HISD To Consider Pairing Plan, Raises

By PAUL SIMS Managing Editor

Hereford's six elementary schools will be "paired" -putting grades kindergarten through third in half the campuses and fourth through sixth in the other half--during a special meeting of the school board at 6 p.m. today.

Trustees are expected to approve a recommendation from Superintendent Harrell Holder to pair Aikman-Bluebonnet, Tierra Blanca-Shirley and Northwest-West Central.

Holder also will recommend tonight that the school board approve an average salary increase of 12 percent for teachers. The increase includes a 5.1 percent raise in the state's base salaries.

"Pairing" -- the brainchild of Holder and the six elementary-school principals--is designed to balance pupil-teacher ratios throughout the school district and eliminate six teaching positions by not filling expected vacancies.

Declining student numbers in the district have caused both an imbalance in pupil-teacher ratios and loss of state funding.

Aikman, Tierra Blanca and Northwest would contain grades kindergarten through third next school year, while Bluebonnet, Shirley and West Central will have fourth through sixth.

"We feel this (plan) is the best utilization of space and personnel," Holder said this morning.

"Shirley, for example, had to be selected as an intermediate campus because it would not hold four grade levels. There's just not enough room to handle kindergarten through third grade in Shirley." he added. Shirley is the smallest elementary campus in the school

Declining student numbers caused a decrease of $91,000 in state funds, the amount of which are based on average daily attendance. Holder has projected an additional $50,000 loss in state money for next fiscal year because of an anticipated further decline.

The lost funding, coupled with rising utility and other costs, prompted the creation of the plan, along with another which would have changed elementary school attendance zones.

Holder said in a public meeting during the latter part of May that he would recommend to trustees that they adopt the redistricting plan to give the school district an additional year to prepare for pairing.

Trustees, by a 5-2 vote with David Hutchins and Paul Ramirez dissenting, approved the pairing plan last week. Hutchins and Ramirez, like Holder, said they wanted to give the school administration a year to organize the plan.

If either pairing or redistricting were not adopted for next school year, a tax increase would have become necessary. Holder had stated in numerous discussions on the enrollment

However, a "slight" tax increase will still be necessary next fiscal year to finance a teacher pay raise, according to the superintendent.

'We cannot raise our salaries to a point where we're competitive with other districts without a slight tax increase."

Revolutionary Quits in Iran

By The Associated Press

Commander Abu Sharif of Iran's revolutionary guards resigned today, apparently under pressure from Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. Sharif was appointed recently by President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, and the resignation was seen as another setback for the president, who has been struggling to assert his authority ever since his election less than five months ago.

The resignation letter, quoted by Iran's official Pars news agency said Sharif wanted the revolutionary guards corps "to be an arm to the deprived of the world in furthering the Islamic revolution of Iran. Unfortunately monopolism of power and secterianism and existing tendencies prevented us from this goal. Any possibility of continuing the work was curtailed. I had no choice but to resign."

The resignation came the day after Khomeini told 3,000 revolutionary guards who marched on the U.S. Embassy in Tehran — where some of the 53 American hostages have been held for the past 227 days — that there might be traitors among the guards corps.

Khomeini said he would appoint a representative to inform him of developments within the guard's ranks. The guards have been criticized for not cooperating with the armed forces and not obeying the orders of the revolutionary courts.

In a message read at the rally by his son Ahmad, Khomeini said: "Is it possible that there are some traitors who h their way amongst you? They are instigating disorder and arrest the people illegally. You should identify those causing chaos. You should hand them over to the revolutionary courts.'L

Khomeini strongly condemned any deviation from the principles of Islam and any form of what he called "opportunism and clique mentality," telling the guards: "You overthrew the shah's criminal regime, but the enemy is not defeated completely and supporters of Satan (the United States) are plotting against you."

In other developments:

-London's Financial Times reported that Iran, apparently fearing another freeze on its overseas assets, transferred all its gold stocks - 14 tons valued at $300 million - from Western countries back to Tehran. The United States and some of its allies froze Iranian bank assets in their respective countries following the hostage-taking.

-Iranian Oil Minister Ali Akbar Moinfar conferred today in Tehran with a Yugoslav delegation. Tehran Radio said the Yugoslavs hoped to purchase "large amounts" of oil and gas exchange for supplying spare parts for Iran's oil industries and participating in petro-chemical projects in Iran. Negotiations were said to be continuing.

-Six Iranian troops were killed and seven wounded during a clash with what the government radio called "unlawful armed people" in Oshnaviyeh in northwestern Iran. Minority Arabs and Kurds there have been demanding greater autonomy from Iran's central government.

Within the past week, Khomeini has announced a "Cultural Revolution" to eliminate all remnants of the regime of the depose shah, and has demanded that non-Moslems be purged from the state-run radio and television networks, the primary voices of his regime.

Khomeini's latest crackdown on non-Moslem allies in the revolution came less than a month after he tried to purge leftists from the universities in a move that spurred a week of bloody rioting. More blood was spilled last Thursday when Moslem hardliners attacked a rally of 100,000 Iranian leftists at a stadium near the U.S. compound.

When the crowds swept toward the embassy, revolutionary guardsmen in the streets and Moslem militants in the U.S. compound opened fire with automatic weapons, killing five and injuring about 300, the Iranian media reported.

The rioting underlined the rift between Khomeini's Moslem militants and the leftist factions that united with him to topple Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's government 16

In New York, former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark told a news conference he will call for congressional inquiries into American involvement in Iran.

Supreme Court Rules Life Can Be Patented

WASHINGTON (AP) -The Supreme Court ruling that forms of life created in a laboratory may be patented just like any other product has removed a major barrier to widespread industrial use of genetic engineering.

Carter Might Veto B-1

WASHINGTON (AP) -President Carter might veto a huge weapons procurement bill if it retains a provision to revive the B-1 bomber. administration officials say.

'The man doesn't want that system," said one official, who asked not to be identified.

Officials said Carter also is concerned that House and Senate versions of the bill, while differing, could create a pattern of unacceptably high spending in future

The Senate Armed Services Committee last week rejected Carter's appeals and approved a $51.9 billion weapons procurement and Congress, possibly accepting research bill that would less than half the $6 billion authorize spending about $5 billion more next year than he requested.

Earlier, the House passed an authorization bill about $1.2 billion higher than the Senate committee version.

The House and Senate will have to iron out the ditferences before the legislation goes to the White House, and administration officials said the president will make up his mind about a possible veto after looking at the final version.

They hinted Carter might be prepared to give ground on some items added by

WASHINGTON (AP) - Almost a year after Congress and President Carter decided the nation needed a crash program to develop synthetic fuels, House and Senate negotiators have approved a multibillion-dollar bill to launch the industry. Sen. Bennett J. Johnston, D-La., chairman of a Senate Energy and Natural Resources subcommittee on energy regulation, said the bill will accomplish more to ease U.S. dependence on foreign oil than has been done in the seven years since the Arab oil embargo. In finishing months of work on the measure Monday, the conferees also directed President Carter to resume filling the strategic petroleum reserve, the U.S. stockpile of oil, at the rate of at least 100,000 barrels a day.

Last month, the negotiators approved the centerpiece of the legislation, a $20 billion, five-year program of loan and price guarantees aimed at building plants that could produce synthetic fuels.

Johnston called the final produce a "cookie jar" that contains something for almost everyone, with provisions ranging from incentives for solar power to fossil Johnston predicted the measure will get easy House and Senate approval next.

House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, called the bill the most significant piece of legislation to be considered by the current Congress.

It was last summer, as lines of angry motorists formed at gasoline pumps, that the House voted to establish a $3 billion synthetic fuels industry that could manufacture fuels from non-petroleum materials such as oil or gas made, from coal, or already-existing oil extracted from materials such as shale or tar sands.

In an address to the nation last July 15, Carter went further, proposing an $88 billion crash program including creation of a government corporation to oversee the

Rather Admits Using

Marijuana, Heroin

NEW YORK (AP) - Newsman Dan Rather, who will succeed Walter Cronkite as CBS News' top anchorman, says he has tried heroin. smoked marijuana and "knows a fair amount about LSD."

Rather told a Ladies' Home Journal interviewer that curiosity has led him to try illicit drugs.

"As a reporter -and I don't want to say that that's the only context - I've tried everything," Rather said, "I've never been a social user of any of these things, but my curiosity has carried me into a lot of interesting areas.

The 48-year-old reporter said that the heroin incident occurred in 1955 or 1956.

"I had someone at the Houston police station shoot me with heroin so I could do a story about it. The experience was a special kind of hell. I came out understanding full well how one could be addicted to 'smack' and quickly," he said.

Babies Head for Big House To Remain With Mothers

LOWELL, Fla. (AP) Three-week-old Marc Stephen Miller, bundled in a bright yellow blanket, has moved into the state prison here after a circuit court ruling that a baby's place is with his mother - even if she's behind bars.

Prison officials say more babies may be on the way.

Marc was reunited Monday with a beaming Elizabeth Miller in the lobby of the Florida Correctional Institution for Women.

"It feels wonderful," Miss Miller said as she cuddled the baby.

A prison guard immediately escorted mother and son to a makeshift nursery and cell at the prison hospital.

Prison Superintendent Bill Booth said five other pregnant women are serving time at the facility.

"I think we can handle one mother and one baby at a time." he said. "But if we have more than that we are going to have to make other arrangements." Miss Miller, 31, who has refused to identify the child's father, was pregnant when she was sentenced in December to five years in prison for grand larceny. She will be eligible for parole in January 1982. Marc was placed in temporary foster care after he was born May 22 at a hospital in the neighboring central Florida town of Ocala.

The reunion was made possible June 6 when Marion County Circuit Judge Wallace Sturgis granted Miss Miller's petition to keep the child. Welfare officials had argued a prison was a poor environment for a baby and proposed placing him in a foster home until her parole.

"I can find no compelling reason to take the child from his mother," Sturgis ruled. "An infant should remain with his mother if possible."

The ruling was the first under a 1979 state law that allows judges to determine custody in such cases based on the best interests of the child.

"I wanted him to know that I loved him and that I wanted him and that he is the most important thing in my life." Miss Miller said in a recent interview. "He gave me life. I'm a different person now."

Hester Sims, a child welfare worker for the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, described Marc as "a real good baby who sleeps well and eats good."

Mrs. Sims said the reunion was "kind of sad because I just think that a baby needs to be brought up in a home and her baby, Booth said. But the door to their pale green cell will not be locked because of fire regulations, he said. Under Sturgis' order, Marc will stay with his mother during the "primary care" period of six months. Then Miss Miller will "return to the prison rehabilitation programs while the hospital staff cares for the child."

The mother will be allowed regular visits with her baby, Sturgis said. After one year, the judge will review the Earlier, Dallas police said they released a man after being able to link him to the slaying.

Police arrested the man for public intoxication after a waitress told police she heard him saying he had to leave town because "they had found that woman."

Mrs. Gore, a 30-year-old mother and former fifthgrade reading teacher, was hacked to death with the family's three-foot ax. The killer struck her repeatedly, then apparently took a shower to wash off the blood. Police said no valuables were taken, and the woman was fully clothed.

Neighbors found Mrs. Gore's body Friday night after her husband Allan, who had tried to reach her by phone several times, implored them to check on her.

Gore, a computer software supervisor for Rockwell International, left about 4:30 p.m. Friday on a business trip to St. Paul, Minn.

He left for work about 8 a.m., and neighbors saw Mrs. Gore about 9:30 a.m. Police said the slaying probably occurred before nightfall.

The couple's 1-year-old daughter was found crying: hungry and wet - but unharmed - in her crib. .

4-H Firsthand 4-H Today's Largest Youth Organization

By AGNES TAYLOR Ass't County Extension Agent

4-H today is the largest out-of-school educational youth organization in the United States. It reaches more than 5 million young people (165,000 in Texas) aged 9 to 19 on the farm, in the city and in between.

4-H members learn by doing. They are involved in a wide variety of practical real-life activities ranging from agriculture to wood science. 4-H programs vary widely according to youth needs, and community resources

The 4-H mission is to help young people become selfdirecting, productive and contributing members of society. Programs help youth develop inquiring minds. learn practical skills, strengthen decision making competency, improve communications and interpersonal relationships and ultimately to share their skills and experiences in a leadership role.

Key to the success of the 4-H program is the cadre of more than 575,000 volunteer leaders (23,000 in Texas). including many junior and teen leaders, who in turn are supported by county, state and national staffs of the Cooperative Extension Service of State Land-Grant Universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Q. My wife has a 1979 Cordoba that she has driven since the car was driven off the showroom floor last summer. Even though it is used only in town, it has always used more oil that it should. I find no signs of leaks and wondered if you might have any suggestions?

A. Your wife may have "babied" ner car too much.

The cylinder walls in a new engine are smooth, and about 1,000 miles of driving are needed before piston rings seat sufficiently to effectively prevent oil from seeping past. "Babying" the engine could cause glaze to build up between cylinder walls and rings, preventing offective sealing. Have effective sealing. Have your wife drive on the freeway for 10 minutes every time she starts the car for the next several days. If the oil loss does not stop, you'll have to hone the cylinder wails and replace the piston rings.

"I am opposed to giving out information which would potentially lead to suicide." Welu said. He termed the hour-long film "propaganda for suicide."

The documentary depicted filmed discussions between New York artist Jo Roman and friends who were told of her plans to commit suicide.

The 62-year-old artist died June 10, 1979 after washing down 35 Seconals with champagne. Her death was not shown on the program. but her widower described her last hours of life.

Mrs. Roman originally discussed killing herself when she reached age 70, but moved the date up when she discovered she had cancer.

The complaint, filed against PBS, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. affiliate station KHUT-TV and station owner University of Houston, sought to halt broadcast of the program nationwide.

PBS attorneys from Washington flew to Houston with a 22-page rebuttal after they were warned of a possible suit. But they did not know who the plaintiff was until the complaint was filed at 4:30 p.m.

They were not asked to present the rebuttal.

Singleton delivered his ruling in a 10-minute session with attorneys.

'The public has right to see the program," he said. PBS attorney Eric Bernthal said the decision to dismiss the case upheld several Supreme Court decisions against prior restraint, the censorship of material before its release.

"What it boils down to is the plaintiff's personal ciriticism of the program." he said of the complaint.

He said broadcasters should retain editorial control of their programs and that any other decision would have constituted a breach of First Amendment rights.

'It would make courts the editors of the air," he said. "Choosing Suicide" is the second PBS program to raise controversy in two months. And KUHT-TV has been involved in court action over both programs.

In early May the station chose not to air "Death of a Princess," the story of a Saudi Arabian princess who was executed, and a federal suit was filed seeking to force KUHT-TV to 'show the program.

U.S. District Judge Gabrielle McDonald first ordered the station to air the program, but that ruling was overturned by a three-judge federal appeals panel which said the state university had the right to cancel the broadcast. As in the case of "Prin cess," several PBS affiliate stations chose not to air the documentary on suicide. Fifteen stations in Connecticutt. Maine and Mississippi, as well as in Cleveland, outlets Atlanta, Nashville, Tenn., Pensacola, Fla., and Salt Lake City, did not broadcast the program.

Many stations opted to broadcast an hour-long discussion show, "Choosing Suicide: The Implications, following the documentary. Others, including Houston and Dallas, aired their own local discussion programs.

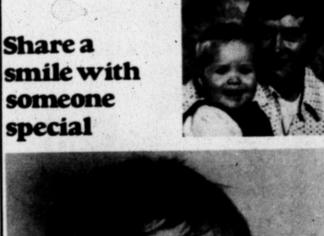

Welu said he would have preferred the documentary being divided into several short segments, with a panel offering r rebuttals after each segment.

"As it is the public gets an hour-long subjective view."

And he added before the program aired that he was afraid not all the panelists would be as willing to oppose the views as he was.

"I know what I will say to the Houston audience," he said. "But I can't control what will be said nation-

Class Showings Highlight AAU Meet

The Hereford YMCA-Noon Kiwanis Amateur Athletic Track Meet held Saturday might have only been a summer recreational outlet for some, but to others (approximately 550 entrants) it was the obvious site to continue their track achievements.

And ironically enough, a mere 10 competitors out of those 550 we entrants from Hereford, and six of those managed places in the meet. Hereford's 440 relay team made up of Hereford High sprinters Norman Brown, Harold Terry, Ray Harris and ex-HHS standout Paul Bell (now participating for West Texas State University) bested their field and landed first place honors in the 19 and over age bracket

Bradley Cloud became the only other representative of Hereford to place in the day-long affair after netting competition after clocking a second place in the 200 meter dash with a time of 26.4.

But the big event of the day, and one which few people witnessed came as Class AAA pole vault title holder Dale Jenkins of 9nyder, sailed to a 16-6 mark to capture that event in the meet. Jenkins winning mark in the meet pushed his best vault to one foot higher over his previous AAA title spring, and netted him the third highest jump in Texas Schoolboy history.

Randy Hall of Port LaVaca cleared 16-10 in 1977 and is the current record holder in the event. Now, as a Texas A&M trackster, Hall recently set an NCAA record after winning the national collegiate title with a vault of 18-21/4.

Corpus Christi's Rick Hayley is the other top record holder in the event with a pull of 16-71/2 recorded in 1978.

Clay Wright of Panhandle, finished second behind Jenkins with a jump of 14-8 (eight inches short of his best as one of the Panhandle's leading vaulters). Wright finished third in the event during Class A state meet.

Texas A&M high, jumper Scott Roberson also turned in one of the meets leading performances after he leaped 6-8 to win the high jump competition in the 19 and over age division.

As an Amarillo Tascosa High School senior, Roberson captured the Class AAAA state high-jump championship in 1976. He was the 1978 Southwest Conference runner-up finished sixth in 1977 as a competitor for Southern Methodist University.

Tate Hopes To Bounce Back

By ED SCHUYLER JR. AP Sports Writer

"I don't want to lose because I've been there before," said John Tate. several days before his first heavyweight championship defense.

But he did lose the World Boxing Association title to Mike Weaver last March 30. and now he is somewhere four years ago in the Olympic Games, and he had a chance at lasting fame when he fought double gold medalist Teofilo Stevenson of Cuba.

But Tate was knocked out in the first round and was cast in the shadows of such U.S. teammates as Sugar Ray Leonard, Howard Davis and the Brothers Spinks.

Davey Lopez Leads All-Star Vote Tally

By HAL BUCK AP Sports Writer

The votes keep pouring in and on the night of July 8 at Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles, the second baseman for the National League All Star team will be Davey Lopes of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Lopes now has 1,047,577 votes, the first player in the All Star election to go over the 1 million mark this season. He is a runaway choice at his position, leading runnerup Dave Cash of San Diego by a mere 800,000 or so computer card votes.

Lopes is a logical choice and a good one. The hometown Dodger fans will love the idea of having him there in the starting lineup. But there is an interesting wrinkle attached to his lopsided election.

Because of the absence of high caliber competition at second base in the National League, there is no race in the balloting at that position. Lopes is getting most of the votes and is becoming a distinct threat to win the trophy given to the leading vote-getter in the fan balloting. The award is sponsored by Gillette.

It has been claimed in each of the last three seasons by Rod Carew of the California Angels, who has been the people's choice ever since Commissioner Bowie Kuhn returned the vote to the fans in 1970.

In 10 years of fan voting, not counting this season, Carew received 22,853,453 total votes, more than any player in either league. For consistency, however, not even Carew could top Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench, the only player with more than 1 million votes in every year that the fans have

Chicago Pitcher, Texas Stage Comebacks for AL Victories

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

This is about two comebacks. The one by Wayne Garland of the Cleveland Indians is in its second year. The one by the Texas Rangers took only a couple of outs.

Garland, who underwent rotator cuff surgery on his right shoulder in May 1978, pitched his first complete game in more than a year Monday night, scattering nine hits as the Cleveland Indians made it five victories in a row by defeating the Chicago White Sox 5-3.

"There's no doubt things are looking up. They're Rusty Staub's RBI single looking better than they did in the past," said Garland.

The Rangers, like Garland and the Indians, trailed 3-0 at one point. But they rallied for six runs in the ninth inning on eight singles and cooled off the Kansas City Royals 6-

Meanwhile, the Detroit Tigers pulled a minicomeback with two runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to nip Milwaukee 6-5 in the opener of a doubleheader. The Brewers took the nightcap 5-3.

In other American League games, the New York Yankees downed the Seattle Mariners 6-3, the Oakland A's outlasted the Boston Red Sox 11-8, the Baltimore Orioles beat the California Angels 5-2 and the Minnesota Twins blanked the Toronto Blue Jays 4-0.

Cliff Johnson's infield hit with the bases loaded tied the score in the seventh inning and Rick Manning followed with a two-run single.

Rangers 6, Royals 3

The Rangers, held scoreless on four hits through eight innings, launched their ninth-inning rally on a leadoff single by Pat Putnam. One out later, Wills singled and, with two out, Richie Zisk singled Putnam home .h the first run.

chased loser Dan Quisenberry. Jim Norris and Sundberg tagged Gary Christenson for run-scoring hits and Tucker Ashford and Putnam connected off Rawly Eastwick.

Tigers 6-3, Brewers 5-5 Al Cowens' RBI single with two out in the ninth inning capped a two-run rally as Detroit won the opener. Cecil Cooper hit a two-run homer and Gorman Thomas had a solo shot for the Brewers in the nightcap. Detroit trailed 5-4 in the opener but tied the score when Champ Summers doubled home Kirk Gibson, who led off the ninth with a bunt single and was sacrificed to second. Cowens then singled home the winning run. In the second game, Reggie Cleveland, making his first start of the season, blanked the Tigers on one hit until the eighth when Steve Kemp and Richie Hebner homered.

Yankees 6, Mariners 3

Graig Nettles drove in three runs with two doubles and a home run and Tommy John scattered 10 hits in eight innings to become the AL's first nine-game winner. Nettles rapped RBI doubles in the first and fifth innings and homered in the seventh. Jim Spencer drove in two runs with a single in the first and a sacrifice fly in the fifth.

A's 11, Red Sox 8 Oakland used a 16-hit attack to end Boston's sixgame winning streak despite two home runs by Jim Rice and a three-run shot by Fred Lynn in the ninth. The A's scored three runs in the first inning, starting with consecutive triples by Rickey Henderson and Dwayne Murphy, who scored on a wild pitch. Dave Revering and Wayne Gross walked and Revering scored on a single by Mitchell Page. The A's made it 5-0 in the fourth on singles by Murphy. Revering, Gross and Tony Armas. Mickey Klutts doubled a run across and Revering added a two-run single in the fifth while Klutts rapped another RBI double in the eighth.

Orioles 5, Angels 2

Terry Crowley's two-run single capped a three-run Baltimore first inning, Kiko Garcia singled two runs across in the eighth and Jim Palmer and Tim Stoddard combined for a six-hitter as Baltimore defeated California for the seventh consecutive time in a regularseason game. The Orioles are 10-1 against the Angels counting last year's playoffs.

Twins 4, Blue Jays 0 Geoff Zahn scattered nine hits and pitched his third shutout of the season in ending Minnesota's fourgame losing streak. The Twins scored in the second inning on Pete Mackanin's single. Glenn Adams doubled a run home in the third and Minnesota scored its final two runs in the seventh on singles by John Castino and Butch Wynegar, a double steal and Rick Sofield's RBI double.

CHICAGO (AM) - Bill Virdon of the Houston Astros is a calculating, patient manager.who, like the poker player in the song knows 'When to hold 'em, know when to fold 'em, know when to walk away, and know when to run.

It appeared Virdon was caught short when he started his left-handed hitting lineup Monday against Rick Reuschel and the Chicago Cubs. Reuschel came up with a pulled hamstring after one inning, and left-hander Willie Hernandez took over Virdon sent Bruce Bochy to bat for Craig Reynolds. Hernandez unloaded a wild pitch, and Virdon sent Julio Gonzalez to run for Ashby. Bochy walked. Jeff Leonard ran for Bochy, and Bill Caudill relieved Hernandez.

Caudill walked pinchbatter Rafael Landestoy to fill the bases, and also Terry Puhl to force in in the tying run before Doug Capilla let loose a wild pitch that enabled Leonard to score with the winning run.

They booed Bert Blyleven in Pittsburgh Monday night. But if it hurt anyone, it might have been the Cincinnati Reds. Seemingly oblivious to a generally negative hometown crowd, the beleagured Pirate right-hander pitched one of his strongest games of the season to help Pittsburgh beat the Reds 5-3.

Pitching through jeers and occasional cheers, Blyleven scattered nine hits before needing relief help with one out in the eighth.

The dramatic reaction, of course, was pointed at Blyleven's row with Manager Chuck Tanner which led to the pitcher leaving the club on April 28. Blyleven was upset because he felt that Tanner didn't show any faith

The pitcher rejoined the Pirates on May 9.

In other National League action, the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 in 12 innings; the San Francisco Giants stopped the Montreal Expos 5-1; the Atlanta Braves took a 6-3 decision over the St. Louis Cardinals; the San Diego Padres nipped the New York Mets 3-2 and the Houston Astros defeated the Chicago Cubs 2-1.

Blyleven left the game after giving up three straight singles in the eighth, including an RBI hit by Dan Driessen. Kent Tekulve allowed another RBI single. by Johnny Bench, before Grant Jackson came on to gain his second save.

Manny Trillo doubled home Larry Bowa from second base with one out in the 12th inning to break a tie and send Philadelphia past Los Angeles. After Bowa's single, he was awarded second base on a balk by loser Rick Sutcliffe, 1-4. Trillo followed with his twobase hit to right center.

Reliever Ron Reed, 4-1, earned the victory, pitching only the 11th inning. Tug McGraw pitched the 12th to pick up his sixth save of the season.

Giants 5, Expos 1 Right-hander Ed Whitson pitched a six-hitter to lead San Francisco over injuryriddled Montreal. The Expos played without four injured regulars. Whitson yielded a leadoff homer to Gary Carter, his 13th of the season, in the second inning before blanking the Expos the rest of the way. The Giants tied the game in the bottom of the second off rookie Charlie Lea on Johnnie LeMaster's RBI grounder. The Giants went ahead to stay with two runs in the third.

Bravés 6, Cardinals 2 Chris Chambliss drove in five runs with a three-run homer and two singles and Dale Murphy scored three times, leading Atlanta over St. Louis.

Ozzie Smith smashed three hits and singled in the winning run in the eighth inning as San Diego ended a seven-game losing streak by beating New York.

Pinch-hitter Tim Flannery started the game-winning rally off reliever Jeff Reardon, 4-3, with a single. Jim Richards then sacrificed pinch-runner Paul Dade to second to set the stage for Smith's game-winning hit.

Rollie Fingers, 6-6, worked two innings in relief to pick up the victory, and Bob Shirley pitched the final inning to earn his fifth save

DEAR DR. LAMB - Will you kindly discuss hot flashes in one of your columns? After my periods stopped I had perhaps 12 a day for about a year and then they practically stopped for about a year and now I have them again about one every hour. I know some doctors prescribe a hormone medicine to lessen them. But I'm reluctant to take hormones. I feel they might

I Dream Of cause more harm than good. DEAR READER - Hot flashes are one of the most annoying symptoms of the menopause. You might be surprised to know that people have hot flashes that are not caused by the menopause, too.

This includes men. We all have a temperature regulating center in the floor of the brain. When the body needs to lose heat, this mechanism sends signals through the nervous system to increase the blood flow in the skin. That's why some people have a flushed appearance at the same time they're having a hot flash. It also induces sweating which is a means of producing evaporative cooling. All these mechanisms are useful when the body needs to lose heat, but when the heat loss mechanism goes berserk as with hot flashes caused by the menopause, it can be rather disconcerting.

We don't really know why the temperature regulating center gets out of adjustment but it seems to have something to do with the pulsating release of hormones which comes and goes and may be some compensating mecha-nism for the loss of female hormones normally produced by the ovaries. Periodic release of adrenaline may be a factor and that's one of the reasons why some doctors now use Inderal to help control hot flashes. Apparently this is useful in some people." When the hot flashes are small amount of female hormones often helps relieve them. The amount required is often below the level that could be a significant factor in increasing the risk of uterine cancer. Another approach that is currently being studied is the possibility of using the hormone progesterone rather than the estrogen hormones. Progesterone has not been shown to be associated with any increased risk of cancer whatsoever. Your doctor might want to try that in your case. There's no set time for how long hot flashes should last. With the standard menopause they usually don't last more than a couple of years. The problem is there are other factors which can cause hot flashes as well. That's why it's important to have a medical examination.

We don't see it much anymore, but when tuberculosis was a major disease problem in the United States many tubercular patients had night sweats. I cite this example just to point out the diversity of things that can be associated with a temperature regulating mechanism getting out of balance for whatever

DEAR DR. LAMB - I would like to know what you would suggest as the best body building plan. What type of diet should I follow? What type of training? Isometrics or weights? Should I lift every day or every other day? I'm 15 years old and I'm in good physical shape and am very active. I'm 5 feet 5 and weigh

DEAR READER - I think strength training that builds and develops your muscles adequately is important for good health. Some people develop these naturally with their type of daily activity and others need a little help. Many people are limited in the sports they can do because they're basically not strong enough to be good partici-

Since you're only 15 years old, I think you should limit your enthusiasm for heavy weight lifting. Nature designed us pretty well and if you limit yourself to lifting weights that are less than your total body weight you probably will do all right. I would rather see young indi-viduals wait until their skeleton has matured before they really get into heavier lifting. Your skeleton is matured when you stop growing. Meanwhile, you can do a lot to develop good strong muscles by using smaller weights and not overloading the weight training machines that are available in many gymnasiums and health clubs. Most studies show that you can do a lot to develop the strength and size of your muscles by an adequate workout every other day. Once you've developed your strength and muscles to the desired level, you can usually maintain them with a workout once a amount of protein. You can get that with a well-balanced diet that provides you at least 100 grams of good quality protein every day. That good quality protein can come from milk (fortified skim milk is even better than ordinary milk for this purpose) and good lean meats, which can come from beef, chicken or Second, you need to consume enough calories. If you're not getting enough calories for your level of physical activity, the protein may be used for energy rather than building. The number of calories you'll need is directly related to your daily level of physical activity.

You do not need expensive protein powders and protein upplements. There are only grams of protein in a whole pound of lean muscle. That means you only need to add 100 grams of protein to your body for each pound of real muscle you grow.

Butterfly is Pitted Against $85 Million Center

By COREY SANDLER Associated Press Writer

GUILDERLAND. N.Y. (AP) - It seems almost like a rerun of the snail darter affair. On one side: a pale blue, two-inch butterfly. On the other: an $85 million super-shopping mall.

The would-be developers say, however, that they have the solution: a butterfly corral in the parking lot, behind an eight-foot chain link fence, with an observation tower for nature-

Opponents of the proposed Crossgates Mall say the Pine Bush site of the project is one of the last remaining homes for the Karner Blue butterfly. The 4,000 acres of stark sand dunes and pitch pines also provide a habitat for such scarce species of life as the prairie warbler, the hognose snake, the woodland jumping mouse, the spadefoot toad and the pine vole.

The Pine Bush is a seemingly misplaced piece of Cape Cod seashore, located 175 miles inland in upstate Maintenance of its peculiar ecology requires a natural or set fire every five to ten years. The fire prevents intrusion of alien hardwood trees and grasses.

A state hearing on the project is nearing the start of its fifth month and the Karner Blue butterfly is just one of the issues. Organized opposition to the project dates back nearly two years, and the opponents admit that they hope to drive away the developer by causing continuing, expensive delays. The $130 million Tellico Dam project of the Tennessee Valley Authority was delayed for almost three years by a battle over the snail darter, a rare, threeinch fish protected by the Endangered Species Act. The authority ultimately transplanted the snail darters to another area and the floodgates were finally closed last November.

The Pine Bush was formed more than 10,000 years ago as water began to drain from glacial Lake Albany, once part of the last major ice sheet that covered all of eastern New York and New England north of New York City. The waters left a delta of sand, and over the years winds whipped the land into

Until the postwar construction boom of the 1950s, the Pine Bush area had been considered a useless barrier development. In of a "no-man's land," ruled over by highwaymen and renegade Indians who plundered passing stagecoaches on the King's Highway between Albany and Schenectady. Escaped slaves, convicts and other refugees from society also made the nearly inaccessible pine barren their home.

Today, the Pine Bush is a prime piece of real estate, located between affluent suburbs. No longer isolated, it is surrounded by urban sprawl and cut into quarters by highways.

Preservationists, joined by neighborhood groups, say the time has come to try to save some part of the Pine

"We do not have the right to pave over every piece of vacant land," said Don Rittner, president of the Pine Bush Historic Preservation Project.

'We welcome the environmental hearings," said Bruce Kenan, managing partner of the Pyramid Crossgates Co., a Syracusebased group of shopping mall companies in the northeast. "We don't want ourselves or anybody else spoiling our environment."

Kenan said his company has done its homework on environmental concerns. Crossgates has proposed building a corral around a stand of lupine - the favorite habitat of the Karner Blue — on the mall site to keep people away. "The rest of the questions are engineering problems," Kenan said.

Crossgates also has offered to purchase a 65-acre plot of undeveloped Pine Bush land and donate it to the City of Albany, "should the project be implemented." Almost every day since February, attorneys and specialists for Crossgates and the state Department of Environmental Conservation have presented testimony on the economic and environmental effects of the proposed mall. Neighborhood residents and groups have complained about the tens of thousands of cars they expect to choke the nearby streets, about problems of air and water pollution they believe will come and about the loss of the small-town life.

Fort Worth School District Employees Indicted

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - A special Tarrant County grand jury has indicted 11 people, including five Fort Worth School District employees, on a total of 19 cases of theft, bribery and perjury. Prosecutors also said the investigation may continue for three or four more weeks.

"The grand jury is not through with its investigation and there may be additional indictments returned," Assistant District Attorney Steve Chaney said.

The indictments were returned Monday by grand jurors investigating the alleged misuse of $500,000 in school funds during the past

Randy M. Ingle, school district transportation director, was charged with seven cases of felony theft.

The indictments alleged the 53-year-old Ingle stole several items, including a tractor, trailer, cultivator, shotgun, rifle and two airplane tickets.

Other schoool officials named in indictments were:

Metal shop foreman Richard Shelton, indicted on one count of felony theft and one count of aggravated

- Plumbing shop foreman J.W. Swackhamer, indicted on one count of perjury and one of bribery.

Lawnmower shop foreman Harvey Weast, indicted on one count of felony theft.

Cafeteria machinist repairman Jerry Tate, indicted for aggravated per-

Indictments also named six owners or salesmen of companies that sell to the district's maintenance and transportation departments.

School board President Dr. Richard O'Neal said he expected an emergency meeting of the school board to be called this week to "fine tune" the district's policy for dealing with indicted employees and Chaney said all the indicted employees and vendors but one had made arrangements through their lawyers to surrender to authorities.

"I think some of the perjury indictments will show the next witnesses that they better tell the truth," Chaney

As he spoke, five present and former school administrators, some accompanied by defense attorneys, were waiting to give testimony to the grand jury.

The five witnesses are:

Ward, Associate Superintendent Tommy Taylor, school purchasing agent

Dave Langham, maintenance director John D. Cooper and former school principal C.J.

Superintendent Gerald FAA Investigators Sifting Through Wreckage of Planes

By GREG THOMPSON

Associated Press Writer UNIVERSAL CITY, Texas

(AP) - Federal Aviation Administration investigators today sifted through the wreckage of two small planes that collided over Randolph Cheatham. Air Force Base, killing three people and injuring another. A 1930s vintage Stearman biplane and a single-engine Cessna apparently collided in mid-air Monday night, then crashed on a runway at the military base, 25 miles northeast of San Antonio. The dead were identified as Perry Shankle Jr., a prominent San Antonio businessman and noted wildlife photographer; Tom Van Etten, 50, an insurance executive; and William M. Greig, 37.

Injured in the crash was Shankle's daughter, Michelle, age unknown, authorities said. She was transferred to Brooke Army Medical Center, then flown Southwest Texas Methodist Hospital in San Antonio for treatment of undetermined injuries.

All were from San Antonio. Authorities said Shankle was riding in the Cessna, apparently taking years ago, said Randolph spokesman Sgt. Art

The planes had been cleared to fly over the southwest corner of the Air Force flight training base when they collided about 7:45 p.m. while making a turn, he said.

"It's a little unusual, but they had called and requested the clearance and there was space in the pattern, so it was granted," said Capt. Claude Morse.

One eyewitness told a San Antonio station KSAT-TV the two planes were flying beside each other, about 1,000 feet above the ground, when it appeared one plane ripped the wing off the other.

The planes then crashed on the airport runway about 150 from each other, the evewitness said. He told the television station he could see a camera lens protruding from the Cessna just before the crash.

Mack Kardys, owner of Kardys Airport about 3 miles from Randolph, said the planes took off "some time photographs of the Stearman before 8 p.m." Both planes - a training plane used fifty were stored at the airport, he

Kermit Sinkhole Eats More Earth

KERMIT, Texas (AP) -More earthen chunks fell victim to the insatiable appetite of the West Texas sinkhole while oil company officials outlined plans to fence the expanding crater.

Three more chunks of land - one the size of a car dropped into the yawning pit over the weekend, and authorities say cracks appeared about 150 yards outside an oil tank farm.

"We've found cracks about 150 yards from the tank farm," said a Winkler County Sheriff's spokeswoman. "This would indicate the ground in this area is very unstable and eventually may drop into the crater."

An oil well owned by Petro Lewis Corp. was capped with cement when the crater came within 300 feet of it. A number of Shell Oil Co. tanks also are nearby but were not yet in any immediate danger.

Ms. Moore estimated the abyss measured about 250 yards by 400 yards.

Newspaper Bible

A NEW COMPANION TO SHARE YOUR LIFE Oh, there is so much more I want to tell you, but you can't understand it now.

When the Holy Spirit, who is truth, comes, He shall guide you into all truth, for He will not be presenting His own ideas, but will be passing on to you what He has heard. He will tell you about the future.

He shall praise Me and bring Me great honor by showing you My glory.

All the Father's glory is Mine; this is what I mean when I say that He will show you My glory.

In just a little while I will be gone, and you will see Me no more; but just a little while after that, and you will see Me again!"

Whatever is He saying?" some of His disciples asked.

"What is this about 'going to the Father'? We don't know what He means.' Jesus realized they wanted to ask Him so He said, "Are you asking yourselves what I mean? The world will greatly rejoice over what is going to happen to Me, and you will weep. But your weeping shall suddenly be turned to wonderful joy when you see Me It will be the same joy as that of a woman in labor when her child is born -- her anguish gives place to papturous joy and the pain is forgotten. You have sorrow now, but I will see you again and then you will rejoice; and no one can rob you of that joy. At that time you won't need to ask Me for anything, for you can go directly to the Father and ask Him, and He will give you what you ask for because you use My name. You haven't tried this before, but begin now. Ask, using My name, and you will receive, and your cup of joy will
