

Iran Opens Anti-America Conference

By The Associated Press

Former Attorney General Ramsey Clark said today his attendance at the "Crimes of America" conference in Tehran will help the U.S. hostages. Meanwhile, Iran's air force commander was reported to have resigned, apparently because he ordered the bombing of helicopters used in the U.S. rescue attempt.

"I think our presence here is essential to dialogue between the Iranian people and the American people," Clark told reporters. He added his attendance at the conference with nine other U.S. citizens in defiance of a Justice Department ban "will help the American hostages."

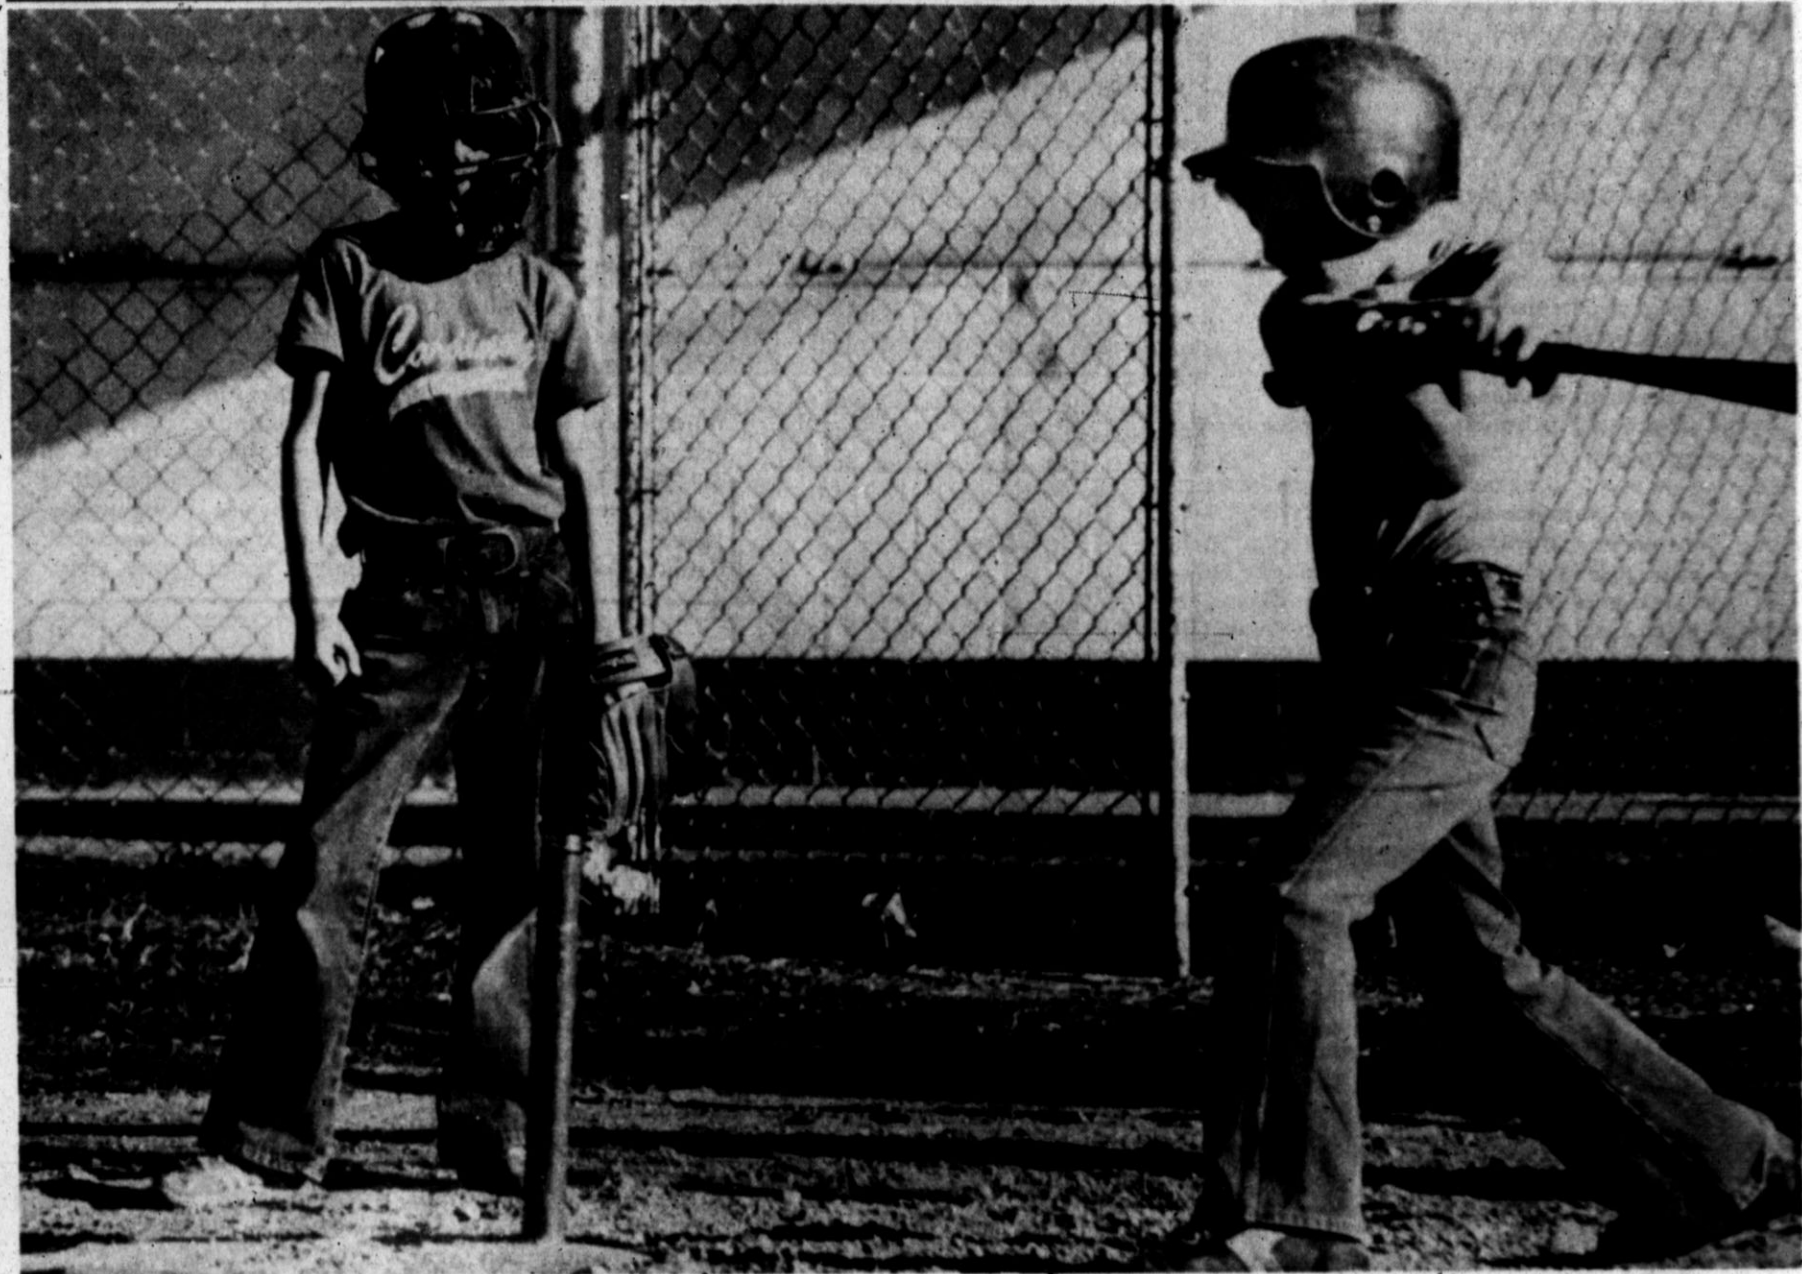

He said he had not heard that State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said the presence of the American delegation in Tehran was aggravating the hostage crisis, but that if Carter did say that then "I disagree very strongly."

The resignation of Iran's air force commander, Maj. Gen. Amir Bahman Bagheri, was reported by the Tehran newspaper Kayhan. No reason was given but Bagheri was strongly criticized for ordering the destruction of the helicopters the Americans used in the aborted mission to rescue the hostages in late April.

On Monday, Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said he will meet with Clark. But Ghotbzadeh ruled out a visit by a U.N. envoy to the hostages, who were taken captive 213 days ago when Islamic militants seized the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Ghotbzadeh praised Clark as one of the staunchest supporters of the Iranian revolution that ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi in January 1979, and said Clark had consistently WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Attorney General Ramsey Clark may face charges from the department he once headed for doing on his own what he couldn't do on behalf of President Carter — go to Iran.

The Justice Department said Monday it will conduct a criminal investigation of the trip by Clark and nine other Americans in defiance of Carter's ban on travel to Iran.

If charged and convicted, they could be sentenced to 10 years in prison and fined $50,000.

Clark, the free-spirited son of a former Supreme Court justice, was Carter's original troubleshooter on the hostage crisis. He's in trouble for attending an Iranian conference in Tehran on alleged U.S. crimes against Iran.

While the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini was in exile in France, Clark met him in Paris and said the Islamic revolution against the regime of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi "established the opportunity for a new freedom" in Iran.

Shortly after Khomeini followers seized the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, Carter designated Clark as his special envoy to negotiate the release of the American hostages, but the Iranians refused to let him into the country. A few weeks later, Clark said he sent a letter advising Iran of legal steps it could take to have the deposed shah returned.

THE HEREFORD SCHOOL SYSTEM'S proposal to "pair" schools by grades drew a lot of criticism in the public hearing here last week. Many of the complaints, we feel, were undeserved.

We've heard a lot of discussion on the matter since the public hearing last week. The views range from those who think the board was trying to slip something by them to those who think the board has the responsibility to do what they think best.

And, you've got to face the fact that some folks didn't know why they were complaining. They had heard the word "busing" and they were upset. They had heard children would be moved to different schools, and they were mad. They weren't too anxious to be confused by the facts.

We don't pretend to know all the answers. It now appears the board will adopt a redistricting plan—which most folks at the hearing seemed to think was the lesser of two evils. This may serve the district okay for a year, and it may not.

Prior to that public hearing, we expressed an opinion in this column that the board should have discussed the proposal in open meetings. We did not question their intentions, nor their proposal.

They have studied the problems and they may be right in offering the pairing plan. With more discussion and public education on the proposal prior to the hearing, the atmosphere for a change might have been different.

But the board apparently hopes to resolve the lack of understanding by meeting with parents this week on elementary campuses. Whether a change is made the next school term or not, maybe the board can pave the way for whatever change becomes necessary.

Electric Rate Hike Approved

Texas Public Utility Commission has given final approval to an average 10 percent rate increase for Southwestern Public Service, which provides electricity to Hereford.

SPS received the order verifying the rate hike Monday. The rate increase already had been approved by Panhandle cities serviced by the electric company.

PUC had previously approved a rate increase for rural areas. The company will receive additional annual revenues of $31,922,654 this year, an overall increase of 11.07 percent. SPS officials had requested the increase because of inflation, high interest rates and the cost of converting from gas-fired to coal plants.

The average residential increase in Hereford will be approximately 13.85 percent. SPS director of communication and public affairs Larry Milner said the exact increase in residential and commercial rates depends on the cost of service each class of customer receives.

Milner gave as an example a shopping center with one electric meter and several different shops.

"Obviously the cost to service the meter is less, therefore the rate increase will be less," Milner said. "Ten residential homes, using the same amount of energy, but instead, one pole and one meter to each home will cost more to service, and the increase in the rate will be greater."

On Feb. 28, SPS filed an application with PUC requesting authority to increase its rates by 14.78 percent. A committee, which included Hereford City Manager Dudley Bayne, was appointed by the cities to negotiate with SPS in hopes the company would agree to a smaller increase.

On April 2, SPS filed revised rate schedules, agreed upon by the cities, with PUC.

Kennedy Won't Give Up Fight

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

President Carter was guaranteed the delegates he needs for a Democratic majority today in an eight-state presidential primary finale — but even as the numbers were sealed, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy insisted the nomination was not.

Carter expected to easily surpass majority strength, and he predicted he would have an ample supply of delegates to spare when all the Democratic choices are made.

His aim in the final set of primary elections was to roll up a margin so convincing as to force Kennedy from the race, something the challenger said will not happen.

There were nine Republican primaries, too, but those are only exhibition contests, for Ronald Reagan is assured of uncontested nomination.

The Democrats were apportioning 696 nominating votes in Tuesday's primaries, 580 of them in California, New Jersey and Ohio.

Kennedy counted on winning the first two, but Carter expected to capture Ohio. Last week he thanked Ohio voters "in advance" for the delegates he said would clinch his nominating majority.

The Kennedy camp acknowledged that in every delegate count, including their own, Carter will end the primary season with more than the 1,666 votes it takes to win the nomination.

Now, they say, his problem will be to keep them for the 10 weeks until the Democratic National Convention.

Kennedy's last, frail hope is that he can win so convincingly in California and New Jersey as to buttress his argument that Carter is weak in the populous states where a Democratic ticket must be strong to win. The case will be more difficult given Carter's ranking as the favorite in Ohio.

Beyond that, the Kennedy game plan assumes the Carter will go to the convention as a candidate who appears vulnerable to Reagan in the three-way contest now looming, with Rep. John B. Anderson as the added, independent starter. Anderson's supporters said Monday, meanwhile, that they've turned in enough signatures to get the Illinois congressman on the ballot as an independent this fall in West Virginia and Massachusetts.

James Flug, Kennedy's spokesman, said the delegate count is not necessarily binding, and won't be until and unless the Democratic convention adopts rules that would hold delegates to their commitments.

That signaled anew the likelihood of a Kennedy effort to win back in a convention rules fight the delegates Carter has been capturing in primaries and party caucuses. That is more than a long shot, since Kennedy would have to win a convention majority in a rules fight — and the majority clearly is with Carter on the nomination.

Even Flug acknowledged that it is far more likely Carter will command a majority of the delegates all the way to the nomination.

Appearing on the NBC-TV "Today" program Monday, Kennedy repeated his contention the nation is headed for a depression or severe recession.

Randall Statement Rips LSC Funding

CANYON-Randall County Commissioners Tuesday decided to stick by their resolution which opposes refunding of Legal Services Corporation. Several Deaf Smith County officials appeared at the meeting to state their point of views.

Charles Hester, head of West Texas Legal Services, read a statement, signed by 22 private attorneys, urging the court to reconsider and reject the resolution. He compared the action to "throwing out the baby with the bathwater."

Randall commissioners had approved the resolution two weeks ago, after it had been placed on the county agenda at the request of Deaf Smith County Commissioner Austin Rose. A similar resolution was approved recently by the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association.

Attending the Randall

County court session from Hereford were Sheriff Travis McPherson, assistant DA Jerry Smith, JP O.K. Neal, and county commissioners Austin Rose, Bruce Coleman and J.F. Martin.

"We really don't have any arguments with West Texas Legal Services," said Smith. He added that there are many services provided by non-profit corporations that are needed.

The burden of these services would have to be carried by the bar, but the tax monies used to finance programs such as Texas Rural Legal Aid (TRLA) hasn't produced "what was intended," said Smith.

Hester told the court that WTLS is funded to serve clients in Randall, Potter and Deaf Smith counties. He said qualification is based on economic guidelines that are set according to federal poverty standards.

Schroeder Named Assistant Principal

Hereford High School Principal Ron Geyer today named golf coach Raymond Schroeder as assistant principal.

Schroeder, one of six applications for the position, will replace Alex Glass, who has accepted the principalship of Dimmitt High School.

"I felt like he was the strongest overall candidate, but it was a very hard decision to make. Everyone was good, with strengths in different areas," Geyer said. "Raymond Schroeder is very qualified."

Schroeder has spent 18 years in education, all on the secondary level. A 1960 graduate of Panhandle State University in Goodwell, Okla., Schroeder received his master's degree in secondary education, with an emphasis on administration, from Oklahoma State University.

He coached basketball for three years at Texhoma, Okla., and one year at Sundown. Schroeder was head basketball coach at Muleshoe for 12 years before moving to Hereford two years ago in 1978.

Schroeder has been high school golf coach for the past year.

Superintendent Harrell Holder will recommend the appointment to the school board during its June 10 regular meeting.

City Commission Learns of Tax-Law Changes

Hereford city commissioners were informed Monday night of the impact of Senate Bill 621 on the county's various subdivisions.

Appraiser Jim McMorries and Melvin Jayroe, the city's representative on the recently-created tax appraisal-district board of directors, told commissioners that SB 621 must be fully implemented in the county by Jan. 1, 1982.

On that date, or before, a central appraisal office in the county will replace the various tax-collectors' offices. The purpose of SB 621 is to consolidate offices at a savings to taxpayers, according to McMorries.

The office will be funded proportionally by the various subdivisions, with the amount each pays based on the proportion of property taxes it collects.

Hereford Independent School District is responsible for 53.3 percent of the cost of operating the district, followed by Deaf Smith County, 24.75 percent; City of Hereford, 12.6 percent; Deaf Smith County Hospital District, 4.99 percent; Walcott Independent School District, 3.49 percent; and High Plains Water District, .81 percent.

McMorries told commissioners that the county, city and school tax offices are presently costing a total of $250,000 to operate. He later told The Brand that he estimates a similar cost for operating the central tax office in its first year.

"I think that after the first year, there's no question in my mind, barring inflation, that a single office can operate at less dollars than they're currently spending," McMorries said.

The five-member tax appraisal-district board, besides setting up a central office, will be responsible for appointing a three-man tax board of review to replace the separate tax boards of equalization.

The district board also will name a chief appraiser prior to 1982. SB 621 also requires entities to assess property at 100 percent of market value in 1981. The school district and county will begin assessing property at 100 percent on Oct. 1 of this year, while city commissioners voted to delay the change until next year.

Commissioners Monday rejected an offer from Realtor Sam Nunnally to sell approximately 12 acres of land to the city for a park.

The land, located in a draw northeast of Hereford, was offered at $2,000 an acre.

The commission accepted a bid from Golden Light Equipment Co. of Amarillo for dishes to be used at the Hereford Community Center. The $1,647.50 was the lowest of two submitted to the commission.

Commissioners Wes Fisher, Emory Brownlow and Bud Eades were present, along with Mayor Dowell. Ed Coplen was absent.

La Grange Democrat Has Inoperable Cancer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Rep. John Wilson, D-La Grange, says he has an inoperable form of lung cancer that usually leaves victims 10-15 years to live.

The four-term House member is seeking a seat in the Texas Senate, he won a contested 600-vote victory over James Carroll of Temple in the May 3 primary election. Carroll has asked for a recount.

Both men campaigned throughout the district that stretches from the Gulf Coast to Temple.

In a telephonic interview from his La Grange home, Wilson said Monday he is taking chemotherapy treatment. Chest X-rays showed "a type of tumor in my lung called bronchial alveolar cell carcinoma," said Wilson.

He said his doctors told him the cancer is inoperable.

Witness Testifies

Jordan-Shooting

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) - Martha C. Coleman, the only known witness to the sniper shooting of Vernon E. Jordan Jr., met with federal agents behind closed doors as investigators checked every tip and every phone call for clues in the attack on the National Urban League president.

Jordan, who was shot in the lower back with a bullet from a .30-06 rifle, was in serious but stable condition Monday. Hospital officials said he continued to show steady progress and walked with the aid of two other people, his first steps since the hotel parking lot shooting early Thursday.

The attack came as the civil rights leader got out of a car driven by Mrs. Coleman, 36. He had joined the Fort Wayne Urban League member for coffee at her home.

Mrs. Coleman, who had been in seclusion since the shooting, met with FBI agents Monday, according to agent Roy Mitchell, who declined to disclose details immediately.

Productivity Bill Passed by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) - The U.S. Senate has approved legislation by U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen that would require the Council on Wage-Price Stability to determine how good a job the federal government is doing in its efforts to stimulate productivity in U.S. businesses.

At least 50 agencies "are actively involved in stimulating productivity" in private industry, Bentsen, but he criticized their attempts as generally "designed for another time and place."

"In today's world, they may well do more harm than good," Bentsen said in calling for establishment of an Office of Productivity within the Council on Wage-Price Stability.

"I for one am not willing to sit idly by while our economy grows weaker and weaker due to stagnating productivity," the Texas Democrat said during debate on the legislation.

Volcano Quieter, But Still Watched

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) - Only steam plumes and deep, minor rumblings beneath Mount St. Helens are reminding scientists the volcano is still active.

But U.S. Geological Survey scientists know the mountain is dangerous and are keeping as close an eye on it as overcast skies allow.

Meanwhile, the official list of persons missing from the volcano's May 18 explosion was revised Monday to 51, but the death toll remained at 22, according to Rhonda Brooks of the Washington state Department of Emergency Services.

Removed from the list were Royal City, Wash., residents Tom and Leona Govern. The couple said they weren't near the mountain during the eruption and finally convinced officials they were alive.

Meanwhile, the low cloud cover on Monday kept scientists from checking to see if lava was bubbling in the crater.

Weather

West Texas - Clear to partly cloudy through Wednesday with widely scattered afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms mountains, upper Pecos valley and north. Continued very warm. Highs 90 northwest to 110-Big Bend. Lows mid 50s northwest to mid-70s southeast and extreme south.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter to tell the other side of the story concerning the change of administration at Hereford High School.

I served as the vice-president of the Student Council my junior year and as president my senior year, so I have been in a good position to witness this change of administration.

The Student Council officers traditionally do the announcements each year. There was quite a change in policy concerning them, but it wasn't all for the worse.

Before, just about anyone could go into the announcement room and say just about anything he wanted. I guess you could say that was interesting listening, but it wasn't the best way to start out a school day. After the new principal came, the cheerleaders could still sing songs to promote school spirit, but they had to be okayed by the principal first.

In my view, this was not a bad change in policy. The announcements are not the main source of school spirit at HHS, so I do not see that this is affecting our school spirit at all.

The change of administration has also done a lot of good for the school. The new, colorful graduation announcements are a credit to what the new principal has done.

Another change that was made concerns the annuals. Before, if a club or organization wanted a color page in the annual, all they had to do was go ask for a donation from a place of business in town to pay for it. The pages are not cheap and the new administration decided that if a club or organization really wanted a color page in the annual, they should go out and work for the money to pay for it. Again, I believe that this change in policy is for the better.

These are just a few changes made by the administration. It is hard to get used to changes and many rumors got started. I believe that the new administration is doing the very best it can to help the public image of the school.

It was good to me during my term in office. If anyone would like to talk to the new administration in person about these changes, I am sure it would be willing to listen.

Like I said, changes are hard to get used to but if the new administration is given a chance and some time, everyone will see that most of them will work out for the better.

Iran

expressed his opposition "to the crimes of the shah and the U.S. government in Iran."

He added that he would be having private talks with a number of delegates to the conference and that "Ramsey Clark would not be excluded. Of course, I will not enter into negotiations with him as a representative of the U.S. government."

Clark was dispatched by President Carter shortly after the hostages were seized Nov. 4 to try to negotiate with the Iranian regime. But both he and Senate staffer William Miller were refused entry into the country. Last month, Carter barred nearly all Americans from traveling to Iran.

Now, Clark and the nine other Americans attending the conference may face prosecution from the agency Clark once headed. If a Justice Department investigation leads to charges and they are found guilty, the 10 could be sentenced to 10 years in prison and fined $50,000 each.

Ghotbzadeh insisted that the four-day conference that opened Monday was not putting America on trial. "It is a free exchange of views and those taking part could raise any topic without prejudice," Ghotbzadeh told a news conference at the Tehran Hilton, the site of the conference.

But Ghotbzadeh said Syrian U.N. Ambassador Adib Daoudy would not be allowed to see the U.S. hostages.

Clark

spokesman Robert M. Smith said the Clark group, which includes Nobel Prize-winning biologist George Wald, was told of possible penalties as late as two days before leaving Sunday for Tehran.

State Department spokesman Hodding Carter said the group was denied an exemption to the May 18 travel ban because the administration feared the conference would be no more than a "propaganda circus."

"Our concern was that an exemption would be misconstrued as our acceptance of the premise of U.S. crimes against Iran and may give the conference a standing and credibility it does not have," he said.

The American Friends Service Committee in Philadelphia said the group accepted the invitation to attend the conference "in the hope that they may help to diffuse tensions between the two countries."

"The delegation believes that its participation may begin a needed dialogue," the committee said. "The delegation has been assured that the conference will entertain discussions of every relevant issue, including the great concern for the American hostages."

Although officials knew of Clark's plans, they said no attempt was made to stop the group because no crime was committed until it reached Iran.

Once the Americans arrived, however, the threats of prosecution came quickly from the State Department, the White House and the Justice Department.

"There are civil and criminal penalties available," said White House press secretary Jody Powell.

The State Department said the administration would "decide in due course" whether to prosecute, and Smith said no action will be taken against the group until it returns to the United States.

Tritium Havoc Recalled

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - The Baptist church still holds Sunday services. Traffic still hums along South Plumer Avenue. Children still walk through the downtown Tucson neighborhood on their way to parochial school.

But underlying the calm are reminders of the turmoil created last year when a local plant was accused of leaking radioactive tritium, enough so it shows up in a cake baked in a nearby school kitchen.

Today the red brick and adobe buildings of the American Atomics Corp. plant on South Plumer Avenue stand virtually empty, a "For Lease" sign in front of one.

Last spring, the Arizona Atomic Energy Commission accused American Atomics of allowing excessive emissions of tritium. Company officials denied the accusations.

But on June 1, 1979, tests performed in the school kitchen showed that cake, which had been served to 40,000 school children in the Tucson Unified School District, contained excessive amounts of tritium.

The public, already concerned by the earlier allegations, became alarmed.

American Atomics said low levels of tritium were not harmful to people, but two weeks later, after furious efforts to rid the area of radiation, the plant was ordered closed.

Questions and unresolved issues remain a year later. Possibly the most significant is just how harmful a substance is tritium, a low-level radioactive hydrogen isotope. Even experts cannot agree what it will do.

Also undecided is what to do with the American Atomics' valuable tritium. Most of the tritium that was removed from the plant under Gov. Bruce Babbitt's orders four months after the closure remains at the Navajo Army Ordnance Depot outside Flagstaff. Plans to sell it or otherwise move it out of Arizona have been stalled.

"We're still waiting for a letter from the Department of Energy because proposals from the private sector have not worked out," said governor's aide Dale Pontius.

Also pending is decontamination of the American Atomics plant. The company went broke and the facility is under control of the U.S.

Bankruptcy Court and the state.

It is being decontaminated now - slowly. Darrel Warren, the supervising state health physicist, said American Atomics is strapped for funds and is using only two or three cleaners.

The state Atomic Energy Commission is inspecting the cleanup, testing each piece of equipment to make sure all traces of radiation are removed. When all the equipment is cleaned, the buildings themselves will be scrubbed inside and out.

"All it takes is someone getting down with a scrub brush and a mop and using elbow grease to clean it up," said Warren.

The bankruptcy action, filed by American Atomics after its main asset - tritium - was removed by the state, is nowhere near resolution. Last week, the court gave the company permission to auction more than 300 pieces of equipment and furniture that had been decontaminated.

School lunches have been prepared in individual school kitchens since the district's central kitchen was closed. School district officials say they hope to reopen the central kitchen in time for the start of summer school on June 9.

It was closure of that central kitchen which triggered a whirlwind of action.

The state Atomic Energy Commission issued an emergency order closing the American Atomics plant pending hearings on the alleged emissions. A month later, in the midst of the hearings, American Atomics surrendered its state license, saying it would move its radiation-related operations out of Arizona. But the company declared bankruptcy before it could relocate.

Government officials, reacting specifically to the American Atomics situation and in general to state regulations, tightened controls on businesses using radioactive materials.

Babbitt, disturbed that the state AEC was set up to promote atomic energy as well as to regulate it, called for establishment of a true state regulatory agency. This year, the Legislature responded by creating the Radiation Regulatory Agency.

Horse Sense And Hogwash

"Dear Son, I wish I could spare you."

Every parent has wished that he might teach the next generation what he has himself learned the hard way.

Most young ones, however, insist on re-learning most lessons by trial and error.

They will allow a computer scientist to teach them about computers.....

But rarely will they allow their own parents to teach them the similarly complex science of successful living.

Over and over again, generation after generation, they must rediscover the old truths for themselves.

My wife Angel clips things for me to read while I'm traveling. Recently she clipped an essay by William J. Bennett, director of the National Humanities Center, in which he lamented the fact that we are so fascinated by the obscure, captivated by the bizarre, that we seek complex answers where simple ones are better.

He says, "Many university students unlearn horse sense to learn hogwash." Some of the examples to follow were suggested by Mr.

Bennett: AMERICA IS A GREAT COUNTRY. Compared to any other country and compared to its own past, there is no doubt about this. Personal freedom, standard of living, educational opportunities, religious and artistic vitality, health and wealth - makes America a great country.

TRAVEL IS NOT THE WAY TO FIND YOURSELF. Every philosopher since Voltaire has sought to convince us that the bluebird is in our own backyard - yet every generation since has sought it instead on some remote island.

Whatever it is to be lost or found in the exotic remoteness, YOURSELF is not one of them. Wherever you are, you are what you are. Wherever you might run, you can't hide from your own shortcomings, possibilities and responsibilities.

THE BEST ENJOYMENT FOLLOWS WORK. It does indeed! Nothing is more boring than unadorned leisure.

SEX IS NOT JUST FOR FUN. Whatever the magazine covers imply, sex is more complicated than a handshake. It involves the potential for immorality and the potential for disease; it is enraptured with tears of joy or raptured with tears of remorse. It's an experience inseparable, for better or worse, from the human soul.

SIXTEEN IS NOT SIXTY. While it is true that today's young people are taller, smarter, handsomer and more capable than those of any generation which preceded theirs - and athletically they excel beyond any heretofore - their judgment has not matured at the same pace.

This can be established with teen crime statistics, narcotics misuse statistics, abortion statistics, automobile accident statistics. (That's why car insurance costs more for the young.)

They can handle theoretical complexities, but it's still the simple truths over which they stub their toes. Like this one: IF THE BIBLE WERE NOT DIVINELY INSPIRED, IT WOULD STILL BE THE BEST RULE BOOK FOR ASSURING AN ORDERLY EXISTENCE.

That sounds too simple for a generation accustomed to complexity - until they re-learn its empirical truth.

More Bicycles Reported Stolen

Hereford police are continuing to receive reports of stolen bicycles in the city.

Allen Brockman, 843 Irving, reported that a black and gold Western Flyer was stolen from his residence, while Denise Stephens, 517 Ave. J, told police her black and grey bike was taken from her yard.

Grady Gates, 129 Beach, reported that someone tore the carpet on his front porch and removed a shutter and window screen sometime Sunday.

A 17-year-old man told police that a group of men threatened him Sunday in Dameron Park.

Robert Cox, high school tennis coach, complained that someone removed a mat from the fence at the school's tennis courts over the weekend.

Police arrested three persons for driving while intoxicated over the weekend and three for public intoxication, two of those reportedly due to sniffing paint.

Hereford Car Wash, 1074 Ave. A, Saturday reported that someone broke into the pump room, but nothing was stolen.

Police investigated a prowler report in the 400 block of Ave. B, and another one in the 200 block of Juniper Monday evening.

Other weekend reports included an assault of a juvenile, a family quarrel in the 800 block of Knight a prowler incident in the 800 block of Irving.

Mosquitos Spraying Set Wednesday

A Hart aerial service will spray for mosquitos over Hereford Wednesday morning, City Manager Dudley Bayne said.

At Wits End

By ERMA BOMBECK

As I was driving through traffic last week, my eyes caught sight of a stalled washer repair truck with the hood raised. The driver was pacing back and forth looking at his watch and then at the road for some sign of a tow truck.

May God forgive me for the exhilaration I felt. It was like watching Miss America with meat caught in her teeth. I'm not a vindictive woman but as I drove on, all kinds of fantasies flashed through my mind.

I could hear the guy at the service station saying, "What model have you got, Mac? No, I don't mean the year you bought the truck, I'm talking about model numbers...Okay, here's what you do. Go back to the truck and look UNDER THE ENGINE. If you can't get someone to help you turn the truck over, then you get on your back and use a mirror. And don't forget, the numbers will be reversed."

"Okay, you are going to be there, say, Monday, in the afternoon? Hey, look, fella, I know you're blocking traffic, but we're approaching a weekend and a lot of cars are stranded, so give us a break. Walter's out with flu, Stan is getting married, and I'm here alone. Are you under warranty? What's the warranty number? Tell you what, if we don't make it Monday, we'll be there for sure Tuesday. Have a good day!"

Does anyone have any idea how many women's hours have gone into waiting for repairmen of one kind or another?

It's bad enough to live with Bombeck's Laws of the Suburbs:

Anything "borrowed" will break down while it is cradled in your arms.

The box marked "warranties" holds only one, and covers parts for a crepe marker which you've used only twice and has no parts.

All appliances are "seasonal." Air conditioners go out in the summer, furnaces in the winter, washers when everyone is throwing up, dryers when it's raining, lawn mowers right after summer vacation, freezers after just you've bought a cow and TV sets during the World Series.

Every appliance in your house will stop on the day after you spent your savings on a boat.

If you brag on an appliance's longevity, it will hear you.

Like repairmen, appliances do not work weekends. I always remember dancing with a fella one night who whispered in my ear, "What are you doing the rest of your life, honey?" and I replied mechanically, "Waiting for my washer repairman."

It's a lonely job...but someone has to do it.

First Christian Youth Begin 'Planned Famine'

Youth of the First Christian Church are beginning a "Planned Famine" Friday, June 13 announced the Rev. Ray Owens.

The 30-hour fast will have a two-fold purpose being that the youth participating in the program will stay together throughout the fast.

"We planned it this way so that while we share the experience of feeling hungry, we can also learn why hunger exists in the world, and what we can do about it," stated Rev. Owens.

He continued to state that many factors contribute to hunger - lifestyles, population, the energy crisis and others included. "We'll learn about them through audio-visuals and other program materials, and discuss how we can be part of the long-range solution."

The youth will each contribute $6 of their own money, $2 for each meal missed, to participate in the program. They will seek out Famine Supporters to contribute $6 donations.

"We hope to be able to raise $500," said Rev. Owens, adding, "the money we raise may help feed many families, or even an entire village, for a month or longer."

The funds will be channeled through World Visions International to help the hungry people. The interdenominational Christian humanitarian is presently supporting a number of hunger-related relief and development programs in two-dozen Latin American, Asian and African countries.

Individuals interested in learning more about the Planned Famine program, or in helping the Hereford Youth meet their goal, can call Rev. Ray Owens at 364-0373.

Ann Landers' Abnormal Hairdos

DEAR ANN LANDERS: From all you have written I know you view heterosexuality as the norm. You reason then that heterosexuals are "normal" and homosexuals are "abnormal."

How would you like it if someone described your hairdo as "abnormal?" After all, it is different from the hairdos most women wear today--therefore, it is not the norm. So according to Ann Landers, it must then be "abnormal." No name, of course--I Feel Fine In Albany

DEAR AL: You may feel fine but your reasoning is flawed. My hairdo may be outmoded and lacking in chic, but it is not abnormal. It's just an old-fashioned hairdo and I am comfortable with it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I recently became engaged to a wonderful man. We have talked about marriage for several months and I was thrilled and proud when he surprised me with an engagement ring.

The problem is, I don't like the ring he selected. At first I didn't say anything because I was afraid he might be offended. After a few days, I hinted that I'd like to exchange the ring. I could see he was hurt even though he said he'd do anything to please me.

If I exchange the ring will he get over the hurt after awhile? Shall I keep it knowing I will always wish I had another? This ring is casting a shadow over our engagement. Advise me; please, I trust your judgment.--A Virginia Vexation.

DEAR V.V.: Don't take the ring back. It could put a serious crimp in your relationship. Keep your eyes open for another ring which could be a birthday or anniversary gift.

Apparently your fiance is no reader of Ann Landers. I have repeatedly warned against springing an engagement ring as a surprise. The couple should make the selection together. Your letter supports the validity of my position. I hope others out there will learn from it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It happened again and I am furious. I just tripped on the carpet, banged my toe, dropped my book and lost the page. I also nearly broke my neck. Why? Because I was running to answer the phone only to have the caller hang up just as I said, "Hello."

Please tell your readers five rings might be enough for a person who lives in a small apartment, but it isn't enough for the average woman who might be making pastry, diapering a baby or cleaning the basement or back porch.

The Bell Telephone Company recommends that the caller wait for ten rings before hanging up. When phoning a person who is handicapped, or elderly, it is considerate to wait for 12 or even 15.

I realize people are uptight about inflation, unemployment, personal relationships and political unrest, but a little patience and consideration could help ease the tension. Counting rings can become a habit. How wonderful if we could all cultivate it.--For Whom The Bell Tolls

DEAR FOR WHOM: Patience is also a sign of maturity. Thanks for suggesting that we cultivate the habit of counting to ten.

CONFIDENTIAL TO: Correction Please: Happy to do it: The current address for the National Huntington Disease Association is 128A East 74th St., New York, N.Y. 10021.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her book, "Teen-Age Sex--Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Games Goes 13 Innings, Ends In Rain Out

Mariners, Detoit Tie

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

It took a long time to come to no decision at Detroit, but at least Dan Meyer, Tom Paciorek and Kirk Gibson have something to show for it.

The Seattle Mariners and Detroit Tigers battled for 13 innings Monday night before their American League game was rained out.

In Chicago, the White Sox and Texas Rangers also had their game rained out, but they did it quickly — in only six innings.

Seattle and Detroit were tied 3-3 when the rains made play impossible. The Rangers-White Sox contest was tied 1-1.

Baseball rules state that individual records must stand when a game is stopped after passing the point at which it would have been considered official. The game itself, however,

Wait for Commission's Decision

Risk Owners Call Foul

BALTIMORE (AP) — The owners of Genuine Risk continue their efforts today to revive the filly's chances of becoming a belated candidate for racing's Triple Crown.

After becoming the first of her sex in 65 years to win the Kentucky Derby, Genuine Risk was beaten in the Preakness Stakes on May 17 when a foul claim against winner Codex was disallowed by Maryland stewards at Pimlico Race Course.

Diana and Bertram Firestone, the owners of Genuine Risk, appealed the decision and the three stewards were the first witnesses as a hearing on the matter opened Monday before the Thoroughbred Board of the Maryland Racing Commission.

Tapes belonging to ABC, which televised the Preakness nationally, were expected to be offered into evidence today when attorney Henry Lord begins presenting the case for Genuine Risk.

A precedent for viewing network films was established in 1973, when CBS tried to prove that Secretariat had broken the Preakness record. The commissioners did not change the running time doesn't count and must be played over.

Meyer tied a club record with five hits in six trips to the plate, including a triple. Paciorek had three hits and two runs batted in while Gibson, a rookie, slammed his eighth home run of the season.

In Chicago, Texas center fielder Mickey Rivers went 2-

In other AL games Monday, Baltimore needed 11 innings to edge Milwaukee 9-8, California stopped Toronto 6-3, Cleveland crushed Oakland 10-5, Boston stopped Minnesota 6-2 and the New York Yankees downed Kansas City 5-3.

Rich Dauer had five singles in the game, giving him eight consecutive hits over his last two games and tying a Baltimore team record held by Brooks Robinson, Bob Johnson and Don Baylor.

Angels 6, Blue Jays 3
Rick Miller, Carney Lansford and Joe Rudi had first-inning doubles and Jason Thompson homered in the fifth to give California its victory over Toronto. Dave Frost, 4-3, held the Blue Jays to five singles over six innings for his first victory in a month.

Toronto starter Luis Leal, 1-1, was in the game for eight minutes as the first five California batters got hits.

Indians 10, A's 5
Wayne Garland registered his first victory since last August and his teammates tormented five Oakland pitchers with 11 hits for Cleveland's victory. The Indians also got 10 walks in the game.

Galland, 1-0, allowed three runs as he scattered eight hits over the first six innings, striking out two and walking two.

Jerry Dybzinski, Dave Rosello, Ron Hassey, Rick Manning and Mike Hargrove each drove in two runs for the Indians.

Rosello's two-run homer was his second of the season and second in two days. Dwayne Murphy and Mitchell Page homered for Oakland.

Yankees 5, Royals 3
A two-run homer by Eric Soderholm, his sixth consecutive hit over two games, highlighted New York's five-run first inning as the Yankees toppled Kansas City in a battle of American League division leaders.

Ron Guidry survived the Royals' three-run rally in the bottom of the first inning to raise his record to 6-1.

After a rain delay of one hour, 13 minutes, the Yankees batted around and chased Paul Splittorff, 3-3, who was making his first appearance in almost a month.

Soderholm's hitting streak ended in the second inning.

Sox 6, Twins 2

Right fielder Jim Dwyer hit his fifth home run of the season, driving in two runs, and threw out a Twins baserunner to spark Boston's victory over Minnesota. Dwyer's homer in the fourth snapped a 2-2 tie and gave the Red Sox the lead for good.

"The ump's deemed the field unplayable, and I agreed," Texas Manager Pat Corrales said. "It was a good game and I would like to have seen it completed. But nobody wants any of the players to get hurt."

White Sox Manager Tony La Russa agreed. "It would have been nice to finish, but the field was in bad shape," he said.

Baltimore scored twice in the bottom of the eighth on Al Bumbry's triple to tie the game 8-8.

Weaver Aces Par 3, Tournaments Scheduled

Local golfer Bobby Weaver used a five iron with a stroke of expertise Sunday as he aced the No. 10, 193 yard, par three hole at the Hereford Municipal Golf Course. Weaver rounded out his play with a total score of 41 following the low mark. Paul Hubbard, Kelly Kitchens and Mike Hill completed the foursome witnessing the shot.

In other golf news, Hereford Pro-Mike Horton announced that the Hereford Men and Women's Golf Partnerships will get under way Thursday Friday and Saturday.

Stewards J. Fred Colwill, Clinton Pitts Jr. and Edward Litzenberger, who rejected the foul claim by Vasquez, reiterated belief in their decision Monday.

All three stewards said they saw no impeding, jostling or intimidation and no willful or careless action by Cordero to injure Genuine Risk.

Lord argued that the action against Genuine Risk and jockey Jacinto Vasquez was premeditated and added: "What we have here is a 104-year-old tradition that has been sullied by jockey Cordero."

The attorney suggested that should the Firestone's position prevail, the board should hold further hearings to consider "possible strong sanctions" against Cordero.

Lord contended carrying Genuine Risk wide was "conscious behavior on the part of the jockey," which caused the filly to break stride and "change her lead when she didn't want to."

Monday's Monday Gives Dodgers Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It was the first Monday Night television show of the baseball season — and it certainly turned out to be Monday's night.

Rick Monday, out of the Los Angeles Dodgers' starting lineup these days but not completely forgotten, came through with a ninth-inning pinch homer for a 3-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

"Sutcliffe asked me to hit one out," said Monday, referring to pitcher Rick Sutcliffe. "and I told him that if I got a certain pitch, it was either feast or famine."

(Doug) Bair threw me a breaking ball that I'm sure he was not trying to get in."

Monday hit the second pitch from the Cincinnati reliever into the right field bleachers at Dodger Stadium, wrapping up a game that boosted the Dodgers' lead over the Reds to two games in the National League West.

Monday, who failed in a pinch-hitting role on Sunday, came on to hit for rookie catcher Mike Scioscia.

In other NL games, the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Philadelphia Phillies 9-3; the San Diego Padres whipped the Houston Astros 3-0; the Atlanta Braves stopped the San Francisco Giants 4-2 and the Montreal Expos nipped the Chicago Cubs 8-7 in 13 innings.

Pirates 9, Phillies 3
Vance Law, Dave Parker and pitcher Don Robinson drove in two runs each to lead Pittsburgh over Philadelphia.

The Phillies held a 3-2 lead through four innings. But the Pirates, capitalizing on two errors, by Phillies third baseman Mike Schmidt, broke open the game with five runs in the fifth. Robinson improved his record to 2-1.

Padres 3, Astros 0
Willie Montanez sparked a first-inning rally with a two-run single and Rick Wise and Eric Rasmussen combined for a four-hitter as San Diego defeated Houston.

Wise, 3-3, shut out Houston for the first five innings but left in the sixth with a pulled muscle in his left rib cage. Rasmussen finished up to earn his first save of the year.

Braves 4, Giants 2
Atlanta edged San Francisco behind Phil Niekro, who scattered 11 hits to beat the Giants for the 23rd time in his career. The Braves broke through with two runs in the fifth inning on Luis Gomez' RBI single and Glenn Hubbard's sacrifice fly. They scored their winning runs in the seventh on RBI hits by Dale Murphy and Chris Chambliss.

4-H Firsthand

June Is 4-H 'Roundup' Time

By AGNES TAYLOR
Ass't County Extension Agent

June is "Roundup" time in Texas—4-H "Roundup" that is.

The 34th Annual Texas 4-H Roundup will be held at Texas A&M University June 3-4. More than 2,000 4-H members, volunteer leaders and coaches will invade the College station campus for 40 action-packed hours of competition and fun.

Attending State 4-H Roundup from Deaf Smith County are: Becky Hughes and Glenda West in the Food Show and their coaches attending will be Dixie West and Marcy Hughes. Charlie Cobb will be assisting our Horse Judging team which consists of Casey Cobb, Shawn Wylly, and Shelley Geck. Our Grass Judging team is all girls this year. Barbara Brumley, Melissa Brumley, Deanna Strokesberry, and Toni Self. Wendy Reid and Tonya Savage will be an illustrated talk on Safety and Accident Prevention and they will be accompanied by Tommie Savage, Kent Hicks and Marcel Fischbacher will be represented in their Beef Cattle, Junior Symposium illustrated talk. We also have two senior 4-H members interviewing for scholarships. These are Gary Vogel and Carla West.

Roundup is the culmination of competitive events which began at the local community level months earlier. Winners at county and district levels will be vying for top honors in the statewide competition.

4-H members 14 to 19 years of age will present method demonstrations and illustrated talks in 25 contest areas ranging from electricity to sheep. They will also use their skills in eight judging and evaluation events from meats identification to soils judging. And 4-Hers will demonstrate their skills in marksmanship in the rifle contest, in speaking before groups in the public speaking contest, and in entertainment techniques in the share-the-fun contest.

Other events which are a part of Roundup include the State 4-H Food Show and the State 4-H Project Show. The food show allows members to exhibit food dishes which they have prepared and to answer questions about nutrition as posed by the judges. The project show involves hundreds of 4-H members in displays and exhibits depicting their particular project interest, from aerospace to crafts of all sorts.

One of the highlights of Roundup will be the awarding of Texas 4-H Foundation Scholarships. This year, 71 4-H members will receive college scholarships worth $340,000, or an average of $4,789 per recipient. These scholarships are made possible by friends of 4-H from business, industry and organizational representatives of the private sector.

Roundup will also spotlight the achievements of adults who serve as volunteers in the 4-H program. The Roundup Leaders' Luncheon on June 4 will honor 28 of the state's most outstanding 4-H volunteers. These are representative of the more than 20,000 persons who serve as 4-H volunteers in Texas each year.

June is a busy month for 4-Hers as Roundup leads the way. It is fun, exciting, and rewarding because at 4-H Roundup everyone is a winner.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

The Newspaper Bible

A LIGHT TO SHINE IN THIS DARK WORLD

But despite all the miracles He had done, most of the people would not believe He was the Messiah.

This is exactly what Isaiah the prophet had predicted: "Lord, who will believe us? Who will accept God's mighty miracles as proof?"

But they couldn't believe, for as Isaiah also said: "God has blinded their eyes and hardened their hearts so that they can neither see nor understand nor turn to Me to heal them."

Isaiah was referring to Jesus when he made this prediction, for he had seen a vision of the Messiah's glory.

However, even many of the Jewish leaders believed Him to be the Messiah but wouldn't admit it to anyone because of their fear that the Pharisees would excommunicate them from the synagogue.

For they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God.

Jesus shouted to the crowds, "If you trust Me, you are really trusting God.

For when you see Me, you are seeing the one who sent Me.

I have come as a Light to shine in this dark world, so that all who put their trust in Me will no longer wander in the darkness.

If anyone hears Me and doesn't obey Me, I am not his judge -- for I have come to save the world and not to judge it.

But all who reject Me and My message will be judged at the Day of Judgment by the truths I have spoken.

For these are not My own ideas, but I have told you what the Father said to tell you.

And I know His instructions lead to eternal life: so whatever He tells Me to say, I say!"

John 12:37-50

YOU AUTO KNOW

By Don Henslee

Q. I'm all out of solutions for my 1979 Ford Bronco. It's cutting out on acceleration and rough idling. I thought it might be throttle linkage and plate adjustment. No, I've cleaned the fuel filter and checked the carburetor float level. What's next?
A. Be sure your accelerator pump plunger (diaphragm) is not deteriorated. With the choke plate open, look into the carburetor throat as the accelerator pedal is rapidly depressed. A steady stream of gas should discharge. If it does not, replace the pump plunger. Also, an air leak into the intake manifold will lean out the fuel mixture and cause rough idling and poor acceleration. Squirt a 50-50 mixture of S A E 10W motor oil and kerosene around the base of the carburetor and intake manifold with the engine running at idle. If the mixture is sucked inward or engine speed increases replace the gasket.
