

Seeds of beauty

A group of kindergarten and first grade students from Walcott School trudge toward the roadside of State Highway 214. Walcott students spent part of last Friday planting native Texas wildflower seeds—donated by Maryland Club Coffee—in the roadside adjacent to the school. The country school has "adopted" a two mile stretch of highway from the Bootleg turn-off, north to a point past the school.

UWDSC near goal

The mop-up drive for United Way of Deaf Smith County may well be on its way to making this year's fund-raising effort a success, it was reported Monday by UW President Boyd Foster.

The clean-up drive brought in more than $13,000 this week, pushing the campaign total to $96,675. That is 77.3 percent of the $125,000 goal. The funding is for 12 local agencies that participate in the United Way campaign.

Dr. Errow Mims, campaign chairman, said volunteer workers are confident that there are still enough cards out with major contributors—who haven't returned the cards but who always donate—to reach the 1990 goal.

"The busy harvest season has slowed the return of cards, while others just need to be contacted again by the volunteer workers," said Dr. Mims. "We know there are a number of major contributors who will still be participating, and we believe there are enough for us to reach our goal."

Workers in the campaign are divided into 10 divisions. The Pacesetter division, chaired by Pat Newton, went over its goal of $22,000 this week with a total now standing at $22,612.

The Major Gifts division brought in more than $9,700 this week and now has collected $26,139—or 58 percent of its goal of $45,000. Added to the list of "major contributors" for the campaign were Poarch Brothers, Lone Star Agency, Gearm Industries, Moorman Manufacturing, and Arrowhead Mills.

The division totals and percentage of their goals are: Pacesetter $22,000 (103%), Special $6,500 (99%), Metro $14,966 (91%), Golden Age $8,492 (85%), Corporate Gifts $5,030 (84%), Whiteface East $2,586 (83%), Agriculture $3,970 (79%), Professional $5,020 (63%), Major $26,139 (58%), Whiteface West $1,550 (52%).

Residents urged to give can of food

City residents are asked to begin collecting canned food this week to be given in a canned food drive planned for Friday night, during the Hereford Whitefaces-Burger Bulldogs football game.

The food drive is sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Child Welfare Board, said Herb DeLaRosa, a member of that board. Food donated during Friday's game will be distributed to needy families as a part of the Christmas Stocking Fund program.

Theme for the football food drive is "Can the Bulldogs." Donated food will be accepted at the gate on the west side of the football stadium.

"Hopefully, we'll collect two or three tons of food," DeLaRosa said.

Other members of the Child Welfare Board are Jim Haile, Alva Lee Peeler, Marc Williamson, Charles Greenawalt, Maria Garcia, Fidel Reyna and County Judge Tom Simons.

O'Rand wins contest

Celia O'Rand missed just seven games on last week's Hereford Brand Football Contest and won first place. O'Rand will win $25 in Hereford Bucks for her efforts.

Also missing seven games was Austin Hutton of Hereford. However, Hutton did not pick a score in the tie-breaker and will have to settle for $15 in Hereford Bucks.

Raymond Hill of Hereford missed eight games and picked the Hereford Friendship game's final 28-14 score for his tie-breaker to win $10 in Hereford Bucks. Also missing just eight games were Laura Carter, L. V. Watts, Weldon Peace, Lloyd Olson, Buddy Pickens, Larry Watts and Gayle Cotten.

Nine entrants missed nine games in the contest.

This week's contest games are listed in today's Brand.

Satanist group claims cemetery ransacking

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

A man claiming to be part of a group of Satan worshippers has claimed responsibility for the destruction of several vases and overturning of grave markers at West Park Cemetery in Hereford on Halloween night.

The man, who said he was 21 years old but did not give his name, said the damage was done "to retaliate against some people who really didn't know what they were doing."

The man made his claims during a telephone call to Managing Editor John Brooks at Brooks' home on Sunday night.

The caller said the group he represented had nothing to do with apparent ritualistic activities in an overgrown area in Veterans Park, the recent spray-painting of satanistic symbols at the city swimming pool at Dameron Park, or other more-obvious activities supposedly done by Satan worshippers.

"The people at Veterans Park and the other stuff, that's way out of line with what we do," said the caller. "They did a right out of a book. They read a book or saw a movie. What we do is totally out of our beliefs."

"We didn't know we would hurt so many people by doing that stuff at the cemetery, if we get caught we will pay our dues. Anything we do we leave our mark (the same mark left by the broken vase pieces in the cemetery). If somebody does something in our group we leave our mark."

The caller said the group he represents, including eight men and three women, found out who did the vandalism at the swimming pool and the activities at Veterans Park.

"It was just a bunch of junior high and high school kids and some dropouts," the caller said. "I believe they're just doing this to provoke some fear among their friends. We don't like what they're doing, and that's why we retaliated."

"I'm 21, and this stuff (at the cemetery) can't be blamed on a little kid. I already got a name, but these other people don't understand."

The caller said he was raised on the religion, and uses the Satanic Bible, written by Anton LaVey, and another book that details rituals to be performed and when they should be performed.

"I was raised on this," the caller said. "I come from a long line of people who don't believe in God. ... I read the Satanic Bible, but you also have to read the Holy Bible so if anybody talks to you about Christianity you can quote them back from their own Bible and from the Satanic Bible."

Group wants annexation

By KAY PECK
Staff Writer

A petition for the annexation of two blocks of property into the Hereford city limits drew a large crowd to the Hereford City Commission meeting on Monday.

The area in question is adjacent to the existing south edge of the city limits. Area boundaries would be James St. on the north, Lewis St. on the south, Lee St. on the west and South Main on the east.

"The driving force behind this request is the water source and the sewer system," said Rodolfo Mares Jr., an attorney with Texas Rural Legal Aid, Inc. out of Plainview.

Mares acted as spokesperson for a group called the South Miles Committee which submitted a petition asking that the annexation be considered.

"We think we need the water," said Janie Galvan, a resident of the area in question who had asked that the item be included on Monday night's agenda.

According to a letter submitted by Mares to members of the commission, residents are currently obtaining their water from a non-registered water provider. Sewage disposal is provided on an individual basis.

During a brief presentation in Spanish, which Mares then translated, a Mr. Ramirez indicated that residents of the neighborhood were wanting the benefits of city services. Mares stated that Ramirez had been a resident of that neighborhood since 1975.

In their preliminary request, members of the South Miles Committee were asking that the city engineer be authorized to conduct a study to determine the cost of extending water and sewer services to this two-block neighborhood.

"Once we find out what the costs would be, we would like to look for alternative funding," Mares said.

Mares was the obvious leader of a planned presentation to the commission. Opposition to the proposed annexation was highly vocal if not as organized or as well represented.

"Neither one of us are interested in going into the city," said Johnny Gallagher, a resident and landowner in the debated area.

Gallagher spoke on behalf of himself and Theresa Koelzer, an elderly resident of the neighborhood, who was also present at Monday's meeting.

"I can't say if I'm for it or against it yet," said Lloyd Newton, a resident of the area who would be effected by the proposed annexation.

Although Newton's property is not included in the two-block area, his land would be completely surrounded by city limits without being in those limits if the two blocks were to be annexed.

"It seems to me, we would want to consider all three blocks," said City Commissioner Bud Eades (Place 4).

City Attorney Earnest Langley indicated that there could be legal complications if Newton's land were surrounded by city limits without being included.

"Mayor, I would agree to the South Miles Committee's request," said City Commissioner Tom Legate (Place 3).

The commission approved Legate's motion that the city engineer be authorized to conduct a cost study.

City officials warned those present that annexation could be a long and complicated process.

"It could be fairly expensive to bring these areas in," said Langley.

Although the city is responsible for providing services up to private property on land included in the city limits, the individual land owner is responsible for the expense of supplying those services to his home or business.

"It's my recollection that there were a number of people opposed to annexation (of this area) before," Langley said.

Langley said his experience had been that residents of rural property adjacent to the city usually lost interest in annexation when they learned of the expense involved.

Once an area is annexed into the city limits, residents there also become subject to city property taxes.

In other business, commissioners approved two zoning change requests. An area in the 400 block of Sunset Dr. was changed from a single family district to a multi-family district at the request of King's Manor Methodist Home, Incorporated.

Property at 806 West Park Ave. was changed from restricted commercial district to single family district at the request of Kenneth A. Jeter.

Charlie Ruiz reported to commissioners that construction will begin soon on a 30 unit, low income family housing project to be built by Amistad Housing Project. Amistad representatives were slated to begin signing contracts with builders sometime today.

Amistad is working with a construction budget of $1.4 million. The housing tract will include 12 two-bedroom units, 12, three-bedroom units and six, four-bedroom units.

In a request to commissioners Chuck Cosper asked that he be allowed to store aviation fuel for his own use at the municipal airport.

"That would be a violation of our contract (with the airport manager)," said City Manager Darwin McGill.

John and Donna Smith, who currently hold the contract as airport managers, were on hand at the meeting to defend their position.

"If you open up on this one, they're all going to want a (fuel) tank," Donna Smith said.

Although Cosper expressed disagreement that the contract prevented the city from allowing him to store and pump his own fuel, commissioners denied Cosper's request.

Commissioners also authorized the city's administration to proceed with preparing specifications and accepting bids for radio equipment for the fire department.

Prairie Justice II: Suspicions

EDITOR'S NOTE: Notified of their daughter Rhonda's death, Norbert and Jaye Nell Schlegel arrived in the small West Texas town of Rotan at mid-afternoon that Sunday in 1976. They cornered their son-in-law, Bobby Templin, and asked him to explain the circumstances of Rhonda's violent death. They did not find his answers satisfactory. In this second installment of a story examining the bizarre case, Rhonda's parents begin a 13-year quest for justice.

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

ROTAN, Texas (AP)—His daughter dead and his son-in-law's behavior more puzzling by the hour, Norbert Schlegel focused his thoughts on a bare-wire extension cord.

He thought it might hold the answer to Rhonda's death by electrical shock, but now it was a mystifying piece of a tragic riddle.

While searching for an aspirin, Jaye Nell Schlegel found the extension cord in the bathroom vanity of their daughter and son-in-law's home. It was wrapped around a radio that one of Rhonda's neighbors had removed from the bathtub after Rhonda's body was discovered.

"Something's wrong," Jaye Nell told Norbert as she led him into Rhonda's bathroom. Her husband agreed at once.

"I know Rhonda wouldn't have used that," Norbert said as he looked at the cord and the exposed wires for the first time. "She knew better."

On the long drive back to Shamrock that night, he realized his family probably couldn't accept the fact that Bobby Templin might have killed Rhonda. Nor could anyone else.

But Norbert wondered how the cord got mangled and why, when spliced back, the wires were not taped or somehow insulated. He wondered about the radio, where it had come from, and when. He had not seen it on previous visits.

And why would Rhonda choose a cheap radio over her new stereo if she wanted music while she bathed?

That raised still another question. Rhonda showered daily but never bathed. Jaye Nell even joked that the last bath her daughter took while living at home was in the eighth grade, and then only to try some new bubble soap.

And something else: Bobby left the house to buy gas when the accident occurred. But his car was less than half full before leaving for Shamrock.

As Norbert Schlegel drove north through the darkness toward home, he vowed to find answers to his questions, and he wasted no time trying.

The next morning, behind the campground where he lived, Norbert cornered his son-in-law.

"Bobby," he began, "Rhonda wouldn't have taken that extension cord into the bathroom with her."

Bobby didn't respond at once, and the conversation was cut short by a phone call. Later, Norbert pressed Bobby about the extension cord and how it got severed.

"We sat some sharp furniture on it," he remembered Bobby saying.

On Tuesday, Bobby was the picture of grief at Rhonda's funeral, and many of the couple's old classmates were there to offer condolences. Among them was Nita Veach, Rhonda's close friend and fellow cheerleader.

She saw that Bobby was "real broken up" and thought it especially moving when, after the funeral, he walked up the aisle side-by-side with one of Rhonda's tearful sisters.

Years later, she said, the memory of that scene "made me sick."

Rhonda was buried on a hillside overlooking the family home site and campground, where she and Bobby spent the first months of their marriage in a mobile home three years earlier.

On the Wednesday after the funeral, the Schlegels returned to Rotan with Jaye Nell's sister and brother-in-law, Marilyn and Grant Copeland, who lived in the Texas Gulf Coast town of Baytown.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 7, the 311th day of 1989. There are 54 days left in the year. This is Election Day.

Today's highlight in history:

On Nov. 7, 1917, Russia's Bolshevik Revolution took place as forced led by Vladimir Ilyich Lenin overthrew the provisional government of Alexander Kerensky.

On this date:

In 1874, the Republican Party was symbolized as an elephant in a cartoon drawn by Thomas Nast in Harper's Weekly.

In 1885, the transcontinental Canadian Pacific Railway was completed as the last spike was driven at Craigellachie.

In 1916, Republican Jeannette Rankin of Montana became the first woman elected to Congress.

In 1918, during World War I, an erroneous report from the United Press that an armistice had been signed set off celebrations across the country.

In 1929, the Museum of Modern Art in New York City opened to the public for the first time.

In 1940, the Tacoma Narrows Bridge in Washington state collapsed during a windstorm which sent the 2,800-foot span crashing into Puget Sound.

In 1944, President Franklin D. Roosevelt won a fourth term in office, defeating Thomas E. Dewey.

In 1962, Richard M. Nixon, having lost California's gubernatorial race, held what he called his "last press conference," telling reporters, "You won't have Nixon to kick around anymore."

In 1962, former first lady Eleanor Roosevelt died in New York City.

In 1967, Carl Stokes was elected the first black mayor of a major city - Cleveland, Ohio.

In 1967, President Lyndon B. Johnson signed a bill establishing the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

In 1972, President Nixon was re-elected in a landslide over Democrat George McGovern.

In 1973, Congress overrode President Nixon's veto of the War Powers Act, which limits a chief executive's power to wage war without congressional approval.

In 1986, freed American hostage David Jacobsen was welcomed by President Reagan at the White House.

Ten years ago: Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts formally declared his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination, challenging President Jimmy Carter.

Five years ago: NASA announced that Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah, would be allowed to fly aboard the space shuttle, which he did in April 1985.

One year ago: On the eve of Election Day 1988, Vice President George Bush confidently said the nation was "coming in behind my candidacy," while Democrat Michael Dukakis vowed to pull off a stunning "November surprise."

Today's birthdays: Evangelist Billy Graham is 71. Jazz musician Al Hirt is 67. Opera singer Dame Joan Sutherland is 63. Senator Rudy Boschwitz, R-Minn., is 59. Singer Mary Travers is 52. Singer-songwriter Joni Mitchell is 46. Actress Dana Plato is 25.

Thought for today: "We'd all like to vote for the best man, but he's never a candidate." - "Kin Hubbard" (Frank McKinney), American humorist and journalist (1868-1930).

Local Roundup

Several assaults reported

At least two people required treatment at Deaf Smith General Hospital as the result of injuries they received during a series of assaults investigated by the Hereford Police Department over the weekend. One woman was admitted to the hospital with injuries to her eye following a reported assault that apparently involved domestic violence.

In another incident a complainant reported that he was walking in the 800 block of North Main when he was accosted by three men. The three men were reportedly driving by when they stopped and assaulted the complainant.

One witness reported that one man threatened a group with a sawed-off shotgun in a disturbance at approximately 1:05 a.m. Saturday at U.S. Highway 385 and Park Avenue.

Other assaults were reported in the 400 block of Blevins, the 700 block of South Texas and the 100 block of Lawton.

In addition to the assaults, incidents investigated by city police over the weekend and on Monday were:

A domestic disturbance in the 100 block of Ave. I; criminal trespass in the 400 block of Long; criminal mischief in the 300 block of North 25 Mile Ave.; theft in the 800 block of South 25 Mile Ave.; criminal mischief in the 900 block of West U.S. Highway 60;

Criminal trespass in the 300 block of Ave. J; a domestic disturbance in the 400 block of Ave. E; theft of a VCR (valued at $200) reported by a local retail store; a report of harassing phone calls; criminal mischief to a vehicle outside a local grocery store with damages estimated at $800;

A possible case of child abuse at a local motel; theft of beer reported at a local convenience store with a juvenile suspect apprehended in that case; a burglary of a business reported in the 300 block of North Main; and a burglary of a business reported at Park Ave. and Ave. E with damages and stolen property valued at $400.

A report was received of two children—one age five and another six—who were left overnight without adult supervision in a residence in the 600 block of Ave. I. Charges of reckless abandonment of a child are pending against the children's mother.

City police issued 26 citations and investigated two minor traffic accidents.

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office received a report of a burglary of a residence on East Fourth Street. Checks were reported stolen in that incident with a forgery reportedly committed on one of those checks. County deputies also investigated a report of a theft on Sampson St. with money taken from a billfold.

Eleven arrested here

Arrests made by city police or on city warrants over the weekend and on Monday were:

A woman, 23, on a warrant for criminal mischief over $200 and under $750; a man, 20, for assault and on a warrant for assault; a woman, 31, on a traffic warrant; and a woman, 28, arrested in Amarillo on outstanding Hereford warrants for no driver's license, no liability insurance, speeding and violation of promise to appear.

County arrests were:

A man, 18, for driving while license suspended and no liability insurance; a man, 43, for driving while intoxicated; a man, 27, for public intoxication; a man, 25, on a surrender of surety warrant; a man, 36, on a commitment for no liability insurance; a man, 18, arrested in California on a local warrant for delivery of marijuana; and a man, 26, arrested on a state warrant and on a warrant for theft over $200.

Windy, cooler Wednesday

Damage was relatively minor in a vehicle fire extinguished by the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department Saturday morning in front of K-Bobs. Fire Marshal Jay Spain said that the fire, which apparently began from a gas leak, was contained to the engine compartment of the vehicle.

Sparks from welding started two grass fires on Saturday. A fence was burned in addition to an area of grass in a fire a half mile north of town on Ave. K. Approximately a half acre of grass was burned in a second welding related fire on South Ave. K that same day.

One man was cited for open burning after the sighting of smoke was reported at 16th St. and Ave. I. The man was apparently burning leaves in his yard.

Spain reminds city residents that open burning is illegal within the city limits.

Firefighters responded to two calls on Monday including a grass fire off U.S. Highway 60 behind Pizza Hut and a second call which proved to be a false alarm.

Firemen kept busy

Tonight will be fair with a low of 35. West winds will be 5-10 mph becoming northwest at 10-20 mph and gusty after midnight.

Wednesday will be fair, windy and cooler with a high of 65. North winds will be 15-25 mph and gusty, diminishing to 10-15 mph in the afternoon.

This morning's low at KPAN was 31 after a high Monday of 76.

Babbling Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

Just thought I'd bring you up to date on what our friends at Yucca Mountain, Nevada, are going through with site characterization for a possible nuclear waste repository.

It seems that a kink may have been thrown into the works at Yucca Mountain by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. On August 4, the Fish and Wildlife Service used its emergency authority to place the desert tortoise on the endangered species list.

The desert tortoise, of course, is a beautiful animal. Its main purpose in life is to serve as an ashtray. My granny has had a desert tortoise ashtray for many years. She had it long before about 600 million desert tortoises had been run over by various vehicles ranging from Model T's to Trans-Ams, leading to its endangered status.

Anyway, our friends at the Department of Energy had been studying the desert tortoise for several years at the Yucca Mountain site. I've never been to Yucca Mountain, but I've seen pictures. About the only thing to do at the Yucca Mountain site is to study desert tortoises, and play solitaire and liar's poker with $100 bills.

Pending a review by the Fish and Wildlife folks, activities at Yucca Mountain have been restricted to vehicle traffic on main and secondary roads only. No one will be allowed to go four-wheeling or anything else that will disturb the turtle's habitat.

In the latest DOE newsletter, it says "a biological assessment is being prepared by the Yucca Mountain Project Office that analyzes project impacts to the tortoise and its habitat." Further, the newsletter says formal consultations between the agencies could be needed "if the proposed site characterization activities could potentially affect the desert tortoise habitat and/or result in the incidental take of desert tortoises." I'm not sure what an "incidental take" of a desert tortoise is, but I think that means one of 'em gets smushed.

Eventually, the fish folks will render a "biological opinion" (not to be confused with a mineral opinion) as to whether or not the Yucca Mountain activities will result in a "jeopardy" or "no jeopardy" situation.

If it is a "no jeopardy" biological opinion, formal consultation will end and DOE will proceed to implement the mitigation measures that are included in the biological assessment," the newsletter says. "If the FWS issues a 'jeopardy' biological opinion, DOE and FWS will examine all feasible alternatives."

I would suggest that if a "jeopardy" opinion is issued, Alex Trebek be brought in to mediate the mitigation.

Prizes awarded to winners

During the recent Holly King Benefit Walk-a-thon, more than $2,900 was collected. The money will be used to buy home medical equipment for the youth. Prizes were awarded to those who collected the most money during the event. Adult winners included (from left) Joyce Schlabs, first place; Mona Klein, second place; and Janie Banner, third. Children who were given prizes were (from left) Pam Klein, first place; Shyla Martin, second; and Heather Klos, third.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been seeing "Steve" for a year and like him better than anyone I've met in a long time. I should tell you that he had a severe case of mumps when he was a child and it left him sterile.

I recently found out that Steve, during a telephone conversation with a mutual friend (a married woman), "kiddingly" told her that he was coming over to make love to her. She responded, "You'd better not. This is the worst day of the month for me. I could very easily get pregnant." Steve then told her that she didn't have anything to worry about because he was sterile.

I was really upset when I heard about the conversation. I told Steve I didn't know he was advertising the fact that he is sterile, which I consider rather personal information. He said he wasn't ashamed of it and besides the whole conversation was a joke. He also said that since the woman is a good friend of mine as well as, he didn't think that playful little conversation was out of line.

My contention is that such a conversation shows a lack of respect for me and our relationship and that such joking around is often done to test the possibilities.

Am I overreacting, as Steve says, and "way out in left field"? What do you think, Ann? -- West Palm Beach ding on the square is a very old game. Tell him that his rationalization didn't fly and to watch his mouth from now on.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 15-year-old girl who has been following your column since I was old enough to read. I trust you a lot. Please help me.

I have been a sitter for the "Andersons" for two years. They are very nice people and I am crazy about their kids.

On Friday and Saturday (when I usually sit) they are often out until 2 o'clock in the morning. I don't mind the late hours, but I am a nervous wreck about the ride home. Mr. Anderson is not a terrific driver when he is sober and after a night of drinking my heart is in my mouth when he is behind the wheel.

If my folks knew about this they would not let me sit for these people again and I would hate that. The kids are darling and the money is great. Please tell me what to do. -- On Needles and Pins in Providence

DEAR NEEDLES: No money is worth the risk you are taking. You must tell the Andersons exactly what you have told me. If it is not possible to spend the night there and be driven home the next morning, they must agree to send you home in a taxi.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please say something about people who eat their way through grocery stores. I saw it again this morning, and it really makes me angry. This man and woman were helping themselves to Bing cherries. Then they started on the grapes. After that he ate a few radishes, and she wandered over to the bin of nuts and helped herself to a handful. Isn't this the same as shoplifting? Please say something about this in the column. -- Mrs. J. (Indiana)

DEAR MRS. J.: It's now exactly shoplifting, but it is gross, and the net result to the store is the same. It loses money. A grocer from Salem, Ore., wrote today with the same complaint. He added another gripe. Customers who change their mind and leave a package of steaks behind the boxes of detergent. Can you believe it?

Girls, Stagner to run in state meet

The eighth-ranked Hereford Whiteface girls cross country team earned a trip to the Class 4A state meet Saturday by placing second and Teresa Castillo and Tim Stagner gained individual berths with top 10 finishes at the Region I-4A meet at Mae Simmons Park in Lubbock.

The state meet will be run Saturday at Southwestern University in Georgetown.

Stagner finished fourth in the boys race, covering the three-mile course in 16:15, while Castillo paced the girls team with a 12:22 over two miles to place fifth.

The girls team totaled 86 points to finish behind Randall's winning total of 71. Waco Midway was the third-place team with 97 points for the other state slot.

Stagner will be making his first trip to state while Castillo will be making a return to the Central Texas course. Castillo finished 24th at state last year. After Castillo, Sally Garza crossed the line in 17th place with a time of 13:08, followed by Jill Dutton (24th place in 13:23), Veronica Hernandez (26th, 13:25), Minerva Salazar (30th, 13:33), Denise Davila (31st, 13:34) and Lisa Zepeda (38th, 13:45).

Garza, Davila and Zepeda will join Castillo in making return appearances at state with Garza running in the meet for the third straight year.

Coach Martha Emerson said she was proud of the girls team, which will be making its third straight trip to state.

"All of these young ladies did an excellent job," Emerson said. "I'm very proud of this team. They will represent Hereford well at the state meet."

Emerson said every girl except Zepeda, who was running with an injured ankle, posted their best times on the Lubbock course.

"Lisa had been one of our top runners," she said, "but she hurt her ankle this week and ran with pain. She will do better next week after more treatment."

The boys team scored 155 points to tie with Andrews, which was awarded sixth place on the basis of a higher finish by its sixth runner.

Defending state champ Randall won the meet with 24 points while San Angelo Lakeview (62 points) and Midway (89) took the other two state berths.

Henry Ruiz posted the best finish behind Stagner, placing 26th in 17:24. He was followed by Raul Dominguez (31st, 17:35), Juan Martinez (41st, 17:46), Mike Lopez (65th, 18:43) and Blas Cantu (70th, 18:57).

"This was Tim's best race of the year," Emerson said. "I appreciate all of these young men. They are all seniors and have worked together all season as a team."

"Tim, Juan, Blas and Raul ran their best times of the year Saturday. They competed well, but just couldn't advance as a team."

Headed for state again

The Hereford Whiteface girls cross country team earned its third consecutive trip to the state meet Saturday by placing second in the team standings at the Region I-4A meet at Mae Simmons Park in Lubbock.

Golfers end fall season

The Hereford Whiteface boys golf team concluded its fall season Saturday with a pair of triangular meets at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

The Hereford "A" squad carded a 321 to tie with Pampa while Amarillo High won the group with a round of 315. The Herd's "B" group shot 386 to finish behind Palo Duro's 347 and ahead of Caprock's 398.

The "A" team was led by Jayson Mines with a round of 79 while Cory Newton carded an 80 for the day. Robert Jones and Mikel Walsler both shot 81 and Anthony Gale finished the round at 82.

For the "B" team, Keith Kelso led with a round of 86 followed by David McCarter at 87. Derek Zinser shot 97 and Josh Patridge 116 for the Herd.

Hole-ward bound

Cory Newton of the Hereford Whiteface golf team sends a putt towards the hole on the 10th green Saturday during a triangular meet at Pitman Municipal Golf Course. Newton shot a round of 80 as the Herd posted a 321 for the day.

Girls basketball teams schedule scrimmages for today, Saturday

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces will get the basketball season underway at 5 p.m. today when they host Friona and Vega for a three-way scrimmage at Whiteface Gym.

Lady Whitefaces coach Dickie Faught said the teams will play a quarter and switch in and out. Each junior varsity team will play a total of four quarters and the varsity teams will play four to six quarters.

The Lady Whiteface varsity will also scrimmage Happy at 3 p.m. at Whiteface Gym.

Whiteface Gym will also host collegiate basketball at 7 p.m. Thursday when the West Texas State University Lady Buffs will hold an intrasquad scrimmage and workout. All three events are open to the public.

49ers drill Saints, 31-13

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - After two months of grumbling about sloppy victories, the perfection-minded San Francisco 49ers finally got one that both team and fans could enjoy.

Now the team of the '80s may have to wait until the '90s - playoff time - for its next truly meaningful game. A Joe Montana-led 31-13 pummeling of New Orleans Monday night turned the Saints and the rest of the NFC West into also-rans with seven games remaining.

"We feel particularly good about this game," George Seifert said after winning his first game at Candlestick Park as the 49ers' coach. "I would think that up to this point it's our best game of the season."

It couldn't have come at a worse time for the Saints (4-5), who were riding a three-game winning streak and harbored hopes of getting back into the divisional race.

Boosters to meet at 7

Tonight's Whiteface Booster Club meeting will be held at 7 p.m. at the Hereford High School Auditorium.

The program for the meeting will include a showing of the game film of the Herd's 28-14 win over the Frenship Tigers and a discussion of this week's home finale against Borger.

"That was a pretty good butt-kicking tonight," New Orleans coach Jim Mora said. "It was a combination of them being on their game and us not playing well at all."

"We didn't cover. We didn't tackle. We looked like we were in a daze on defense."

San Francisco's performance tackled a few of its season-long concerns head-on.

The inconsistent offensive line played its best game of the year. The puzzling home-field "disadvantage" - the 49ers have been better on the road than at home every year but one (1986) in the last eight - never materialized. Most of all, Montana passed and scrambled like anything but a 33-year-old quarterback recovering from a left knee sprain and an injured elbow.

The last time he played, he left the field on a stretcher during an Oct. 22 victory over New England at Stanford. This time he left the Saints' defense staggering, picking it apart with mostly short passes as he completed his first 11 throws in a 223-yard, three-touchdown first half.

Former 49ers receiver and close friend Dwight Clark said later that Montana is still hurting but has decided to keep his ailments to himself so he can play. Some of his teammates, however, aren't fooled.

"Joe was playing with a sore knee," running back Roger Craig said. "It's not the first time he's played hurt."

Montana found a familiar target, Jerry Rice, for touchdown passes of 32 and two yards and John Taylor for 45 yards to make it 21-10 with 1:32 left in the first half. He barreled around the right side and dove into the end zone for the 3-yard clincher in the fourth period, spiking the ball jubilantly.

He even managed to escape unscathed from the Saints' aggressive defense.

"Joe knows his first, second and third receivers," Saints linebacker Sam Mills said. "It's almost impossible to put pressure on him."

Because of all his injuries, Montana hasn't gone a season without missing at least one start since 1983. But he still frets about layoffs, especially knowing that the capable Steve Young is trying to take his job.

"I told (wife) Jennifer it scared me having a week off," Montana said. "Practice is so different than any type of game situation you can be in. She was more confident than I was."

Montana's counterpart, Bobby

Hebert, crossed up the San Francisco defense by going to the running game early after having put up 49 passes in last month's game. Dalton Hilliard had 76 yards on 15 carries in the first half but only four yards the rest of the way with the Saints forced to play catchup.

Hebert completed 20 of 33 passes for 183 yards, but with two second-half interceptions that killed any comeback hopes. Eric Wright and Chet Brooks had the interceptions but the presence of hard-hitting free safety Ronnie Lott, back after a five-game absence due to a sprained right ankle, may have been even more noticeable.

Pecos ends spikers' season

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces found out Saturday why the Pecos Lady Eagles have been ranked No. 1 in the state in Class 4A when Pecos scored a 15-11, 15-9 win in an area round playoff match at Seminole.

The match marked the second year in a row that Pecos has ended the Herd's season.

Both games featured comebacks by Pecos as the Herd led 6-3 in the first and 8-1 in the second.

Hereford, which ended the season with a best-ever 26-6 record, opened up a 4-1 lead in the first game as Cande Robbins had two kills on blocks, and held the lead to 6-3 before Pecos tied score.

The teams traded points to 10-10 before two unforced errors gave Pecos the lead. Hereford regained service twice after trailing, 12-10, but could manage only one point.

Hereford built a big lead in the second game as Nikki Self, Shantel Cornelius and Jill West had scoring serves. But Pecos came back as Marisol Tellez served seven straight points, including three aces to start the run.

The Eagles took the lead at 10-8 on serves by Lavera Williams and Held the Herd to just one point in three service turns the rest of the way.

For the match, West led the Herd with seven service points, including an ace, while Self had six points on serve and two aces. Cornelius and Poppy Richardson added three points each with Cornelius recording one ace and Libby Kosub served for one point.

Kosub led the team in kills with six followed by Cornelius with five. Robbins added three kill while West, Richardson, Krystal Sims and Jessica Dearing all had two pieces.

Coach Brenda Reeh reflected her team's disappointment after the loss.

"I'm sorry this couldn't have worked out differently for our kids," she said.

Reeh said the main problem for the Herd was keeping the momentum.

"We just couldn't ever hang on to it long enough to make a big difference in the match," she said, adding that Tellez' service run in the second game was the difference in the match.

"We had a big lead in the second game and just couldn't handle some service receives. Three tough service receives there affected our offense and defense. We started playing cautiously instead of aggressively. They took advantage of that in the end."

Red Raiders earn ranking with win over Longhorns

LUBBOCK (AP) - The last time Texas Tech's football team was ranked nationally, some of this year's squad was reading Dick and Jane books and playing in pee-wee leagues.

The Red Raiders climbed to No. 23 Monday after beating 22nd-ranked Texas in Austin over the weekend, 24-17. Tech last appeared in the rankings Nov. 14, 1977. Later that week, 16th-ranked Tech lost to Houston and dropped out of the rankings for the rest of the Carter and all of the Reagan administrations.

"I'm glad to be ranked for our players' sake," coach Spike Dykes said Monday.

But Dykes added a caveat: he doesn't want his team to dwell too long on the upset in Austin because Texas Christian awaits Saturday in Lubbock.

"If we don't play like gangbusters we won't be ranked long - it'll be the shortest ranking ever," Dykes said.

"The big thing is going to be to convince people that TCU is for real, and that we've got to play our tail off to play them, to beat them. I think our players understand that. I hope they do. They'll hear it more than once, I promise you that."

He said the best way to celebrate the national ranking is to remain there awhile by playing well against the TCU Horned Frogs, who beat then-15th-ranked Air Force last month.

"We don't need to get kicked out of the big black-tie ball the first chance we get to go," Dykes said. "We need to dance a little bit."

Tech (6-2 overall and 3-2 in the Southwest Conference) beat a ranked opponent for the third time this season by defeating Texas, which fell from the Top 25. Tech also beat Arizona and Texas A&M.

Dykes did not want to speculate whether Tech will receive a bowl bid when invitations go out later this month. And he didn't want to talk about Southwest Conference championship, which Tech conceivably could still attain. Tech has thrown the Cotton Bowl race into turmoil by beating A&M and Texas.

"I think we better worry about TCU," Dykes said. "I don't know who to pull for on Saturdays. Boy, I was pulling for A&M to beat Houston, and they said, 'Well, you moron, that's not what you want.'"

Saturday's highlight for the Raiders was Jamie Gill's 65-yard touchdown pass to Anthony Manyweather on a third-and-26 with 4:26 remaining in the game. It put Tech ahead 21-17.

But Dykes said the defense kept the Red Raiders in the game. Linebacker Charles Rowe recorded 15 tackles, 12 solo. Cornerback Sammy Walker had six tackles and two second-half interceptions.

Dallas win sparks new quarterback controversy

IRVING (AP) - The Cowboys won a game and now they have a quarterback controversy.

Steve Walsh led the Dallas Cowboys to their first victory under Jimmy Johnson but another rookie, Troy Aikman, could take his job this week.

"We're going to go with the quarterback who gives us the best chance to win," Johnson said. "It's something we've got to evaluate in practice. We'll probably identify a starter prior to Friday's practice."

"I like having a quarterback controversy when you have two quarterbacks who can play," Johnson said. "I like having to make those decisions."

Johnson's winless ordeal is finally over. He's the proud owner of a Pete Rozelle autographed NFL game ball.

The rookie coach of the Dallas Cowboys had to wait until the ninth week of the season to get his first victory, a 13-3 upset of the Washington Redskins on Sunday night.

"It takes away a lot of negative talk," Johnson said. "It takes away all that 0 for 16 stuff."

Walsh and defensive back Bill Bates gave a grateful Johnson the game ball after the 14-point underdog Cowboys had humbled the Redskins on national television.

Johnson in turn gave the team Monday off.

"It's been a hard, frustrating year and there will still be some rocky days ahead but the future of the team is bright," Johnson said. "It's good for the team to have some success because they've worked so hard. Now, we can get about our business."

Johnson said the key to the victory was just what he had been preaching, no turnovers and eliminate mistakes.

"I've never coached a game where a team didn't have a penalty that was accepted against us, and, of course we never turned the ball over," Johnson said. "We never did that even at Miami."

Johnson said the victory was more of a relief than the jubilation he felt when he won the national title at the University of Miami.

"We had been taking some heat but I knew what I was getting into when I took the job," Johnson said.

"Everybody forgets this is the same team that lost 10 straight games last year. It takes time to get things turned around. We knew we weren't going to change things overnight."

Bates, who had an interception, said the team was relieved that talk of a winless season could be stopped.

"We got that 0-for-the-season monkey off our backs," Bates said.

The Cowboys' 0-8 start was the second poorest in franchise history. Dallas' worst record in the 30-year history of the club was 0-11-1 in 1960. The Cowboy's were 3-13 last year.

"The way our defense has been playing I felt we had a good chance," Johnson said. "The defense is really starting to come together."

Dallas' defense hasn't allowed a touchdown in the last nine quarters.

The Cowboys play at Phoenix on Sunday. The Cardinals beat Dallas 19-10 two weeks ago.

Dallas' victory over Washington represented a big turnaround. The Redskins had defeated Dallas 30-7 in the third game of the season.

Giamatti book published

NEW YORK (AP) - As A. Bartlett Giamatti searched to expand his mind, he turned to sports. That's what the late baseball commissioner and Yale University president wrote about in his sixth and final book, "Take Time for Paradise: Americans and their Games."

"It has long been my conviction that we can learn far more about the conditions, and values, of a society by contemplating how it chooses to play, to use its free time, to take its leisure, than examining how it goes about its work," he wrote in the 98-page essay, scheduled for publication Dec. 13 by Summit Books. Copies of the galley proofs were made available by the publisher.

Giamatti, who died of a heart attack on Sept. 1, wrote the book last winter, several months before he moved from National League president to commissioner.

In a marked departure from most sports books, he quotes Shakespeare, Aristotle, Milton, Jane Austen, Thomas Carlyle, literary historian Michael O'Loughlin, poet Henry Vaughn, Allen Gutman and makes obvious references to Marx's opinion of religion.

"Briefly stated, my argument is that sports are a subject of leisure and that properly to understand the allure and enduring appeal sports have for us as Americans, one must first understand the nature of leisure as that concept has developed since the Greeks, especially Aristotle," Giamatti wrote in the preface.

Giamatti, a professor of Renaissance literature at Yale, was known as a baseball fanatic even before he became NL president in December 1986. He devoted the book's third and final chapter to his favorite sport.

Over the top

Libby Kosub (11) of Hereford sends the ball over the attempted block of Pecos' Sophia Terry (9) during the Herd's 15-11, 15-9 loss in the area playoff Saturday at Seminole. The Herd finished the season with a best-ever record of 26-6.

TV aerials making contact with overhead electric wires constitute a real danger for homeowners. Accidents of this nature are far too common because all such accidents can be avoided. If you are installing an aerial, steer clear of electric lines. Safe, dependable, indispensable electricity can kill if its treated carelessly. Don't let a prize become a problem. Follow the guidelines provided by the electric cooperative.

Chamber members will elect four new directors

Ballots for the election of new directors for Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce were mailed to all members this week and ballots are due back at the C of C office by Nov. 20.

The ballots list six candidates selected by a nominating committee and approved by the board of directors. Four directors will be elected for three-year terms.

The six nominees are Waldo Baxter, Charles Greenawalt, Diane Hoelscher, Ken McLain and James Self. Directors whose terms expire are David Emerick, Carol Sue LeGate, Larry Malamen and Ike Stevens.

A biographical sketch on each nominee has been released by the chamber office:

Waldo Baxter is a senior vice president at Hereford State Bank and has been employed with the bank since 1967. A native of Floydada and a graduate of WTSU, Waldo has been very active in the chamber and has served as chairman and co-chairman of the Town & Country Jubilee. He is a member of the Noon Kiwanis Club, a past president of Kids, Inc., Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Heart Association, Easter Seals, and a former YMCA director. He and his wife, Carolyn, employed at Tri-State Chemicals, have two children.

Waldo says he hopes to continue to serve the community and be a part of helping to make Hereford an even better place to live and raise a family.

Charles Greenawalt is superintendent of schools, moving to Hereford in 1987 with his wife, Barbara, and three children. He is a graduate of Texas A&I and Texas A&M University. In addition to serving on several state educational boards, Charles is currently on the county Child Welfare Board and a director in Kiwanis Club. He is also a member of the chamber's Industrial Development Committee. He teaches adult Bible School at the Central Church of Christ.

Greenawalt's objective is to help encourage local leadership to create an environment that will be conducive to promoting local citizens to buy in Hereford, encourage local business to expand, and attract outside industry to Hereford.

Diane Hoelscher has been a certified public accountant since 1980 and self employed for five years. She attended Texas Tech and the University of Texas and graduated from West Texas State with a master's degree. She and her husband, attorney R.C. Hoelscher, moved to Hereford in 1969, and they have three children. Diane is a member of St. Anthony's Church, El Llano Study Club, and president of Golden Spread Aggie Moms' Club.

Diane believes that the chamber, and the people of Hereford, should be politically involved about issues that are causing major economic problems to our area, such as agriculture, rising taxes, and workers' compensation insurance.

James McDowell Jr. is employed at Barrett-Crofoot, Inc., as a controller. He previously worked at McGinty & Associates and has five years experience in the oil and gas business. A 1981 graduate of the University of Oklahoma, James and his wife, Kyla, have two children. He teaches a high school class at First United Methodist Church.

James would like to see Hereford and the C of C stress three ideas: Economic development, community development, and remembering the positives while addressing the negatives.

Ken McLain has been a resident of Hereford for 20 years. He and his wife, Marcella, operate McLain Garden Center, which began in 1982. He was in the cattle industry for many years and was associated with Southwest Feedyards for 12 years. He is a member of the Lions Club, and chairman of the chamber's Retail Business Committee. He was active in civic affairs in Nebraska before moving here.

Ken would like to improve the quality of life for current residents, as well as for generations to come.

James Self is a New York Life Insurance agent and owner of his own insurance, financial planning and investments business. He was formerly in real estate and was a teacher and coach in the local school district. James is a graduate of Childress HS and West Texas State. His wife, Maureen, works with James in the insurance business, and they have three children. He is sports committee chairman for the chamber, serves on the board of Big Brothers/Big Sisters and the Whiteface Booster Club. He was the 1984 United Way campaign chairman. He is a member of Central Church of Christ.

Having lived in Hereford for 19 years, James puts a priority on the growth and stability of Hereford and wants to do what he can to make the community a better place to live.

Spain moved Florida to the United States in 1821.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 14 cents a word for first insertion ($2.00 minimum), and 10 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy charge, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	14	2.00
2 days per word	24	4.00
3 days per word	34	6.00
4 days per word	44	8.00

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid-word lines, those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $3.95 per column inch; $3.25 an inch for additional insertions.

LEGALIS

Ad rates for legal notices are 14 cents per word first insertion, 10 cents per word for additional insertions.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

HEARTS ON ICE
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - If you see someone dashing through an airport with a picnic cooler under one arm, get out of the way. "Inside there may be a heart or other live organ for a dying patient," says Dr. William H. Frist, director of the heart transplant program at Vanderbilt University Medical Center. Frist also is the author of "Transplant" (Atlantic). Surgeons use the coolers to maintain organs in good condition while they transport them from the donor - who may be in one state - to a waiting recipient - who may be in another.

PRAIRIE

Without Bobby knowing it, the two men examined the flawed extension cord and radio and used the cord for measuring distances from the wall socket across the room to the bathtub. They also checked the circuit breaker. But it was Jaye Nell and her sister who stumbled on another interesting item: a new extension cord lying in plain sight in a kitchen cabinet. "It had never been taken from the wrapper," Jaye Nell said. The implications would not be lost on prosecutors, who wondered aloud why any reasonably intelligent person would use a damaged and dangerous cord with a new one at her fingertips. But even as Jaye Nell came to share her husband's suspicions, the couple was confident that authorities would investigate their daughter's death and act on the evidence they uncovered.

"We assumed the authorities would do their job," Norbert recalled with a humorless smile. "We learned it was not that simple." Through no fault of their own, Norbert and Jaye Nell Schlegel's attempt to persuade authorities to investigate Rhonda's death was cursed from the start. To begin with, there was no compelling evidence to suggest homicide, and no apparent reason to doubt Bobby's version of what occurred that morning. Worse yet, the police chief was at odds with the justice of the peace and the district attorney was not inclined to disagree with the coroner's ruling of accidental death. Sheriff Mickey Counts was mildly curious and even a little suspicious but claimed his hands were tied for lack of evidence. Said he: "The whole thing was really botched. Everything was circumstantial and there was no physical evidence. Whatever was there was destroyed after the initial investigation. "I could see how he killed her, but I didn't have any evidence to prove it."

Incredibly, not a single investigative agency examined the autopsy photographs until months later, and then only at the insistence of the Schlegels. But even Norbert and Jaye Nell overlooked the implications of burns on the inside of Rhonda's right arm and the adjacent side of her right breast. Hindsight suggests also that someone would come forward and reveal Bobby's ongoing affair with Melanie, since Texas history is littered with such fatal attractions.

It was almost as if there was a benign conspiracy of silence. "A damn weird case," grumbled Frank Ginzel, who as district attorney ignored or sidetracked requests by the Schlegels to order a grand jury probe of Rhonda's death. "Who'd ever think of something like that happening in a small county like this?" With no alternative, the Schlegels began their own investigation, traveling constantly from Shamrock to Rotan, Roby, Sweetwater, Snyder, Abilene, Colorado City and elsewhere. They asked questions and gathered evidence and hounded authorities to look into their daughter's death. "It was just bits and pieces but it began mounting up," Jaye Nell said. "People began calling us with information they thought might be helpful, and some of it was."

Norbert seldom slept and Jaye Nell worried that he had become obsessed with his investigative crusade. "Every time we'd get a thought in the middle of the night we'd get up and jot it down and think that will solve it," Jaye Nell said. "And then the next day..." Although Bobby was not oblivious to what was going on, the Schlegels maintained a friendly facade, and he probably underestimated their resolve. "We didn't want him to know we were suspicious," Jaye Nell said. Once, after the funeral, he caught Jaye Nell and her sister rummaging through drawers looking for a battery-charged radio the Schlegels had seen on earlier visits. "What's going on?" he asked. "We're just looking through things," Jaye Nell replied. The Schlegels said Bobby unwittingly fanned the fires of suspicion with his evasiveness and inconsistent accounts of what occurred the morning of April 11. "And he told us things we knew were not true," Jaye Nell said. For instance, Bobby said he had no insurance, then conceded that he and Rhonda had taken out an accidental death policy through a bank club. He collected $10,000 in June and used it to pay bills.

As Americans joyously celebrated the nation's 200th birthday that summer, one of Bobby's co-workers, Barbara Hardin, spoke with the Schlegels by long distance and almost casually dropped two stunning facts. "Bobby hasn't had his head on straight since the Texas Rangers came by," she said, providing the first clue that someone in law enforcement might be listening to the Schlegels' accusations.

And Mrs. Hardin also mentioned rumors linking Bobby romantically with a young woman who worked at the hospital. Her name was Melanie.

In September, the Schlegels learned that Bobby had moved to the remote village of Alpine in the Texas Big Bend country and had married an old flame. They persuaded a friend of Bobby's to call Alpine and ask about it.

"Hell, no, I'm not married!" the friend, Aaron Riggs, quipped Bobby as responding. "What do you think I am?"

But the Schlegels soon confirmed that Bobby had lied again. He and Melanie were married secretly at her home earlier that month.

On Sept. 26, 1976, Norbert called Bobby in Alpine and grilled him about several matters, including the radio, which he said he'd bought long ago at a shopping mall in Abilene or Dallas.

"Is there anything else you need to tell us?" Norbert asked.

"No," Bobby replied.

Bobby's evasiveness meant but one thing to the Schlegels.

"After that phone call," Jaye Nell said, "there wasn't any doubt at all that Bobby killed Rhonda."

Despite the Schlegels' fresh resolve, their optimism was short lived. Ranger Dee Vickers questioned Bobby and others but learned little.

"I don't believe the man did it," Vickers concluded. He said the evidence was too flimsy to pursue and advised the Schlegels to "forget it."

The Ranger would continue to urge Bobby to submit himself to a lie detector test.

Disheartened, the Schlegels tracked down District Attorney Frank Ginzel in early October to renew their demands for a grand jury investigation. In a meeting with Ginzel and others, they laid out all they knew and suspected.

"Within two weeks, we'll have you some answers," Norbert quoted Ginzel as saying. It was a hollow promise.

"It's a hard thing for me to visualize someone killing his wife like that," Ginzel told a reporter. "and if I can't see it, I can't sell it."

October gave way to November, and nothing developed. But Bobby at least was getting apprehensive. Seven months after Rhonda's death, he telephoned the Schlegels to complain.

"Do you know what they're doing to me down here?" he asked.

"No," Norbert replied dryly. "What are they doing to you?"

He said Ranger Vickers was hassling him to take a polygraph test and he wanted the Schlegels to get him to lay off.

They were noncommittal, but two days later Norbert called Bobby in Alpine and said, "The thing for you to do is to take the test, and do what they want you to do."

He also reminded his son-in-law rather pointedly that the death penalty had been reinstated in Texas.

Bobby said he'd hired a "city lawyer" and would not cooperate.

By early December, the Schlegels knew from several sources Bobby had been seeing Melanie two months before their daughter's death. And one claimed Melanie was pressuring him to dump Rhonda.

They felt this, plus the $10,000 insurance policy, could be sufficient motive for murder. It would be years before the criminal justice system would agree.

Speech success
Jeri Ann Parker, Daphne Roddy and Camille Betzen are among the members of the Hereford High School speech program that have enjoyed success at speech tournaments this fall.

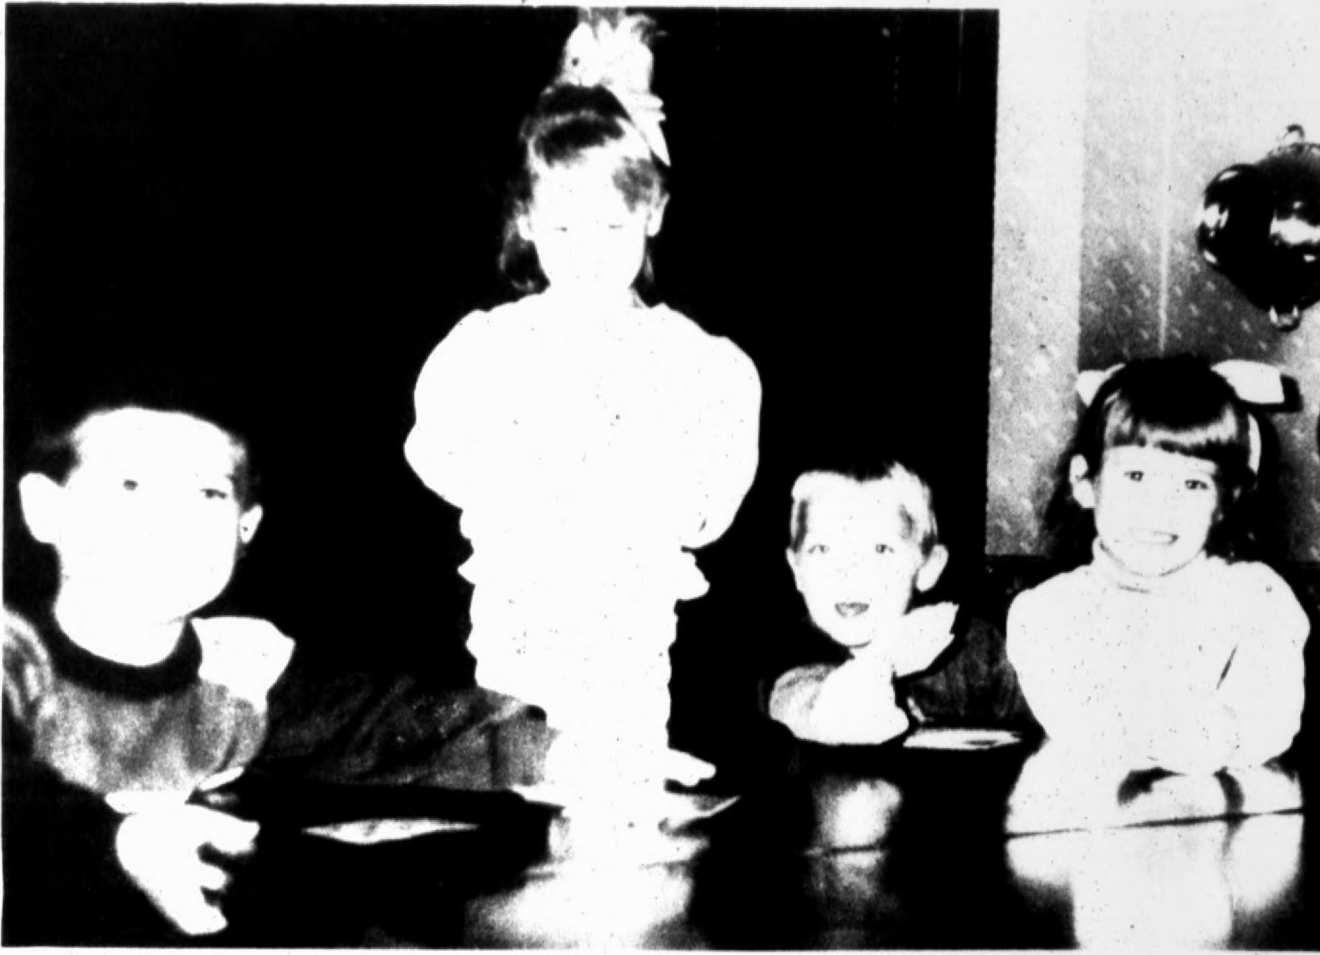

HHS speech department enjoying fall tournaments

The Hereford High School speech team has successfully participated in two invitational tournaments this fall. At the Pampa High School tournament on Oct. 14, HHS took third place in sweepstakes among the 15 schools entered. Students winning trophies at Pampa included Jeri Ann Parker, third in Lincoln-Douglas debate, third in original oratory and second in duo interpretation; Zach Walker, first in foreign extemporaneous speech and second in prose interpretation; Matthew Parker, sixth, and Jeri McConnell, fifth, in prose interpretation; Jonathan Haney, second in duo interpretation; John Malouf, third in Lincoln-Douglas debate; and Camille Betzen, second in domestic extemporaneous speaking, fifth in impromptu speaking and the outstanding debater in the tournament.

At the Lubbock Coronado Classic Invitational held Oct. 28, HHS won second place overall among the 19 schools in the tournament. Students placing included Jeri Ann Parker, first in original oratory (qualifying her for the Texas Forensic Association state tournament next spring in San Antonio) and second in prose interpretation; and Daphne Roddy, third in prose interpretation. At the Coronado event, Betzen was elected as presiding officer of the student congress.

Counting cards

Tanner Black, Jennifer and Kevin Winget and Laci Black count cards in preparation for the fourth annual Benefit Bridge Tournament to begin at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 9, at the Hereford Community Center. Tickets for the event, priced at $5 per person, are available from Toujour Amis Study Club members, who are sponsoring the tournament, or may be purchased at the door. Refreshments will be served during the evening and various prizes will be given away including a grand prize of a card table and chairs and two $50 savings bonds. Proceeds will be used for a high school scholarship.

Bows for the holidays

Rhonda Lee and Mary Jane Anvik are making bows for the "Country Christmas Bazaar". Bow makers and bows will be sold with proceeds going to the Golden Plains Care Center employees and patients Christmas fund. The Westway Extension Homemakers Club will be sponsoring the event Saturday, Nov. 11, at the Hereford Community Center from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Booths will feature a variety of Christmas decorations, arts and crafts and food items.

Accent on Health

As the new school year approaches, the Texas Department of Health (TDH) stresses that parents should check their children's immunization records to see that they are up-to-date.

State law requires that children entering Texas schools or day care must show proof of immunizations for six communicable diseases -- polio, tetanus, measles, rubella (German measles), mumps, and diphtheria. Whooping cough (pertussis) vaccine is required for all children younger than five entering day care or public school, although TDH recommends that children through age six also receive the vaccine.

According to Wes Hodgson, in the TDH Immunization Division, until the recent highly publicized outbreaks of measles and whooping cough, some parents appeared to believe that so-called "childhood diseases" were virtually wiped out.

"It is true that cases of some of these illnesses had diminished for a few years, but that was a reflection of how well most of the population was complying with vaccination requirements. None of these communicable diseases are extinct, so the threat of infection is always present for anyone who has not been vaccinated, or who has not had the diseases," Hodgson said.

Hodgson said that the measles outbreak was one of the largest in recent history. "About 3,000 cases, including nine deaths, have been reported since the epidemic began last Thanksgiving in Houston." The state had not experienced so many cases since an even larger epidemic struck in 1971, when 9,585 cases were reported.

He said that recent whooping cough outbreaks in Tarrant, Travis and Bexar counties also have been cause for serious concern. More than 80 cases of the highly contagious disease have been reported. "With children returning to school, those infected may spread pertussis among unimmunized classmates. We want parents to be doubly sure that their children are protected, or we may have an escalation of the present outbreaks."

If parents have any doubts about their children's immunizations, they should check with their family physician or local health department. "One overlooked vaccination or booster can mean a sick child, able to infect others who may also be susceptible," Hodgson added.

Other vaccine-preventable diseases reported in Texas last year included mumps (327 cases), rebecca (30), and tetanus (6). There were no cases of polio or diphtheria reported.

Fabric stencilling workshop slated

Deaf Smith County Extension Homemakers will sponsor two sessions of a fabric stencilling workshop. The workshops will be held on Nov. 16, at the Community Center. Workshops will be taught by Vickie McGowen of Danbury, Texas.

Two sessions will be held for convenience of participants. Two new original designs will be taught. "Ribbons and Roses" featuring long flowing ribbons and wild roses will be stencilled on a jacket. "Southwest Christmas" will feature a steer guided sleigh guided by the jack rabbit elf. Cactus, coyotes and armadillos are added features. A southwest stencil supplement will be available also. Shading and stencilling styles during the workshop will be emphasized.

Sessions will be held at 10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Participants may register for both sessions and complete both projects. If taking one session, participants will need to specify which project they wish to complete.

Class size is limited. Participants may pay their class fee of $20 and pick up supply list at the County Extension Office on the 4th floor of the Courthouse. The class fee will provide use of acrylic paints, brushes and instructor fee. The fee will also purchase the cut stencils for participant to reuse. Additional information may be obtained by calling 364-3573.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Low-fat cooking healthy

Most everybody knows chicken is naturally low in fat. Here's how to avoid sabotaging the fat content when you cook the chicken:

- Choose chicken breasts; they contain less fat than dark meat.

- Remove the skin; most of the fat is in or just beneath the skin.

- Cook chicken by a low-fat method. For this recipe we poached chicken breasts in a flavorful tomato mixture. Other low-fat options: grilling, broiling, stir-frying.

- Don't smother chicken in a sauce made with pan drippings or added fat.

The bottom line: Just 11 percent of the calories in this dish come from fat, below the 30 percent maximum recommended by health authorities.

LEAN CHICKEN CACCIATORE

- 1/2 of a 7 1/2-ounce can tomatoes
- 3/4 cup sliced mushrooms
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
- 3 tablespoons dry red wine
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano, crushed
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper

2 medium whole chicken breasts (about 1 1/2 pounds total), skinned, boned and split lengthwise

- Paprika
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons cold water
- 4 ounces spaghetti, cooked

In a medium skillet cut up undrained tomatoes. Add mushrooms, onion, green pepper, wine, garlic, oregano, salt and pepper. Place chicken pieces on tomato mixture in skillet. Bring to boiling; reduce heat. Cover and simmer for 25 minutes. Remove chicken to serving platter; sprinkle with paprika. Keep warm.

Combine cornstarch and 2 tablespoons cold water; stir into skillet mixture. Cook and stir until mixture is thickened and bubbly; cook and stir 2 minutes more. Arrange chicken and spaghetti on platter; spoon sauce over chicken. Makes 4 servings.

Holmes gives report

Virginia Holmes was guest speaker recently when the Bay View Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Dudley Bayne.

Holmes gave a book review on The Train to Estellene by Jane Roberts Wood. The story tells of a young school teacher who had her first teaching job in far West Texas in the early twentieth century. Even though she suffered many hardships, she grew to love the country and was admired by her students and parents. The romance and joy she experienced in her young life leads to an intriguing story.

Vice President Mary Morrow opened the meeting and Helen Rose led the group in the club collect.

Lois Gililand, secretary, read the minutes of the last two meetings and they were approved.

A discussion was held on the war bond recently discovered and having been purchased more than 40 years ago and put aside. It was determined the use of funds would be decided upon at a later date.

Refreshments were served to Ruth Allison, Helen Eades, Pat Fisher, Marye Fraser, Virginia Garner, Nancy Hays, Elizabeth Holt, Helen Langley, Ruth McBride, Ruth Newsom, Betty Rudder, Rose, Morrow, Scott, Gililand, Edna Gault, Ruth Kerr and Holmes.

Public invited to "Home-Based Business Workshop"

All persons who are considering starting a home-based business, have recently started a business in their home, or would like to supplement their income are invited to attend an all-day "Home-Based Business Workshop" sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service-Randall County and the Panhandle Small Business Development Center.

The workshop will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 11, at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West in Amarillo. Advance registration is encouraged as seating will be limited. The cost is $15 per person if payment is received by 5 p.m. Monday. Registration at the door is $20 per person and does not include lunch. All registrants will be eligible for door prizes.

The objective of the workshop is to help attendees identify the steps and procedures needed to plan, organize, finance and operate a home-based business.

The workshop will include topics such as getting started; developing a business plan; creating a positive image; time management; marketing and advertising; accounting, record-keeping and taxes; and legal and risk management. A panel of successful home-based business owners will give personal accounts of how they got started and how they are continuing to build their businesses.

For additional registration information, contact Wynon Mayes, Randall County Extension Agent, at 655-7001, ext. 325.

SHOPPERS CHECK OWN BLOOD PRESSURE

REDMOND, Wash. (AP) - Free access to high-quality electronic blood-pressure monitors is useful because it helps to promote health awareness, according to a report by a Redmond health services company.

Founded in 1958 to work with NASA to develop methods to monitor vital signs of astronauts, the organization has placed some 4,000 Health Monitor Centers, which offer free blood-pressure screening and personal health information to shoppers, in pharmacies and pharmacy-grocery stores across the nation.

The company - Vita-Stat Health Services - estimates its machines perform 8 to 10 million blood-pressure checks each month at the centers.

To obtain the typical blood-pressure reading, the company recommends about eight measurements over a period of several days. Since each measurement takes approximately two minutes, the shopper has ample time to read the health information available on the unit's lighted panels.

Cornelius honored

Outstanding High School Students of America has selected John E. Cornelius as a new member.

He is the grandchild of Marie Cornelius of Hereford.

HOUSTON (AP) - The Duchess of York ended a five-day visit to Texas with a visit to an inner-city school, where she took part in a day filled with anti-drug messages.

The 30-year-old former Sarah Ferguson also was serenaded by more than 600 pupils at Blackshear Elementary School.

The duchess, who is married to Britain's Prince Andrew, came to Houston on Thursday at the invitation of the Houston Grand Opera, which is saluting 300 years of British opera.
