That advertisement appeared in a national packers' magazine earlier this month and solidified Armour and Co. statements that it plans to cease operations in the Hereford, Nampa and Green Bay plants on Oct. 31.

However, an Armour spokesman in Phoenix said in an interview today with The Brand that the company, which for months had been embroiled in a wage-and-benefits battle with United Food and Commercial Workers Union, would at least be willing to discuss keeping the plants open if the union were willing to reopen negotiations.

"If the union desires to meet with the company to present a proposal to keep the plant operating, the company will certainly listen, and depending on what is proposed, the Armour Fresh Meat Company would recommend a re-evaluation of the decision to close as of Oct. 31, 1980," said Tom Hamlett, general manager of Armour's beef and lamb division.

Hamlett, who was general manager of the Hereford plant until his promotion this spring, reiterated that the reason for the decision to close the facility was the "non-competitive labor rates, just as was stated in our closing notice."

The company also would be willing to meet with employees in Hereford to hear their opinions concerning the planned closing, he said.

"The company would be willing to meet with and listen to the employees; however, any negotiations must be with representatives of the union that represents the employees of the Hereford plant," Hamlett said.

The Washington D.C.-based UFCW has seemingly taken a hard-line stance against any company proposal. Union leader Jesse Proston refused to answer Brand questions concerning UFCW's willingness to reopen negotiations when contacted by telephone earlier this month.

Armour officials announced the closings on April 29 by stating that a "discriminatory" labor contract has forced the company to operate at a competitive disadvantage.

According to Armour headquarters in Phoenix, the company's average wage and fringe benefits at the three (See ARMOUR, Page 2)

Clayton Slated To Be Arraigned Today

State Democrats Back Candidates

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Texas Democrats begin their state convention today with lines already drawn between backers of President Jimmy Carter and Sen. Edward Kennedy.

The first official session was scheduled tonight with proceeding continuing through Saturday. Preliminary committee meetings and caucuses began Thursday.

Carter's forces held an easy majority but Kennedy's supporters promised loud and long opposition to retain as much power as possible in the national convention delegation and in state party control.

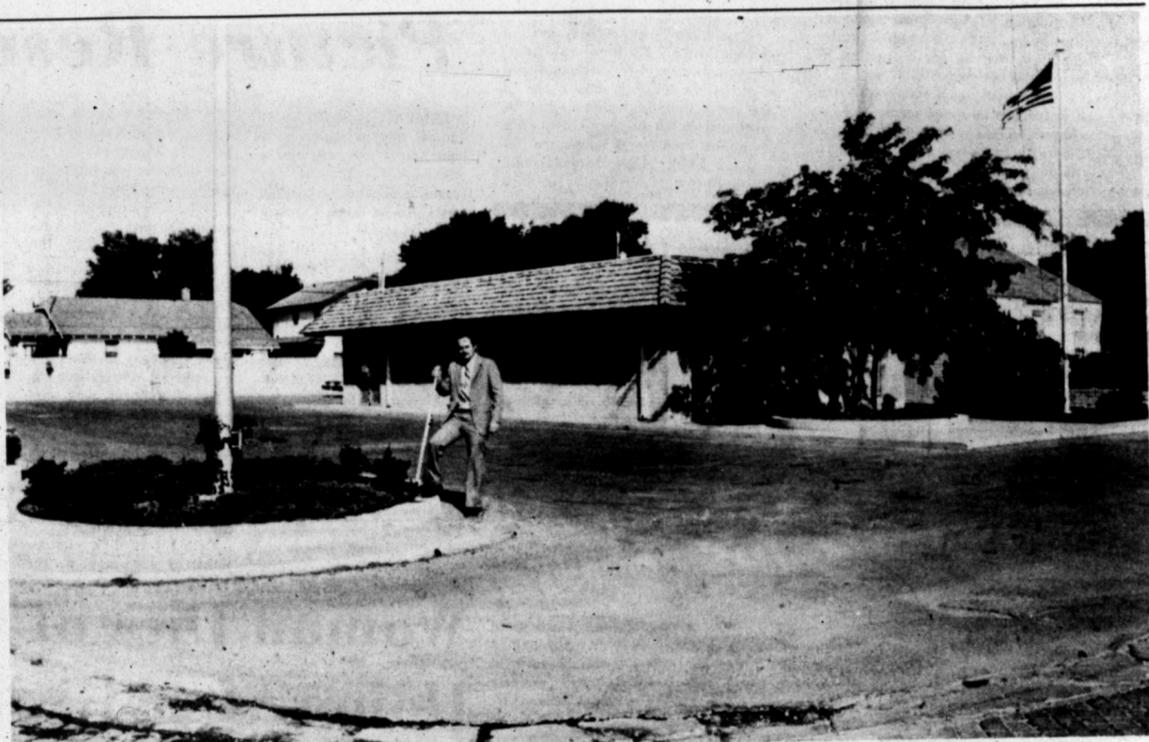

A key figure in the struggle was State Democratic Chairman Billy Goldberg, an avowed Carter supporter who recently led a group of other state chairmen in urging Kennedy to drop out of the presidential race.

Goldberg, a wealthy Houston businessman and chief backer of former Attorney General John Hill in an unsuccessful 1978 gubernatorial campaign, reportedly wants a convention appointment to the Democratic National Committee, plus a hand in running the Texas delegation at the New York convention Aug. 11-14.

"If Billy Goldberg tries to get on that national committee, you can be sure there will be floor fight," said Louise Caddell, San Antonio member and a prominent Kennedy campaign organizer.

Billie Carr, Houston, a statewide Kennedy campaigner, agreed Kennedy forces would try to block Goldberg from the national committee, principally because of his action in trying

Beautiful C-C Office

Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice President Michael Carr looks over the newly-landscaped grounds of the chamber office, 701 N. Main, this week. Several bushes were planted in the parking lot and the ground was reworked by Marshall Wilson of Melrose's Nursery, according to Carr. Pete and Roberta Caviness, who own the building, decided that landscaping the grounds would add to the beauty of downtown Hereford, according to Carr. "We're very proud of our facilities, which we think would be ranked above chamber facilities anywhere in the country," Carr said. (Brand photo by Paul Sims)

HOUSTON (AP) — The speaker of the Texas House, a long-time labor leader with an interest in politics and two Austin attorneys are to be arraigned today before a U.S. magistrate on charges of racketeering, conspiracy, extortion and fraud.

The indictments, handed down by a federal grand jury recently, were the first to come from the FBI undercover investigation of alleged insurance kickback schemes, a probe code-named Brilab.

Brilab spread from the Louisiana underworld to the Texas legislature and involved Speaker Billy Clayton, once one of the most powerful political figures in Texas, a man who is a Baptist deacon and who became a rich man by building the family farm into a highly productive operation and by investing in banks.

Scheduled to appear with him for arraignment are L.G. Moore, a Texas labor leader, and two Austin attorneys, Randall D. Wood and Donald W. Ray.

Clayton's attorneys are expected to ask for a speedy trial.

The speaker, who once said he would withdraw from the race for re-election to the powerful post if convicted, wants to get the legal matters settled before it is too late to make his bid for an unprecedented four consecutive term as head of the House.

The 51-year-old legislator has commented frequently on the pending indictments but after his indictment was ordered by U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor Jr. not to discuss the charges.

His chief attorney, Roy Minton, told newsmen, "You are standing next to a man who wanted to be heard by the media."

GOP Committee Studies Key Issues

HOUSTON — Resolutions on the 17 topics selected for presentation to the state Republican convention Saturday are expected to include statements against the windfall profits tax and favoring right-to-life stands.

The state Resolutions Committee narrowed the number of topics Thursday and briefly discussed most of them before splitting into smaller groups to write the resolutions.

Committee members will vote on the completed resolutions today before presenting them to the convention's permanent committee Saturday.

Energy and national defense generated the most interest among committee members Thursday.

Most spoke in favor of a statement condemning the windfall profits tax and some favored statements supporting abolition of the Department of Energy.

The 17 topics selected for resolutions include agriculture, Equal Rights Amendment, balance federal budget, busing, federal judges, energy, mandatory health insurance, right to life, reduction of taxes and reduction of bureaucracy.

Also included are right to bear arms, right to work, silent prayer in schools, national defense, the traditional family, education and Workfare, a coined word stipulating no welfare without work.

Among the topics rejected by the committee were illegal aliens, limiting terms of elected office and establishing guidelines for selection of a vice-presidential nominee.

Members turned down the nominee guidelines by a slim margin. That resolution stated that any present or past member of Congress considered for Ronald Reagan's running mate have at least a 75 percent conservative voting rating.

Carter Hopes To Bridge Gap

ROME (AP) — President Carter and his aides are minimizing their differences with allies over Soviet aggression as they begin a week of talks in Europe.

During the long flight from Washington that brought Carter to this ancient capital late Thursday night, Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie told reporters that he believed one potential point of major friction with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt will evaporate.

Carter and Schmidt will meet in Venice on Saturday, the eve of the seven-nation economic summit conference around which the president's trip was built.

Carter formally began the business of his trip with a brief meeting today with Italy's 83-year-old Socialist president, Alessandro Pertini, in the 16th century Quirinale Palace. He planned a later session with Prime Minister Francesco Cossiga and set aside time to tour the Colosseum and the nearby ruins of the ancient Roman Forum.

American officials said Schmidt asked for the early meeting with Carter. It comes against a backdrop of concern in Washington that the chancellor, when he meets in Moscow on June 30 with Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev, might place himself at odds with Carter over the deployment of middle-range nuclear missiles in Europe. Some U.S. officials are worried that Schmidt might propose a freeze on the (See CARTER, Page 2)

Bani-Sadr Attacks Islamic Foes

By The Associated Press

President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, fresh from reshuffling the Iranian military command, renewed the newspaper war against his Islamic fundamentalist foes. Meanwhile, America's U.N. ambassador expressed guarded optimism about a fresh initiative to free the American hostages.

"By objective investigations and reports, you can destroy the opportunist positions of those who try by seeding unrealistic ideas to defeat the march of the revolution," Bani-Sadr told reporters from his newspaper Enghlab Eslami shortly after he named new military leaders Thursday.

The newspaper on Wednesday quoted Dr. Hassan Ayat, a leader of the Islamic Republican Party which favors spy trials for some of the hostages seized 230 days ago, as saying Bani-Sadr was a "tool of America" who would be "ousted soon."

But Ayat told reporters that his remarks were "distorted and censored," by Bani-Sadr's reporters. "I had said something similar to those so-called texts but they have censored my statement in their own favor."

Ayat said Bani-Sadr and his "counter-revolutionary aides" would go to any lengths, even murder, to keep him from disclosing the truth about the aborted U.S. mission to rescue the hostages April 25.

He criticized orders he said came from Bani-Sadr to destroy some of the American helicopters used in the mission and said he had "revealing documents ... that I will disclose to the nation to identify U.S. imperialist agents in Iran."

Meanwhile, Donald McHenry, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, told reporters in New York he hoped his discussions with U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim will lead to "some kind of positive next step ... in the next several days."

He did not elaborate, but U.N. sources speculated McHenry was talking about the possibility that the U.N. commission investigating Iran's charges against the U.S. government might be allowed to return to Iran shortly.

Palme, also in New York, said he thought the U.N.

commission might still play a role in ending the hostages' captivity.

Tannery Considers Hereford

Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce directors learned Thursday that a tannery is considering Hereford as a possible plant site.

Chamber Executive Vice President Michael Carr told his board during its regular monthly meeting that a consulting firm representing the tannery sent officials to Hereford earlier this week.

Carr said the tannery is looking at Plainview and six cities in New Mexico, along with Hereford, as possible locations for the plant.

"We have submitted information on the Deaf Smith County area and the consulting firm will relay this information to the tannery."

Housewife Saw Need for Sporting-Goods Outlet

By DAWN OAKLEY
Brand Staff Writer

Who would think that a happily married mother of two daughters would just go right out and open a sporting goods store? That's just what Rosie Griffin of 133 Oak did April 1, when she went into partnership with her brother, Robert Strangle.

"I have two daughters who are involved in basketball and track, and there just didn't seem to be anywhere in town to get the things they needed," said Mrs. Griffin. "We made many trips to

Amarillo. "And then, too," she said, "tennis is big here now, and there's no place to buy really good rackets, or to have them strung and things like that."

Mrs. Griffin said that her husband, who works in the sales department of Griffin and Brand, doesn't enter into her business dealings.

"He come's by to see us sometimes," she said.

When asked if it was hard to be a "woman in trade," Mrs. Griffin laughed and shook her head.

"Robert and I both are natives of Hereford, and so we know a lot of people. A lot of our customers are friends," she said. "That makes it fun--to wait on people you know."

Mrs. Griffin said that neither she nor her brother had had any prior experience in marketing or sales when they decided to open the store.

"We decided to do it, then got in touch with a cousin who is a coach. He put us in touch with a factory representative, and now we go to a factory in Dallas."

The cousin, Jim Curtininger, owns a golf course in Lubbock and has coached basketball in Idalou and in Roosevelt, near Lubbock.

"I wasn't involved in sports in high school," said Mrs. Griffin. "It's only been in the last few years they've had girls' sports."

"I'm a great spectator, but not much of a sportsman," she said.

Her oldest daughter, Jennifer, however, is planning to be a coach. Jennifer (See BRANDING, Page 2)

June Heat Wave

Bakes West Texas

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Temperatures in North and West Texas consistently have been rising over the 100 degree mark — and summer heat's even arrived.

Weather forecasters attribute the heat wave to a reluctant mass of hot air that has settled in for the duration — similar to conditions in July 1978, when North Texas temperatures hit at least 100 for 18 days straight.

During that period, at least two dozen persons died of heat-related causes in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Dallas-Fort Worth already has experienced eight days in a row of 100-plus degree weather.

Forecastster Dick Elder of the National Weather Service office in Fort Worth said a cold front has been trying to break through the hot air for several days but has not made it south of the Red River.

Israeli Raiders

Blow Up Armory

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli troops crossed into southern Lebanon, took a suspected Palestinian guerrilla "for questioning" and blew up a house used as a guerrilla armory, an Israeli army spokesman said today. The raiders struck Wednesday night, but the spokesman said no announcement was made at the time "because we do not issue a communique on every peep."

The soldiers crossed into Lebanon near Misgav Am, the Israeli border settlement in the northern Galilee where Arab terrorists killed three Israelis in an abortive attempt to take hostages in April.

They entered the village of Kantara, about four miles northwest of Misgav Am, blew up a house where "sabotage material was found" and took an 18-year-old Arab back to Israel "for questioning," the spokesman said.

Feds Allow Shippers

To Sell to Soviets

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — In a quiet reversal of policy, the Carter administration has told U.S.-based multinational grain shippers they can sell foreign-grown grain to the Soviet Union, the Minneapolis Tribune reported in a copyright story today.

The administration's policy change reportedly was so quiet that confirmation of the switch came first from officials of Cargill Inc., a worldwide grain-handling company based in Minnetonka, Minn.

A spokesman for the U.S. Department of Agriculture confirmed the news later, but only under condition that he not be quoted by name, the newspaper said.

The USDA spokesman told the Tribune that no announcement of the change in grain-trading policy was planned, and there was no official statement of why the administration changed its position.

July Sentencing Set For Tax Protestor

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — Tax protestor Austin Tibbetts, 59, who was convicted of tax evasion and failure to file proper tax forms, will be sentenced July 30.

The osteopath, who now lives in Amarillo and works for an optical company, was convicted of failing to pay income taxes during the years 1974, 1975 and 1976.

Tibbetts, who organized a tax protest group in 1974, cited the First and Fifth Amendments for refusing to fill out information required on the 1040 tax form. He also advocated repeal of the 16th Amendment, which authorizes the federal government to levy an income tax.

Jurors deliberated less than four hours Thursday before finding Tibbetts guilty on three counts of tax evasion and three counts of failure to file.

U.S. District Judge Lucius D. Buntin set sentencing for July 30 in federal court in nearby Odessa. Tibbetts could receive a maximum penalty of 18 years in prison and $60,000 in fines.

Picture Resembles Son

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A Tampa mother believes a photograph she saw in a newspaper is that of her Marine son who supposedly was killed in North Carolina two years ago.

The picture, printed Wednesday, was of a hitchhiker in Dallas holding a sign that read: "I JUST HAD A BATH."

The hitchhiker was identified as Michael Elder. The name's the same, says Clara Elder. And more than that, the hitchhiker looks like her son.

Greg Elder, 17 and Beth, 18, agreed with their mother. "How many Michael Elders look like Michael Elder?" a friend of the family asked.

On March 3, 1978, the body of a man identified by the U.S. Marine Corps as Michael Elder was buried in Tampa by the Elder family.

"We never thought it looked like him," said Mrs. Elder. "We were taking the word of authorities."

Greg, who was 15 years old when his brother was reported killed, returned to the funeral home asking about the body at the time. He said he remembers the military uniform was pinching the dead man's neck, distorting facial features. And he said he searched for identifying marks.

"Michael had a scar on his forehead," said Greg. "We couldn't see it at all."

Beth Elder, 18, says some traits of the man in the photograph remind her of her brother. "He always wore shirts like that. And he always pushed them above his elbows."

The only difference, says Greg, is that the Elder in the picture says he's 25. His brother would be only 21.

Mrs. Elder says she was probably remiss in not taking more action two years ago. But she was so distraught, she says. And it's only been recently that she has been able to mention her son's name without crying.

Either to confirm or dispel her hopes, she says, she's going to press military and civilian officials for some details.

Layne Murdoch, a photographer for The Dallas

Times Herald, snapped the picture of the 25-year-old hitchhiker. He said he could shed little light on the man, other than that he said he was headed to California.

The Elders said in February 1978 they received a telegram from the Marine Corps at Camp LeJeune telling them Michael had been shot to death outside the base in Sneads Ferry, N.C. A Maj. T. R. Delux assured them of an intensive investigation by both military and civil authorities, they said.

After the letter from Delux, the Elders say they heard nothing more.

A letter from a friend of Elder's estranged wife was the only word they said they had received. The friend said Michael was shot by another Marine. He had been accused of participating in thefts near the base and those accusations indirectly led to his death, the letter said.

Democrats

to get Kennedy out of the race.

However, Goldberg's efforts with other state chairmen were upfield in a Thursday night session of the State Democratic Executive Committee. Don Mason, Dallas, tried to change minutes of a May 15 SDEC meeting to show that Goldberg was publicly criticized by at least three committee members over the incident. The committee voted Mason down by a large margin.

Goldberg is one of about eight men seeking half of the eight spots on the national committee that will be filled by the convention. Nine women are seeking the four spots allotted them, including incumbents Mrs. Carr and Carrie Patman, wife of state Sen. Bill Patman, Democratic nominee for Congress.

Armour has put a $12 million price tag on the Hereford plant, according to the company's real-estate department in Phoenix.

The planned shutdown will affect 450 workers in Hereford and a yearly payroll, including fringe benefits, of more than $6 million.

The shutdown of the Hereford plant will deprive the Texas Panhandle of a $200 million market for finished cattle, most of which are purchased from feedlots.

When asked if she planned to open a musical instrument store if her daughter's interest tapered, too many trips to Amarillo, Mrs. Griffin laughed.

"Not in the near future," she said.

Mrs. Griffin was graduated from Hereford High School, and then went to the University of Texas where she was a biology major.

"I quit UT to get married in 1961," said Mrs. Griffin. "About three years ago I went back at West Texas State University, but I still haven't graduated."

"I like school. I really enjoy biology."

"When I quit, the second time about a year and a half ago, I had begun to wonder what I was going to do with it (a major in biology). I had thought I might teach, but I don't much think so anymore."

A Campfire leader for six years, Mrs. Griffin said she is really proud of the girls in her unit who graduated this year.

"There were 17 of them," she said, "and 10 out of the 17 got their Wobelo medalion. That's the highest award for girls in Campfire. Ten out of 17 is a pretty good ratio."

Muskie told reporters aboard Air Force One that Schmidt "insists he still supports" what would be known as the Theater Nuclear Force, or TNF.

"Apparently, there has been some rhetoric that there is a change" in Schmidt's position, Muskie said. "I would expect that when it's talked out, there will continue to be agreement."

From the start of the trip, the potential for differences has been played down. Carter, in a televised Washington departure statement, muted the language of a prepared text.

Woman Dies of Cancer Hours After Giving Birth

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — Anita Brown knew she would lose her own race with death, but she won the battle that held her newborn son in her arms before she succumbed to cancer.

Five hours after Gregory Paul Brown's birth, the 25-year-old Jehovah's Witness died of massive hemorrhaging caused by a tumor in her jaw. She had refused chemotherapy for fear of endangering her unborn child.

"Essentially, Anita was giving her life for that of a child who had not yet had," cancer surgeon Ronald Lapin said Thursday.

"She was positive, laughing and joking until the very last," said her husband

Tom Brown.

She gave birth Tuesday by Caesarian section to the 4-pound baby three weeks prematurely at University of California-Irvine Medical Center. The infant has no trace of cancer and is given a good chance of survival, doctors said.

Mrs. Brown's story is all the more tragic, Lapin said, because her tumor could have been removed in its early stages if she had found a surgeon who would operate — as Lapin eventually did — without using the blood transfusions barred by her religion.

The cancer came to light more than 2½ years ago, when she went to a dentist complaining of pain in her jaw. When X-rays failed to pinpoint the cause, a thin slice of tissue was examined under a microscope and the disease was discovered.

Surgeons in her native Nevada refused to operate without transfusions. So she began a fruitless quest for a cure, including trips to Mexico for Laetrile treatments.

A year and a half ago, she married Tom Brown, a hay truck driver in Nevada, who knew of her condition.

Brown finally located Lapin at Esperanza Intercommunity Hospital in Yorba Linda.

When Lapin took Mrs. Brown's case, she looked "as though a big rubber ball was blocking her mouth and protruding outside the lips by two inches, plugging up her airway...."

Lapin and his surgical team removed most of the cancerous tissue in January, using a special electric knife that sealed off blood vessels, preventing excessive bleeding by applying heat to the cut ends.

The surgeons also performed a tracheotomy, cutting a hole below the blockage in her throat so she could breathe and take in food.

Three months pregnant at the time of the operation, Mrs. Brown refused to take cancer drugs that could hurt her child.

Six months later, the tumor had grown back and she was down to 80 pounds. "She knew she was dying and just going to live long enough to deliver this baby," Lapin said.

"That 80-pound weakling has really taught me a lesson about faith and life and what these people stand for. She's been a lift to others — a little dynamo."

A memorial service at the Esperanza hospital today was to be followed by funeral services in her native Lovelock, Nev.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

Summer is not my favorite season and never has been, so the development of air conditioning, starting with that twentieth century marvel, the electric fan, I regard as a boon.

But now that it has come to the point where you only have to push another button to have a room just as cool as you want it, I'm still not satisfied and it makes me wonder if that old remark, "It ain't the heat; it's the stupidity," was coined for me.

My complaints about enervating heat and scorching, dusty winds have always been louder than anybody's. Now I sit in a nice cool house, car or office and say the bad thing about summer is that you have to be shut in.

We used to say that about winter, and the good thing about summer was getting outdoors. In fact, we stayed there most of the time because it was cooler. Houses and yards were planned with that in view, and porches were the most popular spots.

We used the screened back porch to do the laundry and ironing; to peel potatoes, shuck corn, even mix cakes and bread so as little time as possible was spent in the kitchen; family meals were eaten out there and the sewing machine was usually there too.

Since neighbors used their porches the same way, it was a nice friendly social center while it was shady in the mornings. If you were lucky you might have a large screened side porch for beds, to sleep blissfully cool on sweltering nights.

The front porch was shady in the afternoon and you could sit out there until bedtime. Swinging idly in a porch swing, sipping an icy glass of tea or lemonade and gossiping with a friend or more who had dropped by, about the people driving past--there aren't much more pleasant afternoons.

Kids played outdoors. Dad tinkered with the car. Grandpa tilted his chair back and read the paper, all hands sat under a backyard tree to peel peaches for canning.

And of course as time goes by you forget about the flies and sometimes mosquitoes which shared your outdoors. That thought almost reconciles me to sitting indoors with the cooler air.

Ann Landers

Unusual Experiences

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I felt sad when I read the letter about the cat that was stranded on the roof and no one would help. My story is just the opposite.

My wife and I had been in our new home for less than a week. We didn't know any of our neighbors. Our little canary, Woody, likes to fly around the house. He was out of his cage when my wife opened the door to let the dog in. Woody flew out. I chased him and saw him light on a high branch in a tree across the road.

My wife and I stood in the rain for two hours calling to Woody. Our neighbors came and stood in the rain with us. Someone telephoned the police. The police called the animal shelter. They said they couldn't do anything. Someone else called the fire department.

The fire department brought a ladder. By that time we were surrounded by dozens of neighbors. I gave a fireman Woody's cage, and he took it up with him. We were all getting nervous because the ladder was out so far, but the fireman wouldn't give up.

Finally, Woody hopped on his shoulder and into the cage he flew. There was lots of applause and cheering. We felt terrific, not only because we got Woody back, but because we knew there were so many caring people in the world. -- Thankful In New York

DEAR THANKFUL: I think it's wonderful that the neighbors were so sympathetic, but if that fireman on the "far-out" ladder was my son, and he fell and broke his neck trying to rescue a canary, I don't think I would have done much applauding or cheering.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I want to apologize to all hitchhikers who want nothing more than a ride. Many women are afraid to take a chance because so many of us have been raped, robbed and even murdered. We hate to pass you up, fellas, but how can we tell, by looking, that you're OK? -- Scaredy Cats In Harrisburg

DEAR CATS: You CAN'T, and my advice is to keep passing them up. This goes for female hitchhikers as well. They can be dangerous, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Most Americans believe cirrhosis of the liver is a disease of alcoholics and hepatitis is a disease of drug addicts.

Please inform your readers that infants and children can develop cirrhosis. Everything we eat, breathe and absorb through our skin is refined in the liver. It is the most overworked and least understood of all organs.

Fifty thousand people die every year from liver disease. Half of hepatitis cases are among children and teenagers.

The American Liver Foundation is mounting a campaign to help prevent liver diseases. This is the fourth leading cause of death up to age 65. We would be happy to send, free of charge, information about liver diseases to anyone who provides us with a self-addressed, stamped envelope. The address: American Liver Foundation, 30 Sunrise Terrace, Cedar Grove, N.J. 07009. We all appreciate your continued concern for the health of our nation.

Thelma King Theil, Executive Director

DEAR T.K.T.: On behalf of all my readers, thank you for letting us know about you. Parents, what should you do if your teenager is having sexual relations? Ann Landers' new booklet, "High School Sex and How to Deal With It -- A Guide for Teens and Their Parents," give no-nonsense advice on how to handle this delicate situation. For each booklet, send 50 cents plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Draft Registration Increases Interest in ROTC AT Tech

Draft registration -- and the possibility of a renewed military draft -- may spark increased interest in ROTC curricula at Texas Tech University.

This could accelerate a slow but steady increase in enrollment in both Army military science and Air Force aerospace studies. Lt. Col. Clayton Roberson, professor of military science, projects that 601 students will enroll in military science courses during fall semester registration. This would compare with 535 who enrolled last fall.

Air Force Col. Fred Barnes, professor of aerospace studies, also expects a "gradual" increase. About 200 students enrolled in aerospace studies last fall and 175 continued in the spring semester, he said. Air Force ROTC enrollments have gradually increased in the three and a half years he has been at the university, Barnes said.

Growing enrollments don't reflect concern about draft registration, both agreed. Instead, both officers attribute increased ROTC popularity to an improved image of military service and a resurgence of patriotism.

"I think the youth of our nation are reinforcing themselves in the national values that had been lost or at least forgotten about for a number of years," said Col. Roberson.

Although the number of inquiries about Army and Air Force ROTC hasn't increased significantly since Congress began debating draft registration, both officers said their programs have adequate staff and facilities to accommodate as many qualified students as possible if ROTC is viewed as an alternative to the draft.

Both military science and aerospace studies are four-year courses of study. Students taking basic courses during their freshman and sophomore years are not obligated to military service. Those interested in obtaining a commission commit themselves before their junior year.

Army ROTC students take a multiple-choice exam to qualify for advanced ROTC. A summer camp after the junior year is mandatory, Col. Roberson said.

Candidates for advanced Air Force ROTC courses taken an Air Force Officer Qualifying Test similar to the ACT and SAT, Col. Barnes said. Then they are interviewed by an officer's board. If accepted into advanced aerospace studies, students are offered an enrollment allocation based on their academic record, test scores and interviews.

Army and Air Force ROTC both offer scholarships, available for four years to qualified students, even those not committed to the four-year program. Scholarships pay tuition, all lab fees, books, supplies and incidentals, and a $100 per month subsistence allowance. Third and fourth year students receive the subsistence allowance regardless of whether or not they have a scholarship.

Both programs are open to women as well as men. Last year 99 women enrolled in Army ROTC courses, Col. Roberson said. About 12 percent of Air Force cadets are women, Col. Barnes said.

A number of extracurricular activities complement both programs. The Department of Military Science has the Army Corps Dettes, a women's auxiliary to the Corps of Cadets; the Patton Rifles, a drill team; the Double T Rifle Team; Scabbard and Blade, a national military honor society; and the Red Raider Orienters.

The Department of Aerospace Studies has Sabre Flight; the Arnold Air Society, an honor service organization; Silver Wings Society; a service organization; and Angel Flight, a women's service organization.

A Boy, His Dog

By CORDA GLOVER

From the moment he saw her he knew it was love at first sight. I wasn't so sure.

Our newest family pet arrived at our house via "Kid Express". She is undoubtedly the most beautiful dog he had ever seen. I wasn't so sure.

A proper name for such a handsome pal is a very important decision. Something special to make a dog feel proud. He named her Speedy Gonzales. Speedy you see, is all of 9 1/2 inches tall, has long black and white Phyllis Diller hair and occasionally trips when running across the yard.

She fits right into our little family group. Oh, there are the occasional family fights over who gets to sit where, but nothing serious. You see Speedy and Sugar (our other dog member) don't often agree. Speedy is very possessive of her young master. Of course, a little favoritism is shown at the dog bowl when Dale fills them up. It can be said Speedy's cup runneth over.

You can bet they'll be together everywhere and forever sharing everything from ice cream cones to showers. And no one will be prouder when in a few more weeks our house will be full of puppies about 3 1/2 inches high with long black and white Phyllis Diller hair, tumbling along after mom. I'm not so sure.

Associate Dean at WTSU Takes Early Retirement

Weldon Trice, associate dean of student affairs at West Texas State University will be taking early retirement effective Aug. 31 and will assume a new position as president of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, Sept. 1.

Trice said that his decision was spurred by the recent changes in the job description issued by Sandra Meek, dean of student affairs.

Trice is a 1950 graduate of WTSU and a former Buffalo football standout. He was a coach, teacher and administrator in the Pampa school system from 1951 to 1969. He returned to WTSU in 1969 to his alma mater when offered a position as assistant dean of men.

His major responsibility was the men's residence halls and discipline. Since the new job description for the associate dean of student affairs no longer entails direct association with the directors, resident assistants and hall residents, Trice said he believes that "his expertise is no longer being utilized."

"My main goal since I returned to Canyon has been first, to motivate young men to be more effective students and responsible citizens, second, to promote a healthier working relationship between Canyon and WTSU," said Trice.

Since the first goal is no longer possible under the new guidelines, Trice has chosen to actively pursue the second goal by accepting the position of president for the Chamber of Commerce as of Sept. 1.

"I have spent the best years of my life and most enjoyable at WTSU," said Trice.

A scholarship is being established by several university personnel, former employees and friends, honoring Trice. The accounts for this scholarship have been established at West Texas State Bank and First National Bank, both located in Canyon.

The recipient of this award is to be a young man of a residence hall who is at least of sophomore standing and who exhibits the character traits which Dean Trice possesses, persons establishing the scholarship said. The scholarship will be awarded in the fall of 1980.

Wood Jury Recesses

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — New Orleans restaurateur Joseph Marcello was intentionally asked to testify before a special grand jury here the same day his brother was indicted, Marcello's attorney has charged.

New Orleans attorney Russell Shonekas said the Justice Department hoped the ensuing publicity would make it easier to obtain a conviction for reputed organized crime boss Carlos Marcello, indicted in the FBI's Brilab (bribery-labor) operation. "Now in the newspapers we've got Joseph killing the judge and Carlos trying to bribe the whole United States, and it really looks great," he said.

The grand jury, which is investigating the May 29, 1979, assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. here, did not convene Thursday. It was recessed until an undetermined date.

Joseph Marcello was the first witness subpoenaed to appear before the special grand jury after it was empaneled Tuesday. The same day, Carlos Marcello was indicted in New Orleans on bribery charges.

Joseph Marcello was excused after 10 minutes of testimony because Shonekas had recently undergone surgery and could not accompany him. He was expected to complete his testimony later in the month.

Shonekas said he had tried to have his client's testimony postponed until he recovered, but said the U.S. Attorney's office insisted upon Marcello's appearance

Tuesday. U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd declined to comment on Shonekas' statements.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor: I recently received a letter from Americans Against HR. 2074 "The Gay Rights Bill", a project of the Gates Community Chapel of Rochester, Inc. in Rochester, N.Y. asking me to sign a petition to help stop the homosexuals special rights bill.

The letter informed me that 52 U.S. congressmen were endorsing a national "Gay Rights" Bill--H.R. 2074--and John Anderson, the liberal former Republican, is one of the bill's co-sponsors. Anderson is currently running as an independent candidate for president of the United States.

Here is what the H.R. 2074 can mean if passed: first, both the public and private schools in your neighborhood could be forced to hire known practicing homosexuals as teachers.

This is not a campaign to persecute homosexuals or to deny their rights as citizens. I'm quite aware that homosexuals are not automatically child molesters. Nor are most homosexuals "militants."

However, I do not believe that anyone should have "special" protected rights to advertise immorality of any kind in our classrooms.

Second, your church might be forced to hire a homosexual minister or other church employees. Your pastors may be required to perform homosexual marriages.

Third, passage of bill H.R. 2074 could result in the forced hiring of known practicing homosexuals without regard to their job qualifications simply because they are homosexuals.

I'm not trying to deny homosexuals any of their basic civil rights. All Americans are guaranteed certain rights under the Constitution. Yet, you can see for yourself that this unbelievable bill would give gays and lesbians such "special" rights and may well open a "Pandora's box", and who knows what in the future?

Don't you agree it's time to halt this moral decay? Will you help me put a stop to H.R. 2074? Right now... before it's too late and we pass the point of no return?

To speak your opinion on the bill, you can write to Pastor Fletcher Brothers, Gates Community Chapel, 100 Brooks Avenue, Rochester, N.Y. 14619.

DID YOU KNOW JESUS PRAYED FOR YOU?

Now I am leaving the world, and leaving them behind, and coming to You, Holy Father, keep them in Your own care--all those You have given me--so that they will be united just as We are, with none missing.

During My time here I have kept safe within Your family all of these You gave Me. I guarded them so that not one perished, except the son of hell, as the Scriptures foretold. And now I am coming to You, I have told them many things while I was with them so that they would be filled with My joy.

I have given them Your commands, and the world hates them because they don't fit in with it, just as I don't. I'm not asking You to take them out of the world, but to keep them safe from Satan's power.

They are not part of this world any more than I am. Make them pure and holy through teaching them Your words of truth.

As you sent Me into the world, I am sending them into the world. And I consecrate Myself to meet their need for growth in truth and holiness.

I am not praying for these alone but also for the future believers who will come to Me because of the testimony of these.

My prayer for all of them is that they will be of one heart and mind, just as You and I are, Father--that just as You are in Me and I am in You, so they will be in Us, and the world will believe You sent Me.

I have given them the glory You gave Me--the glorious unity of being one, as We are--I in them and You in Me, all being perfected into one--so that the world will know, You sent Me and will understand that You love them as much as You love Me.

Father, I want them with Me--these You've given Me--so that they can see My glory. You gave Me the glory because You loved Me before the world began!

O righteous Father, the world doesn't know You, but I do; and these disciples know You sent Me. And I have revealed You to them, and will keep on revealing You so that the mighty love You have for Me may be in them, and I in them.

Texas Agency Approves Teacher Program at WBC

The Texas Education Agency gave its ultimate stamp of approval to the teacher education program at Wayland Baptist Church recently, telling WBC officials what area school administrators have been saying for quite some time.

Following an eight-month-long self-study involving all levels of faculty, administration and staff, the TEA gave Wayland's Department of Education the maximum five-year approval for its continuance as an institution for preparing professional school personnel at the undergraduate level.

It marks the first time in the history of the college that maximum approval from the TEA--the governing body of education on all levels in Texas--has been gained.

"This supports what superintendents and principals in our area have been telling us for several years--that graduates from our teacher education program have received top-flight training for their careers."

Dr. Terry Northup, head of Wayland's Education Department. "In effect, the TEA is giving us certification power by saying our standards are high enough to continue with our program."

The self-study, which began last July and continued through March, is a process which every school in Texas with an approved teacher education program must undergo, Northup explained. Rather than for the TEA to evaluate each person to be certified to teach, it certifies the college programs and, eventually, the persons who graduate from those colleges.

Program approvals range from three years, with interim reports showing the progress of the program, to a full five years with no reports--the latter of which Wayland received. "With this being our first five-year approval, we see it as evidence that says Wayland has made a great deal of progress in the past several year," Northup said, adding that few private institutions in the state receive five-year approval.

The self-study began last July with the appointment of a steering committee, followed by a series of meetings involving almost every faculty-staff member at WBC. Input from area public school personnel was received through the Caprock Teacher Education Center, an association involving Wayland, Plainview, Floydada, Lockney, Hale Center and Petersburg schools.

A detailed 328-page report answering the TEA's 29 questions was submitted to the 10-member TEA shortly before its visit to the campus last March 24-27. Approval of the local program came one month later, with only three minor recommendations.

"The committee advised us that our process for selection of members to the CTEC Board was not in compliance with state policies, a problem that has already been resolved and will go into effect this fall," Northup noted. "The other major recommendation was that faculty responsible for areas of teaching specialization should hold terminal (doctoral or equivalent) degrees. Of our 26 major areas, only four professors do not have a terminal degree, and by the end of the five-year period, they will be in compliance."

The only other recommendation, Northup added, involves a minor change in the two-year general catalogue, which will be revised for the 1981-82 and 1982-83 academic years.

The department head explained the circumstances leading to the approval.

"In the past, Wayland's education program was mostly a collection of unrelated courses. Since 1977, however, we've based our entire operation around a set of objectives, with each education course designed to meet a specific need. Instead of a collection, we now have a viable, functioning program."

"Secondly," he continued, "our teacher education program incorporates a considerable amount of field-based learning before student teaching actually begins. Students in the program do more observation of teachers and get involved in some teaching situations earlier in their course of study."

In addition, Northup said, Wayland's entire campus faculty is "the best it's ever been. The faculty seems to have a real concern today for teacher education and the development of a sound program."

The TEA approval, Northup concluded, also gives the college the go-ahead in its plans for university development, which will proceed through the 1980-81 year for conversion to Wayland Baptist University in 1981-82.

"They (the visiting team) knew of our development of university status during the evaluation and judged our efforts accordingly, saying that the teacher education program should be a major function of the institution, as it has been for some time."

Tabbed As Dream Fight of the Year

Sugar Ray, Duran Meet In Title Bout

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer
MONTREAL (AP) — The countdown is complete and now Sugar Ray Leonard and Roberto Duran climb into the Olympic Stadium ring tonight for one of the richest and most ballboozed boxing show-downs in history.
At stake in this classic confrontation between the boxer and the slugger is Leonard's World Boxing Council welterweight championship.

Leonard is the boxer, a stylist with speed in both his hands and feet, undefeated in 27 professional fights since winning the Olympic gold medal for the United States in this city in 1976.
Duran is the slugger, a brawler who learned his craft fighting in the streets of Panama City where he grew up from poverty to become lightweight champion of the world.

Their long awaited meeting has created the greatest interest in non-heavyweight boxing since the days of the original Sugar Ray, Ray Robinson, and his contemporaries like Rocky Graziano, Tony Zale, Randy Turpin and Carmen Basilio.

The bout has also brought together two other longtime rivals — co-promoters Bob Arum and Don King, who are working in conjunction with the Olympic Installations Board, which operates the stadium. The board purchased the live gate rights for $3.5 million with a crowd of about 45-50,000 anticipated.
Leonard will gross $8 million or more with Duran getting $1.5 million. Much of the income is being generated by closed-circuit television with the bout to be beamed to 310 sites in the United States and Canada. Those locations vary from contrasting styles of the two fighters. Leonard is a master boxer who has the kind of ring showmanship complete with stutter-steps and shuffles that stamped Muhammad Ali. Duran is a fighting machine, a brawler whose furious pace can be frightening in the ring. The matchup has all the qualities needed for a great fight.

Leonard has a size and age advantage. He is a natural welterweight and at 5-foot-10, he is 2 1/2 inches taller than Duran and has a three-inch edge in reach. At 24, he is five years younger than Duran, who celebrated his precise the joke.

The bad feelings surfaced again at an unofficial weigh-in Wednesday. Duran taunted the champion, saying, "Leonard, two days more, two days more. Remember." Leonard responded by blowing a kiss in Duran's direction, sending the Panamanian into a rage.
The strategists for the two fighters are among the best in the boxing business. Angelo Dundee, who trained Ali, works in Leonard's corner. Freddie Brown and Ray Arcel, who together have a century or so of boxing savvy, are Duran's cornermen.

The Leonard-Duran bout is set for 10:30 p.m. EDT, following four 10-rounders. The most significant fight on the undercard sends former World Boxing Association heavyweight champion John Tate against Canadian champion Trevor Berbick. It will be Tate's first fight since losing his title to Mike Weaver when he was knocked out with 45 seconds to go on March 31.

In the other fights, Sugar Ray's older brother, Roger Leonard, meets Clyde Gray, the Canadian middleweight champion; Fernand Marcotte meets Eddy Melo in another middleweight bout, and Gaetan Hart takes on Cleveland Denny in a lightweight match.

Astros Beat Cardinals

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
Nolan Ryan said he felt "kind of ill," but St. Louis batters were the ones who ended up looking rather sickly.
Ryan allowed just one hit over seven innings before tiring and giving way to reliever Joe Sambino, who finished up as the Houston Astros beat the St. Louis Cardinals 2-0. It was Houston's 12th straight home victory, a club record, and kept the Astros three games ahead of Los Angeles in the National League West.
"It definitely wasn't my best outing of the year," said Ryan, who struck out seven and evened his record at 5-5. "I started feeling bad when I was warming up. I had the good fastball, but I wasn't getting the curve over."

Garry Templeton had the only hit for the Cards, a third-inning double.
In other National League games, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Montreal Expos 5-3 in 10 innings, the Atlanta Braves edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3, the San Francisco Giants trimmed the New York Mets 4-3 in 10 innings, the San Diego Padres beat the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3, the Chicago Cubs topped the Cincinnati Reds 5-2.
Dodgers 5, Expos 3
Pinch-hitter Joe Ferguson's two-run homer with one out in the 10th inning was the winning blow for the Dodgers. It was the second homer of the year for Ferguson, who had gone into the game hitting .132.
The Dodgers had sent the game into extra innings when three pinch-hitters combined to produce a run in the bottom of the ninth. Reggie Smith doubled. Derrel Thomas laid down a bunt and was safe on a fielder's choice and Dusty Baker delivered a sacrifice fly.

Braves 4, Pirates 3
Jeff Burroughs, who hit 41 home runs in 1977, belted his first of the season as Atlanta beat Pittsburgh. Burroughs had gone 61 games without a homer, dating back to July 19, 1979.
Glenn Hubbard drove in the winning run with a sixth-inning double. It was Pittsburgh's fourth straight one-run loss.
Giants 4, Mets 3
Jack Clark hit his 12th home run of the season and tripled home the winning run in the 10th inning as the Giants dealt New York its fifth straight loss. Clark has seven hits in his last 10 times at bat.
Padres 4, Phillies 3
Dave Winfield drove in three runs and Tim Flannery singled home the game-winning run in the sixth as the Padres snapped Philadelphia's six-game winning streak.

neighborhood movie theaters to the plush Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York, where the $100 tab includes dinner.
Leonard, who is making the second defense of the title he won from Wilfred Benitez last November, is ranked the 9-5 favorite by Las Vegas oddsmakers, although you'd never convince Duran's Panamanian countrymen that the man they call "Hands of Stone" should be an underdog. They have been parading all over town wearing buttons which say "Duran Campeon" — claiming the title for their man before the first punch is thrown — and carrying their country's flag.
Much of the anticipation over this fight has been in the 29th birthday while in training here this week.

Duran was lightweight champion from 1972 until last year when he surrendered the 135-pound crown to move up to the 147-pound class.
Both fighters seem to have a distinct dislike for one another. Duran shrugged off the size of his purse, saying, "I fight for nothing. I have no respect for Leonard. He talks too much."
As for the champion, he joined the original press conference announcing the fight by saying, "I'll kill him." The remark was made almost in jest.
"I did it for a reason," said Leonard. "The press conference was so boring." But Duran didn't seem to ap-

"I have never seen Duran as determined as he is for this fight," said Arcel. "Not even for De Jesus."
Duran's lone professional loss came in a non-title fight against Esteban De Jesus, who knocked him down with a left hook and outpointed him in 1972. In 1974, he knocked Duran down again with a left hook, in a title fight. But that time the champion came back to score an 11th round knockout. In a second title fight in 1978, Duran knocked De Jesus out again, this time in the 12th round.
Those knockouts of De Jesus are two of the 11 Duran scored in lightweight title defenses. For his career, he has 55 knockouts. Leonard also has KO power as evidenced by 18 knockouts, the most recent a fourth round job on Davey "Boy" Green, executed with a textbook left hook.

Legion Drops AHS Contest

The Hereford American Legion Redbirds acquired their eighth loss of season play earlier this week following twinbill losses of 9-3, 8-2 to Amarillo High (the AHS squad is currently riding a nine game 11-2 winning streak), and brought their season campaign mark to 8-3 with the defeats.
Even so, one would have a difficult time convincing either of the team's coaches Joe Don Cummings or Ed Delozier, that their squad wasn't bound for the top.
The main reason for the optimism lies in the fact the squad is padded with a full roster of 18 players this year, and five of those players are returnees from the 1979 diamond crew.
Ron Plummer, a 1980 graduate senior, has been providing ample leadership and execution of play as one of the granddaddies of the team (now in his fourth year as a Legion left fielder, pitcher and catcher).
The other four-year veteran gracing the ranks on the team is Alan Daugherty. Daugherty, a 1979 Hereford High graduate, is fielding duty at third base.
Also inclusive of the Legion's old hands are seniors Kenneth Waters in his third year as a second baseman and first baseman, leading hitter for the squad Steve Bartles who is a third-year first baseman and catcher, and Jeff Hazlebrigg — also a 1980 graduate and HHS letterman, is filling berths at shortstop and pitcher.
Other varsity players who joined the Legion team this year are Ken Cosper, Don Delozier, Matt Collier and Mike Mason. Cosper a standout sophomore player for the HHS varsity this past year is fielding play at shortstop and third base; Delozier provides experience at catcher; Collier performs on the pitchers mound, left field and substitutes at first in relief of Bartles as a catcher; and Mason — the third sophomore member of HHS's varsity squad handles pitching duties as well as an outfielder job.
Coming to the Legion squad from the HHS junior varsity team is strong batter Mike Hill who doubles his time as an outfielder and second baseman; Brad Garnett as an outfielder and designated hitter; and Ruby Hernandez who manages his play in the outfield.
New comers to the Redbird team this year are John Phibbs, DeWayne Kilpatrick, David Dudding, Rod Simon, plus Mark Tucker and Randy Kerr from Friona. Kerr is currently leading the squad in homers this season.
The Legion has been tabbed as the strongest link between summer baseball and the high school program for the high school age bracket.
With the addition of the Junior Babe Ruth program last season which added a year to the Pony League program (13, 14, 15), the Hereford Baseball program now provides play for boys from ages 7-18.
In seasons past, the Hereford American Legion Post has provided the dugouts on the high school field, and in cooperation with the school have done many of the improvements on the field. Plans are being made for a joint American Legion and Hereford School System effort in making vast improvements on the field late this summer and during the school year, to be used in the 1981 High School and Legion seasons. One of these improvements will entail the installation of lighting for the field during evening play on the field.
The Redbirds are scheduled to play double headers in Hereford June 27, July 13, and July 20. When the team meets opposing Amarillo squads, the titles are usually held at either Bones Hook Field or Gold Sox Stadium in Amarillo while Borger and Canyon games are played in Canyon. The squad is slated to compete in a total of 32 more games before the district and state playoff tournaments begin July 27 and Aug. 8.

"I've been hitting all my life — why stop now?" said Flannery, who is batting .415 with five runs batted in since being called up from Hawaii two weeks ago. The statistics back him up — in his last two minor league seasons, Flannery has hit .350 and .345.
Cubs 5, Reds 2
Mike Vail's seventh-inning single scored Jesus Figueroa with the tie-breaking run, then the Cubs added two more in the ninth on Barry Foote's double. Mike Tyson's triple and Figueroa's double. Mike Krukow, 5-7, got the victory and Bruce Sutter worked the last two innings to earn his 15th save, tops in the majors.
Winds blowing at 21 miles per hour played havoc with many fly balls at Wrigley Field, including one hit by Vail in the sixth inning.

Romero Clips 3 Runs Off Rangers

Brewers Whip Texas

ARLINGTON, TEXAS (AP) — Ed Romero's major league experience consists of 18 games, but Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger says his reserve shortstop plays like someone who has been in over 1,000 of them.
"This kid just doesn't get nervous," said Bamberger after Romero collected three hits and scored three runs in the Brewers' 10-4 rout of the Texas Rangers Thursday night. "He plays like he has been in the big leagues 10 years."
Romero was called up from the Brewers' Vancouver farm team two weeks ago after regular shortstop Robin Yount suffered a severely bruised heel and second baseman Paul Molitor pulled a muscle.
"Ed has played good enough to stay on this team — he's a big league ballplayer, no doubt," said Bamberger.
The only problem is that Yount will be back in the lineup for the Brewers tonight. Molitor is expected back in just over a week.

"I don't know what we will do then," said Bamberger.
The Brewers can send Romero back to the minors one more time because he has one recall option left.
"If I can't play for the Brewers I hope some other team out there wants me," said Romero. "I know it is tough to make this team. I had a good spring and I'm trying to produce every chance I get so the other teams will see me. I have one option left. A couple teams showed some interest in the spring."
Romero was joined in the 15-hit parade against Texas pitching by the red-hot Ben Oglivie, who knocked in three runs with a single, double and his 18th homer of the year, a two-run shot in the 5th inning.
Bill Travers picked up his fifth victory against three losses although he was tagged by Richie Zisk and Billy Sample for solo homers.
Rookie Brian Allard took the loss in his first major league decision.

Paul Mitchell worked the last three innings to post his first save of the year although pinchhitter Johnny Grubb measured him for a solo homer.
Romero made several excellent plays against the Rangers, including a backhand stop deep in the hole of a Jim Sundberg grounder followed by a rifle throw to first base to nip the Texas catcher.
"Ed has done just a super job for us since he was called up," said Bamberger. "He has played a big part in our victories."
Asked if it was his biggest night in the major leagues, Romero smiled and said "No, I was three for four and had the game winning RBI in a game back in 1977. You can remember those things."
— Meanwhile, it was the 16th loss in 22 games for the fast-sinking Rangers, who haven't won two games in a row in more than three weeks.

Texas Briefs — Engineers, Programmers, Technicians in Demand

DALLAS (AP) — President L. Frank Pitts of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association said Thursday Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's proposal to exempt royalty owners from the Windfall Profits Tax "is right on target."

Pitts commended Bentsen, D-Texas, for scheduling a U.S. Senate subcommittee hearing to examine the impact of the tax on small royalty owners.

The hearing is set for July 17 at the Texas Special Events Center in Austin.

"We appreciate your concern for the hundreds of thousands of Texas royalty owners whose income has been drastically reduced by what in reality is an excise tax on Texas mineral rights," Pitts said in a letter to Bentsen.

"These hearings will provide hundreds of affected royalty owners who could not travel to Washington, such as retired couples and small farmers and ranchers, the opportunity to express to the committee the hardships placed on them by the tax," said Pitts.

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Suspended Municipal Judge Glen Sutherland has received a suspended one-year sentence on an income tax conviction.

Sutherland also was placed on probation for three years.

Sutherland was convicted of failure to file returns on $46,000 earned in 1975, 1976 and 1977.

A conviction on a traffic ticket fixing charge is being appealed by Sutherland. He was sentenced in April to two years in prison on the ticket fixing conviction.

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A Cuban refugee who cut his wrists with a piece of metal this week was reported in good condition Thursday.

Pedro Herrera Gutierrez, one of 60 refugees detained at El Paso's Immigration and Naturalization Service processing center, had been separated from the other Cubans, according to acting INS District Director Pete Reyes.

Reyes said other prisoners did not want Herrera in their area at the detention center.

Reyes said Herrera gave no explanation for his behavior.

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Juarez police say they are holding an El Paso couple who allegedly purchased newborn Mexican babies for sale to childless persons in the United States.

Juarez Police Chief Refugio Ruvalcaba says the man arrested admitted his activities when he was questioned following a traffic accident. The chief said officers found $7,400 in cash in the couple's vehicle.

Ruvalcaba says the man and his wife told him they purchased babies from a doctor who operates a maternity clinic in Torreón, in the interior of Mexico.

The babies were bought for $3,000 in Mexico and sold for $8,000 to $10,000 in Utah and Colorado, Ruvalcaba says.

He says no charges have been filed pending a complete investigation.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Eleanor Foley, a mother of eight who just graduated from St. Edward's University with straight A's, says she made a B in college 25 years ago in Marriage and Family Living, and added:

"After eight children, I think that should be looked over again."

Prior to resuming her education at St. Edward's New College, Mrs. Foley had completed 45 semester hours of college.

She received 21 hours of credit for her work as manager of a greenhouse business and Sunday school teacher and 15 hours credit on advance placement tests in American literature, American history and Human Growth and Development classes.

Her favorite class? "The most painful but, in retrospect, my favorite" was a course in adolescent psychology. "It made me aware of mistakes I had made and was making in rearing my children" — five of whom still live at home.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court papers of the late Tom C. Clark have been donated to the University of Texas by Clark's family. Clark is the only Texan and UT graduate ever to serve on the court.

Clark was appointed to the court by President Harry Truman and served as an associate justice from 1949 to 1967. He died in 1977.

Clark received bachelor and law degrees from UT.

His papers, filling 375 boxes, will be housed in the Tom Clark Manuscript Reading Room of the Tarlton Law Library.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A former executive of the Kuwait Oil Co. said Thursday Middle Eastern oil-producing countries are determined to conserve oil by keeping production down.

Mansour Abu Khamseen told a seminar at the University of Texas OPEC — Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries — members are aware that as the rate of production rises, the rate of recovery declines.

"A textbook case of oil depletion is the saga of Spindletop," near Beaumont, Khamseen said.

He predicted less and less OPEC oil will be on the market in the future. "I think OPEC will keep raising prices and demanding a fairer share," he said.

The seminar was sponsored by the UT Center for Middle Eastern Studies, UT College of Education and the Austin Independent School District.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A team of police, firefighters and paramedics rescued a man Thursday who had fallen 150 feet from the top of Mount Bonnell.

Pete Romero, 23, was taken to intensive care at Brackenridge Hospital, where he was listed in serious condition.

Police quoted Romero as saying he slipped on gravel while on an outing with friends.

"When we got to him, he was still sliding down the mountain. He only had 15 feet before he would have gotten to a straight drop off," said officer Jim Ball.

DAISSETTA, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements has been asked by the Hull-Daisetta school board to declare this Liberty County community a disaster area because of concentrations of propane gas.

A high school, school administration building, a church and a welding shop have been closed because of concentrations of the gas in sewer lines and in the ground in the northeast section of the community.

The school board requested Clements take action so as to open the way for possible federal aid for the relocation of about 200 high school students next fall.

Available options include purchasing portable buildings, renting buildings, and using church facilities.

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Dr. Wayne Blevins, 40, superintendent of Sinton schools, has been named to a similar position with the 9,500-student Galveston school district.

Blevins, 42, a native of Fort Worth, is to succeed Frank Vollert, 52, who is to retire July 1.

Worcester, Mass. (AP) — Earlier this year, prospective employers visited Raymond Cronin on the campus of Worcester Polytechnic Institute. In all, representatives of 21 companies gave Cronin the grand tour of New York and Massachusetts firms, and flew him to Houston, Cleveland, Detroit and Santa Clara, Calif.

The 22-year-old senior from Scituate, Mass., who was still months away from his bachelor's degree in electrical engineering when the wooing began, settled on a job with a California company at a salary "somewhere over $21,000 a year."

"I didn't think it would go as well as it did," he said, "but once I saw the need for engineers, I got to expect it."

At a time when economic indicators point to recession, engineers, programmers and computer technicians are in demand. The boom in the high technology industry has made them the sellers in a sellers' market and has forced companies to use new recruiting tactics.

Many companies have abandoned traditional want ads in favor of television commercials, open houses, and lucrative bonuses to draft college graduates and lure help from other companies.

—When there was no response to its want ads, ASA Inc., a Boston software firm, offered free Bermuda vacations to those joining the company. The same deal was available to employees who recruited friends. ASA got eight new programmers.

—Companies like Wang Laboratories and Data General offer workers "bounties" of $200 to $300 if they bring people into the company. Wang is considering an in-company campaign exhorting employees to "Turn in Your Friends."

—Advanced Micro Devices, a Sunnyvale, Calif., semiconductor manufacturer spent over $200,000 on a "Catch the Wave" recruitment program that carried the message on billboards, television and radio and national magazines.

—Texas Instruments personnel officers invade cities rich in engineering talent for "hire-ins," held at local hotels and advertised on local television.

"It became apparent two years ago that our normal means of recruitment was not working," said Ed Haynes, a TI employment manager.

Haynes, whose Dallas office sports the sign "Recession? Hell no! We're too busy," leads teams to cities as far away as Boston in search of new talent. Such promotions cost about $70,000 each, but they get results.

"We used to take out an ad in a city, put a personnel guy and two engineers in a hotel and wait for the phone to ring," said Haynes. "We'd get 15 or 20 people and wind up hiring one or two for $15,000. Now we talk to 300 people."

Wang Laboratories turned over recruitment to its marketing department. "Everybody hires through want ads," says Ted Leonis, Wang's public relations manager. "We thought we could get more people through marketing-oriented ads."

Recruiters are turning to the Madison Avenue approach because of the sharp competition among employers. "There is just a finite number of people out there that are trained," says John Custy, a Wang personnel officer. "If you're good, you have no problem picking your own company."

What caused the shortage? Haynes blames universities for not counseling students on the realities of the job market.

"You can sit in the lobby of my office and talk to the sociology and psychology majors who can't find work and have no skills," he says. "I classify it as one of the biggest consumer frauds in the country."

Others say no one could predict the boom. "Growth has been faster than anyone expected," says Custy, who expects his company to double its staff of 10,000 employees next year.

Custy and Haynes say the shortage will continue through the mid-80s.

Once they have hired workers, some companies resort to perks and self-promotion to keep employees from wandering.

Advanced Micro Devices, which boasts the lowest employee turnover in California's "Silicon Valley," offers a generous profit-sharing plan and in-company contests to employees.

AMD, which recorded $225 million in sales this year, staged a "Christmas in May" party last month, holding drawings on wall-screen televisions and Cadillac Seattles. One worker won $20,000 a year for life.

"We developed these things because our biggest asset is our people," said George Weaver, AMD's personnel chief. "We want to retain them and encourage others to join the company."

Not all find themselves swept up in the rush. Brian Huntley, a Worcester Polytech senior from Sheepscot, Maine, opted for graduate school despite six job offers.

"It was disillusioning," he says. "Most students are used to living on $2,000 a year and suddenly they were getting fancy dinners and offers of big salaries. A lot of them were getting sidetracked from their normal selves by the green stuff."

The Pan Am building, north of Grand Central Station, is one of the world's largest commercial office buildings. It has 59 floors rising 808 feet, with rooftop heliport, and was erected over the tracks of Grand Central Terminal. It covers an area of three and one-half acres. Its estimated office population is 17,000.

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Don't take it lying down

DEAR DR. LAMB - I've got a problem with my husband. I think a lot of other women have the same problem. He doesn't seem to have any energy and lies around all the time. It's hard to get him moving. He is either in the bed or on the sofa watching TV. He does have a job but it is office work and I know he doesn't do anything physically there either. He just sits.

I've tried to tell him that too much rest isn't good for you. If he would only sit up that would help. I think he has TV-titis. Some women complain because their husband goes off and plays golf. I wish mine would. It's not that I don't like him but I'm sure he would feel better if he would just start moving. He is always too tired to go anywhere and the simplest chore around the house is too much for him.

He is only 53 so he isn't old enough to need to rest all the time. If you would comment on the bad effects of lying around all the time, he might listen to you. He does read your column - lying down.

DEAR READER - Yes, there are a lot of people in our society who have "bed disease." That is a term doctors use for the changes that occur in your body from lying down too long. Still many others have hypokinesia, a term used for too little physical activity. You can have these problems from sitting around all the time and they are made worse by lying down. The body will undergo changes if you don't use it.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-6, Effects of Inactivity, Including Bed Rest, to give you detailed information on the changes that occur. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I first studied this problem to try to find out what to expect in astronauts during space flight. Everyone was concerned about the effects of weightlessness. When our group studied the problem, we soon realized that not only would weightlessness be a problem similar to prolonged bed rest but the enforced inactivity from being confined to the tiny space capsule would also cause changes. So we studied people sitting in an overstuffed chair for weeks and people lying in bed for weeks.

When you are in bed you lose some important body water. You'll lose as much as five pounds of water the first 48 hours. That decreases your circulating blood volume and causes you to feel faint when you get up. You may recall that some of the astronauts had to have someone on each side of them to walk down the deck of the carrier after they landed. That was why.

In addition the bone marrow quits producing as many red blood cells, which can lead to an anemia when a person gets active again. The heart rate increases and the heart is more prone to irregularities. Adrenaline products are stored in the heart and people to stay out of bed except to sleep. Sit up when watching TV and if you do a lot of it, do some exercises while you are watching. Yes, inactivity can cause you to be tired. Regular physical activity is essential to a person's health.

Because of all these bad effects, I usually try to get

=Plastic melted on pants=

DEAR POLLY - Is there an way to get melted plastic (which has hardened) off of a pair of corduroy pants? They were at the bottom of a laundry basket that was accidentally put on a hot floor furnace. I would really hate to have to throw these pants away. - JEAN

DEAR JEAN - Heat caused the trouble, so I would try heat for removing the plastic. Turn pants to the wrong side and slip paper towels inside. Iron over the stains (use a pressing cloth if they come all the way through) and the plastic may melt onto the towels. When any melted plastic appears on the towels, replace them with fresh ones. Repeat until all the plastic has melted onto the towels. If this does not work, heat might soften the plastic enough that it can be scraped away with a dull knife. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - To remove the fat from soups, etc., place a piece of fresh, clean cheesecloth on top of the soup and let the soup cool. The fat will solidify on top of the cloth and can be removed and discarded. - MARY M.

FAITH SHOWS THE FALSE PREMISE OF THE "NEW MORALITY"

The so-called "new morality" we hear so much about these days is neither new nor moral, because its activities have been practiced and condemned since the dawn of history; and yet it appears to be gaining an increasing acceptance among the very people who would have been outraged at the idea only a few years ago. Nevertheless, under the guise of personal liberty these destructive habits bind us instead with the chains of a self-imposed slavery and demonstrate a total lack of respect for our minds and bodies by subjecting them to proven health hazards. It is not too late to learn that those rules of conduct set forth in the Bible were pretty good ones after all, and that those who follow them and go to Church regularly are always ahead in the long run.

"And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them."
—Ephesians 5:11

Vice is a monster of so frightful mien,
As to be hated needs but to be seen;
Yet seen to oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace.
—Alexander Pope
