SIGHTS, FACES SEEN

The ring around the moon spotted by many football fans Friday night probably would have indicated only one more day of fair weather before heavy fall begins if it had been seen by the Indians who populated our nation over 100 years ago. Actually, for those who saw it, the ring meant very little. But fall is upon us. The geese are still at it—flying south.

Rumors about oil development waxed warmer and warmer as the week drew to a close. Still, they are only rumors. It seems reasonably certain, if the rumors have any creditability at all, a location has been staked in the county or will be in the next few days.

Mrs. F. L. Lucas, who underwent a major operation in Brownwood 10 days ago, is improving according to word received from her husband yesterday. Mrs. Lucas is still in the hospital.

She and her husband were visiting her mother in Brownwood and attending to business at the time of the emergency operation. Their address is 1216 3rd, Brownwood.

In the event readers may wish to report society stories during the first part of the week, it should be known that Mrs. John McLean, society editor, might not be at home before Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. McLean left Saturday for Austin to visit a new grand daughter, Laura Kay, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William F. McLean.

Women's clubs of the Panhandle are taking the spotlight in Hereford for this week end and next. Ladies of the Business and Professional Women's clubs are holding their annual convention at Hotel Jim Hill this week end. Next Sunday delegates from all over the area will come here to the Epsilon Sigma Alpha convention.

Hereford residents were again reminded of the tragedies of fire this week despite all the measures that have been taken to prevent fire.

Shoppers in Hereford these days are in a bigger hurry than usual. With all the building going on in the town and country, too, and with the harvest of so many different crops still underway, the streets and roads present a busy picture.

Leona Blood announced today that she will expand her "Wonderland" shop during the next few weeks to include a maternity department. In addition to adding new lines of merchandise, Mrs. Blood said she will also add new rooms to her building.

UN Is Success Says Dr. Hill

The spirit and the procedure of the United Nations were explained by Dr. J. A. Hill, president emeritus of West Texas State college, at the Hereford Kiwanis club meeting Thursday. Dr. Hill has been present at meetings of the UN.

He asked the question, "Has the United Nations Failed?", and answered, "We have prayed for peace—still there is no peace. Science brings the world into one neighborhood. Everyone but Russia has cooperated."

In continuing his explanation, he made two main points: (1) The nations are at liberty to choose their own representatives.

(2) Never before have the people of 60 nations had the opportunity to discuss and settle their differences in this manner.

"Has the United Nations failed?" asked Dr. Hill. "No, one war has already been prevented. The heaven is at work and will continue to work."

He concluded his talk with the remark that there will be many, many years of peace if the third world war does not come in the next 10 or 15 years.

FIREMEN tug a line into the barracks fire between Highway 60 and the railroad in West Hereford. A five-month-old child was fatally burned in the flames, and her father, Juquin Morena, sustained burns on both hands and face in an attempt to rescue his daughter.

Child Dies Of Burns In Tragic Barracks Blaze

"SE QUEMO MI NINITA!"—"My baby burned up!" were the grief-filled words which came from Michaela Morena, wife of Juquin Morena and mother of five-month-old Maria, when the woman looked at the ruins of the barracks in which the infant was fatally burned. The fire began from unexplained causes in the interior of the barracks owned by the Associated Growers.

Three Artists To Appear In First Autumn Concert

Three outstanding artists will appear in the first fall concert of the Hereford Mutual Concert Association at the Hereford High School auditorium Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Howard Jarratt, well-known New York tenor, will be heard in a joint recital with Helen Clayton, outstanding New York soprano. Their accompanist, Moreland Kortkamp, is an artist who gained recognition as half of the duo-piano team of Crandall and Kortkamp for Allied soldiers throughout the entire European theatre during the past war.

Mr. Jarratt entered Augustana College in Sioux Falls to study aeronautical engineering. After two years of singing in the college quartette and choir, he was persuaded to forsake engineering for a musical career. With his new goal ahead, he entered St. Olaf Lutheran College in Minnesota and soon became tenor soloist with the famed St. Olaf Lutheran Choir. He won a scholarship with Theodore Harrison at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago, and combining numerous Chicago engagements with study, he went on to receive a Master's degree in music at the Conservatory in 1941.

After serving as head of the Voice Department at Ohio Wesleyan University, he was commissioned a Lieutenant in the U. S. Navy and continued his singing at Plattsburg, N. Y., and Harvard University before being sent to the Pacific. One of the highlights of his Pacific tour of duty was an invitation by Admiral Nimitz to be soloist at an Easter service at Pearl Harbor. Upon his release from the Navy, Jarratt realized one of his greatest ambitions—to study and further his career in New York. Through the benefits of the G. I. Bill of Rights, he became a member of the American Theatre Wing, and subsequently a pupil of Joseph Regnea.

Since that time he has appeared in numerous productions. His portrayals of Romeo in "Romeo and Juliet"; Frederick in "Pirates of Penzance"; Eric in "King Harold"; Brack in "Down in the Valley" and Leandro, the poet, in "The Man in the Moon" were acclaimed by critics as attaining the highest standards musically and historically.

Critics say that one of the charms of Helen Clayton is her ability to sing—even high notes—and continue to look beautiful. It is this ability, as well as her ability as an actress, that has one of Hollywood's major studios interested in Helen Clayton. A beautiful girl, an outstanding musician and singer, a wonderful voice, and a fine actress.

Miss Clayton was discovered as a potential singer by her piano teacher and began to study voice at the age of thirteen. She received a bachelor of Arts degree in music from Maria G. Morena, five-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juquin Morena died at 5 a. m. Friday from burns she received in a tragic fire Thursday night, which destroyed most of the inside of the barracks in which the family was living between Highway 60 and the railroad in West Hereford.

The barracks is one of a group of barracks owned by the Associated Potato Growers of Hereford.

The child was rushed to Deaf Smith County hospital in a Gilliland Funeral Home ambulance about 7:10 p. m. Thursday while her mother, Michaela Morena, screamed, "Se Quemo mi ninita!" ("My baby burned up!")

Funeral services were held for the child at the Catholic Mission Chapel at the Hereford Labor camp yesterday afternoon, October 21, at 4 p. m., with Rev. Fr. Raymond Gillis officiating.

The cause of the blaze was not definitely determined, but Mrs. Morena said it began while she was outside taking clothes from the clothesline.

"I was bringing in my clothes," she said. "And I couldn't get back in the door. It was full with smoke and flame." She screamed for help.

Although several men gathered at the door, none would enter, the grief-stricken mother said. Her husband, Juquin, came running to the scene, burst through the crowd and plunged into the burning barracks, Mrs. Morena reported.

Juquin said he found the child still lying on the bed near the ironing board, where the mother had been ironing.

"I picked up little Maria," the man said later, "and tried to get out of there. But the smoke and fire were too much in the room, and I sought the door, but did not find it. I tried for a while, but everywhere I ran I met the fire and the smoke."

"When I finally found the door," he continued, "the little child was burned up—and my face and hand were burned."

Firemen arrived seconds after Juquin escaped from the burning barracks. The man, a laborer in the hay harvest and a resident here since February, Don Tries Big Boy Stunt—No Soap!

Little Don Wyndel Paddock, six-year-old son of Mrs. Jim Childre, tried a stunt the "big boys" perform with ease, but he didn't come out so well. Don spent the night in the hospital Wednesday after jumping from a slow moving pick-up.

The pick-up was slowing to a stop, and Don decided he would rush things a bit by jumping. His step-father, Jim Childre, says that Don jumped the wrong direction. His injuries were described only as nausea and being "shaken up."

Services For F. Banner Set Today

Funeral services were set for 2 p. m. Sunday for Frank Banner, 84, father of two Hereford citizens and a resident here since August, who died Saturday at 12:45 a. m. in Deaf Smith County Hospital, where he was taken Thursday after a stroke Thursday afternoon.

The services will be held at Gilliland Funeral home, with Rev. Roy Ford, pastor of the Hereford First Christian Church, officiating.

Mr. Banner was born in Cisco, Texas, in 1886. He has made his home in Amarillo since 1919. A retired brakeman for the railroad, Banner has not been in active duty since 1944. He is a member of the Railroad Trainmen and of the Masonic Lodge.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Wayne Phillips, one son, Gerald Banner, both of Hereford; two brothers, C. W. Banner and C. B. Banner, both of O'Brien; four sisters, Mrs. Winnie Rollins of Snyder, Mrs. Essie Phillips of Okmulgee, Oklahoma, Mrs. Maggie Fowler of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and Mrs. Anna Williams of Tulsa. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland Funeral home.

Saturday Evening Post and the Good Housekeeping magazine.

Mrs. Seed, whose pen name is Ina Gregg Seed, laughingly said she guessed she was slipping as she only got honorable mention in the short story contest this year.

The critic, Elton Howe, of the Denver Post, whom Mrs. Seed described as "definitely western," said he could see no comparison between Mrs. Seed's story and her title. Mrs. Seed couldn't either. She was undecided which of two stories to send to the contest. In a last minute rush, she submitted one story—with the title from the other story. Her story was about a woman, and she accidentally titled it "The Runaway."

Mrs. Seed has won a number of prizes in this contest and in the Tri-State contest. She says she definitely is not a western writer. Her line is short story fiction. However, Mrs. Seed has decided to try a western type poem for the next Pan Women's contest.

The club now has 40 active members. The charter was presented on January 23, 1933, with the roster including Miss Nell Ayers, Mrs. Paul Corbett, Miss Viola Carpenter, Miss Irene Crawford, Miss Frances Fullingim, Mrs. Pearl Lass, Mrs. Minnie Hanna, Miss Nellie Hostetter, Mrs. Effie Rutherford, Miss Eunice Rutherford.

club has been active in all local civic enterprise. The club sponsored the first Pioneer Day in May 1938 and has assisted in sponsoring that event in other years. Mrs. Cecil Williams, general chairman of Pioneer Day celebrations in 1948, was presented an emblem plaque by the club for outstanding work in the organization. The club was incorporated in 1946.

During World War II the club presented Bibles to each woman entering the armed forces. The club has helped with underprivileged families and contributed to school cafeterias. In the early years of organization they asked the city to furnish garbage disposal and to beautify the city dump ground. The Hereford Business and Professional Women's Club has always assisted in the Camp Fire Work. At present the club sponsors the Ta Wan Ka group of Camp Fire Girls under the leadership of Mrs. Earl Plank.

Out of the Business and Professional Women's Club program on co-operatives grew sufficient interest that the Hereford, Texas Federal Credit Union was organized in 1936 with three club members as charter members. Purpose of this organization is to teach consistent savings habits and to provide financial security. Since organization, the Hereford, Texas Federal Credit Union has loaned $363,659.49 in the community in a total of 1364 loans.

The club presents an annual Pre-Easter Style Show (first one in 1946) to raise money for various club projects.

For many years it was a custom to entertain the Senior Girls each spring.

One of the largest and most important projects undertaken by the group was the re-numbering of the streets of Hereford. A map of the city showing complete information of the streets and blocks was made, streets were measured and re-numbered and the correct house numbers were placed. It took three years to complete this project. Ellen Carter was presented an emblem plaque from the club in recognition of her work on the project. Dyalithia Brady was also presented an emblem plaque for her work on Street Numbering and various other accomplishments for the club. Jaycees assisted in the street numbering project.

At present, the big project in hand is the beautification of the cemetery and its entrance.

Towels have been sent to the Veteran's Hospital in Amarillo and six mattresses purchased for the Deaf Smith County Hospital Nursery.

Regular contributions are also made to the Chamber of Commerce.

The main purpose of the club is to develop better business women, and through association, promote a better relationship between business firms. The local club meets on the first and third Mondays and have a dinner meeting about once a month. Some of the socials each year include the Bosses Banquet, Membership Banquet, entertaining an out of town club and the group of Camp Fire Girls sponsored by the club. The club has its own publication called the Short Wave which is issued twice a month.

See-Saw Goes Up and So Does Little Girl

Among the oddest of children's accidents reported recently is that of little Bessie Oveso, aged 6. She and two older children were thrown "high into the air," says Bessie's mother, Mrs. Victor Oveso, when a boy jumped on the opposite end of a teeter (see-saw) which the children were riding.

Bessie spent Friday night in Deaf Smith County hospital. Her mother said the child fainted when the accident occurred, and the board from the see-saw fell on top of her. Her injuries were not reported to be serious, amounting only to bruises around the temples.

Mr. and Mrs. Oveso live in the west part of town.

Tulane University. She continued her music studies at the Julliard School of Music, where she studied under the noted concert and opera singer, Karln Branzell. Although Miss Clayton's appearances have been in the east, her present tour with Mr. Jarratt, which covers 28 states and three Canadian provinces, promises to make her as well-known and loved throughout the country as in New York.

Miss Kortkamp began her studies at the age of nine in Pasadena, California. For two years in succession she won the Southern California Allied Arts contest and was soloist with the Pasadena Symphony Orchestra besides concertizing throughout California. When she came to New York, she was awarded a six year scholarship with Josef and Rosina Lhevinne at the Julliard Graduate school. She toured Europe, North Africa, and Italy as a member of the concert division of the USO and since that time has completed two coast-to-coast tours of the United States and Canada. Besides accompanying the Clayton-Jarratt team in the concert here, she will play two groups of solos.

AND I do further respectfully urge prayerful dedication on the part of all Hereford citizens to the cause of world peace and freedom.

Child

sat with his child in the family car when the ambulance arrived. He sustained burns on his left hand and face.

Mrs. Morena fell into a state of shock soon after the fire began and did not realize her child had been extracted from the flaming interior of the building until a policeman offered to drive her to the hospital after the occurrence to see both her husband and child.

Hope held out for a while Thursday night for the infant, but the burns were too serious and deep for survival. Dr. L. B. Barnett said the child sustained second-degree burns on 40 percent of its body and was in critical condition.

The infant's mother said the fire may have begun from a short in the iron cord. An oil stove exploded and threw kerosene all over the interior of the house, causing it to burn faster than it normally would.

Four families lived in the barracks, but all others escaped injury. The Morena family includes another member, a son, 14, who works in a bowling alley at Hereford and did not know about the fire until long after it happened.

In addition to their child, the Morenas lost all of their personal belongings—their clothes, an unestimated amount of money and all their important papers.

Michaela Morena was ironing clothes for a Hereford family when the blaze began. She said she was 34, her child five months, and her husband 48 years old.

Herd Runs Over Perryton 26-0 In Conference Game

Once more Friday night at Whiteface field, the Hereford Whitefaces stacked up score after score early in the game—the first conference match for the Herd—and baited a 26-0 defeat over a stubborn team of Perryton Rangers.

Ramming over three first downs in the first half and seven points more in the last quarter, the Herd accounted for their third straight win.

Passes from Jack Stanton to Duval Walker and Leonard Walterscheid accounted for two of the counters, Stanton carried for another and Walker carried for the final tally. Bill Engman made the two extra points of the game.

Early in the first quarter the Herd began a ground drive from their own 40 yard line and pushed all the way to the Perryton 18, where Stanton hurled a pass to Walker, who went over for the first score. Engman's try for point was successful.

Most of the remainder of the first quarter was spent near the middle of the gridiron, neither team making great gains. In the second period, however, the Whitefaces took possession on the mid-field stripe and drove to the Perryton 17-yard line, where Stanton's second pass, this time to Walterscheid, was complete and good for the second score. The try for point failed.

Witherspoon recovered a fumble on the kickoff and gave the Whitefaces possession again on their opponent's 43. Stanton and Engman carried to the 10, from where Stanton went over for the touchdown. The try for point failed again.

Their first time in possession in the last quarter, the Whitefaces rammed down to the Ranger four-yard marker, where Walker crushed over for the final touchdown. Engman's successful try for the extra point brought the final tally to 26 for Hereford, 0 for Perryton.

Don Dietrich and Laurel Lovett sparkplugged the Perryton offensive play, while the Ranger line played a beautiful defensive game.

A play-by-play description of the contest follows:

First Quarter
 Walker got away a 40 yard kick from the north to Lovett on the Perryton 20. Lovett returned it to the 40, where Haar took it two yards and Carter two more. Longwell came into the game and carried to the 48 before he was downed by Beryl Fish. Dietrich kicked on the fourth down.

On the first play from scrimmage Stanton went four yards, and on the next Morton lammed over for six more, and the first Whiteface first down.

Engman made the next first, when he carried ten yards to the Perryton 40. He broke through for five more on the next play. Morton made a 15 yard run. Stanton went four. Then, on the next down, cocked his arm and shot a pass to Walker, who plowed 18 yards for the first score.

Engman's try for point was good.

Dement kicked off, booting the ball 40 yards down to the Perryton 35, where the ball was fumbled by its receiver, Alfred Carter, and recovered by Janssen.

Stanton got away for five yards on the first down, but the ball was fumbled on the second and recovered by Perryton.

Dietrich took over on his own 43, shot a pass to Lovett, but it fell incomplete. He decided to run on the next down and did, making a net gain of six yards. The ball was fumbled, however, on the next down and Walker recovered it.

Stanton backed off and was thrown for a four-yard loss, but made it up on the next play by plowing five yards. Engman went one more, then kicked on the next down.

Dietrich took the 25-yard kick and returned it to his 25. He made five yards. Lovett made four more, but a penalty for offsides threw the Rangers back five yards. Their first first down came when Lovett made seven yards, and Dietrich followed it up with three more.

Second Quarter
 Haar began the second quarter with a three yard loss rushing. Lovett made them back on the next play, and Dietrich was stopped by Witherspoon on the next before he could cross the line of scrimmage. Dietrich's kick failed to go more than eight yards.

Walker's first gain of four yards was in vain when the Whitefaces were penalized five yards for backfield in motion. Engman made the five back, and Stanton topped it with six more. A Stanton-Brock pass fell incomplete. Then Stanton quick-kicked over the goal line.

Dietrich took the ball from scrimmage on the 20 and went to the 25. Neither he nor Lovett gained on the next two plays, and Dietrich kicked from his own 25.

Engman took the kick, but was hit on the mid-field stripe. Walker leveled out three yards, and Engman accounted for another first down by plowing nine more.

Well away on their second touchdown drive, Stanton made another first down to the Perryton 25. Morton beat his way through for eight. Then Stanton hurled the pass to Walterscheid which carried the Herd into paydirt for the second time. Engman's try for point failed.

Dement kicked off again to Lovett, who went 33 yards to the Perryton 43, fell, and fumbled. Witherspoon recovered.

The first play from scrimmage brought a 15-yard penalty for holding, but on the next, Stanton carried for 28 yards. On their way again, Engman went five more. Then Stanton came through for the necessary 10 and the touchdown. Once more, the point was not made.

Spiraling 55 yards down to the Ranger five-yard line, Dement's kick-off was picked up by Haar and returned 17 yards. Dietrich completed a pass to Haar, but lost two yards rushing. Dietrich gained six, then kicked 55 yards.

Although they were stopped by the end of the half, the Whitefaces were well on their way again. Engman made 10 yards, Stanton's pass to Walker was incomplete. Then Engman made 23 yards as the second period ended.

Third Quarter
 Dietrich kicked at the beginning of the second half. Morton returned the ball five yards. Stanton shot a pass to Brock for 18 yards more. Stanton, Engman and Morton picked up two yards before Engman kicked 40 yards to Houston on the Perryton 10.

Houston returned the kick to the 29, where the Rangers were penalized 15 yards on the next play for illegal use of the hands. Dietrich fumbled, but recovered for a one-yard gain. Lovett failed to gain. Then Dietrich went around right for four before he kicked on the next play to Engman on the 44.

Engman was stopped in his tracks, but Stanton shot a pass to Boyd on the next play, which was good for 15 yards. Engman scrambled 11 yards more to the Perryton 31. Walker lost two yards on the next play, but made it up seconds later with an 11-yard gain. Stanton went through center for a yard.

The Herd was penalized five yards for offsides and thrown for an eight-yard loss besides, and were unable to recover the ground before the ball changed hands.

Dietrich made two yards around left, but the Rangers were penalized 15 yards. A penalty against the Whitefaces brought the ball to the Perryton 18. Lovett began a drive with a plunge through center for 12 yards. Longwell followed up with eight more. A five-yard penalty failed to hamper the Rangers. Longwell made 10 through center.

Lovett was hit a yard behind the line of scrimmage, and Haar made five yards before the quarter ended. Longwell made five more, but the Rangers had bogged down and Dietrich chose to kick.

Summerfield Club Studies Women In Politics

Summerfield Study Club held a meeting Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. D. C. Walser with Mrs. B. E. Roberson as co-hostess.

Roll call was on the subject for the day "Women in Politics". The program dealt with "Women in Washington" with Mrs. L. L. Cannon giving the first discussion. She said in part "Women have had a long hard fight to gain their voting rights and to take their place in politics. Truman's administration has helped by pushing women farther than ever up the political ladder. The party that nominates a woman in the 1952 election will even the election."

Mrs. Cannon also told about some of the women in Washington mentioning: Georgia Neese Clark, treasurer of the U. S., Freda Hancock, a federal communication commissioner, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, one of the nation's statesmen. She told of ex-congresswoman, Clare Boothe Luce, and Mrs. Edith Nourse, congresswoman from Massachusetts and listed Mrs. Roosevelt's rules for women in politics which, she says, have been valuable to her.

Mrs. Lee Curry reviewed "Mrs. Smith Goes to Town", the story of Margaret Chase. Mrs. Curry gave something of her life from high school days to her job as senator. Known as the best dressed woman in Washington, Mrs. Chase always wears dressmaker suits in pastel shades of blue or pink.

As circulation manager for a newspaper and an executive in a woolen mill, Mrs. Chase learned many things which make for success in a man's world. She has followed ten unwritten rules for women in business or politics. They include 1—Be feminine, 2—Don't demand special privileges, 3—Be friendly but not too friendly, 4—Get yourself a no-man, 5—Get on the side with the press, 6—Don't orate, 7—Identify yourself with a dramatic issue, 8—Don't hold grudges, 9—Take care of the home folk, 10—Campaign all of the time.

During the business session the club voted to sponsor the annual Halloween party for the community on Oct. 28 at 7:30 P. M.

Summerfield Study Club held its meeting in the home of Mrs. Stan Barrett Thursday afternoon, Oct. 12, with Mrs. Earl Lance serving as assistant hostess. Mrs. Guy Walser was in charge of the business meeting.

"Pioneer Women" the subject for the afternoon was emphasized by a review of the book "The Peabody Sisters" in which are related happenings of 100 years ago, and the theme for the year, "Women Who Have Achieved" was given accent through the life story of the Peabody Sisters. Mrs. B. E. Roberson was the reviewer.

The book reveals the story of Mary Peabody, a teacher, who like her sister Elizabeth had a sense of humor as well as convictions. The love story of Mary and Horace Mann is poignantly told and Mary's place, well revealed. Perhaps the most appealing of the sisters was Sophia, who became the wife of Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Sophia's temperament, Mary's temperance, Elizabeth's zeal and later political opinions sometimes divided the devoted sisters. Mary went west with Horace Mann to found Antioch College, Sophia went to Italy with Nathaniel Hawthorne and Elizabeth went to Europe, yet always they were themselves; Peabodys from Salem, whose natural element was the cultivated life of Salem, Massachusetts.

Those attending the meeting were Mesdames: L. L. Cannon, Lee Curry, Mack Noland, Earl Gunther, C. R. Walser, Glen Olson, Guy Walser, J. H. Lanford, D. C. Walser, B. E. Roberson, J. B. Noland, and the hostesses.

Every Farmer Has A Stake In BEN GUILL'S Re-election

Every Businessman In A Town That Depends On Agriculture Has A Stake In Ben Guill's Re-election

As A Member Of The Powerful

House Committee On Agriculture

BEN GUILL

Has Fought The Battle For The Panhandle Farmer In Congress

-- For Price Supports:

Farm Supports Are Under Attack!

During the last Congress the farmer came within an ace of having crop supports cut right out from under his feet.

Ben Guill has promised to fight for supports for the farmer—and as a Member of the House Committee on Agriculture he is in the world's best position to help the farmer. (A DEMOCRAT Congressman from the Panhandle would have to wait at least ten years before he could hope for appointment to the Agriculture Committee.)

--Here's What Ben Guill said on the floor of the House

Sept. 22:

"I want to raise my voice in protest against any attempt to eliminate supports . . . The big city dweller thinks it is wicked for the farmer to make money . . . Their whole argument is based on false assumptions . . . The money spent on the farmer by the Commodity Credit Corporation has been the best investment the Government has made in the last 20 years . . . If farm prices had not been supported, farm income would have dropped, national income would have dropped, business would have dropped and a depression would have resulted . . . If we reduce farm incomes drastically, we must look forward to soup lines, foreclosures, misery, poverty and a depression which would make us pushovers for world-communism."

-- Ben Guill Introduced HR 514

Ben Guill introduced HR 514—his bill which would allow the farmer to participate in writing his own farm program. Ben Guill, as a member of the Agriculture Committee, will be able to fight for that law next year.

--Ben Guill Has Won the respect of Congressional Leaders:

On the floor of the House the following Congressmen have given high, public praise to the work that Ben Guill is doing on the powerful House Committee on Agriculture for the farmers of the Panhandle: Chairman HAROLD COOLEY (Democrat of North Carolina) of Agriculture Committee.

BOB POAGE (Democrat, Texas) high ranking member of Agriculture Committee.

AUGUST ANDRESON (Republican, Minnesota) distinguished member of Agriculture Committee.

CLIFFORD HOPE (Republican, Kansas) ranking minority member of Agriculture Committee.

EDWARD H. REES (Republican, Kansas) well-known veteran member of Congress.

BEN GUILL has earned the respect and admiration of members from BOTH sides of the House. He is doing a fine job for the farmers of the Panhandle. Keep him where he can do the most good. Remember—no Democrat Congressman from the Panhandle can hope to get on the Agriculture Committee for ten years at least. BEN GUILL WILL STAY ON THE AGRICULTURE COMMITTEE AS LONG AS HE IS OUR CONGRESSMAN.

McCathern-Heck Vows Are Exchanged

In the First Methodist Church Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Miss Maxie McCathern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. McCathern, became the bride of John Matsy Heck, son of Mrs. Ben Campbell of Cimarron, with the Rev. Don Davidson, pastor, officiating.

Purple and white chrysanthemums in tall baskets and white tapers in seven branched candelabra formed the altar background for the ceremony.

Mrs. W. J. Stanford played a medley of pre-nuptial music at the organ and accompanied a trio consisting of Pat Yonts, Fayrene Greathouse and Dona Lee Roberson, who sang "I Love You Truly". She also accompanied Mrs. C. W. Parker, vocalist, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" in conclusion of the ceremony. The traditional wedding marches were used.

Miss Peggy Messenger of Dimmitt was maid of honor. Her dress was a floor length aqua satin made with deep lace yoke, tight fitting waist and apron effect over the skirt. She wore a shoulder length veil and gauntlet mitts and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

June Heck, sister of the bridegroom, and LaFern McCathern, cousin of the bride, served as bridesmaids. They wore pink dresses made similar to the honor maid's and matching mitts. Their flowers were white chrysanthemums tied with rainbow hued ribbon.

Flower girls were Jenny Lynn McCathern, cousin of the bride, and Patsy Ann Green. They wore aqua and pink taffeta frocks respectively, made like those worn by the bride's other attendants, and scattered rose petals from lace baskets along the bridal aisle. Patrick Parker, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. Candles were lighted by David Heck and Jaudon McCathern. Monroe Parker was best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore traditional white satin made with basque bodice featuring a portrait neckline with beaded medallion trim and long sleeves that came to points at the hands. The long full skirt was accented with a bustle effect at the back waistline and fell into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was edged in lace and was held in place by a braided satin coronet. The bridal bouquet was of Luxenbourg roses surrounded with white chrysanthemums and showered with satin ribbon knotted with white pom-pom chrysanthemums.

The bride's mother wore a brown suit with brown accessories and a corsage of coral gladioli. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a gray suit worn with red accessories. Her flowers were white gladioli.

Reception in Bride's Home

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held in the country home of the bride's parents. The lace-laid table was appointed in silver and crystal with Mrs. E. M. Green presiding at the three-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Monroe Parker served punch. Assisting the hosts were Mrs. Lowrey Walker and Mrs. Floyd Walton. Sr. Carolyn Walker was at the guest register.

When the couple left after the reception on a short wedding trip, the bride was wearing a gray gabardine suit with green and gray accessories. Her label corsage was of coral roses. After a short wedding trip they will make their home in Hereford at 413 E. Third St.

Mrs. Heck attended Hereford Schools and Mr. Heck is a graduate of Cimarron High School. He is employed at Parker Bros. Planing Mill.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included: Mrs. Floyd Walton and daughter Pat of Dawn; Mrs. Wilton Lillard, Borger; Mr. and Mrs. L. M. McCathern and Beva June Lefors; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ferguson and Margaret Ann, Jamie Davis, Pampa; Mrs. J. V. Messenger, Mrs. Elmer Youts and Charlene Campbell, Dimmitt; Elnor Olson, Springer, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Perry, Adrian; Lloyd Anderson, Portales, N. M.; Eva Mae Graham and Tyrone Graham, Mrs. Bobby Wilson, John Albert Wilson, Mrs. Lora Wilson and Joy, Bethany, Okla.; Billy Gates, David Heck, Mrs. Ben Campbell and Bob Kohl-houser, Cimarron, and Frank Rehman, Oklahoma City.

MRS. JOHN THOMAS ESTES, (above) is the former Miss Jay nice Ann Boston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Boston of Hereford. Vows between Mr. Estes and Miss Boston were exchanged Thursday evening at the First Methodist Church in Hereford.

Jaynice A. Boston Becomes Bride Of John T. Estes

An early fall wedding of interest took place Thursday evening in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church when Miss Jaynice Ann Boston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Boston, became the bride of John Thomas Estes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Estes. Vows were exchanged at five o'clock with Rev. Don Davidson reading the impressive single-ring service.

Wayne Evans, organist, played a medley of nuptial selections as a prelude to the wedding and accompanied Mrs. C. J. Mountz who sang "Because" and "A Nuptial Benediction". "Clair De Lune" was played softly during the exchange of vows and the traditional processional and recessional wedding marches were played.

Richard Ireland and Harold Close, Jr., served as the bridegroom's best men and Wayne Phillips and W. L. Davis, Jr., ushers, lighted the candles. The feminine attendants wore identical gowns of winter-green velveteen fashioned with sweetheart neckline with small up-standing collar, short cuffed sleeves and bouffant skirts. They wore Juliet caps of matching velveteen and carried colonial bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She presented a beautiful picture in an original gown of white Skinner satin and Chantilly lace made with a long sleeved fitted waist attached to a midriff of satin covered with lace. A small rolled collar outlined the V neckline and a scalloped lace overskirt fell over the full satin skirt. Her veil of illusion was attached to a satin and lace cloche embellished with silver beads and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white Briarcliff roses arranged with maline tufts and stephanotis.

The tradition of wearing something old, new, borrowed and blue was carried out and she wore a penny in her slipper for luck. The bride's mother wore a dress of navy crepe and satin (Continued on page six)

Guests were welcomed by Mrs. David Rodgers, president, and piano selections were presented by Pat Walton. Mrs. Walter Galley entertained with a reading. Mrs. Baker Wombie gave a short history of the club which had its beginning as a health club. After a year it became a Home Demonstration Club and in 1934 it was reorganized as The Dawn Study Club. Mrs. A. T. Frye was the first president and there were 16 charter members. Highlight of the program was an informal reminiscent feature when past presidents recalled highlights of her term of office. Included were welfare work, local school projects, parties, picnics, annual husbands entertainments and many other community projects. Charter members of the club were Mesdames A. T. Frye, E. V. Holman, W. J. Stewart, W. A. May, H. E. Miller, Adolph Frye, Joe Greer, and Lester Galley. Past presidents include Mesdames A. T. Frye, E. V. Holman, (Continued on page eight)

Bobby Nell Pitman And Ted Hardwick Vows Said

The First Presbyterian Church was the scene Sunday afternoon at two o'clock for the marriage of Miss Bobby Nell Pitman, daughter of Mrs. F. N. Pittman, and Theodore Saunders Hardwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Hardwick.

The church was effectively decorated for the service with wrought iron candelabra garlanded with lace fern holding cathedral tapers illuminating the background. Baskets filled with white chrysanthemums and tied with white satin ribbon graced the altar before which the couple stood for the double-ring ceremony. The main aisle was marked by white satin bows for within-the-ribbon guests. Rev. Russell Wingert, pastor, officiated.

Wayne Evans, organist, played a prelude of bridal music and the accompaniment for Carl Sundeen who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer". Mr. Evans also played the traditional wedding marches. Ushers were Oliver Streu, Keith Hutson, Harold Loerwald and Leo Hellman who also served as candle-lighters. Bill Hardwick of Clovis, N. M., served his brother as best man.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Betty Smith who wore an aqua chantilly-lace, with silvery thread, dress made two-piece featuring a short peplum. She wore a flower-trimmed maline band in her hair matching her crescent-shaped bouquet of pink figi mums and loops of pink velvet ribbon.

Bride Wears Chantilly Lace

Escorted to the altar by Ervin Ward, a friend of the family, the bride wore a gown of bridal-white chantilly lace over satin modeled with strapless bodice and full ballerina length skirt. White satin edged the three-quarter length sleeves and formed the Peter Pan collar of the lace over jacket which was fastened in the front with tiny satin covered buttons. Her shoulder length veil of nylon net was fastened to a satin cloche by tufts of net encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a white satin Bible topped with a white orchid from which show-

Dawn Study Club Anniversary Is Celebrated With Birthday Tea

Dawn Study Club celebrated its twentieth anniversary at a birthday-tea given in the home of Mrs. A. T. Frye Tuesday afternoon.

A yellow and white theme marked decorations and appointments with the tea-table, which was laid with a cut-work linen cloth, revealing the birthday story. A large yellow satin "20" surrounded by a mass of yellow and white chrysanthemums, formed the center attraction flanked by lighted yellow tapers. Mrs. Gayle Neal presided.

Guests were welcomed by Mrs. David Rodgers, president, and piano selections were presented by Pat Walton. Mrs. Walter Galley entertained with a reading. Mrs. Baker Wombie gave a short history of the club which had its beginning as a

FRIO NEWS

Grain Harvest Underway Testing Well And Dry.

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS Grain harvest in this community is reported really getting underway now, and some of it is reported testing well and dry for the season.

Part of the grain is late and will not be ready to harvest until after frost. Lettuce trucks are keeping the road very busy these days, too.

The roads are as dusty now from all the truck traffic as they were muddy from all the rain a short time ago.

Ronnie Andrews had the mumps last week but got along very well with them.

Approximately 200 people were present Sunday for the Brown-Singer wedding which took place immediately after church services. A total of 110 persons were counted in Sunday School and several others attending church services. Several out-of-the-community visitors were present for both services. A complete story of the wedding will be printed soon.

There will be a box supper at Frio Saturday night, Oct. 21st, and a short program. The program will be about and in keeping with the United Nations Day observance. Everyone is invited to attend.

The proceeds will be used to pay for the recently installed seats in the Frio community building. The seats were enameled and the floors sanded and finished last week. More work in the Sunday School rooms is being planned for the near future.

The next Home Demonstration club meeting will be on October 26th at the home of Mrs. C. N. McClure.

Mrs. Draper is scheduled to be present and the program will concern textile painting. Roll-call will be answered with an exhibit of handcraft done by the members.

Regular church and missionary meetings were held last Wednesday night. The W.M.S. had Mesdames Gleaves-Owens, Art Manjeot and Gerald Wilson all of the First Baptist church in Hereford, present a program. It was enjoyed and appreciated by all the women.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Roberts and children of Wellington visited Mr. Roberts' sister, Mrs. Robert Simpson and family, Saturday night and Sunday.

Sunday night a week ago Mrs. Simpson's parents, the C. E. Roberts of Wellington, spent the night in the Simpson home and returned home on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Simpson and baby have been visiting his grandparents and taking a vacation in California the past two weeks. They were in the vicinity of San Bernardino part of the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Simpson and children were Sunday visitors in the home of Mrs. Simpson's parents, the D. O. Bensons. Others taking Sunday dinner there were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brooks and Mrs. McClennen, who is visiting her daughters, Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Benson, here.

Elbert Higgins of Amarillo visited with W. J. Dickson and Mrs. W. C. Lowery Sunday afternoon. Dinner guests were Mrs. Clarence Smith and children.

for safe keeping and in case a second will was made to destroy the first.

Mrs. Roberson told of several odd wills including that of the man who willed a half million dollars to the Canadian woman who had borne the most children in a ten year period.

A round table discussion of wills in the form of questions and answers followed the program. Roll call was answered by members telling of interesting wills they knew about.

Those present were Mesdames: Altus Higgins, Bill

Jones, Boyd Knox, Phil Radovich, Wiley Roberson, Sanford Smith, Robert Wagoner, Jim Whelen and the hostess.

SUMMERFIELD NEWS

Sioux Indian Missionary, Speaks At Summerfield

By BOBBIE WALSER
George Wilson, a Sioux Indian missionary of New Mexico, spoke in the Summerfield Baptist Church Thursday evening, October 12. He told of how he and Mrs. Wilson went to the Indian's homes on the reservation. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson fed from 25 to 100 Indians daily at their table.
Mr. Wilson was the first Indian missionary to be ordained in Mexico. One more has been ordained since then. He stated the Indians in Mexico are eager to learn about Jesus, but certain of their reservation laws do not give them complete religious freedom.
From 75 to 100 people enjoyed the two Indian songs and the other songs Mr. Wilson sang. Part of the people were from the Avenue Baptist Church in Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Noland and family of Amarillo visited relatives here Sunday.
Mrs. Ray Johnson conducted the installation of new officers of the Jolly-Teen Horizon Club Friday night.
Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Simons entertained the young people of the Summerfield Baptist Church recently. Various games were played and refreshments were served to Paul Lance, Bo Morse, Dorothy and Charlene

Lee, and Don Clark.
Don and Charlie Russell, Larry Cannon, Joe Streun, and Wayne Walser attended the F.F.A. hayride Friday, October 13.
The W. M. U. met Tuesday afternoon at the church for their regular meeting. Mrs. A. A. Simons was in charge of the program.
The W. M. U. closed its week of prayer Wednesday evening with a short pageant. Those taking part were Mesdames Earl Lance, Carl Lee, J. B. Nolan, Pat Patrick, and Glenn Walser, and Misses Dorothy Lee, Gloria Walser, and Bobbie Walser.
Ann Lance was honored with a birthday party Sunday.
Some farmers are now cutting feed. Others will have to have lots of sunshine and dry wind to dry and ripen the grain.
Attending church Sunday morning were 55, and attending Sunday evening were 50. Everyone enjoyed the song services.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Councilman entertained friends from Conway, Hereford, and Amarillo with dinner Sunday.

BIRTHDAY DINNER
Among the guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Brumley Sunday were two from out of town, Calvin Brumley, editor of the Tulla Herald, and Miss Margie Browning of Amarillo. The occasion honored Britch Hopson, son-in-law of the Brumley's, on his birthday.
Mrs. C. I. Rudd left Thursday evening for Houston where she will visit indefinitely in the home of her son, Rev. Leo Rudd. While there she will be under a doctor's care.

Letters
took place in the book before publication. The deletion in the magazine does not happen in the book, but O'Hara says it neither adds to nor detracts from the book but he thinks some of the other work done did help.
One of the most significant things which we have noticed about the book in the Deaf Smith County Library is that readers are calling for his older books thus reviving some of his better works.
Among those being asked for by this author are "Farewell to Arms", "For Whom the Bell Tolls", and "To Have and to Have Not", all of which are in the library, according to Mrs. Boydston, librarian.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S SPEECH

Reading Between Lines

"We hate war, but we love our liberties." This phrase was the keynote of President Truman's address Tuesday evening when he definitely outlined U. S. policies in a worldwide broadcast. Furthermore, despite political preference or opinions, most Americans will agree that President Truman did actually speak the minds of the people when he made his talk, which also laid down a warning for future aggression on the part of Soviet Russia. To say the least, he certainly put into words the feelings of most people in Deaf Smith County and of the Texas Panhandle.

Sometimes forgetting diplomacy, the President frankly told Russia that the United States had no wish or desire for military might or for territorial expansion, but declared that this country is becoming more prepared each day to defend democracy on this continent, and on other continents.

In addition to declaration of national policies, along with a warning to Russia, the President's speech indicates other things of which the public may well take notice.

First, his words promised an even larger armed force, equipped with necessary materials. This means more men will be called and drafted; furthermore, it indicates even greater scarcities in raw materials and manufactured merchandise.

Second, and the President actually touched on this item, it means higher taxes, especially income taxes. Creating and maintaining a large armed force is expensive and, although barely mentioned in the talk, this situation will be reflected in profits and pay envelopes over the entire nation. This factor can, also, be cited as probably the most dangerous policy outlined in the entire program and, furthermore, one which cannot be avoided. The same people who will stand knee-deep in blood and fight for freedom cannot, somehow, be content to give up their pay and profits for the same cause—the idea just does not fit in with American thinking.

Third, and equally important, President Truman outlined a policy of continued prosperity for the United States. His words were: "better education, fair wages, better living conditions, more opportunities for business and better lives for our farmers." These phrases can mean but one thing: continued inflation on an even greater scale. This, in view of present government indebtedness, is almost essential and, to many alert business men, will serve as a "go ahead" signal on the basis of higher costs, higher labor and higher retail prices.

As a nation, the United States has little choice. Protection of freedom must be maintained—at any cost. Economic conditions although secondary, are also important but here again, there seems little choice. Maintaining a huge military program does not go with low incomes and low taxes. It is, however, vitally important in operation of any household or business to know general policies of the nation.

These have unquestionably been presented: the United States will be alerted on a war-time basis until further notice. Furthermore, we know where we stand and what to expect. We like it this way. It is the American way.

Medical Draft

A seven-member National Advisory Committee on the Selection of Doctors, Dentists and Allied Specialists, has been appointed by President Truman, who thus moves a step closer to the draft of medical personnel for the armed forces.

The President is expected to issue an executive order, implementing the draft and 45 days afterwards, the first draft of medical personnel will begin. At present, it is planned to call those who benefitted by Army and Navy training programs during the recent war and who were deferred from active service to complete their professional education without serving actively 90 days or more in Army, Navy or Marine Corps.

The next category to be called will be those who enjoyed similar educational deferments but served between 90 days and 21 months. Two other categories follow, divided according to time served in the armed forces after September 16, 1940. In all categories, the upper age limit is 50 years.

Meanwhile, Dr. Howard R. Rusk, associate-editor of The New York Times, and chairman of the Advisory Committee, warns those who will be first to be called to make their arrangements to volunteer, saying that if they do not they will be inducted as "privates and subject to a period of scrubbing floors before they can practice their profession."

This warning, we believe, can be taken with considerable salt. It would certainly be silly, in our opinion, for the Government, badly in need of trained medical personnel, to induct qualified men and give them a period of "scrubbing floors." This would be absurd.

Supplementing this information is the recommendation of Major-General Louis B. Hershey, National Selective Service Director, that October 16th be the date for draft registration of the first priority category of doctors, dentists and veterinarians. The Army, in its specialized program, enrolled about 20,000 persons and the Navy about 11,000. Of these, the two services estimate that more than 18,000 are in service now and Pentagon officials estimate that those still available for registration in the first priority number about 3,000.

Rural Traffic

Rural traffic fatalities are twice as great as those in urban areas, declares Major-General Philip B. Fleming, Under-Secretary of Commerce, who says that increases in highway accidents could become a serious impediment to national defense.

There is no doubt, of course, of the importance of the trucking industry in the event that the nation is attacked. Obviously, it is a flexible means of transportation which can detour obstacles and shift rapidly from one area to another.

We presume that the speaker has his statistics when he asserts that rural traffic fatalities are twice as great as those in urban areas. This may well be true because of the high speeds that motorists and truck drivers in rural areas attain. Speeds in urban areas are naturally slower and, consequently, there is less likelihood of a fatality even if there is an accident.

Toward Statism

George Ericson, an editor of the Christian Science Monitor, recently discussed the conflict between public and private electric power development. In conclusion, he wrote: "The remedy... would appear to be some general agreement as to the proper domain for each. The primary consideration might well embrace the principle that there should be a definite end to the expansion of government competition with private capital. Embodied in a comprehensive legislative enactment, the domain for the government could be the development of water resources for flood control, irrigation, and navigation aids, while the resultant power, generation, and transmission could be left to private enterprise. This would reduce government spending and lessen the trend toward statism."

It is difficult to see how any reasonable man could object to that. It would save the taxpayers huge sums of money. It would stop the wasteful and needless duplication of facilities. By encouraging the utility industry, it would guarantee the maximum possible development of power-producing properties of all kinds. It would create great new areas of taxation for all forms of government—instead of eating our taxes, as do the tax-exempt government plants and systems.

Even so, this idea will be fought to the limit by many men high in the government. The reason for that is plain. Their primary goal is not the swiftest and most economical and efficient production of power. It is, to the contrary, socialization of the industry, lock, stock and barrel. For, once the politicians control the nation's electric power, they will be in a position to control all agriculture and all industry.

The trend toward statism of which Mr. Ericson spoke has reached ominous proportions. One of the biggest jobs the American people now face is to stop it.

THE Washington Merry-Go-Round

Secret Tax Conference

THE 81st CONGRESS, despite much constructive legislation, will probably be known as the congress which increased the working-man's taxes by as much as 20 per cent while refusing to tax the war profits of big corporations.

The most important debate on this was not in public but in the closed-door session of the senate and house conferees where house members battled savagely to gain a few concessions for little taxpayers. One of the battlers was Democratic Congressman John Dingell of Detroit who at one point demanded:

"While we are making all these concessions to upper-bracket taxpayers and war profiteers, we should at least repeal some of the excise taxes on working people."

"Instead of plugging loopholes that benefit the oil industry and stock-market speculators, you are making the loopholes bigger and more of them," Dingell angrily chided the senators. "As long as you are in the mood to throw away money, why not make some concessions to the working girl and man with four or five kids?"

However, the Michigan Democrat's demands that the excise on baby powder and oil, etc., be lifted fell on deaf ears. Finally, Dingell turned to GOP Sen. Eugene Millikin of Colorado, a staunch defender of tax benefits to big bracketeers, and half jokingly asserted:

"Gene, if you don't support me on this—woe to you when you go back to Colorado to campaign this year."

Millikin chuckled, but said nothing.

Gen. Bradley Rebuffed

Dingell then hurled into the teeth of the senators a letter Gen. Omar Bradley had written congress, urging that the excise tax on G.I. watches be repealed.

"I want to see how much faith you have in General Bradley—how much weight his letter carries," the Michiganander challenged. "How about it?"

This time Millikin didn't laugh. Neither did granite-faced Sen. Walter George of Georgia and the other architects of the bill that exempts war profiteers. The senators sat mum and defiant.

There was another bitter blow-up over the proposed withholding tax on stock dividends. This was aimed to capture an estimated 100 to 170 million dollars which Uncle Sam loses each year because stockholders fail to report dividends in income-tax returns.

Again the senators held back, though house conferees Bob Doughton of North Carolina, Joe Cooper of Tennessee, Wilbur Mills of Arkansas and Dingell strongly supported the withholding tax on dividends. George, who consistently battled for the top-bracket taxpayers in every other phase of the bill, made the amazing argument that the dividend clause would discriminate against "poor widows."

"The government doesn't withhold taxes on wages under $500 a year," sermonized the Georgian. "Why tax the dividends of widows and people of moderate circumstances, which in many cases amount to less than $500 a year?"

"That argument doesn't hold water," bit back Dingell. "The object of this amendment is not to hurt women of small incomes, but to compel the reporting in income returns of about a billion dollars a year in dividends that escape taxation. Failure to report these dividends is a violation of the law."

"Furthermore, despite what you say, working people with wages under $500 a year sometimes are taxed. A Detroit auto worker may work only one week in a year, but a portion of that week's wages is nonetheless withheld by the government."

GOP Rep. Dan Reed of Dunkirk, N. Y., sided with the senators, however, and the big-bracket taxpayers had a majority.

Note—Other senate tax conferees were Byrd of Virginia and Connally of Texas, Democrats; and Butler of Nebraska, Republican. Of them, only Senator Connally fought for the little taxpayer.

V.F.W. Combats Communism

Congressional witch-hunters who smear innocent people could take a lesson from an "American way" campaign which the Veterans of Foreign Wars has launched against communism. The V.F.W. campaign stresses "community service" to combat conditions on which foreign "isms" thrive—poverty, unemployment, illiteracy.

As the V.F.W.'s new commander, Charles C. Ralls of Seattle, explained to President Truman the other day: "The best way to kick communism is to get at the roots that propagate it. And those roots are chiefly poverty and ignorance. If we see to it that there are no hungry children or impoverished families in this country, we don't have to worry too much about communism."

"That's the proper approach," agreed Truman. "Communism is a state of mind that is aggravated by bad economic conditions."

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm at Bootleg is demonstrating his knack for finding a faster way of doing things. His letter this week reveals:

Dear editor:

I was out here yesterday watching autumn unfold, this is the time of year when a man's energies is supposed to start surging up and he's supposed to make the chips fly, but I learned long ago to enjoy the seasons without being victimized by em, a thinkin man ought to be able to think in the fall the same as the winter, and I was down that yesterday when a copy of a newspaper floated down out of the air on a gust of wind, thought at first it was only leaves fallin but there's a difference if you know how to detect it and since it fell in arm's length of where I was sittin I picked it up and read where scientists are showin some improvement.

Accordin to this article, in between their main job of workin on something to destroy more and more humans scientists are now workin on the idea of spreadin diseases among crop pests and sittin back and lettin them do the work.

This is what I call progress.

For years people have been goin on the assumption man w's made to fight insects, and it was all a farmer could do to fight off the pests as fast as scientists discovered new ones. But out in California scientists are sprayin fields with disease germs which go to work on crop pests, and I'm here to tell you they're gettin on the right track. What agriculture needs is a whole series of germs designed to attack all the pests which have been botherin farmers for years.

As the thing progresses, I think some method ought to be worked out where the germs will spread themselves over a crop, might as well spreadin poison like we do now as germs if I have to do the work, and all a farmer would have to do would be to write Washington for a package of say trained boll worm germs or corn borer germs or anti-smut germs, etc., and open up the package when it arrived and let em go to work. Be the finest thing that ever happened to farmin, outside of government checks.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Hemingway's New Book Publicized But Not Best

By CORINNE JENNINGS

Across the River and Into the Trees, by Ernest Hemingway bids to be one of the most publicized and criticized books of 1950 but that does not mean it will be the most popular. The fame of the author brings it to the front but many will find that it does not measure up to some of his past novels.

It is a man's book about a man who seems to be more or less copied after the author himself though it is claimed not to be biographical. But it does have a great deal of the same background and experiences of the author. All the time one is reading the thoughts, the expression of ideas and the rugged philosophy of the main character, Col. Richard Cantwell, one feels that he is reading about Hemingway, the man.

After reading the book we drew our own conclusions then checked them against those of well known critics and find that we agree with Malcolm Cowley, poet and critic, who offered us the following criticisms:

The cause for the failure of his marriage which he keeps all right for her, but the reader is supposed to have this information, so it chapters in omitting it that a chapter has been left out of the book.

The heroine, Renata, an Italian countess, is not a very strong character to have the place that she does in the story. And in trying to recall her life she seems no more outstanding than a number of others with lesser parts in the novel.

One misses the excitement and adventure of his earlier books and that may be the reason his readers are disappointed with his new work. And in this case they will have to wait for his bigger book on which he is now working and which was postponed because of a serious illness. It was this that decided him to write his present smaller one and another reason one feels he is reading about Hemingway in illness and death of the colonel of the story.

There are many things of interest and his fine writing style will give the book a place on the shelf along with the others. Outstanding is the hunting scene which men who love sports, especially hunting, will enjoy.

John O'Hara, a well known writer with an outstanding novel to his credit this year gives Hemingway's new book one of the best reviews and one can understand why in that they both write in much of the same vigorous manner.

Those who read it in serialized form in the Cosmopolitan may be interested in knowing that a great deal of revision (Continued on page four)

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION

Hereford Citizens Believe Tidelands Belong To Texas

Do you think the recent Supreme Court decision to deprive Texas of her rights to the tidelands was a just ruling, or that it wronged our state?

Mrs. John McCleskey: I really think the tidelands belong to the State of Texas, and I think the Supreme Court erred by making the ruling they did.

Ray McCullough: I believe it would be definitely wrong to deprive Texas of her tidelands, if the United States made a promise when Texas annexed, I believe they should stand by it—not break it.

Mrs. J. H. Lomas: I think if they are entitled to it, they should have it.

Cliff Best: Of course, we receive lots of benefits from the tidelands, but since the United States owns those on other coastal states, there is a question whether or not Texas would be entitled to those in the Gulf. Personally, I would like to see Texas win the case.

Mrs. Thelma Link: Being a Texan, I should think we are entitled to the tidelands, I suppose if I lived in some other state my opinion would be different.

Joe Smith: If the U. S. granted Texas the tidelands in the beginning, I think they should stay with their agreement. They gave us our public lands and haven't yet tried to take that away from us.

'Tater Peelin's

By Roberto Campbell

All a feller would have to do last week would be to drive around section 89 to get a fair sample of the different crops bein' harvested in Deaf Smith County this fall:

On the George and Edward Paetzold farms lettuce and sugar beets were the order of the day while Grant Hanna tuned up his new corn picker in William (Sanny) Pittner's corn patch and down on the Huges corner and in our own field combines were talkin' as they shelled out maize. When John Robinson, Jim Robinson, Uncle Phil Arthur and George Pierce sat on this section just around the corner this side of 1907 their crops were principally sorghum and the Robinson's even wove their own wire to fence with, some of which still separates the two places near the lake.

When Jim Robinson tries to sell you on an irrigation pump don't think he doesn't know what he's talkin' about either because on this same section one of the first irrigation wells went into operation powered by a Bessimer engine which some old timers interpreted as sayin' "one dimel one dime" while others were sure it said, "Gimme a quart," every time it turned over.

When harvestin' is over we may need to stage a round up and bring in our guineas. They are the one kind of poultry we raise that doesn't come in for a handout and since they steal their nests out and the little ones are ready to travel by the time they have kicked off the last piece of shell; it's hard to get a count on them.

Wonder what Stalin' has up his sleeve now with all this talk about outlawin' the Atom bomb.

Louisa's Letter

Dear Louisa:

I am a boy of sixteen and I have the naggingest family in the world. They nag if I sleep late, if I take the car, if I leave my clothes on the floor or if I eat anything out of the ice box. And yet they are always asking me to do errands.

As a matter of fact, I hardly ever do anything they ask me to do if I can get out of it, because they are such an ungrateful lot. If I ever get a job, I am going off somewhere where people appreciate me.

DISGUSTED SON,
Virginia.

Answer:

My dear, you have drawn such a perfect picture of yourself in this letter that I'm sure you will have to change a lot before you will be appreciated by anyone.

Do you wonder that you have to be corrected if, at the age of sixteen, you do nothing but loaf around the house causing lots of unnecessary work for others by your careless ways and then not even trying to make up for it by doing little jobs in return?

All boys and girls go through this "put upon" period, but you will find a lot more happiness if you will take the chip off your shoulder, and try to see how nice and obliging you can be to the rest of the family.

Then you will at least have the pleasure of knowing that when you come in, every one is glad to have you instead of sighing and thinking, "Here comes more work and ill humor."

Try to be careful and helpful and see how much happier you will be.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I keep house for my daughter and me. We have a small apartment and she has a job which gets her home about six in the afternoon. Don't you think she should help with the housework? We are dependent on what she makes, so we cannot afford a maid. She resents it when I ask her to do anything around the house.

MOTHER.

Answer:

Keeping a small apartment for two people is probably not as much work as she does. You admit that she supports you on what she makes and I think it is only fair for you to earn your living by doing your part.

Why is it that mothers never expect their sons who have jobs to come in from work and start into house cleaning, but just because another wage earner in the family happens to wear a skirt, they feel wronged because she doesn't pick up a broom or a dish cloth the minute she enters the door?

Unless she just wants to help or you get sick, I do not think your daughter should be expected to work at home and abroad.

LOUISA.

Plan a KILOWATT KITCHEN

Living in a modern Kilowatt Kitchen — and what woman doesn't live in her kitchen — is living in a world-of-ease compared with the old-fashioned cooking rooms. Modern electric kitchens are cool, clean and comfortable. Electric labor-saving appliances do most of the work. On the electric range are push buttons or dials which you merely set and forget. In fact, things cooked, baked, or broiled need no watching whatsoever. Food waste goes literally down the drain when an electric disposall does the job minus fuss or muss. Good food is kept good in a dependable electric refrigerator. And your home freezer has a plentiful supply of "out of season" delicacies on hand. Then there's the electric water heater which supplies plenty of germ-killing water, while the electric dishwasher uncomplainingly washes and dries dishes into sparkling cleanliness. Start planning today for your all-electric Kilowatt Kitchen.

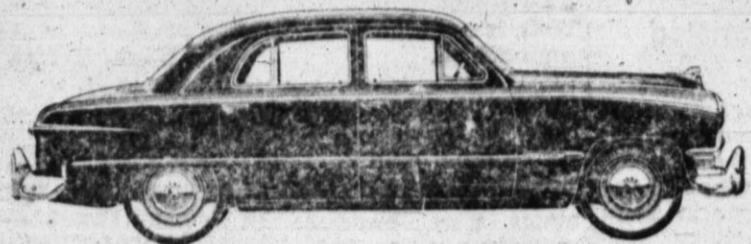

A MODERN ALL-ELECTRIC KITCHEN IS BUILT AROUND:

- AN ELECTRIC RANGE
- AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR
- AN ELECTRIC DISHWASHER
- AN ELECTRIC DISPOSALL
- AN ELECTRIC WATER HEATER

Stories about traffic accidents and the heavy highway toll, especially during holiday weekends, are so widely publicized that the average person doesn't consider the important role which automobiles and trucks play in the safety of the individual and the public.

The nation's automobile dealers are working constantly to help reduce the traffic toll through encouraging good driving practices and the maintenance of automobiles in safe operating condition at all times through periodic inspection for safety. But, it's unfair to consider only the traffic toll and ignore the valuable contributions which motor vehicles are making constantly to public safety.

ATTENTION Special Announcement

To give Hereford a more desirable service, beginning Thursday, October 19th, the Star Theatre will open at 1:15 and start the show at 1:30. This is so mothers can come to the matinee and be out before school is out at 3:45. It is also for waitresses, chefs, telephone operators, or any one starting to work at 4:00 or 5:00 o'clock; they can see a complete show before starting to work.
AFTERNOON ADMISSION—40c including Federal tax.

It's not often that, I say here is a movie you will like—"TWO FLAGS WEST" is so new and is without a lot of nationwide advertising. I feel that you should see it.

This is in keeping with our policy of bringing HEREFORD—MORE new pictures; that is, movies closer to release date than any town of even twice its size—anyplace.

Wm. F. HARDWICK.

Whites Visit In Okla. And Tennessee

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. White have just returned from a business and pleasure trip to Luray, Tenn., and Oklahoma City.

In Tennessee they visited an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Sumner, and a cousin, Ethel Sumner.

Mr. and Mrs. White were enthusiastic about the trip, admitting that they would like to go back. They saw a lot of pretty country, and especially mentioned the beautiful pines and the rice standing in water.

Prince Valiant

IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
BY HAROLD R. FOSTER

Synopsis: PRINCE VALIANT AND HIS FRIENDS LEAVE THE COMPLETELY TAMED KING DUMDRIBILE AND RIDE ACROSS THE KINGDOM. AT THE BORDER IS ANOTHER SMALL FORT WITH ITS GARRISON OF SOLDIER-BANDITS.

THE SOLDIERS HAVE HEARD OF THESE BOISTEROUS KNIGHTS FROM THE NORTH. THEY DO NOT KNOW THEIR KING HAS GIVEN UP HIS EVIL WAYS.

"NOW THAT KING DUMDRIBILE HAS CHANGED HIS WAYS, THESE THIEVING RASCALS WILL HAVE TO GO TO WORK," SAYS VAL. "SO EGIL AND RUFUS, RUN THEM INTO THE HILLS WHILE ARF AND I SET FIRE TO THEIR NEST."

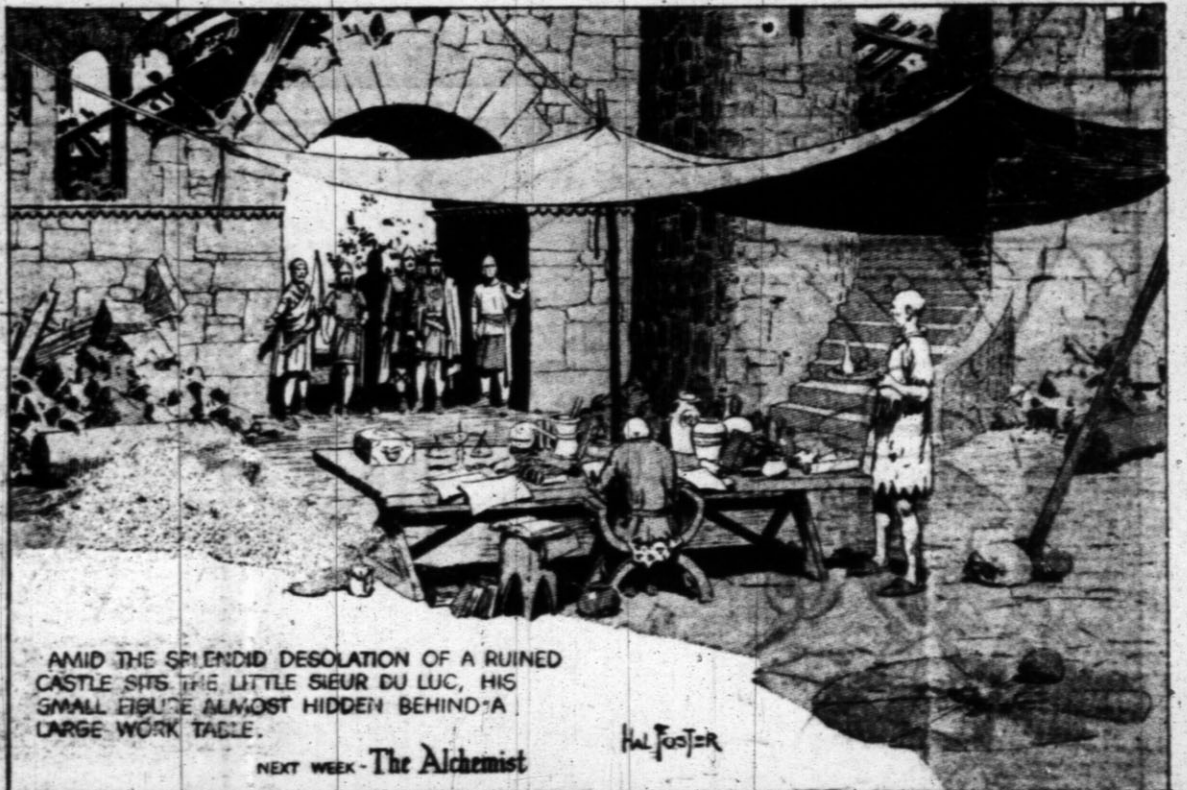

A FEW MILES FURTHER ON TWO STALWART YEOMEN GREET THEM: "BY YONDER DEED YOU HAVE CLEANED OUT A FOUL PLACE, AND WE WILL NO LONGER HAVE TO GUARD OUR BORDER."

"WHAT!" EXCLAIMS VAL, "YOU TWO HELD THE BORDER AGAINST TWO SCORE OF RASCALS?"
"OH, EASILY! THEY ARE ONLY MANGY SERFS BUT WE ARE FREE MEN!" THEY ANSWER PROUDLY.

"THE SIEUR DU LUC HAS GIVEN ALL HIS MEN OWNERSHIP OF LAND AND A VOICE IN GOVERNMENT. COME, SIRS, YOU MUST VISIT HIM!"
