C-C Director Ballots Mailed

Ballots to elect four new board members for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce were placed in the mail Wednesday, Oct. 22, according to manager Bill Lenderman. All members of the C of C are eligible to vote in the annual election.

Two directors from the town group and two from the farm group will be elected to serve two-year terms.

The nominating committee included two members from the current board, one from the business group and one from the farm group. These were Monk Johnson and Mike Baird. The committee was completed with two persons from the general membership, one from business and one from the rural area. These were Pic Harmon and Robert Viegel. Harmon was named chairman of the nominating committee.

After interviews, the nominating committee announced the following slate: Representing the business group, are Les Combs, Gene Moore, Curt Roach and Johnny Sims. Representing the farm group are Earl Cole, Bill Dameron, Luther Lesly and Palmer Norton. There is also space on the ballot for write-in votes.

The two men in each group receiving the largest number of votes will be named directors to serve during 1959 and 1960.

Ballots must be returned to the Deaf Smith County C of C office no later than Saturday, Nov. 1. The nominating committee will meet on Monday, Nov. 3, to canvass the ballots and announce the results.

Annual Fall Mall Saturday

Bands, Barbecue And Autos Star

It's part circus, part carnival, part fair and all fun! Hereford's annual Fall Mall Saturday, Oct. 25, will be all those things and more.

Sponsored by the merchants of Hereford, through the efforts of the merchants' committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, the Mall will get underway for an all-day session early Saturday morning.

Joint Efforts Used To Arrest Two Men Sunday

The combined effort of the Hereford City Police, Highway Patrol and the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department overpowered two arrest-resisting Latin Americans Sunday afternoon.

Fined in Corporation Court Monday morning were C. R. Cordero, 32, 202 George, charged for interfering with the duties of a police officer and using profane language, and Juan Cordero, 26, of the same address, charged for leaving the scene of an accident and resisting a legal arrest. Each was assessed a fine of $150.

Their arrest was the result of an automobile accident at 2:15 p.m. Sunday at the intersection of Highway 60 and Park Ave.

Juan Cordero was charged for leaving the scene of an accident after hitting automobiles owned by Foster Allen Blanton, 66, Amarillo, and Richard Carlos Anderson, 43, 224 Ave. E. Damage to the Blanton car was estimated at $400, and to the Anderson car, $200.

Patrolman Gene Martin, investigating officer, went to the Cordero home at 202 George after investigating the accident. There, he was greeted by the brothers, who, Martin said, shouted profane language at him from the front yard of their home.

Martin said that he went to his patrol car and called for an arrest warrant. As other officers, including Highway Patrolman Kenneth Maxwell, Deputy Sheriff L. R. Cherryhomes, and patrolmen Arthur Findt and Leon Atcheley, approached the scene, the brothers locked themselves in their home.

Martin said it was necessary to force entry to the house, and on opening the door, the brothers warded off the officers with their feet and hands.

The men were placed in City Jail after arrest and appeared in Corporation Court Monday morning.

There will be events for all ages, centered around the downtown area. Main Street will be blocked off from Second to Fourth for the huge event.

Primary attraction of the Fall Mall is the annual showing of mint-new automobiles, which will be arranged along the two-block area with lots of room for spectators. Seven dealers are participating and, although new models are in short supply right now, plan to have complete displays.

New cars will highlight the Mall, but there will be many other activities during the day. First scheduled event will be a downtown concert, at the intersection of Third and Main, by Hereford High School's Big Domino Band at 10 a.m.

A big barbecue will be sponsored by the Hereford Rotary Club in the old Furr Food building on West Third. Tickets will be on sale at the door or may be purchased in advance from Rotarians. Proceeds from the barbecue will be used to defray costs of the annual Rotary Club Junior Calf Show in January. Serving hours will be from 11 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

At 2 p.m., the Amarillo Air Force Band will present a downtown concert and at 3 p.m., a championship trampoline act from Amarillo will be presented in a single performance. Both of these afternoon attractions will be at Third and Main.

Free Cokes will be given to Mall-goers from 1 to 3 p.m.

In addition to all of the other events, participating Hereford merchants will have special added attractions for the expected crowd. There will be prizes, contests, live window models and many other special features for the day-long show.

New 1959 automobiles which are slated to be on display all day include: Buick, Osborn Buick Co.; Chevrolet and Oldsmobile, Orsborn-Norwood; Plymouth; Chrysler and Imperial, McCullough Motor Co.; Ford, Charlie Seeds Motor Co.; Plymouth and Dodge, Hale Motors; Pontiac, Campbell Pontiac; and DeSoto and Plymouth, Warren Bros.

Harvest About 75% Complete

With a frost threatening the Hereford area Wednesday morning, growers reported that the maize harvest is again at a normal pace. Some believe that from 60 to 75 per cent of the harvest has already been completed.

Cotton grower reported that the labor shortage has improved this week. Pat Patterson, State Employment representative, said that the area is still short of field workers. He estimated that the shortage includes about 100 cotton pullers. A few weeks ago, however, cotton growers needed approximately 300 cotton pullers.

With relatively high temperatures the first of the week, the mercury in thermometers dropped to 38 degrees Wednesday morning.

Elevator operators reported moisture content of maize to be "very good", in a range of 11 to 13 per cent.

Gin operators, with their fingers crossed for more cotton pullers, reported a relatively good run of cotton coming into gins this week. Most of the cotton is of the open-boll type, and they report that the quality has been very good.

Operators report that most of the maize in this area is ripe, but the moisture content in some fields is still a little too high for harvest. Many farmers are awaiting the season's first frost before harvest.

"THAT'S MINE"—Francis Hardwick, president of the Hereford Rotary Club, and "Monk" Johnson seem to be putting their dibs on the cuts of beef they will eat at the Rotary Club Barbecue, to be held in the old Furr Food building Saturday night during Hereford's Fall Mall. The barbecue will be prepared by Hopson Meat Co. (Staff Photo)

FRYE, SEEDS ON AIRPORT ZONING BOARD

Commission Hears Report On City's Water System

The appointment of two members to the County City Joint Airport Zoning Board and an up-to-date report of the municipal water system in Hereford by City Manager Dudley Bayne highlighted the meeting of the Hereford City Commission Monday evening.

Also, the commission approved the leasing of a building at Third and Miles for the housing of city fire equipment.

Ray Frye and Charlie Seeds were appointed members of the County-City Joint Airport Zoning Board.

Bayne read a recommended ordinance, prepared by Civil Aeronautics Administration, which stated that a board must be appointed for zoning the area at the location of the Hereford Municipal Airport.

By provisions of the ordinance, the City Commission must appoint two members to the board and Commissioners Court

Capacity Higher Than Water Used

In presenting a report on Hereford municipal water system at the meeting of the City Commission Tuesday evening, City Manager Dudley Bayne said that the city had consumed a total of 609,904,000 gallons of water last year.

However, that figure is far below the capabilities of the total gallons of water that can be pumped in a year's time.

Hereford's nine wells can produce as much as 3,193,020,000 gallons per year. Last year the wells were capable of producing only 2,154,960,000 gallons.

This year the wells have shown an overall increase in capabilities. That increase is mainly due to the repairing of several wells this winter.

For instance, the greatest-producing well, on New York St., last September was capable of pumping only 400 gallons per minute — this September it was capable of pumping as much as 900 gallons per minute.

Just 2 Absentee Ballots Received

With only six more days before absentee balloting is closed, only two votes had been recorded at the County Clerk's office Wednesday morning.

Absentee balloting opening in Deaf Smith County Oct. 15, and is scheduled to close Oct. 30.

The state-wide general election will begin on the morning of Nov. 4 in the county's 11 precincts.

A total of 28 posts in state and county races will be decided in the election, and voting on nine amendments to the Texas Constitution will be included on ballots.

Strange Tops Grid Guessers

Virgil Strange, 203 Bennett, earned first place in the grid contest sponsored by The Brand last week by virtue of the tie-breaker scores. He and Edwin Thomas, 322 Ave. J, tied with 17 right choices.

It took fewer right picks this week because of two tie games which threw some mean curves.

In third place was W. H. Kitchens, 119 Ave. K, who edged Dallas Phillips. Both had 16 right choices.

Strange will receive $5 in trade at Jones Texaco, while Thomas will get $3 and Kitchens $2. Certificates and prizes may be picked up at The Brand office.

Okla. Arrests Man Sought Here

J. C. Shaw, 70, charged for removal of mortgaged property here, was returned to Deaf Smith County Tuesday after his arrest in Anadarko, Okla., last week.

Shaw was indicted for the felony at the recent District Grand Jury session. He was arrested by Anadarko authorities last week and was turned over to the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department after notification of the arrest was received here.

Shaw is now being held in Deaf Smith County Jail. Bond had not been set Wednesday morning.

DEAD-END—Ennis Helker, 23, Hereford, escaped injury at 2:15 a.m. Sunday, when his car ran through the dead end of a road west of Hereford, north of Highway 60. The car went down the private driveway at the home of J. C. Reese, hit Reese's pickup truck, scraped another car and came to a stop after side-swiping toward Reese's home. Damage to the Helker car was estimated at $500, to the pickup about $200, and to the other car, about $25. (Staff Photo) roath Pump Company recently presented Boys Ranch with an irrigation pump to be used for auxiliary fire fighting, according to Larry Gargan, manager. This is the third such pump that has been given to Boys Ranch by Wint-roath.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ott, Cecil Wilkins and Arch Dobbins are planning to attend the 18th District Convention, where they will represent the local American Legion and Auxiliary Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 25 and 26. U. S. Rep. Walter Rogers will be the principal speaker for a joint meeting in Childress Sunday morning. Other speakers will include State Sen. A. J. (Andy) Rogers and Rep. Will Ehrle, both of Childress.

Illustrating his talk on newspaper make-up in Amarillo recently, Edmund Arnold of New York told this story about when rules should be bent a little:

While running a weekly paper in Frankenmuth, Mich., Arnold hired a boy who was extremely lazy. It didn't take the lad long to figure out he could save six strokes on the typewriter every time he used "local" instead of "Frankenmuth". Soon his stories were filled with "local City government", "local school board", "local police", "local Chamber of Commerce", and many others.

Arnold called the reporter in and explained, rather harshly, that the paper was the only one in the world interested in "Frankenmuth" news as opposed to "local" news and, henceforth, the word "local" would not appear in the paper.

Arnold hastily modified the iron-clad rule when the following item appeared in the paper: "Mrs. Joe Doe is convalescing after emergency surgery. During the operations' doctors gave her a Frankenmuth anesthetic."

in Bonham since 1935. He and Bob have been visiting each other occasionally since that time.

Ted, the youngest of the three brothers, accompanied his family to several towns in Oklahoma and Arkansas before he settled in Port Arthur in 1926. He has been employed by Gulf Refining Company for the past 30 years.

The Bicknell brothers also have two sisters, one in Oregon and the other in Port Arthur. They hope to be able to get all of the children together within the next year or so.

And after all those years, what did the three brothers talk about? Henry and Ted talked about sports, particularly football. Bob joined them when the conversation turned to cars. He doesn't care for sports.

ed the franchise grant. The present franchise expires April 19, 1960.

If granted, the proposed extension will not expire until Sept. 3, 1968. By ordinance, the maximum grant of franchise by the city is 10 years.

their water from lakes. "When additional revenue is needed by the city," he said, "it should be had by increasing water rates so as to show a greater margin of profit from the water system."

He added that the increase would place the city in a more favorable position when the need arises for future revenue bond issues for expansion of the water system.

Total value of the water system, he said, including lines and fittings, is $1,053,496 at the present time.

The municipal water system includes nine deep-well turbine pumps with electric motors and automatic starting equipment; three booster pumps, capable of pumping 2,500 gallons per minute each; a booster pumper capable of pumping 1,500 gallons per minute and another pump capable of producing 750 gallons per minute.

Other structures include two overhead storage tanks, one 250,000 gallons, the other 75,000 gallons; two underground storage tanks of concrete, which hold a million gallons each, and a sand trap.

The system also includes two pump stations with recording equipment and automatic starters; one automatic and the other semi-automatic; a five-room home for the pump operator and three pickup trucks.

All wells and booster pumps are individually metered and equipped with automatic controls with recording equipment for each booster pump, Bayne said.

Bayne pointed out that the city of Hereford uses more water than Borger, mainly because of the vegetable sheds' usage of water in Hereford.

In other business at the meeting, the commissioners leased a building from the Gulf Oil Company. The building, located at the corner of Third and Miles, includes a grease rack and facilities for pumping gasoline.

Rental of the building is $30 a month, with the specification that the city buy gasoline from the company at a decreased rate per gallon. The gasoline will be used for Hereford city police cars.

Fire equipment will be housed in the building. Also, the building will be used for servicing city equipment and trucks.

A request for four street lights at Hereford High School was approved by the commissioners.

Monthly rental charges of the lights will be paid by the Hereford School System, and the lights will be installed at the expense of the city. The lights will be installed on the school parking lot and on Whiteface Ave.

A motion for the completion of paving on Irving and Grand was approved.

Scheduled to be paved is a section on Grand, from Ave. 1 to Star St., and on Irving, from Park Ave. to First St.

Two organizations asked to purchase a 1929 American-La France fire engine from the city.

The optimist Club requested the purchase of the engine to donate to Boys Ranch for fire protection. The Shrine Club wanted to buy the engine and use it for parades and celebrations.

The Commissioners postponed action on the requests for further consideration.

Only one bid was received for the sale of a Littleford 835-gallon asphalt distributor, which is owned by the city. The bid was tabled, pending further consideration.

The bid, offered by Rutter-Robinson, was for $450 — $100 down and $50 a month.

The distributor, let for bids last week, was part of a $7,000 purchase for a complete paving outfit for the use of the city. However, the distributor has not been used since purchase. At last meeting, the commission felt that it should be let for bids.

Bayne reminded the commissioners of the annual League of Texas Municipalities meeting, which is scheduled for Nov. 2-5 at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel in Houston.

He said that reservations have been made, and that the meeting will include a two-day school on the study of city problems.

Bayne said that the commissioners were invited to attend a meeting on migrant labor housing problems in Austin on Nov. 8.

Besides studying housing problems, Bayne said, the meeting would include a study of law enforcement. He said that representatives from other area towns and cities also have been invited to the meeting.

Bayne announced plans for visiting the Texas Vitriol Company at Mineral Wells this weekend.

Bayne said the jobbers for water supply invited him to visit Mineral Wells and that they would demonstrate and explain their water and sewage systems.

Pioneer Natural Gas Company's request of a 10-year extension of franchise was read at the meeting. The request must be read at three separate meetings before final approval.

The first reading of the proposed grant was read at last meeting of the City Commission. At that meeting, John Simms, manager of Pioneer Natural Gas in Hereford, request-

 A few minutes later, their neighbor — Ed Boggess — walked out of his back door, but couldn't find his pickup. It turned out that the garage, as you probably suspect by now, had forgotten all about Ralph's deal.
 Ralph is a little bit touchy on the subject, but Boggess insists that he is the one who should do the complaining.

Henry Sears says that he has tightened every hinge, oiled the door locks and worked over every screen in the house since he sold his elevator a few weeks back — and still goes around like a fish out of water. He didn't mention the leaky faucets though. No matter how good the handman, you can usually find a leaky faucet or two in the average American home.

Harvest, meanwhile, must be getting close to the "peak". I
 run across Lee Kent within the past eight or 10 days — and that is unusual.

Hereford probably fielded more pheasant hunters this year than ever before. Some people estimate 25 or 30. I don't know all of them, but I do hear that two or three groups made the trip by plane, including Charlie Seeds. When you pull a fellow like Charlie away during the introduction of a new model car, you've really done some pulling.

The Walter Rogers forum, scheduled for tonight, should be quite an affair. Folks who are interested in things on the Washington front should make a point of attending — and these days you have to be interested to survive. All in all, it is one of the best deals to come our way in a long time. If we keep it going, it should get bigger and bigger every year.

Dave Alexander was telling me this week that it may be another month before County Clerk Ralph Smith can get back on the job full tilt. Everyone misses Ralph around town as well as at the courthouse. Furthermore, I bet he is getting his fill of those daytime TV soap operas.

From down Littlefield way comes the story of a preacher who, after spending almost an hour on the virtues of brotherly love, asked his congregation:

"Is there anyone here today who can truthfully say he doesn't have a single enemy in the world?"

An old man in the rear of the church slowly rose to his feet.
 The minister was happy to find someone who lived by all of the rules, and immediately asked the man to what he attributed the situation, whereupon the old gentleman briefly explained:
 "I just out-lived all of the so-and-soes."

I understand that the Lions Club is going to put the little pot in the big one when their 30th anniversary rolls around in a few months. They are already making plans, including one of the four or five top brass out of Lions International, according to directors, who started the ball rolling this week. The event will be in the form of a big Ladies Night program.

Tuesday night seems to have been a success. At least, it created a lot of coffee cup conversation around town Wednesday morning. Clyde Miller, who used to be a band-leader, was one of the most enthusiastic boosters.

Hereford automobile dealers, like others around the country, were a bit unhappy over not being able to supply the demand, due to production labor troubles. Tommy Zorns, Chevrolet manager, said that a Plainview dealer had the most trouble of all. He got only one car for his showing — and it was smashed up in transit. Most local dealers were facing shortages, which they hope will soon be eliminated. The deal, however, could make a small dent in our Mall and new car showing here Saturday. Most dealers will have cars, but not so many models as they would like.

ATTENTION HOUSEWIVES

Top paid position. Car necessary. For details, write Box D-49, Amarillo Globe News, Amarillo, Texas. B-8-10-tfc

HOUSEHOLD Scrapbook
Paper Paste
To mix paste for paperhanging, add one tablespoonful of powdered alum to one quart of water. Sift flour into the water, stirring continuously until it has the consistency of dough. Then pour in boiling water until the paste turns, after which dilute to the desired consistency.
Fatty Soap
Remove the drops of fat from the top of the soup by throwing a lettuce leaf into the pot. This will absorb the grease and may be removed as soon as it has served its purpose.
Stained China
A mixture of salt and bicarbonate of soda will remove all tea and coffee stains from china cups.
The Paint Brush
The bristles of a new paint brush will not shed during the painting process if the brush is held, bristles up, and a spoonful of varnish is poured into the base of the bristles. Keep the brush in an upright position until the varnish dries.
Seeding Raisins
Pour some boiling water over the raisins and allow to stand for a few minutes before draining, and the seeds will come out much more readily. The flavor of the raisins will not be affected.
Amber Beads
Amber beads and ornaments can be cleaned by washing them in milk and rubbing with a clean cloth.
Fish
It is wise to check the following point when buying a whole fish: Is its flesh firm and elastic, skin moist, its gills brightly colored, its eyes bulged out? Another point is that fresh fish usually sinks in water.
Veils
The veils so popular on hats these days can be kept in good condition by pressing gently with a warm iron. When tiny tears or holes appear, sew up with silk thread and fine needle — or merely tie the hole together.
Paraffin
Do not heat paraffin in the smoking stage, as it is liable to separate from the sides of the jelly glasses. Allow to melt slowly until you have sufficient to cover the preserves.
Bleaching
Table linens, muslin, and other unbleached goods, can be bleached by preparing a boiler of bluing water as for rinsing clothes. Place the articles in the boiler and allow to boil well. Hang on the line without further rinsing, and at their next washing these articles will be perfectly white.

Household Scrapbook

How Can I?
Q. How can I remove paper that has stuck to the table surface?
A. When paper has become stuck to the polished surface of a table, soften it with a little olive oil, and then rub with a soft cloth. This will remove the paper without leaving any mark.
Q. How can I stop hiccoughs?
A. Try moistening some granulated sugar with vinegar and eating it. This often brings instant relief.
Q. How can I prevent soapy water from getting into the eyes of a child when giving it a shampoo?
A. Rub a little cold cream or petroleum jelly around the eyes and this will not happen.
Q. How can I remove oil stains from a carpet?
A. Rub with a clean cloth dipped in cleaning fluid. Begin at the edge of the stain and gradually work towards the center, changing to a clean section of the cloth when one part is soiled.
Q. How can I improve the appearance of a sponge cake, giving it a nice brown color?
A. By sprinkling a little fine granulated sugar over the top of the cake before putting it in the oven to bake.
Q. How can I remove shine from serge?
A. Sponge the serge with hot vinegar before pressing it, and it will remove the shine.
Q. How can I whipe evaporated milk?
A. Before whipping evaporated milk, the can should be placed in cold water and the water brought to the boiling point. Allow it to boil for five minutes and then chill the milk.
Q. How can I remove the rust from curtain pins?
A. Place them in a bowl of water. Let them remain for a few minutes, then rub them with a dry cloth.
Q. How can I give a little different flavor to tea?

WALCOTT NEWS

Halloween Carnival Plan Discussed At P-TO Meeting

By MRS. T. L. COLLINS
A large crowd attended the P-TO meeting at Walcott School Friday night. Mrs. Norman Minks, president, presided over the meeting, with the main business being concerned with the Halloween Carnival to be held at Walcott School Friday night, Oct. 31.

Several committees and individuals are busy getting things together to be used as Bingo prizes and side concessions. Mrs. Bon Wylie, Mrs. Elton Wylie, Mrs. J. V. Perrin and Mrs. A. L. Shelton made posters Friday night to advertise the carnival. Any interested persons from Hereford and the surrounding area are invited to attend.

Walcott ladies are urged to bring two pies to be used in the kitchen and a cake for the "cake walk". Also send any "white elephant" articles not needed to be placed in the "grab bag."

Children Reflect Parents' Speech

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M. D.
"Hello, may I speak to Mrs. Whittington please?"

"I am sorry, but Mother is not at home."

"Is that you, Susie? My goodness, you sound just exactly like your mother."

How often this happens! Children grow up to speak so like their parents it's often difficult to distinguish the voices of various members of the family.

You are your child's world. He copies you in all manner of ways, but almost nowhere is his copying more obvious and more subtle than the way he talks.

Of course your child will speak the same language you speak. Even if you adopted a Chinese baby he would speak English as he grew up in your home. There is nothing in the way speech organs are made that has one bit of influence on the language a child speaks.

Chinese adults have trouble saying "r" not because they are made differently from Americans but because from infancy they have never practiced a sound that does not occur in their language.

But the copying your child does goes far beyond the fact that he speaks your language. Your child picks up whatever accent you have. A child brought up in Boston may well slur over many of his "r's". He may talk about a "hoss" (horse) while a youngster from the Far West may give his "r's" a slight roll.

These local peculiarities we can accept, often with pride and pleasure. But how about other qualities in your own voice? Do you like them? Do you want your children to copy them? Is your voice shrill because you are often nervous and upset? Is there a flat quality to your speech because you find life dull and uninteresting? You know there is a common phrase "down in the mouth" which means you are depressed and blue and that's exactly what your voice shows — it dies somewhere in the back of your throat. Children whose parents speak like this most of the time develop an unpleasant voice quality and its apt to stay with them for life.

You are so accustomed to your own voice you may not be aware of its good qualities or its bad ones.

Mrs. Smithers complained that her son Tom whined when he talked. He didn't whine just now and then but all the time. We persuaded Mrs. Smithers to have a tape recording made of her own voice. When it was played back to her she could hardly believe it was she speaking.

"Why, what an old nagger that woman must be!" she exclaimed. Ruth Smithers was really a pretty nice young woman. Inside she wasn't the way she sounded.

She enrolled in a speech class, worked hard and finally trained herself to speak with a vibrant colorful voice that was more in keeping with her personality. In the course of a few months Tom's voice changed too — and we didn't do a thing to Tom!

The job of being a parent is sometimes a terrifying one when you think about this child of yours becoming a mirror image of you. Do you want to be mirrored — just as you are? Your good points, yes, but our children pick up our bad ones just as readily as the good ones.

Martin Leads Rushers As Herd Rests For District

By RICHARD LEGGITT
Hereford Whitefaces have completed their six non-conference games for the 1958 season. This week they have an open date before embarking on a rugged quartet of 1-AAA conference tilts. With the breather, the following statistics have been compiled.

Danny Martin, Hereford's big right halfback, is the leading ground runner for the Whitefaces for this season. Since the start of the first six games, Martin, Wayne Bomar and Fitzgerald leading the rushing. Martin has gained 291 yards in 51 carries, a 5.7 average. Last week he racked up 134 yards in the Whitefaces in taking the first victory over a school above class AA in the history of Hereford High, as the Herd rolled over the 4A Silver Foxes for El Paso Jefferson, 20-8.

Bomar has also been outstanding for the Herd in its first six games and will be a real threat in district play. C. D. Fitzgerald, who missed the first two games because of an injury, has come into his own while making 160 yards rushing in the last four games. He is expected to see a lot of action as the Whitefaces open 1-AAA conference play at Littlefield Oct. 31.

Other outstanding players to date includes Durwood Jacobs, who heads the scoring column with 14 points. Martin is sec-

There will be two real ding-dong battles on tap in the conference this weekend. Friday night, the Dumas Demons will essay the role of giant-killers when they entertain the Levelland Lobos, who are ranked fifth in the state. Each team has lost just one game this year. On Saturday night, the Phillips Blackhawks who are eighth in Texas rankings, will play host to the fast Littlefield Wildcats in a toss-up game. Phillips is undefeated this season, but has paid dearly. The Hawks have lost four of their starters and are showing the loss.

Beauty At Home

Q. What can I do to promote all-over skin smoothness of my body?

A. A bottle of hand lotion is good for use after every bath. Or, use a body lotion made expressly for this. If the roughness of your skin is severe, massage softening cream into the irritated areas nightly, leave on while you sleep, and wash gently off in the morning. Then apply hand or body lotion before you dress.

Q. How can a young girl exercise to induce a flatter "tummy"?

A. Lie on stomach, legs together and arms close to sides. Bend legs back and up toward buttocks, circling ankles with hands. Raise your head slightly, then rock back and forth from your shoulders to your knees. A strenuous one — but good!

Q. Will dark foundation on a large or protruding nose help to minimize it?

A. It is better not to do this, since it might cause the nose to look discolored. It is better to use a lighter foundation on the cheeks, which will create an illusion of fullness in the cheeks and cause the nose to appear smaller.

Fannie Hurst Explains The Pains Of Writing Candid Autobiography

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Fannie Hurst, who through the years has turned out 14 novels, scores of short stories, now has written a revealing autobiography, "Anatomy of Me."

"It was a sort of compulsion," said the author of "Back Street" frankly. "To write an honest autobiography is a painful experience — it is tearing your veil of illusion and you suddenly find yourself standing naked before your own eyes. And there is a certain security in veils."

"But if you have the compulsion, you persist — even if it draws you on to the cliff's edge. You must go on."

Miss Hurst's autobiography, however, is less concerned with the usual I saw, I went, I met than with looking back "from the inside" on her own life. The book's subtitle is "A Wanderer in Search of Herself."

"The book started with a curious desire to perpetuate certain people in my life — my father, my mother, my husband. I wanted to keep them; it seemed to me that I could capture them by recreating them."

At first, she was fascinated to find the way memory is evoked, for she had not one scrap of paper — letters or journals — on which to depend for recollections of growing up in St. Louis.

"First you try to reconstruct how you felt — then how Mama felt, and all that starts a grapevine of memory and it just keeps going," said Miss Hurst. "But as memories of this special kind kept flooding in, recollections of others rode in with them — of experiences with Sinclair Lewis, Theodore Dreiser, of Hyde Park during the Roosevelt administration, sad stories and funny stories during a busy, productive and successful life."

"Actually," insists Miss Hurst with her curious candor, "this is not a very fashionable autobiography. I never had to lift myself from an alcoholic valley. I had no spectacular vices to overcome, no up-from-the-gutter experience, no ragged riches, little turmoil. My book has none of the ingredients to meet the current trend. It is quieter and concerned with a conflict of the spirit — which may not be so interesting to the public."

Fannie Hurst believes the cliché about there being at least one book in every person's life.

an autobiography. "Autobiography really is an expression of egotism — it has to be. And an author writes on the assumption that people are going to be interested."

However, she adds hastily, autobiography — any autobiography — is an unreliable font of source material:

"In the first place, no human being is going to denote himself, even to himself. Always, even when admitting he was wrong, it is hard to take the blame, to admit it was his fault. No matter how hard we may try, one sees oneself grotesquely as one sees oneself in a Coney Island mirror — no matter how hard one tries to come clean."

Miss Hurst, however, has not come to autobiography in the quiet, twilight days of life. Much of the book was written at a time when she was also doing a daily hour interview show on television. Since it was completed she has completed the first draft of a new novel.

"I'm glad it is finished," she said. "It was difficult to set it down. I just had to do it — I couldn't stop going. But there is a certain relief to having done it."

BOOST TO RELIGION

NEW YORK (AP)—The Atlantic Ocean is an effective conscience-jolter, says the August issue of the Catholic Digest. It reports that Msgr. Sebastian Natta, a sea-going chaplain for 24 years, has seen some 3,500 lapsed Catholics renew their faith aboard ship.

A GRADUATE OF Hereford High School was recently named Woman of The Year by the Dumas Business and Professional Women's Club. ## Calorie Counting Creates New Behavior Patterns

NEW YORK (AP)—One out of three Americans is overweight. One out of 10 of us is currently on a diet, but tomorrow or the next day, perhaps.

In spite of the fact that the diet is fast becoming part of our way of life, it seems that most of us are largely unsuccessful in shedding pounds, for keeps, anyway. But the continuing American effort to slim down is having some interesting effects — social and economic.

Survey-makers, those indefatigable samplers, have been at work uncovering what might be called a calorie-snobbery. As "calorie" has evolved into a slightly unpleasant word, it has been getting chic to be slim. One survey, for instance, found that the chances of a lady fitting into a small size dress increased as her husband's salary and social position soared upwards.

A study made in a store revealed that among women in the $3,000 to $4,000 income bracket, only 42 per cent were able to squeeze into "misses" sizes. However, some 59 per cent of women with incomes between $5,000 and $7,000 were able to wear them. (This, of course, might mean that men making between $5,000 and $7,000 like skinny dames, but the interpreters of the survey suggest that, on the contrary, it means that there's a status symbol abuilding around avoiddupois.)

Meanwhile, back at the factory, milady's passion for calorie counting is causing something akin to an industrial and farming revolution.

For some time now, Americans have been consuming less cereal and grain products. The drop in potato consumption has become so alarming that the potato interests have been crusading to give the lie to what they insist is a canard about the potato's caloric content. Sugar, too, has come in for its lumps, and the candy manufacturers long for the good old days when the correct gift was usually a box of same.

An important part of the promotional campaign for the banana a year or so ago was directed toward correcting the impression it was just chock full of calories. Even the nation's truck farmers got a little nervous when the diet experts suddenly took out after good old lettuce ("Under the innocent leafy green exterior often lies the richest oils and dressings!")

However, there is another side to the coin and this one is golden. A recent issue of a food trade magazine, for instance, exhorted its readers to take a profitable look at what it calls "the overweight market" which includes about a third of the population and may well go higher.

The florists and the nation's gift shoppes have benefitted as low-calorie and no-calories presents have become de rigueur for many occasions. The sugar substitute-business also has boomed as the sugar interests moaned. And food processors have been busily developing

Beauty At Home

Q. What is a good cleansing facial mask I can easily prepare at home?
A. Try applying a paste of raw oatmeal mixed with milk.

Q. A pair of my leather shoes, which were stored away for quite awhile, have acquired some mildew. What can I do about this?
A. Scrub them with a hand brush dipped in lukewarm water and mild soapsuds, wipe with a damp cloth, and give the shoes a day or two in the sun before polishing.

Q. Is it all right, when tinting the hair, to give the same treatment to the eyebrows?
A. Such treatment around those precious eyes is NOT GOOD, and I certainly advise against it. Any coloring you give to your eyebrows should be done with the eyebrow pencil.

Q. Should a different shade of lipstick be used at night than during the day?
A. Fluorescent lighting tends to wash the color out of the face — making the lips bluish. Whatever your favorite daytime lipstick shade, use a clear red or an orange-red shade at night to appear to advantage under such artificial lighting. Use very little rouge, but apply powder of a rosy hue.

Q. How can I remove all traces of flakiness which are now appearing on my skin?
A. Try mixing a little kitchen salt with your cleansing cream two or three times a week, for a little abrasive action.

Q. Please suggest a good, simple, skin-toning facial beauty mask I can prepare.
A. One very good one consists simply of painting the white of an egg over face and throat, allowing to remain for 10 minutes, then washing off with warm water.

Q. How can I mix myself a good, beneficial shampoo at home?
A. Heat together an egg and a teaspoonful of mild skin soap. Apply this with the fingertips, rubbing well into the scalp. Rinse with hot, then lukewarm, and finally cold water.

STANDBY ON THE RUN

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor James Duncan signed on as an understudy, but he is one of the busiest performers in town. Duncan is standby for five actors who play altogether about 20 characters in the Rooftop theater production of "Ulysses." The way things have gone through the run, Duncan is on at virtually every performance for one of the five.

FROM TEARS TO YEARS

NEW YORK (AP)—A recent record for switches in titles belongs to a play by Canadian playwright Patricia Joudry. It started out as "Teach Me How to Cry." It was made into a movie as "Too Young," but is to be released as "Wonderful Years."

London is seeing it on stage as "Noon Has No Shadows," until 1959-60 while Hayes gets busy at his typewriter.

BOOK IN A HURRY

NEW YORK (AP)—If plays are sometimes based on best-selling novels, but a new idea may reverse that trend. The switch involves "Midnight Sun," a new drama by Joseph Hayes, who previously helped transform his own novel "The Desperate Hours" into stage form.

His publisher thought it would be a good idea if a novelization of "Midnight Sun" appears before the show gets to Broadway. As a result, production plans have been postponed.

Fall is a crisp, sparkling time of the year, traditional season of harvest and, more recently, first showings of new automobiles. In order that the public might be able to see all of the new models conveniently, Hereford merchants Saturday will sponsor their annual Fall Mall. It will be a gala day, full of free attractions. In addition to the new cars, there will be two band concerts, a barbecue, a championship trampoline act, live models and many other events during the day. Two blocks of Main Street will be blocked off all day to accommodate the many new auto displays. So, make your plans now to attend the Hereford Fall Mall, Saturday, Oct. 25. You'll be glad you did!

AUSTIN HIGHLIGHTS

Taxes, Schools Main Issues Of Pre-Legislative Debates

By V. J. ANFORD
AUSTIN — The Legislature is up to its ears in legislative proposals as the pre-legislative debate of school and tax issues blows through the halls of the Capitol.

Taxes and schools are leading topics.

Committees, study groups and associations, both public and private, come to town, hold a meeting, hear speakers and, usually, pass some recommendations. They are part of the sifting, sounding out and solidifying of thinking that precedes a legislative session.

Hale-Aikin Committee reconsidered and reversed its previous stand that Texas schools should not take federal aid for lunch rooms and vocational education.

New statement, passed 11 to 8, was offered by Ed Ray, San Antonio Express-News editor. It affirmed the committee's belief in state control of education but said it did not feel this would be lost by accepting federal aid for lunches, vocational education and for large numbers of children brought into a district by federal activities. It also endorsed the desirability of the federally-financed activities covered by the National Defense Education Act.

Hale-Aikin Committee of 24 lawmakers, educators and other citizens was set up by the Legislature to advise it on public school needs and problems. Some six weeks ago it stirred up a hornet's nest by recommending that Texas quit accepting several million dollars a year in federal school aid. Arguments, pro and con, flared over the state, and many legislators were rendered uncomfortable by the necessity to take a stand.

In many cases, the lawmakers disapprove federal centralization in principal but were hesitant to get in a position where they might be accused of taking milk from the school kids.

Hale-Aikin Committee also gave final approval to a recommended program of public school improvements. It would raise school costs by about $112,000,000 a year — mostly for teacher salary raises, sick leave, building upkeep and transportation.

A meeting of the Texas Association of School Boards was the sounding board for more ideas on school financing.

Only a state income tax or general sales tax can produce enough revenue to cover school program improvements, a spokesman for the Texas State Teachers Association told the meeting.

TSTA-man L. P. Sturgeon said other taxes proposed thus far would hardly get the state treasury out of the hole, let alone cover new needs.

School Board members also heard Dr. B. F. Pittenger, one-time dean of the University of Texas College of Education, say he had felt for 30 years that public schools need "a considerable amount of federal aid."

Also urged by Dr. Pittenger: more discipline in schools, more attention to students "most highly endowed with brains."

Gov. Price Daniel's request that state department heads try to pare down their budget requests for the next two years brought no dramatic tax-saving slashes.

General reaction of the department heads was that they were already being as economical as they could be and still maintain the services expected of them.

Altogether the requests totaled $225,000,000 more than is being spent during the present two-year period. But some are, indeed, "not cuttable" under present law. Biggest increase — $90,000,000 — is for public schools whose costs go up automatically with the number of students. Similar unavoidable increases occur in welfare, highway and retirement costs.

In other areas, department heads declare there is "no fat" in their budgets.

Commission on Higher Education has adopted two major policies on division of studies and funds among the state's 18 colleges and universities.

One is a plan for study program which concentrates graduate study, especially for Ph.D.s, at Texas A&M and the University of Texas. Other is a formula for asking for appropriations based on the number of semester hours taught.

Officials of UT, A&M and Texas Tech did not oppose the money formula, but indicated they would need additional funds to maintain desired standards of quality.

More insurance legislation and, possibly, more grand jury action may result from the reports of the Senate Investigating Committee.

Sen. Charles Herring, chairman, released the first of five reports on the committee's findings. It dealt with the means by which IGT Insurance Co. rose and fell.

Herring said testimony suggested that some people not indicted should be called before grand juries. There was, he said, conflicting testimony, under oath, indicating perjury.

CHIP SHOTS

By Bud Posey

A total of 95 golfers from 40 different towns played in the 1958 annual West Texas Pro-Amateur Golf Association Tournament at the local course last week. Thirty-eight pros vied for $3,000 in cash and when all shots were finished Dick Turner of San Angelo and Fred Atkins of Carlsbad were tied. A sudden death playoff was held with Turner winning on the sixth extra hole to become the champ. Both had 201.

Third place went to Bennie Adams of McCamey who shot a 204, fourth went to Jim Terry of Seminole with a 205, fifth to fy. Recommendations for new legislation are to be included in the last report, due in December. Testimony on which the reports are based totaled 4,000,000 words, enough to fill 40 long books. This may not be all since the committee is to meet again in November.

Panel members, in addition to Herring, are Sens. Grady Hazard of Amarillo, Jarrard Secrest of Temple, Culp Krueger of El Campo and Frank Owen III of El Paso.

Texas Employment Commission officials took a look at steadily improving employment figures, then at the still-substantial unemployment-compensation fund and breathed a sigh of relief.

This recession, at least, hadn't broken the bank. A year of high unemployment had taken $64,000,000 from the fund, but it still had $272,523,000. It was only $30,700,000 lower than at the beginning of the recession year.

It was in October, 1957, that the upsurge in joblessness began. In the first week of that month benefits paid out totaled $484,617. From then figures moved swiftly upward until the mid-April peak when $1,875,000 was paid out in one week, nearly four times as much as the pre-recession figure.

Steady improvement began in the summer months. By this October the cycle is not back to its starting point; latest report shows $1,099,201 paid out in one week. But with new claims falling sharply and economists generally agreed that the recession was fizzling, it seemed as if the dark period were over.

J. V. Dixon of Andrews and Horace Moore of Plainview with 207, seventh to Scott Edwards of Amarillo with 211, eighth to Joe Houck of Borger and C. G. Griffin of Brownfield with 213, and tenth to Skinny Carter of Lubbock and Gidd Faircloth of Kermit with 214.

Roland Adams of Lubbock again took top honors in the amateur division, even beating the pros, with a 200, par is 216. He had rounds of 68-66-66.

Jim Owen and C. L. Duniven, both of Amarillo, tied for second place in the "A" division with 213. Fourth place was won by Bud Abbott of Borger with 216.

C. A. Rodgers of Lubbock copped "B" division honors with a 217, second was Gene Ellis of Lubbock with 218, third was Lloyd Glenn of Tulia with 220, and fourth was Melvin Bradley of Tulia with 230.

G. L. Walker of Amarillo took "C" honors with a 243, Dave Carson of Friona won second with 244, Peck Hutton of Borger won third with a 245, and Tubb Roach of Plainview won fourth with a 246.

Katherine Whitworth of Jal. N. M., and State champion of New Mexico, won the ladies division with a net 206. She fired actual rounds of 71-73-77 with a five handicap. She broke the nine and 18 hole ladies course record Wednesday, Oct. 15, shooting 35 on the front and 36 on the back for 71. Former records were 36 for nine held by Meredith Ireland of Hereford and Mrs. Barney Morrison of Borger. The 18 hole record was 76 held by Helen Ann McWhorter, now of Dallas.

Mrs. Leila Turner of San Angelo took second place with a net 215, Mrs. Joan Pappas of Amarillo was third with a net 220, and Mrs. Lou Hardy of Tulia won fourth with a net 224. Officers of the Association were elected for the coming season at the Wednesday night business meeting. They are Horace Moore of Plainview, president; Vern Farauhar of Amarillo, honorary president; Jimmy Adams of Lamesa, vice president; Hardy Loudermilk of Jal. N. After a near-record underwater cruise, the Scorpion returns to Melbourne for the final time.

Terribly frightened by his voyages on the sub and determined to enjoy himself, shy bachelor John Osborne buys an Italian racing car and gathers huge stores of the explosive alcohol fuel which it uses. He defies death racing the machine, but finds that he can only win. . .
 and stay alive to face radiation death.

Through it all, Commander Towers, now officially in charge of all U. S. Naval Forgoing home to Connecticut in September. He buys presents for his wife and two children.

 Radiation advances. South America is dead, nothing moves in Africa and Australia is the last outpost of civilization.

As radiation sickness gets to Melbourne, each of the main characters lives out his last moments in his own way. The world dies, killed by its own weaknesses. Earth's civilization is stopped.

Dear Miss Looney-Tic:
I tried your advice this week. I stopped chasing and started eating; I gained 10 pounds and am still gaining. You did this to me, so will you please tell me how to lose weight, without chasing boys?
Thank you, Desperate
I didn't tell you to eat so much. But I have a wonderful diet that works for me that suggests a diet of grass and worms.

What Is A 'Teenager'?

What is a teenager? According to Mr. Webster, there is no real word 'teenager'; however, the word 'teens' is, "the years of one's age, or any numbers having the termination - teen; as, a girl in her teens."
To many people, a teenager is a person that is completely misunderstood. He is between childhood and adulthood and has no real understanding for anything.
To others, a teenager is the most wonderful of all living beings. During this phase of life, he experiences some of the most remarkable and wonderful things possible.
As quoted from one teenage magazine, "A teenager is mystery and simplicity, sympathy and hostility, excitement and quietude, humor and seriousness, optimism and pessimism combined."
Today, teenagers live for Friday nights at the football game, Saturday night at a 'friends' home for some real game platters, or possibly a 'drive in' movie. Their choice of the world, and can never be

The 1958 football queens were officially presented at an assembly Wednesday, Oct. 8. They were Bettye Snead, Zell Crump, and Toni Parker. Hereford High School's "A" team and the coaches were presented also.

What's happening to us? The seniors are all going around quoting Shakespeare.

Our wonderful school spirit was complimented by the Roswell cheerleaders. They said Hereford's spirit was the best of any team they had played.

Lament Of A Hot Rod Race

Well, me an my wife and my brother Joe, took off in a Ford from San Pedro. We hadn't much gas and the tires were low, but that doggone Ford could really go. We were rippin' along like white folks might, when the Mercury behind, he blinked his lights. He honked his horn, and he pulled outside. We made grease spots out of a many good town. And left cops heads spinnin' round and round. We had Columbia, but you people may think I'm in a rut. But to you folks that don't dig the jive, that's two carburetors and an overdrive. I looked down at my lovely bride, Her face was blue, I thought she'd died. My brother was pale, he said he was sick. He said he was just a nervous wreck. But why should I care for what the heck, Me and that Merc was still neck and neck. When on thru the desert we did glide. We were flyin' low and flyin' wide. But me an' that Mercury was takin' a ride. And we stayed exactly side by side. We heard somethin' comin'. We knew it was a plane by the way it was a rummin'. It was hummin' along at a terrible pace, and I knew right then it was the end of the race. When he flew by us, I turned the other way. The guy in the Mercury had nothin' to say. For it was a kid in a hopped up Model "A!"

I would guess about one third of the farm consists of forest. The leaves on the trees are just beginning to turn and I'm sure I'll see a beautiful autumn, (although it feels like the middle of December already). There is a very large orchard which has mainly apples and plums - Ann Louise and I have our own apple tree. The tomatoes which we get from the hot house are wonderful and there are also grapes. The rest of the land is used for corn which they have just harvested and wheat and rye they are planting. The house is so large I still can't find my way around. There are three floors and the first week I was here every morning it was a little harder to get out of bed I was so sore from climbing the stairs and riding the bicycle. The bottom floor is the kitchen, freezer room, ironing room, and maid quarters. As I said before they don't keep maids at the present, which is a good thing for me, (several times I've waked during the night and in fumbling for the light switch, pushed the wrong thing and rung for the maids). The second floor is the drawing room "gentlemen's" room, office, guest room, sitting room and dining room and of course the top floor is bedrooms. It is all truly beautiful, something like you read about in fairy tales. The Danes are very hospitable people when they know you! (Continued on Page 2)

(Continued from Page 1) and sat down to wait for himself, got out of bed and struck a match to see if he had blown out the candle?

"Daddy, the kids at school were kidding me about being a girl."
"So what did you do?"
"I hit them with my purse."

EVERY GIRL SHOULD HAVE?

Every girl ought to have what? Why, an older brother. What are older brothers? Well, they are everything any boy is, only worse, and everything the boy is, only better. An older brother is everything a sister isn't; he won't tell you interesting things about his dates or lend you his clothes; he teases the life out of you, calls you Tubby (or Skinny) but he has much more patience with you than anyone else in the family, and the presents he gives you are things you've secretly wanted that no one else would dream of giving you.

Your brother will scorn you for weeping over a tender book or movie but will nearly weep himself over insignificant things like his striking out, missing a perfect basket, or getting tackled just five yards from the goal line.

He somehow knows all about your love life but you don't know anything about his. He won't tell you where he is going with the car when you are dying to know, and you never even knew that he was best man at that big wedding until you read it in the society page.

When no one is around your brother will dress for a date and look like one of America's Ten Best-Dressed Men, but when one of your girl friends comes over, he is sure to wear his oldest pair of jeans and his most disreputable T shirt.

Although he acts as if he hates doing it, an older brother will take time out from his activities to drive you over to a girl friend's house or a show. He has the power to make you laugh when you feel like crying, grin when you're trying to pout, and make you almost cry when just a minute ago you were laughing.

Yes, an older brother is a strange creature as anyone can see from their hobbies, which are competitive sports, one girl, food, teasing little sisters, and imitating Jerry Lewis.

All in all at times you may wish your brother would drop dead; but last night when you came downstairs in your new date dress with your sophisticated haircut, and he told Mom you ought to have some higher heels, you wouldn't have traded him for anyone in the world!

felt somewhat puzzled as to how she would address the great man.

They eat five times a day and potatoes and pastry seem to be the favorites. We take a lunch to school as does everyone else and eat it at the 20-minute break. Otherwise there are ten minutes between every class when everyone goes outside and walks up and down on the concrete. School is far from easy — I guess I couldn't

Dear Miss Looney-Tic; I am 18, attractive, and have no trouble getting boy friends. Trouble is they don't stay that way. They get the wrong impression of me because I have a loud voice. I like to joke and kid around. I am afraid I have a reputation for being too forward.

George Heard Still 'Boiling Oil'

(Editor's Note: George Heard, a Hereford resident, is currently employed as a chemical engineer in the Daura Refinery, a government-owned installation in Iraq. The following letter was received last week.)

Dear Folks:

Three months have now passed since the "Glorious Revolution" and the establishment of the "Republic" and here am I still in the prosaic business of boiling oil. There have been many changes that have taken place and it seems that people are generally pleased with things here.

One of the biggest changes so far as we are concerned is the fact that there are so many people gone from here. Last year the school for kids from the U. S. had 270 enrolled. Now they have 32. There are so few women left that we are having to look up new friends and get new things to do.

Much of our social life is now centered around the Alwya Club. They have rushed up membership and admitted temporary members in an effort to keep the thing financed and also as a public service. During the past three months, I am sure that I have been to see more movies than I had seen in the previous five years. It is fortunate that I was not a faithful movie goer as these old movies are new to me. I have even enjoyed trying to play tennis.

One of the unusual things that I have learned about in this English Club is a drink called Shandy. It is the crazy combination of beer and lemon soda pop. It is not too bad as the quality of beer made here is difficult to ruin.

Another peculiar drink that is served has been renamed "Garbage" by the Americans, but at the bar one gets it by ordering Pimms No. 1. I am not sure what the liquid in it is other than carbonated water, but I suspect that it has some gin in it. Suspended in this drink are pieces of cucumber, cherry, pear, mint leaf, parsley, and several items unidentified.

General tennis is about the same as it is in the States except for a few peculiar playing conditions. As might be expected in a British club, special dress is required. I had always considered shoes that would not harm the surface of the tennis court the only essential, but here an all-white costume is necessary. Now I go galloping about in white shorts.

The surface of the courts is only fair. There have been apparently two schools of thought of the material to be used. Some of the courts are surfaced with a sort of adobe mix of mud and straw. This is used in an effort to keep the surface from cracking.

Another effort was made to obtain a satisfactory surface by adding ground sea shells to the mud. On some courts a combination of the two is used.

Incidentally, it might interest some of our house builders to know that this mixture of mud and straw is used for the roofs of many of the houses here. A very thick layer of this is used for its insulating qualities and is given a very slight slope to drain off the water. In summer the surface is sprinkled with water in the early evening to provide cooling by evaporation so sleeping on the roof will be more pleasant. The same procedure is used on the tennis courts, both to provide cooling and to improve the surface.

The backstops at the tennis courts are made of many things. It had never occurred to me that anything would be used except net wire. But we have them made of mud brick, fired brick, mud walls, 5 gal. tin cans stacked like bricks and some wire netting.

Six of the courts are laid out in an overlapping manner so that the south half of one court is adjacent to the north half of the next court. By this layout, the west side of the north half of each court is next to the wall of a mud hut and the north back stop is the wall of a mud hut in which some of the many poor people of Baghdad live.

As the walls are not high enough to keep the balls within the courts, small boys who inhabit the mud huts serve as ball boys. When I play with Jane and particularly when Jane and Martha play, the boys are very busy retrieving the balls out of the mud hut villages. There is not supposed to be any tipping in the club, but we give the boys 50 fils (14 cents) which is 7 cents per hour per boy. Sometimes they really earn what little they get.

The hunting situation here is similar to the story about the ardent golfer who died and did not go to Heaven. Instead he went to a place that consisted of a beautiful golf course, equipped with wonderful clubs and there he had to spend eternity with no balls with which to play.

Here the game situation is said to be wonderful. There is a type of partridge which is plentiful and a grouse that is almost in unlimited supply. Antelope is in good supply and in many sections there is wild boar. But the situation is like the golfer's hell. Since the revolution it is unlawful to sell or be in possession of ammunition. So at the present time no hunting is allowed in a hunter's paradise.

I do not hunt, but I have eaten the partridge and they are excellent. The bird is slightly larger than a large quail and with almost all white meat. The coveys are so large that it is not uncommon for a skilled hunter to be able to shoot four or five times when a covey rises and get a bird with each shot.

There is no limit on either the kill per day or the length of the season. Last year hunters waited until the heat of summer was over and hunted from October until it became hot again in April and May.

This year there is more partridge than ever. The sand grouse is said to be even more plentiful. Some of the liars that hunt tell me that in places they have driven in the edge of the desert and have had grouse rise in clouds in front of the car for several miles. The grouse is not as good eating as the partridge, being of darker and more gamey meat.

The antelope here is a rather small gazelle type thing which I see no point in hunting. They run in droves of several hundred in the edges of the desert. Just why anyone would want to eat a thing that is about like a day-old Jersey calf and tough as a raw hide I do not know. But some think it sport to run them down and shoot them.

As the Moslems do not eat pig, it is easily understood why there are a lot of wild boars here. A friend killed one last year and even had trouble getting rid of the bones and hide as the Moslems will not touch anything that has touched the pig.

Now that the papers and magazines are interested in the far east situation, the interest has died down in the middle east. You get as good news as I could write from other sources and if I did write anything it would probably be censored.

We are getting mail much better now and people still treat us well in spite of the agitation that is caused against foreigners in general by radio and press. We keep away from crowded places and stay in our part of town and we see little difference. Many people have high hopes of improvements which I am sure will come, but they will most likely be slow.

Our ride to work each day still has the same interesting and unusual sights that we always had — people carrying unusual objects on their heads, women skillfully balancing several trays of milk during the several mile walk to town, innumerable donkeys bringing things into Baghdad, and still the camels coming from the farms and out of the desert with unbelievable loads.

There are many more soldiers in uniform. There are a few unhappy people. Business is not as it was and many people are unemployed. The many people before the revolution who seemed to do nothing was appalling, but now that so many foreigners are gone, many servants are out of work and the stores which sold to these people are using fewer people.

Price fixing was tried on fruits and vegetables, but it proved a failure. It was not until after the fiasco that the price fixers admitted that the merchants had a strike. We did not have to do without stuff too long as we had a supply in our refrigerator, but most people here buy each day so the pressure mounted rapidly for them.

At the refinery a program of training Iraqi personnel is being pushed. It is one of the good things of the revolution. Many loafing Iraqi engineers are at work for the first time. There are some practices that have been instituted which will not work and will be uneconomical, but some things will have to be learned the hard way.

There have been imported some Egyptian experts to advise, but I have not met them. I doubt that they know any more or have had any more experience than the Iraqis, but we do not get to see them.

There are many teachers from Egypt being imported. They need teachers from some place as the level of education is very low.

We had an unusual experience last week. We were awakened at two o'clock in the morning by terrible cries. I thought at first there was a fight or attempted murder.

After some investigation it was determined that the continuing cries were from neighbors, but we could not determine the cause. Lights were on in the house and occasionally we could see someone walking about in the house so we decided it was not a police matter. But the loud wailing and crying continued.

After the noise continued unabated for over an hour, we decided to try closing all windows and turning on the air conditioner to furnish a steady noise to drown out the walls. We did get a bit of sleep, but the next morning it was continuing.

We learned that a death had occurred in the family and it is the custom here to make this noise even if one has to pull his hair and beat himself to keep up the loud cries. This kept up all day and was aided by friends coming in to help out and a professional mourner to direct and stimulate the noise.

The people were exhausted by night so we were able to sleep, but it did occur at times during the day for three days. It seemed strange to us that they waited a week before going to church and on that day they started wearing black. So now for possibly a year our neighbors will be clad in black. There seems to be no limit to unusual customs here.

BANG-UP JOB
MISSILLON, Ohio — A rolling stone may gather no moss, but it can damage the siding, lathing and plaster of a house.

That's what Mrs. Rufus Williams told police. She said that, while she was away at work, someone rolled a 30-pound stone down a hill into her house.

'Tower Of Babel' Aids Tech Language Students

LUBBOCK — In a basement room below the president's office at Texas Tech students are learning to hear and speak foreign languages in a laboratory that is quieter than most libraries.

Seen while entering the new lab are signs saying "Ruhe", "Silence", "Silencio" and "Silentium" admonishing you to keep quiet in German, French, Spanish, and Latin — representing the languages taught at Tech.

The lab contains an electronic "Tower of Babel", established by the foreign languages department to aid students to acquire greater facility in speaking another tongue.

Headed by Dr. Harley Oberhelman, the Foreign Languages Sound Laboratory is already proving to be a popular place for serious students of languages. The lab contains 20 individual audio tape machines, earphone sets for listening, nine tape recorders to perfecting pronunciation.

"In this lab, students are able to listen to material recorded with class work. Or, they listen to drill exercises and record their answers on the same tape. While students are required to use the lab, the grade is given for more than 200 students new facility a total of 100 during the first week of classes.

REP. WALTER ROGERS WRITES:

Broader Education Possible With Educational Television

To the people of the 18th District:

All over the country steps are being taken in various forms to implement the medium of television for education purposes. This is, I believe, a grand significant move forward and is certainly a wonderful use of the medium.

Educational television is gaining prominence and growing for two primary reasons — the almost unlimited audience which can utilize a televised classroom and the growing realization of the people of an ever-increasing need for a broader education.

The television industry has advanced to the stature of a giant in a shorter time than any other comparable new facet of our economy on the American scene throughout history. The possibilities of its utilization for disseminating education have been recognized for a long time, but the actual establishment of specific television classrooms has met with considerable obstacles, prime of which have been the financing of construction and maintenance facilities. Unlike commercial television, few were able or willing to foot the bill for educational television.

When the Federal Communications Commission issued the original television allocations plan in 1952, it set aside 242 (256 today) television channels for the exclusive use of non-commercial, educational stations. Today, 12.7 per cent of the VHF channels and 11.3 per cent of the UHF channels are reserved for non-commercial, educational purposes.

Of these, 18 are reserved for Texas, one of which is for Amarillo, and one for Lubbock. In the six years since FCC reserved approximately 12 per cent of all television channels for this purpose, only 56 educational stations are today serving an area of more than 50 million people, from Massachusetts to California, and from Minnesota to Texas.

The failure to use these reserved channels is not the result of lack of interest. Numerous problems must be met in activating the channels, and it has been necessary in most local situations to organize different segments of the community — civic, cultural and educational — to bring about operation of these educational stations. In many cases, the problems of fund-raising resulted in long delays.

The big problem facing American educators, who would certainly like to utilize television for educational purposes, is the lack of funds to pay for the basic installation of the television facilities and stations.

Experience has demonstrated that once a television station has been built, state legislatures, local educational systems, and local communities at large have raised funds to produce the programs over these stations. Outstanding program service has been provided in many communities with relatively limited funds. The one main problem, then, is to secure the basic funds to build the station in the first place.

Remarkable progress has been made in establishing the stations now operating and current experimentation reveals unlimited potentialities for the future of educational television. A division of the Ford Foundation — the Fund for Advancement of Education — has instituted a nationwide course on television in conjunction with one of the networks which, as many of you know, is being televised in the Panhandle.

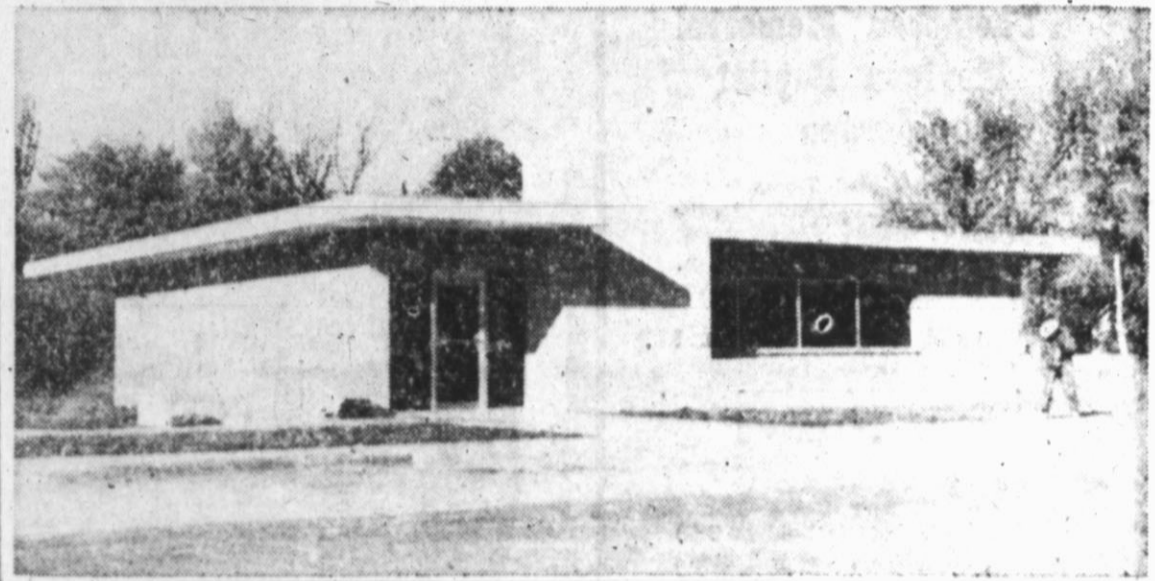

This course deals with nuclear physics, and has, I understand, the benefit of some of the best teaching talent available on the subject. In the Washington, D. C., metropolitan area, educational television commenced last month on the elementary school level, and some 30,000 pupils in the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades now attend television science class twice a week right in their own classrooms.

Colleges, secondary schools, communities and organizations of every kind all over the United States are realizing and beginning to take advantage of the great use which can be made of this medium. I believe it is a good new step and one which will bring inestimable benefits to our society.

18th District of Texas

An Inspired Life

Oh, the power of an Inspired life. Joan of Arc opened the eyes of the world and established for all time a place in world affairs for consecrated womanhood. Her conviction, courage, enthusiasm and determination won for her battles that could hardly be won. She fixed her eyes on God and found her answer. Young churchmen today are leading a wicked world to God. As Joan looked up and got her answer, may we in the same measure of consecration and faith look to God and get our answers. May the Christian dignity exemplified in her behavior be ours.

Texas Farm Bureau Slates Silver Anniversary Meeting

US CHRISTI — The silver anniversary convention of the Texas Farm Bureau will be held at the Exposition Hall, Hereford, Texas, Nov. 9-12.

More than 1,500 members of the organization, including 800 official voting delegates from 196 organized counties, are expected to attend the 25th annual meeting of the rapidly-growing state Farm Bureau. Convention headquarters will be in the Exposition Hall, with general sessions in the Exposition Hall and special events such as a contest and banquet in the Memorial Coliseum.

The first general session will be at 9 a.m. Nov. 10 in the Exposition Hall, with Edwin Sanderson, Paris, secretary-treasurer, presiding. The Rev. Barcus Moore, pastor of St. Luke's Methodist Church in Corpus Christi, will give the invocation. Mayor Farrell Smith will make the welcoming address and R. C. Miller, Orange Grove, District 12 director, will give the response.

A recognition program honoring counties for outstanding achievements in public relations, membership acquisition and service-to-member activities will also be that morning. Following will be the annual report by the secretary-treasurer and the annual message by the president.

Monday afternoon will be devoted to commodity and special conferences and district caucuses, which will be held in various downtown hotels. The following conferences are scheduled: Livestock, Field Crops, Poultry, Dairy, Natural Resources, Research, Rural Roads, Education-Welfare-Safety, and Young People.

The two-year terms of directors from districts 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 will be expiring this year, and nominations for these positions will be made at the district caucuses affected. Election of directors will be at the business session on the final day of the convention. The board of directors will elect officers for the ensuing year at a meeting immediately following adjournment of the convention.

Finals of the state-wide search for the 1958 Texas Farm Bureau Queen will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Memorial Coliseum, with Melvin Munn, Dallas, public relations director for Blue Cross, acting as master of ceremonies.

Thirteen district queens will be competing for the queen's crown and $500 to attend the national convention in December in Boston. All contestants will receive wrist watches as well as expense-paid trips for themselves and their matron escorts to the Corpus Christi convention.

John C. White, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, will be main speaker at the Tuesday morning general session in the Exposition Hall. A group of educators and Extension Service officials from the Texas A and M College system will present a demonstration on "Vertical Integration in Texas Agriculture."

Two major addresses will highlight the afternoon session: one by Ed Lipscomb, Memphis, Tenn., public relations director, National Cotton Council; and the other speech by Charles B. Shuman, Chicago, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Charlie Scruggs, associate editor of The Progressive Farmer magazine and chairman of the Farm and Ranch Safety Committee of the Texas Safety Council, will present an award to the winner of the 1958 "Safest Tractor Operator Contest."

Speakers at the annual banquet on the evening of Nov. 11 will be Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Barney, Corpus Christi, who will relate some of their experiences on a trip behind the Iron Curtain. Burney is a distinguished Corpus Christi lawyer. The annual dance will follow the banquet.

The final and most important session will begin at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 12, in Exposition Hall when the business session is called to order. After a report by the credentials committee and the seating of official voting delegates, the tentative resolutions will be read and voted on. Delegates will either adopt, reject or amend these tentative resolutions. Adopted resolutions dealing with state-level issues become the policy of the Texas Farm Bureau for the ensuing year. Approved resolutions dealing with national matters become the recommendations to the AFBF convention Dec. 7-11 in Boston.

Officers of the Texas Farm Bureau are: J. H. (Harrell) West, Bishop, president; C. H. DeVaney, Coahoma, vice president; and Edwin Sanderson, Paris, secretary-treasurer.

The Texas Farm Bureau ended 1957 with 72,681 member-families. Its goal this year is 80,000, which would be sufficient to make the organization the largest state Farm Bureau in the south and fourth largest in the nation.

Long Time Ago

45 Years Ago

The suggestion made by L. Baskin that Main street be worked by volunteers has met with approval by many of the citizens. Judge C. D. Wright offers the suggestion that, as November 5 and 6 has been named by the governor as special days for road working in Texas, the patriotically inclined citizens of Hereford turn out en masse and put Main street in presentable condition. Teams, wagons, picnics, shovels, rakes, hoes or any other instrument of good roads building could be utilized. It would be well for the Chamber of Commerce to call a meeting and lay plans for a general holiday and work day combined.

About Your HEALTH

Air is the most important one commodity for the existence of man. He can go for weeks without food, a very few days without water, hours without protection from the elements, but only a few minutes without his most precious commodity — air.

The importance of clean air is indicated by the fact that Governor Daniel has set aside this week, Oct. 19-25, as "Cleaner Air Week."

This is an excellent period for all of us to evaluate the air cleanliness of our communities and if it is not all that it should be to in turn evaluate the efforts the community is making to control the air cleanliness for us.

William F. Kimbrough, James W. Kuhlman, Edgar M. Dennis, Carol A. Lindemann, Simon R. Elliott, Charles K. Hodges, Billy J. Kelly, Ted L. Sumner, G. W. Suggs, Hugh F. Greiner, Darrel R. Read, Ivan E. Sinclair, Don R. Parsons, Clement G. Pond Jr., Carl W. Sims and William R. Albracht, all 2S; Juan F. Escarrega, Patricio Estrada, Dickie D. Fellers, Donald I. Willoughby, Epifanio M. Flores, Joe A. Everett Jr., Jesus P. Ruiz, David Reyna, Emilio R. Urteaga, Claude B. Sherrill, Eusebio E. Ramos, Alfonso F. Guajardo, Antonio P. Valdez, Arlis L. Edwards, Jesse Valdez and Margarto L. Martinez, all 4F.

Are you as an individual citizen satisfied with your communities' air standard? A number of communities throughout Texas are happily enjoying the benefits of good clean air without effort to control it. Unfortunately, many other communities are not so blessed and are therefore concerned with the cleanliness of the air over their communities.

It isn't only the big industrial cities that have difficulties. Any Texas town that has any kind of industry, including cotton gins, may have a problem without realizing it. Should there be such a problem, it certainly would be well to take inventory of the efforts your community is making in your behalf regarding cleaner air.

Already there is much study and effort being done in Texas to evaluate and remedy some of the air pollution problems. The State Department of Health has completed its part in a national air pollution appraisal. The report of the complete findings is being readied.

Cooperating in the national air sampling network are eight stations in Texas at Dallas, Houston, Port Lavaca, Austin, Waco, San Antonio, Fort Worth and El Paso.

Dallas and Houston operate on a permanent basis while the rest serve only one year in three, however, some operate every other year. These air samples are analyzed for dust and other solid materials, and beta radiation activity. In addition the State and local departments of health cooperate with the Atomic Energy Commission in sampling a-tom bomb fallout, with the aid of the U. S. Public Health Service.

Some cities have their own separate programs for studying air pollution and several additional cities and counties have active air pollution committees trying to conduct their own separate surveys. Every cleaner air program needs the individual support of all its citizens.

NEW YORK (AP) — The major movie theaters along Broadway are supplying a new service for customers now, but without too many takers so far. Patrons get free parking at midtown garages by having their claim check stamped at the box-office. Although the usual parking fee is about $2, the number of motorists taking advantage of the deal averages about 120 weekly per theater.

County Program Building Committee Holds Meet

By ARGENT DRAPER
Last week we missed the tea given by the Hereford Garden Club. Lois Rutter and Gladys Manjeot were kind enough to bring to the office the canned spiced fruit and a lovely winter corsage.

The corsage was yellow, brown and orange, made of yellow chrysanthemums with purple plum leaves and dock tied with a yellow and orange ribbon. Lola Rose suspected that someone had been peeping at the corsage and ribbon was the exact color of the yellow dress trimmed in orange which I was wearing.

The County Program Building Committee is off to a good start. The annual meeting was held on Thursday of last week. Bill Lenderman presided in Don Guseman's absence — you know that Don and Bill were chairman and vice chairman.

The group selected new officers. They are Helen Parsons, chairman, Walter Johnson, vice chairman and Johnnie Turrentine, secretary-treasurer.

The committee will meet twice each year with the sub-committees meeting beforehand. This is a very reasonable way to plan the program for the extension personnel in the county. The idea of the committee is to meet the needs of most people in Deaf Smith County.

The committee on windbreaks and landscaping recommended that one farmstead in each Commissioner's precinct be used as a demonstration. So if some of you are interested in landscaping your farmstead and really plan to go all the way, why don't you let some of us know? I think the committee will enlist the help of Max Schrader, Walter Johnson, Gladys Manjeot, Howard Armstrong and some other specialists.

This is also the committee that wants to work on eliminating blind corners on the farm and rural roads. Driving round town, I think this could be a project for the City of Hereford, too. Corner planting and hedges growing to the corner makes driving dangerous. At some places you have to be in the intersection before you can see an approaching car.

Have been hearing a lot of comments on Jeanette Faulkenberry's demonstration on "Skillet Meals." In fact, it has inspired me to work on some new meals that can be cooked in the skillet.

Things are really buzzing with us trying to get ready to go to College Station and get our plan of work in by Nov. 15.

A letter from Jessie Radovich sending a funny picture of a girl — she imagines being a 4-H girl trying a dress on her sub-teenage brother. It was on American Weekly front of the Dallas Times Herald. Jessie says they are doing fine and like living in Dallas.

through the Fair in Dallas Friday Oct. 3, and to return Oct. 6.

A total of 34 boys signed up for the trip, with Mr. Robinson, vocational agricultural instructor, accompanying them. It was announced that the chapter's educational exhibit on "The Feeding of Stilbestrol to Increase Beef Profits" had won in the second division at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo.

Also, the chapter was informed that several local boys had done very well with their exhibits of wheat in Amarillo. Eugene Vasek took fourth place and Jo-Mya Beznor won ninth place.

The local chapter has a total membership this year of 107 boys in school, 28 of them Freshman, with a total of 110 active F. F. A. members. The two instructors are Jess Robinson and Wade Thompson. Among the projects of the local chapter are the selling of popcorn, hotdogs, and programs at all home games.

Plans are being made for the Amarillo District Leadership Contest, which will be held Nov. 25 in Hereford. At a recent district meeting in Amarillo, Joe Reinauer, local chapter secretary, was elected district president.
