Hereford, Boys Ranch Share In Lambs And Pigs

Deliberate judging by George Ellis, of the Bushland Experiment Station, finally named swine and lamb winners to start off the 13th annual Junior Livestock Show at the Bull Barn Friday.

SLEEK AND GLOSSY, a stocky Hereford calf, shown by Jimmy Higgins of Hereford 4-H Club Saturday was named grand champion in the calf judging, which climaxed the 13th annual Junior Livestock Show, sponsored by the Hereford Rotary Club.

An elated 12-year-old Hereford boy, Jimmy Higgins, showed the grand champion steer to climax a huge two-day junior livestock show.

The stocky little calf weighed 958 pounds and proved a winner for the Hereford 4-H Club youth.

Taking honors as reserve champion was another Hereford steer shown by Dale Minor, also of the Hereford 4-H Club. Minor, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Minor, had won the lightweight division with the 790-pound calf.

CALF SALE

Grand Champion calf, shown by Jim Higgins of Hereford, was sold to Carl McCaslin Lumber Company for 61 cents a pound, a total of $566.89 on the shrunk weight.

Claywood Meat Co., Hereford paid 57 cents a pound for the Reserve Champion, owned by Dale Minor, Hereford, for a total of $436.62.

Jim Hill Hotel Cafeteria paid $324.87 to Richard Conely, Hereford.

Cooper's Market paid $260.40 to Larry Minks, Hereford. Luther Lesly and J. M. White paid $358.91 to Dale Minor, Hereford.

Around Town

With Jimmie Gilentine out of town for the weekend, the weather predicting chore seems to fall this way. So: don't put the overcoats in moth balls yet, it will get cold at least once more.

Poll Tax Sales Still Drooping

With only five days remaining for Deaf Smith County residents to purchase poll taxes, receipts Saturday morning totaled only 943.

That number is only 134 more than the 809 purchases recorded Wednesday morning.

In an attempt to boost sales of the right to vote, the Hereford Jaycees will begin selling receipts Sunday. The drive will last until Saturday.

In comparison with the estimated 4,000 eligible voters in the county, the amount of receipts sold are very light, according to Mark Waddell, assistant tax assessor-collector.

Jaycees will canvass the town for sales and will also sell receipts by telephone calls. Purchase of the tax, $1.75 per person, entitles a person to vote in April's scheduled general election for posts of mayor and two city commissioners. It also entitles the purchaser to vote in various bond elections and special called elections.

Waddell urges all county residents to purchase their poll tax at the county tax-assessor-collector's office. (Continued on page 2)

Merchants Get Tips On Cutting Hot Check Loss

Hereford businessmen Friday got a brief refresher course on how to handle and cut down the risks from "hot checks" passing.

County Attorney Ed Line told more than 25 local merchants to know the person giving the check, to check identification and to check with banks to eliminate many of the bad checks which rob them of goods and cash.

In Texas, Line pointed out, the hot check law is essentially aimed against fraud and the intent to defraud must be proved if the case is taken to court. Cases tried previously, he said, indicate that merchants who take "hold" checks or "post-dated" checks cannot secure a conviction if the check proves to be worthless. (Continued on page 2)

Hereford Plays Tie-Breaker With Demons Here Tuesday

Tied for the District 1-AAA lead, the tall, talented Hereford quint will be at home to the hustling Dumas Demons Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Coach Rex Fox guided his small squad to a convincing 77-32 victory over the hapless Littlefield Wildcats Friday night in Dumas to regain a tie with the idle Herd. Meanwhile, Levelland was edging the visiting Phillips Blackhawks, 56-50, to hold down the middle of the standings. The Hawks and the Cats are bunched at the bottom of the stack.

Dumas and Hereford, with two wins each in loop competition, should provide fans with a tight, tough game. The teams met once before this season, also in a crucial contest. The Herd took the Demons 54-42 to win the Hereford Invitational championship.

Tuesday's game will be the first in a four-game home stand, with the Whitefaces taking on Dumas, Levelland, Phillips and Littlefield, in that order. Then they hit the road for two rugged final contests, with Levelland and Dumas.

Dumas is a fast-breaking, defensive team that takes advantage of any miscues. Coach Fox has come up with a surprisingly good team, as he lost all of the 1958 starters through graduation or other means.

Bands' Coronation Concert Program Slated Thursday

Crowning of King and Queen of Hereford High School Band will highlight the Annual Coronation Concert at the high school auditorium Thursday evening. The concert, which will feature the high school symphonic band and Stanton Junior High band, will begin at 8 p.m.

Presented as the third production of the current Community School Concert Series, the concert is under the direction of Charles Bell. Concert tickets will be good for the presentation and tickets will be sold at the door.

During the coronation portion of the program, David Larsen, band president, will announce selections of band king and queen.

Statutory Rape Trials To Start

Selection of jurors from a 120-member venire for three capital offense cases involving statutory rape will begin at 1:30 p.m. Monday in 69th District Court here.

Indicted and scheduled for jury trial are Ted Tijerina, 42, statutory rape and incest; Francisco Garcia Palmares, 45, statutory rape and incest; and Sefrino De Los Santos, 19, statutory rape and seduction.

Tijerina and Palmares are in Deaf Smith County Jail in lieu of bond. Bond for Tijerina was set at $5,000, and Palmares' bond was set at $10,000 by Justice of the Peace Berry Miles.

MOD Moves On Through Air And On Ground

In the air and on the ground, the current March Of Dimes drive will be in full force in Deaf Smith County Sunday.

With proceeds going toward the drive, a "Fly For Polio" and radio auction have been scheduled for Sunday.

Beginning at 10 a.m., residents will be taken on air tours of Hereford from Hereford Airport until sundown, according to Benny Womble, chairman of the program.

Hodge, Lesly and Gomez Win Plainview Championships

Hereford boxers brought home five trophies from the Plainview Golden Gloves Tourney Friday night. Three scrappers won championship titles, while two others got runner-up. Only one of the three winners had to fight during the four-day scrap-fest, while two were unopposed in their classes.

Blond Richard Hodge took the 147-pound open title with a technical knock-out over tough Gary Watt of Levelland. During the fast and furious first round, Hodge opened a cut on Watt's forehead and the referee stopped the fight at the end of the round.

Also taking first-place trophies were Donny Welty, in the 118-pound high school class, and Jeff Gomez, in the 170-pound high school division. Neither fighter had opposition during the meet, although Lesly fought a no-decision exhibition with teammate John Cordero (Continued on Page 2)

Rotary Club. There were plenty of entries in all classes. The boys and girls who showed livestock were particularly happy with the calm, deliberate judging of George Ellis, although the waiting became almost painful for the spectators.

Patrons and friends of Elijah Ramey, rural mail carrier for Route Three for many years, are invited to attend a reception honoring him at the Veterans Club House between 2:30 and 5 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 25. Ramey is going to retire next week after many years of devoted service.

Dr. R. R. Wills has received a Certificate of Appreciation for 15 years of unpaid service on the Deaf Smith County draft board.

The Knights of Columbus will hold their annual sausage supper on Sunday, Feb. 1, in St. Anthony's school hall at 6 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Don't forget to buy your poll tax this week. It is your passport to democracy and a ticket to the continued strength of America.

Hereford's boxers came home with their share of the trophies after four tough nights at Mainview's Golden Gloves. Richard Hodge tickled the crowd with his joyful smile and victory dance after winning a TKO from Gary Watt. It was also a sort of moral victory. In the Hereford tourney, Hodge was knocked out by mummy Perez of Amarillo. Then Watt, son of the Levelland boxing coach, pounded out a TKO over Perez.

Coach Coby Kitchens has reason to be worried about his team's game with Dumas here Tuesday night. The Dumas are a tough ballclub and are capable of pulling off an upset if things go right for them.

We've heard a preview of the Coronation Concert that will be presented Thursday night and the bands really sound great. The variety of selections should appeal to all sorts of music lovers, except those who dig Elvis and the rest of the weird ones.

Vandals broke six windows and tore a screen from the construction office of Maxey Construction Company at the site of the new Stanton Junior High cafeteria sometime Thursday night or Friday morning, according to the Hereford Police Department.

Also, pipes to be used in the construction were scattered from a pile, according to patrolman Melvin Byrd, investigating officer.

The office was not entered, Byrd said, and apparently nothing was taken from the site. Damage to the windows and screen was estimated at about $30.

In 1947 he was elected District Attorney of Dallas County, serving in that office until 1950, when he was elected to the Supreme Court of Texas. Wilson was elected to the post of Attorney General in 1956.

Wilson was one of five District Attorneys selected from the nation by the U. S. Attorney General to advise the National Conference on Organized Crime held in 1956. He is former president of the District and County Attorneys Association of Texas, and former president of the Dallas Junior Bar Association.

Devilish Glean In President's Eye IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE
Have you noticed what a devilish gleam always shines in the eyes of each Lions Club president who comes forward each year at the Chamber of Commerce banquet to introduce the "Man of the Year"?

I suppose it comes from the excitement of knowing something which has been kept a carefully guarded secret from the audience. . . then as clues are given by the speaker, the devilish gleam is caught up in the eyes of those who begin to guess the identity of the man to be honored. . . and among those who guess right, some think "How bright I am!" . . . but most think "How proud I am to know that individual."

About the only thing that Nell Cooper neglected in his accounting of Don Zimmerman's many accomplishments was the fact that Don is probably Hereford's most called upon "speaker - introducer." And it would have been quite appropriate as it followed that Don introduced the main speaker on this occasion.

The speaker, Roe Bartle, may have been the biggest man there. . . and Don Zimmerman, the most honored. . . and Mike Baird the most surprised (over the unexpected publicity about his driving ability). . . but certainly the title of "most diplomatic" was copped that evening by Monk Johnson. In case you didn't hear it, Chamber president Monk proved a master in the art of diplomacy as well as quick thinking when the speaker paused uncertainly after glancing first at his watch and then at the unused portion of his speech outline - Monk leaned forward and in a stage whisper remarked to Mr. Bartle, "Don't forget you promised us fifteen more minutes!"

No mention was made of the huge colored sketch of the proposed Community Building which graced the gym wall above the head table - thought you might be interested in knowing that the sketch was done by Erin Wertenberger (and upon only one evening's notice!).

Also on extremely short notice was the appearance of the high school girls' sextet - and they did such a fine job, too.

The food was good, the room was beautifully and brightly decorated, and the general opinion seems to be that the affair lived up to expectations. Congratulations to all responsible and to Don Zimmerman on the award which marks him as Hereford's most noted citizen, 1939.

Congratulations are also in order for Bebe Walker, who has earned special recognition and honors from the Sara Coventry Jewelry Company as their top-ranking representative in Texas.

This announcement, which resulted from a state-wide contest, was made early this week by the company and Feb. 7 is the date set for a dance and ceremony honoring Bebe at Old Tascosa in the Herring Hotel, Amarillo.

Betty Kelley's name was announced for the "Top Hostess" award for the Amarillo branch and she's in the competition for state and national honors. Bebe, also, is vying for the national award in addition to her winning the state contest.

Friends of Mrs. W. W. Hill will be interested in learning that she has undergone surgery of a serious nature and is in Northwest Hospital in Amarillo.

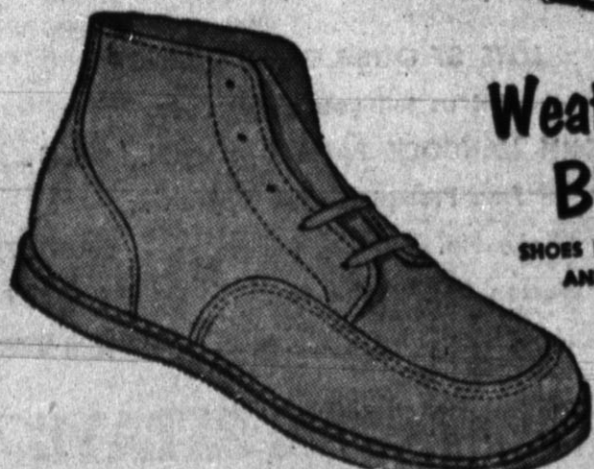

. . . and little Renee King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. King, is home again from Deaf Smith County Hospital after a serious bout with a virus. . . also in an Amarillo hospital is the two week old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ellis Higgins and the report is that the baby's condition is improving.

Why is it that days I have most to talk about are the days I have the least time to talk?

Hurriedly, I will add that the Duplicate Tournament last Sunday was a grand success. The

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Congressman Alger Becoming Powerful

By TEX EASLEY WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP) - Texas' lone Republican congressman, tall and handsome 40-year old Bruce Alger of Dallas, is beginning to cut a figure in this Democratic-controlled Congress.

He has been named to the House Ways and Means Committee, which passes on taxes, tariffs and social security legislation. Ways and Means and Appropriations are the most powerful and sought-after committees of all.

Some Eastern Republicans opposed Alger, wanting the spot for someone from their part of the country. Alger fills a vacancy caused by defeat of an Atlantic seaboard Republican.

GOP party leaders in the House, now over their initial surprise at seeing a Republican elected and reelected in Texas, reportedly chose Alger for the Ways and Means post to help entrench him in an otherwise Democratic Congressional delegation.

Alger, incidentally, voted for the new GOP House Leader, Charles Halleck (Ind.), in his recent secret-ballot upset of the veteran Rep. Joe Martin (Mass.). One vital item which regularly comes up before the Ways and Means is the proposal to lower the 27 1/2 per cent depletion allowance given oil men on their federal income taxes.

Except for a few months several years ago, Texas has long had a Democrat on the Committee, and each has fought the occasional Treasury Department recommendation to reduce the depletion allowance.

Rep. Frank Icard of Wichita Falls is the present Texas Democrat on the committee.

While Alger probably will oppose recommendations to cut the depletion allowance, he has not committed himself to this view.

In his reelection campaign he pointed out that the 27 1/2 figure itself was a compromise of a Senate 30 per cent rate and a House 25 per cent level when the law was enacted about 1925. He said a review of circumstances might indicate the rate should be increased - the inference, unstated, being that maybe a cutback might be in order, too.

A dyed-in-the wool conservative, Alger, as the only Republican among the Texans, had had to play a lone-wolf role more or less.

He got off to a bad start when he came to Congress four years ago by virtue of a press conference comment. It was to the effect that he thought Speaker Sam Rayburn of Bonham would put the Democratic party ahead of the country. It was bitterly resented by Rayburn, and some of Rayburn's admirers likewise took offense.

With the passage of time, and with Alger's slow but steadily mounting seniority, there apparently has been some improvement in the relationship of the Dallas congressman with his colleagues from Texas.

Originally from the St. Louis area, Alger is a 1940 graduate of Princeton, where he starred as center on the football team. He was an Air Force B29 bomber pilot in World War II.

He has a wife and three children who remain at the family home in Dallas while he lives here in an apartment development in nearby Alexandria, Va. Alger flies back to Texas frequently to spend weekends with them. Sometimes his wife visits Washington for a few days.

Personable and energetic among House Republicans, he is considered a member of the progressive ranks - but one who acts more as an "independent" than a party man.

Alger keeps trim his six-foot plus figure by regular sessions of paddle ball in the House gymnasium.

An indication of his ability to get along with people, and vice versa, is the fact that he has in fact the same office staff he acquired when coming to Congress. It's headed by Frank Crowley, a tall and alert World War II navy man who graduated from Notre Dame in 1944. Others on the staff are Mary Hornbeck, Kay Wharton and Dorothy Chrest.

Birthday Is Celebrated

Mrs. M. L. Hardy, 330 Ave. B., celebrated her 76th birthday Sunday at an all-day affair climaxed by a birthday dinner at noon.

Children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present for the occasion, including Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. Truett Boothe and children, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Butler and son of Dimmitt, and Mr. and Mrs. Buck Wood of Muleshoe. Others attending were George Frye and Connie Renfro.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardy, who now have eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren, came to Hereford from Hart in 1948. He is a retired farmer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Hersley, 309 Ave. B. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Walterscheid.

Large baskets of white carnations on the main altar and smaller arrangements at each side formed an appropriate setting for the ceremony. Mary Janssen of Umbarger, organist, and Edward Dzuik Jr., vocalist, provided the wedding music.

Miss Janssen played a short prelude preceding the ceremony, and Rossini's professional and recessional were used. She also accompanied the vocalist whose offerings included "Pani Angelicus", "Ave Maria", and "On This Day", "Veni Jesu" and "Mother at Thy Feet".

The bride's attendants included Miss Betty Walterscheid, the bridegroom's sister, as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Jacqueline Brinkman of Milford, Utah, Miss Carole Sundeen of Clovis, N. M., and Miss Dolores Loerwald. They wore identical dresses of pastel blue taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodices having boat-shaped necklines dipping to a "V" in the back and short sleeves. The flared ballerina skirts featured plain and brocaded panels and they wore matching hats studded with rhinestones. They carried colonial bouquets of blue carnations.

Leroy Berend assisted the bridegroom as best man, and groomsmen and ushers were Darrell Hersley, brother of the bride, Larry, Leonard and Vincent Walterscheid, brothers of the bridegroom, Carl Walterscheid of Munster, Frank Broman and James Paetzold. Altar boys were Joseph Hersley and Alvin Walterscheid.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over satin, fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, long sleeves and fitted bodice. The floor-length skirt was styled with alternating lace of lace and tulle over a cascade of tulle ruffles.

Her waist-length veil of illusion was attached to a lace crown embroidered with seed pearls and sequins, and she carried a heirloom lace handkerchief belonging to the bridegroom's mother. The bridal bouquet was a single white orchid surrounded with white carnations.

The bride's mother chose a pink linen sheath for her daughter's wedding, with which she wore pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Walterscheid, the bridegroom's mother, wore a Royal blue cashmere dress with black accessories and a blue carnation corsage.

The reception was given in St. Anthony's Auditorium. The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth over white linen and centered with the tiered wedding confection ornamented with tiny blue roses and wedding bells and topped with a miniature bridal couple. The white and blue color theme also marked tables for guests.

Miss Louise Brinkman of Milford, Utah, presided at the guest register.

The wedding dance was held in St. Anthony's Auditorium later in the evening.

For the wedding trip to scenic spots of the state, the bride wore a two-piece green linen suit styled with slim skirt and shawl collared jacket. Her accessories were in black and she wore the orchid from the wedding bouquet as a corsage.

The couple are graduates of Hereford High School. After two years in the Armed Forces, with 18 months spent in Germany, he was recently released from duty and upon their return from the wedding trip they will make their home on a farm 13 miles northwest of Hereford.

Among the out-of-town guests were Jacqueline, Louise and Ronald Brinkman, Nona Applegate and Sheila Dalton of Milford, Utah, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Walterscheid and family, Carl Walterscheid, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Forman and family and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Endres and family of Munster.

Mrs. O. E. Sherman Celebrates 80th Birthday With Open House

Mrs. O. E. Sherman stood straight and smiling for nearly two hours Friday, Jan. 16, while both old and young friends and relatives offered their homage and affectionate greetings.

The occasion was an open house celebration of her 80th birthday given by her children at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Tom Robinson, 237 Ave. B. The party event came as a climax to a whole day of celebration — because cards, letters, messages, flowers and gifts of every description continued to arrive throughout the day.

To the repeated "many happy returns," Mrs. Sherman remarked, "Just wish me another happy birthday — I'm taking them one at a time now. But I didn't know I had so many friends."

The whole party radiated happiness with the hosting children and their families so proud, setting the tone for the 200 guests who shared in the festivities. Flowers and gifts were everywhere.

The birthday table was laid with a cutwork linen cloth centered with a silver bowl filled with red rosebuds. Tall green candles burned in silver holders. The birthday cake was a gift of a grandson, Ronald Sherman of Lubbock. Red punch was served from a crystal bowl and coffee was served from a silver service. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Phillip Miller.

Mrs. Sherman likes to recall her childhood days in Waleska, Ga. She was one of eight children who learned to do everything there was to do about a farm, including riding anything they could saddle and cooking everything they could grow. She especially likes to think about going to church in the big wagon with the back end filled with big and little chairs for the children. They were Baptists and never missed a service.

She met O. E. Sherman in Canton, Ga., when both were visiting a mutual friend. "He thought he was going to marry another girl at the time," she said, "but I changed all that without much trouble. We courted for five years and during that time I did turn down another fellow who later became a millionaire, but I don't think I'd change things if I could do all of it over again."

They married in 1905 and moved to a home on a farm near Hickory Flat. They raised cotton there until 1917, and then moved to Oklaunion, Tex., which also was cotton country. In 1927 the price for cotton was so low they decided to move to Deaf Smith County and grow wheat. They purchased a farm and established the home where she now lives.

"There never was a dull moment," she recalled when thinking back over the days when she was rearing seven children. Too busy keeping the children well and clean and keeping them in school, she didn't have time for a hobby. She liked to sew and cook, but they were something more than hobbies. They were necessary accomplishments. Then, she always had to keep the school teachers because their house was always nearest to the school, and like her parents, they had to raise almost all their food.

After the children were grown and married, she began to do many things she really liked to do. No fallacy of old age was to take hold of her. She and her husband both liked to make things grow, and one of their greatest delights was providing fresh vegetables and fruits for friends or the sick and needy.

They would load bushel baskets of the very finest food grown and deliver them all about town. They liked to do things for their friends and people for miles around remember her wonderful cooking and the gracious hospitality of the Shermans.

She has made well over 100 quilts and has given most of them away. The house is full of crocheted pieces and she still sews and makes things for the grandchildren. Since Mr. Sherman's death in 1950, she lives alone except for a parakeet and a hen. She has taught the parakeet to talk, but she says, "He is as contrary as some people, he won't say a word when you want him to." When they are alone, however, he is quite companionable, repeating the things he sees and hears over television and he frankly admits he likes TV baseball.

There was no need for her to drive the car until after Mr. Sherman's death, but she felt she couldn't always wait for her children to take her places. Her daughter taught her to drive, but getting a driver's license at the age of 72 wasn't so easy. She was as surprised as the traffic officer when she finished parallel parking in good form, for her daughter had forgotten to teach her how to do that.

Mrs. Sherman enjoys making long trips and her children have taken her to California to visit a son, to Pennsylvania to see a sister and to Washington State to visit a brother. Last year she went back to Georgia to visit a brother and saw his twin grandsons for the first time.

She keeps up with world affairs through radio and television, likes to work all sorts of puzzles, and wishes all this rocket to the moon business had come a little earlier. She would like to make a trip to the moon. Her happiest times now are when the house is full of children and grandchildren, when beds are full and there's no place left at the table.

Her living children include Everett of Dallas, Carolyn (Mrs. Marion Power) of Sundown, Henry of Los Angeles, Calif., and Emmett and Mattie Kay (Mrs. Tom Robinson) of Hereford. All were present for the birthday party except the one in California. She has nine grandchildren and there are seven great-grandchildren.

When asked if she had any advice for younger people, she said, "I think it is always a good idea for anyone to try to live up to some sort of an ideal. When we were first married, I came into possession of a set of rules for living that Mr. Sherman's father had written many years before. I had it framed and kept it before me and I have tried to pattern my life the way he believed. I really believe that even though that was written over 100 years ago, it can have the same meaning today."

Here is what the good doctor wrote and had individual copies made for his children. "My Lot In Life, I find myself where I am and as I am. My duty is submission. My privilege is enjoyment. Because I am sick or disabled, I need not be useless or unhappy. I accept my situation as of Divine appointment and I will try to be contented. Lamenting over the past will do no good — I cannot recall or change it. Complaining of the present will not mend things and it may make myself and others wretched. Anxiety about the future will not of itself make it brighter. My heavenly father has permitted things to be with me just as they are, and He knows what is best. I know he loves me. I will leave all to Him with no rebellion in my heart and no murmur shall escape my lips. My Savior has promised that His grace shall be sufficient and that He will never leave me, but will be a present help in my time of need. Trusting in Him and committing all to His loving care, I will do what I can to make the place where my lot is cast as bright and cheerful as possible and work and wait with patience until I am permitted to go to my heavenly home."

Book Review Is Given At Meet

Roll call on "Predictions for the next presidential election" touched off political discussions at the L. A. E. Study Club meeting held in the home of Mrs. Leroy Suttle Tuesday afternoon.

During the business session, members made plans for the annual Valentine Party, honoring husbands. The party will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Caison on Saturday evening, Feb. 14.

Mrs. Altus Higgins presented the program for the day, reviewing the book, "The Winthrop Woman", by Anya Seton.

She said, in part, "This is the story of a puritan woman who met life with gusto, though continually at odds with her heritage and surroundings. It was just like the alluring Elizabeth Fones to marry a cousin in the Winthrop family, and against this background of rigidity and conformity, she dared to befriend Ann Hutchinson at the moment of her banishment from the Bay Colony."

Members attending the meeting were Mesdames C. E. Beauford, Gordon Elliott, Emmett Hale, Altus Higgins, Joe Johnson, B. A. Reddell, T. W. Robertson, George Suggs, and the hostess.

Dawn Club Hears Program About Clothing Colors

Mrs. Tom Draper, county home demonstration agent, presented a program on Psychology and Clothing Color at a meeting of the Dawn Home Demonstration Club last Friday in the home of Mrs. Orval Galley.

Mrs. Draper demonstrated color choices for basic wardrobes and combinations suitable for each color to enhance and enlarge upon the basic color. She suggested for variety to choose a textured design rather than several printed dresses. It was generally agreed that color in clothing has a great psychological effect upon an individual's dispositions.

For the opening exercises Mrs. H. D. Fowler read a short story concerning the way one farm wife solved the problem of her careless menfolk going to town without cleaning up.

During the business meeting Mrs. J. B. Caraway was elected nominee for delegate to the district meeting to be held in Wellington early in April.

The members planned to have two luncheons a year with gift exchanges among club members to coincide with the luncheons.

The first meeting in February was rescheduled for Thursday, Feb. 5, instead of Feb. 6 as the hostess, Mrs. H. D. Fowler had other obligations on Friday.

Those attending were Mesdames Zed Stewart, Marion Russell, H. S. Fuller, H. D. Fowler, Bayrl Fish, Ray Stewart, Orval Galley, Muri Little, J. B. Caraway and Miss Lulu Botsford. Guests present were Mrs. Manuel Beavers of Hereford, Mrs. Walter Galley of Center, Colo., and Mrs. Tom Draper.

About noon Tuesday wet snow began to fall at Walcott. It fell hard until about 2 p.m., leaving a good cover of white on the ground.

The same thing happened last Thursday morning but the wind soon piled the snow in drifts.

Mrs. Carl Perrin reviewed the book, "Hidden Power For Human Problems," by Frederic Bailes, at the Calliopean Club meeting Thursday evening.

The meeting was held with Mrs. D. C. McWhorter, with the president, Mrs. W. J. Messick, presiding.

Mrs. Perrin described the book as a study of creative thinking and prayer therapy as applied to physical, mental and personality problems.

She quoted from the author, who says, "When man affirms his statement of belief, he sets in motion a tremendous current of power. It is a pity that the approach to God has been made to seem chiefly a thing of creed and other worldliness, when it is really a practical partnership."

Members present were Mesdames Clyde Cave, B. F. Cain, Paul Coneway, J. T. Gilbreath Jr., Earnest Langley, D. C. McWhorter, W. J. Messick, M. W. Nobles, Carl Perrin and Ansel McDowell.

The Scientist Who Dies In An Auto Crash Contributes Little To Nation

Russian influence in the realm of international politics seems fairly remote to most of us. Discussion at a recent PTA session, however, brought out the fact that some national and state agencies are endorsing courses in science and mathematics to the point of possible elimination of what they term "snappy" courses in our high schools.

Before going further, let us stress the fact that these possibilities are still in the talking stage. Securing of opinion has been the only indication, and absolutely no action has been taken.

Thinking on these two subjects varies greatly and is deeply imbedded in the American way of life. With its gigantic program of universal education for the masses, the United States faces for different problems from those found in Russia, England, France, Germany and other nations, where only a privileged few are able to attend school through college.

While there may be some high school courses which can and should be dropped, it seems to us that the two under discussion should be the very last to go.

Driver's education, for instance, is so popular in Hereford that the waiting list is a long one. This course is the only practical answer we have seen to the mass slaughter on our highways. Except the few outstanding students who may progress far into the field of science, and the average student would be much better off to know how to drive safely than with a course in arithmetic, science or even English.

Civic Groups Help Community

Civic club achievements contribute to the improvement and welfare of the community from time to time but, during the past week, two noteworthy club achievements merit more than passing interest.

Most recent is the successful completion of the 1959 Calf Show, which is sponsored annually by the Hereford Rotary Club. This project ranks well at the head of the list of all community projects and has been sponsored by the Hereford Rotarians for the past 13 years.

During the same week, the Lions Club awarded its thirteenth plaque to the "Citizen of the Year." This project, though not so far reaching in scope and effort, also provides an important service to the community.

Add to these accomplishments those provided by the Kiwanis, Optimist and Jay-Cee organizations, and you will find that a large part of the growth and progress of the community can be attributed to our active service clubs.

It is like someone said a long while back: "Whether the civic clubs make the community, or the community makes the civic clubs has never been fully decided—but did you ever see a good community without them?"

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Amos Alonzo Stagg was busy raking leaves when I pulled into the driveway of his Stockton, Calif., home. Now 96, the grand old man of football is far from retired. He still coaches kicking and punting at Stockton Junior College, carrying on an incredible career that began more than 70 years ago.

"By all odds," he said, "faith has been the most important thing in my life." Stagg explained that his life lacked meaning and purpose before he joined the Presbyterian Church in his youth. The son of a poor cobbler, he worked his way through high school and then through Yale University by living in Spartan simplicity.

While studying for the ministry, he pitched Yale to five national baseball championships, praying with each pitch: "God, help me to do my best."

A leading sports figure in the century, Stagg contributed the head slide to baseball and the tackling dummy to football, but he counts his greatest contributions in whatever particles of faith he has been able to transmit to the thousands of boys who have played on his teams down through the years.

Do We Need A Junior College?

Hereford once boasted a college, but its life and services were brief. Today we are blessed with the resources of West Texas State College at Canyon, which is within commuting distance of the people of this area.

Nevertheless, there is much to be said in behalf of the number of junior colleges which are now sprouting up across the nation. These junior colleges, located like high schools, are giving thousands of boys and girls a chance to continue their education, who otherwise would find college attendance impossible. Adult night classes are also being swamped. Levelland for instance, has recently completed a college program which is proving popular; hundreds of other towns, especially in the East, are establishing junior colleges on county and city levels. Amarillo, for instance, has a growing junior college despite its proximity to Canyon.

The idea is not a new one, but it is definitely more practical today than ever before in our history. The junior college is one answer to crowded conditions in the larger schools, and it saves the citizens of the community thousands of dollars in the form of room and food costs for students who might attend classes in distant towns.

A college education is today more important than ever before in the lives of our future citizens. Changing conditions in the world have altered many things, and the junior college in the hometown is one of the things citizens of any growing community must consider and plan as part of the future American way of life. The town which fails to consider this phase is definitely asleep at the switch—and Hereford is certainly no exception.

Cake Eating Is Costly Process

President Eisenhower's proposed $77 million budget, which he says will be balanced, has drawn ire and wrath on several fronts. It has also been under fire as to intent and ability to balance.

Very few people, and especially the average citizen, actually has no idea as to whether the budget can and will balance. Most of us will find it necessary to take his word and, in case it does not balance, we will know who to blame.

The big point with us, however, is the fact that so many people and so many bureaus are in favor of balancing the budget—at someone else's expense. We want to keep on getting our particular direct or indirect subsidies, and let the other fellow make the sacrifice. Needless to say, this cannot work for every citizen or group of citizens.

It is fairly well expressed in the old adage which points out: "You cannot eat your cake and have it, too." Either we balance the budget through economy measures, or we continue deficit spending and continue going into debt, which means long-range inflation along the lines suffered by the people of France in recent months.

As in the past, our government has no wealth—except that which it takes from

Letters To The Editor

711 East 3d St., Hereford, Texas. Jan. 18, 1959. Editor, The Hereford Brand, Hereford, Texas. Dear Sir:

Your Editorial of this week advocating the establishment in Hereford of a home for the aged is the second time you have made this suggestion. In vain I watched a year or so ago for some letters from interested persons in favor of the idea. But so far, not one. Hence this letter. Personally, I think this should be done — and soon. It seems as important to me to care properly for the aged as to build jails to house our criminals. Not that I object to jails — even new ones.

The "Golden Age" group has increased more rapidly than any other age. But allow me to digress: Why "Golden Age"? To us who have reached it — or shall soon be of that age — there is nothing particularly golden. In fact I do not know of any who would not trade it for a "Silver Age" — say twenty years younger! To get back to the subject, what have we done to provide comfort and care for these persons who have spent a lifetime of decent citizenship and many of them in actual civic improvement?

There definitely should be a home-like and desirable place so operated that the persons living there — I won't say "inmates" it is too institutionalized. Sounds as if there're prisoners. This should be a home that does not smack of charity. Neither should the charges be so large it would take a wealthy person to be able to take advantage of it.

Walk up and down our streets and count the elderly persons who might be far happier for such a place to spend their last years. My idea would be a home-like "happy" place with as few restrictions as possible imposed. There should be both vegetable and flower gardens where those who have green thumbs could watch things grow under their care. There should be lessons in arts and crafts to keep all there busy. Most of our older people have spent busy lives and the feeling of not being wanted — of being of no use to anyone — are most important among the inconveniences of age. Give them something to do. Not as a duty. Never make them feel they HAVE to do certain work. Let them choose it. This home, ideally, would be operated along the lines of an apartment hotel. Let them choose their work as a pleasure. Or not work at all, as they please.

We have had a sort of child and youth worship in America for generations. It is time we found a place for those without whom we would have no children or youth.

Perhaps I am more interested in such a move as it is only a matter of time until I shall want to quit trying to make a

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Secret Ambitions Are Revealed By Residents

What is the one thing you have wanted to do all your life?

MRS. JAMES ALSTON—I guess the one thing I've always wanted to do that isn't particularly out of the question is to live on a Colorado ranch.

MRS. J. J. BUCKNER—Well, I don't know about what I've wanted all my life. I think right now what I would like most is to have the whole family together—children and grandchildren and everyone else.

PACK BROGDON—All my life I've wanted to take an extended vacation trip and just spend all my time loafing.

A. E. DOUGLAS—There's not a thing that's bothering me now. I'm pretty well satisfied with everything the way it is. I'm not studying about getting rich and the wife and I are enjoying good health. I'm just real satisfied and I can't think of anything that's better for a person.

MARSHA COCKRELL—Well, I've always had a lot of secret ambitions, but I guess the craziest of them all is that I have always wanted to be in a rodeo, maybe even in one with Roy Rogers.

MRS. LAWRENCE KENDALL—I've always wanted to travel. Just anywhere, especially Switzerland if I could have my choice.

MRS. HARRELL MAYS—Well, I think I've always just wanted to travel. No place in particular—just to generally see a lot of places.

MRS. D. R. HOLT—All my life I've wanted to be a nurse but it just didn't turn out that way for me.

its citizens and today, it is taking the biggest bite in the nation's history. Some people think we should at least have a balanced budget, even though we do not pay off our past debts. Most business men and housewives have found such a procedure necessary. Our government, too, is likely to run into the same ultimate situation.

There are a lot of arguments and angles to the question, we admit, but when the budget is finally balanced the achievement will be made through eliminating some of the current expenses—and someone, somewhere will suffer the consequences. To us the fairest method would be for everyone to give a little bit, thereby creating no exceptional hardship on any specific person or group of persons.

HELIUM PLANT TO BE IN MOORE

Site of the proposed $13.5 million helium plant, scheduled for construction by the Helix Company, while not pin-pointed, has been definitely narrowed to a spot somewhere in Moore County. This fact was confirmed by the NEWS Friday in a telephone interview with officials of Northern Natural Gas Company, with home offices in Omaha, Nebr., who said the site will be "south of Sunray," thus eliminating any possibilities of its placement north of Sunray and into the adjoining county of Sherman. F. C. Nicholson is head of the new Helix Company, formed by Northern and Air Products Inc. for the express purpose of entering the commercial market of extracting helium from natural gas. Nicholson, in authorizing the NEWS to reveal the fact that the plant will be located in Moore County, said the exact location of the plant will be announced soon.—MOORE COUNTY NEWS (Dumas)

BOARD APPROVES BUS BARN

The construction of a $11,425.31 bus barn to be located on the Staley property, now owned by the school district, was approved at a meeting of the Friona Independent School District Board of Trustees last week. The board, now making the first move to build new buildings on the 30 acre plot in western Friona, voiced its approval and awarded the contract to McCaslin Lumber Co. of Friona for the above sum as the low bidder. This will be the first building to be constructed on the ground which the school bought some years ago in plans to slowly move the plant to this location. The barn will be of haydite block and steel construction and will be 144 feet long by 44 feet wide. The walls will be 12 feet high and the roof will be of steel. This building will be constructed on the northeast corner of the school's property. Construction should be completed in about 60 days, although there is no time limit in the contract. Steel for the building was on the ground at the site Tuesday afternoon.—FRIONA STAR

NIKE WILL BOOST POPULATION

Selection of a site on U. S. government land at Pantex for a U. S. Army Nike Hercules missile battery could increase the city's population by 25 to 50 families if housing were available, Mayor W. H. Lane said Monday. "Our city will get part of the 100 enlisted men and eight officers required to man the installation, and could probably get all of them if we had rental units," he added. The new base was announced last week by Congressman Walter Rogers. Nike batteries will cost about one million dollars each and the monthly payroll will exceed $25,000. Sixteen homes will be constructed at the Pantex site and other married personnel must seek rental units in nearby cities. A number will probably rent Carson County owned houses at Pantex. Another Nike base will be constructed south of Amarillo, according to the announcement. There are now 240 Nike bases in the U. S.; some have been in operation since 1953. Nike Hercules missiles are used in the air defense of this country against attack from any known aircraft or air supported missile.—PANHANDLE HERALD

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm reviews the state of the union this week, in his own language.

Dear editor:

I was figuring up my income and expenses for 1958 the other night and trying to remember where my money went when I decided to rest my mind and picked up a newspaper a man had handed me in town earlier in the day to keep the rain off while I crossed a street—it was a copy of The New York Times and I don't care what some people say about it, it shed the rain pretty good—and got to reading a review of President Eisenhower's state of the Union message.

I have come to the conclusion that the President's speech writers ought to bring their language up to date. For example, trying to bring home to the people the high cost of defending America, the President said "new bombers now cost their weight in gold."

This is what I'm talking about. It would have brought the message home a lot stronger if he'd said "new bombers now cost their weight in groceries."

When he said fighter planes "now cost fifty times more than they did fifteen years ago," he would have brought us face to face with reality if he'd said "fighter planes have gone up even higher than new automobiles."

Or if he'd said "it costs more to train a jet pilot than it does to send a kid to college."

I have a great deal of sympathy though for the President. He and I are working on similar problems.

For example, while new tractors don't cost their weight in gold yet, I think they're working on it.

I don't know what it costs to repair a 27-million-dollar bomber, but what it costs to overhaul a 10-year-old tractor is inching up in the same direction.

I don't know what a guided missile costs, but I know what a box of shotgun shells costs, and it's something to make Congress and me both sit up and do some thinking.

I don't think groceries cost their weight in gold yet, but it may not be long before they'll be saying gold costs its weight in groceries.

I don't know what it costs to keep our defense program really healthy, but I know what it costs to restore a man to health, especially if he has to go to the hospital for any length of time. It's enough to put him back in the hospital.

Everything just costs a lot more these days, everything, that is, except some of the things I produce out here, and if it was left to me, they'd be higher too.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

Dear Jimmie,
 On behalf of the Deaf Smith County Council of Parents and Teachers I want to say a hearty "Thank you" for the good coverage given the council workshop and joint meeting last week. We appreciate very much the good publicity we received before the meeting and the very informative followup article you ran today.

Thanks, too, for your kind words in the "Bull" column. We feel we have "arrived" when we get such encouraging comment in your column, which is perhaps our favorite feature of the paper. Anyone can write news stories — well, almost anyone can — but a person really has to do some thinking to hammer out a column week after week and maintain the high interest yours receives and deserves.

We know that poor publicity is not always the fault of the paper — in fact, I for one, know that more often than not it is not the fault of the paper. Activity may not be sufficiently different to make them newsworthy, and very well planned and executed programs may go without publicity simply because someone failed to let the paper know what was happening. In either case the paper certainly is not at fault.

So, we are hoping our re-evaluation will lead to more programs and activities that will be newsworthy and to better cooperation in seeing that materials which would help to better public relations for the school and the P-TA's will be made available to the press.

Thanks again for your cooperation. It was a pleasure to work with you.
 Sincerely,

After Five Years, Herd To Resume Baseball Loop Play

After a five-year lull, Hereford High School again is preparing to resume its activities on the baseball field. The spring sport re-entered the picture after the Texas Interscholastic League decided that spring football practice would not be allowed except for AAAA schools.

Hereford's team will be under the management of coach Jerry Don George, assisted by Alex Glass. The last White-face baseball team was in 1954 when the school was still a class AA high school.

Coach George expects an unusually tough season without any lettermen to balance the squad. The Whitefaces will face such top area teams as the class AAAA Amarillo Sandies and the class AA Childress Bobcats.

The 1959 season will open with Amarillo there on March 14 and will end 24 games later after conference play is finished. The schedule includes such highlights as a doubleheader with the Portales Rams in Hereford on March 28.

Since there has been no city baseball program until recent years, the freshmen and sophomores who have taken part in Pony League and other summer

Amarillo College Hosts TV Course In English

A college classroom will soon be no farther away than a television receiver. Beginning Feb. 2, Amarillo College will offer a course in Business English as a regularly scheduled program of station KFDA-TV, Channel 10, from 6:30 to 7 a.m., Monday through Friday.

The business English course will provide instruction in grammar and sentence structure, vocabulary building, spelling, pronunciation, business terminology and other matters designed to improve business communications.

Miss Beth Miesse, a member of the Amarillo College faculty, will teach the course. She describes business English as a practical course designed for secretarial employees, business administration students and all others who want to improve their use of written and spoken English.

More than a hundred school systems have used television for instruction during the past five years. At Amarillo College, Miss Miesse is currently teaching a course in office practice to students in two classrooms at the same time by means of closed-circuit television.

"Television is becoming a mafor tool of the teaching profession on the college level," Miss Miesse said. She listed a number of advantages which teaching by TV provides, including these:

1. Every student has the advantage of a front-row seat for demonstrations.

2. The instructor can reach an unlimited number of students.

3. Every student has a one-to-one relationship with the instructor.

4. Technological advantages can be applied to education.

The course in business English will originate in the TV studio of Amarillo College. It will be relayed by microwave to station KFDA-TV, which will transmit it on full power to viewers of the Golden Spread area.

Miss Miesse urges viewers to register for the course, whether or not they desire college credit. Registration entitles the student to submit exercises, letters and other written assignments for checking and suggestions as to improvement.

Persons taking the course for college credit will be required to appear on the college campus for tests and supervised written work only four times during the spring semester. Arrangements will be made for local meetings in communities outside Amarillo, wherever 12 or more students registered for the course.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS

GIANTS VS. DODGERS! That headline is making news quite often these days on the West Coast... where the transplanted Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants are spirited rivals whenever they meet.

But do you remember the dramatic playoff game between these two teams not so many years ago... the game that decided a pennant race? The Dodgers had got way out in front that year, and in August it looked as if they couldn't be headed. Then the Giants began their drive. Leo Durocher's men closed fast in a whirlwind finish... and tied the Dodgers on the last day of the season.

Then came the dramatic playoff... and that electric moment when young Bobby Thomson became a hero, as he drove one of Ralph Branca's pitches into the lower left field stands at the Polo Grounds for a home run... to win the game and the pennant... and put the Giants in the World Series!

Remember the year? Savings were important to a car buyer that year, just as they are today. People were enjoying the feeling of being able to shop around for a good deal, for the highest savings.

The year was 1951. Counting up your real savings is the only sensible way to figure your best new car deal. Compare our price on a new 1959 FORD... compare our higher trade-in allowance... our budget terms. The facts count up to a better buy at CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC., 147 East Second, Phone EM 4-2727.

baseball programs will have a great advantage over the juniors and seniors who have missed out on such baseball plans.

A large number of aspirants are expected to turn out since all positions are open. Workouts will start about March 1. Coach George, admittedly shooting in the dark, named such preseason prospects as Ken Clearman, Richard Leggett, Charlie Thomas and Ronnie Botkin.

Hereford will be vying for the 1-AAA district title along with Phillips, Levelland and Dumas. Littlefield, the other member of the loop, will not field a team this year.

Levelland, defending district champion, is expected to be one of the tougher teams. The Lobos were the only team in the district which fielded a squad last year. They were beaten easily by Andrews in Bi-District competition.

Along with Levelland, Dumas is expected to have an outstanding team, coached by Jerry Good. The Demons probably will be installed as co-favorites for the district crown.

Prennially - tough Phillips is picked to battle Hereford to see who stays out of the conference cellar.

Coach George has listed 18 games, with gaps left for six conference duels. His schedule now lists:
Mar. 17—Amarillo There 2 p.m.
