A LOT of credit goes to our Agricultural Co A Experiment Stations where men spend their lives working out improved methods of breeding and feeding. For example, E. F. He found that too small an amount of protein in the ration produces more runts,

All pigs in the test started at an average weight of 50 pounds and were self-fed without soybean meal in equal parts with 10 % alfalfa meal to supply adequate amounts of B vitamins. Some lots got a high-protein ration (18% of the total feed); others were cut down to 15 % and 12 % protein. As pigs get heavier, they need less protein, so in some lots the amount of protein was reduced as they gained in weight. The best results came from an 18 % protein ration until the pigs reached 100 pounds, and 15 % protein after that weight. The hogs on low-protein rations made smaller gains and were more uneven in individual weights when the test ended. By just such careful experi-ments, the "know-how" of hog raising has reached its present efficiency.

LOST! A MILLION EXTRA

Approximately 200 million pounds of meat a year are being wasted as a result of bruises, crippling and death losses of live-stock in transit to market, according to H. R. Smith of the National Livestock Loss Prevention Board. This Board has found that all of us who have to do with the handling of live-stock can help save much of this needed meat by following these simple rules:

1. Inspect chutes, trucks and cars for nails and rough corners.

2. Do not overload or jam animals. Partition mixed loads of

When trucking, start and stop with caution; watch for bumps, ruts and sharp curves.

By observing these simple rules, we can all cooperate in cutting down this loss of a million extra meat rations a year; and we can help contribute to the nation the additional meat supplies which it needs so greatly right now!

5. Check your load frequently. Livestock shift in transit.

3. Never beat or prod with whips or clubs.

CATFISH CAN'T RAISE CORN

Nature has equipped catfish with feelers so they can find their way about in muddy, silt-laden rivers. Most of that mud and silt is rich topsoil from once fertile farmlands; the type of soil that should still be producing 50 to 100 bushels of corn.

Catfish can't use that fertile mud to raise corn, and that's too bad. Because right now, America needs all the corn it can produce. There's no need to let catfish have any part of your farm. Your top-soil can be saved. Soil conservation practices hold the raindrops where they fall, control water erosion, stop gullying, stabilize the soil. The Agricultural Extension Service of your State University will be glad to help you work out a special program to fit your farm.

Through soil conservation practices fertility is maintained, crops make better yields, carrying capacity of pastures is increased, more and cheaper feeds are provided for livestock. All this means more money in the farmer's pocket. Swift & Company believes that whatever helps livestock helps all of us-producer, meat packer and consumer. To you as a producer, we earnestly suggest that an investigation of soil conservation land management may be worth your while. r.M. Simpson.

So the city folks have done it! Well, WATCH OUR SPEED!

WORD comes from Washington that the fat-salvage problem has got to be licked in the small cities, the towns and on the farms.

We women have to save enough used fats in our kitchens to help make munitions, medicines, fabrics, soap for military and civilian use, and many other essentials.

The job, to date, has been done largely . by city people, because arrangements for collecting the fats were made in the cities first. And these city folks are turning in more than twelve million pounds a month!

Now we're called on. And will the women on the farms and in the towns and small, cities break that record?

Don't worry-fust watch our speed! HOW TO DO IT: Save all used fats in a tim can. Keep it handy to the stove. Scrape your broilers and roasting pans, skim soups and gravies, for every drop counts. Keep solid pieces of fat, as meat trimmings and table scraps, in a bowl.

Melt down once a week when your oven's going, add the liquid fat to the salvage can.

Take the can to your butcher as soon as it's full. He will give you two red points and up to four cents for every pound. If you have any difficulty, call your County Agent or Home Demonstration Agent. This message is approved by WFA and OPA, and paid for by Industry.

The next item of interest on the USO schedule is the election and coronation of a May Queen. The election will take place at the dance next Monday night, April 23, at the clubhouse, and the coronation will be held the night of April 30th. Service men are urged to turn in the names of their choice for Queen as soon as possible.

Men stationed here may know how to get around New York or Chicago, but, even after they have been in Hereford more than a year, they don't know their way around. Some have been here several months and had no idea that there was a creek to fish in. It might help if some of the local residents would take time out to show Hereford to the men. Hereford People Received Account Of Life in Japanese Prison Camp

A first-hand report of conditions in a Jap prison camp in the Philippines has been received by J. G. Fortenberry of Adrian, whose cousin, Mrs. Rolf Hanson, together with her husband, was rescued on Feb. 23 when American troops and Filipino guerillas broke into the Jap Camp at Las Banos, Luzon.

Mr. Hanson was a mining engineer in the Philippines and the couple had been interned for three years when rescue came. Mrs. Hanson is an aunt of Misses Mattie Davis and Grace Taylor, who teach at the Walcott school in this county, and the account which follows is part of a letter received by relatives:

telephones

IT'S a live subject with telephone people. They're doing a lot of research and planning right now.

What does the telephone company have in mind?

Two main points. One is to improve the service over existing lines. The other is to extend telephone service to families not reached by existing lines.

What are some of the new ideas for farm telephone service?

One that has a lot of promise is to send telephone conversations over electric power lines. Another is a new.

stronger telephone wire that requires fewer poles and has greater resistance to storms. A third is a radiotelephone system to reach people in remote spots.

Is telephone service over power lines now practical?

Yes. Bell telephone scientists began working on it in 1938 and started field tests with the REA in 1940. Before the war interrupted, it was clear that a suitable system could be produced.

The postwar farm telephone job will be big. But the combination of telephone research and the know-how of practical telephone men is the best key to progress.

Every household can afford the luxury of WATER HEATED BY NATURAL GAS. The extra economy and satisfaction of an AUTOMATIC GAS WATER HEATER soon pays for the cost. After the war, look for the embodiment of new ideas in the science of water-heating by gas, and make your plans now to enjoy these benefits.
