Dayan: It's Up to Sadat on Peace Treaty

Busy Street These Days

It won't be as easy to find choice parking spots in downtown Hereford for awhile—at least through Christmas Eve—as is evident by this morning's number of cars on Main Street. Christmas shopping was expected to get into full swing today. Merchants again emphasize, "Shop Hereford!"

By The Associated Press
Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan said Thursday there is nothing left to negotiate with Egypt and he will not be returning to Washington for further peace talks. He said it is now up to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to accept the draft treaty.

Egyptian Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil accused Israel of "obstructing the road" to peace and invited it to resume negotiations. "Agreement is still possible," Khalil told reporters after a ministerial committee meeting in Cairo.

Sadat insists on a comprehensive Mideast settlement and not a separate agreement with Israel. He is pushing for definite timetables for elections in the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip and eventual Palestinian autonomy in those areas.

The preamble of the draft agreement calls only for "linkage" of the Israel-Egypt treaty to negotiations on the Palestinian issue.

"I don't see any point or any need to return to Washington to conduct or renew negotiations," Dayan said at a briefing for Israeli correspondents, parts of which were broadcast by Israel radio. "It can be signed or not signed, approved or not approved. It's up to President Sadat now."

Khalil and Dayan was "putting pressure" on Egypt. "Negotiations have to be made by free agreement between two sides if we are really determined to get peace," he said, adding that Dayan's take it or leave it statement contradicted Israel's position that agreement should not be forced on either party.

Officials in Jerusalem say Israel is waiting for the outcome of Sadat's meeting with his top negotiators and is hoping President Carter will help persuade the Egyptians to accept the draft.

Sadat told reporters in Cairo Thursday he would "exchange reassessments" of the negotiations next week with Carter. The Egyptian leader said he consulted with Carter after the Israeli Cabinet voted Tuesday to accept a compromise draft put forward by the United States but rejected Egypt's demands for a timetable for establishing Palestinian autonomy.

"If the Egyptians will be satisfied with a letter which details what was decided at the Cabinet meeting...then it's a waste of a trip to Washington," Dayan said. "If they aren't satisfied, and they want something more complicated, then as far as I know, the government of Israel isn't willing and doesn't want to get into it."

Sadat said future Egyptian moves will be worked out by a "high committee" headed by Vice President Hosny Mubarak. The issue then will be put before the Egyptian Cabinet.

"Yesterday I had a telephone call with President Carter and we agreed that we shall exchange the reassessment of the whole situation next week," Sadat said

End to Cold War Sought by Leaders

MOSCOW (AP) - Leaders of the seven-nation Warsaw Pact on Thursday called for early completion of new SALT treaty between the United States and Soviet Union and an end to "all the vestiges of the Cold War."

The call came at the end of a meeting of the alliance's political consultative committee, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Taking part in the two-day meeting were leaders of the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland and Romania.

The joint declaration said a step of "tremendous importance" would be early conclusion of the Soviet-American talks on a new treaty to limit strategic nuclear weapons.

Another step of comparable importance, the document said, would be "transition to the conclusion of new agreements on the reduction of strategic offensive arms to which the other nuclear powers should also accede."

The globe's other nuclear powers are Britain, France and China. India also has tested an atomic explosive device, but has claimed it was not seeking to build a regular arsenal of nuclear weapons.

The Warsaw pact declaration asserted that the Soviet Union and its allies "have never sought nor do they seek military superiority."

"Their military efforts are aimed at and will always be aimed exclusively at safeguarding their defense potential," the statement said.

The declaration charged that "dangerous tendencies" in international life had been "engendered by the attempts of imperialist circles to use the problem of human rights for interference in the internal affairs of socialist and other states."

During recent years the Soviet Union and other Soviet-bloc governments have continually argued that Western concern over dissidents, emigration and other human rights issues amounts to such internal interference.

"The socialist countries reject the slander heaped on them by the ruling classes of states whose people have to endure all the hardships of mass unemployment, national and social inequality, racial discrimination, organized crime and moral degradation," the Warsaw Pact document said.

On other points, the declaration called for:

* Steps to "resolutely advance the cause of military detente in Europe..."

U.S. Protects Cultists From Death Fears

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) - Twenty-nine Jonestown cultists, terrified by the jungle nightmare they fled and by reprisals they think await them, went into hiding Thursday behind a U.S. protective shield.

The Guyanese government prohibited all Jonestown survivors from leaving the country until it completes its investigation of the mass murder-suicide.

Three U.S. military helicopters shuttled between Georgetown airport and the Jonestown suicide camp, ferrying out the bodies of 408 members of the American sect who died, almost all by taking poison, in suicidal allegiance to the cult's leader the Rev. Jim Jones.

A central question remained unanswered, however — how many sect members fled into the jungle rather than kill themselves, and where are they?

The U.S. Embassy said 31 residents of the Jonestown commune have emerged from the rain forest in northwest Guyana since last Saturday's mass suicide. Two of them are being held by the Guyanese as suspects in the bloody airfield ambush that smeared a group led by Rep. Leo J. Ryan of California, whose investigative visit to the camp triggered the weekend of violence.

The Guyanese earlier had arrested a third suspect in the ambush, of Ryan's group as it sought to escort would-be defectors from the camp.

The other 29 Jonestown residents who have come out of the jungle are "scared out of their wits," said U.S. consular official Dog Ellice.

"They just fled from something so horrible it's beyond belief — I mean hundreds of people just dropping dead."

Embassy spokesman James Ward said those who disobeyed Jones and fled the suicide scene at Jonestown fear there now may be reprisals against them by fanatical sect members. But cultists at the sect's San Francisco temple denied any retaliation was planned against defectors.

Ellice said the 29, being kept under U.S. protection at an undisclosed location here, "are free to move around but don't want to move around." He said they requested the protection.

He also said they would like to leave this South American land, but the government has ordered all Peoples Temple members to remain in Guyana until the inquiry is complete. This apparently included 45 who were in this capital city, 150 southeast of the camp, at the time of the ambush and suicide.

Ellice said he did not know how long the investigation might last.

An embassy official who asked not to be identified said neighboring Venezuela had been requested to join in the search for other survivors in the thick and inhospitable jungle. The Venezuelan border is about 20 miles from Jonestown, and Guyanese police think some may have fled there.

Energy Strategies Released

WASHINGTON (AP) - Federal planners, studying ways to cope with any future energy crisis, are considering such options as diverting power from Navy ships, reducing use of elevators and encouraging four-day workweeks.

In the preparation of an "energy emergency planning guide," the government included these possibilities among a host of strategies for dealing with sudden energy disruptions, ranging from power blackouts to another coal strike.

Last summer, Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger ordered the guide prepared so it would be available for use if needed during the coming winter season.

Its completion is scheduled for sometime next month. A preliminary 238-page draft was made available to The Associated Press.

The document spells out options for alleviating energy shortages caused by severe cold spells, oil embargoes, natural disasters and work stoppages in energy-related industries.

But some of the recommended measures may seem a little far-fetched.

For instance, one suggestion is "to provide emergency power from Navy ships for certain coastal cities." Under the plan, shipboard generators would be plugged into a city's power supply at dockside.

Another proposal would have states

Thanksgiving's Gone; Now Comes Christmas

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

The day after Thanksgiving has arrived. It's no big deal.

That is, it's no big deal except to merchants, shoppers, kids and everyone else who gets caught up in the spirit of Christmastime every year—the day after Thanksgiving.

You remember Scrooge. He's the guy who tried to ban the day after Thanksgiving. He lost, however, in a court fight with the National Association of Turkeys which every year looks forward to this day—the day after Thanksgiving.

Sure, that's plain silliness. But a lot of people, including newspaper editors, tend to get silly on, you guessed it, the day after Thanksgiving, and remain that way until the day after New Year's Eve. There is no such thing as post-Thanksgiving blues. The blues begin the day after Christmas when everyone starts realizing how much money they spent on presents.

But, don't worry about it now. And, as long as you're spending, spend in Hereford, say local merchants, who claim to offer the best in merchandise and the convenience of shopping close to home.

Many stores will be open late, beginning tonight, for the convenience of Hereford Christmas shoppers.

The week after Thanksgiving will be highlighted by the lighting of the Hereford Christmas Tree Thursday night at the County Courthouse.

The tree, a project of the Women's Division of the chamber of commerce, will be lighted following a short program which will include caroles by the Chamber Singers and group

Past Rotarian of Year Dies; Services Saturday

Nick Milburn, a lifetime resident of Hereford who was part owner of Milburn Motor Company Used Car Dealers with his father, died Wednesday night in Menard Hospital at Menard following a brief illness. He was 31.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. George Belford, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in Rest Lawn Memorial Park under direction of Smith & Co. Funeral Home.

Mr. Milburn was raised in the Presbyterian Church and was a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church at the time of his death. He was a reserve deputy with the Sheriff's Department here.

He was currently serving as chairman of international service with Hereford Rotary Club, of which he was an active member. He was recognized as "Rotarian of the Year" in 1976.

He is survived by two sons, Philip and Steve, both of the home, 239 Douglas St.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Milburn, 138 Ave. B; and several uncles and aunts.

But Carter, Others Celebrate

Electrical Blackout

Ruins Eads' Turkey Day

By The Associated Press

In Eads, Colo., they went cold turkey. Seventeen hundred miles away, Jeanette Meriwether was some 400 miles from home "just for fun." And President Carter had a few kin — about 30 — over for dinner.

For millions of others it was hot turkey, at home, with perhaps fewer relatives than Carter, it being the fourth Thursday in November. Thanksgiving a day given over to feasting and football.

That is almost everywhere but Eads, where the more than 900 residents have been without power for three days following an ice storm Monday. They also had no water since their supply is brought up from wells by electric pump.

Along with having no place to keep turkeys — and possibly no place to cook them — Eads also was missing another staple of the day — television. No football — not the Denver Broncos and Detroit Lions at Pontiac, Mich., not the Washington Redskins against the Dallas Cowboys at Irving, Texas. And no Macy's parade.

In New York, the department store's line of huge balloon animals proceeded over crowds of squealing youngsters and parents. The 52nd yearly parade was led off by the Concord High School band from Elkhart, Ind., and a five-story Linus the Lionhearted.

Jeanette Meriwether and her husband, John, were among those bundled in blankets along the route, with their two children. "We drove here for the parade from Follansbee, West Virginia," she said.

When asked why, she replied, "Just for fun."

President Carter was also away from home for the holiday, spending a four-day weekend at the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md.

For the traditional turkey and trimmings dinner, more than two dozen relatives were invited, including the president's mother, Lillian Carter, and Rosalynn Carter's mother, Allie Smith.

The Carters traveled to Maryland

Physicians Don't Favor Organ Sales

CHICAGO (AP) - The possibilities of body-snatching and an organized crime takeover were raised by physicians responding to a poll on the commercial sale of human organs for transplant.

Of the 244 physicians responding to the American Medical Association survey, 75.4 percent said the sale of transplantable human organs should not be legalized, 19.3 percent said they would favor commercial sales and 5.3 percent expressed no opinion.

The results are published in the Nov. 24 issue of American Medical News, the AMA's weekly newspaper.

Some doctors said legalization could bring about consequences like those fantasized in Robin Cook's novel and subsequent film, "Coma."

"Not only do these respondents view the commercial sale of human organs as unethical, but they see great potential for criminal abuse of such a system," the article said.

One doctor said the poor would be sold for spare parts, others said the wealthy would have the advantage in buying organs, and the possibility of self-mutilation for profit was raised.

United States Agrees To Take Refugees

To Take Refugees

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) - Malaysia says the United States has promised to take in all the Vietnamese refugees aboard the freighter Hai Hong who cannot find refuge in other foreign countries.

Reporters were told of the purported U.S. promise today by Osman Cassim, secretary-general of Malaysia's Home Affairs Ministry.

Malaysia and the United States appear to be at odds over whether Washington will take in refugees from the Hai Hong, anchored off Port Klang 20 miles west of here, or an equivalent number from the 40,000 Vietnamese already crammed into refugee camps on islands off the Malaysian coast.

Earlier this week Washington raised its quote for Indochinese refugees from 25,000 to 27,500 for the year ending next May 1.

Robert Havel, deputy director of information for the U.S. Department of Justice, said Thursday evening in Washington that the United States would take refugees from camps to free places for Hai Hong passengers.

But Cassim insisted the United States had agreed to take all the Hai Hong refugees who can't be placed in other countries, possibly as many as 1,400 people. He said they will not be allowed into the camps.

Justice Department

Brainwashings

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Justice Department ruled out investigations into alleged brainwashing and physical abuse in religious cults because of fears such inquiries would violate constitutional guarantees of freedom of religion, a department spokesman said.

Spokesman Robert Havel said Thursday night that Rep. Leo Ryan, who was killed while leading a fact-finding mission to the Peoples Temple settlement in Guyana, had asked the department to investigate the religious group.

The California Democrat and Rep. Robert Ciaino, D-Conn., in May 1977 told the department that several religious cults controlled their members through brainwashing and physical abuse.

The two congressmen said they had also received allegations that some religious organizations were illegally converting veterans' benefits, welfare payments and food stamps to their own use.

Benjamin Civiletti, then chief of the department's criminal division told the congressmen that brainwashing and other thought-control tactics "would not support a prosecution under the federal kidnapping statute" and that an investigation could infringe the freedom-of-religion guarantees in the Constitution.

Man, Women Charged

In Robbery-Drugging

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - A man and two women from Oklahoma City, accused in the robbery-drugging of the wife and stepdaughter of a Dallas oilman, have declined to waive extradition to Texas.

A hearing is scheduled to approve their return to Dallas to face charges in the Nov. 12 robbery at the home of Michael C. Clark, whose family once lived in Oklahoma City.

Clark returned from a hunting trip to find his wife, Lavetta, and her 16-year-old daughter, Denise, bound with tape and lying unconscious in the living room of the Clark home in Highland Park.

Aggravated robbery charges were filed in Dallas against Robert Cecil Goddard, 30; Shirley Mae Fennel, 26; and Debarah Ann Maupin, 27. Bond of $100,000 each was set after Highland Park detectives traveled to Oklahoma City to verify information linking the three to the robbery.

Goddard had been arrested in Oklahoma City in connection with a robbery there, and Oklahoma City police learned of the Highland Park robbery from informants who had heard about two women in the Dallas area being drugged, Dallas authorities said.

Mrs. Clark and her daughter picked the two Oklahoma City women from a lineup earlier this week in Oklahoma City. Police said Goddard was not put in a lineup, since the man involved in the Dallas robbery kept his face concealed from Mrs. Clark and her daughter.

Police Report

Police charged 17-year-old Edward Castaneda of Hereford with four counts of burglary Thursday after he was found hiding in the backyard of Larry Wartes, 236 Northwest.

Castaneda allegedly tried to pry off a window screen at the residence Thursday afternoon.

Detective Vernon Hope reportedly found Castaneda in the backyard after police received a tip that someone was climbing fences into backyards in the alley between Northwest and Ranger.

Police said the arrest may have cleared up four burglaries.

A 12-year-old Mexican-American female was arrested Thursday afternoon when police officers noticed her walking out of Murray Tire Service, W. Highway 60.

Police said the girl allegedly broke into the business by forcing the back door open and stole an undetermined amount of change from a money drawer.

A minor traffic accident occurred at 12 noon Thursday at Park Ave. and Ave. K.

For others without a home, Chicago restaurateur Ismet "Matt" Deletoglou is giving away turkey dinners. He served 600 last year and expected double before the day was out. The Turkish immigrant says he charges for food the rest of the year, so why not one free day.

"Throughout the exercises, no participant will have advance knowledge of the details of the scenarios or of the mock emergencies to be used," the draft report says.

The guide also discloses that U.S. energy strategists are harboring second thoughts about some of their own energy-saving recommendations.

Thus, he said, some proposals contained in the draft may be changed or eliminated by time the final version is completed.

The Abundant Life

NO GRUMBLING

BY BOB WEAR

WE HAVE THE RIGHT to "grumble", if we wish to do so; or do we? If this is a right, and so far as I know it is, it is one right that receives plenty of exercise.

IF WE WISH "to mutter in discontent" or "to growl" about things, and happenings, and people; we can always find something to feed this desire. We can find justification for this useless practice; at least, we seem to feel that "our grumbling" is justified. This is some more of the self-deception in which we seem to delight.

GRUMBLING DOES NOT HELP US. It is an exercise in futility, because the energy generated is lost, it is wasted, it never reaches the desired end; it is like the short-circuited electrical current or the leaking water line. It is even worse, because it is an additional; and totally uncalled-for obstruction, and makes the desired solution more elusive.

IT IS ALSO A SOCIAL BARRIER, and can become a wall which separates us from other people. "Grumbling" is one sure way to alienate our fellowmen, to cause them to avoid us. This is understandable. Other people have problems and difficulties, and are probably displeased about many things. If they are wise about living, they are trying to maintain a positive, constructive attitude; and they cannot afford to listen to our grumbling.

GENERALLY, THOSE WHO "GRUMBLE" do not want to listen to "our grumbling". If there is going to be any "grumbling" done, they want to do it.

THERE IS A VERY LARGE and very knowing class of misanthropes who rejoice in the name of grumblers, persons who are so sure that the world is going to ruin that they resent every attempt to comfort them as an insult to their sagacity, and accordingly seek their chief consolation in being inconsolable, and their chief pleasure in being displeased. - E.P. Whipple.

"GRUMBLING" IS SELF-DEFEATING in two ways. It not only builds a wall between us and other people, but it is misuse of our time, energy, ability, and opportunities. It is not a positive expression of our character and personality, but is waste or worse. It is another difficulty we add to existing difficulties, and compounds the whole.

GRUMBLERS ARE NOT ACHIEVERS, they are not the people who accomplish worthwhile things. In fact, they are usually sniping at and finding fault with the people who are trying to do what needs to be done. They are usually displeased about someone or something. They close their eyes to the positive; useful and commendable realities in people and situations; and they concentrate on the flaws, imperfections and failures.

IF WE WISH TO LIVE the abundant life, there must be "no grumbling".

Radiation Still Kills Townfolks

CEDAR CITY, Utah (AP) - Folks here used to get up early to watch the brilliant pre-dawn flashes and enormous mushroom clouds 100 miles away. Twenty years later, Blaine Johnson counts 11 people dead of cancer within 200 yards of his house.

Two neighbors have leukemia now, just like five of the 11 who died in the past 10 years in this wasteland of 8,500 between Salt Lake City and Las Vegas. Just like Johnson's daughter, who died of leukemia in 1965, three years after the United States stopped above-ground nuclear testing at a barren site upwind and across the state line in Nevada.

The American Cancer Society said the national annual leukemia death rate is 6 per 100,000.

"Everyone thought it was the nearest thing to watch the blast just before dawn, watch the cloud form and then drift by," said John Rogers of nearby St. George. His mother died of cancer in 1956.

"We actually believed that the federal government would not involve itself in anything that would jeopardize the public health," added fellow townsman Ronald Garner, whose daughter died of cancer in 1966. Curiosity may have resulted in catastrophe for many.

Like LeOra Hafen of St. George, widowed 13 years ago when her rancher husband died of cancer. Leukemia had taken a 15-year-old daughter in 1956, and cancer has since claimed her mother and a brother-in-law.

One of Mrs. Hafen's friends, Arizona rancher Max Brinkerhoff, died of leukemia last February. The illness had previously claimed three of his childhood pals.

An informal telephone survey in three small southwest Utah towns - Parowan, Paragonah, and Summitt, combined population less than 2,000 - turned up 157 cancer deaths, survivors said last week.

"They became, in effect, civilian soldier-victims of the Cold War," said attorney McArthur Wright, who represents surviving families in a developing legal fight for damages.

Wright and co-attorneys Dale Haralson of Tucson, Ariz., and former U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart Udall field claims with the Energy Department in Las Vegas in September on behalf of 38 survivors.

They seek damages of $1 million for each of nine deaths. Within a month, Wright said, as many as 212 additional claims will be filed.

Members of La Afflatus Estudio Club volunteered to contribute to the State Hospital at Wichita Falls Tuesday afternoon during a meeting in the home of Aileen Montgomery and Lucille Hughes, 512 Willow Lane.

Alberta Higgins, club president, called the meeting to order.

It was announced that the club's Christmas party will be at noon Dec. 5 in Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room. Also, members were told that Pet Ott and Tresa Haile will present a program on religious trends Jan. 2 in the Montgomery and Hughes home.

Members learned that the club's sole charter member, Linnie Mae Roberson, is

As an introduction to the program, members answered roll call with Thanksgiving thoughts. Eva Gilliland presented the program, placing emphasis on Thanksgiving. She stated that this national observance is "a warm, loving time for families to get together and give thanks." She presented a history of Thanksgiving which was originally known as National Harvest Festival. She concluded her program with several Thanksgiving poems.

In addition to those members already mentioned, in attendance were Irene Markham, Lydia Hopson, Madeline Bell, Mrs. Haile, Opal Elliston, Mrs. Ott, Allyn Johnson, Jennie Terrell and Della Stagner.

"Accepting a challenge, any challenge is accepting life. If you want no failures, don't ever try to succeed."

LET'S GET TOGETHER!

At this Thanksgiving time, the usual procedure is for all of us to remember our blessings and good fortune.

Unfortunately, there are people in Hereford who have a hard time giving thanks because of their circumstances.

This week is also the final one for United Way. While you're remembering your blessings, why not remember the family of the alcoholic, the senior citizen, the family whose home was burned to the ground or the depressed and lonely person?

Thru the United Way, let's get together and help those people served by the various agencies. Give your "fair share" and give thanks that you have the opportunity to do so.

Ann Landers Pride of Pregnancy

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am in my seventh month of pregnancy and am determined to work until my labor pains come five minutes apart. I'm a big girl to begin with and I've already gained 30 pounds -- all in front.

You wouldn't believe some of the remarks made by supposedly intelligent people -- mostly men. I try to be good-natured because I know I'm a sight, but once in a while someone will go too far -- like yesterday when I was the last one on a crowded elevator and a smart-aleck in the back piped up, "Well, here we go -- crashing to the basement!"

Actually I don't mind being pregnant. In fact I think it's a terrific experience. The jack-asses who say dumb things are the worst part of it. I suspect some men are secretly jealous.

This is the one thing women can do that men can't -- and it's just as well. If Mother Nature ever reversed the charges the human race would become extinct.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I disagree with your staunch defense of jabbering idiots who talk to themselves.

I work with one of those loonies. In a loud conversational tone, he tells himself what he must do next how much better one pen is than another, and how glad he is that he finished that "impossible" project. His mouth is never shut for less than five seconds.

I never know for sure whether he's talking to himself or to me. It's maddening. I've quit asking, "What did you say?" because it's almost always "Nothing..." which means he was talking to himself.

There is enough commotion in my office without having to put up with this sort of stuff. If everyone did it the place would be a madhouse. Why should I have to listen to someone's nonsensical jabbering any more than I have to inhale his smoke? It's all pollution.

Print this for those of us who have the problem. And if you have any suggestions, I'd like to hear them. -- I Have Rights. Too

DEAR RIGHTS: You do.

Cowboys Scalp Redskins; 37-10

DALLAS (AP) - The computerized Dallas Cowboys uncorked some old-fashioned emotion on the Washington Redskins Thanksgiving Day and the defending World Champions regained the leadership of the National Conference Eastern Division.

"We were going so hard, it would have been hard for anyone to stop us, regardless of who we played," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry.

Landry said of 37-10 rout of the Redskins in a nationally televised National Football League game: "We showed so much more emotion today than we have all year...it should give us great confidence down the stretch."

Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach passed for one touchdown and his scrambling set up the other Dallas scores when the game was in doubt.

Reserve fullback Scott Laidlaw rushed for over 100 yards and Rafael Septien kicked three field goals in one of the most lopsided games in the bitter rivalry between the teams.

"Last year in the stretch, we had a lot of games like this, but we haven't had as strong an outing as this game this year," said Landry. "It's still not over. The race can change overnight. All I know is that we won our last three games decisively."

"You don't have a team ready like this one was today too often. I believe we could have played them on Monday, we were so ready."

Staubach, making reference to the fact that Dallas had been outscored 69-21 in the first quarter this year, said, "We came out ready to go. I'm surprised we won like we did. I expected it to be a tight game...I was surprised at the score."

Staubach hooked up with Drew Pearson on a 57-yard touchdown pass play and set up Rafael Septien's three field goals and reserve fullback Scott Laidlaw's two touchdown runs with his clutch performance.

The 11-point favorite Cowboys jumped on the jittery Redskins from the start, scoring a season high 13 points in the first quarter.

The Dallas, Doomsday Defense didn't permit a Redskin first down until late in the second quarter as it gained revenge for an earlier 9-5 Redskin victory.

Dallas gained a 6-0 lead on field goals of 31 and 21 yards for Septien. Laidlaw, subbing for the injured Robert Newhouse, scored on a one-yard plunge after John Riggins had fumbled the ball away.

Then came the crusher. Pearson sneaked behind Joe Lavender and Staubach whipped a strike which the Cowboy wide receiver caught at the Redskin nine and coasted home.

Washington took the second-half kickoff and cut the deficit to 20-3 on Mark Moseley's cross-country 48-yard field goal.

But Dallas charged right back with Septien answering Moseley with 44-yard field goal and Laidlaw scoring again from two yards out.

Third-string fullback Larry Brinson added insult to injury with a 39-yard touchdown run with 5:23 to play for the final margin.

Laidlaw gained 103 yards in the first half, including a 59-yard burst up the middle midway through the second period. However, Dallas got no points that time when Septien missed a 44-yard field goal attempt. Laidlaw finished the day with 122 yards on 16 carries.

Washington was handcuffed by its own mistakes in the disastrous first half. The Redskins were flagged with an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty and a clipping penalty which put the 'Skins deep in the hole. Then came Riggins' fumble, which Bennie Barnes picked up and ran 12 yards to the Washington six.

Sea Wolf Classic Draws Top Teams

By The Associated Press
Louisville, Indiana and North Carolina State in one college basketball tournament - how's that for openers?

Three of the nation's Top Twenty teams will help inaugurate the 1978-79 college basketball season tonight - in Anchorage, Alaska of all places - when they compete in the first "Sea Wolf Classic" up there in the frozen north.

This first attempt at a major college sports event by the 49th state brings together one of the most attractive fields in the country. Along with No. 4 Louisville, No. 10 Indiana and No. 12 North Carolina State, the field includes five other teams, including the host school, University of Alaska at Anchorage.

Also in the field are Penn State, Pepperdine, Lamar and Texas A&M.

The Sea Wolf Classic was initiated by Alaska-Anchorage Coach Bob Rachal, whose contract was not renewed at the end of last season. The ball was picked up this year by his successor, Gary Bliss, whose enthusiasm about the tournament is guarded at this point.

Romero, Funk Jr. to Team

Tomorrow night at 8:30, in the Bull Barn, the Lion's Club will sponsor the wrestling matches with the tag team match of Mr. Pogo and Mrs. Sato going against Ricky Romero and Dory Funk Jr.

With a combined weight of 505 pounds, the Japanese duo will have that advantage of the Romero - Funk team which has a weight combination of 474 pounds.

Other matches will include the bout of Larry Lane against Doug Somers, and the opening contest will pit Jim Cook and Ratamys against each other. These two matches will serve as preliminary contests with the tag team bout as the headline attraction.

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Obstructed leg artery

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a male, 54, and have been told that I have an obstruction in my femoral artery. I just had a thorough physical in the hospital. My physical condition is good. I had a check up initially because of back pain and pain in my hip and leg when walking.

My doctor said I may need an operation for the obstruction in the artery. First he said I should stop smoking for three months and he would check me again. He said no doctor would operate on me because of my heavy smoking.

I have stopped smoking. My question is, "How much risk is involved in this type of operation and was he on the level about not smoking?" I am going to retire at 55 and then will not have medical insurance. Wouldn't it be better to have this taken care of as soon as possible?

DEAR READER - First, from the economical considerations, I would hope that you would be able to have your medical problems settled while you have medical insurance.

Such procedures are usually expensive, not because of the doctor's bills so much, but because of the hospital costs, the operating room costs and all the other things which seem to run up the cost of medical bills to astronomical levels these days.

Smoking can be an important factor in obstruction of the arteries to the legs and I wholeheartedly approve of your doctor's insistence that you stop. It might also relieve some of the problems that you have as far as circulation to the leg is concerned.

I also think you should try to limit your fats and cholesterol in your diet to stop the formation of fatty-cholesterol deposits if at all possible. For that reason, I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet Preventing Atherosclerosis.

Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The pain that you've had in your hip and leg when walking was probably from inadequate circulation to that area. If you have a localized obstruction in the artery, a by-pass operation is often helpful.

The surgeon puts in a new synthetic tubing that opens above the obstruction and empties below the obstruction. This detours the blood around the obstructed area. In this way, circulation is improved to the hip and leg area.

Obviously, for such an operation to be successful you have to have a localized obstruction. In other words, you need to detour below the obstruction. If the artery is obstructed all the way down to the foot, there is not much opportunity to put in a detour graft.

These procedures are very successful in selected cases. I might add that they are most successful in the person who follows a good medical program and institutes measures to prevent fatty-cholesterol deposits from developing.

Remember, putting in the by-pass graft doesn't stop the disease, namely the buildup of fatty-cholesterol deposits, it merely provides a way of getting around the obstruction caused by the disease.

If you want to stop the progression of the disease, and get the maximum benefit for a long period of time from such a graft, it is important to control your blood pressure if it is elevated. It is important to refrain from smoking cigarettes thereafter. It is important to stay on a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet and keep your weight down.

GOODBYE MOON

SCIENTISTS AGREE THAT EONS AGO THE MOON WAS MUCH CLOSER TO THE EARTH, POSSIBLY AS CLOSE AS 12,000 MILES. ITS LUNAR MONTH, THE TIME TAKEN TO REVOLVE AROUND THE EARTH, WAS 6 1/2 HOURS. TIDAL EFFECTS WERE TREMENDOUS AND RESULTED IN SLOWING DOWN THE AXIAL ROTATION OF BOTH EARTH AND MOON AND IN PUSHING THE MOON FURTHER AWAY. IT IS STILL RECEDING AT 4 INCHES PER MONTH.

GOPs Improving From Ground-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) - Republicans have been telling each other for years that they cannot afford to be solely a presidential party, competitive only in White House campaigns and consigned to perpetual minorities in Congress. That is about where they are now, but they are trying to change - starting at the bottom.

So Joseph Gaylord already has gone to work on campaign plans for New Jersey, one of five states holding state house elections in 1979.

He is trying to figure out how the national party can help New Jersey Republicans gain the 15 seats they need to take control of the state Assembly.

That is the next phase of an operation that cost the GOP about $2 million during the 1978 campaign for state legislatures. With some races still subject to recounts, the Republicans made a net gain of 287 seats in the 45 states that elected legislators this year.

With those victories, Republicans took full control of the legislatures in 13 states. Prior to the recent elections, they had held majorities of both houses in only four states.

Democrats will hold two-house control of the legislatures in at least 31 states, depending on the outcome of recounts or the flip of a coin to break a deadlock in Pennsylvania's house. Elsewhere, legislative control is divided between the parties.

Gaylord, director of local elections for the Republican National Committee, says a gain of 113 more legislative seats in the right states would give the GOP control of 20 more legislatures.

The national committee invested heavily in legislative contests this year, and Gaylord said the Republicans will keep at it. They doled out $1 million in campaign funds to selected legislative candidates, and spent about the same amount to provide campaign research, training and other services to Republicans running for legislatures and local offices.

Their first purpose was defensive: to gain enough strength in the states to ward off partisan realignment of congressional districts by the Democrats. The 1980 census will lead to changes in House representation, with growing states gaining House seats at the expense of states that have lost population in the past decade. Legislatures do the redistricting.

In addition, their emphasis on the legislatures has given them a pool of potential candidates for Congress and other offices in the years ahead.

"We have a pretty good idea of who's out there now," Gaylord said. "It may not pay off in the next election, but down the road it will."

A Polish pharmacist attempting to "distill" vodka from oil seeping from the ground produced kerosene, not liquor. Ignacy Luka, 32, was arrested in 1962 to develop a lamp to burn the clean, low-smoke fuel.

Dead at Guyana Youth, 6, Among

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - John Victor Stoen, born six years ago of highly educated parents immersed in the People's Temple cult, died on a crude wooden platform next to the man he believed to be his father, the Rev. Jim Jones, according to unconfirmed reports out of Guyana.

More than 400 members of the religious commune at Jonestown fulfilled a murder-suicide pact, some by shootings and others by feeding poison to young children in the camp, then drinking the concoction themselves.

Jones' body was found on the platform, with a woman and child next to it. The Stoen boy was known to be at the jungle enclave, and the reports indicated he was the dead child lying beside Jones.

John was at the center of a heated year-long custody battle between his parents, Timothy and Grace Stoen, and Jones, leader of the sect.

Jones maintained he was the boy's father, basing his claim to the child on a document signed by Stoen in 1972 asking Jones to father a child with Mrs. Stoen.

"I entreated my beloved pastor, James W. Jones, to sire a child by my wife," Grace Lucy (Gretch) Stoen, who was previously at my insistence, reluctantly and graciously, consented thereto," said Stoen in the document.

The paper adds, "My reason for requesting James W. Jones to do this is that I wanted my child to be fathered, if not by me, then by the most compassionate, honest and courageous human being."

Mrs. Stoen withdrew from the group, but Jonathan Stoen said his brother and young John went to Guyana in 1977. Then, when Stoen tried to leave the commune, Jones stopped him from taking John with him.

The Stoen family filed suit last year to get their son back, and a California judge granted them custody this year, ordering Jones to surrender the child. Jones refused, arguing that John threatened to commit suicide if returned to his mother.

In a radio-telephone conversation from Jonestown last February, Jones said, "I am the father. Why would I risk my reputation for a child that they (the Stoenes) have abandoned, unless it was mine?"

Jonathan Stoen said his brother and sister-in-law were instrumental in persuading Rep. Leo Ryan to travel to Guyana to investigate the camp.

The Free State of Israel was proclaimed in Tel Aviv on May 14, 1948, with the United States on the same day becoming the first government to recognize the new nation.

GOD LIGHTS UP THE HARVEST WITH A BRIGHT MOON

Nearly everyone has heard of the harvest moon, and yet except for the farmers throughout history, it has meant little to anyone but the writers of popular love songs. Nevertheless, the term refers to the full moon nearest the autumnal equinox or the beginning of fall; a celestial event that took place a few nights ago. This full moon, as well as the moonlight for several nights before and after it, lights the early night sky for a greater number of evenings than at any other time of the year, and provides an exceptional brightness that aids the harvester with his long day's work. This is a dramatic illustration of God's love and help for mankind, with one of the marvels of His plan for the universe. Attend the Church of your choice and learn about the rest of them.

"The night shineth as the day; the darkness and the light are both alike to thee."
—Psalms 139:12

Like a sun bewitched in alien realms of night, Mellow and yellow and rounded hangs the moon.
