Will Harris — Humanitarian

By NAOMI HOPSON
News Editor

"Anybody from Texas will like to see that, and I'm from Texas," a self-effacing comment made by a "pretty fine" man.

Occasion for proclaiming that he is a "Texas man" came for Will G. Harris when Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court viewed a plaque depicting "Deaf" Smith that had been made and hung after Harris suggested that the county should recognize Smith, a Texas historical figure in some way. Harris, long recognized in the county as a man who does something about what he believes, at first only asked permission to supply some memorial for the Texas scout for Sam Houston.

Judge H. C. Williams told Harris that he appreciated the thought but that it was actually a public responsibility and that he would take it up with the commissioners. The commissioners felt that they should initiate action.

Donald Hicks, Bruce Coleman, Earl Holt and Marcus Latham Commissioners for the County, authorized the making of a bronze plaque that has a picture in relief of Erasmus Smith and a brief explanation of his activities.

Harris was visiting his son last year at Thanksgiving in Houston when the two made a side trip to Richmond, Texas where they saw a monument that had been dedicated to the Texas scout. The grave of "Deaf" Smith is located in the part of the workings of the Panhandle.

"Oh, I punched cattle for the Kelso Ranch in the summer and taught school in the winter — I liked the country schools," he says with a reminiscent quiet in his clear, firm voice.

"John Gregory was a county commissioner then; you know, Marcus Latham is my county commissioner now," Harris commented.

"I lived out at Kelso one summer — that's about 35 miles northwest of Hereford — further than the old LaPlata town-site."

Kelso sported a hotel and had two stores facing the hotel, the old time cow puncher relates. The site is a ghost town now.

Homesteading on land just over the New Mexico line actually started Harris to farming in this part of the country. The town located just across the border from the Escabado Ranch, was called Hollene. Harris said that he proved-up his land but sold it and bought over where he presently lives.

"I've lived out here fifty years and I sure would like to stay," he staunchly proclaims.

"Out here" includes over 1100 acres of farm land with 100 acres still in grass. Several irrigation wells are presently operating on the place. He has the land leased out.

"Cattle pulled me through when we were in the thirties," Harris says. "The children were in West Texas University then and I thought we wouldn't make it — but we finally did."

"You know, I think I am the oldest Alumni of West Texas?" I went to the first session of summer school there." He is a member of the Phoenix Club, an alumni group.

West Texas State University has not missed the tender touch of Harris' benevolent hand — he helped originate the opportunity plan that has helped numerous students to go to school there and is being considered as a new educational financing innovation among colleges.

Also, Harris has established a scholarship for a ministerial student at Texas Christian University.

A member of the First Christian Church, he sings regularly in the choir — standing in the loft that he donated when the church was built.

Harris has published factual stories in "The Cattleman" and the Amarillo News Globe. "The late Louis Nordyke helped me a lot," Harris remembers.

Moving from one project to another, Harris always has overlapping interests — each Christmas, Boys Ranch knows that they will have their first "Christmas suit," no — not their first one, their first two, from Will Harris, address Summerfield, Texas.

Harris explains humbly that he was born a twin and that his brother did not live long so he likes for the Ranch to have a suit each year in the name of his twin brother.

Called the "Sage of Goathead Prairie" by Jimmie Gilentine, Hereford Brand editor some twenty or more years ago, Harris later picked up the title of "Mayor" of that indefinite domain from "Cotton" John — "you know he calls everybody mayor of something or other," Harris demures.

"Goathead Prairie" actually has been a most satisfactory realm for this wiry man, a man who has seen the world change from lonesome ranching to bustling vegetable farming.

"I like the way this country works," he says, "there is a lot going on and I think it will stay that way — all of Texas is pretty great."

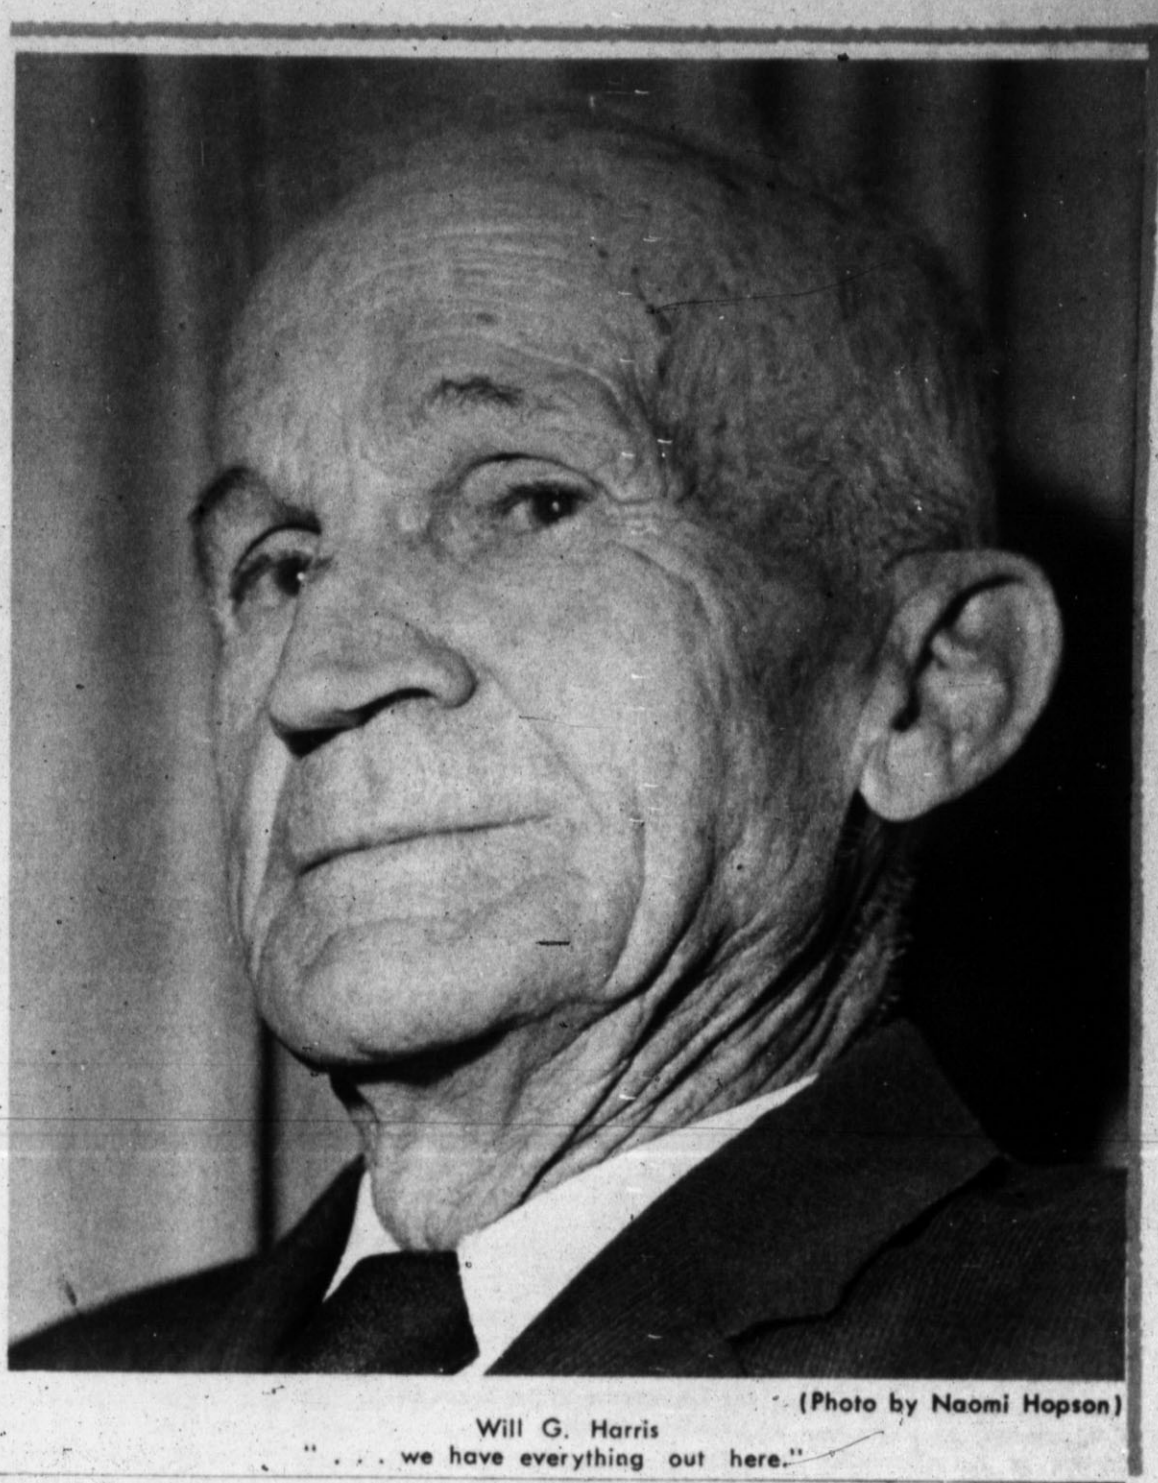

He married in 1909 and he and his wife Ruth reared three children on the home ranch. L. G. of Houston, the son who was with his father when the idea for the county inscription was conceived, Wilma (Mrs. P. L. Carmichael) of Hereford and Mrs. Dorothy Brown of Muleshoe.

He has a relatively new house, which he has furnished in a comfortable but austere fashion.

"The one we lived in burned down," he explains, "One of my hands and I were asleep and we nearly didn't make it."

"I think this is the greatest place in the world. We have everything we need — irrigation and the best people — they always claim I'm the biggest liar in the world — but I'm not about that — the greatest people."

"I want to stay out here — I've given it all away — it'll go to others when I'm not here." Will G. Harris, the sage and benefactor of Goathead Prairie and its environs.

Will G. Harris
"... we have everything out here."

Horns Sharpened To Gore Demons

By TOM PORTER
Staff Writer

Hasn't anyone told the Hereford Whitefaces that they haven't a chance against the powerful Dumas Demons at 7:30 p. m. Friday in Dumas? Don't they know that the Demons are the third best Class AAA team in Texas, win the District 1-AAA championship year after year and have played much tougher competition than the Whitefaces?

Shouldn't someone tell the Whitefaces that the Demons are worried mainly about who they will play for bi-district, and how the district patches will look on their football jackets?

On second thought, maybe the Whitefaces do have a chance. Haven't they got a rockhard defense which has allowed only 14 points against their four other district opponents' and 65 points against nine foes? Hasn't their powerful, runners ground out more than 2,100 yards pushing while scoring 196 points?

The Whitefaces and their coaches aren't the only ones who think they have a chance, however. Hereford High School students, the Booster Club and city residents have thrown themselves squarely behind the Herd in an effort to bring home a district championship.

In fact, city residents got their orders Wednesday morning in the form of a proclamation from Mayor Ray Cowsett. It reads:

WHEREAS the Hereford Whitefaces are now tied with the Dumas Demons as champions of District 1-AAA and

WHEREAS this championship will be decided at Dumas, Friday night, November 18, 1966; NOW THEREFORE, Friday, November 18, 1966, is hereby proclaimed as Bear Dumas Day, and all citizens are hereby directed to support the Hereford Whitefaces and to invade the City of Dumas and win this championship.

DONE AND APPROVED at the City Hall, in the City of Hereford, Texas, this 16th day of November, 1966.

B. F. Cain, president of the Hereford Whiteface Booster Club, said Wednesday that plans call for two chartered buses, a car caravan and the high school buses to carry rooters to the game Friday. A massive pep rally is planned for 2 p. m. Friday.

Two Greyhound buses have been chartered, said Cain, and will leave from east of the high school at 5 p. m. Friday. Tickets for the bus trip are $5.50 and include a chicken dinner. The meal is being sponsored by the Hereford State Bank, Piggly Wiggly, Coopers Market, Taylor and Sons, Borden's Company, Coca Cola Bottling Co., Morton's Potato Chip Co., and the Hereford Bakery.

The meal will be served about halfway to Dumas Friday. Each bus seats 36 persons and only about 18 seats remained by Wednesday night.

The car caravan, said Cain, is scheduled to gather at Sugarland Mall at 5 p. m. Friday and leave for Dumas at 5:30 p. m. Highway patrolmen and police all the way to Dumas have been alerted and have advised they will see that the caravan gets clear sailing all the way.

Hereford High School officials said Wednesday that plans call for the Whiteface band to be transported in the school's three activity buses and the football team to go in a chartered bus. School buses also will be furnished if students sign up to ride them.

Coach Jack Meredith kept his team to the fundamentals of football this week: in an effort to iron out mistakes and sharpen their offense and defense. In a skull session at the field house Tuesday, Meredith said, "I'm asking you to dedicate yourself

Friday night to go all out 48 minutes. You're going to have to hit with all you've got because that's the only way we can do it."

The Hereford "B" team became Dumas this week, wearing uniforms similar to those of the Demons — complete with the right numbers. The "B" team players even have been calling themselves by names of Dumas players.

The 1966-67 basketball season begins for Hereford High School Saturday night when the Whitefaces tangle with Pampa High School in the new gymnasium at La Plata Junior High School.

Play begins at 6:15 p. m. when the "B" teams from the two schools collide. The varsity game begins at 8 p. m.

Four Directors Named To Serve On CofC Board

Elected through mail ballot to fill the vacancies left by retiring directors for the Chamber of Commerce are four Hereford residents. These men will replace Labry Ballard, Raymond White, Russell Carver and Hilrey Aven when their terms end on January 31, 1967. New directors who will serve a three-year term from February 1, 1967 until January 31, 1970 are Jerry Detwiler, Ernest Langley, Ed Line and Dale Young.

Detwiler has lived in Hereford 4 1/2 years, coming here from Dalhart. He served on several committees of the Dalhart Chamber of Commerce as well as the board of directors for that chamber. He says, "I feel honored that I've been asked to run and been appointed and hope that I do them a good job."

He and his wife Beth live at 115 Eth with their two children, Judy, 8, a second grader at Northwest Elementary School and Vickie, 6. He is a vice president of the First National Bank of Hereford.

Langley, who has been with the Witherspoon-Allyn-Thomas and Langley law firm since 1962, has served on numerous Chamber of Commerce committees and is presently chairman of the education committee. He has also served on the board of directors of United Fund, King's Manor, Hereford Country Club and Hereford Area Foundation (of which he is presently president). He is a former Jaycee and is a member of the local Lions Club. He is past president of the Lions.

Living at 502 Star, Langley and his wife, Helen have four children. They are Suzanne, 22 and a teacher of German at Texas Technological College; Barbara, 19 and a sophomore at Tech; Camille, 14 and a freshman at Hereford High School and Carolyn, 11 and a 6th grader at Aikman Elementary School. Langley says he's "glad to have the honor of being elected and will try to do my best."

Line has served on the industrial committee and human relations committee for the Chamber of Commerce, served as president of the 69th Judicial Bar Association and president of the United Fund. He is also a Lions Club member. Having served 12 years as county attorney in Deaf Smith County, he is presently practicing law with Cowsett and Bybee. He says, "I'm pleased to have been elected to the board of directors and I think there's much to be done by all our people in Hereford and Deaf Smith County."

Young, who is district manager of Pioneer Natural Gas Company in Hereford has worked with several Chamber of Commerce committees including the publication committee. He is currently vice president of United Fund, member of the local Kiwanis Club and a director. Young is also a past president of the toastmasters club and contributes cartoons for the Brand's editorial page. He says, "I appreciate everyone's confidence in me and accept it as a challenge to work for the betterment of the community."

He and his wife, Charis and their three children, Kevin, Layne and Kim have lived in Hereford ten years. They reside at 509 E. 5th. Kevin attends 8th grade at Stanton, Layne is in the 5th at Shirley Elementary and Kim is a 3rd grader at Shirley.

These new directors will be installed Thursday, Jan. 5, 1967, at the Chamber reported.

Commissioners Change Precinct Percentages

Precinct percentages of the license tag revenue were changed as County Commissioners agreed Monday that demands in the various precincts vary. To avoid transferring of funds during the year, the four commissioners felt that a more equitable percentage disbursement of the $137,000 needed to be made.

Percentage changes have been made approximately every two years, adjusting for work that needed done in various precincts. Presently the percentages have been 22 percent, precinct 1; 28 percent, precinct 2; 22 percent, precinct 3; and 28 percent, precinct 4.

Changed to 24 percent for precinct one, 30 percent for precincts two and four and 16 percent for precinct three.

Balance of the four precincts were considered by the court as the problem was being discussed. Considered by the group is the heavy traffic and upkeep of roads near the city limits, contained in precincts one and two. The mileage in precinct four accounts for the heavier needs in that district the commissioners said.

Also discussed at the meeting was the purchase of a new patrol car for the Sheriff, Ed Robinson. After opening bids submitted by four Hereford agencies, Robinson was given his choice since bids were so close. His final decision was a Chevrolet four-door, low bidder being Orsborn Chevrolet, for $2063.

Downtown Variety Park merchants asked permission to place the Santa Claus house on the Courthouse square. Commissioners agreed that it could face the sidewalk on the southwest corner of the lawn, be raised with planks to protect the grass and that no harm would be done the grounds.

Marshall Wilson made the request on behalf of the merchants.

The commissioners reviewed the question of a weed control district as proposed by the agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce and passed a resolution against such a district.

They explained that the county as a governmental agency is already engaged in a birdweed eradication spraying program.

Deputies authorized by the court are Travis McPherson, Tommy Simon, Orville Cumiford, Pete Cole, Clay Angelo, Wallace Cox, Domingo Pesina and Florence Robinson.

In other action, the Court also agreed to request that notification be given by the telephone electric, gas and city when county rights of way are involved in construction or repair work. The commissioners said that such notification would help keep the county roads in better repair and extent of right of way could be determined and prevent misplacement of utility poles as has happened in the past.

Paul Houston presented a floor plan and a list of proposed equipment for the Bull Barn kitchen. The total cost is just over $3,000 and the kitchen is designed to be adequate for groups

Initial Payments Made By Holly

Initial payments for this year's beet crop were mailed to area farmers Tuesday, the Colorado Springs office of Holly Sugar Corporation has announced.

The first payments totaled $1,273,000 for beets delivered to the Hereford plant, Francis Kafka of the office said.

Payments for beets delivered during November will be made on December 15.

Holly's total payments on the 1966 crop of sugar beets to growers served by the corporation this fall totaled $19,459,000. These growers are from a nine states served by Holly. Under terms of a contract used by Holly and other companies in the beet sugar industry, sugar beet growers receive an initial payment soon after delivery of their crops to the processor. Additional payments are made at later dates with a final settlement when average returns from sugar sales are determined at the close of the marketing year.

A hearing was being held this week in Omaha, Nebraska on fair and reasonable prices for 1967 beets.

G. W. Yeager and Dennis O'Rourke of Holly are attending the meeting.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is hearing growers and sugar beet processors views. The 1967 crop purchase contract would retain the major features of the current contract but would also provide a minimum basis for determining returns for sugarbeets. Grower representatives for most of the producing areas have asked for various contract changes and the Department of Agriculture was asked to hold an early hearing on the subject.

Payments under the Sugar Act to producers who process sugar beets grown by other producers are conditioned on their payment of prices for sugar beets which are determined to be fair and reasonable by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Holly officials said that they would wait to comment until after the hearings Tuesday.

Football Winners

Melvin J. Layman of 302 N. 25 Mile Ave. tied with two other persons for first place and then settled the issue by doing best on the tie breakers to win last week's Hereford Brand Football Contest.

Because of the number of important games remaining this season, two more contests will be held in the weekly competition. Included will be games of Friday, Saturday and Sunday and games of Nov. 25-26-27. Contest rules and an entry blank are included in this issue of the Brand.

Finishing behind Layman were Wendell Burdine of 109 Ave. K, second, and Dorothy Phillips of 106 Ave. I. All three guessed right on 17 of 18 games. Russell Phillips of 108 Ave. I took fourth place; Greg Herring of Route 4 won fifth place, and Joe Mack Hale of 315 Ave. K won sixth place. The three guessed right on 16 of 18 games.

Legion Officers Get Typical Homecoming

Hereford and Dimmitt posts of the American Legion are hosting the state "homecoming party" for state commander and president, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Flynt.

Mr. and Mrs. Flynt are Dimmitt residents being honored Saturday night by the banquet at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Country Club Drive, Hereford.

A state affair, the homecoming celebration is standard procedure for the highest officials in state legion organization being held a few months after the officers are installed.

Attending the banquet will be representatives of posts in this congressional district as well as dignitaries from over the state.

The western style barbecue will feature meat prepared by Jerry Albracht and will be served at 7 p. m. Registration begins at 6:30, according to Grant Hanna who is in charge of arrangements.

Hanna will be master of ceremonies and Joe Matthews, past See LEGION Page 2

Walcott Plans Friday Supper

A Thanksgiving Supper sponsored by the Walcott PTO is planned for Friday night in the school gymnasium. The supper which features turkey "with all the trimmings" will be served at 7:30 p. m.

Admittance price is $1 for adult and high school students and $5.00 for grade school children.

A calf that is being given away by the Walcott basketball team will be presented at the supper.

Judge Schultz Is On Legal Board

Judge Harry Schultz, 66th Judicial District, will attend two meetings on November 19, 1966, in Dallas to work on a Twentieth Century Family Law Code.

As a member of the Board of Directors of the Family Law Section of the Texas State Bar he will attend a meeting of the Directors.

As Chairman of a Committee of this Section he will attend a meeting of his Committee to work on revising and codifying our statutes on Marriage and Divorce.

The Texas Legislature is in the process of step by step systematizing and gathering together in one volume our statutes on each major subject. This has already been done with several subjects, such as, the Probate Code, the Code of Criminal Procedure, and others.

The work of gathering these laws together and putting them into code form is delegated by the Legislature to the Texas Legislative Council.

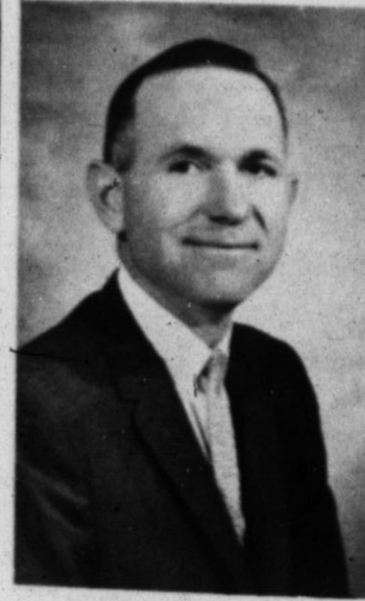

The Texas Legislative Council has asked the Texas Bar Association for help in putting together a Modern family Law Code.

A year ago five committees were appointed by the Family Law Section of the State Bar to assist the Legislative Council in this work, and Judge Schultz was appointed Chairman of the Committee on Marriage and Divorce.

At Dallas Judge Schultz will also confer with Father Robert Drinnan who is Dean of the University of Boston Law School.

Chairman of the Family Law Section of the American Bar Association, and is presently visiting Professor at the University of Texas Law School, and also with Professors of Texas Law Schools.

The Texas Law Schools will assist with research work toward putting together a Modern Family Law Code, and Southern Methodist University has accepted the responsibility of coordinating the research work of the Law Schools.

Chamber Reviews Committee Action

Further discussion of the proposal to create a weed control district in this county was held by the board of directors of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce in their monthly meeting Wednesday morning, after the county commissioners court action in unanimously opposing it earlier this week. Action was tabled until further investigation.

A report of the chamber's agriculture committee requested that a representative of the commissioners court and a representative of the committee appear before the board to discuss the pro and con of the question.

The board deferred action on this recommendation pending receipt of further information and statement of views.

Directors met in the Chamber of Commerce office, approved the election committee's report on the choice of four new directors, heard other committee reports and dropped from membership 23 firms and individuals who have failed to pay subscriptions.

Neil Cooper reported a study of the chamber lease on office quarters and a possible relocation, made by a committee which he heads, with Oliver Streu and Wayne Phillips as other members.

The report said suitable lease provisions, possible remodeling and replacement of some furniture and equipment are being considered if the chamber is to remain in its present location.

A proposal of the livestock committee for refurbishing "Hereford Capital" signs on highways leading into the city, was referred to the publications committee, which was asked to obtain information on costs.

Repainting of three signs now in usable condition, adding the name of Deaf Smith County to the signs, and relocating the sign on Harrison Highway to a spot on East Highway 60, are the improvements proposed.

Another proposal of that committee, for compiling of a county livestock directory, was heard Chamber Manager Bill Thompson was instructed to gather information on production costs and distribution means, to report to the next board meeting.

Thompson briefly reviewed plans for an industrial development clinic to be held in Hereford Jan. 20.

Board members present were Raymond White, president, Hilary Aven, Wayne Thomas, Dub Hair, Melvin Young, Johnny Pool, Frank Ford Jr., Morris Easley and Cooper.

Marine Program Helps Recruits

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — The Marine Corps has successfully developed a program here to eliminate recruit "dropouts," help a young man to become a better citizen, and at the same time, provide more trained man-power for its combat units in Viet Nam.

The substance of the program is best expressed in a slogan at the San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot: "THE MORE YOU SWEAT IN PEACE, THE LESS YOU BLEED IN WAR."

The idea behind the program is to take physically sub-standard rebellions, and disinterested recruits and turn them into tough, effective U. S. Fighting men.

Only a small percentage of program have been lost, said Captain William B. Gray, director of the special training branch that supervises the project. The basic method is simple, Gray said. "We keep them working," he explained. Gray makes the program sound more simple than it actually is; nevertheless, the project has brought significant results.

In the past year, 90 per cent — 2,700 out of 3,000 — of the potential recruit "dropouts" given special training in the program have been salvaged and gone on to become regular Marines. There are about 300 Leathbacks in the program at any given time. "The program is designed to hold the number of rejects down to a minimum and is aimed toward young men with problems ranging from overweight to emotional disturbances," said a Marine Corps spokesman.

"Even the 10 per cent we can't salvage leave the program better citizens because of what they have learned," the spokesman added.

IT HAS BEEN suggested by military officers here that the program could be a model for similar projects throughout the armed forces. The Department of Defense reportedly is seeking improved methods of training men who otherwise would be unsuitable for military service. The special training branch under Gray, is divided into five platoons. A Marine Corps spokesman said the most important of the five was the platoon charged with physical conditioning of the recruits.

"This platoon takes men, who are too weak or overweight to keep up with a regular recruit platoon, and puts them in physical shape so they can be returned later to regular Marine Training," the spokesman added. Slightly more than 6 per cent of the recruits spend at least a few days in this platoon, and about 98 per cent are returned to regular training. A second platoon handles men who are rebellious or under Marine Corps disciplinary action.

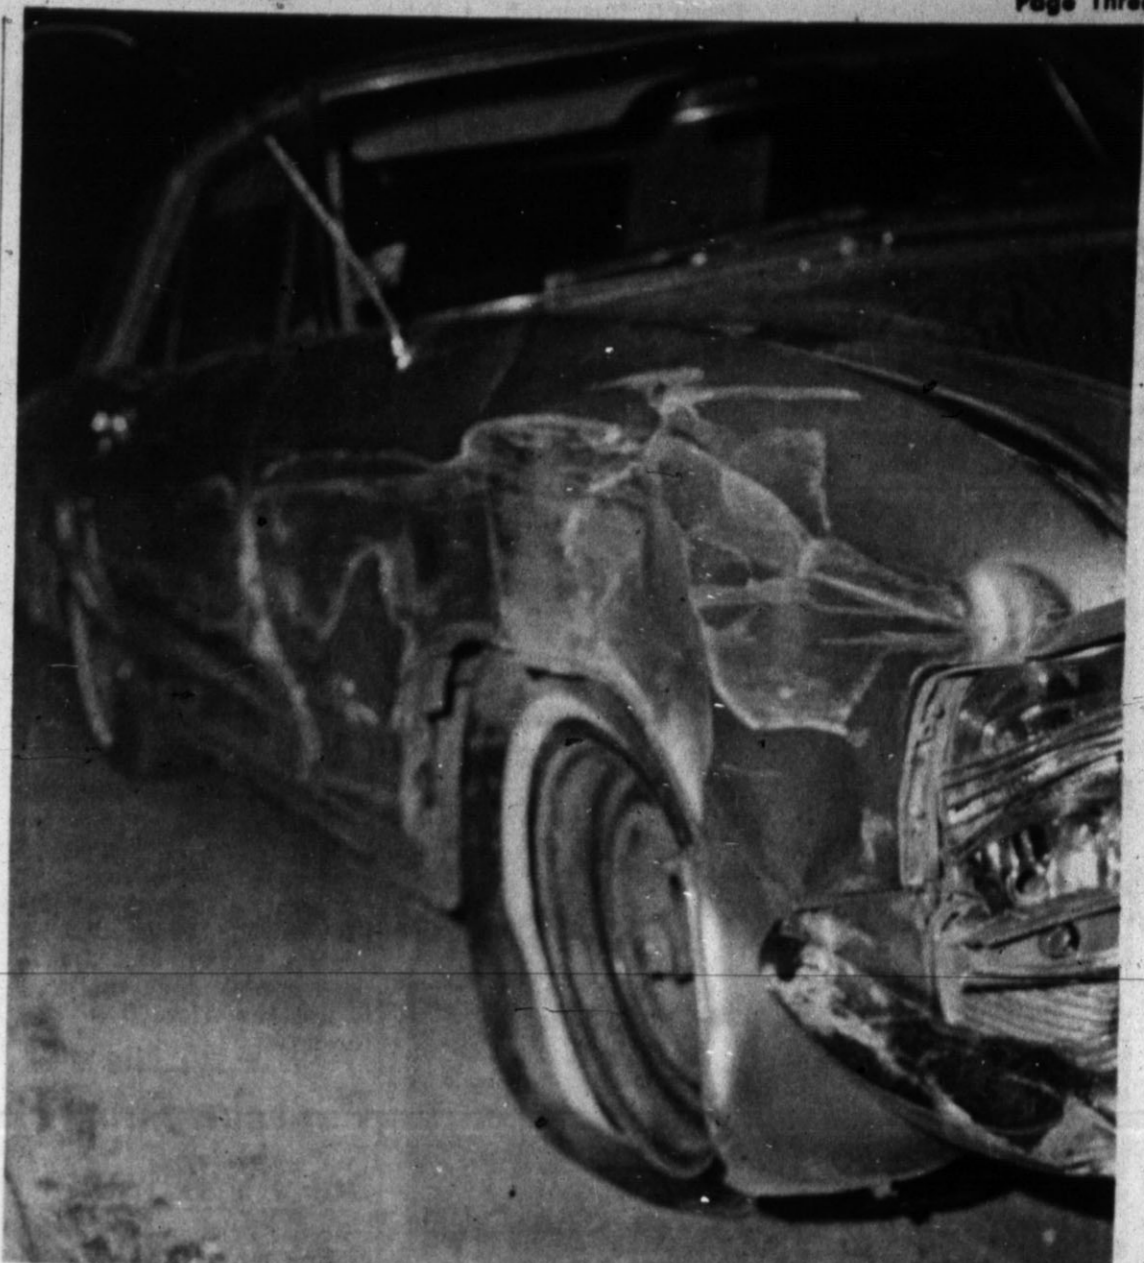

"These are the young men who violate an article of the Uniform Code of Military Justice and are sent to us instead of the brig," Gray said. When they see the light, we send them back to regular training.

The Marine Corps has its own special way of handling troublemakers. "We just make sure we have an extra big drill instructor," Gray said. Such a man is Staff Sgt. James Hill, a tough, veteran Marine who tips the scales at 240 pounds and towers 6-feet-4.

"When a recruit comes at you with a 16-pound sledge hammer you've got to be able to take care of yourself," Gray said. "Sgt. Hill is pretty good at subduing rebellious privates." The third platoon in the program is for recruits, who, in Gray's words, "need a little help growing up." This is the motivation platoon and, said Gray, "our physician helps them identify their problems, and then works with them individually. We also give them a taste of advanced training to help them realize what it will be like if they can get over this hurdle," Gray added.

The fourth platoon is composed of men who have been injured in regular training, but are still physically capable to limited training. When they recover they are returned to a regular recruit company. The fifth platoon is the evaluation platoon and is composed of recruits on the brink of Marine Corps rejection and regarded as beyond help. These are the men who comprise the 10 per cent who cannot measure up to Marine Corps standards even after help from the special training branch.

Small Towns Are WTCC Project

"Solution of small town problems" is the assignment for a blue ribbon panel of West Texans.

C. L. Cooke, Fort Worth, chairman of the Small Town Task Force of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, announced the members of the panel today. He also outlined some of the purposes and plans of the group.

Panelists with their home town and the particular classification which they represent are:

Jack M. Allen, Perryton, legal profession

Claude W. Brown, McCombs, Texas Industrial Commission

Bill Clayton, Springlake, state government

Bill Collins, Lubbock, metropolitan

E. H. Danner, San Angelo, metropolitan

H. C. Green, Water Valley, county government

Lonnie Hayter, Kermit, college student at Baylor University

Mrs. Fred McCleskey, Stephenville, West Texas women

Dr. Norman McNeil, Alpine, education

Royce Lee, Bronte, city government

W. G. Marquardt, Fort Worth, metropolitan

Luther May, Olney, banking

Wendell Mayes, Jr., Midland, metropolitan

Bob Miller, Hamilton, publishing

Dick Morrow, Fort Stockton, tourism

James Murphy, Abilene, cultural affairs

Lee Newman, Breckenridge, newly located industry

W. E. Notestine, Amarillo, metropolitan

Roger Pettit, Crane, high school student

James Powell, Eldorado, ranching

W. B. Tilson, Plainview, farming

Those with the "metropolitan" classification will concentrate their efforts on plans concerning assistance to small towns by the larger cities.

Small towns in this study are defined as those with population of 12,000 and under.

The purposes of the group, according to Cooke, include aid to small towns in developing and exploiting all their present resources. This includes industrial potentials, tourist attractions and recreational, educational and cultural facilities.

Mackie Services Will Be Friday

Funeral services for E. C. (Ed) Mackie will be held at 2:00 Friday afternoon at the First Baptist Church of Pampa. Services will be conducted by the pastor and burial will be in the Pampa cemetery.

A former resident of Hereford, Mr. Mackie has a sister and brother-in-law living in Hereford. They are Mrs. R. E. Lee and R. A. Wells.

He died early Wednesday morning in Highland General Hospital at Pampa.

Time Important Medicare Factor

Some Panhandle residents are not enrolling for medicare as soon as they should, according to Travis C. Briggs, manager of the Amarillo social security office.

A representative of the Amarillo social security office will be in Hereford at the courthouse at 9:00 on each Tuesday throughout the year.

The best time to enroll is the two or three months before reaching 65. If a person enrolls for the voluntary doctor bill part of medicare before the month age 65 is reached, protection begins with the month he is 65. If enrollment is not made within the three months after age 65, you must wait until the next which is the last three months of 1967.

Hospital insurance, the other part of medicare, begins the month you reach age 65. You must apply for coverage no later than 12 months following that month for full protection.

Almost all citizens 65 or older are entitled to the hospital part of medicare without any social security work credits if they reach age 65 before 1968. Beginning in 1968 you must have a specified amount of work under social security or be eligible for social security payments as a wife, widow or other dependent. Railroad workers and their dependents are covered by the law.

ONE MINUTE PLEASE

THE CHURCH I LOVE REJOICES THAT CHRIST IS PROCLAIMED

"Some indeed preach Christ from envy and rivalry, but others from good will. The latter do it out of love, knowing that I am put here for the defense of the gospel; the former proclaim Christ out of partisanship, not sincerely but thinking to afflict me in my imprisonment. What then? Only that in every way, whether in pretense or in truth, Christ is proclaimed; and in that I (and all disciples) rejoice." (Philippians 1:15-18)

It is evident that all who preach Christ do not preach from pure and sincere motives. "For such persons do not serve our Lord Christ, but their own appetites, and by fair and flattering words they deceive the hearts of the simple-minded." (Romans 16:18)

Paul, in writing "to all the saints who are at Philippi, with the bishops and deacons;" did not approve of the spirit of envy and rivalry which characterized some of the preachers. In fact, he admonishes us, "But immorality and all impurity or covetousness must not even be named among you, as is fitting among saints. (Ephesians 5:3)

Some will even "proclaim Christ out of partisanship"; that is, their primary object is to exalt their sect or denomination rather than the Christ who is over all. Factions and divisions are no part of Christ and Christianity. Our Lord prayed to the Father, "I do not pray for these only, but also for those who are to believe in me through their word, that they may all be one; even as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that also may be in us, so that the world may believe that thou hast sent me." (John 17:20, 21)

Christ came to break down the "dividing wall of hostility" that men build religiously and socially. Ephesians 2:14-18. But, men, in opposition to Christ whom they preach, continue to proclaim Christ in such a way as to create sects, divisions, parties and denominations. Still the Apostle Paul pleads, "I appeal to you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that all of you agree and that there be no dissensions among you, but that you be united in the same mind and the same judgement." (1 Corinthians 1:10)

We prefer that Christ be preached among the people in all purity, sincerity and truth; nevertheless, let Christ be preached, and we shall rejoice.

Jaycees Ask For Area Survey

Members of the Committee on Americanism and Governmental Affairs and Community Development for the Hereford Jaycees voted Tuesday to recommend to their board of directors that a Community Survey be made as soon as possible.

In the survey, explained Jerry Fowler, committee chairman, attitudes of people in the community would be sampled to see what they would like to see undertaken to improve the community.

The committee also will recommend that the Jaycees begin a "sound citizen" program in which members attend city and county meetings, then report back to the club.

In final action, the committee voted to recommend that the Jaycees take a stand on local issues in the future. The motion explained that two-thirds of the membership would have to vote on an issue, and two-thirds of the votes cast would have to be for or against the issue before a stand would be taken.

Before any voting is done, both sides of the issue will be presented in detail to the club, and the members will receive five days written notice before the balloting.

Fowler stressed that the committee's proposals were recommended action only and will be presented to the board of directors for consideration in the club's activities.

The Board meets the second and fourth Wednesday's of each month.

Have you ever tried using a swivel-blade vegetable peeler when you want to remove the outer covering from green peppers?

Using grenadine syrup as a glaze for baked ham adds a rosy glow. Angostura bitters, used the same way, also adds ruddy color.

DUAL DAMAGE — This 1958 Oldsmobile driven by Donnie Lynn King, 18, and the 1959 Mack owned by Burke Inman collided Monday night on Progressive Road. The cattle truck driven by Forrest Alonzo Pluifer, 55, incurred $700 damage to the King vehicle received -600 damage. The two teen-aged boys riding with King were bruised and King lost some teeth and was hospitalized temporarily, but no one was seriously injured. (Hereford Brand Photos)

On Defense

Two Vets And Two Sophs Build UT

AUSTIN — Two sophomore ends and two veteran linebackers are giving the Texas Longhorns some outstanding defensive play this season.

The lockies at the defensive end slots are Corby Robertson of Houston, who has been a starter since the second game of the year, and Mike Perrin of Cameron, who got his chance when Capt. Barney Giles hurt a knee in the SMU game.

The vet-linebackers, continuing a Leagum tradition of having fine players at this position during the 35 years Darrell Royal has been at Texas, are Fred Edwards, senior from Donna, and Jack Brame, junior from Sherman.

It just so happens that Mike Campbell handles both of these two players for Royal and has led the best decade and a half at these slots.

Campbell, former Ole Miss player, had a record in Mississippi State, went there with Royal at West Point and then came to the 49 Acres as defensive end and the backer for 10 years.

"I just don't know how I did it," Campbell says of his ace linebackers who are two of the best in the conference.

"They are tough as a boot, have good range, give you a good effort and have good striking power," Campbell adds. "There's nothing else you need in a line backer."

Edwards was more famous as Texas' "other linebacker," while Tommy Nebis rode the Longhorn range until departing after last season. He also was a mainstay on the team that upset Alabama in the 1965 Orange Bowl.

Brame saw some action both ways last year playing behind Nebis and this year came into his own as a regular with Edwards. Brame calls the defensive signals and has intercepted three passes this season, including two steals in last week's 13-3 victory over TCU.

"I must have the worst hands in the world," Brame said of his first steal which led to the Longhorn touchdown. "It hit me first in the chest, then in the hands, then in my arms," he added.

Robertson, former Lamar high school all-America, has been holding down the defensive right end slot for Texas since after the opening game with USC. "Corby's got some good things going for him even though he lacks speed and is kind of awkward out there," Campbell says.

"Chiefly he's smart, stays on his feet, is a good tackler and is real consistent."

About both of his defensive ends, Campbell adds:

"Corby and Perrin both are blessed with character, and that's one of the most important assets a player can have."

About all four of his ends and linebackers, Campbell says:

"They're winners, that's another thing you need on a team."

BITBURG, Germany — Frank W. Durkee, son of Maurice H. Durkee of 1009 Adams St., SE, Albuquerque, N. M., has been promoted to the rank of colonel in the U. S. Air Force at Bitburg AB, Germany.

The colonel, a veteran of 26 years service, is assigned as executive officer of the 36th Tactical Fighter Wing.

The command pilot, who has more than 3,100 flying hours, flew 102 combat missions during the Korean War in F-89 Shooting Star fighters.

He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross with one oak leaf cluster and the Air Medal with six oak leaf clusters.

Colonel Durkee, who entered the Air Force in 1940 as an enlisted man, was commissioned through the aviation cadet program in July 1945.

He is a graduate of Lake Geneva (Wis.) High School and attended the University of Wisconsin.

His wife, Billie Louie, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Davis of 821 S. Texas Ave., Hereford, Tex.

Letters To The Editor

Letter to the Editor:

The Beautification Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce takes this opportunity to express its sincere thanks and appreciation to the citizens of this community for their diligent efforts and cooperation in the fall clean-up drive of the past week. With such whole-hearted support of so many individuals and most of the merchants and business people, and the really wonderful publicity of the Hereford BRAND and KPAN, we can consider the drive a real success. And we hope that those few who did not manage to get their homes, alleys or businesses cleaned up will make every effort to do so soon.

We wish to particularly commend City Manager Dudley Bayne and the members of the City Sanitation Department for their extra work throughout the week. Without their help we could have accomplished little. And our sincere appreciation goes to the County and its workers, the Campfire Girls, and to Mr. Charles Springer, Bill Gentry, Thomas Braddy, Olin Parris, Bob Gentry, and Bryan Adams who came out in the cold Saturday morning, furnished trucks and pick-ups, and were representing the Hereford Lions Club (I learned a long time ago that nothing can be accomplished in this community without the Lions Club — its members are always ready and willing to help.)

The extra heavy loads were not all picked up on Saturday, but will be taken care of during this week.

We are proud to live in a community where the people contribute so much to making it a clean and attractive place

CEREMONIAL GUESTS — Susie Hickman, Kim Kirkland and Prissy Crume greet A/1c Carol Luehmann, one of several WAF personnel who served as counselors for the Camp Fire Camp attended this summer by Hereford girls. The counselors, all stationed at Amarillo Air Force Base, were special guests Monday night when Hereford Camp Fire girls had a presentation ceremonial.

Presented to the local council were items made at summer camp that can be used by groups in future studies and ceremonials. WAF counselors present were Miss Luehmann, A/1c Linda Lineberger, A/1c Sally Shrou, S/1c Cindy Wright, A/2c Pat Gooley and A/2c Linda Carpender. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Dear Citizens of the Hereford Community:

The physicians of Deaf Smith County Hospital have been exceedingly pleased with the fresh blood transfusion system employed here. We appreciate its distinct advantages over blood that has been stored for some time and do not wish to change. We believe the present system is working well and we thank the many citizens of Hereford who have been so generous with their time and blood and making it work well. There are some inherent faults in the system and this is the purpose of this letter. The faults are not particularly a problem to the doctor or the hospital but are a problem to the good nature of some of our citizens and to the families of the patient who needs blood.

The two major faults are:
1. A certain few people in the community have been called on excessively to give blood because the list of donors at the hospital is not inclusive enough. These people have been kind and tolerant and have appeared at anytime of the day or night.
2. Locating donors of the proper type at times, has been a real chore for the family and involves a lot of calling; particularly in rare types of blood.

To correct this, it would be most helpful to have all of the prospective donors in the area typed so that a more complete list can be made and so that a few will not carry the burden for the whole community. To following:

1. Have every member of your organization typed. (Contact the hospital about arrangements to have this done)
2. Elect a Blood Chairman to have a list of all the members of your organization with their blood types.

We envision that it will work something like this: Suppose your member, Joe Brown, is in an automobile accident and needs four pints of blood. Mrs. Joe Brown can then call John Smith, your Blood Chairman, and let him know the type. He will look over the list and call the necessary members for donations. If there are not enough of that type in your organization, he can call the Blood Chairman of some other organization for help. There will also be a master list at the hospital so that if the Blood Chairman is out of contact for some reason or other another individual can do the calling.

This arrangement will help members of your organization and the families at a most difficult time and it will also allow more citizens of Hereford to participate in an important community service.

We will appreciate it if you will give this your earliest attention and contact the hospital for the necessary arrangements. Yours sincerely,
Clarence E. Hicks, M. D.
President, Deaf Smith County Hospital Medical Staff

Dear Sir:
We have a problem on the street we live on. The people across from us have five dogs, two big ones, two riddle size ones and one small one. These dogs are not licensed, penned or chained. They chase cars, kids, and especially bicycle riders. Recently these folks' kind-folks came to stay and they have four dogs, two big German shephard, one middle sized one and one small one making a total of nine dogs. These dogs have been brought to the attention of our law enforcement officers six times in the last two years, and yet there has been

News About Area Men On Duty

QUANTICO, VA. (FHTNC)
Nov. 7 — Marine Reserve Second Lieutenant Charles W. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Thomas of 1009 Union, Hereford, Tex., a graduate of West Texas State University, Canyon, Tex., was graduated from the Officer Basic Class at the Marine Corps Schools, here. Course provides students with intensive training in tactics, weapons, leadership, first aid, map reading, personnel administration and communications.

The Basic School is responsible for educating newly commissioned officers in the high standard of knowledge, esprit de corps and leadership traditional in the Marine Corps, with particular emphasis on the duties and responsibilities of the rifle platoon commander.

Following their graduation, the Marine lieutenants received orders assigning them to the Fleet Marine Force, flight training, or to duty at Marine Corps posts and stations throughout the world.

nothing done about them. Every day, school children walk down our street and are chased by these dogs. I have three little children and I'm afraid to let them out to play in the front yard. I have talked to several people and realize our street is not the only street with this problem and I think something needs to be done about situations like this.
Yours truly,
Mrs. Ansit Greenway

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

First, let me say "thank you, Tom Porter," for the fine coverage you have given the Hereford Whiteface Football Team the last few weeks. You, along with Tyler Vance, have shown a keen interest, and have helped the readers in this area become acquainted with one of the finest football teams produced in Hereford in a long time.

We have something going for us this year, and the people in Hereford should recognize that we have an 8-1 record, and have a good, clean shot at the District title at Dumas, Friday night.

The Boosters Club would like to take this opportunity to encourage everyone to take off and go to Dumas, and support our coaches and boys who have brought us this fine football season.

See you in Dumas, Friday night.
B. F. Cain, President
Hereford Whiteface Booster Club

Basketball Fans Get WT Preview

CANYON — West Texas State University basketball fans can get a preview of the 1966-67 prospects here Monday night when the varsity and freshman clash in the annual Hall of Fame game. Tip-off is slated for 8 p. m. here in Buffalo Field House. No admission will be charged, but voluntary contributions will be donated to the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Massachusetts.

Coach Jimmy Viramontes, West Texas State head basketball coach, regards this year's freshman team as potentially outstanding.

"I wouldn't trade this year's freshmen with any I've ever been associated with, either here or at the University of Texas," added Viramontes.

The Buff varsity and freshman teams began fall workouts Oct. 15. Fifteen players make up this year's varsity. Only five freshmen are on scholarship. The remainder of the 12-men squad is made up of tryouts from the student body.

Gail Simpson, who starred as the Buff's floor-general the past three years, will pilot the freshman cagers this year. Simpson is a graduate coaching assistant.

Commenting on the varsity's progress after three weeks of workouts, Viramontes says "I believe we will be improved in every department this season."

The addition of transfers Jim Nielson, David Nowlin, and Derith Welch give us more prospects who should help us.

Mickey Fitts, the Buffs leading scorer in 1966 may not play in the Hall of Fame game. Fitts is hobbled with a sprained ankle.

The Buffs open the 1966-67 season here Dec. 3 when they host the high-scoring Phillips 66ers of Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

Master Of Our Recipes No Sauce's Apprentice

By ALICE DENHOFF

AMONG the VIPs of a great hotel kitchen, the saucier—or, master saucemaker—is invested with great importance.

Flavor is the chief reason for a sauce. Its seasoning must be subtly good, lively, though not overpowering. The best cooks agree that spices and herbs should be used to aid and improve the natural flavors of foods and never to obscure them.

A Safe Start

When not following a specific recipe, it's safest to start with a quarter teaspoon of spice (half that amount of the red pepper spices) to a two-cup batch of sauce. This is a start; the rest is up to the individual taste.

If ground spices are used in a long-cooking sauce, they should be added near the end of cooking. If whole spices are used, they may be included at the start of cooking because the heat will draw out the flavor. When seasoning cold dishes, add the spice during preparation and let the dish stand as long as possible before serving.

CUCUMBER AND MARJORAM FISH SAUCE

- 1 cucumber, peeled and grated
- 1 tsp. cider vinegar
- 1/2 tsp. sugar
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 c. commercial sour cream
- 1/2 tsp. ground marjoram
- 1/2 tsp. black pepper

Mix together first 4 ingredients; refrigerate 1 hr. Drain, add sour cream, marjoram and black pepper. Serve cold on baked or poached fish.

MUSTARD EGG SAUCE

- 1 tsp. powdered mustard
- 1/2 tsp. warm water
- 2 hard-cooked eggs
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. each black pepper and onion salt
- 1/16 tsp. instant garlic powder
- 1/2 c. salad oil
- 2 tsp. vinegar

Combine mustard and warm water and let stand 10 min. to develop flavor.

Chop eggs finely, add mustard and blend with remaining ingredients.

Wonderful with cold meats, seafood or vegetables, recipe makes 1 cup.

QUICK TOMATO-HERB PASTE

- 1 can (8 oz.) Spanish type tomato sauce
- 1 c. butter or margarine
- 1 tsp. water
- 1/2 tsp. basil leaves
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1/16 tsp. garlic powder
- 1/2 tsp. black pepper
- Parmesan cheese, grated

Combine all ingredients, except cheese. Bring to boiling, reduce heat and simmer 1 min. Serve on spaghetti or fish. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan. Enough for 4 servings.

Eastern New Mexico University Choir

ENMU Program Presented Monday

PORTALES — The University Choir of Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, New Mexico, presented a public performance Monday night at Hereford High School.

The 50-voice choir, under the direction of Donald Bailey, instructor in music at Eastern, will appear in Hereford as part of its annual tour of schools throughout New Mexico and West Texas.

Some of the selections to be performed during the appearance in Hereford include "All Breathing Life" from "Sing Ye to the Lord" by Johann Sebastian Bach; "Let All the Nations" from "Vision of Peace" by Jean Berger; a group of three spirituals including "I Got a Key" by Shaw-Parker, "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child" by William V. Roland, and "Lord, I don't Feel No Ways Tired" by Hall Johnson.

Also included are "Oh, I can't Sit Down" from "Porgy and Bess" by Gershwin, Gerstwin, and Heyward, and a solo performance by Linda Johnson, Levelland, Texas. "Let Us Sing to the Lord" by J. Harold Moyer.

The entire performance includes 16 selections, all by well-known composers.

The University Choir, chosen by audition from the student body at Eastern, participates in concerts, oratorios, musical comedians, operas, and variety shows throughout the year.

College News About Students From This Area

One of thirty-five outstanding students who have been named to represent Emory University in Whos Who in American Colleges and Universities, a national organization encompassing 750 colleges and universities throughout the United States, is James Edward Useton of Hereford.

Members are recognized in a national bibliography and receive the traditional Who's Who keys.

The selection of students for this honor is based on leadership displayed on campus, academic excellence, service to the community and potential for future leadership and service.

The eighteen students elected to represent Emory College are Ralph Monroe Byers, Emory D. Cole, Jerry Kimbrough, Floyd Russell Reid French, James Holmes, Harvey L. Huntley Jr., Laura Coit Jones, Martha Sloan Laird, Anthony J. O'Donnell, Elaine Joan Preis, Charles Turner Price, Rudolph H. Rodriguez, Robert H. Rohrer, Martha Bettina Starr, William E. Walters, James Steven Winn, and Wayne Williamson Wood.

Representing the Law School are Coy H. Temples, Charles A. Evans, and F. Tredway Shurling.

Representing the School of Nursing is Jane Cobb Zorn.

Selected from the School of Theology are Theodore Wesley Jennings Jr., James Edward Useton, and Robert Gordon Garrigues.

Frank Greer Lake III and William Craig Robertson Jr. were nominated from the School of Medicine.

David C. Hill

LEVELLAND (Special) David C. Hill of Hereford came in third in calf roping at the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association meet at Panhandle A&M Rodeo in Guymon, Oklahoma recently. Hill is a sophomore student majoring in Agriculture at South Plains College, Levelland.

Colleges participating in the events were: Texas Tech, New Mexico State University; Sul Ross, Tarleton, Eastern New Mexico University, Panhandle State, and South Plains College. South Plains came in third in events, with Texas Tech copping top honors.

Hill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hill of Hereford. He is a graduate of Hereford High School.

Auto Thieves See Cars In Parts

DALLAS — An auto theft ring, whose leaders took the television commercial, "Think Small," too seriously, has been broken up by agents of the Southwestern Division, National Automobile Theft Bureau with the cooperation of Fort Worth, Texas, authorities who also watch television.

Taking to heart the advertisements extolling the virtues of the interchangeability of parts the thieves bought, for a few dollars, cars whose beetle-shaped bodies had been badly damaged. Then new cars of the same make were stolen and the bodies switched. The rebuilt cars were then sold to unsuspecting customers. The remaining parts from the stolen vehicles were then either sold singly, or used by the ring for replacement parts.

Many of the "left over" parts from the stolen vehicles found their way into the commercial used parts trade. The remaining damaged bodies would then be sold for junk.

Mr. C. C. Benson, manager, NATB office in Dallas, said the break in the case came as the result of a report to his office of the purchase of a badly damaged, late model which had been listed as fit only for scrap salvage.

Showing more courage than discretion, the thieves stole a car from a judge in Waco, Texas. The body of the car was identified and recovered recently when the judge and his son viewed it in Fort Worth. At the present time a total of nine of the small, compact cars stolen by the ring have been recovered. The value of the recovered cars has been estimated at $14,000.

Mr. Benson expects additional cars to be recovered as there are numerous reports of stolen vehicles of this particular make which are still "open" in the Fort Worth-Dallas area. The investigation of the ring's operations is continuing. Criminal charges have been filed against persons involved in the ring's operations in Tarrant and McLennan counties in Texas. A warrant has been issued for a suspect in the case still at large. The object lesson to be learned from this case, Mr. Benson points out is quite simple, "Lock Your Car."

Hunter Discipline Said Improved

AUSTIN — They, podner, how about taking a bow to kick off the big fall shoot!

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department field men agree that hunter discipline is not only improving but is becoming a big factor in long-range wildlife restoration and management plans.

Of course, they hasten to add, that such cooperation is absolutely indispensable in maintaining adequate wildlife numbers in the face of steadily increasing gun pressure and gradually decreasing habitat.

What they meant is that sportsmen are more than that in name; that they do adjust to new restrictions, or abide by new relaxations.

The Department reports several comparatively recent developments to test the overall disciplinary trend.

Some years back, skeptics were proved groundless in worrying about advancing the goose season opener over that of the depressed ducks. Then dove seasons before quail seasons became commonplace.

Next came the exotic game bird program, adopted as means of finding new upland game species for particular test areas, and dependent greatly on cooperation of hunters. These included varieties of pheasants in west Texas and the coastal plains.

During the last two years, an experimental early-season teal shoot has been held to determine feasibility of permitting harvesting some of the early migrating ducks before they continue into distant southern areas and depletion by nature causes.

There have been other examples of successful field operations, from the viewpoint of hunter cooperation.

Fisherieswise, there has been the extended walleye experiments in the Panhandle and Possum Kingdom in North Central Texas. And fishermen have generally helped the promising projects by quickly returning any walleyes caught. That's teamwork, smiles the grateful Department!

WORST TYPE OF HOUSES

NEW DELHI (AP) — Two earthquake experts have warned that most Indians live in the worst type of housing for this area, which is prone to quakes and tremors.

Jai Krishna Brijesh Chandra, of the Roorkee school of research and training in earthquake engineering, said 80 per cent of India's buildings are of mud and brick and have NO timber or steel structural support.

They cautioned against further such construction and said scientists were working on economical methods of strengthening the existing buildings.

Market Place Is Used For Charity

A new and unique marketing idea is being offered to residents of the South Plains area. The Market Place, as the location is named, at 515 East 34th Street, Lubbock, affords any club group, church group, fraternal organization, sororities, school affiliated associations, or individuals the opportunity of reserving floor space in the large, enclosed and heated building for the purpose of selling their wares to raise, or make money.

According to W. Kent, mgr., "The Market Place will have on every Saturday and Sunday, one large garage or rummage sale, all brought together under one roof." Many families have an accumulation of perfectly good things no longer used or needed in their homes, and would like to have the fun of turning these into cash.

agricultural produce from individuals, clubs or from markets with no winter quarters. Such products as potatoes, onions, nuts, eggs and Valley fruits.

"In the past two weeks of operation," Kent reports, "visitors have had the proverbial selection of 'soup to nuts' and even the often mentioned kitchen sink has shown up."

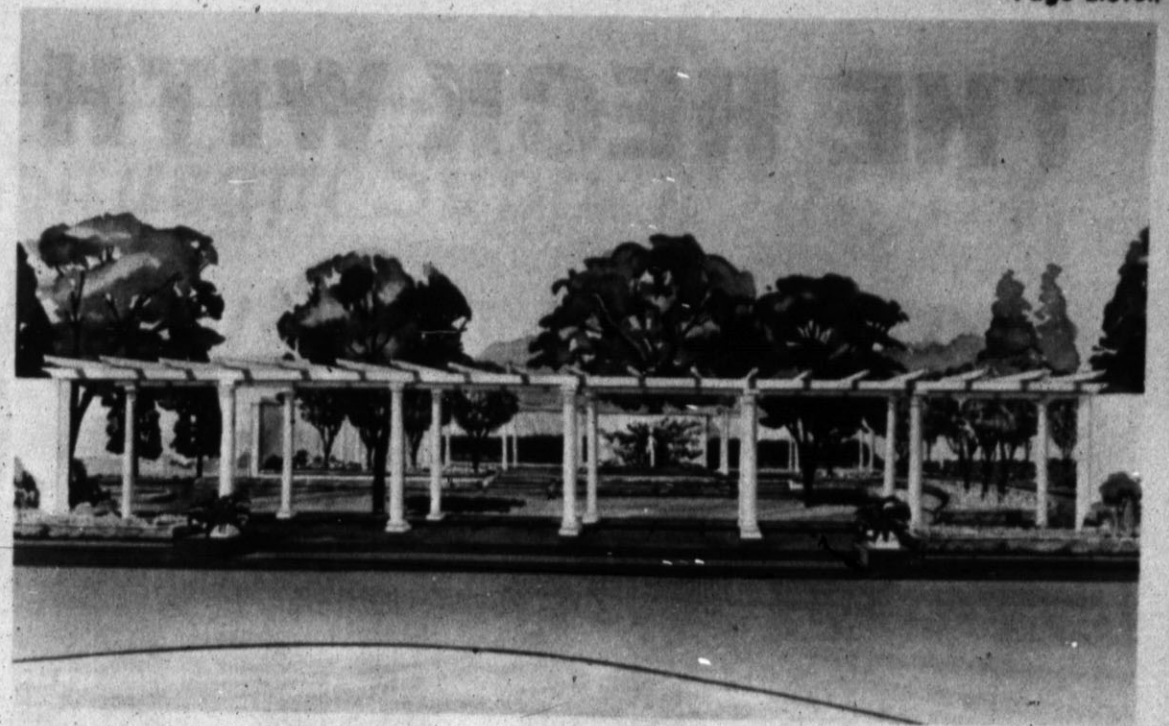

Admission is free and area residents and their families have had fun stopping by and find it much to their liking and well worth their time.

This is the first time this type of market has been made available in this area although the Houston and several California localities enjoy such a Market which is operated on a seven day basis.

Wool Research Is Authorized

The Secretary of Agriculture today signed a new agreement with the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., providing for increased deductions from wool incentive payments to be used in promoting wool and lamb. The signing followed final tabulation of the referendum vote in which producers approved a new agreement between the Secretary of Agriculture and the Council.

The final tabulation showed that producers owning 10,839,714 sheep (79.5 percent) favored the agreement and owners of were opposed. On the basis of individual producer voting, final results showed 60,205 producers (79.9 percent) voting for the agreement and 15,187 (20.1 percent) voting against it.

To become effective, the agreement had to be approved either by two-thirds of the producers voting or by producers of two-thirds of the volume of production represented in the referendum. The agreement announced today will continue the financing of the American Sheep Producers Council's advertising, promotional, and related market development activities on lamb and wool through deductions from wool payments for the marketing years 1966 through 1969.

Under terms of the agreement deductions will be made from payments beginning next April for marketing during 1966 at the rates of 1-1/2 cents a pound of shorn wool and 7-1/2 cents a hundred pounds of liveweight of unshorn lambs marketed, compared with deductions of 1 cent and 5 cents in the past. Thereafter, deductions from payments on marketings during 1967, 1968 and 1969 will be at such rates as the Secretary and Council may agree upon except that the deductions may not exceed the rates provided for in the 1966 marketing year.

Texas voted 4,345 for, 1,351 against, or 76.3% favoring the agreement.

THE LATEST ON THE EARHART MYSTERY

The latest and most logical theory on the Amelia Earhart mystery is to be found in Fred Goeber's book, The Search for Amelia Earhart. That she and her co-pilot, Fred Noonan, were buried in the Arlington Cemetery as unknown heroes is his final conclusion.

This idea is advanced after he had made a research for six years and made four trips to Saipan. It is a shocking and thought-provoking theory, but a most convincing one.

After many interviews conducted on the islands with people helping him, and many others obstructing evidence, he suggests that they crashed and were captured by the Japanese in their then-restricted islands. The crash was just four years before Pearl Harbor. It is believed that the fliers were executed by the Japanese or Saipan after being removed from the Marshalls where they seemed to have crashed.

Evidence indicates that Noonan was hurt and was later executed but that Amelia might have died of dysentery. Both were buried on Saipan and indications are that their bodies were later recovered during the war and sent to America. It is believed that they were on a spy mission for the United States a plan covered by the "around the world plane flight."

All material is classified as military information. And the author met rebuff from the army, navy and air departments; although at times he had encouragement from high military leaders to continue the search.

Ever since Earhart and Noonan were lost, the world has been hopeful of a breakthrough on what happened and a number of times the rumors flew that something had been found. Much of this was when radio, news, and TV caught on to some of the author's research results and broke the story before it was verified.

After reading the book of his findings and the many clues, there can be no doubt he is justified in this theory that they made the mission which might have been successful had they not crashed on the Japanese controlled and forbidden islands.

The fact that the United States expected a Japanese attack and war is exposed in the book, as other Americans had sought to find what the Japanese were up to in the area. Some of the evidence was twenty-four years old. And some of the undercover men also met death at the hands of the Japanese, as a result of their spying.

And the result is one of the most amazing and intriguing of books. The author seeks to unravel the mystery of a quarter of a century. His final plea is for the release of the classified information to the public in order to solve the mystery and to give credit and honor where it is due.

Livestock Survey Being Mailed

Rural mail carriers from the Hereford, Texas Post Office will leave some livestock survey cards along their routes beginning November 20.

"Information reported on these cards is used to set the yearly inventory of livestock and poultry on Texas farms," Postmaster Nolan Grady explained.

Rural carriers distribute the cards at random in boxes along their routes.

"This means that not every box will get a card," Grady said.

"For this reason, it's important for everyone who gets a card to return it filled out so that USDA can get a true sample of the State's livestock holdings."

Every military man or woman past and present as well as the civilian should read this book. He will not find it dull.

Fall Fertilizer Application Good

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University tests indicate applying fertilizer in the fall may be as good as waiting until spring.

In a recent test at A&M's Blackland Experiment Station, Temple, fertilizer was applied in October, November, December and January. Grain sorghum was planted in the spring. There was no yield difference attributed to month in which fertilizer was applied.

The moral, says Dr. C. D. Welch, Extension soil chemist at A&M, is in many cases on heavy soils, fertilizer can be put down in the fall, slack season — with no loss of yield.

"But fall application of fertilizer to sandy soils is not a good idea," says Welch. "In sandy soil, one inch of water penetrates about 1 foot, so 8-10 inches of water may move nitrates below the root zone."

Many Texas farmers fall plow their land. This makes fall fertilization a natural. As a rule the ground is not as wet in the fall and reduces chance of compaction. Also, fall is a slow time and applying fertilizer then means the farmer can get right to planting in the spring.

There are some disadvantages of fall fertilization, says Welch. If a farmer, for some reason, cannot plant the crop in the spring, nitrogen put down in the fall cannot be recovered.

If low spots in the field hold water for several days when the temperature is high, most of the nitrogen that has had time to convert to nitrate form will be lost to the air as a result of denitrification. Welch says farmers should consult local county agents to determine if fall fertilization is profitable in their area.

Research Order Comes To Ballot

Producers of upland cotton will vote Dec. 5-9 to determine whether a research and promotion order should be issued for upland cotton, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today.

Officials of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service said the referendum will be conducted by mail ballot through county ASCS offices in conjunction with the upland cotton marketing quota referendum, but in a separate ballot.

Approval by two-thirds of the producers voting, or by a majority of producers voting if that majority accounts for two-thirds of the cotton represented in the referendum, is necessary for the order to become effective.

Today's announcement follows USDA's final decisions of the provisions to be included in the proposed order and on the regulations to be used for the referendum.

The proposed cotton research and promotion program would be administered by a Cotton Board composed of members nominated by cotton producing organizations and selected by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The program would be financed through assessments of $1 per bale from upland cotton producers, to be collected by cotton handlers designated by the Cotton Board. Collections from any producer who did not wish to contribute would be refunded upon written application. Assessment would start at the beginning of the ginning season for the 1967 crop.

C&MS officials said producers are eligible to vote in the referendum if they were "engaged in the production" of the 1966 upland cotton crop during calendar year 1966. The term "engaged in the production" is defined to include planting an upland cotton crop even though the crop is not harvested if the failure to harvest is not caused by the neglect of the farmer.

Those sharing in an upland cotton crop or proceeds from it, on a farm as an owner, cash tenant, sharecropper, share tenant, or landlord of a share tenant (except for a landlord of a standing rent, cash rent, or fixed rent tenant), shall also be considered engaged in the production of that crop.

In addition, owners or operators of a farm for which an acreage allotment for an upland cotton crop was established according to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, but on which that crop was not produced, shall generally be considered to be engaged in the production of that crop in the year in which that crop, if produced, would have been harvested.

Rye Pasture Best For Winter Gains

STREETMAN — A Freestone County rancher, Clark Loper, made $44 a calf by wintering "tail end" calves on Elbon rye. Loper says it's always a problem to know what to do with lightweight calves in the fall. He says, "A rancher doesn't get his full profit if he sells calves too light. And in the fall, calves are usually 3 to 4 cents a pound cheaper than they will be in the spring."

Fairfield County Agent J. H. Pritchard says Loper wintered 40 lightweight calves on Elbon rye last year. The calves averaged 320 pounds each and were worth about $70 a head in the fall.

The calves were turned in to graze the Elbon rye in early December and left until April. They got just over a bale of hay each during the winter. Loper says the calves gained an average of 195 pounds each, or 1.43 pounds a day. He says this is about 10.5 cents per pound of gain.

After deducting the cost of planting, seeding and fertilizing rye, Loper figures he netted nearly $44 per calf.

County Agent Pritchard says Loper follows a four-step plan along the Build East Texas (BET) program guidelines.

First, plant early — in September if possible. Second, fertilize at planting time, then come back with top dress fertilizer during the winter. Third, begin grazing when the rye is 10-12 inches high. This allows it to establish a good root system. And fourth, stock it sensibly — Loper stocks at about a calf to one and one-fourth acres.

Car Ratio Higher In Deaf Smith Co.

NEW YORK — The family car has been having a greater effect than usual on the Deaf Smith County economy during the last few years.

Car registrations have increased in number as local residents, with more money available to them than in the past, have gone in for new models in a big way.

At the same time, more and more families, especially those that include teenagers have become two-car owners.

The net result is that there are more automobiles around than ever before. In the aggregate, they represent a considerable expenditure, from the standpoint of cost as well as maintenance.

The amount spent in local service stations alone in the past year, for gas, oil repairs and the like, came to no less than $2,829,000.

The figures on auto population and cost are from the Standard Rate and Data Service. Its survey gives comparable data for all sections of the United States.

It shows that there were 171 passenger cars in operation in Deaf Smith County for every 100 families at the beginning of this year, a higher ratio than in many areas of the country.

Factors that have contributed to the increase in the car population are the better roads that are now available, the greater dependence on the automobile more people are living in suburban areas, and today's bigger incomes, which have brought car ownership within the reach of most families.

In Deaf Smith County, the effect has been to raise the local car population in a period of three years from the 5,620 recorded in 1963 to the 7,330 reported at the beginning of 1966. See CAR, Page 2

Growth And Purposes Of Magazine Are Told By Irrigation Age Staff

Explaining the purposes and production of their magazine, "Irrigation Age" John Mette and Hoyt West spoke to the Hereford Rotary Club Monday at the club's noon luncheon.

Mette, the managing editor of the new monthly magazine, told the club of his staff's aspirations for the present and future. He expressed the belief that farms of the future will still be family farms, though large and corporate-type.

He spoke of an infra-red scanner to detect water from arid and semi-arid land areas on which research is now being done.

Mette stated that the magazine is attempting to keep readers posted on legislation for water, that its circulation is now over 30,000 and will be expanding into the 50,000 category by the first of the year. He also gave club members a preview of the articles they can expect to see in "Irrigation Age." The history of grain sorghum, production of pork and agri-finance system were among those listed.

He defined "Irrigation Age" as a "business-agri-business publication which serves the needs of irrigated farming."

Is This 'Down On The Farm?'

"Active" is the word used most in describing the Edward "Bud" Paetzold family of Austin Road, but to use the word in talking with the family is like making an accusation.

"You have to be pretty active on your own farm," says Bud Paetzold, head of the household. "I don't think we do anything out of the ordinary."

Yet, Mr. and Mrs. Paetzold and their three children have compiled a list of accomplishments and hobbies that have neighbors scratching their heads and asking, "Where do they find the time?"

Bud Paetzold farms about 300 acres of land just southeast of the city. The diversified crops include milo, wheat, potatoes and alfalfa. According to Paetzold, "if not for the boys, I just couldn't make it."

Larry Paetzold, 16, has made a name for himself at Hereford High School, where he is a junior. Larry has been in vocational agriculture for the past three years and his accomplishments have included a third place in the nation in an essay writing contest, a second place in individual exhibit at the area agriculture meet. He also is sentinel in the local agriculture chapter and was delegate to the National Future Farmers of America convention in Kansas City, Mo., last month.

Gerald Paetzold, 15, is a freshman at La Plata Jr. High and a member of the FFA there, and is described by his parents as a "good all-around kid. Very dependable." His father adds that "I keep him so busy on the tractor and things that I guess I haven't given him a chance."

Larry and Gerald don't spend all their time on chores around the farm, however, as they have a few other activities. At present, the brothers — and several friends — are fixing up a stock car. All the welding and other work on the 1967 Buick takes up a great deal of the spare time, but they also have time to hunt, ski, swim and ride a horse they bought.

Not letting her older brothers steal the limelight entirely, Patsy Paetzold, 13, is winning her own laurels when not studying at St. Anthony's School, where she is an eighth grader. Patsy won the Holly award at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo last year for oatmeal crisps cookies and last month won third in the contest for cookie-makers in the Holly Sugar Bake-Off.

Patsy also sews, swims, is a member of the Merry Maidens 4-H Club helps her mother with housework and "always has some rabbits or kittens around."

All three of the Paetzold teenagers are in the Youth Club at St. Anthony's. "None of them make a failing grade in school," say their parents. "For the amount of time they spend studying, we think they do real good."

Mrs. Paetzold describes herself as "a housewife and general flunky." Her husband adds that she also is the taxi driver. However, she has found time for other activities and has served three years as president of the Parish Council at the church, has been an adult leader at St. Joseph's Mission, and is a member of the Gewing Club and Order of Martha at the Church. In her "idle moments," Mrs. Paetzold does the housework and adds to the family wardrobe by sewing.

For someone who says he doesn't think he or his family has done anything out of the ordinary, Bud Paetzold has had a pretty active life. He came to the Hereford area in 1928 with his family, grew up on a farm and later entered the U. S. Air Force.

It was in the Air Force that he got his flying experience, being put in a training squadron. See PAETZOLD, Page 2

Annual Affair

Sausage Supper Outgrows Everything But Fervor

By TOM PORTER Staff Writer
UMBARGER — This city's one big event of the year has been labeled as a huge success again as nearly 3,000 persons lined up at St. Mary's Catholic Church Sunday to enjoy the 15th annual Umbarger Sausage Festival.

Working diligently throughout the five hours of serving, over 200 members of the church parish kept the two-block line moving through the eating hall at the rate of about 600 an hour.

White younger members of the church brotherhood waited on tables, keeping them cleaned off and replenishing dwindling supplies of bread and drinks, the older folks cooked and served the food and cleaned the dishes. Naturally, a few fretted throughout the afternoon that the food was going to run out.

The huge throngs of people, who represented practically every city in the Panhandle and many in far reaching sections of the state, consumed 1,700 pounds of the delicious linked sausage, 1,500 pounds of mashed potatoes and brown gravy, 24 cases of green beans — gallon can size — and 200 gallons of sauerkraut.

Co-chairmen Bernard Harteman and Leonard Batenhorst explained that before the festival began a picnic was held each year on Aug. 15. "Later we tried to wait until all the crops were in and hold one big fall festival," said Harteman.

Then someone hit upon the idea of the sausage festival. "In the beginning, it also was a parish project to pay off our debts," Harteman continued. "We did that and now have been building up a fund to replace the church. This is in the foreseeable future."

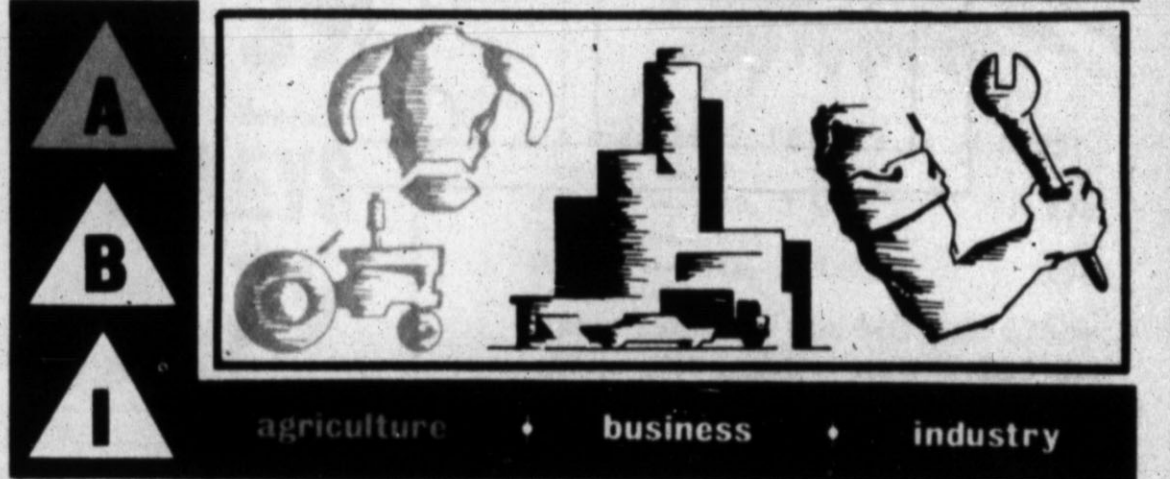

The two co-chairmen took time to give a little credit to others Sunday, explaining that hogs had been donated by several persons to make the sausage, the bread was homemade by the women in the Parish, and the sauerkraut was made from cabbage donated by H. H. Fry & Sons of the Easter community.

While the hungry crowd was being fed in the parish hall, which seats 312, more activity was being carried on in the basement. There, large crocks of sauerkraut were going through the final stages of preparation and the sausages were being cooked in rows of electric ovens.

Last year, said Harteman, 2,700 persons were served during the festival. This year, an even larger crowd turned out, and that doesn't include children under six who ate free. Several of the parish members were heard to remark Sunday that the festival has outgrown them — but none of them mentioned stopping it. They enjoy it too much.

After the eating was over, tables and chairs were removed from the parish hall and a dance was held from 9 p. m. until midnight.

SCS Trainees See Area Problems

Seven area men who have just begun work with the Soil Conservation Service have been receiving training in the field of agronomy this week in Hereford.

Wilton Green, Soil Conservation officer for Deaf Smith County, said the program is designed to better acquaint the new men with technical problems in their work and help find the solution to the problems.

Alan King, agronomist with the SCS in Amarillo, is in charge of the program, which began Monday and ends Friday. Half of the program is being spent on indoor study at the Hereford Chamber of Commerce office and the other half involves application of the knowledge on the H. V. McCabe farm in the Dawn community.

Men enrolled in the training program are from a 12-county area of the SCS. Green said the program is expected to increase the men's effectiveness in working with farmers and ranchers with soil and ranch conservation problems.

Green explained that the reason Hereford was chosen as site for the training program was the wide variety of agronomic practices used in the area.

Feedlot Cattle Summary

Cattle on feed in various states as of November 1 were as follows:

TEXAS: There were 608,000 head of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market in Texas on November 1, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. This is 23 percent above a year ago and 19 percent above a month ago. Feedlots of 1,000 or more capacity held 543,000 (89 percent) of the total being fattened for slaughter market. Of these 256 large feedlots, there were 192 that reported having cattle on feed November 1. This size group is up 22 percent from November 1965 and 19 percent from a month ago. Feedlots with less than 1,000 capacity held 65,000 head. This size group is up 30 percent from a year ago and up 25 percent from a month ago.

Placements into Texas feedlots during October totaled 295,000 head. These placements are up 50 percent from October 1965 and up 53 percent from September, 1966 placements. Marketings of fat cattle during October totaled 106,000 head. These marketings are 38 percent above October 1965 but 7 percent below September marketings.

ARIZONA: Three were 323,000 head of cattle and calves on feed November 1 in Arizona for slaughter market. This is 3 percent below a year ago but 19 percent above a month ago. Cattle and calves placed on feed during October at 94,000 head is 3 percent below last year but 81 percent above last month. Marketings of fed cattle during October totaled 42,000 head. These marketings are 22 percent below a year ago and 12 percent below a month ago.

CALIFORNIA: There were 1,088,000 head of cattle and calves on feed November 1 in California for slaughter market. This is 1 percent below last year and 1 percent below the previous month. Placements during October at 224,000 head are down 11 percent from last year but 6 percent above September placements. Marketings of fed cattle during October totaled 230,000 head, 3 percent above last year and 12 percent above September marketings.

COLORADO: On November 1, Colorado feeders had 551,000 head of cattle and calves on feed being fattened for slaughter market, 2 percent below a year ago but 16 percent above a month ago. There were 192,000 head placed on feed during October, which is 4 percent below a year ago but 44 percent above September placements. Marketings of fed cattle during October numbered 115,000 head. This is 19 percent above a year ago and 7 percent above a month ago.

NEBRASKA: There were 1,252,000 head of cattle and calves on feed in Nebraska for slaughter market on November 1. The number on feed is 14 percent above last year and 12 percent above last month. Placements into Nebraska feedlots during October totaled 349,000 head, 8 percent above last year but 16 percent below September placements. During October there were 215,000 head marketed, 11 percent above last year but 6 percent below the number marketed during September.

IOWA: On November 1, Iowa feeders had 1,320,000 head of See FEEDLOT, Page 2

BULL BARN KITCHEN LAYOUT
HEREFORD TEXAS

PROPOSED KITCHEN — County Commissioners tentatively approved this plan for a kitchen to serve community affairs in the Bull Barn. They are asking for assistance from the community in paying for the proposed facility. See the attached list for equipment pieces and prices.

Bull Barn Plans For Kitchen Are Shown By County

Equipment proposed for the kitchen in the Bull Barn is mostly of stainless steel and is designed to accommodate from 150 to 250-300 people. County Commissioners Monday asked Argen Draper, Home Demonstration Agent to contact various city and county clubs to see what part they could play in financing the equipment. The kitchen will be available for any group with use of the Bull Barn. Following is a list with costs of the equipment. The Commissioners ask that groups study the list and decide what piece of equipment they would like to pay for or contribute for, details being available from Mrs. Draper.

cattle and calves on feed for slaughter market. This is a 3 percent less than the 1,360,000 head reported for October 1. Placements in Iowa feedlots during October were 210,000 head, 21 percent down from the 266,000 head placed during September. Marketings from Iowa feedlots number 250,000 during October, 8 percent less than the 271,000 head marketed during September. Comparable data for one year ago is not available, because the monthly Cattle On Feed report was not initiated in Iowa until August 1, 1966.

TOTAL 6 STATES: Number of cattle and calves on feed November 1 in six states — Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Nebraska, and Iowa — totaled 5,142,000 head. This is a 7 percent increase over the 4,826,000 head on feed October 1. Placements for these six States for October were 1,274,000 head, which is 5 percent more than the 1,214,000 head placed the preceding month. Marketings for these six States were 959,000 head for October, which is 2 percent less than the 973,000 head marketed during September.

RHV Club Will Be Sponsors Of Camp Fire Unit

Sponsorship of a Camp Fire Girl group was voted by Rural Home Variety Club at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Dale Hallows. The club will assist the Shle-Tu-Ki-Ya Group, which has Mrs. Gerald Sledge and Mrs. Bill Miller as leaders. A Thanksgiving supper for members and their families was planned for Friday evening in Community Center, and a coffee Dec. 15 with Mmes. Bill Roberts and Boyd Foster as hostesses for a Christmas gift exchange. Mrs. Jack Williams was hostess with Mrs. Hallows. They served refreshments to a dozen members during the social period.

cubic foot, refrigeration reach-in 795.00, clean dish table 190.00, soiled dish table with drain trough 198.50, garbage disposal with soiled dish table 476.00, dishwasher (60 second cycles) 1495.00, hotwater booster 256.00, Duke hot tray enameled finish 99.50, silverware shelf 52.00, hot food unit 386.50, stainless tray-slide included, cold pan unit with slide 255.75, glass display shelves mounted on cold pan unit, 149.00, solid top unit with tray-slide 705.00.

The kitchen will be placed in the southwest corner of the Bull Barn, serving doors will be opened to the east side of that corner. See sketch above for arrangement details.

and staying there for most of his three-year hitch. He got out of the Air Force in 1946, having acquired a wife while serving Uncle Sam, and farmed about five miles southeast of Hereford until 1949, when the couple moved to the present home.

"It was a four-room, single frame house when we moved in," said Mrs. Paetzold, "and we built on three sides." Her husband laughed and added, "As the family grew, so grew the house."

For several years, Paetzold owned an airplane and flying was the hobby. He still owns the landing strip near the home but presently is leasing it to Clover Spraying Service.

Boating has taken over the family interest, however, and they have constructed one large boat and another with pontoons and foot pedals.

Paetzold, Larry and Gerald do all of their own carpentry work and welding, and bring in a few extra dollars by doing custom work every chance they get. "You've got to do something to live on 300 acres these days," said Paetzold. He also runs from 50 to 100 head of cattle every year.

The Paetzolds have been married 21 years. For a family that "doesn't do anything out of the ordinary," they certainly do it in an extra-ordinary way.

production' is also used in the marketing quota referendum regulation.

Each producer is entitled to only one "yes" or "no" vote in the referendum regulation.

Each producer is entitled to only one "yes" or "no" vote in the referendum.

C&MS officials explained, however, that if it is necessary to calculate the volume of production by voters to determine the outcome of the referendum, county ASCS offices will make this calculation on the basis of their records of 1966 planted acreage and projected lint yield per acre for each farm.

A farmer with additional production in county or state other than the county in which he is eligible to vote must establish that interest with his ASCS office prior to the beginning of the referendum in order for that production to be considered.

This order was proposed by the National Cotton Council. The legislation authorizing it was designed to enable cotton producers to engage in a comprehensive self-help program to strengthen cotton's competitive position and to maintain and expand domestic and foreign markets and uses for U. S. cotton.

USDA's final decision in favor of the order was based on the evidence developed at a 2-week public hearing in August and includes consideration of comments filed on the recommended decision published in the Oct. 5 Federal Register.

A summary of the proposed cotton research and promotion order to be voted upon will be

Guest Shows YHT Group Anti-Communist Film

A film titled Communist Blueprint for Conquest was shown for the Hereford Chapter, Young Homemakers of Texas, as the program at a meeting in the high school homemaking parlor with Mrs. Jerry Don Glover as hostess.

Dr. Holley Reed of Amarillo showed the film, one produced by the U. S. Department of Defense and used as a training film for military personnel early in the 1950's. It showed in animated cartoons and charts the procedure followed in Communist take-over of nations in Europe and Asia following World War II.

vid Brumley, who have held area offices, as leaders.

Plans were begun for representation at the state YHT and Young Farmers convention to be held at Corpus Christi in January. Several couples from this county expect to attend the meeting.

A desk plaque was presented to Mrs. Floyd Coleman of The Hereford Brand staff in appreciation for coverage of chapter activities by the Brand.

Spiced tea and tea ring were served from a table laid in autumn colors with a centerpiece in grape design. Other members present were Mmes. James Dobbs, Raymond Gerik, Layton Sawyer, Lewis Block, George Zetsche and the adviser, Mrs. J. J. Durham.

In a business period with Mrs. Larry Dobbs presiding the YHT planned a bake sale to be conducted at Piggly-Wiggly market, Nov. 23, featuring desserts for Thanksgiving. A holiday dinner for members and their families was scheduled for Nov. 25. Mrs. Bud Thomas and Mrs. Clark Andrews were named a committee to plan the menu.

A note from the Friona Chapter invited Hereford members to assist in an awards workshop to be held in Friona High School Nov. 29. Members voted to conduct a part on the program and chose Mrs. Dobbs and Mrs. Da-

It amounted to a net increase in the period after allowing for the number that were scrapped, of 30.4 percent.

By the way of comparison the average gain throughout the United States was 14.0 percent and in the State of Texas, 15.9 percent.

Commenting on the situation, a major bank here declares that "the nation is rapidly approaching the day when there'll be a car for every adult and for a

When you love your work, it shows.

And we love our work. So much that we couldn't bear to stop with the slickest-looking split grille ever to grace a Wide-Track. (Or any other car, for that matter.)

We went ahead and made the windshield wipers disappear. The car not only looks cleaner, but the wipers are less subject to icing and freezing, too.

Then we got rid of the vent windows on all Grand Prix hard-tops. We replaced them with nifty panoramas and a flow-through ventilation system.

We even designed a rather unique hood-mounted tachometer option that's available on all Pontiacs. As are our other new options like stereo tape and stereo radio.

And, of course, our handsome interiors have to be seen to be believed.

All Pontiacs have standard safety features that include a dual master cylinder brake system with warning light, outside rear-view mirror, and GM's energy absorbing steering column.

Isn't it time you decided to see your Pontiac dealer? If you love our work the way we do, it's the least you can do.

Holiday Plans

Made For Club

Holiday pleasure for themselves and others was planned by Garden Beautiful Club members at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Roy Smith with Mrs. Jesse Stanford as co-hostess. A Christmas program and luncheon was set for Dec. 2 in the Caison House.
 Plans for assisting in Christmas plans at King's Manor were discussed, and a committee appointed to complete arrangements.
 Mrs. N. D. Bartlett was program director, introducing Ivan Block and Melvin Barton of the Easter Lions Club who showed a film on the Purple Martin, a bird useful in eradicating insects.
 Easter Lions are staging a campaign to attract the birds to this area.
 Cook a few extra strips of bacon and crumble to use as a topping for scrambled eggs.
 To vary rice that is to be served with curry, add almonds, coconut, golden raisins or currants.

Pioneer Family Member Passes

Funeral services for J. F. (Fess) Harris, member of a family which came to Hereford in 1898 and himself a resident of the city until 1918, were conducted Wednesday in Elmo, Iowa, where he died suddenly at his home Sunday.

Mr. Harris grew up in Hereford, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harris who came here soon after the city was established.

Two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Witherspoon and Mrs. Maggie Morris, and a brother, E. B. (Bernice) Harris, still live here. Other survivors include his wife.

Messenger Club Has Visitors

Guests met with Messenger Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Elmer Northcutt Friday afternoon, when the program was given by Mrs. Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent.

Mrs. Charlie Wiegand of Temple was introduced as a guest of the hostess, Mrs. Mary Nash of Dallas as Mrs. H. D. Buse's house guest. Mrs. Elwyn Hartman of Ray was also a visitor. Game prizes went to Mrs. Wiegand and Mrs. Draper, the floating prize to Mrs. S. N. Thweatt.

Selection, use and care of small household appliances was discussed by the county agent, who stressed the importance of name and from dealers who offer reliable service.

Officers Kept By Bippus Club

Officers were re-elected in Bippus Home Demonstration Club at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Jiramide D. Bradley. Mrs. C. F. Burk is president, Mrs. J. V. Perrin secretary and Mrs. John Hill council delegate.

A community Thanksgiving supper sponsored by the club in Bippus Community House was planned, with the date to be set. The club's Christmas party will be Dec. 14 in the home of Mrs. Burk.

A two-part program was given. Each member brought candy she had made, to be sampled and recipes exchanged. Mrs. Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent, spoke of the care of small appliances and gave as the first rule, "Learn to use your appliance." She urged study of labels to indicate quality of appliance and electrical safety.

... More on the Golden Rule. How big is it? What will it do for a man? Just how far does it reach? Well, all major religions support it, and all ethical teachers of the ages confirm it. But Mr. it is a personal thing and consequently, it is only as big as you. Are you a good citizen, a good neighbor, a good American, a good Christian? These questions are asked with my own happiness and welfare in mind. You will treat me as you treat all others.

Your character reflects your opinion of the Golden Rule. The title words, "Have Them," narrows our thinking but at the same time calls us to universal interest. Why should men stop to minister to others, especially, if I am one of them? A thorough, personal appreciation of the Golden Rule, will make of you a man fit to die, and will reward you with all that is eternal.

More on the Golden Rule next week.

Teachers Go Ahead Minus Governor's Vote For Hike

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN — School teachers are moving boldly forward with their drive for an $85,000,000 a year pay raise. This, despite the fact that they don't have the support of the governor's committee on education needs.

Texas State Teachers Association seeks salary increases ranging from $61 to $100 a month. This would cost the state $68,000,000 and local school districts $17,000,000 annually.

TSTA says it has rounded up considerable support in the Legislature and among education-support groups.

But the governor's committee voted not to make any reports on any phase of its far-reaching study until it has completed its research into all areas of public schools.

Chairman Leon Jaworski expressed confidence that Gov. John Connally will call a special session of the Legislature in 1968 to consider the committee's final recommendations.

A committee resolution recognized that salaries are important to staffing schools but added that other factors are just as vital in determining the effectiveness of teachers and administrators.

Without a committee recommendation, there will be sentiment among lawmakers to tell teachers they will have to wait for another year for pay adjustment. Teachers will bring pressure on legislators to act immediately. This will be one of the toughest problems legislators will face during the 1967 session.

Decision is all the more difficult in view of an anticipated tax bill of well over $100,000,000 that is exclusive of the teacher pay question.

COLLEGE LOANS APPROVED A total of $9,535,000 in federal loans has been approved for Texas colleges and universities under federal higher education facilities. They will help finance $23,000,000 worth of buildings.

Dr. J. K. Williams, commissioner of Texas Public Higher Education, announced that the following loans have been cleared:

Abilene Christian College, $507,000 for a physical education building;

Christian College of the Southwest, Garland, $209,000, classroom;

LeTourneau College, Longview, $485,000, science;

McMurry College, Abilene, $380,000, science;

Paul Quinn College, Waco, $67,000, science;

Hill College, Hillsboro, $62,000 library;

Texarkana College, $75,000 science;

Wharton County Junior College, Wharton, $600,000 science;

St. Mary's University, San Antonio, $1,922,000, science;

Trinity University, San Antonio, $449,000, science;

Texas - Southmost College, Brownsville, $136,000, library.

AIR STANDARDS HEARING SET Air Control Board set January 5 for public hearing on proposed regulations to control pollution from smoke and particulate matter.

Tentative regulations would outlaw burning of burrs, trash, lint and other wastes from cotton gins and require mechanical dust collectors for asphalt portable plants. They cover flues grading of smoke density, combustion units and distances of pollution sources from neighboring property.

TEXTBOOKS ADOPTED State Board of Education has adopted $6,400,000 worth of new textbooks for 11 subjects.

Board also authorized development of state plan to support $2,500,000 federal loan application for educational services to children of migrant agricultural workers.

In other action, it reviewed appeal from ruling of Commissioner J. W. Edgar concerning transfer of pupils from Neches school district to adjoining Frankston and Palestine ISD's.

FEDERAL LANDS Texas Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has gone on record as favoring a plan to give to the individual states control of the revenue from federally owned lands within the states.

Sadler said he will make that recommendation to the federal Land Law Review Commission, of which he is a member.

His plan would give to the state in which the land is located 40 per cent of the revenue from that land. Other 60 per cent would be divided among the other 49 states. Texas has no federal lands.

Proposal would exclude national parks and military reservations, but Sadler feels that all the other federally owned land could be put to better use, since state agencies and state officials could do better job of supervising the use of the land.

SHORT SNORTS U. S. Department of Agriculture said the killing freeze of November 2 will cut the yield particularly on high and low plains.

Texas Liquor Control Board warned licenses may be suspended for night clubs featuring "topless" dancers.

Funeral Held For P. H. Dyer, Castro Pioneer

The funeral of Presley H. Dyer, 78, resident of Castro County since 1891 and a brother of Mrs. Willie C. Gilliland of Hereford, was conducted Wednesday afternoon at the First Methodist Church at Dimmitt. The Rev. H. E. McCormack, pastor, and Lee Stanford officiated.

Mr. Dyer died Monday in a Dimmitt hospital after a short illness. He was born Feb. 24, 1888 at Sadler and went to Castro County at the age of three from Grayson County. He married Jimmie Sweazae at Dimmitt July 27, 1913. She died in October, 1963.

He was a retired farmer and a member of Dimmitt First Methodist Church.

Surviving him are four daughters, Mrs. Elaine Scall and Mrs. Billy Callihan of Amarillo, Mrs. Lucille Newton of Texline and Mrs. Mary Gene Collins of El Paso; three sons, Wayne of Dimmitt, Jack of Perryton and Jim of Wichita, Kan.; the sister, 21 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Burial in Dimmitt Cemetery was directed by Gilliland Funeral Home. Pallbearers were Fred Axe, Austin Mobley, Clyde Renfro, Edwin Maulk, Bob Simpson and Bill Simpson.

USES OWN POWER SAN DIEGO (AP) — Coach Sid Gillman of the San Diego Chargers says he will always remember linebacker Chuck Allen, who was injured against the New York Jets.

"Chuck hopped off the field with a broken ankle to save us a time out," says Gillman. Some players would have been calling for a stretcher and an ambulance."

REP. ROGERS WRITES

Agricultural Exports Reach Astonishing High

Dear Fellow Texan:

An increasing volume of American food and fiber is being sold abroad. The amount is truly astonishing. Latest figures, for the fiscal year ended June 30, show that the export market accounted for nearly two-thirds of U. S. wheat and of hides and skins, more than half the rice sales, nearly half the grain sorghum sales, about two-fifths of soybean and tallow production, nearly one-third of the corn sales, about a quarter of tobacco and barley sales, and one-fifth of the sales of cotton.

The strength of our agricultural exports is good news for American farmers and for the economy generally. The value of farm exports reached a new record high in the last fiscal year — $6.7 billion, up 10 per cent from the previous year's total.

Texas and California, with agricultural exports totaling $495 million each, ranked among the fifty States behind only Illinois, which accounted for $666 million in sales abroad. Other leading States and their totals are Iowa, $426 million; Kansas, $392 million; Indiana, $317 million; and North Carolina, $306 million.

U. S. and world exports of wheat and flour reached a record volume in the last fiscal year. Exports had a total value of $1.4 billion. In bushels, 859 million were sent abroad — a new record. Japan was the leading dollar buyer of U. S. wheat, $114 million worth. India, where famine threatened, received 262 million bushels valued at $430 million. Exports of feed grains totaled $1,351,000,000, more than 40% higher than the previous year. Dollar exports accounted for more than 90 per cent of this total. The primary factor in the rise of feed grain exports has been a continuing expansion in livestock feeding, especially in Western Europe and Japan. As in wheat sales, Japan was the largest dollar purchaser of feed grains — $253 million worth. Shipments to counties under government programs were higher than in the previous year but were only 8 percent of total feed grain exports, and half of the total shipped under food-aid programs went to India.

Unfortunately, the export market for cotton — another crop in which Panhandle farmers have a vital interest — continued to decline. Cotton exports totaled 3,065,000 bales, with a value of 386 million. The volume was one-third less than in the previous fiscal year and the lowest total since the fiscal year of 1965-66. According to the Agriculture Department, the decline reflects primarily a reduction of foreign Free World stocks in anticipation of lower world prices next season. Man-made fibers continue to give cotton severe competition in developed countries. Japan, again, was the largest dollar buyer of U. S. cotton, but the total declined to $92 million from $123 million a year earlier.

It is obvious that the export market is of major importance to U. S. farmers who now supply more than one-fifth of the world's agricultural production moving in export channels. Meanwhile, with the U. S. ranked as the world's leading food and fiber exporter, our imports of farm products continue to increase. We're the world's third largest importer, receiving about an eighth of all world imports in calendar year 1965.

In the past fiscal year our imports were up 12 percent, with a value of $4.5 billion. One half of the value of imported goods came from six countries, the Philippines Republic, Australia, Canada, Mexico, New Zealand, and Denmark. Primarily, however, the imported items are competitive with those produced by American farmers. While I recognize the need to import in order to export, I would very much like to see a reduction of imports in such foodstuffs as sugar and beef and meat — commodities our American farmers are fully able to produce in abundance to their benefit and the country's.

With rising populations and growing famine threats in the world, America's vast agricultural productive capacity is going to supply increasing proportions of the world's needs as well as our own.

Sincerely, Walter Rogers Your Congressman

Pier Paolo Pasolini, a Communist, directed "The Gospel According to St. Matthew." The latest filmed version of the life of Christ is scheduled to be shown Wednesday through Oct. 4 at the Esquire.

Enrique Irazoqui, a Spanish student, portrays Christ as a young revolutionary. He is at once bitter and liveable — an antagonist to be feared. A far cry from poulent Hollywood versions of the timeless story of Jesus, "The Gospel According to St. Matthew" attempts realism in the extreme. Arid desert, crumbling buildings and the ignorant, the disease-ridden and the poor are the environment into which Jesus was born and exercised his ministry.

Dialogue is minimal and all of it narrated in dubbed-in English. Costumes and characters are extreme. The focus on individual faces is frequent and haunting. As a teaching documentary, a pictorial interpretation, "The Gospel According to St. Matthew" may enjoy success.

Projecting it as entertainment for a mass audience poses other considerations. To many of the current generation's intellectual questions of the Christian message, such an oversimplified interpretation seems to offer few answers.

And what could be the motivation for a professed Communist to promote a motion picture on a figure and philosophy diametrically opposed to the precepts he has embraced?

J.V. Pickens' Wedding Anniversary Celebrated

More than a hundred callers registered after congratulating Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Pickens on their Golden Wedding anniversary at open house Sunday afternoon in the home of their daughter, Mrs. C. F. Newsom, and Mr. Newsom.

Hosts were their children, who with Mr. and Mrs. Pickens received guests for two hours. The children who live in Hereford are Mrs. R. N. Yarbro, Mrs. Raymond Paetzold, Mrs. Newsom, Homer and Richard Pickens, a daughter, Mrs. Don Wilson, lives in Oklahoma City and a son, Jack, in Lubbock.

Grandchildren served coffee and cake from the white-covered oval table centered with an epergne holding candles and yellow roses, set on a reflector.

A small-scale tiered wedding cake topped with a cluster of gilded bells and the gold numerals, 50, was a part of the decoration and told-edged bell cutouts bordered the cloth.

Mrs. Sammy Lesly poured coffee and Miss Judy Pickens served cake, assisted by Ronny Pickens of Lubbock. Daughters-in-law of the Pickens were in the houseparty.

Granddaughters who in turn invited guests to register were Misses Darlene Harding of Oklahoma City, Jackie Pickens, Cathy Yarbro and Nancy Newsom. Piano selections were played by Janice Newsom.

Family pictures recalling scenes since the Pickens' marriage in Hugo, Okla. on Nov. 15, 1916, were displayed on a table with the couple's marriage license, a family history book and cards bearing anniversary good wishes.

Gifts were on other tables in the family room. Fall flowers emphasizing gold tones were placed in all rooms of the Newsom's new home.

Out-of-city guests included Maj. and Mrs. James J. Pickens and children of Colorado Springs, Mrs. J. M. Blackwell of San Antonio, Edgar Self and children of Denver City, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Self of Brownfield.

Also Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Self and Mr. and Mrs. John E. McAusland, Mr. and Mrs. Osborn Witcher and Karen, all of Clovis; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Haseloff of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cottrell of Olton.

The melancholy days have come
With wailing winds and naked woods

As I look out my window and see the yard and garden, without color and so much bareness, I think that I must feel as William Cullen Bryant, did when he wrote, "The melancholy days have come."

The saddest of the year, With wailing winds and naked woods, And meadows brown and sear."

Yes, the trees are naked, and the grasses are brown and sear, but as I sit and look upon them there is beauty there. My neighbors, the Higginbothams, have a magnificent American Elm tree, and it is truly a thing of loveliness in its sculptured effect against the November sky. The symmetry of it, and the spreading branches are beautiful to look upon. I am so glad that I can see it from my window, and feast upon its beauty. There too is beauty in the muted fall colors of the foliage of the various plants.

There isn't much time for dreaming however, because there is work to do. It is time to put the gardens to bed, for the long winter's sleep. Good sanitation in the garden, and yards is most important, not only to the plants which are left but for the ones we hope to have another year.

Now that frost has turned many of the lawns completely straw-colored, and others are a mottled mixture of tones, and some are green and still growing, what should be done? Some area gardeners have been observed doing a neatening mow in order to eliminate loose grass. Before you do this think upon it. If the grass is quite tall, and might prove a fire hazard, mow, but set the mower high, because the remaining grass will provide some protection for grass plant material below the surface level which will appear in the spring. However if your lawn is of blue grass, or other grasses which are still green and growing, if it is needed then mow the grass, but again let me caution you do not mow it short, because it too will protect roots and the grass which come in the spring. However if it is left tall, and it has a tendency to fall over it will create a mat, and thus smother the grass material which will appear in the spring.

If you have trees and many fallen leaves, be sure and remove these leaves, or shred them and use for mulch. Leaves left form a mat which the air cannot penetrate through, thus damage will be caused to grass roots. After you have put your lawn to bed for the winter, continue to water occasionally, especially if the weather remains dry.

Clean out annual plants, petunias, marigolds, zinnias, etc. after frost or when they no longer contribute bloom. Pull plants up and add to compost pile. For spring bloom plant bulbs in the same area — tulips, hyacinths, daffodils, etc. (bulbs can be planted in our area as late as December 10th, or until the ground freezes; Before planting the bulbs, clean the ground well, let me remind you when trimming back the perennials, and roses, be sure that they are properly and correctly labeled. It is annoying not to know names of plants in your garden. Do not depend on your memory it might fail you.

Evergreens are much less likely to suffer from winter injury if the surface of the soil around them, for the distance the roots spread, is protected with a heavy mulch of litterly manure, leaves, (shredded) straw, salt hay, cottonseed hulls, or peat moss before the ground freezes. Test the soil before doing this, and if dry, soak it deeply around the evergreens, then add the mulch.

If you have grown dahlias, cannas, gladioli and other plants which are grown from bulbs, these should be lifted and stored, as soon as possible after a killing frost or freeze. The stalks should be cut so that the freeze will not go down into the bulbs, tubers, corms, and roots.

Canna roots, or tubers, should be lifted and stored over winter. To do this cut off tops three or four inches from roots or tubers. Remove all excess soil, let dry, then store in boxes or barrels, in layers with the stalk up. Sawdust or sand can be used, placing it between the tuber layers. Store where temperature ranges from 36 to 40 degrees F. If the winter is exceptionally dry then check on them, and add a bit of water to the sand or sawdust, at least two or three times, do not add enough to promote growth, just enough to give a bit of moisture to keep the tubers plump.

Dig your gladioli plants, as soon as possible after freeze or frost. Cut off tops 1/2 or 3/4 inches above top of corn, then allow to dry.

After the drying period, remove attached soil, and the old shriveled corms. Check the corms for diseases and thrips, and destroy by burning all infected corms. Treat the corms with a covering of naphthalene flakes or a dusting of DDT, or other good insecticide. After the treatment they are ready for storage. This can be done by placing them in dry sawdust or sand, or in heavy brown bags (pierce bags in several places with ice pick to aid air circulation) Keep your varieties separate. A recommended way to do this is to put each variety in an old pair of hose, and label, then put them in the paper bags or other containers. In dividing and sorting, you will probably have a number of corms, if so then these can be planted in a deep furrow, real close together, and they will produce excellent corms in a year or two. This last summer I had some nice spikes from corm lets.

Dahlias, should be lifted, soon after frost. All stalks cut off as quickly as possible, so that the tuber will not be damaged. Lift from the ground, shake off excess dirt, let dry. Before placing them in storage, be sure and label them correctly. A good method for this is to write the name on the stalk with a heavy pencil or crayola. Leave the tuber attached to the mother stalk, and divide in spring at planting time, this is very necessary. These can be stored the same as the cannas.

If you do not have the time and cannot secure help to store as above recommended, then bulbs, corms and tubers, can be saved by mounding soil to a height of four or six inches over the plant after the stalks have been cut and removed. Use care that the mound is tamped firmly and that there is good drainage around the mound. Later when the ground is frozen, then a mulch should be added over the mound to aid in the preservation of the bulbs, or tubers, and the mulch can be used in the spring for humus.

Good fall practices in the garden is a must if you want to have a pretty yard next year. Now is the best time to ready your garden for spring.

(NOTE: This article was written at the request of gardening friends)

HAVE YOU SEEN: The bright red barberry at the Robert Waggoner home, 115 Centre. They are very pretty and make a lovely splash of fall color against the pink brick wall. Be sure and see the luxuriant green Box wood trees, at the Malone home, 801 N. Lee these are at the front entrance on either side of the walk.

Yours for good sanitation, practices in the garden. Glad

MORRIS GOES BROADWAY

NEW YORK — To help his songwriters, Edwin H. Morris, music publisher, is entering Broadway production.

Morris said many composers are frustrated by a lack of good story material and inability to find sponsors for stage presentations.

Morris has lined up two shows "How Do You Do I Love You" and "How Now Dow Jones" Both have lyrics by Carolyn Leigh, music by Elmer Bernstein.

Morris previously invested in 10 shows put on by other managements. The Elmira Pioneers won the Eastern League pennant by 20 games over Pawtucket and Pittsfield who tied for second place. Elmira is a Baltimore Oriole farm team.

AT GALA TEA — Music Study Club celebrated its Golden Anniversary with a beautifully appointed tea Sunday afternoon in Community Center, honoring charter members. At the punch bowls when guests began arriving were Mrs. Jesse Stanford and Mrs. Joe Frank Clark, shown in the photograph at upper left. Two of the hostess committee, Mrs. Lowell Sharp and Mrs. Bill Dameron, and a past president, Mrs. Ellis Coombes, upper right, examine a gilded angel figurine, part of the decoration on a table displaying club awards and souvenirs. In the receiving line were the honorees; from left Mmes. Glenn Snyder, C. J. Mountz, H. K. Fox, A. O. Thompson, W. E. Dameron and S. O. Wilson, and the president, Mrs. Bill Bradley.

Golden Notes Present Club Anniversary Theme

Souvenirs of a half-century devoted to supporting cultural progress in Hereford were displayed in a sitting featuring gold flowers and musical notes as Music Study Club was hostess with its Golden Anniversary tea Sunday in Community Center.

Pioneer members were the honorees who received guests with Mrs. Bill Bradley, current president. Hostesses were members of the hospitality committee, Mmes. Bill Dameron, Steve Clements, Robert Wert and Lowell Sharp.

One of the committee, Mrs. W. E. Dameron, was among the honorees, a charter member with Mmes. H. K. Fox, S. O. Wilson, A. O. Thompson and Glenn Snyder.

Also honored was Mrs. C. J. Mountz, an early member who had been in the Ladies Quartet from which the club grew. They all wore corsages of carnations, the petals sprinkled with gold glitter.

Mrs. Jesse Stanford and Mrs. Joe Frank Clark were at the table where orange punch and cookies were served.

Later their places were taken by Mrs. Ellis Coombes, Mrs. Joe Hacker and Mrs. Paul Lyons. Between the punch bowls was a gold epergne with yellow mums, gold sprinkled carnations and fern leaves.

Gilded bowls held bronze mums on the ledge, backing the receiving line, and yellow mums were arranged on the piano. Gold musical notes were scattered over the curtains drawn across the window wall.

At the desk where Mrs. Bill Lankford and Mrs. Dale Young presided in turn over the register, yellow flowers were twined on an upright musical staff with gold notes. Awards won by the club, yearbooks dating back to 1917, concert programs, newspaper clippings and photographs were displayed on tables decorated with gilded candles and angel figurines which carried a suggestion of Christmas.

Scrolls mounted on gold backgrounds were hung above the tables, one with a memorial roll and the other with the charter members' names, lettered in gold and black. Other flower arrangements, all with gold accents, were used in the ballroom and adjoining rooms.

Kevin Young was at the piano when guests began arriving, followed by club members who played in turn during the afternoon. They included Mmes. B. Y. Crostwalt, R. C. Godwin, A. J. Schroeter, Ellis Coombes and Frances Parker. All of the club's active members assisted as hostesses to the scores of friends who called to offer congratulations on the 50th anniversary.

PLAYED IN FOUR PARKS. OAKLAND, Calif. — The Oakland Raiders of the American Football League really move around. They have played in four different home parks in seven years.

In 1960 the Raiders opened the season in Kezar Stadium in San Francisco. In 1961 they played in Candlestick Park and from 1962 through 1965 they played in Frank Youell Field.

This season the Raiders opened the new 53,000-seat Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum. But they lost to the Kansas City Chiefs before 50,746 fans, 32-10.

Penn State's women athletes will compete in nine varsity sports during the 1966-67 academic year. Field hockey is the only fall sport. Basketball, fencing, gymnastics and rifle are on the winter program with golf, lacrosse, softball and tennis listed for the spring.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery beside the body of his wife, who preceded him in death several years ago. A retired farmer, Mr. Cox had lived between Hereford and Summerfield. He was born at McGregor June 10, 1888.

A Clovis mortuary was in charge of services after the body had lain in state at Gilliland Funeral Home.

Mrs. John Moody of Hereford is one of three surviving daughters, who include Mrs. Vea Canfield of Los Angeles. Sons are C. T. Cox of Gilbert, Ariz. and J. W. Cox of Mesa, Ariz. There are 25 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

Second Turkey Shoot At Easter

The Easter Lions Club will sponsor its second turkey shoot from 10 a. m. until dark Saturday across the highway and west from the Community Elevator.

Bill Struve, president of the club, said 90 gobblers were given away last Saturday as persons attended from Hereford, Dimmitt and the surrounding area.

Struve explained that shooters will pay $2 and then compete in groups of five in shooting at clay pigeons. The one hitting the most pigeons gets the turkey. Struve said there will be handicap pairings for the poorer shooters.

Proceeds from the shoot will be used in the club Building Fund, Foundation on the new Easter Lions Club building was begun Tuesday, said Struve.

Lutheran Church Schedules Guest

Sam Nafzger of Plainview, who is a 1965 graduate of Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, Mo., will be speaker at Sunday's 8 a. m. worship service at the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Following a covered dish Thanksgiving supper at 5:30 p. m. in the church, Nafzger will show slides made while touring 28 European and Asian countries, including four behind the Iron Curtain. Emphasis will be placed on the Holy Land.

During his senior year at Concordia, Nafzger was awarded a scholarship by the Institute of International Education to study systematic theology for two semesters at the University of Heidelberg in Germany. He re-

Comment By Physician Heard On BSP Program

Replacing Mrs. Jack Straw, who has moved from Hereford, Mrs. Harold Kids presided for the business meeting of Kappa Iota Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, in Community Center Tuesday evening. Mrs. Kids, who was president last year, was elected to fill the office vacancy.

A film supplied by the American Cancer Society was shown as a part of the program. Dr. Howard R. Johnson commented and answered questions.

Subject of the sorority study program was Our Own Home, with Mrs. Duke Powell as speaker on interior decoration. Mrs. Kids was hostess for the meeting.

A transfer to a Plainview chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was granted Mrs. Dave Heck, another member who is moving away.

Mrs. Jerry Terrell and Miss Darlene Sexton were guests for the meeting.

Members present included Misses Glenda Perkins and Pat Cowell, Mmes. Gene Larson, Denzil Vaughn, O. H. Majors, Bud Kelly, Wendell Maloney, Rudy Metz, Pat Parker, Bob Pugh, Bobby Shelton, Jim Cramer, Houston Frye, John Gilliland and Dean Hacker.

Family Parties Are Planned By Young H.D. Club

Two Christmas parties, one for members' children and another to entertain their husbands, were planned by Young Homemakers Home Demonstration Club at a meeting in First National Community Room Tuesday morning.

Committees were appointed by Mrs. Charles Brown, president, to plan both events. Mmes. Lee Roy Purges, Lloyd Smith and Brown will make arrangements for the adult party; Mmes. Tom Crawford, Huey Lowrie and John Hammett will plan the children's party.

Mrs. Crawford was hostess Tuesday and Mrs. Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent, gave the program on Draperies for the Home. She said that any type of window trim is expensive, so careful planning is important before choosing draperies.

West Texas weather is hard on curtains, she added, and frequent attention is needed to rid them of dust which may destroy the fabric.

In addition to members named on committees, those present were Mmes. Max Rieman and Carl Armstrong.

Class Program In Thanksgiving Theme Given

A Thanksgiving program was given and a Christmas social planned in Golden Circle Class of Avenue Baptist Church, which met Monday in the home of Mrs. Tom Nance. Subject of Mrs. Bill West's devotional talk was Traditions of Thanksgiving.

Reasons for Thanksgiving were listed at roll call by Mmes. J. C. Burt, J. M. Mason, Dale Barkley, John Burns, Cecil Morrison and Charles Greham. Mrs. Burt presided for business and the class Christmas party, a salad supper, was set for Dec. 12 in Mrs. Mason's home.

Returned from the study in mid-October.

A nephew of W. D. Nafzger and Mrs. Earl Springer of Hereford, Nafzger plans to enter the Lutheran ministry.

THANKS—County Commissioners and Judge H. C. Williams asked Will Harris to come to Deaf Smith County Court-house for an informal viewing of the bronze plaque dedicated to "Deaf" Smith, for whom the county was named. Harris had asked if he could put a picture of the historical figure in the foyer of the county building. The Commissioners and County Judge felt that a more permanent monument should be placed there and that it was the responsibility of the Court and consequently the citizens of the county to supply it. In less than a year from the inception of the idea, the plaque is gleaming for all to see. Shown are Judge Williams shaking the hand of the county benefactor, Marcus Latham, commissioner of precinct two, where Harris lives, Donald Hicks, Bruce Coleman and Earl Holt. (Hereford Brand Photo)

Funeral Set For Former Resident

Funeral services are scheduled today at Avenue Baptist Church for Mrs. Lillian Stanfield, 62, former Hereford resident who died Tuesday evening in a San Angelo hospital. The Rev. Jack Boyette of Canyon will officiate.

A resident of Hereford from 1944 to 1955, Mrs. Stanfield had lived in San Angelo since. Burial in West Park Cemetery here will be directed by the Robert Massey Funeral Home of that city.

Survivors include her husband, H. B. Stanfield; two daughters, Debbie Sue of San Angelo; Mrs. Dale Crisp of Canyon; two sons, Eugene of Amarillo and Jerry of San Angelo; and seven grandchildren. A nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Roberts, live in Hereford.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

The holiday party season for Hereford clubs had a sparkling start with the Music Study Club's tea last Sunday; it's been a long time since I've seen so many dressed-up people in such a background of flowers and candles and glitter.

A GOLDEN anniversary makes an opportunity for glitter, and the club women took advantage of it for an effect that could fairly be called brilliant. Everyone of them was looking her prettiest, even the hospitality committee members who remained modestly in the background.

The club is due congratulations not only for reaching its 50th birthday but for celebrating the occasion with a party that hits a festive high note for the fall.

HERE FOR a couple of weeks or so from Lake City, Colo., Mrs. L. C. Ely is a house guest of her sister, Mrs. John Robinson, and Mr. Robinson, 703 E. Fourth. She has lived in Hereford and hopes to see her numerous local friends while she is here on the visit.

HER FIRST official visit as a newly-appointed District Deputy Grand Matron of the Order of Eastern Star was made by Mrs. Charlie Noland to Olton recently. She was guest of honor at a supper.

Mrs. B. E. Roberson and Mrs. Art Lewis, both officers in the Hereford CEA Chapter, went with Mrs. Noland to Olton. This is just the beginning of travel for the deputy, whose duty includes official visits to 16 Eastern Star units in this area. One scheduled for Dec. 13 will be easier; it is to the Hereford Chapter.

A FORMER RESIDENT, Mrs. Roy Calvert, visiting from Ingleside, was a guest recently in the homes of Mrs. O. H. Culpepper and Mrs. J. E. McCathern. The Calverts moved earlier this year to the South Texas city.

While she was here a number of friends were invited for an informal visit with her in the Culpepper home. They included Messrs. and Mmes. E. W. Dettman, W. C. Hromas, Elmer Patterson and McCathern.

Also Mmes. Virgil Dodson, B. A. Reddell, Sam Morgan, B. E. Roberson, Dale Henson, Fred

Davis, C. E. Hood, Leona Sowell, H. E. Miller, Goldie Criswell, Ruby Smith, Emmett Hale Tandy Legg and Calude McDougal.

IT'S UNWISE to underestimate what one woman can do, and I regret that I fell into that error last week. Nell Hunter, who gave the program on handmade gifts for Young Mothers Study Club, herself made every one of the gift items in the picture taken at that meeting.

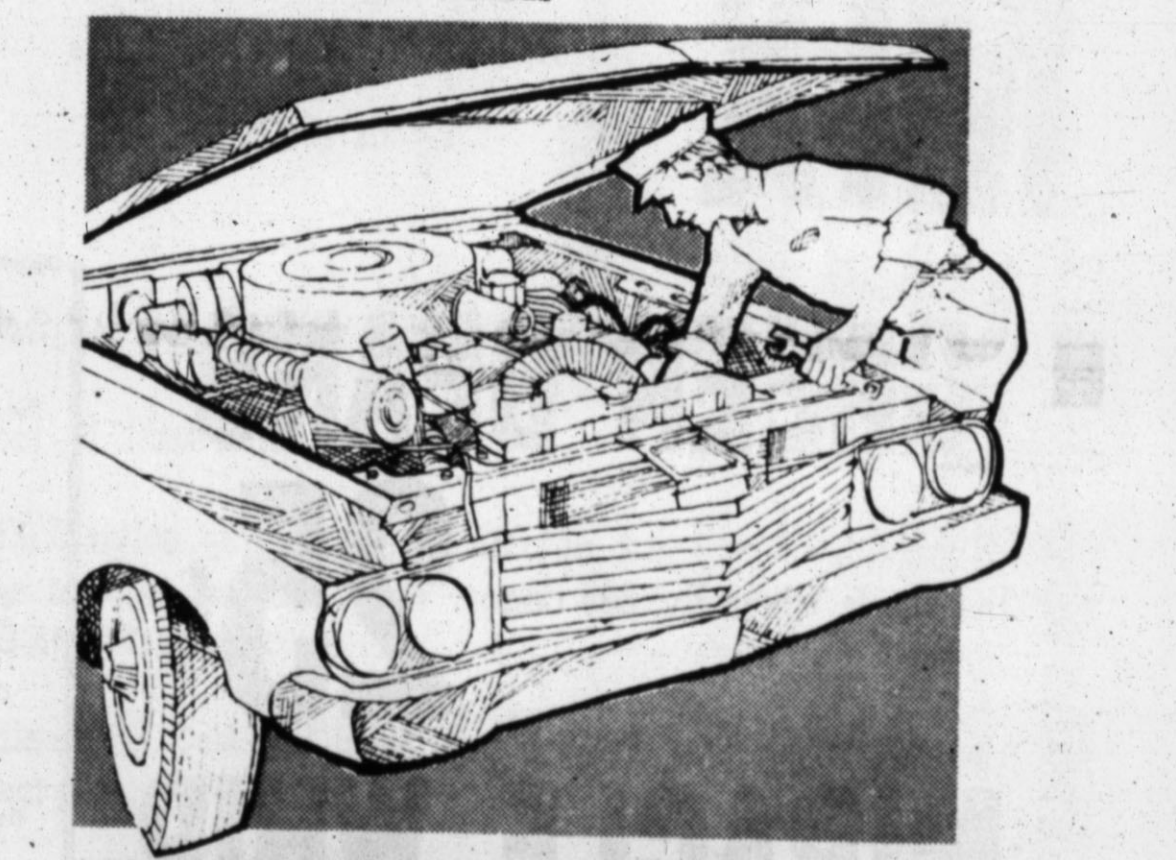

Other members brought gifts to display as part of the program, but those in the picture, and others that covered a table, were Nell's work. It didn't occur to me, who has trouble making a potholder, that one pair of hands could concoct so many different things.

Then, to make it worse, a typographical error changed my description of the beautiful plastic grape lamp as "elegant," so it read "elephant lamp." Well, some days are like that!

Diced cooked chicken mixed makes a good salad. But if you want to vary this, try adding curry powder and cooked rice. Serve on lettuce with a garnish of seedless grapes.

West Texas weather is hard on curtains, she added, and frequent attention is needed to rid them of dust which may destroy the fabric.

In addition to members named on committees, those present were Mmes. Max Rieman and Carl Armstrong.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING!

Cookies Fit For Party

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

Cookies which Miss Roberta Campbell served when she was hostess to North Hereford Home Demonstration Club recently were unusual and tasty enough to inspire a suggestion from the club reporter and other members that the recipe was worth requesting.

A SAMPLE of the cookies, which Miss Campbell gave with the recipe, bears out her reputation as an excellent cook. She says the method of making these layered cookies sounds complicated, but they are really easy to prepare. And they are pretty enough for any party.

CANDY BAR COOKIES

3/4 cup butter
3/4 cup sifted powdered sugar
2 tb. evaporated milk
1 tsp. vanilla
1/4 tsp. salt
2 cups sifted flour
Cream butter, add sugar gradually and cream well, then add milk, vanilla and salt; mix thoroughly, blend in flour.
The dough may be chilled for easier handling before it is rolled out, a half at a time, on a floured surface. Form into a 12x8-inch rectangle and trim sides. Cut into 2 inch squares or 3x1 1/2 inch rectangles. Place on ungreased cookie sheets.
Bake at 325 degrees 12 to 16 minutes, until lightly browned. Cool, then spread with 1 tsp. filling on each cookie. Top with 1/2 tsp. icing on each, and place a half pecan on top if desired for decoration.

CARAMEL FILLING

Combine 1/2 pound light candy caramels and 1/4 cup evaporated milk in top of double boiler. Melt and blend, stirring oc-asionally. Remove from heat. Add 1 1/4 cup butter, 1 cup sifted powdered sugar and 1 cup chopped pecans.

CHOCOLATE ICING

Melt a six-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate pieces with 1/3 cup evaporated milk over low heat. Remove from heat, stir in 2 tb. butter, 1 tsp. vanilla and 1/2 cup sifted powdered sugar.

MISS CAMPBELL, a former teacher turned farmer, has also had considerable experience in journalism as a former columnist and farm editor for The Hereford Brand and as editor two years of the Texas Home Demonstration Association Messenger.

She was assisted by Mrs. Earl DeHart and Mrs. J. E. Dyer in the latter work. County residents of a few years back remember her column, Tater Peelinings.

She began teaching in Driscoe County, where she was born and raised; after she had completed high school and passed a state examination. Between school terms she attended college, working toward a degree with a major in rural education.

"BEFORE I FINISHED the rural school was practically extinct, and since that was where my interest was, I quit teaching and bought this farm," she says. Eleven years later she returned to West Texas State University and completed requirements for her degree.

"And that was going to school was fun; I studied creative writing and art and other subjects for pure enjoyment," she adds. After she came to Deaf Smith County in 1939 Miss Campbell taught one year. She had moved to the farm where she still lives, just southeast of the city, leasing it the first year and then buying it.

ALMOST ALL TYPES of farm work she has done herself, from garden chores to operating a tractor. At first it was dryland farming, then she had a well put down and helped do the demanding work of irrigation farming.

She has been assisted by two boys, a foster son, Bob, who now is the farmer on the Campbell place and who operates water well drills when he isn't busy with the farm work, and a nephew who made his home with her several years while he attended high school and then college, and who now lives in Colorado.

Miss Campbell's mother, 93 years of age, has also made her home here most of the time the past 15 years.

THEY ALL LIVE in a rambling white stucco house which began with two large rooms, had an addition built, then a part of a house bought from a neighbor moved up to join the addition.

Building as well as farming can be a woman's work, forthright Miss Campbell declares, and she has done all sorts of work on the interior of her house starting with cabinets she installed in her early days as a Home Demonstration club member.

Planned to the inch to suit the use she makes of it, the cabinet was part of a kitchen improvement project which H. D. clubs at that time promoted. She has also painted, built floors laid tiles, and refinished furniture, now aims to build a fireplace and then begin landscaping the yard.

She is a member of the Church of Christ here, and of Pioneer Study Club.

For a "different" sandwich, spread the bread with deviled ham, then add a filling of crabmeat salad.

MASS DELUSIONS

NEW YORK (AP) — American Negro slavery, the Nazi extermination of millions of Jews, the World War II bombing of civilians and the exploitation of the poor are the "crimes" examined in a new book, "The Respectable Murderers," by a French priest, the Rev. Pie Re-gamy.

He says such crimes are possible only because there exists a strong delusion to the effect that what is being done is not wrong, but somehow justifiable. It is the correct thing to do; it is the way to act if one wishes to be considered respectable.

Legion Oratorical Contest Opened

AUSTIN — The Thirtieth Annual National High School Oratorical Contest is getting underway as high school students throughout the State will be competing to determine not only the top orator in their local community but eventually the state champion and the national champion. The contest conducted in most schools will be through sponsorship of the local American Legion Posts, with the full cooperation of local school officials and whose faculty will assist in the local contest arrangements.

The subject to be used for the prepared oration in the 1966 contest must be on some phase of the Constitution of the United States which will give emphasis to the attendant duties and obligations of a citizen to the national government. The prepared orations must be the original effort of each contestant, and must not require less than eight nor more than ten minutes in delivery.

By participating in this competition, local students will gain a deeper understanding of our nation's Constitution and at the same time will have the opportunity of winning state and national recognition and a valuable university scholarship according to Jack W. Flynt Department

Commander of The American Legion.

Each school should complete its local contest by the end of the week ending November 28, 1966, and the winner will have the opportunity to advance to a district-wide contest in eliminations toward the State and National finals.

Department Chairman, Walter C. Lee, Jr., of Houston, is in overall charge of the contest in Texas and is a part of The American Legion's Americanism program. "We feel that students who participate will become more proficient not only as speakers, but in knowledge of our Constitution and, as a result, will be better Americans," Lee stated.

The State Finals will be held in Wichita Falls, December 1, 1966.

In addition to the valuable awards offered to the winners of the preliminary rounds of competition, university scholarships of $4,000, $2,500, $1,000 and $500 are the prizes for the first through fourth places, respectively, in the national finals.

High school students who have not yet signed up for the contest may do so by contacting school officials and by working with the local American Legion Post.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Skeleton in the Courtroom

Vincent, crippled in an auto accident, sued the other motorist for damages. In court, Vincent's doctor prepared to describe the injury by use of a skeleton.

But the defense attorney raised an objection:

"A skeleton is too gruesome and too melodramatic to be allowed in the courtroom. It is bound to inflame the emotions of the jury."

Nevertheless, the court allowed the doctor to proceed, since this happened to be an effective way of enlightening the jurors. The judge commented:

"People learn better with the eyes than with the ears."

In recent years there has been a sharp increase in the use of "demonstrative evidence"—that is, evidence used not to prove something (like a bloodstained knife) but to explain something (like the skeleton). Diagrams, scale models, and samples are common tools in today's courtroom.

And, for the most part, the law has approved this trend. For whatever helps to clarify facts also helps to do justice.

On the other hand, the very power of demonstrative evidence is a reason for caution. Too freely used, it might turn a trial into a show and have a lopsided influence on the jury.

In another personal injury case, the doctor not only used a skeleton but also demonstrated—by wielding a scalpel—the surgery he had performed on the victim.

An appellate court decided this was going too far, needlessly emphasizing the plaintiff's ordeal. Nor is demonstrative evidence allowed if it is misleading. In an assault case, a woman accused her neighbor of striking her with a stick two feet long. But a "replica" of the stick, offered as evidence, was a full three feet long.

The court rejected this evidence, since it would mislead more than it would enlighten. In proper circumstances, almost anything may serve as demonstrative evidence. Once a horseback rider sued a zoo, charging that his horse had been panicked by the "unsightly and unusual appearance" of the zoo's elephant.

At the trial, the defense brought in its demonstrative evidence: the elephant in person. A mere baby, he proceeded to charm everyone in the courtroom with his impeccable manners and friendly demeanor.

With no further ado, the plaintiff dropped the case.
