

BRUCE COLEMAN

TROY MOORE

Precinct Draws Two Opponents

An incumbent with 15 years experience as county commissioner and a 51-year Hereford resident who has served previously in city and county positions will be seeking the Precinct 3 commission post in Saturday's Democratic primary.

County Commissioner Bruce Coleman will be opposed by Troy Moore in the primary. There will be no Republican opponent in the November general election.

Coleman will complete his fourth term on the commission at year's end. Moore served as county commissioner from 1943-51, then later was elected to the city commission.

The Brand interviewed the candidates this week to determine their views on issues pertinent to county politics. Their responses are as follows:

On qualifications:

Coleman: "The same frugality that has allowed me to expand farming and cattle raising has put this county, since I've been on the commission, in very sound economic condition. In the years of experience the people have given me as commissioner, I've learned how to contact and how to express local needs on state and federal levels. We have been the leader and the envy of neighboring counties, which is proof of my ability as a commissioner. I haven't done it all, but I was part of it."

Moore: "I have been here for many years. I have helped build Hereford. I was county commissioner from 1943 to 1951. We got Harrison Highway paved, Highway 385 paved, the Simms Road paved and the Walcott Road paved. After that, I was city commissioner for five years. I can handle tax monies as well as anybody because I have been in business 48 years. I know the needs of the people here."

On taxes:

Coleman: "I pay quite a few taxes. I don't know anybody that doesn't think ad valorem taxes have gotten higher than they should be to be equitable to the person trying to make a living. As county commissioner, I've worked on resolutions through organizations to get a one-cent local-option sales tax for counties. It's the best avenue of relief both for county taxes and cities and schools, but it's been repeatedly turned down by the legislature."

Moore: "Taxes are too high. We need to look the thing over and possibly reduce some of the money that's being spent. I think the fairest tax is the sales tax, a local-option tax."

On spending:

Coleman: "If you'll check my voting record, you'll find I have voted against expenditures that I thought were excessive more than any commissioner on the court. Compared with most any level of government and any county I know about, Deaf Smith County ranks very well in terms of the prudence of its expenditures."

Moore: "I've been on the court, and I know there are places that get out of hand. I am for paying a good livable salary to county employees. Some positions are not drawing enough, some are drawing too much. The county's actual operations must be watched very closely."

On law enforcement:

Coleman: "A lot of the improvements in equipment that law enforcement have enjoyed in recent years have been largely through categorical grants, and they are rapidly being phased out. So, it will cost increasing local dollars to maintain the sheriff's department as it is."

Moore: "Law enforcement in Deaf Smith County is vital. We have migrant labor come in during the summertime, and it takes a lot of manpower to take care of it. I don't know whether deputies are paid enough for what they do. A lot of people are drawing money that don't do nearly as much, don't lay their lives on the line. I'm for giving anybody a livable

In Wake of Plant Closing

Chamber Head Stresses Optimism

The announcement by Armour Foods of the closing of the Hereford plant on Oct. 31 created a "shock wave" in the community Tuesday, but C of C president Ken Rogers today called on citizens to "look at the positive aspects in Deaf Smith County and work together to improve our economic base."

Rogers, at a news conference this morning, said "We have reason to believe that the plant will continue to operate even though Armour Foods may no longer be the operator. We will work as a community to see that this plant continues operation and provides an excellent employment facility here in Hereford."

Rogers added that Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce has been working hard to improve our economic base and you can be assured that this will cause us to concentrate harder on the task at hand. I feel this will help get the entire community involved more than ever before."

He added that the situation should cause citizens to take a positive look at what is going on in Hereford. "Gasohol plants have been widely discussed and I can assure you that this is going to be a reality here--with both local individuals working on plants and a major company expected to make an announcement in the very near future."

"There is also a good possibility that an MX missile base could be located in Deaf Smith County by the armed forces and at cost estimates ranging from $20 to $40 billion," Rogers pointed out.

"We must realize that the final closing of the Armour plant is set for Oct. 31, and not this week or next month. Our plans now are to work with local union officials to discuss their position and to learn what we can do to help their people in relation to the continuing operation of the plant."

Rogers concluded by saying that "this problem can and will be solved if we will pull all of our efforts together and succeed. We can generate new ideas and improve our position by searching out the positive aspects. The closing of the plant has nothing to do with our position as a vibrant and progressive community."

Carter: Rescue Was Crucial

Fatality Scene

A truck-car collision at the intersection of Holly Sugar Rd. and S. Kingwood Rd. shortly after noon Tuesday killed a 53-year-old Hereford man. His car apparently failed to yield the

Collision Claims Man, 53

A 53-year-old Hereford man was killed when a truck broadsided his car at the intersection of S. Kingwood and Holly Sugar Road around 12:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Joe Sonnenberg, the driver of the car, was killed at the scene but was officially pronounced dead at Deaf Smith General Hospital by Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal. Death was the result of massive head and internal injuries.

According to Texas Department of Public Safety reports, Sonnenberg, driving a 1980 El Camino north on S. Kingwood, apparently failed to yield the right of way at the intersection. The semi tractor-trailer, driven by Donald Jerome Halbeisen, 48, of Golden, Colo., ran into the driver's side of Sonnenberg's vehicle.

The truck, which is owned by Western Baker's Supply of Golden, was returning from Holly Sugar Corp. where Halbeisen had picked up a load of sugar, and was traveling west on Holly Sugar Road.

The truck skidded more than 90 feet in an apparent attempt to avoid the collision, the DPS said.

The El Camino was totaled in the accident, while the front of the truck was damaged.

Sonnenberg, of 324 Willow, was office manager for Barrett and Crofoot Inc.

Services for Mr. Sonnenberg will be conducted tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the

Save-a-$ Sponsors Breakfast

Save-A-Dollar of Hereford will sponsor the bi-monthly Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Fun Breakfast beginning at 6:30 a.m. Thursday in the Community Center.

Contests, cash drawings and community announcements are on the agenda for the breakfast, which will be open to the public. Tickets will cost $3.25 per person.

The Bull Chip award will be presented to an individual who has given service to the community in the highlight of the breakfast.

Drawings for $75 and $25 are planned, along with a special drawing for $200 for chamber members only. The member must be present at the breakfast to win that drawing.

Co-masters of ceremonies for the breakfast will be Doug Manning of First Baptist Church and Lynton Allred of sponsoring Save-A-Dollar.

During Senatorial Forum

Candidates Disagree on Schools

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

The two Democratic candidates for the 31st District seat in the State Senate disagreed Tuesday night on how education and teacher pay raises should be financed.

Bill Sarpalius and Gerald McCathern, debated issues pertinent to the Senate race during a "meet the candidates" forum sponsored by The Brand. Approximately 150 persons attended the debate in the Hereford Community Center.

McCathern said teachers "are just like farmers--they're at 50 percent parity" and advocated a sales tax, with revenue going to a permanent education fund to finance public schools and salaries.

Sarpalius said that school finance is a "very complicated" matter, adding that "Gerald doesn't understand it. Schools receive according to their average daily attendance."

Sarpalius agreed that the sales tax is fair, "but you're fooling somebody if you think you can go down there and convince everybody in Austin that we should have a one-cent sales tax and put it into the education fund."

"And, as long as we've got a surplus, they're not going to vote to decrease taxes."

McCathern said that a tax consultant told him that a state sales tax could reduce ad valorem taxes by as much as 80 percent.

McCathern said that Senator Bob Price, R-Pampa, who is seeking re-election in District 31, had introduced a sales tax last year "but he did nothing about it to see it passed."

The longtime Deaf Smith County farmer told Sarpalius that "I do understand school finance, and I am capable enough to go down and explain to them the value of rural Texas compared to the overall spectrum of Texas."

"A state senator has got to be willing to go down there to work and fight and be capable of convincing people that you do have a problem."

Sarpalius said the state budget should be managed "so we can take care of our teachers."

Sarpalius continually referred to his growing-up period at Boys Ranch, stating it gave him a broader agricultural background than either McCathern or Price.

The former administrative assistant to Speaker of the House Bill Clayton said he has "no regrets about my association with Bill Clayton--he was honest and fair with me and gave me experience in the legislative process."

McCathern said he had no regrets about his association with the American Agriculture Movement as one of its leaders in protesting low prices for farm products.

"For the past 27 years, I have been involved directly in agricultural production. Agriculture is important for the people of District 31, which is the largest agricultural-producing district in the state...It's important we understand that we are an

Rainshowers Fall in Local Area

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Scattered showers and thunderstorms visited widely scattered portions of the Texas Panhandle and South Plains today, depositing light moisture accumulations as moist spring conditions returned to the area.

Today's moisture comes on the heels of three days of wet weather last week that left only minor amounts of moisture over most of the local area.

The resumption of rainfall is welcome here, however, particularly for the dryland wheat farmers in the western part of the county, who are pinning their hopes for a summer harvest on what the weather delivers in the way of moisture now.

The heaviest rainfall activity in today's gentle showers fell to the north and northwest of Hereford with Northwest Grain, located west of Farmer's Corner, reporting one of the heavier accumulations at .30 inches.

Pioneer Fertilizer at Milo Center reported only .06 inches, while .25 inches was recorded at the Raymond Schlabs farm five miles north of Hereford.

Farmer's Elevator north of the Dawn community reported .25 inches of rainfall at that location while Dawn Co-Op in the Dawn community east of Hereford reported an estimated .10 inches.

KPAN radio logged a total of .11 inches in gentle shower activity in the city of Hereford.

To the west Bill Page reported .15 inches of moisture from brief shower activity last night at Bootleg Corner.

The Clint Homfeld farm 47 miles northwest of Hereford reported only a light shower in that area, which comes on the heels of .50 inches of rainfall that fell in that area late last week.

The forecast calls for thunderstorm activity to continue through tonight, with the possibility of some severe weather activity.

Decreasing cloudiness is expected to prevail over the northern portion of West Texas on Thursday and scattered thunderstorms are expected to continue tomorrow.

Tonight's lows in the Panhandle are expected to be in the mid-40's in the Panhandle to the mid-50's in the Big Bend.

Highs tomorrow in the Panhandle should reach the low 60's and will range to the mid-80's in the Big Bend.

This morning's lows in the Panhandle were mostly in the 50's.

Light rain was also reported today between Alice and Laredo, and rainfall amounts were primarily light.

Wink recorded .14 inches of moisture while .05 inches fell in Amarillo.

Muskie Tabbed as Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — From the Panama Canal to Iran, Edmund S. Muskie's Senate voting record shows few deviations from White House foreign policy positions.

Indeed, the man President Carter has picked to be secretary of state says it is important for the administration to project an image of stability around the world.

And in Muskie, a 22-year senator from Maine who first came to national prominence as the Democratic vice presidential candidate in 1968, Carter also chose a man more of political than diplomatic breeding.

Although Muskie, 66, has concentrated on domestic affairs in the Senate and acknowledged that "I am not a foreign policy technician," Carter praised him during Tuesday night's nationally televised news conference as "extremely well qualified" because of his broad experience, bipartisan esteem and "international reputation."

He said Muskie's political experience, including an unsuccessful run for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, made him familiar with the entire nation and its aspirations.

The president said Muskie and Warren Christopher, who will remain as deputy secretary of state after being bypassed for the top job, "will provide continuity for our foreign policy."

Muskie supported Carter's decision to try to rescue the American hostages in Iran, the bold but unsuccessful move that prompted Cyrus R. Vance to resign in protest Monday.

"We do not regret the attempt (to free the hostages). After all, it was a response to kidnapping and blackmail," Muskie said. "We do not rule out the use of any appropriate means which might end the confrontation and bring sanity back to Iran."

Muskie told reporters he has no doubt of Carter's confidence in him. "The president has left no doubt in my mind...that I will be the foreign policy spokesman," Muskie said when asked about his standing in view of

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says even if the rescue mission in Iran could not have been completely successful, it would have been "a deeper failure" not to try.

In a solemn report to the nation Tuesday night, Carter vowed: "We will not forget our hostages and we will continue to take whatever steps are necessary and feasible" to secure their release.

But he also said that freedom can be gained for the 53 hostages only if Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, Iran's Revolutionary Council and the militants are persuaded unanimously to let them go — a task he all but called impossible.

"We cannot deal with inhumane people who have no respect for international law, who violate the tenets of their own religion and then persecute innocent people who are American citizens and deprive them of their freedom for six months," Carter said during a nationally broadcast news conference.

His acknowledgement Tuesday night that all forces in Iran must yield if the hostages are to be freed was mixed with anger and frustration. He condemned as "a horrible exhibition of inhumanity" the public display in Tehran of the bodies of eight dead American commandos.

"This has aroused the disgust and contempt of the rest of the world and indicates quite clearly the kinds of people with whom we have been dealing in a peaceful effort to secure a resolution of this crisis," Carter declared.

For this "ghoulish action," Carter mostly blamed the militants in control of the U.S. Embassy — castigating them as terrorists — but also assigned responsibility to Ayatollah Sadegh Khalkhali, the revolutionary council member who presided over the episode.

Calling the display of bodies "a vivid indication" of the difficulties in dealing with the Iranians, Carter said it would take "a unanimous decision by terrorists, the top officials, the revolutionary council and the Ayatollah Khomeini before this crime can be terminated" and the 53 American hostages held

Primary Elections Saturday

Absentee voting for Saturday's Democratic and Republican primaries ended Tuesday, with a total of 191 ballots cast, which indicated the possibility of a large turnout.

There were 174 Democratic absentee ballots cast, while 17 Republicans voted. County Clerk B.F. Cain had predicted last week that around 100 persons would vote absentee.

Democratic voting Saturday will be done at 11 locations around the county, while Republicans will vote at La Plata Junior High School.

Races of most interest to local voters will be for the State Senate, Deaf Smith County Commission and the presidency.

Seeking the Democratic nomination for state senator are Hereford residents Bill Sarpalius and Gerald McCathern.

County commission, Precinct 1, candidates are incumbent J.F. Martin and Bill Brady. Incumbent Bruce Coleman and Troy Moore are seeking the Precinct 3 nomination. There will be no

Hitchcock Dies Of Natural Causes

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — His murderers showed up in shower stalls, his victims in potato sacks. But Sir Alfred Hitchcock, whose mastery of terror chilled movie audiences for half a century, died peacefully of natural causes at the age of 80.

The portly British-born "Hitch" was perhaps the film industry's best-known director. A popular television series made his pouting profile instantly recognizable to millions of Americans.

In more than 50 movies, Hitchcock created a legacy of suspense classics — "Psycho," "The Birds," "Rear Window" and "Spellbound." Yet he never won an Oscar for direction.

Hitchcock, plagued by kidney failures and arthritis, died at his home Tuesday after suffering ill health for a year. His family, including Alma, his wife of 54 years, was with him.

Despite a heart condition that necessitated a pacemaker, Hitchcock was preparing another thriller at the time of his death — "The Short Night," the tale of a real-life British traitor whose duplicity led to the deaths of 42 agents.

Gunmen Take Over Iranian Embassy

LONDON (AP) — Gunmen forced their way into the Iranian embassy opposite Hyde Park today, taking a police officer guarding the building hostage. Scotland Yard reported. Shots were heard inside the building.

The police said two and possibly three gunmen were involved and they were believed to be Iranians. Witnesses said two girls in headaddresses ran out of the building.

About 50 policemen with firearms and bullet-proof vests, including sharpshooters and members of the crack anti-terrorist squad, quickly surrounded the three-story embassy.

A spokesman said "a number of shots" were reported heard inside the embassy, but there was no immediate indication of any casualties.

The spokesman said the gunmen were believed armed with rifles and possibly other weapons.

Subcommittee Says Yes to Registration

WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Carter's draft registration plan rolling toward another victory in Congress, opponents say a Senate filibuster probably is the last chance to stop the plan.

Carter's blueprint to spend $13.3 million to begin registering young men this summer was approved by an expectedly wide 84-vote Tuesday in a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

The full committee plans to debate the issue Thursday, and Senate aides predict easy approval there.

The plan already has passed the House.

"I think the ball game's over," said one Senate aide, who asked not to be identified and whose boss opposed registration.

"They have the votes in the full committee," another aide, Jack Robertson, said. His boss, Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., has vowed to wage a filibuster on the Senate floor to try to block action on registration.

Pentagon Denies Soviets Halted Raid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials, responding to questions about the ill-fated attempt to rescue American hostages in Iran, flatly deny the commando mission was halted because of a warning from the Soviet Union.

They also asserted that the commandos were given all the manpower and equipment requested and that the abruptness of the withdrawal was made necessary not by unfriendly military pressure but by exploding ammunition set off by the fiery collision of two U.S. aircraft.

The statements came Tuesday after several retired military leaders said the abrupt withdrawal posed unanswered questions about the operation. The retired leaders who were surveyed also said they would have wanted more extra helicopters if they had been running the rescue attempt.

Texas Briefs

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Federal investigators say Jose Gonzalez-Cruz packed 17 illegal aliens into his van and promised to drive them from Southwest Texas to Fort Worth for a fee.

The testimony came Monday during a preliminary hearing for Gonzalez-Cruz, who is charged with harboring aliens. He was stopped by a Department of Public Safety officer April 17 near Granbury.

DALLAS (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare granted an additional $430,000 to Bishop College two years ago despite the college's history of financial mismanagement, a top HEW official testified Monday.

The grant was the result of a legal opinion given to Joseph Califano, who was secretary of HEW at the time, according to testimony from Henry G. Kirshenmann, director of grants and contracts for HEW.

His testimony came in the federal trial of three former Bishop administrators accused of illegally taking $306,000 from the college's restricted retirement fund and using it in the general operating budget.

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Police officials say they plan to convert five squad cars from gasoline to propane to save money.

"Propane is much, much less expensive than gasoline, and we concluded we could realize an appreciable savings by using propane," said Deputy Chief Marion Rettig. He said it would cost about $1,000 each to convert the five cars.

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Prosecutors say Houshang Sheikh, 38, an Iranian accused in a heroin smuggling conspiracy, drove a circuitous route through the Dallas-Fort Worth area to throw federal agents off his trail Feb. 5.

But Sheikh says he wasn't trying to shake any agents — he testified at his trial Monday he was lost and trying to find his way.

He is accused in a conspiracy to smuggle high grade heroin past Customs agents at Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport concealed in a display case that held a Koran, a Moslem holy book.

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Seven persons were being held on bond here Tuesday in an operation involving smuggling of Central Americans from El Paso to Los Angeles, Border Patrol agents said.

The 62 aliens, from El Salvador and Guatemala, said they each paid $800 for transportation to California, according to border patrolmen.

Officers made the arrests after stopping five vans last weekend near the New Mexico-Texas border.

Agent Bob Barber said the aliens sneaked across the border from Juarez and stayed in "some of your better motels" until the vans picked them up.

Bond was set at $100,000 each for Jesus Eualio Carreon, 40, and his wife Martha Granados-Oseguera, 32. Both were aliens. Five other aliens also were charged with aiding and abetting and conspiracy to transport undocumented persons.

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Partido Accion Nacional, Mexico's leading minority party, has nominated its candidate for Juarez mayor in the July election.

The minority leaders nominated Dr. Armando Arenas Caraveo.

The government-backed PRI party is expected to announce a candidate in about a week.

The PAN party has never had a winner in Mexican elections.

Body-Transfer Still Doubtful from Iran

By The Associated Press

New doubts were cast today on the transfer of the bodies of the eight American commandos as Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr tried to line up an international meeting to condemn the U.S. attempt to rescue the American hostages, now in their 179th day of captivity.

Ayatollah Mohammad Beheshti, secretary of the ruling Revolutionary Council and Iran's justice minister, said the issue of transferring the bodies "must be decided by the Imam or the Revolutionary Council." The imam is Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, Iran's revolutionary leader.

Beheshti, who made a similar statement over the weekend, said Iran is not seeking money for the bodies, but left the impression the transfer was still up in the air despite Bani-Sadr's plans to repatriate the bodies with the help of Greek Catholic Archbishop Hilarion Capudji.

A Tehran newspaper said Saturday the bodies should not be handed over until the U.S. government releases the $8 billion in Iranian assets it seized in retaliation for the seizure of the 53 hostages Nov. 4.

Capudji said the bodies still had to be prepared for transport and would not be transferred for two or three days. He and the papal representative in Iran, Monsignor Annibale Bugnini, visited the Tehran morgue today, where they said prayers and sprinkled holy water on the remains.

A spokesman for the Swiss Embassy in Tehran said the bodies of the eight American Marines and airmen killed in the attempted rescue of the hostages last Friday would be flown to Zurich later this week, the Swiss news agency reported.

The report said the Swiss ambassador in Iran, Eric Lang, discussed the transfer with Greek Catholic Archbishop Hilarion Capudji. The prelate, a Syrian who spent three years in an Israeli prison for trying to smuggle students who were infiltrated into Iran to assist in the rescue were still in the country in hiding. But the New York Times said U.S. military officials in Washington told it all the paramilitary agents infiltrated into Tehran to help in the rescue slipped out of the country the same way they entered, posing as European businessmen.

President Carter at a news conference Tuesday night in Washington defended his decision to try to rescue the 53 Americans and warned again he will take "whatever steps are necessary and feasible" to free them. But he said he would "continue to try for a peaceful solution" to the crisis.

The London Daily Telegraph's defense correspondent reported that more than 100 American CIA agents, Green Berets and Farsi-speaking American guerrillas, arrived in Tehran Tuesday and said he would accompany the bodies and turn them over to the International Red Cross for delivery to the families of the men.

On the Iranian domestic front, the Kurdish rebels and the Iranian army declared another one of the cease-fires that have periodically interrupted the revolutionary government's attempts to suppress the Kurds' campaign for home rule in northwest Iran, the official Pars news agency reported.

RR Commission Campaigns Costly

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Spending by Texas railroad commission candidates has hit the $1.5 million mark, according to candidate reports filed Tuesday with the secretary of state.

Rep. Buddy Temple of Diboll emerged as the top spender among the candidates for two open seats on the commission.

Voters will make their decisions Saturday, with the winners to meet the voters in the GOP primary in November. GOP candidates reported little or no spending in their largely inactive races.

Temple said he has spent $588,608 and raised $553,727, including a $250,000 loan from First Bank & Trust of Lufkin, in his race to unseat commission Chairman John Poerner. Temple's expenditures include $243,000 paid to Media Texas of Abilene on April 10 for television time.

Poerner listed expenditures of $395,081 and said his contributions total $424,405.

Commissioner Jim

Nugent's latest report shows he has raised $487,903 and spent $434,799 to keep his job.

His expenditures for the four weeks that ended last Friday included $264,459 to Read-Poland Inc. of Austin, an advertising and political public relations firm.

Nugent's challenger, former Texas Observer editor Jim Hightower, has spent and raised the least — $154,108 in expenditures and $173,372 in campaign contributions.

Contributions of $1,000 or more reported by the candidates in their latest reports, covering the past month of campaigning, are:

Temple: Robert C. Gray, Austin, $1,000; Transportation Political Education League, Austin, $2,500; Committee for Good Government of Temple-Eastex Inc., Diboll, $2,000; Joe C. Denman Jr., Diboll, $1,000; R. B. Thompson, Lufkin, $2,500.

Poerner: Empac (Dow Chemical employees), Freeport, $1,000; Pat O'Neal, Lampasas, $1,000; Isadore Roosth, Tyler, $1,000; Valpac, San Antonio, $1,000; Jake Hamon, Dallas, $1,000; A.K. Guthrie, Big Spring, $1,000; Doris Pike Guthrie, Big Spring, $1,000; DP&L Active Citizenship Committee, Dallas, $1,000; Texas Energy Political Action Committee, Dallas, $5,000; Good Government Fund, Fort Worth, $2,500; James C. Holcomb, Amarillo, $1,000; Pat R. Rutherford, Houston, $1,500; Pat R. Rutherford Jr., Houston, $1,500; O.S. Petty, San Antonio, $1,000.

At one time in the ancient Greek games at Olympia, the featured event was a brutal boxing-wrestling match called the "pankration," meaning "all-strength," which was fought until surrender or death.

Race

On combining the sheriff's office and city police department:

Coleman: "The theory is excellent. It would require some legislative changes to make it workable. Beyond that, the problems would be political. I personally am for anything workable that saves money."

Moore: "In my past experience with the city and county, we thought of that, but it's true there would have to be some legislative changes, such as the chief of police would have to be elected, not appointed. It's a good idea if it would save money, but it would have to go to a vote of the people."

On county government as it exists:

Coleman: "There are some areas in county government that probably need to be changed, but it can't be done without a constitutional amendment. However, it's generally acknowledged that county government is the most responsible and most effective government we have today. Therefore, it must be pretty good."

Moore: "I think county government should stay like it is because the people elect the officers, and the people ought to have a voice in the system."

On city-county cooperation:

Coleman: "The best and most recent example is our ambulance service. You saw the problems our neighboring cities had over ambulance service. When the same problems arose here, it didn't take us very long to work out a very workable agreement between the city, county and hospital district and a very reasonable cost. That's one of the most outstanding examples of cooperation this area has ever seen."

Moore: "We must cooperate with the city. In 1955 while I was on the city commission, we had trouble between the city police and county, but we worked that out. And, we've got a good cooperation today as you'll find in any county."

On revenue-sharing:

Coleman: "I've been the county's delegate on the subject of revenue-sharing. It is my philosophy that if the federal government would reduce our taxes an equal amount, I'd be happy to do without revenue-sharing in Deaf Smith County and raise local taxes to do what we need to do. But if it were instead taken from cities and counties that have managed their affairs well and given to metropolitan cities and counties that have not, I will resist this as strongly as possible."

Moore: "The sooner we can avoid revenue-sharing, the better off we'll be. That'll get us away from the feds and state and back to local government. We should take it as long as it's available, but if we had never started it, we'd be a lot better off."

the frequent clashes between Vance and the president's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski.

Muskie's Senate record, including service on the Foreign Relations Committee, is typical of a Democrat who offers strong support to a president from the same party.

He sided with Carter on most of the president's most controversial foreign policy positions, including the Panama Canal treaties, the decision to scrap the B-1 bomber, the sale of advanced fighters to Israel, Egypt and Saudi Arabia and maintaining economic sanctions against Rhodesia.

Although he took no formal position on the SALT II treaty with the Soviet Union, Muskie was counted as a strong proponent of arms control and a virtually certain vote in favor of the strategic arms limitation agreement.

As chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, Muskie argued against proposals, also opposed by Carter, to raise the defense budget by 3 percent to 5 percent, saying security "is not that simple."

Like Carter, Muskie changed his view of the Soviet Union after its military incursion into Afghanistan. "Betrayed, yes, that's the word," he said. On detente, he said, "We thought it was in this country's best interests. She (the Soviet Union) just ran out on us."

After heading a U.S. mission to the People's Republic of China in November 1978, Muskie advocated a formula recognizing Peking while maintaining unofficial ties with Taiwan — almost identical to what the administration worked out a month later.

Muskie's only significant break with Carter came over the Turkish arms embargo, first imposed in 1974 to punish Turkey for the invasion of Cyprus. Muskie voted to retain the embargo in 1978 when the administration wanted it repealed.

Further back, Muskie was among Democratic senators who supported the war in Vietnam in its initial stages but turned against it. By the time he sought the Democratic presidential nomination in 1972, he said he regretted not having opposed the war in 1966 and advocated a deadline for withdrawal by U.S. forces.

Carter, for his part, has indicated several times his high opinion of Muskie. In 1976, Muskie was nearly tapped to run for vice president again; he and Walter F. Mondale were the finalists for that nomination. Last year, Muskie was Carter's envoy on a European trip.

Officially, Muskie remained neutral in this year's presidential campaign, but he was friendly to Carter.

agricultural district and we need people representing us who are concerned about that large a segment of the economy."

Sarpalius said that, if elected, he will continue Clayton's concept of using a mobile office to stay in touch with his constituency.

McCathern said he would fight to do away with a five-cent road tax on gasohol and promote markets for alcohol made from grain.

Sarpalius, in response to a question, told the crowd he had accepted a campaign contribution from Political Action Committees of Texas (PACT), an organization he said was comprised of "successful" businessmen, farmers and ranchers in the state who want a "conservative" senator in Austin.

McCathern, on the other hand, said he has not solicited "any funds from any PAC—our campaign is strictly a grassroots campaign financed by mostly agricultural producers, without any downstate money."

He admitted that he had received contributions from "friends" in other states.

Delegates Attend State Convention

Several local women were in Amarillo this past weekend to attend the 83rd annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, which took place at the Hilton Inn.

The local delegates represented Pioneer Study Club and Summerfield Study Club, both of which are TFWC-affiliated chapters. Attending from Hereford were Mmes. Ray L. Johnson; L.H. Lookingbill Sr.; William Wimberly, O.G. Hill Sr.; Delmar Sigle, R.L. Wilson and Clayton Sanders.

Both of the local Federated clubs assisted in making decorations for the state convention, which was held in the Panhandle this year in honor of next year's president, Mrs. B.M. Sims of Wellington. Mrs. Sims was officially installed during the convention, which was attended by 341 women.

In the contest segment of the convention, Pioneer Study Club's yearbook was ranked third in the state and the following honors were won by local residents: Mrs. Lookingbill, first place in china painting; Mrs. A. Petersen, first in oil landscapes; and Mrs. Walser, second in knitted afghan.

Hereford delegates reported that the installation ceremony was impressive with Mrs. Sims using mirrors to illustrate her theme of "Reflections and Projections."

Donation Discussed By Young Mothers

Young Mothers Study Club discussed possible avenues for their yearly donation during a business meeting and program Monday evening in the Reddy Room, Southwestern Public Service Company.

Jan Dudley, president, called the meeting to order.

Members were reminded of the salad supper and installation of officers to be held at 7:30 p.m. May 12 in the E.B. Black Historical House. "Highlight of the evening will be recognition of the 'Young Mother of the Year.'" Hostesses for the closing social will be Mrs. Dudley and her vice president Jody Josephson.

The club will reconvene in September with a club picnic planned during the month of July.

Kathy Boyd, hostess during Monday night's meeting, introduced Argen Draper as the guest speaker. The former Extension agent discussed money management.

Refreshments were served by the cohostess Maureen Self and the meeting was adjourned.

Others who were present included Kathy Haney, Beverly Davies, Sherry Wilson, Donna McGee, Janie Street, Debbie Holmes, Kandy Castillo and Darla Stone.

One Night Performance

La Plata Junior High School All-School play has been scheduled with curtain time at 7:30 p.m., Friday. This year, the school will present "The Mouse That Roared." Tickets can be bought at the door on the night of the play for $1 adults

Forum Officers Installed Monday

Deaf Smith County Women's Forum installed a new slate of officers for the 1980-82 term Monday afternoon during a covered dish luncheon at the Community Center.

Placed in office were Brenda Campbell, president; Mrs. Troys Carmichael, first vice president; Mrs. Tom J. Carter, second vice; Mrs. Guy Walser, secretary; Mrs. John N. Jacobsen Jr.,

treasurer; Mrs. Ray L. Johnson, reporter; and Mrs. R.L. Wilson, parliamentarian.

Hostess clubs were Hereford Newcomers, Lone Star, Garden Beautiful and Music Study Club.

The program speaker for the afternoon was Deputy Sheriff Dean Butcher, who discussed handwriting analysis.

Burn Care To Be Topic

Deaf Smith General Hospital will present a continuing education seminar relating to the treatment and care of burn patients Thursday in the Community Center banquet room from 7-9:30 p.m.

This program is being conducted by personnel from Emergency Medical Services in Amarillo. No registration fee will be charged and all interested citizens in the area are invited to attend.

Ann Landers Indifference of Age

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After so many years of reading your column I never thought I would be writing a letter of my own. But I am in need of help and have faith in what you say.

A year ago I was separated from my wife. The split was her idea. She has no intention of returning to me. We have a four-year-old daughter I miss a lot. When my wife left I was lost and unable to cope with life. I even contemplated suicide. Then I was introduced to a nice girl. She saw how desperate I was and gave me good advice. She even suggested that I fight for my child—something I had never thought of before. Without her I wouldn't have made it through the months of suffering. I love this girl and want her to move in with me. My problem is that I am 27 and she is 13. I know this sounds young, but she is very mature for her age. Her mother knows of me—but not her father.

We both want to tell the world that we love each other. Please give me some advice.—Shorty

DEAR SHORTY: I don't know what you are short of, but I have a feeling you could be short of an important part of your anatomy if this girl's father ever finds out about you.

My advice is stop seeing her before you get arrested for contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and get some counseling. You sure do need it. Bub

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After years of frustration and heartache I decided to write to you. I need to know whether my problem is common, or if I am living with some kind of freak.

My husband has no interest whatever in our older son. Never a good word. Never a sign of interest in what he is doing. The only time he even mentions the lad is to say something like, "See, I told you he wouldn't make the team." or, "I told you his report card wouldn't be anything to brag about."

When this boy was small his father was so preoccupied with motorcycles and entertaining his friends at the neighborhood tavern he never had time to get acquainted with his son. Today they are like strangers.

"John" is 16 and a very good boy. He tries so hard to get a kind word from his dad it is heartbreaking. Is it normal for a father to reject his son? Does he feel competitive with the boy, or what? What can be done about it?—Missouri Tears

DEAR MISSOURI: "John" is not alone. Many fathers reject sons, and daughters as well. Mothers also reject children.

Rejecting parents often have been rejected themselves. They have no idea of how to build a relationship with their children. They are uncomfortable with parenthood so they ride motorcycles and hang out in taverns.

Such situations can be improved by family counseling, but too often the person who needs it most refuses to go. I hope you will seek counseling on your own and learn how to give the boy the emotional support he needs without making him feel sorry for himself. And I believe the boy could profit from counseling, too. Some rejected sons are motivated to be achievers in an effort to prove to their fathers that they are worthwhile. I hope it works this way in your family.

Can drugs be a friend in time of stress? If you keep your head together can they be of help? Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs" separates the fact from the fiction. Get it today. For each booklet ordered, send a dollar, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (28 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995 Chicago, Illinois, 60611.

Women Golfers To Convene

The Women's Golf Association will be convening for a major business meeting at 12 noon on Thursday, May 1, at the Country Club. All association members and other interested persons are encouraged to support the program by attending this meeting.

Tomorrow's session will determine on what basis the association will continue to operate as well as whether the organization will have a slate of officers or an executive committee. Also, plans will be discussed for the golf tournament scheduled in early June.

District Meeting Reported to Club

Several reports of the district Extension Homemakers meeting at White Deer were heard Friday afternoon by members of Cultural EH Club during a meeting in the home of Tillie Scott.

Jewell Hargrave, president, called the meeting to order.

Local 4-H'ers presented the two-part program with Robin Carlile and Kristi Powell discussing "Baby-sitting and Child Safety." Their method demonstration was followed by one on "Little People's World" by Toni Savage and Wendy Reid.

The club's next meeting will be a luncheon on May 9 in Pioneer Flame Room.

Sue Powell was welcomed as a guest by members present, who included Winnie Wiseman, Mildred Lewis, Carrie Mae Doak, Bertha Dettmann, Edith Hunter, Vernis Parsons, Mrs. Hargrave and Jewel Rogers.

Teacher Job Fair Slated For May 5

Representatives from 200 schools will have the opportunity to talk with teachers seeking positions at the West Texas State University Teacher Job Fair Monday, May 5.

The job fair, hosted by the WTSU Placement Office, will begin at 1 p.m. in the WTSU East Dining Hall.

Gene Parker, director of placement, said that representatives have been invited from schools in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains, Eastern New Mexico, Oklahoma Panhandle, Southwestern Kansas and Southeastern Colorado.

Participants in the job fair do not have to be WTSU students or graduates. Representatives of the schools will have information and application blanks available for those interested.

Superintendents from the school systems will attend a luncheon at 11:30 a.m. before the job fair. The luncheon, in the WTSU East Dining Hall, will be hosted by WTSU President Max Sherman, Director of Development Keith Winter and the College of Education.

Further information may be obtained from Parker at the WTSU Placement Office.

Estate Planning Program Slated

Husbands and wives are invited to attend an estate planning program Monday, May 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Center. This program is sponsored by WIFE (Women Involved in Farm Economics.)

An estate planning team composed of four professionals will present the special program.

Estate planning benefits, income taxes and financial planning will be discussed by the four speakers, who are attorney Schalan Atkinson, Realtor John Faulkner, trust fund officer Jack Wilcox and Bob Gentry, CPA.

In promoting the program, a WIFE spokesman said, "If you haven't written your will, a politician has already done it for you."

The program will be presented free of charge to the public.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

Anybody who remembers seeing the heading on this piece when it appeared regularly in The Brand, is not eligible for membership in the Newcomers Club.

It's been in mothballs about five years and is brought out with its original intention—to gather little bits of news and comment about people and things in this county, things we hope will interest you, maybe inform you and sometimes amuse you.

The dictionary says small talk means "light, unimportant...chitchat" and that's exactly the idea. If anything important shows up here, it will be purely coincidental.

No world problems will be solved, or even looked at seriously. There will be no social significance, whatever that is, and more than likely nobody will be uplifted or inspired.

Small talk just passes time pleasantly and bridges over gaps that might become awkward in our meetings with fellow-humans. Goodness knows the world needs more of that, so here we go, again.

Going to reunions is fun, I've found at two different homecomings in former hometowns, so I'm thinking of making a hobby of attending them. It was nice to have an invitation to the Valedictorian's anniversary tea, which is one kind of reunion.

Some of its ex-members came back from new homes, and were "don't-you-remembering" with members, with special attention for charter members Dorothy Clearman and Ruth Owen, Dorothy and Hugh Clearman live at Lawn, near Abilene, while the Owens are at Waxahachie.

Both said they like their new locations, and Ruth was giving the Plains native's usual report on East Texas—sure is pretty country, with fishing spots.

Another ex-Herefordite, Kim Williamson, has the same opinion, relayed by his mother when I saw her the other day. Mary Williamson says Kim and Karen and their two little girls, who moved east early this year from Hart, are very pleased with living in Dekalb.

Karen's parents, D.N. and Cyble Gamblin who used to live at Friona, are in that vicinity. The Kim Williamsons were living in a rented house, planning to add to the small house on the farm they bought, when their intended home burned. Now they are waiting to rebuild.

Another part of downstate Texas got a good word from Gladys Caviness, who had a beautiful bouquet of bluebonnets on her counter at the bank last week. She picked them herself on a trip down through San Angelo and on into the Hill Country, where she was dazzled by acres of the state flower in full bloom.

We're short of bluebonnets up here, but this is a lilac spring in Hereford and there's hardly a prettier sight anywhere than the hedges, clumps and single bushes of fragrant blossoms. Probably most scenic is the row across the back of the yard at the Buryl Fish home on the corner of West Park and Centre.

Not only lilacs, but other shrubs are loaded with blooms in one of our rare years that happened to have winter freezes, moisture and sunshine in just the right amounts at the right time to make them perfect.

High School Choir To Enter Festival

ARLINGTON — The Hereford High School chorus has been accepted to compete in the 1980 Six Flags Over Texas Open Choral Festival.

Competition will be held May 1-3, in the Ed Landreth Auditorium at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

Nationally-renowned judges in the musical field will choose the top choral groups from among those participating in the largest Band, Choral and Orchestra Festivals in the 20-year history of the Six Flags park.

In addition to the competition, members of the chorus will enjoy two days of entertainment at Six Flags Over Texas, including a special Friday night concert by Jose Feliciano.

The students and others attending the Festival will also have the opportunity to ride the park's newest attraction, an authentic wooden roller coaster known as Judge Roy Scream. The Awe West of the Pecos.

The Newspaper Bible

TO WHOM ELSE COULD WE GO?

I am the true Bread from heaven; and anyone who eats this Bread shall live forever, and not die as your fathers did — though they ate bread from heaven."

(He preached this sermon in the synagogue in Capernaum.)

Even His disciples said, "This is very hard to understand. Who can tell what He means?"

Jesus knew within Himself that His disciples were complaining and said to them, "Does this offend you? Then what will you think if you see Me, the Son of Man, return to heaven again?"

Only the Holy Spirit gives eternal life. Those born only once with physical birth will never receive this gift. But now I have told you how to get this true spiritual life.

But some of you don't believe Me." (For Jesus knew from the beginning who didn't believe and knew the one who would betray Him.)

And He remarked, "That is what I meant when I said that no one can come to Me unless the Father attracts him to Me."

At this point many of His disciples turned away and deserted Him.

Then Jesus turned to the Twelve and asked, "Are you going too?"

Simon Peter replied, "Master, to whom shall we go? You alone have the words that give eternal life.

And we believe them and know You are the holy Son of God."

Then Jesus said, "I chose the twelve of you, and one is a devil."

He was speaking of Judas, son of Simon Iscariot, one of the Twelve, who would betray Him.

HHS Tracksters Fail In Regional Qualification

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor

Six points weren't much to brag about, but as far as head varsity track coach Lester Kirkland was concerned, the Whitefaces could have racked up 108 points in the Region I Qualifiers meet in Lubbock this past weekend and it wouldn't have made any difference in his appraisal of this year's campaign.

Put simply, he wasn't exactly crying about the Herd's outcome—but rather, remotely pleased.

"We went into this season not expecting much because of the lack of varsity experience we had in our ranks, but we managed to qualify six events in the regional meet following the district race, and for that reason we think we've had a successful season," related Kirkland. "We only had four seniors entered in the district 4-4A meet in Lubbock and all of them did an outstanding job for us there, and all year long. But four upperclassmen don't provide the necessary depth a team needs to be totally successful."

One of those six events meeting qualifying standards in the district lineup encompassed the 440 meter relay after the team clocked a 4.29, but the squad failed to reach the winning time of 41.9. The second best regional time in the meet (only the top two times advance to state competition) was clocked at 42.2 by the Temple relay team.

Felix Soliz who had qualified for the meet in the 800 meter dash with a district time of 2:00.6 fell short in his event as top times recorded in the competition were marked at 1:53.5 and 1:55.4.

Norman Brown placed third in the 400 meter dash in the regional qualifiers meet (one of two places the Herd managed to place during the competition) after he ran a 49.8 behind El Paso Austin's George Ybara with 48.5 and Big Spring's Joe Willie Jones who clocked a 49.1 in the event.

Harold Terry, running the 200 meter dash, and the Whiteface 1600 meter relay squad also qualified for the region meet with a second place finish in the district race, but failed to place in state competition. Terry grasped sixth in the 200 after being disqualified for a lane violation.

And the final regional qualifying event the Herd garnered came in the discus as senior Joe Mitchem tossed the weight for 163 feet to land second in the district competition.

"We're going to have trouble replacing Mitchem, Joe Walker, Keith Adams and Than Wright because as seniors they gave us some needed back bone in their events, but we've got nine sophomores and six juniors returning, who have been running with the varsity all year long," said Kirkland. "And from that standpoint and considering some of those underclassmen were qualifiers in region, I can't help but think we'll get somebody in state next year."

"I say that because we'll have the ability coming back next year providing no one gets hurt and the times that won this year don't vary too much next season," he said. "But there's one thing we still need and one which we're looking for. That's in the field events, which is a category we got hurt in this year. We outscored Plainview 10 points in the distance events during the district meet, but they beat us by about 60 through field event points alone."

And the coach wasn't wasting any time finding those points.

After the conversation, Kirkland was heard discussing a future pole vault prospect with a junior high coach.

Third vs. Third

Third baseman Ken Cosper stops Plainsmen Ricky Pinkerton [third baseman and pitcher for Monterey] in the first duel between the two teams here Saturday. The Whitefaces recorded two losses to the district leaders and dropped two more to Lubbock Coronado Tuesday 9-2, 5-1 to maintain their current winless second-half mark.

Take Winless Mark Into Final District Contest

Whitefaces Drop Third Twinbill

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor

LUBBOCK — The Hereford Whiteface baseball team is playing at opposite extremes these days—Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde baseball—or so says head coach David Ashby after he watched his Hereford team drop its third out of three twinbills 9-2 and 5-1 to the Coronado Mustangs here Tuesday.

And to say the least, the change of events, have created a real monster for the herd's second-half district rating (the squad is still packing a winless ledger in that portion after going 3-5 in the first half).

from home field.

But probably more disturbing than that, to Ashby is the fact that the team has idled down to non-existence in the second-half race.

"It's solely between Monterey and Coronado now. We had our chance to mess up the works a little before our score Edward Dominguez, who had walked earlier.

But the Hereford scores didn't compare with the first inning onslaught the Mustangs put forth.

CHS hitter Donald Ewing batted in two runs with a single and with one out, Bryan Brock singled and designated hitter Russell Young doubled to score two more runs. And Saw Law nailed the lid shut on the Whitefaces after he singled to score the fifth Lubbock run.

The Mustangs then capped their performance with a run in the fourth and three more in the sixth.

"It's (the HHS losing streak) is definitely a psychological frame of mind I feel like said Ashby. "And all I know is that I hope it won't carry on into next year's play."

"There's just not anything to talk about," said Ashby following his teams debut into a 13-15 status on the year. "It's the same old thing, we're just not playing any good on the road. The teams that we beat here at home or almost beat here are putting us through the ringer on their turf, and I really don't know what the problem is or I would have eliminated it a long time ago."

The Whitefaces have racked an 11-4 mark when hosting the parties, but have only managed a bleak 2-11 record on their trips away game with the Mustangs because we could have clipped them out of the district running," he said. "But now we've given Coronado a chance to tie the Plainsmen for the second half."

The Hereford team put one run across the plate in the opener during the first frame's play after second baseman Randy Ellis chipped off a single with bases loaded, and netted their final short-lived scoring spree in the second stanza as Don Delozier squeezed a ground-er past the CHS defense to

Dodgers Beat El Paso

By The Associated Press
It's hard to tell from the score, but the San Antonio Dodgers had to come from behind Tuesday night to take a 19-2 Texas League baseball victory over the El Paso Diablos.

In other Texas League games, Tulsa beat Arkansas, 8-5, Midland swamped Amarillo, 15-1, and Shreveport shut out Jackson, 4-0.

Tom Bhagwat's leadoff homer helped El Paso jump off to a 2-0 lead before the roof caved in on the Diablos in the fourth inning when San Antonio scored 10 and continued the onslaught in the fifth inning with 8 more runs. The final run came in the eighth.

Miss Henderson Cowboys Sign Roe In Draft

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, who built five Super Bowl teams on the National Football League draft, had to resort to 50-to-1 shots Tuesday when they couldn't work a trade for Thomas Henderson, Ed (Too Tall) Jones and Butch Johnson.

Relegated to the 78th and 80th choices because they traded No. 1 and No. 2 round picks to Baltimore for John Dutton, the Cowboys took chances on a running back and a linebacker coming off knee injuries.

The names of linebacker Bill Roe of Colorado and running back James Jones of Mississippi State sent Cowboy publicists scrambling for those schools' respective media guides.

The 6-foot-3, 221-pound Roe was a second team Associated Press All Big Eight selection. He made 161 tackles and ran 69 yards for a touchdown with an intercepted pass. He had knee surgery his junior year.

Roe also boxes but laughingly assured the Cowboys that "professional boxing is not in my future plans."

Jones is 5-11 and 200-pounds. Although Mississippi State ran the Wishbone offense last year, his talents are more suited to the Cowboy I formation in the tailback position.

Jones said "I'm not a blazing fast back but I do a lot of cutting and I can run over people if I have to."

Jones can also throw the halfback pass, a trait Coach Tom Landry dearly loves. Jones completed two half-back passes for touchdowns in 1978. He was injured his senior year and played sparingly.

"Both Roe and James Jones have excellent chances of making it in the NFL," said Landry. "Roe will give us some depth at linebacker—a position where we needed a lot of help."

"Jones will fit into the tailback role behind Tony Dorsett. There is no question that we got both of these players because they are coming off knee injuries. Most teams were afraid to take a chance on them. When you get down as far as we were in the draft, you don't have much choice."

"I'm happy and surprised to be with the Cowboys," said Roe. "I think I can help them. I'm pretty good in pass coverage."

Asked the status of Henderson and Ed Jones, Landry said "I know Ed Jones is going to come back to football. But a lot of talking has to be done."

"As for Henderson, I guess we could trade him for a 1981 draft choice. That would be an attractive deal to a lot of people. He could play a year for them without the other team paying for him. I'd like to borrow some money that way."

About the draft Landry concluded, "It was kind of discouraging. There was just no way you could get excited."

He added: "If we had to miss out on a draft, this was a good one to miss. There just weren't that many can't miss players."

In the 20-year history of the Cowboys, they never had to draft as far back as they did Tuesday.

A view from the batters box shows second baseman Randy Ellis crouched down in preparation for a Monterey batter's hit in the twinbill between the two teams here Saturday.

The Whitefaces lost those decisions and capped the losing streak with two more defeats from Lubbock Coronado Tuesday.

Astros Beat Reds

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

It was a poor start for Ken Forsch but a great finish. And he wasn't too sloppy in the middle, either.

Forsch walked the first batter he faced, then proceeded to stifle the Cincinnati Reds on just three hits to hurl the Houston Astros to a 3-0 victory Tuesday night.

"The first inning was really tough," said Forsch. "I didn't think I was ever going to get loose.

"Then my arm sort of came around, though, and I never even got tired in the late innings."

It was the first complete game of the season for the 6-foot-4, 215-pound right-hander who said he was bothered by the chilly night air.

Cesar Cedeno provided the power for the Astros with a two-run homer that bounced off the foul pole screen in left field.

Oilers Grab Fields As 'Biggest' Pick

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers didn't have a first round pick in the 1980 National Football League draft but by the second round, the scales had definitely tipped in the Oilers' favor.

For the second year in a row, the Oilers selected the biggest player in the draft, 6-5, 347-pound Angelo Fields, an offensive tackle from Michigan State.

"He's not overweight, he's just over-big," Oiler Coach Bum Phillips said Monday, ignoring scouting reports that said Fields would need to trim down.

"A big guy that can do something will always beat a little guy that can do something," Phillips said. "He's big but he has the movements of a much smaller man."

A year ago, the Oilers also traded away their first round selection and took Iowa State's 300-pound Mike Stensrud, the biggest player on the board, in the second round.

Scouting reports on the beefy Washington, D.C. native credit him with great athletic ability but with a need to lose weight.

"I think some of the other teams might have been scared about his weight, that he couldn't trim down," Phillips said. "He's just a big man."

Fields played only one year of offense at Michigan State, shifting for his senior year to shore up graduation losses. He was Houston's first selection in Tuesday's draft. The Oilers traded away their first round choice to New England last season for offensive tackle Leon Gray.

Oiler scout Joe Wooley became a Fields supporter after watching him perform in the Senior Bowl.

"The way he played in the Senior Bowl at 347 showed he could move," Wooley said. "He looked like a ballet dancer."

Wooley said Fields was the No. 2 offensive tackle on the Oilers' scouting report behind USC's Anthony Munoz and had been clocked in 5.1 for the 40-yard dash.

"I guess a lot of people were concerned about my weight but I've shown that I can play," Fields said. "I expect to come down a little though."

Fields said Phillips told him not to worry about his weight. "He said I was a naturally big man and that I could play the game of football," Fields said.

The Oilers went into the draft vowing to go for the best athlete available rather than trying to fill any one position.

The addition of Fields could eventually ease the loss of Greg Sampson, who suffered a career-ending head injury last season. Starting guard George Reihner also has been plagued with knee injuries.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I read one of your columns in which you mentioned that it was bad to get used to taking laxatives too often and become dependent upon them. I have a problem that I don't know what to do about. A year ago I had bleeding hemorrhoids and my doctor said if they got worse, he would have to operate.

I've had several operations for other things so I decided to try bran and cooked dried prunes. I use three or four prunes and mash them up in a dish. Also two tablespoons of bran. I put water in to soften the bran and let it set quite awhile and take it before I go to bed.

I have a bowel movement at 6:30 in the morning and am not bothered anymore all day. If I eat some roughage I see blood again but I can go for a month or so just fine. If I don't take my prunes and bran I get constipated and, of course, there's blood.

Would you call this a laxative or just a food and will it hurt me? I eat lots of fruits and vegetables. I am 89 years old and do a lot of walking.

DEAR READER - It sounds to me like you're doing just fine. You certainly should have had an examination. People who have any bleeding should not assume that it's just from hemorrhoids. Bleeding can be the first sign of rectal or colon cancer. But having already had your examination, you do not need to worry about that.

To give you more information on what hemorrhoids are and how to manage them, I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-12, Hemorrhoids: New Treatments for An Old Affliction. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Prunes do contain a laxative type substance. Many people do use them with success. I think they shouldn't be overdone but, in your case, it seems to have worked quite well in combination with your bran and I wouldn't worry too much about it.

The diet which you described, which includes plenty of good fruits, is also good for you as well as the walking. I'm also sending you The Health Letter number 12-8, Laxatives, Enemas and Suppositories. This Health Letter discusses the different kinds of laxatives and the problems that some can create. There are different kinds of bulk in the diet. The roughage that is coarse and is fibrous might be irritating to your hemorrhoids but bran, as you've found out, is really not roughage - it's "softage."

When it becomes moist, it's soft. In people who are not taking medicines that dry out the colon, such as the diuretics or water pills, the bran will retain the moisture and keep the stool soft.

As long as this system is working as well as it is for you, I would see no reason for changing it. You can discuss this with your doctor and if there is any change, then he can advise you as to the best procedure for your case.

DEAR POLLY - The panelling in our house is about 20 years old. It looks dull and has several nicks in it. What can we do to revive it? - CHERYL

DEAR CHERYL - Your information is rather sparse but I am assuming this is wood panelling with a natural wood finish. If that is correct I would go over it all with a commercial scratch remover polish. Wipe it in and off, a small area at a time. Dip a cotton swab, such as baby uses, in this polish and you can get it into the nicks and holes so they are not so obvious.

Another method is to use the proper shade of brown paste shoe polish, rub it in well and buff to a luster. Both these work well on furniture that has suffered from daily wear and tear. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - My Pointer is for those ladies who use electric hair curlers. Fold a square of toilet tissue in half and wrap it around the curler before rolling the hair. It will not get overheated to cause brittleness and also seems to have an extra bounce. - BETH

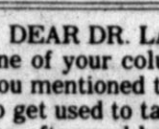

DEAR POLLY - When I need my husband's help with something around the house I nag just a little and then when he has some free time I begin to do it myself. Soon he is helping me because he cannot stand to see me "botch" up a job. He enjoys the opportunity to build his ego by showing me how it should be done and his conscience will not let him stand by and see me do it alone. This works, but maybe it is just because my husband is the greatest. - A READER

DEAR POLLY (and Barbara who wants to get blood stains off of her husband's jacket) - I have had wonderful luck using hydrogen peroxide. I just pour it on a set blood stain and let it dry and then repeat until the stain is gone. I would try it first someplace where it will not show in case it changes the color of the fabric. It is best to be safe.

I have also read that such a stain can be covered with meat tenderizer that is made into a paste with cold water. Leave this on 15-30 minutes and then sponge with cool water. Good luck! - MELODY B.

DEAR POLLY - I use a crumpled paper towel and metal tongs to remove excess grease from the pan in which I have cooked hamburgers or other greasy food. - MILLY

Area I Conservation Awards Program is Friday

TEMPLE -- Forty-seven soil and water conservation districts in the High Plains/Panhandle region of the state which covers a 51 county area will hold their second annual Region I Texas Conservation Awards Program in Canyon May 2.

The purpose of the awards program which begins at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria at West Texas State University is to acknowledge, recognize and honor individuals who have dedicated themselves to the conservation and wise use of renewable natural resources on their private lands or who have contributed time and talent to promoting sound soil and water conservation in their communities.

Receiving the award of "Outstanding Conservation District" for the most progressive conservation program during the past year is the Yoakum SWCD headquartered in Plains. Members of the board of directors of the honored district are: Henry S. May of Denver City; Robert M. Jones of Plains; C.L. Gayle of Bronco; Robert B. White of Tokio and A.E. McGinty of Plains.

The Yoakum SWCD which is a political subdivision of state government was established to assist farmers, ranchers, and local communities within the boundaries of the district solve soil, water and related resource conservation problems through local initiative and voluntary assistance programs.

George D. Self of Crowell, Texas will receive the "Resident Conservation Farmer/Rancher" award for superior land management and conservation systems applied to his agricultural enterprise. To be eligible for this award the recipient must be a resident of the district and carry out his farming or ranching activities within the SWCD from which the entry was submitted. Self was nominated by the Foard County SWCD headquartered at Crowell.

An "Absentee Conservation Farmer/Rancher" award will be presented to Alford, Rick, Joe and David Reinart of Stratford for outstanding land management and conservation systems applied on their land. The award is presented to individuals who do not actually reside on their land or within the SWCD submitting the nominee nor who depend fully upon their land for their livelihood. The Dallam SWCD headquartered in Dalhart sponsored Reinart Farms.

Two educational categories, an essay contest and poster contest, have enabled students to demonstrate creative artistic and writing skills relative to the conservation of soil, water and related resources.

In the essay contest students 18 years and under demonstrated research and writing skills on the subject "Forty Years of Soil and Water Conservation Districts in Texas." First, second and third place winners in respective order are: Julie Morton, Floydada High School, Floydada, Texas; Jimmy Pat James, Snyder High School, Snyder, Texas; and Lori Stephenson, Claude High School, Claude, Texas.

The Poster Contest which was open to students 12 years and under enabled students to present impressions on the subject, "Food, Fiber and Soil Conservation." First, second and third place winners in respective order are Carol McCasland, Oscar Hinger Intermediate School, Canyon, Texas; Stacy Hill, Cactus Elementary School, Levelland, Texas; and Lance Landers, Central Elementary School, Borger, Texas.

Other award categories for services rendered to advance conservation included "Business/Professional Man or Woman," "Wildlife Conservationist," "Public Media Award," and "Conservation Homemaker."

Robert Fewin of Lubbock, Texas who was sponsored by the Lubbock County SWCD headquartered at Lubbock will receive the Business/Professional Award.

The Area I "Conservation Teacher" award will be presented to Jesse C. White, an instructor at Oscar Hinger Intermediate School, Canyon, Texas. He was nominated by the Palo Duro SWCD headquartered in Canyon.

Joe Don Scott of Plainview, Texas is Area I's Wildlife Conservationist. He was sponsored by the Hale County SWCD headquartered in Plainview, Texas.

The "Public Media Award" which is presented to an individual in the print or broadcast media for efforts to promote soil and water conservation will be presented to Sheila Eccles of "The Pampa News". Ms. Eccles was nominated by the Gray County SWCD headquartered in Pampa.

Mary Hummer of Booker, Texas sponsored by the Ochiltree SWCD headquartered in Perryton, Texas will receive the Conservation Homemaker award.

Sponsors of the regional awards program are the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board, the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts and the 200 local SWCDs in Texas.

Clint Homfeld and Johnny Jesko of the Tierra Blanca SWCD will attend Friday's awards program.

Tower Blasts Predator Control Policies

WASHINGTON -- U.S. Sen. John Tower (R-Texas) has accused the Carter Administration of endangering the vital range livestock industry through its policies on predator control.

"It is becoming obvious that those individuals responsible for the administration of federal predator control policies are not using common sense in deliberating matters affecting food and fiber production," Tower said in testimony before the Senate Committee on Environment and Public Works.

Tower has introduced legislation which would require the Department of the Interior to implement a reasonable and effective program to control predation. "Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus has clearly ignored the scientific and economic recommendations made to him by industry, and his own Fish and Wildlife Director. He has chosen a political course for the animal damage control program," the senior senator from Texas charged.

Death losses of sheep and lambs because of predators accounted for 58 percent of all deaths in 1978, compared to 25 percent in 1967, Tower noted.

"Consider a few other grim statistics. Texas cattle raisers ... have lost approximately $10 million in production a year for the past 12 years -- all due to predators. The Lone Star State in 1978 alone lost 21.6 million pounds of choice beef and 6.6 million pounds of choice lamb meat that did not reach the consumer because of predators," Tower said.

"Our livestock producers cannot stand by while the Department of Interior conducts a corrective predator control program based on the premise that no control would be authorized until livestock losses reached a bureaucrat's determination of an 'unacceptable level,'" he continued.

"I have offered fresh and positive proposals which would lead to an acceptable, economic and efficient solution of the predator control problem," Tower said of his bill. That bill would allow both lethal and non-lethal control methods to be used under reasonable regulations.

Bentsen Introduces Livestock Bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Senator Lloyd Bentsen has introduced legislation that would prevent future meat shortages by reinstating a system of loan guarantees for Texas livestock producers.

"This program is not a bailout of a subsidy program. It provides a safety net to protect the livestock industry from financial disaster. At the same time, it would assure consumers of a steady and reliable supply of meat," Senator Bentsen said in remarks accompanying the legislation.

The bill, known as the Emergency Livestock Credit Act, would reinstate a program which expired in 1978. It authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to guarantee 90 percent of needed loans, at a maximum of $350,000 per producer. Producers of livestock, including dairy cattle and poultry, would qualify for loans to maintain their operations.

Senator Bentsen noted that the high cost of credit is a major factor contributing to a current slump in the livestock industry.

"Beyond the national problems of low prices and high interest rates, much of Texas suffers from a severe drought, and Texas ranchers are reduced to depending upon an overworked emergency feed program which has already approved assistance for 5,419 ranchers who are trying to save over a million head of cattle," Bentsen said.

Howard Ranked Top Cowboy Rodeo Team Members Still Riding High in Standings

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

With the high school rodeo season drawing toward a close the Hereford High School rodeo team picked up additional points in the Claude Tri-State Rodeo over the weekend.

Fresh point tallies put one Hereford competitor closer to top All-Around Cowboy honors in overall Tri-State competition and solidified the standings of several local competitors in the top 15 standings for the finals rodeo this summer.

The HHS girls' team brought home the team trophy from the Claude rodeo with a total of 18 points.

Rita Ward paced the girls' team with a first place finish in pole bending with a time of 20.901, and was fifth in barrels with a clocking of 19.106 for an overall total of eight points.

Tania Willson was first in breakaway roping with a time of 4.262 and was sixth in goat tying with a time of 11.993, for an overall total of seven points.

Cathy Trolinder placed fourth in breakaway roping with a time of 6.082 for three points.

In the boys' division Brett Cunningham finished second in calf roping with a time of 13.335, for a total of five points.

Sid Howard finished fourth in calf roping with a time of 14.837 and was first in steer wrestling with a time of 4.994, to garner a total of nine points.

Mike Ferguson was in a three-way tie for sixth place in bareback bronc riding with a score of 53, good for one point.

Lee Washington finished third in ribbon roping with a time of 12.325, good for four points.

Robert Esqueda placed fifth with a score of 57 in bull riding for two points.

Among club members competing at Claude were Harold Murray, Mark Urbanczyk, Joe Smith, Scott Wilcox, James Kirkland, Mike Butcher, Steve McConnell, Bent Self and Tony Wilcox.

Among boys in the top 15 and their point standings through the Claude rodeo are:

*Sid Howard, currently standing No. 1 All-Around cowboy with a total of 152 points, including first, with a total of 54 points in calf roping, sixth in ribbon roping with a total of 16 points, second in steer wrestling with a total of 53 points, and fifth in team roping with a total of 28 points.

*Lee Washington, 11th in steer wrestling with 8 points; 15th in team roping with a total of 15 points; and 15th in ribbon roping with a total of nine points.

*Mike Ferguson, 12th in barebacks with a total of 6 5/6 points.

*Steve McConnell, 12th in steer wrestling with eight points.

*Tony Wilcox, 13th in bull riding with 10 1/2 points.

*Brett Cunningham, 6th in calf roping with 20 points. Among girls in the top 15 and their point standings through the Claude rodeo are:

*Rita Ward, fifth in barrel racing with a total of 25 points; fourth with 32 points in pole bending, and standing No. 12 in All-Around Cowgirl competition with 57 points.

*Tania Willson, standing No. 8 in All-Around Cowgirl competition with 67 points; 8th in barrel racing with 13 points; 6th in breakaway roping with 20 points; 7th in goat tying with 22 points; and 9th in pole bending with 12 points.

*Cathy Trolinder standing No. 17 in All-Around Cowgirl competition with 29 points; 9th in breakaway roping with 14 points; 8th in goat tying with 15 points.

The next outing for the HHS Rodeo Club will be this weekend at the Stratford Tri-State Rodeo.

Power to lick your toughest field problems

Tough problems call for a tougher answer. And field power doesn't come any tougher than the 4640. In fact, the horsepower rating may appear pretty conservative once you've driven one. Drawbar pull, PTO torque, 3-point-hitch lift, hydraulic reserve — none of these is reflected accurately just in the horsepower rating. But stop by the store and we'll be happy to fill you in on all these powerful reasons to put a new 4640 to work on your toughest field problems.

MARTINIQUE COLLECTION

Coordinated Sheets — Towels — Cases

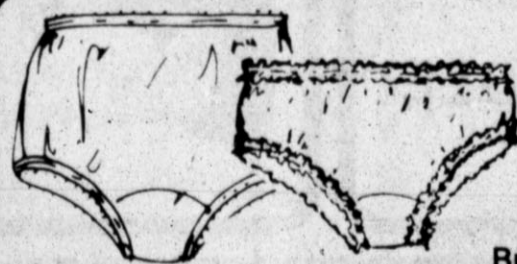

"We are introducing Cannon's newest fashion look for the bedroom and bath. The sheet is a polyester/cotton blend in Cannon's famous percale quality. The bath towel ensemble that coordinates with it is an oversized printed velour with a heavy dobby border. Fashion colors blue and parchment."
