1st United Fund Drive To Begin Here Monday

Dan Eddy, the man who organized Deaf Smith County's first United Fund Drive, will speak at a kick-off coffee for the drive at 10 a.m. Monday in the Hotel Jim Hill ballroom.

The public has been invited to the coffee. About 400 United Fund officials, workers and interested persons are expected to attend.

DAN EDDY

THE FUND DRIVE will last through Friday, seeking a goal of $21,795. Nine organizations are participating in the drive.

Eddy is director of public relations and campaigns for the Texas division of the Salvation Army. He has directed or supervised more than 600 financial campaigns and has aided in the organization of 89 Community Chests and United Funds.

He holds several awards, including the "Man of the Year for 1954" by the Dallas Jaycees and was chosen as one of five "Outstanding Young Texans in 1955" by the Texas Jaycees.

He held two organizational meetings of the Deaf Smith United Fund in April of this year. The civic affairs committee of the chamber of commerce sponsored the beginning of the United Fund here.

ORGANIZATIONS participating are the Camp Fire Girls, Boy Scouts, Red Cross, Little League, Athletic Club, Pony League, Heart Fund, Salvation Army and USO. Funds collected will be for the 1958 budgets of these groups.

Progress of the United Fund will be recorded on a 16-foot tall thermometer placed on the First National Bank building at Third and Main.

General campaign chairman Woody Wilson said $2,794 had been received in advance gifts as of Saturday morning.

Wilson urged all contributors to wear their buttons all next week. Members of the campaign committee will be in both the First National and Hereford State banks Wednesday, Thursday and Friday to accept donations.

One farmer, finding himself short of ready cash, gave the drive six full-grown steers. Wilson said the steers will be sold and should net the drive between $500 and $600.

Wilson urged all officials and block chairmen to be present at the kick-off coffee Monday morning.

Illness Fatal for Albert Zinser, 70

Albert Zinser, 70, of Hereford died Friday afternoon at Scott and White Clinic in Temple. Funeral Services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Mr. Zinser had been ill for about two months and was taken to Temple four weeks ago for treatment. He was a retired wheat farmer.

Mr. Zinser had lived in Hereford since 1914.

Survivors include a brother, Frank B. Zinser Sr., of Hereford and two sisters, Mrs. Millie Gravin of Toledo, Ohio, and Mrs. Rose Nolan of Deshler, Ohio.

Survey Report Is Received by Local Trustees

AFTER HEARING a preliminary report on Hereford's school expansion department, the Hereford Rural High School board Thursday night postponed expansion action until Dr. Wallace can deliver a complete report.

Telling the board, which met in a special session, he needed more time before making concrete recommendations. Dr. Wallace agreed to make his final report sometime in November.

The board had authorized Dr. Wallace to make a survey of Hereford's school needs, both immediate and long-range. Working from data supplied by the board last month, the educator made tentative recommendations to the board:

1. The schools and city should cooperate closely and share prime space.
2. The most immediate problem to relieve is the pressure of added students in both junior and senior highs.
3. The safest and most economical immediate expansion is expansion of the present high school building. Also, Hereford is very near a need to expand elementary schools.
4. Begin to think now of building small elementary school units that can be expanded as needed.
5. Consider possibility of a "cafeteria" (combination auditorium and cafeteria), shops and administrative offices built near the high school to provide more classroom space in the building.
6. Look at potential building sites in various parts of town and consider locations of new schools that will be needed with next 20 years.
7. A bigger, new high school in the near future.

Superintendent Fred Cunningham said expansion of the high school would forego converting to a 6-3-3 grade system in Hereford for six or seven years. The 6-3-3 system has six grades in elementary school, three in junior high and three in senior high. Hereford now has a 6-2-4 system.

Speaking in long-range terms, Dr. Wallace told the board indications point toward Hereford growing to the northwest and northeast and then come together in the north.

DR. WALLACE told the board: "If the enrollment continues at its present tempo, and it probably will grow faster, Hereford will have 2,300 in its elementary schools by 1962, compared to 1,499 now. You will need five elementary schools instead of three by that time.

"In five years you'll have 800 in junior high and 750 in senior high, instead of 380 and 620 you have now.

"By 1967, there will be 3,000 elementary students, 1,100 junior high students and 900 to 1,000 in senior high. These are conservative estimates. In 10 years (Continued On Page 2)

Farm Bureau Has a Lively Session

"Little but lively" is the way an official described the annual convention of the Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau here last Saturday night. While only about 30 of the 515 dues-paying members attended, that group debated and ultimately approved 26 resolutions.

The resolutions deal with subjects ranging from endorsement of a National Right-To-Work Law, to encouragement and aid for farm youth in 4-H, Future Farmer and Future Homememaker programs. Not all of the resolutions were adopted by unanimous vote.

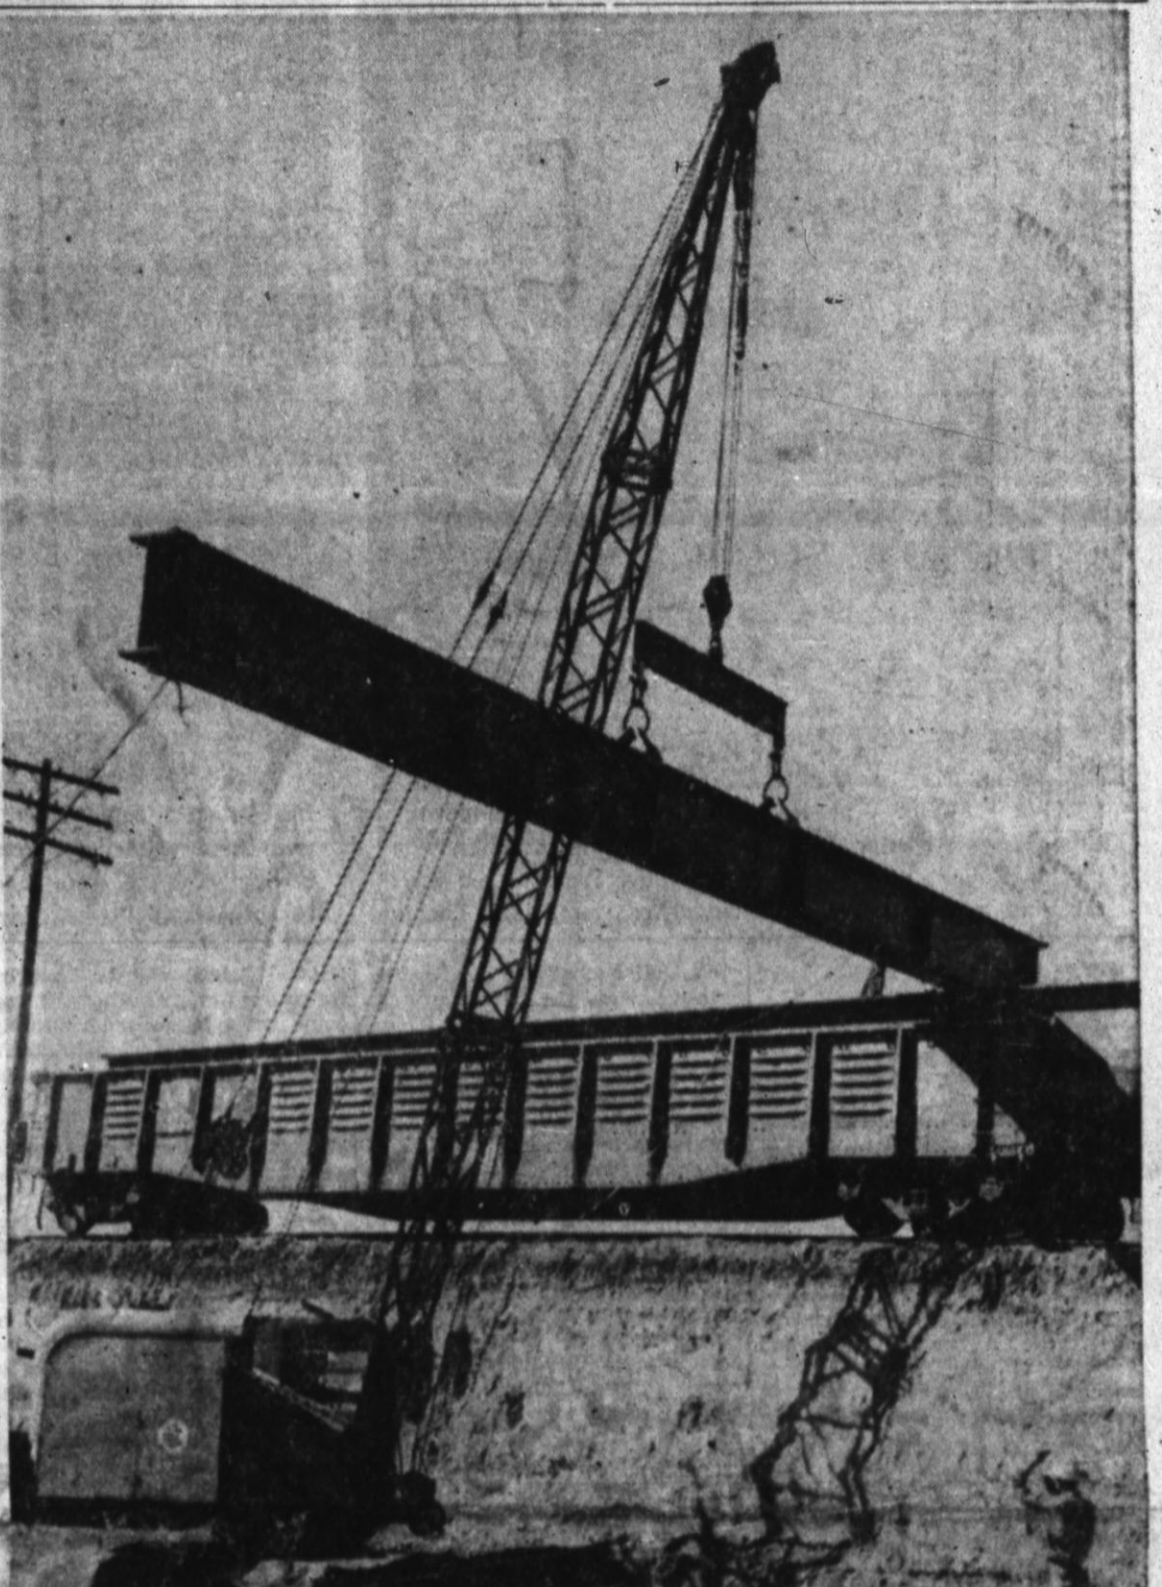

Ed Dziuk Jr. presided over the meeting, which also saw the election of five new directors: Merlin Kaul, E. O. Dixon, Ervin Reeves, Grant Hanna and Tandy Legg.

SHOWING a keen interest not only in national and state issues, but in local government affairs as well, the convention brought the initiation of plans to have representatives at school board, county commission and chamber of commerce meetings in 1958.

The group approved a resolution "that the Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau recognize and encourage the Grain Sorghum Producers Assn., particularly in Deaf Smith County, and support and assist said organization in any way feasible and possible." And also asked that the Texas Farm Bureau favor feed grain price supports at 95 percent pound for pound of the support price of non-commercial corn.

The local stands taken will be submitted for consideration of other county delegates to a district meeting in the near future, before the state organization's program is shaped in a Texas-wide convention.

THE DEAF SMITH group will promote acceptance by the state Farm Bureau of a resolution calling for "legislation to keep mineral rights with land" . . . and the listing on tax rolls of all non-productive mineral interest now separated from the land and taxation of (Continued On Page 5)

Forty of the beams will be used on the underpass to support the railroad overhead. Fourteen of the beams arrived in Hereford Thursday and 11 had been installed before bad weather hit Friday. The other 26 are due this week. Highway Department men hope to complete the underpass by Jan. 1. (Staff Photo)

Round Two in the "Saga of Precinct One's New Grader." The new machine's motor went out three hours after it was delivered Thursday afternoon, according to Commissioner Charlie Sowell — he had wanted another "brand" in the first place, but other members of the court "bought" it for his precinct's use. "The company got its salesman and a mechanic out the right way. They have delivered and are assembling a second new one for us right now," he quipped Saturday morning.

The wet weather has delayed work on the Municipal Airport, reports City Manager Dudley Bayne. "We'll get a good all-weather landing strip down, caliche base and primer coats, but asphalt topping of the runway will be postponed until spring," he said. First installment of federal funds to match the $100,000 the city has invested in the project is expected this week.

Tax Saving, Deep Well Test Proposed

A plan and a proposal, both requiring the cooperation of farmers and other individuals in the Hereford area and both pointing toward the future of the region, were outlined last week by Virgil Dodson, director of the High Plains Water District.

The most immediately important is a plan pointing toward extensive tax savings for irrigation farmers. As Dodson explains it: "The High Plains Water District for several years has been attempting to obtain a depletion allowance on income from deep well irrigation."

"RECENTLY DISTRICT officials have obtained some assurance of a favorable ruling from the Bureau of Internal Revenue on a test case involving Marvin Shurbet of Petersburg, who as district president served as a 'guinea pig' in submitting a resource-depletion case to the Washington bureau. "But the commissioner of Internal Revenue has advised us to submit additional information in order to establish a case that can be applicable to all irrigation farmers."

and records of wells where extensive declines in the water table have been observed. This information is needed to prove that our water is actually being depleted and is expected to obtain a blanket ruling on depletion allowances from the Bureau of Internal Revenue."

Dodson asks that persons with the information needed by the district contact him at the Tierra Blanca Motel or leave their name (Continued On Page 2)

BROWN SUPPLIES SPARK

Herd Defeats Clovis

Making the best of their breaks, the Hereford Whitefaces sent little Robert Brown over for his second touchdown of the night with 58 seconds left in the game to defeat the Clovis Wildcats, 12-7, here Friday night before about 800 very old fans.

Brown, an offensive starter for the first time this season, played at both left half and fullback and provided the spark necessary for the Whitefaces to come from behind for the non-conference victory.

Fumbles played a big part in the game which was played on a muddy field and in sub-freezing temperatures. Hereford lost the ball five times on fumbles and Clovis four times.

recovered fumble. Clovis recovered a fumble by James Teas on the Clovis 49 late in the first period and covered in distance in 12 plays with quarterback Clay Porterfield sweeping left end on a keeper for 9 yards and the tally. Halfback Thomas Rials dived in for the extra point and the Wildcats led 7-0 with 10:16 left in the half.

A weird series followed the kickoff with Hereford trying to punt and winding up with a touchdown.

After taking the kickoff, Hereford was stalled on its 42 with fourth down and four to go. Halfback Jim Curtisinger boomed a deep punt to the Clovis 23 and safety man Tommy Watson fumbled and Hereford recovered. The ball was called back and the Whitefaces were penalized 5 yards for offense. Again Curtisinger kicked high and deep. Watson caught the ball and returned it to the Clovis 30. A flag was down and the ball came back and Hereford was penalized another 5 yards, offense.

CURTISINGER booted again. Porterfield signaled a fair catch on the Clovis 34 but dropped the ball. Brown pounced on it for Hereford.

On the first play from scrimmage Brown bolted over left guard and raced 34 yards for a touchdown with 7:54 left on the clock. Bobby Burrus attempted to kick the point but it was blocked.

First Frost Nips at Area's Crops; Harvest Delayed

The first killing frost of the season settled over the Hereford area Friday night. The thermometer dropped to 30 degrees, its first trip below freezing this season.

A bit overdue — the average date for frost here is Oct. 1 — the coming of low temperatures was signalled by big, fat snow flakes that drifted down but melted as they fell on Friday morning. The snow, coupled with rain added 23 to the week's total which had mounted to 70 after rains fell on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Farmers weren't overly concerned about damage that may have occurred from the below freezing temperatures, with some late cotton expected to be the only crop (Continued on page 2)

VANDALS HAVE BUSY NIGHT DURING GAME

Burglary and vandalism accompanied the Hereford High School-Clovis football game here Friday night.

Someone forced his way into the high school building after 11 p.m. Friday and smashed into the principal's office, the superintendent's office, the counselor's office and the library, taking $94 in cash from a filing cabinet.

Desk drawers and cabinet drawers had been forced open in all the offices. Entry was gained by breaking the glass panels in each office door. The east door to the building was forced open. Change and checks were scattered about in the principal's office.

Ivan Block, 313 Ave. J, reported to city police that his car radio's aerial had been stolen while he was at the game and Bartley Dowell, 131 Ave. A, reported a broken car windshield and radio aerial.

Water...

at the Farm Bureau office. Pointing toward the continued use of irrigation water in the area, Water District officials are expressing interest in a deep well test in the Hereford area to determine whether water suitable for irrigation is to be found at depths below the Ogallala sands formation.

TO FURTHER explore the possibilities of a "new" water said reported to exist in the Triassic redbeds, an 800-foot test well was completed near Petersburg on Aug. 31. W. L. Broadhurst, district hydrologist said that the test revealed the static water level stood 290 feet below the land surface; with a pumping level of 480 feet the well produced only 73 gallons of water a minute; the water was too salty for irrigation.

"As pointed out by Marvin Shurbet, district president (on whose land the test took place), this test does not condemn the entire region because we know that in some areas fresh water in sufficient volume for irrigation and municipal uses is being obtained from sands in the Triassic rocks," Broadhurst said. Dodson said that it is hoped that a similar test can be conducted in the Hereford area.

"We would like to obtain the cooperation of someone who is planning to dig a well in a proven area. Then through the cooperation of other interested firms and persons, such as the utility companies, a driller and pipe company, we would like to have the well drilled on into the redbeds. The Ogallala formation would be temporarily sealed off to prevent water from its level entering the casing in the redbeds.

"AFTER THE deep test is completed, the well could be plugged back to the Ogallala formation and used as a regular irrigation well," Dodson said.

"Broadhurst and other Water District specialists would be available to evaluate the findings of any such deep test that might be arranged in the area," he added.

As for the tax deduction for the depletion of underground water, this is the stand taken by the Water District, as outlined in its monthly publication, The Cross Section:

"The District contends that the water which underlies an irrigated farm in the High Plains is at least as valuable as the farmland itself. The underground water then has a definite monetary value. Couple this fact with the evidence that the underground water reservoir is being mined of its water by pumping, in a similar manner to an oil reservoir being mined, and a definite basis for a depletion allowance is forthcoming.

"IF IT IS ASSUMED that land prices and farm crop prices stay about the same as they now are, then it is reasonable to also assume that a farm which is now irrigated will not be as valuable when the underground water is depleted. Also, the same farm will not produce the income that it now does.

"The above facts being true should be sufficient evidence for including the High Plains' underground water in the category with other depletable natural resources of our nation.

"The Internal Revenue people have indicated that their own investigations substantiate every contention that the Water District makes. The lack of a workable formula for the individual to use in taking a depletion allowance and other minor administrative problems are reasons given for not allowing the deduction at the present time.

"The tax deduction would not be unfair to others as a special favor to only the High Plains residents, but would apply to all areas where the High Plains circumstances are duplicated. No one wants special treatment or a ruling that is not deserved, but if our area does have a legitimate claim to an income tax deduction for the depletion of water resources which it can not now legally claim, then certainly we are in order to ask for our just deserts.

"It is the belief of the District's board of Directors that through continued efforts it will be possible to work out a favorable ruling by the Internal Revenue Commission."

School...

Hereford will need seven elementary schools, another or a new junior high and a new high school.

"I believe there will be some growth to the west of Highway 51, but growth south and southeast seems to be stymied.

"I am convinced business will follow the growth and property on 51 and Park Ave. will become too valuable for residences or schools.

"START THINKING of where these new schools will be put.

Central School will be kept busy for some time, but it will need some relief in the near future.

"Whatever you do now on expansion should be done on immediate needs and what may develop seven-eight years from now. Build schools flexible and convertible.

"I think you should consider eventually converting this (high school) building into a junior high and building a new high school," Dr. Wallace said.

"The present junior high will be subject to increasing traffic and may be surrounded by business property. The building is old and in good shape, but it could deteriorate fast," he added.

"Don't let the long range look discourage you. It won't be much worse next year, but you need to plan so you won't be uncomfortable three years hence. Look at all the possibilities for the future and you'll come up with the right answer," he said.

After making these remarks, Dr. Wallace answered various questions by the board and Cunningham.

IT WAS POINTED out that six classrooms to handle 180 more students could be acquired by moving the homemaking unit, the administrative offices out into a new unit and eliminating the study hall.

"A study hall is a thing of the past and just isn't needed any more," Dr. Wallace said.

"It's clear in my mind where you should build, but not what you should build. I would like more time to study that. The pressure of more students is yet to come.

"If you're going to expand, find where the pressure is greater and be ready to meet it," he said.

The Tech man also said small "neighborhood primary units" might be considered and could be expanded as needed. He also said the athletic plant should be near the school for practical purposes. Hereford trustees have been considering locating an athletic plant on a site in the northwest part of town.

CUNNINGHAM told the group that outside space is now a severe problem around the high school with football practice, physical education and band practice all going on outside the building at the same time.

He said the various football teams sometimes have to work out on the playing field and that has damaged the turf.

After talking with the board for two hours, Dr. Wallace left.

In the discussion that followed, the board members discussed Wallace's points. They considered expanding the high school building and long-range plans for converting it into a junior high school.

"WE THOUGHT this school was good for 10 years, but we no sooner got it built, than it was full," board president Tom Robinson said.

Bert Boomer and Wilburn Axe said they would like to hear Wallace's complete report before making any definite decision on revamping the present high school building.

Boomer proposed a resolution to that effect and it was passed unanimously.

Cunningham contacted Dr. Wallace Friday morning and Wallace agreed to continue his survey and make a report next month. The next regular board meeting is Nov. 12, but Dr. Wallace said he couldn't be here for it. Another special session will be called.

Present at the meeting were Wallace, Cunningham, Boomer, Robinson, Axe, Ralph Hastings, Marcus Latham, Dub Hair, B. F. Cain, Fred Baird, George Muse, Jack Harris and a Brand reporter.

before the half ended, recovering a fumble on the Clovis 40 and driving to the 14 before losing the ball on downs. It was 7-6 at the half.

Late in the third period Curtisinger intercepted a Clovis pass on his own 48 and returned it to the Wildcat 25. Durward Jacobs, playing quarterback in the place of injured Fred Lookingbill, hit left end Leslie Sharp with a jump pass and Sharp drove to the 14.

LOOKINGBILL, running at left half, punched to the seven-yard line and Brown went to the five as the quarter ended. On the next play Clovis recovered a fumble on the four and punted out to the Clovis 47. On the first play Hereford fumbled the ball away, but stopped Clovis on the Hereford 34.

After gaining 10 yards, the Whitefaces again bobbled the ball away to Clovis. The defensive unit held the Wildcats to six yards in the four plays and Hereford took over on its 38 with 4:57 to go.

Six plays carried to the Clovis 41 but again the ball squirted loose and Clovis recovered.

The Wildcats finally returned the favor and fumbled the ball on their own 39 and Hereford took over with 2 1/2 minutes to play.

Curtisinger tossed a screen pass to Lookingbill for 11 yards and a first on the 28. Brown drove for four and then four again. Jacobs sneaked to the 20-yard line and one fourth down and one to go Curtisinger barreled around left end to the 10-yard line.

ON THE NEXT play Lookingbill, still at left half, took a hand-off from Jacobs and drove to about the five. As he was being hit, Lookingbill flipped the ball back to Brown and the fullback went it standing up with just 58 seconds remaining.

Curtisinger tried to sweep end for the point but was stopped short. It didn't matter as the Whitefaces stopped Clovis' desperation passes and took over the ball to run out time.

Hereford notched 14 first downs to Clovis' 12. Hereford completed 4 of 7 passes while Clovis hit 5 over 12. Hereford intercepted one pass.

Brown was Hereford's leading ground gainer with 95 yards in 19 carries while Curtisinger registered 52 in 10 tries.

Hereford has now won two, lost three and tied one. Both teams were hampered with colds and injuries. Clovis had nine squadden absent.

HEREFORD coach Jack Harris rotated his personnel, using three fullbacks, Brown, Teas and C. D. Fitzgerald. Brown also played at left half, along with Lookingbill. Jacobs played most of the game at quarterback, with Lookingbill at that post for three plays.

Jacobs is normally a left half but was switched to quarter after Lookingbill had rib cartilages torn against Plainview two weeks ago.

Harris said no serious injuries were received by any of his players. Guard Pete Plank had a bruised leg.

"We looked ragged in spots, but that was due to lineup changes and sickness," Harris said.

"Brown did a good job at both offense and defense and Jacobs did a fine job at quarterback, especially since he had only one week of practice," the coach added.

Harris said Lookingbill's ribs were not reinjured during the game and Fred should be ready for this week's contest with Littlefield in Hereford's first District 1-AAA game.

Littlefield defeated Phillips, 13-7, at Littlefield Friday in the conference opener for both clubs. Levelland lashed Dumas, 43-7, at Levelland in the other District 1-AAA game.

Levelland and Littlefield had been favored as the top contenders for the district title.

Hereford meets Littlefield in Whiteface Stadium at 8 p.m. Friday.

Harris said long and hard workouts are planned for this week in preparation for the Littlefield game.

Aikman P-TA Hears Civil Defense Talk

Safety and civil defense was the topic for the second meeting of the Aikman Elementary P-TA held in the Aikman auditorium Thursday.

Chief of Police Henry Aycock explained to the group what should and could be accomplished as well as plans already formulated for the protection of this area.

"We do have a Civil Defense plan for our city," said Chief Aycock and added his commendation to those who have taken the time and thought to make these plans.

"This plan, set up under a coordinator designated by the state, is planned in this manner.

"Assuming in the planning we are faced with the most extreme emergency, with the worst possible complications, you determine what equipment and supplies you need and from what sources they will be available.

"Your coordinator," explained the speaker, "is Captain Blackwell of Amarillo, your purpose is to return a disaster condition to normal and we must proceed in this manner:

"First, eliminate the danger. Maps are drawn, switches are plotted so that the electricity may be turned off in one portion of the city, without disrupting our entire source. Gas mains, sewage and water, to be handled in the same manner.

Second, evacuate the injured.

Third, evacuate the dead.

Fourth, protect exposed property.

"I'm amazed at the way people come into a disaster area and destroy such things of sentimental value, as pictures which can never be replaced and carry off more valuable objects.

"Fifth, notify the next of kin. Very important because of this," explained Chief Aycock "you must get all the information and be exact about it, in order to keep down undue anxiety. The newspaper and radio are highly commended for the part they play in this most important function.

"Sixth, survey the situation. Your emergency measures have been taken, now you may gather your forces, find what needs to be done, decide the best way to accomplish it and proceed.

"Your police and sheriff's departments are kept well alert on weather conditions," he assured the group and said, "police vehicles are always between you and the tornado."

4-H Awards Will Be Given Monday Night

The annual Deaf Smith County 4-H achievement program will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the Shirley Elementary School auditorium.

For the first time, the program will be held in the form of a banquet.

There will be at least 40 boys and girls receiving awards for outstanding work this year.

Outstanding award to be presented Monday night will be the Gold Star Award which will be given to a boy and a girl who have done the top work in 4-H in the Hereford area.

The awards program is a nation-wide practice and for each chapter of 4-H the world over a program of some type is given for these boys and girls.

Present at the banquet Monday night will be the members of the local 4-H chapters, their leaders, parents and friends of the family, according to Mrs. Dorothea Prowell who is in charge of the banquet.

CHANGE TO SHAMROCK 10 W-30 MOTOR OIL NOW AND PROTECT THE LIFE OF YOUR CAR'S ENGINE AND BATTERY

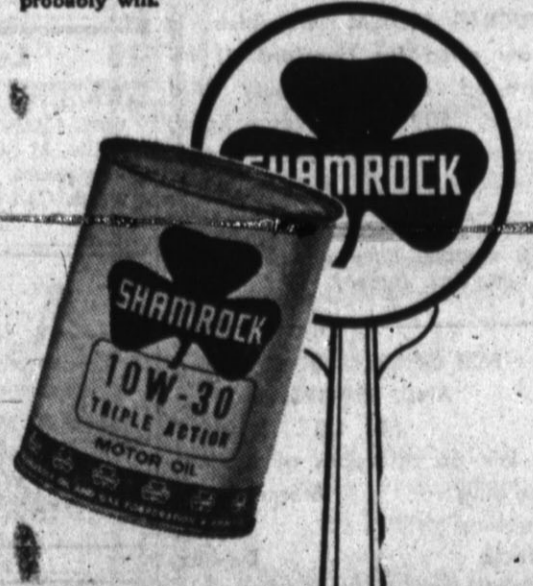

The development of Shamrock 10W-30 Motor Oil is based on the fact that the typical passenger car engine operates most of its useful life in the temperature zone between the cold start and normal operating temperatures.

All oils thicken as temperature decreases. The difference between Shamrock 10W-30 and conventional oil is that it thickens less at low temperature. The effect on your car's performance is important.

When you change to Shamrock 10W-30, the improvements you'll notice immediately are: (1) that even on the coldest mornings the engine starts over quickly and easily, and (2) a marked increase in gasoline mileage.

These advantages are the most obvious, but not necessarily the most important. Frictional wear in the engine takes place at a very high rate during the first few strokes when starting an engine with little or no lubricant on the cylinder walls. 10W-30 reduces this wear, flowing quickly . . . replenishing the oil film. At high temperatures a thicker lubricant does a better job of keeping metal surfaces apart. Accordingly, 10W-30 being thick at high temperatures gives your engine full protection at this end of the temperature range, too. With Shamrock 10W-30 in the crankcase you will: (1) extend the life of your car's engine, (2) extend the life of your battery, (3) increase gasoline mileage and (4) reduce the octane requirement. We don't claim miracles for it, but you probably will.

QUALITY YOU CAN MEASURE BY YOUR CAR'S PERFORMANCE

Symphony, Choir To Appear Nov. 12

A varied program will be provided by the Amarillo Symphony Orchestra and the Hereford High choir in the combined concert here Nov. 12 in the high school auditorium.

The program for the night was released this week by A. Clyde Roller, symphony conductor, and Don Moore, choir director.

Included in the concert will be Prelude to Act I of La Traviata by Verdi; Andante Cantabile from Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 5; To Thee We Sing, Nellie Bly, presented by the choir; Lacrymos from Mozart's Requiem; Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah; Prelude to Lohengrin, Wagner; Victor Herbert Favorites and selections from May Fair Lady, a Broadway musical.

The concert will be the first of the Community-School Concert Series. Other programs on the series are a high school band concert and a variety show.

Season tickets to the three programs are $3 for adults and $1.50 for students. A season ticket also allows the holder to attend one Amarillo Symphony concert in Amarillo.

Individual tickets to the symphony-choir program cost $2.50 for adults and $1 for students.

FAMILY AFFAIR
HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Howard went to court to seek an order to restrain eight of their in-laws from annoying them or making remarks about them in public.

Common Pleas Judge John W. Daniel entered an order in the case, prohibiting among other things, the use of strong language toward one another in public.

Gerry's Job: Raising Hungry Moth Larvae

MOOTH FOOD—Gerry Pickering, who raises moth larvae for the National Institute of Dry Cleaners, examines a swatch of cloth that has been treated with a mothproofing product and then exposed to moth larvae. This product obviously didn't work.

By JANE EADS WASHINGTON — While many of us are busy killing moth and carpet beetle larvae, Gerry Pickering is just as busy raising them.

Gerry doesn't like bugs any more than the next person, but her job depends on having enough of the hungry pests on hand, as technician for the National Institute of Dry Cleaners in nearby Silver Spring, Md., she uses the larvae to test mothproofing products and procedures for institute members. Gerry says there are only two ways to determine whether a member's product or procedure really works.

"One is to apply it to the customer's garments — then wait and hope," she says. "The other is to use our test service. It's obvious which is the surer way to avoid paying expensive claims."

Because everybody is busy killing moth and carpet beetle larvae Mrs. Pickering has had to raise her own experimental brood. She raises them in jars filled with a mixture of brewer's yeast and dog food. Gerry says the larvae thrive on dog food. They get so healthy they almost bark!

When the larvae get fat and hungry, she puts them in glass dishes where they can gnaw on swatches of fabric treated with a mothproofing product or process. Twenty-eight days later Gerry knows the answer.

"The proof of the mothproofing," says she, "is in the moth eating."

The institute tests annually all the mothproofing compounds sold to dry cleaners. Those that pass the tests are listed in an annual technical bulletin. The institute also sends its thousands of members a standard swatch, lets them mothproof it in their regular way and return it to the institute for testing. Each treated swatch plus an untreated one is put in a dish with 10 hungry larvae for the 28-day period. The laboratory performs more than 2,000 of these tests annually. "Sometimes we run out of larvae," says Gerry, "and have to buy them. They're tricky to raise and cost about a nickel each, and that's why we try to keep an adequate supply of them on hand."

How Can I? Q. How can I treat a rug that already has moths in it? A. Try covering with a wet towel then applying a hot iron until the towel is dry. This will kill both the moths and the eggs. The sprinkle with salt every week before sweeping. Q. How can I clean a sued jacket? A. It can be washed in warm water with pure soapsuds, in which one teaspoon of household ammonia is added to each gallon of water. Rinse lightly and stretch to the desired shape and size to dry.

OPEN HOUSE—Guests, about 200 of them, filed through the chow line last Saturday night at the Ford Grain Storage, Inc. open house. Operators of the new grain facility 20 miles north of Hereford were hosts for the occasion, held in their new 650,000 bushel bonded storage warehouse. (Staff Photo)

Gas Appliances Will Be on Sale Through Holidays

Plans for a holiday gas appliance promotion were outlined to dealers of Hereford, Friona, Bovina and Dimmitt by Bill McCarroll, advertising manager for Pioneer Natural Gas Company, at a recent dinner meeting in the ball room of the Jim Hill Hotel. Approximately 30 dealers received details of the company's dealer cooperative program as well as a preview of Pioneer newspaper advertising and point-of-purchase materials prepared for dealer use. Designed to stimulate sales of automatic gas ranges and automatic clothes dryers—two of the gas appliances rated highest in consumer acceptance—theme of the promotion proclaims these appliances as the ideal gift for husbands to give their wives, during the Holiday Season ahead. According to McCarroll, the promotion will commence Nov. 11 and continue to Christmas.

the mineral interest to the value of one-tenth of the assessed value of land.

Purpose of the legislation affecting mineral rights would be to keep mineral rights from being so attractive to settlers of farms and afford landowners a chance to buy mineral rights to the land they are occupying, said Ken Radd, secretary of the county Farm Bureau. State issues approved call for a revamping of laws regarding brand inspection and registration; oppose compulsory consolidation of schools; favor continuation of the present farm to market road program.

Other resolutions treated a variety of subjects, including expressions of opposition to federal aid for education and compulsory registration of firearms and ammunition.

Fairview Man Is Charged Here

Alonzo Messenger, 41, of Fairview, N. M., was charged with driving while intoxicated Friday night after his car collided with a parked auto owned by Charles Lehrer, 1183 Park Ave. The collision occurred in front of Lehrer's home. City police arrested Messenger. Damages were estimated at $185 to Messenger's car and $80 to Lehrer's vehicle.

To the blonde dancer who had just finished her act in the show, the rich young man said, deplorably, "Why does a beautiful, talented, and apparently educated girl like you have to dance in a sordid joint like this?" "Well," she answered, "I meet a great many more prominent young men here than I did when I was a public librarian."

"How did you stop your husband from staying out late?" Dora: "When he came home I called out, 'Is that you Joe?'" Flora: "How did that stop him?" Dora: "My husband's name is Max."

"MacPherson's a cheat and I'm not playing golf with him again." "How's that?" "Well, how could he find his lost ball a yard from the green when it was in my pocket?"

Officer: "Man pacing sidewalk at 3 a.m.: 'What are you doing here?'" Householder: "I forgot my key, officer, and I'm waiting for my children to come home and let me in."

HALLOWEEN is just around the corner with its usual offering of "Tricks and Treats." Out in Westway Community they are doing something about it, however, with a big, county-wide carnival. They will sell chili, hot dogs and other tidbits, along with a lot of entertainment. This sounds like a real good deal. Why not plan now to go out to Westway Halloween night? The affair gets underway at 7 p.m.

I got one of those "Wish You Were Here" cards from Grand Island, Nebraska, which is adjacent to some of the best pheasant hunting in the country. The card had pictures of pheasants. Someone, no doubt, is trying to make me feel bad. It wasn't signed, but I have my ideas about who sent it. I am not wishing all of the hunters bad luck, but if any of them have several flat tires, I sure hope it is Gene Moore, Dub Reeves, Otis Hall and Cameron Gault. It will serve them right.

THINGS LOOK GOOD down below the Caprock these days. Lots of cotton and some unusually good feed are to be seen in the Memphis-Wellington-Childress country. These folks have had it rough for several years, but seem to be in shape for an old-fashioned come back. I was down that way Thursday and could not help but contrast the improvement with recent years. Most of the people are complaining about the present fall of moisture which is keeping them out of the fields, but they are still grinning to themselves over the prospects.

Integration is due to swing away from the schools and concentrate on industry, according to recent reports in The Wall Street Journal. The NAACP, it seems, will concentrate on more government jobs, also more jobs in stores and factories in an effort to open up positions to which Negroes are on, however. It really might not make much difference if Mr. Benson did resign, but sounds like a good idea. Anyway, few people figure that the farmers plight would be any worse.

If you don't believe it frosted Friday night, then ask any of the Hereford twirlers. I don't see how they stand the cold weather. It must really be rough back in Minnesota and Michigan, but I notice they still have twirlers.

CLARENCE SCHULZ parked his boat beside his home on McKinley Ave. and the recent rains left some water in the boat. Saturday morning Clarence says he found a quarter of an inch of ice. This means that harvest will probably start rolling next week—and there will be a mad scramble all over this part of the country. Everybody is set and waiting, much like a sprinter on his mark and straining every nerve before the starting gun sounds. All we need is more sunshine. We will get it next week. That's an official prediction.

GASTON BAER got big hearted and sent me a copy of a Greek newspaper. Like Gaston, I couldn't make heads or tails out of the thing. After seeing it, though, I have a much deeper appreciation of the phrase, "It's all Greek to me."

Which for some reason reminds me, the Toastmaster's Club is on the verge of reading The Brand funny papers over KPAN in months to come. They taped a reading or two the other night—and are getting a big kick out of hearing the play-back. I haven't heard them, but everyone says they are really tops. Some of the boys are predicting that they will hold as many adults as children.

Halfback Don Scott plunged one foot for a touchdown with 15 seconds to play to give the Hereford freshman team a 6-6 tie with the Muleshoe frosh here Thursday night.
 The Hereford B team was downed by Muleshoe's Bees, 33-0, here in a contest following the freshman game. Carroll Shaw paced Muleshoe with three touchdowns.
 In the freshman game quarterback Jackie Sanders scored for Muleshoe on a five-yard plunge in the second quarter and the little Mules held the lead until Scott tied it up. The Hereford frosh drove to the Muleshoe five in the third period but couldn't score.
 The Muleshoe B team scored in the first and second quarters and three times in the fourth to hand Hereford its seventh straight defeat.

BONY BRIBE
 CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) - Cheyenne police suspect a thief used bones to break into a Cheyenne garage.
 The front door of the garage was pried open and $78 taken from the cash register.
 A usually reliable watch dog apparently had been bribed with the small pile of bones found in front of the door.

SPIRITS ROAM ON HALLOWEEN

HALLOWEEN, or Hallow-Even, is the evening of the 31st of October, which is the eve of All-Hallows, or All-Saints Day, Nov. 1. This was originally a pagan celebration, when in Thanksgiving for the harvest, the Druids of England held their autumn festival. Of all nights in the year this is the one when supernatural influences prevail and according to Druidic beliefs, the spirits of the dead wandered abroad, together with the witches, devils and mischief making elves, and it was also thought that in some cases the spirits of the living had the power to leave their bodies and join the ghostly crew.

Hallowe'en is a curious revival of classic mythology, Druidic practices and Christian superstitions. In their celebration they lighted fires in honor of the sun god; and in the highlands of Scotland and Wales, where the Celts survived the invasion of other races, the lighting of bonfires long remained a feature of the festivities. In Ireland, the celebration is known as the "Vigil of Saman," the lord of death, who was supposed to assemble on this occasion those wicked souls, which during the preceding year, had been condemned to inhabit the bodies of animals. On Nov. 1 the Romans had a feast to Pomona, the goddess of fruits and seeds and all the stores laid up in the summer for winter use were opened. Hence the use of nuts and apples at this time.

The young people practiced all sorts of matrimonial predictions. Most common of all was placing nuts side by side on the grate and named for supposed lovers. If a nut burned quietly and brightly it indicated sincerity of affection. If it cracked and jumped it told of unfaithfulness, while if the nuts burned together the youth and maiden named will be married. Nuts were thrown into the bonfires, in the belief that they indicated prosperity to those who threw them if they burned well and the reverse if they smoldered and turned black.

In Scotland the ashes of the bonfires were carefully raked into a circle where a stone was placed for each person present. If in the morning any of the stones appeared to have been disturbed, it betokened death.

Next to nuts in importance came apples and endless were the prophecies concerning love and marriage. Any maiden could find out at least the first letter of the name of her future husband by peeling an apple and swinging the paring three times about her head, and then letting it drop. The paring would surely fall in the shape of his name if she repeated the lines "I pare this pippin round and round again, my sweetheart's name to flourish on the plain; I fling the unbroken paring over my head, my sweetheart's letter on the ground is read."

The Irish method of seeing a future husband's face on All Hallow-Even, according to the witches, was to throw a ball of yarn out of the window, holding the end of the thread, and then rewind it, repeating the Pater Noster backwards. Watching the ball of yarn without she would see her desired. Another belief was to wet the sleeve of a shirt and hang it on a chair before the fire as if to dry. Then go to bed, but not to sleep, only to watch. At about midnight the young girls confidently expected to see her spouse to be entering the room and turn the drying garment.

If anything were wanting to prove the Druidic origin of many of the Hallowe'en observances it would be found in the fact that in some parts of Ireland on Oct. 31 the peasants in Ireland assembled with sticks and clubs, going from house to house, collecting money, breadcake, butter, cheese, eggs, etc. for the feast. Then on the next day (Saman) they light candles and pray for the departed soul of the donor.

This ancient custom seems to have given rise to our "Tricks or Treat" custom which flourishes everywhere. The ringing of bells at the Hallowe'en season was supposedly for all Christian souls. But early in the reign of Queen Elizabeth it was directed that "The superfluous ringing of bells at the superstitious ringing of bells at All Hallowe'en-tide and All Souls Day, be prohibited."

Shakespeare and Burns both wrote of Hallowe'en or All Saints Day giving a panoramic insight into the customs of Old Scotia on this night of mirth and mystery. Perhaps no influence has done more than this to preserve and spread these observances among English speaking people. All of them are based on immemorial custom.

But what was once a ceremony of belief has now become a thing of sport with most of its observances only in jest which young people play upon themselves. No one now really believes in the consequences, only half-hoping there might be something in it, reassuring themselves that stranger things have happened.

The Pilgrims brought the Old English custom of celebrating at harvest time to America and used what they had at hand to make merry. They combined the curious custom of lighting the candle for lost souls with the pumpkin thus evolving the jack-o'-lantern which was used in celebration of Nov. 1 which was dedicated to the angel presiding over fruits, seeds, etc.

There are numerous ways of observing Hallowe'en which are now popular in this country as well as in the old countries, all of them based on ancient customs. Among the most popular version is conjuring up a future spouse. Lovers set three dishes on the floor, one empty, one with clean water, and one with foul water, and then approaching blindfolded dip their hands at random; they who dip in the empty one shall remain single, and they that dip in the foul water shall marry a widow, while they who dip in the clean shall get the one of his choice.

Or all alone they eat an apple before a mirror, feeling creepy as they look over their shoulder in the glass for the face of a sweetheart; or they go down the cellar stairs with a candle in one hand and a mirror in the other, for the same expected vision. Sometimes they pull dead stalks from the garden and judge by the earth clinging to the roots whether or not the lover has gold or worldly goods.

In many instances, the mysterious rites of Hallowe'en are not complete when the merrymaking is done and the last goodnight is said. Young ladies are supposed, in order to complete the charms of the night, on reaching home to pluck two roses with long stems, naming one for herself and one for her lover. She must then go to her room without speaking to anyone, and kneeling beside her bed, must twine the stems of the two roses together and repeat the following lines, gazing intently upon the lover's rose.

"Twine, twine, and intertwine,
Let my love be wholly mine.
If his heart be kind and true,
Deeper grow his rose's hue."
If her swain be faithful, the color of the rose will grow darker and more intense.

A final, and to many the most convincing and satisfactory test as to the identity of the maid's lover, is with a glass of water, in which a small sliver of wood has been placed, left standing on a bedside table. In the night she will dream of falling from a bridge into a river, but her future husband, whose face she can plainly see, will jump in and rescue her.

A noteworthy circumstance in the Scottish observance of the night which has largely been followed here is the use of cabbage or kale, and perhaps the most singular is confined to the minds of very young children. The idea is universal among the littlefolks that where a new brother or sister appears in the household it has come, through fairy aid, from the roots of the cabbage stalk. When all the little folks of Scotland are singing:

"This is the night of Hallowe'en,
When all the witches may be seen;
Some of them black, some of them green,
Some of them like a turkey bean, they never forget to lay generous piles of kale against door sill and window ledge, so that the kind fairy shall set free at least one baby soul from the roots.

A custom that prevails in Ireland and Scotland and that is religiously followed in the United States by the people of those countries, has to do with the character of the evening meal. A dish of mashed potatoes, parsnips and onions, is the principal dish on the bill of fare. It is called "call-cannon" and only these people understand what it means. A deep bowl is filled to the brim with this mixture and placed in the middle of the table. Somewhere in the bowl is a gold ring, and in the center is a deep well filled with melted butter. Portions are served each person, and the one who finds the ring is certain to be married within the year, unless he or she is already married, in which event good luck will follow the finder. A loaf cake is often made and in it are placed a ring and a key. The ring signifies marriage, the key a journey and the finder of either must accept the inevitable.

The spirit of rowdyism in the United States at Hallowe'en time which has in a measure superseded the kindly old customs prevailing in other lands, is not characteristic of the Druidic autumn festival in honor of the Sun-god in thanksgiving for the harvest.

CHANGES BEING MADE—In 1952 a group of Pennsylvania Sunday School children gave their "trick or treat" pennies to buy milk and medicine for sick and hungry children in other parts of the world. Last year, according to reports, youngsters in 7,500 communities in 48 states co-operated in the program and turned in $750,000. In places where this has been done the children in colorful costumes ring door bells and give out the information that "Five cents will buy enough penicillin to cure one child of yaws; one cent will buy five large glasses of milk."

State Advisor Is Here for Rainbow Girls Meeting

A joint Rainbow meeting was held in Hereford Monday night in honor of Miss Paula Rogers, the Grand Worthy Advisor of Grand Assembly of Texas, Order of Rainbow for Girls.

She, with Mrs. Iverson Leake of Canyon, is making a visit to the Canyon Area. Each assembly presented a small tribute to Paula to help her with expenses.

Miss Rogers has been a guest in the Leake home while making the tour. Several of the assemblies have held teas and coke parties in her honor.

After the initiation meeting, refreshments and fellow ship were held in the fellowship hall.

Assemblies which took part were from Tulla, Friona, Canyon and Hereford.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deep appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for every act of kindness during our recent sorrow.

Cows, Unkindness and Other Things

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE

And how about that Sputnik? Taking time out from its travels around the stratosphere to sit in for Pardy Liner last week. What would the Russians say if they only knew? No telling how many more thousands of miles it might have zoomed into space, had it not spent some of its energy on this column.

As Sputnik sailed away it beeped back a few more observations, but with having to decode and translate I'm not sure I've got the messages right.

Could it be true that Frankie Ridgeway was out taking care of the cows on somebody's farm? I know that Frankie is one gal that can do most anything she puts her mind to, and she's truly a wonder in action. The report is that she turned out to be an A-number-one cow herder and even took to the milking chore like a veteran.

And I simply can't imagine it happening in the Panhandle of Texas, but it appears that two Hereford couples were flat turned away when their car ran out of gas and they asked for assistance at a farm home somewhere near Amarillo. According to my decoder the words "bums" and "hand-outs" were used in an insulting way, and the Hereford party were almost too flabbergasted for words. They did get up nerve enough to ask elsewhere for help, and the second time they were obliged by a good Samaritan. I think I'll check the authenticity of this story with the Fred Barretts and the Charles Owens — they should know for sure.

And who was that absent-minded shopper who almost walked off with Victoria Rockwell's groceries the other day? Victoria wasn't too perturbed about it — said she had made the mistake of taking the wrong sack from the checking counter herself.

Now let's see... there is something in the message about Kate and Bruce Miller being in Norman, Okla., for a big weekend on the O. U. campus. The occasion being the 50th Anniversary of the Beta Tau Beta Fraternity plus the added attraction of the O. U. - Colorado game.

Loene Edwards tells me there will be quite a few young folks busy with a charitable type of "Trick or Treat" come Thursday night. The youth of all local churches have been invited to participate in the annual Halloween drive to benefit the Christian Rural Overseas Program.

The group will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Presbyterian Church, and they will canvass the town until 9 p.m. Each collector will have a CROP money carton and other CROP indication.

The funds raised this year will go entirely for food to be distributed by the national CROP organization in countries where there is a Christian need. The Hereford boys and girls do a fine job with this project each year. And don't you think it's worth your change-over-hand to support these young people in a constructive endeavor on All Hallow's Eve?

Margaret Harvey has reminded me that the adults begin a campaign of their own this week. Monday at 10 a.m. is the date and time for the kickoff coffee, then the United Fund Drive will be officially under way.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to say "Thank You" to everyone who helped in anyway during the illness and death of our loved one. We especially appreciated all the food, flowers, hours of helping, cards, thoughts and prayers. We want to say thank you to all of you who gave blood; also to Dr. Nobles and Dr. Wills and all the nurses at the clinic and hospital.

CALL OF THE COURT

PERRY, Iowa — Neighbors of District Judge George Sackett may think he sometimes brings his work home from court. The judge has a dog named "Ye" and when he calls it he does it judiciously: "Here, Ye... Here, Ye... Here, Ye."

TIRED THIEF

ANADARKO, Okla. — Falling asleep east 17-year-old Herbert Martin Hensley, $53 in fines and court costs.

Sheriff's officers awakened Hensley as he slept in his car, parked in the Caddo County garage. A siphoning hose was connected from a truck gasoline tank to the tank of Hensley's vehicle.

Hensley said he fell asleep waiting for the gasoline to be siphoned into his tank.

He pleaded guilty to petty larceny and an additional charge of driving a car with an improper muffler.

MUTT WINS RIBBONS

TAMPA, Fla. — When the Madison playground held its annual pet show there were two divisions for dogs — those with pedigrees and those without.

But 10-year-old Gail Hatala tugged an obvious mongrel into the line of purebreds and a judge asked her what breed she considered her entry.

"It's a pedigreed mutt," she replied.

A division for pedigreed mutts was created on the spot and Gail went home happy with first prize.

TELEPHONE TALK

by W. L. Leavy, Manager

DIALS ON TELEPHONES

Except for coin telephones, we have placed dials on all the telephones in town—we think. If our records are in error and we missed your telephone, please call our business office and let us know.

The Western Electric Company, installing dial equipment, is now back on schedule after the work stoppage. If their work continues at its present rate they will turn the new building over to us on December 8th. That will give us a week to test it before the new system is put to work.

CHECKING ON SPUTNIK

R. L. Ethridge, one of the top amateur radio operators of Hereford, says he has been listening for the Russian satellite, but hasn't been able to pick it up yet.

FOOTBALL FUN

Another football season is underway. If there are any fans around your house, it's likely that the radio and television sets will be working overtime for the next few months bringing the games into your home. It's the next best thing to having a 50-yard line seat.

Maybe you've never realized it but the telephone company plays an important part in bringing you these football broadcasts, as well as other radio and television programs you enjoy. We handle the transmission of programs from distant places for your enjoyment.

Telephone engineers have worked constantly through the years to improve these facilities. Today we use both cable and microwave networks to transmit these broadcasts.

And, of course, improved transmission means more pleasure from the programs for you.

This is another example of how the telephone company always seeks to bring you improved communications—in radio, television, on a local telephone call across town or a Long Distance call across the nation.

Getting back to football, have you attended any of the Hereford Whiteface games this season? If not, why don't you plan to be at the next one. Better still, go to all Whiteface games this year. You'll enjoy them and the team will appreciate your support.

SAVE ON OUT-OF-TOWN CALLS

Whether you're making a business call or just keeping in touch with members of the family in other cities, it's smart to place your Long Distance calls Station-to-Station.

You save money because Station-to-Station rates are about one-third lower than Person-to-Person rates. This means you can make three calls for the price of two.

And here's another Long Distance tip to remember: call by number—it's twice as fast.

CROOKS ARE PEOPLE
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., (AP) — Crooks look just like people — any people, says Lee Roeder, Manager of the Albuquerque Better Business Bureau.

"Most strangers are not crooks," Roeder said, "however, most crooks are strangers. So before you invest — investigate."

DESPERATE DRAFT
VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP) — Edwin C. Bears, historian at Vicksburg National Military Park and avid researcher, has turned up another Civil War story, this one about the Confederate manpower shortage of 1864.

The story, found in a diary, tells about Gen. Jubal Early who was attending church services near Lexington, Va.

The fire-and-brimstone preacher posed this question to his congregation: "What would you do if you saw your dead come marching back by the hundreds and thousands?"

During the pause that followed Gen. Early whispered to an aide: "Conscript every damned one of them."

MRS. LLOYD REYNOLDS

Jo Hall, Lloyd Reynolds Wed in Chapel Ceremony

Jo Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hall, formerly of Hereford, was married to Lloyd Reynolds of Pampa at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 18 in the Joseph A. Hill Memorial Chapel on the West Texas State College Campus in Canyon.

Elder W. H. Fox of the Primitive Baptist Church officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. W. H. Holmes of Amarillo played traditional marches and N. E. Tyler of Hereford, brother-in-law of the bride, sang Because and the Lord's Prayer.

Miss Barbara Hall, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Arden Kennedy of Wheeler was best man. Bobby Trozell and James Turnbow were ushers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white dress of lace over taffeta. The full skirt was fashioned of tiny rows of lace with a rolled collar and long sleeves which came to a point at the hand. Her veil was of tulle and edged in lace.

A reception was held in Cousins Hall, a girls dormitory, after the ceremony.

Visitors in Hereford Tell of Life in West Pakistan

By SANDRA GLENN

"I like it just fine, except they don't have TV," was Chuck Connelley's comment on West Pakistan where his father, Hoy Connelley, is working for the International Cooperative Assn on the improvement of grazing land. Mrs. and Mrs. Hoy C. Connelley, Gerry Ann and Chuck are home on a leave from Pakistan after 26 months of living in a country different from the U. S. They are talking with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Connelley's sister.

"After talking to the family we realized how different it really was."

The standards of living are very much lower than those in the United States. In Pakistan there exist what was known as the feudal system, where peasants work the land for the higher class people and receive only a little portion of the crop.

"These people do not strive to do better because they have never known there is a better way of life and are quite content to believe that there is no improvement for them. The life of a grazer is much like that of a poor man, except the peon tends the land and the grazer tends his flock of sheep or goats. They live from the land entirely and have very little to eat. These low class people have no education at all and to them life is much the same as it was 3,000 years ago," Connelley said.

However, he said there are places where the common people could get education, but the facilities are limited and the rate is very poor. There are universities and colleges for the people if you have enough money invested in farms and farm equipment? Diversify your investment money by buying producing oil royalties with PRODUCING ROYALTIES, C. C. Great Plains Bldg., Lubbock, Adv.

who desire higher learning, but these are attended only by the high class people who can afford such luxuries.

His own daughter, Gerry Ann, attended a Catholic convent which was run by an American nun from Boston. The son, Chuck, attended a grammar school taught by a Catholic priest from Holland.

"They are striving to set up a government of democracy in that country now," Connelley said.

The highest class is the rich landowners and heads of estates. "These," Connelley said, "are fabulously rich." The second class is made up of government employees and small businessmen. There is also a poor class made up of refugees which are Moslems and who fled from India to Pakistan.

"Most of these were wealthy before coming to Pakistan," commented Connelley, "but they came in thousands and only a few have been able to reestablish." Several of these people live in Karachi, which is the capital of all Pakistan.

The transportation is modern for those who can afford it. Railroads and airlines exist, but are very limited. Only the high class are able to afford to travel in this fashion and most of Pakistan is very poor. The poor class ride the donkey, camel or bullock, or else ride in a wheeled vehicle pulled by one of these animals.

Mrs. Connelley said their clothing had to be ordered through the Army post office. There is a limit to imports but most of their orders were filled. The Connelley family lived in Quetta, which is 600 miles from the capital. Four other American families were living in this town, and like Connelley, they were working for improvements in that country.

Customs are much the same as they were years ago. Mrs. Connelley told of an engagement party which she attended.

"The men were not allowed in the room with the women. Most of these women were in Purda and could not be seen in public. Purda is a Moslem tradition where the women must be completely covered and her face is seen by no one except her husband and immediate family.

"The bridegroom never sees the bride before the wedding takes place. She is purchased by the bridegroom's father from the bride's father. The couple must be of the same class and the higher class the family, the more the father of the bridegroom must pay for the girl," she said.

Mrs. Connelley said that she had talked to a woman who had been married this way and she and her husband were very happy with their marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Connelley told of the customs of the Purda women. The girls go into Purda when they reach woman hood and from that day on must not be seen in public with more than their feet showing. High walls are placed around the houses in which Purda women live in order that they may be in the yard without being seen. Curtains are in the houses for the women to hide behind in case someone should enter the house.

One of the main foods in Pakistan is rice and curry with flavor spices and hot spices. "It has a very peculiar taste and I never got to the point where I could like it," Connelley said.

The lower class people eat foods such as rice, tea, bread made like Mexican tortillas, except they are made from whole wheat instead of corn. Their food was in very small amounts and the death rate is high among the children, due to malnutrition and diseases.

They had hospitals, which are charity hospitals, but very few of the lower class people are within reach of these and therefore, seldom got medication.

The Connelley family will return to Pakistan in January.

Mrs. Bess E. Givan had as her guests Saturday and Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Frankie E. Fowler of Parsons, Kan. They had been visiting their son, Franklin Fowler, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Wednesday guests in the home of Mrs. Givan was Mrs. Pearl Goe of St. Louis, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. James Yeaman of Claude.

home the first of this week.

Mrs. Sophia Haberer returned Saturday from Salt Lake City, Utah, where she had been visiting with her grandchildren. She visited with her granddaughter and her family, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilkinson and three boys, and her grandson and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Nealsen.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Phillips and daughter spent last weekend in Fort Worth visiting with relatives.

Guests in the Glenn Boardman home last week were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Keeton and children, Kenneth Jr. and Elizabeth Ann, of Grand Rapids, Mich., Mrs. W. B. Keeton of Hollis, Okla., and Mrs. Lara McCollum and grandson, Scopp Myers, of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Horton, 407

Witherspoon, had visitors from Lubbock the first part of this week. Their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Park and children, Bobby Guy and Vicki, came Monday and returned to Lubbock Wednesday.

Don't miss Herb Shriner, Julius LaRosa on Furr's Show of Stars coming to Amarillo Nov. 9 and 10 at the Tri-State Fair Coliseum.

The Indiana Hoosier comedian, Herb Shriner, has won a spot in the hearts of all Americans, with his Will Rogers style of wit. His last TV show was "Two for the Money," while he has starred in many a stage throughout the years. His start came in "Inside U.S.A." His anecdotes, quips and general observations of the passing scenes are wonderful!

One of the top ten TV stars is Julius LaRosa for today he has four shows weekly—a far cry from the time he was with Arthur Godfrey and his troupe. Fired, by Godfrey, LaRosa became a "big name" when the public responded to the firing with fervor. His top songs are "Anywhere I Wander," "Eh, Cumpari" and "Lipstick and Candy and Rubber-sole Shoes."

See The De Castro Sisters, The Hilltoppers, and many other famous stars in person at Furr's gigantic Show of Stars.

Savings' and 'Costs' are Secondary

Fire Protection Should Meet State Requirements

City of Hereford officials Monday night went into lengthy discussion concerning purchase of new fire fighting equipment to serve the area.

Also entering the discussion was additional obligation, assumed by agreement with Deaf Smith County, whereby the Hereford department will answer rural fire calls.

The answer to these questions naturally lies close to the hearts and welfare of every man, woman and child within the bounds of Deaf Smith County and Hereford.

Savings on insurance and county obligations unquestionably do make the purchase of adequate equipment more attractive.

Meanwhile, most of the citizens presumed Hereford's fire equipment to be on a par with other communities this size. When it comes to the point that we are penalized by the state commission for failing to maintain adequate equipment, we agree with those who favor buying it.

Most citizens, no doubt, have presumed their equipment to be adequate. This would be especially true among those who got city tax statements this month.

Fire has ever been a hazard to humankind. Even the best available equipment often fails to combat its destruction.

United Fund Meets Another Challenge Which Arises In A Growing Community

Since World War II, Hereford and Deaf Smith County have been overwhelmed with growing pains. Invariably, this growth has resulted in numerous changes in the way we do things and the manner in which we live.

For the past ten years United Fund has been discussed as a possibility. Finally, a group of business men and area citizens met last August and formulated details for the organization.

United Fund has several advantages. In the first place, it will save hundreds of man-hours in time required to conduct drives and solicit donations.

Since Deaf Smith County will maintain no paid United Fund manager, there seems very little justified criticism of the plan. Those who do not wish their money to benefit any specific charity can merely mark that organization from their specified donation.

The one possible hindrance to United Fund in this area, it seems to us, will rest with the donors following their contribution.

We do not expect United Fund to be a cure-all. It is bound to draw some criticism from time to time, and, undoubtedly, it does have some faults.

GEORGE HEARD WRITES:

Census Taking Keeps Iraqis Home All Day

(EDITORS NOTE) George Heard of Hereford is still in Baghdad, Iraq, working for the Iraq government oil refinery. In this letter he tells of the census day and of a feast with a sheik.)

Oct. 12

Dear Folks,

This has been an unusual day in several ways. It is a day off from work that was anticipated and planned in advance.

Another usual thing about today is that it has been very quiet. No honking of horns, ringing of bells or shouting in the street. No one has been using the streets except in case of emergency.

I am sure there could have been some other means by which the people could be counted but over here it is expected to do differently.

ALL THIS food was not just for the 40 Americans. We were guests of honor and ate with the sheik. His sons and other members of the family served us.

WE WENT to our second Kuzi (Coozey) party the other night. The first one was put on by the American Assn. of Iraq.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Success Is Foreseen for United Fund Drive Here

Do you think Deaf Smith County's first United Fund drive will be successful? If so, why?

MRS. LARRY PASCHEL—I believe that it will and the only reason I could give is that one big fund would go over better than several small ones and also it is for a good cause.

C. L. HODGES—Yes, I think so because I believe people will all get behind it and would rather have one big drive than all the small ones.

MRS. I. H. WILLOUGHBY—It seems to be a success in other towns and I don't know why it wouldn't be over here.

O. M. DICKEY—I sure do. I just think it is the only way to have a drive and I think that all of us had rather just contribute one time for the good cause and I really think it will work.

MARY BOURN—Well, I think so. People are always cooperative in drives around here. I think it is for a good cause and I feel like other people will feel the same way.

SAM LONG—Sure, of course. Because people here have always supported such campaigns and since it will be one big campaign for all I'm sure they will support it.

MRS. A. A. DEARING—Yes, I kinda believe it will. For my part I had rather give once and get it over with and I have heard several say that they thought that it would be better.

JOE BOOZER—I sure do, I really believe it will. The people are a little more enthused about it and they have more behind it, I think.

PAULINE LOVAN—Yes, I believe it will. I think that it will be because people generally cooperate and I think that they will on this.

JOHNNY SMITH—I'm sure it will be. The other drives have been successful for Deaf Smith County and people have always cooperated and I don't think they will have a bit of trouble. I know I am willing to cooperate and I feel that others are too.

been received in the States and as he was lonesome, the Sheik ask that about 40 people from the US be invited to the party.

Then there was a lot of other things. Salad, chicken, turkey, okra and some other things not easily identified. One dish that was rather good was called tepsal. It was a mixture of chopped lamb, cooked onions, eggplant, garlic.

The last course was fruit which was the desert. Both before and after the meal we went through the ritual of hand washing.

This sheik was a devout Moslem as no liquor was served. We were given Cokes while we were waiting and watching the entertainers.

I am not sure we would have gone to this Kuzi had we known where we were going. I had supposed it would be near Baghdad and easily accessible. We were given no instructions but were told only to meet at the airport.

After we got settled in the Sheik's garden, which was very nice and was lighted with electricity, we began to notice the guards. They were standing at parade rest around the edge of the grass.

TWO WEEKS ago we had another unusual meal. A friend of Buds has a Scotch father and an Indian mother. They invited us out to Hillah for dinner, and it was supposed to be typically Indian or at least from some group in India.

The thing that surprised me most was the idea of using silver and gold sheets as a garnish. The first dish that I came to of this nature was the kebabs which I thought had aluminum foil over it.

On our way to Hillah, we stopped to see what is left of the old city of Babylon. I would not recommend that anyone go see the place unless he reads and studies about what went on there and what he is going to see.

It is so cool now that we do not need the air cooler running. I suppose before long, I will have to wear long-sleeved shirts.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his hindweed farm is still thinking about the satellite, his letter this week reveals. He'll get used to it eventually.

I was out here on my farm yesterday afternoon speculating on the Russian satellite, I don't know of a thing I could conclude on the thing that'd be worth anything to me or the rest of the world.

According to the reports I've been reading, everybody is saying the Russians are ahead of us and thus have a great psychological advantage.

Well, now, I'll tell you, trying to out-manuever the Russians with propaganda, an earth or in space, is about like trying to control the weeds in your garden with psychology.

I'm perfectly willing to admit the Russians were first with a satellite into outer space, but I suspect we'll have one up before too long, certainly before the next election.

I don't care how far out into space man explores, he's still going to have to operate from within the same style body he's been using for thousands of years.

Maybe man will be able to conquer space some day, but somebody is gonna have to stay behind and keep on conquering this land.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

Tight Money No Bar to Home Improvement

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
AP Newsfeatures

FUNDS FOR HOME improvements, despite all the talk "you can't get a loan" these days, are readily available from commercial banks and financial institutions. We are the word of reliable banking for this statement.

Making loans is an important part of the business of a financial institution and, we're assured, they're just as eager to serve you as you are to obtain advice and financial help from them. We're told, if you're thinking of installing a new heating system, or new plumbing, adding a room, or doing some papering, painting or insulating, there's no need to put it off just because you can't get a loan for all the work from your own reserves.

First, get estimates from reliable contractors on your home improvement project. Then determine how much money you'll need to borrow and how much you can conveniently repay out of your monthly budget. This done, you're ready to talk to a bank or other lender.

Home improvement projects can be financed through personal loans obtained from banks, from credit unions and from small loan companies. In some states, however, laws limit the size of these loans and repayment periods often are shorter than for special home improvement loans.

Aside from direct loans, it also is possible to pay for home improvements on the installment plan by special arrangement with an individual contractor, dealer or supplier.

It is important, however, in considering such installment contracts to determine whether the carrying charges would exceed the interest you would pay for a regular home improvement loan.

There are four principal types of loans which may be available for home improvements through financial institutions. They are (1) conventional bank installment loans, (2) government-insured Title One loans, (3) open-end mortgage advances, and (4) supplemental loans obtained through mortgage refinancing.

Here are the features of each type of loan:

CONVENTIONAL BANK INSTALLMENT LOANS — The bank's major concern here is that the improvement will substantially protect or improve the livability or use of your home and that you will receive certain value for the cost of the project.

The amount and terms of the loan depend primarily on the nature of the improvement and your ability to repay the loan without hardship. These loans are made individually by banks and are not subject to the government-insured Title One loan regulations. Hence, the banks are more flexible generally with regard to the purpose, the amount and the repayment terms of the loan.

While the interest rate usually is slightly higher, some loans not covered under the government-insured plan may be obtained through the bank's own home-improvement loan program.

GOVERNMENT — INSURED TITLE ONE LOANS — This plan permits a bank or other qualified lender to advance the money under an insurance arrangement with the Federal Housing Administration. The maximum amount available under this plan is $3,500 and the maximum repayment term is five years for loans above $600.

The interest rate generally is a discount of $5 per $100 each year. Discount means simply that the full charges are deducted from the amount of the loan at the time the money is borrowed.

This financing plan can be used for most basic home improvements. However, it cannot be used for projects "not considered essential to a home such as swimming pools, greenhouses or outdoor fireplaces" or for "appliances and items that are not substantially built into the property."

Specific information on eligible loans under the government-insured plan can be obtained from any financial institution.

OPEN-END MORTGAGE LOAN — Should your home mortgage contain an "open-end" provision, additional funds on the same mortgage may be available to you for home improvement purposes.

A substantial equity usually is required, however. This means that before you can borrow money in this manner, it generally will be required that you have made earlier mortgage payments totaling at least as much as the amount of the new loan.

In this type of loan, your monthly payments may be increased slightly to pay off the additional debt, or the repayment period may be extended beyond the original expiration date.

SUPPLEMENTAL LOANS THROUGH MORTGAGE REFINANCING — Should you have a conventional mortgage rather than an "open-end" mortgage, you may be able to obtain funds for home improvements projects by retiring the existing mortgage and obtaining another mortgage in a new amount.

This method of financing, however, usually involves a new title search and recording and other extra fees, but generally your interest rate would be lower than under government-insured loans or other short-term loans.

A CONCLUDING THOUGHT — Regardless of the project, be it a small improvement project or a multiple improvement project involving both products and services, it is generally true that it will be less complicated and more economical to borrow home improvement funds from a bank or financial institution rather than pay the carrying charges involved in installment plan contracts.

Questions and answers:

Q. Is there a simple way to antique furniture?

A. Yes, any non-professional can learn to give an antique finish to a piece of furniture. The wood is given a mellowed look by applying a tinted glazing liquid to a painted, enameled or stained surface. The glazing liquid usually is mixed with a small amount of raw or burnt umber, depending on the desired tone. The glazing liquid usually is brushed on, then blended with a piece of clean, dry cloth.

Q. What is the first step before installing ceramic tile?

A. Measure the area to be tiled in order to determine the number of square feet of tile and the amount of adhesive needed. A gallon of adhesive is sufficient for setting from 45 to 50 square feet of tile. Be certain that all surfaces are dry, sound, plumb and free of old materials which might not adhere properly to the adhesive. When buying the adhesive, ask for one bearing the hallmark "CS 181-52."

Q. Is there such a thing as a disappearing stair?

A. Yes, it is a stairway which can be folded and swung upward out of sight when not in use. They usually are used to provide access to an attic.

Q. What is the best way to prepare a roller for a paint job?

A. With a new roller, wash the cover of it in warm soap suds, then rinse it well to remove any lint or dust. If you're using an oil base paint, allow the cover to dry thoroughly before using it. With a water base paint, however, the cover should be wet before starting your paint job.

New Scrapple Very Different

MEAT MUSH—Sausage scrapple is a far cry served with syrup and baked apples, it draws from the Pennsylvania Dutch original but, few complaints.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

SCRAPPLE BECAME A DELICIOUS PART of the American cuisine when, years ago, Pennsylvanians

Dutch farmers first started putting this hearty dish together at butchering time.

Scraps of meat, liver and other internal organs were cooked in water — so as to utilize them — and then both broth and meat were combined with buckwheat flour plus cornmeal to make a sage-seasoned mixture. The meat-enriched mush was turned into a bread pan and chilled, then unmolded and sliced thin; finally it was fried until lightly browned and crisp.

Nowadays, although cornmeal scrapple is available in many food markets, some homemakers make versions of it in their own kitchens. This recipe is a far cry from the original, but we think it's attractive and delicious. Some Sunday morning serve crisp slices of this scrapple with maple syrup, baked apples and good hot coffee — and you'll probably have no complaints!

You'll notice that in this recipe less water is used to cook the cornmeal than in a regular "breakfast mush" recipe. There's a reason for this. Although Miss Fannie Farmer did not see fit to include a recipe for scrapple in the first edition of her famous cook book, she does say, "Where mushes are cooked to fry, use less water in steaming." That succinct advice was given in the first (1896) edition of The Boston Cooking-School Cook Book but it still holds good today!

SAUSAGE SCRAPPLE
Ingredients: 1 pound pork sausage links, 4 cups water, 1½ cups yellow cornmeal, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 cups cold water.

Method: Pan-fry pork sausage links, in 10 to 12-inch skillet, according to package directions. In a 3-quart kettle, heat 4 cups water to boiling. Stir cornmeal, salt and 2 cups cold water together until smooth; slowly pour into boiling water, stirring constantly. Stirring often, cook until thickened. Cover; continue cooking over low heat for 10 minutes or until very thick, stirring occasionally. Turn about 1½ cups of the mush into a loaf pan (about 5 by 9 by 3 inches). Arrange half of the cooked sausage links lengthwise over mush. Turn another 1½ cups of the mush over the sausage. Repeat sausage layer and pour remainder of mush

HERE'S HOW:

Girls, Treat Yourself to Glamorous Bathroom

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newswriters Beauty Editor

Women adore pretty bathrooms, and every woman secretly wishes she could have one like the Romans enjoyed.

An attractive bath-dressing area may be engineered at little cost and with a minimum of effort in a small space. One displayed recently involved fabric and companion wallpaper in a tile pattern in shades of pink, olive and turquoise. The do-it-yourself dressing table that was suspended from the ceiling.

The shower curtains were made by taking the straight piece of fabric, hemming and attaching it to the shower rod with large, brass drapery clips, so that no grommets were needed in the curtain. A clear shower curtain was used behind the print to give the necessary protection.

The inexpensive dressing table unit is a space saver and easy to make. Select a shelf in the size desired of a light weight plywood or hardboard, cover it with marbled paper (the kind that goes on at contact) and suspend it from the ceiling with a decorative cord. Picture cord will do the trick. Or attractive chains to match plumbing fixtures might be more desirable. Fasten the cord to the shelf on each side with small brads. Then suspend the shelf from the ceiling.

One of the new type towel racks that resembles a music stand is ideal for the small bathroom set up because it doesn't take up too much space. Or use one of the towel cabinets that come in a combination of brass and glass, and offers support for the hanging table.

One of these on either side of the vanity if it can be obtained in the same width makes a good balanced dressing table unit.

A matching print may be used to cover a seat pad if you like, and companion wallpaper on a small waste basket.

The floor tile could be a black and white sequin pattern, plain white or black. The idea is to carry out the marble and tile theme.

If a family has outgrown its bathroom, any small space — a hall, under-the-stairs area, or closet space — may be converted into a shower-stall type of bathroom, even if larger accommodations are not within the budget.

From 1930 to 1950 California's population increased four times as fast as that of the whole country.

SHE CAN DREAM, CAN'T SHE, of a Roman bathroom while she enjoys this one? The shower stall fabric and wallpaper are companion pieces designed by Waverly. The vanity is do-it-yourself.

Success Secret for Atlantic: 'We Never Left New England'

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — You remember that story about the Atlantic being a girl's best friend? If she carried a copy of the magazine with her on her travels, she was as safe as if she stayed home for one would accost her.

Then there was the riddle proposed by one disgruntled Atlantic editor about another one, Horace E. Scudder:

Why was Scudder a greater man than Moses? Moses only dried up the Red Sea, but Scudder dried up the Atlantic.

Edward Weeks laughed and said, yes, he knew about these stories and he added there were others, and he certainly didn't think they hurt the magazine of which he has been editor almost 20 years.

Weeks was here from Boston, his HQ, in connection with "Jubilee: One Hundred Years of the Atlantic" (Atlantic-Little, Brown). It's a mammoth selection of stories, poems and essays — couldn't it have been called "The Sea Around Us." They were culled by Weeks and Emily Flint from the estimated 100 million words appearing in that venerable magazine since Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Ralph Waldo Emerson, James Russell Lowell, Oliver Wendell Holmes and others sat down to plan it in the Parker House in Boston in 1857.

Through a New Jersey by birth, Weeks believes in Boston.

How does it happen, that while other magazines, monthlies and weeklies with enviable reputations and noble histories, have disappeared from our literary scene, his Atlantic goes on and on?

Partly because "we never left

DRY FLY? The Atlantic Monthly Magazine may have a reputation of being dry but you'd never tell by the favorite recreation of its editor, Edward Weeks. It's fishing.

New England," the genial editor answered. "It might hurt us to move to New York. We are a New England operation, to a lot of people we represent New England."

"Another reason, I believe," he went on, "is that every time we have had a bad dip in circulation, and we have had some very bad ones, we have changed editors. I'm the ninth. Bringing in fresh points of view makes it possible for the magazine to remain freshly contemporary. We couldn't run today on the wave-lengths of the 1920s.

"We used to have 5,000-word articles, now they must be shorter. We used to have many English contributors, now we use more Americans. A long time ago we serialized long novels. Now we are more apt to serialize fiction, and it is much shorter.

"We are nonpartisan. We are not carrying out a policy of a particular publishing house; we are on our own. But at the same time we do not avoid controversy. A piece on Billy Graham for example got us 60 angry cancellations, but a lot of support, too. That isn't a big figure in a circulation of a quarter million, of course."

The problem at the moment is short fiction. With the small check-book he can carry, he says, he has a hard time finding the two short stories he publishes every month. He has found some writers among the press. Some of his best contributions have come from news people on the New Orleans Times-Picayune, the Baltimore Sun, and Portland Oregonian, the Providence Journal, the Washington Post, the Boston Globe and the Louisville Courier-Journal, among others. He also visits about a dozen campuses every year, not only to lecture but to scout for material.

Sunday afternoon visitors in the R. L. Pinnell home were Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Chsim and Jacala of Dimmitt. With them was R. C. of Channing who was returning to his home after a five day seige with the flu at St. Anthony Hospital in Amarillo.

GOOD OLD DAYS
NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Mrs. J. W. Ackiss sighed for the good old days when she found a grocery bill paid by her father, E. T. Canoles, on April 3, 1903. Bacon was 15 cents, eggs 17 cents and butter 30 cents.

Mesdames W. H. Awtrey Sr., Hugh Witherspoon, Edna Bowe, N. B. Hood, R. L. Calhoun, Vern Witherspoon, J. B. Shirley, John Jacobson Sr. and Miss Evelyn Bell.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. J. B. Shirley.

Lone Star Club Has Program on War Memorials

Mrs. Guy Newsom presented a program on war memorials abroad to the Lone Star Study Club at its meeting in the home of Mrs. Leo Forest Tuesday.

She told the club that war memorials were supervised by The American Battle Memorial Commission, and that General of the Army George C. Marshal was the chairman of that commission. She explained that there were fourteen war memorials abroad. Six of these were dedicated in the summer of 1956 and eight more will be dedicated in 1958.

Each memorial is a park-like place and has a superintendent to care for each. The ground on which the memorial has been built is land that has been donated by the host country. A chapel is built in each to represent the American way of life. Battle maps and a mural are hung on the wall of the chapel to explain the campaign. A list of the American dead and missing are hung on what is called the Wall of Honor.

During the business meeting Mrs. C. O. Wilkens was welcomed as a new member and the club made plans for a dinner to be held in November in honor of their husbands.

Members present were Mesdames C. O. Wilkens, R. G. Blue, Roger Corbett, W. S. Fluit, H. E. Henslee, Jim Higgins, C. D. Kelton, Joe Kendall, Louie LeGrand, Vivian Major, W. C. Meharg, Guy Newsom, Coy Phillips, Charles Sowell, Robert Thompson and Leo Forest.

Pioneer Study Has Art Program

Mrs. Eugene Naugle spoke to the Pioneer Study Club on art at a luncheon in the home of Mrs. O. G. Hill Tuesday. She spoke on abstracting and realism in art and showed some paintings of great artists. She also displayed paintings of local talent.

Mrs. Bess Werner concluded the program by giving illustrations on modern art. She told the group that no two people painted alike.

In the business meeting, which was conducted by Mrs. Ralph McCullough, the club voted to make contributions to the United Fund and Camp Fire Girls. Members also voted to help a needy family at Thanksgiving.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Phil Radovich and Mrs. Eugene Naugle.

Members present were Mesdames Fred Barrett, Allen Bell, Burl France, J. M. Gilliland, Henry Hastings, O. H. Herring, O. G. Hill, E. S. Ireland, Ray Johnson, F. M. Kester, L. H. Lookingbill Sr., C. N. Land Soaking Up Moisture

By MAX SCHRADER

Most of the county, especially the dryland part, shows the results of a far above-average rainfall month. The rainfall records show that we receive an October rainfall of this proportion approximately once every five years. It's difficult to compare this month's rainfall with that of previous years. The rains this month came in a manner that enabled the soil to absorb the greatest proportion of it. This one was tailored for the present condition of our soil.

We can remember some of the rains of last spring and summer. These heavy rains, coming on the tail of many dry years, were part disaster and part fruitful. They fell on land without cover and in no condition to absorb a heavy, fast rainfall. This resulted in loss of soil, damage to crops and a great proportion of it lost to runoff.

The effect of the rains received in May or June won't compare to October's. It's seldom that we receive that much, let alone keep it. The last year that we received this much rain in October was in 1953 when approximately 4.6 inches was recorded. Unfortunately this was followed by a total of only slightly more than two inches in the next five months. In 37 years we have received three inches or better in October on eight occasions and two inches or better 14 times. In 1953 the 4.6 inches received made up better than one-third of that received for the year.

Making the best of our rainfall involves many facts and there is nothing we can do about some of them. The timeliness, amount and intensity of a rain we can do little about. We can only prepare for what is considered to be an average rain. The rains just received weren't average. Our average is 1.7 for October. We would have lost far more than we did had it been an average rain. These rains usually fall in a short period of a day or two. This rain took better than two weeks. This intensity of rainfall is a big factor in making preparations to keep our moisture. The rains that will come next spring will be of a different character. We will need the moisture just as badly but it will be harder to keep on the land.

If all rains fell in the manner of those just received the problem of making the best use of our rainfall would be relatively easy. This will hardly be the case with most rains. We must have the soil and water conserving practices on the land to make the best of our average rainfalls. Many times the moisture that is lost from spring and summer rains actually meant the difference between making or not making a crop.
