Time 13

by Speedy Nieman

Arnold Paulson, the agricultural research analyst who spoke here again Friday night, has a message that should be heard by every citizen of the United States. He has some startling pronouncements yet, as he points out, none of them are new.

As he puts it: "I am afraid far too many of our people, for reasons of their own, may have deliberately ignored these facts or — because of apathy — haven't wanted to know."

In laying out the story of our economic system, Paulson says, "we challenge the experts to prove us wrong. This is all based on economic facts — all you have to do is review the records with arithmetic, but not theory. It's time we throw the theory out the window and call in the auditors to audit the records."

The Herd's opening game against Pampa was successful in more ways than one. The attendance — 4,988 — was the largest ever for a home game, and the gate receipts of $6,236 also set a record. Whiteface fans had purchased 681 season tickets this year, compared to 556 last year.

In achieving success, a willingness to work and a willingness to learn are often more important than a college education.

The proposed interstate highway system from Las Cruces to Amarillo, which has been discussed here several times, is apparently a many-splendored thing. Most local citizens seem to think it would be a good thing for Hereford in the long run, but they want more facts and more local reaction before taking a stand.

Some who can see many advantages for the city in having an interstate, can also see that their viewpoint might be different if they owned a business on Hwy 60 in town. From our information, there seems to be little hope that the interstate could be routed through town.

A public meeting, strictly for local people, is to be announced soon. If you have an opinion on the matter, make it a point to attend this meeting. Hereford will have to announce its position on the matter before long.

The pastor was rejoicing with a little old lady over one of her relatives who had finally joined the church after a lifetime of riotous living.

When she wondered if the oldest's carryings-on would be forgiven, the pastor assured her: "Yes, indeed. The greater the sinner, the greater the saint." "Oh," she mused wistfully, "I wish I had learned that 40 years ago." — Arkansas Baptist.

Livestock Meet Is Scheduled

The Deaf Smith County Livestock Committee will sponsor a beef cattle program Monday for all persons interested.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the Simms Community Building and is intended primarily for beef cattle producers in the Simms-Walcott area, although everyone is invited.

Dr. Gene Cope, former Hereford veterinarian, and currently area specialist veterinarian, Texas Extension Service, will discuss health programs for incoming stocker cattle.

Dr. Gal Parrot, area beef cattle specialist with the Texas Extension Service, will speak on the nutritional requirements of stocker cattle upon arrival and during the grazing program.

Elmo Hall, chairman of the Deaf Smith County Livestock Committee, will moderate the program.

Justin McBride, county agent, said the meeting's purpose is an "attempt to provide information..." for persons farther away from the city "at a more convenient location."

Equal Employment, Local Education Board Topics

The Hereford Independent School District board of trustees discussed numerous items at their Thursday night session, but discussed in more detail the application here of a community education program and equal employment opportunity regulations as they affect present board policy.

Another highlight of the five-hour meeting was a report from Supt. Roy Hartman of a visit from a representative of the Technical Assistance Personnel office to look at possible sites for a new elementary school.

The board also:

- Discussed a follow-up report on the graduating class of 1971 in relation to college.
- Heard reports on enrollment, cafeteria, transportation and the tax office.
- Accepted a bid on a new car for the superintendent.
- Hired Rex Manley as the building trade instructor, and
- Officially installed Clark Andrews to the board of trustees, replacing Raymond White who resigned.

Richard Robons, Vocational Director for the school system, presented a film and discussion on the "Community Education" program and session he attended recently in Flint, Mich. Looking at possibly applying the same type of program in the local school system, officials sent Robinson to the session in late July and he returned with hopes of putting the program into operation here, although not on as large a scale as in Michigan.

"What it amounted to was a first hand look at a new concept of an old idea," Robinson said.

"The Community Education Program, in the final analysis is the total use of schools and school facilities by all the people of a community.

"We are just in the exploratory stage at this point — just feeling it out."

The program, developed years ago in the Michigan city of 200,000 population, is based on the idea that taxpayers furnish much of the money used in the construction of schools and facilities, and thus should have those buildings and facilities open to them as well as the children. The concept is to have the doors of school open 24-hours a day, seven days a week, and not just for students, but for adults as well.

"The big question we face here," Robinson said, "is that it worked in Flint, Michigan, but will it work in Hereford, Texas? We are looking at two entirely different set-ups — they have an industrial area there where we have an agricultural area here."

The board agreed the Community Education program is a good one, and went along with the idea of slowly developing the program and feeling out the pulse of the community on the

Whitefaces Nip Dons 31-22

Taking advantage of six Palo Duro turnovers, and turning five of those into scores, the Hereford Whitefaces chalked up their first-ever victory over the Amarillo school in a 31-22 battle royal Saturday night in Amarillo.

The Whiteface defense, again the key to Hereford's second win without a loss, raked in five Don fumbles and hauled in one pass interception to lead the way.

Before a crowd estimated at about 6,500, the Whitefaces showed why they now rank among the top 30 in the state's AAAA classification.

The deciding points came when Terry Poindexter hit on a 27-yard field goal late in the game to put the game out of reach of the Dons. The host Dons had trailed 28-7 at one point, but came back to score two touchdowns, kick one point after and run for a two-point conversion to narrow the gap to only six points.

But, that was when Poindexter came in and tacked on the 27-yarder for the icing. The field goal came with 4:32 left in the game, but Palo Duro would not give up. They pushed the ball back down the field to the Herford 36 before they were stopped and Hereford took over and ran out the clock.

Hereford's first score of the game came with 6:06 left in the first period when Keith Kitchen, on a keeper, went in from just inches out. The TD was set up on a fumble recovery by Joe Sheffy at the Palo Duro 34.

Three key passes from Kitchen moved the ball down to the Palo Duro 3-yard line where Wesley High plunged to within inches of the score. Kitchens followed with his keeper for the 6-0 lead. Terry Poindexter tacked on the PAT and Hereford led, 7-0.

The first quarter ended with the Whitefaces ahead, 7-0, but they were already on their way to another score as the period ended. The Dons fumbled just into the second period and Hereford's big Jim Marsh recovered at the Palo Duro 17 and on the first play, Kitchens hit Terry Champ for the second score. Poindexter again added

Truck Flips, Driver Safe

An Oklahoma City truck driver escaped injury late Thursday night when his truck over-turned about 17 miles northeast of Hereford on a county road.

Clifford L. Reece was enroute to a feedyard north of the city when his vehicle, loaded with cattle, hit a slick spot on the road and flipped over.

Of the 55 cattle in the truck, 13 were killed in the crash and several others had to be destroyed later.

The accident occurred, at 10:30 p.m., but investigating officers did not receive a call on the accident until about 6 a.m. Friday.

NORM Spokesman Says

Agriculture Is Key To Future

BY MARSHALL DAY News Editor

Agriculture had been proven to be the key to a country's economy, but people refuse to accept the idea that this can govern the world of profit and loss, a spokesman for the National Association For Raw

Materials, Inc. said Friday. Arnold E. Paulson, executive director of the national organization, in a seminar before about 200 persons Friday at the Bull Barn said it has been discovered, but unheeded, that agriculture is the key to this country's economy and is responsible for great periods of depression and great periods of prosperity.

"Economy is one of the most complex topics of this day," he said, "and economists have tried to keep it complex."

"Economics is something that touches the lives of every man, woman and child in this country. What is economics? Economics is the production and distribution of goods and services, but unfortunately this is only one-half the economic formula. There must be exchange without excess debt and this is something we do not have."

The well-known research analyst from Granite Falls, Minn., backed by history and data, told the crowd that agriculture holds the key to the future of the nation and this is because agriculture precedes the rest of the nation's economy by one year.

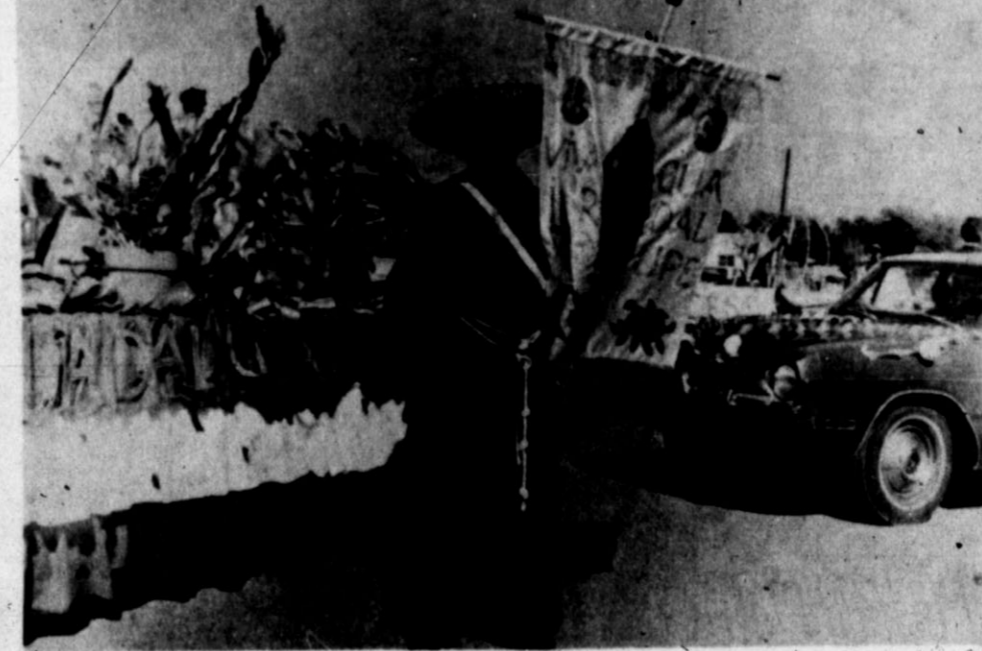

In 1937, Carl H. Wilkins graduated from college," he said. "He was not satisfied with the reasons given as to why this country went into a depression in the late 30s."

"We had every single thing required to operate a solid economy, yet all of a sudden, the economy ground to a halt. Some 12 million people were unemployed, there were thousands of hungry people in bread lines. Automobile production was off 74 per cent and the nation's income was off 54 per cent. Why?"

"Wilkins discovered that each government has its own theory about economy, but none have worked in the history of this world—all have failed. And the reason, Mr. Wilkins found out, what that when the government went to working with one segment of the economy, it worked with it to the point that the other segments went bankrupt."

"This is what we are facing now. Maybe not in 1972 or maybe not in 1982, but when it does come, every free nation in the world is going to collapse." Paulson said Wilkins, a mathematical wizard with a

County Is Second In Total Income

Agricultural Sales Total $103,354,000 During Past Year, Figures Show

Deaf Smith county ranked second in the state in total income from agricultural sales for 1971 with a total of $103,354,000.

John C. White, State Agriculture Commissioner, announced recently that only Hidalgo County in the Rio Grande Valley topped Deaf Smith in agricultural income.

Deaf Smith and Hidalgo were the only two counties in the state which exceeded the $100 million mark in total agricultural income. Hidalgo was ranked first in the state with $117,305,000.

Justin McBride, county agricultural extension agent, said Friday that the Statistical Reporting Service at Austin-Harry C. Logan, administrator—in co-operation with the state agricultural commission, reported that of the total income for Deaf Smith county, about $75 million could be attributed to the area's cattle feeding industry.

"We've had a slight downward trend in income from crops," said McBride. "But we've had an increase in income from livestock."

Total income from livestock in 1969 was almost $55 million, and increased to over $74 million in 1970, while crop income was listed at almost $30 million for 1969, and dropped to just over $28 million in 1970.

McBride said that Hidalgo county's lower rank in previous years might be a result of its large vegetable crops and fluctuating prices.

"This was probably due to depressed prices in the county of Hidalgo," he said. "You could safely say that Hidalgo county is a county that has large vegetable and fruit production."

"The fact that they had a good production and high prices in 1971 helped them to rank first. We're in a more stable price area, and our prices don't fluctuate so much," he continued.

While McBride did not have the exact number of cattle actually marketed in 1971, he said that the 1970 figure was right at 400,000 head.

"We would assume that the figure for 71 would be somewhere in the vicinity of this, and slightly higher," he said.

Livestock products amounted to almost two-thirds of the total state agricultural income, which topped the $3 billion mark for the third consecutive year.

McBride added that Deaf Smith County has ranked first in the past few years, and that the drop in income from crops may have hurt the total figure. He added that the total county income for 1971, including government payments, which were not listed in the state commission report, was $112,522,000.

The major agriculture production area of the state, according to the Texas Department of Agriculture, is the irrigated High Plains. That crop reporting district had cash receipts of crops and livestock of $668,169,000. The Blacklands were second in the state with cash receipts of $347,816,000.

The other top 10 counties in the state in cash receipts were Farmer, Castro, Hale, Swisher, Cameron, Lubbock, Hansford, project. Another item that was discussed in depth was that of equal employment in the school system. The board was presented a recent ruling concerning the hiring and firing of pregnant women and was asked to read over the law and seriously consider a possible change in the local board's present policy on pregnant women.

"We have been very lenient on our policy in regard to pregnancy," Hartman told the board, "but maybe it is time we took a long look at what we have."

The law now states that a woman cannot be fired or relieved of her work simply because she is pregnant. She can, if her physical and mental condition allows, work up to a day of birth then return the following day if she so desires.

The Hereford board policy is not in line with the law as it now stands because it states that a woman must terminate her employment when she reaches three months of pregnancy.

"We don't think there will be anything to worry about, but since this is the law, we simply need to change our policy to reflect the same thing," the superintendent said.

In another report, Hartman told the board of a visit from Gilbert Conoley of the office of Technical Assistance Personnel who came here to review possible school site locations for a new elementary school if one is ever approved here. Hartman told the board Conoley said the system might run into problems if it builds another school to replace Central Elementary in the same location. He said there probably would need to be a better Anglo-Mexican American ratio, and that, as it seems now, would require busing if a new school is built in the same location.

A follow-up report, compiled by Wilma Braddy, high school counselor, on the 1971 graduating class, was presented to the board for their information.

The report of the 259 seniors of last year was aimed at providing information that "will help improve the effectiveness of the college preparatory program and the vocational school in Hereford High School."

The seniors of the graduating class were contacted and those not attending school gave information concerning their present place of employment. The colleges that the graduates reported that they attended for a semester were asked for transcripts showing the first semester of college work. The percentages in the study was based on the 259 local seniors excluding the two exchange students who graduated that year.

Results of the survey showed that 235 of the 259 seniors were contacted and 115 were in college and 14 in vocational schools, making a total of 129 or 49.81 per cent of the total graduating class attending colleges or vocational schools after graduation.

The summary shows that 81.73 per cent of the seniors who graduated in 1971 and who went to college made academically acceptable grades and were in good standing in their college or university at the end of the first semester.

There were 13.9 per cent of the graduates who attended colleges who were placed on academic suspension at the end of the first semester and 4.34 per cent dropped out before the end of the semester. High school records show that 15 of the 16 graduates suspended had grade point averages in the lower half of the graduating class.

The comparison of college and high school grades of the 1970-71 seniors reveals that 58.4 per cent of those attending college were able to maintain good averages as good as or better than their averages in high school. There were nine grades of "F" and 34 grades of "D" made by students who remained in good standing.

As in previous studies, this one shows that most of the non-college bound graduates work in the Hereford area for at least one semester after graduation. The per cent of married and unemployed housewives indicated in the study of the 1970-71 class was higher than in other studies.

photographic memory, went back to do a complete research on the reasons for the depression. He wanted to find out not only how depressions occur, but how profits are created.

Between 1938 and 1968 Wilkins conducted the most extensive study on economics the world has ever known, Paulson said. But, by 1942 he had completed enough of the study to know why the economy ticked. He had discovered that agriculture was the key.

"He tried to take this before the Secretary of Agriculture and House Committee, but they never got to first base with it," Paulson said.

It was during that time that this nation was on the verge of entering World War II and Wilkins told high officials that in order to keep the nation from going into another depression, farm parity must be raised to 100 per cent. It was, and a depression was averted, according to Paulson, but high officials refused to believe that the raising of parity was the reason. They felt the war itself averted a depression.

"Wilkins had discovered that all profit made in this country was equal to the raw materials produced. He discovered that all science cannot produce something from nothing therefore there must be a 'new wealth' created to boost the national income.

"This 'new wealth' can be nothing but raw materials because there is nothing on this earth that starts new except raw materials, whether be fossil fuel or corn."

The analyst said the system now used by this country is to get more people to spend more money thus necessitating the borrowing of more money.

"Over the past 20 years we have been told we are living in the greatest prosperity ever known to the world. But, this prosperity is bound to amount to debt expansion.

"There has been $1,600 billion debt expansion added to this country since 1950, so you can see we are not really prosperous. We are living in a fool's paradise.

the point-after and it was 14-0. Less than two minutes later Hereford was on the board again when Marsh again pounced on the ball, this time at the Palo Duro 22.

Wesley High carried for nine yards then two more then Danny Harris zipped through the line on the option for an 8-yard touchdown thrust. Again it was Poindexter with the kick and Hereford held a stunning 21-0 lead with seven minutes left in the half.

In the same fashion that Hereford used to score, the Dons came back with about five minutes left in the initial half to recover a Hereford fumble on the Hereford 21.

Three plays later, runningback James Tipton scampered over from eight yards out. The kick was good and Hereford's lead was cut to 21-7.

Hereford sent another player across the goal line late in the half, but the play was called back because of a penalty. Kitchens hit Alan Cornelius with a 21-yard strike, but a holding penalty nullified the gain.

Hereford came back again in the opening moments of the second half to capitalize on another PD miscue when Champ intercepted a pass at the Don 20.

From there, James Harris picked up seven then went over from 15 yards out after the previous play lost two. Poindexter booted the point after things that is going to bankrupt this system. When the day comes that the well of the private economy goes dry, we are going to go into a collapsing depression."

He said it is time to "wake people up and expose them to the truth," of what is happening in this country.

and the score was 28-7. Palo Duro scored with 2:37 left in the game when they moved down the field steadily then Mark Hall hit Willie Nash for a 12-yard TD. Hereford was called off-sides on the point after attempt, so the Dons went for the two-point conversion and made it to make the score 28-22 in favor of Hereford.

Poindexter's field goal followed to put the game out of reach.

Statistics for the game showed:

First downs: Hereford 14, Palo Duro 14,
Yds. Rushing: Hereford 171, Palo Duro 173,
Yds. Passing: Hereford 119, Palo Duro 51,
Passes: Hereford 14-31, and Palo Duro 5-21.

JV Tops Borger, Shorthorns Lose

After battling to a 6-6 standoff in the first half, the Hereford JV Longhorns erupted for five touchdowns in the second half enroute to a 42-6 victory over the Borger junior varsity here Thursday afternoon.

The sophomore Shorthorns didn't fare so well, losing a 25-6 decision to the Canyon JV at Canyon Thursday night.

Chuck High led the Longhorn attack by scoring three times, and Doug Charest added two other scoring runs. Guard Terry Bell tallied the other touchdown, blocking a punt and dashing 40 yards with the ball.

High's longest scoring scamper was for 53 yards. The other scores came from inside the 10-yard line. A punt by Mike Munnerlyn, which hit the corner flag at the goal line, setup one score. Paul Timberlake recovered a fumble on the 4-yard line, and High immediately plunged over for a score.

Coach Jim Arthur had praise for the team's performance. Outstanding players on offense included guard Ronald Johnson, center David Loerwald and quarterback James Higgins. Turning in top defensive play were Bell, Timberlake, Bucky Payne, Jimmy Sandoval and Chip Guseman.

The Longhorns play Palo Duro here at 4 p.m. Thursday. In the game at Canyon, the sophomores fell behind by 12-0 in the first quarter. A long touchdown pass and a short run accounted for the Canyon scores. The home team drove for another score in the second period to take a 19-0 lead.

Canyon made it 25-0 in the third period, then Hereford got its score in the final quarter. Ronny Ohlg scored the touchdown on a pass play. Hereford lost two fumbles in the contest and had two passes intercepted.

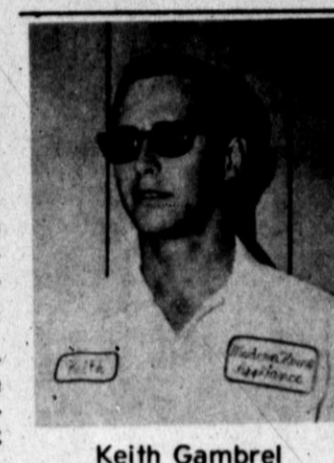

The Shorthorns travel to Lubbock Thursday for a 6 p.m. game with the Coronado sophs.

Hereford Firm Featured In Magazine Story

A Hereford business — Cowan became known locally as "Doc" through humorous advertisements for his "Watch Hospital" and his prescriptions for sick wristwatches, reports the article. Cowan believes in the power of advertising; the story continues, and recently launched an advertising campaign with a weekly information column titled "Gem Wise."

The column is published in the Brand. "I think the jeweler should acquaint the public with his store, location and views," he says.

Cowan and his wife, Anne, have been in the jewelry business since 1937 when they opened a store in Throckmorton. They moved to Hereford on New Year's day, 1952, and six years later moved into a larger store in the next block.

The article points out the business is a family affair, with Cowan's son-in-law, Charles Skinner, assisting in the firm, as well as Virginia Skinner, Charles' wife and Doc's daughter.

St. Joseph's Child Development Opens

The St. Joseph's Child Development Center for children of migrant families will open Monday, September 25, 1972.

Admission to the program will be on the basis of need and migrant status. A migrant child, for the purpose of the program, will be any child from a family which has been involved in farm-related work outside of the county for at least six weeks during the past two years. Each child must have had his third birthday as of September 1.

Center, south of the city, or phone 364-6951.

From August 21-25, Mrs. Gamez, who is co-ordinator, attended a training workshop in McAllen. All teachers and assistant teachers for the center also attending a two-week training workshop in part presented by staff development directors from the Southwest Educational Development Laboratory from Austin.

The Southwest Educational Development Laboratory has created the Early Childhood System for economically disadvantaged and culturally different children. The System is related to the children's ethnic and linguistic heritage, and emphasizes the teaching of sensory-perceptual, cognitive, and language skills.

The Early Childhood System is offered in four variations; a three-year sequential bi-lingual program for children ages three to five; a two-year sequential bi-lingual program for children ages four and five; bi-lingual Kindergarten; and Kindergarten-English speakers.

Each one of these variations employs four basic components — instructional materials, staff development, parent education, and the environment for learning (learning ecology).

Parent Involvement is a process of community action that enriches the entire educational project: home, school, and community work together to insure the child's development.

The goals of the Parent Involvement Program are as follows: (1) to initiate and maintain positive attitudes, interaction, and understanding between home and school regarding early childhood education and parent involvement; (2) to increase the parent's knowledge of community resources and facilities and of how these can be used to improve family living; (3) to inform parents of their children's learning experiences in school.

YHT-YFT Week Will Have Local Activity

Annual observance of Sept. 17-23 as YHT-YFT Week, proclaimed in Hereford by Mayor Jim Sears, is being sponsored by the local chapters of Young Homemakers of Texas and Young Farmers of Texas. Posters in business houses are being placed by members of the YHT Chapter and a display window arranged at LaPlata Junior High School. Young Homemakers are observing the special week immediately after election of one of their members, Mrs. Jim Culpepper, as Area I president for the coming year.

Mrs. Connie Urbanczyk is the local president, with Mmes. Larry Alley, Floyd Neill, David Hill and Charles Weatherford as vice presidents who share the duties of all other officers. Mrs. M.T. Burelsmith is advisor.

Young Farmers of the county have Jackie Andrews as president, Tommy Sparkman vice president and Ronnie Andrews secretary-treasurer.

These state organizations function under the Texas Education Agency, and are formed for educational purposes. Membership is open to farmers and homemakers not enrolled in high school and not more than 35 years of age.

One activity in the YHT is supporting Future Homemakers of America groups in the public schools. The chapter advisor is a homemaking teacher.

In addition to monthly programs on a variety of subjects aimed to improve their skills and the lives of their families, Young Homemakers take part in community service projects through the year.

Home, school, church and government are interests symbolized in the YHT emblem; the motto, Young Homemakers - Heart of the Home, stresses the first and principal one.

Recognition is given each year by awards on levels from the local chapter to the state. Hereford YHT Chapter has begun a new policy this year of naming a young homemaker of the month from its members.

The annual awards banquet of both organizations, when outstanding work and workers will be cited, is scheduled for Nov. 11.

Choir To Attend Canyon Festival

Hereford High School choirs will participate in the West Texas State University music department's Honors Choir Festival Sept. 23.

Choirs are selected for the event on the basis of performances at the Interscholastic League choral contest last spring. Each choir will perform two numbers beginning at 10 a.m. in the Activities Center ballroom. The event is free to the public.

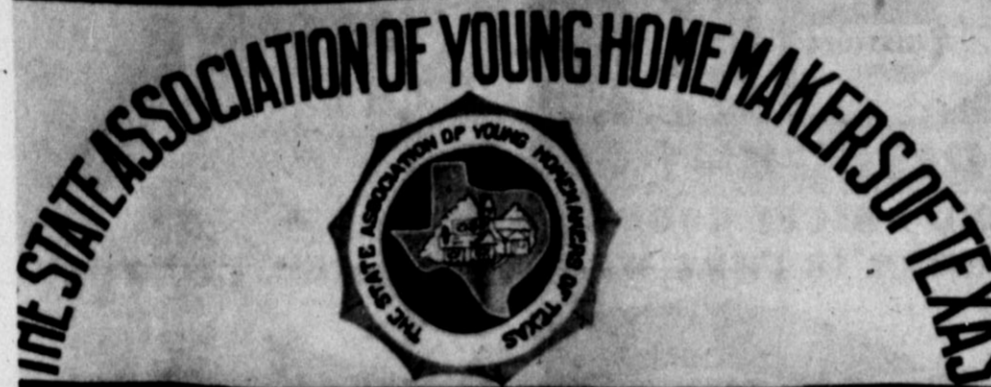

After the presentations there will be a critique of each choir by Lyn Whitten, director of choral activities at the University of Colorado. The WTSU Choral will also perform at 2:30.

The Hereford choral groups will be under the direction of Fred Ratliff.

Date Is Fixed For Madre Mia Club

Postponed a week, a breakfast to begin fall meetings of La Madre Mia Study Club is rescheduled at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. Bud Snyder, president for the new term.

Illness of Mrs. Snyder's child caused the postponement from last Thursday, when members had planned to open the season.

MARK SPECIAL WEEK — Members of Hereford Chapter, Young Homemakers of Texas, are publicizing annual Young Homemakers-Young Farmers Week, Sept. 17-23, with banners and posters. Mrs. Connie Urbanczyk, left above, is president of the chapter and Mrs. Jim Culpepper, a former president, has just been elected Area I chairman. They display the state name and emblem. Mrs. Charles Weatherford, lower photo, past local and area president, pins up one of the posters made by members of the chapter.

Club Maps Plans Of Show

The schedule for Bud to Blossom Garden Club's fall flower show, to be held Oct. 14, was discussed by members of the schedule committee, Mmes. Wayne Porter, and Gaylon Bryan, when members met Friday morning in the home of Mrs. John Chavarria.

Theme of the show will be

This Is My Country, and the place is Pioneer Gas Company's Flame Room. Mrs. Porter is general chairman for the annual event.

Three workshops will precede the show: One on horticulture is scheduled at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 29 in the home of Mrs. Ray Polan, an artistic workshop Oct. 6 at a salad lunch and a staging workshop at 1 p.m. Oct. 13, both in the Flame Room.

Tips and Tricks on Flower Shows was the subject presented by Mrs. Sam Long and Mrs. Jess Robinson Friday morning.

Mrs. Gentry presided for business as members planned to continue service this year in supplying transportation for Kings Manor retirement home residents on assigned days. Mrs. Steve Coneway is chairman of this project.

Mrs. Polan announced the fall luncheon of Deaf Smith County Federated Women's Clubs, set for Oct. 30.

Mrs. Melvin Ward and Mrs. Caspar Morales were guests; other members present were Mmes. Bill Nelson; Billy Wayne Sisson and Raymond Zamparria.

Women's Activities Planned

Community activities for the year were planned by the Women's Organization of St. Anthony's Catholic Church after a salad supper in the parish school auditorium Thursday evening. Mrs. Rita Hoffman presided for business.

Members voted to sponsor two groups of Bluebirds, younger girls in the Campfire Girl program, through the current school year. They also decided to continue assistance to the Meals on Wheels project one week of each month.

The Rev. Boniface Riedmann, pastor, spoke, stressing church women's responsibility in welcoming newcomers to the parish.

He and the Rev. John Kiesling were guests, and 28 members were present.

Hostesses were Mmes. Hoffman, Ernest D. Flood, Walter Paetzold, Joe Artho, Bill Billeland and Albert Simnacher.

In 1860, with distance still a factor in delegate attendance, Horace Greeley, editor of the New York Tribune, was named by Oregon to serve as the head of its delegation to the Republican convention.

Dinner Begins Calliopian Year

Representatives to a planning committee to study the need for a fine arts center in Hereford, Mrs. George Warner and Mrs. Bob Word were appointed from Calliopian Study Club by Mrs. Tom Kendrick, president, Thursday evening.

The club's annual fall social to begin a new season was held in the Kendrick home with the theme, Pioneers Never Had It So Good! to introduce a study course titled Broadening Our Horizons.

Mrs. Keith Simmer presented the 1972-73 yearbooks and sketched the program outline, which presents glimpses of today's world and ranges over topics including morality, women's rights, ecology and outer space.

The club voted to continue the project of driving Kings Manor retirement home residents on shopping trips, and will serve two mornings each week in the month of July.

The appointments to a group which will consider the possibility of a community arts center, were made in response to a request resulting from a preliminary meeting last spring.

Committee Heads For Year Named

Standing committee chairmen for the new year were named in Dawn Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon, at a meeting in Dawn Community Building. Mrs. H.D. Fowler, president, announced the appointments.

Mrs. Pat Smith will head the yearbook-program committee, Mrs. Jerry Stewart the recreation committee; Mrs. Leroy Johnson the committee on finance, Mrs. H.V. McCabe, education; Mrs. Don Ed Middleton, cheer.

Contribution to a fund for a new community building at Dawn will be a club project this year, members decided.

Mrs. Fowler gave the program, demonstrating work with plaster of Paris to make cameo plaques. Mrs. Ray Stewart was hostess. In addition to the new chairmen, others present were Mrs. Garry Smith and Mrs. Gene Meacham.

Yearbook committee members who were hostesses with the chairman, Mrs. Simmer, and Mrs. Kendrick, are Mmes. J.T. Gilbreath and Ansel McDowell.

They appointed tables for the dinner with cloths and napkins of red bandanna print and used other suggestions of pioneer life in decorations.

Members at the dinner included Mmes. Clyde Cave, C.J. Crump, E.M. Dettman, Alton Fraser, Dale Furr, David Gibson, Gerry Grubbs, Sue James, Emmett Milburn, Trow Mims, Gene Parsley, Jack Wilcox and Hazen Woods.

FIVE-GENERATION GROUP — Residents of Deaf Smith County were among family members who met recently in Tishomingo, Okla., to honor 92-year-old Mrs. Bertha Rogers of that city in the home of her sisters, Mrs. Lena Moody and Mrs. Annie Gittings. Five generations of the family included Mrs. Rogers' daughter-in-law, Lena Gudett of Adrian; granddaughter, Helen Hayes of Phoenix, great-granddaughter, Mrs. Hubert Bronniman of Wacoff, and the Bronniman children, Michelle and Shannon. Adults in the picture from left are Mmes. Hayes, Rogers, Gudett and Bronniman.

Costume Party Includes Guests

Change Your Occupation, was the theme of a party given by the new Alpha Iota Mu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, to entertain members' husbands and other guests Thursday evening in Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

Small Talk

BY SUE COLEMAN
Woman's Editor

FIVE HEREFORD COEDS at West Texas State University have pledged social sororities in the fall rush season, a note from the Canyon campus says.

Terie Beth Line, a sophomore, and Diana Zinser, freshman, are pledges of Chi Omega, which has as its national philanthropic project assistance in the Cancer Society drive.

Another soph, Mona Gale Gibson, joined Zeta Tau Alpha. Work with retarded children is the service project of this sorority.

Freshmen Valerie Chisholm and Lorie Teters pledged Delta Zeta, which has projects of aid to Navajo Indians and education of children with hearing disabilities.

I'm glad the news release mentioned service projects; social sororities usually send only the names of their pledges and leave you with the feeling that their sole objective is a good time.

NOT THAT I AM OPPOSED to good times, or downright frivolity, especially for college girls — or boys. Sometimes, looking at the grim devotion to causes of so many young people today, I get the idea that there is indeed a joyless life.

It makes me want to remind them of the man nearing his hundredth birthday who was asked what he had most enjoyed and most regretted in his long life.

"It ain't the foolishness of the good times I had that I regret most," he observed, "but the good times I might as well have had but didn't."

ALL FOUR GRAND-MOTHERS of the principals in the Kathy Williams-Mike Kemp wedding Saturday evening were guests at the ceremony, the bride's coming from other cities.

They are Mrs. Mabel Chafin of Lubbock and Mrs. R.L. White of Amherst — and Grandpa White came, too. The groom's grandmothers live here, Mrs. A.G. Kemp and Mrs. C.E. Watts.

Economic Questions and Answers

Q. Are movie ticket prices exempt from controls?

A. No. Although producers and distributors of motion pictures are exempt under the Economic Stabilization program, exhibitors or theatres not exempt under the small business exemption are subject to controls.

Q. My landlord announced a rent increase to take effect when my lease expires next month. I want to move out, but I didn't give him 30 days notice as required by the lease. Have I entered into a new lease under the Stabilization regulations?

A. No. The failure of a tenant to give timely notice of intent to vacate in the face of an announced rent increase does not, in itself, constitute entering into a lease.

Q. Does a manufacturer take productivity gains into account only in cases where a price increase is based on increased labor costs?

A. No. Productivity gains should be taken into account in calculating all price increases, not just those based on increased labor costs.

Q. Can a manufacturing firm increase prices on the basis of anticipated cost increases?

A. No. In general, a manufacturer can raise the price of an item over the base price level only to reflect allowable cost increases incurred since the last price increase on the item or since Jan. 1, 1971, whichever was later. In addition, the firm must continue to incur those costs, reduce them to reflect productivity gains and must not increase its profit margin over that which prevailed during the base period. However, increased costs which a price category I firm expects to incur in the future may form the basis of a request to the Price Commission for a price increase if 1) the increased costs will actually be incurred within 30 days of the request, 2) both the amount of the cost increases and their direct effect on the production costs are accurately foreseeable, and 3) after the effective date, the requested price increase will only be reflected, if necessary, in an insignificant quantity of the product, whose production was not subject to increased costs.

Q. Can a hospital increase its charges because it has purchased some new medical equipment?

A. Yes. An allowable cost increase justifying a price increase for a hospital may include aggregate expenditures for new technology, such as new equipment and services, to the extent these expenditures are not charged directly to the individuals benefiting from the equipment and services. In addition, to be an allowable cost item, the excess of expenses for new technology over revenues must not be higher than 1.7 percent of total annual expenses of the institution.

For more information, see IRS Publications S-3014, "Price Controls and Health Care Services." It's available free by dropping a postcard to your Internal Revenue district office.

Q. I know that longevity increases are excluded from the Pay Board's 5.5 percent standard. But where I work periodic wage increases also require a supervisor's rating. Is this still considered a longevity increase?

A. If the increase is related solely to your length of service and operates without significant exercise of your employer's discretion or his subjective evaluation of your work performance; it is considered a longevity increase.

Police flout rules

A policeman calling numbers at a bingo session in Indi-players called "bingo" after only three numbers, but he allowed the player to receive a prize. Soon other players were doing the same thing.

The session was arranged by local police for mentally handicapped patients and it was decided not to stick closely to the rules. One of the patients remarked: "These policemen are crazy. Every time we yell bingo we get a prize. It makes you wonder about them."

State governors best presidential prospects

The typical major-party presidential candidate since 1876, other than incumbent president, has been a lawyer-governor who belongs to the party out of power. In the last 24 elections, beginning with 1876 when both major parties nominated governors, 11 state chief executives have been nominated, and five have won on their first tries.

Newcomer From Colorado

'Junking' Hobby Nets Fine Antique Pieces

BY LORI HOPSON
Staff Writer

A NEWCOMER TO HEREFORD from Grand Junction, Colo., Mrs. Jim Pikes says that the Texas plains are quite a change.

"I miss the mountains," she says. "But I do like the green plains."

The Pikes moved to Hereford about a month ago when Pike was appointed Director of Secondary Education for the Hereford school system.

"His main objective," says his wife, "is to co-ordinate activities on each level, and establish guidelines, so there will be a measurable outcome in learning."

"ONE OF HIS MAIN interests," she adds, "is encouraging behavioral objectives. But these are only a part of what he will be doing."

Mrs. Pike met her husband while both were attending Western State College in Gunnison, Colo. She was majoring in psychology and sociology, and is now working on her master's degree in sociology, psychology, and English.

Pike received his B.A. in speech and drama, then received his master's degree in English. He now also holds a Ph.D. in education.

AFTER THEIR MARRIAGE the couple moved to Grand Junction, where both taught for two years. Pike then became language co-ordinator. Mrs. Pike continued to teach senior English, psychology and sociology.

The Pikes have three children, Janell, 10, and Elisa, 7. Both attend Northwest Elementary school. Paul Kevin is the family's youngest at 14 months.

Mrs. Pike says she doesn't plan to teach again "...as long as the baby's small. I like to stay with them when they're small, because I know if I didn't, they'd be grown up, and I'd wish I had."

"EVERY PLACE HAS A CHARACTER to it," says Mrs. Pike. "I'm just now finding out about it here. I haven't been here long enough to know much, but I'm learning that there are differences. But they don't matter, in fact they're interesting."

"We've met some very warm and cordial people since we've been here," she adds. "They miss living in the country," says Mrs. Pike of her daughters. "We've always lived out, never in a suburban area. The interesting thing about it here, is that if you want to live out, you have to plan on buying at least a couple of sections!"

MRS. PIKE LISTS HORSEBACK riding and outdoor sports as favorite family pastimes. Pike has a two-year-old paint that he is working with now, and the family has another horse in Colorado.

"We're trying to find a good kids' horse for the girls," says Mrs. Pike.

As hobbies, Mrs. Pike again lists riding, and adds reading and painting.

"I enjoy outdoor sports, but I don't like to watch any of it on TV," she says, "I'm just not a TV fan. I get out and scout around on my bicycle sometimes, too."

ANOTHER OF HER FAVORITE hobbies is what she describes as "Going junking."

"I like to look for antiques in odd places," she says, "I wouldn't want to go to an antique auction and just buy — I enjoy the looking around."

Among her "junk" finds is a valuable old brass bed, which she found at the Palisades Hotel in Palisades, a small community near Grand Junction. The hotel was being remodeled and transformed to bank buildings when she found the bed.

ANOTHER "FIND" is a floor mirror, which dates from the time of the Meeker Massacre, and obscure Indian fight which is a part of Colorado history.

"I've been offered money for it," says Mrs. Pike. "But a nice old lady gave it to me, and I couldn't give it up. It had been in her family for years. She was 86 then, and it's been 12 years since she gave it to me."

Mrs. Pike also has an old pot-bellied stove, valued at $75 now, which she purchased for a dollar. Another interesting piece is an old combination desk-display case.

ONE OF MRS. PIKE'S favorite antiques is the desk she found in a small country school she attended as a child.

"In the country," she says, they still used the old desks for quite a while." The desk features wrought-iron legs, and is of the kind which sat in rows, the table of one desk being a part of the one in front. Mrs. Pike's desk has one complete desk, and another seat at the front, where the next desk would be in the three-room school she attended as a child.

A 135-year-old silver butter dish is another of Mrs. Pike's collection, which she found at her grandfather's home.

"He was going to just throw it out!" she exclaims.

THE USEFUL ONION
A laboratory worker who was finding it hard to trim off 100 pounds because of his social coffee-break snacking, decided to do what had been suggested as a fool-proof and anti-social solution to the weight problem. Instead of the daily coffee-break, he ate an onion. A nice plump juicy onion. The change wrought miracles in that he did lose pounds and also a desire for fattening foods.

The onion took the edge off his hunger, added a mere 25 calories to his day's intake and tossed in vitamins A, B1, B2, and C, along with minerals and proteins. Anyway, he was fond of onions, as are most people, although most prefer theirs cooked.

ONIONS. There are many different types. Few vegetable crops are of greater importance than the onion. It is a hardy biennial which is a native of western Asia. Its botanical name is Allium cepa. It belongs to the lily family, liliaceae.

Several years ago one of the Dallas garden clubs took lilies as their year's horticultural and artistic study. It was most interesting and informative when a resume of the study was given at a workshop.

And when we viewed the artistic arrangements, which included several featuring the onion. It was soon proved that not only was the onion a very popular vegetable, but also a pretty and attractive plant material or focal interest in arranging.

Really the onion is recognized as one of the most popular of all vegetables. It is used, and grown in practically all nations.

The popular onion genus — botanically Allium; and embracing chives, leeks, garlic, globe onions, scallions, shallots — is one of man's oldest and most preferred foods. The use of onions as a food dates back to the stone age, people ate them heartily.

The onion is very sensitive to sunshine for growth; in places where the daylight hours are shortened the onion does not thrive, therefore it has to be imported into these countries.

The ordinary onion is represented by many types and numerous varieties. In many instances they are grown as floral materials and for accent plantings. It varies in shape, size, and coloring, each variety having its own outstanding characteristic.

The tree onion is a curious plant, known also as Egyptian onion; it is quite distinct from the ordinary onion, one of the chief reasons being that it bears a bunch of small bulbs at the top of the stems instead of a head of flowers.

The bulbs are chiefly used for pickling. It grows best in full sunshine. These are very often used for planting around rock gardens or lily ponds. Coloring and plant formation creates an interesting planting.

The Welsh or perennial onion is grown for the sake of its leaves and stems. This onion does not produce true bulbs and the flavoring is taken from the leaves and stems.

Onions aragonensis is a tender shrub brought from Spain, and grows one to two feet tall. It bears yellow flowers in early spring. They are used in rock gardens, therefore does well in light well-drained soil. They thrive best in a sunny location.

The ordinary onion is represented by many types and numerous varieties and is grown for food purposes. These are grown from seed, sets or small bulbs. Quality onions can be grown best when planted in deeply dug and fertilized soil and in a sunny location.

The onion bed should be plowed well or dug carefully, turning the soil well. Compost is recommended to be used in generous amounts in the soil. Soil should be free of stones, lumps sticks.

Fine textured soil produces excellent quality onions. Draining should be good, and they should be grown free of weeds.

It is advised that the weeds should be pulled and not hoed.

as often cuts or bruises appear on the matured onion, this makes a poor quality onion and affects flavor.

White Sweet Spanish, Bermuda onions are a popular onion. The yellow globe is also an onion which is planted and produces well. Recent years, hybrid seed have been produced and they are being accepted readily.

Plant in early spring. Harvest when growth cycle is completed. Do not expose unnecessarily to the hot sun. The small gardener can harvest and store onions by braiding the tops together and hanging them from nails or rafters. To use them simply cut off from stem as needed.

Many people have favorites as to color, but one author stated that the color is not important. The old belief that red and yellow onions are strongest, white ones mildest, is a mistaken idea. The strength (pungency, as commercial people term it) is controlled almost entirely by its variety, according to Dr. Henry A. Jones, a leading U.S. authority.

Grow onions and use them daily; they often add that certain zip that one wishes for a meal or favorite salad. They can be prepared in many ways; try some of the new ones.

To many it is a distasteful chore to peel an onion. Don't peel it. Slice and when the slices fall on the slicing board, the onion skin and outer layer will drop off. No tears and pungent smelling hands.

If a portion of the onion is left do not throw away but place in a plastic bag, seal well and place in the refrigerator. For long storage of an excess amount, chop ready for use then freeze it for quick and convenient use later.

When broiling steaks on the grill outside, prepare onions in the following manner, and serve with a steaks and roasted potatoes. Clean and remove outer skin (use medium sized onions). Slice two inches apart cutting to approximately one inch of the full size of the round.

Between the slices place a slice of butter, topped with several drops of your favorite steak sauce. Add salt and pepper to taste. Roll in foil, and seal edges together by pressure.

Cook on the grill where the steaks are being prepared, and serve hot.

CONGRATULATIONS — To the winner of the August Beauty Spot, sponsored by the Ladies Chamber of Commerce. The Highway Department grounds are some of the best kept grounds in Deaf Smith County.

If all residents and business companies would do likewise, Hereford could easily be one of the most beautiful towns in Texas.

It is always a pleasure to drive by and note the cleanliness, neatness, and well groomed and grown shrubs, trees and flowers. The lawn is beautiful, and the bar ditches are mowed each time the lawn is.

The Bill Taylor home and grounds at 106 Mimosa are well deserving of the Beauty Spot award. Relationship of plantings and architectural design excellent and the selection of plants good. All in all it is a wonderful example of neatness, cleanliness and general appearance is excellent.

NOW is the TIME — to check lawns for foreign weeds and grasses. The dandelions are also making a good growth during the rainy weather. Extra effort should be put forth to eradicate them from the lawns.

Check all grounds and alleys for bind weeds and treat to kill them. If these are not checked our town we are going to have serious trouble. The longer they are left the harder it will be, to kill them.

All trees should be checked for webworms, and the evergreens should be checked for bagworms. These two enemies of trees and other plants should be treated and removed at once. All trees are endangered if each of us do not do our part to rid trees and evergreens of these insects. A united effort on the part of all residents is needed now.

This is the time of year that the dahlias are beautiful. The McKinsters have some lovely plants and the blossoms are of excellent quality. The window boxes of red geraniums and white cascade petunias at Mrs. Moore's home on East Third are very pretty. I usually drive out of the way to go by and see them.

Periwinkles (vinca annual) are at their height now. The lush green foliage and the star-like blossoms are a beautiful combination. This is an easy plant to grow and is well adaptable to this locale. List this in your garden note book.

Since the rains the roses are of fine quality. Beautiful roses are growing at the Garner and Luderback homes on Centre. Marigolds, petunias and other annuals are at their height of beauty this month. All-garden clubbers are hoping they will continue to be of good quality for the September flower shows.

'The Last Stand'

The Republican National Convention may have been the last stand of the violent subgroup of the "war protesters." Some of their own leaders have been quoted admitting as much. If so, the movement died less with a bang than a whimper.

The end of anything is a good time to assess its impact. And it is always difficult to avoid thinking about the paradox of the war-like peace-seekers, particularly if you have been assaulted by them, as my wife and I were, along with many of the delegates to the convention.

So how shall we judge them, in retrospect? By the success of their actions? By the strength of their convictions?

Obviously, their actions didn't accomplish much. On the surface, they seemed to have very strong convictions. But did they really?

In the name of freedom, they tried to halt the democratic process in Chicago in 1968, and in Miami Beach in 1972. In the name of love, they hurled obscenities. In the name of peace, they slashed tires.

Their methods repelled and disgusted the other 99.9 per cent of America. More than any other single factor, the violence of various protest groups helped to elect Richard Nixon in 1968—an outcome they could hardly have favored, considering his relatively conservative image.

At nearly every turning point in the war—at those times when many Americans from all walks of life were questioning the wisdom of U.S. policy —the violent protesters, by their excesses, managed to rally the rest of the country in opposition to whatever they demanded.

This effect was readily apparent to the casual observer of the passing scene, to the student of political affairs, to the peruser of editorial pages, and to the mature, responsible peace groups. Could the violent protesters have missed it?

My own theory is that they were well aware of the damage they were doing to their cause, and they didn't care.

Playing hide-and-seek with the police, breaking windows and throwing trash in the streets is "fun," especially if the "establishment" (Daddy) is picking up the bill for such mundane considerations as food and shelter, and you can rationalize your destructive behavior in the name of a "good" cause.

Starting work in an entry-level job to support a family and become a useful, contributing member of society is pretty dull by comparison. That requires a maturity, a future-orientation, a genuine willingness to make sacrifices which the protesters lacked. They weren't even willing to do the tedious, plodding, behind-the-scenes work of the true revolutionary. "Intelligent"? The "cream" of their generation? Perhaps. But their apologists can't have it both ways: Either the violent protesters were too stupid to understand that their acts were counterproductive, or they were too immature to care. I'd call them spoiled children, too big to spank and too little to face life.

The Grain Deal

As with too many public issues these days, the significance of the problems with the administration's big grain deal with the Soviet Union have been more obscured than clarified by the political exchanges.

We won't attempt to comment at this point on the validity of Sen. McGovern's charges of scandal in grain exporters' alleged prior knowledge of terms of the Soviet purchase, nor on Agriculture Secretary Butz's heated denials. Perhaps the questions of personal conduct will become clearer after the political rhetoric has subsided, if it ever does.

But the controversy suggests a fundamental problem inherent in Soviet-American and East-West trade. The problem—which we venture to suggest is broader and of much greater importance than the controversy itself—will have to be surmounted if such trade is to have a real future. Efforts to cope with it become more urgent if the White House is close to a big general trade agreement with Russia, as unofficial reports from Moscow and Washington indicate.

The problem lies in the fundamentally different approaches of the Soviet Union and the United States towards the conduct of trade. The Soviet Union, with a state monopoly over production and distribution, prefers nation-to-nation trade agreements on a giant scale. The United States has traditionally fostered commerce by private, competitive enterprises, with government intervening to negotiate general international ground rules, tariffs and the like, but not specific deals.

The administration is in political hot water partly because it acceded to the Soviet way of doing business as part of its efforts to effect a broad political rapprochement with the Soviet Union. The rapprochement is much to be desired and sale of U.S. grain to Russia should, over the long pull, benefit both sides. But the means of doing business deserves more attention.

The U.S. grain emissaries to Russia—Messrs. Kissinger, Butz et al—were something more than political representatives of the United States government. They also were commercial representatives of American farmers, grain exporters, shipping companies and anyone else connected with the grain trade. Thus, the government undertook not only the complex task of negotiating with the Russians but also tacitly assumed responsibility for adjusting equities among all the private firms and individuals in the U.S. who will have a role in supplying the grain. Dissatisfaction among farmers with their equity is partly what the grain "scandal" is all about.

If such huge government-to-government agreements are to be the means for much future Soviet-American trade, it can be expected that still further problems will arise. To cite but one example, take rules in Western trade that seek to prohibit producers from "dumping" their goods in foreign markets at prices lower than at home. Since prices are set arbitrarily by state fiat in the Soviet Union, the home price, and thus the export price, could be set low by the Russians in an effort to get a market foothold abroad.

U.S. negotiators who agreed to such arrangements might be popular with consumers but they could expect to have plenty of complaints from U.S. manufacturers.

Samuel Pizar, an international lawyer and East-West trade expert, told the American Bar Association convention in San Francisco last month that the task of devising adequate techniques for commerce between free enterprise societies and state enterprise societies will be a complex one. "Even if Communist and capitalist business organizations religiously observed all the established customs and laws of the international marketplace and political tensions disappeared with the wave of the magic wand, the institutional and technical problems would remain," he said.

He noted that it has been seriously suggested that non-Communist countries should set up their own state corporations to deal with the East. That, however, would be tantamount to emulating totalitarian trading methods and "inviting serious and probably irreversible inroads into a domain which market economies prefer to leave in private hands," he said.

A just-released study by the Committee of Economic Development suggests that it is indeed desirable for the United States to promote East-West trade.

They Carry Weight

Since 1970 the Federal Bureau of Investigation has been maintaining a computerized "criminal history" file which keeps track of the records of federal offenders. While designed primarily to speed up the identification of criminal suspects, it is producing new statistical evidence on the extent to which "repeaters" are responsible for the crime problem in the United States of America.

Publication of the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports for 1971 shows that the role of the repeater is considerable indeed. Fully 68 per cent of the 68,914 offenders whose 1971 arrests were entered in the computer file turned out to have been arrested before, on the average of four times.

Seventy-seven per cent of the persons arrested for murder had a previous criminal record. About 75 per cent of the arrests for robbery, burglary, forgery and auto theft involved repeaters.

The FBI points out that this picture of persistent criminal behavior must be considered conservative. It is based only on cases where a suspect was arrested and fingerprinted. Only one-fifth of the serious crimes committed every year are solved by an arrest.

It is hard to view these statistics without concluding that our criminal justice system has a long way to go in fulfilling one of its primary goals—to rehabilitate the first-time offender or otherwise deter him from a criminal career.

There is visible tension between police organizations and the courts over the contrast between the hard work and risk that go into finding and arresting a suspect, and the manner in which the judicial system often disposes of a case with plea bargaining, suspended sentences or liberal parole policies that quickly put an offender back on the street.

This bitterness among police officers will certainly not be ameliorated by another section of the FBI crime reports. The number of law enforcement officers slain on duty in the United States has been rising steadily—from 64 in 1968, to 86 in 1969, to 100 in 1970 and 126 in 1971. Of the 875 offenders known to have been involved in the killing of police officers in the last decade, 77 per cent had been arrested previously on criminal charges.

Constitution Week

"Constitution Week", a national observance as proclaimed by President Nixon for Sept. 17-24, is being actively promoted on the Hereford scene by the Los Ciboleros chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

We join Mrs. Stan Knox, committee chairman, and other members of the Los Ciboleros chapter in urging citizens to give some thought to the great document this week. Perhaps you might read the Preamble to the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, or join in remembrance by displaying the flag all week.

It has been 185 years since the Constitution was signed by its writers, and time has not proven Ben Franklin wrong when he said: "Thus I consent to this constitution because I expect no better and because I am not sure it is not the best."

And, British statesman William Gladstone is often quoted for calling the U.S. Constitution "the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Dear editor:

There was this farmer, according to an article I read in a newspaper last night, who had trouble with his mail box. Somebody was always knocking it down or shooting holes in it or smashing it with a hammer and after he had replaced it 20 times—that's right, 20 times—he finally took action.

What he did was take it home with him every day. About an hour before the mail carrier was due he'd take it down and set it up, then when the mail man came he'd pick up his mail, mail box, and all and return to his house.

In this connection I read in the same paper that the telephone company reported that 11,000 pay phones in this country are put out of commission every day by people trying to rob the coin box or just ripping out the phone for the fun of it.

Clearly, what the phone company people ought to do is pick up their phone booths every night and take them home with them.

In this day and age, which is pretty much like every other day and age since man arrived, you don't solve problems by getting at the root cause, you dodge them, you out-last them; if you can't out-last them you build an overpass over them; if that doesn't work, re-route the highway entirely or double-deck it.

If that doesn't work, come out against high taxes. Vandalism, like bad colds, is just something there doesn't seem to be an answer to. And that farmer and the phone company ought to remember that it happens in lots of places, for example, in the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee in the Watergate building in Washington.

I have been reading about this bugging case and as un-called-for as it was, I still don't understand it. What did those guys expect to learn. Both national conventions had microphones planted all over the place and the networks broadcast the activities to the world, but I still didn't learn very much. Yours faithfully,

Talk Of Texas

BY JACK MAGUIRE

FOOTBALL IT WAS—The Southwest Conference is 58 years old.

It was organized by L. Theo Belmont, who had been named athletic director of the University of Texas in 1913. On May 6, 1914, he called representatives of the University of Arkansas, Baylor, Oklahoma, Southwestern, Texas A & M, Oklahoma A & M and Louisiana State together at the old Oriental Hotel in Dallas and tentatively organized the Southwest Intercollegiate Conference to promote athletic competition between the members.

The league became a permanent organization the following December at a meeting in Houston. Texas, Texas A&M, Oklahoma A&M, Oklahoma, Baylor, Southwestern and Arkansas became members. Louisiana State wasn't interested, but Rice was brought in as a conditional member.

After two years, Southwestern dropped out and was replaced by Southern Methodist. For the privilege of membership and to pay Conference expenses, each team had to ante up $7.50 each year!

PREGNANCY BY DEEP FREEZE—Dallas now has a depository for frozen semen, the fluid which carries the seeds of fatherhood.

For a fee, a woman desiring motherhood can have the thawed sperm injected directly into the cervical opening by a gynecologist. Usually the procedure is repeated twice a month until pregnancy occurs.

Donors of semen are carefully selected as to body type, eyes and hair color, race and even religion. Thus it is possible for a woman to select a father for her child who closely matches her husband's physical characteristics.

The Dallas sperm bank was established because the supply of adoptive children has been declining for the last decade. Also many couples prefer this method to adoption because it permits the mother actually to bear the child.

TRAVELING TEXAS—The Little Chapel-in-the-Woods on the campus of Texas Woman's University in Denton is the first true stone masonry building to be constructed in the state since 1870.

Built in 1839 by 80 young men employed by the National Youth Administration, it cost only $45,000. More than 500 students at the school designed and made the stainedglass windows, the brass light fixtures, and carved pews, mosaic stone floor pattern and the mahogany and brass doors.

Representatives from over 30 Texas and New Mexico cities were registered for the two-day irrigation short course held here at the Jim Hill Hotel ball room Tuesday and Wednesday. Also represented at the meeting were 19 different electric co-ops throughout Texas and New Mexico....During the past several weeks Hereford has been swamped with requests for houses, apartments...or just any type of place to live...either furnished or unfurnished. Cecil Massey, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, reported Wednesday that they had received about 75 requests...and have been able to place about 60 of these families....

10 YEARS AGO

"Eventually it will be great," says Coach Cuby Kitchens, Athletic Director of Hereford High School. He is talking about Hereford High School's new football field, of course. The new field is located just north of Northwest Elementary School....It is the hope of the school to secure new bleachers sometime in the future, but probably not before the next football season. A new chain-link fence has been placed around the field. To keep a tradition of past games, the old brick entrance ways and the wrought iron gates have been moved to the new football field....

Roles Open In Whodunit

Cast spots are still open in the suspense drama, Dial M for Murder, and second readings are scheduled at 2 p.m. today in Community Center for anyone wishing to try for a role.

Hereford Community Players will present the exciting mystery as its fall play, on an October date still to be set. Joyce Johnson will direct and Amy Gilliland will serve as co-director and producer.

One woman, age 25-35, two men in the same age range and another older man who plays the police inspector, are principals in the cast. First readings were held Friday evening for parts in the chilling mystery which has been a successful stage play and motion picture.

This production will open another season for the Community Players, with two more plays scheduled. A summer production for children, The Frog Prince, was presented with a cast of high school and junior high students.

Any resident of the area is invited to read for a role in the coming show, or to assist with any phase of production. Memberships in the Community Players are available on an individual, couples, or family basis.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Plans for the marriage of Miss Grace Vargas and Mario Gamez in a ceremony at St. Anthony's Catholic Church November 4, are announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Vargas, 1103 Park Avenue. The couple, who will reside in this city, are both graduates of Hereford High School, she in the 1972 and he with the class of 1970.

FFA SWEETHEART—Cathy McCathern was elected the 1972-73 Hereford Future Farmers of American Sweetheart at a recent meeting of the organization. Miss McCathern was one of 14 girls nominated for the honor and was selected by the members of the chapter.

Cathy McCathern Named Sweetheart

The Hereford High School Future Farmers of America chapter held its first "Sweetheart" pageant last week where they elected Cathy McCathern their sweetheart for the coming year.

The selection of Miss McCathern

Deaf Smith County Commissioners approved purchase of a new car for the sheriff's department during their regular meeting Monday.

Bids, secured on an emergency basis, were from Norwood Chevrolet and Orval Watson Ford. Commissioners approved purchase of an Oldsmobile from Norwood on a low bid of $3,375 plus trade. Watson Ford's bid was $3,419 for a mercury.

Cathern was done by members of the chapter and her selection marked the first time the members have gone through a pageant to select their representative.

Some 14 girls were nominated for the honor and Miss McCathern won over Cindy Hairgrove on the third ballot.

During the pageant, the 14 girls were interviewed and paraded before the members, who later cast their votes. The girls' parents also were present for the pageant.

"A dollar means so little to you but it means so much to them."

Have you heard similar appeals lately? Of course you have, nearly everyone has.

But are such appeals legitimate? Often it is difficult to tell. Sometimes the request is virtually a swindle.

The Postal Inspectors were involved in the investigation of one of the biggest charity rackets of which I have heard. This involved a professional fund-raising organization which solicited from millions of persons throughout the United States on an annual basis for several years. Ostensibly they were seeking funds to help find a cure for a crippling disease.

The investigation by the Postal Authorities disclosed that of approximately $22 million contributed by the public, nearly $11 million was earmarked for salaries and expenses. In addition, illegal kick-backs were given to the charity's officers.

While the dollars involved here are larger than most, the percentages are not unusual. We have received information where only 25 percent of funds raised go to the charity and the other 75 per cent goes to the fund raiser.

But this is not to discourage your support of charitable groups. Many are making important contributions in medical research, helping the handicapped, giving assistance to the elderly or to children unable to help themselves. Their work is worthwhile and it deserves your support.

However, you can and should be sure your contributions are effectively used. Before you donate, you should know the charity, its purpose and its past record. If you don't, check with your Better Business Bureau or Chamber-of-Commerce. You can also ask for a financial statement from the organization.

Remember, the pictures on the literature may be appealing, but if you are not careful your money may wind up in the pockets of some rich promoter.

Jaycees End Paper Drive Here Today

The Hereford Jaycees seeking to help a 20-year-old Brownfield kidney patient, said they will terminate their paper drive currently underway to raise funds to help purchase a kidney machine for the man.

The Jaycees have been collecting paper for the past two weeks and said they have accumulated about 10,000 pounds. The paper will be turned in for money which will go to the purchase of a machine for Jerry Wilson of Brownfield.

Residents in the area have collected over 220,000 pounds for the kidney patient.

The local drive will end today. Wilson whose wife is expecting their first child in October, has been living in Galveston, where a special machine at John Sealy Hospital does the job his diseased kidneys used to do. But, the machine is expensive and word got back to area residents that his money was running out.

Wilson eventually will undergo a kidney transplant, but must wait until the right donor comes along. Until that time, he must use the kidney machine, which costs large sums of money just to operate.

Bill McKinney, local drive chairman for the Jaycees, tanks all persons who donated to the drive, which was said to be a tremendous success.

On Aug. 9, 1948, the anti-slavery Free Soil Party nominated Martin Van Buren for president.

Williams-Kemp Wedding Is Conducted Saturday

Miss Kathy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn D. Williams, Route 3, and Michael C. Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clois A. Kemp, Route 1, exchanged marriage vows in an evening ceremony Saturday in Temple Baptist Church.

The Rev. Ron Harpster of Lockhart, former pastor of Avenue Baptist Church here, conducted the wedding service as the couple stood before an arch of green foliage with paired candelabra and bouquets of lilac and white gladiolas and carnations on either side.

Miss Dale Williams was her sister's maid of honor and Dannie C. Kemp, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Randy Land and Linden Cupp lighted the candles.

Before Miss Williams started down the bridal aisle, the bridegroom sang Because, with organ accompaniment by Rick Land of Amarillo, who also accompanied Mrs. Gene Skidmore of Plainview in solos, Bless This House and Hawaiian Wedding Song.

The organ processional was Purcell's Trumpet Tune, changed to the familiar march from Wagner's opera Lohengrin as the bride walked to the altar.

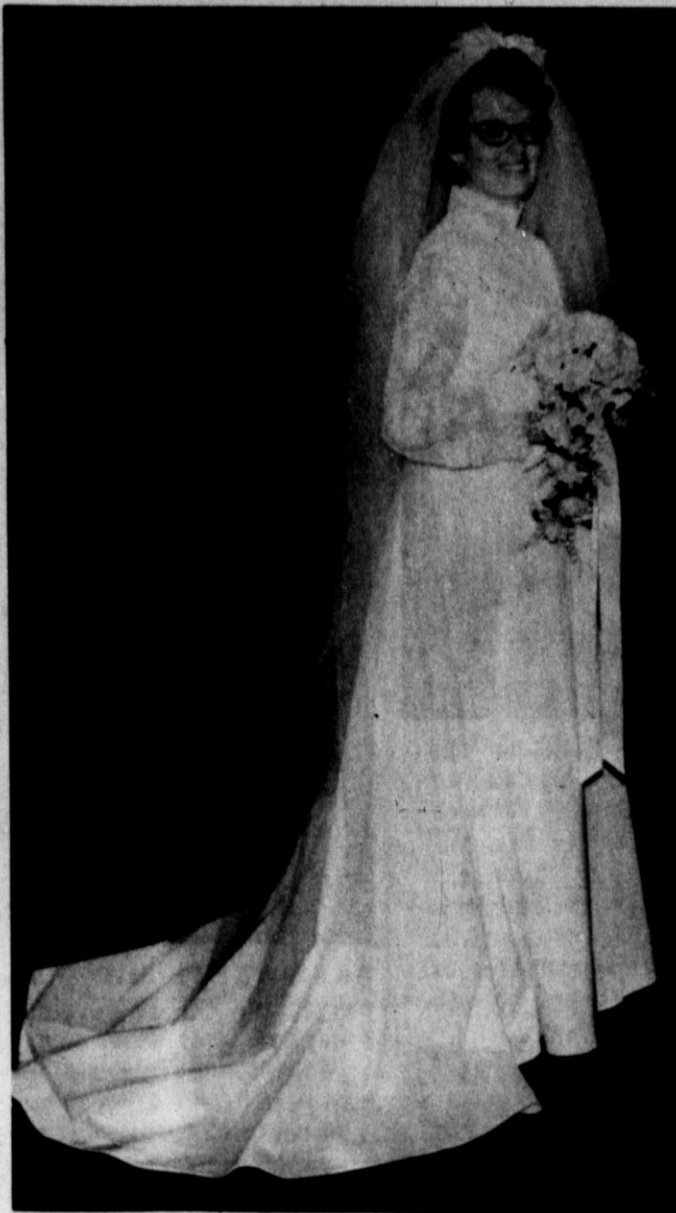

She was wearing a gown of white faille, the softly flared skirt widening to a chapel train in the back and the high-waisted bodice gathered to a deep yoke of English net applied in Alencon lace. Long sleeves, puffed at the wrists, were of the same net and lace.

Her illusion veil, extending over the train, fell in tiers from a headpiece of satin bows trimmed in seed pearls. She carried a white Bible with a shower bouquet of white roses. Her attendant's dress was purple, with a very full overskirt of lilac sheer, and ruffled cap sleeves.

The bride's mother wore lavender, fashioned with low waistline and flared skirt and accessorized in black. Mrs. Clois Kemp was dressed in champagne, the skirt accented pleated and the sheer sleeves long and full. Her accessories were in matching color. Both had corsages of yellow roses.

They received guests with the couple at a reception in the church fellowship hall, where Mrs. Floi Cupp of Lubbock, aunt of the bride, served punch while Mrs. Pat Murrell, the bridegroom's aunt, cut the cake. Mrs. Dannie C. Kemp of Plainview was at the registry table.

Comings and Goings at King's Manor

On Sunday three carloads of residents of Kings Manor accepted an invitation to attend church and eat dinner with the congregation of the Turkey First United Methodist Church. After the sermon by the Rev. Roy Patterson a sumptuous dinner and fellowship were enjoyed. The weather, scenery, and congenial associations made a perfect occasion.

A watermelon party was given to all Kings Manor residents Saturday. It was held on the new patio at Westgate. Everyone helped by serving others or serving himself or both. Songs were led by Mrs. Don Davidson and Mrs. Charles Morehead.

Wright went to Plainview Wednesday to a luncheon at the First United Methodist Church. Mrs. Alsie H. Carlton, speaker, is the wife of Bishop Carlton and her subject was What it is Like To Be a Bishop's Wife.

Mrs. Eloise Newman of Ennis was a recent visitor of Mrs. Louise Vaughan. She and her husband stopped over in Hereford on their return from a tour of Canada.

Circles See Travel Film

Places concerned with the history of the Methodist Church, among scenes filmed by Mrs. L.N. Cox on a trip to England and the Scandinavian countries, were shown at a joint meeting of the Carrie Black and Hare-Brumley Circles of First United Methodist Women's Society Wednesday.

Homes of John and Charles Wesley, founders of Methodism, the mother church of world Methodism and a number of other churches in England were shown on slides as Mrs. Cox spoke of her travels.

A prayer by Mrs. John English and group singing of a hymn written by Charles Wesley, opened the meeting at the church.

Government Payroll Is Small Here

A survey of public employment in the United States shows that the number of Deaf Smith County residents on government payrolls is relatively small.

Compared with other communities across the country, the proportion of local people in government jobs — federal, state and local — is below average.

This is seen in the latest figures on public and private employment released by the Department of Commerce, the Tax Foundation and others.

In the local area, it appears, about 1 out of every 8 employed persons works for some branch of government. The figures take into account all those employed in a civilian capacity by the Federal government, by the state and by counties, municipalities and other units of government. Those in the armed forces are not included.

The survey shows that, in almost every part of the country, there has been a sharp increase in recent years in the number of people in public jobs.

Since 1960 the total has climbed from 8,350,000 to 13,300,000, an increase of no less than 59 per cent. During the same period of time, the national population rose only 14 per cent.

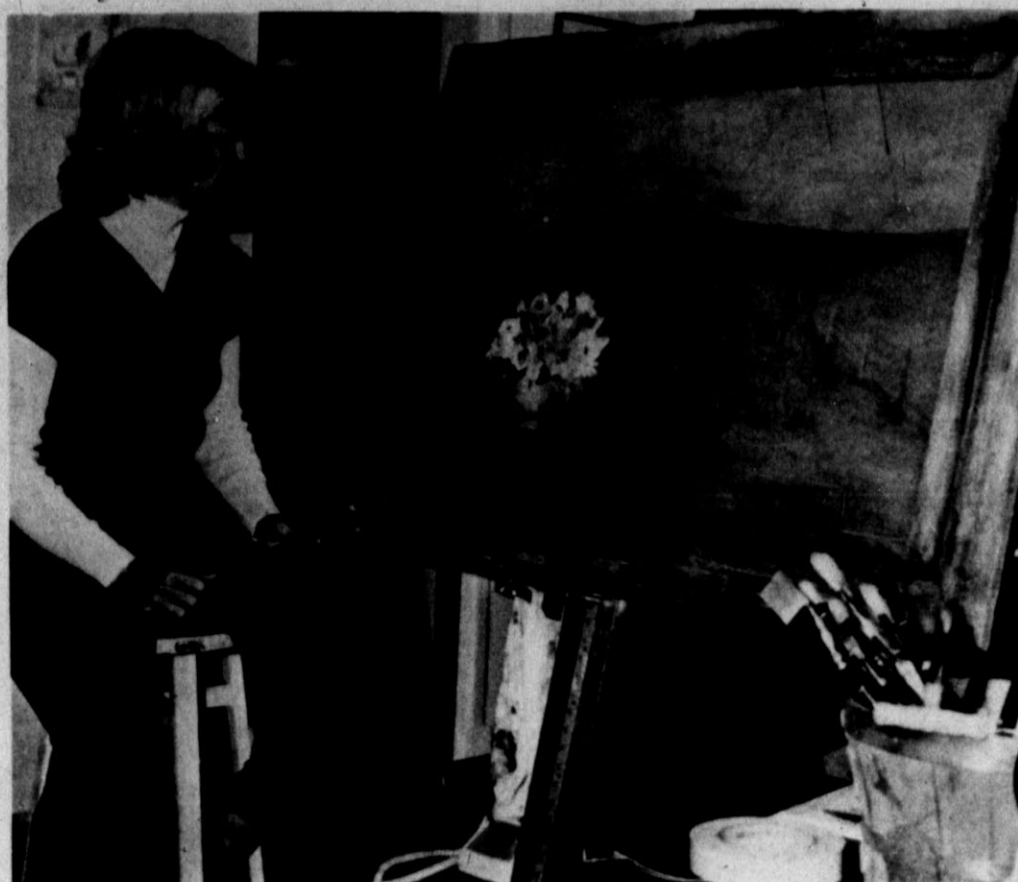

In Deaf Smith County, the number of people who are holding down government jobs at the present time is approximately 840.

Some 590 of this total are on state and local payrolls. The remainder work for the Federal government.

The figures for the local area show that, in terms of the total working population, 12.5 per cent are in public employ.

This compares with an average of 18.2 per cent throughout the United States as a whole and with 15.5 per cent in the State of Texas.

It is pointed out that, contrary to general belief, the great increase in the number of government workers has been chiefly at the state and local levels.

PROTEST PAINTING — Nan McBrayer, Hereford artist who will present a one-man show of her paintings beginning next Sunday, calls this oil "protest against the subdued tones and vast distances of the typical western painting, and is studying the result in the room at her home, 1203 Park, where she pursues her art hobby. Friends are being invited to a reception next Sunday afternoon in the Music Stand to open the show to which the public is invited the following week.

From a total of 4,300,000 in 1950 they have grown to a total, currently, of more than 10,450,000. During the same period, however, Federal employment rose at a much slower pace, from 2,100,000 to 2,881,000.

The official U.S. standard of weight is the kilogram.

Veteran's Affairs

Q — My husband was a World War II veteran. He passed away recently, and I am wondering if he is eligible for a headstone?
A — Yes. Any deceased veteran whose last period of military service was terminated honorably is eligible for this benefit administered by the Army.

Q — The Veterans Administration has encouraged me to convert my $10,000 National Service Life Insurance term policy to a permanent plan. Will VA recommend the plan I should take?

A — The agency's veterans benefits counselors do not assume the role of insurance counselors. However, they have the knowledge and training to adequately explain the various plans available. From this, you can make your own informed decision.

Q — After serving in the Army from 1959 to 1961, I was permanently and totally disabled in an automobile accident. Am I eligible for a non-service connected pension from the Veterans Administration?

A — No. To be eligible, a veteran must have served during a period of war. Service after Jan. 31, 1955, and before Aug. 5, 1964, is peacetime service.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

While much is being written in this election year about the impact of "Senior Power", I would like all older persons in the area to know that the American Association of Retired Persons believes that the true power of "seniors" lies in their continued contribution to the health and well-being of our nation. A non-profit, non-partisan organization of more than 4 million members, AARP sponsors many community-service activities through which older citizens continue to apply their experience and wisdom in service to others and provides members many income-stretching services — such as special insurance programs, mail-order pharmacy services and group travel programs. Through its national and state legislative programs, it seeks to improve Social Security and Medicare programs, housing and transportation services and to obtain tax reforms to benefit the elderly. A major current legislative goal is the removal of the earnings limitation under Social Security, which unfairly penalizes older persons who need to work to supplement meager incomes.

Membership dues are only $2 per year, covering both husband and wife. Members receive the handsome bi-monthly Modern Maturity magazine and the monthly AARP News Bulletin, both providing inspirational and informative news and features about older Americans.

Dear Editor:

I have been so covered up with problems since returning to Washington on Labor Day, I haven't had an opportunity to do a lot of things which I wanted to do. I just must tell you again how much Helen and I enjoyed the Hereford visit. The people were superb, the big luncheon could not have been better, the reception was great, the high school visit was very inspiring. It was just a perfect day for us, and we will never cease to be grateful to the people who made the occasion such an outstanding success.

At the Chamber of Commerce office, somebody handed me a clipping from the Hereford Brand, entitled, "City Opens Doors For Mahon." Nobody could beat that! Thanks very much to the publishers, and thanks for the wonderful coverage which you subsequently gave the visit.

Helen and I have got to try to find a way to measure up in small part to the expectations and good wishes of our Deaf Smith County friends.

Yes, we returned to Washington with a goodly number of giant onions, the beautiful potatoes, the lovely painting by Mrs. Perersen, and the never-to-be-forgotten Hereford bull!

Warmest regards,
Sincerely,
George Mahon

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
BY HAL FOSTER.

Our Story: THE HOLIDAY IS OVER AND DASH AGAIN BECOMES KING DASHAD AND ORDERS HORSES FOR THEIR RETURN TRIP TO ATHELDAG.

HE REWARDS THE BOATMEN WITH A FINE NEW BOAT WHICH THEY QUICKLY SELL AND BECOME RICH MEN. FOR THEY PREFER THEIR OLD ONE THAT HAS LONG BEEN A HOME TO THEM, LOVING EVERY FAMILIAR PLANK, EVERY PATCH, EVERY LEAK.

THEN THE RETURN TRIP BEGINS WITH ALL THE GUARDS AND EVERY LUXURY THE LITTLE TOWN CAN AFFORD.

THAT EVENING WHEN THE CONVOY ENCAMPS, JASEN IS SUMMONED: "JASEN, I NEED YOUR HELP, WILL YOU SERVE ME?" ASKS KING DASHAD. "THE KING COMMANDS, I OBEY," HE ANSWERS. "I DO NOT COMMAND, JASEN, I REQUEST YOUR HELP IN RIGHTING A GREAT WRONG," KING DASHAD SAYS.

JASEN HAS COME TO LOVE THE HELPLESS, CHEERFUL LITTLE FAT MAN DURING THEIR VOYAGE... BUT KING DASHAD, THE TYRANT OF ATHELDAG, HE HAD SWORN TO KILL.

"I HAD VOWED TO SHEATH THIS BLADE IN YOUR HEART." HERE, JASEN PLACES HIS FOOT ON THE KNIFE AND BREAKS IT. "NOW THE KNIFE IS NO MORE, SO MY VOW IS VOID."

WHEN ATHELDAG COMES IN VIEW, JASEN SAYS: "SIRE, YOU ARE FEARED AND HATED. THE NOBLES HAVE HAD TIME TO PLOT AGAINST YOU DURING YOUR ABSENCE. IS THERE NOT A SECRET WAY TO ENTER THE CITY?" "NO," SAYS VAL, AS HE UNPACKS HIS WEAPONS, "TO DO SO WOULD SHOW FEAR. WE RIDE IN BOLDLY."

hints from Heloise

DEAR AUNT HELOISE:
My friend and I made the cutest little doll for a gift, and we wanted to tell you about it so you could make one.

First, we took a small cone of plastic foam and with some pins stuck bubble gum and wrapped candy mints all over it.

Then we took a small round piece of foam and pushed a long, thin nail through it and stuck it on the pointed end of ent, poke toothpicks in the foam for arms and make a hat out of construction paper. Isn't she the "sweetest" little doll you have ever seen?

the cone for the "head." We used some small round candies for the eyes, nose and mouth.

Then we painted an empty spool of thread and glued it to the bottom of the cone for the base.

To finish your pretty pres-

She is sweet all right, but not as sweet as you are for writing to me.

I think these would be great fun to make as favors for someone's birthday party, but, as you said, they would be nice for a gift, too.

Thanks for writing and I hope to hear from you again real soon.

Love,
Aunt Heloise

HEADS UP!

DEAR HELOISE:
We took an old stuffed animal and cut off the torn body and kept the head.
We sewed up the bottom of the head and use it as a pin-cushion.

NOT FOR FONDUE

DEAR HELOISE:
For inexpensive cheese trays, buy 12" tiles that resemble terrazzo or marble. These tiles can usually be obtained from a tile dealer at low cost from their leftover lots.

Buy and paint four wooden door knobs and glue them at each corner of the tiles for legs. Just adorable!

Mrs. M: I.

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE:
Whenever I have a morning that finds me slow getting started, I sit down with a cup of coffee and write a letter to a friend.

After I reread the good things we've been doing and are going to do, I feel much peppier.

DRESS RIGHT!

DEAR HELOISE:
Kinda thought this might be an idea that someone else could possibly profit by.
My mother had one of those see-through vinyl rain-coats that she didn't want.

She cut off the collar and sleeves—buttoned it up like you'd wear it on a rainy day and hung it on a wife hanger. Then she took some of that wide plastic tape that comes in such pretty colors and trimmed it up, making a real neat clothes bag for a very special dress.

IT'S A SNAP!

DEAR HELOISE:
With four young children and not much space, I was forever picking up gloves, hats, belts, etc. from the closet floor.

Finally, in desperation, I took a metal skirt rack with clips and hung it in the closet.

Now, even the shortest child can easily "snap" his belt or hat or whatever up out of the way. The closet has never looked better.

WASH AND CARE

DEAR HELOISE:
I've found a wonderful idea to use when I go to the laundromat.

I stick one of my small gummed address labels on each of my laundry baskets and place the baskets in front of the machines I am using.

This saves much confusion if I have gone on an errand and am a little late in getting back. We all know what this is like on busy days at the laundromat.

Of course, this idea is also good when using the dryers, especially on rainy days when the dryers are really in demand!

Mrs. W. G.

DON'T STICK AROUND!

DEAR HELOISE:
Just before you have a bubble gum blowing contest with someone, smear some vaseline on your lips.
Then, when your bubble bursts, the gum does not stick so badly.

Boy, is my Mom glad I thought of this one!

CURTAIN CALL!

DEAR HELOISE:
When I wash my bedroom curtains and the bedspread, I put some perfumed bath crystals in the final rinse.

After they are dry I rehang the curtains, put the spread on the bed and the whole bedroom smells nice right up until the next time they need washing again.

STRETCH OR SAVE!

DEAR HELOISE:
This knit fabric craze finally got me!

But you get hundreds of hints about special tricks for sewing with knits—so, if you find this worthy, please add it to your collection.

I discovered that my husband's head measures just about the same as the head on my wig stand.

So when I make knit shirts for him, I test the neck opening and stretch the neck band on the wig stand rather than bother him with trying it on... and I can surprise him with a new shirt!

We hauled over the college campus where he teaches with a knit shirt made from fabric that had ECOLOGY printed all over it—great during his lectures on that topic.

Mrs. Duane Addison

THAT'S SOME YARN!

DEAR HELOISE:
When knitting a sweater for my granddaughter, I needed knitting markers and could not go out to the store.

So I decided to use metal or rubber washers to fit the knitting needles. I wrapped the washers with an accent color thread so they could be spotted easily.

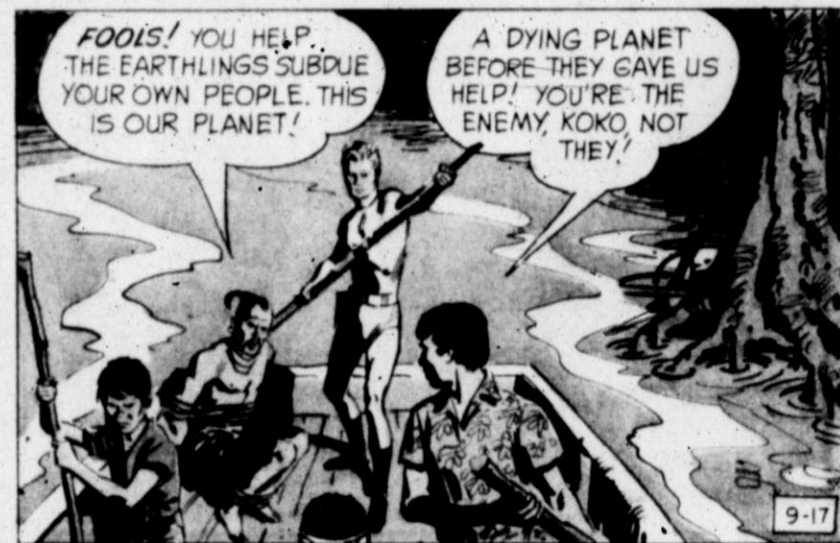

Now all my friends are doing the same and find my idea works great.

HOCUS-FOCUS

CAN YOU TRUST YOUR EYES? There are at least six differences in drawing details between top and bottom panels. How quickly can you find them? Check answers with those below.

Differences: 1. Basket is missing. 2. Number in missing. 3. Ball is missing. 4. Long in missing. 5. White string is absent. 6. Shirt is different.

BULLETIN BOARD

CHALLENGE: Place a rubber ball in your hand. Allow it to roll slowly down your arm; raise your forearm and bounce the ball back to your hand.

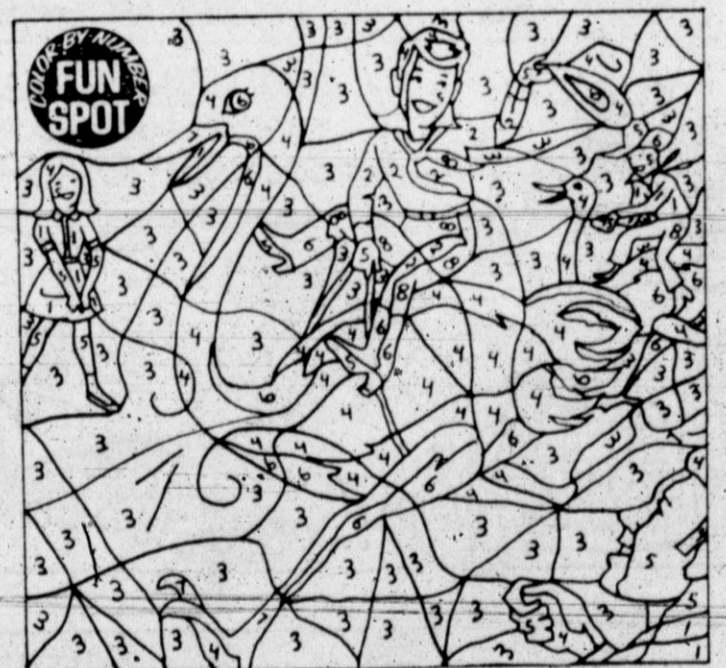

● MATH MAGIC! "Two-thirds of six is nine," said Jim. "one-half of twelve is seven. Half of five is four, and six is half of eleven." No one could argue when he explained why. What was that?

● A strong man boasted to a friend that he could carry an entire yard in his left hand. And he could. Why was that?

● Palindrome words—Eve, pup, madam, etc.—read the same backward and forward. How many palindrome words can you find in this sentence: "Wow! Dig that pip on the radar scope, Bob."

TAG-LINES! You are asked to identify four occupations from picture clues and scrambled names above. What four jobs do Ted, Stan, Ken and Peter hold?

BIRD IN HAND! To bring forth a surprise picture above, simply apply these colors neatly: 1—Red, 2—Lt. blue, 3—Yellow, 4—Lt. brown, 5—Flesh, 6—Dk. brown, 7—Orange, 8—Dk. blue.
