Age Old Dream Becomes Reality For HHS Rodeo Team

By JERRY ODOM
Staff Writer

Throughout the past ten years, students and administrators of the Hereford school system have watched and admired the rodeo teams established, and associated with other schools throughout the area. And over the years interest has grown and flourished at a rapid pace.

In the second semester of the school year here, dedicated work has been directed toward the establishment of a rodeo club for Hereford High. Says Tom Harkey, school system's business manager and a co-sponsor of the new rodeo club, "We put it off time and again and finally decided we were going to establish a rodeo team this year. There's been interest in one every since I've been here, which is four years, and it traces back even farther."

"For the past several years we've had some high school boys who have participated in junior rodeos on their own accord. But now because of the interest shown in a team and the fact that so many colleges and universities throughout the country are offering scholarships to these students, we feel there is a necessity for a club.

"Anything we can do on a school level to help boys and girls further their education we want to. The scholarships offered by colleges are like those in any other field. Over a number of years they amount to thousands of dollars," Harkey added.

"But before a boy or girl can receive a scholarship from one of these colleges, they must be a member of a rodeo team under the guidance of UIL (University Interscholastic League) rules. If they rodeo on their own or their team doesn't come under UIL regulations then they're not awarded a scholarship. The reason is that they could have received money in former rodeo competition and therefore they are professionals.

"If they are professionals and a college grants them a scholarship, then the college could be fined a considerable sum. Even a school in the intercollegiate league promotes the same idea," stated Harkey.

In reference to how the rodeo team is benefitting local students he said, "At least 75 percent of the boys and girls on the team are not associated or participants in another sport. This just allows them an outlet for their interest like any other sport."

Along the same line as any other sport it teaches them sportsmanship and consideration for others. In something like this there is a fine wholesome atmosphere of friendliness and at the same time there is still present that competitive spirit.

"We're going to have a hard time getting the thing started but it will be well worth the effort because it is going to help boys and girls compete in something they enjoy and do best."

In comparison with other teams Harkey stated, "A rodeo team is a team sport like any other but it also allows the individual to excel more on his own. It is more of a one to one situation in other words."

In establishing a rodeo club the students and sponsors have relied and depended upon Amarillo, Tascosa, a school considered to have one of the better rodeo clubs in the state. Hereford is looking to them for advice as well as the right steps and procedures to take in organizing and carrying on their club. Says Harkey, "The student and rodeo sponsors of Tascosa have been a great help to us."

When questioned about the organizing problems Harkey stated, "There's just one big one. And that's getting the proper facilities for practicing. Right now we are practicing anywhere we can, most of the time in the Hereford arena."

"We're hoping in the future to lease some ground around the present arena where we could build our own pens and maintain our own practice stock. If we do we'll need access to a little more land which wouldn't be more than two or three acres."

But then after that we'll need more money to feed and water stock and extra money to buy and replace stock. Because the expense will run high we're hoping the public will support us," he added.

"We are helping the Junior Riders Club to mend and repair the area in preparation for our upcoming rodeo June 4 and 5 which will be co-sponsored with the Junior Club. If we have a good attendance it will help provide a large amount of the finance needed for us to get started."

"If the public does support us we hope next year to sponsor our own rodeo and from this maintain our own facilities and entry fees," stated Harkey.

Another major difference Hereford High will experience in their new rodeo club from other competitive sports is the presence of no actual district or playoff competition.

Since rodeoing is more of a one to one sport, Harkey said there is no need for district. "However," he said, "it may come to more of a points system in the future. In this a cowboy or cowgirl, if they make a required number of points, may be eligible to compete in a higher class rodeo."

Coming up for the local club will be rodeo event in Clarendon and Pampa this weekend and the Junior Rodeo coming up at Silverton later on. All-in-all, the club is expected to compete in fifteen to twenty different rodeos by the end of summer or early fall according to Harkey.

With the number of rodeos approaching and the dangerous sport rodeo is, brings to mind the question of insurance. Concerning this phase of the club Harkey stated, "It will be like any other high school sport. If a student wants insurance he will have to provide it himself. The school is not required to give it."

For students interested in the club Harkey pointed out its not too late to join. "Students who are more interested in working with stock than rodeoing can join also. There's no requirement that students do enter rodeos so long as they contribute their part and do their share of the work."

Munneryn clarified some of the club's activities at the present time which are, according to him, basically centered around repairing the Rider's Arena in Veteran's park. "We are preparing to tear down the dangerously old stands and repair or replace the rest. We also need to repair the shoots, and some of the cables and pens."

"Weather permitting we would have started last week but it looks like we'll have to wait about a week."

Officers of Hereford High's first rodeo club are Ken Laing, president, Hal Easley, vice president, Kim Gripp, secretary, Marvin Smith, treasurer, and Jeff Davenport and Terry Battey - committee members. The remainder of the club consists of around twenty five members.

Community Players To Present Spring Play

At a meeting held last week when final plans were made for the annual membership dinner to be held March 21, the Hereford community Players began readings for a comedy, "The Curious Savage".

The comedy is planned for April.

Further readings for parts in the spring play are set for 3 p.m. today, in the Parish Hall of St. Thomas Episcopal Church. Polly Bullard will direct John Patrick's three-act comedy, which has a cast of five women and six men.

Any area residents interested in trying out for a part are invited to attend the reading session. The comedy concerns an attractive elderly widow, Mrs. Savage, whose daughter and two sons decide that some of her plans are not quite rational, and that she would be better confined to a swank mental hospital. A psychiatrist, nurse and several patients are included in the cast.

Except for the principal role of Mrs. Savage, none of the parts are heavy, the director explains. Fred Howard has been named co-director for this play, which follows the successful presentation of another comedy, "Mary, Mary," by the Community Players last fall.

Tickets are on sale now for the membership dinner, scheduled at 7:30 p.m. March 21 in the Civic Club Center. Mrs. George Warner is chairman of Ticket sales. Fred and Mary Howard will arrange the program and Mrs. Howard Johnson is decorations chairman.

The annual dinner marks a spring membership drive, which this year is being directed by John Alkin. The Players invite all residents who would like to participate in any phase of play production, and those who simply like to see live drama in the community, to become members.

All present and prospective members are invited to attend the dinner. Tickets for the buffet meal and program are priced at $3 each.

ASCS Urging Sign-Up Now For Program

Wayne Mayfield, manager of the Deaf Smith County ASCS office, announced last week that the 1970 wheat-feed grain and cotton sign-up will officially end Friday, March 20.

Farm operators are reminded that March 20 is the final date for signing up their farm for participation in the program. There will be no extension past this date and producers who fail to sign will not be eligible for program payments.

According to Mayfield, the signing has been slow, and as of Friday, around 40 percent of the farms in the county were still lacking on the list. He said "Those still wishing to sign should come by the ASCS office as soon as possible this week."

Beet Contract Given Approval

Negotiations for the 1970 sugar beet crop, which have been stymied by disagreement on both sides for the past several weeks, were brought to a head here Friday night when members of the Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers Association and Holly Sugar Corporation representatives reached an agreement on their contract.

Over 400 sugar beet growers and interested persons were on hand at the Bull Barn for the vote which saw the majority approve the contract for the coming year. The final tally showed 198 in agreement with the contract and some 44 who were not.

Several meetings between Holly representatives and members of the Growers Association were held last week, in an attempt to come to an agreement, but after much discussion, and a "tentative contract," it was decided to put the issue before the members of the Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers in a specially called meeting Friday night.

Meetings were held in August and September of last year in an attempt to work out an early contract, but these too failed.

The beet growers were seeking to have the same contract they were given last year which the United States Department of Agriculture held to be fair and reasonable, according to James A. Witherspoon, executive secretary for the sugar beet growers association.

Holly, on the other hand, was seeking a change in the contract, mainly due to the poor year in 1969 when sugar content of the beets processed in most cases was not sufficient to cover the cost of growing and shipping.

Stipulations of the contract include, a sliding scale to determine the price of beets and a $1.50 limit to be placed on hauling fees paid by Holly Sugar Corporation. In reference to the hauling fees, Witherspoon pointed out that the fees, five cents per ton per mile, are not paid for the initial ten miles and this limit would have little bearing or effect on farmers who are hauling their loads less than 40 miles.

Holly was asked that the scale be reduced, that the hauling allowance be reduced from $1.50 to $1, that the price of seed be increased, that payment be increased on bulk storage, that certain guarantees be eliminated and that hauling allowances to outside receiving stations be eliminated.

According to Witherspoon, the two organizations did compromise on two of the changes Holly was asking.

Election Is April 4

Hereford Independent School Board of Trustees, in a specially called meeting Saturday afternoon, set April 4 as the date for the election of a junior college district here following approval of the application by the Junior College division of the Texas College and University System Coordinating Board Friday morning.

Five members of the local junior college steering committee were on hand in Austin Friday for the hearing by the full Coordinating Board. They included Wayne Thomas, Lynton Allred, Mrs. Jimmy Gillentine, Ken Rogers and Harlan Vanderzee.

The establishment of a junior college district for the local area, contingent with the boundaries of the Hereford Independent School District, will now go before the qualified voters of the county for approval or rejection on April 4. The school district boundaries include portions of Castro and Parmer Counties as well as a major share of Deaf Smith County.

Application for the establishment of the college district here was presented by Allred, chairman of the steering committee, and following the reviewing of testimony in the public hearing held here March 5, the Coordinating Board gave their approval.

Dr. Robert L. Clinton, a commissioner for the Coordinating Board, will be here Monday for a joint civic club meeting and open forum which is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. in the high school cafeteria. Information concerning the establishment of a two-year college district will be presented with Dr. Clinton providing answers to questions should they arise. This forum is open to the public and all persons interested in finding out information about the college district or those wishing to express their opinions are invited to attend.

Dr. Clinton, who is presently serving as president of the Scurry County Junior College District, has been a member of the commission for the Development of Junior Colleges, Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System since July 1967. He received his education at North Texas State

Over 100 Million Of State Acreage In Need

About two-thirds of our state's land still needs soil and water conservation treatment, State Conservationist Clyde W. Graham of the USDA Soil Conservation Service revealed.

Graham said that although many critical conservation problems have been solved in Texas in the last 30 years, some 103 million acres of the state's 160 million acres of rural lands still need conservation treatment. The figures came from county data prepared by state and federal agencies, then summarized by a state committee chaired by SCS.

"Much of this 103 million acres has had some conservation treatment, yet it still needs one or more conservation measures," Graham pointed out. "And most of this land needs treatment every year—especially cropland."

Graham said that in terms of acres, grassland improvement is still the state's biggest conservation problem. He cited these grassland needs: About 50.6 million acres need brush control followed by careful management, including periodic rests.

Some 2.3 million acres of this land has deteriorated to the extent that reseeding is needed after the brush is controlled.

Some 2.3 million acres of this land has deteriorated to the extent that reseeding is needed after the brush is controlled. Some 2.3 million acres of this land has deteriorated to the extent that reseeding is needed after the brush is controlled.

ter loss. The survey shows Texas has 22.7 million acres of forest land of which 9.2 million acres need conservation treatment for soil protection and to improve forest stands.

The study also shows that pressure for urban growth is steadily cutting into the state's rural lands. During the 1958-1967 decade, agricultural land in Texas dropped by some 780,000 acres, or an area bigger than an average Texas county. About 500,000 acres of this went to urban areas, some went to federal uses, and lesser amounts went under water in ponds and reservoirs.

Summaries of the state are available from SCS offices, soil and water conservation districts, and from most other state and federal resource agencies. Local county reports are also being prepared by county inventory committees. The complete state inventory showing major land uses and conservation treatment needs by land capability classes for the state as well as each county will be published later this year, Graham said.

Support Your Museum

Newspapers, like the citizens they serve, tend to ignore that which is moving along smoothly and get disturbed only when something is wrong in the community. Perhaps that's human nature, and we doubt that we'll ever change measurably. However, this week we would like to recognize an institution that is serving the community well. We are speaking of course, of the Deaf Smith County Museum and the Deaf Smith County Historical Society which is responsible for keeping it going.

According to a recent newsletter from the "Deaf Smithsonian" Museum, more than 3,500 persons visited the institution this past year. Twenty-three school classes came for guided tours, and a dozen or more groups of Bluebirds, Cub Scouts and others, including hundreds of tourists and convention delegates who stopped in our city.

From the educational standpoint, we feel that the museum has definitely filled a vacuum, since there is no other place to go to see how our forefathers (in Deaf Smith County) lived and survived the hardships of pioneer life to make this county what it is today.

From the economic standpoint, we would say that the museum has been most valuable in stopping tourists, who may stay one or more days in our city, and who spend a little money while here.

The museum is operated by voluntary help, consisting of members of the historical society as well as some 20 civic, social and study clubs. The museum is housed in a building that belongs to the county, and some operational expenses are being paid by the county. Most however, come from donations to the historical organization.

The Historical Society continues to improve the museum yearly, and their most recent venture has been to create a country store within the confines of the building. Most of the goods and fixtures have already been collected, and Drive Friendly . . .

Governor Preston Smith is continuing an all out effort on traffic safety with use of "Drive Friendly" to make an impact on Texas drivers. "Drive Friendly" was officially introduced by the Governor this past week in Austin.

The Governor expressed his deep concern over the ever increasing trend of death, injury and economic losses on the streets and highways of our state from traffic prestige and reiterated his intentions to apply all the influence and prestige of the Governor's Office to do something about it.

The Governor pointed out that Texas now has, for the first time, a coordinated traffic safety program aimed at one target — the citizens of this State who operate motor vehicles. This program has but one objective — to keep Texans from killing and maiming themselves and each other at a rate which staggers the imagination.

In 1969 an all time high of over 3,500 dead citizens, 250,000 injured and an economic cost approaching one billion dollars, would surely lend support to the Governor's concern. And we might add one piece of advice to what the Governor has said — Drive Friendly, and continue to Drive Defensively. The other guy may not be as friendly as you.

we're looking forward to seeing the finished product. We might add at this time, that the organization makes changes and improvements continually, so those of you who have not visited the museum lately, may want to plan another tour. It will be worth your time, and your presence is proof of your appreciation to the groups who have worked so hard to bring about a local museum. And if you want to help a little more, you might consider becoming a member of the historical association. A drive for new memberships will be made April 1 through April 4, and a tab will be placed in each of the local banks for the purpose of registering new members. The museum needs your support.

Ambivalent Ice Storms

An ice storm is a strange amalgam of beauty and brutality. From the safety and comfort of the window creation is such a fairyland, a wonderland, it seems to have been touched by all the magic wands extant. Lawns and fields are piled up with shimmering goblets, and there are whole acres of huge diamonds. Shrubs wear necklaces of giant pearls, and every hedgerow looks as if Tiffany's treasure has been dumped on it.

Creeks are glittering promenades for snow birds, and every waste place riots with millions of tiny white flowers. Eaves of homes sparkle with a dazzling array of stalactites, and hosts of silver birds nest along the gutters. Trees are studded with chandeliers such as are usually reserved for the palaces of potentates.

But there is terror for all living creatures and things amid this burst of frozen beauty that is so astonishing it almost seems to be a mirage. When power goes off, and the effortless usefulness of other gadgets is snapped by the storm, one learns again the intransigent blessing of a dry, warm place and a piece of bread. One recalls the stark horror of Jack London's great story, "To Build a Fire," and the man who froze to death because he couldn't do a task that is simple in normal context.

For sheer exquisite loveliness an ice storm is one of nature's true masterpieces, but each one reminds us that even, amid magic buttons there are times when everyone must depend upon his courage, ingenuity and hardihood. — Raleigh News & Observer

Worse Than 'The Depression'

Some of us still remember the harrowing days of the 1930s when 10,000 banks failed, destroying the life savings of many in their collapse.

Representative Ancer Nelson (R-Minn) claims that in 1968, for example, an even worse disaster befell the American people. According to his estimate of that year, we lost $24 billion (18 times greater than in the Depression) through inflation. Last year was even worse. It looks as though we are due for a mammoth loss every year — until the government gets around to being as careful in its business as it expects us to be in ours. — Manchester (N.H.) Union Leader

Arms For All Sides

Since the four powers are supposed to be discussing the prospects for a settlement in the middle east, one would expect them to start at square one by agreeing to discontinue their own arms deliveries to the affected area for at least as long as the discussions last.

No such agreement appears likely, however, which in turn renders their substantive discussions about peace little more than academic. — London Times

The government increased the maximum interest rate for FHA and VA home loan mortgages a few days ago from 7.5 to 8.5 per cent. The construction of new homes throughout the country is practically at a standstill. The main reasons are the high interest rate, and the high wages demanded by skilled workmen. We don't pretend to understand a high finance but it doesn't seem to us that the higher interest rates are reducing inflation, and the only ones being benefitted are, the individuals and institutions which lend money. — Ripley (Mass.) Study Group To Ponder 12-Month School Year

By BERT MILLS

Washington, D. C. — Schools that are closed for three months each year may be a luxury the nation cannot afford much longer, and the possibility of a 12-month school year will be among the questions examined by a new study group named by President Nixon.

In his recent message to Congress on educational reform, the President announced establishment of a President's Commission on School Finance. The group will spend two years making a study of "future revenue needs and fiscal priorities for public and non-public schools."

Among the "possible efficiencies" listed for study by the Commission is year-round operation of schools, for more efficient use of both facilities and staff. The President said: "The nine-month school year may have been justified when most youngsters helped in the field during the summer months, but it is doubtful whether many communities can any longer afford to let expensive facilities sit idle for one-quarter of the year."

While the message did not deal with colleges, a number of state universities already operate year-round, with four quarters making up the academic year. Students wishing to expedite their education may attend on a year-round basis and earn their degree in less than the conventional four years.

U. S. Funds Illinois Test School utilization on a 12-month basis does not necessarily mean the end of vacations for students. For example, the U. S. Office of Education will finance an unusual experiment starting next summer in Lockport, Ill., a town of 8,785 population, near Peoria.

Valley View School District No. 96 has been awarded a $43,000 contract by the National Center for Educational Research and Development to operate a grade school and junior high on a 12-month basis. However, each pupil will be in school only the usual 180 days per year.

The Lockport plan is to divide the school population into four equal groups, only three of which will be in school at one time. This will be achieved by a novel schedule calling for 45 school days, followed by 15 vacation days, with the cycle repeated four times during a 12-month period. A staggered start during the summer will mean 25 percent of the students and their teachers will always be on vacation.

For example, Group A will start the next school year on June 30. Fifteen school days later (three school weeks), Group B will start. After another 15 days, Group C will begin, and by the time Group D checks in, Group A will be ready for vacation.

Obviously, this schedule will cause some problems. Teachers and administrators will not get their usual summer off, and family vacation plans will be upset. Everybody involved will have to make adjustments, including janitors, bus drivers, suppliers, etc.

Answers to three questions are being sought in the Illinois test. One is the relative cost of a 12-month school year compared with the conventional 9-month system. A careful record will be kept in Lockport, including a 10-year projection. These figures will be made available to other school systems considering a year-round schedule.

Objective number two is to discover whether children learn as well under the 45-on, 15-off schedule. Methods of measuring student performance are being developed. The third goal is to assess the impact on the community, including the aforementioned problems for teachers and parents.

Year-round school is a very old idea, dating back at least to 1901 when the system was tried in Bluffton, Ind. There have been other tests, as recently as 1969 in Atlanta. Usually a local crisis has forced the experiment, and normally the 9-month year is readopted once the crisis is surmounted.

But the pressing financial problems of schools are forcing a reexamination. In Lockport, for example, a housing boom and a new state law requiring addition of a kindergarten caused a need for 60 additional classrooms. However, the taxpayers had imposed a limit of borrowing for school building and there was no money for new construction.

Many other communities with similar problems may profit from the Illinois experiment. If the cost of building 60 classrooms can be saved in small towns across the nation, maybe the 12-month school will become common.

Talk of Texas

IRISH BRIGADOON — San Patricio, once a thriving community 30 miles up the Nueces River from Corpus Christi, today is almost a ghost town that only comes alive on St. Patrick's Day.

Founded by Irish immigrants in 1831 as San Patricio de Hibernia (or St. Patrick of Ireland), it is remembered in history only because its citizens hanged Chipita Rodriguez, the only woman ever to be executed in this manner in Texas. Legend says that after Chipita was hanged on November 13, 1863, for a crime which she probably didn't commit, the town began to die.

It comes to life, however, each St. Patrick's Day as thousands of descendants of the Irish colonists gather in the old town and celebrate the day of their patron saint. After 24 hours, San Patricio becomes a ghost town again.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? — Snyder, the bustling Scurry County seat, was first called "Hide Town" because so many of its structures were made of buffalo hides.

A local waterway, Deep Creek, became a popular campsite for buffalo hunters in the 1870's. So many camped along the creek that a Dutch trader named W. H. (Pete) Snyder decided to establish a trading post on its banks and the town grew from that beginning. It is named, of course, for the enterprising merchant.

THE HOTEL THAT WEARS THE GREEN — Houston's Shamrock Hotel comes of age this St. Patrick's Day.

It was 21 years ago on March 17, 1949, that oil man Glenn McCarthy, a Texan proud of his Irish ancestry, staged one of the country's greatest bashes to open his $20 million luxury hotel. He invited most of the nation's biggest names to Houston for the occasion, and brought most of them in aboard a 16-car special train.

More than 3,000 people crowded into the Emerald Room to eat a $42 per plate dinner and listen to screen star Dorothy Lamour (and a host of other Hollywood celebrities) open the hotel on a nationwide radio broadcast. In keeping with Irish tradition, hundreds wore green — to match the decor of the Emerald Room and the rest of the hotel. Even the bellmen were liveried in green.

Pat O'Brien, the movie star with the Irish heritage, had flown to Houston many months before to turn the first shovel of dirt when McCarthy started construction of his hotel. O'Brien was among those who also came back for the opening. He still remembers it as the most memorable St. Patrick's Day in Texas history — and maybe in all of history.

WELCOME TRAVELER — One of the best examples of early stagecoach inns has been restored in DeWitt County.

It is the two-story brick rock home built in 1856-57 by Valentine Hoch, a German immigrant who founded the community of Hochheim. The home, used also as a regular stop on the Indianola-Austin stage line, stands a half-mile west of State Highway 183 between Gonzales and Cuero. Ross Boothe, Jr., of Gonzales restored the home several years ago.

65 YEARS AGO — 1905

On Friday of last week, W. A. Hancock, C. W. Dason, T. J. Graves and A. H. Elliston, on being informed by Robt. E. Ball, that there was a large coyote near his farm headquarters, gathered their dogs and horses and started for the scene all thrilled with pleasing expectancy of seeing a wolf chase. Sure enough the wolf was found and the chase was begun; the wolf bounding away over plain and dale with dogs and horsemen in hot pursuit. For a time the race seemed to be an even break, but finally the coyote, as if by strategy succeeded in escaping his adversaries, greatly to the chargin of the latter.

50 YEARS AGO — 1920

For some time past, ex-Servicemen from this county have discussed the desirability of organizing a local post of the American Legion. Nearly every county in the state has the question under consideration or has one already organized. The Hereford public schools will be closed this week in order that the teachers may attend the sessions of the Panhandle Teachers Association which convenes at Canyon March 18 and 19. After considering the petition of the Hereford Light and Power Company for permission to raise its rates twenty per cent, the city commission has decided to submit the matter to a mass meeting of the voters of the city.

35 YEARS AGO — 1935

Deaf Smith County has 1,083 farms. This is the number shown by the Federal Agriculture Census which has just been completed. Rain and snow, enough to bring vast benefits to wheat crops and to allay the vicious sandstorms, fell here Sunday night and Monday forenoon. Total precipitation was an inch and it came following a week of destructive sandstorms. Annual Interscholastic League meet of the county's eight rural school districts will be held here Friday and Saturday opening with a general assembly for instructions from County Judge C. W. Humble at 9 o'clock Friday morning in the district court room.

20 YEARS AGO — 1950

Mayor W. E. Dameron and City Commissioners Lyle Blanton and J. C. McCracken, were named defendants, as mayor and city commissioners in a $40,000 damage suit filed in District Court Feb. 23 by Don Webb and wife. One of the heaviest infestations of greenbugs in recent years has not only taken over Deaf Smith County but is prevalent throughout most of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

5 YEARS AGO — 1965

Last minute filings provided races last week in coming municipal and school trustee elections, with the announcements by L. B. Russell to the school board, Dr. Gale Page, also to the school board and Joe Easley, seeking the post of city-commissioner, Place 1. Hunter Construction Company of Lubbock was awarded the revised low bid job for a two-phase project at the high school.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson-grass farm takes a sidelong glance at the heckling business in this country today.

Dear editor: According to the news in two different newspapers I read out here, the President of France, Mr. Pompidou, got his feelings hurt while he was in this country because some people demonstrated against him.

I don't understand this. You'd figure the President of France reads newspapers and watches television and therefore knows how we treat public officials in this country.

Why, everybody knows for example, that former Vice President Humphrey hasn't had to write a new speech in months because the hecklers won't let him make the one he's got on hand. A handful shout him down every time on every campus he's invited to.

What the shouters have discovered is that a few people can break up nearly any speech if they want to. Had they been of a mind to, they could have broken up the Sermon on the Mount.

As a result, about the only way a President or vice President or a Cabinet member or an ex-member of this group can make a speech uninterrupted is to fly to a studio in a helicopter, come down through a hole in the roof, talk quietly into the television camera, and then escape by the same route.

I understand the shouters consider this unfair play, since obviously they don't have enough people to put a heckler in front of every family's television set, and also it wouldn't be very safe, as a lot of people want to hear what a man's got to say, whether they agree with him or not, and such invasion of privacy might lead to a type of violence the shouters couldn't bear up under. You interfere with a man's television program in his own home and you're in trouble. Ask any kid.

Recognizing this, you reckon the shouters, seeing as how they're stymied from breaking up a speech if it's delivered on television, will now demand on the grounds of constitutional free speech the right to place hecklers in a studio every time a speech is being televised?

You reckon they'll take it to court? You reckon the courts will entertain such a suit? If it gets all the way to the Supreme Court, you reckon, aw, the court wouldn't do that, would it?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Gladys' Garden

By Gladys Howton Manlove

Have just returned from the outside where I put out food for the birds. Scarcely had I reached the door to come inside, when the birds came hurrying to partake of the eats. The toast disappeared almost faster than it takes me to write about it. However the suet lasted longer, and they will be returning from time to time to eat on it. Since all water had disappeared from the snow I also took out a basin of warm water for them. I almost felt like they were the welcoming committee for our home coming.

Personally I prefer to think the feather friends were the nicest, because the weather certainly was a cold welcome. Some difference to come from the sunny warm, eastern shore to cold, snowy weather. I hasten to say however it is GOOD to be home again.

Our trip to Virginia was most enjoyable, in fact real wonderful for Art (my husband) and I, because we had the joy of caring for the 2 grandchildren Beverly a very fine teen-ager, and Lloyd Jr., a busy, sharp Junior.

Rosemary, (our daughter-in-law) left soon after we reached Hampton, Virginia for Honolulu, where she meet Lloyd Sr. (L.T. C. Manjeot, commander of the 15th S&S Bn.). He was on his R&R, Rest and Relaxation. The men serving in the war are allowed R&R, which is five days. This comes after having been in Viet Nam six months. Lloyd had gone over in June, and for personal reasons decided to wait longer before he took his R&R.

I never cease to be amazed at the beauty of the good-earth when in flight. It is always sensational to me to rise above the ground and soar into the "great blue yonder." Was a foggy, cold morning when we entered the plane in Amarillo, but soon we had gone through the fog, and were above the cloud cover. The glistening white of the clouds and azure blue of the skies were panoramic in their beauty. My sight and soul was filled to overflowing with their beauty. It was greater food and more satisfying than that served, which was tasty and bounteous (really in truth one should not ever be on a diet if traveling by air).

As we approached Arkansas, the clouds began to break, and could get glimpses of the countryside. The Arkansas river, was like a mighty ribbon flung across the scene. The patterns of the farmlands are always very fascinating to me. Studying their pattern, one can find most any design they look for. As I looked I decided that perhaps the architects get some of their ideas for their modern designs of architecture. As we approached the ultra modern Dulles Airport in Washington, I was convinced that such designs just had to come out of the blue. . . the airport is located approximately 28 miles from our nation's Capitol, and encompasses about 10,000 acres of Virginia countryside. It is a Jet Airport, built with a futuristic aim in mind. Every approach to it is thrilling and most interesting. I, of course, was most interested in the landscaping of the grounds. They are in keeping with the buildings, and even in their winter dress, with budding trees, was beautiful, I just wished, that I could have seen it when the cherry trees were in bloom and the other flowering materials. However the basic materials are ever greens, of many varieties.

The Blue Ridge Mountains, of Virginia, were snow capped. In much activity. In the airport in Washington, the skiers were having their skies packed, and all seemed in a happy mood. The snow looked most inviting from the air. However I kept thinking how very beautiful they would have been if they had been in their spring dress. Having seen them in the fall in a riot of fall colors. I could not keep from wishing just a bit for springtime. As we reached Hampton the pussy willows were budding, and some showing their bursting fussy buds, also the pansies had all of the wonderful colors I had dreamed of they were very pretty. The schillas were also in bloom.

As we neared the coastal country, we flew at a lower altitude, and could get a much better view of the fields, and wooded sections. The farms were smaller, and the boundaries were largely of hedges or trees. The trees were mostly tall towering pines. As I looked at the land in its different formations and boundaries, I was reminded the patch work quilts that my grandmother used to make of browns, greys, tans, and black wool pieces and putting them together with a lovely bri-stitch in various colors. Sometimes she would embroider figures of animals or flowers on the lighter colored pieces and as I observed, I could almost count the cattle in the pastures (they were small and their cattle are certainly different to ours here on the Hi-Plains). Nearer the ocean, water tributaries reached into the land areas. This added the bright blue coloring to the picture, which made it much more attractive and even more remindful of the pretty quilts. As I looked and reminisced, Art spoke to me and said, "We are getting ready to land at The Patrick Henry Airport, Hampton, Virginia." Quickly I became alert and could hardly wait until we landed because there was a SPE-CIAL three waiting there for us. (Next week, Glad will tell of Williamsburg. . . a MOST interesting place.) For the Gardeners: These cold days (shut-in days) groom the house plants. Perhaps they need to be groomed and fed. Also soon it will be alright to cut materials for rooting, to be planted out in the yard later. The Warrens took wonderful care of our plants and we have several in bloom. The poinsettia is still beautiful, and truly adds a spot of brilliance to our den. Don't be too disturbed about the daffodils, and other spring flowering bulbs. They will be alright when the snow has melted away. Do hope that they had been watered because a wet freeze never hurts like a dry one. When it begins to moderate, spray lightly and I think we will have our spring blossoms. There may be some damage, but I hope it will be very light. These are good days to plan and put on paper, your ideas for the spring planting, both as to landscape and for the vegetable garden. In selecting shrubs and other permanent plants, be very careful. Look to the future

Keep in mind, size, color, and proportion that will be involved when they are planted and grow to maturity. Planning, dreaming, and thinking makes us stronger mentally. . . and our world nicer. . . . GLAD.

Food And Furniture

Is Bippus Club Topic

A demonstration on decorated foods given by Mrs. Kenneth Homfeld and a lecture on upholstery, by Argen Draper were program topics for members of Bippus Home Demonstration Club at a meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. J. V. Perrin.

Mrs. Homfeld demonstrated making cookie and cracker decorations and Panoramic eggs. Recipes for each were distributed to the members.

Small Easter favors made by Mrs. Homfeld, from egg cartons filled with grass and candy eggs were also given.

During the program on upholstered furniture, Mrs. Draper said to ask yourself two questions before beginning an upholstry job. "Is the piece of furniture worth it? and do you like to work hard?"

The Upholstered furniture will last only one-half as long as it did when first purchased, she stated.

She also showed the newest spring fabrics, followed by a discussion on the proposed Jr. College.

During a brief business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Perrin, a council report was presented by Mrs. Jimmie Bradley.

The next meeting is scheduled with Mrs. C. T. Douglas.

Others attending were Mmes. C. F. Burk, John Hill, C. F. Homfeld, Jack Fortenberry, G. V. Hall and Wayne Sifford.

the March 28 wedding of their daughter, Amanda Mae, to Michael Joseph Holloran, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Holloran of Washington D. C.

Vows will be exchanged in the Chapel of the First United Methodist Church of Clovis.

Miss Moore is a graduate of Portales High School and attended the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque.

Holloran is a 1969 graduate of The National Law Center at The George Washington University.

Baptists Will Hold Leadership Sessions Monday

First Baptist Church will be the scene Monday evening for "Summit Seventies," sponsored by the Amarillo Association of Southern Baptists. Various area congregations are included within this association, including the three Baptist churches in Hereford — First, Avenue and Temple.

The schedule for this event, according to Jud Nowotny, minister of education for the First Baptist Church, is supper at 5:30, followed by a general assembly at 7:00 and group conferences at 7:25.

This leadership training involves a presentation of new plans and curriculum materials, enabling the churches within the association to be ready for changes taking place in October.

Chester O'Brian, Amarillo Baptist Missionary, will conduct these conferences, urging all members of organizational leadership to attend. Subject matters to be covered will include: Sunday School, Training Union, Women's Missionary Union, Brotherhood Music and Library Conference.

Organization books on administration, teaching, etc., will be on display throughout the conferences.

Statistics Released On La Plata Basketeers

Statistics were released this past week on the 1969-70 La Plata Junior High basketball team — who, through their district campaign, finished second behind the ninth grade squad of Stanton Junior High.

Coaching the twelve man Maverick freshmen this season was Grady Allen, also head football coach.

Heading the team in seasonal figures was Terry Champ who, with a 29 percent accuracy in field goal attempts and 60 percent in free throws, totaled 326

Adrian News

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brownlee and family and Dude Speed visited in Olton, Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Schrier, Mrs. Don Oursborn and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thomas and family. Later they attended the basketball finals in Levelland, that night.

Mrs. Lena Gudgell returned home last week from California and reported that her son Marvin Rogers, who had surgery is doing some better.

The Adrian High School Senior Class is sponsoring a volleyball tournament and extends an open invitation to anyone to get a team together and enter the tournament. The date is May 8 and 9 (We will start on the 7th if we have enough entries). Both divisions have been mixed teams in the past, but this year the adult division, only will have men's and women's teams.

The cafeteria will be open each night and serving hamburgers, chili, frito pies, homemade pies, and drinks.

We will give trophies for 1st 2nd and consolation in each division. Anyone interested contact the Adrian Senior Class, Adrian, Texas 79001.

Bailey Reece, manager of member services for the Swisher Electric Cooperative in Tulsa, recently accepted the annual National Rural Electric Cooperative Association's member services award. The award was to a cooperative with fewer than 4,500 member-consumers. Presenting the award trophy was Lowell Endahl, representing the National Rural Electric Cooperatives Association in Washington. Vesta Orr is manager of the Swisher Electric Cooperative Inc. Bailey is a former Adrian resident and Bailey graduated from Adrian High in 1950.

Adrian fell victim to a cold third quarter and dropped a 58-56 decision to Sands in the semifinals of the Region I Class B Tournament at Levelland, Saturday.

Sands then went on to win the region crown by stopping Meadow, 94-90, in the finals.

Adrian jumped to a 31-25 half-time lead but could manage only 9 points in the third stanza and Sands climbed to within two, 40-38.

Joel Brownlee of Adrian led all scorers with 24 points. Joe Perrin and Wayne Bronniman added 13 and 11, respectively, for Adrian. Steve Herne led Sand swith 19 points, and Felix Robles added 17.

By MELVIN YOUNG

Leo Forrest, former manager of Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative, Inc., has been down in South America as a representative of the United States government and the Rural Electrification Administration, working in cooperation with the government of Chile to further the rural electrification program of that country. This is not his first trip to South America. He has been a number of times with this same program and has visited a number of countries.

However, some of his friends in Hereford have been hearing from him recently and it seems that Leo has given the impression that he is living in "the lap of luxury." You know, like breakfast in bed, etc. But Mrs. Lee Benefield wrote urging him to enjoy the finer things of life while in South America, "because your lawn continues to grow while you're away and will still need mowing when you return." How true. How true.

The Coordinating Board, Texas Colleges and University System, Friday approved Hereford's application to call an election for a community junior college, and the local Hereford Independent School Board of Trustees met Saturday afternoon to officially set April 4 as the date.

The April 4 election will be for the sole purpose of creating a district and will have nothing to do with voting bonds. That will come at a later date if the voters decide to approve the district, and such an election would be called by the appointed 9-man Board of Regents who will govern the new college.

If Hereford continues to grow, the Junior College will be of the utmost importance. As a matter of fact, it may become a must for many of our younger people who might not have the opportunity to educate their children without it. College costs continue to increase and it's becoming almost prohibitive to send a youngster through a boarding school away from home.

The folks out at Wilson & Co. have been having their problems getting going. Which is natural we suppose. They have a new plant and a lot of new people, many of whom have to be trained, and that creates problems.

"It's been so bad," said their manager Vernon Swanson, "that we ran up the flag the other morning and then could not get it down."

If the weather remains fair this week, there will be many acres of potatoes and sugar beets planted. A number of farmers have had seed potatoes ready and waiting on the weather man, and with the ratification of the contract between the growers and Holly Sugar Corporation, we're sure that the beet season will be on its way.

Middle-age, we're told, has been described as that perplexing time of life when we hear two voices calling. One says, "Why not?" and the other, "Why bother?"

Accidents Total 12 In February

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 12 accidents on rural highways in Deaf Smith County during the month of February, according to Sergeant W. E. Wells, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in two persons injured and an estimated property damage of $12,515.00.

The rural accident summary for this county during the first two months of 1970 shows a total of 19 accidents resulting in one person killed, five persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $17,910.00.

In an all-out effort to stem the rising toll of traffic accidents in Texas, the Department of Public Safety is increasing the ranks of its uniform services.

One hundred and twenty men between the ages of 20 and 35 are needed to start training for the position of patrolman on May 5, 1970.

All interested young men should contact any DPS office or patrolman for an application. Those who work Monday through Friday may contact the Lubbock, Amarillo, and Wichita Falls offices on Saturday mornings for processing.

TO JOURNEY TO AUSTIN — The five Hereford High band students pictured above combine to form the woodward quintet which is scheduled to attend the state solo and ensemble contest to be held in April at the University of Texas.

ProChem Makes Record Quarter

Record first quarter earnings have been achieved by ProChemco, Inc. with revenues up 93 per cent, and net earnings increasing 81 per cent for the three months ended January 31, 1970.

Gross revenues reached $4,919,918 during the first three months of Fiscal 1970, compared to $2,549,919 the corresponding period last year. Earnings before taxes increased 227 per cent to $30,674, as opposed to $98,101 for the same year-earlier period. Net earnings amounted to $187,811 or 14 cents per share, against $104,101 or 11 cents per share net during the same quarter a year ago.

Earnings per share are based on 875,183 shares for the first quarter of 1969, while 1970 share net is figured on 1,325,185, following a $50,000-share, public offering in July, 1969. If figured on 1,325,185 shares, per-share earnings in 1969 would have been 8 cents. A tax credit of 6,000 in 1969 resulted from a substantial charge off of oil and gas well drilling costs.

In announcing the quarterly figures, President Paul F. Engler said, "These increases in net earnings are in line with our earlier estimates for the year. The figures reflect increases in all areas of our operations, primarily in custom cattle feeding."

Engler related that ProChemco's acquisition of the assets of Bethel Corporation, Dallas, for ProChemco stock will become effective March 31. "We will form a new subsidiary, ProChemco Oil and Gas Corp., to engage in oil and gas exploration activity in the Rocky Mountain and MidContinent Regions, which we expect to be a significant factor in our operations in the latter part of the fiscal year," Engler stated.

During the first quarter, ProChemco substantially expanded its cattle ranching operations by acquiring a 2,800-acre pasture operation in Mississippi, which is supplying steer for the company's two feed yards in Hereford, Texas and Ohio, Nebraska.

ProChemco, traded over the counter, has diversified interests in cattle ranching, custom cattle feeding, oil and gas well production and servicing, and sales of industrial and agricultural chemicals.

FEWER COFFEE BREAKS
FRANKFORT, Ky. — Finance has solved the problem of too breaks by state employees. He ordered all state cafeterias closed from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m. daily.

BILL LANE AND DAVE BEHAR, Synanon representatives, shown above, were presented certificates of appreciation from Kiwanis March program chairman, Larry Brown, after presenting the program Thursday. Lane and Behar told of their addiction, listing them as years of degrading life, and then proceeded to explain how Synanon, a re-education and rehabilitation center for narcotics addicts, helped them back into the world as useful citizens. —Staff Photo

Leona Kimball Named Leader

Appointment of crew leaders for the 1970 Census of Population and Housing in this area was announced recently by Manager R. L. Butler of the Census Bureau's temporary census office in Amarillo.

Selected for the Hereford area was Mrs. Leona Kimball, 521 Star Street. Her duties along with other crew leaders will be to supervise 15 to 20 enumerators in the big nationwide census that begins April 1.

Crew leaders training is now under way. Topics being covered in the training sessions include procedures for recruiting census enumerators, training, canvassing methods, preparation and submission of reports, and supervision of enumerators to insure a complete and accurate count.

The crew leader is one of the key people in the field operations of the 1970 census. It is his responsibility to recruit and train enumerators; to assign each one to an enumeration district; to review the work of each and see that it is correct; and to handle problems of difficult enumeration.

Facts & Figures

By Mrs. Argen Draper, Home Demonstration Agent

At the office we got into a discussion on size of national parks. Edwin "Goose" Ramsey came up, as usual, with facts and figures on Yellowstone. He said the park is the size of Castro, Parmer and Deaf Smith Counties combined. To further make the point, Parmer has 859 square miles; Castro, 876 square miles; and Deaf Smith, 1507 square miles. This is a total of 3242 square miles, while Yellowstone has 3422 square miles. Isn't it amazing? Do you realize the park was only 191 square miles larger than the magic triangle?

The Estate Planning programs are planned and all persons are urged to attend. The first session will be Thursday, March 19, 8:00 P. M. at the Community Center.

Safe use of appliances helps eliminate home accidents and costly repair bills. Here are guidelines for using home appliances from Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

1. Be sure the appliance fits the setting in which you use it. Length, width, weight and clearance are important. But also make sure the house power supply — gas and electric — fits in the power specifications of the particular machine you buy. Otherwise, the manufacturer's efforts to build in safety are of no use!

Most circuits are built to use 15 amps safely — that usually means only one major appliance on a circuit. Get an expert to check for you.

All circuits should be grounded, the specialist adds. Three-pronged plug appliances must be grounded for safety. They are built this way inside for your safety.

Insist on correct polarity, too. There is a "hot" side and a "return" or "grounded" side to each circuit. Be sure they are not reversed somewhere down inside your house. Your appliance is polarized to match.

Registered Shoot Scheduled Today

The Hereford Gun Club will hold a registered ATA shoot today, beginning with practice rounds at 8:30 a. m. and the actual shoot at 10.

According to Jim Lassiter, president of the local gun club, the shoot will consist of 100 rounds from the 16-yard line, 100 rounds handicapped and 50 pair of doubles.

Entry fee will be $7.50 per person, and entrants from Amarillo and various other area towns are expected to be on hand. Silver trophies will be awarded the winners of each of the three classes.

In action shooting last week, Lynn Barkley won the R. J. Cramer Trophy shoot by tagging 94 of a possible 100 targets from the 22-yard line, while Jack Ambold and Eldon Owens tied for second with a total of 83 of 100. Third place went to Lynn McLarty who connected on 81 of 100.

ARC Volunteers Treat Westgate

The uniformed volunteers of the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross baked and served cake and punch at a birthday party honoring Westgate residents, who have March birthdays. A St. Patrick's Day motif was used, the cake being of a large shamrock shape with green frosting and decorations. Shamrock pins were presented to the honorees: Fannie Elliston, Mary Garrett and Nancy D. Osborn.

Friends and family members were present for the occasion. Volunteers serving were: Laverie Carillo, Bess Saulcy, Nell Culpepper, Annis Corbett, Ora Morgan, Bea Hutson, Rosie Wall and Ann Kershner.

The ARC volunteer group was the first to assist the Kings Manor-Westgate Auxiliary. The auxiliary is composed of persons interested in contributing to the happiness and morale of the residents of Kings Manor and Westgate. Membership in the auxiliary is open to everyone in this area who would like to participate in any capacity.

2. Keep your appliance in good repair. If it is bumped or dropped or damaged, the safety features may be broken, too. Worn cords and loose plugs should be replaced — correctly. Don't do it yourself unless you really know how. Don't flex copper gas lines. Have loose gas fittings tightened — but not too much. It may crack the joint. Above all, don't hunt for a gas leak with a lighted match. You may find one.

3. Don't defeat the safety devices. If a safety device keeps your appliance from starting, there is a reason. Have someone who knows how to check it out and correct the problem.

4. Learn the correct use. READ THE INSTRUCTION BOOK for proper usage. Do not overload. Do not use appliances for unintended purposes. They are tough, but will work better if you treat them gently and use them as they are intended to be used. Put water only where it belongs. Do not submerge — unless it is labeled that it is safe.

Visiting the Harlan Barbers, last weekend, were relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Sage and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charles Alexander and baby daughter, Robin, all from Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Benson were in Pampa three times the last of the week to be with the family of her sister, Mrs. Joe Ing, whose son Glen Gage had been killed recently in Viet Nam. The young man's body was brought home Sunday.

On Sunday night the Bensons received word that her brother-in-law, C. L. Goforth, of San Jacinto, Calif. had died suddenly, as he and his wife were preparing to come to Texas to the funeral for the serviceman. The Bensons went to California leaving on Monday, and were gone for a week. While there they visited also with Benson's sister-in-law, Mrs. Willam Benson, and her family at Norco.

USDA Reveals Farm Land Drop

Urban growth in Texas is steadily cutting into the State's agricultural lands, a new USDA study indicates.

The conservation needs and land use inventory shows that during the decade of 1958-1967, agricultural land in Texas dropped by some 780,000 acres. This represents an area bigger than an average Texas county.

The report shows that 500,000 acres of this land went into urban and built-up areas; some went to federal uses; and a lesser amount went under water in ponds and reservoirs.

For the nation, the ten-year shift from agricultural lands totaled almost 15 million acres.

The inventory also reveals that two out of three acres in Texas still need some form of soil and water conservation treatment. The figures came from county data prepared by state and federal agencies, then summarized by a State Committee chaired by the Soil Conservation Service.

Do You Belong?

By CORINNE J. NEELY

If you have chosen Hereford as a place to live and do business, because of its assets of people, location, opportunities and many other fine qualities, why not learn something about its history?

Somewhere in your past, your people pioneered a country, most likely, and you are proud of it. But if you chose a new home its nice to know its background too.

There is no better place for this in Hereford than the Deaf Smith County Museum. Is your name one of those of the 3,500 persons who registered there last year?

Do you belong, or would you like to belong, to the Historical Society which was organized to build up and operate the Museum?

At present the Museum is open set hours on certain afternoons with other afternoons available for guided tours. Sunday afternoon is a fine day for people who work.

An hours tour on your own, or under direction of a host or hostess, will give you an idea of its contents. But a whole afternoon will give you time to read about the displays and look over the old pictures of places, things and the people of the pioneer days.

In a two-page resume news-letter (a new venture) cleverly entitled The Deaf Smithsonian under a letter-head attractively sketched by Dale Young, there is promise of unusual things to come.

Following the information of the large registration of last year in the publication, is a list of 23 school classes, over a dozen Blue Bird and Boy Scout groups who took guided tours, as well as other groups.

Included in the news-letter is a list of twenty clubs and organizations, both adult and youth, who served as hosts or hostesses. This service to the community is worthy of praise.

Checking over the accomplishments of the year, one project was dropped when it was not found feasible.

Other plans move forward. Soon the grounds will be improved with rearrangement of material and some new to be added. Of much interest will be an old Santa Fe caboose soon to find a home there.

The proposed country store is progressing well with many of the fixtures and materials now on hand. Do you have something to offer?

Mrs. Henry Sears is curator and writer of the news-letter, with the directors welcome ideas, suggestions and materials now on hand. Do you have something to offer?

Some remodeling will be done for the recently acquired Enid Bell wooden mural which was given by the Post Office Department.

The new volunteer group of the Bay View Club is now at work setting up guided tours.

To be revealed later are other unusual plans for some rare showings and events you will not want to miss. Most of them will be open to the public.

Along with the news-letter there was an application form for renewal of memberships and for new ones. Also the announcement of the Annual Meeting of the Directors and the members of the Society. New members and friends of the Society are invited.

Veleda Study Club Speaker Is Mrs. Draper

Mrs. Argen Draper presented the program "Spring Has Sprung" to members of Veleda Study Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Allen Parsons.

Concerning styles, Mrs. Draper said the classics, with the open front jackets are back in style and most of the hemlines are just above the knee. She also explained the mini, midi and maxi.

She said the spring fashions are styled with frills and trim and dresses with tunics and wider skirts.

She displayed several fabric swatches and explained the coolness and texture of each.

Applications Ready For Little Leaguers

Applications were released last week by the Little League Association here for all boys eligible and wishing to participate in the organization this year. They may be acquired from the elementary schools in the city or one may be removed and returned from this issue of the Brand.

According to Little League President L. J. Clark, the applications are requested to be returned by Friday, March 27, along with a birth certificate. The youngsters may return them to their teacher or school.

Says Clark, "All participants are required to have their birth certificate returned by April 15. If circumstances arise where they aren't capable of attaining a birth certificate by this date, then they should contact me at 364-3176."

The age limit established by the association for this year is that any boy may participate as long as he was not 13 by August 1, 1969. For the younger boys interested in Pee-wees, they may participate so long as they were 8 years old by the same date.

In a meeting of the coaches and umpires Thursday night, rules for the league were presented by the president, and accepted. Tryouts were also set for April 16 and 17.

The fact that complications often arise each season in acquiring umpires, announcers, and scorekeepers, rules were also accepted to take care of the problem. Before each game, the managers of the teams playing are required to select one umpire each, an announcer and scorekeeper.

Clark said, "We urge all parents or other attending persons of the games to accept the appointment. This will rid the problem of finding someone which sometimes delays the game."

Persons wishing to umpire this year in the major league should contact Charles Snow and for the minor league they should contact Mike Waldrip. Anyone wishing to manage or work with the pee-wees should contact Clark.

Elks Planning New Building

Hereford Elks Lodge 2269, having spent several years in their present location, and expressing hopes of boosting their memberships have announced plans for the construction of a new lodge building.

Construction of the new lodge, pending approval of zoning commission, will begin immediately, according to C. D. Kelton, Exalted Ruler.

The new building will be located on County Club Drive, and will boast some of the finest lodge facilities of any in this area. Included with the building will be a swimming pool, and possibly the addition of a nine-hole miniature golf course. The building itself will contain a dining room for members, a lounge, meeting room and several other specified rooms.

The location of the new building will be east of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Presently, the organization is undergoing a complete turnover as new officers have been elected and rules and regulations concerning the operations of the lodge have been rewritten. A membership drive is currently under way and will be closed out on March 31 as the final day for becoming a member at reduced initiation and membership fees. At this time, initiation fees and the first year's membership will cost a member $30 and effective April 1, the rates will go up considerably.

For the past several years, the Elks lodge has been meeting at the former Gilliland Funeral Home on East Second St., but due to the condition of the facilities and the drive for new members, the new lodge is being built to accommodate the expected rise in membership.

For several months prior to February of this year, the lodge was just straggling along, and members of the state Elks organization made a visit here to see what could be done in the way of getting the lodge running participation back up or having smoothly again. After seeing the condition that the attendance and membership and active participation was in, the officials gave the lodge an alternative of getting their membership and their charter revoked.

Largely due to the efforts of Kelton and several other dedicated Elks, the lodge has grown from its past decline to a noted upswing in members and family participation.

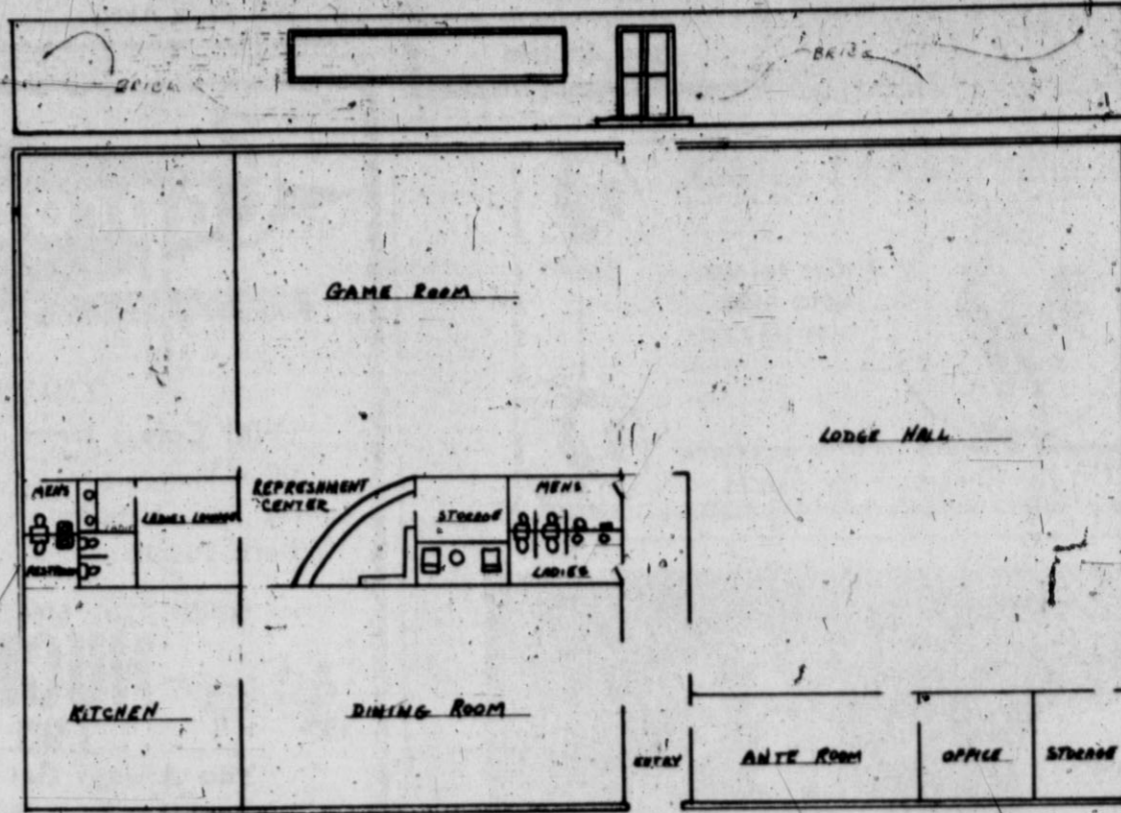

Plans are underway to have family activities several nights a week at the new lodge, and at the present time, members, their wives, children and guests, are afforded the opportunity to get a taste of what is in store. Bingo is being played every Thursday night at the club, beginning with a covered dish supper at 7:30 p.m. Plans are being discussed to present entertainment during the week in addition to forming a committee to provide entertainment for the children and wives of Elks.

Hereford Lodge 2269 meets every Monday night at the building on East Second St. beginning at 8 p.m. and initiation for new members will be conducted the last Monday of each month.

WHAT IS AN ELK?

The definition of an Elk, as stated in one of the organization's pamphlets, is "an organization of American citizens who love their country and desire to preserve its cherished institutions; who love their fellow man and seek to promote his well being; and who love the joyousness of life and endeavor to contribute to it, as well as to share it."

"The Order-questions no man's religion; nor bars him on account of his creed. It is not concerned with one's political affiliations. And it does not permit either religion or politics to be injected into, or to have any effect upon, its fraternal deli-

At The Library

Mexico Is Setting Of Exciting Story

Now at the Deaf Smith County Library are two novels told in different settings, one in Mexico, the other in the Australian bush. Adventure and suspense are yours with the reading of both these stories.

BLOSSOM LIKE A ROSE

by Christopher Bray
This second novel by the author of the widely praised The Scarecrow Man has as its setting the Australian bush, but as its theme the universal conflict of two males over a mate. With the resolution of this conflict comes the knowledge that even the roughest of men, reacting ferally to the basics of existence, are touched with that quality which distinguishes men from animals.

Jack: an itinerant laborer, accustomed to working hard in the blinding Australian bush and spending his wages in a single night of drinking and vomitizing. When he comes to Doongarah, "the end of the earth," he is without even the price of a beer. He asks Sally, a pretty young nurse to lend him a dollar, "and their eyes met and it happened then that he knew beyond certainty that all he wanted in the world was to be with her always, to share everything with her. It happened then that without her he knew himself incomplete and isolated. He knew it now where before it had been something neglected and forgotten with him."

But there is Brody, "built like a bull" and working the same gang, who, although he has already staked out Sally as his "sheila," is convinced that any show of softness is a flaw in a man. A battle to the death between the two men seems unavoidable and inevitably they clash, like two stags locking horns, in the midst of a raging forest fire.

Through the ease with which he handles the rough frontier dialogue and his glorification of the hard labor of cement and ax, the author communicates another romance — one of man and nature in raw contact. Christopher Bray, with his insight into the nuances of thought and feelings of his unsophisticated but very genuine characters, has provided a human vehicle for a celebration of labor — a subject previously bound in ideological fetters.

HOST WITH THE BIG HAT

by Erle Stanley Gardner
Mr. Gardner weaves the threads of two highly interesting experiences in Mexico: a visit to the archaeologically controversial Jalsrud collection of primitive figurines, and his trip via railroad to Mexico City as guest of the Mexican government.

The railroad trip was an adventure in itself. Mr. Gardner and his party traveled through country so treacherous it would seem to defy the greatest engineering skills in the world — first in deluxe pullmans, then in specially rigged automobiles which ran on rails. Everywhere they encountered the gracious, warm hospitality of the Mexican people.

Mr. Gardner had long been interested in the Jalsrud collection, but until this trip had not had the opportunity to visit it. The collection numbers well over 33,000 figurines, which, if proven authentic, will upset established theories about the age of man's existence on earth.

Bountifully illustrated, this account of unusual personal experiences, in Mexico should appeal to adventurers and archaeologists everywhere.

"What's In A Name" Is Topic Of Program

"What's In A Name" by Earl Nightingale was the title of the program presented by Mrs. Lynn Pittard to members of the Young Mother's Study Club held Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Bud Thomas, with Mrs. Ray Simpson co-hosting.

Mrs. Pittard explained why people choose the names they give their children and listed the most common names used. She also distributed books containing the meaning of names and where they were derived from. Group discussion followed.

Present were Meses, Jim Arney, Don Bear, Charles Brown, Don Chapman, Larry Dobbs, Chesley Johnston, Travis McPherson, Eugene Baldwin, Raymond Self, Burl Spears, and a guest, Mrs. Jerry Beard.

The next meeting has been scheduled March 24. It will be an Easter Egg Hunt at the Community Center at 4 p. m.

GOOD FOOD IS MY LINE

By Red Hagan
Let us talk a little about serving wines with food. With food, as a general rule, serve dry wines, either white or red. With sweet foods serve sweet wines. In American wines, the range is from dry and semi-dry to semi-sweet. When you serve lighter foods such as fish, fowl, lamb, or veal, serve with white wines. More substantial meats such as steak, roast and game — require a red wine. Red Bordeaux, a claret, has a lighter character than Red Burgandy, which goes with heavier meats. Don't serve good wine with any food accompanied by a salad. The vinegar in salad dressing will spoil the taste of wine. If salad is to be served, it must be as a separate course.

A More Ringing Cry

With a terrible urgency, about four million persons in this country wait for science to solve the riddle of why human cells go wild and kill the host that nurtures them. These four million include the loved ones — the families — as well as the one million Americans who at this instant suffer from a disease that may kill at least two-thirds of them. The other one-third will survive because some of the answers are known and medical science was summoned in time to save them. For those suffering from cancer there is a constant question: "Will research find the answers in time to save my life?"

Attend Meeting

Fifty local delegates returned home here Sunday night after having attended a three day Christian convention of Jehovah's witnesses in Altus, Oklahoma. Chester Proctor, presiding minister here said that 970 were in attendance for the highlight address Sunday "Withstanding the Pressures of Our Day," by L. M. Dugan, District Supervisor for the group. Dugan's opening words were timely, "People experience gnawing fear on streets and in their homes." In answering the question, why there are so many pressures on a person, Dugan said, "Satan is in a state of desperation today since he knows he has a short period of time left." Keeping the audience's attention, Dugan went on to counsel Christians as to withstanding the pressures by saying, "It is reasonable to turn to the one who made us, Jehovah God. It is Jehovah alone who has complete information of what the future holds for us."

Dugan concluded by emphasizing that it is by personal Bible study that we turn to God, "if you would like to be able to endure and withstand the pressures of our day. We urge you to respond to our invitation to accept God's provision. Please accept your own free home Bible study; and then you, too, will face the future with confidence."

School Districts Will Provide Large Sum

AUSTIN, Tex.—Local school districts will contribute $217.2 million toward financing Texas' basic foundation education program in 1970-71.

State Board of Education settled on this figure in approving local fund assignments of approximately 20 per cent of the cost of new programs.

Sixty-first Legislature set local fund assignment at $204.9 million, plus 20 per cent of the cost of new programs.

Board approved the economic index for each of 254 counties determining the contribution to be made by districts as a fair share of costs.

Each district is further assigned an amount based on the percentage of tax valuations. Tentative indexes have been mailed to district and county superintendent.

Economic index is re-computed each year, based on three-year averages of valuations, scholastic population and income.

In other action, the board: Reversed the Taylor County School Board order to transfer 73.9 acres of land and 10 pupils from Wylie to the Abilene School districts, on grounds that local trustees made the original decision in a secret meeting, which is not legal under Texas laws.

Approval for reedition of $3,078,149 worth of textbooks in 36 subjects covering all grades.

Awarded a $150,000 contract to Texas A&M University to train driver education teachers and teaching assistants in two summer short courses.

Heard a report that there is no significant disadvantages for driver education students from use of non-degree teaching assistants in driving courses.

Voted to continue the School for the Blind project to develop a perceptual training program for visually-handicapped children into 1971 under a new $69,041 contract with the U. S. Office of Education.

Court held that mineral rights are dominant over surface rights in lands condemned by government agencies.

Owners have a right to reasonable use of the surface to get minerals under such lands, says the Court, and where public use interferes with recovery of minerals, a second condemnation proceeding is necessary.

Case involved 7.6 acres of land condemned by Chambers-Liberty Counties Navigation district.

High court also agreed to hear arguments April 1 as to whether a house owned by the San Antonio Methodist Church should be exempt from property taxation. House is used as a residence for the church's district supervisor. Fourth Court of Civil Appeals earlier reversed a local district court which contended the house is exempt.

Abilene appeal from judgment of $29,545 favoring a landowner whose 35 acres were concerned for a city airport was rejected by the Supreme Court.

II of Gov. Preston Smith's "Goals for Texas" program was kicked off when representatives of each of the 21 planning regions of the state came to Austin for a conference, and presented recommendations for improvements in the Texas way of life.

These recommendations will form the basis of his 1971 recommendations on state goals, says the governor. Smith sees the process as "Bringing the government close to the people" — a procedure he favors.

"If we win, we will have made state government more responsive and more relevant to all Texan," he said. "We will have taken the leadership among our sister states in providing solutions to our own problems and, more important, we will have involved people in the decision-making process."

INSPECTION DEADLINE NEARS—There still are nearly 3.2 million Texas vehicles yet to be inspected before the mandatory April 15 deadline. Dept. of Public Safety warns.

About 2.4 million cars and trucks have complied with inspection requirements since the new period began on September 1. This is the last deadline under the old law. State now is on a 12-month inspection period, with stickers expiring on the last day of the month, 12 months from date of the sticker.

New stickers are placed on the left side of the windshield. They show the month of inspection and expiration. So, if you still have a sticker on the right side of your windshield, your car must be inspected by April 15.

Smith named S.W. Noble of Lubbock to the Texas State Board of Public Accountancy, succeeding D. L. (Pete) Brooks of Amrillo.

Smith also announced these appointments:

Texas Library and Historical Commission—Dr. James M. Moudy of Fort Worth, filling the unexpired term of Fred Hartman of Baytown, who resigned.

Lavaca County Flood Control District No. 3 Board of Directors—James N. Boska, Robert Joseph Pesek, Erwin Joseph Bucek, Leon Louis Kahanek Jr. and Alfred Neumeyer Jr., all of Hallettsville (all reappointments).

Public Lands Committee of Interstate Oil Compact Commission—F. W. (Bert) Wheeler of Houston.

Public Service Careers Specialist in Texas Office of Economic Opportunity—John R. Malone.

OIL SPILL REPORTED—A "major oil spill" resulting from a pipeline leak into water supplies of Mineral Wells and Santo Water Supply Corporation has been reported to Governor Smith.

Site of the 500-barrel spillage is on the south fork of Palo Pinto Creek near the Gordon community. It occurred when a bulldozer operated by a farmer apparently broke an eight-inch, high pressure pipeline. State Health Department was called in to protect the health of area residents, and the Water Quality Board said the attorney general may be asked to file suit against negligent parties.

EIGHT SPURN FOOD PROGRAMS—Eight counties still refuse to participate in free food distribution programs for the reports the Texas Welfare Department.

Counties are Gillespie, Kerr, Uvalde, Bowie, Edwards, Randall, Roberts and Colorado. Department said. Another 29 are undecided or have not indicated a preference to welfare officials.

In any county which refuses to cooperate in a food assistance program, Welfare Department will, under court order, operate a commodity distribution program at federal expense, Commissioner Burton Hackney said.

SCREW-WORMS—There were no new cases of screwworm developed in Texas in January, but the total for 1969 came to 160 laboratory-confirmed cases, according to a year-end report of the State Animal Health Commission.

Seven million sterile flies were released in Texas in January in the screwworm eradication program even though there were no cases that month.

REHABILITATION—Governor Smith gave Texas Jaycees a certificate of commendation for their efforts to re-open a rehabilitation hospital at Gonzales. The group is conducting a statewide drive to raise $50,000 for the hospital, to help match a $140,000 federal grant. When completed it will be able to treat 300 patients a year, doubling the Cigarette tax increase upped the February revenue $3.4 million (from $9.4 million in February, 1969, to $12.8 million this year).

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held in a new opinion that the State Board of Medical Examiners has no authority to delegate to any other than a board member duty of holding and proctoring examinations for a medical license.

U. S. Office of Child Development grants have been approved for Operation Head Start programs for Lamesa-Dawson County Community council ($21,526). Starr County council ($252,516) and Alabama-Cousata reservation tribal council ($17,050). Robert Estrada of Brownsville is new director of Mexican-American Affairs for the Republican Party of Texas.

Dr. Mann Speaks To Pioneer Club

Dr. Gerald Mann, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was guest speaker for members of luncheon meeting Tuesday at Pioneer Study Club at a guest luncheon at the Caison House.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. Delmar Sigle, Ralph McCullough, Ray Johnson, O. G. Hill and Miss Roberta Cambell, chairman.

"God Doesn't Need a Hearing Aid" was the title of Dr. Mann's program on Crisis in Religion. He stated that not many people listen in this visual society we have today and we need to get back to listening. He said we need to lift up the new generation instead of down-trodding them.

He explained a preacher should tell it as it is instead of using a language the layman doesn't understand.

Dr. Mann was presented a gift in appreciation of the program by members.

Mrs. Henry Hastings gave the invocation and the Pledge of Allegiance was led by Mrs.

Frank Bell. Psalms 1:50 was the meditation given by Mrs. Herman Ford.

During a brief business meeting, with Mrs. Sigle presiding, committee reports were given by members. Mrs. McCullough reported on the flag in Mother's Park and the bulb sale.

Delegates elected to attend the district convention at Shamrock on April 2-3 were Miss Cambell and Mrs. Ted Panciera.

Mrs. Bess Werner presented a report on the museum and requested that dues be paid and a federation report was given by Mrs. W. C. Hromas.

An Easter theme was used in table decorations complimented by arrangements of Jonquills.

Guests were Mmes. A. T. Frye, W. T. Roberson, Brents, James Killian, Joanne Thomas, Edgar Lemmons, Tom Sawyer, G. W. Newsom, Pete Carmichael, Juston McBride, George Turrentine, and H. L. Ehrke.

Other members attending were Mmes. Buri France, L. H. Lookingbill, H. E. Miller, John Patton, Wirt Phillips, Paul Rudd, M. L. Simpson, P. B. Sowell, R. L. Wilson and William Wimberly.

Hostesses for the next meeting scheduled April 11 will be Mms. Lookingbill, Wilson and C. L. Craig.

FOR A LIMITED TIME ONLY!

Charm, elegance, style in rings of superb quality.

How often we hear that remark! Folks seem surprised when we show them that diamonds that look almost alike are so far apart in price. Size is a minor factor. Color differences can depend on many things. Cut and imperfections are not always glaringly obvious. So it comes down to this; your jeweler's integrity counts a great deal when you buy a diamond. Don't treat it lightly. We don't.
