Children focus of Farm Safety Week

AUSTIN - Protecting rural children and teaching them safety measures is the emphasis of National Farm Safety Week September 18-24, according to George R. Gustafson, Executive Vice President of the Texas Safety Association.

The 40th annual observance of rural safety has been proclaimed by President Ronald Reagan and is being sponsored by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Farm safety is a particular concern in Texas, where 100 persons lost their lives in farm accidents last year, according to Gustafson. The statistics are tabulated by the Texas Farm Bureau, based on data furnished by the Texas State Health Department. These records show that of the 100 deaths, most were related to tractors, firearms, drowning, electric current, and machinery, he said.

Safety leaders estimate that the incidence of these rural-type accidents is actually much greater than those numbers reported, he said.

Although farm fatalities are a major concern, farmers and ranchers should also be aware that up to 20,000 disabling injuries and up to 250,000 serious injuries requiring medical attention occur to Texas farmers and ranchers each year, according to Dr. Gary S. Nelson, Extension Specialist Safety Engineering, Texas A&M University and Texas Safety Association Vice President for Agriculture.

According to Nelson, "If you are a farmer or a rancher, the probability of experiencing a serious injury this year is 1 in 5."

AUSTIN (AP) — The pro-secutor who helped indict At-torney General Jim Mattox on bribery charges says the investigation is contin with inquiries into an artificial turf contract and state intervention in a private bankruptcy case.

Mattox became the first Texas attorney general in modern history to be indicted while in office Tuesday. He was accused of threatening to ruin a Houston law firm's public bond business unless it ed trying to interrogate Mattex's sister. Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle mentioned two subjects Tuesday when asked what was "left on the table" as matters still under investigation concerning Mattox.

AG Mattox indicted; prosecutor

"Allegations involving Superturf and Shearn Moody," Earle said in referring to two other controversial matters reported in The Dallas Morning News.

The newspaper said Mattox steered a $1.3 million synthetic turf contract at Texas Southern University to a political supporter after it had already been awarded to someone else. It was alleged that the university changed its specifications for the turf after Mattox intervened. Mattox denied any wrongdoing and said he saved the state $50,000.

The paper also has reported that Mattox intervened on behalf of Moody in a private bankruptcy case, and that 10 days later A. Don Crowder, Mattox's former law partner, received a $20,000 payment from Moody, a Galveston millionaire.

Mattox acknowledged Crowder phoned him on behalf of Moody, but denied they discussed the merits of the case. Mattox said the $20,000 was a retainer and paid for Crowder's legal services after Mattox had already intervened.

Mattex, who did not criticize Earle during the 2%-month investigation, said Tuesday after the indictment that he was sorry the district attorney "caved in on this thing. I hope he's got suts enough to come down to the courtroom and try me himself."

State District Judge Mace Thurman set a $5,000 per-sonal bond for Mattox and a warrant was issued for his arrest. Mattox was smiling and talkative when he surrendered at the sheriff's office, where he was finger-printed and photographed. He predicted he would be found innocent and would emerge a "hero."

The indictment accuses the attorney general of telling at-torney Wiley Caldwell of Fulbright & Jaworski that the state would not approve cer-tain bonds handled by the Houston firm, unless that firm would quit trying to take a deposition from Mattox's sister in a suit between the state and Mobil Oil Corp., the firm's client.

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) - A former First National Bank vice president here faces up to 10 years in prison after he pleaded guilty in federal court to charges of embezzling $36,000 from the institution.

Stuart M. Ladd is scheduled to face sentencing before U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton on Oct. 5.

Ladd waived his right to a grand jury hearing and trial before entering guilty pleas on two counts of federal bank fraud Monday, according to court records filed in the case.

The first count of the federal bank fraud hearing stemmed from a Nov. 5. 1982, incident in which he cashed a $12,000 loan check payable to First National. The second count stemmed from a similar transaction Dec. 31, 1982, when Ladd allegedly converted $24,000 to his own use, Bunton said during the arraignment Monday.

Ladd faces a maximum penalty of five years in prison, a $5,000 fine or both.

Aquino coverage bolsters opposition

MANILA, Philippines (AP) - The assassination of Benigno Aquino has bolstered Manila's opposition press, which has gained readership with its free-wheeling news reports and columns on the slain opposition leader.

Critics charge that the city's three major daily newspapers, all owned by interests close to President Ferdinand E. Marcos, have not covered in depth the assassination, the antigovernment demonstrations which followed and the voluntary suspension of an investigation into the slaying by a government commisplements have taken up the slack. They are selling briskly in the streets of Manila.

Newsboys dart among vehicles in jammed intersections and hang off the backs of Manila's colorful passenger "jeepneys" which display headlines that proclaim "Ninoy Shot by Soldiers," "CIA Murdered Ninoy Aquino," and "Millions Mourn Aquino."

Jose Burgos Jr., editor of the twice-weekly Malaya, estimated that combined oneissue circulation of all the opposition publications approaches 700,000, the total daily circulation of the major English language dailies. Malaya, with most of its content appearing in English, has increased its circulation to 50,000 per issue, said Burgos, but he declined to veal exact figures.

He said the eight-page tabloid is now being printed on three commercial presses while he fights in the Philippine Supreme Court for return of his own press which Marcos ordered padlocked last December.

"If I could get back my press, we could go daily,' said Burgos.

At the equivalent of 14 to 18 U.S. cents each, the oppposition publications, which, according to Burgos, are now more commercial than political, sell for up to twice the price of the much larger dailies.

Burgos said he has trouble meeting requests of his news dealers for more copies.

Some dealers have been harassed by soldiers or police, he said, but he added that copies have not been confiscated and there has not been any attempt to stop his publishing since he and nine other writers for the nowdefunct We Forum were arrested in December and put on trial for subversion.

We Forum, a tabloid, was the country's biggest opposi tion paper. Burgos and the other journalists were arrested on charges of conspiring with Communist rebels to overthrow Marcos.

Like Burgos, most of those arrested continue to write without further harassment. Few have tempered their criticism of Marcos and his government as weekly sessions of the trial continue.

Eugenia Apostol, editor-ublisher of Mr. And Ms., which began seven years ago as a society magazine, has added several opposition columnists and has pledged to put out a series of special issues focusing on "justice and national reconciliation."

She said one special issue featuring crowd photographs and wire service articles about Aquino's funeral has sold nearly 300,000 cop more than the daily circula-tion of any major Manila

Ms. Apostol called her sup ements "a venue for those ho find no room for their freedom-loving thoughts in other media and for the credible reportage of events that may happen in the Ninoy aftermath."

Like Mr. And Ms., several other publications rely heavily on reprints of articles filed by foreign correspondents from Manila. During eight years of martial law, some foreign journalists were expelled from Manila. But since it was lifted in 1981, the government has no restrictions placed on the reporting of foreign writers.

The call for a boycott of major newspapers was prompted, supporters say, by several incidents including government pressure on local reporters, especially the We Forum arrests; the firing of editors who have allowed articles critical of Marcos; women journalists; the filing of lawsuits against reporters who report on military abuses and the elimination of controversial columns from some papers.

"Ban the Bulletin! Suppress the Express! Junk the Journal," says one pamphlet supporting the boycott. It refers to Bulletin Today owned by former Marcos aide Gen. Hans Menzi; the Daily Express, owned by Marcos associate Roberto Benedicto and the Times Journal owned by Benjamin Romualdez, the brother of first lady Imelda Marcos.

But a news dealer in the ci-ty's Ermita district, said some of the major papers have been selling well despite the boycott.

"Anything that has something about Aquino military interrogation of sells," said Dory Baguno

Moving not unusual for new Hereford residents

By LINDA CAUDLE Family News Editor

foving is not at all unusual for Jan Barnes and her family, who arrived in Hereford this past January - right in the middle of an extraor-dinary 15-inch snow. The snow, though not an unfamiliar sight for the Barnes, did come as a surprise as they thought they were mov-ing south to warmer weather.

Jan and her husband, Ron, who is manager of scheduling and distribution at Swift Independent Packing Company, have moved nine times since they've been married.

Their first child, Jeff, was born in Defiance, Ohio, and their second, Brenda, was born in Columbus, Ohio. Their third child, Eric, was born after the couple moved to Nebraska.

The Barnes have lived in Omaha, Grand Island, and Scottsbluff, Neb.; Montgomery, Ala.; Rochelle, Ill.; and Des Moines, Iowa, besides their native Ohio. Both Ron and Jan were raised near Columbus.

"It's been very interesting moving around," noted Jan. "We've met a lot of nice people and have seen different areas of the country. Sometimes I think it'd be nice to stay in one place, but then I wonder if I'd get bored because In so used to mov-

"It's been especially interesting lately because we've begun running into some of the people we've been with somewhere else through Swift. And in Hereford, we found a couple that went to a rival high school near where we grew

"You can always find something you like about each new area," continued Jan. "I think that the biggest adjustment is the one that the children have to make. We came here from a city of 250,000 and there were so many things for the kids to do. It's tough for them, but I do think it makes them more outgoing. They are able to make friends very quickly."

Ron has been employed for Swift Independent for 27 years. He enjoys golfing and fishing, and when the family lived in Nebraska, he used to go hunting quite often, according to Jan.

After taking off for a few months, Jan recently started working half days at Shur-Gro Liquid Feed as a recep-tionist and bookkeeper. "I'm really enjoying it," she stated. "I didn't want to work full-time, so that I could still be involved in other things, but I needed something to keep me busy."

Jan had worked part-time for a small brokerage firm in Des Moines, which she also found interesting; and in Illinois, she was employed as a school secretary, part-time for a year and then full-time for two years. "That was the first job I'd had since the kids were born," she said.

Jan has joined Hereford
Newcomers Club since coming here and she has visited Hereford CowBelles. She and her family are members of the First United Methodist Church. "I've always been involved with church activities, and in the past I've helped with the Heart Association," she commented.

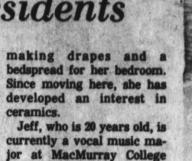

She enjoys reading and likes to sew. Right now she is 1. In 1980, what college foot-

She is a member of the HHS speech team and is involved in the Methodist youth group. Eric, 12, is a seventh grader at La Plata Junior High, where he plays baritone in the band. He is also involved in Boy Scouts.

Although the Barnes have lived in many different places, this is the first time they've resided in this part of the country. "We are looking forward to seeing some of the historical sites around this area," smiled Jan. "We've been to Carlsbad Caverns and hope to see the Grand Canyon, Santa Fe, and San Antonio, among other places."

Jan admitted that since they have rarely lived near family, many of their vacations have been spent going back to visit relatives, but she added that on short weekend trips they enjoyed going sightseeing around the areas where they lived. #### Ann Landers Grateful for gift of life

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am sure that nothing out This is an open letter to anyone who is considering suicide. Please, I beg of you, read what I have to say. I have been where you are

When I was 24 my desire to end my life and escape from the misery of it all was so overwhelming I might well have been included in the year's suicide statistics. As a sequence of choosing to live, I have experienced marriage, children, the joys and sorrows of raising a family, and now I am looking forward to the twilight years.

At 61 my gratitude for the gift of life is as wide, high and leep as space itself. Because I chose to live I am part of a wondrous world that has so many fabulous opportunities. embrace every changing idea, every mood, every new experience as an exciting challenge. The good things that happen are ever more delicious because I know I nearly missed them. I keep reminding myself that I almost chose not to live-and what a great mistake that would have been!

To those of you who are considering suicide I say hang in there. With God's help, your problems will work out. Tomorrow will be a happier day. Or maybe it will be the day after tomorrow. But surely it is there for you. Stick around and you will see that I am right.-Eastern Seaboard Reader

DEAR READER (you are also a writer): Thanks for those words of wisdom. I would not be surprised if you save some lives today.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please help me. You are the only one I can tell this to without being embarrassed.

My sister, who is 18, has been living with my husband and me for over a year. He likes her very much. Sometimes I think "too" of the way has gone on between them yet, but I feel as if something might start up one of these days.

Let me explain why I am uneasy. My husband does not come to bed until she says "goodnight". When my sister goes out on a date, he waits up for her. Also, he begs her to accompany him, no matter where he is going, even if it is to go to the grocery store. She flirts with him like he was one of her boyfriends.

Please tell me hat to do Ann. I don't want to look foolish, but I'm afraid if I don't get her out of our house she just might wreck my marriage.-Trying To Swim In Troubled Waters

DEAR T.T.S.: Would you keep a fox in the chicken coop? Why then are you allowing an equally predatory creature to inhabit your home?

Make no accusations. Quietly plan other arrangements for your sister at once. Tell her (and your husband) that she needs to be more independent and your marriage needs to blossom and grow ina way that is not possible when a third party is

SPORTS

For America's Cup challenge

Bond forced to wait another day

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) Alan Bond has spent the past decade and millions of dollars pining in vain for the America's Cup. He figures he can wait one more day.

The long-anticipated showdown between Australia II, whose syndicate Bond heads, and U.S. defender Liberty was postponed Tues-day until today because of shifting winds on Rhode Island Sound.

The delay in the best-ofseven series followed two aborted attempts to start the 24.3-mile race.

In the first, Liberty crossed the starting line with a twosecond edge when the race was abandoned. In the second, Australia II skipper John Bertrand controlled starting maneuvers, but the battle was postponed before the yachts reached the starting line.

"We were doing OK," said Bond, making his fourth Cup bid. "We'll just go out there and do the same tomorrow."

"We were just looking forward to beating them in their conditions so we were very disappointed" by the postponement, Liberty skipper Dennis Conner, the 1980 Cup winner aboard Freedom, said with a laugh. But he called the decision "prudent." Although the boats' crews had little time to size each other up Tuesday, "we got a rough idea of some of their abilities to turn and what to look for," Conner said. "But as far as the relative strengths upwind, there was no indication of that today."

In compiling a 48-6 record in winning the foreign trials against six boats, the Aussie entry with the radical winged keel gained a reputation as one of the strongest threats to America's unbroken grip on the Cup. It was at its best on the three upwind legs of the six-legged, triangular course. "It really wasn't enough to gauge anything," Bond said of Tuesday's activity. "We felt we had some maneuverability and speed."

After the postponement, Bertrand spent the rest of the afternoon on the water testing mainsails and spinnakers. Conner said he was impressed with Australia II. "In watching Australia (II) maneuver both today and in the video (tape) I think that anyone who is a student of the 12-meter game would have to be impressed by their ability to turn on a small radius and their ability to tack," Conner said.

Warren Jones, executive director of the Australia II syndicate, said, "Dennis looked as though he was in good shape" on the first start.

In Las Vegas

Million-buck event starts

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) -The $1,050,000 purse largest ever offered in golf for the new Las Vegas Pro-Celebrity Classic could be the first of a series of sevenfigure tournaments in the near future.

"We've got one for a million in South Africa. We've got one for a million here. And there'll be more. Other tournaments are going to have to keep up," Lee Trevino said before teeing off today in the first round of the five-day, 90-hole tournament that is spread over four courses at this desert resort.

"I think it's just a matter of time, probably not a lot of time, before you see more $1 million tournaments, more in this country, maybe in Japan, maybe in Australia," Trevino said.

The tournament, actually, is the third to offer $1 million in total prize money. The other two were limited-field events in southern Africa.

But this one very definitely is not a limited field. In fact, tournament organizers have what is believed to be the largest number of par-ticipants ever assembled for one tournament - 1,040 players.

Of that bulky group, 208 are pros, many of whom have not played a PGA Tour event in years. That group includes Ed Furgol, Jack Fleck, Ted Kroll, Roberto de Vicenzo, Don Cherry and Al Besselink.

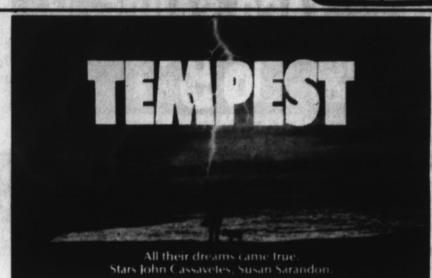

Under the unusual money breakdown they, and all other pros in the field, are assured of a minimum $1,250 in prize

The format calls for each pro to play one round each day with a different four-man eam of amateurs, on each of four courses, the Las Vegas, Dunes, Showboat and Desert Inn country clubs.

After 72 holes, the celebrities as Robert Goulet, Telly Savalas, Sean Connery, Hal Linden and Jim Brown drop out and the field is cut to the low 70 scorers for Sunday's pros-only final round at the Las Vegas Country Club.

Those survivors will share in the $700,000 official prize money, with $135,000 going to the winner. About $300,000 is set aside for daily pro-ams prizes and to cover the guarantees to those pros who do not make the cut. Another $50,000 is for team pro-ams.

West Texas ranchers oppose relief measures

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — West Texas ranchers pattling one of the worst droughts in decades say a government relief program supposed to help them weather their losses won't do them any good.

Agriculture Secretary John August that low-interest loans would be available to ranchers in 23 counties of Southwest Texas suffering from the drought.

But three weeks later, not a single rancher had applied for one of the Farmers Home Administration loans.

Veteran West Texas cattlemen told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram that the ranchers who will seek the federal disaster aid are those ching practices or tried to walk a financial tightrope.

The more successful a rancher has been, the less likely he is to qualify for the current FmHA disaster loans. A proven loss alone will not qualify an applicant. And producers who can qualify for loans ewhere are not eligible for the low-interest disaster

So many cattlemen say they would rather see Block provide a feed subsidy program than loans for the 23-county area west of a line from San Angelo to Abilene and southwest from Lamesa to the Rio Grande.

"The initial disaster program won't help anybody," who manages two ranches for his family in the Pecos area. "I can borrow more money now than I can pay back."

But the ranchers, Block and state politicians disagree over whether enough corn remains in the bins to help. A spokesman for Block said that with the drought spreading across the nation's Corn Belt, the secretary would "be opening a door in Texas and not be able to close it" if he approved the feed

Meanwhile, ranchers in the area, where the average annual rainfall has dropped from about 10 inches to 3 inches, are taking their own advice and culling herds by as much as 50 percent.

In the Pecos-Fort Stockton area, a few operators have opted to let some cattle die rather than spend more money to feed them and sell them at a loss. Internal Revenue Service agents say these producers have only a slim chance at a tax break by abandoning their cattle.

"This is no place for anyone who can't survive a six- to eight-month setback," said Pecos rancher Herschel Cox.

Many ranchers believe that federal aid raises "a moral question," said Gene West of Marfa, who manages three operations in the Big Bend

"If I can't make it, is it right to take your money and keep me in business?" West asked. "We're a conservative people out here. I don't want any loan from the Farmers Home Administration."

He said that during the 1970s, "a lot of people out here got a bunch of money they didn't need through the federal loan and feed subsidy programs. Some producers channeled their disaster aid into certificates of deposit or used it for purposes other than paying bills, he said. Bill Prewit, a Pecos rancher and oil and gas broker, said some farmers borrowed huge amounts from FmHA and operated until they were foreclosed upon.

the disaster declaration was inspired more by political pressure than by a real need for the minimal help the loans

"The holler at the federal government to 'come help us,' and we can't say, 'We're broke too," said one unidentified official. "A lot of it (help from the declaration) is psychological."

Field crickets invading sections of county, city

THE HEREFORD BRAND

FARM NEWS

Hordes of field crickets have invaded parts of Deaf Smith County, creating a nuisance in some areas and causing minor damage.

Large numbers of crickets usually occur in the fall following prolonged dry weather in the spring and summer, points out Brad Morrison, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. If temperatures get cooler and rains occur, increased nuisance will occur from massive migration from yards and fields into homes and other lighted areas.

Field crickets can damage ornamental and garden plants. Inside homes and other buildings they become a nuisance and may occasionally feed on fabrics, especially clothing stained with perspiration or food.

Morrison suggests cleaning yard and garden areas to reduce cricket feeding and breeding sites. This includes destroying weeds and dense vegetation around homes and other buildings and removing piles of bricks, stones, wood and other debris where erickets may hide.

Eliminating outside lights all his life had a love for the at night also helps keep soil. He had a small piece of crickets away from buildings, and making sure that all screens and doors fit tightly will help keep the pests out of the home.

As far as insecticides are concerned, Morrison advises spraying a band from 5 to 20 feet wide around foundation walls and treating window and door faces, crawl spaces, door thresholds, and around garbage cans and wood piles to keep crickets from moving

Effective insecticides for outdoor use include chlorpyrifos (Dursban), diazinon, malathion, propoxur

HE OCCUPIES THE THRONE OF HIGHEST HONOR

"King David quoted Jesus as saying: 'I know the Lord is always with Me. He is helping Me. God's mighty power supports Me.

"No wonder My heart is filled with joy and My tongue shouts His praises! For I know all will be well with Me in death--You will not leave My soul in hell or let the body of Your Holy Son decay. You will give Me back My life, and give Me wonderful joy in Your presence.

"Dear brothers, think! David wasn't referring to himself when he spoke these words I have quoted, for he died and was buried, and his tomb is still here among us! But he was a prophet, and knew God had promised with an unbreakable oath that one of David's own descendants would be the Messiah and sit on David's throne.

"David was looking far into the future and predicting the Messiah's resurrection, and saying that the Messiah's soul would not be left in hell and

His body wold not decay.
"He was speaking of Jesus, and we all are witnesses that Jesus rose from the dead. And now He sits on he throne of the highest honor in heaven, next to God. And just as promised, the Father has sent the Holy Spirit -- with the results you are seeing and hearing today.

"No. David was not speaking of himself in these words of his I have quoted, for he never ascended into the skies. Moreover, he further stated, 'God spoke to my Lord, the Messiah, and said to Him, Sit here in honor beside Me until I bring Your enemies into complete subjection.'

"Therefore I clearly state to everyone in Israel that God has made this Jesus you crucified to be the Lord, the Messiah!" Acts 2:25-36

How to blanch vegetables

DEAR POLLY — Would it be possible to blanch vegetables for freezing in a microwave oven, rather than boiling water? — MURPH

DEAR MURPH — Blanching is simply a quick pre-cooking to stop the enzyme action in vegetables before freezing them. If most vegetables are not blanched, they may change in color, flavor, and texture during freezer storage. While this is usually done by plunging the vegetables into boiling water for a few minutes, it can also be done in a microwave

The best advice is to check the cookbook that came with your oven for directions recommended by the manufacturer of your particular oven.

However, the general procedure is simple. Working with no more than one pound of vegetables at a time, put the washed and cut-up vegetables in a microwave oven-proof pan, add one-quarter to one-half cup water, cover and microwave for approximately two to six minutes, depending on the size and type of vegetable. (Tender vegetables in small pieces that cook quickly take the smaller time, larger tougher vegetables take longer, etc.) Stir once or twice during the cooking time so the vegetables cook evenly.

When done, the vegetables will be evenly and brightly colored and just slightly cooked. Plunge the vegetables into ice water until thoroughly chilled, drain and pack in freezer container. — POLLY

Ms. Stevenson presided at the business meeting in which she presented memorial tributes for two former members, Florence Fluitt and Dola Phillips. She read a poem which was followed by a prayer.

Memorial gifts were given in honor of Ms. Phillips at Westgate Nursing Home and to the Satellite School for Ms. Fluitt.

Ms. Stevenson announced that there would be a clinic entitled, "Taking care of Your Car" at Stevens Chevrolet-Oldsmobile slated Monday at 9 p.m.

Also during the business session, it was announced that Friends of the Library are asking for books for their annual book sale scheduled Oct. 15.

Ms. Davidson introduced

call answered by "What I Did to Explore this summer." Some members had taken trips to England, Wales, Canada and others toured in the United States.

Those attending included Carmen Angel, Opal Bookout. Evadna Cox, Bertha Dettmann, Jessie Mae Dodson, Margaret Ann Durham, Wilma Goettsch, Hilda Haven, Nadine Hill, Ursalee Jacobsen, Verna Sowell. Grace Tinning, Zoe Williams, Sue Henslee, Ella Higgins, and Mildred Elliott. The next meeting was

cheduled at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 11 in the home of Jessie Mae

May have migraines

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 24-year-old female and I wonder if you can help me. I often get a slight headache, my hands and arms go numb and my vision messes up. I can look at something and only be able to see part of it.

Then the headache gets worse and I vomit several times. After that I lie down and go to sleep. The pain is real bad and usually on the right side of my head and down into my neck.

After I go to sleep for a couple of hours I am usually OK. I have been having e since I was 4 years old My father used to have them

Do you have any suggestions about preventing them? What are they? Are

DEAR READER - Your brief story suggests migraine headaches. You may be surprised that as many as one out of five Americans have migraine headaches. It is common for them to begin early in life.

The vision and perhaps the hand and arm disorders you describe may be related to the early phase of the attack when the arteries in the brain constrict. Later, as the same arteries overdilate, they induce the severe headache that may be accompanied with vomiting. This latter feature is why they are sometimes called "sick headaches."

Your doctor can give you

medicines to control these if they are migraine headaches. If you are a not a coffee drinker, a strong cup of coffee at the very onset of the attack may help.
Certain foods make it more likely you will have an attack, such as sodium nitrate in cured meats; monosodium glutamate as in Chinese cooking, and tria-mine as found in cheese, sour cream, beer, liver, canned figs, raisins, bananas or avocados, chocolate, soy sauce, the pods of broad meat tenderizers.

Migraine attacks are discussed in more detail with other headaches in The Health Letter 16-12. Headaches and What to Do About Them; which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, selfaddressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019

DEAR DR. LAMB - I would like some information on lichen planus. I have a daughter who has this and I would like to know how and where she got it. Is it contagious?

DEAR READER - It is difficult to describe because it is one of many rashes that have similar descriptive features. In general, the spots are near violet color.
