

Evacuation Underway Following Pakistan Invasion

By BARRY SHLACHTER
Associated Press Writer
ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — More than 300 Americans left this Pakistani capital today in an airlift ordered by the State Department after a Moslem mob sacked the U.S. Embassy here in a riot that killed six persons, including two American soldiers.

Crowley, of Long Island, N.Y., and Army Chief Warrant Officer Bryan Ellis, of Spring Lake, N.C., were put aboard the chartered Pan Am jumbo jet before the 310 evacuees boarded.
Children hugged teddy bears and parents carried infants and pet cages. Some cried, others questioned the necessity of the evacuation.
The departure from Islamabad airport was conducted under tight security and one reporter interviewing evacuees was ejected from the area.

Forty other American dependents and non-essential U.S. personnel boarded the plane when it stopped at Karachi, Pakistan's largest city. From there the plane heads for Washington after a refueling stop in Europe.
Those leaving from Islamabad included families from U.S. missions in Lahore and Peshawar and about 40 American civilians, most of them families of schoolteachers, who are not employed by the government.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur W. Hummel Jr. warned evacuees against making press statements in Washington critical of the Pakistani army's handling of rioters during Wednesday's disturbances. He said critical remarks might affect the safety of the 49 American hostages held by militant Moslem students at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran and the 65 embassy staffers who remained in Islamabad.

Asked what could be criticized, one of the evacuees told The Associated Press: "The five-hour wait for the Pakistan army."

Witnesses have said troops did not move against the mob until five hours after the embassy siege began. Besides the two Americans killed, the riot claimed the lives of two Pakistani employees of the embassy and two of the rioters. Official sources today revised an earlier report that a third employee's body had been found in the burned embassy.

Americans Celebrate Turkey Day

By DON HARRISON
Associated Press Writer

Some senior citizens in Atlantic City, N.J., had turkey on some high rollers, while New York kids screeched approval of 63-foot Underdog. In Dallas, the Cowboys may have wished they were in New York, and somewhere in the Pacific, Jack Marbut ate in a ship's mess.

It was Thanksgiving 1979, a mixed emotional bag spiked by dressing and deviled eggs, bearded tyrants, blizzards and captured Americans far from home.

Thirteen Americans released from the U.S. Embassy in Iran enjoyed Thanksgiving with their families, but President Carter's holiday message reminded the nation of the 49 still held.

The mood was upbeat in the Big Apple, where millions turned out to be cheered by clowns, stirred by bands and wowed by the larger-than-life floats and balloons as the 53rd Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade moved down Broadway.

"This is a very great parade," said John "Bowzer" Bauman of the '50s-style rock group Sha Na Na. "That's the highest compliment I can give."

Many of the estimated 80 million who watched the parade on TV also kicked off a long weekend of football games as they saw Dallas lose to Houston and Chicago drubbed by Detroit.

But Petty Officer 2nd Class Jack Marut was not in any of the crowds Thursday. He was aboard the USS Midway as it steamed for the Persian Gulf, part of a show of strength prompted by the crisis in Iran.

The prospect of Marut missing yet another Thanksgiving at home in Orange, N.J., was upsetting to his twin sister, Jill, but not as much as the near-certainty that he would miss the birth of his second child in Ykusuka, Japan, probably next month.

In Sterling, Kan., cloudy, rainy skies and chilling temperatures threatened to put a damper on Darlene Walsh's annual spread for folks in this central Kansas community — but sometimes even the weather cooperates.

"It was just fantastic. The weather had really been bad," said Mrs. Walsh. "Then about 10 minutes before we began serving, the sun came out. It's been just great all day."

About 2,000 persons had been expected but Mrs. Walsh said far more actually showed up. "We ran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iranian strongman Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini has fired a new salvo at the United States, calling on all Moslems and American blacks to rise and "join us in this struggle between the infidel and Islam."

Khomeini also welcomed the wave of anti-Americanism in Pakistan and urged the Pakistani army to "rise against the oppression inflicted on their brothers" in Iran.

The commander of Iran's navy ordered put his forces on full alert to counter the approach of American warships, dispatched to the Indian Ocean, south of Iran, by President Carter.

Carter summoned his top foreign policy advisers to Camp David today to plan new tactics for gaining the release of 49 Americans held hostage since Nov. 4 when Iranian students seized the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

Khomeini, in a statement from his headquarters in Qom broadcast over state radio, warned that the students would blow up the embassy and kill the hostages if the United States attempts to rescue them by force.

The Carter administration said earlier this week that it hoped to end the standoff peacefully but had "other remedies" available.

If an attack occurs, Khomeini said, "Our young men have announced...they would blow up the embassy with everything in it. Should this happen, we cannot restrain those who have lived under oppression for 50 years."

In his speech, Khomeini said he read in a newspaper that "all the people of Pakistan are reported to have risen against America. This is good news for our oppressed people, for they realize they are not alone. Moslems must become a simple hand."

A Moslem mob sacked the U.S. Embassy in the Pakistani capital of Islamabad on Wednesday. The attack was fueled by rumor that the United States was behind the seizure of Islam's holiest shrine, the Grand Mosque of Mecca in Saudi Arabia.

"I call on all Moslem nations, all Moslems, all Moslem armies, all Islamic security forces and all Moslem countries' presidents to co-operate with our nation," Khomeini said. "This is not a struggle between us and America. It is between Islam and the infidel."

"They must not be afraid," Khomeini added, "thinking that America is a big power that it is a satanic power which can destroy everything in a single day. This is propaganda America cannot use its power against Moslems."

Khomeini added that "American blacks who have been subjected to U.S. oppression are now in accord with us. Even they might rise. At such a sensitive time, when we are standing up against America and its satanic plots, they must agree with us and cooperate with us."

Admiral Ahmed Madani, the Iranian naval commander, said he had placed his forces on full alert after President Carter ordered the carrier Kitty Hawk and five escort ships to sail from the Philippines into the Indian Ocean to join the carrier Midway, now cruising 600 miles south of Iran.

A Pentagon spokesman said the Iranian navy consists of 22,000 personnel and a surface force of three destroyers and eight frigates.

Militants at the embassy released five non-American hostages Thursday, and issued a statement reiterating they would not free the remaining Americans unless exiled Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi was returned to Iran for trial. Thirteen Americans, blacks and women, were released previously and deported.

The students' statement was in reply to a claim by a Palestine Liberation Organization spokesman that it had assurances the hostages would be freed if the shah was merely sent out of the United States, where he is recovering from cancer surgery, to another country.

Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, here on a one-man peace mission, said Iranian officials denied the PLO claim. He also said later in an interview with the Idaho Statesman that he had been told Iranian officials would talk about releasing the hostages if Congress investigates the regime of the former shah. He said he would request such an investigation when he returns to Washington.

The statement from the occupiers of the embassy identified the five non-Americans released as two Filipinos, a South Korean, a Pakistani and a Bangladeshi. It said they had been proven not to be spies.

The Filipinos were identified as Nestor Hidalgo, 26, and Angel Arpon, 48, both embassy employees. A Philippines official said the two were well and would return home as soon as exit visas could be secured.

Meanwhile, North Korea voiced its support and solidarity with the Iranian people's "valiant struggle for their country's sovereignty and national dignity," an apparent reference to the embassy takeover.

The statement was sent by Foreign Minister Ho Dam to his Iranian counterpart, Abolhassan Bani Sadr, the official North Korean Central News Agency said in a broadcast monitored here.

Carter Summons Top Advisors To Discuss Americans' Release

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter summoned his top foreign policy advisers to Camp David today to plan a "full-court press" aimed at gaining release of the American hostages in Iran.

White House officials said a helicopter would ferry the advisers to the Maryland mountain retreat where Carter has been spending the Thanksgiving holiday.

At the State Department, spokesman Hodding Carter promised Thursday that the government would take a "full-court press" approach to freeing the hostages. The basketball analogy he used refers to a tactic in which everyone on the team plays an aggressive defense from one end of the court to the other.

But the chief State Department spokesman, as he has ever since the crisis began, refused to discuss the options the administration is considering.

Speaking privately, however, State Department officials say the president has not ordered them to lay the groundwork for full-scale economic reprisals against Iran. At present, the administration is asking its European and Japanese allies only to continue with oil conservation programs already begun, in anticipation of a continuing shortage of oil around the globe.

Since Iran is a principal supplier of oil to West Germany, France and Japan, any massive economic sanction against the country would need their support.

The State Department had no comment on reports from the Middle East that suggested conflicting outlooks for the remaining hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

In Tunis, Tunisia, a Palestine Liberation Organization official said Iran has told the PLO the departure of the deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi from the United States to Mexico or Egypt would lead to release of the hostages.

"We do not believe the PLO has made such a statement because Yasser Arafat supports our revolution," said a statement issued by the militants holding the hostages.

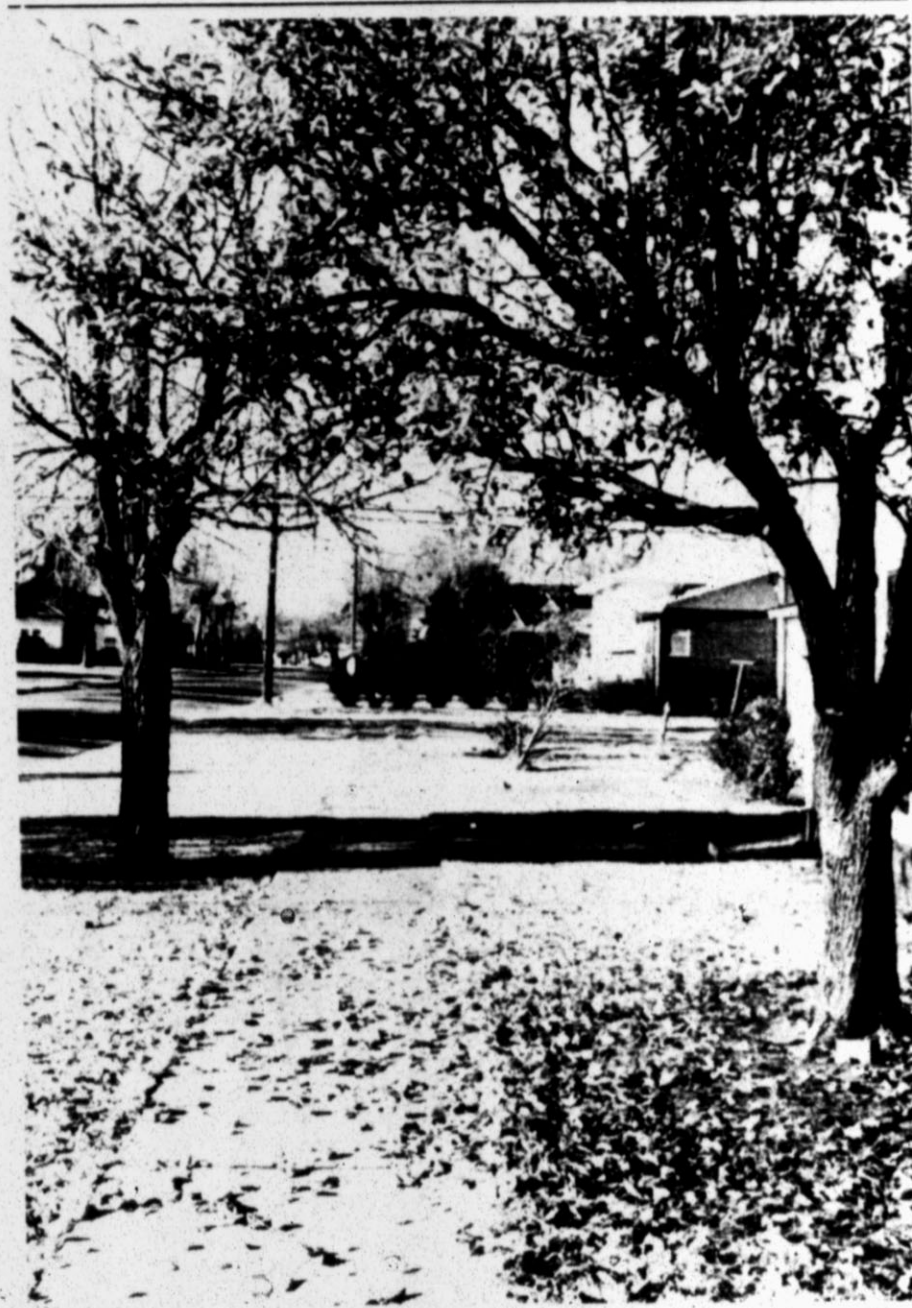

And Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, in Iran attempting to win the hostages' freedom, also said Iranian leaders denied the PLO claim.

Hansen told The Associated Press he met with Abolhassan Bani Sadr, Iran's acting foreign minister, and others and "they made it clear the PLO statement has no validity. It has been rejected."

Meanwhile, the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini referred to the continuing situation as a "war between the Moslems and the pagans."

"The Americans cannot harm us," he said. "If Iran is damaged, it means the damage of Moslem countries.... This is a war between the Moslems and the pagans." His remarks were in a statement from Qum broadcast over the state radio.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, speaking Thursday morning at a welcoming ceremony for the 13 hostages released earlier this week, said the overriding objective of the administration remains the release of the 49 Americans still held hostage in Iran.

Ambulances To Be Topic Of Joint Meeting Today

Representatives from the city commission, county commission and county hospital district board were scheduled to discuss funding and operation of an ambulance service in a meeting at 12 noon today in the Deaf Smith General Hospital board room.

The committee was expected to report next week in a meeting of the full governmental bodies on their findings today.

Recommendations are expected to be made next week on which entity should provide funding for the service this year, who should pick up the tab in future years and what type service will replace the existing funeral home-operated system.

Both Gilliland-Watson and Smith & Co. funeral homes hope to discontinue ambulance operations by Dec. 1, but have stated they will remain in the business until a replace system takes effect.

Proposals on a replacement system have been submitted by Deaf Smith General Hospital and Medical Services Inc., a Eugene, Ore., paramedic company. Neither proposal thus far has included official cost figures, although hospital Administrator Jim Bullard is expected to release today what a hospital-operated service will cost.

In a joint meeting of the three local governmental bodies Monday, MSI regional manager Tracy Skeen of Amarillo said his company might be able to provide ambulance service in Hereford for $85,000 to $90,000 and Bullard said a rough estimate for the hospital would be $70,000 to $80,000.

Skeen's proposal calls for half of the funding to be provided through governmental subsidy and half through user fees.

Death Count Up to 95

By The Associated Press

The nation's Thanksgiving holiday traffic death toll reached 95 today, with more than half the weekend and return-home trips still ahead for many.

Snow and rain hampered travel in wide areas of the country. Travel advisories remained in effect in parts of the Rockies and Plains from a blizzard earlier in the week, and a new storm blew into the Pacific Northwest and sections of the Plateau.

The National Safety Council estimated that between 500 and 600 persons might be killed on streets and highways between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Sunday.

The Thanksgiving weekend traffic toll last year was 508. The worst toll for the four-day holiday was in 1968 when 764 died.

Midwest Paralyzed by Blizzard

By BARRY HANSON
Associated Press Writer

Dozens of stranded travelers had their Thanksgiving dinner in a Nebraska National Guard armory as a blizzard that paralyzed much of the Midwest moved east, dumping up to a foot of snow in southwestern Minnesota.

The storm, which killed 10 persons earlier in the week as it roared out of the Rockies, also dropped 4 inches of snow in northern Iowa and sent temperatures plummeting to the teens in parts of Minnesota.

Dozens of motorists were forced to abandon their cars as Interstate 90 in Minnesota was nearly closed. Travelers advisories were posted Thursday night for southern Minnesota and southeastern South Dakota.

About 60 travelers at the National Guard armory in Sidney, Neb., feasted on a turkey dinner with trimmings Thursday with the help of members of Christ Episcopal Church.

"The people that worked on that project really put themselves out," said Marvin Gunderson, administrative supply technician for the armory.

"We've had a lovely Thanksgiving dinner," said Mary Young of Fairbury, who with her daughter, son-in-law and two grandchildren were forced to stay at the armory when snow made Interstate 80 impassable. "I think everybody got along beautifully."

She said the family did "a little of everything — meeting some very nice people, KP duty, helping cook, doing the dishes, playing cards. It's been warm and the hospitality has been absolutely fabulous."

Meanwhile, residents of Colorado and Wyoming were digging out from snow that dumped 17 inches on Denver and 26 inches on Cheyenne.

Maimed Commissioner Seeks Cop Killer

BESSEMER, Ala. (AP) — Max Williams is searching for a killer—the person or persons who killed a police lieutenant, left Williams partially blind and without his left hand, and wounded another city official.

"I don't care what they do to me," says Williams, the city Public Safety Commissioner. "My life's ruined anyway."

Williams was maimed when a mail bomb exploded in his second-floor office May 2, killing his good friend, police Lt. Clifford Hill, and wounding Gene Lint, the mayor's executive secretary.

The person charged with aggravated murder and two counts of attempted murder in the incident, Thomas Fullman, already has been tried once. But Circuit Judge Dan Reynolds declared a mistrial last week after the jury of eight men and four women failed to reach a verdict after nearly 12 hours of deliberations.

Fullman, a 33-year-old former Bessemer policeman, remains in jail without bond despite an attempt by his attorney to get him released. Reynolds has set Jan. 7 as the date for Fullman's retrial.

Williams said he thinks there were more people involved in the bombing, whether Fullman was involved are not.

Treasury Secretary Goes to Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary G. William Miller was en route to the Middle East today on a six-day trip in which he will emphasize U.S. hopes that Saudi Arabia will maintain its high level of oil production.

The price of oil, which is likely to rise again in the months ahead, also will be on the agenda of the discussions Miller will hold in Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Abu Dhabi.

Although the trip was planned months ago, it has taken on added importance because of the recent turmoil at Mecca in Saudi Arabia where Moslem extremists seized the Great Mosque, Islam's holiest shrine.

That incident is considered of major concern not just to Saudi Arabia's ruling royal family, but also to the United States, which sees oil from Saudi Arabia as the key to maintaining prosperity in the United States and the industrial world.

With Iran now solidly in the camp of nations hostile to the United States, Americans say friendly relations with Saudi Arabia, which supplies 24 percent of U.S. oil imports, are vital to the nation's future.

Woman Holds Kids In Philly Apartment

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police maintained a vigil today outside an apartment in a north Philadelphia housing project where an armed woman was holding two of her six children at gunpoint.

Sandra Spicer, 35, had taken the children hostage shortly after 2:30 p.m. Thursday during a dispute with her father, police said. The hostages were identified as Renette Johnson, 19, and Donald Johnson, 12, children by a previous marriage.

Police, who were negotiating with the woman by telephone, said she was armed with a .32-caliber revolver and was demanding to see President Carter or Mayor Frank Rizzo.

The standoff began when Mrs. Spicer barricaded herself and the two children in her father's third-floor apartment at Harrison Plaza, a 15-story highrise public housing project, police said.

Police Capt. Malcolm Kachigian said the woman moved into the apartment Wednesday with her six children.

When her father tried to explain on Thursday that there was not enough room for the family to continue living there, Mrs. Spicer pulled the gun and he ran out to summon police, Kachigian said.

The captain said she made hostages of the only children who happened to be present at the time.

Saudi Officials To Punish Harshly

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Saudi officials vowed harsh punishment for the Moslem extremists who seized Islam's holiest shrine, the Grand Mosque of Mecca.

Saudi Arabia "will not tolerate any seditious act, and will not be lenient with any group provoking such acts, whatever its color or the color of those hiding behind it," Saudi Information Minister Mohammad Abdo Yamani said Thursday after the government announced it had regained "complete control" of the giant mosque.

The 200 gunmen who stormed the mosque Tuesday, when it was filled with pilgrims celebrating the eve of the 15th Islamic century, "will face Islamic justice, which is against corruption on earth," said Foreign Minister Prince Saud AlFaisal. Saudi Arabia takes the Islamic holy book, the Koran, as law.

Saudi officials said security forces were still trying to capture the few remaining gunmen who had not been arrested by Thursday. It was not clear if the holdouts were still in the mosque.

Authorities said two civilians died and eight others were wounded in the Tuesday attack, but there was no overall official casualty count.

Absorbant Diversified

WASHINGTON (AP) — Super slurper, a blend of manmade materials and starch that can absorb up to 5,300 times its own weight in distilled water, continues to hold promise as one of the more practical inventions for agriculture in decades.

The compound, developed at the Agriculture Department's research laboratory at Peoria, Ill., between 1973 and 1977, already has been used widely to make a variety of products more absorbent, including babies' diapers, surgical bandages and kitty litter.

But evidence is being compiled rapidly that indicates super slurper's greatest benefits may show up in the production of food and other agricultural products.

Super slurpers are combinations of synthetic compounds that are combined with cereal grain starch. The material, when mingled with water, turns it into a dense gelatin.

A new report by USDA says the slurpers are now being developed and marketed by private industry for consumer use. Government and private scientists also are seeking new uses of slurpers in agriculture.

Here are some of the latest highlights about slurpers as reported by USDA:

—In field tests in Arkansas, seeds coated with slurper to hold water increased corn yields by 10 percent and grain sorghum by 17 percent to 49 percent.

—Fifty cents worth of slurper used on cotton seed returned $50 worth of increased yields in a Texas field test.

—At a Pennsylvania nursery, tree roots are being coated with slurper to help the trees retain moisture while being shipped and to help improve their survival chances when planted in hot, dry weather.

—In Florida, a company is studying slurper to help grow vegetables, trees, sod and foliage plants, and to help prepare seed trays.

One of the big potential uses for super slurper is for treatment of soil on a large scale. There are signs that this may be possible.

For example, a palm tree grower said slurper is expected to help reduce his irrigation water bill significantly from the usual $100 an acre after it is spread over soil to help it retain water.

One USDA soils scientist said the use of slurper in sand "increased the available water retained by the sand to nearly the same levels as that retained by a loam and a silt loam."

The report quoted an Iowa State University agronomy professor as noting, "A sandy soil treated with super slurper has about the same water-holding capacity as the best of the Corn Belt soils."

However, he added that while "there are situations in which slight or localized increases in available soil water would be highly beneficial" a complete modification of sandy soil by using slurper would be "prohibitively expensive" at this time.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers have built more than 1.4 billion bushels of storage the past two years under a government loan program intended to help them keep wheat, corn and other crops on their farms until they get ready to sell.

According to the latest Agriculture Department figures, 67,590 loans were made in the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30. Those totaled $678.9 million and enabled farmers to build about 684.6 million bushels of new storage.

In the previous year, the program involved 75,881 loans for $646.4 million and a storage capacity of 753.7 million bushels, according to a report provided at the request of The Associated Press.

The Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 liberalized the loan program, allowing farmers to borrow enough to build storage for two years of production. Previously, the loans were limited to a one-year harvest.

More than 4.1 billion bushels of grain storage has been built by farmers since the loan program began some years ago. According to the new figures, more than one-third of it was built in the past two years.

Additionally, the loans have enabled farmers to build storage facilities for forage and silage amounting to capacities of more than 2.9 million tons last year and 2.3 million tons in 1977-78, officials said.

The huge storage project has enabled many farmers to keep part or all of their harvests on their farms instead of having to haul it to elevators, where the storage situation is usually tight in peak seasons.

The first oil pipelines in the United States were laid about 1867 because there were not enough oaken barrels to transport all the oil being produced.

Texas Almanac, Industrial Guide Considered Milestone

The 1980-81 Texas Almanac and State Industrial Guide, now off the presses, marks a major milestone in book publishing. It is the 50th edition of its unique book since the first edition was published in Galveston in 1857.

A special article in the new edition, written by Lee Milazzo, director of archives at Southern Methodist University and book reviewer for The Dallas Morning News, traces the history of the Texas Almanac since Willard Richardson, who was the Galveston News publisher at the time, launched the enterprise.

There have been several time gaps in the book's publication, the longest being from 1873 until 1904, when publication was resumed in Dallas by A.H. Belo & Co. The Belo Corporation, publisher of The Dallas News, has been the book's publisher since that time. Throughout most of this century, it has been published every other year, except for a gap of several years during World War I.

Another article tells of the colorful and sometimes tragic history of the city of Galveston. The account and another on the Port of Galveston were written by Robert A. Nesbitt, writer, editor and former president of the Galveston Historical Foundation.

In continuing to present a section of Texas (The Hill country of Lyndon Johnson, 1976-77 edition, and Texas West of the Pecos, 1978-79 edition), the Gulf Coast of Texas is spotlighted in a special article in the new 1980-81 edition of the Texas Almanac. It was prepared by the staff of the Dallas Museum of Natural History.

Services for Roger Corbett, 75, of Los Alamos, N.M., formerly of Hereford will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Gilliland-Watson Rose Chapel with the Rev. Mack McCarter, pastor of First Christian Church officiating. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mr. Corbett died Wednesday in Fort Worth.

He was raised in Hereford and operated a dry cleaning business here before World War II.

He is survived by the widow; four sons, Tim Corbett and Roger Corbett Jr., both of Los Alamos, Buddy Corbett of Shreveport, La., and Pat Corbett of Fort Worth; a brother, Paul Corbett of Hereford and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Calet of Indianapolis, Ind.

McCathern Says Trips Unnecessary

AMARILLO — State senatorial candidate Gerald McCathern of Hereford told Amarillo High School students Wednesday that Sen. Bob Price of Pampa accomplished nothing for the state by making recent trips to Russia and Brazil.

McCathern is hoping to replace Price as District 31's senator.

"I believe the citizens of our district understand that state problems in education, law enforcement and agriculture are not going to be solved in Russia or Brazil," said McCathern, a guest teacher in Amarillo High economics classes.

This is the third year that McCathern, a farmer, has taught the importance of agriculture in relation to the economy of Amarillo at the high school.

Norman Williams To Speak Nov. 24

The Hereford Texas Chapter of Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship will sponsor guest speaker Brother Norman Williams Nov. 24 at 7 p.m. at Hereford High School Cafeteria. A buffet supper will be served from 7-7:30 p.m. and the meeting will begin at 8 p.m.

In 1977, Brother Norman was among more than 600 persons on two jetliners which collided over the Canary Islands. This was the greatest air tragedy in history up until that time. He is one of the 60 survivors of the crash which claimed more than 600 lives.

"If there is a reason I was spared, I believe it is because I'm at least a voice who will give the glory to God," Brother Norman was quoted in saying.

Born in Missouri, he attended the seminary and holds a degree in Theology and Bible. He taught and served as school administrator for 10 years and presently serves as chairman of the Board of a commercial college. He is co-author of "Terror at Tenerife" which describes a survivor's viewpoint of the plane collision.

Brother Norman has shared this experience on the 700 Club, PTL Club, as well as scores of other radio, television stations and church services.

The public is invited to attend and hear his testimony Saturday, Nov. 24.

Gas Station Loses Smokes in Break-in

A break-in at a local gas station and an incident of criminal mischief are under investigation by Hereford police following a relatively quiet Thanksgiving Day here.

A police spokesman reported that a break-in occurred at the Diamond-Shamrock station at McKinley and First sometime last night, with entry gained by breaking a window.

Apparently the only thing taken in that incident was two cartons of cigarettes.

A window at Edwards Laundry, 213 Ave. C was broken sometime early this morning in an incident of criminal mischief.

No value was placed on the window.

Both incidents are currently under investigation.

A total of seven traffic tickets were issued by city police Thursday.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor: With the present crisis in Iran, where American citizens are being held hostage, many of us feel a sense of frustration and hostility towards the Iranian government and the people who are spitting on, and burning, our beautiful flag.

Let us vent our hostility toward Iran and express our support and love for our country by displaying the American flag for as long as this crisis exists.

If readers feel this is the way they can express themselves, then dig out your flag from the mothballs, or buy a new one with 50 stars, and show your love and support for our wonderful country.

Sincerely,
Ken Klechak

Klan to Probe Seadrift

PASADENA, Texas (AP) — Ku Klux Klan leaders say they don't intend to escalate a local crab war when they ignore the wishes of Seadrift, Texas, officials and send a "fact finding team" to the coastal fishing village Saturday.

The Klan's grand dragon of Texas said in Pasadena Thursday that 10 or 15 Klansmen would conduct a "small fact finding mission" into the Aug. 3 shooting death of a Seadrift fisherman by a Vietnamese refugee.

"They are going to interview and talk to people involved in this. There will be no parade. We do plan to go to City Hall and make ourselves known," said Louis Bean, the Klan official.

Klansmen will return in force next month, the grand dragon warned, if they find evidence of an official cover up in the death of Billy Joe Aplin.

"We have received calls at our state office that there were irregularities in the investigation, that sponges used in the killing were lost or misplaced and that testimony that should have been given at the trial was not.

"We are going to try to ascertain if this is true. If it is, and authorities are not willing to act on it, we may have to go down there in force," said Bean.

"We're going to come back next month, with 200 to 300 Klansmen, and march through Seadrift and hold a demonstration if necessary," said Bean.

Seadrift City Councilmen, afraid a Klan rally could bring simmering tensions back to the boiling point, unanimously passed a resolution Tuesday night urging Klansmen to "stay away."

More than half of the community's 1,000 population packed the auditorium and cheered when the council promised, prosecution "to the full extent of the law" to any group attempting "to incite a riot, provoke violence or create any unlawful assembly."

A feud between refugees and local fishermen over the Vietnamese alleged disregard of local fishing traditions erupted in a crab war after the shooting.

Four Vietnamese boats and a Vietnamese residence were firebombed.

Many of the Seadrift's 200 Vietnamese, who fled the turmoil in their own country, packed their bags and left again in the face of mounting violence in the town on the mid-Texas coast.

Attorneys for the two Vietnamese brothers charged in the shooting said it was in self defense. A judge directed a verdict of acquittal for one of the brothers and a jury in Seguin, Texas, acquitted the other.

The village braced for a new wave of violence after the verdict, established a curfew and beefed up security patrols. However, no trouble developed.

Only two persons, including the father of the slain fisherman, spoke in favor of the Klan during the Tuesday meeting.

"All we're after is truth and justice, and we hadn't got it," said B.T. Aplin, who denied he invited the Klan to Seadrift.

"It's not unusual for some small clique of vested interest officials to be against us. But if politicians think because they have some seat of power they can keep us from demonstrating, they're sadly mistaken," said Bean.

"That was the feeling of just a small group of people, and we happen to know a large number of citizens support us. We have had some of their residents drive all the way from Seadrift to Pasadena to ask us to come down," he said.

Bean said "everything is going to be all right as long as the city officials behave themselves. If there's any trouble, it's because they provoke it, not us."

Mayor Rayburn Haynie laughed at Klan warning it would return with 200 to 300 Klansmen and said "at this point officials planned to take no special precautions for Saturday."

"I'll make it a point to find them. I'll know when they come to town. We don't care as long as there's no trouble. Let's put it this way," said Haynie, "we can get plenty of help in here in a hurry... if necessary."

Officials said Nomura's motive for hijacking the plane or wanting to go to the Soviet Union were not immediately known.

Since 1970, Japan has yielded to Red Army terrorists' demands in four major hijack cases involving Japanese planes aboard.

In 1977, then Prime Minister Takeo Fukuda, saying human lives are heavier than the earth, paid a $6 million ransom and released six convicted terrorists in exchange for 156 passengers of a JAL jetliner hijacked over India.

Plane Stolen with Bottle Opener

TOKYO (AP) — A man armed with a bottle opener and a small plastic knife hijacked a Japan Air Lines DC-10 jetliner today and diverted it to Narita Airport near Tokyo. He was overpowered by the crew after ordering that the plane be fueled for a flight to the Soviet Union.

The crew handed Kazumi Nomura over to Narita Airport police after a scuffle in the cockpit in which the pilot, Toshiyuki Nishihiro, 39, suffered minor injuries on his wrist, a JAL official said.

None of the plane's 345 passengers, the other 10 crew members or the hijacker were injured.

Nomura, a 25-year-old tile-setter from Sakai City, near Osaka, took command of the mid-day domestic flight a few minutes after take-off from Osaka Airport.

He diverted the plane to Tokyo's new international airport 40 miles outside the Japanese capital. It was originally scheduled to land at Haneda, the Tokyo airport used mainly for domestic flights.

At Narita, Nomura demanded "enough refueling" to go to the Soviet Union. Officials balked at first but gave in when Nomura, in a radio conversation with the Narita control tower, threatened to kill the co-pilot unless refueling was begun in 10 minutes, a spokesman for the national carrier said. Nomura was overpowered before the refueling was completed.

During the 90 minutes the plane sat isolated at the north end of the apron at the airport's only runway, international flights were diverted to Haneda.

JAL chairman Shozo Hotta was reported to be among the passengers on the flight, but Nomura apparently was unaware of his presence.

Camp Fire Changes Name

Portland, Ore. -- Delegates from across the country representing more than 320 Camp Fire councils and more than a half million youth voted to change the corporate name of their organization from Camp Fire Girls, Inc. to Camp Fire, Inc. The vote came during Camp Fire's national biennial congress here. A new organizational logo recently created also reflects the changed image of the agency.

Attending from the Hereford Camp Fire Council were Recie Willson, Zone 12 Youth Advisor; voting delegate Helen Langley; Cindy Norvell and Nita Lea.

As an organization, Camp Fire has been in existence since 1910--it was the first non-sectarian organization for girls in the United States. A resolution to change the agency's corporate name grew out of five years of agency reorganization which emphasized a new corporate purpose that encourages programming and advocacy on behalf of all youth. During the past five years, boys have been participating in Camp Fire at all age levels and in club and response programs. Boys currently make up eight percent of the total youth membership.

Supporting an agency name change, statistics based on data from more than 72 percent of the local councils show that more than half of all local councils are serving boys and that 51 percent of the councils have coed clubs and 50 percent also offer all boy clubs in addition to all girl clubs. The largest percentage of boys in Camp Fire is found at the Blue Bird (6-8 year old) level.

"In recent years, Camp Fire carefully studied our changing society, especially our changing expectations of what girls and boys should do and be," explained Roberta van der Voort, Ed. D., national executive director of Camp Fire. "It was concluded that what both girls and boys need most is a program which encourages the development of each individual's fullest potential."

dual's fullest potential."

Based on their findings, Camp Fire again became a leader among national youth agencies. In 1975, Camp Fire became the first national youth organization to develop a non-sexist program for both girls and boys. The term "non-sexist" in Camp Fire programming means that:

Activities are not suggested exclusively for girls or boys. Any child may try anything in Camp Fire.

All program books for adult leaders and youth members use art and words which suggest that girls and boys participate as friends and equals.

Real differences between girls and boys are recognized and children are helped to appreciate those differences.

"For many years both girls and boys have been limited by expectations of what a girl or boy should be like," Dr. van der Voort commented. "Girls should be quiet, boys should be boisterous, girls like people, boys like things. These are stereotypes and they limit the potential achievements of every child."

According to Dr. van der Voort, Camp Fire, recognizing differences between boys and girls, believes that the Camp Fire program should not try to create girls and boys who think and act exactly alike. Camp Fire offers a variety of activities from which children may choose and, in so doing, discover their own interests and talents.

The new agency logo reflects the rich heritage of symbolism inherent in Camp Fire as well as the new openness and change within the organization. Still basic components of the logo are the logs; the flame, symbolizing the hearth of the home and the campfire of the out of doors; the Wohelo triangle with the three sides symbolizing work, health and love and the red, white and blue colors, symbolizing citizenship. The flame and logs on which it rests are white with the triangle blue on the left and red on the right.

OH, THE STRUGGLE!
by JoAn Dwyer

Most of us were raised in an authoritarian home. Our parents said, "Do it because I told you to." We know this attitude doesn't work with today's kids, but we're not really sure how to approach the matters of rules, discipline, and order without authority.

The reason power and force don't work is the cultural change our society has undergone. Democratic attitudes prevail in every area of a child's life. Consequently, our children tend to resent our attempts at ultimate authority. (I always think of what grandpa in L'il Abner says, "I HAS SPOKEN".)

The little kid who says, "You can't make me do it" is exactly right! You can't! You may get by with physical force when they are toddlers, but the larger they get, the harder it is to control a kid by brute strength.

Watch the pitfalls of a power struggle. If you find yourself becoming frustrated and angry, back off and reassess the situation. Be calm and deliberate. This attitude can eliminate any investment you may have had in the situation and help everyone get through the crisis with a bit of dignity still intact.

Proper behavior must be stimulated, not demanded. If we use the same tact, humor and ingenuity that we employ with other adults, we'll find that children, too, react in a cooperative spirit.

If the kid is brought up in an atmosphere of cooperation, stimulation, and encouragement you'll find he doesn't outgrow those elements of communication.

And the struggle will be, oh, so much easier!

Grandma's Remedy

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your suggestion to the grandma on Social Security wasn't very practical. In fact, it was dumb. The poor woman wanted to know how she could remember each of her 36 grandchildren at Christmas time on her limited income. You suggested that she bake them cookies.

Apparently you haven't done much grocery shopping lately. Do you know what a pound of butter costs? Have you priced chocolate chips and walnuts? Can you even guess what milk and eggs run into? I can tell you that 36 batches of cookies, plus the mailing, would add up to quite a sum. This isn't even taking into account the energy required to bake, box and mail the stuff.

I have a better idea and it wouldn't cost more than a stamp for the out-of-towners and few hours of time for those in town. Grandma could "hold forth" at a gathering for the kids in the same age group (in-towners, of course). The event could be held at her daughter's or son's house. They could call it "Grandma's Christmas gift." (Daughter- or daughter-in-law could prepare hot cocoa and make the cookies).

Gram could tell wonderful stories about how she grew up--what life was like 60 years ago--what school was like, how kids dressed, how much things cost, what they did for entertainment. She could relate stories about their own parents. (They'd love it!) A family album would surely provide a lot of laughs. It could be a terrific afternoon. The kids would not only enjoy it, but they would learn from it.

Gram could then write letters to the out-of-town grandchildren and report on how the get-togethers went. That could be their Christmas "gift."

Please print this, Ann. It's a good example of how imagination can substitute for money and produce a more soul-satisfying present.--Green Bay, Wisc.

DEAR GREEN (OR PERHAPS I'M THE GREEN ONE): Your suggestion is far more practical and substantive than mine. You are right--I haven't done much grocery shopping lately and must plead ignorance on that score. As for the energy output required to bake, pack and mail cookies for 36 kids, well--I plead insanity.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Will you set us straight on two matters of etiquette? First: Is it proper to wear white tie and tails whenever a tuxedo is required? My friend says white tie and tails are appropriate only for affairs of state and the opening of the opera and Dracula movies.

Second: Is it correct to raise a pinky while drinking from a coffee or tea cup?--Buzz And Roddy

DALLAS SMITH'S GINGER CAKES

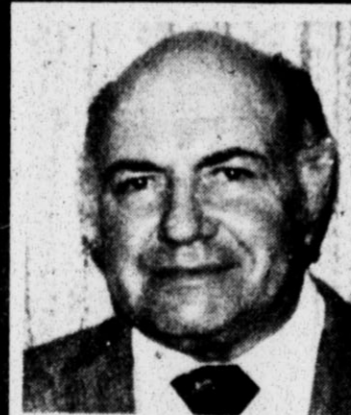

- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
 - 1 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1 teaspoon ginger
 - 1/2 cup butter
 - 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
 - 1/2 cup molasses
 - 1 large egg
 - 1/2 cup commercial sour cream
- On wax paper or in a medium mixing bowl, with a fork, stir together flour, soda, cinnamon and ginger. In a large bowl thoroughly beat together butter and sugar; beat in, until smooth each time, the molasses, egg and sour cream. With a spoon, gradually stir in flour mixture until smooth. (Mixture will be very soft.) Drop level tablespoons, 2 inches apart, onto greased and floured cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center of a cookie comes out clean and bottom of cookie is browned--about 10 minutes. Remove at once to wire racks to cool. AAUW Convenes For Energy Program

The American Association of University Women met Monday evening in the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room with guest speakers Bob Beato, Conoco engineer from Albuquerque, N.M. and Buddy Thompson, also with Conoco from Canyon.

Twenty-five members and guests were present with hostesses Virginia Garner and Lores Teters.

Beato presented a program, "Energy and the Free World" to those present. He stressed "putting a ceiling on everything we buy or sell, but not on imports."

Quoting on the energy resources, Beato stated, "We, as citizens, need to be more informed in our desire to achieve independence from other countries in the way of energy resources.

"Energy is not cheap--we cannot replace the energy we had 10 years ago. We are in need of finding new ways to improve our means of energy and cannot wait until 1990."

He also stated, "For every gallon of gasoline we sell we send 50 cents to other countries. Motivation is the key to having energy in the very near future."

Refreshments were served following the program and the meeting was adjourned.

Christmas Dinner Planned by Lodge

Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met in regular session Tuesday evening in IOOF Temple with 18 members present.

Noble Grand Helen Sowell presided during the business session, during which reports were made on sick members and friends.

As a result of the good attendance and fellowship enjoyed recently during a Thanksgiving supper, members voted to have a similar dinner for the Christmas holidays. The Christmas party is scheduled Dec. 11 at the IOOF Temple. All Rebekahs, Odd Fellows and their families will be invited.

Susie Curtisinger was hostess to Helen Sowell, Verna Sowell, Anna Conklin, Ada Hollabaugh, Frances Parker, Leona Sowell, Peggy Lemons, Faye Brownlow, Sadie Shaw, Nellie Beauford, Martha Bridges, Glessie Shelton, Lydia Hopson, Bessie Lawrence, Ola Hacker, Edna Mathes and Guy Lawrence.

The Parent Teacher Organization provided Thanksgiving turkey and dressing at Walcott School Tuesday evening. Members of the Hereford Chamber Singers provided entertainment for the special occasion.

Highlighting the evening was the recognition of 49 students who read a total of 772 books in a fund raising effort for the March of Dimes.

Those students participating in the read-a-thon raised $494.40 which was presented in a check to Mrs. Dallas

Donaldson, local representative for the March of Dimes from Amarillo.

Mrs. Donaldson presented a film, "Helping Hands" and also presented students with Olympic-size medals.

Children reading 1-9 books received a bronze medal, nine of these were presented. Those reading 10-19 books received a silver medal, 24 of these were presented, and those reading 20 books or more received a gold medal, which 16 of these were presented.

Sharon McCullar received a trophy for reading a total of 43 books in a six week period. Lesa Page also received a trophy for raising the most money, $50.

Vigilante Wins Seat

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Gunning vigilante Anthony Imperiale glibly says his personal heroes include actors John Wayne, Humphrey Bogart and James Cagney. But no famous names spring to his lips when asked who should play Anthony Imperiale in a film being planned by Columbia Pictures.

After a long pause, he answered. "That's a tough one—I really don't know. I don't think I'll be in it...but I do want it to tell the whole story."

The whole story will have to wrap up Imperiale the vigilante, the private detective, the 300-pound martial arts expert, the politician. Especially the politician.

As Imperiale retold it, the trigger clicked but the gun jammed, and he downed the holdup man with a martial arts kick.

Imperiale said his night patrols are still needed because the police aren't doing their job. "If there was trouble, I could get 25 people here in 10 minutes," he said.

The police, of course, rankle at Imperiale's criticism and regard him as a particularly bothersome thorn in their side, but there is no action they can take against his vigilante activities.

After several scotches and water, Imperiale left the bar and headed for home, a compact, two-story brick fortress surrounded by wire fence. The Imperiales have four sons and a daughter.

In a parking area behind the house are parked three of five police cars he bought at a recent auction.

"The other two are out on patrols," he said.

In his den, Imperiale displayed part of his 300-piece gun collection, which includes 150 rifles lined against the wall.

He spoke with pride of his home's security system, which he devised after reading a book on how German officers pro-TECTED THEMSELVES during World War II.

"Nobody could get in here," he said. "It they do get in, they'd never get out."

If some unsuspecting soul decided to break into the den through a window, tear gas canisters would explode automatically, he said. If the intruder somehow made it through the tear gas, he would have to contend with Tovia, Imperiale's specially trained attack dog.

The system is for the security of his family, he said. "The violence that exists today makes me want to have that security."

Oil Costs More Wherever

Interesting how Americans whimper and take it when Arab nations blackmail us with usurious prices for oil.

Yet we squeal and squawk and shake our fists in the faces of American oilmen who are asking a similar price for American petroleum.

American oil money stays in America; it drills more holes; produces more oil, creates more jobs—in America.

Yet, instead of encouraging more home-front production, the President and Congress are seeking ways and means of punishing home-front producers.

Bankers, like lawyers, have a language of their own which is sometimes difficult for the rest of us to translate but too much is at stake for us not to try.

Headlines about "High Oil Company Profits" have misled many Americans and enough members of Congress so that we're about to legislate a self-defeating mistake.

Bankers Trust Co. has projected what it is going to cost us to drill deeper, where remaining oil reserves are, and to seek secondary recovery from marginal oil fields.

Just to maintain 88 percent of our present domestic oil and gas production (while we develop synthetic fuels) over the next 10 years will require a capital investment of $20 billion this year escalating to $142 billion by 1990.

That is bad news. Even if our nation maintains a 3 percent annual growth rate, even if inflation is held under 10 percent, industry—or somebody—is going to have to invest a lot of money we don't have and don't expect to have.

The capital costs of stabilizing production will increase by a factor of seven while the money available for the purpose will increase by only a factor of three.

Now, the old law of supply and demand would take care of this problem. We would pay more for gas and oil, the oil companies could reinvest that higher price in deeper holes, and we would gradually replace cheap old energy with more costly new energy.

But if politicians make whipping boys of the oil producers, if politicians slap a "windfall profits tax" on oil producers, there is no way to replenish our domestic supply.

Politicians who say they want our country to be "energy independent" and then say they also want a tax which will curtail domestic drilling are either naive or deceitful.

When whatever politician gets to your town these next months soliciting your vote, ask him some of the definitive questions.

If he can't be any more constructive than to recommend "more government," "more taxes," "more regulation" forget him.

Let's elect lawmakers who will encourage in all ways the development of more energy of all kinds.

Then competition among the options will take care of the price.

Winds Slow Workers In Oil Spill Cleanup

GALVESTON, Texas (AP)—Northerly winds kept oil spilled from the bowels of a battered tanker at sea and away from where 70 workmen spent Thanksgiving cleaning the crude-soaked beaches on this tourist island.

Coast Guard spokesman Larry Clark said Thursday that the tanker Burmah Agate was still afloat and leaking oil, but the northerly winds prevented any more crude oil from washing ashore on Galveston Island.

"It's fairly breezy. We've got north winds of 30 knots, gusting to 40 knots, which should disperse the oil," said Clark.

However, the gusty winds halted skimming operations and grounded helicopters used to track the drift of the spill.

"Without an overflight, we can't tell which way the slick is moving," said Clark.

The Burmah Agate, laden with 390,000 barrels of crude oil, and the freighter Mimosa, also of Liberian registry, collided Nov. 1 near the mouth of the Galveston Ship Channel.

The bodies of 17 crewmen have been recovered and 15 remain missing.

The volatile cargo has fueled a fire that has raged for 21 days on the tanker and triggered numerous explosions that have battered the vessel's charred hull.

Firefighters have been frustrated in efforts to suffocate the blaze and the sporadic explosions have posed a constant threat.

Authorities had decided to let the fire burn itself out, but Clark said when the weather improves a new method may be tried to extinguish the flames.

The tug Hudson is loaded with a special foam that will be pumped into the compartments in order to isolate the tanks and centralize the fire. The foam will bubble to the top and smother it," he said.

Clark said clean-up efforts were being concentrated on Jamaica Beach, the area hit

Hawaii Governor Declares Disaster

HONOLULU (AP)—Portions of Hawaii Island hit by last weekend's torrential rains and floods which caused an estimated $5 million damage have been declared a major disaster area by Gov. George Ariyoshi.

The action made victims of flood damage eligible for state assistance, including low-interest loans.

Hardest hit was picturesque Waipio Valley, where flood waters destroyed most of the taro crop and severely damaged the land. During the height of the flooding Sunday, about 50 valley residents were evacuated by National Guard and county helicopters.

One person was missing and presumed dead as a result of the two-day downpour that drenched the entire eastern coast of Hawaii's "Big Island."

Mary Smith, 58, a schoolteacher at the small community of Waimea, has been missing since Friday night and was last known to be returning to her home at Honokaa during the storm, police said.

Her small convertible, battered almost beyond recognition, was found Tuesday in a pond in a gulch about 1,000 yards below a road which led to her home. Police suspect she was swept away by the flood waters.

Rep. Daniel K. Akaka says he will inspect the flood damage Sunday and confer with state and county officials as part of his effort to get President Carter to declare a federal disaster area.

Kennedy Campaign Focuses on Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP)—When politicians pick their issues, not many choose to contend that their constituents are beset by a crisis of confidence.

That is customarily the ammunition of a challenger, not the argument of an incumbent.

But President Carter turned that around, and now Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is making the most of it, arguing that the crisis is not in the people but in their leadership.

That fits nicely with a Kennedy campaign strategy that so far has concentrated on broad statements about leadership instead of specific programs and proposals.

"Before the last election, we were told that Americans were honest, loving, good, decent and compassionate," Kennedy said in declaring his candidacy against Carter. "Now, the people are blamed for every national ill, and scolded as greedy, wasteful and mired in malaise...."

"Is it because our present leadership does not understand that we are willing, even anxious, to be on the march again?" Kennedy said. "The only thing that paralyzes us today is the myth that we cannot move."

The rhetoric is ringing, but so far, Kennedy has not spelled out in any detail his plans to dispel the myth, and the directions in which he would move.

Still, Carter raised the subject himself with his midsummer warning of a crisis of confidence that "is threatening to destroy the social and political fabric of America."

Now the president's pollster has produced another appraisal of what he calls the nation's pessimism and gloom, saying that the crisis of which Carter spoke is real and dangerous.

Patrick H. Caddell says that the people are losing faith in the ability of the nation's institutions and leaders to be responsive or to solve their problems.

"So long as people do not have enough faith to support solutions, it is difficult to imagine that problems of energy, inflation or others can be effectively solved," Caddell said in an analysis published by Public Opinion, a journal of the American Enterprise Institute.

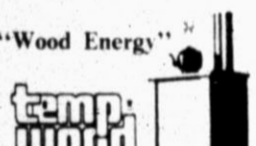

"One simple—and too often simple-minded—explanation is to blame the entire problem on Jimmy Carter," he says. While he concedes mistakes and misjudgments at the White House may have contributed to the problem, Caddell traces it to a decade of shocks: war, Watergate, economic woes and energy.

FAITH WILL REVEAL THE JOY OF FORGIVENESS

you are burdened with a feeling of resentment against someone who has wronged you in the past you are bringing far more unhappiness to yourself than to the person whose action you resent. The Bible tells us to love one another, and to love is to forgive, no matter how serious the offense. If the Son of God, whose teachings you follow, was able to forgive those who had subjected Him to the most heinous crime in all history, you can forgive someone a far lesser offense. Go to your Church and learn how love brings peace and happiness, while resentment can cause only misery to yourself and those around you.

"And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any: that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive your trespasses."
— Mark 11:25

To err is human, to forgive divine.

Cowboys Blow Fuse, Can't Count Up to 11!

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The famed Dallas Cowboys computer blew a fuse Thursday when it couldn't count to 11.

The monumental mistake, courtesy of Dallas' specialty teams, gave the Houston Oilers a second chance, and they cashed the boner for the game-winning touchdown and a wild, 30-24 National Football League victory.

It all happened like this: On fourth-and-four from the Dallas 37, Cliff Parsley punted. However, Dallas, thinking Houston was going to try a field goal, was confused.

The referees counted 12 Cowboys on the field and David Stalls was the odd man out.

The 5-yard penalty moved the ball to the Cowboys 32, and on the next down, quarterback Dar. Pastorini rifled a touchdown pass to Ken Burroughs.

While Pastorini was applying the coup de gras with 7:54 to play, Cowboys specialty team coach Mike Ditka was spiking his clipboard on the sidelines and shouting at Stalls.

Then he shouted at Coach Tom Landry in an exchange along the troubled Cowboy bench.

"It was a critical error," Landry said later. "You'll have to ask Mike Ditka just what happened." However, Ditka was a no-show in the Cowboys dressing room after the game and couldn't be questioned about the matter.

"It would have been a tough go without that," said Houston Coach Bum Phillips. "It was the critical play of the game."

The victory put Houston a half-game ahead of Pittsburgh in the American Conference Central Division with a 10-3 record, while the Cowboys dropped a half-game behind Philadelphia and Washington, with an 8-5 ledger.

"They (the Cowboys) may be America's team, but we're Texas' team," said Phillips. "I wouldn't have it any other way. This was probably the most emotional game I've ever been involved in."

It was a game of Roger Staubach versus Earl Campbell.

Campbell dashed for touchdowns on runs of 61 and 27 yards and finished the day with 195 yards on 33 carries.

Staubach completed touchdown passes of 56 yards to Drew Pearson and 21 yards to Robert Newhouse and had statistics of 21 of 30 for 287 yards.

Dallas built a 21-17 halftime lead before young Mike Renfro, who was a Cowboy waterboy when his father served as an assistant coach in the 1960s, snagged a 47-yard touchdown pass from Pastorini.

Rafael Septien's 44-yard field goal set the stage for the fourth quarter faux pas by the Cowboys and the game-winning touchdown pass by Pastorini.

It was the first time Houston had beaten Dallas in the regular season in three tries, and gave them five victories in a row for the first time since 1962.

Campbell said, "To me, this game is like Oklahoma and Texas. But I'll never forget this stadium because it is where I made my debut as a rookie."

Defensive end Elvin Bethea said, "The biggest thing that happened was them having 12 men on the field. Our defense sputtered some the last three quarters, but we proved again, though I hate to keep saying it, we're a pressure team."

The loss meant the Cowboys must win their last three games to claim the NFC East title.

"If we play this good the rest of the way, we'll do all right," said Landry. "We played very well offensively, and we had a chance to win at the last."

Pastorini said of the Oiler effort, "I won't jump for joy because we beat Dallas. It's just another win on the way to the Super Bowl."

Herd Cagers Debut Saturday Against Pampa

The Hereford Whiteface basketball team makes its home debut Saturday night at La Plata Gym, taking on the Pampa Harvesters. A sophomore game is set for 4 p.m., and the junior varsity plays at 5:30. Tipoff for the varsity clash is 7:30.

The Herd cagers opened the season Tuesday in Amarillo and lost a 56-43 decision on the varsity squad, seeking to find the right combination for his five starters.

The Whiteface girls, 1-1 after two games, will travel to Pampa for games Saturday night. Coach Larry Sowers was pleased with the team's victory over Amarillo Tuesday—a 43-42 thriller. He thought the team had first-game "jitters" in the opening loss to Palo Duro.

Both teams will be hosts in the annual Hereford Tournament on Nov. 29 through Dec. 1. The format of the tourney has been changed this year to include both boys' and girls' teams.

Lions Upset Bears, 20-0

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Memo to CBS-TV: If you're looking for a prime-time show about a struggling young professional football team with a patient, understanding coach, Monte Clark and the Detroit Lions would like to volunteer.

It would be a real grabber. The team would lose its quarterbacks to injuries and start the season with a raw rookie calling signals. The club would be 1-11, taking an eight-game losing streak into a nationally televised Thanksgiving Day game against the rough, tough Chicago Bears, who would be riding a four-game, winning string and talking about the playoffs.

The rest is elementary. In the Big Game, with the whole nation glued to its television sets, the quarterback — a blond matinee idol — and the fun-loving defensive end — who wears an earring in one ear off the field — lead the team to a 20-0 victory and everyone agrees it's the best Thanksgiving ever.

And listen. The Lions could go into production immediately because they rehearsed the whole show Thursday and pulled it off with a letter-perfect dress rehearsal. They played it before a house of 66,219 National Football League fans in the Silverdome and drew rave reviews. Even the Chicago critics said it was a good show.

"We talked about the fact that the whole country was watching today," Clark said after the game. "This was our chance to show the nation what we're made of."

Clark said game balls were given to quarterback Jeff Komlo and defensive end Al "Bubba" Baker.

Komlo, a 6-foot-2, 205-pounder out of Delaware, hit on 16 of 30 pass attempts for 244 yards and one touchdown, despite throwing three interceptions.

Baker, the second-year giant who was All-Pro as a rookie, had four sacks as the Lions' defense held Walter Payton and the potent Bears offense to just 220 total yards — only 54 of them by Payton, who was the league's No. 2 rusher going into the game.

It was the first time all season the Lions had appeared on national television; their other games have been regional telecasts. Clark and Komlo said it made the team play harder. Baker said the cameras made no difference.

"The national television means nothing, to tell you the truth," Baker said. "It just adds pressure."

"You have to be man enough when you're losing to keep your shirt on. Then, when your number comes up on a day like today, you're ready."

Chicago Coach Neill Armstrong said he felt the Bears beat themselves.

"Just like when we won, we won as a team," Armstrong said. "Today we lost the same way. Neither our offense nor our special teams executed very well."

"Our defense gave us the ball three times on pass interceptions in good field positions but we couldn't take advantage of them," added Armstrong.

The Bears slipped to 7-6 with the defeat, but still retain a slim hope of making the playoffs. The Lions are 2-11.

"Monte's believed in us," Komlo said. "He hasn't criticized us. That's the thing that's been so valuable to us. We haven't gotten down on one another."

Komlo connected with Leonard Thompson on a 22-yard pass play in the second quarter

Whiteface Basketball Team

Parman, Norman Hill, and Keith Adams. Whiteface head basketball coach is Bobby Decker. Suarez is the only returning letterman on the squad. The team will host the annual Hereford Tourney at La Plata Gym Nov. 29 through Dec. 1.

Oklahoma Nebraska Game in Spotlight

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Oklahoma and Nebraska are clearly the Big Two in the Big Eight.

Since the World War II, those two college football superpowers have won or shared the conference championship 32 times.

And Saturday, one of them will make it 33.

"The game will be a great one, probably a classic," says Oklahoma halfback Dave Overstreet as the Sooners prepare to meet the Cornhuskers in Oklahoma once more for the Big Eight championship. "The teams are pretty evenly matched, and at the end of the one that makes the fewest mistakes will be victorious. I am very confident that we will be that team."

The winner will get a trip to the Orange Bowl to meet No. 5 Florida State. The loser won't do too badly, either, gaining a spot in the Cotton Bowl against the Southwest Conference champion.

The Sooners, who have lost only to Texas in 10 games thus far and are ranked No. 8 nationally, have won 17 Big Eight titles outright and shared six others. Nebraska, 10-0 heading into this big showdown and ranked No. 3, has been undisputed conference champions six times and shared it on three other occasions.

"If the defense plays to its potential, I don't think we will have any problems," says Oklahoma tackle Keith Gary. "But the offense will have to move the ball well to insure a victory for us. It all comes down to a defensive struggle in the end, though, because both teams have excellent offensive units and it will be up to the defenses to contain their opponents."

Halfback Billy Sims, last year's Heisman Trophy winner, is the big gun for Oklahoma, while Jarvis Redwine is Nebraska's star in two of the nation's most awesome running attacks.

In another traditional and meaningful game Saturday, fourth-ranked Southern Cal will play UCLA in the Los Angeles Coliseum. If the Trojans win as expected, they will make another of their perennial trips to the Rose Bowl, where they'll meet Ohio State. The Trojans are led by one of the nation's classiest tailbacks, Charles White, and quarterback Paul McDonald.

Starting with ninth-ranked Houston, which played Texas Tech today, the four teams still in contention for the SWC title will be in action this weekend. Sixth-ranked Texas will host No. 17 Baylor and No. 7 Arkansas will meet SMU in a night game Saturday.

Elsewhere, 10th-ranked Brigham Young plays San Diego State for the Western Athletic Conference title and a berth in the Holiday Bowl Dec. 21 in San Diego.

The Cougars are led by passing sensation Marc Wilson, who can close out his spectacular season with a 10th straight 300-yard passing day.

"We have to get pressure on Wilson or he's going to eat you alive," said San Diego State Coach Claude Gilbert.

Wilson, who already holds or shares seven NCAA records, has thrown for 25 touchdowns passes and a remarkable 3,442 yards. By comparison, Dan Fouts of the San Diego Chargers — pro football's passingest team team — has 2,911 yards in 12 games.

Clemson, the nation's 13th-ranked team, plays No. 19 South Carolina and No. 18 Tulane takes on LSU in other games Saturday (involving the nation's Top Twenty teams. In another game today, Florida State plays arch-rival Florida.

Among other games Saturday between long-standing rivals: Georgia-Georgia Tech; North Carolina-Duke; Mississippi-Mississippi State; Kansas-Missouri; Oregon-Oregon State and Arizona-Arizona State.

Steelers, Denver, Cardinals Picked to Win Pro Battles

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

You have to give Cincinnati and St. Louis credit. Week after week, they get beat and still show up for the next game. It's something like your friendly Pro Picker.

This week the Cardinals and Bengals get a break from the schedulemaker. Instead of facing powerhouses, they go against each other. The AFC vs. NFC formula says Cincinnati but the Picker, who loves underdogs, occasionally, will take a chance on the Cardinals.

Last week's 9-5 was followed by an 0-2 on Thanksgiving Day. That made the season's log 104-64 for .619.

The Picks:
ST. LOUIS 31, CINCINNATI 13: A picnic for Otis Anderson against Bengals' porous defense.

NEW ENGLAND 33, BUFFALO 17: Enough of this up and down stuff for the Patriots. The time has come for them to assert themselves.

PITTSBURGH 27, CLEVELAND 10: No last minute heroes this week for Brian Sipe and Co. They won't be close enough at the end.

SAN DIEGO 23, KANSAS CITY 14: Charger defense is improving every week and after the Steeler romp, this team is sky high.

MIAMI 20, BALTIMORE 10: Yes, on the road and yes, with Don Strock at quarterback instead of benched Bob Griese.

DENVER 24, OAKLAND 10: Breathe in. Now exhale. That thin air is great, isn't it? The Broncos sure think so.

LOS ANGELES 30, SAN FRANCISCO 17: Rams beat the 49ers when their northern neighbors were good. Now they're not so good.

TAMPA BAY 24, MINNESOTA 7: Bucs smell title now and the Vikings won't interfere.

NEW ORLEANS 31, ATLANTA 10: Payback time for the Saints who have lost some toughies to the Falcons the last two years.

PHILADELPHIA 16, GREEN BAY 7: The key question is whether kicker Tony Franklin's bare foot will survive the Wisconsin deep freeze.

WASHINGTON 20, N.Y. GIANTS 14: This one's too important for the Redskins to let get away.

SEATTLE 31, N.Y. JETS 13 (Monday night): Wait'll Jim Zorn gets a look at that New York secondary.

Bucks Defeat Nets

PISCATAWAY, N.J. (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks defeated the New Jersey Nets but it wasn't easy on their coach.

"That was a tough game on me," Milwaukee Bucks Coach Don Nelson said Thursday night after his team's 117-109 victory.

"We built a comfortable lead in the first half, stopped hitting in the third when the Nets pressured the ball, and then finally put it back together in the fourth period."

Milwaukee, was ahead 66-49 at the half, but was tied at 83 at the end of three periods.

In the night's only other NBA game, the Cleveland Cavaliers defeated the Golden State Warriors 120-93.

The first vaccination took place May 14, 1796, when Edward Jenner, an English doctor, drew off fluid from a blister on the hand of a milkmaid who had acquired cowpox from a diseased cow. He inoculated a healthy boy with the fluid which was given the name vacca, a Latin word for cow. This was the beginning of the prevention of smallpox by vaccination.

Woman, Men Charged In Engineers' Slaying

KOUNTZE, Texas (AP) — A discussion overheard at Baggs, Wyo., has resulted in capital murder charges filed against two men and a woman in connection with the execution-style slayings of two civil engineers in Southeast Texas earlier this month.

Three Texas officers flew to Wyoming on Thursday to take Virginia, Keefe, 19, into custody. She and two men — Glen Burton Ake, 24, and Steven Keith Hatch, 25 — are charged in the slayings of the engineers.

Hardin County Sheriff Billy Paine said Ms. Keefe gave a statement after being arrested Tuesday night in Baggs, Wyo. A man called authorities and said he overheard the woman discussing a double slaying with two men. The men drove away

Trickiest Holiday Ever Forthcoming

NEW YORK (AP) — This could be the trickiest holiday selling season in many years, one to test the marketing skills and courage of sellers and the financial inventiveness and determination of buyers.

Both groups have sharpened those skills throughout these volatile years of the 1970s, but the past might no longer be a guide. More than the calendar is changing; the economic world is too.

If you were a merchant, dependent on a good show during the holidays, how would you adjust to higher interest rates, tighter money, rising prices, declining buying power and gnawing fears of the future?

Would you keep inventories lean, and risk being unable to fill orders? Offer your own brand of credit financing and then be unable to collect? Sink dollars into promotion, and then not get the orders? Lower prices?

As a customer, will you decide that less buying power means you must reduce purchases? Are you willing to buy on credit and leave to next year the worries about paying? Can you get credit? Do you want it?

The fact is that the consumer's ability to buy has been curtailed by reason of inflation growing faster than incomes. So far this year, that lost income exceeds 1 percent, or more than $150 on a $15,000 income.

There has been an expedient route around this hard fact, of course, by means of credit buying. Families also reduced their rate of savings, to just above 4 percent a year, and spent the money instead.

These practices helped maintain sales at near last year's level. In fact, sales actually rose in August and September, even when adjusted for inflation, although much of the gain was from the new car market.

But consumer attitudes may be changing. People already are loaded with credit and they are worried about it. They are now delaying purchases of new cars. Apparel and home durable sales have been off sharply.

Moreover, the holiday season coincides with one of the harshest programs of monetary restraint ever attempted by the Federal Reserve, a program whose impact can be measured financially and psychologically.

All this may mean a change of buying habits that could extend through the holidays, but if so, it will be countered by aggressive selling by merchants. And aggressive selling often means discounts.

To what extent retailers will have to rely on discounting won't be clear for another two weeks. By then they will understand the mood of the buyer, and the buyer's willingness and ability to spend.

It might be the retail battle of the decade, a classic between buyer and seller, the first big battle to decide whether the Federal Reserve's anti-inflation policy will or will not work.

and eluded the town marshal.

The men earlier waived extradition to Oklahoma, where they face first-degree murder charges in another slaying — the Oct. 15 shooting deaths of an Oklahoma City minister and his wife. The couple's two teenage children were bound and shot, but survived. Ms. Keefe was not charged in the Oklahoma slayings.

Ake and Hatch were arrested Wednesday morning in Craig, Colo., about 35 miles south of Baggs, after a rancher freed himself and called police to report two men who had tied him up and shot his dog.

The bodies of Dale Kokenes, 35, and Yerby Land III, 27, were found Nov. 4 in the small white frame house Land rented in Lumberton, a community in extreme south Hardin County, about 10 miles north of Beaumont. They were killed two days earlier, authorities believe.

Kokenes, who lived in Beaumont, had met Land while both worked as civil engineers for Blount Industries on a construction project on a sewer treatment plant in Austin four years ago. Later, they worked together on a project in Saudi Arabia.

Accompanying Paine on his flight to Casper, Wyo., were Haskell Taylor, a Texas Ranger, and V.J. Varderman, a criminal investigator for the district attorney's office.

The officers planned to fly back to Texas with Ms. Keefe Saturday, then go to Oklahoma City next week to question Ake and Hatch. The next Hardin County grand jury is scheduled for Dec. 10.

Individual calorie needs

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I want to comment in reference to your column about the lady who was unable to lose weight even though she only consumed a 1300-calorie diet and engaged in a vigorous exercise program daily. I gather you felt that she either couldn't count calories well or might not be telling the truth. But I am like her and I know other women with the same problem.

I use the term hypometabolic to describe this condition. It's a slow metabolism that's not hypothyroid. I take one grain of thyroid and can burn nine calories per pound of body weight for 24 hours if I also follow a program of long-distance running. Of course, I only weigh 100 pounds so I can only eat about 900 calories a day.

I think there are a number of women who have this problem and they have difficulties because they ask advice from a male-dominated medical establishment. Instead of getting help, they're humiliated. We're told we're not possible and we can't count or that we're crazy or liars or all of the above. Maybe after doctors admit we exist they will be able to study this problem and help us.

DEAR READER — Anybody who has choking, dull pain in the chest should see his physician and have a good medical evaluation. It may or may not be associated with heart disease.

The fact that you have a normal electrocardiogram does not mean that you can't have heart pain. Many people who have intermittent heart pain have perfectly normal electrocardiograms while they are at rest. That's why doctors sometimes have to do more sophisticated tests to find out what's causing the chest discomfort. This might include electrocardiograms taken with exercise or, in certain cases, special X-rays of the coronary arteries to the heart muscle.

Heart pain is not consistent. That's why it's so hard to tell from the story alone in many instances what a person has. If you're having heart pain associated with exertion, it should occur in your basement as well as outside walking.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-10, Heart Attack, Myocardial Infarction, Angina Pectoris, so you can have a better idea of the symptoms these problems cause. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Heart attacks do not cause tingling such as pins and needles in the fingers and toes. Overbreathing or hyperventilation may, and it can also cause chest discomfort. Often hyperventilation is associated with anxiety. I wouldn't be surprised if you were anxious in view of having some chest discomfort and not knowing what's causing it.

I note that you live in Canada. In some people, walking in cold weather and particularly into a cold wind will precipitate chest pain from heart disease. Then people who have asthma may not tolerate exertion and cold combined. That may have something to do with the difference in your tolerance to walking outside as opposed to exercising in your basement.

In any case, I would recommend weight control, not smoking cigarettes and, most important, seeing your doctor to discuss what your problem is so you can be diagnosed and treated properly.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer
Eliminate dog odor

DEAR POLLY — The people who formerly lived in my apartment had a dog and they must have left it locked up in the apartment for long periods as I cannot get rid of the odor of urine. I have tried different cleaners and deodorizers but nothing has helped. — OUT OF IDEAS

DEAR READER — I do hope one of the following suggestions will help both you and D.A.V. who has the same problem with sheets used on her young son's bed. Club soda works great when used immediately and prevents stains and odor, too. Salt can be spread very thickly on a rug and left for a time and then vacuumed up, but the vacuum must be wiped clean of all salt after this use. Such spots can also be rubbed with a terry cloth that has been wrung out of rubbing alcohol. After sheets are washed the troublesome areas can be washed again and then rinsed in white vinegar. Always test anything you are going to use on colored fabrics. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I take care of other people's children and when they cry I find that taking them to a window and describing what is outside usually calms them down and stops the crying. This is especially good for children 4 and under. — CAROL

DEAR POLLY — Rubbing alcohol is great for aching backs, but I have found many other uses for it. When scrubbing a floor I put some in the rinse water and it removes all sudsy stickiness and guarantees quick drying. Using baby oil in my bath water leaves an oily film on the tub and the hand shower hose but this is easily removed with the rubbing alcohol. I soak paper towels in it and use them to wipe up the bathroom floor as it dries instantly and this takes only about one-third of a 39-cent bottle. Try some in the rinse water used after washing combs and brushes and all residue left from hair spray disappears. These are only a start, as I could go on and on. — THILDE

Car Theft Becomes Target of Big-Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Car theft, once the province of teenagers looking for joy rides, has become a major area for organized crime, a 15-month investigation by a Senate panel reveals.

The Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations will open five days of hearings on the subject beginning Tuesday. Witnesses will include convicted criminals, subcommittee investigators and law enforcement officials, including FBI Director William H. Webster.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., who will conduct the hearings, called car theft "the fastest growing crime in America. It is a $4 billion-a-year industry, if you can call it that. In the first half of 1979, motor vehicle theft increased 13 percent over the same period last year."

Car theft rings often work with a "chop shop," a secret garage that breaks expensive late-model cars into major parts within hours of when they are stolen. These parts then are sold to repair shops, subcommittee investigators have found. Replacement parts are expensive when bought from legitimate sources, costing as much as 400 percent above their assembly line value. But criminals can sell stolen parts for less and still make huge profits.

"In large part, it is a steal-to-order racket," Percy said. "If a repair shop is looking for front-end parts for a white 1979 Cadillac Seville, then that kind of car will be stolen."

"Once the target car is located, a thief with the proper tools can be driving it away in a very few minutes. It probably will be at the 'chop shop' before the owner even knows it is missing."

Subcommittee investigator Howard Marks said the scheme attracts organized crime in Boston, New York, Chicago and some other areas because "it has the two things that organized crime wants: high profits and low risk. It's the ideal crime and we are all paying for it in higher insurance costs."

Marks said one of the favorite spots for theft is in large parking lots where the criminals can "shop" for the kind of car they want.

"Outside of a movie theater is a good place for them to operate," he said. "They know when the movie ends so they know how long they have to work. The same goes in a parking lot outside a sports stadium. They know when the game will end and they can work undisturbed until then."

Percy has introduced a bill to increase the number of car parts carrying identification numbers. "Law enforcement officials tell us the single greatest deterrent to car theft is those numbers. The thieves want nothing to do with parts that can be traced," he said.

Engines and transmissions, which now must be numbered, are disposed of first by the "chop shops," to avoid this risk, the subcommittee investigators found.

Percy also is proposing strict criminal sanctions for removing a vehicle identifying number.

Anticipating a possible objection to the bill, Percy said, "The extra cost of more numbers on parts may be $5. But that will be made up many times over by reduced insurance rates if we can scale down car theft."

Whales probably existed about 70 million years ago and were originally land animals. They were mammals that lived in swamps, walked on four legs and had the teeth of animals that killed other animals for food. No one knows when the whale became a sea animal but the flippers of a whale are forelegs, not fins. The flippers have internal joints with bones that correspond to our forearms, wrists and five fingers.

In 1960, Canadian army units were formed for service in the Congo on behalf of the United Nations.
