan Grooms, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Other important segments involve the following individuals: opening prayers - Rev. Bernard McGorry, St. Anthony's Church; scripture readings - Rev. Jesse Hodge, Wesley United Methodist Church; pastor, scripture reading - president of Church Women United, Litany of Peace - Rev. George Bellford, First Presbyterian Church pastor, evening prayers - Bellford, and closing prayers - Rev. C.W. Allen, St. John's Baptist church pastor.

Included in the worship services will be the music leadership of the Hereford Chamber Singers. They will sing selected hymns and join in on congregational hymns.

The weeks observance actually began on Tuesday, Jan. 18 and ends on Tuesday, Jan. 25.

The association has extended an invitation to all churches and their members to join in the service.

Inauguration To Commence

WASHINGTON (AP) - President-elect Carter is coming to town. President Ford is getting ready to leave and Washington has begun its inaugural hoopla amid bitter winter cold.

The bands began to play Tuesday night at parties thrown by the inaugural committee for the incoming Democrats. And at the White House, outgoing President Ford threw a surprise party for his wife, Betty.

Carter planned to leave his Plains, Ga., home and fly to Washington today after stopping at the Plains railroad depot to send off neighbors and friends traveling aboard a special inauguration-bound train.

Carter, 52, confessed Tuesday night that he felt "a little sad" about leaving his home town, but was ready for the move.

The peanut farmer-turned politician will spend tonight, the eve of his inauguration as the nation's 39th president, in Blair House across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House. He will attend a nationally televised pre-inaugural gala at the Kennedy Center tonight.

President Ford, who spent some 30 months in the executive mansion he will vacate Thursday, kicked up his heels Tuesday night at the surprise party, with 100 close friends and Cabinet members attending.

The 63-year-old President whose term ends at noon Thursday, invited new Republican members of Congress to visit him in the White House today on his last full day in office.

Ford, who came to Washington as a freshman congressman in 1949, plans to depart after Carter's swearing-in. He will fly by helicopter and presidential jet to California, where he has a date to play in the Bing Crosby golf tournament at Pebble Beach on Friday. The Fords have rented a home in the Palm Springs resort area and plan to live there.

An aide said Tuesday that Ford, who will have a 24-member staff and $1 million for transition expenses through Sept. 30, plans to speak at various colleges in the months to come. He will spend three days in February at Yale.

CIA 'Rudderless'

WASHINGTON (AP) - President-elect Carter is taking his time selecting a new nominee to head the CIA and the agency will be without a director for a while after Thursday's inauguration.

Carter spokesman Jody Powell told reporters in Plains, Ga., Tuesday that Carter will not name a new nominee before next week.

Carter's first choice, Theodore C. Sorensen, withdrew his nomination Monday, saying that "scurrilous" personal attacks would either defeat him or leave him with a narrow confirmation.

Bell Oyster Tried

WASHINGTON (AP) - Civil rights leaders are planning a final attempt to defeat President-elect Carter's nomination of Griffin Bell as attorney general.

But two other Cabinet nominees moved toward virtually certain Senate committee approval today.

The Senate Commerce Committee was expected to endorse Carter's choice of former Rep. Brock Adams of Washington as transportation secretary and Juanita Morris Kreps as commerce secretary.

Cancer Drug Testing Sought

NEW YORK (AP) - The American Cancer Society is asking Congress to remove control over the testing of new anti-cancer drugs and combinations of drugs from the Food and Drug Administration and give the authority to the National Cancer Institute.

"It would seem that only legislation can tie down the point that cancer patients are different from others," the society says in a letter to Rep. Paul G. Rogers, chairman of the House subcommittee on health and environment.

UNDERSTANDING

MENTAL HEALTH

Hereford Family Services Center

The following are some questions and answers about mental health. Who should decide if treatment is needed? Only a trained psychotherapist should attempt to diagnose and treat mental illness. If serious or psychotic symptoms are evident such as severe and frequent depression, or extreme changes in behavior, or hallucinations or attempted suicide. SEE YOUR DOCTOR. A PSYCHOTHERAPIST, CLERGYMAN, SOCIAL AGENCY OR MENTAL HEALTH CENTER.

What about hospitalization? The legal requirements for admission to state hospitals vary. Some general hospitals will take psychiatric patients if patients can understand their need for help, they should admit themselves. In any case, patients should consult with their DOCTOR, PSYCHOTHERAPIST, CLERGYMAN, SOCIAL AGENCY OR MENTAL HEALTH CENTER, and ask their recommendations.

How can a person help? By understanding. People in poor mental health need understanding more than anything else. If hospitalized, there is extra need for assurance in strange surroundings. Doctors will recommend how often and long to visit. When patient returns home, he should take his normal place in family as rapidly as he can. He needs to feel he belongs and to build his self-confidence.

Profile of Citizen of Year

McCaslin Recalls Early Days, Started Business Here in 1939

BY O.G. NIEMAN, Publisher

Like most honorees before him, Carl George McCaslin was recognized for more than just one year of community service when the "Citizen of the Year" award was presented the veteran businessman last week at the C of C Banquet.

McCaslin came to Hereford in 1939 to start his lumberyard business, and that was a tough year to start any business venture. There were a lot of lean years before Hereford started "hustling." When he was looking for a place to start a lumber business, someone told McCaslin: "Go to Hereford. That town is so dead it has no other way to go but up."

In later years, McCaslin was to say that was the best advice he ever got, but he must have had some doubts after arriving. The effect of the depression was holding on in 1939 and it was all some people could do to keep their bills paid, much less build a new house. The beginning of World War II brought some years of hardship and shortages.

Times changed, however. Soon after the war ended, Hereford took on a different attitude and men like McCaslin helped launch a progressive spirit that got the little city moving.

With servicemen coming home, GI home loans became available and FHA loans started flowing into Hereford for others. Developers began subdividing the city and new home starts were a daily happening.

Most of the houses being built at that time were in the $10,000 to $12,000 range," recalls McCaslin, with "just a sprinkling of the $25,000 to $30,000 homes." Soon the price range was more in the latter category. Now many homes are in the $50,000 to $60,000 range and a few have cost will over $100,000.

McCaslin recalls that when he started his business, "There really wasn't a lot here," and the city boasted a population of 2,400. His old original building was small and had very little space for merchandise. There was a little warehouse space and bins for lumber storage. "We didn't own a truck at first and all the hauling was done by contract."

McCaslin was a charter member of the Rotary Club here and as a 50-year Mason was active in the Masonic Lodge here from the start. He actively supported all civic clubs here over the years through his employees, and several have served as club presidents. He has also been an active supporter of the American Legion and Boys Ranch through the years. He was a charter director of Hereford Country Club and is a trustee of the Presbyterian Church, and a director of Hi-Plains Savings & Loan.

Born in Jasper, Mo., on June 3, 1899, McCaslin came to Texas in 1927 to operate a yard in Borger for the old Panhandle Lumber Co. "I had a letter telling me the Texas tenure would be for only 60 days. The manager of the Borger yard had passed away and the company needed someone to fill in until a fulltime manager could be hired." Four years later, McCaslin ended that "60-day" stint and the company moved him to Amarillo to general manager of all the Panhandle Lumber Co yards. And they had a bunch, including a yard in Hereford.

His employees say McCaslin hasn't changed a lot since the old days. He may have tempered with age but all agree that the quickest way to get his dander up is to stand around gabbing while a customer is not being serviced.

McCaslin admits that is one of his pet peeves. "You spend your money for advertising trying to get these people into your place of business and by golly you had better be prepared to wait on them when they come in." That philosophy helped change the business from a struggling "lumber" company to a full-grown "building" firm handling an array of merchandise, building materials and offering services that would have been considered next to impossible when the firm was started more than 37 years ago.

The McCaslin's two sons—Carl Jr. (Butch) and Jerry Don—were active in the business for a few years. Both of his sons, their wives, and the McCaslin's new grandchild were here for the "Citizen of the Year" presentation. Also at his side was his wife, Clarice, whom he married on July 3, 1940.

McCaslin has had many memorable experiences while growing and progressing with Hereford the past four decades and most of them have resulted, he says, "from serving the finest people in the world."

Talmadge Proposes Production Cost Farm Supports

A farm and food policy bill that would have grain and cotton supports on the farmer's production costs for the first time was proposed Sunday, by Chairman Herman Talmadge of the Senate Agricultural Committee.

The impact of the Panhandle area on state and national agriculture was re-emphasized by the ranking of six Panhandle and South Plains counties within the top ten list.

Despite a less than ideal year for agriculture in the local area during 1976, Panhandle counties proved once again that their importance in feeding the state and the nation cannot be discounted, and that even in lean years, the cash income produced in these counties makes its effect felt throughout the economy.

The Talmadge plan would raise the 1978 wheat target to $2.91 per bushel, compared to targets of $2.29 per bushel in 1976 and $2.53 this year.

CHANGES IN later years would be based on Agriculture Department production cost estimates.

The target price of corn would be hiked to $2.28 per bushel under Talmadge's bill, compared to a figure of about $1.74 per bushel this year, and the cotton target would rise to 51.1 cents per pound from this year's expected figure of 49.5 cents.

Crop support loans, which put a floor under market prices, would be set at no less than $1.71 per bushel for corn in 1978, compared to $1.50 this year. The wheat support loan would be no less than $2.18 per bushel as compared to the present $2.25 figure, and cotton would be set at not less than 38.3 cents per pound.

According to Talmadge, the major grain-cotton farm support sections of his bill would amount to a continuation of basic features of the 1973 farm law, which expires with this year's crops.

THE PROGRAM would include stands "set aside" authority, requiring farmers to keep acreage out of production in heavy surplus periods in order to qualify for price support payments.

The adoption of the cost of production base for setting support target prices in place of a current formula in which designated prices set for 1974 and 1975 were updated in 1976-77 by a farm cost index was the only change made.

The bill also includes a measure for reforming the food stamp program which would eliminate up to one million current stamp recipients. The current stamp program cost of $5.6 billion would be reduced only about $100 million however, because of expanded benefits to other participants.

"I think this bill is a fair approach to protecting farmers while assuring consumers a stable food supply, and I regard it as a base for starting congressional and administrative work on a new program," Talmadge commented.

Large Gas Volume Escapes

HOUSTON (AP) - Railroad commissioner John Newton says 84 billion cubic feet of natural gas escaped from Texas pipelines in 1975.

He told the Gulf Coast Chapter of the Society of Petroleum Engineers on Tuesday that this represented "almost twice the gas need of the City of Austin and is virtually equal to the gas demand for the City of San Antonio in 1975.

He said he intended to work hard toward eliminating the causes of the transmission and distribution system losses.

He said the commission is investigating the sources of the leaked gas "to minimize the potential for destruction of home and industry and to maximize the Texas gas output that is immediately available. The commission's preliminary study was completed just before this week's Arctic front moved in and caused curtailments, of gas supply in several cities.

Newton questioned many of the current maximum efficient rates of oil production used by the railroad commission in determining allowances. He said he feared they were "based on data obtained when the fields were much younger and capable of efficiently producing at higher rates."

Executives' Wives Face Changing Role

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a four-part series concerning the role of the corporate wife.

COLLEGE STATION—"Ideal" executives and their wives seem to be fading fast in the corporate world. At least compared to the description from the 1950's which appeared in the first article in this series on the executive's wife.

Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, points out a few examples to illustrate this trend.

"A leading brokerage firm asked one of their executives to relocate in Chicago; his wife, who had a good job in Manhattan, refused to move. Result: the executive now works for a competitor.

"Also, a health management consultant was expected to move when his firm changed the location of the home office. Rather than uproot his wife and children, he quit and found another job."

The "Wall Street Journal" reported the story of the wife of a prospective vice president who was called in reference to a routine interview. In a note, she replied, "If Stan is being considered for a promotion, I suggest you interview Stan. I'd make a lousy vice president; he'd make an excellent one."

"These examples certainly do not typify American corporate wives today, however, no longer are they simply isolated cases. With a little 'push' from women's liberation, better education, and the influence of the mass media, wives of corporate executives are challenging the company's right to dictate the life of their husbands and families," Miss Johnson noted.

They no longer feel it is entirely the husband's decision when a move is being contemplated. Researchers in business and sociology find it increasingly common for husbands and wives to consider both careers in reaching a decision, she explained.

"Many of these feelings are held by younger women, fresh out of school, eager to work and establish a name and identity for themselves. Women today are less likely to view themselves as extensions of their husbands, which is particularly important for women in the middle years, whose life has centered around husband and children for so many years."

What happens to the woman, whose identity has been established around her family, when the children leave home and "hubby" is at work or on the golf course? These are realities of life which women are beginning to face early in life while there is time and opportunity to set up their goals and identity, the specialist said.

"A marriage does not consist merely of one life, one set of feelings, one set of goals, and one set of interests. Neither husband nor wife should have the right to make all decisions or expect the other to blindly accept and practice the whims and wishes of the other."

"With these ideas in mind, the executive wife is challenging the traditions of the corporation. Some refuse to allow their husbands to go on business trips without them. The general manager of a hotel in Chicago reported that the wife's attendance at business meetings has doubled in the last five years. While at the meetings, rather than taking in the traditional tours and activities of the town, the wives are attending seminars and workshops themselves."

As noted in the first article, entertaining business associates was a large part of the wife's role. Not so anymore. When the couple does entertain company people, they are more often friends anyway and do it as part of their friendship, not out of necessity or obligation. As one woman put it, "There is no way of entertaining the right people and have it do anything for your husband. After all, they're probably on to you—they once did it themselves," Miss Johnson recalled.

Speaking one's mind is gaining wider acceptance by our society, and likewise, executive wives are no longer obliged to agree passively with and accept their husband's opinions as their own. They are freer to speak out on hot issues, even

Compiling Achievement Records

Personnel at Hereford State Bank and Hi-Plains Savings & Loan volunteered their services and equipment Monday in assisting local Camp Fire Girls. Members of Horizon Chapter, the senior rank of CFG, brought their achievement records to be Zeroxed by the two firms. These records will then be reviewed for consideration of candidates for the Wo-He-Lo Medallion, the highest honor in the Camp Fire organization. In left photo, Jeff Carlile hands the finished documents to Stacy Lee at the bank. At right, Pat Goforth (standing), a Hi-Plains employe, prepares to Zerox the records prepared by Susan Hamby. Firms who also assisted in preparing for the coveted award were Case Implement and the County Extension Office. [Photos by Phyl Smith.]

Health Food Promoted By Mrs. Ford

El Llano Study Club members met Monday in the home of Mrs. Pete Caviness, 142 Nueces.

Mrs. Frank Ford presented the program, "It's A Small Small World." Stating that Deaf Smith County is known around the world for its organic food, Mrs. Ford said this kind of food is essential for good health.

Members discussed a Valentine party for husbands to be held at the Country Club in February.

Members present were Mmes. Labry Ballard, Ivan Block, Jim Bookout, Fain Cesar, Ben Childers, Boyd Foster, Tom Hamlett, R.C. Hoelscher, Elmer Kimball, Lloyd Kirkeby, Milton Rudder and Raymond White.

Rehearsals To Begin At Lodge

Fourth, fifth and sixth grade members of Camp Fire Girls will meet at the CFG Lodge from 3:30-5 p.m. today to rehearse their segment of the Father-Daughter Banquet, scheduled Feb. 4.

Bluebird chapters will have a practice session from 2:30-4:30 p.m. Thursday at the lodge.

Junior high school members will also meet that day at the lodge from 5-6 p.m.

A full-scale rehearsal, involving the entire Camp Fire membership, is planned at 3:30-6 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 2 at the Bull Barn, site of the annual banquet.

THE SCAT MAN

By Julie Cubberly

"When I was a kid, I used to do shows for the neighborhood kids... charge 'em matches and toothpicks. When the show got to be a success, I started charging 'em pennies."

Sitting now, lunching at a corner table. Scat Man seems larger than his 5-foot-9, 160 pound frame. The smooth musical lilt of his voice makes a conversation with him an upbeat song.

body, and I'd come in and make 'em happy."

In 1932, Crothers auditioned for a radio show in Dayton, Ohio, and was told he needed a snappier name than Benjamin. He chose Scat Man because he did a lot of scatting (improvising nonsense syllables to a melody).

In 1936, Scat Man organized his first band and headed back to the clubs. He has led or been in bands off and on ever since playing with some of the greatest names in jazz.

In the late '40s, he was on the West Coast going full blast with his band. He made a couple of hit records: "Cattanooga Shoe Shine Boy" with Phil Harris and his own "Sunny Side of the Street." Finally, he began his television career on a local Los Angeles show called Dixie Showboat.

Today, Scat Man is busier than ever doing Chico, appearing on other series, costarring in feature films and making little kids laugh as the voice behind cartoon characters like Hong Kong Phooey.

At 65, Scat Man Crothers sums up his success as an entertainer simply: "I just love people."

HISPANICS -- The Spanish actor formerly seen in "Barney Miller" has not been in any of the recent series. I can't recall his name but he used to appear with Redd Foxx in his show occasionally. He was an asset to the "Barney Miller" show. H.N.. Bergenfield, N.J.

You're speaking of Gregory Sierra who had differences with Danny Arnold, the producer of "Barney Miller," and dropped out of the show this season.

The Whiteface

Published as a part of The Hereford Brand by Hereford High School Journalism Department

Working hard for HHS Journalism class is standing back L-R Mark Powers, Abel Trevizo, Lyle Bonner, Marlene Carlton, Pam Bradford, Robert

Perez, Delores Garcia, Conchita Ruiz, Elva Garcia, seated are: Tommy Weaver, Dianne Banner, Greg Pagett, and George Yocum.

HHS Offers A Variety Of Sports

Some people are gifted with athletic ability but are not able to participate in UIL athletics. This is one of the many reasons why there is an organized intramural program at Hereford High.

This year's intramural program is headed by Coach Arwine and some helpers. Coach Arwine has outlined a schedule for different sports for the rest of the year. Most of them will not get underway until February or a little after so the students will not be out in the cold.

There are a variety of sports scheduled for the remainder of the school year. There are three team sports which won't get underway until the end of February. There are also three individual sports. One of them, Badminton, is underway now for

HHS Forensics

Team Attends

Tournaments

The H.H.S. Forensics Team placed well at the Friona tournament. Shelby Austin participated in persuasive speaking and placed in semi-finals. Kim Cochran placed second in prose. A few Jr. High students joined the High School and Cara Williams of Stanton advanced to semi-finals. Steve Viegel, of La Plata also advanced to semi-finals in extemporaneous speaking.

The Forensics Team went to Muleshoe early in January and placed well. Kim Cochran placed second in prose and advanced to semi-finals. Sandy Moore placed in prose also, but did not advance. Mohota Manning and Ruben Vargas placed in poetry reading.

boys and girls doubles and singles. The others are handball and tennis. The team sports are Volleyball which will start around the first of March, track and field which will start the last of April, and softball which will start the first of May.

The maximum number of players on a roster is ten players and only two of those ten can be athletes. Athletes are not allowed to play the sport in

Seniors Tour TSTI

Many Hereford High School Seniors will be going on a trip to Amarillo to TSTI (Texas State Technical Institution) on February 2. Mrs. Mercer, school counselor, announced that about 80-90 will be attending.

The main purpose for the trip to TSTI is to observe the different programs available and opportunities in different fields.

Mrs. Mercer says that some of the students have changed their thoughts about going to college on previous trips or they have seen opportunities in altogether different fields. She also adds, "Many students are unaware of the many opportunities that are available in which they specialize in. When asked if Coach Arwine had any comments on this year's Intramural program, he replied, "The Intramural Program has been cut back some; because of added gym use caused by the adding of girls basketball. However, we feel the addition of the YMCA Basketball Program will provide something we have been trying to forfeit."

Seniors Beware: Time Is Short

Hereford High School Seniors will start preparing for their graduation activities during late January. Jan. 25 is the date set for ordering announcements, caps and gowns. Seniors will need a $5 deposit for their invitations. Senior sponsors will be helping the students with their activities.

All Area Tryouts

Perhaps the highest honor that can be gained in UIL musical competition is admission to the All State Band. For many, including three from Hereford, the first step began last Saturday in Canyon with all-area tryouts.

Usually the numbers at all area tryouts are small but competition is keen. Those who make it at all-area will go to Lubbock on January 22 for All State competition. Those at Lubbock will represent the best in the state.

Five bandmen from Hereford tried out and three are still in the running. They are: Robert Holder on saxophone, Dale Tarr on trumpet, and Mark Priest on baritone.

The All-State Band will present a concert in February.

Even though you may not have any athletic ability or be an athlete, it is still worth while to get out there and show what you can do even though it may not be much. Who knows, you might find some hidden athletic talent which will enable you to become a future star.

Sweetheart Elected

Dianne Banner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gearld Banner will be sharing her title as Key Club Sweetheart during the 1977 school year.

The current Sweetheart is a senior and is not eligible to run for District Sweetheart. Joe Club's District Governor, Key Holcomb requested that all Club Sweethearts be lower classmen so she may serve, if elected, as District Sweetheart for the upcoming school year.

Key Club met January 5 at the high school library and elected Lisa Duggan, to share the role with Dianne as Club Sweetheart.

Lisa is a sophomore and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Duggan. She was chosen as close favorite and also served as the Sophomore Homecoming Queen's attendant.

During the month of January the Key Club has done many community projects. They installed new brackets for flag display at local merchants, and catered the Chamber of Commerce Banquet. Key Club also helped the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, sponsor the Hereford Youth Rally.

An upcoming event, which is important to all club members is Slave Day. January 21 will serve as Slave Day for all Key Club members. Local merchants will

Preacher Goes To School

Who would ever think that a bunch of High School students would invited a preacher to class? Well, it happened, and for three days even! Who was this person that a group of about 24 persons couldn't wait to hear? He was none other than Rev. Doug Manning, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Hereford. Some people may ask, why did these students invite him to give a talk to the class? The reason was that he talked on marriage, pre-marriage, and pre-marriage dating.

Rev. Manning had the whole class sitting on the edge of their seats not uttering a single word for three days in a row (which is hard to do for some teachers).

Rev. Manning got started in counseling when he was about 23 years of age. It was in Tulsa, Oklahoma where he had his first counseling problem. Ever since then, he has done his best to help any couple who comes to him.

The first day Rev. Manning talked about how and why married people have problems. This quote by Rev. Manning just may sum it all up. "There are no marital problems, there are courtship problems that get married."

He also says that married couples break up because of small problems such as, when a person gets married and he (or she) is used to squeezing the toothpaste tube in the end and the partner squeezes it in the middle, or something of this sort. He explained that by the time the couple goes to him for help it is too late.

Another example he gave was when a couple is dating they both put on a show, kind of a buyer's-seller's market. Both the girl and the guy put on the best act they can, then after they both are married they say "why should I put on this show any longer, I have my husband (or wife) and that's all I wanted. So why put on the show?" Sometimes this kind of attitude makes of breaks a marriage.

The second day he talked about how some people marry a person because that person is like one of their parents. He also said that when a person marries, sometimes that person will say, "it's not going to be like it was at home", and most of the time the marriage turns out to be just like the good and the bad things of home.

Crusaders Tour

Hereford Youth Revival Program recently presented a musical assembly by Johnny Ray Watson.

This musical assembly was presented January 12 at Hereford High School, La Plata Junior High School, and Stanton Junior High School.

The Johnny Ray Watson musical was presented in connection with the Hereford Youth Revival Week.

Johnny Ray Watson, who was turned toward Christianity in 1972, has provided inspiration to different religious-oriented events. He has appeared in numerous concerts, including the Billy Graham Crusade in Lubbock. He performed with Andrae Crouch and the Disciples, and has produced his first album, entitled "The Straight and Narrow Path."

A native of Lorenzo, Johnny Ray Watson was an all-state basketball player in high school and went on to become "most valuable player" at McMurry College in 1970-71. Critics report that Watson "blends together music, humor and soul in a dynamic Christian experience."

Coach Rick Stewart Sponsors Hereford Christian Athletes

Members of the local Chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes meet every other Monday, at the fieldhouse. There were sixty students who signed up but only 30 of them are active members.

Coach Rick Stewart is the youth's sponsor. Barry Acton is President Greg Albracht is Vice President and Lori Taylor is the secretary.

Sometimes the meetings include study from a booklet put out by Serendepity Group.

Before they are dismissed, someone says a prayer or someone may read scripture out of the Bible.

"The involvement in participation is good but the total involvement is hard to measure. Every one is definitely an integral part of the group."

Coach Stewart said he feels like "it is a special feeling of belonging that you can get by coming to the meetings."

Students Print News

HHS Journalism class has been busy writing stories for the Whiteface edition which comes out every other week in the Hereford Brand.

The teaching objectives of the class include developing the student's awareness of what the mass media is and how it can influence their lives. Journalism who acquaints the students with various types of mass communication media.

Working under Coach Robert Priest, the students have acquired many skills, such as creating various types of journalistic writings; news and feature stories, interviews, and personal sketches.

Dianne Banner and Greg Pagett are the co-editors of the Whiteface and have different responsibilities such as making the layout for the paper, proof-reading stories and getting the school section out in time.

Journalism reporters are: Pam Bradford, Lyle Bonner, Marlene Carlton, Delores Garcia, Elva Garcia, Teresa Livers, Robert Perez, Mark Powers, Conchita Ruiz, Abel Trevizo, Tommy Weaver, and George Yocum. Their duties include: finding the news and reporting it, typing up their stories, and working on the basic fundamentals of newspaper journalism.

The photographer for the Whiteface is Greg Pagett. Not only is Greg responsible for taking the pictures, but also for developing them.

The Journalism Department along with the Printing Trades have produced a special Christmas paper and are planning more of these special papers in the future.

Problems Solved In Psychology

Am I very different from other people my age? What can I do about being anxious or nervous? How will I know if I am in love and ready for marriage? These questions and many like them are being answered in a new course at H.H.S.

The course is Psychology I and II. Psychology I is a one trimester course, as is Psychology II. Psychology I is taught by Terry Russell. Psychology II is being taught jointly by Mr. Russell and Floyd Jackson.

Psychology I is mainly concerned with methods of learning and the forming of your personality, and what causes you to behave as you do.

Psychology II is concerned with social behavior and social problems. A considerable amount of time will be spent on the role of the family as it affects social behavior and how it should be linked to decision making.

"The purpose of Psychology is to cater to the interest and needs of the students. The needs and interests will differ from student to student, but all students are probably looking for some answers of some basic life questions," stated Mr. Russell.

Several of the general fields to be studied in Psychology I and II, are Personality, Behavior, Dating, Marriage, Mental Disorders, and Influence of Peer Group.

Ann Landers Hubby Gets Girdle

DEAR ANN: I'm a 50-year-old lady with her own Equal Rights Amendment. Last summer my husband and I spent two weeks camping. The feeling of freedom was wonderful. Part of it was going without my girdle for 14 glorious days!

The first evening back home we were eager to share our experiences with some close friends, so we treated them to dinner. When we got home, my husband said, "You looked a little sloppy tonight. Why didn't you wear your girdle?"

I became angry and invited him to look in the mirror and see which of us looked sloppier. We both decided to go on a diet.

The next day I was still mad. I went downtown and bought a girdle-- for HIM. When he came home, I said, "Put this on. You look a little sloppy." He thought I was kidding and replied, "Those things are for WOMEN." I told him they were for anybody with bulges -- and he qualified.

Now we both wear girdles, and he not only looks better but says his back is giving him less trouble. Print this, Ann. We might get something going. -- Equal In Dubuque

DEAR OUT: I recognize the man. He's my good friend Jess Bell. You are right, Bell's approach is forthright and admirable. I urge other executives to follow his example. Sorry I took a dive. Thanks for hauling me up short.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Inasmuch as a poll was conducted in your column for people who, if they had it to do over gain, would not have had children, why not conduct a poll for people who would rather not have been born? -- Curious In Fort Smith, Ar.

DEAR ARK: I suspect you are being facetious but without conducting a poll, I can tell you that millions of people in this world are miserable and depressed. For them there is no joy in living. They would rather not have been born.

Herd Cagers Roll On; Amarillo Falls, 74-63

BY BOB NIGH
Brand Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces exhibited an abundance of hustle Tuesday night at the La Plata gym to post a 74-63 win over the Amarillo High Sandies as they ran their season record to 14-6.

James Mays and Kelly Kitchens combined for 38 points along the way, with Kitchens getting all of his 18 points in but three periods as Herd coach Barry Arwine used reserves at the guard positions throughout the final stanza.

Mays canned eight points in the final stanza as he found the range from outside, a contrast to his usual accumulation via the layup route.

In addition to the usual big outputs by Mays and Kitchens, two other Whitefaces scored in double figures with David Schumacher and Blake Autry each hitting for 10 points.

Autry, a transferee from Amarillo High seemed determined to play well against his former teammates, and he matched Mays' eight-point production in the final period as the Herd raced to the win.

The win was a satisfying one for coach Arwine, who commented "in our two previous games with Amarillo we got behind by 16 points each time, and we were determined for that not to happen again."

And the Herd did just that, turning the tables this time around as they gradually pulled ahead of the Sandies, leading by as many as 14 points several times along the way.

"Our intensity and concentration was good, and despite that James and Kelly are our big scorers, our opponents can't just concentrate on them since our other kids do such an outstanding job," Arwine added.

A total of eight Whitefaces scored in the contest in direct contrast to the Sandie output which saw but four players breaking the ice.

Mike Smith led the way for the losers with a game-high 26 points, 13 of which came in the second period as the rest of his teammates couldn't find the range.

"Smith scored a lot of points, but he wasn't really a factor in the game," Arwine commented.

The Herd grabbed the lead for good late in the opening period as Kenneth Mercer popped a free-throw for a 12-11

Hereford lead with 1:29 left in the stanza.

Hereford led 14-11 at the end of the quarter, 34-28 at the half, and increased the bulge to 10 at 50-40 after three stanzas.

The victory marked the third win in-a-row for the Herd, and the fourth in the last five games. The final non-district game for the Herd is on tap Saturday night when the Clovis Wildcats come to town.

"That's a big ballgame with Clovis Saturday," Arwine said. "It's an important game for us as far as momentum goes."

The Wildcats own a win over Hereford this season in a 66-58 decision last month in the Clovis Holiday Tournament.

"We felt like we could have won that game over there, and are looking forward to playing them in our own gym," Arwine added.

In junior varsity action last night the Sandies took a 63-57 win behind a 26-point performance by Victor Mitchell.

Jackie Mercer led the way for the Herd JV in the losing cause with 15 points while Robert Graves added 11 points, and Brent Allen totaled 10.

The loss dropped the JV to 13-6 on the year.

Tough Challenge

Hereford's Warren Cornelius (41) challenges Amarillo's Victor Mitchell in the Herd JV's 63-57 loss to the Sandies Tuesday night. Mitchell hit 26 points to lead the Amarillo win as the Sandies handed the JV only its sixth setback in 19 games. [Brand Photo].

The Aggies defeated Baylor in a similar manner Saturday and A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf said "We gambled on that last shot. We sagged four guys in on Mike Russell and left Duke wide open. Our guys really played their hearts out."

"The last play of regulation time when we had the ball was my fault. We threw to the wrong man. If we'd thrown to Steve Jones he might have hit that basket."

SMU Coach Sonny Allen could hardly believe the comeback of his Mustangs who were down by 12 points in the second half.

"We were playing so bad I was embarrassed and then we had one of the best comebacks of any team I've ever had," said Allen.

Baylor Coach Carroll Dawson said "I don't know what happened. I thought we just about had it."

Action resumes Saturday with Arkansas at Texas, Texas Tech at Baylor, Rice at TCU, Houston at Texas A&M in a televised day game, and SMU at North Texas State in a nonconference match.

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Knicks, seeking backcourt depth, have signed veteran guard Dean Meminger, a member of their 1973 National Basketball Association championship team.

Meminger, the Knicks' No. 1 draft choice from Marquette in 1971, spent three seasons with New York before being chosen by New Orleans in the expansion draft. He then was traded to Atlanta in the deal which sent Pete Maravich to the Jazz, and spent two years with the Hawks. He was not invited to Atlanta's training camp this season.

Arkansas is now 13-1 and 5-0 in SWC play.

Southern Methodist nudged Baylor 75-71 in overtime, Texas Tech shaved the Texas Aggies 66-64 in overtime on Grant Dukes' 15-foot jump shot with eight seconds to play, and Houston crushed Texas 95-81.

SMU retained second place with a 5-1 record with Houston moving up with a 3-1 ledger. A&M and Baylor are each 3-2.

"We were going to go to Dukes or Gussell on that last shot—whichever one was open," said Myers. "Grant just made a great shot. We had to have it."

To gain admission to the Hall of Fame in the writers' election, a candidate must be listed on 75 per cent of the ballots submitted. More than 400 ballots were sent to 10-year members of the organization this year.

To gain admission in the Veteran's Committee election, a candidate must be supported by at least nine members of the 12-man committee, which also adds executives and umpires to the shrine.

The BBWAA would like some limits placed on the veterans to prevent the addition to the Hall of Fame of players who had little or no support from the writers during their years of regular eligibility.

One suggestion has been the introduction of a "second chance" ballot. That would permit the Veterans Committee to suggest that the writers take one more look at candidates who came close to election but never quite made it in the regular elections.

The first fly casting tournament was held in Utica, N.Y. in 1861. The winner was George Lennbacker.

'Preparation' Main Aim Of JV Program

BY BOB NIGH
Brand Sports Editor

Overall team play, with emphasis shifted away from one 'star' player has been the secret to the success of the Hereford junior varsity this year according to coach David Ashby.

Ashby had directed the JV to a 13-6 record thus far this season including last night's 63-57 loss to Amarillo High, and in almost every clash a different player has come to the forefront.

"We start four sophomores and one junior, but I also use the bench a lot, trying to play everybody," Ashby said.

"That's the purpose of the junior varsity, you know; to get people ready to play on the varsity, whether it be next year, or two years from now."

David Ashby

comes to hustling in those missed shots due to the lack of height, but Ashby's troops have held their own... mainly at the opponents' end of the court.

"Mercer has a lot of jumping ability, and he leads the team in rebounds," Ashby revealed.

"Of course Cornelius gets a lot of rebounds when he is in the game due to his height."

Mercer has totaled 57 caroms this season, with an almost unbelievable 30 of that number coming defensively. Cornelius and Allen are tied for second in the department with 33 apiece, and Ellis is close behind with 32.

As a team the JV has hauled in 232 defensive rebounds, while having snagged only 48 offensive caroms.

The JV works out daily with the varsity, mainly running the formations the varsity's next opponent will use, and Ashby said that experience does his team some good.

"Since each school's JV usually runs the same stuff their varsity does, we get to see it as we run it against our varsity, and it helps us get ready," he said.

The coach cites Mercer and Allen as "good possibilities" to help out the varsity of next season, and says that Graves and Cornelius will have a good chance; Cornelius mainly because of his height.

As the team heads toward the opening of district play Ashby tries to overlook the height disadvantage and tells his team to "get down and get after it."

And, to date there are 13 teams who will testify to the fact that they have done just that.

NCAA Issues Warning Concerning Taunting

BY DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP)—The NCAA issued a warning to collegiate football showboaters Tuesday—it might get costly.

Cliff Speegle, chairman of the NCAA rules committee said from his Dallas home after a Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., meeting. "The rules committee will be charged with the responsibility of doing something drastic if it (the taunting) isn't stopped."

Speegle said officials, coaches and players "will be given the opportunity to eliminate this trend. Officials will be asked to call unsportsmanlike conduct penalties."

Such a rule is already in the books but rarely enforced.

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman said, "During recent years there has been a tendency by players to add some unnecessary theatrics to the game after making a big play. This is a very lamentable trend."

"Taunting has never been an admirable trait. It is less appealing when exhibited by a young man during a football game."

Bill Margin, coach of the Air Force Academy and president of the American Football Coaches Association, told Speegle's committee: "I strongly decry the trend that apparently is developing whereby opposing players are taunting one another and providing ill will by gestures or verbal interchange."

"Such distasteful attempts to intimidate have no place in the game of football which is intended to be played in a sportsmanlike manner."

Bob Shoup, past president of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics and now football coach and athletic director at California Lutheran, said, "Showboating gestures have no place in football... it does not promote sportsmanship or goodwill."

Speegle said the NCAA can no longer abide "the idea of some youngster taking the ball and sticking it in front of somebody's nose in a taunting gesture. This is a clear warning."

The NCAA rules committee "legitimized" college football's option play Tuesday. The option had reached the point where the ball was being pitched forward behind the line of scrimmage with linemen downfield. Technically, this was an illegal forward pass.

"What we are now saying is that on any option pass behind the neutral zone the offensive linemen can go beyond the line of scrimmage and block," said Speegle. "It (the option) is the most exciting play in college football and we want to administer it properly. It will be legal now whereas it had not been legal but we weren't calling it."

In another significant rule, Speegle said that after a penalty has been walked off "the clock will start only when the ball is next put into play."

Previously, the clock had been started after the penalty was walked off.

BUFFALO (AP)—The Buffalo Braves hope they have ended their search for a shotblocking, rebounding center, trading the lowest of their three first-round choices in the 1977 National Basketball Association draft for Golden State's George Johnson.

The 6-foot-11½ Johnson has spent 4½ years in the league, and helped Golden State win the 1974-75 NBA title.

Buffalo must drop a player when Johnson arrives to remain at the NBA limit of 12.

HOUSTON (AP)—The chief overseer for the owners of the Houston Astros has acknowledged that some persons have expressed interest in buying the National League team. But he says he has no idea whether a sale will be made.

Martin Kelly, overseer for General Electric Credit Corp. and Ford Credit Corp., said Tuesday he would rather concentrate on objectives than talk about selling the team.

Writers Challenge Old Timers Picks

NEW YORK (AP)—There is a battle brewing over baseball's Hall of Fame and the side door through which many oldtimers have slipped to gain admittance to the Cooperstown shrine.

The Baseball Writers Association of America announced results of its Hall of Fame election today and then prepared to do battle with the Veterans Committee.

Representatives of the two groups meet in New York Jan. 29, two days before the veterans hold their own Hall of Fame election.

The problem, according to the writers, is that the Veteran's Committee has not been as selective as it should be in adding new members to the Hall of Fame.

There was, for example, last year's induction of Fred Lindstrom, the old infielder. In all of his years of eligibility on the writers' ballot, Lindstrom had never received more than seven votes. The same thing was true of an earlier Veteran's Committee inductee, first baseman Long George Kelly, who never had more than five votes from the writers.

To gain admission to the Hall of Fame in the writers' election, a candidate must be listed on 75 per cent of the ballots submitted. More than 400 ballots were sent to 10-year members of the organization this year.

To gain admission in the Veteran's Committee election, a candidate must be supported by at least nine members of the 12-man committee, which also adds executives and umpires to the shrine.

The BBWAA would like some limits placed on the veterans to prevent the addition to the Hall of Fame of players who had little or no support from the writers during their years of regular eligibility.

One suggestion has been the introduction of a "second chance" ballot. That would permit the Veterans Committee to suggest that the writers take one more look at candidates who came close to election but never quite made it in the regular elections.

The first fly casting tournament was held in Utica, N.Y. in 1861. The winner was George Lennbacker.

JV, Sophs Win Titles

The Hereford junior varsity and sophomore basketball squads came home with some hardware last weekend as they participated in tournaments in Canyon.

Coach David Ashby's JV team captured third place at Canyon after missing a trip to the finals due to a close, overtime loss, and Aaron Bourland's sophs claimed the consolation title in their tourney.

The Hereford sophomores opened the tourney with a 51-36 loss to the Canyon JV Thursday night before squashing the Canyon sophomore "B" team 80-39 Saturday morning.

Kevin Bunch led Hereford with 13 points in the opener loss, while Donald Weemes had 19 and Leslie Mullins 12 in the second-round win.

Saturday afternoon the Hereford sophs took the consolation title by beating the Canyon soph "A" team 45-43. Larry McNutt's 14 points led the way, while Steve Cerda added 12.

The Herd JV opened with a 56-41 win over the Canyon sophs "A" team Thursday as Reid Herring and Kent Ellis led the way with 11 and 10 points respectively.

Saturday morning the JV lost a tense 59-54 decision to the Clovis sophomores in overtime after regulation play ended with the two squads knotted at 52-52.

Brent Allen led the JV in the losing cause with 16 points, while Jackie Mercer added 10.

In the third-place game Hereford emerged a 62-33 winner over the Tulia JV as Mercer cantered 14 points, and Ellis, Herring, and Ricky Matchett each added eight points to the victory.

With the tournaments a Thursday-Saturday affair both Hereford teams took to the road Friday night with the sophs dropping a 34-30 decision to Shallowater and the JV losing to Tascosa by a 61-45 count.

Y Cage League Has Runaways

Competition wasn't exactly keen as the YMCA Men's Basketball League opened play last Sunday, with none of the three games played very close.

Bad Company opened the season with an 84-31 conquest of the Bears behind a 32-point outburst by Dick Kirkpatrick, the Eagles had four players with over 20 points in a romp over the Raiders, 107-21, and AVC closed out the day with a 59-36 win over the Rascals.

Bad Company had three players in addition to Kirkpatrick in double figures with Dennis Goheen scoring 18, Bill Abbott 12, and R. Scott 12. Steve Wells led the Bears with 12 points.

Dana Rush led the Eagles in their win over the Raiders with 23 points. James Harris and T. Champ each added 22, while Larry Roberts canned 20. Rodney O'Rand topped the Raiders with seven points.

In the final game Ron Welty hit 19 points to lead AVC to victory, with Mike Page adding 12 points, and D. Smith scoring 10. M. Simpson led the Rascals with 11 points.

A fourth game scheduled for Sunday was cancelled due to one team dropping out of the league. Y director Claude Huard has announced a revised schedule will be released soon due to the odd number of teams.

Action in the league will continue next Sunday beginning at 1:30 p.m.
