

Surprise Leaves Get Brothers Home Together

"We're slowly, but surely winning in Viet Nam," two Hereford brothers stated following their return from the battlefields, "but at the rate the war is going, it could last for a generation."

Jackie and Johnny Stallings, sons of Mrs. Addie Stallings of 409 Ave. J, spent nearly 20 months combined time in Viet Nam before returning to Hereford in time for the Christmas holidays. Jackie, 24, returned home Saturday after staying nine months and seven days in the war-torn country. Monday, the family received a letter from Johnny in which he said, "I am still in the field and this is the 128th straight day of it and have 54 more days of it then I'll be home. There isn't any chance of me getting out of the field before Feb. but I want you to have a wonderful Christmas." Johnny surprised the entire family when he arrived home Monday night after getting an unexpected leave. Although he had just finished 10 1/2 months of almost constant combat, he must return for seven more months following the 30-day rest. Drafted into the Army Jan. 4, 1965, Jackie was trained at Fort Polk, La., and Fort Gordon, Ga. before being sent to Longbien on March 9, 1966. Longbien is about 30 miles north of Saigon. For about the first month he was in Viet Nam; Jackie filled sandbags, which were placed around tents, houses or bunkers, and had police call. In Army jargon, police call means cleaning up the area. Then comes the part Jackie is reluctant to discuss. As a pole lineman, he would go out with the infantry and string wire for communications. Speaking quietly, he admits to seeing "a little bit" of action but also says he never saw anyone get hurt while on a pole. Johnny, who entered the service on August 15, 1965, arrived in Anke, situated in the mountainous region of the central highlands, is 280 miles north of Saigon. He also had been trained at Fort Polk, but went to Fort Benning, Ga., for jump school. Although officially classified as a paratrooper with the First Cavalry, Johnny described himself as a "pathfinder." Almost from the day he arrived, Johnny was battling the enemy. "We would jump into an area, clear out a LZ (landing zone) and have it partially secured so that a large helicopter could be brought in," he said. "We would blow down the trees with C-4 (an explosive more powerful than dynamite) and set up communications. From one hour to four hours later, they could bring in a helicopter." In the letter which arrived home Monday, Johnny told his family of seeing his friends killed. "It's a feeling that I can't explain," he wrote. "It makes grown men cry and sure makes

VIET NAM VETERANS — Johnny and Jackie Stallings, sons of Mrs. Addie Stallings of 409 Ave. J, surprised their family this week when both returned from Viet Nam. Johnny, wearing the light coat, spent 10 1/2 months in Viet Nam, while Jackie stayed there nine months. Personal photos show Johnny in the mountainous region and in camp holding a machine gun, while Jackie, sporting a mustache, is in a jungled area.

Doctor Needed — Hereford To Help

A neighbor's call for a doctor is being heeded by physicians from Hereford Clinic. Vega, thirty miles north of Hereford on 385, is without any kind of medical facilities since Dr. Vernon Watley moved to Kentucky. The community clinic was established by citizens of the Oldham county seat this year. The community is about thirty miles from a doctor, or hospital, any way the distance is measured. The community of Adrian, west of Vega on Highway 66 is further than that — they had been depending on the clinic in Vega for emergencies. Raymond Thompson, banker in Vega, approached doctors in the Hereford Clinic and asked them if they could offer some assistance. Dr. Clyde Rush said that the group of doctors associated in the clinic have decided to attempt a three morning a week program that would use three different doctors.

and that the lab. facilities would seem to be adequate for blood and urine tests only. Extensive lab work will have to be done either in Amarillo or in Hereford. Dr. Beene said that no house calls could be made because only one doctor would be on duty at a time and that this doctor would have to be in the clinic. Too, no surgery or deliveries can be made. Maternity care will be available up to delivery time however, he said. Thompson said that the clinic is housed in a commercial building purchased by Oldham County. Oldham county commissioners court requested Thompson to inquire as to possible answers to the community problems. The problem extends to Wildorado, Tascosa and Adrian. Between two and three thousand people are involved. Thompson estimates.

Commissioners Ray Brown, Adrian, Miles Milhoan, Wildorado, Roy Turner, Tascosa and John B. McNaughton, Vega and Judge J. T. Singleton, after Dr. Watley moved and the county had purchased the clinic, authorized the action. Thompson said that they realize that they cannot get a doctor before the war in Viet Nam is over. The action of the Hereford doctors is highly appreciated, he said. "This is not the best in the world, but it will be the best medical situation we have had in a long time," the bank president said. Prior to Watley's coming to Vega, the only medical treatment the citizens could receive at home was from the late, Dr. O. H. Lloyd, an octogenarian who lived in that town. Before Dr. Lloyd, more than 30

Grain Producers Set Small Research Toll

Circulation of an agreement by grain sorghum producers to support research and marketing promotion through the Grain Sorghum Producers Association is starting this week in Deaf Smith County. Wider support of the GSPA and its policies is being sought in the agreement, which is being circulated by farmers of this county who are members of the association, Tommy Carnahan, one of the county directors, said Wednesday. J. T. Gilbreath Jr. is president of the county group and Bob Viegel vice president. Relatively few of the grain sorghum growers in this county contributed this year to support the organization, from which all growers benefit, the directors noted, so plans were made to revive interest and get more farmers to agree to contribute. The agreement which they are being asked to sign states that these growers "request all elevators receiving our grain sorghum to deduct two pounds per thousand annually from our respective accounts for support of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association until further notice." This amount from all Deaf Smith producers will assure an adequate contribution from this county to GSPA financing of research and market promotion, county directors believe.

REBUILDING FUND BEGINS — Lupe Tapia, who stood by helplessly Dec. 5 as his home and belongings went up in smoke during a fire at the Labor Camp, was presented $50 Monday night by Boy Scout Troop 52 and Emergency Service Corps Troop 52. The money was presented Tapia by Gilbert Alaniz, left, Randy Barrett, and Jimmy Dickerson, right. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Red Cross First Aid Finished At Walcott

The first class to complete a standard Red Cross first aid course with a teacher who was trained in a recent class for instructors has passed its final tests, and 14 residents of the Walcott community received their certificates. Curtis Traweck was the instructor; he was one of a group of Hereford residents who completed the instructors' course taught here by Luther Gribble of Red Cross regional staff. The Walcott class had been waiting for an instructor, as the few qualified teachers in the county had not been able to give it time. Sessions were conducted nightly for a week at Walcott School. The trainees are residents of that community, in the far western section of the county. They had requested the course to fill a need caused by the long distance from their farms to a doctor for treatment in case of accident. Plans are being made now for an advanced course. In the class were Messrs. and Mrs. Elmo Hall, G. V. Hall, Bob Hammock, Buel Monroe; Mrs. Wayne Bass, Charles E. Harrington, Mrs. Melvin Henderson, J. G. Hobson, Tom R. Kimberlake and Mrs. Jim Monroe.

Fire Victim Fund Gets Start From Boy Scouts

Stunned, bewildered and unsure of his family's future. That was how Lupe Tapia appeared after his home and three cars burned in a raging fire at the Hereford Labor Camp Dec. 5. Troop 52 of the Boy Scouts of America and Emergency Service Corps Troop 52 opened their hearts and pocketbooks Monday night to change those expressions to surprise, gratitude and hope. Naming their projects the "Lupe Tapia Rebuilding Fund," the two groups presented Tapia with $25 each. Frank Ford Jr., scoutmaster for Troop 22, said the members began talking about raising a fund just after reading a story in the Hereford Brand in which Tapia, told of saving six years to buy the home only to have it burn in the fire. He and nine other members of the family were left homeless after the fire. "They made it a Christmas project to help a man who was burned out and appeared to be sincere in his statements," Ford explained. "The only purpose of the publicity is to help him rebuild and get back on his feet." Ford said donations for Tapia may be left with Father Raymond at St. Joseph's Mission. There are 56 members of Boy Scout Troop 52, and 25 members of the Emergency Service Corps, which aids firemen during fires.

Chase Subjects Fined Heavily In JP Court

Speeding violators have felt the long arm of the law here this past month with Department of Public Safety and county officers cracking down with city patrolmen on drivers that incite a "chase." The largest fines were meted out to a Dimmitt man after about a 25 mile chase, according to Hereford patrolmen. Largest fine assessed recently amounted to over $1200 by the time the offender faced Castro and Deaf Smith County Justice of the Peace courts. Involved was Oscar Alvarez, 19, who was pursued from just north of Dimmitt, then west about five miles, then north on farm road 1055 where he encountered Hereford patrolmen at the intersection of 385 and the farm road. He finally hit a cement wall west of Hereford and attempted to avoid officers by running on foot. Several charges were filed against him, resulting in $700 fines in Deaf Smith County and $377.15 in Castro County. Another case involved Bobby Brewer, 21, who was fined a total of $145 for a ride of a few minutes in which he raced ahead of patrolmen after turning at high speed into a street on which they were leaving, failing to stop at several stop signs, finally wrecking his car as he attempted to turn into Buena Vista. He fled on foot and ran into a clothes line, knocking himself out. Another attempt to avoid flight resulted in the arrest of several young men and some juveniles. Three men were charged in connection with speeding violations Dec. 10. Ed Sanders was charged by Justice of the Peace Berry Miles on three accounts as driver and his fine totaled $150. He was confined to jail in lieu of the fine in accordance with state law. Also charged were Kenny Doves, and Robert Baum. Arresting officer stated that he began pursuit on east Highway 60, following the car north onto Progressive Road. Time was just after midnight. The speeding vehicle was lost north of town. Later the vehicle was seen just east of Ave. K, and pursuit was resumed. Baum admitted to being driver during this phase of the chase. The car was abandoned in a driveway and subjects fled. Speeds reached 85 miles per hour in a 55 mile per hour zone, the arresting officer said. Police had the car towed in and See CHASE Page 2

City Reviews Budget Items

Commissioners agreed to a proposal by city Manager Dudley Bayne to hire a Director of Public Works for the coming year at their regular meeting in the city hall Monday night. Present plans for the future position call for the person to head the water, sewer, street and park departments. Approved was a bid of $4,300 from the Water Tank Service Company to clean and paint a 250,000 gallon overhead water tank. Only two bids were submitted. The cleaning and painting of a 400,000 gallon tank was postponed until next year. It was decided that the smaller tank be cleaned first because it was last done in 1957. The larger tank was built in 1958 and thus it is possible to wait one more year, Commissioners said.

In other action, the local power and light company was authorized to build new street lights on La Plata Drive, between Whiteface Stadium and La Plata Junior High. The intersections of Third and Miles and Third and Sampson have been considered for traffic control lights. Bayne said that these would be included again in next year's budget.

As for the coming fiscal year, which starts on May 1, it is planned that the city will spend $16,200 for 5,000 feet of sewer lines. Water lines will also take a considerable amount as 18,000 feet at a cost of $19,700 are planned. Discussed in the meeting were salaries for city employees. A longevity schedule with employees. you do a lot of thinking. The first month I was over here I saw twenty five good men die. I've seen a lot more than that since, but those certain twenty five men were buddies that I spent all f my army life with before we came over. I knew them pretty well and it hurts deep down inside me more than I could ever tell."

Sorrow fills my heart for their families because they lost the most important gift God ever gave them and no one or anything can bring them back or take their place." Near the end of his letter, Johnny said, "You cannot live without regard for society or the so called common man for to live so is to live without regard for yourself. You might say that's what I'm doing over here, fighting for society and the common man."

Both men described Viet Nam as a "jungle-type country," with lots of rain and rice paddies everywhere. "The temperature," said Jackie, "averages about 120 degrees." For the most part, the soldiers had to be fully dressed, but "we could roll our sleeves up."

The pair agreed that Americans and their allies actually are fighting two different type f soldiers. "One is the regular South Vietnamese," Johnny explained. "He wears black pajamas and has informal ways of fighting."

"The others are the Peter Pythons," a name pinned on the enemy of the GIs. "They have uniforms and are twice as fierce, fight harder and won't back down," he continued. "They also have a lot better weapons, mostly supplied by China."

The Viet Cong soldiers, the brothers said, range in age from 10 to 30. "You can't tell exactly how old they are," said Jackie, "but a lot of them look like they are real young."

"Most of the soldiers we captured," said Johnny, "told us the army came to their homes, schools or anywhere they were, gave them a gun and khakis and sent them to fight. I also saw some of them walk for a year to fight and then get shot right after they get there."

"The Viet Cong," Jackie said, "are sort of brainwashed too. They've been told the American torture them and things like that."

"After they have been captured," Johnny added, "the Americans teach them new ways, about the democratic way of life. And more of them now than ever want a democratic vote because they aren't scared anymore."

Jackie and Johnny managed to see each other one time during their stay in Viet Nam. Through correspondence, Johnny learned that Jackie was headed to Japan for R&R (Rest and Recuperation), so he obtained a leave. "I just kept hoping he was going to be there and barely got a pass," said Johnny. The two spent five days together.

Asked what they thought of the United States demonstrations against the war, Johnny added, "It doesn't make you feel very good when you're over there and you know what the people back here are doing."

Is the fighting worth while? "It's better to stop them over there than to fight them here in our own back yard," stated Jackie. "I feel the same way," declared Johnny. "Most definitely."

Pulling out his billfold, Johnny produced a clipping from Stars and Stripes, the Army newspaper. "This is just the way we felt," he said. The clipping, titled "I Wondered Why" and written by Cpl. Donald Brightwell of the U. S. Marine Corps, states:

When I came to this far off land,

I wondered why I had been chosen to fight in this heat and sand.

Jungle, mosquitoes and weather very hot,

That's about all Vietnam has got.

I wondered why I should be the one,

To have to fight in this blazing hot sun.

Then I realized I wasn't alone,

There are other Americans here.

Who would rather be at home,

I watched them fight and watched them die.

I heard their mournful cry,

As the red hot lead came flying by.

I wondered what we were fighting for,

Then I realized we were fighting.

For the same reason Americans had fought before.

To keep the hammer and sickle off our front door,

I realized we were fighting for freedom's sake.

To help people of this land the yoke of communism to shake.

To help them live a better life.

Out frm under the communist knife.

So, by draft dodging friend,

You deserve a red star,

To prove what you really are.

But when you protest this war,

And refuse to fight,

Remember the men who fought and fell,

Just to keep you from living in hell.

We'll fight all day and night,

To keep Old Glory still flying bright,

And to keep freedom loving people free.

ees receiving two dollars a month for every year employed by the city is being considered.

The city will also be paying $35,000 more bond retirement next year.

The estimated income for the coming fiscal year is $883,000 as compared to $836,567 for the present year. The largest incomes are taxes, $372,000; water, $232,000 trash collections, $70,000 and $50,000 for sewer service.

Commissioners stated that they had no plans for big projects for the coming year since they had just been through a series of big paving, sewer and water projects.

Bayne explained that the city was in good shape as far as improvements are concerned and that no crisis would arise unless a big growth surge created it.

Five Sentenced In County Court

Three persons received fines or jail sentences during court action this week before Deaf Smith County Judge H. C. Williams.

Cases heard were Bennie S. Elevarie, contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile, 30 days in jail and court costs; Larry Garcia, aggravated assault, 90 days and costs, and Antonio De Hyous, aggravated assault, 30 days $25 and costs.

Two Are Killed In Bovina Crash

BOVINA — Two Lubbock men were killed shortly after noon Wednesday when the pickup they were riding was hit by a 55-car freight train at a crossing in Bovina.

Dead at the scene were William Wesley Gholson, 29, and Leroy Clifford Shelton, 32.

Texas Highway Patrolman Robert Sanders of Hereford, who covered the accident, said Gholson was traveling north and started to cross the tracks on North Street about 12:30 p.m. when the vehicle was struck by the train.

The train, which does not make a regular stop in Bovina, had four engines and 51 cars. "The engine traveled about a mile before it could be stopped," the patrolman stated.

The Hereford doctors said that they would have to work out details as they move into the venture, making adjustments to fit arising situations.

LITTLE BU STRONG

BEAUMONT — He's only 5-foot 3-inches tall and weighs a mere 118 pounds, but it took two Beaumont policemen and a bystander to subdue the reluctant lad.

Patrolmen Jim Suire and John Bean stopped the testy tussler on a traffic charge. He informed them he had no intention of being arrested and proceeded to let fly with a couple of well-placed punches to the officers' heads.

The officers hailed a passing truck and persuaded the burly driver to hold the bantamweight brawler while they handcuffed him.

Even then the pint-sized puncher tried to open the door of the squad car with his cuffed hands as the officers took him in for booking on a charge of aggravated assault on a police officer.

The next morning, they were placed on probation, contingent upon their meeting certain behavior standards.

Police Report Heavy Damage

Monday seems to have been a bad day for Hereford drivers. Police reported three wrecks for that day. The weekend saw only one accident, however. It occurred just before noon Saturday and involved James N. Cockrum 214 Ave. I, and Mrs. Johnnie L. Morris, 314 Star St. Mrs. Morris was driving her 1962 sedan straight on Grand as Cockrum backed his 1965 sedan from a private drive and then two collided, causing $200 damage to the Cockrum vehicle and approximately $350 damage to the Morris auto.

The first in the series of accidents Monday involved a 1960 pickup driven by Loyd A. Brooks Rt. 3 and a 1962 station wagon driven by Lula House, Rt. 3. The collision occurred at the intersection of 25 Mile Ave. and Higgins St. Brooks was going south on 25 Mile Ave. as Mrs. House was traveling north and made a left turn in front of Brooks to enter Higgins St. when the two collided. Brooks' vehicle suffered $75 damage and damage to the other automobile was estimated at $125.

Mrs. Sue Stevens, 204 Grand Ave. failed to see Mrs. Catheryn Celaya, 324 Ave. E., who was driving a 1966 sedan south on Main St., as she backed her 1963 pickup from an angle parking position. The two collided causing $75 damage to the Celaya vehicle. The Stevens auto was not damaged.

happened on Emma St. when a 1961 pickup owned by Stephens Hudson Motor Co. and parked in front of 128 Emma was hit by a 1967 sportscar driven by 15-year-old Ernest Watson. The car was reported to be speeding at 40 mph in a 25 mph zone. The car did not stop. The pickup incurred $370.00 damage.

Talk is not always cheap when conversing with a lawyer.

It hardly seems possible that Christmas is almost here. And certainly the weatherman just isn't cooperating. We should have snow now for Christmas, but if the situation works as per usual, we'll have snow for Easter Sunday and balmy weather for Christmas.

Some people will probably prefer the balmy weather, and we're sure that these poor souls who will be out traveling over the Christmas holidays will certainly appreciate it.

With a couple of feet of snow on the ground however, even Veteran's Memorial Park would look pretty good.

According to the Irish Digest, if you want to know how long it will take you to get to the top in your career, consult a calendar. If you want to know how long it takes to fall to the bottom, try a stopwatch. And it's interesting to note what the Arizona Republic has to say about Adam Clayton Powell.

"Adam Clayton Powell, Harlem's preacher-Congressman and fulltime bon vivant, is probably not the worst Congressman ever to disgrace the U. S. House of Representatives. But no worse example comes readily to mind."

And the Minneapolis Star allows that the government has cut its budget for office furniture. It's an efficiency move, according to the Star. If a clerk doesn't have a desk he can't keep his feet on it.

Among the sights that make a man wonder is that of his wife cleaning the house so she won't be embarrassed when the cleaning woman comes.

The Sunday edition of the Brand will be published early this week in order that everyone will have their paper by Christmas day. Advertising deadlines have been moved up accordingly as well as deadlines for general news.

It is unusual, by the way, for newspaper people to get a holiday, but we intend to take one this year and the office will be closed Saturday through Monday. Most of the stores, we understand, as well as government offices, the banks, city and county, etc., will all close Monday for an extra holiday. And we would suspect that most of them will need it after the Christmas rush.

A MONTH OF PEANUT BUTTER

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — A graduate student at Texas A&M faged halfway through his bet to eat 25 pounds of peanut butter in a month. Frank Truesdale, graduate fisheries major from Atlantic Heights, N. J., said he still likes peanut butter "but I just got tired of it with about 10 days to go" on his dare.

He said a friend is going to make peanut butter cookies with the remainder — but he was not guaranteeing to eat any.

ALL-REGIONAL CHOIR — Three senior high students sang in the all-regional choir in Canyon this last Saturday. They tried out several weeks ago and only these three were selected. Susan White, Suzanne Oglesby and Nate Stark said that they felt honored to have qualified for the honor choir. Sixty-four members were selected from various Panhandle cities. Susan is a junior, Suzanne is a sophomore and Stark is a senior.

BSP Entertains At Salad Supper

The two chapters of Beta Sigma Phi joined for a Christmas buffet supper Tuesday evening in Community Center, with husbands of members as guests. Social committees were hostesses.

Long tables were arranged for the guests, centered with groups of red candles and spruce boughs down the length of the tables. Supper was served from a buffet table also glowing with candlelight and gay with holiday arrangements.

Gift packages for an exchange were placed about the tree which members of the sorority decorated for the use of all groups meeting in the Community Center clubroom during the holiday season.

The packages were distributed as prizes in games of bingo after the meal.

Mrs. Max Goforth is social chairman of Kappa Iota Chapter, with Mrs. Bob Pugh and Mrs. Bud Kelly as members. Xi Epsilon Alpha Chapter's social committee comprises Mrs. Howard Gore, chairman, Mmes. Ernest Wade, Irving Alexander Delbert Bainum and Clyde Russell.

January Payments Will Be Larger

January 1 will bring an increase in monthly compensation payments to parents and children of servicemen and veterans who die of service-connected causes, Jack Coker, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco said this week.

Legislation calling for increases in Dependency and Indemnity Compensation rates was signed into law by President Johnson on November 3.

Monthly payments for children will be increased from $77 to $80 for one child; from $110 to $115 for two children; from $143 to $149 for three children, and from $28 to $29 for each child in excess of three. In case of dependent parents, monthly payments are increased from $83 to $97 for a single parent and the maximum income limitation is extended from $1,750 to $1,800.

Changes in income deductions for parents were made in the new law to bring it into line with the pension and income rules for veterans' widows.

STUDENT AT HOME

Among college students returning home early for the winter holidays is Penny Jones, who attends Trinity University as a freshman. She is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Jones; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Jones and other relatives.

SLIPERY ROADWAY
PRAGUE — A chunk of butter was the cause of a traffic accident in Czechoslovakia. When the butter fell off a truck it was spread on the road by following cars and two motorcyclists slipped on it and crashed.

RING OUT CHRISTMAS MUSIC — Presenting a program of familiar Christmas music for Lone Star Study Club, members of Junior High Handbell Choir of First Methodist Church were guests at the club's holiday tea in the home of Mrs. Ed Warren. Mrs. S. S. Williams, Lone Star president, stands with Bob Wert, choir director, at the head of the table where some of the performers are standing. This group, as well as the Senior Handbell Choir, has taken part in several church and club programs of seasonal music.

Families Are Entertained With Christmas Party By Rebekahs

Stockings filled with small gifts and treats for the children, and gifts for exchange by the adults featured the Christmas party given by Rebekah Lodge Members for their families Tuesday evening in the IOOF Hall. A mock fireplace was set up on one side of the hall, with the sparkling Christmas tree beside it. Arrangements of greenery and vari-colored baubles were used around the room and on the table where punch and cookies were served. The party followed the regular meeting of the Rebekahs, with Mrs. Benny Cooper presiding. Hostesses were Mmes. Albert Cherry, Frank Cox and Wallace Shelton.

Carol singing and informal conversation for adults, and games for the children followed the gift exchange. Approximately 30 persons were present.

Humorous Gifts
Enliven Party

Opening of packages in beautiful Christmas wrap, which contained "gag gifts," provided the principal entertainment for El Llano Study Club members at a holiday party Monday evening in Mrs. Ivan Block's home.

Each member received a gift when Santa Claus appeared at the party, and each also was given one of the packages with contents selected for humor value. Games and refreshments with Christmas decorations completed the evening.

Hostesses were social committee members, Mrs. Bill Michal, Boyd Foster, O. G. Hill

Jr. and G. D. Calson. Christmas trimmings through the Block home added to the cheerful holiday atmosphere.

Present were: Meses. Jess Gron, Clyde Coleman, Ben Childers, Pete Caviness, Olin Ballard, Cecil Hart, A. C. Hudson, John Jacobsen Jr., Elmer Kimball, Jack Meredith, R. C. Winget and Wayne Thomas.

Church League Standings

The First Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church and the First Baptist Church No. 2 team came away with victories in Monday night's action of the Church Basketball League.

The Baptist's, which have formed two teams since another team was disbanded, defeated the First Christian Church 36-27 in the night's first game. Jerry Avery was high point man for the Baptists with 18 points, while Clyde Coleman had 12 to lead the First Christian Church.

Dr. "Chick" Hicks led the First Presbyterian Church to a 33-23 victory over the First Baptist Church No. 1 team, which was led by Jerry Curtsinger.

The First Methodist Church downed St. Anthony's Catholic Church 43-18, with Ronnie Welty leading the Methodists with 14. Larry Waherscheid paced St. Anthony's with 12 points.

The teams will be idle until Jan. 9 because of the holidays.

(FORT WORTH Dec. —) Kathleen Ann Knox of Hereford is among the thirty-eight Texas Christian University students who were initiated into the campus chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in education, during recent ceremonies.

Initiates, the second slate of members for TCU's Kappa Upsilon chapter, and their guests heard Dr. Paul G. Wassenich describe the role of the society in the University's Honors Program which he directs. Dr. Gentry Shelton, professor of religious education, gave the invocation.

Founded in 1921 at the University of Illinois, Kappa Delta Pi seeks to encourage excellence in scholarship, high personal standards, distinction in achievement, improvement in teacher preparation and contributions to education. Dr. A. Keith Turckett, the TCU chapter's sponsor, said.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanford C. Knox of Hereford, Kathleen is a senior music education major at the University. She is vice-president of Mu Phi Epsilon, national honor society for women majoring in music, a member of the German club, the Collegiate Educational Service Corps, and the Music Educator's National Conference. She also is a member of the University Symphony Orchestra.

ONE MINUTE PLEASE

THE CHURCH I LOVE . . . IS THANKFUL FOR GOD'S GIFT

"Thanks be to God for his inexpressible gift" (2 Corinthians 9:15).

What is this most precious Gift that the tongue of man cannot find words to adequately express his thanksgiving; that the mind of man cannot quite understand; nor the heart of man fully comprehend?

It is the Lord Jesus Christ! "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life." (John 3:16).

The Son of God made his unique advent into the world by the virgin birth. "But as he (Joseph) considered this; behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, 'Joseph, son of David, do not fear to take Mary your wife, for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit; she will bear a son, and you shall call his name Jesus, for he will save his people from their sins.' All this took place to fulfill what the Lord had spoken by the prophet: 'Behold, a virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and his name shall be called Emmanuel' (which means, God with us). (Matthew 1:20-23).

Jesus visited a synagogue and read from the book Isaiah, "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to preach good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim release to the captives and recovering the sight of the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed, to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord." In this passage our Lord tells why he came to earth, stating, "Today this scripture has been fulfilled in your hearing." (Luke 4:16-21). "For the Son of man came to seek and save the lost." (Luke 19:10)

"He (Christ) himself bore our sins in his body on the tree, that we might die to sin and live to righteousness. By his wounds you have been healed. For you were straying like sheep, but have now returned to the Shepherd and Guardian of your souls." (1 Peter 2:24, 25).

No wonder the apostle Paul leads the chorus of Christian voices in exclaiming, "Thanks be to God for his inexpressible Gift!"

Hereford Churches Add Christmas Themes

First Baptist Church, at 500 N. Main, has a nativity scene set up that is attractive, day or night. Lights in the figurines make the scene effective after dark.

IN LIVE NATIVITY SCENE — Tableau on the lawn of First Methodist Church this evening and tomorrow will present the Christmas story with live participants, emphasized by music by the church choirs. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Newsom, posing as Mary and Joseph, are two of the members of Melody Sunday School class who will take turns in the cast which enacts the Nativity scene from 7:30 to 9 p.m. each of the two evenings. Singers of the Chancel, Wesley and Crusader Choirs will present Christmas carols and hymns, and handbell music by the Senior and Junior High groups will also be heard. A complete scene will be presented every 15 minutes, arranged so that motorists may watch it from parked cars and then move on so another group may watch.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Massie golden anniversary honorees

Massies Noting Golden Wedding

A reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Otto Massie, whose fiftieth wedding anniversary will fall on Jan. 14, 1967, is scheduled on a Christmas holiday date, Monday afternoon at the home of their son, Clinton Massie and Mrs. Massie, 113 Ranger.

Children of the couple will be hosts at the open house to which all friends of the honorees are invited. Calling hours are 2:30 to 5:30 p. m. The Massies' daughter Lorraine, Mrs. Gene Grenard, lives in LaJunta, Colo., and is expected to be here with other members of her family for Christmas. The other son, Billy Massie, is a Hereford resident. There are nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Massie have lived in Deaf-Smith County 46 years. They were married Jan. 14, 1917, in the home of her parents at Eldorado, Okla. She was Miss Leora Cheek before her marriage. The couple lived in Eldorado several years.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Scramble For Committee Assignments Will Begin

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the 90th Congress convenes Jan. 10, Texans may be embroiled in some hot fights for committee assignments.

Aside from the usual maneuvering for assignment of freshmen members, there is almost certain to be a heated contest between the Texas and York House delegations for a Democratic seat on the powerful Ways and Means Committee. That controversy stems from the retirement of Rep. Clark Thompson, D. of Galveston — who stepped down when his district was merged with that of Rep. Jack Brooks, D. of Beaumont.

Texas has had a member on Ways and Means almost continuously for half a century, but there is a possibility of its failing to obtain representation in the next Congress because the Democrats lost so many House seats Nov. 8.

Their ratio on House committees will have to be reduced. As a consequence, it now appears, Texas and New York will vie for the single vacancy in sight for the Democrats.

Ways and Means passes on all taxation and other revenue measures and Social Security legislation and is the "committee on committees" for House Democrats.

Its present makeup is 17 Democrats and 8 Republicans. The new ratio is expected to be 15-8.

New York, like Texas, is losing its lone committee member. The question of conservative versus liberal philosophy is certain to be a prime factor in the contest. The Texas congressman in line for the spot is Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson, whose new enlarged district extends from Mineral Wells west to Big Spring, and from Brownwood North to Haskell.

His chance rides on seniority. The New Yorker expected to be backed by his state is Rep.

John Michael Murphy, 40, a Korean War hero, a native and resident of Staten Island. He's been a member of the House for 4 years, Burleson for 20.

Burleson is identified with the conservative faction in the House. Murphy with the liberals. The liberals almost always support the House Democratic leadership and probably would be in the majority.

Thus if a clear-cut line could be drawn among Democrats, Murphy could expect a big block of votes. Burleson, on the other hand, is popular with his colleagues-liberals as well as conservatives.

The selection of Democrats to the Ways and Means Committee is done by secret ballot. Those selected then serve on their party's committee on committee.

In this connection, some members of the committee identified with the liberal faction are understood to have told Burleson privately that on the secret voting they intend to support him.

The Texans who have been members of Ways and Means prior to Thompson during the past 50 years are Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls, now president of the American Petroleum Institute; the late Milton West, Brownsville; the late J. M. Combs, the late Morgan Sanders, Canton; and John Nance Garner, the 96-year old sage of Uvalde who was later to become Speaker and then Vice President in the first two terms of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The committee realignment between Democrats and Republican, as it now appears, will just barely miss lopping Rep. Bob Casey, D. of Houston off the House Appropriations Group, headed by Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock, after the death of Rep. Albert Thomas of Houston. At the bottom of the seniority ladder now, he would have had to leave if four Democratic colleagues had not been defeated for reelection. While all four of the new Texas members normally could expect to receive relatively minor or committee assignments, it is understood that special efforts may be made to find a major committee post for the two Republicans-elect, George Bush of Houston and Robert Price of Pampa.

GOP leaders, elated by the reelection of Sen. John Tower, R. and the gain of two House seats in Texas, may go out of their way to give Texas Republicans good committee assignments, despite their freshmen status, in order to build up the party's prestige and strength in the Lone Star state.

The new Texas Democrats are Abraham Kaxen of Larado and Bob Eckhardt of Houston.

CUT LAUNDRY LOAD

Here's a laundry-saving and time-saving tip for mothers busy with holiday preparations: Use Kleenex man-size tissues as disposable bits for the baby. Tied around an infant's neck or held in place with a sweater guard, the foot-square, three-layer tissues are efficient and inexpensive and are easily discarded after mealtime.

TEXAS HISTORY PRINTING

The library and your writer have received the first copy of the locally published magazine, Southwest Heritage — Special Collector Edition. The publisher is V. Melvin Young with Pioneer Publishers of Hereford doing the printing.

It is an unusual and unique "class" magazine, as fine as the advance notices predicted it would be. It is unlike any other magazine that we have seen.

The magazine is to be published four times a year with the first in December. It will make a good gift for Christmas, or any time, for history-minded people. We shall be looking forward to the next issue with anticipation. And we have decided it is a magazine for your permanent library. We plan to have our copies bound for better keeping. The art work is done by the art editor, George Turner of the Amarillo News. His features have been appearing in that paper for some time.

Bill Knox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Knox of Hereford is an editor and writer for the magazine, as is Harry Gilstrap, both of the Amarillo paper. Each has written a story for this first issue. Subsequent issues will have articles on New Mexico, Oklahoma as well as Texas, by these and other writers.

Another Pioneer Press accomplishment is the two-volume history of Carson County. It is entitled A Time To Purpose and is edited by Mrs. Ralph Randel and the Carson County Historical Survey Committee. It represents a great deal of work done by the group.

The book has received fine notices and already has won an award for the writers and publisher. It contains biographies of the pioneers, stories of the area, photographs and art sketches. It will appeal to anyone interested in the history of the Panhandle, and especially to those who are living in Carson County who have lived there or have relatives there.

A third history just completed and now being released by the Pioneer Press is titled A History of Fannin County, assembled, edited, and sketched

Tots Can Design Expressive Cards

Making their own Christmas cards is a happy pre-Santa pastime for youngsters. Although the activity isn't guaranteed to take four-and-five-year-old mind away from the more serious business of anticipating their gifts, a Christmas card session will absorb their time and energy long enough for mother to go about her holiday tasks.

For no-paste, no-mess cards, materials are easy to assemble — Marvalon adhesive covering in several patterns and colors, blunt-end scissors, white paper and crayons. Holiday designs, original preschooler art or those traced from coloring books, are drawn on the backing side of the Marvalon, then cut out and adhered to white paper folded into card size. Youngsters will like working with the adhesive covering and will have no trouble peeling away the backing sheet and "sticking" a Christmas tree, bell, angel, or Santa Claus on the card. A personal message to grandma or grandpa, sister or dad can be printed with crayon on the inside of the card.

Allowed to use their own imagination and drawing or tracing skills, youngsters will be delighted with the results of their artistic efforts and, with a little encouragement from mother, can produce cards for family and friends in one waiting-for-Christmas afternoon.

WELL-TRAVELED CARD — Mrs. William Betzen chuckles as she shows the Christmas card with a humorous greeting which she had just received in the mail Monday, not entirely unexpectedly. The card is one which Mr. and Mrs. Betzen, then living in St. Louis, sent in 1929 to her brother and his wife, the Cletus Koettlings of Kansas City. With its cartoon of a Scotsman surrounded by Christmas symbols, it carries a joking greeting for 1929, 1930 and 1931. Heeding its message of thrift, the Koettlings sent it back to the Betzens for Christmas of 1930 and started an exchange that has gone on through the 37 years since. There have been years when the card was not used, Mrs. Betzen says, but not many, and whichever couple mailed the card last year, expects it back this year.

—Small Talk—

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Some notes from a late Christmas shopper — late in the season and late in the day: Traffic still bumper to bumper on Main Street and I wonder how much of it is cars being driven around and around the same block as drivers wait for a chance to park right where they intend to shop, rather than park off Main and walk the block.

THERE'S MRS. R. E. Lance waving as she starts out, first in line as the traffic light turns green. A bunch of high school-sized girls and boys leaves a drug store and starts across the street in the middle of a block, scattering like quail as each picks his own way across. . . . Tiny Barbara Woods carries a brown-wrapped package almost as big as she is, toward the postoffice.

In a dime store, Lottie Wertheimer with that "have I forgotten something?" look on her face as she is being checked out by one cashier, while Margaret Schroeter hurriedly picks up her package and smiles a greeting as she leaves the other. . . . Moving from the cosmetics section to the costume jewelry counter in a drug store, Gladys Sweliff answers an inquiry with a bright "Shopping late? Oh no, I'm buying for Christmas of next year!" but her face isn't very straight as she says it.

A LITTLE GIRL in a red dress, carrying a package wrapped and tied in red, skipping along in front of her mother on the way from a store to a parked car and brightening up the whole street.

times three or four including babies who can't even sit up. Wonder if we do have more hard winds the month before Christmas, or if it just seems that way on days when the street decorations are swaying perilously overhead? . . . Some how, this week before Christmas, it seems sort of incongruous to see anyone going about normal business in a normal way, like Dr. E. H. Hendon about 5 p. m. Monday, the only person in the block moving along in leisurely fashion, going into the postoffice holding one letter to mail.

OUTDOOR DECORATIONS at homes blooming out more and more, and there seems to be something contagious about them because you notice as you drive about that there are whole blocks where hardly anybody has decked the yard for Christmas, but if you see one lighted evergreen or wreathed doorway, there are nearly always several nearby.

Churches with Nativity scenes outside, an addition to West Texas Christmas customs which I heartily approve — and it is only fairly recent years that it has become a custom in this section. Five o'clock crowds driving by the churches at such a clip that they can't see the Nativity groups. . . . But maybe they won't be in such a hurry next time they pass, and the figure of the Holy Family, the shepherds and wise men, wait serenely.

IT'S A WELCOME change for me to have a chance to correct someone else's error — Mrs. G. V. Hall hopes nobody has tried her recipe for pecan pie in the Home Demonstration Clubs' cookbook of holiday recipes which came out last week, unless she knew enough about pecan pie to reduce the amount of butter.

GIFT EXCHANGE BEGINS — Mrs. Mary Botkin, oldest active Home Demonstration Club member in Deaf Smith County, is handed the first package from the Christmas tree at North Hereford H.D. Club's holiday party in the home of Mrs. A. E. Hodges. The gift exchange, games and refreshments were all in the spirit of the gaily decorated rooms. Mrs. Otto Massie hands the package to Mrs. Botkin; Mrs. Hodges is seated on the raised hearth in the background.

CHRISTMAS BELLS

Last Sunday when I was coming home from church, I turned on the radio to get some music. I was so pleased when I heard the beautiful song, "Christmas Bells." Many things at Christmas time thrill me. One of these is the songs about the bells, and when I hear bells pealing out their message it is truly sweet music to me.

If the story of the bell could be fully and properly told, it would possess all the charm and fascination of the most enchanting romance. Not, however, till Christmas had been well established, did bells make their way into the church. The exact date of the origin of bells is indeterminate, but the history of bells begins with the bronze age, when the people found something to beat upon that would sound louder than some. Bells were featured in Tartanian and Hindu ceremonies and in the worship of god centuries ago, as the Temple bells of India.

Because of persecution, the Christians of Italy met in utmost secrecy, but after the acceptance of Christianity by Constantine, they were allowed to meet in the open. We of America are so bountifully blessed, we know nothing of Christian persecution. While in Italy and Austria, we visited many of the places where the early Christians hid away, in caves and other secret places. In some of the steps of rock there were hollows made where the people had crawled to their secluded place to worship.

Soon after this era the Christians were allowed to meet in the open, and at this time they started to use bells to call the people to worship. 400 A. D. in Campagna, Italy, the Bishop Nola conceived the one large bell on top of the meeting place, thus the beginning of one of the practices of the use of bells. Later the churches built bell towers. Some of the most beautiful architecture we have, is in the bell towers of Europe.

The form of the musical bell of today was established in Western Europe around 1400. The medieval folk deeply and sincerely revered the bells. It was a most solemn time, when the bells were dedicated with sacred rites, and then hoisted into their bellfries. It was mainly by their association with festivals and above all with Christmas, that bells became dear to the hearts of Christian mankind. The clamour of bells pealing out their messages from the bellfries of the village churches, when I was a child, has given to me cherished memories. Especially do I remember (with thrills) when my father would let me pull the rope and ring the bell on the church belfry.

The largest bell ever cast is in the Kremlin, Moscow. However the most famous bells are not the largest. Examples of this fact may be found in Big Ben of London, Notre Dame of France, and our own Liberty Bell.

In the sound we have a universal expression. Thanksgiving, Declaration of Independence, An announcement of New Year, Weeding Bells, Bells rung in time of mourning. Bell lore contains many curious and interesting legends, and poets have long used bells in their most appealing poetry.

The use of church bells is widely known in Christian countries, as the ringing of bells to announce the arrival of Christmas Day. No other time of the year is as closely associated with the pealing of the bells as is this Day. Among all nations and languages, we find this to be true. The Church of Nativity proclaims this wonderful day by ringing of the bells, to announce the great message of "Joy to the World The Lord is Come."

Bells are not only rung on special occasions, but they are in many other ways, in decorations, for weddings, New Year, and birthdays. In viewing the decorations about town, this year I have noted that many have used bells, in their windows, on the doors, on Christmas Trees, outside decorations. Bells are very adaptable in their many uses, since they come in various sizes, different shapes, and practically all colors. Be sure and see the many beautiful decorations. Take an evening, and make a drive all over town, and share the lovely and unique things created by friends and neighbors. You will enjoy Christmas more, after you see them. Just to see the town decorations, is most thrilling. They are beautiful.

CAUTION! . . . CAUTION! . . . CHECK carefully all electric connections, and lights which you are using on the Christmas tree and for other Christmas decorations.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL AND TO ALL A JOYFUL CHRISTMAS SEASON

Cotton Bowl Rules Under Discussion By Colleges

TEXANS IN SPORTS
 The Cotton Bowl will pay more than $230,000 to each team this year. It's a sum nobody in the Southwest Conference would want to forego. Even the conference teams not playing would get about $16,000. The champion would sock away $116,000. Arkansas, which failed to get into the Cotton Bowl three times in a row because of an unexpected defeat at the hands of Texas Tech, decided it might prefer a rule that said no team could make successive appearances

With a rule banning successive appearances there would be six times in 26 years that the runnerup would have been the host team. Baylor and Texas Tech might have welcomed such a rule in 1963 and 1965 respectively because they could have gotten into the Cotton Bowl in those years.

Baylor was runnerup in 1963 when Texas was making a second straight appearance and Texas Tech was second in 1965 when Arkansas was duplicating the Texas feat.

Anyway, it would mean the Cotton Bowl almost a fourth of the time would have a second place outfit and runnerup aren't attractive enough to make it a highly regarded game — that is compared with other major bowls — especially if the champion were playing in some other bowl, which should be made possible so the champ could get some kind of reward out of it.

It's doubtful that such a rule ever will be invoked since it would take a two-thirds vote. But there is a chance that the Cotton Bowl may be changed up some if only because of the economics.

Pro football in Dallas, with the Cowboys drawing 67,000 per game, has caused the situation to tighten up. The Cowboys now appear ready for several years of figuring in the National Football League championship. This means games in the Cotton Bowl near Cotton Bowl time.

With the new league setup there could be playoff games even in the years when the league championship might not be decided. So it's according to the way the schedule is arranged whether the Cotton Bowl may have to start moving around or be shifted to some other Texas city.

The Cotton Bowl Athletic Association has an agreement with the State Fair of Texas that no game shall be played in the big saucer within two weeks of the Cotton Bowl game unless there is an agreement. It is doubtful that the Cotton Bowl board would bar the pros from the stadium if they were mixed in the power to do it. For instance, this year when a request was made to stage a playoff game on Christmas Day (a week before the Cotton Bowl game) it was quickly given.

Even if the Cotton Bowl never is moved (few think it can) a wrangle with the pros might cause the Southwest Conference to withdraw its tieup. That would hurt the Cotton Bowl more than anything.

SAFE DRIVING

BEAUMONT — Two veteran truck drivers, both recipients of several safe and courteous driving awards, listed what they feel are the major causes of highway accidents: "Impatience and negligence," said James D. Palmer and Bernard L. Sprinkle. They both concluded, also, that drunk drivers contribute to many fatalities.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

The Wonders Of A Hospital

ANXIETY and emotional stress of patients and their families are completely understandable. But, preoccupied with their own concerns, they sometimes thoughtlessly make unreasonable demands on hospital personnel.

Nurses, aides, and attendants, already harried and overburdened by chores too extensive to be listed, are trying to fulfill obligations and to maintain the serenity so vital to the patient's recovery.

Impatience, irritability and annoyance toward hospital workers deprive the patient of the cheer, comfort and emotional support which comes from a pleasant relationship with the staff.

Common Purpose — A sympathetic awareness by patients and their families of the complexities of running a hospital can do much to encourage the sustained dedication of those who have but one common purpose—the responsibility and desire to return each patient to maximum health at maximum speed and with maximum comfort.

Physicians accustomed to the many facets of a hospital that effect the treatment, the cure and the emotional support of patients never take these institutions for granted.

Recall Contributions — When patients recover from an illness they, too, must recall the many contributions made by the staff that made their hospital experience bearable. After all, a hospital is truly a remarkable institution. Built of mortar, concrete and bricks, the structure is cemented by selfless devotion and dedication to patients.

When a patient first enters a hospital, he is usually sufficiently ill or uncomfortable so that medical care is his only concern. Upon admission, there is a concentrated effort by a team of doctors, nurses and laboratory technicians to accumulate all the scientific evidence for diagnosis and treatment as quickly as possible.

Dedicated Team — Hospital personnel are a dedicated team, whose energies are coordinated to provide the maximum care for each patient. For every member of the team who comes into direct contact with the patient there are ten other unsung heroes working behind the scenes.

Safety engineers, office personnel, clerical workers, laboratory technicians, dieticians and telephone operators are some of the many unnoticed contributors to the comfort and welfare of all patients.

Unseen Workers — Others work in recovery rooms and operating rooms, sterilizing gloves, gauze, bandages, instruments and equipment. Additional personnel are busy cleaning, cooking, serving and providing every possible service for the patient.

A hospital has all the problems of a hotel, with the additional and primary responsibility of returning patients to good health.

HEALTH—Good health must not be taken for granted. Pamper it and it will continue long. These columns are designed to relieve your fears about health through a better understanding of your mind and body. All the hopeful new advances in medicine reported here are known to doctors everywhere. Your individual medical problems should be handled by your own doctor. He knows you best.

Antonion Circle Has Husbands As Party Guests

With 40 guests present, a Christmas party for the Antonion Circle of St. Anthony's Church and members' husbands was held Sunday evening in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Hostesses were Meses. Do and Meyer, Joe Artho, Vernon Lewis, Fred Gallagher, Bill Ger-er, and Leonard Walterscheid. Games and a gift exchange were directed by Mrs. Gary Kreighshauer, Mrs. Boyd Foster and Mrs. Tony Urbanzyk. Each couple brought contributions to a box for a needy family, and gifts were also brought for priests on the church staff.

Nearly 1,500.00 people in the United States, or one out of every fifth, work in hospitals. This makes hospitals the fourth largest employer in the country.

Draft Call Is Up For Next Month

Texas Local Board No. 18 in call for January is up compared to November and December. Twenty-five persons are scheduled to appear for physical examinations with eleven to be inducted, November saw forty-five going for physical examinations but only seven were inducted. December was the lowest with twenty appearing and only one being inducted from the quota of four.

State draft boards will be called upon to furnish 674 men for the armed forces in February, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Friday.

The call for February is less than half the January state quota of 1,110 men and is the lowest call since June 1965, when the quota was 670 men.

Calls for the months of 1966 were: December 744, November 2,012, October, 2,845, September 1,889, August, 1,837, July 1,381, June 878, May 1,927, April 866, March 1,068, February 1,372, January 1,475.

The Selective Service boards will forward approximately 7,000 men in February for pre-induction examination. Colonel Schwartz said, and 7,905 men have been scheduled for this examination in January.

Local board quotas for induction and pre-induction examination in February are scheduled to be mailed from state Selective Service headquarters on or about January 9, January calls for the local boards already have been assigned.

The Texas quota of 674 for February is the state's share of a national call of 10,900, all for the army. The national quota of 15,600 for January is also for the army.

Persons inducted through the local board in November are Kenneth D. Walser, Hereford; Julian R. Berry, Canyon; Eddie B. Crump, Bovina; Charles E. Dammheim, Farwell; Danny W. Schilling, Dimmitt; Jerry E. Tucker, Hereford and John O. Arnsola, Hereford.

Dickie G. Clayton, Bovina, was the only person to be inducted during the month of December.

Christmastime Stocking Story Is Ancient One

The stockings were hung by the chimney with care, in hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there.

It's not known how this tradition got its start, but there is a lovely legend about the customs beginning.

It seems that in the town where the "first" Saint Nicholas lived, there was a merchant who had three daughters who were not married. In those days, the 4th century, a maiden had to have a dowry before she could marry. And the merchant was bankrupt.

Nicholas, who was then a boy, heard of their plight. He went to the house late one night and dropped three bags of gold down the chimney. They fell into the girls' stockings which were hanging by the fireplace to dry.

The gold was enough for the girls' dowry so they were married and lived happily after after, taking care of their poor father as well.

Christmas Cookie Party

A Christmas cookie party which has become a traditional part of the season for a number of young friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Warner, brought a merry group of children, with their parents, to the Warner home on North Main Sunday afternoon.

Dressed in their best, the small guests ranging in age from babies in arms to school age, were given the run of the Warner house, admired the Christmas tree with its sparkling foil icicle trim, played with the Warners' boxer who wore a red Christmas collar for the occasion, and were served punch and cookies.

The stairway in the house, one of Hereford's older residences which the Warners have restored to make an attractive home, was especially appealing to most of the youngsters, who walked or crawled up and down the steps and peered over the rail at the grownups seated in the living room below.

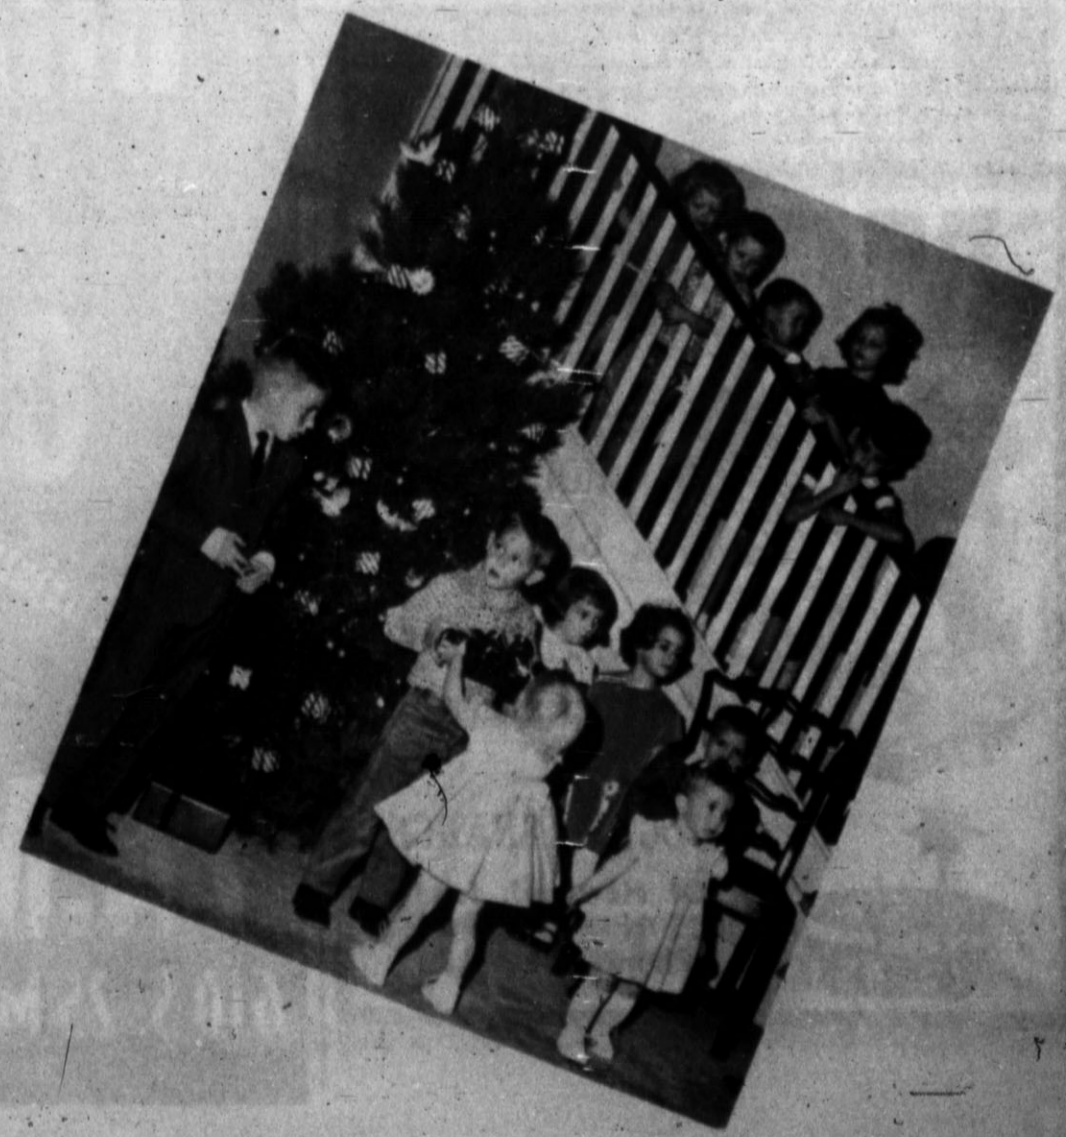

Cut in the shape of Christmas trees, houses, animals and other forms, the cookies were decorated with colored icing. Mrs. Hazen Woods assisted the children to serve themselves, as Mrs. James Priddy poured fruit punch at the other end of the dining room table.

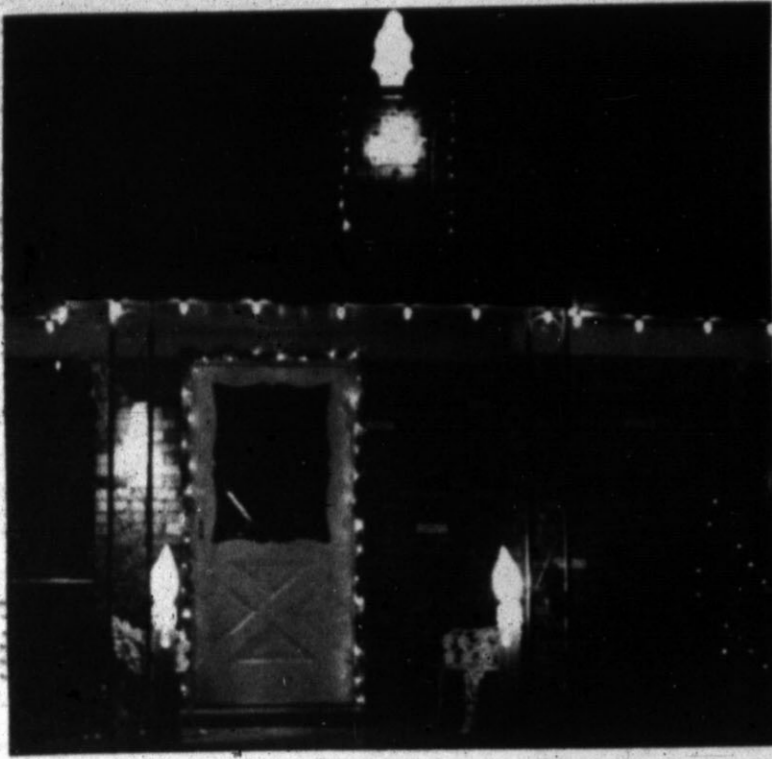

From cookie plate to punch bowl, Santa drove his reindeer team in miniature down the center of the table. Guests stood around an oval table in the kitchen dining space to enjoy their refreshments. It was covered with red and centered with large candles. Other holiday arrangements of greenery and candles decorated the buffet and a side table.

Present were the Ronald Fuhrmanns, Joe, Nedra and Naomi; the Bruce Terrys, Paula, Connie and Mary Ann; the Don DeSpains, Benjoe, Vickie and Timothy; the Howard Hunters, Gene, Kristo, Scott, David and Lauri, the Roy Hartmans, Angelia and Genell.

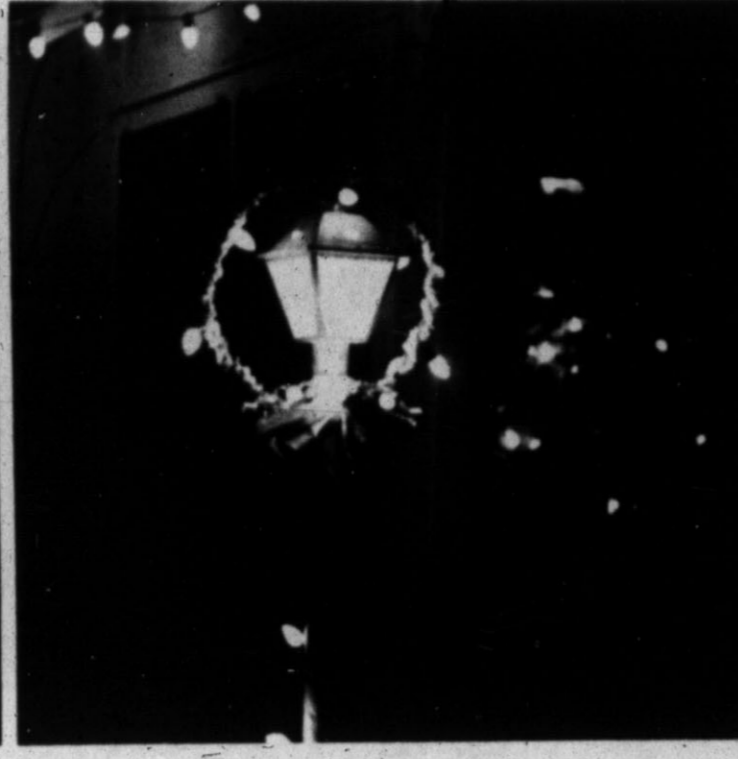

Also the Don Blankenships, Tommy and Shawn; the Kenneth DeHarts, Denese, Barry and Michael; the Harold Manns, Ricky, Ronda and Darla Jean; the Woods and Karen; the Priddys, Ann and Joe; Chip Guseman and Elaine Kelly.

As the Warners have been hosts year after year, children who were previously guests look forward to the cookie party as an important Christmas event, their parents say. The list lengthens yearly as families grow and young guests return with younger sisters or brothers.

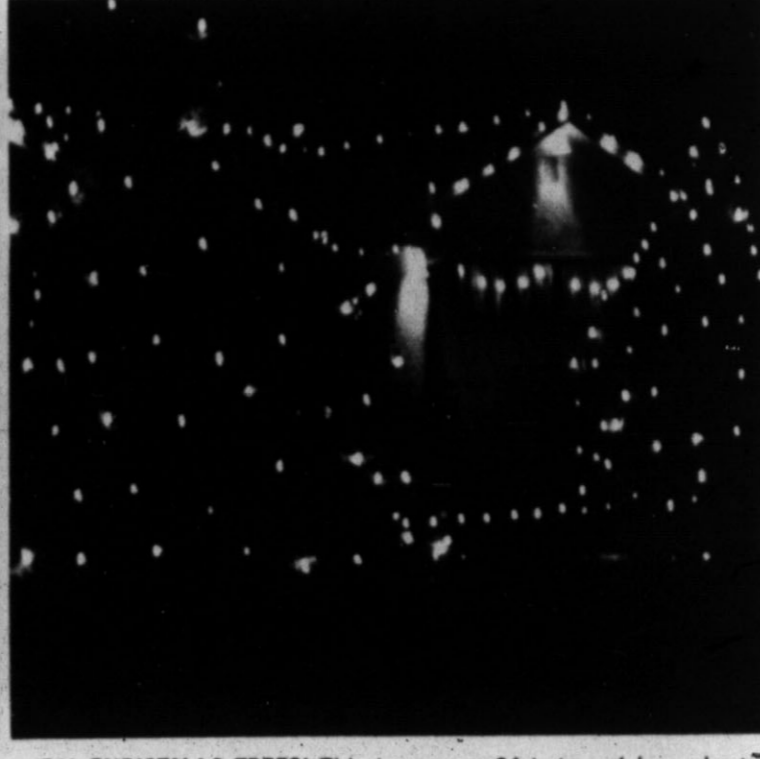

LIGHTS! LIGHTS! Everyone seems to beautify their homes during this special holiday season and the people at 404 Ave. E. is no exception.

BEAUTIFUL SIGHT! The home of Mary Bran, 116 Ave. H, has that special Christmas look since she added her own taste.

OH CHRISTMAS TREES! This house on 316 Ave. J has plenty of lights around the trees to emphasize the cheerful spirit of Christmas. (Hereford Brand Photos by Joe Bran)

Awards Presented For Restoration

AUSTIN — Three awards commending the restoration and preservation of the Eisenhower Birthplace home in Denison will be presented by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

Ceremonies will be at 3:30 p. m. Jan. 7 at Denison. The announcement was made by TSHS President John Ben Sheppard of Odessa.

The fourth Texas Restoration Award will be presented to the directors of the Eisenhower Birthplace Foundation Inc. which restored the home. They are Fred Conn and Houston Harte of San Angelo, Mrs. Oleta Culp Hobby of Houston, and Dr. Web Maddox of Fort Worth.

Posthumous awards will be given to the families of Amon G. Carter Sr. and Sid Richardson of Fort Worth.

The fourth Texas Award for Historical Preservation will be presented to the City of Denison.

An especial preservation award will be presented to the members of the Parks and Wildlife Commission. They are Will Odom of Austin, chairman, James Dellinger of Corpus Christi, and A. W. Morsund of Johnson City.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department maintains the house as an historic state site.

Dwight David Eisenhower — who became a five-star general and the 34th President of the United States — was born in the Denison house Oct. 14, 1890. The Eisenhower family moved to Abilene, Kan., in 1891.

The two-story, multi-gabled frame house of early American architecture was built about 1880. Furnishings in the house are representative of the 1890s.

The home and surrounding property were purchased by the City of Denison with money raised by public subscription. It was necessary to move 14 homes from the area to provide for the park setting of the Eisenhower home. The property title then was transferred to the Eisenhower Birthplace Foundation Inc., which raised money for the restoration.

After the restoration was completed, title to the property was transferred by the foundation to the State Parks board, now the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The house is located at Lamar and Day streets near U. S. 69, and can be seen by motorists on U. S. 77. In 1962 the house was awarded an Official Texas Historical Marker.

Major producers of cacao beans (for chocolate) are Ghana, Nigeria, Brazil, Ivory Coast and Cameroon.

Wedding Attendants Give Bride-Elect Party

Miss Jennifer Hagar, whose marriage to Austin Hodges will be solemnized on New Year's Eve, was complimented when three girls who will be her bridal attendants joined as hostesses for a shower in First National Community Room Wednesday evening.

Miss Connie Baker, who is acting as maid of honor, Misses Diana Stindt and Carroll Todd, bridesmaids, invited approximately 100 friends to the miscellaneous shower.

The honoree received callers during the three evening hours with her mother, Mrs. Louis R. Hagar, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Walter Hodges Jr. Blue and white chosen as her wedding colors, were used in decorations for the shower.

An evening ceremony on Dec. 31 is planned by Miss Hagar and Hodges. The Rev. Clarence Powell of Calvary Baptist Church will officiate in First Methodist Church here.

Experts Will See Cotton Factors

DALLAS — The effects of harvesting and ginning and other production factors on quality of cottonseed for planting will be closely examined by a panel of experts during the first afternoon session of the 1967 Beltwide Cotton Production-Mechanization Conference here, January 12-13.

Specialized technical meetings will precede the two-day general sessions, January 10-11. All will be at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Discussions on new developments to control plant growth and fruiting and the use of soil and tissue tests are also scheduled for the first afternoon session.

Dr. Thomas H. Garner, associate professor, Department of Agricultural Engineering, Clemson University, Clemson, S. C., will make a progress report on work under way to evaluate the mechanical damage to cottonseed during harvesting.

A discussion of mechanical damage to cottonseed during ginning will be presented by Vernon P. Moore, in charge of the Cotton Ginning Research Laboratory, Leland, Miss.

Dr. James D. Helmer, assistant agronomist at the Seed Technology Laboratory, Mississippi State University, will describe the effect of seed damage on germination, vigor, field emergence, and productivity of the crop.

An analysis of damage which occurs in the field, during harvest, ginning, handling, processing and storage will be presented by Leon Miller, quality control agronomist, Delta & Pine Land Company, Brawley, Calif.

How research in plant physiology will lead to greater precision in control of growth and fruiting will be described by Dr. Page W. Morgan, assistant professor, Department of Plant Sciences, Texas A&M University, College Station.

Dr. Glenn W. Hardy, dean of the College of Agriculture at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, will discuss grower use of soil and tissue tests in planning and conducting a sound plant nutrient program.

Session Chairman James Hand, III, of Rolling Ford, Miss., stressed that the conference is open to anyone interested in cotton and no registration fee is involved. The conference is sponsored by the National Cotton Council.

Chisolm Trail Is Maker Subject

AUSTIN — Two official Texas Historical Markers recognizing two men prominent in the founding of the Chisolm Trail will be dedicated Jan. 7 to kick off the tri-state observance of the 1967 Chisolm Trail Centennial Celebration. The announcement was made by John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, chairman of the Texas Chisolm Trail Centennial Commission. The centennial will be observed with numerous events in Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma from January through August. The Texas commission will meet Jan. 6-7 in Fort Worth to start the centennial observance, and also will conduct a business meeting. Chairmen of the Kansas and Oklahoma commissions have been invited to attend the Jan. 7 ceremonies. They are Henry B. Bass of Endicott, Kan., and R. B. Laing of Abilene, Kan. A marker honoring Jesse Chisolm will be dedicated at 10 a. m. at Greater Southwest International Airport in Fort Worth. At 2:45 p. m. the same day, a marker honoring Joseph G. McCoy will be dedicated at Denison. Chisolm and McCoy were not native born Texans, but both greatly contributed to the economy of Texas. During a period of 20 to 30 years, both men had frequent associations and business dealings in Texas. Chisolm, born in Tennessee, is best known for marking the Chisolm Trail across Kansas and Oklahoma. The marker bearing his name will be erected at Greater Southwest Airport because it is near Bird's Fort, where Chisolm once was interpreter at an Indian treaty conference. He spoke 40 Indian dialects, and often served the Republic of Texas and President Sam Houston by negotiating understandings between Texans and Indians. McCoy was a livestock broker in cattle markets helped Texans rebuild the economy which had been wrecked in 1861-65 by the Civil War. He also helped survey and mark part of the Chisolm Trail, and made the trail profitable for Texans to use. He founded the first adequate cattle market for Texans, by securing cattle cars and building loading pens at the railroad in Abilene, Kan. This was near the upper end of the trail started by Chisolm. The M. K. T. Railroad reached Denison in 1872, giving Texas its own northbound cattle shipping outlet. McCoy moved to Denison in 1873 and helped to establish the Atlantic & Texas Refrigerating Co. to benefit ranchers by shipping dressed beef.

Papier Mache Ornaments Made

Ornaments and decorations are the magic charms that turn the home into a kaleidoscope of warmth and color for the Christmas season. And a home that sparkles with hand-made decorations has a special glow. Papier mache Christmas decorations, easy to make in any size and shape, can help express personal family interest or tradition. Kleenex dinner napkins are the basic ingredient for a pure white papier mache that retains the true colors of paint in the holiday hues. Additional supplies needed for an ornament-making session are cardboard, white glue and water (mixed half and half), tempera paints, brushes and colorful cord. Glitter and sequins, holiday decals, or bits of colored tissues or foil are optional materials to add individual touches to the ornaments. First cut a pattern from heavy cardboard. Cookie cutters, pictures traced from magazines or simply Yuletide shapes of angels, Santa Claus, or wreaths all make good patterns. Next, tear two-ply napkins into strips or pieces. (Edges blend better when ripped, not cut.) Soak napkin strips in glue and water mixture, then place on both sides of the cardboard pattern. Repeat, building up the papier mache to desired thickness, varying depth for pattern design. Punch a hole in the top of the ornament for the cord. Dry the ornaments overnight or "bake" in a slow oven. When ornaments are absolutely dry, brush a design on both sides with tempera paints. Let them dry again. Loop cord through the hole. Papier mache can be used for traditional, old fashioned ornaments such as stars, candles, or reindeer, or the latest modern geometric shapes. Decorated with decals of Santa or bells, they're as sentimental as Christmas at Grandmother's. Gilded with tinsel or aluminum foil, they're as today as a discotheque. Glitter, decals, and bits of tissue and foil can be glued on as can sequins, which make perfect eyes, noses and mouths for reindeer and snowmen.

Youngest Angels Learn New Song

Wink, Dink, and Blink were having a difference of opinion. As the three youngest and newest angels, they were expected to perform a musical selection for all the other angels on Christmas Eve and they just couldn't agree on what to play. They were all ready for their debut: Blink had tuned and re-tuned her little violin, Dink had polished his flute till it sparkled and Wink had practiced her scales backwards and forwards. But they couldn't agree on the music. Wink, with what Blink considered very poor judgment, proposed that they do "Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer." "Really!" sniffed Blink. She thought nothing short of an excerpt from Handel's Messiah would do for such an important occasion but the others didn't like what they called "long-halo" music. Dink, of course, wanted to play something rousing like the "Stars and Stripes Forever" but even Wink saw the folly of that. So, when the great day arrived, they were still in a quandary about the whole thing. "We have simply got to make up our minds," said Blink in exasperation. The others agreed. "Let's sit and think and think and think until we come up with an idea," suggested Dink. So they did. They sat and thought and thought and thought but no one could come up with the right song. Suddenly, Wink jumped up. "I'll be right back!" she called as she flew away. "Now isn't that just like Wink to fly off when we have work to do," said Blink crossly. But soon Wink was back and with a surprise. She had learned a new song. They listened to her in amazement. "Why, that's lovely!" said Blink. Dink liked it too, even if it wasn't a march. They quickly learned the music, and without a minute to spare, for the other angels were already beginning to assemble for the Christmas program.

Blink wanted to ask Wink where she had learned the lovely new song but there wasn't time. Finally, after they had performed for all the cherubim and seraphim and had been congratulated on their beautiful rendition, Blink took Wink aside. "Where did you learn that song?" she asked. Wink smiled mischievously and said, "I just asked myself who would know a nice Christmas song and then I remembered hearing about some angels who had sung at another Christmas Eve performance once, so I found one of the choir members and she taught me their song." Blink had to admit it had been clever of Wink to think of that but it was getting late and she was getting sleepy so she just said good night and flew off. But as she curled up on her little cloud that night, the words and music of the new song kept echoing in her ears. "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

NOT ALWAYS FIRST
January was not always the first month. Researchers for World Book Encyclopedia say that according to legend, Numa Pompilius added January and February to the end of the 10-month Roman calendar about 700 B. C. Julius Caesar rearranged the calendar in 46 B. C., making January the first month.

Letter To The Editor

What can we do as citizens of our community, as mothers and fathers of our children and especially our teen agers.

I am sure many of you will not agree with what I have to say or my viewpoints of some of the things that go on in our community but nevertheless some of our teenage sons and daughters are suffering the consequences. We have some of the best law enforcement officers in the state I am sure, but we also have some that have a hard time getting along with our young people.

It can be annoying when the same patrolman happens to stop your son twice in one night just to check his drivers license. It is also annoying to have a patrolman come to your home and insult your wife by telling her that her son has to appear in court because he was caught with some stolen articles when he was only wanted to appear as a witness and had already been properly notified by the police department. Then later the same night have the same patrolman pick up your son while he is sitting in front of one of our local drive ins and tell him he is about to spend a night in jail.

It makes you wonder, when a policeman comes to your door to tell you that he has observed your son not rodding around town in a certain car. You know this is not true because your son is not allowed to drive the car in question and that during the time he was supposed to have been driving the car, it was inoperative. It also makes you wonder when a patrolman tells your son that he is going to get him sooner or later.

Don't get me wrong, it is not all of our patrolmen that do these things, only a select few. It is these few that make a black-eye for the entire police force, and it doesn't create a very good atmosphere between our local police department and our youth and their parents.

I have sat in on several of our youth hearings in our courts and more than once I have seen them tried convicted and sentenced without giving them a chance for council or to defend themselves. What will it take to stir our blood? Is it right for our young people to be guilty until proven innocent? Why should we as parents be kept in the dark about these things until it is too late? Why can't our children receive council and be advised of their rights and privileges?

Now for the sad part in my case. I now have a son who is classified as a jail bird and it will go down on record here and at our state capital. He is, in my way of thinking, a victim of circumstance. He was a rider in a car of which the driver was charged with three traffic violations. Another boy and my son were charged as Principals and fined for the same violations as the driver. When they were unable to pay the fine of $150.00 they were jailed and another $12.00 was added for jail fee. Neither of these boys was the driver of the car, yet they were fined the same amount as the driver. There were three other occupants in the car, all girls. One was set free and the other two, one sixteen and one seventeen, was put in jail for one night and then the next day was put on probation.

The three boys were taken before a judge and he read the charges. These boys were not given council and not being lawyers themselves, did not understand the terms used in the charges against them. Do you think your son or daughter, at the age of seventeen is mature enough to know the laws of our state well enough to know all the legal terms? Do you think your child is capable of giving an earnest plea of innocent or guilty without council?

Neither of the two boys parents knew what was being done to their sons until after the boys were charged and in jail. When I returned home from work that day I found my boy had not come home. After checking around, I finally found him in our county jail. I asked what were the charges against him, and the jailer was unable to tell me. I was unable to talk to my son so I had to go outside of our police department to find out anything about the charges or the details. The following day I went to the judge to find out what the charges were. The judge was unable to tell me anything except what was written on the log book. He was unable to tell me anything as to the basis on which the fine was set and that I would have to talk with the arresting officer to find out anything about the charges. The arresting officer was unable to find out what the circumstances were and how the case. The arresting officer boys could be charged with the same things as the driver.

I still cannot understand any logical reason for these charges or fines.

I feel that my boys are like any average American boy. I have always felt that the laws of our country were to be respected. I also feel that our law enforcement officers are of the highest quality and trained for their jobs or at least should be. But I do think it is time we opened our eyes and looked around to see what is taking place in our community, what is being done in the way of breaking down the respect for our law officers, our laws and our courts in the eyes of our young people. Why can't our young people have their rights as citizens? Why should our boys at the age of seventeen and our girls at the age of eighteen, be set apart from boys and girls below or above these ages. Why should our police force concentrate their efforts toward apprehending our young people when some of the adults make the same mistakes. How many times have the riders in your car been charged with the same things you were when and if you ever received a ticket. The answer will probably be none.

Why can't we as adult citizens be advised of what is being done to our young people before it is too late?

My thanks to the sheriff's department for letting my son attend classes at school.

Under date of December 15, 1966, I mailed an announcement of the annual Ex-Student association of Friona Independent School System. I used the wrong date on this announcement and I would appreciate your making the following correction:

The Annual Ex-Student Association of Friona Independent School System will be held December 25, 1966 (and not Dec. 26 as I showed in the first letter) at 4 P. M. in the High School Cafeteria in Friona, Texas.

This will be our 50th Anniversary for our school system. The first graduating class was in 1916 and some of the members of the first class still reside in Friona. We hope to make this a very memorable occasion for our schools and invite all ex-students whether they are a graduate from Friona Schools or not, to attend this session.

A special invitation is extended to all ex-teachers of the Friona School System to attend.

Thank you, for making this corrected announcement and helping us get the invitation corrected and extended to as many of our friends as possible.

FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD

— on Earth Peace

and Happy Birthday, to our Lord. It is traditional but more significant than any birthday in human history. There is more to Christmas than tinsel and glittering gifts. On that day, the word of God became flesh and dwelt among us. Love literally came down at Christmas... a new birth to cheer and redeem. It is the birthday of the greatest teacher — the sublimest preacher — the "Good Shepherd," the "Son of God," the "Saviour of Men." Then, let us not disgrace this Holy Day, Christ's Birthday, through sinful celebration or 'cheap' living. Happy Birthday, Jesus!

HANDWORK ON DISPLAY — Girls of Tan-Sha-Wa Horizon Club held a bazaar in Sugarland Mall Saturday morning, featuring holiday decorative items they had made themselves. Wreaths, plaques, amusing clown dolls and beautiful gilded angel figurines were among the items on sale. Three members of the club were caught by the camera completing the arrangement of goods at their booth. Martha Baker, on the ladder is assisted by Marilyn Smith and Bonnie Walker.

Girl Inspires Peace Legend

There are many moving stories of man's struggle for peace, but none is more inspiring than that of a small group of Japanese children, known as the Folded Crane Club.

It all began with Sadako Sasaki who was only 2 years old when The Bomb fell a mile from her home in Hiroshima. She was not hurt at the time, and as she grew up, she seemed a normal healthy child. Then in 1954, she developed signs of leukemia and before a year had elapsed, she died.

The legend which now retells Sadako's last days, relates a brave young heart that greeted her classmates with joy when they came to visit her in the hospital. She spent the time in between visitors making paper cranes.

It is a Japanese folk belief that the crane can live for 1,000 years; and if you fold 1,000 paper cranes, they will protect you from illness. Sadako had faith in the cranes and she spent her last months trying to fold the required paper cranes. But time ran out for this courageous little girl and when she died in October, 1955 she had completed only 964.

Sadako's friends made the remaining cranes and forming them into a wreath they were placed at rest with her.

Requiem Mass For Memorial

A service in memory of deceased members of the Father Nathaniel Council, Knights of Columbus, was conducted in the council home here recently with a requiem mass celebrated by the Rev. Alexander Baton, S. A.

Especially honored was the late Rev. Nathaniel Madden, who served as first chaplain of the local council and for whom it was named, and John Albracht, first Grand Knight of the council.

Others memorialized were Walter Fangman, Michael Koelzer, Frank Warren, Vincent Sky-pala, Henry Hellman, Joseph Lloyd Neill, Joseph Vinton, Charles Vasek, Peter Korstjens, Bernard Erdman, Henry Erdman, John Phillips, John Frerich and Joseph Paetzold.

could have ended there, but it didn't, for Sadako's classmates were determined to have a monument erected in her remembrance and to remind the world what an atomic bomb can do to the young.

It was a long hard struggle to raise the money, for money was still scarce in Japan in those days. But with the help of their teacher and a great deal of effort, finally in 1958 a monument was constructed and placed in Peace Park.

Having achieved their first goal, her classmates decided to stay together as a group and formed the Folded Crane Club.

The original purpose of the club, which still meets today, is to help the poor and ill among the bomb survivors. They visit the hospitals, hold memorial services for the children who have died and print a weekly newspaper of their activities.

Over the years younger children have joined the Folded Crane Club and although they have no memory of the bombing, they are inspired by Sadako's legend and the altruistic activities of the group.

In recent years, the group has added still another aim of its activities, that of a plea for peace. Its members have worked indefatigably in the cause of peace, writing letters to the heads of state and the United Nations. It is their hope that if the world knows what the children of their city there will never be another dropped anywhere.

Herd Is Plagued By Another Loss

The high-flying Phillips Blackhawks completely overpowered the Hereford Whitefaces in Phillips Monday night, jumping off to a 30-11 first quarter lead and then continuing to pile up the points for a 95-36 win.

The Whitefaces who were led by Jimmy Allison and Larry Nolet with 9 points each, could manage only six points in the second period to make the half-time score 52-17. Phillips increased the lead to 71-24 by the end of the third quarter.

Hereford was fresh off a 56-45 victory over Childress in Hereford Friday night, bringing the record to 4-11. Noland tallied 20 points to lead the Herd, while Larry Champ chipped in with 12 and Allison contributed 10.

Hereford was behind Childress 14-16 at the end of the first period, went ahead by one for a 27-26 half-time lead, and then led 42-36 at the end of the third stanza.

The Whitefaces will continue to play on the road following the holidays, traveling to Dimmitt Friday, Dec. 30, and to Lamessa, Tuesday, Jan. 3. District play begins Jan. 10 at Tulla.

Wild Christmas Party Is Held By Raccoons

For the wildest Christmas party ever, try inviting some of the playful animals that abound in state and national parks.

One lover of wildlife, who lives in a trailer at a park in California, decided to give just such a Christmas party for the raccoons that come to his patio each evening for a snack.

He trimmed a six-foot smoke bush with strings of colored lights, tinsel and ornaments and hung an assortment of goodies all around the lower half of the improvised Christmas tree.

The appetizing tidbits consisted of doughnuts, cookies, breadsticks, popcorn balls and scraps of meat all tied to the tree by long lengths of thread.

When evening approached, he searched out a spot that would afford him the best view and sat down to wait for the guests to arrive.

The first contingent showed up as soon as it became completely dark. It consisted of a father, mother, and three half-grown youngsters.

Advancing a few steps at a time, they finally entered the lighted area and caught full sight of the glittering tree. They all stopped short and the lock on their pert masked faces was one of sheer amazement. Their coal black eyes began to pop as they studied this new phenomenon which now stood where they usually found just plain pans of food and water.

Soon sensitive noses began to twitch, and one more adventurous than the rest stretched himself to his full length to get a better view. Then suddenly, he digested the message: food!

With that he began to pull at the strings of food to tear them loose. It didn't take more than a moment for the other members of the family to follow suit.

Soon more guests began to arrive. In the beginning of the party, each raccoon grabbed at the food indiscriminately, trying to get his share first. But the strings that were tied to the food posed a problem. A raccoon would get ready to run off with his prize when another raccoon would grab on to the string to which it was tied and snatch away the tasty morsel right from under his nose.

However, it wasn't too long before the brainy ones found a solution. As soon as they pulled their prize down, they bit off the thread and so avoided its being yanked off by a free loader. Who says animals can't reason?

Some of the raccoons slipped away into the darkness to eat their food dry. Others, not so shy hurried to dunk their doughnuts or rolls in the water pan provided, for raccoons lack sufficient saliva to moisten dry food.

One by one, as appetites were satisfied the guests departed, leaving a tree depleted of food, a good many of its ornaments and several branches off and scattered, signifying that the party was a complete success full of wild enjoyment.

BUDAPEST — Hungary's massive Buda castle towering over the Danube river will become the Hungarian Louvre, the news agency MTI said.

The former Habsburg castle burned down during World War Two. The Hungarian government already spent 335 million forints ($290 million) to turn it into a museum. The renovation is to be completed in 1970.

PICK POCKETS are delightful appetizers for the holiday entertaining season. They are tiny goodness. Serve piping hot for melt-in-your-mouth dill gherkins wrapped in cheese pastry.

Homemade Snacks Are More Appetizing Than Any Others

The holiday season is here. Christmas (Only 4 days before Christmas.) and New Year's parties will be before long, invitations to sea-arriving. And you, too, will be extending invitations to friends and relatives to join you for festive fare.

Here to make merrymaking even merrier are Pick Pockets. These delectable tidbits are tiny kosher dill pickles wrapped in melt-in-your mouth cheese pastry. They can be prepared ahead of time and refrigerated before baking. What an appetizing and unusual way to herald this most gay and joyous season.

PICKPOCKETS
 2 cups finely grated American cheese
 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
 1 cup all-purpose flour
 Dash cayenne pepper
 2 jars (13-3/4 ounces each) Heinz Kosher Baby Dills, well-drained
 Paprika
 Heat oven to 425 degrees F. Thoroughly mix cheese and butter; add flour and cayenne. Using pastry blender, cut cheese mixture into flour until pastry can be easily shaped into a ball. Divide in half; roll out on floured pastry cloth to 1/8-inch thickness. Cut into pieces (2 inches x 2-1/2"); place 1 whole well-drained pickle on narrow end and roll jelly-roll fashion, sealing seam. Place on ungreased baking sheet, seam side down sprinkle with paprika. Bake 12 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Cool slightly on cake rack before serving. Makes approximately 3 dozen.

Note: Pastry-wrapped pickles may be prepared and refrigerated before baking.

Giving Of Self Costs Little But Means Much

Try these ways of giving of one's self:
 It can be as little as a smile and sympathy for a saleswoman who's been receiving nothing but complaints.
 It is offering thanks and a cup of coffee to a delivery man whose rounds are keeping him out late.
 It is giving your maid or secretary a few free mornings for her shopping rather than letting her battle the evening crowds.
 It is seeking out the less-noticed service people — the librarians, choir master, answering-service girls — with a card or token gift or even just a few words with a smile.
 It is being patient and polite in traffic.
 In short, it is letting fellowship and good cheer be all-inclusive.
