

Heavy Rainfall Drenches Portions of County

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

A second straight day of turbulent weather conditions made itself felt over widespread areas of the Panhandle and South Plains Tuesday in the wake of a freak windstorm which inflicted damage over scattered areas of Hereford Monday morning.

Tuesday's storms deposited heavy rains just to the east of Hereford but separate storm cells unleashed a veritable deluge in the northern and eastern portions of the Panhandle, particularly in the Dumas area, where as much as two feet of water accumulated over Highway 287 running northward from Dumas.

As much as 18 inches of water also covered Highway 385 between Hartley and Dalhart.

Yesterday's turbulent weather brought at least two tornado warnings for the Hale County community of Plainview and flash flood warnings were in effect for several South Plains counties as well as neighboring Potter and Randall counties and additional counties in the northern Panhandle.

Shower activity came late to the Hereford area Tuesday with a storm breaking during the evening.

While the city of Hereford received only .10 inches of moisture, according to a report from KPAN radio, a surprising 2.50 inches of rain was reported from just east of the Hereford Airport.

Northeast of Hereford 1.50 inches of rainfall was reported from the Carl Kleuskens farm and showers tapered off as they approached the Dawn community, with .90 inches of rain falling at Dawn Co-Op.

Northward from Dawn, showers ranging from 1.50 to 1.70 inches fell in the vicinity of Farmer's Elevator, but a spokesman for that firm reported that showers were isolated and to the west of the Farmer's Elevator location no rain fell and tractors were running this morning.

Bill Page reported no rain at the Bootleg Corner community to the west of Hereford, and only a trace of rain was recorded at the H.L. Hershey farm 13 miles northeast of the city.

More than six inches of rain and hail fell on the North Central Texas city of Olney, most of it coming in a three-hour period Tuesday evening.

A pair of tornadoes were sighted south of Abernathy on the South Plains Tuesday afternoon but they apparently did no damage.

Winds of up to 50 miles per hour inflicted some damage at Lubbock and Abilene.

Dumas went through a second straight day of heavy weather conditions that left U.S. 287, U.S. 87 and Texas 119 closed north of Dumas near Etter.

High water stranded employees working the evening shift at the Swift Meat Co. at Cactus, leaving them unable to go home at the end of their shift.

Eastern sections of the Panhandle, eastern portions of the South Plains and the western half of North Texas remained under a flash flood watch today.

Forecasters warned that heavy rainfall in those areas from more showers and thunderstorms today could cause flash flooding.

Aussies Visit Hereford

A touring group of farmers and businessmen from Australia received a hustlin' Hereford welcome Tuesday evening at the Community Center, thanks to members of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber directors and the Hustlers' organization treated the 20 Australians to a Texas barbecue, which began at 5:30 p.m. Entertainment was provided by the Merry-Go-Round dancing club.

The barbecue reception was open to the public and several interested citizens were on hand to help greet the Australians. Outside the Community Center, an Australian flag was hoisted below the U.S. flag. The Aussie banner was provided by Jeff Thomas, an Australian who is employed here by WAC Seed.

Ken Rogers, C of C president, and Mike Carr, executive vice president welcomed the group to Hereford. Other chamber members presented a yellow rose to ladies and a red rose to men in the group as they got off the bus.

After the barbecue supper and a dessert of home-made ice cream, the group witnessed some round dancing and square dancing as performed by members of the Merry-Go-Round club of Hereford. Ed Line explained the dances to the visitors.

The group had planned to visit Southwest Feed yard while in Hereford, but they arrived too late Tuesday for that tour. From here, they returned to Amarillo and will visit Las Vegas, Nev., and the Grand Canyon before returning to the West Coast. The tour had already made stops in Denver, and in parts of Nebraska and Iowa.

Jim Davidson, advertising manager for The Land Newspaper Limited of Sydney, Australia, responded to the welcome remarks presented by Carr and by Mayor Bartley Dowell. The newspaper group organized the tour in Australia.

Iran's new Parliament convened today with calls from Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini to guard against plotters, from President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr to pump life into a nearly bankrupt economy, and from the militants holding the U.S. hostages to keep the captives until the shah and his wealth are returned.

"If America returns the traitor (deposed Shah) Mohammad Reza (Pahlavi) and the wealth he has plundered, the hostages will be reprieved and expelled from Iran," the militants said. "Otherwise, they will be tried and punished."

"Lack of compromise is the key to victory," the militants declared.

The militants also said the conditions they outlined for the hostages' release represented the "nation's demand," and that if the Parliament took any other position it would have to be justified and accepted by the Iranian people.

Their comments echoed views expressed Tuesday in the newspaper of the hard-line Islamic Republican Party that controls the Parliament. The newspaper said the 53 American hostages, in their 207th day in captivity today, should be held until the shah and his riches are returned to Iran and America pays damages.

Even though hardliners apparently will control the parliament, Yadollah Sahabi, a top adviser to moderate, former Prime Minister Mehdi Bazargan, was chosen provisional chairman and Bazargan selected as his deputy despite the shouted protest of Ayatollah Sadegh Khalkhali, a firebrand judge who has sent scores of Iranians before firing squads.

Khomeini's message mirrored the religious fervor of the Parliament. The mullahs, or Moslem priests, wore white or black turbans in stark contrast to the red and gold hues of the ornate chamber.

"Maintain a policy of neither East nor West in all domestic affairs and international relations," said Khomeini's message, read to (See IRAN, Page 2)

Clements: State May Sue Tax

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says he's "optimistic and confident" Texas will file a federal court suit against the windfall profits tax, which he claims will drain $65 billion out of Texas in the next 10 years.

Clements, founder of a Dallas-based drilling firm, told a receptive audience of independent oilmen Tuesday that a federal court challenge of the new tax "is being looked at at this time."

Such a suit would challenge the Carter-backed law's constitutionality, he added.

"I am optimistic and confident at this time that such a suit will be instituted by the state of Texas," he said in response to a question from the crowd at the 34th annual meeting of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association.

TIPRO passed a resolution Tuesday in which members were urged to support court challenges of the new tax.

Clements said the $65 billion figure was computed by the Texas Railroad Commission and the state comptroller's office. "This is nothing more than rank, outright discrimination against Texas. I don't like it, and I assume you don't either," the governor declared to the applause of the crowd.

The outspoken Republican governor took repeated verbal jabs at President Carter and later vowed to reporters, "We are going to fight Mr. Carter every step of the way."

Clements also stumped for the "Texas position" as a solution to the energy crisis and offered to mail out a list of the Texas congressmen he claims have been voting against the state's interests.

"Thirty-four states have signed on to the Texas position. We haven't signed Mr. Carter yet. But I guarantee you he's feeling the pressure. I'm after him," said Clements.

But Clements criticized those oil and gas companies using new profits to buy into unrelated business interests, thus giving a public relations "black eye that rubs off on Texas."

County Accepts San Jose Bid

By JIM STEIERT

Deaf Smith County commissioners accepted a bid from a Canyon firm for the installation of a sewer system in the San Jose community south of Hereford, and also discussed matters pertaining to a central taxing board in a regular session Tuesday.

The session was conducted Tuesday due to the observance of Memorial Day on the regular Monday meeting date.

R.W. Taylor Construction of Canyon submitted a low bid of $276,703.10 for sewer system construction work, well within the $290,875 allocated by EDA and HUD for funding the sewer system construction at San Jose.

EDA recommended the acceptance of the low bid by Taylor, subject to EDA and HUD approval, and county commissioners passed a resolution to that effect.

Other bids on the project were H.B. Jordan & Co. $379,634.82 and Novak Construction Co., $289,720.

In another matter relative to the San Jose community, commissioners discussed a grant for a self-help program from the Community Action Corporation, which serves a 26-county area of the Panhandle.

According to Commissioner J.F. Martin, the CAC Grant provides for a self-help program where residents would provide their own labor toward improving their homes in a supervised project.

Up to $500 per unit would be expended for work such as weather stripping, caulking, painting and other work to improve the nature of homes.

Commissioners were informed that approximately 50 homes out of 200 in the San Jose area would qualify for the program, but commissioners moved to table any action on the matter until they receive more information on the workings of the program and how it would be administered.

A CAC representative will be invited to attend the next meeting of the commission, June 9.

Commissioners also pointed out that approximately $600,000 in federal funds (See COUNTY, Page 2)

School Problems Televised

Superintendent Harrell Holder and two Hereford Independent School District trustees will appear on television tonight to discuss plans for changing HISD's elementary-school makeup.

The half-hour show, which involves the school officials answering questions from the local news media, will be broadcast at 6:30 and 10:30 p.m. on Cable channel 6.

Declining and shifting enrollment in Hereford's elementary schools are expected to result in a sizeable loss in state funds and continued unbalanced pupil-teacher ratios next school year.

Holder has stated several times in the last two weeks that the reduced state aid, coupled with rising costs for utilities and supplies, will result in a hefty tax increase if changes are not made in elementary-school makeup.

The school district is considering three plan-changing elementary boundaries, pairing schools and closing Shirley Elementary.

Pairing schools would put grades kindergarten through 3 in three of Hereford's six elementary schools and 4 through 6 in the other three schools.

Boundary adjustments and pairing will allow the school district to cut personnel. Holder has said that school personnel cuts will be made by not filling certain vacancies for the 1980-81 school year.

A public hearing on the three plans has been set for 8 p.m. Thursday in the high school cafeteria.

Crews Evacuate Rumbling Volcano

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — Rescue crews searching for survivors of the eruption of Mount St. Helens were pulled from the area around the volcano after scientists recorded new harmonic tremors.

The ground movement measured Tuesday was "very low compared to what we had Sunday morning" when the volcano spit ash over much of western Washington, said Tim Hait of the U.S. Geological Survey. He said such rhythmic tremors were sometimes related to eruptions, but added, "harmonic tremors have gotten to be a danger word, and that's bad."

The tremors prompted officials to pull twelve search helicopters and a ground crew from the areas around the mountain. Authorities planned to resume searches today.

Meanwhile, scientists said it was impossible to predict how long the volcano, which lay dormant for 120 years before rumbling into life March 27, might remain active.

Twenty-one bodies have been removed and 68 persons are listed as missing in the volcano's May 18 blast, which flattened thousands of acres of timberland, blanketed a half-dozen states with ash and sent mud slides flowing into nearby rivers.

Most of the ash fell within 10 to 15 miles of the peak, scientists said.

Hait said Mount St. Helens still is potentially dangerous. He said the volcano's eruptions have been characterized by a large quantity of gas within the magma, or molten rock.

A major difficulty in predicting future activity "is that we don't know how much gas is still down there," he said.

Carter Wins Primaries

President Carter defeated Sen. Edward M. Kennedy Tuesday night in the Kentucky, Arkansas and Nevada presidential primary elections, closing in on a Democratic nominating majority in the last skirmishes before the showdown finale a week hence.

Carter moved to within 86 votes of the delegate majority he needs for renomination, and he is certain to gain more than that when Democrats in eight states hold their primaries next Tuesday.

Kennedy said that next week's primaries can be decisive, adding that the Democratic convention couldn't ignore "a powerful and strong showing" in the final set of primary contests, with 696 delegates at stake.

The Massachusetts senator was shut out on Tuesday. Carter completed his sweep with victory in an Idaho preference vote that did not deliver any delegates.

"It looks like four out of four," said White House press secretary Jody Powell. He said Carter now considers himself "within a handful of delegates — four or five — of the required number for nomination."

Ronald Reagan, the certain Republican nominee, swept GOP primaries in Kentucky, Nevada and Idaho. That gained him more than enough delegates to command the majority that will ratify his nomination, uncontested now that George Bush has dropped from competition.

Former President Gerald Ford congratulated Reagan on clinching the nomination and endorsed the former California governor, saying, "I have always supported the Republican nominee." Four years ago, Ford defeated Reagan to win the GOP nomination.

Ford also said that he thinks the independent candidacy of Rep. John B. Anderson 1980 election into the House of Representatives, which must make the choice if no candidate gains an electoral vote majority.

With all but one Kentucky precincts counted, the Democratic returns showed:

Carter 160,288 or 67 percent, for 38 delegates.

Kennedy 54,876 or 23 percent, 12 delegates.

Eighty percent were uncommitted and the rest were scattered.

In Arkansas, with 77 percent of the precincts counted, the returns read:

Carter 183,105 or 60 percent, for 23 delegates.

Kennedy 52,350 or 17 percent, for 5 delegates.

Eighteen percent of the vote — and 5 delegates — was uncommitted; a minor candidate was getting the rest.

In Nevada, with 65 percent of the precincts counted:

Carter 15,221 for 37 percent and 5 delegates.

Kennedy 11,299 for 28 percent and 3 delegates.

Uncommitted 14,562 for 33 percent and 4 delegates.

While Carter was gaining a majority of Democratic nominating votes in the three primary states, the delegate stakes weren't big enough to settle his issue with Kennedy.

The president won or led for 64 delegates in the Tuesday primaries. That would leave him only 86 short of the majority he needs for renomination.

Mexican Produce

Cleared by Brown

MEXICO CITY (AP) - Texans can buy Mexican produce with "absolute confidence" that is safe to eat, says State Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown.

Brown called Austin, Texas, on Tuesday after conferring with Mario Antonio Martinez, undersecretary of agriculture for fruits and vegetables, and Carlos Gamma, spokesman for more than 300 horticulture unions.

Brown said he talked with the Mexican officials following "cancer scares" in published reports about pesticides used to treat Mexican fruits and vegetables.

He said 458 million pounds of Mexican produce had been imported since September, including watermelons, cantaloupes and limes. To illustrate that was not a large import figure, Brown said the Rio Grande Valley produces more than 458 million pounds of onions each year.

Watergate Tapes

Open to Public

WASHINGTON (AP) - Now the public can hear, dirty words and all, the tape recorded conversation about Watergate that caused Richard Nixon to resign as president and sent his close associates to jail.

Starting today, 31 of the 950 tapes secretly made by Nixon are available to the public at the National Archives. But only about 100 listeners a day can be accommodated at 24 listening posts.

What they will hear are the tapes heard by the jury that convicted H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell and Robert C. Mardian in 1975 of conspiring to obstruct justice and the jury that acquitted former Texas Gov. John B. Connally of accepting a bribe from milk producers.

Ultimately, the government hopes to make available here and in archives facilities in Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Denver, Fort Worth, Texas, Kansas City, Mo., Los Angeles, Bayonne, N.J., Philadelphia, San Bruno, Calif. and Seattle most of the tapes in its possession. They cover 6,000 hours of talk.

Tower Endorses

Ronald Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, joined the move to Republican campaign unity Tuesday by endorsing former California Gov. Ronald Reagan for president.

"Governor Reagan is an excellent candidate. He has caught the imagination of the American people and he will be an outstanding president," Tower said in a statement.

The senator earlier said he planned to stay neutral until the party's July convention in Detroit because he is the chairman of the Republican Platform Committee.

George Bush's decision Monday not to pursue the nomination, leaving the field clear for Reagan, prompted the change in plans.

Tower congratulated Bush, a former Texas congressman and U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, for running a fine race.

Carter To Fight

Increased Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration will fight the compromise balanced budget in Congress because it increases defense spending at the expense of domestic programs.

The president told community leaders from 20 states Tuesday that the 1981 budget approved by a House-Senate conference committee would "severely restrain some programs that have been carefully designed" to promote jobs, help cities and provide job training.

"We cannot afford to slice those too deeply and...add money for defense that is more than we actually need," he said.

The budget compromise already faces stiff opposition in the House, there it due on the floor Thursday. Five liberal-to-moderate House members on the conference committee opposed the spending plan.

House and Senate negotiators agreed last week on a $613.3 billion budget for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1. It would be the first balanced budget in 12 years.

Storm

rough weather in Hereford Monday morning. A freak windstorm struck the city about 8:30 Monday morning with sustained winds of 50-60 miles per hour, and some gusts of up to 70 miles per hour.

Plate glass windows were damaged at businesses along East Highway 60, a garage here was heavily damaged in the blast of wind, and a metal storage building in the vicinity of the Santa Fe Railroad tracks was blown onto the railway.

Reports of several trailers being blown over were also received, along with word of at least one tree uprooted. The rapid-moving storm that unleashed the high winds here soared away to the east and sunshine broke through to have already been committed to improvements for the San Jose area.

Commissioner Bruce Coleman, who is a member of the central taxing board for the county gave a report on the possibility of a central taxing office which would consolidate the tax collecting efforts of the county, hospital district, schools and the High Plains Underground Water District in one office.

"The bodies involved want to go into a central appraisal and collecting program Jan. 1 of 1981, although it wouldn't be mandatory until 1982. Those involved think they are ready for it," Coleman stated.

According to Coleman, representatives on the central board are reaffirming the desires of various agencies to be affected by centralization.

Coleman pointed out that one idea being considered is that various agencies would provide funding for a central office on the basis of the amount of money the central office collected for each agency.

"Under this system, the county's cost would come down while the school and hospital district would see slightly higher costs. The county has been paying more per dollar collected than most other bodies in the past. A central collection office could represent considerable savings and would add to savings by avoiding duplication and maybe cutting the need for additional personnel in some cases," Coleman stated.

"All told, a central tax office would be a much more efficient operation with all work for all bodies done in one location," he added.

Commissioners encouraged Coleman to work toward a program under which funding for the central office would come according to the amount of money collected for the various agencies.

Commissioners had planned to open bids on renovations to the county jail, but decided to delay opening of bids until the June 9 commission meeting in order to ensure that all bids on the project would be submitted in a sealed form.

That action came when a bidder at Tuesday morning's session protested the fact that a bid for jail renovation of Hereford was already before commissioners in open form.

The local firm was recently asked by commissioners to work up a series of specifications on what work would need to be done to renovate the jail and the approximate cost to the county.

Those recommendations were used as guidelines for the jail renovation project and when bids were sought on the project the local firm retained its original estimates as a bid on the job.

After the protest on the issue commissioners voted to delay opening of bids until the next meeting in order to satisfy bidders and give all interested parties an opportunity to submit figures which will remain confidential until bid opening time.

In other bid-opening action, commissioners accepted a bid on seal coating and patching materials for county roads, but rejected all bids on a truck for Precinct 4.

Jake Diel Dirt & Paving submitted a bid of 54.5 cents

the opening session by the ayatollah's son Ahmad. "Offer guidance to anyone who is inclined toward East or West, but if he refuses it, isolate him."

"If inclinations contrary to Islam and the nation do exist in ministries or other national bodies, first offer guidance, but where there are violations, you should introduce motions of censure, because the presence of plotting elements at the head of national affairs or in sensitive positions will bring ruin to the country."

Bani-Sadr, in his address, urged an end to ethnic rebellions in Iran, a foreign policy liberated from foreign influences, free parliamentary debate to set an example of non-violence for the nation, and more attention to domestic economic problems.

"Economically our situation is very bad," Bani-Sadr said. "The budget of our country is based on nothing but those financial reserves in foreign banks. For a country which wants to bring weather conditions more in line with what had been forecast by midmorning Monday.

Forecasts following Tuesday's round of weather activity call for showers and thunderstorms to continue. The possibility of some locally heavy storms containing hail and damaging winds in the eastern section of the Panhandle, the South Plains and the western half of North Texas was listed.

Widely scattered thundershowers are also expected across the remainder of the state.

Today's high was expected to reach the low 80's in the Panhandle.

per square yard for seal coat at various locations over the county with bids of $25-per ton for cold mix materials picked up at the Canyon plant and $23 per ton for hot mix material picked up at the plant.

A total of four bids were submitted on a new truck for Precinct 4, with the lowest bid in the group $12,929, including a $3,400 trade-in allowance for the county's old truck.

All bids came from Hereford firms, but commissioners opted to reject the bids.

County fathers gave their approval to a request by the VFW to use the parking lot area south of the Bull Barns for setting up a carnival here in the near future.

Commissioners stipulated that the VFW will be responsible for the area, including cleanup.

Proceeds from the carnival will benefit local functions of the VFW.

A recommendation from the Juvenile Board to include a new auto for the County Juvenile Officer in the budget was examined by commissioners.

Members of the county governing group discussed responsibilities for funding and examined the budget for the juvenile office, but took no action relating to the car purchase.

Commissioner James Voyles was requested to review the bill authorizing the juvenile office here to reaffirm the county's responsibilities relative to funding.

In a session which resumed following the lunch hour, commissioners took up consideration of the budget for 1980-81.

Alex Schroeter, county auditor, informed commissioners that an estimate will be required concerning revenue sharing funding requirements.

Schroeter was advised to use last year's revenue sharing budget of $191,837 as a guideline and to set up estimates on the basis of percentages of last year's fund totals.

All commissioners were present for yesterday's meeting.

Iran reportedly has $15 billion in foreign reserves but more than half of this is frozen in American banks. Some of the remaining amount is frozen in Europe, part of the U.S.-allied effort to gain the release of the hostages.

Assistant administrator of petroleum operations in Washington, told a U.S. House subcommittee Tuesday more than 220 jobbers and retailers declared a gas surplus in 1979 despite severe shortages in areas such as Houston and Dallas.

"It is illegal for a jobber to sell gasoline on the spot market," Ms. Dewton noted, "unless it is a genuine surplus product that has already been offered to his customers."

Asked if it was not "ludicrous" to talk about surpluses when cars are lined up for gas, Tucker told reporters, "That's kind of what we think."

He said 11 firms are being audited and one has been issued a "Notice of Probable Violation" for $513,000, which was the amount of money it allegedly made off out-of-state sales of seven million gallons.

Chairman Bob Eckhardt of the Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations identified the firm as H & A Petroleum Services, Inc., of Tomball.

Tucker said if H & A's profit was typical, those who withheld gas to sell it on the spot market made additional profits of $10 million to $12 million. Tucker refused to identify any other companies.

He said the gas was stored in three terminals at Houston and eventually reached markets in the Midwest and the East for "prices considerably higher" than those in Texas.

Asked if withholding the gas was one reason for the Texas shortage, Tucker said, "I think it certainly was, and I'm sure it was in the Houston area and probably the Dallas area where lines were as long as any place in the country."

In addition to reviewing those who declared a surplus, Ms. Dewton said the DOE has sent notices to 100 Southwest companies it considered "most likely" to have violated its gasoline regulations during the 1979 shortage.

Five independent station operators told of their futile efforts to get DOE to raise gas allocations while new stations nearby — such as convenience stores that stay open 24 hours — would begin business with much higher allocations.

Ligon said he did not know of a single instance in which a dealer's application to the DOE for a higher allocation had been approved. He blamed DOE guidelines, and Ms. Dewton acknowledged, "The operator of an existing station seeking an increased allocation faces a more difficult task than the applicant for a new station seeking an initial supply."

"We intend to correct this inequity," she said.

Small Talk
By SUE COLEMAN

Occasionally you hear about a high school graduate who has done the unusual by completing 12 years of school without being absent or tardy. But how about 13 years? That is the record for perfect attendance by Scott Fangman of Friona, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Schulte of 119 Ranger. Of course that includes a year of kindergarten before entering the first grade--it didn't take him 13 years to finish 12 grades.

He certainly earned the congratulations he received on that record, and his mother probably deserves a measure of the credit, too, since most boys need an occasional push if they keep up perfect attendance at school in the years before they get interested in trying to make a record of it.

Our late spring not only set back the blooming season for flowers in our yards but for the wildflowers too. However, the season is finally catching up with itself, and the roadsides up along the Canadian River are breaking out in their spring show.

On a ride up past Boys Ranch Sunday, then back down and across to Amarillo on the road just south of the river, we saw many places where the ground was covered with prairie roses, tiny white daisies, lavender wild verbena and several kinds of yellow flowers that carpeted the highway shoulders and sometimes stretched up across the pastures.

Yucca, which should be in full bloom now, is just putting up bloom stalks and may not have its waxy white flowers open for another week or two. The tall cactus that have such striking fuschia blossoms are also not blooming now. The rains have hit just right to have all the pastures green now, the mesquite leaves are young and not as dark a green as they will be later and sagebrush has its spring grey-green foliage.

Fields are other shades of green, with wheat's deep color at the just-heading stage, corn and milo pushing jade blades through the ground.

The stage is all set for a wildflower tour that won't cost too much time and gasoline.

Jeanie Caison says her three-year-old granddaughter, Cassidy, had only one word, "Gross!" for her experience in having her ears pierced recently. The tool used in the process somehow got stuck while the little girl's ear was being worked on.

She was quite brave about it, Jeanie says, but consented to have the other ear pierced only if her grandmother would hold her hand.

Ann Landers
Pigish Brother

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The problem is my 19-year-old brother. In one evening "Carl" can eat a pound of luncheon meat, a box of cereal, three quarts of milk, a loaf of bread, a gallon of ice cream and a whole 9-by-12 cake. No box of cookies or bag of candy or soft drink is safe when Carl is around. He eats everything in sight. It would never occur to him to leave something for someone else.

Carl has never had a job in his life and doesn't want to work. The family goes to bed about 10 o'clock. The hog stays up till 4 a.m. watching TV or listening to the radio. This gives him six hours to eat anything he can lay his hands on. He isn't fat because he makes himself throw up when he is through stuffing himself. Through your column he knows what he is doing to his health but couldn't care less.

My mom and dad yell their guts out about his pigishness and refusal to look for work, but it goes in one ear and out the other. I am 15 and embarrassed when people ask about what Carl is doing now that he has graduated. The answer, of course, is, "He's eating." What do you suggest, Ann?--Going Ma-hoola

DEAR MAHOO: Your brother is seriously disturbed and needs psychiatric care. Your family doctor should be consulted at once. Some emotionally ill people who refuse help change their minds when they are told the alternative is a state mental hospital.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently someone asked for a good response to nosy and insensitive people who ask, "How much did you pay for that?"

I learned quite a while ago how to deal with the bores. With a perfectly straight face, I say, "Nothing--I stole it."

The same response can be used when people insist on paying for something when you prefer to make a gift of it. It really works.--MD. In The Bronx

DEAR M.D.: Thanks for the assist. An outrageous reply can be very effective when people ask nun-uv-yer-bizniz type questions. I recommend it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Thank you for printing that letter from the man in Anchorage who was fleeced by a woman he began corresponding with through a so-called scientific mate-making service. Here's my story:

I am a divorced woman who worked in a business establishment where all the men were married. After three years of serious looking--and meeting not one eligible male--I joined a "dating service."

I received three "referrals." Two of the men who were described as "very desirable" had no phone number, so I was never able to contact them. The third could not remember whether he had joined the service or not. Even if he had, his age, lifestyle and interests were very different from mine. I didn't care to meet him, and told him so on the phone.

I am now minus $175 and ashamed of myself. Please don't suggest that I report these frauds, because I am embarrassed to admit my stupidity. Just keep telling your readers that the only people who benefit from the so-called professional match-making set-ups are the ones who own the business.--Single In Syracuse

DEAR SINGLE: You can count on it. Thanks for the non-testimonial.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious--lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Lost propaganda opportunity

...EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (NEA) - Why are there more than 60,000 Cuban refugees here and at military bases in Arkansas, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin while none have sought asylum in Nicaragua, Jamaica or Trinidad and Tobago?

If President Carter had a firm grasp on foreign policy, he might have scored a major propaganda coup by offering to share the recent flood of emigres with the nations of Central and South America, Africa and the Caribbean that view Cuba as a model of social, economic and political enlightenment.

Imagine, for example, State Department officials summoning the ambassadors of the countries that have allowed Cuba to export its revolution to their shores and telling them: "We're willing to bear most of the burden of relocating these people, but we're encouraging others to share in the undertaking for humanitarian reasons."

"You were specially selected to participate in this noble venture because your leaders are particularly intrigued with 'people's democracy' in Cuba. Perhaps these refugees will provide a valuable new perspective on the Cuban experiment."

There probably wouldn't be many acceptances, but the strategy nevertheless would produce the desired result — a considerable amount of diplomatic squirming among Cuban President Fidel Castro's friends in the Third World.

If Carter was uneasy about that direct approach, another alternative was available: Mount a major propaganda effort, specifically aimed at those Third World nations, emphasizing that tens of thousands of Cubans are fleeing from the supposed glories of Castro's revolution.

Carter, of course, has taken no such imaginative steps. He remains a well-intentioned yet hapless, inept and indecisive president who is content to be manipulated by a petty despot anxious to rid his country of political dissidents and prop up a deteriorating economy.

Castro, not Carter, has been in almost total control of all aspects of the exodus ever since it began a month ago. It is he who, until recently, determined who would leave Cuba, the number of refugees to be released daily and the passenger manifest of each boat making the journey between Cuba's Mariel Bay and Key West, Fla.

Carter not only failed to seize the initiative, he also bungled the opportunity to state with precision and clarity the United States' official position on the mass migration.

In a compassionate but careless and ill-conceived remark the president encouraged formation of a haphazard, dangerous and disorganized exodus by promising in early May to receive all refugees with "an open heart and open arms."

In an apparent policy reversal less than two weeks later the president called for a "safe and orderly" migration under the control of the federal government instead of Castro Miami's Cuban community and Key West's fishing-boat captains.

The price being paid for Carter's mismanagement is all too apparent at the overcrowded refugee-processing center here. Although more than 40 percent of the emigres have friends or relatives in this country with whom they could be promptly placed, thousands have been detained for unnecessarily long periods.

Even after one young woman was raped twice in one night government bureaucrats made no effort to expedite the paperwork necessary to release her from a facility where men outnumbered women by a ratio of at least 5-to-1.

Teen-agers are held for interminable periods while FBI and CIA clerks complete elaborate security checks to insure that Castro isn't sneaking 13-year-old spies into Miami.

Young men who were unskilled laborers in Cuba face an even more dismal future in this country because they neither speak English nor have the learning skills necessary to master a new language.

Orphaned children and infirm elderly people, wheelchair cases and epileptics have been forced to live under substandard conditions for weeks while overworked federal employees struggle to implement Carter's conflicting policies.

The median income of U.S. households grew from around $10,000 in 1970 to some $16,000 in 1977. After inflation and taxes, actual purchasing power remained about the same.

Cited For Recruiting Violations

West Texas State Put On Probation

CANYON, Texas (AP) — The president of West Texas State University accepted the 2-year probation slapped on his school Tuesday by the Missouri Valley Conference and said changes have been made to correct the irregularities.

"Even though some of the violations might be considered minor and technicalities, my characterization is they're all serious, and where we've not done something right, we need to see that we don't do it again," said Max Sherman.

WTSU teams will be prohibited from participating in bowl games or NCAA post-season championship play in five sports during the probation period. The sports are basketball, football, golf, tennis and track.

The school was ordered to forfeit all victories in the 1979-80 school year in which 25 athletes in five sports participated. The list of games involved is still being tabulated, league commissioner Dave Price said.

"The matter of determining eligibility for athletes has been taken out of the hands of the athletic department and given to the registrar, where it should have been all along," Sherman said.

"In not only basketball, but all sports, the coaches have been admonished to know what the rules are, to ward," the WTSU president added.

"It's something you wished hadn't happened, but we can benefit from it by getting our own situation in better shape," Sherman said.

The Buffs will be unable to take part in the league's TV basketball games or share in the receipts the conference gains from them.

The MVC said the violations included practice and playing by ineligible students, illegal financial aid, insufficient hours of passing classwork, pre-paid airplane tickets for athletes from their homes, excess number of visits to a recruit, and the purchase of a hamburger and soft drink for a prospective athlete when a recruiter visited him. The conference said it would turn its findings over to the NCAA for whatever action it wishes to take.

Four basketball players were given pre-paid airline tickets through a travel agency from their homes to Amarillo, near Canyon where WTSU is located, the MVC said. The student athletes, later paid for the tickets.

"I don't know all the specifics on the recruiting allegations. I know there were different interpretations on what happened, but there was enough of a question about the way it was handled," Sherman said.

"You can't treat an athlete different than you can another student. In other words, would you do the same thing for a nursing student, and that's one of the things you get into."

The league also said "a high degree of probability" existed that member of the basketball staff transported a prospective student athlete to enroll at Amarillo Junior College for the 1979 fall semester.

Many of the athletes ruled ineligible were so declared not because of poor grades but because they practiced or played before a final determination on their eligibility had been made, Sherman said.

"The NCAA requires a high school athlete to have a 2.0 average before he can compete, but the problem is that a lot of schools don't convert to a 2.0. When that happens, we're required to turn it over to the NCAA for their determination as to eligibility."

In the meantime the athletes are not allowed to work out more than a certain number of days.

"It's not so much the scholarship kids that are involved as it is the walk-ons. All of a sudden, they're here and you have problems," Sherman said.

WTSU was cited also for several junior college transfers who fell short of eligibility standards because of not having received degrees or passing enough hours.

School Gyms Open During Summer

Two Hereford school gyms will be open for summer use and will have at least one coach on hand to provide adult supervision, it was announced today by Coach Larry Sowers.

At designated times, the La Plata Junior High gym will be open for girls, and the high school gym will be open for boys. The gyms will start opening Monday.

La Plata gym will be open from 5 to 9 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Girls will be required to sign in and sign out, said Sowers. Younger girls are encouraged to use the gym from 5 to 6:30 p.m. on those days.

The high school gym will be open for boys from 6 to 10 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. Younger boys are encouraged to attend from 6 to 7:30, so as to get more time on the floor together. Older boys are urged to go between 7:30 and 10 p.m.

La Plata Golfers Win District

The La Plata Junior High A Division golf team compiled all the honors readily available in the district golf thoroughfare after it drove in a team total of 325 during the Plainview Tournament, to complete a commanding 101 stroke advantage over the nearest district competitor.

The Maverick squad led the district field with a total of 924 for the season campaign while Canyon edged Berger out of the second place seat 1065-1066. La Plata's B team slipped into the fourth place niche after netting a 1120 for the year and the Stanton A and B teams rivaled for fifth and sixth finishes with respective scores of 1157 and 1161.

And considering the eventual outcome of the district showdown, it didn't come as a great surprise when all the district medalists came from the Maverick team.

Kerry Beard finished out play at the tourney with a score of 83 to retain his control of the low scoring bracket, (a feat which netted him the low medalist in district action). Gary Long and Steve Fairweather followed Beard's successful showing after both completed their season standings with medalist totals of 241.

Other members of the winning Maverick club included Greg Goebel who chipped in a one round score of 84 and a 254 district total, and Steve Barrett's district sum of 260 after driving in an 88 during the Plainview tourney.

Stacey Evans and Alan Fairweather capped the leading honors for the La Plata B team as Evans shot a 94 for the tournament to end district play at a 281 mark. Fairweather had a 95-282 total while Steve Welch and Roger Hodges rounded out play with respective scores of 286 and 305.

In Stanton's team competition, Eric Waterscheid led the field in district play with a combined total of 283 after bringing in a tournament score of 93. Dogie clubber Daniel King grasped the rights as second lowest scorer for the squad with a 90-287 finish. Chad Stephan capped the third place berth as he added up a 91 for tourney play and completed season play with a total of 293. And Matt Albracht and James Layman brought up the rest of the Stanton field with district scores of 294 and 319.

Robert Martinez cinched the top shooting spot on the Stanton B team after he fired a 94 in Friday's competition to land a 270 for the year. Scott Debor shot a 91-277 as the second place finisher for the squad, and Michael Drake and Larry Cornwell completed the dogie pack with respective totals of 100-322 and 107-320.

Montreal. Gary Carter's home run helped the Expos to a 2-0 lead but the Cubs tied it in the third when Lenny Randle doubled and Ivan DeJesus homered.

Mets 9, Cardinals 5
Unbeaten rookie Mark Bombardier allowed six hits in 7 1/3 innings for his third victory and contributed a two-run double to a 14-hit New York attack as the Mets handed the Cardinals their 14th loss in 16 games. Jerry Morales and Steve Henderson also drove in two runs apiece for the Mets, who were helped by two St. Louis errors and a misplayed fly ball which fell for a triple.

Braves 6, Giants 3
Gary Matthews drove in two runs with a double and triple and Dale Murphy added a two-run double for Atlanta. The Braves jumped on Bob Knepper for three runs in the third inning. Jerry Royster led off with an infield hit, Larvell Blanks walked, Matthews drilled a run-scoring double and Murphy followed with his two-run double.

Sutton Has Bad Day; Reds Rout Dogers 6-1

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

Don Sutton of the Los Angeles Dodgers threw six good pitches in the third inning Tuesday night and struck out the first two Cincinnati batters.

Then he threw eight bad ones, walking Dave Collins and Dave Concepcion.

Then he threw three worse ones, resulting in consecutive home runs by Ken Griffey, George Foster and Dan Driessen.

Finally, Sutton recovered his touch and delivered three more good pitches, striking out of Mike LaCoss.

But the damage — five runs worth — had been done and the Reds went on to defeat the Dodgers 6-1 behind the seven-hit pitching of Mike LaCoss.

"I just threw three bad pitches to three guys who can knock the ball out of Yellowstone Park," Sutton said with a shrug.

In other National League games, the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 in 13 innings, the Houston Astros nipped the San Diego Padres 4-3, the Chicago Cubs downed the Montreal Expos 4-2, the New York Mets trimmed the St. Louis Cardinals 9-5 and the Atlanta Braves defeated the San Francisco Giants 6-3.

By losing, the Dodgers saw their lead in the NL West sliced to two games over the Astros and Reds, who are in a virtual tie for second place.

Pirates 3, Phillies 2
Pinch hitter Mike Easler singled home the winning run in the 13th inning as the Pirates snapped a three-game losing streak and reclaimed first place in the NL East by one game over the Phillies. Bill Madlock opened the 13th with a single off reliever Dickie Noles' glove and was sacrificed to second. After Phil Garner struck out, the Phillies elected to walk pinch hitter Ed Ott but Easler spoiled the strategy with a single that snapped Philadelphia's five-game winning streak. Pittsburgh's Jim Bibby took a five-hit shutout and a 2-0 lead into the bottom of the ninth but Bake McBride drew a one-out walk and Mike Schmidt blasted a two-out, two-run homer, his 13th of the season, tops in the majors.

Astros 4, Padres 3
A two-run triple by Jeff Leonard in the fourth inning and a run-scoring single by Jose Cruz in the eighth rallied Houston. Cruz' two-out single scored Craig Reynolds from second to break a 3-3 tie. Reynolds had walked and stolen his first base of the season to move into scoring position. A single by Cruz and Enos Cabell's triple tied the score 3-3 in the sixth. Unbeaten reliever Frank LaCorte won his third game by pitching two shutout innings, lowering his earned run average to 0.27.

Cubs 4, Expos 2
Ken Henderson, making his first start since coming off the disabled list last week, followed Jerry Martin's double with a tie-breaking single in the sixth inning, leading Chicago over

End Losing Streak With Win Over Texas

California Angels Get Back On Right Track

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The California Angels seem to be doing everything left-handed at home this season, but Don Aase finally put things right for them Tuesday night.

After 10 straight losses at Anaheim Stadium, the defending American League

West champions finally won a game at home, thanks to a glittering performance by their sturdy right-hander.

Aase hurled a four-hitter, registering the first complete game by a California pitcher since May 6, as the Angels defeated the Texas Rangers 2-0.

Ironically, it was Aase who pitched the last complete game for California, a 3-2 loss to Toronto that was the first defeat in the 10-game streak at Anaheim Stadium.

Elsewhere in the AL, Kansas City beat Oakland 4-2; Chicago blanked Minnesota 2-0; Boston edged Toronto 5-4; New York outscored Toronto 9-6;

Cleveland beat Baltimore 7-6 and Milwaukee turned back Seattle 4-1.

Aase, 4-4, walked four and struck out four and held Texas hitless until Bump Wills doubled down the left field line with two out in the sixth.

Ferguson Jenkins, 3-4, pitched the first five innings for Texas before his right shoulder stiffened and he was replaced by Bob Babcock.

Royals 4, A's 2

Amos Otis' two-out double in the eighth scored George Brett from first base with the tie-breaking run, sparking Kansas City over Oakland. Brett led off the eighth with his third hit of the game, a single to right off Brian Kingman, before Otis' game-winning hit to left.

Dennis Leonard allowed nine hits and struck out seven in pitching his second complete game of the season.

White Sox 2, Twins 0

Wayne Nordhagen's two-run homer in the seventh broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Chicago's Britt Burns and Minnesota's Darrell Jackson and powered the White Sox past the Twins.

Nordhagen's blast came with one out after Lamar Johnson walked and moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Jim Morrison. Burns scattered 10 hits in 82.3 innings before needing relief help from Mike Proby.

Bjorn Borg Defeats Fillo

PARIS (AP)—Top-seeded Bjorn Borg defeated Alvaro Fillo of Chile 6-3, 6-1, 6-4 and fourth-seeded Guillermo Vilas of Argentina crushed Jose Luis Damiani of Uruguay 6-2, 6-2, 6-0 in the first round of the $650,000 French Open tennis championships.

Red Sox 5, Blue Jays 4

Carl Yastrzemski, a late-inning replacement for ailing Jim Rice, hit a two-run homer in the ninth to lead Boston past Toronto.

Yastrzemski, who replaced Rice in left field at the start of the seventh when the Boston outfielder complained of dizziness, lined reliever Tom Buskey's first pitch into the Fenway Park bleachers beyond the Toronto bullpen in right field for his sixth homer.

Yastrzemski scored behind Carlton Fisk, who had walked on a 3-2 pitch hotly disputed by Buskey.

Earlier, Lloyd Moseby's two-run homer capped a three-run fifth to give the Blue Jays a 4-2 lead at the time. Rick Burleson's RBI single in the bottom of the fifth cut Toronto's lead to 4-3.

Yankees 9, Tigers 6

Jim Spencer drove in three runs and Reggie Jackson two in an eight-run second inning that boosted New York over Detroit.

Led by Spencer's two-run single and RBI double, the Yankees got nine hits in their big second inning off Dan Petry and reliever John Hiller.

Mike Griffin pitched 51.3 innings for New York before he was shelled out in a fourth, five-run Detroit sixth highlighted by Rick Peters' grand slam.

Indians 7, Orioles 6

Tom Verzyer's RBI single with two out capped a two-run rally in the ninth inning, leading Cleveland over Baltimore.

Toby Harrah had tied the score for Cleveland with a one-out homer off Dave Ford and Joe Charboneau followed with a double. Tim Stoddard relieved Ford, and after Cliff Johnson grounded to the mound, Verzyer lined his game-winning hit. The Orioles had taken a 6 lead in the sixth on Ric Dauer's RBI single.

Brewers 4, Mariners 1
Rickey "Buster" Keeto making his first major league appearance, and Bob McClure teamed up to pitch three-hitter while Six Lezcano smashed a two-run double in a three-run first inning to lead Milwaukee over Seattle.

Keeton, 23, called up from Vancouver Sunday, gave up two hits in the first inning and later retired 16 of 1 batters over one stretch. Gangly sinkerball specialist Keeton allowed three hits before McClure relieve after seven innings.

NOTICE PUBLIC MEETING

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE HERFORD INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT WILL HOLD A PUBLIC MEETING AT THE HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM ON THURSDAY MAY 29th, AT 8 P.M. THE PURPOSE OF THIS MEETING IS TO SECURE INPUT FROM CITIZENS IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF A LONG RANGE PLAN TO DEAL WITH PROBLEMS FACING THE DISTRICT.

THE PROBLEMS FACING THE DISTRICT

- 1. DECLINE IN STUDENT ENROLLMENT
This is resulting in loss of state revenue. This year's losses are approximately $91,000. With an additional $50,000 projected to be lost for next year. No reversal of this trend is anticipated.
- 2. SHIFT IN POPULATION
Changes in residential patterns have resulted in over crowding at West Central and Shirley Elementaries at the same time student population at Tierra Blanca and Aikman have decreased.
- 3. INFLATION
Costs of education are rapidly increasing. The cost of utilities are expected to increase over $50,000 during the next school year. Salary increases are in order for the district's employees.

POSSIBLE SOLUTIONS

- 1. SHIFTING ATTENDANCE ZONES
Attendance zones could be changed to create two elementary schools with 2 sections of each grade and four schools with 3 sections of each grade. This only solves the problem as it exists today and would have to be done annually.
- 2. RESTRUCTURING GRADE LEVELS (PAIRING)
This plan calls for grades K-3 to be offered on three campuses and grades 4-6 to be offered on three others.
- 3. CLOSING A SCHOOL
- 4. RAISE IN TAXES
Some raise in taxes will be necessary through the years simply to keep up with rising costs. If no changes are made all of the increased expenses will have to be paid for by local taxpayers.

WATCH CABLEVISION CHANNEL 6, WEDNESDAY AT 6:30 P.M. or 10:30 P.M.

To hear these issues discussed by board members and media personnel

The Board of Education is committed to a quality education for its students. Its decisions are based on this commitment.

We urge you to come to this meeting with real solutions to the problems as well as criticism of the above plans. This is a community problem and needs to be solved by the community. Your input is earnestly solicited.

Warm-Hearted Neighbors Help Accident Victims

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

The generosity and warm-heartedness of true neighbors was in evidence at the Summerfield community Monday as men and women from the Hereford, Westway and Summerfield areas gathered to work the farmland of Kenny Fangman of 619 Star, Hereford.

Fangman, 23, and his fiancée, Susie Eads, 17, of Vega, were injured in a motorcycle accident 16 miles west of Llano Friday afternoon.

According to word received by The Brand, the two were riding on Fangman's motorcycle en route to a family reunion at Schulenberg and rounded a curve prior to striking a large rock lying in the roadway.

The impact flipped the cycle. Fangman suffered knee injuries and Miss Eads suffered numerous internal injuries and broken ribs.

Fangman is expected to undergo skin grafts here in the near future and is recuperating at this time, while Miss Eads was listed in critical condition at Breckenridge Hospital, Austin, Tuesday afternoon.

She is in room 530-B of the Austin hospital.

Fangman reported that Miss Eads is now out of the intensive care unit of the hospital, and is in good spirits.

Friends and neighbors of the local couple sprang into action Monday after receiving word of the mishap.

According to Ken Artho of the Westway community, who helped to head up the effort, neighbors converged on Fangman's farmland at the Summerfield community with seven tractors and completed Fangman's spring planting and fallow ground plowing.

Among those participating in the neighbor assistance effort were Francis Backus, Jim Marnell, Richard Kuper, Bernie Huseman and Charlie Stengel.

Wives of the men served lunch at the farm, and according to Artho, "By four o'clock, Kenny was about the only farmer around here who was caught up."

According to Fangman, plans are in the works to fly Miss Eads to Amarillo for hospitalization there when her condition stabilizes sufficiently.

The couple had been scheduled to be married June 7.

Wheat Tour at Bushland On Tap for Tomorrow

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

BUSHLAND—The USDA Conservation and Production laboratory here will host a tour on wheat research tomorrow beginning at 1 p.m.

Irrigated and dryland plots of winter wheat, barley, oats and Triticale will be featured in four stops.

The research tour is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, USDA Science and Education Administration, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Wheat Growers Association.

A new wheat variety released in the fall of 1979, TAM 105, will be discussed by Dr. Kenneth B. Porter at one point in the tour.

The variety is for irrigated wheat production on the High Plains and for both irrigated and dryland production on the Rolling Plains.

TAM 105 averaged 89 bushels per acre in trials at Bushland, Halfway and Etter.

Irrigation of TAM 105 will be discussed by Jack Musick, USDA irrigation engineer at Bushland.

Dr. Porter will also be diagnosing disease problems in wheat from the High Plains area.

According to Porter, area farmers who have some particular problem with their wheat are invited to bring a sample of it along for examination and identification of possible disease or other problems.

Dr. Allen Wiese of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station will discuss techniques for successfully controlling weeds in wheat and Gary Peterson of the experiment station will also speak on wheat culture.

Dr. Frank Petr, Texas Agricultural Extension Service agronomist will also discuss various aspects of successful wheat culture. Although plans call for tours of the various wheat research plots at the Bushland center, in the event of inclement weather researchers and specialists will show slides and discuss wheat research in the Conference Room of the headquarters building here.

Youth Injured in Farm Accident

A 14-year-old Hereford boy remains in serious but stable condition at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo following a farm accident near the Westway Community Friday afternoon.

Melvin Kalka, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kalka of Westway suffered serious injuries to his left arm Friday when he became entangled in a rod weeder while working at his father's farm.

According to word received on the incident, Kalka had

Scheduled

A meeting on the High Plains GPI Cooperative will be held at the Hereford State Bank Community Room Monday, June 2 at 8 p.m.

Guy Austin of Muelshoe will be the speaker, and will explain plans by the firm to lease alcohol production facilities, rather than buy them outright, as was originally planned by the cooperative.

According to a local spokesman for the group, an arrangement to lease facilities will mean that a secured note for 20 percent of the equity in the enterprise will no longer be required.

"The lease arrangement will relieve the obligation for a secured note of any kind," the local spokesman explained.

All interested persons are invited to attend Monday night's meeting.

Rising Feedgrain Use Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The world increase in use of grains for livestock feed, responsible for a large part of America's rising grain exports, probably will continue during the next year, Agriculture Department analysts say.

Although they are just beginning to consider projections of world feed and non-feed grain use for 1980-1981, the analysts say the continued growth, though at a slower rate than in past years, should be maintained despite the U.S. economic downturn.

"Quite likely it will be another slow year," said one who asked not to be named. "But it (use of grain for feed) will probably increase again slightly."

dismounted the tractor and was attempting to free a burlap sack which was caught in the revolving rod on the implement.

His arm was caught in the spinning bar on the implement and severely damaged.

The youth was transported to Deaf Smith General

Hospital here for emergency treatment, then transferred to the Amarillo hospital where he underwent surgery.

He underwent additional surgery Tuesday morning.

According to a friend of the family, the local youth is expected to be moved out of the intensive care unit today.

The Newspaper Bible

FROM THE GRAVE TO THE BANQUET TABLE!
SIX days before the Passover ceremonies began, Jesus arrived in Bethany where Lazarus was - the man He had brought back to life.
A banquet was prepared in Jesus' honor. Martha served, and Lazarus sat at the table with Him.
Then Mary took a jar of costly perfume made from essence of nard, and anointed Jesus' feet with it and wiped them with her hair. And the house was filled with fragrance.
But Judas Iscariot, one of HIS disciples - the one who would betray him - said, "That perfume was worth a fortune. It should have been sold and the money given to the poor."
Not that he cared for the poor, but he was in charge of the disciples' funds and often dipped into them for his own use!
Jesus replied, "Let her alone. She did it in preparation for My burial.
You can always help the poor, but I won't be with you very long."
When the ordinary people of Jerusalem heard of His arrival, they flocked to see Him and also to see Lazarus - the man who had come back to life again.
Then the chief priests decided to kill Lazarus too.
For it was because of him that many of the Jewish leaders had deserted and believed in Jesus as their Messiah.
John 12:11

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm 80 years old and have trouble with my bowels. I've had this trouble all my life. I thought it would be nice if I went once a week. This I do. The sixth day I take a purge of laxative pills. I started out with two pills but now I take six at a time. I have to get my bowels to move. They're like water when I do and it's five or six times a day. What can I do for this or must I have a colostomy?

DEAR READER - For most people who have spastic or irritable colon and minor irregularities, a good general bowel program works. But there are a small number of people who are unable to solve their problems with simple dietary changes, such as including bulk in the diet. These people must have medical supervision in correcting whatever their basic problem is. Obviously, you are one of them.
To give you some general information about laxatives, however, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 12-8. Laxatives, Enemas and Suppositories. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.
Now no one should be taking six laxative pills at a time. Those severe watery eliminations that you have mean that you're washing out a lot of salt and water which can upset your body chemistry and be very serious in a person in your age group.
I believe you should have a careful examination by your doctor and let him help you with your program. It's not something that's going to be solved overnight but it sounds to me like at least it can be significantly improved. It is most unlikely that it's the kind of a problem that would require surgery.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I believe I have a ganglion on my wrist. I use my wrist all day as I work in a factory. I would like to know if it is dangerous if I don't do anything about it. I'm told that if I have it operated on it could come back as long as I keep using my wrist as I do now. What causes ganglions; is there anything you can do to relieve the hurt or burn?

DEAR READER - A ganglion is a cyst. The tendons and some other structures around joints and the hands and feet are encased in a fibrous sheathlike substance. It physically resembles the plastic wrap material that you use in the kitchen. If part of this develops a little pocket (usually rounded) and fills with fluid, it's called a ganglion.
One of the old treatments for ganglions in strategic locations was to use the family Bible method. The person would lay the afflicted part on the table and the family doctor would take a big heavy Bible and swat it. This would break the little cyst and the fluid would run out and often that would be the end of the problem.
A small ganglion may be ruptured with a needle and perhaps some massage and pressure. In other instances, it's necessary to surgically open the area and remove the cyst. Yes, they can come back but usually they don't.
If you're having pain or tingling it must be because the ganglion is pressing on nearby nerves. Such a sensation should disappear if the ganglion is eliminated.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Our 8-year-old son has asthma. It is worse in the summer and fall. He doesn't seem to have it in winter. Since this is the baseball season he wants to play ball with the other kids. I have been concerned about this because I know he has had asthma attacks caused by exercising or playing too hard. Is it dangerous for him to play ball?
Will he have asthma all his life?

with medical problems to avoid being overprotective. The child with asthma is a good example. No one wants the child to have attacks, but it still isn't good for the child to grow up thinking he can't do this or he can't do that because of a medical problem. At school this often becomes a problem for the child, the parent and the teacher who supervises athletic activity.

DEAR READER - It's hard for parents of children who have had asthma all their lives.

It's hard to keep kids from playing and doing too much. Is there anything he can take that would help him lead a normal life without having those attacks?

DEAR POLLY - Recently I made some very satisfactory bath oil by combining some no-longer used perfume and cooking oil. The perfume was a gift and the large bottle of oil was bought on sale so it cost me practically nothing.
Is there anything I can do to set some very runny jelly I made? Also, no matter how I use paraffin - shaving in the bottom of the jelly glass or pouring on top - it never seals satisfactorily. - PATSI

DEAR PATSI - I have heard that glasses with "runny" jelly can be put in a very low oven (not more than 250 degrees) and left for an hour or so to correct this problem. I have never tried it myself and would certainly set the glasses on a cookie sheet in case of an accident.
Perhaps you do not use enough paraffin on your jelly glasses. If you feel they are not covered sufficiently you might top with a close-fitting circle of waxed paper or foil. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - The reader who has baby oil spilled on a velvet chair might try to remove the spots with corn starch. Gently apply the corn starch to the spots, let it remain there for reasonable length of time and then gently brush away. This has worked fine for me and is also great for removing such spots from carpets and clothing. - CLARA

DEAR POLLY - I think I have help for the lady with the streaked stainless steel freezer. We owned three ice cream stores and had a real problem with streaks on the freezers, soda fountain and mixers. We discovered that a cloth dampened with carbonated water and then followed with a good buffing with a dry cloth removed the streaks and left them shiny and bright. If there is any grease first cut it with baby oil and then clean with carbonated water. Never, never use steel wool or abrasive cleaners. - RENA

DEAR POLLY - I am faced with that age old problem of a smelly refrigerator. It was turned off for several months and I do not want to replace the unit. - KAY

DEAR KAY - Wash the interior with warm water to which you have added baking soda. Do the trays, shelves, etc., too. Put a bowl of vanilla extract on each shelf to absorb any lingering odor, or if not vanilla try vinegar.

Always keep an open box of soda in your refrigerator and when it is replaced every two months or so empty the old box down the sink drain or disposal for a freshening effect. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - A sheet of fabric softener, even a used one, is good for getting rid of musty odors. Hang them in closets on hangers. I even put one in my stationary box. - LIL

DEAR POLLY - A couple of years ago I badly scorched potatoes I was cooking in one of my good pans. I simply could not remove the burned food. My mother gave me a hint that worked so well I would like to share it with your readers. Just place such a pan upside down in the grass, leave it overnight and in the morning (thanks to the dew) the pan can be easily washed clean. - VERA

DEAR POLLY - When making yeast rolls or bread or anything with dough that has to be warm to rise I put an electric pad on a table, cover it with a towel, turn it on "medium" and then put the bowl of dough in it. This works great in a short time. - MRS. M.B.

DEAR POLLY - If you need a bed tray for a sick child use a large cardboard carton. Cut out two sides so it will fit over the child's legs and have a tray that is lightweight and costs nothing.

If a zipper is hard to open and close after a garment is washed just run a lead pencil up and down the teeth of the zipper and it will work like new. - SUSAN

No one rule applies to all cases but if the child is normal otherwise and has mild asthma, there usually are a number of sports he can do. Baseball or softball is a good example. Apparently, the asthmatic would have to vigorously exert two or three minutes before the exercise causes an attack. Softball allows the participant to do his thing and then rest before he does it again. The exercise that is most apt to cause an attack is one that must be sustained, like long distance running.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 8-6. Asthma, to give you more detailed information. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long-stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As I mentioned in The Health Letter I am sending you, about half of the children with asthma will no longer have it by the time they are adults. If an infant has both asthma and eczema in early life, he is much more likely to have asthma as an adult. Usually only 5 to 10 percent of children who have asthma will have severe asthma as an adult.

Not all asthma is on an allergic basis. Some people have intrinsic asthma. They have negative allergic skin tests and have negative blood tests that are usually positive in allergic asthma. The intrinsic form usually starts in adult life.

In the last few years Cromolyn inhaled in a powder, has been used to prevent asthma attacks. It will not abort an attack that has already started but if used regularly it can help prevent attacks, including those induced by exercise.

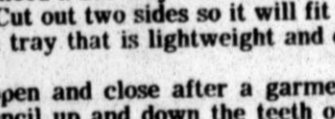

Parents of children with asthma who are worried about how much the child can do will be wise to have a mutual understanding with the teacher, the doctor and the child. It's a team effort.

SPC Honor Roll Names HHS Student On List

Donald Weemes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Weemes of 205 Greenwood, was among 306 students named to the combined dean and president's honor rolls at South Plains College for the 1980 spring semester.

The announcement came from Nathan Tubb, SPC academic dean. These students represent SPC's Levelland, Lubbock, and Plainview campuses as well as students taking classes at Reese Air Force Base through SPC's Continuing Education Division.

Dean Tubb said that 228 students were named to the dean's honor roll and 78 students to the president's honor roll, having maintained a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

To make the dean's list, a student must be enrolled in at least 12 semester hours, make no failing grades and earn a minimum 3.25 grade point average.

Jane Hoffman Is Honor Student At University

Annual Vines Dress Home Landscaping

COLLEGE STATION -- Annual vines are often overlooked as a method of dressing up a landscape, according to Dr. William Welch, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Welch says these cost-conscious plants are easily started from seed and bloom continuously. They can dress up a barren wire fence or add a rustic note to a trellis, wood fence or downspout.

Annual vines do not have the tearing habit often associated with their perennial counterparts. They will not damage brick, mortar or wood, points out Welch.

Vines can decorate bare walls, shade a patio overhang or west window, or soften lines of brick or stone fences.

Welch says vines need not always climb. Equally beautiful when displayed, vines can cascade from hanging baskets or window boxes.

An ideal vine variety recommended by Welch is thunbergia or Black-Eyed Susan. Its medium-green foliage is heart-shaped and it boasts cascades of flowers during warm months.

Thunbergias can be trained to a low trellis or fence and will climb to a maximum height of six feet. Tolerating light shade, thunbergia requires average garden soil, some heat protection and occasional watering, notes Welch.

Other easily seed-started annual vines are morning glories and moon vines.
