UWDSC nears final stage

Volunteers for the United Way of last scheduled follow-ups of the 1990 Deaf Smith County are doing their campaign, it was reported at the

Progression of 1990 campaign

weekly UWDSC luncheon at the Ranch House Restaurant in Hereford on Monday.

The campaign has netted $78,704 toward the goal of $125,000 that will benefit 12 local agencies. UWDSC officials are very optimistic the goal will be reached.

"We looked back and some of the big donors from last year are still out there," said UWDSC President Jeryl Baker. "From those folks we have $42,000 from last year, and there is more, I'm sure. We are all going to make a concentrated effort and get everyone in pretty quick."

UWDSC officials will write follow-up letters and make more calls on persons who have not yet contributed to try to wrap up the campaign on schedule this Friday.

"Just because this Friday is the last day doesn't mean anyone can forget about us until then and think we'll forget," said UWDSC executive director Wayne Amstutz. He said he would have volunteers go back and work with Hereford schools, where contributions were down this year, and other areas where persons may still want to give to United Way.

Agencies benefiting from UWDSC include Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire, Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence, Family Services, Senior Citizens, Salvation Army, Red Cross, Childrens Rehabilitation Center and the High Plains Epilepsy Association.

Band earns I, regional berth

The Hereford High School Mighty Maroon Band earned its 30th straight first-division rating and qualified for the regional marching contest at the District I marching contest held Saturday at Borger.

Hereford and Pampa were voted by judges at Borger to participate in the regional contest Saturday. The time the band will perform has not yet been released. The Mighty Maroon Band could advance to the state marching contest to be held the next weekend at Austin.

The band will compete Saturday against other bands from the northwestern quarter of the state in Region I. Also competing will be bands in all other classifications for the right to advance to the state marching contest.

The "I" is the 30th in a row for the Hereford marching band, going back to 1961. It is the fourth earned by bands directed by James Maclasky.

Also earning a first division rating in twirling competition was Dawn DeBord.

The band plans to leave early Saturday by chartered bus to go to Ratliff Stadium in Odessa.

Six die in blast in Bahrain

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) - Six American sailors were killed and four severely burned today in an accident in the boiler room aboard the USS Iwo Jima, a U.S. Navy spokesman said.

Commander Mark Neuhart, spokesman for the U.S. Naval Forces Central Command, blamed the accident on a steam leak in the boiler room aboard the amphibious assault ship.

The ship was sailing out of Bahrain after a routine port visit when the steam line was ruptured.

In a statement issued on the accident in Dharhan, the Navy said there was no fire.

The Iwo Jima has been operating since Sept. 16 as part of the Amphibious Task Force in support of Operation Desert Shield, the Navy said.

The ships two boilers were shut off and the ship sailed back to Bahrain for inspection and assessment of the damage, Neuhart said.

He said the names of the victims would not be released until their families were notified. He said the bodies would be flown home later in the day.

Neuhart said the injured were in a "critical" condition. They were taken to the hospital ship USS Comfort, one of two such vessels deployed to the gulf.

The Iwo Jima, based in Norfolk, Va., has a crew of 685 officers and crewmen and about 1,100 Marines. The victims were all crew members, Neuhart said.

The 602-foot-long, 84-foot-wide vessel displaces 18,000 tons. It is part of the amphibious task force supporting Operation Desert Shield.

It was the second accident involving Naval forces deployed to the gulf after Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

Plethora of pumpkins

Tony Guzman is surrounded by a wide assortment of pumpkins and gourds outside his residence on West First in Hereford. The pumpkins and gourds are contracted by Colville and Wilson of Hereford and range from miniature pumpkins to huge, just right, jack o'lantern size.

Drug program here Wednesday

Inmates from the Texas Department of Corrections will give Hereford public school students a first-hand view of problems caused by drug abuse during special assemblies Wednesday.

The inmates, accompanied by a guard and a corrections facility administrator, will give a program on the dangers of illicit drug use. The inmates are trained and prepared before they are allowed to participate in the program. The program is its 21st year of giving assemblies in public schools in Texas.

Parents are encouraged to attend the assemblies, which will be held at the Hereford High School auditorium and in the Hereford Junior High gymnasium. The schedule is:

--9:15 a.m., sixth grade students at HHS auditorium.

--10:15 a.m., freshmen and sophomores, HHS auditorium.

--11:05 a.m., juniors and seniors, HHS auditorium.

--2:30 p.m., seventh and eighth graders, HJH gymnasium.

The inmates will also give a program at the Hereford Lions Club meeting at noon Wednesday. The Lions of Texas co-sponsor the program as part of its War On Drugs campaign.

Williams pushes prison plan

MIDLAND (AP) - Heading into the final week of the gubernatorial campaign, Republican Clayton Williams has renewed his pledge to build more prisons.

"The most important thing the next governor of Texas can do to keep violent criminals behind bars is to expand our prison capacity," Williams said after being endorsed Monday by Texas Lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police.

Richards, meanwhile, canceled her only public appearance.

After taking the day off, Richards also decided to skip a Houston Democratic rally Monday night because a cold threatened her voice, an aide said.

"Her voice could go if she doesn't rest it tonight," said campaign spokeswoman Margaret Justus.

Both Richards and Williams were traveling to Dallas today where they were to answer questions from a panel of news reporters for a special broadcast being aired tonight.

Williams on Monday accused Richards of flip-flopping on the question of building more prison cells.

"The law enforcement community supports it. Building 60,000 new prison units is the cornerstone of the Clayton Williams anti-crime plan," he said.

Williams, standing with some 20 law enforcement officials at the Midland Police Department, charged that Richards has "flip-flopped all over the board on building new prison beds."

He claimed the Democrat had been quoted as saying that she believed it was an "oversimplification to say what we need is to build more prisons" and once compared building more correctional facilities to

"pouring money into a black hole."

"(Then) just a few months ago, she said she would support building 1,800 new prison beds. Sixty thousand new prison beds under the Williams plan to possibly 1,800 new beds under my liberal opponent's plan. That's the difference between fighting violent crime with a sledgehammer or with a toy hammer," Williams said.

He also said he supports the death penalty for people who murder a child and for people whose sale of drugs results in the death of a minor.

Williams estimated that the new prisons and his stronger law enforcement policies would cost $1.5 billion and said he would raise $1.6 billion through "efficiencies and cuts in state spending."

Budget will hit area hard

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer
LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - U.S. Rep. Larry Combest says there's hope for energy-related businesses in West Texas but major cuts to area farming districts in the federal budget scale-down will force some belt-tightening.

Incentives in the new budget for the hundreds of oil and gas companies based throughout the Texas plains will help increase production, said Combest, R-Texas.

"We will obviously be a benefactor because we are a large energy producing district," he said at a news conference Monday. "There's hope."

Combest said the bad news is the budget agreement cuts the heart out of the West Texas farm districts.

COMBEST

"We are going to be hit very hard out here, that is the reason I voted against it," Combest said. "It very strongly gets into our back pocket in terms of revenues without providing any additional incentives."

Combest joined the seven other House Republicans from Texas and GOP Texas Sen. Phil Gramm in voting against the budget.

Combest said he voted for the original budget compromise rejected by the House several weeks ago, but said the new budget agreement varied too much from that plan by calling for more tax hikes and fewer cuts in spending.

The agreement reached by Congress after months of debate will hit the rolling fields of West Texas with $11 billion worth of cuts in agriculture programs over the next five years.

An increase in the federal gasoline tax from nine to 14 cents beginning Dec. 1 will impact thousands of farmers in the West Texas plains, who use fuel intensive equipment to cultivate a bevy of crops, including 25 percent of the nation's cotton.

"The target prices are frozen. They will not reduce below their current levels," said Combest, who is running unopposed in the South Plains' 19th District. "I have always felt like you don't necessarily set a good farm program by how much you are going to spend."

"Much of the time, the two main ingredients are what kind of a policy does it set and good weather," he said. "We have been fortunate under the current farm program to have some good weather, so we tried to start with the same structure."

Combest said the 1990 Farm Bill which passed during the last three weeks of the lawmaking session is designed to contain costs and address environmental concerns.

"The foundation of the Farm Bill is the same," Combest said. "There will be some significant changes in that for the first time ever it allows for flexibility. The farmer can protect their history and their base and yet move into a new commodity that they can grow based upon market demand."

Grady earns win in football contest

Nolan G. ady missed just four games to win first place in last week's Hereford Brand Football Contest.

Grady won $25 in Hereford Bucks for his effort.

Placing second and just one point off on the Hereford vs. Dumas tiebreaker was Debi Lewis of Hereford. She earned $15 in Hereford Bucks.

Placing third was Bernadette Kalka of Hereford. She received $10 in Hereford Bucks.

Hereford Bucks may be spent the same as cash at any Deaf Smith County business.

Six other persons also missed only five games: Kyle Hansen, Michael Cano, Gladys Cavness, Karen Marsh, Andy Kalka and Butch Casey.

All persons are eligible to win up to $500 in the football contest. $500 will be paid to anyone who correctly picks the winners in the 25 regular games and in the tiebreaker game. This week's contest appears in today's Brand.

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia - Along with the bullets, guns and food the military needs to fight a war in the Persian Gulf, there's a precious commodity that links the troops in Saudi Arabia to home - the mail, 70 tons a day of it.

WASHINGTON - Tax subsidies for tummy tucks and facelifts would end. And the tax on a muscle car could be raised to nearly $8,000. But there are new breaks for some cigar makers and small wineries.

WASHINGTON - Back home after a turbulent 101st Congress, incumbent senators find themselves at a political crossroads of whether to campaign as a government outsider or a legislative insider.

WASHINGTON - Federal regulations that bar the staffs of government-subsidized family planning clinics from discussing abortion with their clients are coming under Supreme Court scrutiny.

RICHMOND, Va. - Thousands of homeless and hungry Americans are turning to restaurants and caterers instead of trash cans for their daily meals. At least 40 cities across the nation have launched programs to put leftovers to use.

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. - The United Auto Workers asked its 63,000 Chrysler Corp. employees to stay on the job today while contract talks with the No. 3 automaker continued.

Texas

MIDLAND - Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams touted his law enforcement programs while Democrat Ann Richards took a day off the campaign trail as the election loomed just a week away.

AUSTIN - Democrat Ann Richards' campaign says Republican Clayton Williams is trying to buy the governorship. Williams' camp says Richards wants special interests to buy it for her. Either way, it's the most expensive governor's race in Texas history.

AUSTIN - Clayton Williams' gubernatorial campaign says he hasn't been hurt politically by the comments of a woman who said she was sexually assaulted by a man who repeated the Republican's joke about rape.

SAN ANTONIO - The 23rd District congressional race pits a longtime politician against a self-described grassroots unknown who never has held elected office.

LUBBOCK - U.S. Rep. Larry Combest says there's hope for energy-related businesses in West Texas but major cuts to area farming districts in the federal budget scale-down will force some belt-tightening.

CALDWELL - An eight-point buck charged and mauled a 61-year-old man to death in a thicket alongside a rural road near Caldwell, then stood over the body for at least seven hours until sheriff's deputies arrived and killed the animal.

DALLAS - Earl Ruby's hopes of recovering the revolver his brother Jack used to kill presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald rest in the hands of a six-member jury.

HARLINGEN - After 30 years of trying, the cities of Harlingen and San Benito finally will get an economically vital international bridge linking their area with Mexico.

AUSTIN - The coach of Odessa Permian High School's football team says an appeal is planned after a judge rejected a bid by four coaches to keep the team eligible for the Class 5A playoffs.

AUSTIN - An administrative hearing into applications for a lucrative Galveston County dog racing track has ended, but a decision on a winner could take several more weeks.

Bush willing to use force against Iraq

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush says he still hopes the Persian Gulf crisis will end peacefully but is consulting on options with congressional leaders and foreign policy aides as the standoff with Iraq nears the three-month mark.

Bush summoned Democratic and Republican leaders to the White House today, a day after he declared that he "would have no hesitancy" to using force if provoked by Iraq's President Saddam Hussein.

The president also planned to meet with foreign policy advisers today.

The Constitution gives Congress the power to declare war, although the president is commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

Bush has held regular consultations with Congress on the gulf crisis since Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait prompted him to send more than 200,000 troops to the region.

Beyond that, Secretary of State James A. Baker III said recently the administration would not promise to get congressional approval if a decision was made to engage in armed conflict with Iraq.

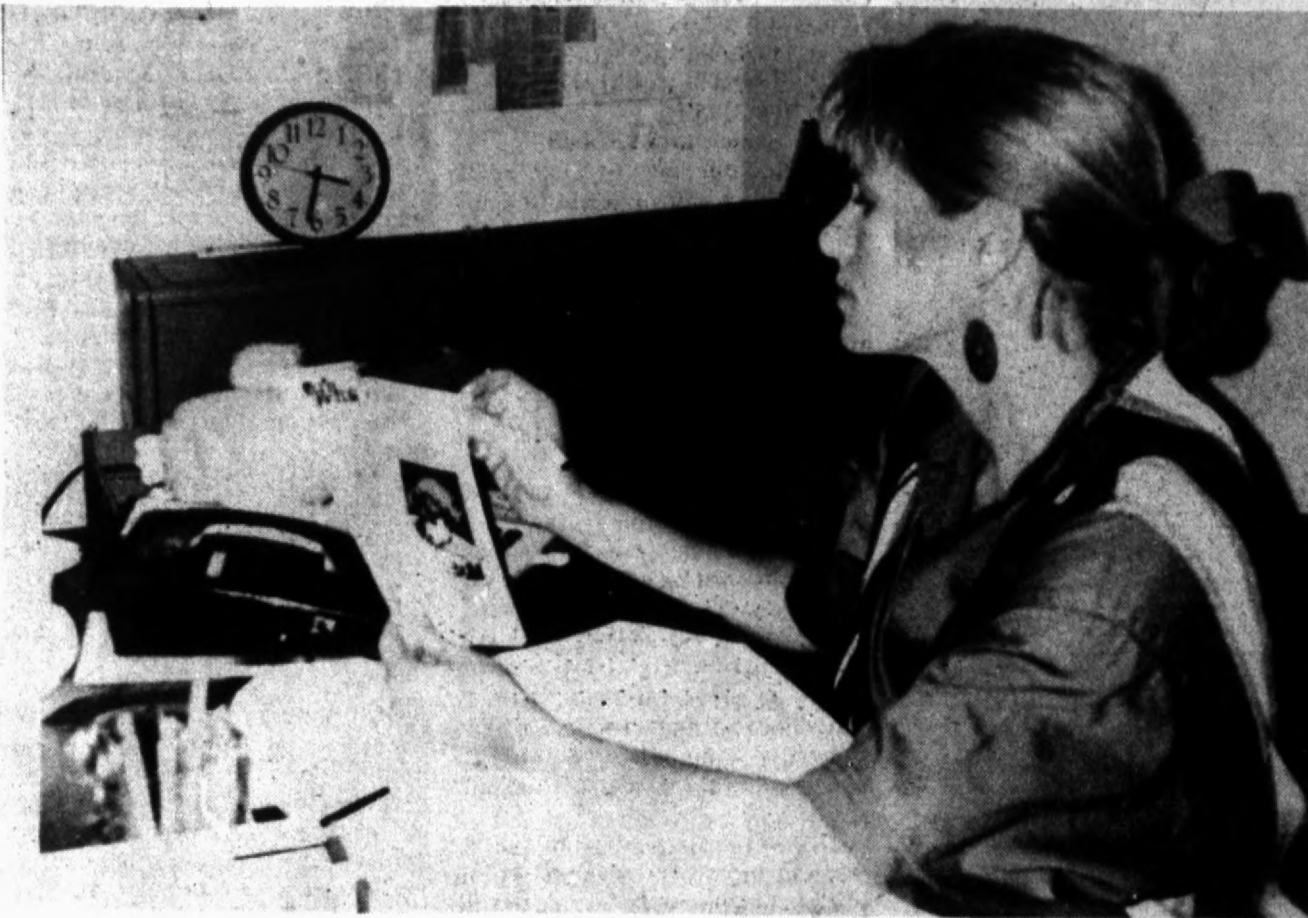

Baker was responding to calls by some lawmakers that Congress be called back into session to approve such an escalation.

Bush told reporters Monday, "I know the authorities that a president has. I'm working to try to get this matter resolved peacefully. We have a lot of force there and they're well-trained, they're highly motivated, and that alone is sending an enormously strong signal to Saddam Hussain."

He noted he was consulting with congressional leaders today, adding: "But history is replete with examples where the president has had to take action. And I've done this in the past and certainly - somebody mentioned provocation - would have no hesitancy at all."

Bush and Baker both took a harder line toward Iraq on Monday while still saying they want to see a diplomatic solution if possible.

"Let no one doubt: We will not rule out a possible use of force if Iraq continues to occupy Kuwait," Baker said in a speech in Los Angeles. However, he said, "We are exhausting every diplomatic avenue to achieve such a solution without further bloodshed."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the woman whose son received a stiff prison sentence after confessing to molesting a child hit a nerve. I have worked with adolescent pedophile and dealt with the problem in my own family.

We were lucky, Ann. We discovered our son's first attempted molestation within minutes. He spent a year in intensive treatment and now seems to be growing up normally. The is no guarantee, however, that he won't have a relapse. We never leave him alone with small children. He is not allowed to take any job that brings him into contact with youngsters. When he has children of his own you can be sure that his father and I will keep our eyes open for any hint of trouble.

What the mother of the 17-year-old boy has not faced is that this was probably not the first time her son has molested a child. Most molesters start in their early teens and are caught as adults after they already have done considerable damage. You were right, Ann, when you said the effect on the child who is "touched" can be horrendous.

I'm sorry that the woman's son is receiving no treatment in prison, but you can bet that when he gets out, he will know there are consequences for his behavior. The mother blames the prison sentence for "ruining a young man's life," but she needs to remember it was HIS decision to do something he knew was wrong that actually ruined his life. Our son also tried to blame everyone else for what he did and the devastation that followed. The punishment, though exceedingly harsh, will remind the perpetrator that antisocial acts have consequences. — A Mom Who's Been There, Too, In Atlanta following letter supports what you say.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is in response to the mother of the 17-year-old sex offender in Arizona. She says her son was sent to prison for 12 years for his "first offense."

As a therapist who has worked with sex offenders for 10 years, I can tell you that by the time a sex offender is caught, he has committed more crimes that he will own up to.

One 1984 study of 232 child molesters whose victims are under 14 years of age revealed that they had attempted a total of 55,250 molestations and completed 38,727. Their total number of victims was 17,585. They averaged 238 attempted and 167 completed child molestations each. The average number of victims was 75.8 each. The average adolescent sexual offender may be expected to commit 380 sex crimes in his lifetime.

There is a very good likelihood that the young man in Arizona had several victims before he was finally caught. Many sex offender treatment programs use "disclosure polygraphs" to break through the entrenched denial system of a sex offender.

The plea should not be for compassion but that while this young man is in prison he will receive treatment and counseling so that when he is released he will not repeat his sick behavior. — Ann Wright, M.A., clinical member of the Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abusers, Oregon

Spikers fall to Dumas

By SAM WALLER
Sports Editor

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces were close, very close, to upending the two-time defending state champion Dumas Demonettes Saturday in a one-match playoff to determine district seedings at Amarillo Caprock.

The Lady Whitefaces were up 13-10 in the third game of the match before Dumas struck for the final five points and 9-15, 15-7, 15-13 win.

Lady Whiteface coach Brenda Reeh said the outcome was more a matter of Dumas regaining the momentum at the right time rather than anything Hereford did.

"I don't think our kids ever sat back and thought we had it wrapped up," Reeh said. "You never wrap up a match until it's 15 points on the board and you've beaten them by two."

"A lot of times it was just a matter of inches; the ball was going to be in or it was going to be out, it was going to be over the net or into the net."

"Volleyball is a game of momentum and anytime you release the momentum to the other team, you've got to fight two or three times harder to get it back."

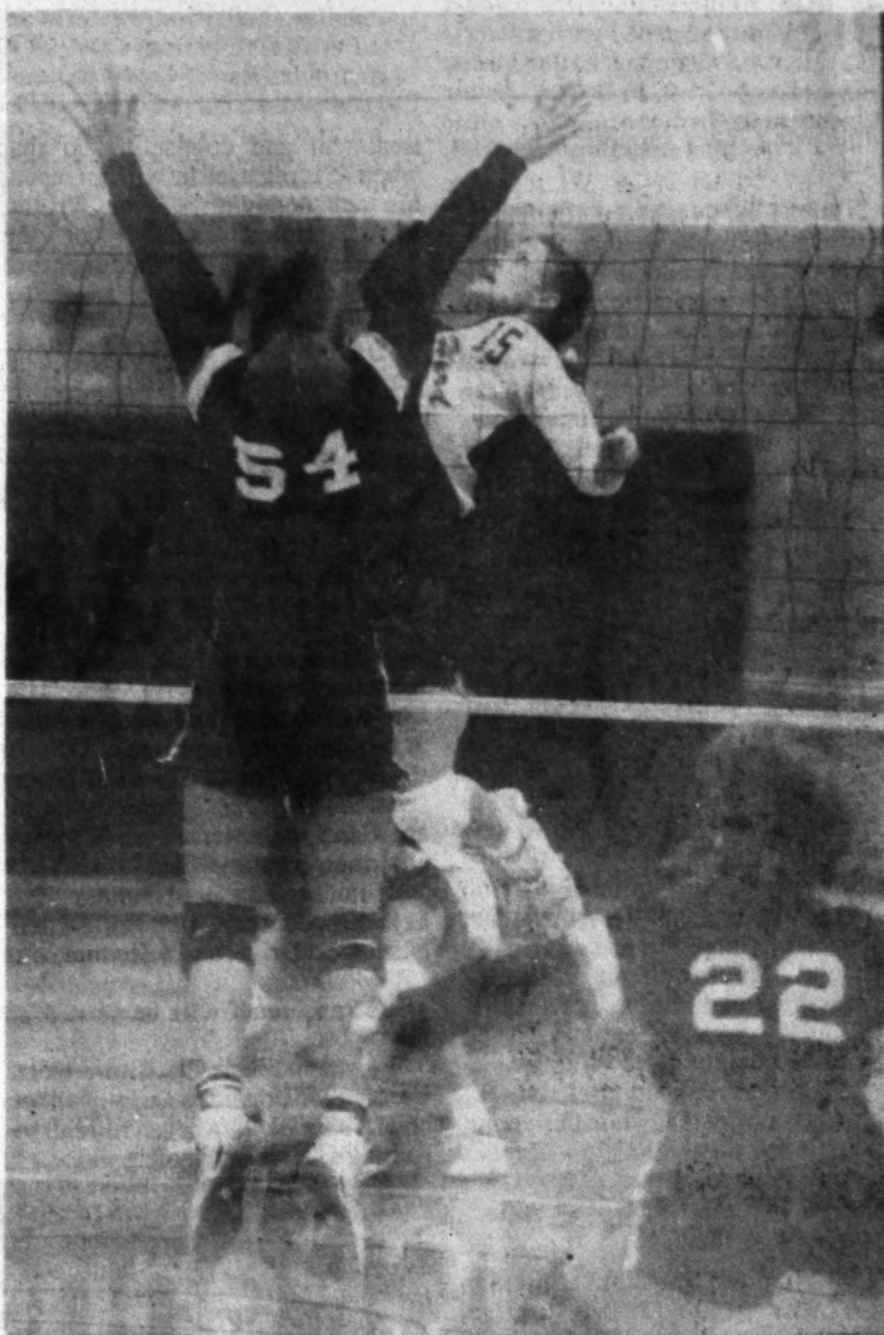

Hereford broke open the first game with the final six points in a tough defensive battle. The teams were through their first rotation before Dumas gained a 3-1 edge, but Hereford retook the lead on three points from Brek Binder.

The lead changed hand twice more and Dumas tied the game four times before Shantel Cornelius served Hereford to a three-point lead at 12-9. Kyanne Lindley added another pair of scores before Lori Sanders served up the winner with Binder getting the kill on a dink over the Dumas block.

The Demonettes shook off the loss and roared out to an 8-0 lead in Game 2 before Hereford could break serve. Summer Giffen gave Dumas the big lead with the help of six Hereford errors before the Lady Whitefaces mounted a comeback.

"We were looking at the entire match when we got in there to the second game instead of focusing on one point at a time," Reeh said of the run. "You can never look at the entire match. You have to play one point at a time and try to win one point at a time."

"We just zoned out for eight points and then decided we were going to do what was working for us the first time and we got back into it. Unfortunately for us, we were just down so far we couldn't get back into it."

Up there somewhere

Shantel Cornelius (15) of the Hereford Lady Whitefaces gets up for a spike during Saturday's district playoff match against Dumas at Amarillo Caprock. Attempting to block the spike is the Demonettes' Camille Morton (54) while Summer Giffen (22) stands by to dig it out. Dumas won the match, 9-15, 15-7, 15-13, to send Hereford into tonight's Bi-District playoff against Lamesa. The Herd and the Lady Tornadoes will meet at 7:30 p.m. at Lubbock Coronado.

Hereford cut the margin in half as Jayme Moore, Sanders and Robin White served up the points. The Demonettes answered with six straight points of their own to go up 14-4 and pull within a point of evening the match.

The Herd continued to chip away, getting two points from Teresa Baker and one from Cornelius, but the hole was too deep to get out of and Dumas finished the game off on its next serve.

The third game started out as another defensive struggle with eight side outs recorded before Cornelius served the first point. Moore jumped the lead to 5-0 on her next turn as Hereford looked to run away with the match.

Dumas bounced back with four points in four different turns at serve to close within a point before Hereford could score again.

Tisha Haltom then gave the Demonettes command with a five-point run as Dumas took the lead for the first time in the game at 10-6. Hereford committed four errors in the run and allowed one serve to fall for an ace.

Moore got the Herd back on track, serving for two points to cut the gap in half, and Sanders gave Hereford the lead with a five-point run that included three kills by White.

Dumas shaved one point off the margin on its next serve, but a net violation gave the ball back to Hereford with Binder, the team's leading server, at the line.

At that point, Dumas hitter Camille Morton went to work, getting the kill to break serve, and then had three more off Giffen's serving to put the Demonettes at match point. Kisika Cariker got the final kill, giving Giffen four straight service points and Dumas the win.

For the match, Sanders led the Herd with eight service points while Moore had seven, Cornelius six, Baker and Brooke Seiver five each, White four, Binder three and Lindley two.

Giffen led Dumas with 15 service points.

Reeh said one difference in the match was the Herd's lowest serving percentage since the beginning of district play as 16 attempts went long or into the net.

"You can't miss as many serves as we missed and you can't miss as many blocks as we missed and expect to win," she said. "And Dumas did a super job of making saves. They saved the ball over and over and over again when it should have gone down: To be in the match as much as we were and miss as many serves as we did, we did a good job."

Leading the attack for Hereford was Cornelius with 10 kills with Seiver adding six and Binder four. Morton matched Cornelius' total to lead the Demonettes.

The loss sends the Lady Whitefaces (18-7) into tonight's Bi-District playoff against Class 4A's top-ranked team, Lamesa.

The match has been set for 7:30 p.m. at Lubbock Coronado. Admission will

Castillo wins girls title, both teams third at 1-4A Meet

Teresa Castillo claimed her second individual cross country district title Saturday at the District 1-4A Meet at Amarillo's Thompson Park.

Castillo broke the 12-minute barrier for the first time in her career, covering the two-mile course in 11 minutes, 59 seconds for her fifth win of the season.

"Teresa ran an excellent race," Coach Martha Emerson said of the senior, "and there was never a doubt that she would repeat as the district champion."

"This is the first time she has been under 12 minutes and she did this without being pushed. She was 24 seconds ahead of second place."

Emerson added that the win puts Castillo in good shape for this Saturday's Region 1-4A Meet in Lubbock.

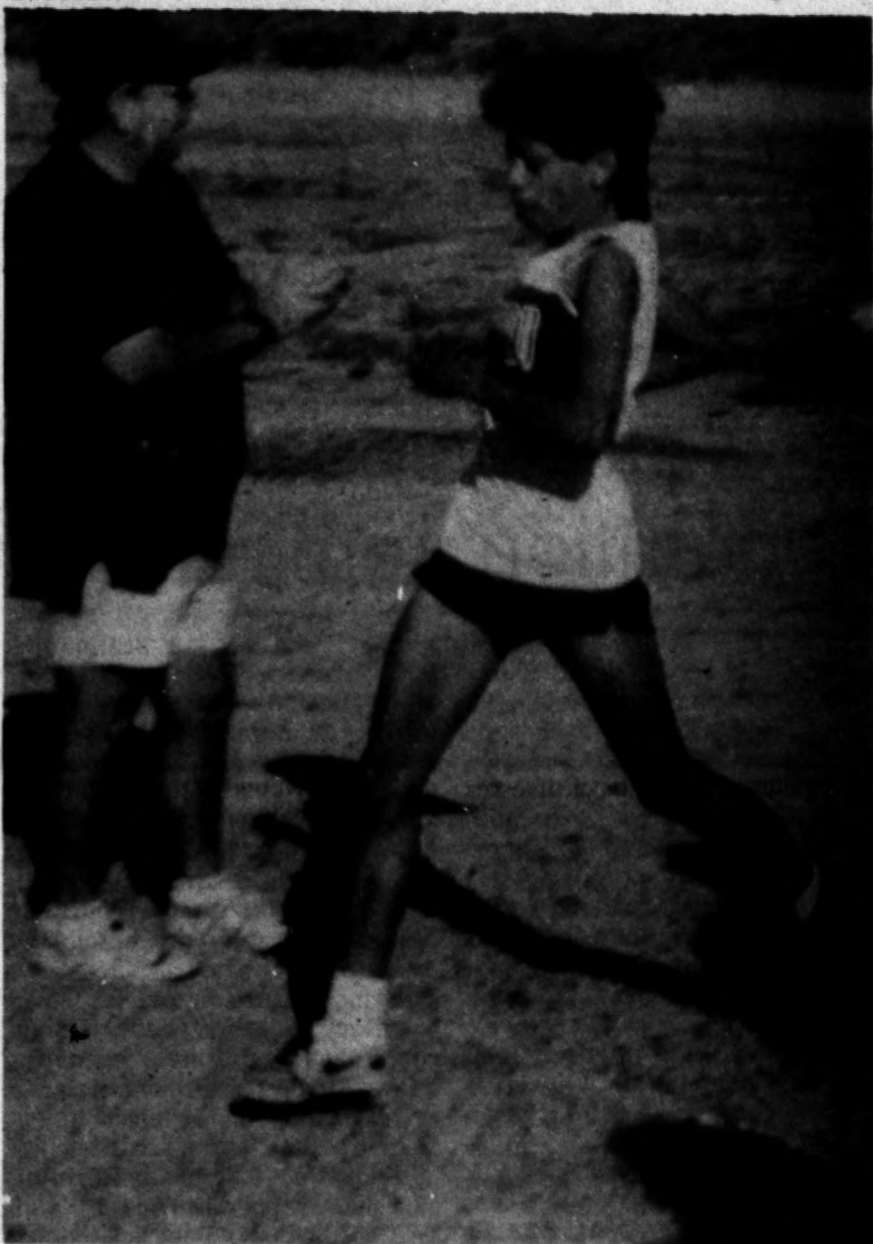

"Teresa has a great opportunity ahead of her at the regional meet," she said. "She ran 12:12 on that course three weeks ago. It is a much more demanding course than the one in Amarillo and the competition will be good. I'm very proud of her and her accomplishments thus far."

Joining Castillo at the regional meet will be Jack Borden of the Herd boys team. Borden finished third with a time of 17:11 Saturday to advance to the next round.

"Jack ran very well and competed very well with the two Borger runners ahead of him (Bobby Gould and Karlos Rodriguez)," Emerson said.

In the team standings, Hereford finished oh-so-close to qualifying both boys and girls for regional. Both teams finished third with 64 points each, just out of second.

Permian coaches lose suit

AUSTIN (AP) - The coach of Odessa Permian High School's football team says an appeal is planned after a judge rejected a bid by four coaches to keep the team eligible for the Class 5A playoffs.

State District Judge Peter Lowry on Monday denied the coaches' bid for a temporary injunction that would have overruled a University Interscholastic League decision to declare the Panthers ineligible.

"They are not going to get into the playoffs," said Matthew Trevena, UIL lawyer.

The dispute was over a decision last month by the UIL that Permian, the defending Class 5A champion, was ineligible for the playoffs because coaches held illegal practices before Aug. 20.

Permian coach Tam Hollingshead said he and the other coaches would appeal Lowry's ruling to the 3rd Court of Appeals in Austin.

"We're not ever going to give up on these players or this team, and we're not going to give up on this fight," Hollingshead said in a telephone interview.

"We think our due process was violated. We do believe that we have some rights as citizens, and those rights need to be protected," the coach said.

Houston lawyer T. Gerald Treece, who represented Hollingshead and the three assistant coaches, said he would try to file the appeal today and seek quick consideration.

"We will ask for an accelerated appeal. There are only a couple weeks left in the season," Treece said.

In a court hearing last week, the coaches argued that the UIL's rules were vague and that the sanctioning body did not allow the coaches to defend themselves in an earlier hearing.

UIL director Bailey Marshall said the court ruling was what the league had hoped for.

"Everybody, including the administration and the (school) board from Odessa agreed that what they were doing was a violation. And from the testimony of the coaches, there had been other violations previously that had not been reported. Therefore, we felt like we would win the case," Marshall said.

"We knew that the coaches had every opportunity at the (UIL) State Executive Committee to say whatever they wanted to. We asked on at least two occasions if they had anything else they wanted to add," he said.

The Panthers were the top-rated schoolboy team in the country in 1989. This year, the school has been in the national spotlight after the UIL ruling and an unflattering book about the program.

The law governing practices allows players on a voluntary basis to meet before Aug. 20 and for coaches to be present at the facility. But the coaches cannot instruct or talk to the youths.

Trevena argued in court that the practice sessions at Odessa Permian were organized drills, that the coaches were timing athletes as they ran and that the youths weren't there voluntarily.

Trevena said Lowry's decision Monday also was important because it settled a question of who had authority to represent the football team.

"The Ector County ISD (Independent School District) already had passed a resolution to accept the sanctions. The coaches contended they could represent the program," Trevena said.

"I think that this decision supports the argument that it's the school district that should set policy for the football program, not the coaches or the players," he said.

Herd girl golfers win Saturday

The Hereford Whiteface and Lady Whiteface golfers continued their fall season Saturday with the girls hosting triangular and dual meets at Pitman Municipal Golf Course while the boys played at Plainview Country Club.

The girls Maroon team won its three-way match with a team score of 393 to edge Borger by four strokes. Amarillo Caprock was third in the group at 464.

Paula Britten led Hereford with a 44-45-89 with Cecelia Albracht carding 53-47-100, Dusty Saul at 46-56-102, Jennifer Prater at 49-53-102 and Stephanie Walls at 54-46-110. Borger was led by Leslie Reed at 95 while Caprock was paced by Charlene Wilcox at 93.

The girls White team also took a four-stroke win, edging Amarillo High B, 443-447, in a dual match, while Pampa downed Amarillo High A, 375-383, in dual play.

JoJo Lytal led the white team with a 47-48-95 with Brooke Weatherly shooting 53-57-110, Kandy Vinton at 56-59-115 and Kelly Kelso at 57-63-120. The Sandies were led by Katie Boyd's 102.

In the other dual match, Pampa's Diana Pulse carded an 87 and Amarillo High's Aimee Maurer shot an 89.

In the boys match, Hereford placed second at 324, five back of Pampa.

Roll to the hole

Paula Britten of the Hereford Lady Whiteface golf team watches as her putt heads for the hole Saturday during a triangular match at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

Plainview rounded out the group with a 357.

Hereford was led by Jayson Mines with a 37-39-76 while Mikel Walsler shot 43-38-81, Cory Newton 39-42-81, Anthony Gale 42-44-86 and David Bone 48-44-92.

Pampa was paced by Matt McDaniel's 76.

HJH spikers conclude season

The Hereford Junior High volleyball teams concluded their seasons with a Saturday appearance in the Pampa Junior High Invitational Tournament and the season finale at Canyon.

In the Pampa tourney, the eighth-grade Maroon opened with a 15-13, 15-3 win over Pampa B before losing to Dumas A, 15-9, 14-9. The second games of the Dumas match was ended by a 15-minute time limit.

The eighth-grade White team reached the consolation game after losing to Canyon Valleyview A in the opener, 15-9, 14-16, 15-11. The White then beat Borger B, 15-11, 16-14, and Pampa B, 17-19, 13-11, 15-3, before losing in the consolation round to Dumas B, 15-13, 5-15, 14-10.

The seventh-grade Maroon team opened the tourney with a 17-15, 15-5 win over Dumas B before losing to Pampa A, 13-15, 15-11, 15-6.

The seventh-grade White team also opened with a win, beating Valleyview A, 15-5, 1-15, 15-8, but lost to Pampa A, 15-3, 15-13.

In Monday's matches, the eighth-grade Maroon beat Canyon, 15-5, 12-15, 15-3, while the seventh-grade Maroon won, 15-0, 11-15, 15-10, and the seventh-grade White team won, 15-10, 11-15, 15-7.

The eighth-grade White and freshman teams did not play Monday. Also, results of the freshman from the Pampa tournament were unavailable at press time.

HARRIERS

Borger won both team titles, scoring 41 points in the girls race and 32 in the boys. The Pampa boys edged Hereford out of the second berth by a single point with 63 while the Canyon Randall girls scored 60 to leave Hereford out.

"The girls team was very disappointed about placing second," Emerson said. "It was a very strong field of runners and we just came up four points short. We needed our top five runners in the top 17 or 18 to have a chance for second. Randall just came up with more than we did."

Hereford had four runners place in the top half of the 36-runner girls field as Brandie Webb followed Castillo across the line in 12:58 for ninth place while Lisa Zepeda (15th, 13:18) and Belinda Murillo (16th, 13:19) were next for the Herd. Murillo's time was her best ever.

Other runners for the Lady Whitefaces were Minerva Salazar (23rd, 13:49), Renee Banner (29th, 14:21) and Jill Dutton (30th, 14:25).

In the boys race, Hereford had three runners, Raymon Lopez (13th, 18:30), Armando Garza (14th, 18:38) and Jerry Gallegos (15th, 18:39), cross the line almost together behind Borden. But Pampa had runners finish seventh, eighth and ninth to hold the edge in the standings.

Other Herd runners were Chris Hart (24th, 19:14), Eric Davis (34th, 21:58) and Chancy Bainum (35th, time unavailable).

"I'm very proud of these guys," Emerson said. They have been up and down all season and I honestly felt this would be a down week. I knew all season there was potential, but couldn't seem to get it out of them. They talked among themselves and set some goals and came within one point of qualifying for regional. They certainly competed well."

In the junior varsity race, boys and girls ran together and no team score were kept.

Running for the JV girls were Caryn Hubner (second, 13:49), Rita Soto (fourth, 14:12), Florence Zepeda (fifth, 14:16), Laura Rangel (seventh, 14:29), Fidelia Hernandez (14th, 15:13), Denise Davila (15th, 15:18) and Rachel Alaniz (20th, 17:24).

For the JV boys, Pedro Dominguez placed third and Chad Thomas 14th. Their times were not available.

Several ranked prep teams fall in poll after suffering losses

By MIKE DRAGO
Associated Press Writer
One of the rare disadvantages to being on top is that the only place to go is down.

That's just where things went last week for nine teams ranked in the Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll. A pair of Top 10 teams in each category except Class 2A lost. In 2A, No. 5 Post was the only loser.

The unusually large batch of losses triggered a reshuffling of the poll, although there were no changes among the top-ranked teams, Class 5A Aldine, 4A's A&M Consolidated, 3A's Vernon, 2A's Groveton and 1A's Munday.

Odessa beat No. 10 Midland Lee 23-14 to knock the Rebels (5-2) from the poll. They were replaced by Plano (7-1), which beat Carrollton Newman Smith 20-13.

The previous No. 8 team, Longview, lost its second consecutive game, 35-14 to Tyler Lee, and tumbled from the poll.

The Lobos, who two weeks ago were 6-0 and ranked third in the state, now must beat Tyler John Tyler and No. 8 Marshall just to make the playoffs.

"We haven't had any injuries," said Longview coach Robert Bero. "We're just playing good football teams, and we have two more good teams to play ... but we think we have a good chance of making them (the playoffs)."

No. 9 Huntsville, which beat Conroe McCullough 34-17, replaced Longview in the poll.

Aldine received 25 of 26 first-place votes and 259 votes overall after its 47-6 crushing of Humble. The Mustangs (8-0) maintained their lead over No. 2 Arlington Lamar, which received 233 votes, including one for first place.

McKinney fell from third to eighth in Class 4A after its 21-14 loss to Denison. Quarterback Abel Wolf boosted the Yellow Jackets with a last-minute 16-yard touchdown sprint.

San Antonio Alamo Heights, formerly 10th in 4A, lost to No. 7 Kerrville Tivy 19-13 and fell from the poll after one week. Alamo Heights was replaced by No. 10 Austin Westlake (7-1).

A&M Consolidated received 259 votes, including 25 for first place, to maintain a sizable lead over No. 2 Bay City, which garnered 229 votes and one first place vote.

Atlanta, the previous No. 5 team in 3A, lost to Jefferson 33-14 and fell to ninth, while No. 7 Mexia dropped out of the poll after its 28-14 loss to Fairfield. Universal City Randolph (8-0) debuted at No. 10.

Post lost to Seagraves 24-13 and dropped to No. 10 in 2A.

Herd sub-varsity grid games rescheduled

Hereford High School Athletic Director Don Cumpton has announced the rescheduling of two sub-varsity football games for this week.

The Herd sophomores will visit Amarillo High at 3 p.m. Wednesday while the junior varsity plays at Borger at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Bartlett fell from fifth to ninth in 1A after its 29-13 loss to rival Thorndale, while Spur fell three spots to seventh with a 28-14 loss to No. 1 Munday.

Munday's Perry Collier caught a 54-yard touchdown pass and returned a kickoff for a 78-yard score.

"Speed kills and that's one thing we just can't coach," said Spur coach Dewayne Sexton. "They used their speed perfectly and we just couldn't catch them."

"We let down in the second and third periods and bit and didn't play as well as in the other two quarters," he said. "You have to play well all four quarters to beat Munday."

SPIKERS

be $3 for adults and $1 for students.

Reeh said after playing Dumas, facing the No. 1 team should not be as tough as it would seem.

"We could handle Saturday in two ways," she said, "it could either destroy our confidence or we could look at it as playing the best team in the state to prepare for the playoffs. That's the way they're looking at it."

"I think the kids' attitudes are up. The kids are fine. I think a lot of it has to do with how we, as coaches, handle the situation."

"Physically, we're just going to have to get a hand on their blocks," Reeh said. "They've been through a district the last five weeks that couldn't block them. They played against people who couldn't tip at them. Estacado was up on them 8-0 (before losing), and the reason was because they blocked. We're going to do that and, hopefully, move the ball around on their defense a lot more. If we can do that, then they won't get a good pass to their setter. And if they don't get a good pass, those hitters will get frustrated without a good set." This will be the second meeting between the teams this year. Lamesa took a 15-9, 5-15, 17-15 win in the second round of the Lubbock Invitational Tournament, Hereford's second competitive match of the year, but Reeh said she hasn't seen the Tornados since then.

"We looked at that tape," she said, "but at that point we were still playing a totally different offense than we're playing now."

"In talking to some of the other coaches that coached against them during district, they hit a lot from the outside. I believe there are two sisters, one's a freshman and one's a junior, who are their real big hitters. If we can slow them down or frustrate them, that seems to be the way to beat them."

"We're hoping that the matches against Dumas, Tascosa and Amarillo High and the tournaments will end up helping us. That's one of the reasons we wanted a harder preseason, so we could be prepared and get farther along in the playoffs than we have the last two years. Not just make the playoffs, but get farther along."

Raiders ready to 'Mess with Texas'

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - One look around town tells you the Longhorns are comin'.

T-shirts reading "We Mess With Texas" can already be spotted around the Texas Tech campus poking fun at the 14th-ranked Longhorns.

A banner draped across a busy intersection says, "Corral the Longhorns."

Locals have "Beat Texas" parties and pep rallies scheduled throughout the week.

There isn't a game that means more to the Texas Tech faithful than the yearly showdown with Texas. A victory can salvage a losing season. Like this season.

"This is a traditional rivalry for us," said Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes. "It's a big game and has been for a long time. A win over Texas would go a long way in soothing some of this season's pain."

Tech (2-6 overall, 1-4 in the Southwest Conference) has beaten Texas (5-1, 3-0) three of the last four times they met, including the last two.

Last year, Texas Tech turned a third-and-26 late in the fourth quarter into a 65-yard touchdown pass from Jamie Gill to Anthony Manyweather to give Tech a 24-17 victory in Austin.

The Longhorns, who were 4-2 heading into last year's game, snapped after the defeat, losing four of their last five games.

This year, the Longhorns have an inside track to the Cotton Bowl.

"The road to the Cotton bowl goes through Lubbock and they have to win here if they want to get there," Dykes said. "It's a very important game for them."

Texas will be the fifth Top 25 team to tangle with the Red Raiders this year.

"Our team believes they can win this game," Dykes said. "They are not going around beating their chest, but there is a sense of opportunity there. I don't think we are in the tank, just destitute and calling it quits."

Dykes said Tech will have to play a perfect game to beat the Longhorns, who have beaten Arkansas, Rice and Southern Methodist in conference play.

"When you lose a couple of games in a row, if you're not careful you lose a little sparkle in your eyes and that's the thing we can't afford," Dykes said. "If we don't play well, we won't have a chance. It will be just like last week because Texas has great players."

Dykes said Tech's defense will have to slow down an array of running backs, including Phil Brown and freshman Butch Hadnot, who verbally committed to play for Tech last year, but then enrolled at Texas.

The Longhorns' defense, which ranks first in the SWC, giving up an average of 290 yards, is a grave concern, Dykes said.

"They have got mobility, agility and they have got hostility," Dykes said. "They have got all the 'ilities' you can come up with and they do a darn good job of using them."

Texas Tech is still trying to find its way out of the wreckage wrought by the Hurricanes of Miami last week.

The Red Raiders gave up 563 yards to Miami's typhoon-like offense and the Hurricanes' swarming defense mugged Tech quarterbacks for 10 sacks en route to a 45-10 blowout.

"The thing we can't do is give up the ship," Dykes said. "Miami might have made us tread a little water, but it's still afloat."

Dykes said his team escaped injury against Miami and should be at 100 percent this week.

Kickoff is at 12:06 p.m. CDT, televised regionally by Raycom Sports. A sellout crowd of around 50,000 is expected.

'Horns wary of visiting Lubbock

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas Longhorns don't have time to fret their fall in the rankings. They've got their nemesis Texas Tech up next, and things haven't exactly gone well against the Red Raiders lately.

Texas has lost three times to the Red Raiders since 1986, including two straight.

The Longhorns fell one place in The Associated Press college football poll, to No. 14, Monday even they crushed Southern Methodist 52-3 on Saturday. Unranked Tech lost to No. 8 Miami, 45-10.

The Texas-Texas Tech kickoff is at 12:06 p.m. CDT, at Lubbock, regionally televised by Raycom

PITTSBURGH (AP) - The Pittsburgh Steelers shook the rust off the Steel Curtain and put on such a hit show you've had sworn that Jack Lambert and Mean Joe Greene had choreographed it.

Was that Greg Lloyd putting a hit on the Los Angeles Rams, or Jack Ham? That couldn't have been Rod Woodson and Thomas Everett leveling those receivers; it had to be Mel Blount, right?

And Tyrone Stowe. Tyrone Stowe? Surely, that was Lambert himself, missing teeth and all.

Actually, the only thing missing in action was the Rams' offense, the victim of a physical pounding by a Steelers' defense the likes of which Pittsburgh hasn't seen ...well, since its last Super Bowl team of 11 years ago.

Gary Anderson kicked two field goals, but that wasn't all the Steelers kicked.

"I think it was pretty obvious we got ...kicked pretty good," Rams quarterback Jim Everett said after the Steelers beat the Rams 41-10 Monday night.

"I think we showed some people we can hit. I know they knew they were getting hit," Lloyd said. "You could see it in their running backs. They're supposed to run north and south, but they started running east and west, and they still didn't have anywhere to run."

Or to hide.

As the Steelers (4-4) continued to shake off their dreadful early-season scoring slump, when their offense didn't produce a touchdown for four games, the Rams (2-5) slipped deeper into what coach John Robinson previously called "the fog" of a 1-4 start.

The Rams got a one-game reprieve with last week's 44-24 romp over Atlanta, but not even Gaston Green's game-opening 100-yard kickoff return made any difference on a night the Steelers seemed determined to pay tribute to their great defenses of days gone by.

The NFL's top-ranked defensive secondary, which has allowed just one quarterback to throw for more than 200 yards, intercepted Everett twice and held him to 15 completions in 34 attempts for 176 yards.

Flipper Anderson, averaging nearly 25 yards a catch, had one for 12 yards. The Rams' running game ran aground, managing 44 yards on 23 attempts.

Cornerback David Johnson intercepted Everett late in the first quarter, and Bobby Brister hit rookie tight end Eric Green for a 17-yard touchdown on the very next play for a 14-7 lead the Steelers never lost.

Merril Hoge scored the second of his three touchdowns three plays later, making it 27-10.

Call Janey Allmon at the Hereford Brand, 364-2030, or come by 313 N. Lee to place your classified advertising.
We reach thousands everyday!

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 14 cents a word for first insertion ($2.80 minimum), and 10 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy charge, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	14	2.80
2 days per word	34	4.80
3 days per word	44	6.80
4 days per word	54	8.80
5 days per word	64	10.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $3.80.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid-word lines-those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $3.95 per column inch; $3.25 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

TV exports could bring jobs to U.S.

Some of the news from the entertainment industry is far from amusing these days. Although television programming is America's third largest export, more and more foreign-owned media conglomerates are gobbling up our production studios. Fortunately, there may be a way we can change all that.
According to some it's outdated government regulations that keep U.S. networks from competing effectively. These Financial Interest and Syndication Rules of 1970 were developed based on a view of the television marketplace in which the combined strength of the networks was perceived to threaten the competitive position of small, independent producers.
The Rules prohibit the networks from making efficient financial investment in the programs they broadcast. Today, given the phenomenal growth of independent stations, cable, first-run syndication, pay-per-view and other program buyers, that view of the marketplace is completely out of date.

If these Rules are repealed, the major networks can freely participate in the future of this nation's entertainment industry. The stronger we keep U.S. competitors, the more jobs we're likely to keep in the U.S.
People concerned about employment, for themselves or in general, are asking their legislators to get to work on this problem. Anyone can write Congress on either side of this or any issue at the U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510 and the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.

TREES AND NUTRIENTS

ATLANTA (AP)—The daily meal of nutrients absorbed by most trees is five times the amount of water an average person drains from his faucet each day.
A 40-foot tree can collect 50 gallons of dissolved minerals daily from the soil, according to Georgia-Pacific Corp., a forest products company.
Microscopic feeder roots absorb the nutrients, which are transported to the trunk by larger roots.

Postman can be lifesavers

Through a cooperative effort between the Postal Service and local sponsoring agencies, you can arrange to have your carrier watch for an accumulation of mail in your mailbox which could indicate a problem.
This is how the program works. When your name is given to the Post Office by a local sponsoring agency, a decal is placed in your mailbox as a signal to the letter carrier serving your route. The carrier then will be alert to an accumulation of mail which might signify a sudden illness or accident.
Through locally developed procedures, the accumulation will be reported to the social service agency for follow-up action.
Carrier Alert is a free service developed especially for elderly and homebound individuals who may have difficulty calling for help in the event of an accident or sudden illness.

Hints from Heloise

Q. Sometimes when I paint my fingernails I accidentally knock the bottle over and spill the contents on the table. What a mess! Any ideas on how to prevent this nuisance? — Jane Anderson, Wilmington, Del.

A. The easiest way is to set the bottle on a scrap of heavy paper or a piece of cardboard. Put a droplet of polish on the paper and place the bottom of the bottle over it. It will adhere to the bottle and make tipping it over almost impossible. When you are finished, simply remove the bottle with a drop or two of polish remover or leave it on its sturdy base. — Heloise

PET POINTER
Dear Heloise: Our 90-pound Alaskan malamute needed a place to have her puppies. The readymade crates at pet stores were too small and too expensive. Then I decided to use a child's small plastic swimming pool.
It worked perfectly because it was easy to clean and had no sharp edges. The sides were low enough for the dog to step over and it had a nice pebbled surface for good traction. — Jean Eisenhower, Burke, Va.

WHEN TO SALT
Q. My mother taught me that if I salted food before cooking instead of at the table I would use less salt. Recently my neighbor and I had a discussion. She said if I salted food at the table instead of when cooking, I would use less salt. Which way is right? — Donna and Diana, Monterey, Calif.

A. Salting food at the table is probably better. During the cooking process, the salt is absorbed by the food and may lead you to add more salt at the dinner table.
And don't forget to taste food at least twice before salting! — Heloise

Dear Readers: No, it's not too soon to start thinking about holiday cooking. Why not begin with my pamphlet, Heloise's New Holiday Recipe Collection, which you can order for $2 from Heloise/Holiday, P.O. Box 836, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9910. Include a stamped (45 cents), self-addressed, legal-sized envelope. — Heloise

RECYCLING DRY-CLEANING BAGS
Dear Heloise: I reuse the clear plastic bags that dry cleaning is returned in by tying a knot in the end and turning the bag inside out, to fit a tall kitchen trash container.
After putting it in the container, I put a paper grocery bag inside to prevent the trash from tearing the plastic. — Michael Motto, Columbus, Ohio

Americans make millions from recycling aluminum

If you take the time to recycle aluminum cans, you're not alone. Americans recycled nearly 61 percent of all aluminum beverage cans produced in 1989, returning 49 billion cans and earning $900 million.

As consumers become more environmentally aware and municipalities turn to recycling as a vital component of their solid waste management schemes, that record rate should only continue to grow.

"Municipal officials are learning now what ten million regular aluminum can recyclers have known for years—aluminum cans are too valuable to throw away," said George Cobb, president of Alcoa Recycling Company.

"Folks have been recycling aluminum cans with Alcoa for 20 years. While disposal concerns are intensifying, a recent Alcoa survey found six in ten people still recycle aluminum cans for cash," Cobb said. For thousands of schools, churches, non-profit groups and companies, recycling is a large part of their fund-raising activities. For example:

*Across the country, the Aluminum Cans for Burned Children (ACBC) programs have raised $1.2 million by recycling aluminum beverage cans with the help of such companies as Procter & Gamble, Coca-Cola Company, Duquesne Light and New Jersey International Bulk Mail.

*In Erie, Pennsylvania, members of Belle Valley Presbyterian Church have raised around $9,000 in the last three years through aluminum can recycling. The can collections are helping to fund the $100,000 renovation of their 150-year-old church.

*Students at White County Middle School in Cleveland, Georgia recycle aluminum cans to fund the purchase of library books, computers, videos and films.

In cities throughout the nation, municipalities are responding to laws requiring big cuts in solid waste streams with recycling programs.

In both curbside pick-up and convenient drop-off programs, the aluminum can is included in almost every effort. "Aluminum cans are included because of their value, not their volume. They make up only 0.5 percent of the waste stream. However, aluminum cans often generate more than half the revenue earned by municipal recycling programs," Cobb explained.

In Rumson, New Jersey, aluminum can recycling contributed 73 percent to the program's revenues but constituted only two percent of the program's volume.

Over the past ten years over 12 billion pounds of aluminum cans have been diverted from landfills. Aluminum recycling also conserves energy and precious natural resources.

"Today, we understand our responsibility to the world," Cobb said. "We know that recycling is not just a good thing to do, it's something we must do, for ourselves and our future."

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: The doctors tell me I have Meniere's disease. I've been tested by an audiologist and the tests give very bad reports. They had me on various medicines which slows the spells down, but the medications do not stop them. I have dizziness, am sick to my stomach, feel that I'm going to pass out and can't walk straight. I can't hear out of my right ear. That is the one that is affected.

The doctor did a decompression of the sac. It lasted for a little over a year, but the attacks returned. If I miss my medicine I can't stand it. Now the doctors are discussing more surgery. Do you have any information on this problem you could send me?

DEAR READER: Meniere's disease does cause all the things you describe, plus ear noise (tinnitus). In most cases, especially in the beginning, only one ear is involved. The attacks may be infrequent with years between them, or only a few months, or in severe cases even every day.

The disease is also called endolymphatic hydrops because it is caused by increased pressure inside the labyrinth which includes the balance canals. The pressure is caused by a buildup of endolymphatic fluid. That fluid in the labyrinth moves when you move and is important in a person's normal balance mechanism. No one knows why there is an increase in endolymphatic fluid. But the operation you spoke of is done in some cases to relieve the pressure and, of course, the attacks.

The labyrinth not only consists of the three balance canals in the internal ear, but includes the cochlea, the snail-shaped hearing organ of the internal ear. It, too, is affected by the increased pressure. That is how it produces the low buzzing sound—or during an attack a more high-pitched sound. That is also why it affects hearing. Eventually, if the condition is not controlled, it can cause severe hearing loss in the affected ear or actual deafness.

I have provided more information in Special Report 110, Dizziness, Balance, Vertigo, Motion Sickness, which I am sending you. Others who want this report can send $2 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/110, P.O. Box 787, Gibbstown, NJ 08027-9908. The antihistamine-motion sickness medications are often prescribed to help control the vertigo. Diuretics are used, hopefully to help eliminate fluid and decrease the endolymphatic pressure, and that is also why salt should be avoided.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am curious about Reiter's syndrome. I was told I have it, and it's a young man's disease. I have inflammation in the lower back and hips. It's very painful. I am over 60 years old.

DEAR READER: It is a disease characterized by urethritis (inflammation of the urethra), conjunctivitis and arthritis. It occurs in individuals who have the genes that make them susceptible to this complication of an infection. If you don't have the genes, you don't get Reiter's syndrome.

While several sexually transmitted infections, such as Chlamydia and mycoplasma, may be the cause of the infection, it can also occur after certain forms of dysentery and perhaps other diseases. It does affect women as well as men. It may be missed in women as they are less likely to have symptoms from the urethritis. The sacroiliac joint involvement is common. If there is no active infection present, then it must be managed like arthritis. Attacks of arthritis may persist long after the initial infection has been eradicated.

Holiday bazaar planned

The public is invited to attend the annual Holiday Arts and Craft Bazaar, Nov. 18, at Nazareth school cafeteria.

Booth space will be 8x10. Rental fee for a single booth will be $15 with one table and two chairs provided. Please state if you are using your own display racks etc. Booths will be assigned on a first come basis. Please state if preference is wall or center booth. Rental fee must be paid in order to hold a booth. Make checks payable to Nazareth Art Club. Last day to reserve a booth will be Saturday, Nov. 10.

The cafeteria will be open at 8 a.m. on Sunday, Nov. 18, for set-up time. Please include information as to what will be in your booth.

For more information contact Lucille Drerup, P.O. Box 3, Nazareth, Texas, 79063--806-945-2562--or Rose Mary Wilhelm, HCR 2 Box 15, Nazareth, Texas, 79063--806-945-2583.

While in Nazareth plan to attend the Turkey dinner that will be served from 11:30 a.m.-2 p.m. in the Community Hall sponsored by the Christian Mother Society.

Public support for cancer research brings progress

Today, 50 percent of people diagnosed with cancer will live five years or more. Cures for many types of cancer have been found—and many more may be found in the near future—thanks to the support of thousands of concerned Americans who have donated money to life saving research.

The most exciting area of cancer research in the 1990s, such as drug resistance, gene therapy, and nutrition, are in desperate need of funding, says the American Cancer Society. Since 1945, that organization has invested over $1 billion in research, in addition to providing services for families whose lives have been touched by cancer, and offering education and information to the public on such topics as early detection and cancer prevention (as many as two-thirds of cancer deaths might be prevented if everything we already know was applied universally.)

The Society's research program is the largest source of private cancer research funds in the United States and is second in size only to the Federal government's cancer research program.

The research program relies entirely on public funds—the Society does not accept any money from the government—and is very efficiently administered, with only five percent of the entire research grant program going toward administrative cost.

Even though the amount of research dollars the American Cancer Society gives to research has increased over the past decade, the percentage of grants funded has actually decreased from 31.3 percent in 1980 to 24.5 percent in 1990.

There is a need now, more than ever, to fund research, to reap the clinical benefits from the current laboratory research.

Those who donate to the Society know its research dollars go to cancer experts in institutions around the country.

By placing the money where it's most likely to get results, the American Cancer Society ensures the public's dollars are spent wisely. The quality of its research is unsurpassed—the researchers supported by the Society regularly win prestigious research awards given by other organizations, including the General Motors awards, the Lasker awards, and Noble prizes.

The last 20 years have shown us the doors we must open to fight cancer effectively, say Society researchers. We now know where to look, but the promise might go unfulfilled—without the help of concerned Americans. The Society says: "We can't stop now, and with your help, we won't have to."

Allergies: what you should know

What causes the sneezing, itchy eyes and other symptoms of allergic rhinitis, a condition known to most of us as hay fever? Medical experts report they occur when a sensitive person inhales an allergy-causing substance (called an allergen) such as ragweed pollen, and the body's immune system reacts abnormally with the allergen.

According to a recent survey, about 41 million Americans suffer from some upper respiratory allergy.

You may have allergic rhinitis if you sneeze a lot, often in rapid succession; your nose is runny, congested or stuffy; you're bothered by itching of the nose, eyes, throat or roof of the mouth; and you get sinus headaches.

Fortunately, doctors have a medication that relieves the symptoms of allergic rhinitis, but doesn't sedate or cause drowsiness like some of the older antihistamines. This medication, Seldane, has been available for the last five years. Ask your doctor about it.

Some people who are allergic to ragweed, are also allergic to dust. This means they may suffer from allergy symptoms all year long.

On average, Salt Lake City, Utah gets 17 inches more snow a year than Fairbanks, Alaska.

Cholesterol screening planned

The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold a cholesterol screening at the Health Fair to be held today at the Hereford Community Center.

The cost of the screening will be $6. The Lubbock Chapter will furnish the equipment and staff members to help with the screening. Information on safety, HIV/AIDS and safety seats for children will be available.

The public is invited to attend the Crimestoppers Halloween Carnival at the Bull Barn from 5 p.m.-8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 31. The Red Cross will have a booth featuring the wheel of misfortune.

The Red Cross has several videos on HIV/AIDS. The newest is "Mi Hermano, a 28 minute drama about the impact of AIDS on a family, is in Spanish. Call the office for more information about AIDS or to schedule a program.

According to American essayist and poet Ralph Waldo Emerson, "Most of the shadows of this life are caused by standing in our own sunshine."
