New devices boost tornado watch here

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

Any kind of electronic or mechanical device that gives man an almost-even break with Mother Nature is worth its weight in gold during tornado season.

Hereford/Deaf Smith County emergency preparedness got a big boost recently when a satellite dish and monitor were installed to provide information on weather in the area.

"It's another tool to help us keep up with weather conditions," said Jay Spain, emergency management coordinator for the city and county.

During a period of about four months, beginning about March 1, and especially from the middle of May to the middle of June, weather is a No. 1 concern, remarked Spain, for a variety of reasons.

As fire marshal for the City of Hereford, Spain has more than a passing interest in storms that may produce lightning.

"I'm really afraid of dry lightning because it can set a big area on fire in a flash," he explained.

But, Spain puts on his emergency coordinator hat when he starts watching clouds during the spring and summer.

"Notification comes to the police department or sheriff's office when a weather situation is developing," he said.

Sheriff's deputies as well as Spain and his crew of volunteer firemen begin scanning the skies.

"What this satellite lets us do is anticipate -- if we see something on the screen, we can watch what's happening," continued Spain.

Since tornadic weather typically moves from southwest to northeast, Spain said, he or the assistant emergency coordinator, Mike Watts, look carefully at conditions in the vicinity of Portales, N.M.

Readings of clouds, temperatures, winds -- all the ingredients for bad weather -- may be collected off the satellite.

"It's updated regularly every 15 minutes, but when things are happening, it's only about seven or eight minutes between updates," Spain said.

The satellite transmission ordinarily will report weather conditions in the Hereford area faster than an Amarillo television or radio station can, he continued.

"The radar transmission by satellite tells us where the clouds are, what they're doing," said Spain. A decision on use of warning sirens is facilitated by the information received by satellite.

Spain hates the thought of having to sound the warning sirens.

"Everybody starts running around, scared, instead of taking cover," he said. "We would run the sirens as a last resort to tell people to take cover immediately."

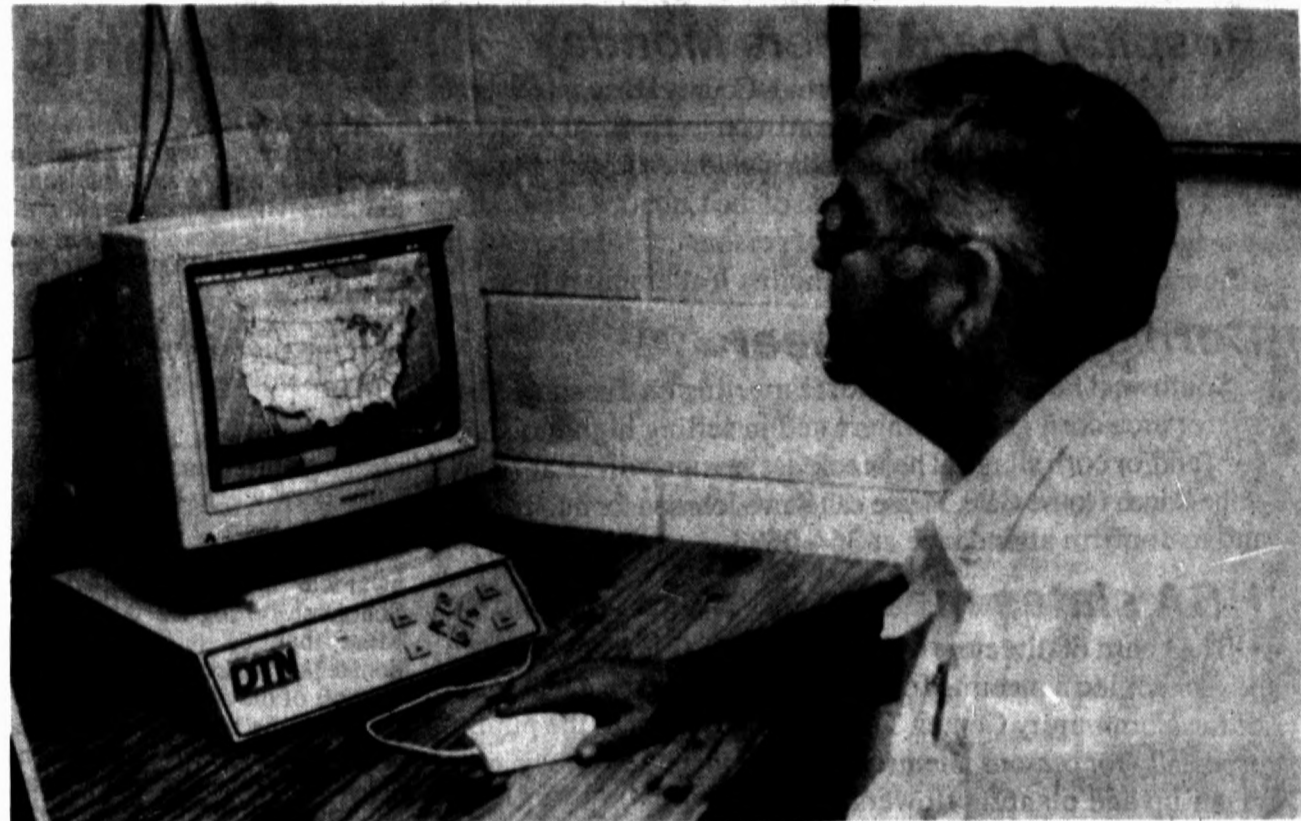

Spain said the criteria for sounding the sirens is very simple: the storm should be within 10 miles and appear to be headed in the direction of Hereford.

The last time the sirens were turned on, he said, was several years ago when the weather office in Oklahoma City, Okla., called to warn about a tornado building over the city.

"We saw it but it never touched down," he added.

In 1971, before current weather radar and other devices were in use, a tornado almost touched down in

Local 5th-grader pays special tribute to Mom

A fifth-grader at West Central used a class assignment on writing about the five senses to pay special tribute this week to his mom. We believe many mothers will enjoy the thoughts expressed by the youngster.

The essay was written by Cody Hodges, 11, son of Sharon and Steve Hodges.

"My Special Person"

I have a lot of special people in my world. All of my relatives are special to me, but the one person that is the dearest to me is my Mother.

My Mother is a nice, pretty, intelligent, and funny person. Several things remind me of her when I see something or when I hear, smell, taste or touch something.

When I smell something like bread, soil, lotion, fresh clothes, and peppermint, I am reminded of her. She likes to make homemade bread. Also, she likes to plant flowers and such on peppermints. Another thing that I smell and think of Mom is lotion. She always has lotion on.

Mom always has fresh clothes. It seems they are always coming out of the dryer. I love food just like my Mom. When I eat fried bacon and eggs, I think of her. Mom loves to eat ice cream. I like it when she eats ice cream because I think it makes her feel like a kid. She also enjoys eating a big, juicy steak, a nice salad and a baked potato.

My Mom probably has the smoothest skin in the world. She has nice thick, curly hair and is very skinny. When I see a person that has those details, I remember her. When I see things, I also remember her.

My Mom drives a Suburban, and she always has earrings on. She has nice white teeth and is about 5 ft., 8 in. tall. When I hear certain sounds, I think of my Mother. Her laughter is one of a kind, and she has a loud snore. Sometimes she has a deep cough.

When I hear Matlock or Dr. Quinn mentioned, I think of her. The thing that reminds me the most of my Mother is when I hear the flip of a Diet Coke can. I love my Mom and all these things remind me of her.

My Mom means a lot to me. She is probably the most generous person in the world. She doesn't buy many things for herself. She always sacrifices her time for my sister, my brother, and me. I love her a lot.

Practicing for the eclipse

Bluebonnet Intermediate School sixth-graders, from left, Eva Gonzales, Rosemary Andrade, Edward Dominguez and Manuel Cervantez join "Mr. Oz" Mel Holubec in practicing how they will look at Tuesday's solar eclipse. The students will be safe by poking a small hole in a card, then allowing the image of the eclipse to show through that card onto another card, displaying the eclipse without causing eye damage.

Eclipse due Tuesday; take precautions on viewing

BY RICK LANNING
Staff Writer

Hereford residents will have their own close encounter Tuesday when a solar eclipse dims the skies across West Texas.

Birds will go to an early roost, flowers will dip their heads, and Hereford citizens of all ages will try to take a good look at the celestial lights.

But be careful, says Dr. Milton Adams, Hereford optometrist. It could be dangerous to your sight.

Adams and other optometrists know that even a brief glimpse of the eclipse can cause permanent burns on the human retina. Children are especially vulnerable.

And even though it is alluring, there is "no safe way to look at the sun," said Dr. Glen Brindley, a professor at Texas A&M Health Science Center College of Medicine.

Local residents will get a good look at nature's show, with most of the state getting a total eclipse.

This means nearly 90 per cent of the sunlight will be blocked throughout the Panhandle. At the same time, warned experts, the sun's ultraviolet rays will not be suppressed.

"What this means is that the sun's ultraviolet rays will be as strong as they are at any Texas midday," said Dr. Brindley. "This will not be repeated in Texas until well into the 21st century."

Mark Collier, director of Work Smart at Hereford Regional Medical Center, said he was concerned about area residents suffering eye damage from looking at the solar eclipse.

He pointed out that the cornea of the human eye is highly vulnerable to ultraviolet light, or the portion of invisible light that the sun throws off.

The eclipse will begin around 9:49 a.m. on Tuesday. That is when the moon will glide slowly across the sun, creating the annual eclipse.

In West Texas, if the weather is clear, the peak of the eclipse will be like an overcast day.

During an annual eclipse, the moon will cover all except a bright ring around the circumference of the sun. The moon is too far from the earth to totally cover the sun's surface.

Experts say the peak time will be a five-minute period beginning at 11:22 a.m. The moon will complete its celestial journey around 1:12 p.m.

Said an ophthalmologist, "That is what makes this eclipse more dangerous because the outer atmosphere won't be covered."

"People tend to think that when the sun is covered, they can look at it. This is absolutely not true."

During a 1970 solar eclipse, nearly 150 Americans suffered permanent eye damage by watching the event unfold.

Brindley said, "More than half of the victims looked at the sun directly without any type of protection. All the injuries could have been prevented."

Teachers at Hereford High School and Hereford Junior High said they weren't planning any special programs in conjunction with the eclipse.

The solar eclipse can be viewed safely by watching the shadows of trees, buildings, and landmarks.

Another method is to take two sheets of paper, one dark and one white. Place the dark sheet on the ground and punch a hole in the middle of the white sheet.

With your back to the sun, hold the white sheet away from the ground to focus a pinpoint of light on the dark sheet. As the moon passes over the sun, the sun's shape will appear on the dark sheet of paper.

Because the sun's ultraviolet rays burn the retina, these burns can result in severe and permanent vision loss.

"Patients with retinal burns will have blurry vision," added Brindley. "This damage does not heal itself. There is no medication to cure it, and the damage cannot be repaired with surgery. Eyeglasses won't correct the blurry vision."

He said some people will know immediately that they have damaged their vision, while for others the blurry eyesight will become apparent later in life.

Another safe way to get a firsthand view of the eclipse: watch it with a pinhole camera.

Materials needed to construct a pinhole camera include a large cardboard box, aluminum foil, a white sheet of paper, tape, scissors, and a straight pin.

Cut a one-inch hole in the top center of the box; then cut out a two by five inch viewing port at the bottom center of the same side.

Tape a piece of aluminum foil over the one-inch hole, take a pin and push a hole through the foil. Then tape a sheet of white paper on the inside of the box opposite the pin hole.

To use the camera, stand with your back to the sun and hold the box over your head with the pin hole facing the sun. Watch the eclipse through the viewing port. It will be reflected on the white paper and it will be spectacular.

"Just remember that wearing sunglasses even with protective coating or welder's goggles will provide no

Part of E. 15th St. to close Monday for paving work

A portion of East 15th Street, from Progressive Road to U.S. 60, will be closed for about 10 days, beginning Monday, announced Deaf Smith County Commissioner Tony Castillo of Precinct 1.

The road will be completely rebuilt with new paving on the strip of slightly less than one mile.

County employees and equipment will re-work the roadbed and new asphalt will be laid down.

Castillo estimated the job should take a "week to 10 days," depending on weather conditions.

C of C Fun Breakfast set here Thursday morning

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will hold its next Fun Breakfast this Thursday, May 12, at 6:30 a.m. in the Hereford Community Center.

This early morning event is for all local and area residents who want to hear what's going on and get the opportunity to visit and enjoy a great, entertaining program.

Co-chairmen Charlie Bell and John Stagner would like to welcome the sponsor of the Fun Breakfast, Hereford Regional Medical Center as we celebrate National Hospital Week in Hereford.

Elizabeth Fowler, who is heading up the breakfast activities for HRMC, promises a fun and exciting morning. The emphasis will be on the importance of the hospital to the community.

In addition to the special announcements and giveaways to be made, the chamber will recognize any new residents in attendance and the special selection committee is determining the recipient of the "Honorary Bull Chip" Award.

Reservations are now being accepted at the chamber office. Call 364-3333 by 5 p.m. Wednesday to make a reservation.

Cost is $5 per person and the breakfast will be catered by Something Special.

Local Roundup

Commissioners to meet Monday

Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court will work through an agenda of nine items Monday, beginning at 9 a.m. in the courthouse. Action will be taken on bids for chemicals, trash dumping in county road rights-of-way, requests for equipment for Precinct 2 and advertising for a court-coordinator-executive secretary for the county judge's office and for a maintainer operator for Precinct 4. Reports also will be heard from the Texas Panhandle Mental Health Authority and Friends of the Library.

City to canvass vote

A special meeting of the Hereford City Commission will be held at 12 noon Monday. Purpose of the meeting is to canvass the vote from Saturday's municipal election.

Hospital board meets Monday

The board of directors of Deaf Smith County Hospital District will meet Monday at 5 p.m. in the board room at Hereford Regional Medical Center. Items on the agenda include a canvass of votes of the Saturday election, discussion of the Lubbock Methodist management contract, discussion of personnel (chief executive officer), and a report on the Methodist leadership retreat.

Corn growers to meet

Southwest Feedyards will host a meeting on Tuesday, May 10, for area corn growers interested in selling high moisture corn and/or corn silage. The breakfast session will be at 7 a.m. at the Ranch House Cafe. Please call Steve Johnson for information and to confirm attendance at 364-0693.

HBA slates meeting

The board of directors of Hereford Beautification Alliance has scheduled a meeting for 7 p.m. Tuesday in the game room of the Community Center. The meeting is open to the public, especially for persons interest in beautifying the city, recycling, clean-up and planting flowers and trees.

School board to meet

The Hereford Independent School District board of trustees will hold a special meeting at noon Wednesday, May 11, in the board room, 601 N. 25 Mile Avenue. The agenda for the session includes three election-related items -- canvass the vote and certify the election, swear in new board members and election of board officers -- plus discussion of out-of-district transfers that require board approval. The session is open to the public.

Prom tickets available

Tickets to the 1994 Hereford High School senior prom will go on sale this week at two locations. They cost $5 per person and will be available beginning Wednesday, May 11, from 8 a.m. to 9:20 a.m. and during both lunch periods outside the principal's office. In addition, students unable to purchase tickets at the school may contact Bill or Abby Watts at Hereford Glass, 1302 E. Park Ave., 364-2652. They will be sold through May 20. The prom and Senior Banquet will be held May 21 in the Administration Building banquet hall.

Immunization schedule noted

The Texas Department of Health has announced its May immunization clinic schedule for Hereford. Vaccines against polio, diphtheria, lockjaw (tetanus), whooping cough (pertussis), measles, rubella, mumps and HIB (hemophilus influenzae type B) will be offered. The Texas Department of Health charges to help with the cost of keeping the clinic open. Charges are based on family income and size and the ability to pay. Regular clinics will be held from 7 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 5:45 p.m. Clinics will be on Thursday, May 12, then May 19 and 26 in the Health Department offices, 205 W. Fourth St., Suite B.

Former state worker files lawsuit against President

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - President Clinton is signaling through his lawyer that he will vigorously fight a former state worker's lawsuit alleging that as governor he made an unwanted sexual advance toward her.

Robert Bennett, the high-profile Washington lawyer hired by Clinton, called Paula Corbin Jones' lawsuit "tabloid trash with a legal caption on it."

Bennett said the president denies the accusation, does not even recall meeting the woman and refuses to offer a monetary settlement or apologize for "something he did not do."

The lawsuit, filed in U.S. District Court here Friday, accused Clinton of "sexually harassing and assaulting" Jones during a May 8, 1991 encounter at Little Rock's Excelsior Hotel, then defaming her with denials.

Jones' lawsuit states the incident violated her civil rights and seeks $700,000 in damages for "willful, outrageous and malicious conduct."

Asked about the suit Friday, the president said: "I'm not going to dignify this by commenting on it... I'm going back to work."

Jones, 27, said that after paying her legal fees, she would donate any damages she might win to an unspecified Little Rock charity.

She did not appear at the courthouse, but in a statement read by her lawyer she said: "This case is not about money. This case is about character and integrity. This case is about the powerful taking advantage of the weak."

Bennett disagreed. "This is about money and book contracts and radio and television appearances," he told a news conference in Washington.

Asked if he had negotiated with Jones' lawyers before the suit, Bennett said: "There were discussions, but I would not call them negotiations. Our position was essentially that the president would not apologize for something he did not do."

Bennett said the discussions concerned extending the statute of limitations in the civil case, set to expire this weekend.

He acknowledged the two sides had "some discussion about whether any statements at all could be made to resolve the litigation."

He did not elaborate, but The Washington Post today separately quoted Bennett as saying he offered a statement in which Clinton would concede he and Jones may have met at a state government-sponsored conference where the woman says the alleged incident took place. That offer was not acceptable to Jones, the newspaper said.

WADE JOHNSON

HHS senior will receive scholarship

ALEXANDRIA, Va. -- The National FFA Organization has announced that Wade Johnson, a Hereford High School senior and member of Hereford FFA, has been awarded a CARQUEST Corp. scholarship.

The $1,000 scholarship is sponsored by CARQUEST Corp. as a special project of the National FFA Foundation Inc.

Johnson, son of Terri Johnson, is planning to attend Texas A&M University, where he will major in animal science.

The scholarship is one of 825 awarded by the National FFA Scholarship Program during 1994. More than $1 million has been donated by 192 corporate sponsors in support of the program.

This is the 11th year that scholarships have been made. They encourage excellence and enable students to pursue academic goals.

Scholarship recipients were selected from among more than 6,000 applications from across the country. Selection was based on academic record, FFA and other school and community activities, supervised agriculture experience program in agriculture education, career plans and financial need.

Saturday morning's law enforcement reports indicated the following arrest and incident activities:

--Hereford City Police issued 25 traffic citations.

--A 45-year-old man was arrested at 14th and Ave. I for driving while intoxicated.

--A 34-year-old man was arrested in the 800 block of Grand, and a 22-year-old man was arrested in the 500 block of N. 25 Mile Ave., both for public intoxication.

--A 45-year-old Amarillo man was arrested on warrants for escape.

--Criminal mischief was reported in the 600 block of Irving with $160 damage estimated from windows broken in a building. Another criminal mischief incident was reported in the 100 block of Ave. H with $1,200 damage estimated on a vehicle.

--Domestic violence was reported in the 600 block of W. 2nd Street, and domestic disturbance was reported in the 200 block of Brevard.

--Assault incidents were reported in the 100 block of Ave. H and in the 400 block of Ave. B.

--Officers answered a complaint of a knife being found on a student at Hereford Junior High.

--Theft of beer, valued at $27, was reported in the 500 block of S. 25 Mile Avenue.

--A case of evading arrest was reported in the 500 block of Schley.

--Criminal trespass was reported in the 400 block of Ave. B.

--A disorderly conduct case was reported in the 500 block of N. 25 Mile Avenue.

protection against damage from watching the sun," said Brindley.

"Looking at an eclipse through a telescope, binoculars, or camera view finder is especially dangerous. These instruments concentrate the sun's rays, making them even more powerful and dangerous.

"That's why we recommend that adults closely supervise children during the eclipse to make sure they aren't looking at the sun. Children's eyes are especially vulnerable to retina burns."

Poll indicates local teens feel Fay's lashing deserved

BY RICK LANNING
Staff Writer

A majority of Hereford teenagers feel strongly that 18-year-old Michael Fay deserved the caning on his bare buttocks, according to results of an informal survey conducted Friday.

Fay was sentenced to six lashes with a rattan cane for vandalism in Singapore, a nation that believes in stern, swift punishment for lawbreakers.

The punishment was carried out last week despite protests from President Clinton and the offender's parents, although authorities reduced the punishment to four lashes.

Still, caning wasn't strong enough punishment for Brian Betzen, 16, who attends Hereford High School.

"I thought he should have been shot," said Betzen. "He committed a crime in their country and he should be punished according to their laws."

Mark Kuper, 18, a Hereford senior, said the fact that Singapore has one of the lowest crime rates in the world impressed him.

"I agree with what they did to him," said Kuper. "I know it's a little cruel and unusual punishment, but he's an American citizen and he's subject to their laws. There must be a reason for Singapore's low crime rate. Maybe this is it."

Dominique Dominguez, 18, agreed with Kuper.

"That kid (Fay) should never have done the vandalism. He was living in Singapore and he should have known the consequences before he committed the crime."

Two Hereford students who felt the punishment was too harsh were Cloudy Meason, 17, and Chad Thomas, 18.

Said Meason, "I can understand harsh punishment if the crime was more serious. But I thought beating him with a cane was too severe for vandalism."

"The government doesn't do it in the United States, so why should an American citizen have it done in Singapore?"

Thomas felt Fay should have been turned over to U.S. authorities to face charges.

"I don't think they should have beat him," he stated.

The Singapore Prisons Department said Fay and nine other prisoners were flogged at Queenstown Prison, where Fay, a high school senior, finished his fifth week of a four-month prison term for spray-painting cars and other acts of vandalism.

Jennifer Davis, 18, a Hereford senior, said she believes Fay deserved the caning. So did Daniel Schulte, 17, who added, "He did the crime, he should take the punishment."

School students were contacted on or near the high school Friday afternoon.

At the Pizza Mill and Sub Factory, Irma Louise Alonso, 24, said, "I think the punishment is great."

"If it's going to stop people from destroying other people's property, it's wonderful and I'm all for it."

Similar sentiments were expressed by Shelly Maldonado, 25, who said, "People who break the law in this country don't receive enough punishment. I think the caning was correct. I also think if a person kills somebody, that person should suffer the same fate."

Doctors who examined Fay after the caning said he was in satisfactory condition. The teenager's mother and stepfather reportedly were outraged that their son was beaten.

Haiti coup leaders enriching themselves; UN to ban trade

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) - The populist Jean-Bertrand Aristide was widely disliked by many Haitian businessmen during his brief term as president, but the economic collapse and unending bloodshed since his ouster by the military has left many longing for a return to democracy. Legitimate businessmen say the coup leaders and their allies have enriched themselves on a scale even greater than that of former dictator Francois Duvalier, whose pursuit of money was so single-minded that a new word - kleptocracy - was developed to describe his 1957-71 administration.

September 1991 - seven months after he was sworn in as Haiti's first democratically elected president.

But while the sanctions are aimed at the military, factory owners and workers say they are bearing much of the hardship.

Adrian trustee elected to TASB legislative panel

AUSTIN -- Morris Blankenship, a trustee with the Adrian Independent School District, has been selected to serve on the Legislative Committee of the Texas Association of School Board's board of trustees.

Blankenship, who has earned the status of "master" school trustee, was one of four school board members statewide elected by the TASB Legislative Advisory Council to serve on the committee.

The Legislative Committee is a standing committee of the TASB board of trustees and is responsible for reviewing legislative issues and finalizing the group's position on legislative matters.

TASB is a voluntary, non-profit organization that serves and represents Texas school districts. Its membership includes all 1,051 school districts, 54 appraisal districts, 42 junior colleges, 53 cooperatives and the 20 regional Education Service Centers.

TORNADO

"We haven't had to be out, watching as much as in the past," he declared. Hereford.

"It came in on South Avenue K, went across the golf course, east of the hospital and up Star and Avenue K," Spain recalled. "It never hit the ground, but it took the tops off houses and debris flew everywhere."

The twister finally wore out in open country north of Hereford.

Even though the storm struck after midnight that April night, there were no fatalities, Spain said.

The satellite dish and monitor cost about $700 and the subscription for the service is $40 per month. Only weather satellite transmissions are received through the dish.

Besides a variety of weather maps, showing such information as temperatures around the country, rain falling, clouds building and fronts moving, there are weather forecasts for all parts of the U.S.

Regional weather forecasts and temperatures are provided along with surface wind direction and velocity.

Already this stormy weather season, the service has paid for itself, says Spain.

Focus on Your City

By BOB JOSSERAND
Mayor

I hope each of you is as appreciative as I am of the effort the Hereford Beautification Alliance made to clean up our city during the month of April. As you drive around through the city, you can tell that this group has truly made a difference, although all of us need to continue to do our part to improve the looks of the community.

With the work-days, the collection days, the tree-planting days and just simply the general clean-up days, the HBA certainly spent the hours and has made the difference for each of us. Or, as I like to say, "You HAVE made a difference."

As has been our custom, we sincerely wish to hear from our citizens when they have suggestions or when they disagree with some action we have taken or are taking. Saturday morning, May 14, the City Commission will meet in its regular planning session at City Hall.

At this meeting, we are going to start the session with a public hearing on bonding requirements for contractors who do such things as siding, roof repair or replacement, electrical work, plumbing work, asphalt paving and various other contract work.

The City Commission has voted to institute a bonding program for these people with the thought in mind that it would help to prevent itinerant fly-by-night people from coming in and abusing our citizens. We thought it was a good idea and I suppose we still think it's a good idea; however, we have had several citizens express their opinion that it was simply more red tape and/or unnecessary.

Consequently, we are going to have a public hearing to allow any interested persons to express their opinions and guide the Commission as to whether we wish to proceed, or not. Let me encourage all of you to meet with us at 8:30 Saturday morning, May 14, to learn more about this and to give us your guidance.

As many of you are aware, I asked the City Commission and the Chamber of Commerce several months ago to appoint a committee to take a really hard look at our shrinking tax base, both in the city and in Deaf Smith County, to see what could be done.

I really appreciate the efforts put forth by the dedicated citizens who have served on this task force for economic development as they have met numerous times to look at options and what we can or cannot do with regard to restoring and enlarging our tax base through economic development for the community.

The original task force has expanded the committee by several people, and I recently met with the group. I anticipate within the next few weeks our city will receive their report and their suggestions as to how we move forward in making Hereford a more vibrant and growing community.

I look forward to hearing from the task force and in sharing their recommendations, thoughts and suggestions with you. This group, again, has given many hours of their time and I, as I'm sure to do, certainly appreciate their dedication.

Since we began this column by thanking people, I'd like to end it by thanking our local news media, both the Hereford Brand and KPAN Radio, for all that they do for our city government in making sure that we let you, the citizens, know what's going on and what we are attempting to do in your behalf.

I hear politicians cussing the news media all the time, but we are indeed fortunate here in Hereford, not only for the outstanding media people representing the two entities, but also for their deep feeling that they can make a difference for the betterment of Hereford through the use of their information conduits.

I truly want to say thank you to Speedy Nieman and all his staff, particularly Georgia Tyler, who covers most of the city events for the Brand. Without your help, the job of informing the public would be much more difficult, if not impossible.

And, to Clint Formby and his staff at KPAN, I also say thank you because you do make a difference in keeping our citizenry informed. Hopefully, KPAN's generous use of air time in Hispanic programming will allow us to do an even better job of communicating.

Thanks to both of you, our local news media.

Hereford man in Rodeo

AMARILLO -- The Texas Department of Transportation recently held its annual Truck Rodeo in the Hereford Maintenance section.

The purpose of the Rodeo is to recognize the skills of department drivers and the pride exhibited in the safe operation and maintenance of equipment.

The representative from the Hereford maintenance section was E.P. Rodriguez, who has been a maintenance technician with the department since May 1, 1983.

He completed the Rodeo with 330 out of a possible 350 points in competing against 11 other drives.

Rodriguez will now drive against approximately 204 other drivers from across the Amarillo District, which consists of 17 counties.

The Rodeo consists of two tests of a driver's skills. Equipment inspections show the driver's ability to find several safety defects which have been planted in a department truck. Obstacle courses have been designed to simulate truck maneuvers encountered during a normal work day. Points are awarded based on successful completion of each test.

Former First Lady proud of two office-seeking sons

DALLAS (AP) - Former first lady Barbara Bush wasn't in town to stump for her eldest son in his bid for governor, but she did take the opportunity to tell a crowd of about 1,000 who has her vote.

Speaking Friday at a luncheon benefiting camps for children with chronic illnesses or major physical disabilities, Mrs. Bush said she and former President George Bush are "bursting with pride" that two of their sons are running for governor - one in Texas and one in Florida.

"I know that this is a nonpartisan event, but I thought you'd want to know that they're absolutely the best qualified," she said of Texas Republican gubernatorial candidate George W. Bush and his brother, Jeb Bush, who's running on the GOP ticket in Florida.

Although the former first couple have been out of the White House only a year and a half, Mrs. Bush started her address by inquiring: "You do remember there's another George Bush, don't you?"

She entertained the Attorneys Serving the Community audience, giving them a behind-the-scenes peek at the pair's time in Washington and regaling them with tales of their return to private life in Houston.

"George will tell you that I've been terrorizing the streets of Houston in my navy blue Mercury," and, "George really has turned out to be the best little dishwasher in Texas."

Wearing her trademark set of pearls and a dark dress with circular flowers of yellow, red and blue, Mrs. Bush told the crowd she's kept busy by traveling extensively, cooking and writing a book.

While the ex-president is planning a book with "serious reflective discussion of foreign policy," Mrs. Bush said her work "will be more along the lines of what happened under the table the night George did you know what on the prime minister of Japan."

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says to grow old is mandatory; to mature is optional.

Elections: Things that are held to see if the polls were right.

We had elections Saturday to select the people who will represent us on the city commission and school and hospital boards. Since we go to press Saturday, results will not be in the newspaper until Tuesday.

Regardless of the outcome of the elections, we had good people seeking the offices. We don't always agree with these representatives, but we always respect people who offer themselves as candidates for local commissions and boards. It's a thankless job and the only reward is the satisfaction in serving one's community.

One of our favorite tributes to Mothers is an essay written by a man named Dan Valentine. We think it's appropriate to reprint it on Mother's Day. It's titled, "What is a Mother?" She's a big smile with love in the middle...She's two eyes filled with hope and pride...and just a hint of fear.

She's a member of the world's greatest sorority.

She's America's hardest working career girl...She's a Mother.

She's old and young and in between...She's short and tall and rich and poor...

She's the hope of the world with love in her heart...She's a Mother.

Mothers come in assorted sizes and temperaments. She is timid enough to faint at the sight of a mouse...but will battle the neighborhood when one of her brood needs help.

She's a tired sigh standing over a sink filled with dirty dishes...She's the future of the world in a pretty dress...She's a Mother.

Mothers like: fathers, children, quiet nights at home, fires in fireplaces, family outings, the happy shouts of boys and girls, A's on report cards, the music of family laughter.

A Mother is the most talented and useful of all living people. She can rock, change, coddle, coax, kiss and burp babies...

She can take leftovers from the refrigerator and blend them into a banquet fit for kings.

She can keep fathers happy...attend PTA meetings...volunteer for church work...and push a ton of spinach through the lips of a baby.

Mothers stand over hot stoves...push irons back and forth over small shirts and frilly petticoats...Mothers pick up toys and darn socks and give sympathy and try to see both sides of every argument.

Mothers lend sons to America to fight its wars...furnish quarterbacks for football teams...and husbands for other women.

Mothers soothe hurt feelings and sing lullabies and bandage up playground wounds...and worry about the food budget.

Mothers like to look pretty for other people...cry at weddings...and watch their sons and daughters graduate.

Mothers of sons pine for a daughter...and Mothers of daughters hope for a son...and Mothers with both feel luckiest of all.

A mother is the original Jill of all trades...she is a housekeeper, plumber, gardener, carpenter and chef...She is a babysitter, nurse, psychiatrist and judge...She is a pediatrician, hostess, seamstress, janitress and Sunday school teacher...

She is a diplomat holding a safety pin...a philosopher with a cake in the oven...a goodwill ambassador making oatmeal in the morning.

A Mother is a batch of fresh-baked cookies in the cookie jar...She is a wave of the hand as the school bus disappears down the street every morning.

She thinks a grubby dandelion given by the loving hands of a 5-year-old boy is far more beautiful than a basket of orchids presented by a stranger.

She holds back a tear when she fits her daughter into her first formal party gown...and she holds back a tear when she sees her young son start off to school for the first time.

And she holds back a tear when the clouds of war gather over the world...because she knows the warlords will use her sons for pawns.

Part of each Mother's Day is spent in holding back tears...because Mothers only cry at night.

Mothers have the courage that brings gentleness to nations...she gives roots to the family...she gives warmth to the world.

She's God's greatest invention...She's a Mother.

My how times have changed. I have talked to people who tell of being spanked by the neighbors for doing something wrong while visiting, or who were severely chastised by a caring stranger when they acted up in public.

Now it is major international news when a bratty teenager gets caned for spray painting cars.

I realize that the caning process is very severe -- and, I'm sure, quite painful -- but it seems to me like Michael Fay got off rather easy for his crime.

Besides, anyone who got a good whipping can tell you that whipping made quite an impression (so to speak) and reminded the whipped about the consequences of behavior violations.

I don't know his family background, but judging from the way too many children are raised today, Mr. Fay might not have needed this whipping had he received a few more of the traditional type during his younger years.

The interesting thing is, I just found on the Associated Press wire that another American has been "whipped" overseas.

Seems a Texas woman was flogged -- 80 lashes -- in Iran after her conviction on a charge of prostitution. She was also fined 10,000 rials (about $6) and will be deported.

I'm not sure, but I would hazard a guess that with those types of punishments on the books, there are not as many crime problems in Iran and Singapore as there are here.

After all, drunken driving is a death penalty offense in Saudi Arabia and I bet there aren't too many people who drink and drive there!

Maybe we need to look at how other countries punish crime and take a few hints from them.

Well, it appears that President Clinton is nearing an appointee to the Supreme Court and, wonder of wonders, the Arkansas connection is coming into play once again.

Seems a front-runner for the job (who may well have been nominated by Clinton by the time this sees print) is federal judge Richard Arnold of Arkansas.

But are we ready for another Arkansas in government -- especially one where Clinton's influence would be felt for as many as 30 years?

I would think with all the public relations, political and policy fiascos Clinton has had with most of his previous Arkansas nominees, he'd want to look ANYWHERE but his home state for someone to nominate.

If he is nominated, let's hope the Senate takes a long, hard look at this Arkansas and makes sure he is someone we can count on serving well on the court.

Closer to home, we're coming down to the last month for 'all Hereford ISD students -- and especially the seniors of the Class of 1994.

Of course we at The Hereford

Brand will publish our annual Senior Section, saluting all the graduates of the class. That is scheduled to appear on Sunday, May 22.

Graduation will be at 7 p.m on May 27 at the football field.

But there is a lot of other activity coming up as well.

The Senior Awards assembly, FFA Banquet, All Sports Banquet, Senior Banquet and Prom and Band Banquet are all scheduled to take place between now and then and I'm sure seniors will be especially honored at all of them.

So, thinking a little ahead, congratulations to those who will be graduating and good luck in the future (and don't forget, there's still three weeks left of school, so don't do anything to spoil your chances to graduate!).

Anyway, that's it for this week. Have a good week and, remember, you can have lots of education and still not be wise or have common sense.

What is the TSTA?

BY CAROLYN WATERS
President, HEA

Texas State Teachers Association is the strongest voice and the most effective education association for educators in Texas. Professionals need to belong to a professional organization, and TSTA is the only all-inclusive organization with membership from every position throughout the school system.

Organized more than 100 years ago, TSTA is affiliated with the 2.1 million-member National Education Association, which is the voice of education in Washington, D.C. NEA receives input from its members who represent every state in the nation. Texas alone has more than 95,000 members.

When TSTA speaks, it speaks for all educators and the legislature, the State Board of Education, local school boards and the media listen TSTA and its local affiliate, Hereford Educators Association, have two goals: to improve the quality of education for all children and to improve working conditions for all educational employees. These two goals are so integrated that they can only be accomplished together.

Member benefits for each member of TSTA include headquarters in Austin and regional staff in 21 locations around the state, liability insurance, staff attorneys, defense funds, life and AD&D insurance, communications through the TSTA Advocate and NEA Today, plus specialized newsletters; State Board of Education contacts, plus training and information on educational trends and issues. There are also member discounts on entertainment, travel and other products and services.

With all the talk about the education crisis in America and school reform, there has been a great deal of advice given by many people on the subject. TSTA believes that not enough has been heard from the real experts in education--our nation's classroom teachers. TSTA will listen to these experts.

At the 115th annual TSTA convention, April 27-29, the theme was the same as ever--to do what is best for the students and teachers in Texas. Had we not been there as delegates representing our local, we would have had no voice in the decision making.

One business item, for example, was "...that NEA get back to the business of education and stop fragmenting its efforts by becoming involved in social issues and foreign policy." That message will be delivered to the NEA convention in July.

Hereford Educators Association's priority is to serve its members and the students of HISD. We have continually maintained a working relationship with administrators (some are members), board members and the community.

Within the present school year, some of HEA's activities were: hearing grievances, working on salary schedules, sponsoring an Education Fair which involved all HISD campuses, providing a scholarship for a graduating senior, co-sponsoring with the Chamber of Commerce two candidate forums, addressing teacher evaluation, and having member representation at every regular school board meeting.

In the future, HEA will continue these activities plus others that will benefit our members and those we teach as we wish to always be "Leadership You Can Count On."

(Carolyn Waters is a history teacher at Hereford Junior High and is currently serving a two-year term as president of Hereford Educators Association. She has served in offices of the local, regional and state TSTA.)

Dear Editor:

The third annual Cuby Kitchens Classic(AAU) Basketball Tournament was a great success! There were boys' and girls' teams that competed in eight divisions.

The success is due to the people and businesses of Hereford. Many thanks to those who committed their time and energy. Several hours of work are necessary before, during and even after a tournament of this size.

Thanks to the businesses in town who purchased advertising in the program and to those who supported the journey with their other resources. We hope you have realized some economic benefit from the many out-of-town people who were here for the three days.

We believe this tournament is good for Hereford and, again, thank you!

Dear Editor:

What has happened to our town? What has happened to our world? A human life means nothing anymore. We see violence on the news, hear it on the radio, and read it in the newspaper. We don't think twice about it. It has become a part of our lives. How did that happen? Why did we let it happen?

We have all become so caught up in our own lives that we no longer care about our neighbors. We turn a blind eye to it and say: "There is nothing I can do about it, so why try?" If we continue with this attitude, our society will continue to go down the drain.

It is time we changed our attitudes. It is time we started speaking out. If we don't take the time to do it, no one else will. It is time to take actions to stop the dying and killing of innocent people. It matters not if it occurs from drug use, guns, knives, or abuse. We as a society can no longer allow this to continue.

We have become much too permissive as a society. We have to be aware of what is going on. Children in our community are dying or being killed and we are sitting back and doing nothing about it.

It is up to us to change the thinking of our society. Violence on television may play a part, but our passive attitudes play a much greater part. Our own actions tell our children more than television ever thought about telling them.

It is time we let our voices be heard. Innocent children cannot protect themselves; it is our responsibility as an adult. We cannot protect them if we close our eyes, ears, and mouths.

Tell the people in charge what you want and what you want them to do. Whether it be your city officials, school officials, or state officials. We are the people and we have the right to be heard. There is nothing for anyone to hear if we don't speak up.

Please do something before more innocent young lives are lost.

Sincerely,
Lisa Formby

Dear Editor:

My name is Patrick McCann. In my fifth grade class, we are doing a state research report and mine is on Texas. The project is due in late May and covers such topics as famous people from Texas and Hereford, your special state traditions and the history of Texas and Hereford.

The reason I am writing to the local paper is to ask if you could publish my letter. I am hoping that some of the readers in the community would write me about their experiences in Hereford.

I would even enjoy it if you would send me some of your favorite recipes. I live in southern California and am sure many things in Hereford are different than they are here.

Thank you so much for taking time to read my letter. Any information would be appreciated.

Dear Editor:

The Carson & Barnes Circus staged two performances at the Bull Barn grounds on April 27, under sponsorship of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. It was a huge success with almost 5,000 people attending, and the comments on the shows were very positive.

Thanks to the generosity of numerous businesses in our community who contributed more than $10,000, the chamber was able to purchase enough circus tickets to allow each child from kindergarten through the fifth grades in all schools in the county to receive free tickets.

This involved over 2,600 students. Most of these children had never seen a circus and most will not have another chance to see one as the circus is rapidly becoming extinct. In addition, the schools conducted field trips with their students during the day to see the raising of the tent and also to see the animals in the menagerie. The schools are to be commended for offering these children an experience that they will never forget.

The fact that our local businesses donated the funds to purchase tickets for these students is just another example of the community spirit that exists in Deaf Smith County. It certainly makes one proud to live in Hereford. On behalf of the chamber of commerce, I thank all concerned for their support.

Here is a sampling of editorial opinion from Texas newspapers:

Fort Worth Star-Telegram on lottery: Money continues to roll in from the Texas lottery, raising spirits, hopes and revenue for the state treasury.

Cash flow is always welcome, especially the kind that seems both effortless and painless, but Texans who value prudence in public finance should resist the tempting vapors of euphoria.

Gambling by definition is a chancy affair, but the alluring promise of quick, easy money has spawned a rush all along the Gulf Coast to capture eager customers for the new casinos.

Texas is also debating whether to allow casino gambling here, thus competing with the attractions of neighboring states. As the competition for gamblers' dollars intensifies, within the state and beyond its borders, the stability in the lottery revenue stream will become increasingly uncertain. That lack of stability and predictability was the primary reason for the wise decision not to link lottery revenues directly to public school financing, which requires those essential elements and remains in serious need of fundamental reform.

We were glad to see $101 million - 60 percent more than the monthly average of $61.2 million - deposited into the general revenue fund for March. It would be nice to plan on such returns indefinitely, but don't bet the ranch on it.

Former Sen. Krueger approved as new ambassador to Burundi

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate on Friday approved the nomination of one of its own former members, Texas Bob Krueger, as ambassador to Burundi.

Krueger, who served briefly in the Senate last year, was among 11 ambassadorial nominees gliding through the Senate without opposition. The Democrat was nominated last month by President Clinton for posting to the Central African nation.

The job could prove challenging. Wracked by ethnic violence for decades, Burundi's bloodletting was especially fierce last year after a failed coup.

By some estimates, up to 50,000 of the nation's 5.5 million people died after the October 1993 coup attempt and another 600,000 to 700,000 fled to neighboring Zaire, Rwanda and Tanzania.

Krueger, 58, has had a long history in Texas politics.

He was appointed in January 1993 by Gov. Ann Richards to the Senate after Lloyd Bentsen resigned to become treasury secretary. Five months later, Krueger left the Senate after being trounced at the polls by Republican Kay Bailey Hutchison.

The New Braunfels native served two terms in the U.S. House in the 1970s; as U.S. ambassador at large and coordinator of Mexican affairs from 1978 to 1981; and as a member of the Texas Railroad Commission from 1990 to 1993.

The Chamber and You

BY MIKE CARR
Executive Vice President

The month of May becomes very busy with the many activities associated with the end of school, you Chamber and community.

On Monday, May 9, at 7:30 p.m., the Senior Awards Assembly will be held at the Hereford Junior High School Gymnasium. This event is always enjoyable as we honor our graduating seniors at Hereford High School. This year's class of 264 students have much to be proud of as they have done well scholastically and also through community leadership.

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Past Presidents will be announcing the recipient of this year's Presidents Leadership Scholarship. This will be our third year for the $1,000 scholarship which was established in memory of Chamber President Doug Josseland and to honor all past presidents for their leadership in our community.

The scholarship is made possible by donations to the fund from anyone who chooses to support the past presidents efforts to emphasize the importance of leadership skills. We would invite all local residents to attend the Awards Assembly on Monday.

Mark your calendar and make plans to attend the next Chamber of Commerce Fun Breakfast. The date is Thursday, May 12, at 6:30 a.m. in the Hereford Community Center. The fast-paced morning event will be lots of fun as we play games, sing and interview special guests.

There will be prizes to give away and also the awarding of our "Honorary Bull Chip" Award. Call the Chamber at 364-3333 to make reservations. The public is invited to attend and find out what's happening in "Hustlin' Hereford." Hope to see you there.

The Hereford High School All-Sports Banquet is set for May 16 at

"I realized I might have ended up ruining my relationship with Sheryl only to stay at home in a corner with my bottle of tequila," he said.

the Bull Barn. We are very proud of our athletes for their fine efforts this year and look forward to this event as we honor so many of our local youth.

The Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee, under the chairmanship of Bud Jowell, will be on hand as we make the presentation for this year's male and female Athlete of the Year.

Hats off to each and every one of these folks!

-CofC-
As spring has finally arrived, the Chamber will be announcing details of a month-long "Business Improvement" award for local firms who do the most to clean up their businesses.

This event is in conjunction with the efforts of the Hereford Beautification Alliance as we work together to help beautify Hereford.

Rockets, Knicks get past 1st round

By The Associated Press
There will be no Game 5 - or any other games this season - for the New Jersey Nets and the Portland Trail Blazers.

Those two seventh seeds had their 1993-94 campaigns ended Friday night in Game 4 playoff losses to the New York Knicks and Houston Rockets.

Against the Nets, Patrick Ewing scored 27 of his 36 points in the second half and combined with Charles Smith to lead a decisive third-quarter run as the Knicks won the opening-round playoff series 3-1 with a 102-92 victory.

Houston edged Portland 92-89 later Friday.

The Knicks advanced to a second-round matchup with the Chicago Bulls, who have eliminated New York from the playoffs the last three years en route to NBA titles.

The best-of-7 Eastern Conference semifinal will open Sunday at Madison Square Garden. Game 2 will be played in New York on Wednesday night.

"I'm very happy to be finished and go on to the next round," said Ewing, who added 14 rebounds and five blocks. "New Jersey was in the way, and we got rid of them. Let's move on. I don't care who's there. Chicago is in our way, too. We'll be ready."

New York's key defensive stand came in the third quarter after New Jersey opened with an 11-4 burst and tied the game at 49 on a jumper by Benoit Benjamin.

New York responded with a 23-12 spurt that featured 11 points from Ewing and eight from Smith to take a 72-61 edge. The lead grew to 15 early in the fourth quarter before New Jersey rallied behind Derrick Coleman, who had 14 of his 31 points in the fourth quarter.

Three times the Nets got within five points, the last at 89-84 with 3:02 to play on two free throws by Coleman, but New York responded with an 11-1 run.

Rockets 92, Trail Blazers 89
At Portland, Ore., the Trail Blazers make an incredible comeback only to fall inches short at the end.

Portland trailed 82-69 after Hakeem Olajuwon made a 16-footer with 6:06 remaining. But the Blazers cut the lead to 87-85 on Terry Porter's 3-pointer from the corner with 56 seconds remaining.

The Rockets made four of five free throws the rest of the way, including two by Kenny Smith with 9.4 seconds to go to make it 91-87. After Rod Strickland scored on a layup, Olajuwon was fouled and made one of two to give the Blazers a final opportunity. But Strickland's final shot, a 3-point attempt from 24 feet, was about an inch or two short.

"They never let up and gave us all we could handle," Houston coach Rudy Tomjanovich said. "They fought back into it. I feel fortunate to get out of here with a win and the series."

The Rockets open the Western Conference semifinals at home against Phoenix on Sunday.

Two-woman golf scramble planned

A two-woman scramble golf tournament will be held May 14-15 at Pitman Municipal Golf Course in Hereford.

To enter, call the Pitman pro shop at 364-2782.

Play both days will begin with a shotgun start. A fee of $85 will cover green fees, a cart, continental breakfast both days, lunch both days, one mulligan and one pitch.

COMING FRIDAY 13¢

Baltimore fans welcome old heroes

By The Associated Press
Eddie Murray and Dennis Martinez now wear Cleveland jerseys. To Baltimore fans, though, the two will always be Orioles.

Murray and Martinez, who each spent more than a decade with the Orioles, were given lengthy standing ovations at Camden Yards on Friday night, and the two teamed up to help the Indians to a 4-2 victory in 10 innings.

Martinez pitched a three-hitter for his first AL victory since September 1985, and Murray hit a home run in the seventh inning as Cleveland snapped a four-game losing streak.

"I had to tip my hat because otherwise they would never sit down," Martinez said of the ovation he received in the first inning. "That was a very emotional time. I almost started getting tears. ... I think that was what really inspired me to pitch the way I did tonight."

Murray, playing his first regular-season game in Baltimore since leaving the Orioles after the 1988 season, hit his seventh homer off Mike Mussina.

Murray has homered in 31 different ballparks, one short of the record shared by Frank Robinson and Rusty Staub.

Elsewhere in the AL it was: Detroit 9, Seattle 4; New York 3, Boston 1; Milwaukee 7, Toronto 1; Kansas City 6, Chicago 5; Texas 7, Minnesota 0; and California 11, Oakland 6.

Rangers 7, Twins 0
At Arlington, Texas, rookie Rick

Helling allowed nine hits in his first major league shutout and complete game.

Helling (3-0) struck out two and walked one as the Rangers won for the seventh time in 10 games. Helling, helped out by four double plays, became the first Texas rookie to throw a shutout since Ray Hayward in 1988.

Jim Deshaies (2-3) allowed three runs, one earned, and six hits in 6 2-3 innings.

Cubs' Young gets rare win

By The Associated Press
First, the Chicago Cubs' ended their losing streak at Wrigley Field. Now, even Anthony Young has a win.

Young (1-2) ended a 29-game winless stretch as a starter as the visiting Cubs routed the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-1 Friday night.

Young got help from a seven-run third inning, when Sammy Sosa and Ryne Sandberg hit consecutive homers and Glenallen Hill hit the 11th upper-deck homer in the 24-year history of Three Rivers Stadium.

In other games, Atlanta beat Montreal 5-0, San Diego beat

Colorado 8-0, San Francisco beat Los Angeles 2-1, St. Louis beat New York 3-2, Florida beat Philadelphia 9-5 and Cincinnati beat Houston 4-3.

Reds 4, Astros 3
Tim Lincecum overcame his erratic pitching with clutch hitting, going 2-for-2 with a pivotal RBI single at Riverfront Stadium.

Pugh (3-1) and Astros starter Pete Harnisch (2-3) both struggled in a steady rain. Kevin Mitchell's solo homer off the facing of the upper deck in left field, his eighth, put Cincinnati ahead 4-2 in the fifth.

Lewis pounds challenger

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) - Lennox Lewis stopped completely outclassed Phil Jackson at 1:35 of the eighth round Friday night, easily retaining his World Boxing Council heavyweight championship.

Lewis had won every round when he knocked down Jackson for the third time midway through the eighth. A sharp right followed by a left uppercut did the damage and referee Arthur Mercante stepped in to end the bout.

Lewis also knocked down Jackson 20 seconds into the fight and again in a wild fifth round. That round ended with Jackson on the canvas, knocked down after the bell. Mercante deducted a point from Lewis for hitting after the bell. Lewis, 28, of England, scored his 25th straight victory and 21st knockout. It was the third defense of the WBC belt he acquired when then-undisputed champion Riddick Bowe dumped it in a garbage can two years ago.

Carter fails as NBA team owner

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) - If you did a top 10 list of people who shouldn't own a professional sports franchise, certainly Donald Carter's name would be listed in there somewhere. It just proves cents can't buy sports sense. The Dallas Mavericks owner has had the NBA franchise since 1980. If he's proved anything in that near 15-year span, it's that he's all hat and no cattle. He's got big bucks but bad judgment.

The Mavs got to the Western Conference finals just once and lost to the Los Angeles Lakers because their star player, Mark Aguirre, bailed out on them when they needed him most. Instead of firing Aguirre, Carter coddled him and the Mavs started on their downward spiral which became a crash two years ago with one of the worst teams in NBA history. Proving it was no fluke, Carter hired Quinn Buckner, who had never coached in the NBA, and the Mavs backed up a horrid season with an equally ugly 13-victory season.

Carter fired basketball operations director Rick Sund and Buckner, who still had four years left on his contract. Nothing is new here. Remember John MacLeod, now the Notre Dame coach? Carter fired him seven games into a season. Ritchie Adubato? He was MacLeod's successor and he got the axe. And on and on and on ... Now, it looks like Dick Motta will be back. Remember Dick? He was the original Mavericks coach. He and Carter held on for seven years before Motta just walked off the job one day. Never gave a reason. Just walked off. Never even called to say goodbye. Carter was so mad at Motta that he kept him on the payroll for years until Motta went to the Sacramento Kings where his return as an NBA coach was a disaster. The franchise was in near revolt by the time Motta was run off. For the last three months of the Mavericks regular season, Motta was on hand, looking over Buckner's shoulder and offering a tip or two. It had to be most uncomfortable for Buckner to see Motta's shadow. Carter jokes about Motta not being paid. Carter forgets he paid plenty with his dignity and dollars in the 1980s. Now Motta is back and likely to become the next Mavericks coach. Carter says, no, he won't offer Motta the job. But Carter says Motta is in charge of the candidate's list and he can't help it if Motta puts himself at the top of the list. Carter laughs at this little joke. Ho, ho!

Keep Your Cool This Summer: Tips For Maintaining Central Air Conditioners

Bryant 598A Air Conditioner Two Speed-Plus

When the air conditioner breaks down on the hottest day of the summer, tempers rise along with the temperature. Perhaps an ounce of prevention can avoid that frantic call to the service technician when the system is on the blink. "If properly maintained, your central air conditioner will keep cooling even during the hottest of days," says Derrick Marris, director of product marketing, Bryant Heating and Cooling Systems. "In addition, there are preventive measures that you can take to help ensure the reliability and durability of your cooling equipment." Preventive Maintenance - Central Air Conditioners

- Have your central air conditioning system inspected by a qualified service technician or contractor at the beginning of the season.
- Remember to clean the standard air filters once a month. The newer, high-tech filters need to be cleaned only every three to five months.
- When changing a filter, be sure to

- install a replacement that is the same size as the original.
- Make sure that the outdoor unit or condenser of a central air conditioner is free of debris. Trim or remove shrubs or obstructions within one foot of the unit.
- Be careful when mowing the lawn near a condenser unit and make sure that grass clippings and leaves are not blown toward the unit.
- Never try to add refrigerant to an air conditioner yourself. Call a trained service technician, who has the knowledge and equipment to do this job properly. New regulations require that the unit be serviced in such a way that no refrigerant escapes into the air.
- Do not run a central air conditioner when the outdoor temperature is below 70 degrees. Operating a residential air conditioner in cool temperatures may cause premature compressor failure.

Your air conditioning contractor is the best source of information on central air conditioners and on total year-round indoor climate control. Contact:

Spurs go home early again

By KELLEY SHANNON
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO (AP) - It's all too familiar for the San Antonio Spurs. A lower-ranked playoff opponent. High hopes. An early exit. For the third time in five years, the Spurs were eliminated in the first round of the Western Conference playoffs with a 95-90 loss Thursday night to the Utah Jazz, who won the best-of-5 series 3-1. The Spurs took some solace - but not much - in the fact that at least their final game was close, unlike Utah's blowout victories in the second and third games. "Overall, I liked the way our guys hustled at the end," said Spurs coach John Lucas. Still, David Robinson mused, what if? "That's what's the most disappointing - I felt this was a series we could win," Robinson said. The Spurs held a slight edge in their overall regular season record, 55-27, compared to the Jazz's 53-29, and San Antonio started with home court advantage. But the Jazz had beaten the Spurs 5-0 during the regular season, and that dominance lasted into the playoffs. The loss ended a season that brought the Spurs scoring and rebounding titles, a Robinson race for Most Valuable Player and a deluge of Dennis Rodman technical fouls, league lectures and suspensions. Rodman, after three questionable clashes with Jazz players in Game 2, was suspended by the league for Tuesday's Game 3. Rodman hung out with Madonna that night while the Spurs were thrashed 105-72. "I've got to go out there and do what I've got to do to help my team win," Rodman said, after his team lost Thursday. Rodman pulled down 20 rebounds and scored nine points in the defeat. San Antonio launched the 1993-94 season with a controversial trade for Rodman that sent the popular Sean Elliott to Detroit. Spurs officials said they needed the toughness that Rodman could offer.

Again this season, Rodman was the league's leading rebounder. Robinson, who credited Rodman for taking defensive pressure off of him, won the NBA scoring title after a 71-point performance against the Los Angeles Clippers the final game of the regular season. The Spurs enjoyed other season highlights. Dale Ellis became the first player in NBA history to make 1,000 three-pointers, and Vinny Del Negro set a franchise record by sinking 50 consecutive free throws. San Antonio amassed a franchise-record 13-game winning streak in January and February and had winning records for five straight months. Then came April. "The last three weeks of the season we took a turn," Robinson said. A downhill turn, that is. The Spurs posted a 4-7 mark in April and slid in the playoff pairings. But it's the first-round failure against Utah that will hover over the Spurs for now.

 Extension Agent-HE
 MEDICATIONS AND THE OLDER ADULT
 Part One

For many older adults the idea of taking medicine means you're sick, but medication use for either long-term or short-term conditions does not mean abandoning the idea of wellness.

Spotlight on health

Most Americans will probably require at least one rehabilitation service at some time in their lives.

Simply put, medical rehabilitation is the science and art of helping people who survive traumatic injury and potentially disabling disease to lead functional and productive lives.

Unfortunately, short-term cost pressures in some environments limit access to medical rehabilitation, or send patients out of rehabilitation before improvement is complete. The result is often a shifting of costs to families and taxpayers who ultimately pay through increased disability and medical expenditures, reduced tax revenues and a less productive economy.

The fact is that over 80 percent of people receiving rehabilitation services return to their homes, work, schools or an active retirement. Medical experts report that rehabilitation can lengthen and improve the quality of life and can reduce subsequent illness.

Using medication properly is one of the most important tools for taking personal responsibility for wellness. By managing some of the chronic conditions that occur for the "chronologically gifted," older adults can be in control.

Dr. Barry Browne, pharmacologist at the Texas A&M University Health Science Center and Scott and White Memorial Hospital has presented a number of issues and facts about older adults and their medications.

Here are some findings regarding older adults and medications:

*Ten percent of all hospital admissions for patients 65 years of age or older are due to medication not being taken according to the direction.

*Older Americans make up 13 percent of the population, but consume about 30 percent of all prescriptions.

*The average adult over the age of 65 takes between two and seven prescription medications a day.

*Older people buy about 70 percent of the over-the-counter medications.

*Forty percent of people asked by the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) said they stopped taking their medications before the prescription was completed, and 20 percent failed to fill their initial prescription.

*Older adults suffer two to five times the frequency of adverse drug reactions to their medications compared to younger people.

*Approximately one fourth to one third of childhood poisonings occur in the home of an older relative (grandparent, uncle/aunt).

Life quality is lost when medications are not taken properly. Health care costs are also driven up by medication problems that could have been prevented. Older adults can learn about how medications work in their bodies to improve their proper use of medicines.

How is medication used by the body in an older person? The term pharmacokinetics is used to describe how drugs are handled by the body. Simply put, pharmacokinetics involves how drugs are absorbed by the body, distributed throughout the body, changed by the body, and then eliminated from the body.

Medications taken by mouth are absorbed into the bloodstream through either the stomach or the intestines. In older adults, however, some age-related changes occur which may change the way the body absorbs drugs. These changes include:

*Additional time required for the stomach and small intestines to empty. This extra time can reduce absorption by allowing the drug to bind with food, or increase absorption because the drug is in the absorbing areas longer.

*Decreased stomach acid which can either increase or decrease absorption of a drug.

*Decreased blood flow to the intestines and stomach which can decrease drug absorption since absorption is dependent on blood flow.

How are drugs DISTRIBUTED in the body? Medications are distributed by the blood to all different organs of the body. Age-related changes, however, can change the way this happens. Changes include body size and amount of fat and muscle. Drug doses are often based on healthy young adults. So, the elderly may be either underdosed or overdosed.

"Educational programs of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, disability, religion, age or national origin."

The Hereford Brand—Sunday, May 8, 1994—Page 1B

LESLIE CONKWRIGHT, DR. SCOTT ACTON

Wedding date set

Austin residents, Leslie Tice Conkwright and Dr. Scott Thomas Acton, plan to be united in marriage July 23 in Central Christian Church in Austin.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Colby Conkwright of Lubbock, former Hereford residents. She is the granddaughter of Dorothy Conkwright of Hereford. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. B.E. Acton of Vienna, Va. and the late B.E. Acton.

Miss Conkwright is a 1988 graduate of Hereford High School. She graduated from the University of Texas at Austin with a B.A. degree in English. She is currently employed at Sylvan Learning Center in Austin.

Dr. Acton is a 1984 graduate of Oakton High School in Vienna, Va. He graduated from the University of Texas in Austin with a M.S. degree and Ph.D. degree in electrical engineering. He is currently working on a postdoctoral fellow with the center for space research in Austin. He will start at Oklahoma State University as a professor of electrical engineering in August.

Herbert Clark Hoover, the 31st president of the United States, was born in West Branch, Iowa, in 1874.

BRIAN BAUM

Brian Baum graduates

Brian Allen Baum, son of Charlotte Wimberley of Amarillo and Brian Baum of Worland, Wyo., graduated Saturday from the University of Oklahoma, Norman campus, with a bachelor of business administration degree in finance.

Baum, a 1987 graduate of Hereford High School, has also attended Amarillo College and West Texas A&M University.

Baum minored in economics and business law and was named to the campus honor roll.

His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Packard and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baum, all of Hereford.

Hospice training set to begin in Amarillo

Social Worker Mona Romero conducted the May 3 meeting of the Crown of Texas Hospice when they met in the Fellowship of Believers.

Romero reported that Crown of Texas Hospice Training will be offered in the Volunteer Training Room, 1000 S. Jefferson in Amarillo, on Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 9-noon, May 31 through June 30. Hospice volunteers have the opportunity to provide competent, compassionate care for neighbors and loved ones in their communities who are terminally ill. There are many tasks a volunteer can perform. If you would like to be one of these special people, please call Crown of Texas Hospice at 1-800-572-6365 or 1-372-7696 for additional information and registration.

Also, a training session in Hereford will be offered in July to accommodate persons in this city as well as Dimmitt, Vega, Adrian and other area communities.

The Health Fair was attended by approximately 250 people. Crown of Texas Hospice was represented by volunteers with an eye-catching booth.

The VFW Golf Tournament has been postponed until August.

Volunteers will be needed for the event.

Romero gave an updated bereavement report. She also asked for two volunteers for a new patient. This request was fulfilled.

The next meeting is scheduled at 5:30 p.m. June 7 in the Fellowship of Believers Church.

Members present were Romero, Mary Bravo, Emily Suggs, Merle Clark, Rita Burges, Mickie Garces and Ann Meyer.

Potluck supper served

Noble Grand Peggy Lemons presided at the business session as Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met Tuesday evening.

Several members were reported on the sick list. Nineteen visits to the sick, 20 cheer cards, nine dishes of food and six flowers were recorded for the week.

A potluck supper was served and Mother's Day cards were exchanged. "A Rose For Mothers," taken from a 1932 scrapbook, was read by Susie Curtsinger.

The festivities were enjoyed by Rosalie Northcutt, Erma Loving, Ocie Bolton, Ursalee Jacobsen, Nan Rogers, Dorothy Lundry, Leona Sowell, Dorothy Collier, Anna Conklin, Ben Conklin, Tony Irlbeck, Lemons and Curtsinger.

ACU student is named to honor roll

Jenna Blankenship of Hereford was one of 768 students at Abilene Christian University named to the Dean's Honor Roll for the fall 1993 semester.

To make the honor roll, a student must complete at least 12 semester hours for grads and earn 3.45 or higher grade point average.

ACU is a private university affiliated with the Churches of Christ with an enrollment of more than 4,000 students, making it one of the largest private universities in the Southwest.

HRMC is cutting health care costs

One of the best ways to cut health care costs is to increase efficiency in every area. That's why collection policy changes at Hereford Regional Medical Center are paying big dividends, according to Mary Ann Treviso, business office manager.

Collections at the hospital have improved from 77 percent collected on net revenues at the end of December to 100 percent collected by the end of March, reports Treviso. Bad debt and third party contractals are deducted from gross revenues to ascertain net revenues.

"Our goal has been to keep the patients better informed about the status of their hospital bill," Treviso said. "The majority of the people want to pay their bills on time, but insurance forms can be bewildering and hospital bills can be hard to understand. We're working hard to improve communications in those areas."

Two people--Sandra Allm, collections manager, and Jackie Mercer, collector--now work in a collection division of the business office. "We are communicating with the patient within seven days after discharge from the hospital by sending out an itemized statement and an information letter," Mrs. Allm said.

The most important aspect of the new policy is that the patients now have someone to talk to about their bill. The business office will counsel with patients to help them find ways to pay their bills. On unpaid bills, the hospital uses a cycle of 30-45-60-75-90 and 120 days to notify patients of balances due. If the bill is not paid after 120 days, the account is turned over to an attorney or a collection agency.

"We need the public to help us," said Treviso. Sometimes the patient can help clear up confusion with their insurance companies to speed up payment of the account. The hospital's policy is to do daily work on a daily basis, by filing insurance claims every day without fail.

Treviso said the business office is working at getting supplemental insurance filed as well. "Technically, the contract is between the patient and his or her insurance company. But we find many patients are just overwhelmed by the complications of hospital insurance, so we are please to file their claims for them."

Ron Rives, chief executive officer of HRMC, concluded that "improving insurance procedures is an important goal for the hospital district. The business office is working hard to be responsive to our patients and, at the same time, implement the procedures necessary for an effective collection process."

Red Cross Update

BY BETTY HENSON

A lifeguarding class will begin Sunday, May 15, at the Ruskins Pool in Dimmitt. Registration will be held at 2 p.m. and scheduling will be Laura Carter.

A current first aid and CPR certificate is required for the lifeguarding class. Please call the office for further information. Also, a lifeguarding class will begin in Friona Saturday, May 14, at the City Pool. Beth McGarey will be the instructor. Please call the office to register or for further information. A current first aid and CPR certificate is required.

Special thanks to Sally Walker, Lurline Cawthon and Ruth Rodriguez for keeping the office going in order that I could attend the Texas managers meeting and the Texas State Conference in San Antonio this past week. Dale and I attended many work sessions and met many Red Cross people and really enjoyed the conference. The entire American Red Cross organization is making many changes and is updating all programs and services. We will be following through on those requirements.

Memberships are still available at the office. Please call or come by to get your card.

The membership meeting is scheduled for June 23. New members for the board of directors will be elected and officers for the board will also be elected. Financial and activity reports will be given. There will be refreshments and door prizes. All volunteers are invited.

All water safety instructors are asked to call the office to schedule classes for the summer. A water safety class will be held as soon as there are enough students for the class.

The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a United Way Agency.

Zelonish, Kalka wed April 30 in Spring

United in marriage at a nuptial Mass Saturday afternoon, April 30, at St. Ignatius Loyola Catholic Church in Spring were Lisa Renee Zelonish of Orlando, Fla. and former Hereford resident, Melvin Alford Kalka Jr., also of Orlando. Officiating was the Rev. David Lawrence.

The bride is the daughter of Jerome and Beverly Zelonish of Spring and the bridegroom is the son of Melvin Sr. and Bernadette Kalka of Hereford.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal-length gown which featured a semi-length chapel train. The dress was designed in luminous satin and alencon lace. A wide border of sequin and pearl appliques swept the border of the entire gown. The drop-waist bodice had a sequin and pearl high neckline in front and an illusioned back with a single stand of pearl buttons extending from the back of the neckline down to a pleated bow which complimented the gown's back. The long sleeves, made of satin and alencon lace, hugged the low part of the arms and formed illusioned puffed shoulders at the top.

The bride's veil was designed in a silk half wreath accented with pearl strands and sequins to match the bodice of the gown. The waist-length veil was highlighted with a silk illusion pouf across the back.

The bride carried a flowing cascade with bridal white roses, white lilies and stephanotis with pearl throats. Needlepoint English ivy completed the bouquet.

To complete her bridal attire, the bride wore diamond and pearl dangle drop earrings. For something old and something blue, she wore her mother's garter. As something borrowed, she wore a friend's petticoat and as something new were her wedding attire and a white rosary given to her by the bridegroom's mother, Bernadette Kalka.

Serving as maid of honor was the bride's sister, Eric Zelonish of Houston. Bridal attendants were Dayna Williams of Houston, the bride's sister; LeeAnn Gibson of Los Angeles; Dena Pentecost of Houston; Kathleen Keiser of Dallas; and Victoria Young of San Antonio.

The attendants wore navy blue two-piece tailored silk shantung dresses. The short, ripple-sleeve jackets were accented with big pearl and rhinestone buttons and the straight tailored skirts dropped to the ankles. Each bridesmaid wore earrings identical to the buttons on the dresses which were gifts from the bride and groom. They carried cascades of stargazer lilies with prive roses and white bouvardias.

The best man was Keith Kalka of Hereford, the groom's brother. Groomsmen were Andy Kalka of Hereford, the groom's brother; Doug Marnell of Omaha, Neb., the groom's cousin; Jeff Shelton of Wichita Falls; Tony Yosten of Amarillo; and Eric Walterscheid of Amarillo.

Guests were escorted by Gregg Kalka of Hereford, the groom's brother; Curtis Hoelscher of Humble; Brent Stephens of Dallas; and Jeff Phelps of Dallas.

Candles were lit by Gregg Kalka and Brent Stephens.

The readers were Brian Heinrich of Amarillo, the groom's brother-in-law, and Mele Faulise of Houston.

The bride and groom were the eucharistic ministers for their own wedding celebration.

Musical accompaniment was provided by organist and liturgical director of St. Ignatius Loyola, Judy Tisch. Vocalist was Laura Strobl of Houston. Vocal selections were "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and

"Ave Maria" sang during the prelude. Processional was "Trumpet Voluntary"; "Like A Seal On Your Heart" was performed during the lighting of the unity candle; and "Hornpipes" from Handel's "Water Music" was the recessional.

The bride's mother wore a long sleeve mauve two-piece suit fashioned all in lace. The elegant V-shape neckline jacket was accented with pearl buttons. The border of the entire suit was also designed with a lace trim.

The groom's mother wore a silk shantung mauve two-piece suit to compliment the mother of the bride's dress. The V-neck jacket was created with elbow-length sleeves and gold buttons. The border of the sleeves and skirt were trimmed with silk embroidered roses and cut-out lattice designs. Both mothers wore fresh rose and orchid corsages.

The church altars were decorated with two nine-branch candelabra dressed with greenery. An arrangement of ferns and fresh flowers stood in front of the altar and lined the lector's podium.

A dinner-dance was held at St. Ignatius Loyola Community Center.

The bride's table was covered in a white floor-length decorative cloth with greenery lining the top borders of the table. All three tiers of her cake were embellished with greenery and fresh flowers. Also, on the table was a musical Precious Moments bride and groom figurine. The groom's chocolate on chocolate cake was decorated with the groom's almanac insignia, Texas Tech, with chocolate shavings surrounding the border of the cake. Also, as a highlight to the reception decor, an ice sculpture of two love doves centered on a table dressed with greenery and fresh flowers appeared next to the bride's and the groom's cake.

The bride is a 1986 graduate of Klein High School in Spring. She received her bachelor of science degree in advertising at the University of Texas at Austin in 1990. She was employed as an account coordinator at Acosta Sales Co., Inc. in Charlotte, N.C. and will be attending school in Orlando, Fla. to obtain her teaching certificate and masters degree in English.

The groom is a 1984 graduate of Hereford High School. He graduated with a bachelor of science degree in food technology from Texas Tech University. He is currently employed as a territory manager with Pfizer, Inc., in the Food Science Division.

Following a honeymoon on the Caribbean Island of Barbados, the couple will reside in Orlando, Fla.

The bridal couple was honored with showers in Hereford and in Houston. The bride was also given a lingerie shower hosted by a group of her former co-workers in Charlotte, N.C.

A bridesmaids' luncheon as held at the mother of the bride's home April 29 in preparation for the wedding day.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at The County Line in Spring Friday evening before the wedding.

Special guests at the wedding were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Zets of Youngston, Ohio, and the groom's grandfather, Frank J. Bezner Sr. of Hereford.

Couple to marry

Wedding vows will be exchanged by Hereford residents, Amanda Almazan and Bennie Gonzales, July 2 in First Baptist Church.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Roberto and Albina Almazan of 223 Star St. and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Bennie Sr. and Amelia Gonzales of 329 Cherokee St.

Miss Almazan is a 1985 graduate of Hereford High School and is a 1988 graduate of American Technical Institute in Amarillo. She is currently employed at Hereford State Bank.

Gonzales is a 1990 HHS graduate and attended Eastern New Mexico University. He is currently employed as an accounts manager at T.L.H. Enterprises-Colortyme Rentals.

Chapter inducts members

Fifty-six members of West Texas A&M University's junior and senior classes were inducted into the Texas Zeta Chapter of Alpha Chi, a national honor scholarship society, during a ceremony held recently in Mary Moody Northern Hall.

Among the WTAMU class of spring 1994 Alpha Chi inductees from Hereford were Beverly Martin, who is a junior majoring in nursing, and Ken Ingham, a graduate student in history.

Membership in Alpha Chi is by invitation only and is limited to students who have cumulative grade point average of 3.50 or higher on a 4.0 scale and rank in the top 10 percent of their respective classes.

Houseparty attendants were Carrie Aiken of Dumas, Chelsea Bulger of Sanger, Jane Hays of Hereford, Hannah McWhorter of Canyon and Eilan Hays of Waco.

— YOUR EYES —

If MOM'S IN A NURSING HOME

Good vision care can make the "golden years" a lot happier for the elderly, especially those in nursing homes and senior residences.

Occasionally, in these busy surroundings, eyeglasses can get lost or even exchanged. And the elderly, loathe to complain, may withdraw from group activities and seem disoriented—while the only reason for the "disorientation" is that the patient can't see clearly.

If you have a parent in such a group home, keep in touch with his or her eye health. Encourage them not to hide any changes in vision and to report such symptoms as headaches, pain around the eyes, mucous discharges and eye inflammation.

In some states, every nursing home resident is required to have a complete eye examination every year. If your parent is ambulatory, a visit to the optometrist's office can provide a more complete exam. All eyeglasses should be identified with the patient's name printed on the temples, so that they are more easily returned if mislaid.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) - Melissa Etheridge says she'll pay tribute at the Woodstock II festival to one of her rhythm-and-blues progenitors, Janis Joplin.

More than two dozen performers are expected at the festival Aug. 13 and 14 in Saugerties.

The lineup hasn't been announced, but Etheridge is expected to be joined by the likes of Neil Young, Metallica, the Red Hot Chili Peppers and Public Enemy.

"It will be fun," she said. "I'll do a Joplin number to pay tribute, and be on my way."

Garden of Fashion is presented

4-H'ers to participate in fashion show

Several Deaf Smith County 4-H members plan to participate in the District Fashion Show scheduled May 14 at West Texas A&M University. They include, from left, Jaime Steiert, Kylee Auckerman, Cindy Harder, Dawn Auckerman, Amanda Sims, Kinann Campbell, Erin Auckerman and Emily Parker. Not pictured is Craig Campbell.

Deaf Smith County 4-H members recently presented "Garden of Fashion" for residents of King's Manor Retirement Home and other guests. Presenting fashion in construction and consumer buying divisions were 4-H members, ages 8-19, and several pre-4-H'ers.

Floral bouquets adorned the stage and reception table carrying out the garden theme. 4-H Parent Leaders and the Ford and Westway Family Community Education Clubs sponsored the awards ceremony for the 4-H'ers held to announce winners of the afternoon clothing and textiles judging event.

Modeling for the event and representing Deaf Smith County 4-H at the District Fashion Show May 14 include junior competitors, Craig Campbell in consumer buying division (alternate is Dawn Auckerman), and Kylee Auckerman in specialty construction.

Intermediate competitors included Jaime Steiert in dressy daywear and Emily Parker in casual daywear. Senior competitor will be Erin Auckerman in casual construction. Senior buying division competitors include Kinann Campbell in casual buying, Cindy Harder in dressy buying and Amanda Sims in specialty buying.

Additional awards presented by Brenda Campbell and Karla Vasek included Rookie Awards to Senior 4-H'er Amanda Sims and Junior 4-H'er Dawn Auckerman. The winner of the Theme Award was Emily Parker; Creativity Award, Erin Auckerman; and Natural Fiber Awards, Jaime Steiert for wool and Kylee Auckerman for cotton. Cindy Harder was presented the Best Buymanship Award. Best Record Awards in junior, intermediate and senior divisions were given to Craig Campbell, Jaime Steiert and Kinann Campbell.

Clothing and textiles activities included workshop sessions on Drawing for Design by Kathleen Brockman; a tour and millinery program presented by Donna Brockman, executive director of the Deaf Smith County Historical Museum; and "Silk Screen It" video and Bow Hanger Creation by Charla Schlabs. Deaf Smith County senior 4-H members assisting and teaching were Kinann Campbell, Lee Harder, Shelia Teel, Cindy Harder and Karon Harder.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) - Courtney Love has been cleared of drug charges brought against her the week her husband, grunge rocker Kurt Cobain, committed suicide.

Prosecutors said Wednesday that substances found in Love's hotel room were not illegal drugs and that syringes found there were meant for injecting prescription painkillers.

"I am delighted that this nightmare is over and I have been cleared of all charges," Love said in a statement. "I can now concentrate on putting my life back together and mourning the loss of my husband."

Love, lead singer of the band Hole, was taken to a hospital April 7 after an apparent drug overdose. When she was released, she was arrested and booked for investigation of possessing heroin and drug paraphernalia.

Shower held for bride-elect

A bridal shower was given for Lesley Fisher April 30 in the Hereford State Bank. The honoree and Garrick McPherson will marry June 25. Greeting guests were the honoree, Lesley Fisher; the prospective bridegroom's mother, Karen McPherson, second from right; and the prospective groom's grandmothers, Vonnie Elliott and Vivian McPherson.

Lesley Fisher is feted with bridal shower

Lesley Fisher, June 25 bride-elect of Garrick McPherson, was feted with a bridal shower Saturday, April 30, at the Hereford State Bank.

The honoree welcomed guests along with the prospective bridegroom's mother, Karen McPherson, and his grandmothers, Vonnie Elliott and Vivian McPherson.

Christy Urbanczyk invited guests to register and the hostesses served refreshments of fruit plates, sweet bread plates, apple cider, punch and coffee.

The refreshment table was covered with an ecru Battenburg lace cloth and was centered with a silk floral arrangement created by maroon flowers, greenery and baby's breath placed in a crystal bowl. Further enhancing the table decor were a silver coffee service, crystal punch bowl and maroon napkins.

The honoree was presented with a vacuum cleaner and the centerpiece by the hostesses: Jill Harrison, Jackie Murphey, Vicki Wilson, Becky Reinart, Charlene Sanders, Nancy Urbanczyk, Betty Taylor, Louise Cardinal, Jan Broman, Phyllis Neil, Priscilla Lacey, Raelene Smith, Alice Lueb, Linda Ott, Sue Urbanczyk and Billie Hopson.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

IMPROVING CUSTOMER CARE

Today, small business must stay completely focused on their customers if they are going to survive. It will take superior customer service to hold market share and excellent service to gain on the pack. We're not talking about lip service, but real, honest-to-goodness customer care.

Based on conversations we've had with hundreds of business owners and customers around the country, we believe there are five levels of customer service. You may see your business in one of the levels we describe. If you're not where you would like to be, you may want to move your service quality up a notch.

Five Levels of Care

• No Care. The lowest level of customer service is no care. A recent study by Yankelovich Partners found that for many businesses "no care" is the norm. Sixty-two percent of the customers surveyed reported that they had walked out of a business because no one greeted them, no one waited on them or offered to help. That's no care.

In the same survey, 60 percent of the respondents reported asking a question that the sales clerk couldn't answer. To make matters worse, most didn't offer to find out. That's no service.

• Barely Care. Barely care is the level where many small businesses perform. They barely give any real customer service. They do almost nothing to set themselves apart from the mega stores who also provide barely care.

Barely care givers greet their customers, offer assistance and say thanks. Then they go on to the next sale. The previous customer is quickly forgotten as the barely care giver repeats the process on the next one.

• Reactive Care. The reactive care giver provides barely care and then goes one step beyond. The additional step is to let the customer know that they are there to help if needed. The customer must take the initiative, but they are assured of assistance if they call.

Each of these steps is an improvement. Barely care is better than no care; and reactive care is better than barely care. Barely • Proactive Care. Proactive care is the level of care that goes beyond reactive care. Proactive care givers follow-up with customers. They initiate calls to see how customers are doing.

The proactive care giver really is concerned with how the customer is doing. They want to serve the customer more effectively because they know that the only way they can guarantee future business is to keep the customer satisfied.

Proactive care is a high level of customer service. However, if you're providing proactive care you could still lose your customers to a competitor who goes all out to please the customer.

• Whatever-It-Takes Care. Whatever-it-takes customer service includes the best of all other levels of service. In addition, it encompasses building a partnership with customers.

This level of service is not just based on giving great service to ensure the next sale, but also focuses on helping customers even if you don't make another sale. Your business becomes giving customers what they want and need

It will require a higher level of commitment and employee training than you've provided in the past. You'll have to stretch to build new relationships. You'll have to think like a partner with your customers. You'll have to know their needs as well as you know your own.

The reward is customer loyalty. I know you've heard that customer loyalty doesn't exist anymore. For most businesses that is true. Most businesses don't offer whatever-it-takes care. No care equals no loyalty. Barely care, reactive care and even proactive care offer little promise of "customers for life." Whatever-it-takes care will ensure satisfied customers who want to do business with you again and again.

Couple at home in Canyon following March 26 wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Bradly Scott Barrett are making their home in Canyon following their March 26 wedding held in First United Methodist Church in Irving. Officiating was the Rev. Mike Walker of the church.

The bride, the former Kimberly Lynn Barnes of Irving, is the daughter of Jerry and Jane Barnes of Irving. The bridegroom is the son of Ed and Millie Barrett of Hereford.

The bride was presented in marriage by her father.

Lynn Orsini served as maid of honor and best man was Kevin Hansen.

Bridesmaids were D'Ann Shipp, Jonna Matus and Wendy Conoley. Groomsmen were Bobby Baker, Jason Bush and Brian Barnes.

Flower girl was Bailee Barrett, daughter of Rodney and Judy Barrett. Ring bearer was Barrett Weishaar, son of Ron and Jan Weishaar.

Guests were escorted by the groom's brothers, Bob Barrett and Rodney Barrett.

Organist for the ceremony was Cathy Gribnitz. Vocalist was Debbie Cope who sings with the church choir. She performed "This Is The Day" and "In This Very Room."

Rita Riddle invited guests to register at the reception held in the DFW Holiday Inn. Refreshments were served by the inn's employees.

The Eagle Sound Production provided music and DJs for the reception's entertainment.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Tech University where she received a B.S. degree in education. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority and plans to teach in the fall.

The groom is a graduate of Texas Tech University where he received a B.A. degree in marketing. He is a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity and is employed at Barrett and Crofoot Feedyards.

Between The Covers

By JOE WEAVER

OK, OK! By now everyone who cares (and a lot who don't give a rip) knows I turned 40. I thought it would be a case of mind over matter--if I didn't mind, it wouldn't matter. It obviously DID matter to a number of people who conspired to make sure that I didn't forget, and everyone else knew. Thanks to all who expressed pleasant wishes. As for the rest of you nay-sayers...PHHPPTTT!

Judy and Don Minchew are newcomers to Hereford, Don being the CFO for Arrowhead Mills. Judy has pitched right in a number of ways around town, but I am very grateful that she chose the library as one of the projects she devotes time to. She serves on the board of the Friends of the Library and I think you'll be seeing some changes in that organization pretty soon. She has donated books, too, but she won the heart of the library staff when she brought in a plate of goodies around Christmastime. This month Judy is displaying part of her vast mug collection. She began her collection when she was presented with a set of four by her parents, and now they number well over a hundred. She drinks from them all from time to time, and when I asked her favorite, I got a spic on each one. She says she prefers big mugs with thin lips and big ears. (Actually she said thin rims and big handles, but I liked it better my way!) The Minchews use the collection as "ice-breakers" when new friends or a group from their Sunday School is over. (Estella Abeyta's collection was not in by press time, so we'll report on her next time).

This is sci-fi week at Deaf Smith County Library. Half of the new books

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Ray Liotta's been so bad he had to get good.

After his chilling performance as a rogue cop in "Unlawful Entry," the actor plays a hero in the new movie "No Escape."

"I was just such a bad guy in that, I wanted to be the guy who goes and saves the day," he said. "And what I like about it, I do have a conscience. There's the theme of redemption."

Liotta, who also played a mobster in "GoodFellas," stars as an inmate who battles a penal colony's sadistic prisoners.

"No Escape" was the highest-grossing film of the weekend with $4.6 million, which gets to Liotta's main reason for making the film.

going out this week ar in that genre, and there's even one non-fiction book about space.

The fiction works are: Lake of the Long Sun, by Gene Wolf; Star Wars: Dark Force Rising by Timothy Zahn, second volume of a three-book cycle; Kim Stanley Robinson's novel of the colonization of Mars, titled simply Red Mars. Anne McCaffrey and Jody Lynn Nye return with a new "ship who" novel--The Ship Who Won, and there's more of a shift to fantasy with The Tangle Box by Terry Brooks.

Visions of Space is the title of an unusual work by David A. Hardy. Subtitled "Artist's Journey Through the Cosmos," it is a collection, with some explanation, of artists conception of features of space. Some of these have apparently been used to illustrate sci-fi works, but they reflect familiarity with recent reports and discoveries.

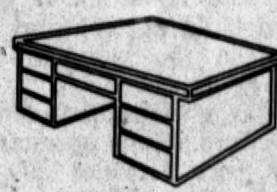

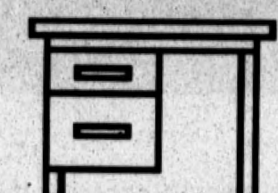

There are a couple of fun books being released this week. Hamburger Heaven by Jeffrey Tennyson is an illustrated history of--you guessed it--the hamburger! From its inception (anybody's guess) to the future burger, this book tells all! The Great T-Shirt Book is a... well, GREAT T-Shirt Book. If you can afford the shirts, you can keep the kids busy this summer AND they'll be creating their own back-to-school wardrobe!

Sure, you know that Leonard Slye and Octavia Smith became Roy Rogers and Dale Evans. You have probably heard that Tony Curtis is really Bernard Schwartz. But do you know the stories behind the real names. What Were Their Names Before? is a listing of numerous famous people whose real name, strangely enough, is often more descriptive than their chosen name. For example: James Garner. He's enjoyed a long and fruitful career, befitting someone whose real name is James Scott Baumgardner--"The Orchard Grower." Or Charlton Heston. In Ben Hur this actor drove a mean chariot. No wonder, when his real name is Charlton Carter--"One who drove a cart."

Looking forward to this week... Shirley Intermediate fifth-graders get an outing to Ceta Canyon, and it looks like the library will be presenting the story of Lt. Frank Baldwin, one of the unsung heroes of the Texas Panhandle Indian Wars. With a little assistance from the museum we'll tell the kids a little about how the Plains Indians lived--maybe even teach a little sign language. At any rate, we'll have fun and maybe learn a thing or two in the bargain.

Holly Sugar recognized in Wyoming

CHEYENNE, Wyo. -- Holly Sugar Corp., which operates a plant in Hereford, was recently honored for its contributions to the American free enterprise system and for its preservation of business history.

The Newcomen Society of the United States presented Holly Sugar president Roger Hill with its Free Enterprise Award at a banquet in Cheyenne.

The 70-year-old Newcomen Society, headquartered in Exton, Penn., is a non-profit educational foundation chartered to preserve, protect and promote the free enterprise system.

It operates through a network of members and committees in all 50 states, as well as in several U.S. possessions and numerous foreign countries.

In accepting the award, Hill recounted how Holly Sugar began in 1905 in the town of Holly, Colo.

"Nearly nine decades of progress is a tale of a long line of dedicated entrepreneurs and spirited industrialists whose vision and drive have helped build our company into a leader in the world sweetener industry," he said.

Today, as a subsidiary of Imperial Holly Corp., Holly operates seven sugar beet factories in Texas, Montana, Wyoming and California.

Ranch-to-Rail registration reaches 400

Advance registration for the Ranch-to-Rail beef cattle program in Amarillo Tuesday has topped the 400 mark and forced a change in locations for the program.

Originally scheduled to be held at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center, Ranch-to-Rail has been moved to the Amarillo Civic Center's north concourse.

Announcing the change, Dr. John McNeill, said the advance registration indicates a total attendance of 500 persons, or more. McNeill, of Texas Agricultural Extension Service at College Station, is program leader.

"We're seeing a rapid increase in producer interest as well as in the number of cattle being enrolled in our program," said McNeill.

The conference will begin at 8 a.m. Tuesday with a complimentary Tex-Mex breakfast, hosted by Roche Animal Health. Speakers during the morning will report on topics ranging from animal health to market changes. A noon luncheon will feature Ranch-to-Rail prime rib.

A mid-afternoon tour at Randall County Feedyard will provide participants with a look at fed steers enrolled in the program and hear on-site reports about key issues of concern to all segments of the fed cattle industry.

"The program is designed to broaden communication and contact at each level of the fed cattle industry, from the producer through the feedlot to the packer," said Dr. Matt Cravey, extension beef cattle specialist at Amarillo.

Applications being taken for 'adoption'

The Bureau of Land Management office in Oklahoma is accepting applications for "adoption" of wild horses and burros captured on public lands in 10 western states.

The adoption program has been conducted since 1973 with more than 142,000 animals adopted through the program.

The Oklahoma Area office of the Tulsa district of the Bureau of Land Management will develop a schedule for adoptions to be conducted in Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Texas.

In order to determine the most appropriate locations for the adoptions, the BLM is asking interested persons to call or write for an application packet.

The mailing address is Bureau of Land Management, Oklahoma Resource Area Office, 221 N. Service Rd. Moore, OK 73160. The phone number is 405-794-9624.

The agency believes the adoption program provides an excellent way to maintain an ecological balance between the wild horses and burrows with other wildlife and domestic animals of the western rangelands.

Receiving an award

Roger Hill, left, president of Holly Sugar, recently accepted the Newcomen Society's American Free Enterprise Award on behalf of the company. Joining Hill at a banquet announcing the award were James C. Kempner, center, president and chief executive officer of Imperial Holly Corp., the Sugar Land, Texas, parent company of Holly Sugar, and former Wyoming governor Stanley K. Hathaway.

TTU to host regional 'summit' on food, fiber production issues

Five regional conferences -- one at Texas Tech University -- will bring together consumers, environmentalists, government officials, agribusiness leaders and crop and livestock producers to discuss critical concerns facing food and fiber production and protection of natural resources.

The first of the five conferences is scheduled for May 16 at the University Center at TTU. Others will be held on May 18 in Temple, May 24 in Dallas, May 25 in Weslaco and May 26 in Odessa.

Dr. John R. Abernathy, resident director of research at Lubbock for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, is chairman of the Texas Agricultural and Natural Resource Summit Leadership Council which is coordinating the five conferences.

He pointed out that the groups invited to the events are "stakeholders in the need for a prospering agricultural industry which meets the nation's needs" but still cares for natural resources.

The five conferences this year grew out of the Texas Agricultural Summit held last October on the campus of Texas A&M University in College Station.

More than 450 leaders representing a wide diversity of interests identified high priority issues that will impact agriculture in the 21st century.

Abernathy said, "The mini-summits in May will provide opportunities for regional leaders of all the stakeholders to discuss solutions for the issues identified at the Agricultural Summit. They also will increase public awareness of the issues and the process of finding solutions."

Each of the five conferences will begin at 9 a.m.

Participants will be divided into work groups to develop strategies for resolving five key issues:

- Protecting the environment and natural resources.
- Competitiveness of Texas Agriculture.
- Public policy for agriculture and rural areas.
- Education and information needs of consumers.
- Developing leadership.

ESPECIALLY DESIGNED FOR WHEELCHAIR ACCESSIBILITY
Family Area Is Functionally Unsurpassed

© BY W.D. FARMER, F.A.I.S.D.

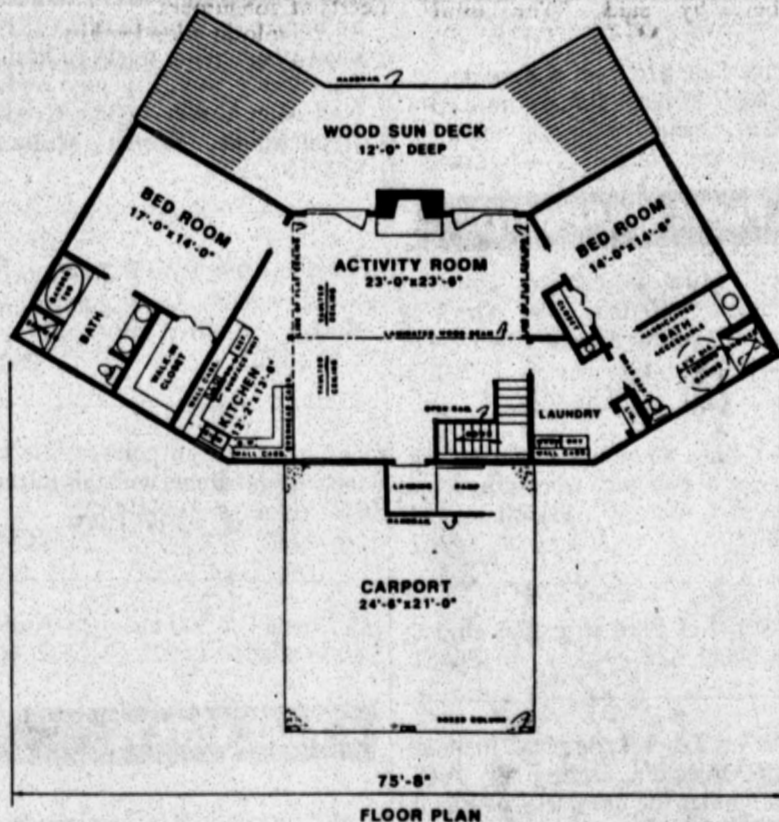

Beneath the open carport is a main entry designed with a ramp for the handicapped. It leads to the expanse of a completely open family area. The central portion of this plan isolates the bedrooms to either side. It includes a 23' by 23'6" great room with a vaulted ceiling and a fireplace. At the rear of the plan a wood sun deck extends the full width of the U shape design.

The kitchen is positioned to allow the cook to fully participate in family activity and on the opposite side is an equally sized laundry room. The basement stair is shown with an open rail and if you like, identical rooms may be finished on the lower level.

The master bath is provided with a separate shower and tub area and the master bedroom includes a large walk in closet. The handicap bath is shown with an 8 foot diameter turning radius for shower access and additional features for the handicapped restricted to a wheel chair.

The contemporary exterior features a pronounced elegance with stone, vertical siding and a hip roof design completing the picture.

The plan is Number 689. It is a computer generated plan and includes 1,682 square feet of heated area. All W. D. Farmer plans are furnished with special construction details for energy efficiency and are drawn in accordance with FHA and VA requirements. For further information write W. D. ## Question/Answer

Q: I have a convection type oven and am unhappy with this method of baking. I would prefer a conventional system. Is it possible to disconnect the blower system and have this oven operate as conventional oven?

A.: Definitely not. A convection blower recirculates the warm oven air, and also helps draw air into the gas burner. If you disconnect the blower, the burner flame wouldn't have sufficient air to burn properly. The flame would no longer burn on the burner but would find its way back to the orifice on the gas valve, and burn there. This would create a fire hazard within the range, and might possibly cause an explosion. So don't even think about altering your range. While expensive, it's safer to replace it with a conventional model that matches your style of baking.

'Dapper Don' dances: Gotti gets away on CBS

Anthony Denison and Lorraine Bracco star in "Getting Gotti," airing Tuesday on CBS. Denison portrays reputed Gambino family crime boss John Gotti, under investigation on charges of loan-sharking, gambling and racketeering. Bracco plays prosecuting attorney Diane Giacalone.

BY JEFF PLASS

Viewers who tune in to CBS' "Getting Gotti," on Tuesday, May 10, expecting to see the "Dapper Don" get his comeuppance are in for a disappointment.

Gotti gets off. Sorry to spoil things for everybody, but that's basically the gist of it.

The movie focuses on the real-life efforts of assistant U.S. Attorney Diane Giacalone (played by Lorraine Bracco), who spent seven years attempting to indict John Gotti and six of his cohorts on charges of loan-sharking, gambling and racketeering.

The viewer sees Gotti's bloody rise to the top of the Gambino Crime family.

The viewer sees Diane endure countless humiliations at the hands of perjurious witnesses, and an intolerably rude courtroom gallery of Gotti supporters.

And ultimately, the viewer gets to hear the words "not guilty" fall on the floor of the courtroom along with the jaws of the prosecutors.

So after investing two hours in this film, viewers are left with a sour, "why-did-I-bother?" taste in their mouths, probably not unlike the one the real-life Giacalone must have tasted when the verdict came down on Gotti in 1986.

Actor Anthony Denison, who plays Gotti in the film, sees the outcome of the case as a small battle fought in the cause of a greater war.

"If you say basically that Diane Giacalone lost ...," Denison says, "I don't know if she really lost because she did bring this whole thing to light."

"You know sometimes you get a cut and you don't tend the cut. You can slowly bleed to death as a result of that cut. I think, in a sense, Diane Giacalone may not have been able to win her case, but I think what she did is she exposed an Achilles' heel.

"It then opened the door for other cases to go against him," Denison continues. "Whether or not the (subsequent) cases were founded on any truth or they were led by traditional good judicial prudence or not, the point is her case opened the doors for other cases to go against it."

Another possible knock against "Getting Gotti," is that the film seems to have subscribed to virtually every myth, cliché and stereotype of Italian-Americans represented on celluloid since "The Godfather."

Too many scenes come complete with yelling, screaming and colorful expletives.

But then, ironically enough, some of the most entertaining scenes in the film are those which involve the aforementioned characteristics.

Bracco, in particular, makes good a number of scenes by raising the volume.

And Denison's portrayal of Gotti, the reputation of the "Dapper Don" notwithstanding, is an earnest one. In any case, the actor seems to have Gotti's infamous scowl down cold.

"I think I gave an honest, thorough portrayal," Denison says. "I never play any of these characters, good guys or heroes or questionable heroes or non-heroes. I never play them with the intent of being liked, loved or hated. I play them solely from the point of view of trying to have them be understood."

"I think that if John Gotti watches this movie, and anybody who watches this movie, they'll come away with an understanding of the guy."

"Whether they like him or not," Denison concludes, "that's their choice."

The human body: an incredible machine

There's a lot more going on in your body than you might think. Below are some body facts you can share with your friends:

- To get from one side of the heart to the other, blood has to run through the entire body! It takes about sixty seconds.
- The hand is usually the same width as the length of the middle finger.
- Women tend to have thicker skin than men.
- Every pound of additional fat creates miles of extra blood capillaries throughout the body.
- As a rule, people who live in the most primitive environments enjoy the best-developed senses.

- For example, eskimos can detect odors far more acutely than we can. Also, the African Bushman has both superior eyesight and hearing.
- Remember to brush your teeth as well as your tongue. It can reduce up to 90 percent of decay-causing bacteria in the mouth.
- Our bodies are asymmetrical. The right side of the face tends to be more developed than the left.
- Because the left half of the brain predominates over the right half, most of us are right-handed.
- Human taste buds are more sensitive at sea level than at higher altitudes.

May 8 - 14 HOROSCOPE

By C. C. Clark

Aries (March 21 - April 20)
You are most likely headed down the wrong path, and someone is desperately trying to tell you so. A careless attitude could cause great damage.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)
It is time to look forward and plan for the future. You have certain goals that you want to attain, and you are going to have to do some work to get there.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)
You have been misjudged in a situation, and things will turn around for you. The world isn't always fair, but you can do your part.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)
You may be obsessing about something without realizing it. Is it all that important? Stop and think about what you are doing.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)
You may be wearing blinders where a certain situation is concerned. It will be much easier to make a decision once you see things more clearly.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)
An opportunity at work will arise and it will be just in time. You need to talk with someone wiser about a tough situation.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
You should not overdo it. Make some necessary cutbacks in your diet and lifestyle in general. Simpler life as much as possible.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)
Being greedy with love and possessions could get you in serious trouble. Share your love. Material possessions are only things.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)
A love relationship could take a serious turn and you may not be ready. A friend could help you through a difficult and upsetting time.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)
There is a need to balance the scales a little. Too much of one thing and not enough of another have made you irritable.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
If you are carrying around a chip on your shoulder, you can bet someone wants to knock it off. Let go of the past and learn to live in the present.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)
Use your head and narrow down the choices when making important decisions. You may need to discuss problems with a loved one.

MONDAY

Survivors of a deadly epidemic, deaf and mute Nick Andros (Rob Lowe, right) and Tom (Bill Fagerbakke), a retarded man, seek a mysterious woman in the second part of "The Stand," Monday on ABC.

LET'S TALK

A Leslie Nielsen police role and the name's not Frank; Bo knows 'Days'

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Hayley Mills

Q: Could you please tell me something about actress Hayley Mills? How many movies has she made? How old is she now? --Wanda Vohs, Pollock, Texas.

A: Mills, best known for her dual roles in 1961's "The Parent Trap," starred in 27 movies between 1959 and 1989, including three "Parent Trap" spin-offs.

Mills is now 48 and resides in London.

Q: Could you please give me some information on Robert Kelker-Kelly, who plays Bo Brady on "Days of Our Lives"? Could you supply me with an address where I can write to him? What movies has he appeared in? Also, could you tell me who played the old Bo Brady on "Days"? --A.S., Gallipolis, Ohio.

A: Kelker-Kelly was born in Cleveland but soon moved to a small town in Kansas, where he grew up.

His television career began on NBC's "Miami Vice" and from there he moved on to the role of Sam Fowler on the NBC daytime-drama "Another World," which he left after a three-year stint to return to theater.

Two years later, he landed the role of Bo Brady on "Days" (previously played by Peter Reckell).

Kelker-Kelly's feature film credits include appearances in "The Final Equinox Party" and "Don't Stop Now."

You can write to him C/O "Days of Our Lives," NBC Media Relations, 3000 W. Alameda Blvd., Burbank, Calif. 91523.

Q: In the 1960s, I remember watching a television show starring Leslie Nielsen in which he played a police lieutenant. It was on NBC on either Tuesday or Thursday nights. Please refresh my memory with the name of this show. --Nancy Patriarco, Ashtabula, Ohio.

A: Initially, I thought you might be referring to Nielsen's role of Lt. Frank Drebin in "Police Squad," but that was on ABC in the early 1980s.

Nielsen starred in a one-hour police drama called "The New Breed" that ran on ABC, on Tuesdays, from October 1961 to November 1962. He played Lt. Price Adams.

He also starred as Deputy Police Chief Sam Danforth in "The Protectors," a police drama which ran on NBC on Sundays from September 1969 to September 1970.

I hope one of these programs is the one you are trying to come up with.

Q: I am a big fan of "Full House." Can you please give me some information on Lori Loughlin, who plays Rebecca. Where is she from? What other roles has she played other than the one in "Full House"? Also, please tell me where I can write to her. --R.B., Fredonia, N.Y.

A: Loughlin was born in Long Island, N.Y., and started her career as a print model at age 11 before moving on to TV commercials.

When she was 15, Loughlin was cast in the role of Jody Travis on the ABC daytime drama "The Edge of Night." She played that role for three-and-a-half years before trying her hand at feature and television films.

On TV she has appeared in the movies "Babies Having Babies," "A Place to Call Home," "The Brotherhood of Justice" and "No Means No," as well as the PBS production of "The Old Reliable" with Lynn Redgrave.

Her feature film credits include appearances in "Back to the Beach," "Secret Admirer," "Amityville 3" and "The Night Before."

You can write to her C/O the show at Lorimar Television, 10202 W. Washington Blvd., Culver City, Calif., 90232.

ENTERTAINMENT NEWS

May's FOX-O-RAMA: It smells, it grumbles, it pops out at viewers

What can you get for 33 cents? At 7-Eleven stores, that much loose change will buy a FOX-O-RAMA home viewing kit, which includes a pair of 3-D glasses and a selection of scratch-n-sniff cards for use during the FOX-O-RAMA viewing event Sunday and Monday, May 8 and 9, on the fourth network. "Married... With Children" star Ed O'Neill is host.

Ed O'Neill

The fun starts with "Martin," which features "Sheneneh-Vision": viewers' home-video impersonations of Sheneneh, an oversexed female character created by series star Martin Lawrence. Then there's "Aroma-Vision" on "Living Single," when viewers can appreciate several of the episode's aromatic events through their own noses, with the help of the scratch-n-sniff cards.

"The ultimate theme park" - that's how NASCARWorld, a modular mobile theme park, is being billed. All 400,000 square feet of interactive exhibits and rides, merchandise and food booths will be open to visitors Aug. 4-7 in conjunction with the inaugural Brickyard 400 auto race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Then the park will hit the road for eight appearances at speedways on the NASCAR circuit in 1995. Attractions include a simulator ride that re-creates the sensation of driving a stock car, a broadcast booth that lets fans call a race, and a realistic pit and state-of-the-art mobile mechanic's shop. Auto racing heroes will also be on hand to sign (what else?) autographs.

A 3-D episode of "Married... With Children" follows (pull out the red and blue glasses), and the evening ends with "Grumble-Vision," as curmudgeonly George Carlin closes his show by reading his favorite viewer complaints about the world.

On Monday, Fox's presentation of "Revenge of the Nerds IV: Nerds in Love" features 3-D segments and more scratch-n-sniff. Now that's entertainment.

HBO has cast Raul Julia and Edward James Olmos in "Chico," its upcoming movie biography of Brazilian labor leader Chico Mendes.

TUESDAY

Fox revives the Cryptkeeper for two "Tales From the Crypt" episodes on Tuesday. Teri Garr stars in the first tale, about an insurance scam attempt, followed by a librarian fearing a serial killer with Adam Ant.

HIGHLIGHTS

Kevin Costner and Morgan Freeman (from left) get ready to be catapulted in "Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves," making its network television debut on CBS Sunday, May 8. Costner stars as Robin of Locksley, an English nobleman, who escapes certain death in the dungeon of a foreign land during the Crusades.

Upon returning to England with his fellow escapee Azeem (Freeman), Robin finds his homeland under the rule of the nefarious Sheriff of Nottingham (Alan Rickman).

HIGHLIGHTS

Terry O'Quinn and Ann Jillian

star in "Heart of a Child," a fact-based drama premiering on NBC Monday, May 9.

Late in their pregnancies, Karen Shouten (Michele Greene) and Alice Hole (Jillian) discover their babies will survive only a few days after birth. Karen's daughter will be born missing a portion of her brain and Alice's son will be born with a terminal heart condition.

The Shoutens decide that the heart of their child should be used to save the Holcs' son.

Acting with Hanks; little-seen anthology

BY STEVEN ALAN MCGAW

Questions:

1. Name the performer who played Tom Hanks' office mate in "Big."
2. What's the gimmick in 1938's

"The Terror of Tiny Town"?

3. Francois Truffaut directed a cast made up almost entirely of children in this 1976 gem.

4. Tatum O'Neal and Kristy McNichol played summer camp rivals in this trashy tale from 1988. (Bonus: Who plays the thuggy guy from the boys camp across the lake?)

5. John Sayles and Susan Rice wrote the screenplay for this little-seen 1983 anthology film featuring Kevin Bacon, Ellen Barkin and Sudie Bond.

6. Who directed Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz in 1954's hilarious "The Long, Long Trailer"?

7. Bruce Davison plays a convicted child molester in this powerful 1977 film also featuring Freddy Fender.

8. Diane Keaton plays the title role in this film based on a novel by John LeCarre.

Answers:

1. Jon Lovitz.
2. A very short cast.
3. "Small Change."
4. The movie is "Little Darlings."

The boy is Matt Dillon.

5. "Enormous Changes at the Last Minute."

Horton returns to "Days of Our Lives"

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Fans of "Days of Our Lives" will be happy to know that one of their favorite characters, Michael Horton, is returning to the show.

This time around the role will be portrayed by daytime newcomer Roark Critchlow. The character has supposedly been in Israel with his wife, Robin, and son, Jeremy. A source at the show says, "The new Mike is still the witty, fun-loving, handsome young doctor he was when he left Salem, but the time away from the rest of his family has changed him. Those who look beyond the surface will find a new edge to the character."

Dear Candace: I watch "The Young and the Restless," "The Bold and the Beautiful," "As the World Turns" and "Guiding Light."

I want to know what happened to Carl Williams on "Y&R"? I haven't heard him mentioned for a long time.

Also, I wish the writers would let just one couple be happy on a soap. I would really like that couple to be Victoria and Cole on "Y&R." They are made for one another. I like Hope, and she is good for Victor.

I didn't like it when Bob Hughes had an affair with Susan on "ATWT." It was wonderful when Kim forgave him and they got back together. -Jewel Martin, Plainview, Texas.

Dear Reader: Brett Hadley (Carl, "Y&R") has not worked on the soap for several years. Fans have written in for years to express their wishes that the Williams family would get back together.

It is a shame that Carl isn't around. With his detective background he could surely dig up something that could help poor April.

Dear Candace: Is the lovely actress who played Taylor on "B&B" related to Loretta Young?

Also, is the actress who plays Lily on "ATWT" related to Melissa Gilbert? There is a great resemblance.

Dear Reader: Sorry, but Hunter Tylo (Taylor, "B&B") is not related to Young, nor is Martha Byrne (Lily, "ATWT") to Gilbert. The women do look similar.

Send your comments to Candace Havens, Soap World, Features Dept., TV Data Technologies, Northway Plaza, Queensbury, N.Y. 12804.
