IN NORTHERN SAUDI ARABIA (AP) - Iraqi forces struck the frontier town of Khafji again today, and allied warplanes rained bombs on a 10-mile armored Iraqi column approaching the Saudi border. U.S. strategists say Saddam Hussein is hungry for a victory - and likely to launch a major new assault.

All but unchallenged in the skies, allied bombers went methodically about their work. The French said their Jaguars and Mirages targeted Iraq's tough Republican Guards, and Iran's official news agency said coalition warplanes bombed the strategic southern city of Basra and nearby towns until dawn today.

The allied air effort was getting some quiet assistance from Spain. Despite political sensitivities, the Madrid government is allowing American B-52 bombers to use a joint U.S.-Spanish air base as a staging area for raids on Iraq, Spanish military sources said today. Britain has given such permission, too.

On another front, experts were fighting a losing battle against a mammoth oil spill blackening the waters of the Persian Gulf. Oil and shipping executives said the slick was breaking up, foiling efforts to contain it.

U.S. officials said Iraq deliberately unleashed the slick, the biggest ever. Fighting raged today in the beach town-turned-battleground of Khafji, which has changed hands twice in as many days. The Iraqis overran it Wednesday; the allies recaptured it Thursday.

Today it was under rocket and artillery fire, answered by allied air strikes. The Iraqi units were inside Saudi territory between the town and the border six miles to the north, said a Marine officer speaking on the condition of anonymity.

Witnesses said the road between the town and Iraqi-occupied Kuwait was still open, giving the Iraqis a route of attack.

"The Iraqis are on the move north of the border and we are ready for anything," said Army Lt. Col. Jack Petri, a liaison to the Saudi forces.

The streets of Khafji, whose residents fled in the war's opening days, were littered with booby-traps and bodies. Soviet-built BTR-60 amphibious armored personnel carriers were gutted by TOW anti-tank missiles, their dead Iraqi crews still inside.

Saudi Gen. Khalid bin Sultan said Thursday his troops, backed by U.S. Marines, had captured 400 Iraqi soldiers, killing or wounding 200, and destroyed 45 armored vehicles.

Speaking to reporters at the gates of the town, with an Iraqi soldier's body sprawled against the wall of a nearby house, the general called the Iraqi attack on Khafji a "suicide mission."

"They lost 90 percent of their forces," he said.

Iraq claimed Thursday it had taken an unspecified number of prisoners during the Khafji battle, including some "female U.S. soldiers." It said they were being well-treated, in accordance with "lofty Islamic laws."

Army Brig. Gen. Pat Stevens IV did not confirm such captures, but did say that one of two American soldiers missing elsewhere on the front was a woman. The two were on a ground transport mission south of the Saudi border, he told reporters in the Saudi capital of Riyadh on Thursday.

Baghdad radio claimed today that three allied aircraft were shot down overnight. Iraq now claims more than 180 coalition warplanes have been downed; the allies put their aircraft lost in combat at 19.

However, Pentagon sources said Thursday a U.S. military aircraft with a crew of 14 was downed behind Iraqi lines. Members of Congress briefed by Pentagon officials said the aircraft was a modified C-130 equipped with small cannons and machine guns that went down over Kuwait.

North of the Kuwait border, four Iraqi mechanized armored brigades - at least 4,500 troops - were reported on the move, and military officers quoted in a pool report said another attack appeared likely.

That assessment was shared by Stevens, who said Saddam would probably hit allied forces again - hard.

"I have no doubt ... that he may very well attempt some further action," Stevens said Thursday. "He may be looking for some sort of ... victory. He may be looking for some sort of an action from which he can gain confidence."

Iraq proclaimed its strike at Khafji a grand success.

"They fled in front of us like women and like shepherds roving aimlessly in the desert," said an unidentified Iraqi soldier interviewed on Iraq's Mother of Battles Radio.

Along the freezing desert front northwest of Khafji, B-52 bombers pounded an Iraqi column stretching 10 miles - up to 1,000 vehicles - according to a pool report by the Southampton Evening Echo, a British paper. The B-52s refueled in the air as they attacked over a 150-mile stretch of the border.

Dull thumps of explosions were heard as A-10 tank-killing planes and Apache helicopters attacked the column, said reporter Simon Clifford, with Britain's 4th Armored Brigade.

He quoted an intelligence report as saying at least 100 Iraqi tanks had been destroyed since Saddam's forces thrust across the border Tuesday night, setting off the first serious ground fighting of the war.

Marine Lt. Col. Dick White, commander of a squadron of Harrier jump jets, spoke to pool reporters Thursday of intelligence reports that 800 to 1,000 Iraqi vehicles were moving toward the border.

Air Force, recently told his mother by phone that he was involved in an explosion (apparently artillery fire) and that his clothes were ripped but he escaped without injury. Dones attended school here but graduated in Lubbock, where his mother, Joy Dones, resides.

If you fly the U.S. Flag after dark, you are supposed to spotlight it, a reader asked us to report. She says flag etiquette requires that you either take the flag down at night, or have a light on it. It is considered disrespectful, she reports, to fly the flag at night without it being lighted.

Golf players will appreciate this story: A young fellow constantly had his mind on one thing--golf, golf, golf. His grades were okay in everything except math. Tutors and special classes didn't seem to help, so his dad got the idea of using golf as an example.

The father asked his son: "If you're playing a hole that's 358 yards and your drive is 200 yards, how far are you from the pin?" Without hesitation, the boy said, "A seven iron."

Robbins is C of C president

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

Pat Robbins was presented the president's gavel and other new officers and directors were installed Thursday when the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce board held a retreat from 9 a.m. to noon at Hereford Country Club.

Robbins, longtime county farmer, succeeds Doug Josserrand as C of C president. Other new officers are Charles Greenawalt, vice president, and James McDowell Jr., secretary-treasurer. Mike Carr, executive vice president, installed the officers.

The retreat was held to make plans for the new chamber year. Functions of board members and the chamber's policies, and budget guidelines were outlined by Carr. An industrial development update was presented by Cheryl Pink, Southwester Public Service representative.

Representatives from each governmental entity in the community presented a community profile update, and Robbins led the board in discussing the chamber's program of work for 1991. He also announced the appointment of committee chairmen. A Women's Division report was given by Ruth Newsom, new president.

New directors installed on the board were Lewis McDaniel, Donna West, Bill Lyles and James McDowell Jr. Holdover directors include Carol Gerk, Scott Keeling, Bobby Moore, Waldo Baxter, Diane

State tax increase likely

AUSTIN (AP) - Texans are likely to face a "rather large" tax increase to pay for state services over the next two years, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock said.

Gov. Ann Richards refused to speculate on the matter Thursday, and House Speaker Gib Lewis called the discussion premature.

"I don't see any way around it ... The possibility of not having a tax bill is very, very remote if Texas is going to move ahead in the future," Bullock said.

Asked if the state can get by without a tax increase, Richards said, "I have no idea, and I'm not going to pre-guess it."

Bullock's prediction came despite a bill passed by the Legislature and signed by Richards Thursday to carve $139.5 million from state spending and to audit state agencies to see if more money can be saved.

It was the first bill passed this session, and the first signed by the new governor.

The state faces a projected budget shortfall of $4.6 billion through fiscal year 1993.

There is an estimated deficit this fiscal year of about $265 million, mostly in welfare services, that the budget-cutting bill will help cover.

The rest of the immediate deficit could be made up through funds expected to be left in state coffers when the current fiscal year ends Aug. 31, lawmakers said.

The bill includes about a 1 percent budget cut for state agencies, with some exceptions, and the transfer of unspent funds from several accounts.

It replaces a previous proposal to freeze state spending.

Richards said the bill should assure Texans that "we have done everything that we know to do to make sure that the taxpayers are getting their money's worth."

Before a tax increase is considered, Richards said she would like to see the audits proceed, a state lottery pass and a committee set up to recommend tax changes, particularly in the state franchise tax.

A Texas Supreme Court order to provide more equitable funding to poor school districts makes the question of a tax increase "dicier and more difficult," she said.

Bullock also cited the court order, along with state welfare needs that could demand another $1 billion and an estimate that 10,000 more prison beds are required.

He said his staff is looking at tax options, but he wouldn't speculate on how large a tax increase might be needed.

"It's as big as the House and Senate want to make it, and it's as big as the needs of Texas are," Bullock said. "Goodness gracious, how long is a piece of string?"

Judging from current needs, he said, "I would imagine it'll be a rather large one."

Speaker Lewis, who has predicted a 50-50 chance for a tax increase, said: "It's going to be very difficult for us to make ends meet."

South Africa considering ending apartheid policies

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) - President F.W. de Klerk today proposed the repeal of all major laws enforcing racial discrimination, and pro-apartheid white lawmakers stormed out of parliament in protest.

Thousands of people demanded an immediate end to apartheid in nationwide protests organized by black opposition groups.

Speaking to the opening session of parliament, De Klerk said his proposals augur the quick end of racial discrimination. "Should parliament adopt the government's proposals, the South African statute book will be devoid, within months, of the remnants of racially discriminatory legislation," he said.

However, he rejected calls for a multi-racial interim government. He said the white-minority government will remain in power until a new constitution is negotiated with the African National Congress and other opposition groups.

De Klerk said the government will propose scrapping the last three pillars of apartheid. He said it will call for ending outright the Group Areas Act and the land acts, while modifying the Population Registration Act in advance of its abolition.

The Group Areas Act segregates residential areas along racial lines, and the land acts similarly regulate land ownership rights. The population act forces South Africans to register in separate racial groups for political, educational and other purposes.

De Klerk's National Party controls parliament, and repeal of the remaining apartheid laws during this parliamentary session appears certain.

However, de Klerk's speech prompted a walkout by outraged lawmakers of the pro-apartheid Conservative Party, the main white opposition party. Conservative Party lawmakers interrupted the address, storming out of the chamber as the parliamentary speaker roared, "Order, order!"

De Klerk, who paused during the walkout, appeared unperturbed and continued his speech.

As the president spoke, at least 10,000 protesters calling for the end to white rule marched through the city of Cape Town as part of the nationwide protests.

African National Congress leader Walter Sisulu and other anti-apartheid activists led the chanting column of demonstrators. Protesters carried placards calling for a constituent assembly to form a new multi-racial government.

Heavily-armed police stood watch but let the protest continue.

Thousands of blacks stayed away from work in Cape Town, Johannesburg and other cities as part of the campaign for the immediate end to apartheid. Authorities said many blacks appeared to be taking part in the protest, but they had no figures.

Despite today's pledges, de Klerk, who has been in power for 18 months, has yet to spell out the details of a black-white power-sharing political system he hopes to establish. He has not advocated black majority rule.

Today, he said only, "The goal, with the removal of discrimination, is to give all South Africans full rights in every sphere of life."

De Klerk began last year's legislative session with a series of dramatic announcements that included the legalization of 60 opposition groups and plans to release Nelson Mandela. He was freed Feb. 11.

But those reforms failed to produce tangible improvements for ordinary blacks. They have also contributed to increased black factional fighting and a backlash.

Bush visits Army bases

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush is saluting U.S. troops and their families at three Southern military bases, as his administration signals it won't be provoked into a premature ground war with Iraq.

The president was flying today to two bases in North Carolina and one in Georgia that have deployed troops to the Persian Gulf. He also planned to meet privately with families of U.S. prisoners of war.

It was Bush's first trip outside the Washington area this year and his first visit to military installations since he spent Thanksgiving Day with troops in the gulf region.

His first stop was the Cherry Point Marine Corps Air Station at Havelock, N.C., to address Marines and their families from both the air station and nearby Camp Lejeune.

Later, Bush was to fly to Seymour Johnson Air Force Base in Goldsboro, N.C., and then to Fort Stewart in Savannah, Ga. He was flying on to Florida for a private visit with his mother, Dorothy Walker Bush, 89, at the family home in Hobe Sound, near Palm Beach, before returning to Camp David, Md., for the weekend.

Bush's trip coincides with the first American deaths in ground combat in the gulf.

News Digest

World, National

NORTHERN SAUDI ARABIA - Allied warplanes pounce a 10-mile armored Iraqi column headed for the Saudi-Kuwait border, and Iraqi forces again plunge across the frontier again into Khafji. A top U.S. commander says Saddam Hussein is hungry for some sort of victory - and allied strategists believe an Iraqi attack is imminent.

WASHINGTON - President Bush is saluting U.S. troops and their families at three Southern military bases today, as his administration signals it won't be provoked into a premature ground war with Iraq.

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. - The deaths of 11 Marines in the Persian Gulf War brought grief, foreboding and resolve to those left behind at this Southern California base. "Anytime you have a war people are going to die. You can't get around that, but it was a jolt," said Sgt. Scott A. Greenlee.

DHAHRAN, Saudia Arabia - They can blow off a foot or sink a ship, punch holes in tanks or wound a platoon. Planted in the sand, seeded in Persian Gulf shallows, floating in the sea, mines are a frighteningly unpredictable component in the Iraqi line of defense.

WASHINGTON - Smart bombs and wise politics have dictated that the war against Iraq be conducted with as few civilian casualties as possible, military analysts say.

ATLANTA - More Americans are quitting smoking, but the deaths from smoking-related illnesses have increased 11 percent - to nearly 450,000 a year - as those who smoked years ago take ill, federal health officials say.

WASHINGTON - Three big prospective winners in President Bush's drug war strategy next year are the Andean countries that supply much of the world's cocaine.

ECHO SUMMIT, Calif. - Devices that water experts poked into scant patches of Sierra snow told them what officials feared across the state: Drastic water rationing is now virtually certain as a fifth dry year looms. Gov. Pete Wilson, under pressure to declare a water emergency, planned a major announcement on the drought today.

MOSCOW - The Communist Party's policy-making Central Committee has been told the party is regaining influence in the Soviet Union. Vice President Gennady Yanayev also is reported by Tass to have told the committee that if Mikhail Gorbachev "ceases to be general secretary, another leader will come."

Texas

TYLER - A Texas Marine's mother says she had a premonition that her son was one of the first U.S. casualties during a ground battle in Saudi Arabia. Robin Ann Walker, of the Dallas suburb of Irving, said she began telephoning officials at 8 p.m. Wednesday about the fate of Lance Cpl. Daniel B. Walker, 20. She did not find out until early Thursday that her son, from the East Texas town of Whitehouse, was killed.

SAN ANTONIO - The first wave of Army and Air Force inactive reservists called to wartime duty has arrived here for physicals, paperwork and orientation back into the military.

EL PASO - Pvt. 2 William Harris says the circles and squares on the radar screen of the Patriot weapon system he is learning to master have become life-like as the chance of his deployment to the Middle East increases.

AUSTIN - Texans are likely to face a "rather large" tax increase to pay for state services over the next two years, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock said. But Gov. Ann Richards refused to speculate on the matter Thursday, and House Speaker Gib Lewis called the discussion premature.

WASHINGTON - Widespread use of fraudulent documents which allow undocumented workers to find work is driving a surge in illegal immigration after three straight years of decline, officials say.

Texas garment workers investigation planned

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Complaints of sweatshops in the garment industry have prompted Gov. Ann Richards to form an investigative team, while business leaders say a few unscrupulous people are giving the industry a bad name.

Several garment workers have filed complaints against apparel contractors and subcontractors, claiming they are owed thousands of dollars in wages. A U.S. Labor Department investigation supported their claim.

"Our organization has been accused of being destructive, of setting out to destroy the garment industry by bringing negative national publicity to El Paso," said Cecilia Rodriguez, director of La Mujer Obrera, a garment workers' rights group.

"Let me say that we did not invent these sweatshops, and that if there is a destructive factor involved in the garment industry and this community, that factor is the sweatshops," she said Thursday.

But a member of the El Paso Sewing Association said the unscrupulous contractors are a minority of the industry.

Mary Leaver told the group that their protest of a New York apparel firm, Jou-Jou Designs, was seen by another clothier in the same building that rescinded a $10 million contract offer to make jeans.

She said that contract would have been divided between many El Paso garment factories.

"There is no disagreement in our association that we have a problem in our industry," she said. But she asked the workers to "please try and channel (their protests) in a constructive manner."

"If they are not paying you, don't work there," she said.

But workers applauded when El Paso County Judge Alicia Chacon countered that the protests and negative publicity were necessary and pledged to support the workers.

Garment workers in the West Texas city have protested industry conditions for about a year.

Investigative team members met Thursday with the garment workers' group and toured a local factory that some workers have filed complaints against to recoup unpaid wages.

Viviana Patino, an assistant attorney general in El Paso, called the tour "sobering" and said the "images will be taken back to the governor in Austin."

Ms. Patino said Thursday the team consists of herself, three members of the Texas Department of Commerce, a member of the Texas Employment Commission and a representative of Richards' office.

A meeting was arranged by La Mujer Obrera with Mayor Suzie Azar, Ms. Chacon, Ms. Patino, Texas Employment Commission officials and a local city councilman.

INS reports illegal immigration rise

WASHINGTON (AP) - Widespread use of fraudulent documents which allow undocumented workers to find work is driving a surge in illegal immigration after three straight years of decline, officials say.

"It's an issue today; it will be a crisis tomorrow if we don't address it," says Rep. Lamar Smith, R-San Antonio.

"The word is going back that if you can obtain, at a minimum cost, a driver's license and fraudulent Social Security card, that's all you need to meet the burden of proof to work in the United States," said Duke Austin, a spokesman for the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Under the 1986 Immigration Reform and Control Act (IRCA), employers face civil and criminal sanctions for hiring undocumented workers.

But an employer is not required to validate an employee's documents, making it possible for illegal aliens to get work with a fraudulent Social Security card and a driver's license obtained with that Social Security card, Austin said. Austin said black-market Social Security cards can be bought for $25 to $40.

"If it looks valid, an employer has met his burden," Austin said.

"The word is out that document fraud is the key to getting a job in America ... massive quantities of fraudulent documents are undermining the effectiveness of sanctions," said Dan Stein, executive director of the Federation for American Immigration Reform.

Smith, a member of the House immigration subcommittee, said estimates indicate that as many as half the illegal aliens in the United States are using fraudulent documents.

"To stop this flouting of the law we need a tamper-proof card of some sort - not a national ID card - but simply making the documents in use tamper-proof," Smith said Thursday.

According to INS figures, apprehensions of people trying to cross the Southern border illegally rose from 854,128 in the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30, 1989, to over 1 million for the fiscal year that ended this past Sept. 30.

Apprehensions are considered the best measure of illegal immigration. Apprehensions peaked in 1986 at 1.6 million, then fell steadily in fiscal 1987, 1988 and 1989.

Austin said apprehensions were also up 5.4 percent for the past quarter - October through December - compared with the same period a year ago.

"I think the initial impact of IRCA is wearing off," Smith said. "It points out the need to more strictly enforce employer sanctions, particularly the need to eliminate fraudulent documents."

Smith said more law enforcement is also needed on the Mexican border. Although Congress authorized a 50 percent increase in Border Patrol agents in IRCA, the failure to fund those positions has meant the force has only grown from about 3,600 agents in 1986 to around 3,800 to 3,900 agents today. The INS, however, is funded to add another 200 agents.

Cecilia Munoz, senior immigration policy analyst at the National Council of La Raza, said tensions along the border appear to be increasing along with illegal immigration.

"Each year we get more and more documented cases of people getting shot, people getting beaten, and deaths at the border at the hands of border enforcement officials. That situation is absolutely urgent," Ms. Munoz said.

Stein said he believes Congress should establish some kind of uniform work verification system.

"Fraud and immigration are practically synonymous today, and it would be criminal if Congress does not move swiftly to give the Department of Justice the authority to develop a uniform, electronic work verification system in 1991," Stein said.

Ms. Munoz said La Raza, however, believes employer sanctions should be repealed on civil rights grounds because they have resulted in widespread employment discrimination.

"It's not simply a document problem, although the policy probably created a black market, but Congress picked a policy that cannot do its job," she said.

Richards doubts insurance audit

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards said she has some misgivings about the State Board of Insurance accepting an invitation by the insurance industry to examine the data it used to recommend a 29.1 percent increase in automobile insurance.

"I am concerned that the audit ordered today by the board may be superficial and rushed," Richards said Thursday.

Richards said she has ordered the state ombudsman, Annette LoVoi, to accompany the audit team to monitor the process.

"Ratepayers should not be asked to foot the bill for insurance lobbyists, exorbitant advertising, and losses due to poor investments," Richards said.

Insurance board members said the examination would clear the air on the proposed rate increase in light of opposition by Richards and consumer groups.

"It helps the consumer, the governor and the Legislature feel comfortable with what we're using to make a decision," said James Saxton, board chairman.

Dick Geiger, an insurance representative, said the examination will show the industry's figures have been accurate. "We believe there is a demonstrated need for a 29 percent increase."

The Insurance Board agreed to delay a decision on private passenger auto rates until March 14. Saxton said the board will make a decision on commercial auto rates Feb. 14.

Under the insurance industry's request, auto rates in Houston, for example, would increase $242 per year for the typical driver. Statewide, those increases would vary depending on a number of factors, such as driver's age, residence, and type of vehicle.

The Insurance Board's staff has recommended a 23.3 percent increase, or nearly $1 billion hike, while the state's consumer advocate has recommended a 11.4 percent increase.

Board member Richard Reynolds said the invitation by insurers to look at their data was "a gesture on the part of the industry."

But consumer groups were not happy. John Hildreth, director of the southwest regional office of Consumers Union, called for an independent check of the data, rather than by the Insurance Board.

In the long-term, he said, the board should have the ability to collect its own data and not rely on the insurance industry.

"What we need to do in Texas, if we are going to regulate the industry, is have an independent source, have the state have control over the collection of that data and its analysis," Hildreth said.

Board member Jo Ann Howard, in the last day of her term on the panel, said state leaders should concentrate on ways to reduce medical costs, which she said are driving up auto and workers' compensation insurance rates.

"We've got to stop treating the symptoms and go to the heart of the disease," she said.

Richards appointed an Austin attorney, Claire Koriath, 54, to replace Ms. Howard on the three-member board.

Ms. Koriath said in a statement: "I share the governor's concern about an Insurance Board that has been basing its rate recommendations on data supplied to it by the insurance industry."

New directors

Ruth Newsom and Lewis McDaniel are two of the new directors of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce inducted Thursday at a retreat at the Hereford Country Club. Other new directors are Bill Lyles, Donna West and James McDowell. Newsom is serving on the board this year as president of the Women's Division.

US soldiers tangle with Iraqi mines

An AP Extra By MARK FRITZ Associated Press Writer
DHAHRAN, Saudia Arabia (AP) - They can blow off a foot or sink a ship, punch holes in tanks or decimate a platoon.

They can listen patiently to a passing naval convoy before exploding beneath the most strategically significant ship.

Planted in the sand, seeded in the shallows, floating in the sea, mines are a frighteningly unpredictable component in the Iraqi line of defense.

An amphibious landing on Kuwait's coast is expected to be part of an allied ground assault. But the Marines may have to surmount spiked spheres floating in the deep, sophisticated "bottom" mines nestled off shore and a variety of surface mines sprinkled on the beach.

"You can bet your life mines will be laid wherever an amphibious landing is thought possible," said Richard Sharpe, editor of Jane's Fighting Ships.

Finding and fighting mines spread across the desert or dumped into the Persian Gulf require almost as many techniques as there are varieties of mines.

Allied naval forces have located and destroyed 37 mines since Iraq invaded Kuwait on Aug. 2, said U.S. Navy Lt. Cmdr. John Tull.

All of them were floating mines - large, spiked balls moored to anchored cables. But defense analysts say Iraq is certain to also have laid ground mines on the gulf floor, particularly in shallower areas near the coast.

These "smart" mines contain microprocessors and can be tuned to the frequency of a particular type of ship. This allows the mines to let escort vessels pass and wait for the big gunship to sail overhead.

Tull would not say why no ground mines have been found, but he alluded to the dangers of sweeping too close to the coast of occupied Kuwait, where Iraqi troops and artillery positions are dug in.

"Keep in mind the environment you have there in the northern gulf," he said.

The United States and Britain have about a dozen minesweeping ships in the gulf, including the Avenger-class minesweeper. These highly advanced vessels are equipped with submarine robots that are tethered to mother ships by cables.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been reading your column for years and never thought I'd write you. I would like to bring up a topic that I have never seen in your column and it has troubled me through the years.

I would like to ask physical education teachers everywhere if they are aware of the damage they do to a child's self-esteem when they have student captains choose team members in gym class.

This type of selection needs to be stopped and I'm sure it would be if these teachers knew what it felt like to be the last person chosen for a team.

I speak from experience. I was never athletic in school, probably because I was never encouraged. I was soon labeled as nonathletic and grew to fear and despise gym classes.

Team selection by fellow classmates was one of the most humiliating experiences of my life -- the ultimate in rejection. To be the one left standing, the one that no one wanted, left me scarred emotionally. I am still working on building my self-esteem and I hate team sports to this very day.

Please, Ann, tell your readers to ask their children how team selection is made in their physical education classes. If this painful method of being chosen by the captain is used, the parents should go to school and take this column with them. There are many other ways to choose teams, for example, counting off by twos or threes or having the teacher make the selection.

Thanks for helping make this world a better place. -- No Jock in Pa.

DEAR PA.: I was no jock either and I, too, remember the embarrassment at being the last chosen. It was awful, and in retrospect, I don't know how the gym teachers could have been so insensitive.

I have dealt with this subject in the column before but it's one that bears repeating. Thanks for writing. I hope it helps.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister-in-law and her husband have an adorable little poodle that is kept in a cage while they are away at work. Ann, this poor animal is in that cage for nearly nine hours a day, sometimes longer. They let the dog out when they get home.

My mother-in-law just got a 2-month-old dog and the same thing is going on at her place. She takes the dog out to play and eat, but while she's busy at home with chores, or when she goes out in the afternoon, the dog is in his cage. She also puts him in the cage when she goes to sleep at night.

I am a dog lover, although I don't have one now because we live in an apartment and don't feel it's fair to the dog. My question is, why get a dog if it's caged all the time? Every time I see these pets locked up I want to scream.

I do realize that they don't want the animals chewing on the furniture or making a mess on the rug, but isn't that what training is for? My sister-in-law says the dogs like their cages. I say she's just making excuses.

I told them both that I was writing to you and they said, "Ann will be on our side." Please hurry and answer. My visits are getting shorter and shorter. -- Dog Lover in Chicago

DEAR DOG LOVER: I spoke to Jane Stern, director of administration at the Anti-Cruelty Society, and to Dr. David Epstein, a respected veterinarian in Glenview, Ill. Both said the same thing: A cage provides a secure environment and is very helpful for housebreaking. It is NOT cruel, and the dog doesn't mind it. Once a dog is completely trained, however, the cage is no longer necessary.

Plans finalized for supper

Plans were finalized for the Deaf Smith County Lapidary Club's annual bean supper when members met Monday at Deaf Smith County Library with President Thama Pearson presiding.

The supper will be held in the library's Heritage Room Feb. 25.

Also, during the business session, reports on ill and absent members were given.

The door prize, which was furnished by Ruby Mulkey, was won by Floyd Coker.

The program included a film on Germany furnished by Lurline Cawthon.

Serving as hosts for the 21 members present were Ruth King, Cecil Lady and Baxter London.

Hopson installed at meeting

Lydia Hopson was installed as right support to the noble grand by District Deputy President Susie Curtsinger during the recent meeting of Hereford Rebekah Lodge # 228.

Noble Grand Jo Irlbeck presided as reports were made on several ailing members. Eighteen visits, 52 cheer cards, 17 dishes of food and a flower was reported.

Tickets are on sale for the chili supper scheduled for Feb. 23 at the I.O.O.F. Hall. Adult tickets are $3 and children under 12, $1.50.

Erma Loving served as hostess to Irlbeck, Hopson, Curtsinger, Jim Loving, Rosalie Northcutt, Nelma Sowell, Anna Conklin, Ben Conklin, Tony Irlbeck, Stella Hershey, Peggy Lemons, Marie Harris, Dorothy Lundy, Fern Durham, O.E. Durham, Verna Sowell, Faye Brownlow, Ursalee Jacobsen, Ocie Bolton, Mary Lou Weatherford, and Leona Sowell.

Free booklet gives hints on preventing colds, the flu

At any time of the year, one in 20 Americans has a cold. About 10 percent of the population gets the flu during a typical flu seasons-late November through April.

Drinking from the same glass, rubbing your eyes and wiping your nose, and prolonged exposure to excessive indoor heat are among the most common reasons why most Americans catch a cold or the flu. To help consumers better identify what causes these two illnesses, the makers of Dixie disposable bathroom and kitchen cups have designed a free informational booklet.

The Dixie Cold and Flu Prevention Quiz explains the differences between colds and the flu, and tests readers' knowledge about how the two illnesses are caught and transmitted. The eight-page booklet also offers tips on how to reduce the chances of catching or spreading a cold and the flu.

There are more than 200 different kinds of viruses that can cause colds. The most common of these, called Rhinoviruses, cause up to half of all colds. Once infected, the body's immune system develops antibodies to protect against reinfection. However, although a person may develop a temporary immunity to one cold's particular virus, he or she may still be susceptible to other cold viruses going around.

Cold viruses are naturally transmitted through nasal discharges, which are heavily laden with viruses. Studies have shown that some viruses can survive for several hours on hands, in cloth handkerchiefs, and on hard non-porous surfaces such as counters, drinking glasses and cups, doorknobs and telephones. Unwitting victims pick up the virus on their fingers and the infect themselves by rubbing their eyes or by touching or wiping their noses.

Like the common cold, the flu virus is also caused by a viral infection. But, unlike cold viruses, the flu is caused by relatively few virus types, and the flu virus tends to change through the years and resurface in forms that people are no longer immune to.

The flu is transmitted much more easily than a cold, spread through the air by coughs, sneezes, laughs and even normal conversation.

You can begin with a cold and flu preventive program by eliminating risk factors at home.

For example, use disposable bathroom and kitchen paper cups instead of sharing a common drinking glass. Family members should also avoid sharing food from common eating utensils.

School-age children are the most susceptible to and the prime spreaders of cold and flu viruses. Parents and others who spend considerable time with young children, such as elementary school teachers and day care staff, are more vulnerable to catching colds and the flu.

Parents, teachers and others who live or work with young children should teach them the importance of washing their hands often and using disposable items such as tissues and drinking cups. To help limit the spread of germs, children's toys, and household and school objects and surfaces should be cleaned with a disinfectant on a fairly regular basis.

For a free copy of The Dixie Cold and Flu Prevention Quiz and a mail-in offer for a free box of Dixie disposable bathroom cups, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: The Dixie Cold and Flu Prevention Quiz, 301 E. 57th St., Dept. M., New York, N.Y. 10022.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) - The strangely named "Barnburners" were a faction in the Democratic Party here during the 1840s.

They were nicknamed after the legend of the farmer who was willing to burn his barn to get rid of the rats. Similarly, the Barnburners were said to be willing to destroy the Democratic party to achieve certain reforms.

The Barnburners split from the Democrats in 1848 and nominated Martin Van Buren for president, which helped defeat Lewis Cass, the Democratic nominee.

The government assured the public that the first postal trucks in 1899 were equipped so a mule could be hitched to them, should they fail to run.

Underclassmen Ohio State is toppled eye NFL draft

By The Associated Press

For David Klingler, there are more reasons to stay in college than play in the NFL. But for Todd Marionovich, the pros might outweigh the cons. Underclassmen had until today to declare themselves eligible for April's draft. NFL spokesman Greg Aiello said the league won't reveal this year's final list until Monday.

Rocket Ismail of Notre Dame and Herman Moore of Virginia are among the 22 players who have already announced their intention to turn pro; last year 38 left school early.

The National reported in Friday's editions that Marionovich, Southern Cal's troubled quarterback, and Pittsburgh running back Curvin Richards formally petitioned the NFL on Thursday for entry in the draft. Neither player made an official announcement Thursday.

Klingler, who set or tied 33 NCAA records as Houston's quarterback last year, said he came up with 23 reasons to return for his senior season and only three for leaving.

"I'll be back," Klingler said Thursday. "Most of the reasons (for leaving) were money. But what was most important was taking care of my teammates and taking care of my coach."

"You're talking about never having to work again, your parents' retirement, that's easy to imagine," Klingler said. "Even with all that money, I'd be bored if I couldn't do what I wanted to do, whether I had 10 cents or $10 million."

Houston coach John Jenkins was happy about Klingler's decision. "He'll be awesome, totally awesome next year," Jenkins said. "He'll be looking at being the first pick in the draft. He can leap like a kangaroo. He can run fast like a speeding bullet."

Klingler's brother Jimmy, a sophomore quarterback at Houston, offered another opinion, sort of.

"He told me to get the money and give some of it to him," Klingler joked.

Marionovich, meanwhile, appeared likely to skip his final two years of eligibility and go pro.

Marionovich was suspended indefinitely from the Southern Cal team on Jan. 11 after failing to register for classes and missing a mandatory team meeting. Nine days later, he was arrested and charged with cocaine possession.

During the season, Marionovich performed erratically, was suspended for one week for cutting classes and argued with coach Larry Smith on the sideline after being benched in the fourth quarter of Southern Cal's 17-16 loss to Michigan State in the Hancock Bowl.

Because of his problems on and off the field, Marionovich probably won't be picked in the first two rounds if he decides to enter the draft. "His problems are well chronicled," draft expert Mel Kiper said. "He's a real question mark."

Richards is second on Pitt's all-time rushing list, trailing only Tony Dorsett. Richards, a junior, was suspended last week by coach Paul Hackett for missing study hall and team meetings. According to the National, Richards left without telling Hackett or the coaching staff that he was going to be with his sister, who was in a coma and eventually died from a brain tumor.

Kiper expects seven or eight underclassmen to go in the first round. Among the potential first-rounders are Ismail, Moore, running back Robert Wilson of Texas A&M, wide receiver Rob Carpenter of Syracuse, offensive guard Ed King of Auburn and defensive backs Jesse Campbell of North Carolina State and Dexter Davis of Clemson.

Five other underclassmen have announced they are entering the draft - running backs Randy Baldwin of Mississippi, Jon Vaughn of Michigan and Chuck Webb of Tennessee, kicker Chris Gardocki of Clemson and defensive back Sammy Walker of Texas Tech.

By The Associated Press

And then there was one. Michigan State handed No. 3 Ohio State its first loss of the season on Thursday night and top-ranked UNLV, which beat San Jose State, is the only undefeated Division I team with a month to go before the start of March Madness.

The Buckeyes had won their first 17 games, including seven in the Big Ten. Michigan State, the defending champion in the conference, came up with a strong defensive effort to beat Ohio State 75-61 and hold it 31 points below the season scoring average.

"We didn't expect to win all our games, so the only way this loss could affect us is if we let it get to us going into Sunday's game," Ohio State coach Randy Ayers said, referring to a home game with Purdue.

"You have to give Michigan State all the credit for our shooting," he said of the 23-for-62 effort, including 1-for-12 from 3-point range. "They took us out of our tempo, and they took away our penetration. We were never able to get into the offensive flow."

Usually any offensive flow for Michigan State (13-6, 6-3) revolves around Steve Smith, and the senior guard came through again with 26 points, including the 2,000th of his career.

But Smith did receive some help in the form of Mark Montgomery's career-high 17 points, all but three in the second half.

In other games involving ranked teams on Thursday night, it was: No. 1 UNLV 88, San Jose State 64; No. 6 Arizona 84, Washington State 71; No. 9 North Carolina 90, Clemson 77; and No. 13 Utah 78, Texas-El Paso 68.

The Spartans held Ohio State's leading scorer, Jim Jackson, to 12 points on 5-for-17 shooting.

Ohio State trailed 58-52 with 9:29 to play and scored just one point in the next 5:55, allowing the Spartans to put the game away.

No. 1 UNLV 88, San Jose State 64

The Runnin' Rebels (17-0, 10-0) won their 28th in a row and continued their mastery over the Spartans (5-14, 3-7), who have never beaten them in 21 meetings. Larry Johnson scored 21 points as UNLV again used its pressure defense to break the game open. UNLV led 51-34 at halftime.

No. 6 Arizona 84, Washington State 71

The Wildcats (16-3, 5-2) won their 57th consecutive home game to keep the nation's longest such streak alive. It wasn't as easy as it looked as the Cougars (12-6, 4-4) got within 72-68 with 2:17 left in the Pac-10 game. Arizona then made all eight of its free throws - six by Matt Othick in the final 1:10 - to seal the win. Chris Mills had 21 points and 11 rebounds for Arizona, while Othick matched his career-high with 18 points.

No. 9 North Carolina 90, Clemson 77

The Tar Heels (15-3, 4-2) won for the first time in three years at Littlejohn Coliseum and Clemson remained winless in its worst Atlantic Coast Conference start since 1934-55. Rick Fox matched his career-high with 26 points as North Carolina took control with a first-half surge. Clemson (9-10, 0-7), which was led by Danny Young's 15 points, never got closer than 10 points in the second half.

No. 13 Utah 78, Texas-El Paso 68

The Utes (20-1, 9-0) broke a 78-year-old school record with their 17th consecutive victory and their first in El Paso since 1981. Josh Grant scored 16 points to lead Utah, including a 3-pointer that started a 7-0 run when the Miners (13-6, 5-4) pulled within 57-55.

Lakers extend win streak

By The Associated Press

For a team that was supposed to be too old, too slow and too banged-up, the Los Angeles Lakers aren't doing too badly.

The Lakers extended the NBA's longest winning streak of the season to 13 on Thursday night, beating Atlanta 116-103.

Los Angeles has won the last three minus All-Star James Worthy, who is out with a sprained ankle. But A.C. Green again filled admirably for the Lakers' leading scorer, getting 20 points and 14 rebounds against the Hawks.

"People saying the Lakers are not as good as before is a bunch of bull," Atlanta's Dominique Wilkins said.

In other games, Utah stopped Portland 105-91, San Antonio beat Chicago 106-102, Washington defeated New York 107-98, Golden State beat the Los Angeles Clippers 135-119, Seattle downed Houston 97-94 and Denver defeated New Jersey 123-119.

The Lakers needed Magic Johnson for only 29 minutes as they won their 11th in a row at home. Johnson had seven points and 12 assists.

Mychal Thompson scored 19 points, the third consecutive game in which he's reached a season-high. Byron Scott added 17 for the Lakers.

Wilkins scored 19 as Atlanta lost its fifth straight game, all on the road. The Hawks held an early 12-6 lead, but then missed 33 of their next 44 shots as Los Angeles took a 63-40 halftime edge.

Bullets 107, Knicks 98

Bernard King, returning to the site of some of his greatest games, scored 49 points as Washington won at Madison Square Garden for the first time in three years.

King shot 11 of 14 from the field as he scored 23 points in the fourth quarter. New York scored 25 points in the final period.

Patrick Ewing scored 27 points for the Knicks.

Jazz 105, Trail Blazers 91

Karl Malone had 24 points and 11 rebounds and John Stockton had 20 points and 15 assists.

Utah led by 19 points early in the third quarter before the Blazers rallied within 80-71. But Portland, led by Kevin Duckworth's 17 points, never got closer.

Spurs 106, Bulls 102

David Robinson scored 31 points and had 17 rebounds and Rod Strickland led a late push.

Strickland, who finished with 22 points, scored six straight as the Spurs overcame a 95-94 deficit in the final two minutes.

Michael Jordan scored 36 points.

Nuggets 125, Nets 119

Michael Adams scored a career-high 45 points and added 11 rebounds and 12 assists.

Denver led 105-92 with six minutes left, but the Nets went on a 19-2 burst, led by Drazen Petrovic's 10 points. Trailing 111-107, the Nuggets rallied as Reggie Williams scored seven of his 28 points in the last 2:24.

Reggie Theus scored 28 points for New Jersey. Petrovic scored 22.

Warriors 135, Clippers 119

Mitch Richmond capped a sensational month by scoring a season-high 40 points and making a career-high seven steals.

Richmond is averaging 30 points in his last 11 games, nine of them victories.

Ken Norman scored 24 points for the Clippers.

Sonics 97, Rockets 94

Sedale Threatt had 18 points as Seattle's reserves outscored Houston's bench 53-9.

Valenzuela signs pact with Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) - With his agent citing the Persian Gulf war as a catalyst, Fernando Valenzuela agreed to a one-year contract with the Los Angeles Dodgers, thus avoiding an arbitration hearing.

The 30-year-old left-hander and the Dodgers agreed Thursday on a one-year contract worth $2.55 million.

Valenzuela, who earned $2.2 million last season, had requested a salary of $2.7 million while the Dodgers offered $2.4 million.

"The Dodgers offered the midpoint and Fernando felt at this time with everything going on in the world, fighting for money is not appropriate right now," said Tony DeMarco, Valenzuela's agent.

"Fernando becomes a free agent at the end of the season again. With the kind of team the Dodgers have this year, he'll most likely have a good season and we'll see where the road leads us to after that."

Valenzuela was 13-13 with a 4.59 earned run average in 204 innings last season. He started 33 games and completed five. He also threw his first no-hitter, beating the St. Louis Cardinals 6-0 on June 29.

The Dodgers also settled with reliever Jim Gott on a one-year deal for $1,725,000. Gott, who made $873,913 last season, was 3-5 with three saves and a 2.90 ERA in 50 games. He had asked for $1.95 million and the Dodgers offered $1.5 million.

The number of salary arbitration cases left dropped to 97. Pitchers John Smiley of Pittsburgh, Joe Boever of Philadelphia and Chuck Cary of the New York Yankees also reached agreement, as did outfielders Tracy Jones of Seattle and Mike Felder of Milwaukee.

Seattle, which trailed by 16 points late in the second quarter, held the Rockets to just eight points in the final 5 1/2 minutes. Buck Johnson scored 23 points for the Rockets.

Valenzuela filed for free agency after the 1990 season, but the Dodgers later offered arbitration and he accepted, assuring that he'd play with them for at least one more season.

Valenzuela joined the Dodgers late in 1980 and was the National League Rookie of the Year and Cy Young Award winner during the strike-shortened 1981 season when he was 13-7 with a 2.48 ERA and 11 complete games.

His best seasons were in 1982, when he was 19-13 with a 2.87 ERA and 18 complete games, and 1986 when he was 21-11 with a 3.14 ERA and 20 complete games. Valenzuela's career record is 141-114.

Smiley, a left-hander, settled with the Pirates on a one-year contract worth $1.05 million, a raise of $210,000. He was 9-10 with a 4.64 ERA last season in 25 starts.

Rangers look to Schieffer to lure fans to ballpark

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The Texas Rangers believe Tom Schieffer can be as instrumental in luring fans to the ballpark as he was in getting voters to approve bonds for a new stadium.

Schieffer was named president of the American League club Thursday. He replaces Mike Stone, who resigned Sept. 27, forced out by owners who bought the team in 1989.

"I don't think that we can guarantee a pennant winner every year," said Schieffer, also a part-owner of the club, "but I think we can guarantee that the nachos are fresh, that the restrooms are clean and that the beer is cold."

Last summer, Schieffer took over Stone's duties of coordinating the club's plans for a new stadium, and on Jan. 19 voters overwhelmingly approved bonds that will finance the complex, expected to be completed by 1994.

"Schieffer showed his stuff during the stadium vote," said managing general partner George W. Bush.

Schieffer, 43, a businessman, lawyer and former state representative who "never thought I'd become president of a baseball team," said he would not meddle with on-field decisions.

"Baseball matters are really things that I think ought to be handled by baseball people, people that have grown up with the game and followed the game for their whole lives. That's not me," he said. "That's (general manager) Tom Grieve and that's (manager) Bobby Valentine."

"And I don't feel I should substitute my judgment for theirs," Schieffer said he would continue as a partner in his Fort Worth law firm, but "I won't be doing too many divorces, I don't think."

Schieffer, who served three terms in the Texas House of Representatives after being elected at age 25 in 1972, also is president of J. Thomas Schieffer Management Co., which provides money management services.

"The Texas Rangers are now my No. 1 priority," he said.

Bush said the owners "did an extensive search around the country ... and it became obvious to us that the best person to be president was amongst our own, one of our partners."

He refused to elaborate on the search or say who had been interviewed.

Schieffer will continue to oversee the stadium project and will report directly to Bush and Rusty Rose, the other managing general partner.

Schieffer was placed in charge of the stadium project July 26 with the task of planning and building a new ballpark for the Rangers.

The Rangers and the city of Arlington announced plans Oct. 24 for the construction of a $165 million baseball complex on the grounds of the current ballpark.

On Jan. 19, voters overwhelmingly approved a half-cent sales tax increase that will provide up to $135 million in municipal bonds for the project. Pending final approval of an amendment by the state Legislature, the complex is expected to be ready for the 1994 season opener.

Bush said those who followed the process "saw a man with a vision who came up with a plan that made eminent sense for the city of Arlington and the Texas Rangers."

"He convinced the city government that this was best for all the people, came up with a campaign and then helped turn out one of the largest votes in the city's history ... and for those of us in the business of selling tickets, there is a direct parallel in getting voters to vote," Bush said.

"You get fans to buy tickets. You get voters to vote, it's marketing."

Hall of Famer Joe Morgan set a record by drawing at least one walk in 12 straight games while playing for Cincinnati in 1972.

Aggie coach denies charges

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - Texas A&M basketball coach Kermit Davis Jr. refused for almost two months to defend himself against allegations of recruiting violations.

Now he's taken the offensive, denying Thursday that he broke any NCAA rules in the recruiting of forward Tony Scott or in his associations with New York talent scout Rob Johnson.

"No money ever changed hands between myself, Tony Scott and Rob Johnson," Davis said.

Davis and the Aggie basketball program have been under scrutiny since Dec. 20 when Scott, a transfer from Syracuse, said Johnson was paid to recruit him for the Aggies and that Davis paid for travel expenses for Scott's family.

There also were allegations that Johnson used Texas A&M telephone credit cards and was paid $2,400 for two weeks' work at a summer basketball camp operated by Davis.

Houston attorney George Pamham, who attended the news conference with Davis, said questions about the credit cards would be answered by the university's own investigation.

"There's no question in my mind we'll be cleared on both incidents, the phone credit cards and the camp," Davis said. "It's all documented there through our business department and he did not make $2,400. That's something that will be brought out in the investigation."

Davis was named basketball coach last March after leading Idaho to the NCAA playoffs two straight years. He replaced Shelby Metcalf, who was fired during last season.

Davis said he came in contact with Johnson when Davis and his staff decided to recruit in the New York area. Davis noted Metcalf's success in recruiting players from the area.

Scott is enrolled at A&M but he's not working out with the team.

Davis said he never paid Johnson to bring Scott to A&M.

"Specifically, concerning allegations that I paid sums of money to Rob Johnson to secure basketball players, I absolutely deny this activity," Davis said.

Johnson worked last summer for Davis' basketball camp in College Station and was a candidate for an assistant coaching position at A&M.

"Rob was under consideration as a graduate assistant, but we came to a mutual decision that we would go another way," Davis said.

Scott averaged 29.6 points and 15 rebounds as a senior at a Rochester, N.Y., high school and he averaged 5.8 points and 1.9 rebounds at Syracuse last season before transferring to A&M.

Davis said it had been difficult adjusting to the circumstances of the probe.

"You look at the last six years and not one negative thing has been said about me," Davis said. "You win a lot of games and people say you're a good guy and all of a sudden you are tried in the media for about a month. You find out your skin is tougher than you thought it is."

The Aggies have struggled since Davis was named head coach last March, after leading Idaho to the NCAA playoffs two straight years.

The Aggies had only six scholarship athletes in uniform Tuesday night for a 77-64 loss to Houston. A&M is 0-8 in Southwest Conference games and 5-14 for the season. They've won just one of their last 11 games.

Carolina observes 'Gaylord Perry Day'

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) - The question comes to him like a fastball out over the plate.

Gaylord Perry, Hall of Fame pitcher, did you ever throw a spitball or doctor a baseball?

"Oh no," the former Texas Rangers ace said with a hearty laugh. "Make them believe I did."

To your dying day, should fans think of you as a "crafty pitcher," he is asked.

"That's it buddy, you got it. That's a good way to put it."

Gaylord Perry won 314 games in 22 seasons. He is the only pitcher to win Cy Young awards in both leagues. He was third on the all-time strikeout list when he retired in 1983.

On Jan. 8, Perry made the Hall of Fame in his third year of eligibility. For that, the Legislature proclaimed Thursday as "Gaylord Perry Day" in South Carolina.

They also cited his work as baseball coach at Limestone College in Gaffney where he teaches "his boys' proper character traits and attitudes," according to the resolution.

"Gaylord is a tremendous gentleman," Limestone president Fred Payne said. "He's a builder of men."

But his presence in the House chamber brought back boyhood memories for some lawmakers.

Like children before a baseball game, several representatives lined up to get Perry to autograph the House's daily calendar.

"Gaylord Perry's a great American hero," said Rep. Tim Rogers, D-Columbia, one of the autograph hounds.

Perry is something else to the players at Limestone, where he has compiled a 58-45 record in three years at the NAIA school.

"They know that I'm just one of the guys that played baseball," he said.

He is, of course, much more. And the recent election to the Hall of Fame has brought that point home.

"They told me when I got the good news that my life would change a great deal and all for the better. They've been right so far. I'm looking forward to the whole year to being like this," Perry said.

He plans to travel more this year - see old baseball friends, visit the parks where he toiled for eight teams, play in old-timers games.

And he's looking forward to being introduced as a Hall of Famer instead of a future Hall of Famer at this year's All-Star Game in Toronto.

"I'll be able to say, 'Well, I made it guys,'" Perry said.

Perry also should have more time to regale listeners with stories of his run-ins with hitters.

He remembered one tale involving former New York Yankee outfielder Bobby Murcer. Murcer always asked the umpire to check balls thrown by Perry because he thought Perry was doctoring them.

Murcer tried to get even when Perry was in town with the Cleveland Indians. Murcer invited Perry out after a game to meet Murcer's wife.

"She had a handful of greasy stuff and I shook hands with her," Perry said.

Ryan turns 44, ready for opener

DALLAS (AP) - Texas Rangers star pitcher Nolan Ryan turned 44 Thursday, and he's expected to continue turning heads on the mound this spring.

Ryan is scheduled to be the Rangers' opening-day starter and bellwether of their rotation. He has outlasted his illustrious peers - Steve Carlton, Jim Palmer, Tom Seaver and others - and despite his advanced baseball age, Ryan still roars.

At 42 with the Rangers, he won 16 games and became the first pitcher to reach 5,000 strikeouts. At 43, he pitched a record sixth-no hitter and became the 20th pitcher to win 300 games.

"Nothing I can do about birthdays anymore," Ryan said. "They just keep piling up. The only thing that bothers me is how close I'm getting to 50."

"Nobody's won a game at 50, and I don't you'll see of No. 34 doing it."

But he added: "I didn't think I'd still be out there at 44, either."

When Ryan starts as expected April 8 against Milwaukee at Arlington Stadium, he will become only the 25th major league pitcher to appear in a game at 44 or older. That group includes nine Hall of Famers, headed by all-time victory leader Cy Young.

"He's 44?" asked former major league manager Dick Williams, who had Ryan with the California Angels in the mid-'70s.

"It's so hard to believe. I'm truly amazed by what he's done," he said. "It's not that he's just showing up. He's competing and dominating."

The first official basketball game was played in 1981.

The 1938 Detroit Tigers and the 1937 New York Yankees each had a record 10 grand slams.

In his first major-league game in 1968, Bobby Bonds of San Francisco hit a grand slam, becoming the first man to do so.

Standly first at Pebble Beach

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) - Mike Standly, who spent last year driving around the Ben Hogan Tour, takes his lead to Poppy Hills in the Pebble Beach National Pro-Am.

"A good course," Standly said in a soft south-Texas drawl.

It was, by far, the kindest comment accorded the controversial, 4-year-old public course that replaced enormously respected Cypress Point in the three-course rotation for this unique event.

"Like comparing Bo Derek and Roseanne Barr," Johnny Miller said.

Most of the game's leading lights went to Poppy Hills for their first round with some reservations about the blind tee shots, unusual bunkering on the shorp doglegs and the humpbacked, undulating greens.

"I heard all the horror stories - and they're out there," said John Cook, whose bogey-free 66 Thursday was two strokes better than the next-best round at Poppy Hills. "I just didn't get in any of them."

Cook said he was aided two factors: a positive mind-set, and caddy Andy Martinez.

"I went into it with an open mind," he said. "If you're going to go play a course with the idea you're already defeated, why play?"

Martinez' experience at the new-to-the-tournament course was another major boost.

"Andy probably knows more about Poppy Hills than anyone else in the tournament," Cook said. "I just followed him around."

"He had a game plan for every hole. I never had a decision to make. I just had to tag along behind him."

And they escaped the problems and puzzles that cost Curtis Strange a 76 and Nolan Henke, a winner last week at Phoenix, a 77 on the same course.

The format for this unique event has the 180 pros, each with an amateur partner, playing one round on each of three Monterey Peninsula layouts before the field is cut for the final round Sunday at Pebble Beach.

Standly, a PGA Tour rookie who last year at this time was playing at Bakersfield on the Hogan Tour, made his first competitive appearance at Pebble Beach and responded with what he called "the best round I've played."

It was a 7-under-par 65 that gave him a one-shot lead over Cook and Brian Claar, whose 66 came at Spyglass Hill.

The group at 67 included Jeff Meggett, another Ben Hogan Tour graduate, who holed a 145-yard 8-iron shot for an eagle-2 in his effort at Pebble Beach.

Also at five under par were Larry Rinker, Davis Love III, Lance Ten Broeck and Paul Azinger. Azinger and Love played at Spyglass Hill, Rinker and Ten Broeck at Pebble Beach.

Academic honors presented

More than 2,600 Texas Tech University students qualified for academic honors lists based on final grades reported for the 1990 fall semester.

Students making the President's List earned a perfect 4.0 grade-point-average. Dean's List recipients earned a 3.5-3.9 grade-point-average during the semester. To qualify for the honor, students had to be enrolled in at least 12 credit hours of class work.

The fall academic honor students include: Noel Paul Gonzalez, Monica Diane Grotegut, Jefferson Arthur Joyce, Philip John Milburn, Lara Annette Reinauer, Vaavia June Rudd, Denise Schulte, Greg Allen Sorensen, Misty Kay Stokes, Kelly Don Vinton, Keith Wayne Anderson, Mark Andrew Artho, Susan Renee Bell, Donald Peyton Ramey, and Brienna Gail Townsend.

In Botswana, where rainfall averages a mere 18 inches a year, the land is so dry that the national motto, the national greeting and the word for money are the same: pula (rain).

Planning session held

Officers and members of Panhandle Association of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs met in Hereford recently for a planning session.

Hereford lodges will host the annual meeting of PHA on April 27 and 28.

Officers present were Gene Zachary, I.O.O.F. president, Friona; Leola Tolbert, Rebekah president, Amarillo; Mary Dell McNeill, Rebekah vice president, Pampa; Juanita Haines, secretary, Amarillo; Jo Irlbeck, chaplain, Hereford; and past presidents George Reed of Friona and Edna Schuster of Amarillo.

Others attending were Ben Conklin, Anna Conklin, Tony Irlbeck, Genevieve Lynn, Jim Loving, Erna Loving and Susie Curtsinger.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

ALTHOUGH SOLOMON'S FAME AS A WISE KING IS NOTED IN THE BIBLE, LITTLE HAS BEEN SAID OF HIS NEIGHBOR TO THE SOUTH—THE QUEEN OF SHEBA. THIS YOUNG WOMAN, RULER OF WHAT TODAY IS THE MOST SOUTHERN POINT OF SAUDI ARABIA, HAD TO BE AS EQUALLY SMART AS HER MORE FAMOUS NORTHERN COUNTRY PART. THOUGH MISTRESS OF A RICH COUNTRY HERSELF (CALLED YEMEN TODAY, THE LAND WAS A CROSSROADS OF MANY IMPORTANT TRADE ROUTES TO THE EAST, THIS SHEBA DID PROFIT IMMENSELY) SHE COULDN'T HELP BUT BE IMPRESSED BY THE TALES OF SOLOMON'S TREMENDOUS WEALTH AND THE ABSOLUTE LUXURY OF HIS PALACE... SO SHE ADORNED HER STRANGE DARK BEAUTY WITH HER FINEST GARMENTS AND SET OFF TO VISIT SOLOMON IN THE NORTH.

NOW, IT SHOULD BE QUITE OBVIOUS THAT SHEBA'S VISIT WASN'T JUST TO VIEW SOLOMON'S MAGNIFICENCE—FOR THE TRIP ITSELF HAD TO TAKE THE BETTER PART OF THREE YEARS—AND SHE WENT WITH A GREAT TRAIN OF CAMELS LOADED WITH GIFTS, SPICES, PRECIOUS STONES, PEARLS, ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY TALENTS OF GOLD (ABOUT $185,000). THIS YOUNG QUEEN WAS "LOADED FOR BEAR" AS THE SAYING GOES—AND SHE GOT IT!

ONCE AT SOLOMON'S COURT, THE QUEEN OF SHEBA "OOHED AND AHMED" AT EVERYTHING SHE SAW AND HEARD! SOLOMON'S HEAD HAD TO BE SWIMMING FROM ALL THE VERBOSE FLATTERY WITH WHICH SHE DELUGED HIM. AND SOLOMON, CERTAINLY A LADIES MAN BY REPUTATION, SEEMS TO HAVE SUCCEumbed TO HER SUBLTLE CAMPAIGN—AT LEAST THE RECENT LATE EMPEROR OF ETHIOPIA, HAILE SELASSIE, THOUGHT SO—FOR HE TRACED HIS OWN LINEAGE BACK TO MENELIK, SUPPOSED OFFSPRING OF THE ROYAL COUPLE'S "CONFERENCE". HOWBEIT, WHEN SHEBA LEFT, SHE TOOK BACK TO HER OWN COUNTRY IMPORTANT TRADE AGREEMENTS, PROFITABLE TO HER FOR YEARS TO COME, FOR, IN THE WORDS OF THE BIBLE... "AND KING SOLOMON GAVE UNTO THE QUEEN OF SHEBA ALL HER DESIRE, WHATSOEVER SHE ASKED..." SMART LITTLE LADY!

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 14 cents a word for first insertion ($2.80 minimum), and 10 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00.

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid-word lines-those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

LEGAL NOTICES

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND PARTIES:
 You are hereby notified of the opportunity for written public comment concerning the Construction permit application No. C-20586 by Holly Sugar Corporation to construct a Molasses Desugarization Plant in Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas. The proposed location is the Holly Sugar Corporation beet sugar factory, Holly Sugar Road, west of Hereford. This facility proposes to emit the following air contaminants: hydrochloric acid, sodium hydroxide, particulate matter, sulfur dioxide, nitrogen oxides, carbon monoxide, and volatile organic compounds. Before a permit can be issued for this facility, all emission sources must demonstrate compliance with all Rules and Regulations of the Texas Air Control Board and all applicable Federal regulations. This includes the application of "best available control technology" to each emission source and compliance with all ambient air quality standards.

A copy of all materials submitted by the applicant is available for public inspection at the Texas Air Control Board Regional Office at Briercroft South #1, 5302 South Avenue Q, Lubbock, Tx. 79412, telephone (806)744-0090 or (806)744-6055, and at the Texas Air Control Board, 6330 Highway 290 east, Austin, Tx. 78723. All interested persons may inspect these materials and submit written comments to the Executive Director of the Texas Air Control Board. Any person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from the proposed facility may request a contested case hearing from the Board on the construction permit application pursuant to Section 3.271(c) of the Texas Clean Air Act. All comments and hearing requests must be received in writing by March 5, 1991. All written comments submitted to the Executive Director shall be considered in determining whether to issue or not issue the permit. All comments will be made available for public inspection at the Texas Air Control Board office in Austin.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Readers: A while back we received a letter from a woman explaining that when she left her black cat with the veterinarian to be neutered, by mistake she was given another black cat identical to hers.

Well, it happened again to someone else! Mrs. J. Randall took her cat to a new veterinarian to be neutered. When she picked it up the next morning, the cat acted strangely. It cried on the trip home, which was unusual since it was used to cars.

She looked it over carefully and happened to notice that it had a white spot on the underside. Her cat was solid black without a single white hair.

She immediately took it back to the veterinarian. He checked around and found her cat had been put in the wrong cage after the operation.

Thank goodness the mistake was after the operation. I'd hate to think what could have happened if one of them got the wrong treatment.

It's very important to have some kind of identifying mark on a solid black or white cat — just a dab of colored paint, or cut out a patch of fur on its back or leg.

If your cat has to stay at the veterinarian's overnight, point out the mark you made and ask him to write it down so your cat won't be mistaken for another. — Heloise

CLEAN SHOES

Dear Heloise: I've tried numerous things to clean my children's white and colored shoes. They must get these marks by kicking one heel against the other while walking. Only one thing did the job — prewash spray!

As long as the shoes were just marked and the finish not ruined, the prewash spray removed every mark. It takes a little scrubbing but it really works. — Sarah Feldman, Hauppauge, N.Y.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Dear Heloise: Don't throw away eggshells and wood ashes! They are terrific for plants that thrive on alkaline soil. Crush the eggshells and mix them in the soil.

You don't have to wait till spring to use this great homemade fertilizer. It's great for some potted plants too. — Joan Andrews, Los Angeles, Calif.

AXYDLBAAXR IS LONGFELLOW

One letter stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Bikini incision not what it's cut up to be

When is a "bikini" not a "bikini"? A statement in a recent newspaper article on cesarean births shows that the confusion can exist in describing the surgical incisions made by doctors to perform cesarean deliveries. The article stated that when a woman discusses cesarean birth with her doctor, she should ask whether the doctor routinely used a low-segment or "bikini" incision so vaginal birth can be considered in later pregnancies.

This writer had made a common mistake. A "bikini" incision refers to the cut through the skin of the abdomen (the scar that is visible), but it is the cut in the uterus (the hidden scar), not the abdomen, that determines whether subsequent labor and vaginal birth is appropriate. A low transverse incision—a horizontal cut on the lowest part of the uterus—is the type of incision which a woman must usually have for a safe vaginal delivery later.

During cesarean delivery, the doctor makes two incisions to get the baby out of the uterus—one incision in the abdominal wall and one in the uterus.

For the abdomen, doctors use either a low horizontal ("bikini") incision above the pubic hair or a vertical (midline) incision from the naval to the pubic bone.

Almost all incisions on the uterus are the low horizontal type. Occasionally, doctors use a low vertical incision, an up-and-down cut low on the uterus. Very rarely for unusual circumstances, they use a classical incision, which is a vertical incision extending into the upper part of the uterus.

Often the abdominal incision is not the same as the uterine incision. For example, some women have a low horizontal incision in the uterus, and a midline vertical incision in the abdomen. A woman may not know this, however, because all she can see is the abdomen scar. Her doctor may need to consult medical records to verify which type of uterine incision was used for the previous cesarean birth.

Vertical scars on the uterus are more likely to rupture, or separate, during labor than low horizontal scars. For this reason doctors almost never suggest that women who have vertical uterine scars attempt vaginal birth. Although a complete rupture is unlikely, it can be serious when it occurs.

AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

Scout Sunday will be observed during the morning worship service Feb. 3 at the church. The congregation will give special recognition to all Scouts and those who have worked with them.

Beginning at 7 p.m. Sunday, the first part of a four-part series on the New Age Movement will be discussed. Part I is entitled "The New Age Attacks on America." It will alert believers to this fast growing movement. The public is invited to attend.

Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:45 a.m. For additional information, call 364-1564 or 364-4979.

DAWN BAPTIST CHURCH

During the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday, Pastor Jim Hickman will speak on "A Debt To Sing About." The message is part of a series of expository sermons on the book of Revelation and will include a discussion of "the great tribulation."

Evening services have been canceled Sunday so members may attend the annual Week of Prayer for Christian Unity service at 7 p.m. in First Christian Church. The event is sponsored by members of the Hereford Ministerial Alliance. A nursery will be provided at the service and the reception.

For further information about the church and its activities, call 258-7330.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Planning for church activities for 1991 will be done at a meeting of the Council on Ministries of First United Methodist Church at 2 p.m. Sunday in Ward Parlor. This will be a three-hour session to line-up goals and program proposals.

These will be submitted to the administrative board for approval then carried out by the council. Margaret Bell, council chairman, and Jo Ochs, director of Christian education and youth, will direct the planning session after each council member proposes action for his work area.

On the church schedule for Sunday, in addition to the special meeting, is the monthly breakfast for the Methodist Men at 8 a.m. in the fellowship hall; Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m.; morning worship at 10:55; the Youth Choir will meet at 5:30 p.m.; and the Youth Fellowship meetings begin at 6:30 p.m.

United Methodist Women will have their February general meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Ward Parlor and a covered dish luncheon at noon in the fellowship hall. Youth of the church have announced a twirp dance will be held Feb. 8 in the fellowship hall. Also, registration starts Sunday for the annual youth ski trip to Red River, N.M. Feb. 22-24.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Sunday school for all ages begins at 10 a.m. The Adult Bible Class will be discussing Islam as a religion and will also examine the history of the Middle East.

The sermon for the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service is entitled "The work of the Prophets of God" which is based on Deuteronomy 18:15-20. Copies of the sermon are available upon request as well as VHS video tapes of the service.

For additional information, call by the church office at 100 Ave. B. or call 364-1667.

CENTRAL CHURCH OF CHRIST

The public is invited to the Sunday morning Bible classes for all ages at 9:30.

The Sunday morning worship service, which starts at 10:25, includes The Lord's Supper, congregational singing, prayer and meditation.

The 6 p.m. Sunday meeting will be a time of encouragement and edification.

In Germany, Jack Frost appears as an old woman. When Old Mother Frost shakes her bed, snow begins to fall.

Each Wednesday evening at 7:30, the congregation meets for a special study and devotion.

The church's daily radio program, "The Abundant Life," is aired at 11:55 a.m. Monday through Friday.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

A new visitation emphasis has begun at the church. Each Monday evening at 7:15, every Sunday school department will be represented to visit absentees, prospective members and visitors.

An all-church Valentine Banquet is planned at 7 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 14, at the church. The cost is $3.50 for adults and $2 for children. Please call the church office to make reservations.

Those interested in joining the Senior Adult Choir are invited to meet with members each Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the choir room.

The Senior Adults have planned an old-fashioned box supper at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 12. Every person is asked to bring a complete meal for one in a box decorated for Valentine's Day. There will be four categories on which the boxes will be judged. The church will provide the beverages.

FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS

Sunday school for youths kindergarten age through high school is held each Sunday from 9:15-10 a.m. at the congregation's temporary location at Hereford Senior Citizens Center, 426 Ranger Drive.

Doug Manning is the regular worship leader for the Sunday worship meeting which is held from 10-11:30 a.m.

Members of the congregation provide a taxi service for all persons needing transportation for any reason. If this service is required, call 364-0359 seven days a week or in an emergency, call 364-3869.

COMMUNITY CHURCH

The Sunday worship services are held at 10:30 p.m. and 6 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

SAN PABLO UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

The public is invited to attend all services at the Hispanic Methodist church located at 220 Kibbe.

Sunday school begins at 10 a.m. and Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. The Wednesday evening prayer service starts at 7.

Hilda Cavazos serves as minister.

ST. THOMAS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The service at the 11 a.m. Sunday service, the fourth Sunday after Epiphany, will be a celebration of the Holy Eucharist. Father Charles Threewit will preach on the gospel for the day which is Mark's story of Jesus' cleansing of a young man possessed by unclean spirits.

At 9:30 a.m. Sunday, the Women's Study Group will continue their study of the Gospel of Matthew as outlined in the Serendipity Study Bible. Visitors are most welcome to attend both the class and the Eucharist.

Beginning Wednesday, Feb. 6, and continuing until the end of the war in the Persian Gulf, there will be the celebration of a Votive Mass for peace and members of the armed forces beginning at 7 p.m. Prayer will be offered for each of the members of Operation Desert Storm (as supplied by The Hereford Brand). If additions or corrections are needed, please call the parish office at 364-0146. Also, within the context of the Mass, laying of hands and anointing for healing will be offered. This mass is offered as a community service and everyone is invited to participate.

St. Thomas' famous Shrove Tuesday Pancake Supper will be held from 5-7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 12, in the church parish hall. Tickets are $3 for adults; $1.50 for children seven through 12 years of age; and children six years of age and under will be admitted free of charge. This is an all-you-can-eat meal. Eating pancakes on Shrove Tuesday, the day before Ash Wednesday on which Lent begins, is an old English custom for clearing fat out of the house because eating any meat product during Lent was forbidden. (Mardi Gra comes from the same custom, its literal translation being "Fat Tuesday.")

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Dr. James W. Cory's sermon for the regular 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service has as its scripture lesson Mark 1:21-28.

Confirmation classes for the junior and senior high students will be held from 4:30-6 p.m. Feb. 3 at the church.

The junior and senior high fellowships will meet from 6-7:30 p.m. Sunday.

The women's covered dish luncheon is planned at noon Wednesday, Feb. 6.

There will be no children's or adult choir practice next week.

A free taxi service has just been instituted by the session to help people who need a ride to any of the church's activities. Ed Coplen has volunteered to run this program for one year. All that is required is that you contact him in advance at 364-6969. He will see that someone will take you to and from the church.

The Youth Fellowship will sponsor an adult dance at the church from 9 p.m. until midnight Saturday, Feb. 9. Doug Schroeter will provide the music with his excellent sound system. Games for cards and dominoes will be setup in the small fellowship hall for those who don't care to dance.
