Presidential Campaign Ends Tuesday

Republican Workers

Last minute attempts are made by Republican party workers [L-R] Mrs. Billie Sonneberg and Mrs. Agnes Hicks to encourage voters to cast ballots for the Ford-Dole ticket and other Republican candidates. They are part of the force that has manned the Republican headquarters located at 1503 East Park Ave.

Students Vary On Thoughts Of Presidential Candidates

Brand Staff Writer America's children may not be casting ballots during the national election Tuesday, but their little minds are not apathetic about the impending event.

A group of second and third grade students from local elementary schools were canvassed this week concerning their political awareness and some interesting replies were gleaned from their candid opinions.

Three questions were asked of the young sprites: (1) Who is Jimmy Carrer?, (2) Who is Gerald Ford? and (3) What is the

Voters Cast Ballots At 11 Polling Places

The Tuesday presidential election gets underway at 7 a.m. and continues through 7 p.m. according to Deaf Smith County Clerk B.F. Cain.

As of the deadline at 5 p.m. Friday, a total of 332 persons absentee voted in the election. This represents an increase of 42 persons over those casting absentee ballots in the 1972 presidential contest.

Cain said that 138 ballots were requested by mail and another 194 voters appeared in person to cast ballots. It was at least one hopeful sign that voter turnout in the election may be more than expected.

A total of 5,074 voted in the 1972 election with an absentee ballot count of 290 persons.

Another indication that voters may be out in numbers is that the amount of registered voters is 752 more than the number registered in the May Democratic primary. However, nationwide, reporters tell the public that voter apathy is higher than it ever has been although it could be more indecision than anything due to the close race.

In the last Harris poll, Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter polled only 47 per cent of the electorate while Republican nominee Gerald Ford cut Carter's lead with 46 per cent of the voters. The remaining were undecided.

Registration cards should be in the possession of voters when they appear at polling booths.

Brand News Editor Decision day is almost here and voters are still puzzled over their selection for president, vice president, and most other political races facing them on Tuesday. Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. at precinct voting boxes listed on a separate story in this issue

According to the most recent Harris Poll. Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter maintains a slight lead worth 47 per cent of the electorate while Republican nominee Gerald Ford holds 46 per cent of the voters. The remaining seven per cent of those polled are undecided.

CARTER HAD AN EARLY lead in the summer shortly after the Democratic Convention, but it has been sliced mostly due to some of his slipups such as the Playboy article interview and the charge he is fuzzy on the issues. Ford, though has made his mistakes such as claiming countries behind the iron curtain are not under the direct control of Russia.

Louis Harris, founder of the Harris Poll, claimed in a television interview Friday night that the question of which candidate is most honest has changed voter decisions. He claimed that Ford has always maintained an image of integrity and supposedly has proven honest in government. Carter is considered honest although voters seem more apprehensive about him, the poll shows.

Locally, the Republicans have been waging a strong fight for their candidates primarily Jim Reese of Odessa. He is hallenging incumbent George Mahon of Lubbock, who has held his powerful 19th Congressional District seat for over 42

It is a touchy race since Reese has heavily attacked Mahon's age, late 70's, and claims he has been influenced toward literal votes to save his power chairmanship of the appropriations committee. He says he is the voice of conservative thought in West Texas.

Mahon, however, has been endorsed by conservative organizations and says his votes in 1976 have been conservative. He relies heavily on his power base as a means to get things done for West

ANDY SHUVAL, CO-CHAIRMAN of the Carter campaign here and county Democrat Club president, said in an inclusive story in The Brand Friday that the Democrat Party can carry the county with about 53 per cent of the vote. This was based on a survey conducted by party workers in each precinct.

Wes Fisher, county Republican Party chairman and Reese campaign organizer, said late Friday that an estimate by their party forces indicates the County will vote Republican by as much as 60 per cent of the ballots. This is more for president Ford and his running mate Robert Dole as ballots may be split among both parties.

He said that any voters needing rids to to the polls may call the Republican party headquarters at 364-5181 and a ride will be arranged no matter whether the person plans to vote for Ford or Carter.

The Democrat Party doesn't have a permanent headquarters, but it is arranging rides also. It is headed up here by Shuval and Raymond Higginbotham, co-chairman of the Carter campaign, Robert Strain is the county Democrat Party chairman.

Both parties have promoted their candidates much in the same way with bumper sticker, campaign buttons, calls to voters, campaign rallies and door-to-door visits.

THE REPUBLICANS have mounted a stronger effort for Reese over any other candidate since he is the first candidate in some time to buck Mahon. Fisher said by the election, the Republican workers should have contacted every house in Hereford by door-to-door visits.

Shuval said that Democrats have conducted a heavy telephone calling (See ELECTION, Page 2A)

Mechanical Cow Gains Attention

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) - What has three wheels, weighs 800 pounds, can spin on a dime and looks like a golf cart wearing a costume? It's a battery-powered mechanical cow, and Dick Knight says, "We call 'er Elsie."

Knight trains horses that specialize in "cutting" a cow from a herd and blocking its return so it can be weaned, examined, branded or sent to market.

He said Friday that he's delighted with Elsie, although some horses are a bit startled the first time as Knight demonstrated the machine, sitting inside on a practice run. Doc's Tom Tucker perked up its ears. Elsie approached, then lurched quickly and repeatedly as Elsie twisted and turned but held his ground as a cattle-cutter must.

Inside the machine, Gray was using two levers to steer. Four heavy-duty. rechargable six-volt batteries powered its two 11/2 horsepower motors.

"With a cow, you go where she wants to go. With Elsie, we can control where she goes, and repeat the same moves as long as it takes to get the horse trained," Knight explained.

Knight, who charged about $300 for a month's training, said he uses Elsie for 95 per cent of the work. But he still likes to test a horse against live cattle every week or two.

Elsie was put together by Mechanical Animated Animals, Inc., of Elgin, Ill., which began manufacturing the fiber glass machines last December. General manager Ed Heaney said about 60 have been sold in the United States.

fingerprint, use it!

At a time when democracy is on the wane throughout the world, it is vital that we elect leaders dedicated to the principles in which we believe. Voting also belies the Communists' claim that the death of our free way of life is ordained by history.

At the top of the ticket, the so-called blunders of President Ford and Gov. Carter regrettably have overshadowed the subtance of their respective positions during the campaign. Campaign rhetoric has also filled the Congressional races, where it is equally crucial to select those most likely to uphold the values that have made America strong.

On the local scene, the national races of most interest will be those for President, U.S. Senator, and U.S. Representative. We predict Deaf Smith County voters will split on the Presidential race, but will

Dole To 'Rev Up' Campaign

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) -Republican vice-presidential candidate Bob Dole says his remaining job before Tuesday's election is to "rev up" supporters, criticize the opposition and to 'stay out of trouble."

Buoyed by recent polls showing GOP gains, Dole campaigns again today in California - with its prize of 45 electoral votes - with stops planned in Sacramento, Visalia, Bakersfield and Ontario. "We're winning, we're winning,"

Dole told a rally in a San Jose, Calif.,

Higher Car Prices Announced

DETROIT (AP) - Ford Motor Co. says higher-than expected labor costs may force it to raise the price of 1977-model cars beyond the 5.9 per cent average increase already announced.

Ford said Friday the new three-year contract with the United Auto Workers will increase labor costs by 13 per cent in the first year. That means the cost of 1977 cars may be as much as 9 per cent high than this year's, according to the Fisher said recently that a survey shows Reese with 36 per cent margin of the votes while Mahon has only 27 per cent with the rest remaining undecided. "It will be close, but we're giving him (Mahon) a hard race;" he said. "No matter who wins, at least we will have had an impact on the winners. Even Carter will affect Ford if he (Carter) and Rep. George Mahon in the Congressional races.

We would not be surprised to see the Ford-Dole ticket win in this county. While this is traditionally Democratic territory, it is also considered "conservative" country and the national Demo party is controlled by liberals. Gov. Carter's stand for more government programs and more government spending is not particularly pleasing to some local Democrats. But the man at the top of the ticket doesn't make any difference to many party faithfuls.

Sen. Bentsen probably hurt himself with some Texas voters by starting a Presidential campaign and then withdrawing, because he made some unpopular moves while trying to acquire national status. We think he'll still win re-election and will carry our county.

Rep. Mahon has a tough opponent in Jim Reese--a young man who makes a lot of sense to area conservatives. But, Mahon's record is hard to overcome and his position and power for his Congressional district may never be matched again. Mahon's biggest handicap, we believe, is his age. Most voters, however, can only hope that they'll be as sharp and spry as this distinguished gentleman when they reach his age. Some areas polls have indicated Mahon will win by at least 2 to 1, and we agree with that estimate.

But remember--however you intend to cast your ballot, the most important thing is to select those you believe will do the best job and go to the polls Nov. 2!

Music Teacher Turns Her Lessons Into a Playground of Learning

By CONNIE GRZELKA NEW YORK (AP) - Children love music - until they begin taking music lessons. Then the instrument they enjoyed for plunking out odd notes suddenly becomes a symbol of frustration, says Madeleine Carabo-Cone, who has transformed the "pain and mis-ery" of musical theory into fun.

Her students hop, skip and jump their way into the fundamentals of music. They use hundreds of games and even sip their juice in rhythm.

The professional violinist and teacher says right off: "Music is difficult to learn. The problem is getting it down to an ac-cessible level and making it easy to grasp — to be able to hold it in your hand."

Her students do just that. The floors, walls, tables and even Miss Carabo-Cone herself all She uses the "Grand Staff" as the basis for her teachings. It consists of 10 lines with the bass clef taking up one side and the treble clef on the other half. Pointing to the huge staff on her studio floor, Miss Ca-rabo-Cone says she divides it into "upper and lower play-grounds"

The children walk on the lines, curl up on them and "become" the musical notes by identifying with a certain spot on the staff.

A table with a "Grand Staff" tablecloth is where whole, half and quarter notes are formed with pretzel sticks, cookies and candy mints. There's also a "Grand Staff" box and wall

"As a child, I used to get nervous when preparing for violin concerts. I had to memorize the piece and always wished I could have the music in front of me. One day, I put ribbons on the floor in lines and began jumping from line to line relating each note to the next. And it worked.'

Because her method emphasizes the child's native abilities, she says it has been particular-ly helpful in teaching dis-advantaged children. Teachers have reported that students' perceptions have risen after participating in classes.

For some 10 years, Miss Carabo-Cone visited disadvantaged areas around New York instructing teachers in her method. She now spends most of her time traveling around the country conducting teacher training workshops.

She explains that after a few hours in one of her workshops, 'teachers who know practically nothing about music find that they can lead a musical program successfully.

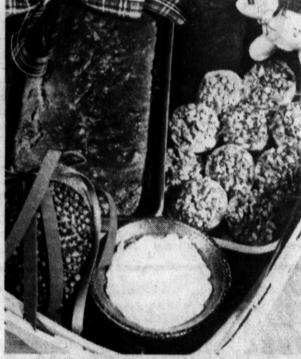

"I feel that a child can't learn an instrument and theory together - it's too much to absorb at once. He needs a foundation of note recognition and time values before he can pick up an instrument and play,"

MUSIC LESSONS strike a high note for the children in Madeleine Carabo-Cone's class as they take position on her studio floor playground in New York for a musical learning game. Miss Carabo-Cone uses hundreds of games to teach the youngsters the fundamentals of music.

LUBBOCK--"During four of the last five year, South Plains peach growers have lost either all or a significant part of their peach crop to late freeze int he spring. Although in some years growers are able to produce a good crop, they risk losing everything during a crucial two to three-week period in late March and early April."

This conclusion led Dr. Bill Lipe, research horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, to try an old-fashioned remedy known as evaporative cooling which would delay blooming until freeze danger is past.

"The peach tree goes dormant in October," explains Lipe, "and remains in winter rest until early January on the South Plains. At that time, buds begin developing during periods of favorable temperature, or

Lipe says that cooling the tree in this manner resulted in a two to three-week delay in

Two years ago, Lipe reports, in an experimental orchard near Seminole, the last damaging freeze occured March 24 when 80 per cent of the blooms were open. Treated trees had only 40 per cent blooms open. A more than adequate crop was saved from the treated trees. The next year, in 1975, a severe freeze occurred March 27 (18 degrees F) when 100 per cent of the blooms were open in the orchard, but only 65 per cent in treated plots. While the rest of the orchard was entirely lost, an adequate crop was saved from the treated trees.

Later, other freezes occurred April 2 and 3 (25-26 degrees,) and April 9 (28 degrees). reducing the treated crop to one-half bushel per tree compared to none in the remainder of the orchard.

This year, says Lipe, the last damaging freeze occurred March 20 (22 degrees F) while more than 95 per cent of blooms were open on check trees and less than 10 per cent were open on treated plots. In the to a 900 per cent yield increase over the unprotected trees.

"In terms of water use efficiency, we have found that the best time to use such a system on the South Plains is January 1 to march 1," says Lipe. "During that period in 1976, water consumption by spraying was estimated at 17 acre inches. In additon to cooling the trees, adequate amount of water reached the ground to satisfy irrigation requirements."

The researccer points out that the mechanism of evaporative cooling has potential in semi-arid regions with low relative humidity and adequate supplies of quality water. It has been adopted on apples in several western areas and has potential for peaches as well, he

F B Federation Head Has Plan On Deficit Spending

the 2,500,000-member-family American Farm Bureau Federation says that farm and ranch families have a sure-fire plan to do away with federal deficit spending.

The solution? No salary increases for any elected federal official until the federal budget is balanced. Speaking Thursday (Oct. 28) before an agribusiness seminar called Houston Chamber of Commerce, Federation President Allan Grant praised Texas state "pay as you go" fiscal policies. "If states like Texas can operate on a strict, balanced budget, so can the rest of the states, and so can this nation..." Grant said. He said that farm and ranch people suggest an amendment to the U.S. Constitution requiring that Congress operate on a balanced budget each year, and that only in extreme national emergencies should this requirement be waived through concurrence of the House, Senate and executive branch.

"And while we're at it, let's HOUSTON--The president of knock out legislative authority for wage and price controls. They deal with symptoms and not the causes of inflation. They are a broken crutch, and a temptation for political misuse," Grant said.

The farm leader noted that the economic climate of Texas has been attractive to industrial growth, and linked this attraction to the fact that Texas is a right-to-work state "known for its fair-but firm-attitude toward organized labor."

"Agriculture has been concerned about what appears to be the growing monopoly power of labor unions. We see government officials, political candidates and social leaders going out of their way to appeal to, and appease, organized labor.

'If you-as businessmen-were to engage in some of the practices common to organized labor, you would be vulnerable to Federal Trade Comission and Justice Department scrutiny, and possible action.

"While raising food prices through harvesttime strikes of fruit and vegetable processors. through antiquated methods to make work, through featherbedding and slow-downs, union leaders have tried to distract consumer attention by suggesting that farmers cause higher food prices," Grant said.

He added that labor costs now represent more than half of the total food marketing bill, and make up 67.4 percent of the average food store's total operating costs.

Grant said it is unfortunate that repeal of the state right-to-work have become a major issue in the Presidential campaign. He noted that in 20 states, including Texas, the right of a worker to freely decide whether to join a union or not, has been protected by the law.

"In 30 other states, that precious right of free decision has been abridged.

"Farmers believe that the Constitution of the United States guarantees to each individual the freedom to engage in worthwhile work of his choosing, and that his freedom just not be contingent upon paying homage, or union dues, to any individual or organization," Grant conclu-

The most aggravating part of sanding a wooden floor preparatory to refinishing it is the necessity of removing every-thing from the room first. This means not only taking out the furniture, but such things as drapes, blinds, pictures, knickknacks, etc.

It will take hours or even days to accomplish this, depending on how much help you have. Therefore, it becomes important that everything be done on a schedule that will prevent you from wasting money. Make arrangements to rent a drum sahder and an edging machine at a time when you are certain all the preliminary work will be done. If you don't, you will find yourself removing furniture, taking down drapes, replacing protruding nails and tightening loose boards while your rented sander and edger stand idle at so much an hour or day.

Putting the abrasive paper on the sanding drum is fairly easy, but since different machines have slightly different constructions, have the dealer show you how it is done. The most important thing is to be sure the paper is tightly attached to the drum, a procedure which is accomplished by turning a little key you will get with the machine.

You will be using three grades of paper - coarse, medium and fine. All three cuts should be parallel with the grain of the wood, although it is best to make the first cut diagonally across the board if the floor is in very bad shape. As with any wood finishing operation, use the coarse paper first, the medium second and the fine last. Follow the same order in using the edger, a smaller machine that gets close to the baseboard and other difficult places that might be inaccessible to the drum sander.

When the motor is turned on, the sanding drum must be tilted slightly away from the floor. If it isn't, the abrasive paper may produce a groove in the wood. The same thing is true when you are ready to stop the machine. First, tilt the drum away from the floor, then turn off the motor. In short, never keep the drum in contact with the floor except when you are pushing the machine.

These sanders have dust finishing materials, among them varnish, shellac and the many synthetics. These are known as surface coatings. If you want a finishing material that sinks into the wood, use one of the penetrating types, No matter which you use, a coat of wax will add to its durability. Be sure the label on the container says that it can be used safely on wooden floors.

A GOD AGAINST THE GODS. By Allen Drury. Doubleday. 308 pages. $10. This is a rather unusual topic for Allen Drury to venture into,

For years, Drury primarily wrote politically-oriented novels, beginning with the popular "Advise and Consent." He kept his multitude of chracters and their interaction alive through a succession of sequels. All of them provided readable entertainment but none matched the success of "Advise," which was also made into a movie.

Drury calls his latest work a historical novel which attempts to tell the story of Akhenaten and Nefertiti. The name of the latter is probably more widely known, but Drury dwells mostly on the life and reign of Akhenaten and his attempt to change the worship traditions of the populace.

The author has attempted an interesting writing technique: There are no chapters per se, but there are continual sections delivered in the first-person by each character. Interesting, but it falls short. The biggest drawback is that the characters all seem alike. The various characters' speech patterns, comments, etc., show little, if any, difference. President

Rodesian Talks Continue

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) -A top aide to U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger will try to boost Britain's authority in talks on the future of Rhodesia while reconciling black demands for a rapid takeover with stiff resistance by Prime Minister Ian Smith.

William D. Schaufele, Kissinger's assistant for African affairs, flew here Saturday from the United States. He was sent officially to reinforce U.S. observers at the talks between black and white Rhodesian leaders. Unofficially, he will help British chairman Ivor Richard, who planned a round of talks today with individual black and white delegation leaders.

In formal opening speeches Friday, black nationalist leaders pressed for a transfer of power to Rhodesia's 6.4 million blacks within a year and accused Smith's regime of committing actrocities against blacks in fighting with nationalist guerril-

Too, UMTA still has more than $3 billion in a separate fund which was set up to subsidize mass-transit operating losses. This money could be diverted into capital grants for construction if needed.

The question of UMTA's spending came to light in a speech by its-administrator, Robert Patricelli, and because several large grants were announced in the past few

Those grants have caused some to question whether the Ford administration might be trying to buy good will in the Nov. 2 election. Much of the latest funds have gone to Northeastern cities where Ford could use help.

For example, UMTA last week agreed to commit $600 million to Detroit, a Democratic stronghold in the President's home state. Thursday, UMTA agreed to give New York City $89 million. It also has awarded in recent months $269 million to Buffalo, $400 million to New Jersey, and a combined total of 340 million to New York, Baltimore, Boston, Detroit, San Francisco, and Seattle.

Injured Quarterbacks Featured In Shootout

By TOM SEPPY AP Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)- The Dallas Cowboys meet the Washington Redskins in the nation's capital Sunday in what could be a shoot-out between crippled quarterbacks for the National Football Conference East Division lead.

The division-leading Cowboys have won six of seven games, losing only to St. Louis two weeks ago. Washington, 5-2, is tied for second place with the Cardinals, 5-2, who clash with the San Francisco 49ers.

Important, however, is that two victories by the Redskins would leave them the only team without a loss to another team in the division.

The starting quarterbacks on both teams, Dallas' Roger Staubach and Washington's Bill Killmer, have been injured this season but it is doubtful that either will miss the nationally televised contest.

"It could be a game between the busted finger and the sore shoulder." said Dallas Coach Tom Landry.

Martinez tapped an ouside kick following the Herd score, and teammate Sammy Davison recovered the ball on the Lubbock 49 with 5:21 left in the period.

Lawson and Paul Bell took turns running with the ball on the Herd drive, which went to the Westerner 23 before a Lawson to Martinez pass fell incomplete on fourth down.

In the second period the Herd put together another impressive drive after taking over on their own eight following an Ernest Day punt.

Ten plays moved the ball to the Lubbock 39 before Westerner tackle Wayne Teeters halted the threat by falling on a Herd fumble at the hosts' 42.

Lubbock spent virtually the entire half bottled up in their own end of the field, but finally got a break when Jeff Barker pounced on a Lawson fumble at the Herd 29 with just 58 seconds left in the first half.

Two plays later Greg Hennington picked off a Jerry Duffy Pass at the Hereford 22 to stymie the Westerners again, however.

The Hereford margin in statistics at the half was well-nigh unbelievable as Hereford had totaled 15 first downs to none for the Westerners.

The Herd's total yardage margin was 196-23 after the Whitefaces defenders had seen action on only nine plays in the 24 minutes. Lawson had 71 yards on the

Thinking about the slightly disappointing season the Hereford Whitefaces are currently going through prompted an interest in how Hereford High School football teams have performed in the past, and what the overall won-loss record might be...

A check of records of the results of Hereford grid contests from 1942 to the present (excluding Friday night's game at Lubbock High) turned up some interesting facts.

The Whitefaces sport a 174-160-10 record over the 35-year span, which computes to a .506 winning percentage, a .465 losing percentage, and a .029 percentage of ties.

In that year of 1942 the Faces went 7-0-1, and they were the only club to register a season without at least one loss on the chart.

The 1942 Whitefaces were Regional Champs after tying Phillips 7-7 in the Bi-District Championship and advancing on penetrations, and beating Wellington 14-0 in the Regional outscored their eight foes by a 280-7 count, by far the best defensive showing in the 35

The next best record in the 35-year span by a Whiteface squad came in 1945, when the Herd raced to an 8-1-1 mark and posted shutouts over six opponents.

The season ended that year in the Bi-District Championship against Phillips, which advanced that year on penetrations in a 14-14 tie. The single loss suffered by Hereford that season came at the hands of Littlefield by a 13-6 score That same 1945 squad of Whitefaces holds the distinction of being the most prolification scoring machine in the 35 year period. Hereford rang up 364. points in the ten games to only 40 by their opponents.

Five times the Faces scored 40 or more points in that happy V season, and on three occasions they put more than 50 points on the board.

Falling to the Herd that season were Dalhart, 60-0; a Dumas $7-7 Canvon 670 att bat Dimmitt and Friona by identical tol 45-0 counts. The worst team in the record books was the 1959 bunch, which registered an 0-10-0 mark, the only Hereford squad e 1942 to fail to win at least one game.

The Whitefaces came close on a four occasions that year, only to lose the game by the spread of a single touchdown. Close losses to Plainview (29-22), Olton (13-12), Littlefield (14-6), and Levelland (16-8) dotted the schedule.

Interestingly enough, through the years (excluding this as yet unfinished 1976 season; the Whitefaces have posted winning records 15 times, losing marks 15 times, and have finished at the .500 mark on four occasions.

The period from 1942-1950 was the most successful for Hereford representatives; who emerged District Champs five of those nine years.

Crowns were won in 1942. 1944, 1945, 1946 and 1950. The '44, '46 and '50 teams were co-champions.

It was to be 18 years before Hereford won another district title, however, The 1968 Faces were co-champs, but went on to lose to Kermit 21-14 in the Bi-District matchup.

The 1971 and 1973 teams have won the only crowns since then, and the '71 squad made it's further in the playoffs than any other Herd team despite sporting only 7-6 record. Wichita Falls ended that Cinderella season with a 28-87% win over the Faces in the quarter-finals of the play-offs.

In '73 Hereford won the District crown in spite of a 28-7-1 setback at the hands of Snyder; and went on to defeat Caprock 13-7 in the Bi-District clash. El Paso Coronado ended that year's hopes with a win on penetrations in a 7-7 tie in the Regionals.

The virtually even recordes compiled by Hereford teams of over the 35 years is indicated by another statistical category,

Hereford amassed 5,482 points in the era (including 1 games through the 10-7 loss to Coronado this year); while having allowed 5,280 points to

Divided by the 344 contests played that gives the Herd and 15.94 points-per-game average, while opponents have scored at a 15.35 per-game clip.

POINT OF AIM

Millard Murray

calculating recoil

How hard a gun "kicks" depends on more than caliber or gauge. Because of the law of action and reaction, muzzle energy is equalled by butt energy. To put it another way, the only reason a gun doesn't streak backward at the same speed the bullet (or shot charge) moves forward, is its greater weight.

IT FOLLOWS THAT the heavier the gun, the less the actual recoil. This is why a bantamweight 20 gauge or .300 desporter, can belt you worse, respectively, than a heavy 12 gauge or .300 Win Mag.

A factor that influences apparent recoil, is stock design. A barrel-tip always bounces up at firing. When a stock is sharply-pitched, like the old-timers', the jolt is angled and concentrated on the toe of the stock. Modern straight-line stocks minimize barrel-bounce and the energy is spread over a larger shoulder area. As a result, the recoil "feels" lighter.

RECOIL-REDUCERS

RECOIL-REDUCERS that vent gas upward through slits at the muzzle, don't cut actual recoil. (How could they?—the bullet has left the muzzle when the gas reaches the vents.) The lefting gasses keep the barrel down; the straight-line recoil is apparently less.

TAKE BOY HUNTING

Want to calculate the actual ft. lbs. of recoil your rifle or shotgun produces? Use this simple formula developed by Homer Powley, one of the industry's greatest ballisticians:

"ADD THE POWDER

"ADD THE POWDER charge in grains, to the weight of the bullet (or shot plus wad), also in grains. Multiply the total by the powder charge in grains. This product is then divided by 80 times the gun weight in pounds, to arrive at the recoil."

Example? An 8.5 lb. '06 ritle using a 150 gr bullet backed by 59 gr, of IMR 4350 The bullet and powder weigh 209 grs. Multiply this 209 by the 59 gr, of powder and you get 12,331. Next, multiply the 8.5 rifle weight by 80. The result. 680, is divided into the 12,331. The answer? 18.1 ft, lbs. of recoil. The formula, developed for use with IMR propellants, works well with nearly all powders.

Your Voting Right

We read about voter apathy, and it's not too difficult to understand why many Americans could care less about going to the polls. And yet we feel our voice must be heard, that our opinions have to count for something.

There are indications that the voter turnout on Tuesday may be extremely light. If true, this is a sad commentary on the state of American democracy. The late American jurist Learned Hand noted that: "Liberty lies in the hearts of men and women. When it dies there, no constitution, no law, nor court can save it."

The very act of participation in the election process probably says more about the health of our system of government than the outcome does. Good men and women can and do disagree on who is most fit to lead our country, our states, our counties and our cities.

But the very act of contributing to these decisions helps the best candidates to rise above the less worthy ones. Vigilance by each of us is essential if we are to pass on to our children the freedoms we hold dear, and voting is part of that responsibility.

Who to vote for? We would suggest that you consider well the men who are on the ballot, and support those you believe are most likely to uphold the values that have made America strong and free and will keep her that way as she enters her third century.

(Note: These articles do not neces reflect the opinions of this newsp As a matter of fact, they do not always reflect the opinions of the Hereford author, either. They are written because he needs the money.)

Hey Abe,

Went to your tomb not long ago up in Illinois. I guess you are embarrassed by its gaudiness but I thought it was pretty. Heard the guy tell how deep they buried you under concrete to keep someone from stealing your body. I don't guess you care much whether they steal it or not. Man, you are going to have a heck of a time getting up from there on resurrection morning. If I get up first I will borrow a jack hammer in case you need some

Hey, Abe, the sad thing to me was not that you are buried so deep but that you took some secrets with you. Some attitudes you had seem to have been buried with you. I wonder how you managed some things:

How did you do it Abe?

How did you lead without taking yourself so seriously? Gosh, now everyone is the big saviour. Sometimes I think we need saving from the Saviours. How did you manage to keep such perspective on who you were and what importance you really had? Remember how you laughed at your looks, and even agreed with those who criticized you.

Remember the guy that said you were a fool and you said you had always respected his opinion. How about you appointing a critic of yours to the cabinet because he was the best man available. How did you do that sort of thing?

How did you manage to live in a political world and not make everything a political decision. All decisions now seem to be made in the light of votes instead of right and wrong. No one can be a statesman unless he can forget votes once in awhile. How did you do that?

How did you get by with short speeches you wrote yourself? You should hear what we get now. We never hear from the person himself. It is always a political speech written by someone else. guarantee you there will be no Gettysburg Address made around here anymore.

Abe, next Tuesday we are having another election. I don't believe in the miracle stuff much but could you whomp up an appearance in the night just once. Whichever guy wins could you put some bugs in his ear?

Tell him how you did it. These are both pretty good guys, they just don't know how. Don't blame them, though; none of us know how either.

By the way, Abe, have the church folks up there ever admitted you made it? I'll bet they still wonder about you.

Ah well, such is life. We miss you...

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY- AImost a century after the fact, Texas finally got around to erecting a memorial to some of its bravest Civil War soldiers.

The monument, dedicated November 4, 1961, at Vicksburg, Miss., honors two volunteer Texas legions. Their tenacious fighting convinced Gen. U.S. Grant that Union forces couldn't take Vicksburg without a long siege.

In 1863, Grant decided to capture Vicksburg. His army outnumbered the Confederates three to one and he was certain he could take the town with one battle. On May 22, Union troops captured a hill that protected the South's lifeline railraod. When Confederate Gen. Stephen D. Lee ordered his men to retake the hill, they refused.

Then two members of Col. Thomas N. Waul's Texas Legion volunteered to recruit enough troops to win back the hill. They enlisted the help of 33 other Texans and two Alabamans. Col. Waul and one battalion supported them. In the counterattack, the Union lost 112 killed, 595 wounded and 59 missing. The Texas losses were minimal.

The same day, the 2nd Texas Volunteer Infantry, with only 468 men, held off an attack on a small fort they had built. The Texans killed 111 of the attackers, wounded 535 others and 11 Union soldiers were reported Grant realized that he could never make the tenacious Texans capitulate in a single battle. His army was forced into a siege that lasted 47 days.

The voters were a warned before the Democratic Primary by this newspaper and others not to vote for Yarbrough, but as usually no heed was paid to the advice.

The state's legal profession decided to run a write-in candidate with substantial court experience. And it isn't just by chance that his name is Sam Houston; not the one who defeated the Mexicans at San Jacinto but the present judge of the 211th Judicial District Court of Texas in Denton County.

The problem is that his name will not appear on the ballot and voters must scratch out the name of Don Yarbrough in the second column and write-in the name of Sam Houston in the final column under the Write-in heading.

Naturally, some think that Houston is a gimmick name and may instead write-in the name of Tom Lorance of Houston another write-in candidate who has no judicial experience. Houston just happened to be a combination of an experienced man with an easily remembered name.

It is essential for voters of Texas and especially Hereford to support a man like Houston so that he may poll enough to overcome the automatic election of

The election affords all angles of discussion, but one that has triggered some thought across the state has been the ballot being used by Texas for this election. It is an absolute waste of the taxpayer's money due to its excessive size. It measures about 16 and half inches in width and 21 inches in depth. An instant glance at it' and the obvious white space indicates the amount of unused paper. Since all parties had to be listed, the width had to be stretched a mile. Included are the following parties: Democratic! Republican, Raza Unida, American, Socialist Workers and Indepen-

Another factor throwing the taxpayer's money down the drain was the decision to allow Eugene McCarthy's name (Independent Party) on the ballots after they had been printed. Each of the large ballots had to be printed over at an enormous price considering several million had to be distributed.

The ballots had to be rushed to Hereford so fast that the usual sample ballots were not available.

So much for government efficiency. Of course, I never expected the red tape to be less for this election anyway, only more.

-BT-

This election still has the overtones of Watergate and Richard Nixon in it.

It's not that the Democrats have made such a big issue of it, but that no political scandal of the century is going to be forgotten in two or three years. I've heard people talking about it all through the election even though they are the same people who turn around and criticize others for bringing up the subject.

I sure don't want to forget it. We need to remind ourselves of the potential dangers of someone abusing the power granted them by the people. It happened once and I don't want to see it happen again at least not of the magnitude of Watergate.

The most graphic reminder of that era of our history came alive this week on a television game show. The question was asked of a studio audience who they thought was the most hated man in history whether he or she be dead or alive.

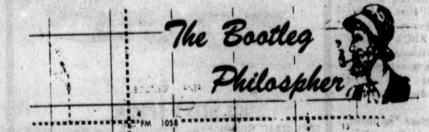

Guess Who? Well naturally, it was Tricky Dick Nixon. But the surprising fact was that he came in first over Adolph Hitler, second; The Devil, third; and Joseph Stalin, fourth.

Now, I don't have any lingering likeness for Nixon for I feel that he should have faced the courts like his underlings and possible jail. But I think he deserves a little more human kindness than being ranked below the likes of Hitler and The Devil.

Nixon just happens to be the most memorable name since he is still very much in the news. It probably wouldn't do him any harm to forget about the millions of dollars he could make off a book and become a hermit in an isolated cave. It's really not his choice, though, as the courts are still rightfully pursuing him and name. The publication of his tapes is the next major publicity release. Maybe, Dick can "coverup" his presidential years by tampering with a few history books. Maybe it's worth a try.

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg Corner thinks he has discovered something that may send politics into a tailspin.

Dear editor:

Something is happening in this country that may drive the politicians up the wall.

For a long while now, say from the time of Julius Caesar, politicians have been accused of dodging issues, of double-talk, of taking one stand today and changing it tomorrow. It's not unheard of, although he'd like for it to be that way, for politician to say one thing in Texas an just the opposite in Oklahoma, especially if no network cameras are around. And it seems to work. That is, when both candidates for the same office do it, one or the other gets elected.

Up to now, the people have always just shrugged, but the public opinion pollsters are finding a strange new out-cropping among the voters.

As you know, the polls in the Presidential election are fluctuating wildly. One week Carter will be far ahead, the next week Ford is closing in, the next week he's even, the next week Carter is ahead again, the next week it's too close to call.

Trying to explain this, a leading pollster, one who's been right in previous elections, said "Something is happening among the voters. They tell you one thing today and something else tomorrow."

That's it! The people have turned the tables on the politicians and for a change are not telling them the truth. It may have taken them over 2000 years to catch on, but it was bound to happen sooner or later.

You can see what this is going to do to the candidates. Say the polls, with the poll-ees answering tongue-incheek, show Carter is leading in Omaha and trailing in Little Rock. Immediately he rushes to Little Rock While Ford rushes to Omaha, whereas actually just the opposite is true. Multiply this by areas all over the country and you can see what a hilarious mess is going to result.

Sounds like more fun than a barrel of monkeys, although there's really no need to be bringing Congress into this.

Yours faithfully,

Favored Tech Comes From Behind For Vital 31-28 Win Over Texas Saturday

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

AP Sports Writer LUBBOCK (AP)- Junior tailback Billy Taylor soared like a springboard diver into the end zone on fourth down from a yard away with 7:20 to play Saturday. bringing 6th ranked Texas Tech from behind for a vital 31-28 Southwest Conference football victory over 15th-ranked Texas.

The victory kept the Red Raiders 6-0, unbeaten and untied and put them into a SWC tie with Arkansas at 3-0.

Poised quarterback Rodney

Allison fueled the Tech comeback with his nifty scrambles and uncanny passing

Allison drove Tech 36 yards in 15 plays for the game- winning touchdown after freshman fullback Jimmy Johnson scored to put Texas on top 28-24 with 13:55 left. Allison dashed for 22 yards on a critical third and seven deep in Tech territory to keep the drive

With first and goal to go at the Texas two, the shoulder-to shoulder Longhorns put up a stiff stand and stopped Allison three straight times. Taylor, who had sommersaulted over the Texas defensive line for a touchdown in the first quarter, then delivered under pressure with a record Jones Stadium crowd of 54,187 giving approval.

Tech's defense stopped a final Longhorn drive on the Red Raider 38-yard line. Texas Coach Darrell Royal disdained a chance for a tying field goal and Tech linebacker Thomas Howard stopped Johnny (Gold Medal) Jones cold on the fourth and five play.

The preseason SWC favorite Longhorns dropped to a 3-2-1 record overall and 2-1 in the league standings.

Texas, an underdog against Texas Tech for the first time in the history for the two schools, built up a 21-10 lead early in the third period when Johnson bolted 60 yards untouched. But Allison rallied the penalty-prone Red Raiders with a five-yard touchdown gallop and Larry Isaac ripped 15 yards for a touchdown to put the Raiders back on top 24-21.

Allison scrambled 25 times for 106 yards and completed 10 of 11 passes for 87 yards in a dazzling show.

Johnson, a freshman from Pasadena, scored on three occasion and gained 101 steps games.

Tech continually lost momentum because of penalties. The Red Raiders were flagged 13 times for 79 yards and constantly stayed in hot water.

Isaac broke the career rushing record of the famed Donny Anderson with a 91-yard effort. Texas played the second half of the game without fullback

Earl Campbell who suffered 'a muscle pull. Strong safety Larry Dupre victimized Texas starting quarterback Mike Cordaro with an interception to set up the Red Raiders' first touchdown.

But backup Texas quarter back Ted Constanzo scored on a two-yard bootleg and then Johnson ripped off his three touchdown runs to daze the Red Raiders.

The 6-0 record is the best start for a Texas Tech team since 1941 and the Red Raiders have won 10 of their last 11

The new TV season

Another year older, but no wiser

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD - (NEA) -If you look at the 26 new shows the three networks have whipped up for next season, you get the feeling we've arrived at the crossroads.

We're either going forward or backward. One thing, we're not standing still. The schedule shows a few things that are definitely new and innovative and exciting, as well as a few things that smack of the 1950s and 1960s.

Would you believe an invisible man? And a detective that's really a robot? And a few other similar departures from inventiveness.

On the other, better hand, there is NBC's Best Sellers, which could be the start of something very important. Every Thursday, Best Sellers will present a chapter from a top novel. Some novels will run a few weeks, others perhaps up to 12 or 14 weeks. NBC also has a new gimmick on the Sunday schedule, although this is more of a ruse than anything else. It's called The Big Event, but what it really is is a catchall for specials and movies that the network feel are particularly big.

Already set to be spotted in this Big Event period are such important shows as the TV premiere of "Gone With the Wind," in November; a fourhour telecast commemorating NBC's 50th anniversary; documentaries, such as one about the search for the Loch Ness beastie; an all-new "Peter Pan" and other biggies.

Another milestone in this '76-'77 season could be the return of the western. It's hardly innovative but we haven't had a new western in some time. The TV brass is waiting to see what the public reaction will be. If it's favorable, there could be

The new one is NBC's Quest, a Wednesday entrant. This has Kurt Russell and Tim Matheson as two brothers one raised as an Indian searching for their sister who they believe is living with In-

Lately, it's all been cops and robbers, in the adventure field. This year, there are a couple of other approaches that bear watching.

Both curiously, have an aviation motif. CBS' Spencer's Pilots looks at the seedy world of free-lance aviators. Gene Evans is the owner of a small company and Christopher Stone and Todd Susman are his two reckless and romantic pilots.

The other is NBC's Baa Baa Black Sheep, the story of World War II ace Major Gregory (Pappy) Boyington and his raucous crew. Robert Conrad is Boyington.

But, you lovers of cops and robbers, don't be downhearted. There are seven new shows designed just for you. This year, we find them scraping the bottom of the idea barrel to come up with several new approaches.

We'll have a team of three beautiful women fighting crime (ABC's Charlie's Angels); a robot teamed with a regular cop (ABC's Holmes and Yoyo); a crime fighter who can make himself invisible at will (Ben Murphy in NBC's Gemini Man) and a coroner who fights crime (Jack Klugman as Quincy, a new element on NBC's Sunday Mystery Movie)

There are three others where they haven't even tried to be unusual, instead going with good actors - Judd Hirsch on CBS's Delvecchio, a police detective; Robert Stack on ABC's Most Wanted, ditto; and David Birney as Serpico, NBC's version of the cop fighting police corruption.

Last year's successes -Rich Man, Poor Man and Family, both shown on ABC in limited series - are back this coming year as full-fledged series. Together, with CBS's Executive Suite, they form a block of programming that has to be described as glorified soap operas.

There are three new variety hours on this fall's schedule Two feature TV veterans. Dick Van Dyke fronts Van Dyke & Co. for NBC and Bill Cosby has his own new show for ABC. Both of these are aimed Then there is The Captain and Tennille, a recording duo that will have its own show on

That brings us to the everpopular area of situation comedies. A couple of them seem promising, as they featured tried-and-true TV stars -Nancy Walker and Tony Randall, who will each have a show on ABC tailored to their own special talents.

The other four are CBS's Alice (Linda Lavin as the character established in the movie, "Alice Doesn't Live Here Any More"); CBS's Ball

Four (with a baseball motif and starring ex-major leaguer Jim Bouton); CBS' All's Fair (Richard Crenna and Bernadette Peters in something with a newspaper setting) and ABC's Mr. T and Tina (the season's only ethnic entry. about a Japanese gentleman who hires an American girl as governess for his children)

That's the new season, folks. At this point, it seems to hold more promise, more hope, than any season we've had in five or six years. Let's that promise materializes.

MOST WANTED criminals are the quarry of Robert Stack (r), Shelly Novack (l) and Jo Ann Harris in yet another cop show, as ABC continues to lean heavily on action series.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG AP Newsfeatures

Q. - We have to buy some furniture soon. Is solid wood better than veneer? Is hardwood better than soft? Is there any way we can tell good quality furniture from poor? A.-Detailed answers to those three questions would fill this page and, even then, you would have to do a lot of looking to get the knack of determining degrees of quality. For example, a veneer top on a table is generally placed there because it has a better appearance than the wood to which it in different thicknesses and types that affect the quality of the entire piece of furniture. Hardwoods usually are stronger than softwoods, but there are notable exceptions, and wood finishing techniques are so re-fined that it often is difficult to tell one from the other. Good quality furniture is well constructed, but the manufacturers of interior furniture know what well-informed customers have learned to look for and sometimes use little gimmicks to make something appear what it isn't. Sounds discouraging, doesn't it?

It's not quite that bad, since you can learn to spot good quality. Go to a furniture store or department that specializes in high-priced furniture (yes, price is generally a criterion) and observe carefully all the details of the various items the joints, the insides of drawers and cabinets, the finishes, etc. Now go to a store where the furniture is much lower in price and do the same. A few visits like that and you'll soon find yourself quickly noting the differences in construction. And, of course, the reputation of the dealer is important. That of the dealer is important. That applies equally to the sellers of expensive and inexpensive furniture and grades in between. The reputable dealer gives you your money's worth. Every-body can't afford high-priced furniture and sometimes those who can, don't want it, simply because it doesn't fit in with their life style.

Q. — A lighted candle on our dining room table dripped wax on the table top. It wasn't noticed until the next day and now I'm afraid to apply any-thing to remove it for fear of ruining the finish. How can it be taken off safely?

A. There is always some risk in the removal of wax or any other substance from a polish finish, but if you work very slowly and carefully, it can be done without damaging the sur-face. If the wax appears to be face. If the wax appears to be very hard, scrape it gently with your fingernails, being sure to scrape the wax and not the table top. If the wax is not hard, make it so by holding an ice cube on it. Keep a cloth handy so you can instantly wipe off the dripping water. Some persons find a very dull knife better than fingernails for the scraping, but the latter is safer. Once all or most of the wax has been taken off, rub with a cloth saturated with polishing wax, either liquid or ishing wax, either liquid or paste. After all traces of the candle wax have disappeared, polish the entire table top.

Q. - I have just bought some furniture made of bamboo for our sun room, which is completely enclosed. I have been told that this type of furniture sometimes dries out after a year or two. Can this be prevented? I don't intend to put any finish on it.

A. — It doesn't happen very often, especially in areas where there is much humidity. To make sure no drying-out occurs, take the furniture outside about twice a year and wet it down with water from a garden

Splendid isolation and Jimmy Carter

With The Carter Campaign - (NEA) - As he endlessly reminds us Jimmy Carter was unsung, ignored and unsupported when he began his quest for the presidency. But that was then. Now as heir apparent to the Oval Office, he cannot move without the clicking of a hundred Nikons, he does not speak without the world listening in, and his support is such he has become one of the most influential men in America.

What does all this sudden fortune do to a politician? The question worries at least a few of Carter's friends, and perhaps many of his enemies. His allies fear the candidate may be losing touch with reality, which is to say people; critics speculate more harshly that he shows signs of being swept up in a process that leads to withdrawal and from thence to the dangers of Executive Isolation.

To be sure, the Georgian cannot escape some of this misfor-tune. When George Washington turned down the offers to be king, he did not end the idea that the American presidency was royalty. Therefore, Jimmy Carter is forced to be a kind of prince, protected by federal centurions, insulated from everyday life, venerated beyond reason and financed in his lofty existence by $21 million from the genuflecting citizenry.

And if elected Carter's adulation and emolluments will grow. No throne was ever occupied by men so high and mighty as presidents. The chief executive has five Boeing 707s at his disposal, also a dozen smaller passenger jets, some 16 soundproof helicopters, a yacht, a fleet of automobiles, an army of security people and more than 500 employes. Estimates are that it costs well over $50 million, and probably closer to $100 million annually to support the preside

When Tom Jefferson was in the White House, the roof leaked. When Abe Lincoln died, his widow had to beg Congress to provide her with a $5,000 yearly pension. Today, as John Dean puts it, the presidency is so magnificently privileged that "inside, you get the feeling that nothing can ever hurt you if you

And so: Executive Isolation, the disease of presidents. There is only one sure vaccine: humility. But little of it is available to those men wrapped up in the election process. One recalls George McGovern of four years ago. Before his nomination he was a wonderful hayseed, a simple man in a green irridescent suit who had a vision for America. Then the campaign got him. In the end he wound up a twisted zealot, wearing tailored attire to befit his station and burdened with a vision that had been shrunk to his own purpose.

Carter aides insist this will not happen to their champion.

Carter aides insist this will not happen to their champion. Actually some of it already has. Where once he was the most available candidate in America, walking the streets to greet the people, he has now retreated in success to the inner sanctum of his ambitions. He still greets people, but only in a carefully crafted mass audience, that sea of upturned faces which has nothing to do with the real world.

This then is the beginning of decay: the loss of being personal. The candidate has become a thing, albeit an awesome thing. He is surrounded by sentries who are authorized to kill.

thing. He is surrounded by sentries who are authorized to kill in his behalf; he is never seen in public, except by a crowd which has been gathered for the purpose; he never waits for a plane, is hampered by traffic, or lacks for powerful men and women who compete with each other for his favor.

women who compete with each other for his favor.

Small wonder that men who are thus trained for the White House often disappear entirely behind the gates of fantasy. How different the Nixon administration might have been had the man in charge been less protected from everyday America. Jerry Ford, too, in his preoccupation with telling us how good we have it, has apparently been isolated from the vulgar truths that his campaign rhetoric condemns.

As for Carter, not yet president, there are only guesses as to his potential for isolation. But clearly he is vulnerable to the process. He is a man of few friends who does not suffer criticism well;

The economics of gloom and doom

GOOD MORNING TODAY IS THE FIRST DAY OF THE END OF THE WORLD

By Randall Poe

This is the advertising pitch for a current movie, "The Omen," which is frightening people the way "Jaws" did in 1975. The dark, creepy marketing of this film reflects a new trend in movie-making. An armada of other current movies — including "Logan's Run," "The Tenant," "A Boy and His Dog," "The Devil Within Her" — also carry the doom germ. They're telling us the end is near.

'We're in the midst of an apocalyptic depression," says New York film critic Andrew Sarris. "Vietnam, Watergate, the blahs and belches of the Bicentennial make most audiences responsive to the gospel of decline and fall."
But the movies are only one vehicle on the doom caravan. Nowhere is calamity more pervasive than in modern-day economics. Doomsayers, like psychics, have found a bull market for their views. A growing number of economic Paul Reveres are crisscrossing the country, warning of bad times ahead. Even as the presidential candidates are assuring us that happy days could be here again — depending upon who is elected, the doomsayers are predicting not simply depression but collapse. Some are forecasting death by inflation. Some are projecting death by government interference. Others are specializing in the obituary of the stock market. And a few are prophesying that unholy economic trinity: mass unemployment, runaway inflation and national

The disaster scenarios, which are being scripted for confound some observers. As Edgar Fiedler, former U.S. Treasury official, puts it: Why are words such as crisis, chaos, calamity and cataclysm no longer saved for events like the sinking of the Titanic or the San Francisco earthquake but are rather the stuff of our everyday lives?" One of the highest-paid merchants of gloom is Harry Browne, a bearded free spirit who catapulted to riches in 1970. He predicted the devaluation of the dollar in a book called "How You Can Profit From the Coming Devaluation," which became a massive bestseller. Browne urged people to cash in their paper money and buy gold and silver coins. In 1974 he spun another winner - "How You Can Profit from the Coming Monetary Crisis" - which made him a kind of modernday Jeremiah.

Charging $2,500 for fourhour private consultations, Browne found his market limited. So he created a depression-inflation course on cassettes. The cost: $49.95. He has held sold-out lectures at Carnegie Hall (charging up to $40 a seat) and at other major halls. He has bought full-page ads in major newspapers showing scary pictures of the Great Depression, warning that the next depression will be much worse. It has already begun, he says. He talks of depression camps across the country and hungry people eating dandelions. "You are and your children will be cold and hungry. There will be no shoes for kids and few clothes," his ads say. But Browne, like Jeremiah, holds out hope. "Following every economic disaster in history, the few individuals who possessed the vision and courage to act decisively to preserve their wealth have always emerged as the new rich." Follow me, says

Gloom is a contagious disease. A former vice president of First National City Bank, John Exter, has carved a reputation for nimself as a consultant and lecturer. He has been warning since early this year that the U.S. economy is moving toward a crash — "a depression of unparalleled proportions." Panic and bankruptcies are ahead, he bankruptcies are ahead, he says. "The problem can only get worse. The coming depression will be more severe than the Great Depression of the 1930s. I hate to say it but many people are going to suffer."

doomsayers have been multiplying like rabbits - but they are known as "bears." They sneer at the "bulls" who hang out at Merrill Lynch. One of the most famous bears is T.J. Holt, a brilliant Chinese stock analyst whose expensive newsletters always seem to be saying: GOOD TIME TO UNLOAD. Holt is a genius at finding clouds in it's time to sell your stocks. He has been doing this for years and has developed a fancy reputation in financial circles because he has often

Most doomsayers are not very precise about when our final hour will arrive. But not Albert Sindlinger, who might be the Papa Bear of Gloom. An adviser to presidents (Nixon and Ford, among others) and major corporations, Sindlinger has been predicting a gigantic economic collapse since late last year. When his predictions didn't come through during the last three months of 1975, Sindlinger simply moved his timetable "We're being kept alive by a great hope syndrome," Sindlinger believes. "People keep hoping that there will be more jobs and more money but it's just hope. When they wake up it's going to hurt." Sindlinger, who looks like Benjamin Franklin and works out of Media, Pa., has forecast enough major flips in the economy to make people listen. His consumer surveys and advice bring him up to $100,000 a year from such major firms as Ford and Goodyear. His 22 years in the business haven't brightened his outlook.

'We are now six feet underground instead of last year's ten feet," he says. "But we're still underground. Things are being propped up because people are spending gains they don't have. We are living on false financial statements. Businesses, banks and people are carrying assets they couldn't possibly sell tomorrow. Catastrophe is coming."

But hold it. Aren't we into the second year of a nationwide recovery?

"It's false," he said.
"Prices are coming down only for the things most people aren't buying. About 25 per cent of the people are doing all the buying. What you have is one-fourth of the people trying to pull up the other three-fourths. Anybody with half a brain can tell you that can't brain can tell you that can't last very long.

Every doomsayer has a demon. For Sindlinger, it's inflation. "If we could lick inflation, all would be ship ahoy and full speed ahead. But we're not going to do it. People are looking for increases in their incomes and that's going to cause further

The answer, he says, is to put controls on wages and prices. But he says nobody seems to be listening to him, including his political clients. Still Sindlinger keeps repeating in his rat-a-tat fashion that disaster lies ahead this year, that people are going to start selling stocks like crazy, that we'd better wake up.

Only a year ago, the doomsayers were predicting dollar-a-loaf bread, dollar-agallon gasoline, dollar-a-pound sugar. None of this came to pass, although we came close.

A landmark of 40 years took a new lease on life, a few days ago, when Mr. and Mrs. Greg Jones bought the old Andrews home and moved it southeast of Hereford about a mile, down Austin Road. They plan to decorate the two story house as they have time.

The house was built for the J.E. Andrews in 1936 and within its framework is timber taken from the old house, torn down on the location to make way for the house. The old house was of the vintage of the pioneer turn of the century houses of the area.

Old timers remember it as the Stanley home, pioneer family who was instrumental in building this country. The first Frio school house was a half dugout located a few hundred feet from the Stanley, further down on the bank of Frio Draw and was taught about 1902 by Miss Lenna Greer (later Mrs. Percy Estes of Dimmitt).

Miss Laura Harner, early teacher and later writer and historian of Amarillo, mentions the Stanley home as her boarding place, when she taught the first Frio School, the year following the dugout one, and remembered about walking across pasture lant the mile and a half to the small wooden school house which was located across the road from the present Pat Robbins home.

False Impression Given Of Car Repair Business

AUSTIN (AP)- The director of consumer affairs for Dallas said Friday one cannot conclude from the numerous complaints about auto repairs that there are "more bad guys" in the car repair business.

'Most of the complaints," C. H. Vincent told a Senate subcommittee, "are about a relatively few unscrupulous people."

The industry, he said, is making "legitimate attempts at self-regulation."

Nevertheless, Asst. Atty. Gen. Phil Maxwell said "it's a general feeling" of the state Consumer Protection Division that up to 60 per cent of the 1,500 complaints the division gets each month involve auto repairs-mostly to the engine or transmission.

Maxwell told the Senate Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs it would be "well advised to take a special look" at a proposal to protect auto owners from faulty or unnecessarily costly repairs, rather than relying on the Deceptive Trade Practices Act.

Wendell Odum of the Consumer Fraud Division in Houston said one of the major problems is where a repairman makes a low estimate, then "jacks it up" and tells the customer he was unable to get in touch with him.

'The mechanic can keep the car" if the customer refuses to pay for completed repairs, Odum said. Or, according to Odum, if the customer doesn't like the revised estimate, the mechanic might say, "The transmission is in the front seat. You can come get your car when you want it. He the mechanic

Don O'Brien of the State Board of Insurance staff said the cost of auto parts such as fenders, doors and bumpers have risen 113 per cent since Board figures have shown, he said, that a car that costs $4,438 new would cost $19,979 if built with replacement parts.

The subcommittee chairman, Sen. Ron Clower, D-Garland, said the first question auto repairmen ask is whether a wrecked car is covered by insurance. If it is, Clower said the "estimates to repair it seem O'Brien said he had heard the same complaints, but he added that he had also heard "the other side-that insurance companies are paying less than what the cost of the damage is." He said, however, "most insurance companies are doing a reasonably adequate job of adjusting claims.

Clower said the subcommittee would "sift all of the information very carefully" in developing "possible legislative

> State Representative. R.B. McAlister

I have written our congressman and senators asking them investigate Executive Order number 11921 signed by Pres. Ford and appeared in the Federal Register on June 15.

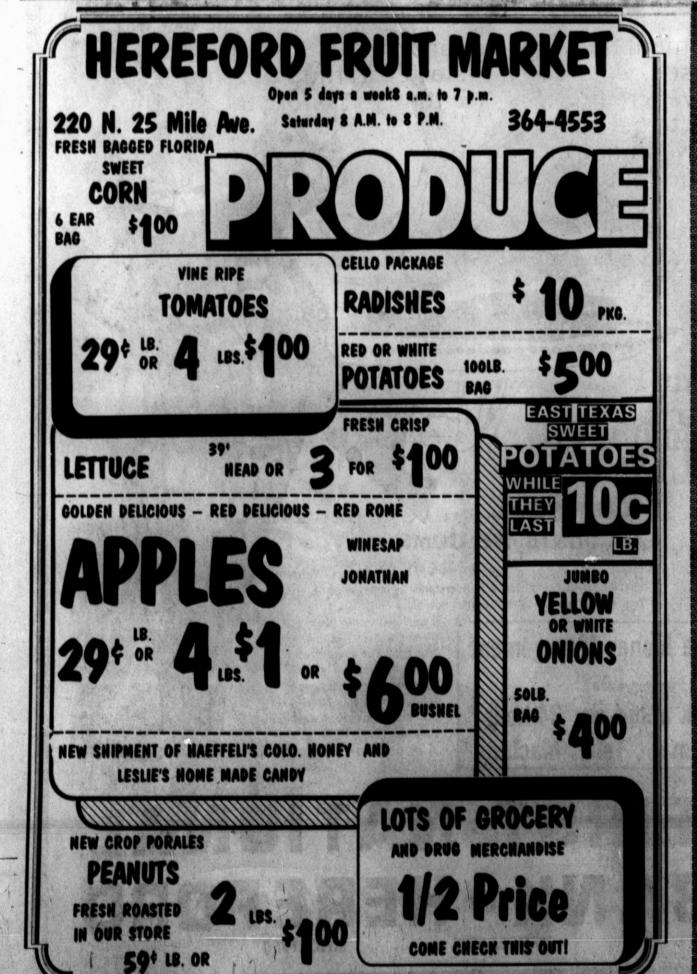

This order provides for a bureaucratic dictatorship upon declaration by the president of national emergency. It provides for a take-over of all communications media, seisure of all sources of power, control of all food resources, all forms of transportation, registering of every man, woman and child in the U.S. and much more.

Most frightening is that there is no definition of "national emergency". It is left to the judgement of the just one man-the president through existing executive orders. It is possible for one to ignore the constitution the congress and the rights and will of the people. Therefore, it is now possible for a complete dictatorship to be imposed on the American people under the veil of law.

I have asked them to nullify all executive orders.

Anyone approving executive orders 11921 should go to Russia to live

Can we afford four more years without effective leadership?

There is a critical decision to be made on November 2nd. It goes far beyond the question of which Presidential candidate can govern with integrity and honesty. We must determine which candidate has the ability and strength to lead our country out of economic chaos, and the vision to see that all Americans—not just the powerful and influential—have a better future.

During the past two years, the middle class has paid far too dear a price for a President lacking that ability.

Since Gerald Ford took office, the unemployment rate has risen 50%, from 5.5% or 5 million people, to 7.9% or 7-1/2 million jobless Americans.

Today's inflation rate of 6% is higher than it was at any time between the Korean War and the inauguration of Richard Nixon.

The 1968 food dollar is now worth 57¢.

Mr. Ford's budget will account for the largest single deficit and more than 1/3 of the public debt incurred during our entire 200-year history.

Real GNP has actually declined during each of Gerald Ford's two years in office.

And who is most affected by these distressing statistics? Not the Washington establishment, or the economic elite courted by the Republicans. The burden falls on the person who can least afford it: the average American. Jimmy Carter means to change all that. As President, he will make government responsive to your needs.

Tax Reform: "The average family in this country that makes less than $10,000 a year actually pays a higher proportion of their income in taxes than the average family that makes more than a million dollars a year. That's disgraceful. We need to move toward a truly progressive and simplified tax system, with reduced tax rates for the average American."

a balanced budget nor an end to the inflationary problems as long as we have 7-1/2 million people out of work. Employment needs to be the major thrust of the whole domestic policy of our government."

Efficiency in Government: "We now have in the federal government the most bloated, confused, wasteful bureaucracy ever created. There's no way to get an answer out of Washington and no way to understand what's going on there. We need to reorganize completely the executive branch of government, making it fair, efficient, effective, and responsive to our people's needs."

Housing: "No government that cared about our neighborhoods would stack the tax deck against them. A landlord can let a building run down and make a good living on tax breaks. But when a home owner spends a little hardearned money fixing up his home, the assessor raises his taxes. And the FHA no longer cares about families getting started in their own homes. I intend to restore the FHA to the time when, for a down payment, a family could get a mortgage which the government would insure."

How To Help Guests Stay Slim

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor

We've hit on a company supper menu to please summer's calorie-watchers as well as those carefree eaters who do not have to worry about weight problems.

Because we were bored with serving tomato juice "as is," we turned it into a cold soup by serving a lazy susan of helpyourself accompaniments to be added to it. With the soup we offered a basket of crisp French bread and a small porcelain tub of sweet butter balls. This way our calorie-watching friends could limit themselves to the tomato juice and insignificant helpings of the accompaniments; others could add goodly portions of the accompaniments and enjoy the bread and butter.

To give flavor to the tomato juice the night before the supper we added some celery

AUSTIN---In my opinion the state should explore all avenues in cutting costs-One proposal I would like to be given serious consideration is a study which involves joint use of state facilities.

Recently Texas Woman's University authorized a study by an internationallyknown consulting firm. The thrust of the study was to determine if there would be a savings if Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine and a proposed medical school for TWU used a joint site for their facilities. It is my opinion that the study made in that instance is just the tip of the iceberg.

This type of 'piggy-back-ing' might be extended to the field of education and to all of our state agencies. At least such a study would give us the opportunity to find out just what kind of savings we could expect. We would know after completion of the study not only what would be good about combining services and facilities but also any major drawbacks to sharing.

The list of possible areas of savings is unending. We would eliminate the need for double set of streets. Utilities could be combined. Fire and security protection, libraries, auditoriums, cafeterias, parking lots, computer systems, laundries, maintenance, administrative offices and major equipment are examples that readily come to mind.

Chamber of Commerce

Guess what? Your Hustle man has been accused of being too pro Democrat! And then just the other day I was told that one of my articles was pro Republican! Who says you can't please 'em all?

Well, there are some we don't aim to please and let me tell you about them so there won't be any misunderstanding.

First of all I want to remind everyone that the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is not just one or two or half a dozen individuals- it's not just the Board of Directors. It's the membership- almost 800 memberships...and that's a bunch for a community of our size. The Chamber is a whole lot of you.

Secondly, the Chamber does not tell people to vote for candidate A or candidate B. The Chamber does not tell you to support party X or party Y. What the Chamber does, is to encourage every citizen to vote. But also to be aware of the issues and what the individual candidates stand for and what the party platforms say.

Thirdly, your Chamber stands strongly for the Free or Private Enterprise System. That's the system that made America the strong economic leader of the entire world. It's the system that says "government was meant to be a protector and not a provider". "Government is the servant of the people- the taxpayer- you and me...and not our master!"

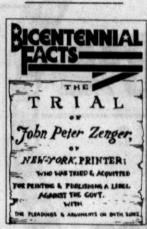

And finally, those whom we don't wish to please are those who stand for something lessthe folks who oppose our way of life- such as the bureaucratic, ever expanding governmental agencies, the inflationary big spenders in our legislature and our administration; the liberal element who have eroded our principles of hard- honest work and a decent return for investment and have replaced our values with a give away program that exceeds even the wildest dreams of the most ambitious socialists.

Do we oppose them? You bet! And if we didn't there wouldn't be any need for your Chamber of Commerce (along with the suppression of churches, Boy Scouts and the well known but little appreciated freedoms, Chambers of Commerce were eliminated in all Communist dominated countries shortly after World War II.) So I guess this Hustler is pro Democrat...and also pro Republican- but most of all pro American and mightly proud of it! I hope you'll demonstrate your pride and get on out to your polling place and VOTE on Nov. 2nd. And remember- if you have questions, we probably have some of the answers here at the Chamber.

Vote your conscience- show your pride and no matter what -HUSTLE, HUSTLE, HUSTLE!

Great polio vaccine debate revived

By David Hendin

NEA Science Editor

NEW YORK - (NEA) The longest living feud in American medical science has surfaced once again. It surprised a lot of people who had thought that the once-great debate over the polio vaccine ended long ago. It didn't. That fact was made clear at the recent hearings of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's (D-Mass.) Senate Health subcommittee. The hearing didn't make front-page news. But it probably should have since the salient points raised over the currently used oral polio vaccine were not only striking, but essentially unknown to the public.

After all these years of being "protected" by the oral polio vaccine, four eminent scientists told the Senate subcommittee that this vaccine, indeed, has actually caused nearly all of the reported cases of polio in the United States since 1961 and - listen to this - may well be riskier than no vaccine at all.

Dr. Jonas Salk, the man who developed the original polio vaccine - now no longer used in this country - told the Senate subcommittee that the live-virus vaccine, developed by Dr. Albert Sabin, was "the principal if not the sole cause" of the 140 polio cases reported in the United States since 1961.

"At the present time the risk of acquiring polio from the live-virus vaccine is greater than from naturally occurring viruses," he said.

In Finland and Sweden where Salk's killed-virus vaccine is used exclusively, there hasn't been a single case of polio since 1964 for Finland and 1963 for Sweden, according to Senate testimony by Prof. Kari Penttinen of the University of Helsinki.

In Norway, however, where the live-virus vaccine has been used since 1965 there is about one case of polio for each 300,000 population annually, Penttinen said.

Metaphorically, Salk explains the difference in principle between the live-virus vaccine and the killed virus vac-

"We can say that the live virus vaccine approach is based, in part, on fighting fire with fire, whereas the killed virus vaccine is based upon insulation against fire. The use of fire to fight fire occasionally backfires.

These "backfires" are the exact problems that were brought before the Kennedy subcommittee. Even the U.S. Center for Disease Control. whose top officials have strongly backed the live-virus vaccine over the killed-virus approach - and continue to do.

so - admitted that more than half of the cases of polio reported in the United States in the last three years were vaccine-associated.

This problem was forseen by some experts years ago. We have recently obtained a copy of a 1960 letter from Eugene N. Beesley, then president of the giant Eli Lilly pharmaceutical firm to Dr. Leroy E. Burney, then Surgeon General of the United

In the letter Beesley reports why his organization "has decided not to manufacture live poliovirus vaccine.

"Generally," he wrote to the Surgeon General, "we believe the use of vaccines made from killed viruses is preferable to live viruses since, in our opinion, the latter can never be entirely controlled in their effects. . . . As you know, there are troublesome reactions to all live-virus preparations."

Beesley summed up by noting his firm's belief that We feel that had a livepoliovirus vaccine been introduced first, very probably a killed polio vaccine would not have been considered an improvement.

gave in to commercial pressures and dropped the Salk vaccine in favor of the live-virus product. Today, however, they have also dropped the live-virus polio vaccine, and are out of the polio vaccine business altogether

One factor that precipitated the recent Senate hearings is that Lederle Laboratories, the sôle remaining American maker of the live-virus polio vaccine, had been standing fast by terms of its contracts with state and federal government agencies. These contracts say that whenever the oral polio vaccine is administered by anyone who is not a physician, the patient, or the patient's parent or legal guardian, must sign an informed consent form stating that they understand the potential — but minimal risk associated with the vac-

Since there was resistance to these contract terms, Lederle had been refusing to ship vaccine and fears of shortages had developed.

A second factor that again brought the polio problem before the public was the great brouhaha over the Swine Flu vaccine.

Ease of preparation was mentioned most often as a factor in the choice of hot dogs, with budget considerations ranking second.

"Many people on fixed in-comes would rather cut down on anything than on their table," said one panelist.

All the panelists participated in blind tastings and commented on the taste, texture and color of the various brands served, ranking them accordingly. All were able to distinguish between the varieties of meats used — meat mix-tures, all-beef and chicken and each type had its parti-

Safe Cracker Opens Vault Of Memories

WHERE THE MONEY WAS. By Willie Sutton with Edward Linn, Viking, 339 Pages, $10.

Willie Sutton has been booked again. But this time it's in a volume containing the memoirs of the famous bank robber, and a most arresting set of memoirs they make!

Sutton was born in 1901 to Irish immigrant parents in Brooklyn. A series of incredible coincidences carried him on his way to a career that special-ized in breaking into banks and out of prisons. His first job was as a bank messenger where he learned about banks from the inside. A later job fixing small appliances made him skillful at disassembling burglar alarms, Working in a shipyard, the young Sutton learned how valu-able an acetylene torch could be in slicing open a safe.

Sutton, nicknamed "The Actor," used his skill with makeup and costumes to gain entry to banks and jewelry stores, a trick he learned from his asso-ciation with theater people. Before long, it became apparent that a life as a bank robber was about the only thing he couldn't escape from. Sutton writes about his past intelligently and with refreshing candor. He is proud that his escapades hurt no one physically and proud that he was one of the top men at his "craft." His book is exciting when he takes us along on his robberies and escapes. His family life and personal associations, like anyone else's, are often warm and funny. But his life has its sad aspects, too, perhaps the saddest being that such a clever mind and so much energy were so misdirected.

There must be easier ways to gather material for a book, but they might not have resulted in anything quite so entertaining.

The Saga of A Soup Called Vichysoisse

By TOM HOGE AP Newsfeatures Writer

The French have always been great soup eaters and in the provinces they often make soup the main course at supper.

Most French housewives take chicken carcasses and ham and beef bones and simmer them with herbs, save the liquid and use it for stock. This is the base for most French soups, enriched with some chopped fresh vegetables tossed in butter and sometimes with a handful of noodles added to give it

There are also tasty light soups that the French serve as a first course for a formal meal and in the summer they are often chilled. Such a soup is vichysoisse, which has an interesting history. This delightfully refreshing dish was the creation of Louis Diat, the famous chef who presided over the kitchens of New York's Ritz-Carlton in its heyday.

Diat liked to recall how he hit upon this soup, which became so popular both in this country and in his native France. It seems he grew up on a farm in the French countryside near Vichy, and his mother used to make hot leek and potato soup frequently. In the summer the children would cool the soup with milk.

Years later when he had be-come a noted chef, Diat, casting about for a warm weather dish, remembered the soup that had so often sustained him as a child and how he used to cool

After experimenting one afternoon, Diat came up with an epicurean creation by add-ing chicken broth, butter and cream. He tried the soup on members of his staff and they pronounced it delicious.

Then came the problem of giving his brainchild a name. Diat recalled that his home had been near Vichy and that many been near Vichy and that many of his wealthy patrons took the cure at this famed health spa and would know the name well. Hence Vichysoisse began appearing on the hotel menu and it was a stuning success. Here is his original recipe, which appeared in "Cooking a la Ritz" by Louis Diat (Lippincott 1941).

- 4 leeks, white part only 2 tablespoons sweet butter
- 4 cups water or chicken broth
- 1 tablespoon salt 2 cups milk

2 cups medium cream

1 cup heavy cream Slice fine white part of leeks and onion and brown lightly in butter. Add potatoes, also sliced fine. Add chicken broth and salt. Boil gently 35 to 40 minutes. Crush and rub through fine strainer or whirl in a blender. Return to heat and add milk and medium cream. add milk and medium cream. Season to taste and bring to boil. Cool and rub again through fine strainer. When soup is cold, add heavy cream. Chill, add finely chopped chives, if desired, and serve. Serves 8. Good with chilled, dry white wine white wine.

Pintails, Widgeon, Teal Abundant For Opening Of Waterfowl Season

Lone 100-Pointer

Area gunners will have only one 100-point duck species to watch out for this year on their ventures afield, and that's the Canvasback. Both sexes of the Can are shown above with their distinctive markings. The Can has been in trouble in recent years with the population of these gamebirds declining, and shooting at Canvasbacks has been discouraged in numerous states, with heartening results on the nesting areas. Once a popular duck with market hunters, the Can is easily distinguished by its unique, sloping bill profile. Although far more common in the Pacific Flyway, scattered numbers of these ducks inhabit the local central Flyway.

WITH IDEAL duck hunting weather in recent days making them anxious for chances at fat Mallards, pintails and Lesser Canada geese, local waterfowlers are more than ready for the opening of the 1976-77 duck and goose season Tuesday.

The waterfowl season kicks off 30 minutes before sunrise Tuesday morning and continues through Jan. 23, 1977, five days later than the 1975-76 season

Cold weather and snowfall which moved into the area during the past week may help push greater numbers of ducks into the region, and geese should begin arriving here by mid-November-

Hunters will be polishing up their shotguns, patching boots and a few may even load up a few boxes of No. 4's and 5's this weekend as they look forward to the prospects of an outstanding waterfowl season.

MALLARD AND pintail numbers are high along the Central Flyway, and geese enjoyed an outstanding nesting season throughout the prairie provinces of Canada, so scattergunners should have opportunities at ample numbers of birds.

Max Traweck, assistant waterfowl biologist with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in Canyon indicated Friday afternoon that the local duck population "is looking better all the time."

"We are a little short on Mallards right now, and their production here probably won't peak until January, but they should begin building in numbers soon," the biologist commented.

'We already have a lot of pintails teal and widgeon in the area; and hunters should enjoy good success when they go after TRAWEEK, LIKE most area residents interested in waterfowl, is still looking for the arrival of geese.

'We have had a few reports on sightings of geese locally," stated the Canyon-based biologist. "I haven't seen any myself yet, but they should begin arriving here by the middle and latter part of November, and their population should also peak in January," he said.

In the Hereford area, a number of Mallards have been reported on local playa lakes, with overall duck populations building for the past month.

The 100-point system will again be followed this year in setting bag limits on ducks, thus allowing for a liberal bag of as many as ten ducks for a gunner who pays close attention to what he's shooting at.

A POINT VALUE is placed on each of the various duck species and the daily bag limit is reached when the point value of any bird bagged reaches or exceeds 100 points.

Under the points system, the hunting day can end in a hurry for the gunner who inadvertently bags a Canvasback at the beginning of his hunt. Due to a serious decline in their population in recent years, Canvasbacks are listed as the only 100 point ducks in this year's points system.

With hunters thus discouraged from bagging Canvasbacks, the species has started rebuilding over the past two years, and most of the increase in Canvasback numbers can be attributed to a decline in hunting pressure.

Listed among 70 point ducks in this year's points system are mallard hens, hooded mergansers, redheads and wood ducks.

LOCAL GUNNERS will be concerned primarily with mal-lard hens and redheads in this

A large number of duck species have been included in the 10 point group, and hunters will be allowed a liberal bag of some fine table duck species if they opt for large bag limits and gun for the 10 pointers.

Included in the 10 point group are pintails, gadwalls, scaup, shovelers blue winged, green winged and cinnamon teal. Of this group, only scaup and shovelers are considered poor table quality.

All other species not listed are considered 20 point species. with the 20 point group including Mallard drakes, American widgeon and ringnecked ducks. The season is closed on black bellied tree ducks, fulvous tree ducks and Mexican ducks.

THE BAG limit on geese is five birds in the area west of U.S. Highway 81. The limit may include not more than one Ross' goose or more than two Canada or white-fronted geese. Possession limit is five, with no more than four dark geese in possession.

Migratory game must be transported between the place taken and the home of the possessor with one fully-feathered wing attached to the bird.

Shotguns for taking ducks and geese may not be larger than 10 gauge and must be plugged to three shell capacity, including the round in the chamber.

Hunters 16 years of age and over must possess a Duck Stamp, available at a cost of $5 at post offices.

LEGAL SHOOTING hours for ducks and geese are one half hour before sunrise to sunset

Sportsmen interested in additional information concerning duck and goose hunting may obtain a brochure entitled 'Migratory Game Bird Hunting Regulations 1976-77" at sporting good dealers and license vendors. The brochure is published by the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department.

PUBLIC QUAIL HUNTS SCHEDULED

LUBBOCK -- Most of the quail hunting in Texas is on private property with leases and day hunting fees, but there are two public hunting areas in northwest Texas open to the general public this fall.

The popular Matador wildlife management area, located 11 miles northwest of Paducah in Cottle county, will open it's gates for quail hunting on Nov. 6-7,13-14, 20-21; Dec. 4-5,11-12, 18-19, 1976; Jan. 8-9, 15-16, 22-23; Feb. 5-6, 12-13, 19-20, Quail hunts on the Gene Howe wildlife management area, six miles east of Canadian in Hemphill county, will be open to quail hunting on Nov. 6-7; Dec. 11-12, 1976; Jan. 8-9, 22-23; Feb. 5-6; Mar. 5-6, 1977.

To help defray the cost of conducting the hunt, a fee of $1.00 will be charged for each hunter for each day hunted. Fees will be paid at check stations when the hunters report

Hunters will start arriving several hours prior to the legal shooting time on each area and a first come-first served policy has worked will over the last few

Only persons 12 years of age or older will be eligible to hunt on any of the wildlife management areas open to quail hunting. The under 17 partici-pant must be accompanied by his parent or by a person 21 years of age or older who shall be responsible for the conduct of the monor. The "under-age" hunter shall remain under the immediate supervision of his sponsor while hunting and will not under any circumstances be supervise the minor will cause for forfeiture of permits of both sponsor and minor. An adult may sponsor only one

Information and directions concerning assigned areas and other regulations will be given each hunter as he or she clears the check station.

Most hunters bag two-to-six birds per day according to both management records and hunters are remined that they must check back through the check stations as they leave the hunt area. This is a precautionary measure for area managers to be sure no one is hurt or lost on the management unit.

More information can be obtained by calling Charles Boyd, Matador wildlife managment supervisor at 806/492-3405 or Vernon Morse, Gene Howe wildlife managment supervisor at 806/323-6074.

FEW HUNTERS FEW BIRDS

LUBBOCK--Few participating prairie chicken hunters and unharvested grain in the fields have been listed as two reasons for a poor season Oct. 16-17 in the 12 counties hosting the annual hunt.

"There were several hunters with their limit, but they had to dig the birds out of the pastures since the birds were not moving." said Weldon Fromm, Amarillo district supervisor.

And in the four South Plains counties, the hunting was ever hunters bagging only one bird. The early dry spell helped produce late maturing grain and most it was still uncut in the fields. The majority of the prairie chickens remained in the large pastures and few hunters went in after them. The prairie chicken populations are rated good in these areas.

Sportsmen are now preparing for the upcoming November seasons which include duck, goose, quail, deer and turkey.

Once Poor, She Finds Joy in Giving Versatile Furniture Aids Decorating

By GALE TOLLIN Associated Press Writer
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Before she was a millionaire generous with money gifts and Christian testimony, Rose Totino was a child of poverty who had one orange a year — on Christmas Eve.

"I'm happy I had a poor childhood," says Mrs. Totino, 61, who cooked up a fortune in pizza. "It helped me have comssion for others. I know what it's like to share a bike with six sisters and brothers."

The tiny, dark-eyed daughter of Italian immigrants says she acquired the joy in giving from her mother. Before she was wealthy, Totino recalls, "I could always afford to stir up a cake for a sick neighbor, or take care of the children when a friend was in the hospital."

Such acts may have given Mrs. Totino more satisfaction than when she now gives $1 million or so for a benevolent

"It's easier to sit down and write a check when you have the money," she says. "It's more difficult to take time to give help to a friend or neigh-

In 1975, Rose Totino and her husband, Jim, sold their frozen food business to the Pillsbury Company for 258,091 shares of stock worth $22,190,000. Mrs. Totino became a corporate vice president, the first woman to hold such a post in Pillsbury's 106-year history.

Mrs. Totino dropped out of school in the 10th grade. She took her first job in 1931, doing housework for $2.50 a week. Her parents kept cows, chickens and pigs in a barn at their northeast Minneapolis home.

Poor as we were, my mother always gave a loaf of bread or a half-dozen eggs to friends who'd come to visit," Mrs. Totino recalls. "If she had nothing to give, she'd apologize and ask the friend to come back tomorrow and she'd have something

That spirit of generosity became instilled in the young Rose. She says it's how she learned "the fun of giving."

One day in 1965, Mrs. Totino, a lifelong Catholic, "met the Lord" while driving to work, worrying about being $150,000 in debt and feeling "in the utter depths of despair." The car radio was turned to a gospel station and she heard a minister saying personal salvation could be found through Christ.

"I pulled off the road, and I accepted Christ," she says. "I'd made such a mess of things, and I asked Him to help me. I said, 'Lord, if you'll help me out of this mess, I will spend the rest of my life serving you. . .

When she got to work that morning, a man from the Small Business Administration was there to say a $50,000 loan had been approved for Totino's Fi-

The Totino business story began in 1951, when Rose and her baker husband borrowed $1,500, with their car as collateral, to open a small Minneapolis restaurant. They figured they'd meet the $85-a-month rent if Totino's Italian Kitchen could sell 25 pizzas a week. As a hedge against an uncertain future, Jim kept his bakery job.

After 10 years, they took their $50,000 savings and moved into the frozen Italian entree business. Two years later, the Totinos were $150,000 in debt.

They saw hope in a frozen pizza business but lacked the capital for such a plunge. It was then the couple applied for a SBA loan. The $50,000 built a plant but the SBA required that neither of the Totinos draw a salary until the loan was repaid. The family's income came from the little restaurant, which the husband still oper-

The pizza business flourished. In 1975, when it was purchased by Pillsbury, Totino's Finer Foods had annual sales of $40 million, employed 375 persons and was the nation's second largest producer of frozen piz-

Mrs. Totino has her office in a small nook of "Rose's Kitchen," an honest-to-goodness working kitchen of Italian design at the pizza plant in subur-ban Fridley. She holds business meetings at the kitchen table.

Though she is frequently called on to address larg meetings, she says it's difficult for her. But she talks easily to individuals and small groups.

ROSE'S KITCHEN-Rose Totino, who cooked up a fortune in pizza, stands in her working kitchen of Italian design in pizza plant at Fridley, a Minneapolis suburb.

Dinner Party To Honor Couple On Anniversary

The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. George Hund, Route 1, will honor the couple at a reception Saturday in celebration of their 50th golden wedding anniversary.

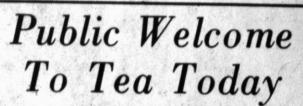

The reception will follow the Catholic mass, to be consecrated at 4 p.m. that day in St. Anthony's Cathloic Church by the Rev. Bernard McGorry.

The Knights of Columbus Hall will be the site of the reception dinner, to be given by the honored couple's children, including James Hund, Herman Hund, Mrs. Raymond Schlabs and Mrs. A.H. Brorman. Mr. and Mrs. Hund have 26 grandchildren.

Thekla Simons and George Hund were united in marriage Nov. 6, 1926 in St. Mary's Church at Windthorst, Tx. They have been engaged in farming here since 1942.

Among the out-of-town guests expected will be Mr. and Mrs. Edward Simons of Burkburnett, Tx. Simons was an attendant at the Hunds' wedding ceremony fifty years

The public is invited to an Open House Show and Tea sponsored by Hereford Camp Fire Girls from 2-5 p.m. today at the Community Center.

Purpose of the event is to display creative items entered by Camp Fire members and associates in Autumn Festival '76. Local citizens are encouraged to view these exhibits, which will include photography, art, crafts and stitchery.

The displays will be grouped into two categories-- one for judging and another for noncompetitive exhibition. The contest division will include only registered Camp Fire Girls while the "show" section will be open to Camp Fire Girls, leaders, advisors, sponsors and board members.

Judging was conducted Saturday afternoon and winning entries will be eligible for the Fourth National Camp Fire Girl Competition. Participatng in the contest segment of the Festival are members of Blue Bird, Adventure, Discovery and Horizon Clubs.

All exhibit articles were executed during the current calendar year in homes, school, art classes, church projects, Camp Fire activities and through other opportunities.

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) - In an effort to increase compatibility between new roommates, Pennsylvania State University has come up with a "Roommate Starter Kit." It offers a way to help avoid con-flicts over just about every-thing from blasting radios to visitors and religious beliefs. The basic idea of the kit is to let the newly-paired roommates learn more about each other's habits and attitudes before it's too late. The kit consists of a booklet which students are asked to read and then use as a basis for discussing habits and preferences which may cause confrontations later.

Information exchange specified in the kit includes matters such as: "How much sleep I need and when I'd like to get it"; "How I feel about drugs and drinking," and "Times when I would really prefer to At Wit's End ...

A message from Paul Mason, Manager

When I was a kid growing up in rural lows, I received a lesson from my Mother long before "tell it like it is" became popular. Her philosophy was to reduce everything to the shortest form and then take out everything that was not pure fact. Applying that to daily living is very hard because it makes you take out all the "what ifs" and "maybes".

in using that system to guide me now, I think I can relate to each of you a small problem that we have. We want to pay our members the highest possible return for their savings, while at the same time loan money to our members at the lowest possible rate. We know that we can't pay a 7% dividend while charging 6% on loans, but we can strike some happy

That's the problem. What's the solution? Again, just looking at facts, the solution is to get the Credit Union's surplus funds out in the form of good, productive loans. That would appear simple enough, but believe me, it's not that easy. Even though I feel we have the cheapest rates in the county, people very seldom shop for money.

To increase the problem, you, as a community do not know what we are. After spending thousands of dollars on advertising and promotion over the years, many of you still don't know what a Credit Union is and what it does.

To clarify the Credit Union to you, let me say our purpose is simple. We are deak jobbers for your money. We gather surplus from those that have, and distribute that surplus to those that need. We charge the Borrower's a fee and pay that fee back to savers, except that which is required for operational purposes. We provide free life insurance on all saving account balances up to $2,000 and free credit life insurance on loans up to $10,000 singularly or aggregate.

For the quarter ending 9-30-76, we paid our shareholders a quarterly dividend equal to 61/4 % annually. Can we do better? I feel so, but its up to you. If we can generate a good loan volume, I see no reason why we can't continue to increase the dividend and at the same time lower our interest rates. We're going to try to provide you the service that you want.

Come join us. Both the Board of Directors and myself invite you, the community, to make us your loaning institution, savings institution, financial counseiling service, and friend. If you don't like our rates, help us to change them.

CAN YOU TRUST JIMMY CARTER TO DO WHAT'S BEST FOR THE AMERICAN FARMER?

Jimmy Carter is an engineer, a scientist, a former governor. He is also a farmer. His children will be the sixth generation on the same land. He understands what it means to roll up his sleeves to do an honest what it means to row up his sieeves to do all ficiles day's work for an honest day's pay.

He also understands the abuses you have suffered during a Republican Administration which has taken excellent care of the grain speculators, the

DOMESTIC AGRICULTURAL POLICY.

The Republican big-business approach to agriculture is driving the family farmer out of business. We need to end the threat of embargoes, to create small but adequate reserves, to establish realistic fall back prices. We need to develop an abundant production policy coupled with a vigorous expansion of our export markets.

"Farmers are entitled to exactly the same tandard of living that most urban dwellers take for ranted—adequate water and sewer systems, fordable electric and telephone service and a realistic age for a good day's labor."

"The present estate tax threatens the very existence of the family farmer. It should be and will be eliminated with progressive tax credits or by a substantial increase in estate tax exemptions. Permanent farm land must be and will be valued at its production value. Not at its extended to the control of the production value.

STATE OF THE PROPERTY OF THE P

Russians, the food processors and the powerful. At your expense. The Republican big-business approach to farming is a disgrace and a failure. American farmers are going broke trying to produce food American consumers cannot afford buy. As a farmer Jimmy Carter is committed to changing that. As President, Jimmy Carter will change that.

MONDALE WILL GIVE THE AMERICAN FARMERS A VOICE IN THE WAY YOUR GOVERNMENT IS RUN.

One of the reasons Jimmy Carter chose Walter Mondale to be his running mate was because they both share the same concern for the American farmer. Born and raised in rural Minnesota, Mondale has relentlessly and consistently fought for the rights of the family farmer. And as a U.S. Senator, his record stands as one of the most impressive in Congress.

CAN YOU TRUST A REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION WHICH STANDS ON A RECORD LIKE THIS?

As a Congressman, Gerald Ford led the fight for cutbacks and impoundments of rural funds. He voted for every termination and elimination of rural programs family farmers so desperately need. As President. Gerald Ford and a Butz Department of Agriculture have consistently vetoed, embargoed, reduced and curtailed a long list of programs designed to guarantee the family farmer a decent standard of living, it's a record of disregard and insensitivity to the problems facing the farmers and consumers of this nation.

If you agree that drastic reforms must be made in the way this country is run, in the way our farm program is administered, you have only one choice on November 2nd. And that's for change.

Senior Citizens Cover News About Elderly

NEW HAVEN (AP) - The founder of a newspaper put out by and for elderly persons wishes there was no need for it.

"It's a shame we have to exist," said VISTA volunteer Greg Huth, who recently stepped down as editor of The Elder. "We are doing the work of the big newspapers and television stations.

Huth says the major media carry many advertisements directed at the elderly but no serious news about them.

There is no news about older persons except 'cute stuff." such as when somebody turns 104 years will in a nursing home," says Huth.

To try to fill that gap. Huth recruited college students and senior citizens as volunteer re-

Huth began The Elder with a $300 grant from Yale University. Its annual operating budget has grown to $21,000.

'My ideal was to start a newspaper run by, and accountable to, senior citizens," said

After 15 issues, he said, "The Elder has been a meaningful experience for our older reporters. We need them, and they know they are helping their-own people. It has given the people a chance to develop their writing skills."

PESO Program Explained

The Panhandle Educational Services Organization was explained to members of the American Association of University Women when the group met recently in the Heritage Room of Deaf Smith County Library.

The PESO staff, headed by Mary Ruth Baird, includes Beverly Jesko, Irma Medina and Yolanda Ramirez. They work with children who have any type of handicap.

During the business portion of the meeting, a report was given by Carol Armor and Marion Mayfield on the success of the AAUW garage sale.

The $231 received will be used for donations to the YMCA, to help finance the kitchen equipment at the library and to send delegates to the State Convention scheduled in the spring.

Dorothy Szydloski, president, reminded everyone about the district meeting to be held in Amarillo at First Christian Church Nov. 6 from 8 a.m.-2

TEEN-AGERS LIKE BEING THIN

NEW YORK (AP) - Most teen-agers would rather be thinner, reports a Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare survey of health conditions of youths between ages 12 and 17. Although two-thirds of the youngsters felt that their weight was right for their age, more than half of the survey group felt they should weigh Response to survey questions showed that more than half the girls who considered them-selves "below average" on the popularity scale preferred to be thinner. About half of the boys would rather be taller, regardless of popularity.

Sawdust Replaces Grain In Finishing Diet

LUBBOCK -- Seventeen pounds of hydrolyzed sawdust produces the same results as ten pounds of grain in a growing, inishing beef cattle diet.

This replacement equation is true when, in weight, up to 40 per cent of grain is replaced by One ration contained no sawdust.

"So check the prices and make your choice," says Dr. Robert C. Albin, professor of animal science at Texas Tech University.

Sawdust is hydrolyzed by injecting steam and acids under pressure into it. The complex carbohydrates, that cannot be digested by ruminant stomachs, are broken down into palatable components by this process. The bark of the tree is formed of lignin, one of the complex carbohydrates.

Ponder The Facts Before Voting, Reader Encourages Ballot Casters

when the citizens of this nation again will make the decision as to who will be their elected leader for the next four years.

On November 2, each of us who chooses to partcipate in our constitutional right to vote must have decided in our heart and mind, which man we feel will make the best leader, and we must accept our personal responsibility to mark our ballots for that man.

We have been subjected to one of the most unusual and comprehensive political campaigns in modern times. From primaries to the present we have seen candidates rise and fall until ony two apparently stand at the top, a virtuallyunknown farm boy from Georgia; and the very first man to ever serve as President of the United States without having received a single public vote for

The time quickly approaches . We have seen the candidates and their running mates debate the issues on television. We have heard charges and counter charges. We have seen and heard political mistakes, misquotes, biased news reporters, and all kinds of gimmicks which have served to confuse more than educate the voter.

We have seen mud-slinging and small petty personal matters receive more news time than the large important economic problems which face our nation.

That is why I would like for us to forget, for the time being, Watergate, Playboy Magazine, defense budgets and the enslaved peoples of Eastern Europe; all important matters, but matters which serve to muddy the water around some of our local problems, those problems which affect our LOCAL economy.

recently named a member of the DeKalb Yieldmasters Club for producing 197.37 bu. of corn per acre in 1976.

His yield, based on 151/2 per cent moisture, was mechanically harvested from a solid block measuring 1.203 acres. An impartial third party verified the high yield which was recorded from a field of DeKalb XL-72aa.

Clark planted the crop on April 20 in 40-inch rows and harvested an estimated stand of 26,000 plants per acre on October 7.

His fertilizer program included 220 lbs. of nitrogen, 60 lbs. of phosphate, and 30 lbs. of potash. Clark controlled weeds with Eradicane at 1 gallon per acre and Furadan, Sevinmol and Toxaphene were used for insect control. An estimated 10 inches of rain fell on the crop from planting to harvest. Another 20 inches of water was applied through irrigation.

Concerning the hybrid's performance, Clark says, "My. XL-72aa had large well filled ears and thrashed well. I certainly like the yield of this hybrid."

A Texas Water Quality Board public hearing is scheduled to convene in Amarillo November 3 for the purpose of considering an application to discharge treated industrial wastewater effluent from a chemical fertilizer plant, and a request for a permit amendment of a corn starch processing facility. The hearing is to be held in Conference Room C of the Municipal Building starting at 1:00 p.m. Goodpasture, Inc., operator of a fertilizer plant about a mile and a half southeast of Dimmitt in Castro County, produces anhydrous ammonia, non-prilled urea, ammonium nitrate and ammonium thiosulphate. The industrial wastewater effluent blowdown, boiler blowdown, and wash down wastewater is discharged into an isolated playa lake and utilized for irrigation. Domestic sewage is routed into septic tanks.

Amendment to an existing permit is being requested by the Spreckels Sugar Division of Amstar Corporation. The applicant discharges process water from a corn starch processing plant, also located in Dimmitt. Three sedimentation ponds are to be lined with a material to limit seepage. When it becomes necesary to dewater the ponds, the effluent is pumped into an adjoining playa lake located on company-owned land. World Grain Exceeding Estimates

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Agriculture Department says world grain and rice production in the 1976-77 trade year will reach almost 1.3 billion metric tons, about 1.2 per cent more than and enough to allow the first rebuilding of stocks this decade. That would amount to a 78 million ton increase over the preliminary estimate of the estimated in mid-September

It means this harvest would be the first in five years that was significantly larger than the expected demand for the grains, a report Wednesday said.

Consumption of grains and rice was projected in the report at slightly more than 1.27 billion tons; of 2,204,6 pounds each leaving about 25 million tons of new grain for a world reserve next June 30.

"During the past seven years, consumption has averaged 12 million tons larger than production, with the result that stocks have declined," the report said.

A build-up of stocks generally is associated with a decrease in the upward pressure on grain prices and, in turn, less pressure on the prices of consumer food's raw ingredie-

Ford Committee Mails Letters To U.S. Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP)- Presilent Ford's election committee has mailed about one million 'Dear Fellow American' letters o farmers in at least 11 states where the farm vote is considered critical to Republican chances Tuesday.

Committee spokesmen said the letters, bearing Ford's signature, were directed primarily to the "more stable" farm families considered as potential Ford supporters. Copies also were mailed to specific individuals including representatives of farm organizations, back what he called "the agribusiness and other farm-related groups.

In the letter, Ford stressed his usual campaign positions on the economy, inflation and his use of "the application of common sense" in attempting to hold

TGSPB Forced To Cut Back Research, Market Promotion

LUBBOCK--Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board (TGSPB) voted at its regular bimonthly meeting on Oct. 12 to cut back its activities in market sales promotion and research due to reduced budget. The meeting was held at High Plains Research Foundation at Half-

According to TGSPB chairman C.C. Reed of Kress, the cutbacks have come at a curcial period. "It is tragic that we must cut back in the board's projects at a time when they are so needed, but we have to live within our budget," he said. TGSPB is responsible for funding efforts in the development of domestic and foreign markets for grain sorghum. It also sponsors research which is credited with the development of greenbug resistant grain sorghum hybrids.

Reed blamed the reduced budget of TGSPB on two major -- Apparent complacency on the part of many farmers to aid in the support of the board and to help solve common problems. A five-cent per ton assessment on grain sorghum for board support is collected at elevators throughout the board area unless a producer chooses, in writing not to do so.

"Some farmers feel that since we are on the brink of controlling the greenbug there is no forther need for work." Reed said. "However, they fail to see greater potential threats, such as spider mites, head

In 1865, more than 200 farms on rounded hills in Lycoming County, Pa. were being tilled according to strip farming practices, alternating crops like forn with uncultivated crops like grass or winter wheat. Slowly, the practice

In 1928, the U.S. Department of Agriculture started to awaken many farmers to the threat of poor farming practices in its bulletin, "Soil Erosion a National Menace." But it took a farming disaster, the 'Black Blizzard" of May, 1934 to drive the extent of the

During any election year, and certainly this one is no different. so many promises and threats are made by opposing office seekers that they become hard to keep track of, or to remember which candidate made them.

During the latest presidential contest some of the threats or promises made by President Ford and Governor Carter have not only been real but have actually come to pass. One case in point, and one that is sure to affect the pocketbook of practically every American was the action of President Ford to limit the importation of beef from suppliers outside the U.S. Commonwealth of nations. Countries affected by this upstart action by the President are in the U.S. closest trading partners, Canada and Mexico. Also affected are Australia and New Zealand whose overseas beef sales account for their largest share of export income. For President Ford to shut off the U.S. market from these traditionally reliable suppliers because of an accusation by Governor Carter that foreign imports are damaging the domestic market, does indeed raise many political and economic questions about the future sale of the free enterprise system in this country and how other countries watch the U.S. as it contradicts itself in its consitutional philosophy as a progenitor of enterprise, free markets and individual choice. Limiting these imports will have some severe consequenced in our future trading relationships with these countries and really does little to benefit either the cattle producers or the eventual consumer of beef.

Initially, after the import limit are exercised, a strengthening of beef price should develop. and this event no doubt will cause those in the cattle producing industry some belated, though temporary joy. Because the market will again develop into a depressing situation as it has been over the past two or three years. The reason: There are just too many cattle on farms and in the feedlots to warrant higher price for the cattle producer, and in addition the total supplies of beef and other meats in the domestic cold storage network are bulging. Until their supplies of beef, pork and poultry are consumed the future price outlook for the cattle producers or hog and poultry producers cannot get much better than it is today, in fact it will probably stay low for a longer period of time than they would if imports limits had not been imposed.

The only event that can cause stronger prices for beef would be to stimulate consumer demand, and the only way this can occur is to lower the wholesale and retail prices enough to attract grocery money that would otherwise have been spent on different products.

It becomes indeed a mixed matter of amazement and frustration to witness the American free market degenerpoorly executed policies of those elected officials who are elected to represent to other world economies the advantages of the American, free choice and free enterprise system. It becomes no matter of speculation nor slander to state that they are failing in their duty.

Carter says yes. Ford says no. What do you say? Say it on Nov. 2nd. Vote for President Ford.

The reason it made me feel so good was because five years ago my best friend invited my wife and me to a wedding and asked friend to both of us, the nicest man you'd ever want to meet -when he was sober, that is.

The advice I gave was the same as yours. So they went ahead and invited Mr. G and alerted three male guests to keep an eye on him.

After four double martinis on the rocks, Mr. G was smashed out of his mind. He started to use dirty language and became offensive. The three men on the alert walked over to him and asked, "Billy, will you ride down to the liquor store with us? We're running out of vodka." Instead they took him straight home and put him to bed.

No one was aware of what had happened and it was a beautiful wedding. Thanks again for giving me such a lift. Now I feel as smart as vou. -- H.R.H.

Creme Fraiche

tions, one of which is creme fraiche, a nutty-flavored delight made from raw, rich cream that has been allowed to mature, but not quite become sour. Now it is available in this country.

Creme fraiche, for those who have not tasted it, has more body and is a lot richer than heavy, sweet cream as we know it. And it is slightly more acidic because a culture has been added.

In France, they substitute creme fraiche for cream in recipes for sauces, desserts and many other dishes. The results are more subtle and smooth. And, unlike sour cream, creme fraiche will not curdle when simmered.

Creme fraiche is being distributed in the United States by a dairy producer whose family acquired a taste for it on a trip to France. Aided by French food experts, he managed to come up with something that ranks favorably with France's creme fraiche.

As Americans become acquainted with this specialty, they will find it is delicious over pies and tarts. It can transform a simple plate of fruit into an elegant dessert. Just thin down the creme fraiche with a tablespoon or two of light cream or a pungent spirit such as framboise, a brandy distilled from rasp-

If you use it in a mousse or Bavarian cream, sugar should be added to your taste since the natural flavor of fraiche is less sweet than ordinary cream. The specific culture used and the way it is combined with cream has a lot to do with the quality of creme fraiche. We have tried the product being distributed in this country and found it very good. We particu-larly liked it added to hot soups such as tomato, celery, mushroom or asparagus and such cold ones as vichysoisse and borscht. THANKSGIVING FACTS APPROPRIATE NOW

In this bicentennial year of American heritage, a few interesting facts about "Turkey Day" may provide some extra meaning to the holiday.

Surprisingly, America was not the first country to celebrate some form of Thanksgiving. They also observed it in China Greece, Russia, Norway, Poland and Lithuania.

When the Pilgrims first came to this country, they knew very little about farming, but an Indian named Squanto helped and they were able to harvest some corn and barley.

To celebrate their first success, Governor Bradford named a date in late 1621 as a day of thanks. Hunters scoured the woods and returned with turkeys, wood pigeons, partridges, geese and ducks, while the women prepared puddings and hoecakes. Because the Indians had been so helpful, the Pilgrims invited them to join their celebration--and it was a good thing, for the Indians contributed five deer.

It was also the Indians who first introduced eating oysters to the settlers. During the three-day feast, they even set a precedent for our Thanksgiving holidays today--they participated in races and athletic events. Just think of how many big athletic events are held in the U.S. that weekend.

Thanksgiving in 1621 was largely a social occasion, but the second Thanksgiving in 1623 was probably the real start of our present holiday, for it was religious, as well as social.

During the next 200 years, Thanksgiving was not celebrated on any special day, until September, 1863, when President Abraham Lincoln proclaimed that Thanksgiving be celebrated on the last Thursday in November. The menu of that day was much like the one us used widely today--cranberry juice, roast turkey with dressing, sweet potatoes, creamed onions, cranberry sauce, squash, pumpkin pie, plum pudding mince pie, milk and coffee.

Like Christmas, Thanksgiving brings out the altruism and generosity in people. For 200 years, Americans have helped the less fortunate by providing them with food, clothing, and other necessary items. For many, it is also a time families reserve for being together. In a country where families are so geographically separated, it may be a hard thing to manage. But since traditions die hard,

DECORATIVE BINDINGS ADD SPARKLE TO CLOTHES

Decorative bindings highlight garments for folklore and peasant fashion looks, and as basic finishing design details.

Packaged or sold by the yard, prefolded braid or bias tape saves the homesewer valuable time and energy in cutting and assembling bindings.

Commercial tapes are available in wide variety of colors, fabrics, patterns and widths, and can trim or 'update' a garment by finishing raw edges or as tie closures, drawstrings or other decorative details.

The tape or brain selected should be similar in weight to the fashion fabric and similar in care requirements. Washable tapes and braids should be pre-shrunk before using. Packaged trims can be easily pre-shrunk on the card by soaking in hot water, they Measure each area where the trim is to be applied. Allow extra length, since pieces may become shorter when stitching. Plan to apply as much trim as possible while garment pieces are flat and easy to handle.

Tapes and braids can be stitched with straight or decorative stitches. If more than one row of stitching is used, all stitching should be done in the same direction to prevent puckering and shifting.

The Annual County 4-H Awards Banquet will be held Friday, November 5, 7 p.m. in the Bull Barn. All 4-H members, who turned in records, will be awarded for his/her area of achievement. Top awards highlighting the event included Friend of 4-H Award and County Gold Start Girl and Boy.

We have found in life that a little experience often upsets a lot of theory. And six mistakes that are made by man are: (1) The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others. (2) The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected. (3) Insisting that a thing is impossible because we cannot accomplish it. (4) Refusing to set aside trivial preferences. (5) Neglecting development and refinement of

BETTY W. HAYES

Lots of snow has fallen this past week. Moisture content has been good. There are still a lot of crops to be harvested and this has delayed them.

Returning home Monday after a weekend with the Rev. and Mrs. Don Larkin were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Larkin and Dustin of Great Bend, Kan. and Melissa Karst of Medicine Lodge, Kan. The group visited the Summerfield Baptist Church Sunday morning where Melissa, vocalist, brought the special music.

Mr. and Mrs.! Robert Harris were in Spur Sunday. Returning home with them was Mrs. Harris's mother. Mrs. Tom Fields of Marfa.

Today and especially tonight (Sunday, Oct. 31) is the night the spooks and goblins come calling. Hope everyone is ready for them. However if you'd like to visit their "home", you might try the haunted house at Easter after 8:30 p.m. The house a large barn located across the highway from the Easter community building, should be popping with lots of Halloween guests Sunday evening. The house is being sponsored by the Lions Club. Everyone is

Mr. and Mrs. James Dobbs and family and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sullivan of Sparta, Tenn. enjoyed Sunday dinner with Mrs. Lillie Dobbs of Hereford. The group then enjoyed a sight seeing trip to Palo Duro Canyon.

Mrs. Angus Tennington and children of Billings, Okla. visited with her folks, Mr. and Mrs. H.G. Behrends and her brother the Clarence Behrends this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lance and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Walser have visited this week with Mrs. Zella Mae Crump, a surgery patient in the Deaf Smith General Hospital at Hereford.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Arrie of Portales, N.M. visited the Robert Harris family Sunday. Mrs. Tom Fields, Mrs. Harris's mother, returned to Portales with them for an overnight visit, returning to Summerfield on Monday where she is presently visiting with her grandchildren. The Harris left Wednesday for a business meeting in El Paso and returned Friday evening.

Mrs. Eva Lookingbill and Timmie Sue attended wedding services Saturday in Amarillo of Dickie Lookingbill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Lookingbill, and grandson of Eva Looking bill. They also visited in the Jim Lookingbill home Sunday in OPEN LETTER TO FARMERS: In selling farmland, there is no substitute for EXPERIENCE.

Having been a farmer or business-man no more makes a Realtor a competent land agent than having had a pain would make him a physician. Farming is is a specialized business of its own; marketing land is a completely different, sophisticated, profession. It's our profession, and we're second to none.
