TEXAS OUT-O-DOORS

Birds are being given considerable credit for the lack of grasshoppers in West Texas this year. Hordes of hoppers destroyed crops last year, but large flocks of Swainson's hawks and horned larks, as well as thousands of burrowing owls moved in on them and destroyed many of the pests, according to word received by the Executive Secretary of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission from his game managers in the affected areas.

Not only did birds destroy vast numbers of grasshoppers, but one game manager observed a flock of Swainson's hawks numbering more than 1,000 feeding on mature hoppers last week and also scratching and digging around in the ground. After the flock flew away he checked the large field closely and was unable to find any egg pods. Thus is shown another good reason why the wildlife of Texas should be protected and why it is worth millions of dollars to land owners as well as sportsmen, the Executive Secretary pointed out.

Natural enemies of rattlesnakes continue to take their toll. The latest incident to come to the attention of the Game Department was reported by P. W. Krauter of Medina county, who recently observed a coachwhip snake crawling very slowly in a circle. Approaching closer Mr. Krauter saw the snake make a quick movement. It grabbed a three-foot rattler about midway of its back and shook it, apparently breaking the rattler's back. After the venomous snake was dead, the coachwhip snake ate it.

Some of the early settlers of Texas must have been very conscious of, and possibly grateful for, the wild game found in the Lone Star State. Witnesseth names of some communities: Quail, Turkey, Whitedeer, Antelope, Antelope Gap, Badger, Beaver Dam, Buffalo Gap, Buffalo Springs, Crow, Deer Creek, Deer Park, Dove, Eagle, Eagle Flat, Eagle Lake, Eagle Pass, Goose Creek, Swan, and Crane.

Educational activities of the Game Department continue to broaden out and with excellent effects in the campaign to conserve and restore game and fish in Texas, the Executive Secretary pointed out.

Demonstration of three different types of quail shelters were prepared for farmers attending a meeting at Hallettsville. More than 1,000 farmers attended and many indicated they would build shelters on their respective land.

The Game Department will have an extensive exhibit of live game birds and animals at the State Fair at Dallas. The Fayette County Planning Board is arranging a wildlife exhibit for the joint County fair and American Legion celebration, November 11. An educational exhibit of wildlife was staged at the Tom Tom Festival at Lavaca. The Game Department's color motion pictures of game birds and animals are being shown extensively and are booked weeks ahead.

Scientific Feeding Demonstrated By C. G. Robbins, Hereford Farmer Who Gets Results

One of the finest shipments of grade cattle made this year from Hereford was made last month by C. G. Robbins, who runs a model irrigated farm one mile west of town. He fed 79 head of steers for about 250 days, and during that time the average weight per head increased more than half.

Mr. Robbins purchased the steers in November of last year. He began his feeding schedule on Thanksgiving and continued it until August of this year. The average weight when he bought the lot was about 800 pounds; he sold them at an average of 1324 pounds.

THESE FINE GRADE CATTLE are part of the 79 head fed by C. G. Robbins. The animals gained an average of 500 pounds per head in 250 feeding days. They were fed on proportioned rations of ensilage, grain, molasses and mineral. Mr. Robbins is one of the most scientific farmers in this territory, and his farming results speak well for his methods.

The animals were fed scientifically and were watched carefully throughout the feeding period. They were kept in the feeding lot during the entire feeding period, and the feed was rationed to a large extent according to the manner in which the animals ate. If one ingredient was increased or substituted, it was usually found that some other factor in the feed mixture was not eaten in the same amounts as before the change was made.

The period during which Mr. Robbins fed the steers can be divided into three distinct stages. He began by giving them silage, ground butts and about four pounds of meal per head per day. The fact that there was little or no gain in this ration is noteworthy. This stage lasted about one hundred days.

After 100 days, Mr. Robbins began to substitute bundles with the grain intact for the ground butts. This was continued for about fifty days, and then grain was substituted for the bundles. As the amount of grain was increased, the amount of silage the animals would eat decreased, and after about fifteen days on the grain ration, they would eat no silage at all and it was cut entirely out of the schedule. The amount of meal which the animals would eat also decreased as the amount of grain in the ration was increased, and the meal was accordingly decreased until it was also taken out of the schedule at about the same time the silage was removed.

After about fifteen days on the grain ration, the steers were eating twenty pounds of grain per head per day and almost no silage and meal. At this time, Mr. Robbins began adding one pound of molasses per head per day to the ration, and the animals were fed on this schedule until the end of the feeding period.

A balanced mineral ration consisting of 100 pounds of ground limestone, 10 pounds of salt and 50 pounds of steamed bone meal was fed throughout the feeding period. During the first two stages, this mineral mixture was admixed with the rest of the feed, but during the third stage the animals were allowed to take it at will by licking. Mr. Robbins fed the steers three times a day during the entire period. Each animal consumed about a ton of feed during that time.

At the beginning of the feeding period, the animals gained rapidly, but the amount of grain in weight decreased as the feeding schedule was continued. The animals were gaining at the end were still gaining at the end of the period, but the amount gained per month was considerably smaller than at the beginning of the feeding period.

The cattle were shipped in three shipments. The first car averaged 1386 pounds per head and contained 22 head; the last two cars contained a total of 57 head, and the average weight per head was 1282 pounds. These weights are to be compared to the average of 800 pounds per head at the time Mr. Robbins purchased the cattle.

Mr. Robbins is one of the most progressive farmers in the county. He has three trench silos on his farm which he fills with some of the finest irrigated ensilage grown around here. He believes that ensilage feeding is highly beneficial and profitable, but he does not consider ensilage a complete feed, a fact which is well brought out by a study of the feed schedule used in feeding the group of steers described here.

The answer, brewers realize, lies in with the distribution of their mild, wholesome beverage through responsible retail outlets. Obviously, the brewers can enforce no laws. But they can

Britain Transports Its Troops by Plane

Mobilization of the English army was materially hastened by use of airplanes in the rush to get troops to the continent. Above photograph shows members of the Second Battalion of the Royal Ulster Rifles boarding a plane for the front. The Soviet Union, too, has laid great stress on its troop carrying planes and its mass parachute leaps from the air. Russia, in the past few years, has carried on extensive experiments with this type of air raid and has repeatedly declared them successful. Many army officials, however, declare the mass parachute leaps impractical for war.

Police Close 'Human Slave Market'

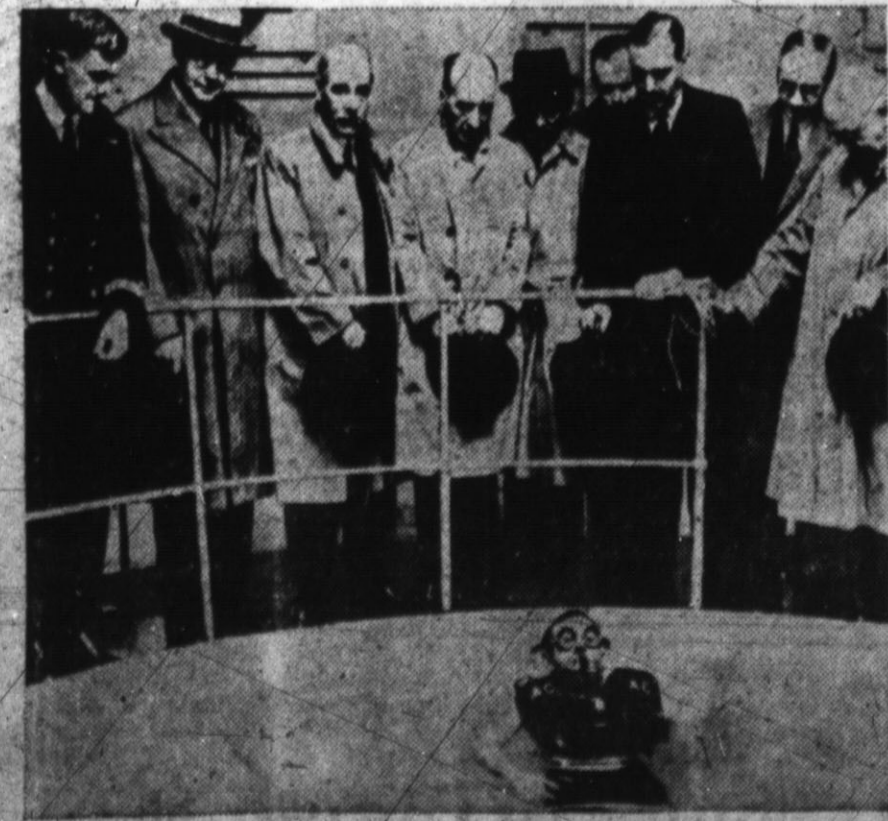

Photographers had to be alert to get this view of America's most novel matchmaking establishment. "The Human Slave Market," for immediately after bids got under way, Palisades, N. J., police stepped in and sent six people to jail on the charge of maintaining a nuisance. Here the auctioneer is asking for bids on a young man, an elderly gentleman and a young girl. The idea of the "market" was to offer marriageable subjects on the block.

New Chinese Stamp Honors U. S. Flag

An unprecedented compliment was paid the United States by China recently when a new stamp was issued to commemorate the 129th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence by the United States. The stamp bears the flags of China and the U. S. to symbolize the traditional friendship that has existed for so many years between the two nations. As far as is known, this is the first time that an independent nation has so signally honored the flag of another.

Parliament Members View Escape Lung

Members of the British parliament, investigating the loss of the submarine Thetis in Liverpool bay, saw a working demonstration of the Davis escape lung recently when they visited the submarine Triumph, sister ship of the ill-fated Thetis. An instructor is shown wearing the lung after he had escaped from a flooded hatch in a demonstration tank.

Plow Aids 'Der Moxie' in Ring Comeback

Children? Dictators Just Love Them

High School Girls To Show Projects

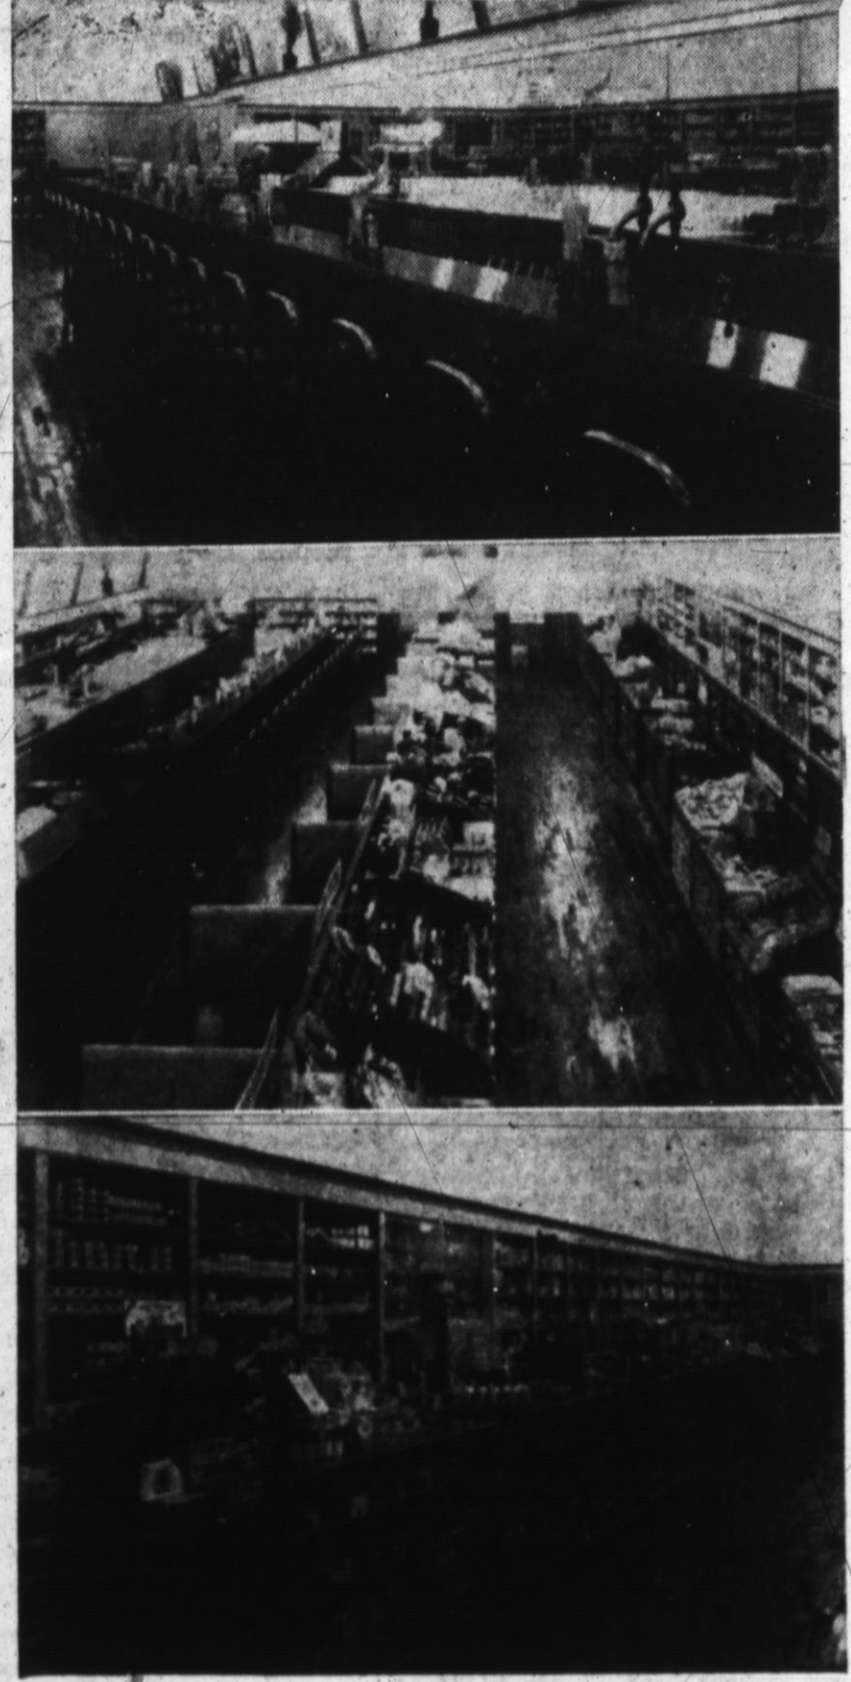

An exhibit of the work completed by high school girls in homemaking during the summer months will be held Sept. 16, 17, and 18 in the show windows of Black Furniture Co.

These summer projects have been varied in nature. There have been 732 quarts of food canned, 22 pieces of furniture refinished, 77 meals prepared, and 39 garments made. In addition, 5 kitchens, 3 bedrooms, 2 bath rooms, 1 living room, and 1 dining room have been improved by either floors being refinished, woodwork being repainted, or new curtains or other new linens being made. Other projects have been: yard improvement, child care and guidance, and improvement of health.

A total of 2064 hours were spent on this work. On the average, each girl spent 104 hours. In addition to the regular project carried on by each, many girls spent part of their leisure time in creating "hobby books" or following some particular interest. For this work, one-half affiliated local credit is given to each girl successfully completing her project.

The girls participating in this work were: Monica and Agnes Albright, Florella Boeskin, Elnor Biggs, Gloria and Katie Jean Cress, Berenice Elliston, Mary Ellen Henslee, Josephine Hoffman, Nancy Olson, Georgia May Reeves, Seletta Robinson, Betty Roloson, Katherine Turner, Billy Valentine, Frankie Whitaker, and Rue and Eleanor Wilson.

Haile Modern Drug Recently Opened

The fountain shown at the top is one of the most modern in the Panhandle. There are seventeen comfortable seats and facilities to serve all kinds of drinks, sandwiches and ice cream dishes. In the center is a general view of the entire store, looking from the back to the front. The row of counters in the middle contains a variety of departments including household appliances, electrical, and school supplies. Not shown in the picture are the prescription department and the sandwich table. The lower picture shows Meade Haile, owner of the store, standing behind the drug and sundry counter on the south side of the store. The cigar department is in the counter in the foreground.

PROPAGANDA WARNING

AUSTIN, Tex. Sept. 14.—Warning that propaganda of "staggering proportions" may flood America's fifty million radio listeners from both sides of the European front, was today voiced by T. H. Shelby, University of Texas extension dean, for two years holder of a Rockefeller radio research grant.

"Even now, all the broadcasts we're getting are censored by European countries where they originate," he pointed out.

The English government has already taken over complete control of radio broadcasting, he said, while Germany not only controls broadcasting but listening as well.

McCulloch county's State Game Warden recently observed a large number of vultures scratching up turtle eggs out of a large sandy beach on the San Saba River and eating them.

sons is regarded as being the chief factor in the spread of infantile paralysis. Because of the seasonal prevalence of the disease, flies and other insects have been suspected of conveying the virus or germ. Insect transmission has not, however, been scientifically proven. Although animals are subject to paralysis, they are seemingly not susceptible to the human type of this paralytic disease. Carriers are difficult to determine; this fact makes advisable the reduction to a minimum of contacts during an outbreak.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis comprise headache, fever, vomiting, intestinal disorder, drowsiness and irritability, followed by neck or back stiffness. Prompt medical care, early recognition and reporting of cases to health authorities make possible the use of valuable preventive and control measures.

After the acute state of the disease has passed and walking is permitted the patient, under no circumstances, must the affected part be fatigued. It is thus observed that the secret of successful rehabilitation lies in continuance of professional guidance and large doses of patience.

Appendicitis Is Still Powerful Killer In U. S.

Austin, Tex., August 31—"It has been estimated that an operation for acute appendicitis is performed every minute in the United States; moreover, that peritonitis, a result of this disease, takes the life of someone every twenty-nine minutes. Against this frightful toll may be placed the significant fact that if peritonitis does not occur the appendicitis fatality rate is but one in two hundred cases, emphasizes the Texas State Department of Health.

"The perforated appendix, which is the cause of peritonitis, is a preventable condition. Prevention lies in prompt recognition of acute appendicitis and prompt surgery. Though this fact is well known to the medical profession and has been definitely proved in hospitals throughout the land for years, the public as yet is not sufficiently impressed with it.

"Thus it happens that the high appendicitis mortality rate in this country (incidentally, the highest in all civilized nations) is not due to a lack of skill in diagnosis and surgery but to the American tendency toward self treatment with the accompanying factor of delay.

"Appendicitis is essentially a disease of the young, seventy-five percent of the twenty thousand persons who die annually from this cause in the United States being under the age of thirty, while only ten per cent are over forty.

"Hospital records disclose that delay in seeking medical advice was the outstanding reason for appendicitis deaths. An impartial survey of deaths from appendicitis in an Eastern state proved that the chances of dying are four times greater on the second than on the first, five times greater on the third, six times greater on the fourth day of the disease. The tragedy of procrastination in the presence of appendicitis is enacted only too often.

"Personal intelligence, then, is the key to the appendicitis mortality problem. The predicament or no occasion at all, is the great and up to the present time, insurmountable stumbling block.

Eastern Star Holds Regular Meet Here

They gave a vivid description of the trip they made to Nova Scotia this summer. They also described the beautiful new Eastern Star Temple in Washington, D. C.

Other visitors were Mrs. Florence Rose of Coahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Bainum of Bovina, Mrs. Gladys Manjoet and Mrs. McGeehee of Hereford and Mr. and Mrs. Lions, Mrs. Bocker and Horace Dyer of Amarillo.

Poliomyelitis Summer Disease

Infantile paralysis, like typhoid fever and intestinal disturbances of infants, is largely a summer disease. Although cases may occur during any month of the year, over half of the total number occur during July, August, September, and October. To date, 109 cases of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) have been reported to the Texas State Department of Health in 1939.

Cancer Can Be Cured If Diagnosed Early

Austin, Texas, Aug. 24.—"In spite of increased popular education on the cancer problem during the last decade, many false ideas regarding this disease still persist. Too often such conceptions are the basis of delay in diagnosis and treatment. Obviously, figures cannot be compiled, but it can be stated safely that a fair proportion of the thirty thousand preventable cancer deaths now occurring annually in the United States could be avoided if these mistaken notions were corrected," the State Health Department believes.

"The following facts are pertinent: (1) cancer is not contagious, the victim cannot give it to any other person. (2) Cancer is not a blood disease. (3) Diet is not a cause or preventive of cancer; vegetarians and meat eaters are equally susceptible. (4) Aluminum cooking utensils do not cause cancer. (5) Constipation does not cause cancer. (6) Mental worry will not influence the development of cancer. (7) No age is free from cancer, babies are born with it, and the oldest persons can be its victims. However, it is largely a disease of adult life, occurring chiefly between the ages of forty and seventy. (8) Self-medication is a waste of time and frequently fatal because of the delay involved. (9) Serums, vaccines, colored lights, patent medicines, pastes, salves, and diets are valueless. (10) Quacks and their super-claims, through false hopes and delayed diagnosis, cause many avoidable cancer deaths but do not effect cures. (11) No warning comes from pain. In the early stages and in the precancerous condition, there is no pain or conscious health impairment. The one exception is bone cancer.

"With a full appreciation of the above facts and the prompt seeking of medical advice when there are signs of cancer, it is conceivable that many thousands of deaths from this cause could be prevented.

"The danger signals are any lump in the breast or other part of the body; any persistent sore, particularly on the face or mouth; any unusual discharge or bleeding from any part of the body, such as vomiting of blood, passage of blood from the bowels, or unusual bleeding of any bodily passage, especially after middle age; and chronic indigestion. Procrastination in the face of any of these signs is dangerous and may even be fatal.

"It is true that any one of these symptoms may be caused

HEREFORD BULL

By Jimmie Gilliland

"The war will last until the Germans are starved out." At least that is the opinion of J. A. Loerwald, who was born in the Saar Valley and who lived in the oft-disputed area until he was nine years of age. Mr. Loerwald feels that the French and English troops have made a most important step in their gains on the Western front, because they are gradually cutting away the iron and coal supplies from the Nazis. Furthermore, he is of the opinion that Goering is a worse scoundrel than Hitler, and holds neither of the men in esteem. Actual fighting is now taking place in the "back door" of Mr. Loerwald's childhood home, and his insight on existing conditions is indeed interesting.

Gaston Baer is another former resident of the Saar region. It is also interesting to know that his father, who visited here last summer, also believes the war may drag into long months of fighting.

A. J. Elwart is another man who reads of fighting on land where he once lived. Did you ever notice the scar on his face? When he was a small lad he was rushed into Warsaw, Poland, for an operation. Yes, the scar is a result of the operation. He remembers well the incident, and the once serene countryside: a land dotted with numerous farm homes, rolling meadows of grass—and peaceful cows. Put yourself in the place of these men. How would you like to move to New York or to California—years later to read of the slaughter and bloodshed around this country?—Names bombing Hereford, Friona or Dimmitt?—Or of heavy fighting along Terra Blanca Creek?

Today, these men are loyal citizens of the United States. Perhaps they are even more loyal than you and I, for they think of the advantages and the freedom which is offered in this country in a manner which most of us can never reason.

General rumors, though unconfirmed (that's the way most news reports read now days) have it that Lawrence Womble and Marlin Gilliland have written to the Chamber of Commerce in Paris to know how trout fishing goes on the Western front. These boys are confirmed fishermen and if they have to "go across" they want to have something lined up in case they happen to get a furlough. But fishing is good enough for Fred Pitner right here at home. This week Fred was trying out a new double-reinforced rod and hung a big one. Sure it got away—but the thing that made Fred really mad was the fact that it broke his $20.00 new casting rod.

Not long ago I had to apologize to Bob Higgins. Now it's even worse, I have to apologize to Cecil Guseman. I felt pretty bad toward Cecil because he wore spats, but now I realize that it wasn't so bad. Not since E. B. Black went to a beauty shop and got a manicure. When he came out of the shop his nails were shining brighter than a harvest moon. He blushes a little when you mention the subject, but his hands sure do look cute.

Did you know that Hereford is facing a potential boom? Well, it's the truth. More business expansions and improvements have been seen here during the past four months than in several years. Within the next two months at least three new homes will be under construction and several business firms are expanding. Davis-McCracken has already started preliminary work toward improving their building on Second Street; the building will be turned around, succeeded, and will be glassed across the front. Concrete floors will also be placed in this building. Harold Close is already remodeling his store for installation of a new fountain and luncheon service. The Corner Drug is also being remodeled to include display windows and new awnings. At least two more major expansions are planned by local business-firms between now and Christmas.

Hereford needs more homes and FHA is anxious to see some building here. Money is now available to persons with secure incomes. Think it over, folks. This may be the chance to do something which you have wanted to do for a long, long time.

Nester Gass brings the interesting news that Hereford is listed on a large map in the Hall of Transportation at the Golden Gate Exposition in California. He said that by pushing a button a large electric sign displayed HEREFORD, TEXAS, and the cost of transportation to the fair. He also said that Amarillo and Hereford are the only two towns in this area listed on the map. This is a wonderful country with an excellent future. We need to tell the world about the fine opportunities which this country has to offer.

E. S. Ireland has been investigating an offer made by grain firms which are holding stored wheat for farmers in this territory. After exchanging several letters, he offers the following information: A Fort Worth Elevator Company, where considerable wheat from Hereford, has been stored, has mailed out circular letters to owners, asking them to fill out and return a card they enclose stating at what price they will sell their wheat.

Most people have a price in mind at which they intend to sell if and when wheat reaches that price, and no doubt many have filled out and returned these cards to this Company, and failed to take into consideration the fact that should their wheat be sold at the price they name, approximately 26.5 cents per bushel will have to be deducted from the price to take care of the freight charges.

The Government advanced on its loans approximately 62 cents per bushel, and anyone fixing a price on stored wheat is likely to figure he would receive the difference in the amount advanced and the price named and overlook the fact that in addition, around 26.5 cents per bushel freight would have to be taken care of.

In fact, on wheat stored at Texas Common points, the Government loaned around 88 cents per bushel, the exact amount depending on grades and protein tests, and that amount, plus interest, storage and other charges would have to be paid out of the price, so at a dollar per bushel at Ft. Worth, one would have only around 8.5 cents per bushel equity in his wheat.

Before selling, one should consult with his banker or elevator as they will be in position to advise how to get the most out of it when it is sold.

A grey fox, not satisfied with the two rats he had captured and carrying away, pilfered a squirrel from Dr. C. M. Hall of Hico, he reported to the Game Department last week. Dr. Hall shot two squirrels and before he could reach them a fox came along, added one of them to the rats he was carrying and scampered away to his den in the hills along the Bosque River near Hico.

Dawn Club Year-books Are Unique

Year books which were presented at the Dawn Study Club's meeting held September 10 at the home of Mrs. H. M. Burum, are both unusual and unique. Covers for the books are in burnt wood with conventional design and lettering burned in the wood. The books are held together with yellow thread and the club outlines inside are on yellow and white paper. The covers could not be used year after year but could also be used as a file for important club schedules and would be an attractive ornament on a desk as a paper weight. The outlines for the year are built around a study course on "Our American Heritage." Programs begin with early American history and trace its development through traditions, legends, folklore, customs, education, literature, music and art. Entertainment features for the year include parties, plays at intervals, bringing out developments ready studied, and luncheons, besides other social affairs which may be added later. The subject for the September 5 program was "Primitive America and the American Indians." Mrs. Baker Womble discussed "Early American Culture" and Mrs. William Wimberley followed her discussion with a description of "American Indian Tribes," telling of their customs, habits and ways of living. Mrs. Carl Luke sang "Indian Love Call" and other entertainment features were in the hands of Mrs. W. P. Caraway.

Officers of the club are: Mrs. Cecil Walker, president; Mrs. C. A. Wimberley, vice-president; Mrs. Bess May, secretary; Mrs. Jim White, parliamentarian and Mrs. Jess Caldwell, reporter.

Active members of the club include Mesdames; H. M. Burum, Jess Caldwell, W. P. Caraway, August Frye, Dick Frye, Lester Galley, Ernest May, Hershel Miller, Norman Miller, W. F. Stewart, L. A. Smith, Jim White, C. A. Wimberley, Carl Wimberley, Wm. Wimberley, Baker Womble and Johnnie Womble.

IF YOU COULD "Shop" for Gasoline

None of your five senses—
1. Sight; 2. Smell; 3. Hearing; 4. Taste; 5. Touch... can help you judge gasoline in the raw. That puts "shopping for big value" out of the question. But there is an easy, simple way to discover the money-saving facts about Phillips 66 Poly Gas! Just try a tankful in your car. Phillips confidently invites such comparison, because we believe that Phillips 66 Poly Gas is the most sensational, self-demonstrating gasoline ever offered.

Phillips 66 was the pioneer and is still the pace setter among weather-matched gasolines. Phillips 66 anti-knock rating is unsurpassed at its price. And even higher-priced motor fuels very infrequently equal, let alone exceed, the high test rating of Phillips 66.

That's the story of Phillips 66 Poly Gas. And in your motor it all boils down to this: Finer engine performance and more miles for less money. So next time, stop and shop for gas at the Orange and Black 66 Shield.
