Busy Day Due In District Court

Two possible firsts will be recorded in Deaf Smith County District Court here Monday. A jury venire, composed of 240 persons, is to report, and three capital cases are on docket. Two murder cases and one rape and incest case are set for trial. Facing murder charges are Clifton D. Potter and Harold Leo Roberts. J. L. Wozencraft is charged with rape and incest.

The Roberts case, which was transferred here on a change of venue from Stratford, is expected to go to trial first. He is charged with the murder of his 17-month-old daughter, Nita Marie, Aug. 21, 1954. He was tried and found guilty by a Moore County jury and sentenced to die in the electric chair, but the Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial after reviewing the case. The case then came up in Dumas, was transferred to Stratford when a jury could not qualify, and then moved to Hereford when the same thing happened in Stratford.

Potter is charged with murder in connection with the shooting death of George Thompson, who died on May 31 in the Deaf Smith County Hospital. When Potter's case came to trial Nov. 14, the indictment against him was quashed after defense attorneys challenged two members of the Grand Jury who did not hold poll tax slips. He was re-indicted Jan. 31. Charges against Wozencraft were filed following a complaint by his teen-age daughter. The Grand Jury indicted him both for rape and incest.

District Judge Harry Schultz said that it is hoped with the 240 veniremen at least one of the cases will go to trial. Regular World Fellowship meet was held Thursday, with the High School group meeting in Pampa and the Junior High School group meeting in Spearman. High School sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kirby and Junior High School sponsors were Mrs. Robert Thompson and Mrs. James Shaffer. Rev. Don Root was an instructor for the group in Pampa.

TV Antennae, Roofs Take Heavy Beating

A howling sand storm, with gusts up to 90 miles an hour, left the Hereford area covered with fine sand here Friday and caused extensive damage.

Highway accidents were plentiful during the blinding storm with at least one eight-car pileup in the area, and damages to roofs, television antennae and farm buildings was considerable.

A large chicken house, which was nearing completion on the Denzil Pulliam farm, south of Hereford, collapsed during the storm. In Hereford it was hard to estimate how many TV antennae were knocked down by the wind, and shingles on many houses were left standing straight up by the blow.

Highway Patrolmen Joe O'Rear and Kenneth Maxwell reported an eight car pile-up 7 1/2 miles west of Vega, but said no one was injured. Near Friona, about two miles west, two different accidents caused property damage and one unidentified person was injured. Two more accidents were reported, one at Dimmitt and one at Adrian. Here in Hereford no traffic accidents were investigated, but a traffic light was smashed to the ground by the high wind.

Housewives in the area had their hands full cleaning up their homes. Sand seemed to be everywhere following the blow, which was described as the worst in two years.

One Day Heart Fund Drive Is Set For Sunday Locally

Volunteer workers will visit their neighbors and others here Sunday to accept contributions to the 1956 Texas Heart Fund, Lloyd Sharp, chairman, said Saturday.

Sharp said anyone who wishes to give a donation to the Fund can do so by calling 793 or 794 between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. Sunday afternoon. "Give your name and address and someone will come to your house and pick up the donation," he explained.

Sunday—designated as Heart Sunday nationally by the American Heart Association—will be observed throughout Texas by the Texas Heart Association and local affiliated Heart groups in the state's communities. It has been announced by Senator Lyndon Johnson, chairman of the 1954 Texas Heart Fund.

"In those communities in which no formal observance of Heart Sunday is planned, contributions to the fight against the nation's number one killer may be made by mailing the Heart Sunday contributions to Heart, care of the Postmaster," the Texas Heart Fund chairman pointed out.

It also has been pointed out that contributions to the 1956 Heart Fund, including those made on Heart Sunday, are acceptable as income tax deductions.

Emphasizing the tragic total of lives lost annually in the United States because of heart diseases, Senator Johnson—who suffered a heart attack himself last July—declared, "We all think with horror of the 390,000 men and women of our nation's armed forces whose battle-connected death occurred during the four years of World War II, yet few of us realize that

West Texas Representative Gets Into Hot Water Without Knowing

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON, (AP) — When a man holds down an important position around here, he is likely to find himself involved in controversies without knowing it. Ask Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock.

The West Texan is chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee handling all defense money measures, which account for most of the budget. He also is next to the chairmanship of the full Appropriations committee.

He was quoted in the House Chamber recently by a colleague, Rep. Scrivner (R-Kan.), who was taking Gen. Matthew Ridgway to task. It was in connection with the latter's recent magazine article charging that some important military decisions had been guided by political expediency.

Bible Words for Today

PHILIPPIANS 4:11-13 — "I have learned, in whatever state I am, to be content . . . in any and all circumstances I have learned the secret of facing plenty and hunger, abundance and want. I can do all things in Him who strengthens me." (RSV)

The Apostle Paul wrote these words while a prisoner in Rome not long before the headsman's axe brought an end to his courageous career. He was not sentimentalizing. His life showed this attainment: Prisons, beatings, shipwrecks, persecutions could not weaken him, the honors of men did not turn his head.

In a day in which human ingenuity has reached its climax in devising aids to comfort on the one hand and implements of destruction, on the other, comes this imperturbable voice out of the past—"I can do all things in Him who strengthens me." In Christ alone is our hope.

Mahon wasn't on the House floor at the time, so he learned about it the next morning when he read the Congressional Record. Scrivner had dug up the House floor debate on the military appropriations bill on April 28, 1954, and read arguments Mahon made only a few days after Ridgway had testified before the subcommittee two years ago.

"The trouble," Mahon said in an interview, "is that I was quoted out of context. It was a distorted account of what I had stated."

Here's the way Scrivner quoted Mahon, as he read from the 1954 debate:

"The Army has been most unhappy about the budget estimate this year. Secretary Stevens, in testifying before our committee earlier in the year . . . showed a great deal of concern about the reductions in the Army budget. General Ridgway expressed a similar concern . . . I, for one, have great confidence in President Eisenhower, especially in this field."

Mahon was surprised at reading Scrivner's remarks, saying he couldn't remember taking sides with Eisenhower against Ridgway. He hurried to the back copies of the Congressional Record.

"Those two paragraphs of quotations were correct," the Texan continued, "but several intervening lines were left out."

"I had been discussing overall Defense budget matters, and in expressing confidence in the President, was in no way referring to General Ridgway.

The current controversy, Mahon made plain, is a matter he doesn't want to get involved in further. If he had to choose, he generally would accept the judgment of Eisenhower over Ridgway, he said, but added:

"I wouldn't want to accept the opinion of either blindly. I would want to hear all the facts, and then reach my own conclusion."

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, questioned in the matter, said he considered Ridgway a good military strategist but limited in his over-all picture of global planning.

Sen. Price-Daniel, who all but announced for the Texas governorship at his recent Austin press conference, leaves callers convinced that he truly has not yet made up his mind.

"I honestly don't think he has decided yet," commented Jake Pickle, an Austin publicity man experienced in campaigning. He made that comment after a talk here with the senator.

"I hope Price does run for governor," he added. "If he does, I'll volunteer to be as active as he wants me to be."

Bill Kittrell, of Dallas, who keeps a keen eye on Texas political doings even though he has been out as a state Democratic organization official for a long time, also talked with Daniel.

"I'm convinced Price hasn't yet decided to run," he added.

Pickle said he came to Washington to check up on various matters, including the status of the electoral college reform proposal formerly known as the Gossett-Lodge amendment. It's still alive.

Kittrell was here watching Senate debate on the natural gas bill.

Sen. Price Daniel has urged the Post Office Department to issue its forthcoming new 9-cent Alamo stamp first on March 6 at Alamo Day memorial services in San Antonio.

"Nothing could be more appropriate than to have this stamp issued first at services to commemorate the battle of the Alamo 120 years ago," said the senator.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

By JIM WIMAN

Dale Coleman told us this week about some yields he got on milo following alfalfa last year. The alfalfa was plowed under in April following an application of 160 pounds of 45 percent superphosphate. The land was immediately prepared for planting to milo and was planted along with land next to it that had been in milo the year before. The two plots were handled the same except that the milo following alfalfa plot received 200 pounds of ammonium sulphate and 40 pounds of 45 percent superphosphate before planting. Each plot was side-dressed with 145 pounds of ammonium nitrate. The milo following alfalfa plot yielded 6060 pounds per acre and the milo following - milo plot, 4350 pounds per acre.

Some excellent management of stubble and trash from last year's sorghum crop can be found on irrigated farms of cooperators of the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District. This management consists of working these residues into the topsoil, usually with applications of nitrogen fertilizer. Some good work along this line can be seen on the farms of William Wulff, W. J. Albracht, Luther Lesly and John Paetzold. This kind of treatment makes possible a quick breakdown of the residues and results in the addition of a maximum amount of humus to the soil. Burying the materials too deeply shuts out the air so that decay is slowed too much.

A few weeks ago we were about ready to predict there would be no greening up when spring comes. Native grass land went into the winter with almost no moisture stored up for making new growth. We can be certain now, however, that grasses will green up when time comes. The snow was enough to assure this. If, between now and spring, we get three more snows the size of the one we had, not only will grass green up but irrigation wells won't need to be cranked up until after planting time. Reports of moisture penetration ranged from a half-foot to more than a foot. We're inclined to think that the average was close to 10 inches. That means that on dry land we still have from two to three feet of dry soil in the root zone of our usual crops. We dug some with Maurice Tannahill on his place 25 miles northwest of Hereford. He had one wheat field on which the new moisture met with a good supply of old. On the other fields there was very little old moisture. In trying to decide why the condition was so much better on one field he pointed out that the field where the new moisture met a good amount of old moisture was contour farmed to sorghums last summer. The sor-ghums didn't make, so were plowed up in early August but there was enough contour furrow left to catch the rain that fell in August and September. That field looks like a cinch to make a wheat harvest. Moisture was even better on it than some of the summer fallowed fields we've seen.

Mrs. Adams Is Club President

Officers were elected at the La-Plata Study Club session Tuesday evening when a meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Paul Dishman. Installation rites will be held in May.

Those named were Mrs. M. C. Adams, president; Mrs. Jay Boston, vice president; Mrs. Ansel McDowell, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank Prowell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. R. Fire Hut, and planting five trees in the new Kiddie Park.

Mrs. A. J. Schroeter presented the program on "American Shrines". She reminded members that since America has been so busy making history, that she has found little time to enshrine that history in formal monuments, but that a movement is now underway which will eventually give the nation more historical shrines. She named the Washington Monument, The Lincoln Memorial and the national cemetery at Arlington.

"There is a projected hall of our history near Warm Springs, Ga., and a proposed chapel to be built at Grand Canyon in Arizona," she said, and then she devoted the remainder of her program to The Alamo, giving the history of Texas as a background for the shrine in San Antonio.

Members attending were Mesdames M. C. Adams, F. L. Alexander, Leroy Aven, N. D. Bartlett Jr., Jay Boston, Clint Formby, Kenny Gearn, J. R. Johnson, W. J. Krumbert, Ansel McDowell, Chas. Newell, A. J. Schroeter, T. E. Seigler Jr., Urlin Streu, Louis Woodford, Claude McDougal and the hostess.

Mrs. Altus Higgins discussed "Teen-Ager and Health," presenting a code of laws set up by a group of parents in a suburb of Philadelphia dealing with home entertainment, family cooperation, allowances, use of the family car, dating and drinking. She also discussed idleness among the young people.

Mrs. George Suggs reviewed an article "How Does Your Child Compare" by Dr. Marie Robinson, and gave a summary of the book "A Teen-Ager Talks Back" by Tom Slinkard, in which he defends his generation.

Members attending the meeting were Mesdames C. E. Beauford, Guy Bogle, Max Drever, Gordon Elliott, Altus Higgins, Luther Lesly, Jim Loving, B. A. Reddell, T. W. Roberson, Sanford Smith, George Suggs and the hostess.

MR. AND MRS. RALPH E. STARR

Jean Fitzgerald Becomes Bride Of Ralph E. Starr

Miss Jean Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Fitzgerald Sr., 701 Knight St., became the bride of A/3c Ralph E. Starr Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Starr Sr., of Vancouver, Wash., Saturday evening Feb. 18 at 8:15 in the home of the bride's parents.

The ceremony was read by Rev. Daniels, Baptist minister of Amarillo, an old friend of the Fitzgerald family, before an improvised altar before the fireplace. The greenery and white carnations and stock were arranged with candelabra holding wedding tapers. Other decorations included pink carnations.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Carolyn Shirley. She wore a pale blue nylon tulle frock made over taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodice and bouffant waist length skirt. She wore a cluster of white carnations at the waist line and her accessories were in blue to match her dress.

A/2c Glenn W. Tully of the Amarillo Air Base, served as best man.

Bride Wears White

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore traditional white slipper satin and chantilly lace. The dress was designed with fitted lace bodice over satin, having a small Peter Pan collar trimmed with seed pearls, and fastened down the front with tiny satin buttons. Attached to the low waistline was a waltz length bouffant skirt of satin featuring peaks of lace flowing downward. Her small satin hat was trimmed in seed pearls and her only jewelry were pearl earrings belonging to her mother. She carried a white satin Bible topped with white feathered carnations tied with satin ribbon, sprinkled with seed pearls.

Mrs. Fitzgerald chose a white wool suit for her daughter's wedding with accessories in black. Her flowers were pink carnations worn as a corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. The bride's table was laid with a pink cloth overlaid with lace. The tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple and appointments were in crystal and silver.

Mrs. Roy Vaughn and Mrs. Ben Conklin presided at the table, Miss Peggy Epperson served punch and Mrs. Bob Coleman registered the guests.

For traveling the bride chose a rust woolen box suit with white nylon blouse. Accessories were in beige.

Mrs. Starr is a graduate of the Lockney High School. She moved to Hereford with her parents last October.

Airman Starr is presently stationed at the Amarillo Air Force Base but expects to receive a transfer on March 1, when the couple's plans for the future will be determined.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mrs. E. B. Fitzgerald Sr., of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. George Jeffcoat, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Coleman, Clifford Jeffcoat, Peggy Epperson, Peggy Williams and Johnnie Cline and Mrs. Dimpie McGavock, all of Lockney.

Mrs. Glenn Nelson discussed the Madonnas and the story they have to tell, and explained the sculpture. (Continued On Page 2)

Mrs. James E. Higgins spoke on "Modern Art" dealing mainly with art of the 1900 period. She urged the study of modern art before forming an opinion, for, too often the average viewer cannot grasp its full meaning. She also said that some American artists have been accused of being intimidated by the French.

Mrs. Nell Cooper who was in charge of the second part of the program, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Don Root, art teacher in Hereford High School, who defined art as self expression presented in individual manner with many ways available for expression besides the canvas. She gave a charcoal demonstration of the effect of distance on color and quoted Bert Phillips, well known artist, who says "We do not create anything. We only arrange what God has given us." A display of paintings was featured through the courtesy of the Hereford Art Guild.

Members in attendance were: Mesdames Ronald Babione, Harold Beauchamp, Leo Box, Nell Cooper, Pete Guinn, Paul Harvey, James E. Higgins, F. H. King, Ed Line, Cecil Massey, James C. Mercer, Virgil Moore, Glen Nelson, LaMadre Mia Study Club Hears Book Review Tues.

"I'll Cry Tomorrow" by Lillian Roth was reviewed by Mrs. Troys Riddle at the LaMadre Mia Study Club session held in the home of Mrs. Calvin Goodin Tuesday evening.

"This is the story of an actress who became Broadway's youngest star at eight years of age, in her first play at 13 and was signed by Paramount when she was 17. She became addicted to alcohol at 18 after drifting from bad to worse and the failure of her marriage. The climax came when she was 34 and she was forced to enter a mental hospital and was pronounced cured, only to sink even to a lower level. Later she became associated with Alcoholics Anonymous and has since been instrumental in organizing A. A. groups throughout the United States and Australia. In 1952 she was able to make a dramatic comeback as a movie actress and she now makes her home in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Mrs. Eugene Sparks presided over the business meeting when the members made plans for a Backwards Party which will be held Tuesday evening Feb. 28 in the home of Mrs. Bobby Owen.

Members discussed the "Christmas Card Project" in which they will participate and Mrs. Dean Herring gave the federation report. Roll call was answered by members naming their favorite actresses.

Those attending were Mesdames Louis Beckman, Calvin Goodin, Dean Herring, Dennis Lomas, Hershel Miller, Bobby Owen, Troys Riddle, Eugene Sparks, Glen Wilson, Ted Harbwick, the hostess and Mrs. R. V. Hale, co-hostess.

Junior Music Festival Set For Mar. 17 Here

Junior Music festivals, sponsored by the Seventh District of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs, will be held in Hereford March 17, and in Quamah and Lubbock on March 10.

Deadline for return of entrance blanks and entry fees is March 2, according to Miss Mattie Mae Swisher, director of junior festivals for the seventh district.

Directors of the three festivals are Mrs. Kenneth Drake of Quamah, Miss Mary Dunn of Lubbock and Miss Swisher, 108 W. Fifth Street, Hereford.

In announcing the festivals Miss Swisher said "We are expecting a larger attendance with more clubs represented this year than ever before. Interest in the festivals is growing each year, especially so because results are now in evidence. The purpose of the festivals is not for students to compete with each other, but for the student to compete against his last year's record, in an attempt to develop interest, discover new talent and to encourage young musicians to study for advancement.

to the business of the day. Reports were heard with Mrs. T. W. Swearingen of Amarillo serving as coordinator. Announcement was given of the forthcoming WSCS convention to be held in Stamford on March 14-16.

New officers elected included: Mrs. John David Dowell of Amarillo, formerly of Hereford, president; Mrs. Joe Maurer of Friona, vice president; and Mrs. Don Allred, of Wildorado, secretary treasurer.

 GUAYMAS, S. A., Mexico, Feb. 20—"El Toros Columnos"—or something like that, which is feeble attempt to translate "Bull Column" into Spanish. And if you talk to many people down this way, you are bound to use some Spanish.

Honest, that is probably the most surprising thing about Guaymas to me. It is strictly Old Mexico, located some 270 miles south of Nogales, Ariz. There is no reason, of course, why it should be otherwise, and I find myself at a loss to explain why I ever figured that people would go around with a fair English vocabulary. However, I am sure that I did subconsciously figure that most of them could at least speak some English. I have been kidding a lot about this "Good Neighbor" business but, henceforth, I will at least have a warm place in my heart for those Spanish - Americans who wander into The Brand office and try to make themselves understood.

This has become quite a fishing center and has naturally developed some people who can speak the English language. Maybe not very well, but certainly a lot better than our Spanish. However, we seldom get what we think we are ordering—and then it just doesn't taste right. Neil Cooper, I could say, is the one boy in the crowd who is making a serious effort to learn more Spanish. He button-holes everyone and, after much arm waving, seems to be getting somewhere. At least, we hope that he is in the interest of better eating! We brought about $45 worth of groceries with us, primarily to carry out on a two-day boat trip. We got into them today and really enjoyed the best meal since we left Ruidosa, N. M.

Incidentally, Dub Reeves finally wound up as official banker. This was a mistake, but probably no worse than anyone else in the crowd. Anyway, Dub is continually running out of money. This is true, despite the fact that we get 12½ pesos for each American dollar. It is wonderful until you start to buy something. Cokes, for instance, are 70 cents—unless you happen to be in a swanky place, then they are $1 each. A shoe shine runs from $1 to $3, depending upon how big a sucker you want to be. Ross Latham paid $5, while T. J. Clay paid $1. Hotel rooms are reasonable. We are paying $3.75 per night for double rooms with twin beds. They are tiled throughout, including the bath and closets—and they are as big as all outdoors.

After one day, I am certainly no expert on Mexico. However, it would appear to me that things are cheaper, maybe by 20 or 25 percent. The big difference, it seems, is the difference in our standard of living. If we lived like the natives, we could get by mighty cheap. Dale Timin, Neil and Dub were trying out their Spanish on a cab driver in Hermocillas, where we spent the night. He told them that he had six children, and that his grocery bill ran around $16 a week. When you stop and see what those people eat, however, I am inclined to feel that they could get by for pretty close to the same amount in Hereford.

Just for fun, Ross Latham and I bribed a little Mexico shine boy to go around to Neil and say, "Peegly-Weegly." All in all we have been having a pretty wonderful time, although I think that most of us are just a little bit disappointed in the country.

The cab driver told us that the really big difference is in labor and salaries. Most of the natives run around $1 a day in wages. Real skilled laborers, like carpenters, bricklayers and similar trades run around $2 a day. The cab driver said that he makes an average of $4 a day—which is real good, and depends a lot on tips. Here, again, you have the advantage of machinery, however—and I would say that machinery is dearer in Mexico than people. A man draws his dollar a day, but if he has an $8,000 boat, he can make $40 a day—and does!

Automobiles are not too plentiful. You still see quite a few Model A Fords, also an occasional Model T. People take much better care of their cars, Sunday every one seemed to be out washing his car. In driving around, we noticed that homes with cars usually had two or three—or none.

Another thing that surprised me very much is the amount of government owned business in Mexico. I guess I had read about it, but certainly I did not realize that they have a monopoly on all gasoline sales. "PEMEX" gasoline, oils and greases are the only thing we have seen since we left the boarder. We also took out insurance on our cars—and the insurance is likewise government owned and government controlled. Everything the government has anything to do with is usually presentable and in ship shape. The buildings are nice and appear to be kept in excellent condition.

About the people. They are simple, friendly and usually do their best to be helpful. However, they do appear to have a forlorn attitude—as if it didn't really matter a lot, because they couldn't win anyhow.

All of us were expecting a tropical climate, and I guess it usually is. However, we are about to freeze to death. We brought light coats and haven't had them off. Fortunately, most of us have coveralls, though, and plan to break them out tomorrow when we get out on our first fishing trip. That's another thing, the telegraph service out of here appears to be rather poor. We wired more than a week ago for a reservation—and the guide says he never received the wire. This has us all messed up. There are other boats, of course, but this boy it seems is the one who usually brings in the fish—and he is quite in demand.

Another interesting thing is the large number of American tourists in Guaymas. They come from quite a few states. We noticed one from Maine, another from Alabama. Quite a few Texans, but not so many perhaps as from Arizona and California, which are much nearer.

Frankly, I cannot see a lot here that you would not find in Galveston or Corpus Christi—except atmosphere. Maybe the fishing is better... maybe not. Anyway, I am sure that we will find out during the next few days. We are supposed to go down and eat quail for supper. They tell us you can get them for 10 cents each—which is another thing that might turn out differently. Most of them do.

A birthday dinner was held Sunday in the home of Mrs. R. A. Daniel for her mother, Mrs. O. G. Hill, Mrs. Hill's twin sister, Mrs. William Fambrough of Tucumcari and also for Mrs. O. G. Hill Jr. Attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. O. G.

Hill Jr., and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Neff, Mr. and Mrs. William Fambrough of Tucumcari, Mrs. Willie Daniel and Cheri Holt. More than 200 men and women in Wakefield, Neb., bowl each week. The town has a population of 1100.

Machines Go To Work For Little Leaguers

Little League machinery started to work this week with appointment of committees and the tasks of finding a suitable location for a park.

Committees on Finance, Sponsors, Selection of Umpires, and Selection of Managers were named Tuesday morning by the four newly elected officers. A committee on securing the franchise had already been appointed at the original meeting Monday night.

Named on the finance committee were Tom Robinson, Earnest Langley, Ralph Hastings, Dr. L. B. Barnett, Townsend Douglas and Tom Alderson. Sponsors Committee consisted of D. C. McWhorter, Dr. M. W. Nobles, John Kelly, D. E. Cleveland and Paul Harvey. Earl Stagner was named chairman of the committee on selection of umpires with other members to be named at a later date. Gerald Hale is head of the selection of managers committee, also with other members to be named at a later date.

A committee of Jaycees headed by Hale has assumed the responsibility of field procurement and development. This committee has recommended a ball park "which will be a credit to the community as well as a suitable place for the boys to play."

If land for the park is donated or can be leased, the park can be built for around $2500. This includes a concession stand and a fence. A city block or a 300-foot square is required to build the diamond. This includes a mple parking space and bleachers which will seat about 150 people.

According to reports from the committees, everyone contacted about the Little League have been very willing and cooperative.

At the present time everything is under control, the officers report.

A sight for the park has not yet been secured. Regulation Little League ball parks require a length of 175 feet down each foul line and 180 feet to dead centerfield. Base paths are 60 feet and the distance to the pitcher's mound is 44 feet.

"We've got this thing going now, and I don't think we'll have any trouble in organizing. When going well, it will be a very great benefit to the community," said Joel Hodges, secretary of the league.

Another meeting of officials was scheduled for Friday afternoon in the ballroom of Hotel Jim Hill.

RAY COWSER
"I'd rather be a shortstop . . ."

KNOX'S KNOTHINGS

By BILL KNOX

It's almost a cinch that Hereford has got a Little League. We say that not because we know, because we don't. But we say it because of the amount of enthusiasm and interest generated by the group of men which met last Monday at high school to see what they could do about getting a Little League franchise here.

We were thoroughly pleased with the men who realized and made a big step in curving the recreational problem in Hereford, which we all will admit aren't the best in the world.

And we can't think of a better thing for Hereford right now.

In publishing Little League results, we shall treat them just as if they were actual professional players.

That is actually what they are, on a smaller scale. Little League is patterned after the Major Leagues to begin with, and its purpose is to teach sportsmanship and keep kids out of mischief.

And from what we hear, some of the latter needs to be done.

Ray Cowser, newly elected president of the Little League here, makes no bones about it. He says his big dream was to be a baseball star.

Cowser told Lions this week—while explaining the Little League organization—that, "I wish I had had the opportunity these boys will have and a lot of talent to go with it. I'd sure rather be a shortstop than a lawyer."

Bill Lenderman tells us that if the Little Leagues go over here like they did in Graham, the ball park will be packed everytime the kids play.

"Parents of the boys and even men and women who didn't have boys playing would come out an hour early and sit on the hard bleachers waiting for the game to start."

One other thing. In Little League baseball, there is absolutely no booing. If the slightest sound of a boo is heard, the game is stopped and the purpose of the Little Leagues is explained. Actually booing is defeating the prime purpose of the organization.

Golf Club Elects Four Directors

New directors of the Hereford Golf Club were installed Wednesday, Feb. 22.

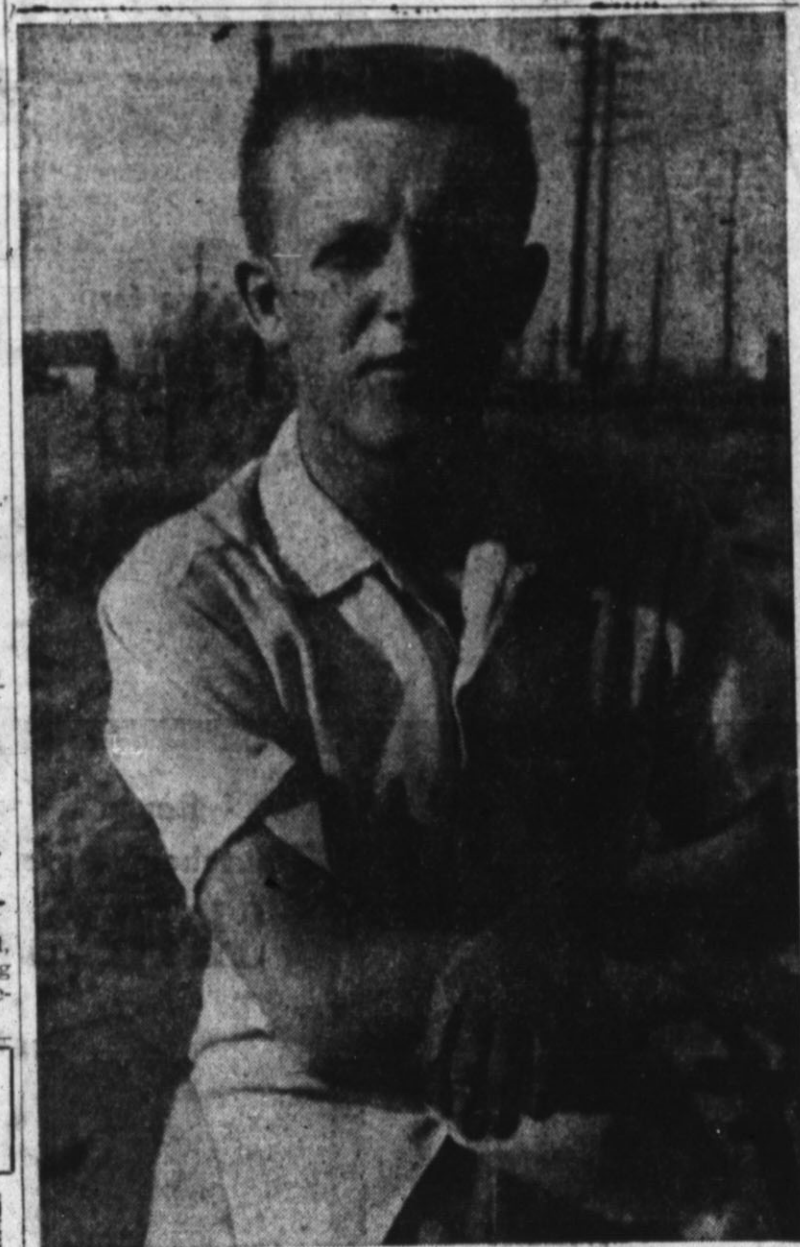

The four new directors are D.B. Roberson, Earl Springer, Walter Seed and Sam Gilbreath. They will each serve two year terms. Hold-over directors are Bill Davis Jr., Troy Moore, Henry Benson, and Dr. H. A. Cavness, who will serve one more year.

Retiring directors were Dr. J.H. Channer, Wayne Phillips, Francis Hardwick, and John D. Pitman. The annual election of officers was also held Wednesday. Elected were Bill Davis Jr., president; D. B. Roberson, vice president; Walter Seed, secretary treasurer. Other offices to be filled at the next meeting, to be held March 7, by Davis will be Tournament Committee, Club House Committee, Greens Committee, Grounds Committee, Public Information Committee and Admission Committee.

Officials of the Hereford Golf Club complimented the retiring directors, Dr. Channer, Francis Hardwick, Wayne Phillips, and John D. Pitman for the excellent

Hereford Linksters Prep For Amarillo

Despite windy weather, the Hereford Whiteface golf team continued workouts this week in preparation for their coming match with Amarillo next Saturday in Amarillo. The Herd will meet a combined force of Amarillo High and Palo Duro players.

The Hereford team will again be headed by Charles Seed, City Golf Champ. He, another junior, and a sophomore will compose the main force of this year's team.

After filling the fourth man gap, the Whitefaces saw the post vacated again and started another search. Dale Taylor was lost to the team because of ineligibility reasons after Danny Elliston took over as fourth man. Taylor Sims may be the fourth man, Golf Coach James Garner said. Hereford has taken district honors for the past two years, but have not fared very well at regional. They placed fifth in the regional tourney last year. The Herd lost one man, Keith Hodges, off that team. Logan Cummings, better known for his basketball ability, was the sparkplug of Hereford's team the year before.

Coach Garner doesn't seem too bothered over the absence of a fourth man, but at the same time carries on a zealous search. Norman Kerr and Donald Bridges also have been working out along with Seed, Jeff Minton, Danny Elliston, and Taylor Sims. Hereford will be heavy underdogs against the strong Amarillo team.

Baseball Prospects Are Bright, Says Russell

Coach L. B. Russell this week said that the Hereford Whiteface baseball team should be improved over last year.

Russell told the press that "outside of pitching, our club should be better balanced than last year's." The Whitefaces will have four starters returning from a team which was second in district last year. They lost only to Amarillo and Dalhart.

"We may be a little weak on the infield, too," Russell said, "but in the long run we should have a good ball club." Of the four starters returning, two are infielders. Pitching also looms as a loophole in the Whiteface attack.

Hereford's first game will be against the Palo Duro Dons here March 16. The Whitefaces will play the Dons again March 27 in Amarillo.

About 20 boys are expected for workouts, which will formally begin sometime this week. "Some players may have to learn to play some more positions, because we are weak on experienced infielders. However, we have some good boys this year who didn't play last year," Russell stated.

Returning lettermen are Taylor Sims, Bill Albracht, Danny Elliston, Bill Callaway, Buddy Jowell, G. C. Merritt, Bobby Veigel, John Bryant and Walter Kaul. Of these, Sims, Albracht, Elliston and Callaway were starters last year. Elliston and Callaway put in service in the outfield, while Sims turned in yeoman service behind the plate. Albracht was a second baseman.

Elliston was the team's leading hitter last year, possessing an average slightly over the .400 mark. He looked good on defense also. Sims turned in a respectable batting average too.

District One, of which the Whitefaces are members, will have only two teams this year, Hereford and Tulia. Dalhart dropped baseball this year after winning district for two straight years. The winner of District One will play the winner of District Two. Olton is favored to win there.

Vacationing U. S. Girls Get Film Jobs In Italy

By STAN SWINTON
AP Newsfeatures

ROME, Italy — Two vacationing New York beauties who fled a Riviera luxury yacht to escape amorous international playboys have ended up as Italian movie starlets. Neither Elaine Maydeck, 22, a green-eyed brunette from Brooklyn, N. Y., nor Gladys Weinberg, 24, a shapely redhead who lives at Far Rockaway, N. Y., is sure how it all came about. "This Italy is really something," said Elaine, as if that explained everything. Then, shivering slightly in a scanty toga: "Just wait until the folks back in Brooklyn see us in the big orgy scene." "Or when they hear about the penthouse," added Gladys. "Say, how did those Romans stay warm in togas?" "Maybe the sets were heated in those days," Elaine observed. So amidst the tilted wine jugs, spilled fruit and couches of a movie lot orgy the girls related a European adventure which out-does the scenario of "Neros Big Weekend," the spectacle in which they are working with Vittorio De Sica and Gloria Swanson.

For two years prior they'd been saving — Elaine in TV soap operas and Gladys in "Fifth Season" and then on the road with "My Three Angels." Their goal was Europe.

First stop: Paris in August. "We finally had to leave Paris," said Elaine. "We couldn't stand the pace."

"The Frenchmen were wolves, too," added chestnut-eyed Gladys. "We decided to try the Riviera for solitude."

Instead they met the Marquis of Milford-Haven, erstwhile pal of the Duke of Edinburgh, who sent roses three days running.

"And there was royalty from Iraq and a prince from Siam and — well it wasn't restful," Elaine explained. "So when a Frenchman offered us a yacht trip and said there'd be chaperones that seemed the answer."

It wasn't. "We were chaste, chased and tired of fighting off playboys," said Gladys. The yacht reached Corsica and they jumped ship. They used a big chunk of a shrinking bankroll to get back to Cannes — a fourth-class deck passengers. There they reclaimed checked baggage and shook off France.

"Italy—what a difference," the girls agreed. "Italy—what a difference," the girls agreed.

Via Veneto sidewalk cafe when a man approached.

"I'm a movie director," he began. "You girls would be perfect for small parts in a picture I'm shooting."

Elaine recalls: "I started to say 'hit the road, Buster, we've heard that routine and then I said to myself 'This is Rome and anything can happen.' And he really was a movie director and two days later we were in a movie. This Rome!"

The girls' set was next door to Titanus Films. Finishing their bit parts, the two girls gave luck another whirl, walked over and asked for a job on "Nero's Big Weekend."

"We need slave girls and you've got the figures," the casting director said. "Get into togas down at wardrobe."

After all this, do they want to hurry home? "Give our regards to Broadway but this is for us," Elaine said.

"We've met a Roman prince, a Mexican millionaire drives us to our home from work and we've got another picture offer. Just write us care of Rome for a good, long time."

Davis Sees Texas League Sending Many To Majors

By JOHN (RED) DAVIS
DALLAS — The Texas League is sending some very bright prospects to the majors next season and two of them are from Dallas.

I would say that Pete Burnside and John (Red) Murff, our ace pitchers of 1955, have an excellent chance of sticking.

Burnside, a lefthander, will make top hurler for the Giants if handled with patience. He tends to wildness and should be brought along slowly. He has a live fast ball, a great curve and always is in good physical condition.

Murff, who won 27 games in 1955, should be a great one for four or five innings of relief when the starting pitcher runs into trouble in the early innings. He is smart, durable and a great competitor. Red has several good years ahead.

(Murff was sold to Milwaukee for $40,000 and a player.)

Baltimore is getting a good prospect in Charley Locke of San Antonio, who won 18 games. He has a real chance to stick.

Bob Boyd, Houston's first baseman, was ticketed for Rochester but Baltimore drafted him for $10,000. He's a big leaguer if I ever saw one. They said he couldn't hit breaking stuff but he certainly did in the Texas League. He hit .309 and had 15 homers. He is an all-around ball player.

San Antonio also is sending Baltimore a real good outfielder in Jim Pisoni. He has a great arm, is a strong hitter with men on base and he's only 26. I'd say Pisoni is an excellent big league prospect.

The Cardinals are getting a good relief pitcher in Harry Holtsma. If this boy doesn't fill the bill I'd say there's something wrong. He has excellent control, a good slider and throws hard. He was mighty valuable in Houston.

Hal Smith, who caught for Houston, also is going to the Cardinals and I'd say he would be a very good second string catcher. He's a fine receiver and a good, steady hitter.

Our Ossie Virgil, Bill White, Lee Tate, Charley Fowler and Ben Wilbur are going to Minneapolis. I think White is a real prospect at first base and he'll make it to the big leagues. The others may be a while away.

FOR THE BIRDS
CHICAGO (AP)—Pigeons atop the Cresham Methodist Church have a corn crop this year—they grew it themselves.

Rev. E. Lester said he discovered a corn stalk growing in a rain gutter near a pigeon's nest. He had only one explanation: Kernels of corn carried to the nest by the pigeons were dropped into dirt in the gutter and grew.

Often the Butt of Jokes . . . But

Salesmanship Keynotes Progress In America

Possibly one of the most alarming by-products of our present day civilization is the mental attitude of many people toward the profession of selling. The situation came into existence with the present generation and, sadly enough, it is still being over-emphasized by the youth of today.

The trouble stems, apparently, from the fact that selling has been connected too often with door to door peddlers who dispense brushes, magazines, cleaning fluids and household gadgets. Even the insurance salesman, despite his ethics and training, has often come to bear the brunt of many jokes. Consequently, the profession of selling is too often overlooked by youngsters who set out to make a place for themselves in a competitive world.

When you get down to brass tacks, however, the one word which actually sets America apart from other nations is "salesmanship."

This does not necessarily mean high-pressure tactics. Instead, it means honest, forthright, conscientious selling of quality merchandise or ideas to people who need and can prosper or benefit with use. Upon this foundation we have built the highest civilization known to mankind. We have more automobiles, more bath tubs, more telephones, better food and better clothing than any other people in the world—and the chief reason is because these things were sold to the American people.

The would-be engineer will have a job waiting for him when he finishes school—because an alert salesman has sold, or can sell, the products which he will design on his drawing board. Without capable salesmen who write extensive orders, the engineering profession would soon become over-crowded.

Even your pastor is a salesman. His product is Christianity. The lawyer and the doctor, offering their services for sale to the public, contingent upon ability, past record and personality.

Regardless of 'How', We Need An Airport

In recent weeks there has been quite a stir in Dumas and Littlefield regarding the airport situation. Both towns appear willing and interested in securing airports of reasonable size and efficiency.

Hereford went through the same situation some six months ago, putting the proposition on a county-wide tax basis—and the voters turned down the airport by a large majority. It is not our purpose to criticize or to embarrass anyone regarding this matter. In a democracy, the majority rules. The people spoke out regarding a county airport—and we are willing to abide by the wishes of the people.

On the other hand, it is also difficult to sit by and see the community left behind in the general march of progress. In 1955, for the first time, the people of the United States traveled approximately as many miles on air lines as they travelled by bus. This also means that they travelled more miles than was by rail or other public conveyance. It also means that air travel is becoming more and more important than diminishing—and it means that Hereford and Deaf Smith County are lagging in the matter of general progress.

How we should establish an airport, be it by taxes, by donations or by community enterprise, we do not know. Nor do we wish to suggest the size or airfield needs. However, we do know that the community needs an airport, just as it needed a railway line 50 years ago when the county seat was moved from La Plata to Hereford. Again, some 25 years later the people of this area recognized a need for paved roads—and they did something about it.

Today, a new generation—the grandsons and granddaughters of those early settlers—are faced with the need of public improvement if the area is to continue to grow and prosper. Will we have the vision and foresight of our forefathers, or will we nonchalantly pursue our personal interests while other communities build for the future? The answer is up to us!

Salesmen are perhaps the one category of "white collar" workers who draw top pay. Whereas, the average man can become stymied or lost in a big organization, the salesman is the one man who can always write his own ticket. He is becoming so important, in fact, that he usually draws commissions and bonuses, thus in reality becoming a partner in the firm. It is not unusual, in many instances, for top salesmen to actually draw more money than high executives, including the office of corporation president.

It is with considerable concern, therefore, that we hear people cast slight reflections or indicate mental reservations concerning the profession. President Franklin D. Roosevelt was perhaps the greatest salesman this nation has ever known. He literally "sold" the nation out of a financial depression, which could most easily have led to internal strife and revolution. If Lincoln had been a better salesman, it is highly possible that he might have "sold" the people on emancipation—and averted the war between the states.

Selling, in addition, is one of the most interesting and most fascinating professions in the world. Americans certainly did not originate selling, but they have profited extensively by pursuing and improving the world's known selling methods.

A good salesman never wants for worldly goods. By virtue of his ability, he is qualified immediately as a politician, as an understanding man, and as a community leader. He is the man, in fact, who is likely to profit most from those who scorn his profession. He is literally the "cream of the earth"—the man who sets our nation and our civilization apart and above all others. He is not bound in scope by petty jealousy, nor is there a ceiling on his future accomplishments. The sky is the limit. His only competitor is the ability of other salesmen. The profession today offers more opportunity than any other we know. Certainly, it merits the careful consideration of every person, young or old.

Besides, it matters little what business or profession we may choose for, in the final analysis, our success or failure will be determined entirely by our ability as a salesman of our product, our ability or our beliefs.

$1 Minimum Wage

Despite the small amount of industry and interstate trade which originates in this community, it is well to point out the fact that the minimum wage scale will, on March 1, increase from 75 cents to $1 an hour in the United States.

Actually, little change will result from the new act, especially in this section, where it is impossible to hire skilled workers at such a low figure. Some change will possibly be noted, however, in weeks to come as the new wage scale tends to boost production costs and, consequently, raises consumer prices on some items.

With the wage scale goes the 40-hour week, which creates overtime; this will possibly result in more cost increase than will the one-third boost on minimum wages.

The law is federal in scope, affording some few exemptions. It is complicated in nature. Persons who are in doubt concerning their status should contact the "Wage-Hour Office, Post Office Building, Albuquerque, N.M." for complete details.

On Sending The Boss Fishing

It's a good idea. That's what Brand staffers think after going a week without the services of the publisher.

Mr. G went fishing this past week and left us with the chance to find out just what he does around here. And we found out.

Things just don't seem to go just the way they should when the boss is out of town. Nothing serious—just a lot of little things.

We suggest employees of other Hereford businesses send their boss fishing now and then. It's real educational.

"Continue, Milton! What else would you do if you were running this business for just one day?"

I believe he will make the race, but I don't think he will win it.

I think that he'll run and has a fair chance of making it.

By ROBERTA CAMPBELL

Several people seem to have misread our column last week or else we miswrote it.

We were not trying to say there never had been a hand pump in operation in Hereford but we were contending that the use of one on the TV screen is unfair as a hand pump, even when our Dr. Heard first brought emphasis on the quality of teeth in this locality was about as obsolete as a horse and buggy and a windmill at every residence.

Hereford is a modern little town with many things that would make a better impression than a hand pump which gives the idea that we get our drinking water from a cistern.

We have used a hand pump many times but it was set over a well about a hundred and fifty feet deep to bring water to the surface until my dad could make enough to buy a windmill to do the work.

Sometimes even where there was a tower the sucker rod could be uncoupled and hooked up to a hand pump that could be used in case the wind wasn't blowing enough to pump water for wash day or to water cattle or other livestock.

—tp—

George Paetzold reports that both the Wyche and Progressive schools used to have hand pumps. Of course they also had plenty of kid power on the end of the pump handle.

George says his Uncle John pointed out that there is still a well in Hereford where a pin can convert the well over to a hand pump.

—tp—

The Historical Committee, newly formed, can do a great deal to leave with us some of our early history before all of those who know it best have moved on to new frontiers.

For some time we have been prodding Corinne Neeley to work up a history as those who have read some of her entries in historical competition say she definitely knows "What Is History."

Community Builders

By JIMMIE LEE

A class reunion in 1952 was one of the highlights in the life of Mrs. M. T. Rutter, this week's Community Builder. Mrs. Rutter graduated from Hereford High School in 1931 with a class of 37. There were 21 out of the 37 students that attended the class reunion banquet. They told of incidents that had happened in their lives. Mrs. Rutter said, "I think every class should have a reunion."

Born Lois Clayton, Feb. 19, 1913 in Arkansas, she was one of five children, with three sisters and one brother. In 1919 her parents moved to Wyche Community and Mrs. Rutter attended her grammar years at Wyche School. As was stated before, she graduated from Hereford High School in 1931. Ten days after her graduation, Mrs. Rutter married M. T. Rutter at Clovis. They have three children: Clayton Gene, a junior at the University of Texas, he is studying civil engineering; Nelson Lee, a senior in High School; and Cleeta Kay, a fifth grader.

Mrs. Rutter remembers as a child going to school horseback through the snow. She said in 1920 her father, J. J. Clayton, walked five miles to drive the children home in the buggy from school because of a dust storm.

In 1925, Mrs. Rutter and her sister, Mary, won a free trip to the Dallas Fair from the 4-H Club. Mrs. Rutter won her trip with White Rock chickens and her sister won hers on feet. They didn't get to attend the Fair, but they won the $25 anyway.

Mrs. Rutter has just finished a two year term as president of the Hereford Garden Club. She is now serving out a term for another president in the club. She was the chairman of the decorating committee for the Chamber of Commerce banquet in 1955, this was through the Hereford Garden Club and was co-chairman in 1953. Mrs. Rutter said Chamber of Commerce banquets are nothing new to her. Her father took her and her sister to them from the time they were teen-agers. At present she is serving as safety chairman for the Deaf Smith County Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Rutter was a member of one of the first child study clubs when her boys were small. She resigned when she began traveling with her husband during the war. Mrs. Rutter is now studying to be a national flower show judge. She has had four of the five schools that are required.

She has served on the citizen's committee to promote the building of our grade school that is being built. The grade school is being named after a "very dear friend," Ela Aikman.

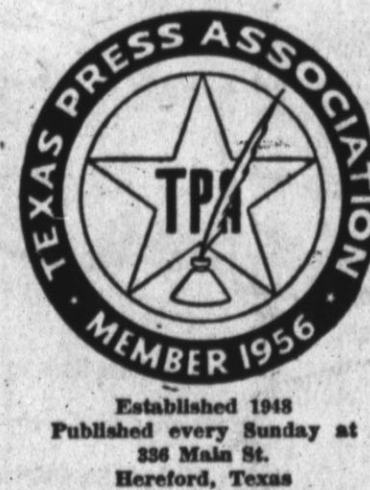

In her work with the Red Cross, Mrs. Rutter is disaster clothing chairman and is also zone chairman.

In 1951, she was P-TA health chairman. While she was chairman, approximately 1000 free shots were given to school children. She has served as room mother for three years for her youngest child, Cleeta Kay.

In 1954, she was publicity chairman for the free Chest X-rays. Over 2000 took advantage of that.

Mrs. Rutter said, "I just love my friends and neighbors. I love to help with weddings, or anyway I can help people, like sewing and taking my neighbors to the grocery store. My first love is old people. I'd like very much to see our community do something for them. I can remember as a child going with my Daddy to visit old people." One way she helps people is to keep their children while the parents are sick at home or in the hospital. She kept one little boy (Continued On Page 2)

COLLEGE BUILDING IS FLAMEPROOFED

The main College building is receiving a fire-proofing job this week which is designed to lessen the possibility of the structure being destroyed in case a fire should ever break out and it will also reduce the insurance rate on the building 15 percent. Five coats of the flame retardant liquid are being administered to all exposed wood surfaces that are not painted, mainly in the attic, stair walls, etc. The job is being done by the Chemical Flame Proofing Co. of Amarillo.—THE DONLEY COUNTY LEADER.

TULIA HAS $690,000 POWER BOND ELECTION

Tulia residents will go to the polls Saturday and decide whether or not to put the city's power plant and distribution system in tip-top shape, increase its generating capacity to serve a city of 7,000 persons, and terminate a rental agreement whereby the city pays $2,000 monthly rental on one of its engines. One proposal is to vote $155,000 with which to retire that amount of bonds remaining from an issue voted in 1948. In addition, $545,000 in new bonds is needed to terminate the lease agreement on the rented engine, to increase the generating capacity of the plant, to step up the voltage from 2,400 volts to 4,160 volts.—THE TULIA HERALD.

LOCKNEY GETS FIRE TRUCK

The Lockney Volunteer Fire Department has purchased a panel truck which will be used to carry equipment to fires. Fire Chief Audvie Barnett said this week. The 1947 Chevrolet truck was purchased from Douglas Funeral Home at Silverton for $150. Members of the department have painted the truck a bright red, and will install warning lights and a siren on it. It will precede the fire truck to all fires.—THE LOCKNEY BEACON.

WHITE RIVER DAM STUDIED

More than 50 citizens of Spur attended the meeting in Crosbyton last Thursday night to indicate Spur's interest in the proposed project to dam White River and create a lake to furnish water for Spur, Post and Crosbyton. The meeting was attended by well over 200 representing the three principally interested cities and Rolls and Lorenzo. It was estimated that the entire project, including preliminary work would take from three to four years to complete. It would include the dam, a filter plant and pipe lines to the three cities.—THE TEXAS SPUR.

The BOOTLEG —Philosopher

(Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is needlessly worried over an idea this week, but he'd rather worry than work any day.)

Dear editor:

I never have been afraid of a new idea, doesn't make any difference if most of the new ones aren't any improvement on the old ones, but I ran across one the other night that has me worried.

According to it, there's a move on to eliminate paying government employees by check.

Under the proposed system, say a man was working for the government. Instead of being issued a check every week, he'd just be given credit at the bank. This, they say, would eliminate the tremendous job of writing checks for millions of government workers each week, would eliminate long lines at the bank, etc.

I don't know about this. About the only time actually a lot of people have any money is the interval between the minute they get their pay check and the minute they deposit it at the bank, on account of they've already written enough checks to take it up. They're not depositing money, they're covering checks.

Also, if this system worked for government employees, it wouldn't be long before it was expanded to private business, and it wouldn't be long before somebody thought of the wasted time in paying taxes by check. Just have the government, city, county, state or Federal, send a memorandum to the bank docking the tax payer for taxes due, whether property or income, and when he got his bank statement at the end of the month he could find out how much the government's take was.

This idea could also be expanded to take in grocery stores, drygoods stores, filling stations, etc.

And sending out monthly bank statements could be eliminated too. Just send out a yearly statement, and to further eliminate figures, the bank could adopt the same system schools now use, don't give exact grades, just say "Satisfactory" or "Unsatisfactory," which would indicate whether you were even or over-drawn.

As you can see, this thing can lead to the elimination of some of life's happiest moments. As far as I'm concerned, there's just not anything more pleasant than a check made out to me, one I can hold in my hand and look at.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Beauty At Home

Q. How should I rid myself of under-arm hair?

A. With either razor or depilatory every week, or as often as necessary. Some do this with a dry razor, but it is better to lather under the arms first. Be sure, if you happen to cut the skin, to de-germ the area with antiseptic or mercurochrome.

Q. How can I make myself a good hand lotion?

A. Equal parts of glycerine and camphor make an excellent hand lotion.

Q. What can I do about a shallow looking skin?

A. On-the-surface cure for this is a warm-tinted makeup base. For more fundamental effects, use the stimulating masks or packs concocted by almost all the cosmetic houses, and by including brisk patting with skin freshener in your face cleansings.

Q. How can I exercise to keep my abdominal muscles firm while on a reducing diet?

A. Lie on floor, knees bent half-way and heels on floor. Bend elbows with head resting on hands. Pull your stomach in and press the small of your back to the floor as you push your hands with your head. Hold while you count ten, relax, and repeat.

Q. How can I prevent excessive smearing of my lipstick?

A. A little more care is probably the best antidote. If you'll add a bit of perfume over the lipstick, it will give it more permanence until you're ready to remove it with cold cream.

Q. What is a good treatment for greasy and oily skin?

A. A good facial bath, two or three times daily, with this mixture: Rose water 5 1/2 ounces; alcohol 1/2-ounce; boric acid 1/2-dram. This is at once cleansing, cooling and drying.

Q. My eyebrows are very sparse, and penciling them is quite noticeable. What else can I do to help bring them out?

A. Eyebrow cream is very good. This can be drawn on sparingly with a tiny brush and it looks like the natural brow. You can buy it in dark brown, and because it is creamy, it doesn't leave a harsh line.

Q. What is a good, inexpensive shampoo I can mix myself?

A. Heat together an egg and a teaspoonful of mild skin soap. Apply this with the fingertips, rubbing well into the scalp. Rinse with hot, then lukewarm water, then cold.

Q. Shouldn't one's figure type be considered in the style of one's hairdress?

A. Yes. If you are tall, keep the top low, the sides full and long. If you're a shorty, wear the top fluffy and curl all ends up. If they call you "chubby," skip the doll-baby curls and wear your tresses long and slinky.

Q. How can I add a delicate fragrance to my handkerchiefs?

A. When laundering them, put a small piece of orris root in a muslin bag and boil this with the handkerchiefs. This will add a faint aroma of violets to your hankies.

Q. How can I minimize the appearance of eyes that are too prominent?

A. Try using a touch of eye-shadow over the entire lid, and wearing heavier eyebrows.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brown have a new son, David Lawrence, born Feb. 19 and weighing seven pounds and 15 1/2 ounces. Paternal grandmother is Mrs. C. M. Brown of Clovis, N. M., and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Welter Swain of San Jon, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wilson have a new five pound and 15 ounce boy, born Feb. 21. Paternal grandfather is Charlie Wilson of Long Beach, Calif., and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Serey Dilworth of Clarksville.

How Can I?

Q. How can I clean light furs?
A. Rub thoroughly into the furs a mixture of 1 pint of flour, 1 tablespoonful fullers' earth, and 1 pint of bran. Shake well and rub again with the bran alone. Then shake and brush with a soft clean cloth.

Q. How can I clean spinach or kale satisfactorily?
A. Add a handful of salt to the second water and all the sand will sink to the bottom of the pan. Another rinsing will then make them thoroughly clean.

Q. How can I keep a chamolis skin soft?
A. Do not rinse the chamolis after washing in soap and water, and it will remain soft and pliable.

Q. How can I make smelling salts?
A. Take 1 ounce of ammonia, or rock volatile, break it into small pieces, put it in a bottle, and cover with eau-de-cologne. Allow it to stand for 4 or 5 days before using.

Q. How can I prevent ices and jellies from sticking to the mold?
A. Wrap a hot cloth around the jelly mold to make the ices and jellies come out without sticking.

Q. How can I clean the clothes line?
A. Probably the best way to clean it is to wrap it around the washboard and scrub it with a brush and soapsuds.

Q. How can I keep bread fresh?
A. Fresh bread should never be placed in the container along with stale bread, or it will also become stale very quickly. Keep the stale bread in a separate box.

Q. How can I test the healthful part of mushrooms?
A. By stirring while cooking with a silver spoon. If there is any foreign substance in the mushrooms, the silver will turn.

Q. How can I remove ear grease from wash materials?
A. By rubbing lard on the spots before laundering.

Q. How can I whiten clothes that have turned yellow?
A. Put some boiling water in a vessel and add 1 teaspoon of cream of tartar to each quart of water.

Dip the clothes in this solution several times, but do not allow them to remain. Rinse in several changes of water and then hang in the sun to dry.

Q. How can I take the soreness from a bruise?
A. Butter, when applied as a salve, will take the soreness from most bruises and often prevents discoloration.

TELEPHONE TALK

by A. O. Thomas, District Manager

MIGHTY MITE

In the telephone business, we must look beyond tomorrow and into the future for new ways to improve service. And the Bell Transistor, a new electronic gadget, is one of the most exciting developments in many a day.

It's so new that it was an unknown word in my vocabulary not so long ago. But the Bell Transistor is in actual telephone operation already in a few places, helping Long Distance operators to dial direct to distant cities.

Invented by telephone scientists, the Bell Transistor—which consists of a tiny piece of metal sprouting a couple of hair-thin wires—is the first practical replacement for many present vacuum tubes. But it can do many things that a vacuum tube cannot do, and takes far less power to do it. It can, for example, amplify sound waves one million times their original strength. Transistors won't get hot, won't burn out, and have a life expectancy of 50 years.

Tiny transistors—an ordinary thimble will hold seven—are also helping modernize the communications equipment field. They are being used in radio and television sets, hearing aids, military equipment, and in many other electronic devices.

The telephone company is proud of its miracle mite. With good reason. More than anything else, the Bell Transistor represents another step forward in a continuing effort to bring you the best telephone service possible.

ANNIVERSARY

How long is thirty years? Well, you might ask Mrs. Marie Sears, Chief Operator at the Telephone Office. The month of February marks her thirtieth anniversary with the Telephone Company and all of those years have been spent giving telephone service to people right here in Hereford. Throughout those thirty years, she has had a perfect attendance record, never having missed a single day from her job. She was promoted to Chief Operator on September 1, 1937. Since that time she has taught hundreds of girls to say "Number please."

When Mrs. Sears was first employed there were only five or six operators in the Hereford Exchange. Today she supervises a force of thirty five. Then, Hereford had about 300 telephones. Today there are over 2700. A lot of things have happened in the last thirty years, but when you are as busy as Marie Sears, time passes quickly.

Bible Words for Today

2 CORINTHIANS 3:6 "...the written code kills, but the Spirit gives life." (RSV)

It has been said repeatedly that Christianity is a way of life. What has been forgotten is that Christianity is a way of life with God. God is the great plus mark of Christian Faith. It is the recognition and realization of God that gives meaning, power, and glory to human life.

Jesus showed us a way of life, but it was not a way of rules, or doctrines, or principles. Primarily it was a way of life with God, lived in fellowship with Him and in harmony with His will. It was a way motivated, empowered, disciplined, and glorified by an Unseen Presence, "nearer than breathing, closer than hands and feet."

To live by rules and principles is good—if there is nothing better. But to live by faith in the Spirit of Christ is to live in freedom, undergirded by infinite resources, and directed by unfailing Love. This is the way of life with God.

Plains Vegetable Council Elects Temporary Officers At Meeting

Farmers, businessmen, and others interested in bringing organized production of fresh vegetables to the Plains met together at Plainview recently and brought into being the West Texas Vegetable Council, the first large-scale group of its type ever to appear in this part of the state.

Although the constitution and by-laws of the organization are now in the formative stage, it is no secret that the aim of the Council will be to bring about a survey of the possibilities of large-scale vegetable production in the region, and to supervise the establishment of such.

Ronald Davis, Lazbuddie (Parmer County) farmer, who first started the ball rolling on the effort, was elected temporary president of the organization.

Other officers, also on a temporary basis:

L. A. Marshall, Floydada, first vice president; Don Anthony, Dumas, second vice president; Jason O. Gordon, Plainview, secretary-treasurer.

The 35 members of the council present heard talks from several officials, including Dr. W. N. Williamson, assistant director of Extension Service, A&M College. He stressed the need for a survey to determine the feasibility of such a move before production steps are taken.

The council also listened to Dr. John McNeely, marketing specialist from the A&M Experiment Station. He gave an optimistic note gold container with pink and red stripes. It's a dead give away. Only a daffy, blonde would carry anything like that around, and that's how they found the guilty one. Crime doesn't pay you know.

Hmmmm... Bill B. and Glenn T. are fast becoming pretty sought after characters. N. H., what happened to the great Kazuba? Now there was a fascinating subject!

Don't forget to plan on seeing the Senior Play, "Stars in Their Eyes." The cast looks very promising, and it really is a rib tickling comedy. It was chosen with the audience in mind, because all of us locals seem to prefer laughter, which is a very good thing. I think there would be nothing to look forward to without a little laughter. Right?

Look me up again next week for the latest.

to the meeting by pointing out the increased growth of the fresh vegetable markets in this country due to diet changes, increasing population, the decline of "back yard gardening," and other factors.

One of the major steps taken at the meeting was the issuance of a formal request to G. G. Gibson, director of the Extension Service, asking that assistance be given in making the preliminary survey, which the Council feels should be gotten underway as soon as possible.

Pledges of cooperation were obtained from Dr. George Elle, assistant dean of agriculture at Texas Tech, who said that all the facilities of that department would be available for the work; and a like expression of help from the agriculture department of West Texas College by Dr. R. M. Callihan, the head of that department.

Work of the Council was divided into four categories, and committees named to proceed along those lines. Committees and their members:

Survey—Gene Quest, Lubbock; R. G. Jones, Anton; Arno Struve, Abertathy.

Finance—Don Anthony, Dumas; Hossa Foster, Canyon; B. R. Evans, Tulla.

Organization—Gene McLaughlin, Ralls; Arlon Miller, Floydada; Herman B. Thornton, Lockney.

Education and Information—Nelson Welch, Friona; Arlin Hartzog, Bovina; E. O. Baker, Muleshoe; Don Williams, Farwell.

Until the organizational committee workers can draw up a constitution and by-laws, the Council will work informally on its goals. One phase of activity that will be needed up in the near future is the contacting of town and areas generally within the irrigated High Plains that may be interested in such a movement, but which have not yet been worked with.

Pickles

For the removing of pickles or olives from a tightly packed jar try using the grapefruit knife. The curved blade will slide under the pickle or olive without breaking it while pulling it up.

Grease Stains

If grease is spilled on a dress, rub the hand together until heat is created. Place one palm under the spot and rub briskly with the other palm. The heat will make the stain disappear.

Rust Stains on Porcelain
Brown stains are most difficult, if not impossible, to remove when they are under the enamel. The surface stains can generally be removed by rubbing with a weak solution of alkaline cleaning compounds such as tri-sodium phosphate or washing soda. Oxalic acid will remove rust stains. This last must be used with caution, as it is a poison if taken internally.

Onions

If only a slice is wanted off a large onion, cut in such a way that the root remains on the leftover part. The onion will not dry out, and can be saved for further use.

Gum on Clothes

Chewing gum can be removed from the clothes by rubbing the spot with kerosene and then brushing the residue away.

Painting Blackboards

The blackboard should first be painted with ordinary glossy black paint. Then, after this has dried, apply a coat of black paint that has been mixed with turpentine, instead of oil, and it will dry a dead black.

Baked Sweet Potatoes

Baked sweet potatoes are delicious if cut in half lengthwise, the insides removed and mixed with butter, salt, pepper, and a little sugar, then refilled and heated.

Shoe Heels

One will not feel so tired if the heels of all the shoes are of the same height.

Washing Velvet

You can wash velvet very nicely if you squeeze the garment gently through a mild suds. Do not wring, but place on the hanger dripping. When thoroughly dry, it may be pressed lightly on the wrong side if necessary. Do not moisten.

Cleaning Windows

When cleaning windows with a chamois, dip the chamois in hot water. When the windows are dry they will have a beautiful polish.

Texas Celebrated Statehood Week Feb. 16-21 By Governor's Order

By TIM PARKER
Associated Press Staff

By proclamation of Gov. Allan Shivers, Feb. 16-21 was Statehood Week in Texas, the 110th anniversary of the state's admission to the Union.

One good reason for celebrating is the fact the state's admission to the Union wasn't an easy thing. Many people in the United States 110 years ago counted it a bad bargain indeed to admit Texas.

The Republic of Texas' first emissary to the United States was sent to Washington ostensibly to get Uncle Sam's recognition for the new nation.

But William H. Wharton, first Texas envoy to Washington, also carried other instructions. He was to tell U. S. Secretary of State John Forsyth that what Texas really wanted was to become a part of the United States.

Did the U. S. welcome with open arms this vast and wealthy land? No. Forsyth bluntly turned down both the pleas for recognition and any suggestion of annexation. The so-called republic hadn't established her independence from Mexico yet.

The United States, declared Forsyth, was "bound to Mexico by a treaty of amity and commerce, which will be scrupulously observed on our part."

The glories of the new republic in its first years consisted principally of bad debts, lawlessness and desperation.

Sam Houston, after his election to a second term as President of the Republic, complained that the country was "utterly destitute of credit, without a currency, without means, and millions in debt. And there are no jails and prisons for confinement of the accused, nor are counties in a situation to pay a tax sufficient to insure the safe keeping of culprits."

Houston's minister of finance complained the government didn't have money to buy writing paper for his correspondence. Houston at one time complained the Republic's treasury had never held any more than $500.

Citizens of the new republic, in their first election of officers, also expressed their opinion on whether Texas should be annexed by the U. S. They favored annexation by 3000 to 91.

This was in 1836. In March, 1837, the U. S. House of Representatives refused even to recognize the new republic. In August, 1837, Texas' new charge d'affaires in Washington, Gen. Memucan Hunt, formally proposed the U. S. annex Texas. He was turned down.

The legislatures of Rhode Island, Vermont, Ohio, Massachusetts, Maine, Connecticut, New York and Pennsylvania passed resolutions opposing annexation of Texas. This was principally in belief the new state would be a slave state.

The United States' repeated refusals to accept Texas ired Dr. Anson Jones when Jones was a member of the Texas Congress. Jones introduced a resolution directing President Houston to withdraw the offer. The resolution passed the lower house decisively and missed passage in the new republic's senate by one vote.

Jones accepted the position of the republic's minister to Washington only on condition he be allowed to withdraw the annexation offer. His first act in Washington was to advise the U. S. secretary of state of Texas' "formal and absolute withdrawal" of her offer to join the U. S.

But the obvious and powerful arguments for admitting Texas, plus the fact she whipped Mexico and won recognition as a separate nation from the world's great powers, turned the tide. The U. S. Congress in 1845 adopted the annexation resolution and Texas quickly accepted it.

Even the republic's debts, which had grown nightmarish, were converted by history to a blessing. The United States, which had taken over public debts of other new states, decided to let Texas keep her debts. As consolation, Texas was allowed to keep her public lands. Those lands include the tidelands and their oil wealth.

It was Anson Jones, last president of the republic, who issued the call for the special convention at which Texas voted to join the union. And it was President Anson Jones who hauled down the Lone Star Flag, hoisted the Stars and Stripes, and saying simply "The Republic of Texas is no more."

Household Tips

An extra egg white on hand? Slice a very ripe banana and beat it with the egg white, a third of a cup of sugar and a dash of salt.

Add a half teaspoon of vanilla and a half teaspoon of lemon juice for flavoring. Be sure to beat this dessert until light and fluffy and to refrigerate it for no more than half an hour before serving.

See if you don't like your steak this way. Have the meat one inch thick and place it two inches from the source of heat. For rare steak, broil 15 to 20 minutes, for medium-done steak, broil 20 to 25 minutes.

Seal that metal lunch box often! Be sure it is outfitted with a wide-mouthed vacuum bottle so you can send along a good supply of nourishing hot foods.

Birthday party coming up? Surround the birthday cake with balls of ice cream rolled in tinted coconut.

It's not necessary to remove the skin from eggplant unless it is tough. And soaking eggplant before cooking it is out of date; just wash it.

Do you usually add celery to your bread stuffing for poultry? Next time try substituting chopped apple for part of the celery.

Rule for pan-broiling meat: pour off fat as it accumulates.

Pantry-shelf special: with a can of condensed cream of mushroom soup, one of boned chicken and one of pimiento, you can make chicken a la king. If there's any celery in the refrigerator, dice some of it and add for crunchy texture.

Thin rings, cut from both red and white onions, make a pretty garnish for salads. They add good taste, too!

Two pounds of short ribs will make four servings. The ribs will have to be braised a couple of hours.

If you use a pressure cooker for stew, make sure that you brown the meat thoroughly first in hot fat before cooking it under pressure.

A little currant jelly leftover? Mix it with salad oil, lemon juice and a dash of salt; use it as a dressing over a salad of romaine and fresh pear.

You'll need to bake a two-inch thick center-cut slice of ham from 1½ to 2 hours. Be sure to cut slashes in the fat edge of the meat, about two inches apart, before baking; this will prevent curling. Insert whole cloves in the fat and baste the ham with sweetened pineapple juice several times during the baking.

Nice to serve with a veal roast: egg noodles tossed, after cooking, with poppy seeds, blanched almonds and melted butter. Sprinkle the noodles with paprika before serving.

Put a half cup of sugar, a half cup of water and a tablespoon or so of lemon juice in a small saucepan; stir over low heat until the sugar dissolves. Boil, without stirring, for five minutes. Use this sugar syrup over grapefruit sections mixed with sliced banana for a fruit dessert.

Want a wonderful seafood cocktail for company? Line sherbet glasses with lettuce; add two or three cooked cleaned shrimp, a couple of fresh or thawed frozen raw oysters and a couple of hard-

VACANT WILDERNESS
ISLE ROYALE, Mich.—This untouched wilderness—jutting out of blue Lake Superior—is one of the few public sites in this country where one can wander without tripping over beer cans and spotting cigarette butts.

Instead the island's trails that wind through the primeval woods are littered with thimbleberries, Clintonia, wild orchids and trillium. You don't see much of man because he's uncommon and most of the time is out-numbered by moose. For instance, only 2,830 people visited Isle Royale in 1952 while 41 million toured the entire national park system.

But then, there isn't much to do. All you can do is pull 10-pound lake trout out of the ice clear water, hike along paths framed by stately pines and birches, look for greenstones along Lake Huron, shell raw clams. Top with a spicy cocktail sauce made from catchup, chili sauce, prepared horseradish, lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce.

watch an eagle soar above or a family of mink at your feet. The trip from Grand Portage, Minn., takes only a couple of hours—available boats can carry only a few passengers per trip. And the island's two lodges can handle only 125 persons.

REMEMBERS FORGETTING
RICHMOND, Va.—One of the things best remembered by Dr. James A. Jones Jr., new president of Union Theological Seminary here, is something he forgot.

A young couple stood at the altar in his church which was full of their friends. No preacher appeared to marry them. Phone calls to Dr. Jones' home and various hospitals failed to locate him. Another preacher was located and the wedding knot was tied. Dr. Jones said he was so engrossed in the difficulties of a family in his church that he forgot the time of the wedding.

"Those youngsters were good friends of mine," said Dr. Jones. "Fortunately, they still are."

Yes, that's right, an electric clothes dryer saves on food costs for Mrs. Campanello. "Now I have time to prepare my menus for each meal... taking advantage of the many specials offered by our local grocery stores." You'll save money on clothes, too, with an electric clothes dryer, for you won't have to buy as many and they'll last longer.

FREE ENTERPRISE WINKS

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Winking was declared a part of free enterprise in a peace bond hearing between two clothing store owners.

One of the owners, whose store is three doors from the other merchant, took lusty swings at the chin of his competitor who "winks and nods his head when a customer starts into my store."

"I don't know how to wink," retorted the accused. He added that he was going to take winking lessons and hereafter "wink for wink" and "nod for nod" for enticing customers.

"After all," they agreed, "we both believe in free enterprise."

GET A HORSE!

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—Milkman H. A. (Ole) Palmgren, who retired after delivering milk on

TWIN-TRIGGERED
for double-action take-off

(Have you tried the new Variable Pitch Dynaflo?*)

This is something you'll find only in a 1956 Buick. And we think this action is so exciting, you ought to come in for a sampling before another sun sets. For Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo is more than just the smoothest, the sweetest, the most responsive transmission yet developed. It's quick and it's nimble—it's a gas-saver and a great safety factor—the most thrilling safety measure on the American scene today.

When we say twin-triggered, we mean just that. You move the first trigger the moment you press the gas pedal no more than an inch. That nudge taps a fraction of the mighty power in Buick's big 322-cubic-inch V8 engine. That nudge gives you quick new getaway response. That nudge brings you all the power and snap and performance you need for normal driving and cruising. And since all this is at only part throttle, your gas mileage goes up substantially.

Then comes the next trigger—when you need all-out acceleration for an emergency safety-surge.

You just floor the pedal—and that switches the pitch of this airplane-principled transmission. Instantly, you're at full-power take-off—and it's like a second getaway cutting in—a thrill and a safety sweep like nothing you've ever experienced before in an earthbound vehicle.

Surely you owe yourself the twin thrills, the deep satisfaction and just the sheer fun hours that go with driving the best Buick yet.

Why not come in tomorrow and match up the words with the action?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

FOR THE SPRING LAYETTE—Baby bunting of yellow corduroy lined in printed flannel, easy to make from standard pattern.

Mother-To-Be Can Make Baby Bunting

AP Newsfeatures
One of the most important items in any layette is an old-fashioned baby bunting, designed to keep the baby warm and snug when he goes out for an airing.

Local sewing center experts suggest corduroy and flannel in coordinated colors for a spring bunting. A happy combination, which can be worn by either a girl or boy baby, is yellow washcord corduroy with a lining of yellow flannel printed in frisky spring lambs. The design, made from a standard pattern, was adapted from a skier's outfit and has a separate hood which can be tucked down inside the bunting for extra neck protection.

Only 1 1/2 yards of 35-inch fabric are required for bunting and hood, with 1 1/8 yards of flannel for the lining. The bunting opens with a fly front covering the zipper, giving a trim tailored effect. The zipper is easily inserted by using the zipper foot attachment of your sewing machine.

Be sure that both corduroy and flannel are sanforized, so the entire outfit can be tossed right into the washing machine.

A good idea is to make two buntings at once, so the baby always will have one to wear while the other is in the wash. Use the assembly-line method, cutting out both buntings at once, doing all pinning and basting at the same time, and inserting both zippers at the same session. You'll find it's a great time saver.

REBEL WITHOUT A CAUSE
Warner Bros. "Rebel Without a Cause," starring James Dean, which shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Star, tells a story of youth's wild rage to live.

Dean plays a boy who tries to find love and affection denied him at home, as the member of a juvenile gang.

Featured romantically with Dean is Natalie Wood, the former child star, in her first mature role. Natalie, like Dean, plays an unloved child of middle class parents.

Jim Backus and Ann Doran are cast as Dean's mother and father and Rochelle Hudson and William Hopper are cast as Natalie's mother and father.
