

State rests case in trial

District Attorney Roland Saul called three witnesses and rested the state's case Wednesday in the trial of three former jailers charged with official oppression in an incident in the Deaf Smith County Jail last June.

Lyle Vanbuskirk, Tommy Gallagher and Ralph Gallegos were fired last June 25 after the incident occurred last June 22. The charge is a Class A misdemeanor. If found guilty, each of the three could be sentenced to a year in jail and fined up to $2,000.

The three are accused of perpetrating a prank that backfired against them. Two of the three jailers were leaving, and an inmate involved in the incident was also going to be leaving.

The three are alleged to have wrongly shackled and handcuffed the inmate, pulled down his pants and wrote obscenities on the inmate's buttocks.

The state called the inmate involved, another inmate in the jail at the time, and Sheriff Joe Brown. Brown related statements made by the inmates and by the jailers soon after the incident occurred.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says you can fool some of the people all the time and all of the people some of the time, but you can make a fool of yourself any time.

Did you hear about the son who wanted to follow in his father's footsteps, until he realized his dad was wearing work shoes instead of loafers?

There is perhaps no one of our natural passions so hard to subdue as pride. Beat it down, stifle it, mortify it as much as one pleases, it is still alive. Even if I could conceive that I had completely overcome it, I should probably be proud of my humility.

What with the war news, the nation's budget deficit and other serious current events, we'll stick to the lighter side of life with these column notes. Here are a few more of life's axioms:

--St. Nick's Law of Gifts: The toy with the most potential for driving you crazy will become your child's favorite.

--Farnsick's Corollary: After things have gone from bad to worse, the cycle will repeat itself.

--Harris' lament: All the good one are taken.

--Joe Bob's TV Law: If you switch from one game to another to avoid a commercial, the second game will be running a commercial, too.

--Vile's Law: No one watching you until you make a mistake.

--Van Winkle's Law: If you have a difficult task, give it to someone lazy--that person will find an easy way to do it.

--Esther's Law: The fussiest person will be the one to get the chipped cup, the glass with lipstick, or the hair in the food.

--Svareid's Rule: The chief cause of problems is solutions.

--Finagle's 4th Rule: In case of doubt, make it sound convincing.

--The Army Axiom: Any order that can be misunderstood has been misunderstood.

--Law of Politics: A food and his money are soon elected.

--Joe Bob's 2nd Rule: The wrong quarterback is the one that's in there.

--The Principle Factor: No matter what they're talking about, they're talking about money.

--Murphy's Corollary: Everything takes longer than you think it will.

--XYZ Law: Any simple idea will be worded in the most complicated way.

--Pardo's Postulate: Anything good in life is illegal, immoral or fattening.

--P.S. to Pardo's Postulate: The good things in life also cause cancer in laboratory mice and are taxed beyond reality.

--DeNever's Law: Two monologues do not make a dialogue.

--Law of Lines: If you step out of a short line for a second, it becomes a long line.

--Party Law: The more food you prepare, the less your guests eat.

--Electronic Postulate: If you understand it, it's obsolete.

--Nash's Law: Progress may have been all right at one time, but it went on too long.

--The Last Law: If things that could have gone wrong had not gone wrong, it would have been better if they had.

Allies strike big targets

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia (AP) - A Saudi warplane shot down two Iraqi jets in a dogfight today after they entered Saudi airspace loaded with bombs, Saudi military officials said.

Also today, British Defense Secretary Tom King said allied forces downed two Iraqi jets and chased away a third that ejected an Exocet missile. King may have been referring to the incident involving the Saudi plane.

The strategic Iraqi city of Basra, meanwhile, was reported under allied bombardment by air and sea for a third day.

Military officials in Dhahran said a Saudi pilot flying a U.S.-made F-15 shot down two Iraqi Mirage F-1 fighter jets loaded with bombs that entered Saudi airspace.

It was the first report of an Iraqi attempt to enter Saudi airspace since the war with Iraq began a week ago.

"I just rolled in behind them and shot them down," said the pilot, who agreed to be identified only as Capt. Ayedh.

The other report of air action came from King, who said allied jets - which he believed to be American - shot down two Iraqi fighter planes and chased away a third which discharged an Exocet missile.

The British Broadcasting Corp. said the incident occurred in the northern Persian Gulf and that the planes were headed toward allied shipping.

"It would appear to be a combination of Mirage and MiG-23s," King said at a briefing. "Two of the aircraft were shot down. The other aircraft we believe discharged its Exocet missile out of range and rapidly returned to base."

However, at a morning briefing in Riyadh, Army Lt. Col. Greg Pepin mentioned only the one air engagement involving the Saudi jet fighter.

In other developments: Iraq fired Scud-type missiles Wednesday night at the Saudi capital, Riyadh; at the eastern port city of Dhahran, site of a huge air base; and at another site in north-central Saudi Arabia, the U.S. military command said early today.

The U.S. officials said the missiles were either shot down or fell harmlessly into the gulf. Baghdad radio, though, said the Scuds had "rained on the heads of the... traitors in Riyadh" and "pounded the imperialist base at Dhahran."

The report that Basra was under bombardment came from Iran's official news agency. It said said bombs from allied warplanes and missiles fired by U.S. warships repeatedly struck the southern port city, the site of Iraq's military headquarters for the Kuwait theater.

It was the third straight day the Islamic Republic News Agency reported bombardment of Basra, which lies near the Iranian frontier.

The reported raids on Basra came a day after Gen. Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told reporters "at allied forces have seized air superiority and now intend to zero in on Iraqi ground forces."

"Our strategy for dealing with this army is very simple: First we're going to cut it off, then we're going to kill it," he said.

Overall, 41 Iraqi aircraft have been destroyed while total U.S. combat losses in the first week amount to 10, according to Powell. The Iraqis claim more than 160 U.S. planes have been shot down; Baghdad radio said today four more aerial targets - planes and missiles - were shot down in raids on the capital.

Most of Iraq's 700 combat aircraft have remained in their protective bunkers. The number of sorties flown by Iraqi aircraft has dropped from an average of 235 daily to 30 to 40, Powell said, and air activity from 66 possible take-off sites has been reduced, with activity spotted during the preceding 24 hours from only five.

The allies flew 12,000 support and combat sorties in the first week of the war, the U.S. military command said.

In Washington, President Bush said Operation Desert Storm was running "right on schedule." But he and his top military men also drove home another point: the war is a long way from won.

"There will be setbacks - there will be more sacrifices," Bush said Wednesday night in his first address since announcing the war's outbreak.

"We're dealing with an enemy that is resourceful, an enemy that knows how to work around problems, an enemy that is ingenious," said Powell.

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said Saddam could still mount a massive air strike, unleash terrorist attacks, and launch missiles. Iraq's modified Scud rockets have caused trouble far out of proportion to their limited firepower.

The allied commander, Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, tried Wednesday to minimize the actual hazards the missiles pose.

"Saying Scuds are a danger to a nation is like saying lightning is a danger to a nation," Schwarzkopf said Wednesday. "I would feel more in danger in a field in south Georgia during a lightning storm than I would in a Scud attack in Riyadh."

But the danger seemed real enough to residents of the northern Israeli coastal town of Haifa, who huddled in sealed rooms with their gas masks Wednesday night as air-raid sirens heralded Iraq's fourth missile attack on Israel in five days.

With a flash of yellow light and a window-shattering thunderclap, a U.S. Patriot anti-missile rocket knocked the incoming Scud from the skies - the first Patriot kill over Israel.

A day earlier, a Patriot fired by an Israeli crew had struck a Scud but failed to detonate its warhead, and the missile crashed into a Tel Aviv suburb. Powell told reporters in Washington that a U.S. Patriot crew could not fire because of a malfunction.

Even with a successful hit on the Scud, Wednesday night's attack was terrifying to those who listened below. "We heard the shriek of the missile coming in, and then there was a big boom," said Yossi Levi, who lives in a high-rise apartment block in Haifa. "We all shook with fear."

In Kuwait, an oil field set afire by Iraqi troops was still aflame and may burn for weeks, oil and salvage industry executives said. The U.S. military distributed photographs at a military briefing in Saudi Arabia.

Statewide tax plan under consideration

AUSTIN (AP) - Substituting a statewide property tax for local school property taxes may be the way to answer court orders to equalize public school funding, Gov. Ann Richards said today.

Facing an April 1 Texas Supreme Court deadline for action, Richards said the statewide tax plan might be placed before voters as a take-it-or-leave-it proposition.

"We have the option to do nothing, to allow the courts to act... It is incumbent on us to devise what we believe is the simplest alternative to understand and the easiest one to carry out. The people of Texas deserve the opportunity to make a decision," Richards said.

The governor said she and legislative leaders have discussed the statewide tax plan and are continuing to analyze it.

On Wednesday, lawmakers said they might also meet the court order to change the public school finance system by dividing the state into two huge taxing entities to impose and divvy up the local property tax, a state lawyer said.

News Digest

World, National

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia - President Bush seeks to prepare Americans for a long and costly conflict in the Persian Gulf, saying there will be "setbacks and sacrifices." Iraq again lobes a nighttime barrage of missiles at Israel and Saudi Arabia, but Patriot missile interceptors blast them in midair.

WASHINGTON - President Bush says a week of the allied air war is grinding down Iraq's ability to fight, and he denounced Saddam Hussein as a tyrant whose savagery "has sickened the world."

WASHINGTON - The odds of survival for U.S. soldiers and Marines wounded in ground combat have improved little since the Vietnam War, even though medical science has made great strides in 25 years, military medical experts say.

NEW YORK - Cops on the beat say it's downright un-American for their bosses to order removal of the U.S. flag patches they sewed on their uniforms in support of the Persian Gulf war effort. And they want to know the reason why.

WASHINGTON - In every section of the country, Americans are feeling the effects of the recession as unemployment rises, unsold homes sit vacant and factories shut down production lines.

VILNIUS, U.S.S.R. - Lithuania's president appeals to Mikhail S. Gorbachev to withdraw all Soviet troops from buildings seized in the secessionist republic, but the troops occupy yet another building. U.S. lawmakers condemn the crackdown.

NEW YORK - Two new studies link parents' smoking to cancer and serious infectious diseases in children, and one suggests that the children's cancer might arise from the harmful effects of smoking on fathers' sperm.

MIAMI - Kimberly Bergalis had no way of knowing that a 1987 visit to her dentist would leave her with a fatal disease - or that reporting the illness would lead to new national guidelines for health workers with AIDS. She says it wasn't easy to be the first person in the country to report catching AIDS from a health care worker.

Texas

SPACE CENTER, Houston - The commander of Discovery's upcoming flight says his crew plans to look for evidence of the Persian Gulf war as the shuttle flies over the embattled area on the first unclassified military mission.

GARRISON - A Rio Grande Valley man remained jailed without bond today as East Texas authorities sought two other suspects believed connected to the beating and stabbing death of a constable who unwittingly videotaped his own slaying.

AUSTIN - Moving quickly to beat a Feb. 1 deadline, the Senate Finance Committee is considering a bill to freeze some state spending and to set up panels to review future requests for state funds.

AUSTIN - Lawmakers could meet a court order to change the public school finance system by dividing the state into two huge taxing entities to impose and divvy up the local property tax, a state lawyer said.

WASHINGTON - Sen. Lloyd Bentsen is promising to investigate the problems of the uninsured in hearings over the next few weeks. In Texas, he says, one in four people has no health insurance.

DALLAS - Air fares jumped today in several cities where Eastern Airlines' discount policies had kept them down. But representatives of several airlines said Wednesday that most of the fares they'd set to match Eastern wouldn't disappear until Feb. 1.

SAN ANGELO - A death threat and the spectre of a mistrial cast a shadow today over a jury's attempt to render a verdict in the murder trial of Hill Country rancher Doyle Parker. Deliberations entered the third day today with mounting concern over a deadlocked jury.

Campbell wins honors

Binder shows county reserve grand champion

Brittney Binder of the Hereford FFA drove her small-frame steer to the county reserve grand championship of the steer show at the Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show at the Bull Barn on Wednesday. Binder also was named the champion steer showman.

Ribbon-cutting ceremony for new store

The JCPenney Catalog Store, 301 Main St., held its formal opening Wednesday and the C of C Hereford Hustlers conducted a ribbon-cutting ceremony. Owners Roy and Renee Kuper and Greg Semmenn, JCPenney official from Kansas City, are shown cutting the ribbon as Hustlers and guests watch. The store, located in the building with Sew'n Tell, had free balloons and gifts for visitors Wednesday.

Texans support war

By The Associated Press

Metal detectors, gas masks and even barbed wire are being snatched up by nervous consumers as the nation enters its second week of war.

In Fort Worth, a local barbed-wire manufacturer has received an order from the military to ship 10,000 rolls of the piercing material to the Persian Gulf.

Although barbed wire has been used in past wars to top fences in prisoner of war camps, George Peevey, owner of Burly Corp. of North America, says he hasn't been told officially what the military intends to do with his product.

"Barbed wire has been used in wars since the first World War, I guess for ground troops and security fencing," Peevey said. "... We can only speculate on what they're going to do."

In Garland, the staff of Garrett Electronics has been expanded to meet the sudden demand for their metal detector products.

Orders are coming in from around the world, mostly from airports and even the security-conscious Super Bowl.

The most popular item is the hand-held model, company officials said.

In the East Texas coastal city of Beaumont, gas masks are doing a swift business.

Oilworkers, fearful of a terrorist attack, though deemed unlikely, are the primary buyers, according to Donna Sanders, manager of GI Surplus in Beaumont.

"A lot of people, especially from Port Arthur near the refinery areas, are buying them," Ms. Sanders said. "They may be scared something is going to happen. They're buying water purification tablets, too."

Since war began on Jan. 16, Ms. Sanders says more than 60 gas masks have been sold.

Meanwhile, retired U.S. Army Gen. William Westmoreland, former commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam said Wednesday he believed the war with Iraq would last longer than anticipated.

Speaking at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Westmoreland told students that even more dangerous than the war is Iraqi President Saddam Hussein's legacy in the Islamic world.

"When he becomes helpless, his ruthless regime may and I say may, fall apart," Westmoreland said. "And Saddam Hussein may, and I say may again to emphasize it, he may become a martyr which I think he would like..."

On Wednesday, the Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce issued a statement after a speech by the day before by Houston oilman Oscar Wyatt Jr. during which 100 people walked out.

Wyatt, who flew to Iraq last month with former Texas Gov. John Connally to bring out 22 American hostages, criticized Bush as being "hell bent to go to war."

He also told the 1,200-member audience that the conflict with Iraq would be a "meat grinder" in terms of lost lives.

"We respect Oscar Wyatt's right to express his views, although we don't feel that the Chamber of Commerce Banquet was the appropriate forum," Chairman S. Loyd Neal Jr. said in the statement.

In Austin Wednesday, about 60 people demonstrated in the rain outside the Capitol in support of the war against Iraq.

Further north, in East Texas, Tyler residents were greeted by about 80 military supporters who lined a state road waving American flags and cheering to oncoming cars.

Also in Tyler, a friend of Royal Air Force Flight Lt. Adrian John Nichol, who is being held by Iraq as a prisoner of war, said she wants to see a quick end to the conflict.

"I can't describe the feeling I had when I found out he was captured," said Jill McDaniel, a local teacher. "I guess my outlook on the war is a little different now. I'm still supportive, but I'm a little bit impatient."

Ms. McDaniel met Nichol while visiting relatives in Germany last summer.

In the North Texas town of Wylie, residents will be treated to much quieter city council meetings now that vocal councilman Steve Wright, a U.S. Navy reservist, has been called to duty.

But Wright's colleagues on the panel say they miss him and hope he returns soon.

"He's pretty argumentative," said Don Hughes, a council member and also a Wright supporter who's not been spared Wright's criticism. "I've got a lot of respect for him."

In San Antonio, calls are pouring in to a Desert Storm assistance program set up by the Chamber of Commerce.

"Our phones have been ringing off the walls," chamber board chairman Frank Manupelli said.

The chamber will assist the families of military casualties brought to San Antonio for medical treatment.

Wilford Hall Air Force Medical Center, the Air Force's largest hospital, and Brooke Army Medical Center are located here.

Senate freezes spending

AUSTIN (AP) - Moving quickly to beat a self-imposed Feb. 1 deadline, the Senate Finance Committee is considering a bill to freeze some state spending and to set up panels to review future requests for state funds.

"If we're really serious about this thing, which we are, I think we can save some money," said Sen. John Montford, committee chairman.

Montford, D-Lubbock, introduced the bill Wednesday and quickly scheduled a hearing before his committee today. He predicted a vote by the full Senate on Monday.

The bill would, with certain exceptions, freeze state hirings and equipment purchases. It also would create a budget committee to challenge "basic state spending assumptions" and a panel to oversee audits of state agencies.

The budget panel would consist of the governor, lieutenant governor and House speaker. The audit panel would include two senators, two House members and two members appointed by the governor, with the state comptroller as chairman.

The state is facing a projected shortfall of $4.6 billion for 1992-93.

"The bottom line and the spirit of this bill is, you can't look the taxpayers in the eye and say, 'Hey, we need some more money' until we can tell them that we've absolutely and thoroughly audited and managed the spending side of Texas government," Montford said Wednesday.

Obituaries

OPAL JANES Jan. 23, 1991

Former Hereford resident, Opal Janes, 80, of Littlefield died Wednesday, Jan. 23, 1991, at Golden Plains Care Center after a lengthy illness. Among her survivors are three brothers and a sister from Hereford.

Graveside services were held at 11 a.m. today at Memorial Park Cemetery at Littlefield with Bob Kirk officiating. Arrangements are by Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Janes was born in Childress on Aug. 26, 1910. She was a longtime resident of Littlefield. She had attended public schools in Hereford and moved back to Deaf Smith County in January of 1990. She was a retired accountant and a member of the Church of Christ.

Life!

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm hoping you will print my letter so lawmakers and judges will understand how we taxpayers feel. The best description is "outraged."

Recently, a friend told me that her brother was sentenced to serve five years in prison for drug involvement even though his role was minor. He was given the maximum sentence with no parole, plus a heavy fine. In prison, he earns 9 cents an hour and cleans the same floor for eight hours a day. That's his assignment.

As a taxpayer, I am furious that it costs us approximately $20,000 a year to house and feed a prisoner. I am not in favor of going easy on drug dealers but I can't understand why a first-time offender, who is no threat to society, should be sentenced to prison. Also, if I'm going to pay to keep these people, I want them working at something that benefits me. Let them serve their time cleaning up our neighborhoods, removing graffiti, painting buildings and keeping our parks clean.

Another suggestion: Many first-time offenders could be permitted to stay in their homes and placed under "house arrest" since our prisons are so terribly overcrowded. I'm sure many families would be happy to cooperate. If the prisoner violated any rules he would then have to serve his time behind bars.

Our lawmakers and judges need to wake up to the fact that prison is not the only answer, and in some cases, it is no answer at all. -- Angry in Sunrise, Fla.

DEAR ANGRY: I agree with you. And so did the late Dr. Karl Menninger. In his book, "The Crime of Punishment," written many years ago, Dr. Menninger pointed out that putting people in prison rarely rehabilitates them. It simply makes them angrier and meaner and sharpens their skills at robbing, cheating, killing or whatever crime they are in for.

Our criminal justice system is in desperate need of overhauling. Your suggestion that a great many prisoners could be put to work in ways that would benefit society is a good one. Of course, some criminals should be locked up for good, especially those who have committed violent crimes, but housing and feeding those who could work seems to me quite senseless.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please ask your readers to be more careful with what they say to people who are recovering from serious illnesses.

Shortly after I had a heart attack a friend chose to tell me about her cousin who was feeling terrific after a mild attack very much like mine. While getting dressed to leave the hospital, she collapsed and died.

Another friend made this unbelievable comment, "If you had to have a heart attack it's too bad you couldn't have waited a few months until you were on Medicare." I looked her straight in the eye and said, "If I could have waited, I would have waited forever."

My niece had a breast removed. After several weeks of radiation, her doctor told her she was totally free of cancer. Upon hearing the good news, a woman she worked with made this comment, "Maybe the original biopsy report was incorrect and you didn't have cancer at all."

Please, Ann, tell your readers to watch their mouths. -- V.B.H., Cowntown, U.S.A.

DEAR COWTOWN: Sorry, it's useless. Some folks seem to have a natural gap between the brain and the tongue and their inappropriate comments are legendary. Every family has at least one of them.

An alcohol problem? How can you help yourself or someone you love? "Alcoholism: How to Recognize It, How to Deal With It, How to Conquer It" will give you the answers. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Alcohol, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $4.45.)

1991 hairstyles for men prevail kinder, gentler

The well-groomed man of the '90s will be wearing a "kinder, gentler" hairstyle that's shorter and more natural looking than in years past.

So concludes a recent survey of the nation's top barbers which predicts that attention to men's grooming will "explode" in the future.

"Men are becoming increasingly aware of the importance of good grooming, both personally and professionally," says Milton Pitts, barber to the White House and the only man to have coiffed the heads of four living U.S. presidents. "The unshaven, long-haired sex symbol of the '80s is being replaced by a subtly sophisticated, clean shaven man with an impeccably groomed but relaxed looking style. A look personified by President Bush, himself."

While President Reagan had an outgoing, entertaining demeanor that was showcased in his sculpted, stylized haircut, President Bush prefers a more "relaxed, approachable image," Pitts says.

Other grooming trends to watch for:

*Natural gray highlights--at the temples, on the sideburns and as all-over accents

*Short, layered hairstyles, blocked rather than tapered at the neck

Although flashiness will be frowned upon, "investment spending" will be popular as men strive for an "understated elegance" in shoes, suits and ties, all more costly than they appear and selected with a higher level of care.

Above all, survey respondents agree that men should be comfortable with the look they wear and the image they convey.

"A man who feels good about himself is a man who automatically conveys a feeling of self-confidence and control," Pitts says.

LAE Club hears program

Emily Suggs was hostess to members of the La Afflatus Estudio Club when they met in her home recently.

Suggs opened the meeting and roll call was answered with a funny quote or news story.

Mary Williams, director of student service for the Hereford Public Schools, presented a program covering the K3 homebased migrant program, single parent homemaker project, nurses, librarian, counselors and the parent volunteer program.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mary Williamson on Feb. 5. Mayor Wes Fisher will present the program.

Members present were Louise Kinsey, Beatrice Hutson, Alberta Higgins, Della Stagner, Mary Williamson, Aileen Montgomery, Etoile Manning, Opal Elliston, Virginia Beasley, Pet Ott and Suggs.

How to cope with pain

Pain is not in your mind. Prescription pain relievers should not be used only for the most severe pain. And taking prescription analgesics for pain relief usually does not lead to drug abuse.

According to studies by medical experts who specialize in pain management, pain is the single most common reason for which a patient seeks help.

Acute pain is often due to real injury or can be the body's way of signaling disease, infection or potential joint or organ damage and should not be ignored. Any acute pain that's moderate to severe will usually be treated with a prescription pain medication. These are also useful for treating post-surgical and post-dental procedure pain.

Some people experience relief from pain with only small doses of a prescription medication, others require more. It's important to treat pain promptly--it can then often be relieved with smaller doses of medication and does not become chronic or interfere with recovery. Studies show taking prescription pain medication for acute pain doesn't lead to drug abuse. Many people suffer needlessly because they fear taking anything stronger than non-prescription analgesics.

STORES ADOPTING 'INTERACTIVE' UNITS

NEW YORK (AP) - Computerized interactive units - similar to Automatic Teller Machines (ATMs) found at banks - are playing an increasing role at retail stores, according to New York-based Intermark Corp.

Intermark, a designer-producer of the units, reports the trend apparently stems from a decrease in the number of sales clerks and an increasing self-service environment at larger-sized retail stores.

Interactive machines are handling retail assignments including product purchase recommendations and sales messages for such items as health-and-beauty aids, wearing apparel, vitamins, travel and sporting goods, shoe care, insecticides, products and tools for home-improvement projects, and foods and beverages.

Cookie sale underway

Girl Scouts of Hereford kicked off their annual cookie sales with a breakfast Jan. 19 at the Hereford Community Center. Special guests included Mayor Wes Fisher, Sid Ham and Marsha Christenson of Amarillo, area Girl Scout field director. Following the breakfast, Girl Scouts participated in the Super Saturday Sales Contest and then traveled to Amarillo to compete with girls from Texas Plains Council. Final festivities were held at Westgate Mall. Top cookie sellers from Hereford were, from left, Ashley Henson, 106 boxes; Rachel Martinez, 106 boxes; Mary York, 88 boxes; and Arion Decker, 50 boxes. There are seven variety of cookies available to the public at $2.50 per box. Those interested in ordering may call Linda Arellano at 364-6112. Proceeds will be used for Girl Scout Council programs and for the summer Girl Scout camp.

with Mel Phillips

Now is the perfect time to make a new friend. This new friend has some great hunting and is looking for some considerate hunters to help him solve a major problem. You see, this land owner has some CRP land that should be a great home for pheasant and quail but a careful check reveals few if any gamebirds.

What happened to the CRP land that was going to be the site of some great bird hunting? Coyotes happened. Thousands of these efficient predators have wrecked havoc on all kinds of upland gamebirds, not to mention taking an occasional baby antelope and calf.

The same landowner who refused to allow you hunting last fall will welcome you like a long lost relative when you show up wanting to hunt coyotes. Play it smart. Don't leave any trash where you hunt, not even a cartridge from a spent shell. Make sure he learns how many coyotes were removed. The landowner will appreciate having a courteous hunter who treats the land like he owns it. Next year when quail and pheasant season roll around, who do you think gets to go hunting?

Some people oppose any measures to control coyotes but the landowners in this part of Texas view this resilient pest as an enemy that takes money out of their pockets. Hunting pressure has never rid an area of coyotes, but it can help reduce their numbers so our gamebirds have a chance to survive.

Coyotes are real suckers for an easy meal. A camouflaged hunter can occasionally call up an entire pack, with the dominant animals fighting each other for first crack at the injured rabbit. Varmint calls are among the easiest to master because coyotes want to believe that an injured rabbit is their next meal.

Any decent video store will have tapes that will show you the how-to of varmint calling. If a mouth call is just too intimidating, electronic calls are available at local gun stores.

Coyotes are so numerous this year that if none show in the first thirty minutes of calling, you should move to a new location and try again. Early morning and late evening are great hunting times, but when we have real cold weather with snow cover, the hunting can be excellent all day. Coyotes blend into the gray-brown background of our region, so watch for movement with a pair of binoculars.

Coyote hunting is not for everyone, but it does offer some great small bore shooting and the benefit to the gamebirds and livestock is an extra reward. Unlike recent years when coyote pelts were worth up to $45, the glut of coyotes has reduced the price to $5, if you can find a buyer. Good luck and good hunting.

McMahon recalls 1985 Super days

By JIM LITKE
AP Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - The year Jim McMahon claimed the prize, he had a big lead coming in and won going away by mooning a helicopter.

On the strength of a promise to throttle Hulk Hogan after he was finished with the likes of the New York Giants, Bills backup offensive lineman Mitch "The Pit Bull" Frerotte emerged Tuesday as the front-runner in the search for this year's certified Super Bowl wacko.

"A football career is too short to be as crazy as I want to be," he said. "Pro wrestling is a chance to have a lot more fun before I have to settle down and get a real job."

But just how crazy is The Pit Bull, really?

Well, Frerotte owns more than 2,000 eight-track tapes. He lists house cleaning as his sole hobby. He once worked as a prison guard. He put on war paint for more than a half-dozen games toward the tail end of this season. He would have done so again Sunday, except that NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue, in a move reminiscent of Pete Rozelle's reaction to McMahon's signboard-headband, informed the club that such individualism constituted a breach of the league's uniform uniform standards. WHAM! BIFF! POW!

Ouch. "I started doing it before the Cleveland game. I was feeling a little odd, like I really wanted to kick some butt," Frerotte said. "So I took the eye black the receivers put under their eyes and made myself a mask."

ADVERSITY TEACHERS

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) - Wise men have always said you can learn from adversity and Tim Pringle agrees with them.

Pringle was a senior defensive lineman on the Ohio University football team which suffered through a terrible season last fall.

"In numbers we were bad," Tim said, "but I think it helped us to handle negative situations. Football is like life in general and things in life don't always go the way we would like."

Knicks knock back Jazz

By DICK BRINSTER
AP Sports Writer

The New York Knicks may have been confused for an expansion franchise at times this season and for the better part of six others during their visits to the Salt Palace. The Utah Jazz won't make that mistake again.

"Maybe we did think they were just going to come in here and lay down," Utah's Karl Malone said after a 109-94 loss Wednesday night. "We've done that a couple of times with expansion teams and were able to come back."

"But with a team like this, you can't get 20 points down and come back very often."

"The Knicks shot 77 percent (17 of 22) in the second quarter," Utah coach Jerry Sloan said. "That's tough on any team."

Especially one conditioned to victories at home against New York. The Knicks, winners of three straight games - one short of their season-best streak - last beat the Jazz at the Salt Palace on Feb. 10, 1984.

They did it this time on the strength of a 41-22 second-quarter performance and an awesome showing by Patrick Ewing. He had 34 points, a career-high nine blocked shots and 11 rebounds while meshing well with point guard Mark Jackson.

"This was the best quarter we've played all year," Knicks coach John MacLeod said of the second period. "Mark did a great job for us tonight," he said of Jackson. "He played 18 straight minutes there in the first half and got the job done."

Ewing echoed MacLeod's sentiments. "Mark gave us the push we needed," he said.

Jackson said the Knicks played one of their better games. "We were just hitting our shots and making things happen and getting the ball to the open man," he said.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was New Jersey 99, Chicago 95; Indiana 110, Philadelphia 109; Washington 104, Atlanta 99; Boston 111, Detroit 94; Cleveland 99, Dallas 85; and Sacramento 95, Milwaukee 91.

Ewing and Jackson scored 12 points apiece in the second quarter.

Gerald Wilkins added 19 points and Jackson 17 for New York.

Malone led Utah with 28 points.

Bullets, 104, Hawks 99

Pervis Ellison scored six points during a 12-0 run late in the final period.

Bernard King scored 25 points and Darrell Walker had his second straight triple-double with 12 points, 10 rebounds and 13 assists.

Nets 99, Bulls 95

Reggie Theus scored 13 of his 25 points in the fourth quarter, including eight free throws in the final 1:23.

Derrick Coleman and Mookie Blaylock scored 21 points each for the Nets.

Pacers 110, 76ers 109
Chuck Person had 24 points and Reggie Miller led a nine-point Indiana run in the last three minutes. Miller had 21 points.

Celtics 111, Pistons 94
Backcourt partners Brian Shaw and Dee Brown ignited a 16-4 surge in the final period.

Kevin McHale had 26 points, Kevin Gamble 22, Shaw 18, Robert Parish 16 and Brown 14 as Boston handed Detroit only its second loss in 14 games.

Cavaliers 99, Mavericks 85
Larry Nance and Brad Daugherty scored 21 points each as Cleveland used a late 14-point run to win.

Nance's follow shot put Cleveland ahead to stay at 76-74 with 7:10 left, and Dallas went 5:19 without a point.

Kings 95, Bucks 91

Antoine Carr had 28 points, a game-clinching basket and a blocked shot in the waning seconds as Sacramento enjoyed a rarity, beating reeling Milwaukee.

Bills remember old 2-14 days

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - The Bills remember 2-14. The Giants remember 14-2.

The Super Bowl teams used motivational tools as different as their offensive styles this season. Buffalo's players looked back to the bad old days of 1984 and 1985 when their playoff hopes had vanished by October and their Decembers were spent in pursuit of the top draft pick. The Giants recalled their 1986 powerhouse championship team that rolled through November, December and January to the NFL crown.

"After 2-14, you'll do anything to keep from going back to 2-14," Bills guard Jim Ritcher said.

One of the benefits - the few benefits - that came from those years and a 4-12 mark in 1986 was the hiring of Marv Levy as coach. GM Bill Polian made that choice.

Another offshoot of the losing years were profitable drafts. They selected Bruce Smith, Greg Bell (who was a 1,000-yard rusher before being part of the three-way trade involving Eric Dickerson that brought Cornelius Bennett to Buffalo), Andre Reed, Hal Garner, Will Wolford, Shane Conlan, Nate Odomes, Leon Seals, Keith McKeller and Howard Ballard in those down years.

"That's not really a comfort when you're losing every week," Ritcher said. "You're never looking that far ahead."

Darryl Talley, Buffalo's best linebacker this season, envies the younger players who have gotten to "The Show" so quickly. For him, it's been an often frustrating eight-year climb.

"I still remember the bad years, I always will," Talley said. "Well, you know, knock, knock, who's there? Owen. Oh-and-ten."

"Some of the things that drive you to be here come from the bad times. It means a lot more when you've been through a few down years. You really appreciate what you have now."

What the Bills have is offensive momentum after scoring 95 points in their two playoff games. They also have a big-play defense and the special teams have been, well, pretty special.

Thus are the ingredients that make for a champion. They also are the ingredients the Bills could only dream about a few years back.

"It's so gratifying," Ritcher said. "I can really appreciate it more than the others who didn't play on those teams. I know there are some guys who might be in their first or second year who might think it wasn't that hard to get here. They think it's going to happen all the time."

The Giants can tell you how unrealistic that is. After beating Denver for the 1986 championship, they didn't make the playoffs the next two seasons.

Last year, they lost their first postseason game at home to the Rams.

"We had some good teams that just didn't take that extra step," said cornerback Mark Collins, a rookie with the '86 champs.

Lawrence Taylor doesn't want people confusing the 1990 NFC winners with the '86 NFL champs.

SUPER BOWL

"This team is different than the one four years ago," he said. "Nobody could stop us, nobody challenged us that year. We ran through everyone."

"This time, it was more of a struggle."

The Giants were a divided team in 1987, the strike year. In '88, they finished 10-6, but a last-minute loss to their local rivals, the Jets, cost them a playoff berth.

When they won the division last season, many players felt it was the Giants' destiny to reach the Super Bowl. Then the Rams ended that dream.

Murdock sets new Big East record

By The Associated Press

For all the big stars who have played in the Big East, none ever had such a big game as Eric Murdock.

Not Patrick Ewing, not Chris Mullin, not Derrick Coleman, not anyone ever scored 48 points in a conference game like Murdock did Wednesday night as his Providence Friars lost to No. 17 Pittsburgh 92-79.

Said Pitt coach Paul Evans: "This is as good a performance as I've ever seen by a college player."

Murdock, however, was more nonchalant. After all, his team lost.

"I take it in stride," the senior guard said. "There's a lot of games left. I didn't realize I had 48 points until the game was over."

Murdock, averaging 32 points per game, broke the conference record of 43 points set by Dana Barros of Boston College against Pitt. The Providence record is 52 points by Marvin Barnes, and Murdock's previous career-high was 45 this season against Arizona.

In other games, No. 2 Arkansas beat Texas A&M 113-88, No. 7 North Carolina defeated Wake Forest 91-81, No. 8 Kentucky downed Florida 81-65, North Carolina State stung No. 9 Duke 95-89, No. 18 Virginia beat Virginia Tech 86-61, Purdue topped No. 22 Michigan State 62-51, No. 24 New Orleans downed Central Florida 72-64 and No. 25 South Carolina beat 85-57.

Murdock made 16 of 31 shots from the field, including seven of 12

3-pointers. He was 9-for-12 from the foul line.

Murdock scored 33 points in the second half, but got little support. The rest of the Friars shot just 12 for 41 from the field.

Pitt (15-4, 2-Big East) scored the first 10 points of the game at the Providence Civic Center and led 40-30 at halftime. Murdock began the second half with three straight baskets as Providence (11-7, 2-5) got within four points, but no closer.

Jason Matthews scored 25 points for Pitt.

No. 7 North Carolina 91, Wake Forest 81

King Rice tied his career-high with 22 points and Rick Fox scored all of his 20 points in the second half.

Wake Forest led 42-39 at halftime and was ahead 59-58 with 13:25 left. But Fox scored five points and Hubert Davis added consecutive 3-point shots.

No. 8 Kentucky 81, Florida 65
Sean Woods scored 18 points and led a first-half burst.

Woods had three driving layups and five foul shots during a 13-6 run that put the Wildcats ahead 36-28. Florida never got closer than five points after that.

North Carolina State 95, No. 9 Duke 89

Rodney Monroe scored 35 points and Chris Corchiani led a second-half surge.

Monroe had 19 in the first half as the Wolfpack took a 13-point edge 12 minutes into the game. Duke tied it at 53 early in the second half, but Corchiani sparked an 18-7 spree in a 5 1/2-minute span. Corchiani had 11 points and 14 assists.

No. 18 Virginia 86, Virginia Tech 61

Freshman Cornel Parker starred in his first start and Bryant Stith scored 24 points.

The 6-foot-7 Parker had 16 points, nine rebounds, three steals and two blocked shots.

Purdue 62, No. 22 Michigan State 51

Freshman Linc Darner had a season-high 16 points and helped slow down Big Ten scoring leader Steve Smith.

Smith, averaging 28 points per game, was held to a season-low 20.

No. 24 New Orleans 72, Central Florida 64

Louweegi Dyer scored 19 points and New Orleans broke away to win its 16th straight game.

The Privateers went to a zone defense midway through the second half and held Central Florida to two field goals in six minutes.

No. 25 South Carolina 85, Davidson 57

Joe Rhett scored 21 points and Barry Manning had 18 as South Carolina won easily.

Seles advances

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — One point kept Mary Joe Fernandez out of the women's final at the Australian Open. One point let Monica Seles in instead.

Seles saved a match point, then converted her first chance at victory five games later to end a 2 1/2 hour battle of classic tennis today between two hard hitters who do more than just belt groundstrokes.

The winner in the 6-3, 0-6, 9-7 beauty was a serve at 40-30 to Fernandez's backhand, which the 19-year-old from Miami clanked against the net post.

"I wanted to make sure I didn't go for a huge shot, just a good shot, on my match point," Seles said. "It was the same when Mary Joe had match point against me. ... I was pretty lucky there."

The winner that wasn't was a backhand by Fernandez that floated into the net with last year's runner-up holding a 6-5 third-set lead and break point.

"I sure had the opportunity to win. Those are tough ones to lose," Fernandez said. "I was a bit unlucky on match point."

Lucky vs. unlucky. Put the money on luck every time.

The victory put Seles, the second-seeded 17-year-old, into her second Grand Slam final. Seles will face Jana Novotna in Saturday's championship match.

Novotna, dissuaded from her powerful serve-and-volley game when she found the retractable roof of center court open, steadied herself quickly enough - and watched Arantxa Sanchez Vicario make enough errors - for a 6-2, 6-4 victory. "We were both tentative in the beginning. That was the key. I could get rid of it before she did," Novotna said.

The men's finalists are decided Friday, with top-seeded Stefan Edberg playing old nemesis Ivan Lendl, the two-time defending champion, and third-seeded Boris Becker against Patrick McEnroe, the 114th-ranked player and until now best known as John McEnroe's kid brother.

Following Novotna's quarterfinal elimination of defending champion Steffi Graf, the Melbourne bookies were listing Seles as the odds-on favorite to add the Australian Open championship to last year's French Open title.

This is Seles' first trip Down Under, and she's had a great time, winning the Hopman Cup in Perth, watching the World Swimming Championships and breezing through the first five rounds here with the loss of just 12 games.

But she kept saying she was tired, and against Fernandez she found out that sometimes the best practice is no practice.

After she and American Anne Smith saved six match points and won a women's doubles match 10-8 in the third set Wednesday, Seles went to work on her singles games.

"I should not have done that," she said. "I felt tired this morning, and I have felt stiff the whole tournament."

Hogs coach wants more

By The Associated Press

Second-ranked Arkansas won for the third time in five days, and still coach Nolan Richardson wanted more.

"We just went through the motions a lot of the time," Richardson said after Wednesday night's 113-88 victory over Texas A&M. "We were physically tired and mentally exhausted from playing so many games in the last few days."

In other Southwest Conference games Wednesday night, Houston edged Texas Christian, 91-88, in overtime, and Southern Methodist defeated Rice, 77-73.

"We've won a lot. When you win a lot you can get full and not be hungry," Richardson said.

Arlyn Bowers, who finished with 17 points, keyed a 14-0 first-half run with nine points. He agreed with Richardson.

"We're not too pleased because we know we can do better," Bowers said.

The win by Arkansas (19-1, 7-0 Southwest Conference) was its 16th in a row. Texas A&M (5-12, 0-6) has lost eight of its last nine outings.

"We didn't take them lightly, but we didn't play as well as we could have," said Todd Day, Arkansas' scoring leader with 22 points. "Our legs got tired, I think from playing a lot of games. It's kind of hard to get up for a team like A&M."

The early burst gave Arkansas a 22-11 lead. Day started the surge with a 3-point-play and Bowers followed with a jump shot, a 3-pointer, a layup and two foul shots. Day got the slam dunk on a feed from Lee Mayberry, who set a school record with 13 assists, to cap it.

Arkansas led 49-36 at halftime and quickly raised it to a 20-point edge. Four other Razorbacks scored in double figures - Oliver Miller with 15, Roosevelt Wallace 14, Mayberry 12 and Ron Huery 10.

Arkansas also had a 10-point run midway through the second half, starting from a 69-52 lead. Wallace started the streak with a layup and a pair of free throws. Day and Ernie Murry had 3-pointers.

Arkansas matched its season-high mark for 3-pointers with 11.

The Aggies' top scorer was Lewis Rashone, with a career-high 22. Shedrick Anderson added 19 and Lynn Suber had 18.

"I don't see them play everyday, but they are deserving of their ranking," Aggies coach Kermit Davis said.

Derrick Daniels scored 20 points, including a 3-pointer with 38 seconds left in overtime, leading Houston past Texas Christian, 91-88.

Daniels' shot broke an 87-87 tie. TCU's Mark Moton had knotted the game with his 3-point play with 55 seconds left.

Houston led 79-76 and had the ball with 3 seconds left in regulation, but failed to inbound the ball, and TCU reserve guard Michael Strickland connected on a 3-pointer at the buzzer, sending the game into overtime.

The victory was Houston's 17th straight at home and allowed the Cougars (12-5 overall, 4-2 in SWC play) to pull into a tie for third place in the league with TCU, which fell to 12-4 overall.

Strickland led TCU, also with 20 points.

In overtime, TCU's Horned Frogs jumped out to an 84-80 lead before the Cougars mounted a 7-0 run. Derrick Smith's 3-point play with 1:25 left put Houston ahead, 87-84.

Derrick Smith finished with 17 points, Byron Smith had 15 and Darrell Mickens added 14 points and 12 rebounds before fouling out.

Mike Wilson's four-point play with 5:57 remaining gave SMU the lead, and Rodney Hampton followed with a 3-pointer, as the Mustangs held off Rice, 77-73.

SMU, winning its fifth in six games, evened its record at 3-3 in SWC play and 8-9 overall behind 16 points from Wilson and 14 points from Gerald Lewis.

Rice, 1-5 in the SWC, 6-10 in all games, was paced by Marvin Moore's 17 points.

Wilson's 18-footer with just under six minutes to play gave SMU a 58-57 edge, and Wilson, fouled after his shot, converted both ends of a one-and-one for a 60-57 lead.

After Rice's Chase Maag hit a jumper, Hampton drilled a 3-pointer with 5:18 left for a 63-59 advantage.

From that point, Rice was never able to pull closer than two. SMU converted 12 of 16 free throws over the final 1:44.

UT,OU ok new deal

DALLAS (AP) — An agreement has been reached between Texas and Oklahoma for the two teams to play football for the next 10 years, but they are only agreeing to play the next four games at the Cotton Bowl.

Officials of both schools said Wednesday they will soon sign the contract.

"That our position, too" said Texas Director of Athletics DeLoss Dodds.

"On the Cotton Bowl side, it gives them four years which they need to go out and attract sponsors," Dodds said. "It will be very difficult for them to get a sponsor if they don't have the game. What we're trying to do is give them something to show."

Dodds also said that as part of the agreement the State Fair of Texas would agree to improve locker rooms, restrooms, the press box and access in and around the stadium.

University of Oklahoma Athletic Director Donnie Duncan said the agreement to play in Dallas "gives the game solid footing."

There has been no multi-year contract between the two schools since 1989. They didn't sign a contract for the 1990 game until three days before the game.

Duncan said he would prefer a home-and-home agreement that would provide greater revenue and enable each school to include the game in season ticket packages every other year.

Texas is reluctant to leave Dallas. The game has been played in Dallas since 1929.

UIL, NCAA agree to tighten taunting rules

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Under new regulations designed to stifle showboating and taunting in college football, players still will be allowed to lift a fist exuberantly after sacking the quarterback or to spike the ball to celebrate a touchdown, the NCAA says.

The NCAA Football Rules Committee, concerned with mocking incidents that marred the Cotton Bowl, adopted new regulations Wednesday to curb "action demeaning to the image of the game."

The 1991-92 NCAA rulebook will specifically prohibit players from inciting the fans and stress that taunting or showboating by players will not be tolerated, the committee said. Judgment on what is acceptable will be left up to officials.

On-field behavior became a major concern after Miami's 46-3 victory over Texas in a penalty-plagued Cotton Bowl game on Jan. 1. The Hurricanes were flagged 16 times, including nine times for sportsmanlike conduct or personal fouls.

"There's no question that the activities of the Cotton Bowl helped bring this issue to the forefront," committee Chairman Mike R. Lude told the Corpus Christi Caller-Times. "The concern was and is there that this type of behavior, if tolerated, will continue to affect the image of the game."

David M. Nelson, the committee secretary, said tighter regulation of unsportsmanlike conduct became a priority at the meeting in Corpus Christi.

"The No. 1 concern of the committee was the image of the game deteriorating because of antics and actions of players," said Nelson, the Yankee Conference commissioner from the University of Delaware. I believe that was the committee's top priority in this year's meeting."

The 12-member NCAA Rules Committee, composed of head football coaches and athletic directors from NCAA Division I, II and III schools, decided Tuesday to pass new rules on field behavior. The committee gave the measure its formal approval on Wednesday.

The University Interscholastic League, which governs athletic and academic competition among Texas' public high schools, sat in on the meeting and strongly endorsed the stiffer regulations.

Miami was assessed a Cotton Bowl record 202 yards against Texas. If the new NCAA rules were in force, UIL athletic director Bill Farney said, "you probably would see 400 yards of penalties."

"Obviously, a coach can't stand that much penalty, no matter how good his team is. It's going to be pretty strict, and the additional 15-yard penalties will take a lot of starch out of a team," he said.

The committee had a lot of careful discussion in the difference between players exciting the fans and inciting them, Farney said.

"For a player to raise his fist into the air after a big tackle, that's not a big problem," Farney said.

"What they want to get rid of is the planned celebrations and exhibitions that stop the action and say, 'Here I am! This is my individuality. Here I am, beating you, and you're nothing!' You have a kid catch a routine 5-yard pass, and he goes into all sort of gyrations."

Miami's Hurricanes established the tone for the Cotton Bowl before it started, charging off their sideline to taunt Texas as the Longhorns sprinted onto the field. The Hurricanes ended the game by taunting a near-empty stadium with a group dance.

Miami coach Dennis Erickson said he was embarrassed and disappointed by his team's unruly behavior. He said it "took away from what was a great win otherwise."

As the penalties mounted, Erickson reprimanded his players after the first quarter and again at halftime, but his players didn't heed his pleas.

"Coach Erickson made it clear, point-blank, that he didn't want the taunting, but emotions just took over," senior center Darren Handy said at the time. "I feel bad for him because he's going to take the heat, but we were just playing Hurricane football."

"It might be embarrassing to the university and the coaches, but it's not to the players. We enjoy it. It's like a show. People from Texas came to see."

Farney said there was "a lot of talk" among the members of the NCAA committee "about the responsibility of the coach and of the institution to curb this type action."

Farney said the UIL will send the new regulations to every high school coach and administrator in Texas, emphasizing good sportsmanship.

"What we are going to try to get across to our schools is regard for the opponent. Respect. You want to win, but not in a manner that belittles, not in a one-upmanship atmosphere," he said.

"You want to play as well as you can, and you want to have the kids show excitement and exuberance, but not to do anything that's vulgar or incites the other team."

Ryan interested in buying Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Rangers pitcher Nolan Ryan says he'd be interested in buying his former team, the Houston Astros, and has already been approached by two groups of investors.

"I've had a couple of people that are trying to put groups together that have contacted me to see if I had any interest," said Ryan, who lives in Alvin, 26 miles south of Houston.

"I told them that I would certainly have an interest in visiting with the parties that are trying to do something to see if I would like to participate in some manner, although I wouldn't have any idea what that would be."

John McMullen, owner of Houston Sports Association, and Robert Harter, president of HSA, which owns the Astros, announced Nov. 24 that the team was for sale.

Louis B. Susman, managing director for Salomon Brothers Inc., which represents the Astros in the sale, said Texas and Houston investors would have the inside track in making a deal for the National League team.

Astros Manager Art Howe said last week that he had heard that McMullen had "not had a nibble" from any interested buyers. The estimated price tag of the franchise has ranged from $75 million to $100 million.

Ryan, 43, told the Austin American-Statesman Tuesday that he expressed some interest when approached by the two groups before the Christmas holidays, but he has not heard anything recently.

Asked if he would like to own a major-league franchise, Ryan said: "It would depend. I would certainly never be in a position to be a majority owner of any ball club. But it would depend on the situation and the organization."

Ryan, the major league's strikeout king, pitched for the Astros from 1980-88 and ranks fifth on the club's all-time victories list with 106.

Fans were angered when he was traded to the Arlington franchise.

Ryan, who has won 302 games and thrown an unprecedented six no-hitters, said he is concerned about the team's more recent trades, who make almost $50 million collectively.

"When I left there, he (McMullen) had said they were not going to get involved in the salary escalation," Ryan said. "I felt like that was probably true, that they were going to take that position. But I didn't expect him to dismantle the ball club as badly as they have."

Ryan declined to reveal the identity of the potential investors and said he does not know if either group is still pursuing the possibility of buying the team.

HSA also holds the lease on the Astrodome and two other buildings in the same complex, the Astrodome and the Astroarena. It also owns properties in Florida and various cable television interests.

High technology has little effect on combat survival

WASHINGTON (AP) - The odds of survival for U.S. soldiers and Marines wounded in ground combat have improved little since the Vietnam war, even though medical science has made great strides in 25 years, military medical experts say.

Many of the new techniques, drugs and modern treatments that save thousands of civilian lives annually simply have no relevance for treating the wounded in a ground war, said Army Col. Ron Bellamy, a military doctor who helped prepare the medical plan for Operation Desert Storm.

"Ninety-five percent of the advances in medicine will have zero application in combat casualty care," Bellamy said in an interview this week.

percentages may not change, he said. In civilian medicine, most injuries come from what is called blunt trauma. This would include bodies smashed in auto accidents or people hurt in falls.

Even the gunshot wounds and stabblings in civilian life are milder than those in combat. There's usually only a single wound and generally the weapons are less powerful than those in a war.

"In combat, most of the wounds come from high velocity penetrating missiles," said Bellamy. "Most people get hit by multiple rounds because the weapons are fully automatic."

High-powered combat bullets and shrapnel from bombs rip into the body with great shock force, smashing bones, shattering organs and starting immediate, massive bleeding. "Bleeding is the most common cause of death in combat," said Bellamy.

Also, the military doctors in general are better trained. Additionally, combat medics receive several extra weeks of training and their first aid kits include improved antibiotics and life-sustaining equipment.

A new level of first aid care also has been added, said Bellamy. There always have been at least one trained combat medic per platoon. Now, he said, "we've added an extra category of soldier, the combat life saver."

One member of each squad or armored vehicle team receives 12 hours of combat first aid treatment. The idea, said Bellamy, is to teach the combat life saver the rudimentary skills needed to stop bleeding or to restore respiration immediately after a buddy is wounded.

BALTIMORE (AP) - Eunice Shriver, sister of President Kennedy and mother of television newswoman Maria Shriver, underwent surgery to repair two broken arms injured in a head-on collision last week.

Mrs. Shriver, 69, was in stable condition Monday but will need additional surgery to repair her hip socket, also injured in the car accident, said Johns Hopkins Hospital spokeswoman Carol Pearson.

According to police, Mrs. Shriver's car crossed the center line last Wednesday in Washington and collided with a van, whose driver was not injured.

Bentsen investigates uninsured

WASHINGTON (AP) - One in four Texans has no health insurance, according to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, who is promising to investigate the problems of the uninsured in hearings over the next few weeks.

A fourth of all pregnant women in the state receive no prenatal care and 40 percent of children in Texas under the age of 4 have not been immunized.

That's according to two studies that paint a bleak picture of the health care situation for many Texans.

Bentsen, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which has jurisdiction over health-care financing issues, said Wednesday he would look into the problems of the uninsured.

The Texas Democrat calls it a longstanding problem and a difficult challenge.

"Many uninsured Americans have jobs but they work for small businesses, which themselves face a number of barriers to providing health insurance for employees. Many employers are unable to get coverage for small numbers of workers, or when they can, are faced with enormously high premiums. Reducing these barriers will make affordable insurance available to more people," Bentsen said.

According to Bentsen, 37 million Americans - including 9 million children and one in every four Texans - don't have any health insurance.

A recent study by the non-profit Employee Benefit Research Institute estimated that 15 percent of the U.S. population is without any health insurance coverage, and that in Texas, 25 percent of the population is believed to be doing without.

A second study by the Texas Medical Association said 16 percent of the state's population lacked health insurance.

Rep. Martin Frost, D-Dallas, who cited the institute's study in a newsletter to constituents, said only 16.5 percent of the nation's uninsured are unemployed. More than half, 55.7 percent, are working adults and 27.8 percent are children too young to work.

"The skyrocketing cost of health care over the last decade has made every family vulnerable to financial ruin in the event of serious illness or injury," Frost wrote. "Even families with health insurance often face overwhelming out-of-pocket costs associated with medical care."

In Texas, those who must depend on public assistance face a "deteriorating public health system which restricts access simply due to the absence of services," according to the Texas Medical Association study.

CAROLYN JONES...with guard dog Pooh

BY KAY CRISMON
Staff Writer

A silent worker for the city of Hereford has been with the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce for almost 16 years.

In the background of the busy transactions that take place at the chamber office is Carolyn Jones, secretary.

"When I first began working at the chamber office it was just part time work but gradually worked into a full time position. Working with the chamber is an exciting job. There are always things to do and it's never the same each day. I do enquiries, answer the phone, code checks, typing and work with tourists, newcomers, and the Deaf Smith County Women's Division, she explained.

Jones was raised on a farm in Littlefield and attended Draughon's Business College in Lubbock. Before moving to Hereford, she was employed by the Bell Telephone Company in Lubbock. She moved to Hereford in 1964 and has worked for a CPA firm and Cotton and Warrick.

Together she and her husband, Winthorn, have five children: Kelly Jackson of Amarillo, Ronnie Killough of San Antonio, and Danielle Murph, Shanay Hernandez, and Kemp Jones, all of Lubbock.

"We really enjoy our children and visit them every chance we get. We are going to be grandparents in July and we can hardly wait for the joyful occasion," she said with a grin.

They have a guard dog named Pooh and a colossal cat named Butch that keep them company now that the children are all grown and away from home.

"I am so fortunate for all the blessings that have come my way. My husband and I are very compatible and like the same things. We do everything together and he is so good to help me with anything around the house. It seems we do everything as a team and I like that," she commented.

She enjoys sewing, reading and cooking and is sharing a variety of family recipe favorites:

CORN MEAL CHOPS

Dip port chops first in milk, then corn meal, seasoned with salt and pepper. Fry in shortening or oil until done.

4-IN-1 VEGGIE FRY

Chop in pieces (in whatever amounts of each you desire): potatoes, onions, squash (yellow or zucchini), and okra (fresh or frozen). Season with salt and pepper, mix in corn meal. Fry as you would okra until tender and browned.

APRICOT JELLO SALAD

1 pkg. apricot jello
1-1/4 cup boiling water
1 flat can crushed pineapple
1/4 cup chopped pecans
1 cup cottage cheese
2 cups Cool Whip
Dissolve jello in the boiling water; let stand for about 30 minutes. Then add nuts and pineapple. Let cool until almost syrupy... (15 to 30 minutes). Add the cottage cheese and Cool Whip. Stir gently, but well, store in refrigerator.

LOST BATTALION SOUP

1 lb. hamburger meat, season to taste with salt and pepper
Chopped onions (as desired)
1 can of pinto beans (do not drain)
1 can of whole kernel corn (do not drain)
2 cans of Rotel tomatoes and green

chilis
1/2 pkg. Taco seasoning
Water

Brown hamburger meat and onions, drain grease. Add beans, corn, Rotel, taco seasoning. Add water to make as thick or soupy as desired. Cook about 15 minutes. Serve over grated cheese; with tortilla chips or crackers. (And add Picante sauce, if desired)

CHERRY DESSERT

Make crust of graham crackers or vanilla wafers (as for pie). Spread into a 9" pie pan or 8" square pan. Chill.

Mix small package of cream cheese (room temperature) with 1 cup of powdered sugar to a smooth spreading consistency. Spread on chilled crust. Sprinkle chopped pecans on top of this layer. Whip 1 package of Dream Whip and spread on top. Top with a can of cherry pie filling. Chill and serve.

Alpha Alpha members get degrees

Alpha Alpha Preceptor chapter of Beta Sigma Phi announced some members eligibility to receive a higher degree during their Tuesday meeting.

International communications included ritual certification form. Those eligible to receive a higher degree include: Gerry Tayler, Exemplar; Barbara Burkhalter, Karren Ruland, Jan Walsler, Alene Tindal and Beverly Redelsperger, Preceptor Laureate.

Also, Nan Gauthreaux, Redelsperger, Lynda Brown, Phyllis Neill and Brenda Thomas are eligible for the Order of the Rose.

After President Virginia Jackson called the meeting to order, roll call was answered and minutes were read and approved.

Thomas, Gauthreaux, Lillie Shipman, Burkhalter and Ruland extended thank-yous to their secret sisters.

The next meeting for the program and yearbook will be Jan. 29. The Feb. 5 meeting will be hosted by Alene Tindal and Vida Grady and the program will be presented by Phyllis Neill and Walsler.

The item for the Operation Good Shepherd Food Pantry this month is tuna fish.

The Valentine Brunch will be Feb. 9 at 10 a.m. in the Hereford Community Center. The Valentine Ball will be Feb. 16 at the Hereford Country Club.

Hostesses served veggies, dip, german chocolate nut bars, spiced cider and coffee to those present.

Others attending were Lillie Shipman and Murlene Streun.

Members joined hands for the closing ritual and the "Mizpah."

Special gift given

Angie Bybee, at left, phlebologist from Amarillo, recently accepted a donation from Jan Carroll during yesterday's blood bank drive. Any adult donating blood between Oct. 1, 1990 to Oct. 1, 1991 will become eligible to win prizes during the Coffee Memorial Blood Center's Sensational Blood Donor Sweepstakes. Some of the prizes include, an all expense paid trip to Puerto Vallarta, $500 shopping spree, 10 cubic foot freezer with 1/4 beef, 20" remote control TV, and 100 gallons of gasoline.

Get the real "dirt" on indoor gardening

Professional growers know that successful indoor gardening involves no sorcery, no magic and most importantly, no dirt. Mother Nature's dirt is often too heavy and dense to allow the plant's root system proper access to water, oxygen and nutrients. Experts know that natural soil is best replaced by a professional-quality, light-weight soilless mix for great growing indoors.

What should gardeners look for in a good potting mix? According to experts, ideal growing medium has four characteristics. It should:

-hold moisture and nutrients well. In a garden, plants can spread out their roots and reach moisture and nutrients but a potted plant must survive on the limited nutrients available in its container. Ingredients to look for include Canadian sphagnum peat moss and processed pine barks, both ideal for absorbing and storing water.

-provide satisfactory, uniform drainage and aeration. Water can actually drown the plant by saturating the air spaces and reducing the oxygen. It also can lead to root rot. A good mix may contain vermiculite—a porous mineral that promotes drainage, soil aeration and storage of moisture and nutrients.

-be free of weeds and pests. Natural soil may contain weeds, bacteria and fungi that inhibit the growth of plants. An essentially sterile soilless mix won't transmit disease to the plant.

-be lightweight. Dark, dirty and heavy does not necessarily translate into healthy plants. A dense, heavy growing medium will suffocate the roots.

Experts know that plants require the finest growing medium for optimum results. Professionals would not use the soil that Mother Nature has provided—nor should you.

Many of the first houses in the American colonies were built from bricks used as ballast in the holds of ships.

CLASSIFIED ADS
Classified advertising rates are based on 14 cents a word for first insertion ($2.80 minimum), and 10 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy charge, straight word ads.

| TIMES | RATE | MIN |
|-----------------|------|-------|
| 1 day per word | .15 | 3.00 |
| 2 days per word | .26 | 5.20 |
| 3 days per word | .37 | 7.40 |
| 4 days per word | .48 | 9.60 |
| 5 days per word | .59 | 11.80 |

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines-those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALIS
Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

LEGAL NOTICES

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND PARTIES:
You are hereby notified of the opportunity for written public comment concerning the application for continuance of permit No. R-3112 by Arrowhead Mills, Inc. for a grain elevator in Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas. The location is 100 ft. East of the intersection of So. Lawton St. and New York St. The facility is emitting particulate matter-grain dust. A copy of all materials submitted by the applicant is available for public inspection at the Texas Air Control Board, Lubbock Regional Office at Briercroft South #1, 5302 South Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79412, telephone (806)744-0090, and at the Texas Air Control Board, 6330 Highway 290 East, Austin, Texas 78723. All interested persons may inspect these materials and submit written comments to the Executive Director of the Texas Air Control Board. Any person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from the proposed facility may request a contested case hearing from the Board on the application for continuance pursuant to Section 3.271(c) of the Texas Clean Air Act. All comments and hearing requests must be received in writing by February 9, 1991. All written comments submitted to the Executive Director shall be considered in determining whether to continue the permit. All comments will be made available for public inspection at the Texas Air Control Board Office in Austin.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it. This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.
