

Two counterfeit $20 bills discovered in circulation here

An investigation into the discovery of counterfeit $20 bills in the area turned up two such bills in Hereford this week. Travis McPherson, county sheriff, said the bills were brought to the sheriff's office Monday. One was passed at a service station and the other at either a department store or pool hall. The man who received the second bogus bill said he was not sure at which of his businesses he received the bill, either the pool hall or the department store. McPherson said the man who passed the bill at the service station was described as a white man, 34 to 38 years of age, about 5 feet 8, with red hair and slick "ducktails" at the back. The man, McPherson said, bought a pack of cigarettes with the $20 bill and walked out of the station. The owner of the station said the man acted suspicious so he notified the sheriff's office. The service station owner said he did not see the man get in a car. The bills can be identified from a real $20 bill by a darker inking job on the face of the bill, and the whiteness of the paper on which they are printed. "It is a good grade of paper," McPherson said, "but if you hold it up to a light, you can't see the threads in it that are normally in a bill." McPherson said the counterfeit bill influx in the area has probably reached to "thousands of dollars worth," and the situation is getting worse. "There are probably a lot more than this in town, but it could be two or three weeks before they are discovered. It might not be discovered until it gets to the state depository in Dallas," he said. Amarillo and Clovis have reported finding several bogus bills in the past few weeks, and McPherson said there have been several thousand reported just in the Austin area.

CONTROLLED CROSSING? — The stop signs installed at the Progressive Road crossing of the Santa Fe Railroad tracks east of town have proved little worth their while. In a 30-minute survey Monday by the Brand, only 10 vehicles stopped at the stop signs while 23 failed to abide by the sign. This was one of the few that did stop.

Stop sign fares poorly in first day at crossing

The county installed stop signs last week at the point where Progressive Road crosses the Santa Fe tracks, but motorists continue to ignore the hazardous crossing.

In a survey by the Brand Monday morning between 8:30 and 9 a.m., some 33 vehicles passed over the crossing, but only 10 of these paid heed to the newly erected signs. Six of the vehicles made a half-hearted attempt to obey the stop signs, while 17 didn't even reduce their speed.

"When we were young," Bayne said, "it was always 'Stop, Look and Listen' but today those cross arms don't mean a thing.

"It is amazing to me that people stop at stop signs where they might be hit by a car going 15 miles an hour, but completely ignore a sign where they might get hit by a train going 70 miles an hour."

The county erected the stop signs last Thursday, following a meeting with Santa Fe officials. At the Wednesday meeting, the county, city and Santa Fe agreed to begin work on getting a flashing warning system installed at the crossing. The city and county will pay 50 per cent of the cost while Santa Fe will pay the other 50 per cent.

Santa Fe officials also conducted a survey of the crossing and said more than 900 vehicles cross the tracks each day and this certainly was an indication a signal is needed.

The city, in its Monday meeting, agreed to begin legal steps to have Progressive Road annexed into the city limits so it will be able to participate in the financing of the signals. City attorney Ernest Langley was instructed to begin proceedings, but that is expected to take somewhere between two and three months.

City manager Dudley Bayne said it might take as long as three or four months before Santa Fe will be able to install the lights, but the situation still rests on whether the head office of the company agrees to pay for half of the cost.

City looks at rabies problem

The city commission, prompted by a sudden outbreak in the number of persons in this county who have been treated for possible rabied animal bites, Monday adopted an add-on ordinance that will alleviate some of the problems being faced by the out-dated animal control ordinance.

The move was made when two local doctors and a veterinarian presented to the commission figures showing a sharp increase in rabies cases in this area. Dr. Hugh McCrary, Dr. Duffy McBrayer and veterinarian Aaron Hutto appeared before the commission seeking a change in the old dog control ordinance.

The new ordinance is designed to provide who will pay for the impounding and observing of animals picked up as suspected rabied. It also will provide who will be responsible for the animals and who will pay the medical bills of patients who are treated for possible rabie bites.

"Rabies is always around," said McCrary, "and every year we get ground squirrels, skunks, dogs and even bats of which a good percentage is rabied."

"Right now we are at a high level of rabies in wildlife and because of this we are at a high number of persons who have been treated for possible rabie bites." McCrary said there were seven persons in Hereford last month who were on rabies vaccination.

City Manager Dudley Bayne said a possible solution to the problem could be the vaccination of a majority of dogs in the city. At the present time, he said, only eight dogs have been tagged this year, although this might not be any indication as to the number that have been vaccinated.

Bayne said some 124 dogs were picked up and destroyed in May, 112 in April and 80 in March. This did not include those picked up at the pound by the owners or the ones sold before they were destroyed.

There are two police officers working part-time on dog control, and this is one of the reasons for the sharp increase from March to April, Bayne said.

"Few people realize," Bayne said, "that when they get a dog vaccinated, they must come to the city hall for tags for the animal. These tags help us quite a bit because we can find the owner and then don't have to destroy the animal."

Hutto said he has been vaccinating about 40 animals each month for rabies, but it is apparent the owners are not getting the tags for them. The cost of the tags is only $1 per animal.

Hutto agreed to take over the selling of the tags at his office when he vaccinates an animal.

The cost of caring and observing a suspected rabied animal also was discussed, and it was agreed the city will collect this money from the owners. The city in turn will pay the veterinarian.

If the owner of the animal is unknown, cannot be found, or if it is a wild animal, the person who is bitten will pay for the observation.

McBrayer said it is imperative that more animals are vaccinated against rabies. He said if a person were to be bitten by a known rabied animal, it would be almost impossible for local doctors to get the serum for the patient.

"It is difficult to get rabie serum here. We almost have to beg them to fly it up here on an Air Force plane, even when we know it is a positive case," McCrary said.

The nearest place to get the serum from is New Orleans and the substance is very rare and hardly ever used any more.

The scarcity of the serum is due to the lack of people who are willing to contract rabies just to produce the serum. Contraction of the disease also brings a very high percentage of possible side effects that could permanently effect the person. Also, the scarcity of the serum makes it very costly to buy.

Doctors said they are hoping to give a public vaccination clinic within the next few weeks to see if they can get a bigger percentage of the animals vaccinated. Plans for the clinic have not been worked out, but it is believed it will be on a Saturday at the fire station.

Hazen Woods heads concert assn. for '71

With Hazen Woods as president, officers of Hereford Community Concert Association were elected and plans were set in motion for the annual membership campaign week, at a meeting in Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce office Monday afternoon.

Campaign chairman this fall will be Mrs. J. H. McCrary, who was named a vice president. Mrs. R. C. White and Mrs. Bob Word are the other vice presidents.

Re-elected for another year were Mrs. Roy Hartman as secretary and Jeff Carille, treasurer.

New directors named for a two-year term are Mrs. Harlan VanderZee, Mrs. John E. Smith, Mrs. Albert Ricketts, Mrs. Jack McKinster, Mrs. James T. Clarke, Ronnie Wright, Mrs.

Gerald Mann and Mrs. Les Combs.

Directors with another year to serve on the board are Mrs. Dolson-Palmer, Mrs. Charles Jones, Ken Rogers, Mrs. Wesley Gulley, Mrs. Joe Reinauer Sr. and Jim Priest.

Membership campaign week, the only time during the year when members are enrolled in the association, will be launched with the annual kickoff dinner Oct. 11. Mrs. Ricketts will be chairman of dinner arrangements.

The association brings three or more concerts by nationally known musicians to Hereford each season, with admission only by membership card. Membership is open to any area resident during the campaign week.

Golf tourney here this week

Friday is the deadline for teams planning to enter the annual Hereford Partnership Golf Tournament at the local golf course.

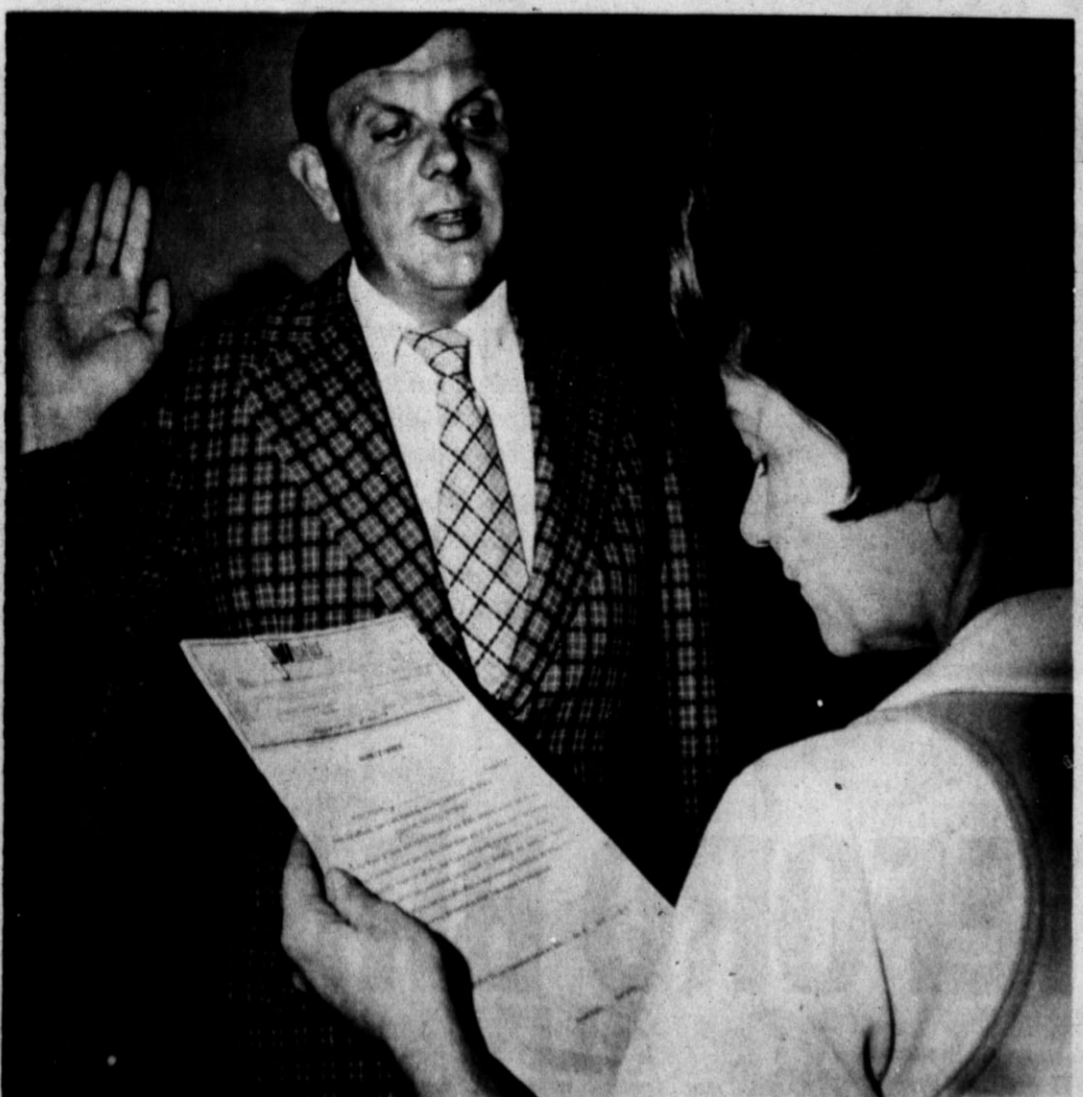

The partnership will be played Saturday and Sunday with an "anytime" start on Saturday and a "shotgun" start on Sunday. The tournament will be 36 holes and partners will be flighted to the low handicap of the two-man team.

Entry fee is $35 per two-man team and a person can pick his own partner. Some 35 teams were reported entered through Tuesday and only 60 teams will be accepted for the partnership.

Prizes will be in the form of merchandise.

SWEARING IN — Andy Shual is sworn in as criminal district attorney for Deaf Smith County by his secretary, Joan Slentz, in informal ceremonies at the courthouse Monday afternoon. Other county officials dropped in to see the ceremony officially marking the end of a county attorney's job here and the start of a special district attorney's post.

Terry Bradshaw

Debbie Patton

Encounter '71 It's just 10 days away

Terry Bradshaw, quarterback for the Pittsburgh Steelers, and Debbie Patton, Miss Teenage America, will share the spotlight here in two weeks at a special "Youth Night" during the Panhandle's first inter-denominational evangelistic crusade.

"Encounter '71," as the crusade has been named, is being sponsored by 10 churches and seven denominations of Hereford. The crusade will run from Sunday, June 20 through Thursday June 24. It will be at Whiteface Stadium.

The appearance of Miss Patton and Bradshaw on the third night of the crusade is for the area youth. The Tuesday night activities will be dedicated to the young people of the Panhandle and will feature youth-oriented services, a giant reception, autographs and a panel interview with the two stars.

Young people of the community will serve as ushers, choir members and participate in other activities of the "Youth Night." They automatically will be invited as special guests at a reception in La Plata Junior High gymnasium at which Miss Patton and Bradshaw will appear for the purpose of signing autographs, visiting and taking part in the panel interview.

Preparations have been made to accommodate some 5,000 youth at the reception.

Also, each night of the crusade will feature a huge 200-voice choir and an evangelistic message by Dr. Gerald Mann.

The crusade is a layman-sponsored presentation, underwritten by 100 Hereford laymen who contributed $100 each to initiate the movement.

On the opening night of the crusade, Dale Evans will be the featured guest, followed on Monday by Tom Lester of television's "Green Acres" show, Bradshaw and Miss Patton on Tuesday. On Wednesday, Vonda Kaye Van Dyke, former Miss America, will appear and Paul Anderson, "the world's strongest man," will close out the five-day crusade on Thursday.

School to make new appointments

Four persons will have new jobs at the end of the Hereford School Board meeting tonight.

The board will fill the vacancies left by the recent resignations of Tom Harkey, who has been in charge of the cafeteria and transportation departments, and of Walter Bryan, vocational director.

The trustees also will select their two appointees to the newly organized Juvenile Board. Harkey and Bryan resigned last month to accept superintendent's jobs next year at Lorraine and Baird, respectively.

The Juvenile Board appointees will raise the number of persons on the board to five of the seven total spots. County Judge H. C. Williams is an automatic member, and the county commissioners named two of their own—Donald Hicks and Earl Holt.

The school board is expected to name two non-trustees, with one of them perhaps being a woman. Supt. Roy Hartman talked with counselors, principals and other school personnel in the past two weeks in search of the two persons he will recommend that the board appoint.

The board also will hear a progress report on the system's first non-graded school, Tierra Blanca Elementary.

The tax rate for the 1971-72 school year also will be considered, and several teachers will be hired to fill vacancies left by resignations.

High school rodeo team enters finals

The Hereford High School Rodeo team will travel to Amarillo Friday and Saturday to compete for the championship in the Tri-State High School Rodeo Finals at the Range Riders Arena.

Events will get underway at 7:30 p.m. each day with a Miss Tri-State contest planned for 2 p.m. Saturday. Connie Alexander of Hereford will represent the local team.

Tickets for the finals can be purchased at the gate or from Monica Richardson at 364-3565 or Vickie Alford at 289-5980.

Hereford High School will send the area's top two contestants into the finals to compete for the top cowboy and top cowgirl saddles. Kim Gripp is currently leading the boys in total points for the year and Monica Richardson is leading the girls.

Points are determined on the basis of finishes during the regular season. The points gathered at the finals will be added to the year's total and the individual and team with the highest point total wins.

The Hereford boys team is currently leading in the battle for the team trophy with 98 points.

The year's top 15 contestants in each event has qualified for the finals competition and will have a shot at the individual titles.

Teams from Amarillo High School, Clayton, Canadian, Dalhart, Dumas, Tascosa, Plainview, Panhandle and Pampa will compete this weekend for the finals championship.

Belt buckles will be awarded those who win first or second in the year's total.

Those from Hereford who will compete are Kim Gripp, Monica Richardson, John Wilson, Vickie Alford, Red Laing, Rocky Andrews, Marvin Smith, Kim Sealy and Mike Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Crume silver wedding honorees

Crumes honored at open house

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Crume were honored Sunday afternoon on their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary with an open house in the Gwynne Owens home at 1209 Grand.

Guests from Borger, Amarillo, Littlefield and Hereford were greeted by the couple with their son, Gary, a student at West Texas State University, and David of the home.

Other hosts for the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Tubbs and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gollehon, all of Littlefield. The Golle-hons are parents of Mrs. Crume. Crume married Frances Gollehon June 9, 1946. They now reside at 115 Northwest Drive.

Wedding pictures, announcement clippings and the bride's book were displayed on the registry table for guests to see.

Refreshments were served from crystal appointments also used at the wedding reception as were the bride and groom atop the three-tiered cake.

Pink roses in silver candelabra centered the serving table.

Buff tennis squad goes to NCAA

CANYON, Tex.—West Texas State University's youth-dominated tennis squad competes June 14-19 in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament in South Bend, Ind.

Of the four Buffalo players, one is a senior, two are juniors and one is a freshman.

Leo Estopare, the team's number one player, is the squad's only senior. Number two man Paul Tobin and number three player, Mike Bolton are both juniors, while John Phillips, the number four player, is a freshman.

Of the four, Phillips, a hard-hitter from Snyder, Tex., has the top singles mark. He battled his way to a spot among the top four early in the season and compiled a 23-3 record.

Estopare has a 21-7 mark this spring, while Tobin is 23-5 and Bolton is 20-6.

Phillips and Tobin are individual champions from the Missouri Valley Conference level. Tobin won the number two player division at that tourney in Memphis, Tenn., and Phillips is the number four player winner. Tobin and Phillips also combined to win the number two doubles title at Memphis.

Estopare and Bolton came back to win the doubles division of the MVC tourney for number one players. Estopare and Tobin are from St. Louis, Mo., while Bolton is from Vancouver, Canada.

"Leo is a little tiger," said Coach David Kent, who will fly out of Amarillo Sunday, along with Phillips. "He has beaten some of the top collegiate players in the nation during his two years at West Texas.

Estopare transferred to West Texas from Odessa, Tex., Junior College where he won the national junior college double title.

Like Estopare, Tobin is a former national junior college champ. He captured the juco singles crown before transferring to WTSU two years ago.

"Paul has come into his own this year and now has earned the number one position for next year," Kent said.

"Bolton's lack of consistency has kept him from being a fantastic player," said his coach. "When he plays well, he is capable of topping any of the big ones, but he doesn't always play that well. He has, however, made great strides as a doubles player with Leo."

Kent was high in his praise of Phillips, who combined with Dale Corbin of Wichita Falls, to give the Buffaloes two strong freshmen. Corbin would have made the trip, but the tourney limits each team to only four entries.

"Phillips has come along and is a strong competitor as there is on the team," said Kent. "He has no fear as a player. He will hit his shots hard at all times and in some upsets."

All of the players will be thrown into one big tourney. There will be one singles and one doubles division.

'Greatest Show On Earth' kicks off in Amarillo soon

Historians will tell you that the modern circus was born in 1768 when a former officer in His Majesty's Army named of horsemanship in the fields of Lambeth, near London.

From that day until now, the horse has been a major part of every circus in the world. And the largest collection of performing horses of all time will arrive at the Amarillo Civic Center Coliseum next Thursday as Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus opens its spectacular 100th Edition.

There are three main types of Circus horses. The kind that works alone or is ridden so that the attention of the audience is on the animal's performance instead of the rider's, is known as a high school horse. That term comes from haute école, the French name for a highly sophisticated method of training. The high school Circus horse is taught tricks—waltzing, backward cantering, hesitation—all of which are foreign to his natural gaits and, therefore, difficult for him to master.

As you watch a waltzing horse, it almost seems to have a musical sense but this effect is the responsibility of the band leader, who follows its movements so closely that the horse's pacing leads him.

Another notable type of Circus horse is the resinback. These are the magnificent broad-backed animals that circle the ring at a steady gallop while bareback riders perform their incredible feats. These horses are called resinbacks because their backs are, indeed, rubbed with resin to keep the riders' feet from slipping.

This classification of Circus horses wouldn't be complete without mentioning liberty horses. They perform in groups, without reins and, therefore, are at liberty. The trainer controls their intricate movements with tiny, subtle flicks of a whip and by vocal commands.

For many years horses pulled wagons of the Circus as it ponderously made its way from city to city. And, under canvas, the horses performed many chores in erecting the tented city.

Around The Greatest Show On Earth, the horse department is still called "Ringstock." This term came into use in canvas days to distinguish the workers ("Workstock") from the more aristocratic performing animals.

It's safe to say that the horse will always be an admired and integral part of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey. The animal has served the Circus well for 100 seasons.

Tickets are now on sale for Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, coming to Amarillo next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Sears in Sunset Center in Amarillo and the Amarillo Civic Center Box office, P. O. Box 1971, Amarillo, Texas, 79105.

4 charged for insulator thefts

Four Muleshoe men were fined $54 each Wednesday and released after they all were charged with theft under $50 in connection with the "exchange" of glass insulators atop telephone poles belonging to Santa Fe Railroad.

The four men were arrested by local sheriff's officers Tuesday night in Friona after the office received a report several men were taking the glass insulators from the telephone poles.

Sheriff's officers said the four men were first seen by a railroad company official, taking the insulators from the poles in the Santa Fe rail yard. The official told the men to leave, officers reported, and they did, but they went about two miles east of town and began replacing the old glass insulators with those of a newer kind.

A second report was then received by sheriff's officers and the men were finally seen in Friona, apparently on their way back to Muleshoe, when they were arrested.

They were returned to Hereford and placed in jail and charges were presented Wednesday.

The glass insulators were found in the back of the pickup the four men were in. The insulators, although old and out-dated, are collectors' items.

DAMP MEMORIES
LONDON — Relics dating back to the 1920s were dredged from Garden Park's Round Pond when it was drained for the first time in 40 years.

Among the finds were the wrecks of several generations of small boys' model boats, some army tin hats tossed in by celebrating soldiers at the end of the war and an old sceptre from a nearby statue of Queen Victoria, which is regularly raided by pranksters.

PARK LODGE OPENS
BEAR MOUNTAIN, N.Y. — Laurance Rockefeller, president of the Palisades Interstate Park Commission, has announced that a 24-room lodge has replaced two out-dated buildings at Bear Mountain State Park. John Russo is the manager for Restaurant Associates.

CRITICAL STUDENTS
NEW YORK — At a recent seminar students of Traphagen School of Fashion expressed a desire to change a lot more than just the style of garments worn by women.

They attacked today's poor workmanship, the designing of way out items for the sake of promotion and clothes that are styled to look well only on size eight models.

Regulations keeping youth off trucks draws opposition

WASHINGTON — U. S. Rep. Bob Price has led a bipartisan group of farm state representatives in introducing legislation to exempt farm trucks, custom combines, and farm truck drivers from U. S. Department of Transportation traffic regulations.

The proposed regulations have come up for criticism in the Hereford area and other agriculture-oriented areas.

The Price bill is designed to remove the DOT's present authority to prescribe and regulate farm truck driver age limits, mental, physical and ability test requirements, truck sizes and weight limitations, and a farmer record keeping requirements.

"The farmers of our nation have enough problems without federal bureaucrats adding to them by enforcing idiotic regulations. Under the new proposals, day time farmers would be forced to become night time bookkeepers," Price said.

The federal regulations in question would require farmers to develop and maintain extensive records on driver age qualifications, driver traffic records and employment records. Farm truck and custom combine operators would have to be 21 years of age and pass rigorous physical and written tests.

Price attacked the proposed age limit.

"If only 21 year-olds and older could drive farm equipment, then those younger men who, at the federal government's direction, drive 50-ton tank; at places like Fort Hood, would by other federal laws, be unable to drive their parent's bob-tail trucks when they are home on leave from the service. What could be more nonsensical than that?"

In addition to local and state support from farmers and farm groups, Price's efforts are being watched approvingly by national farm organizations including the Farm Bureau, the NFO the Farmers Union, the National Association of Farm Cooperatives, the National Grange, and the National Association of Wheat Growers.

KENNEDY ORGANIZER GOES OVER TO MUSKIE

MAINE SENATOR NEEDS ALL HELP HE CAN GET

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The hiring of New York Democrat John English as the chief national organizer for the Muskie-for-President campaign is a good indication that Sen. Edward Kennedy is serious when he says he will not run in 1972.

English, New York's Democratic national committeeman, has close personal and political ties to the Kennedy family.

He worked as a New York organizer for John F. Kennedy in 1960. He was one of the most important influences on Robert Kennedy's decision to run for the Senate from New York in 1964 and worked on the ill-fated Kennedy-for-President effort in 1968.

Grabbing English was a political coup for Muskie for more reasons than just his past relationships with the Kennedy family.

He is an accomplished political organizer, knowledgeable about complex politics in New York's Democratic Party and should help Muskie capture strong support from that state in 1972.

Muskie is going to need all the help he can get. While still generally regarded as the Democratic presidential front-runner, the Maine senator is no longer regarded as the prohibitive favorite he was just a few months ago.

He has slipped in the polls and many politicians here wonder whether Muskie will be able to preserve his Lincoln-type image while trying to establish himself as an aggressive candidate for the presidency.

● REP. G. V. (SONNY) MONTGOMERY, National Guard colonel who made five trips to the Vietnam battle zone, added another "war" trophy to his collection during the recent demonstrations in Washington.

Perturbed over demonstrators blocking his entrance to the Capitol, Montgomery dashed into the crowd to take away a Viet-Cong flag being waved by one protester.

He failed to get the flag but emerged from the mass of demonstrators with a portion of a "People's Peace Treaty" banner.

One youthful protester made the mistake of trying to stop Montgomery, still lean and athletic at 50. The youth jumped on Montgomery's back but was quickly slammed to the ground by the Mississippi Democrat.

● IN A VOTE of confidence for Washington Police Chief Jerry Wilson, President Nixon says future civil disobedience demonstrations will be dealt with "in the same way."

It was Wilson who presided over the more than 7,000 arrests made here during the May Day protests week—action which blocked the demonstrators' goal of disrupting government operations.

There may be one positive result for the administration from the May Day protests.

For weeks the administration has been pushing for congressional support for legislation to require the poverty program's Neighborhood Legal Services to confine itself to assistance to the poor.

During the massive demonstrations young lawyers from the federally financed Neighborhood Legal Services of Washington were out en masse in an effort to get demonstrators out of jail as quickly as police could bring them in.

The lawyers were thus providing tax-financed services for the largely middle-class participants in the so-called New Left revolution and more than a few members of Congress were upset over this utilization of tax funds.

HE FEELS BETTER NOW BEAUMONT, Tex. — Lawson D. Turner Jr., Beaumont customs inspector, says a man at a border entry point donated 93 pounds of marijuana to the U. S. government.

Upon entering customs, the driver announced, "I brought you guys a couple of bags of marijuana. They're in the back."

Asked why, the man said he had bought the marijuana in Mexico to keep it off the market and out of the hands of youngsters. He has 14 children.

AUSTIN, Tex. — Legislature in regular session agreed to submit 14 more proposed constitutional amendments to voters in November, 1972.

Among major ones is HJR 61, which would authorize the 1973 Legislature to serve as a constitutional revision convention.

Two others (HJR 58 and HJR 65) would provide for raise in salaries of legislators (to $8,400) and lieutenant governor and House speaker (to $22,500).

Other amendments on the general election ballot in 1972 will be:

SJR 1 — Providing four-year terms for governor and other statewide officials now limited to two-year terms.

SJR 16 — Guaranteeing that no rights will be abridged because of sex, race, color, creed or national origin.

SJR 7 — Permitting local governments on popular vote to exempt $3,000 of assessed value of resident homesteads of persons 65 or older from all ad valorem taxes.

HJR 68 — Providing for advertising (twice) of proposed constitutional amendments in clear, concise language in all legal newspapers in Texas.

HJR 35 — Authorizing a tax exemption for disabled veterans and a partial exemption for partially-disabled veterans.

HJR 57 — Permitting county commissioners to reduce the county permanent school fund and provide for payment of money to independent and common school districts on a per-scholastic basis.

SJR 29 — Providing that state employees can serve on non-paying school boards and city governing bodies without forfeiting state pay.

SJR 20 — Exempting soil and water conservation district directors from dual office-holding prohibitions.

HJR 61 — Relating to rates of interest to be borne by bonds.

HJR 41 — Requiring that justices of the peace be compensated on salary basis.

HJR 31 — Abolishing Lamar County hospital district.

JOBLESS ROLL DROPS — Number of unemployed in the state decreased 6,000 during April to 181,000 Texas Employment Commission reports.

TEC said the jobless rate was only 3.8 per cent of the total labor force, thus the decline may signal a "possible end to the doldrums of the past year."

Mid-April figure was identical with December, 1970 and considered probably the lowest of the year.

Thirteen labor areas reported improvements. Austin enjoyed the lowest rate of unemployment in the state — 1.8 per cent of labor force.

APPOINTMENTS — State Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert named William Skelton of Lubbock as a member of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles. Senate confirmed the appointment.

Charles W. Horan Jr., Fort Worth, is the new chairman of Texas Tourist Development Board, succeeding John R. McCarty of Dallas. George Dillman of Dallas is vice-chairman.

Appointed branch pilots for Sabine Bar, Pass and Tributaries were Capt. James William Throgmorton of Groves and Capt. Daniel Joseph Bromley also of Groves. Gov. Preston Smith asked the Senate's approval of the nominations.

LIQUOR TAX PASSED — Tax on liquor-by-the-drink passed in the first days of the special legislative session.

Measure (HB 3) will place a 10 per cent gross receipts levy on sales and service of mixed drinks in bars and private clubs. Cities and counties each will get 15 per cent of the revenue collected within their boundaries.

Bill also boosted the tax on liquor from $1.68 to $2 a gallon and upped the wine gallonage tax depending on strength of the wine.

Beer tax on July 1 will go up from $4.30 to $5 a barrel. This rate supersedes the $6 a barrel ordered in the regular session of trustees of the district is also board of trustees of the independent school district. If a separate board of trustees is created for the junior college district, it would have control and management of all district property but only such control over school district property as the district board agrees to.

"Alcoholic Beverage Commission has no authority or jurisdiction to regulate beer sales by vendors who sell from ship's chandlerage under U. S. Customs bond.

"State Treasurer will receive fines collected in district court for violation of the Texas Motor Carrier Act, and neither district attorney nor district clerk may retain a percentage.

"A bill providing for establishment of a schedule of abused drugs by rule of the State Board of Pharmacy and for dispensing of drugs is constitutional.

AIR PERMITS NECESSARY — A new law provides that a company planning to construct or modify a facility which may emit air contaminants must get a construction permit from the Air Control Board.

If a construction permit is granted, the facility must also have a permit to operate before going into actual operation.

Air Control Board will formulate procedures for implementation of the permit system.

MH-MR GRANTS APPROVED — Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation approved $260,795 in supplemental grants for improving MH-MR facilities. Grants went to Abilene Area MH-MR Board of trustees, $34,581; Bell County, $15,000; Dallas County, $26,593; Lubbock County, $10,000; Midland, $13,176; Austin-Travis County, $43,100; Galveston County, $12,826; Brownwood, $5,000; Nueces County, $10,000 and Harris County, $125,000.

SHORT SNORTS — Bureau of Outdoor Recreation has approved a $296,150 grant for the development of Pedernales Falls State Park in Blanco County.

Alpine Independent School District has been cleared by the Texas Highway Department to acquire highway department property as site for a new high school.

State Industrial Commission officials are in Munich, Germany, to promote development of international trade for Texas.

Construction showed a seven per cent gain in April over March, five per cent of which was accounted for by residential building, reports university of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

State economy and immediate prospects for significant recovery is described as "checked" by the Bureau of Business Research, but encouraging indications must be weighed against "soft spots."

The Bank of England is privately owned.

Delaware was the first state to ratify the U. S. Constitution.

The little carefree car. Pinto is sized small, like the economy import, but it's bigger on value. And price is only the beginning. Pinto calls for only half as many oil changes as VW. One-sixth the chassis tubes. So easy to service that you can do most routine maintenance yourself. And Pinto is bigger on performance. It has a 75-hp engine that has averaged over 25 mpg in simulated city/suburban driving. Sports-car type rack-and-pinion steering. Wider stance and lower silhouette.

The Simple Machine. Maverick's price makes it simpler to own than Nova. But that's not the only reason we call it the Simple Machine. Maverick's simple to drive and park because of its shorter wheelbase and smaller turning circle. Simple to service because it's been designed that way. Maverick offers a 4-door sedan for a low price of $2235* ($145* less than Nova 4 door). Or choose the sporty Grabber model. A choice of an economical V-8 and three thrifty Sixes.

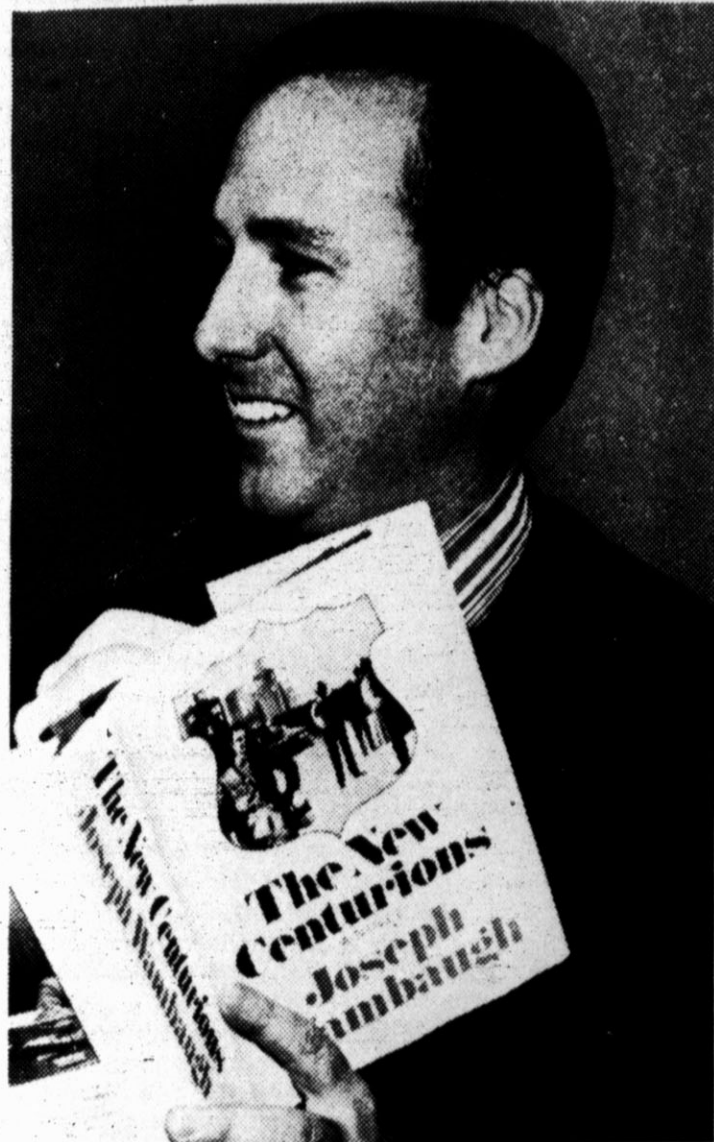

*Ford's suggested retail price for Pinto and Maverick. However, the models shown are equipped with accent group (Pinto $60; Maverick $52) and white sidewall tires ($29). Destination charges, dealer preparation charges (if any), state and local taxes are extra.

Cop-turned-writer 'lived' his best selling book

LIVED HIS BOOK — Joseph Wambaugh, who has been a police officer for 11 years, is the author of the best-selling book "The New Centurions," a book dealing in the lives of three policemen. (AP Photo)

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Wambaugh is a Los Angeles policeman who writes novels in much the same way he deals with crimes. He gathers the evidence then goes for the solution.

Wambaugh — detective sergeant, burglary squad, Hollenbeck Division — spent "eight years living" his first novel and just six months "putting it on paper." He mailed the bulky manuscript off without the aid of an agent and it was accepted by the first house he submitted it to, something similar to a 98-to-1 shot coming in first at the race track.

After "a little cutting, a little rewriting," it appeared as "The New Centurions," and rapidly moved onto the best-seller lists soon after it appeared in the book shops, became a "Book-of-the-Month Club" selection, and recently was picked up for filming by Columbia Pictures.

"I tried to put my whole life into it, to make it as true to life as I could," Wambaugh says of the book, which deals with the lives of three Los Angeles policemen from cadet school through the fury of the Watts riots of 1965.

"I wrote it because no story I'd ever heard or seen captured the life style of a cop. You can capture scenes in the life of a cop but you can't capture his way of life until after you've been a cop and for a good, long time."

An amiable, short, dark-haired man, Wambaugh is 34 has been a policeman for 11 years, all the way from covering a beat, to vice squad, to his present plainclothes job. "I could not have written the book early in my career," he says. "I had to live it first."

It took him a while. The son of a man who was a policeman in East Pittsburgh, Pa., for "six or seven years," Wambaugh joined the Marines at 17, got married at 18, and went to college after his discharge, at the same time working in a steel mill in Fontana, Calif., to support his family. He planned to become a teacher but gave that up and joined the police force instead.

"I don't really know why," he says. "I sort of drifted in, the way the three guys in my book drift in. The money with the police was better than it was in the steel mill. And, maybe, it's because my father was a policeman. Perhaps it's possible that first impressions are lasting."

While an officer he went to college part-time for 12 years to earn a B. A. and an M. A. in English literature.

The commercial success of the book obviously pleases Wambaugh, but he doesn't intend to stop being a policeman. He plans to stay on the force for another nine years, when he'll be eligible for retirement, because "I like being a cop." Even more pleasing to him is the response his novel has gotten from policemen across the nation.

"I'm getting letters and even telegrams from officers all over the country," Wambaugh grins. "Most of them say, 'I'm glad someone said these things. I always wanted to say them but didn't.' A lot of the young cops tell me the book is 'right on.' And I got a letter from a Cincinnati, Ohio, officer who wrote that when he got to the part in the book where one of the guys is shot in the stomach "It made me cry, because I was once shot the same way." During his career of "eight years on the streets and three as a detective," Wambaugh has been shot at only once, except for the Watts riot.

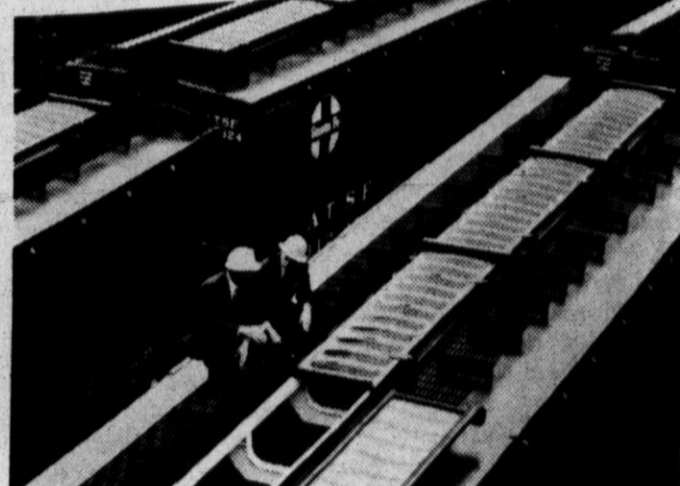

"It's not a commonplace experience to be shot at or to use your own gun," he says. He's used his own gun but "I never hit anybody." The only time he's been involved in a violent death was "some foolish bar-room incident where a guy got mad and went home and got his shotgun. We answered the call and when we got there the guy with the shotgun shot at us. The officer with me shot and killed him."

During the Watts trouble there "was gunfire all over the place. It was bewildering and it was frightening. All of us were on duty almost continuously for three days. It seemed like Custer's Last Stand for a while. Even the biggest and the bravest wanted to be elsewhere."

The Watts riot convinced Wambaugh that "no police department can control a riot. There aren't enough cops or equipment. A riot shouldn't be allowed to develop and if it does don't expect a police force of a couple of thousand to do something because they can't. Call in the Marines, or something."

Wambaugh now is putting the finishing touches on a second novel. "It's called 'The Blue Knight,' and it's about a fat and 50 cop who has been on the beat for 20 years. He's growing old and he's contemplating retirement. A cop is damn old if he's still wearing that blue coat and is on the beat at 50."

GIANT GRAIN CARS — John S. Reed, right, president of Santa Fe Railway, checks construction progress of 500 new 100-ton covered hopper cars with a representative of the manufacturer. The railroad has added 1,300 high capacity covered hoppers, and the latest order will be delivered in time to help with the 1971 grain harvest movement. In all, Santa Fe has about 10,000 of the giant cars, which are used for grain, potash and other bulk commodities.

Rains help crops... and weeds, too

Recent rains were a blessing to many parched areas of the High Plains, but this moisture means additional weeds in some grain sorghum.

Weeds can be costly as indicated by research conducted by Texas A&M University in which one carelessweed every 128 feet of row cost more than $4 in a 4,000-pound per acre yield.

Fortunately, scientific research has produced herbicides which producers can use to combat weed problems in grain sorghum, points out Dr. Robert Metzger, area agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Some of the materials that are effective in controlling established weeds are AATREX, Karmex, Banvel and 2, 4-D. Selection depends on such factors as the stage of sorghum growth, weed size, soil type, crop rotation, crops in adjacent fields and local herbicide laws.

According to Metzger, there are two key points in getting effective kill of emerging weeds. First, use a proper surfactant or wetting agent with the herbicide at the rate of two pints in 50 gallons of water with each of the chemicals listed above. Secondly, apply the herbicides when weeds are small and growing vigorously.

AATREX at one pound per acre controls carelessweeds less than one inch tall, says the agronomist. Higher rates (1½ to 3 pounds per acre) of AATREX plus crop oil are required for larger carelessweeds. Weeds more than four inches tall may not be killed if under moisture stress. Some small watergrass may also be controlled.

Sorghum on silty loam should be at least two inches tall and on fine sandy loam at least six inches tall before applying AATREX. Do not spray the herbicide on loamy sand and sandy soil, cautions Metzger, since it leaches and will be absorbed by sorghum roots.

Crop rotations are important when using AATREX. Cotton, soybeans, vegetables and sugar beets may be severely damaged or killed if planted on the same land the following year. Reduce residues by using band treatments over the row rather than total spray coverage.

The cheapest chemical for controlling annual and perennial broadleaf weeds in grain sorghum is 2, 4-D. However, Metzger emphasizes that this herbicide should be used with caution since sorghum varieties with wheatland parentage are easily damaged by 2, 4-D. Nearby cotton or vegetables can also be severely damaged from spray drift.

Treat sorghum after the plants are at least six inches tall but before the boot stage. Weeds of various sizes can be killed but results can be slow. Minimize spray drift by using high gallonage (20 to 40 gallons per acre) and low pressure and spraying when winds are less than 10 miles per hour. Vapor drift can also be reduced by using low volatile formulations such as amines or lithium salt. Ester formulations should not be used.

Do not mix AATREX and 2, 4-D since this may cause serious lodging and yield reduction in grain sorghum.

According to Metzger, Banvel also gives effective control of small annual and perennial broadleaf weeds. However, severe lodging and head blasting can occur if the herbicide is applied later than 25 days after planting or after head development has started. Reduce sorghum injury during later applications with an improvised shield to keep the chemical off portion.

Although Banvel is not as toxic to cotton as 2, 4-D, it can cause severe damage to soybeans and vegetables. Follow similar spray precautions with Banvel as with 2, 4-D.

Karmex gives excellent control of carelessweeds that emerge after late irrigation in 15-inch or taller grain sorghum. This herbicide produces no soil residue and can also be used in six-inch cotton to control carelessweeds.

Metzger recommends that producers select the best possible herbicide for the job at hand. Read label instructions thoroughly and then follow them closely.

Timely tillage practices are also important in an overall

Funeral is held here for former city resident

Clarence R. Morgan, 73, of Amarillo, resident of Hereford a number of years ago, was buried in West Park Cemetery here Wednesday afternoon after a funeral service in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home. The Rev. Don McWhorter, pastor of Wesley United Methodist Church, officiated.

An insurance agent, Mr. Morgan resided at 1609 Lawson Lane, Amarillo. He was a veteran of military service in World War I.

Born Jan. 5, 1898, at Temple, he married Beth Millard Oct. 2, 1934, in Panhandle. They moved away from Hereford in the 1930's, and went to Amarillo in 1958 from Wichita Falls.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Martha Bernfeld of Great Neck, N. Y.; a son, Clarence R. Morgan Jr. of Santa Barbara, Calif., three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Estacado sprinter signs with WTS

West Texas State University track coach Bob Kitchens has received the signed scholarship agreement from Jesse Lethridge, a standout sprinter from Lubbock Estacado High School.

Lethridge won the state Class AAA 220-yard dash title as a sophomore and placed second in the same event as a junior. Leg injuries during his senior kept him from a return trip to the Austin meet.

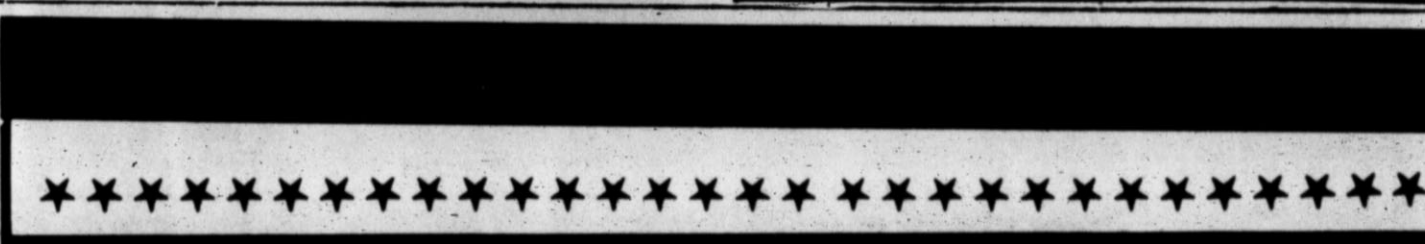

"Jesse has recovered from his pulled muscle problem and I expect him to be a standout sprinter next spring," Kitchens said. "He has tremendous leg drive."

A B-average student, Lethridge ran 21.6 to win the state crown and added a 9.6 clocking in the 100-yard dash. As a junior he ran a 21.4 in the 220 and had a 9.5 time in the 100. He was slowed with injuries most of his senior season.

Lethridge was named to the all-state track team both his sophomore and junior years.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy D. Lethridge was also a standout football player for Estacado. He was named the team's top offensive performer after his efforts this past season. He was also named to the all-district, all-city and All-South Plains football teams as a running back.

Kitchens had earlier signed Amarillo Tascosa High School sprinter Ricky Cook, Hart high-jumper Gary Six and Larry Brock, a miler from Sanford-Fritch.

Army announces enlistment options

Two new and expanded enlistment options have been announced by the United States Army according to SFC Bert Pinales, Army recruiter for Hereford.

Both are outgrowths of the popular Unit of Choice option and the European Duty option.

The new U. S. Army Korea and U. S. Army Vietnam options offer qualified young men several choices in return for a three-year enlistment in one of the

Mrs. Larry M. Hair
...nee Jo Ann Walker
Miss Walker,
Larry Hair wed

Mr. and Mrs. Larry M. Hair are at home at 3910 West Walnut, 212, in Garland after their recent marriage in Cockrell Hill Methodist Church of Dallas. A former Hereford resident, Hair is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hair of this city.

His bride was Miss Jo Ann Walker before the marriage, which was performed by the Rev. John Shuler, pastor. She is the daughter of Mrs. Ocie Walker of Paris and has been employed as a laboratory technician at a clinic here.

Shower parties
fete bride-elect

Miss Dianne London, whose marriage to Bill C. Allshie is set June 18 in First Christian Church was recently honored at three shower parties given by friends.

An afternoon kitchen shower in the home of Mrs. Leon McCutchen, 403 Union, was co-hosted by Mrs. Randy Hasley.

TOY SALES
NEW YORK — Sales of toys will more than double by 1980 and the number of firms manufacturing those toys will be halved, according to toy industry executive Robert A. Vanourek, who is general manager for The Leisure Group's Youth Recreation Project Line. "Manufacture's toy volume may reach $5 billion annually by 1980 if trends continue," says Vanourek. "Running counter to this sales leap, the number of companies producing toys should be cut in half to less than 500," he adds.

At the Boston Tea Party 342 chests of tea were cut open and emptied into Boston Harbor.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN
I would like to express my appreciation for having been honored as "Pioneer of the Year" for 1971. To say "Thank you," for the opportunity of having lived in such a wonderful community, among wonderful people, neighbors and friends.

Sincerely,
Ira Ricketts and family

CUCKOO FOX
LONDON — The cuckoo is multiplying faster than any other British bird, a census by the Trust for Ornithology shows. But skylarks, thrushes and innets are losing ground.

A graduate of Hereford High School with the class of 1963, the bridegroom is a pharmacist in a Dallas drug store. He was graduated from the school of pharmacy of Southwestern State College at Weatherford, Okla., where he was a member of Alpha Chi and Kappa Psi pharmaceutical fraternities.

Attendants of the couple for the wedding ceremony were the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Walker.

The Missionette Group of the Assembly of God Church were hostesses for a surprise evening lingerie shower held at the church.

Group advisor is Mrs. Walter Pierson. Other hostesses were Mrs. Hasley, Misses Pam and Gayle McCutchen, LaDonna Bridges, Kandy Newman, Gwendolyn Goodwin, Esther Pierson, Brenda West, Anita Hughes, Carlene Jackson, Glenna West, Lynn Bridges, Deborah Jackson and Rhonda Fanning.

Table decorations brought out the bride-elect's chosen colors of pink and white. Approximately 18 guests were present.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Baxter London, served punch and donuts at an evening party held recently in their home at 304 Western.

Friends gathered to tie rice bags.

Allshie is the son of Mrs. Charlotte Allshie of Brownfield.

TICKET STRATEGY — West Texas State football coach Gene Mayfield and world shot put champ Randy Matson, standing, map plans Tuesday for a citywide sweep to sell WTSU season football tickets. Working with them on their rounds were, seated left to right, J. W. Robinson, Frank Barrett and Melvin Jayroe. The group sold 65 season tickets here, raising the WT total to 2,530, already above last year. John David Bryant, loan officer at the First National Bank, will continue to sell the season tickets from his office.

ONE AGGIE TO ANOTHER — Randy Matson, left, talks to Wayne Phillips about buying season tickets to West Texas State football. Both are Aggies, and this is an assignment Matson has done well in while at WTSU, coming to terms with Texas A&M men.

by MELVIN YOUNG

Now that school is out, the youth employment problem is cropping up again. It happens every year and to date we haven't found a good solution. Of course, the Texas Employment office will do its best, but apparently some youngsters will not, and some business men do not, call the office so they don't get together.

Juvenile officer Bill Hodges tells us that he has had a number of request lately for help from youngsters seeking employment and since he works with the kids quite a bit, he's probably a little more aware of the problem and is anxious to help. But he needs the help and cooperation of the local employers. So, if you're in need of a youngster either to work in your business, around the house, or perhaps on the farm, then why not give Bill a call at the courthouse. Perhaps he can help you, and some youngster as well.

Hard work, by the way, is the finest therapy in the world for excessive energy and a case of mischievousness. And frankly, these kids make pretty good employees. They'll tackle anything and usually do a pretty good job of it. Why not give them a try.

If you think the drought is broken, we suggest you visit Jack Brown. He'll tell you how it really is.

Mr. Brown, who farms about 25 miles northwest of Hereford in the dry land area, tells us that he has had a total of .30 since the first of the year, and believes that it has finally quit raining altogether. Besides that, it was pretty cotton-pickin' dry last year!

But Jack can be thankful for one thing. He hasn't a n y timber on his place to catch fire. Of course, he doesn't have any crops either.

Now over in the mountains of New Mexico it's another story entirely. Those folks not only are being starved out for lack of tourist business (some areas have been closed off) but they are also being burned out. They have around 5,000 acres of forest land ablaze now and close to 1,000 firefighters on the job trying to get it under control.

We understand also that water supply around the Ruidosa area is becoming serious (if not critical) and city officials there have asked residents not to water lawns. They think they will have sufficient water to last until the rains come by leaving off the lawn watering. We understand they have also banned campfires and fires in fireplaces, outside barbecue, etc. The timber over there is tender-dry and it wouldn't take a lot to get a serious fire started.

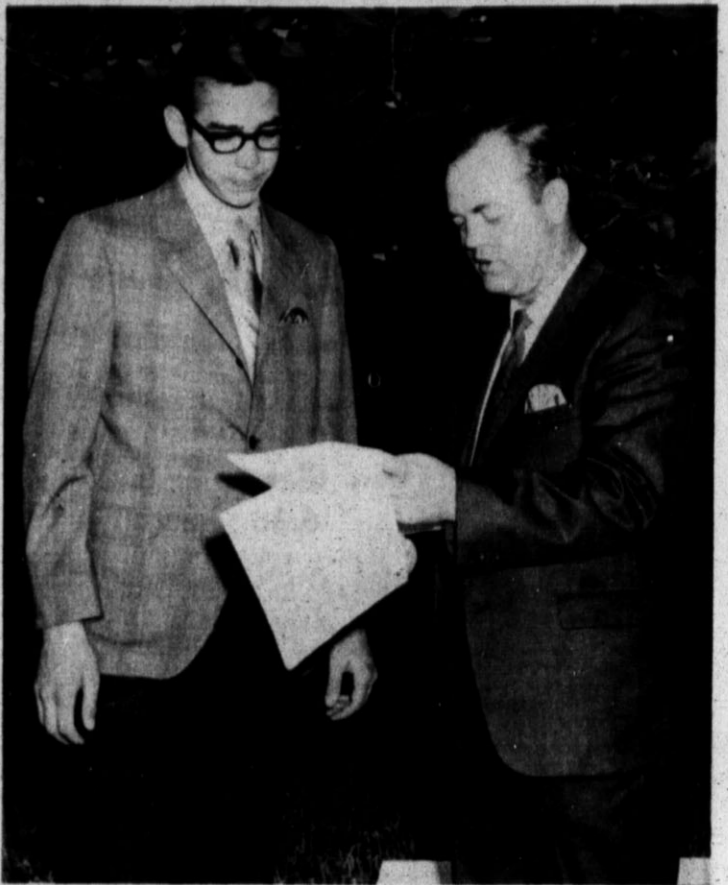

The Senate reversed itself Tuesday and approved a $2.7-billion pay increase for the armed forces which will probably assure the creation of a volunteer Army within the near future. Area recruiters seem to feel that the success of the proposed volunteer Army hinges on the increase in pay for the G. I.'s, particularly since the first three pay grades — that's private to corporal — will benefit the most. A Private's pay will almost double if all the present proposals are accepted.

There will be some increases for the upper pay grades as well, but not so much. Apparently quarters allowances will be increased for married personnel though, making it a little more desirable for an individual contemplating a military career.

The Selective Service law, by the way, will expire June 30th unless Congress votes a two-year extension before that time. They probably will. Even if the volunteer Army idea catches fire, it will take some time before the draft can safely be phased out.

And we note that a group of Ochiltree County farmers are protesting increased tax valuations by the school district there. Sounds like the tax-revolt may be closer than we think.

SCIENCE SYMPOSIUM — David Hicks, left, who will be a senior at Hereford High School next fall, and instructor Ray Barber were among 550 of the state's top science students and teachers who attended the 11th annual Texas Nuclear Science Symposium this week on the University of Texas campus. The four-day event began Monday under the sponsorship of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, of which Southwestern Public Service Company is a member, and the University of Texas. SWPS sponsored a group of 42 students and teachers at the symposium.

Small talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

SINCE OUR weather is somewhat of the sandwich type lately, with slices of bristly cool layers of too warm, it is interesting to notice downtown shoppers' reaction in velocity.

There was Dollar Day Monday, when the town was in a pleasant bustle early in the morning. Bargain hunters were stepping smartly along the streets, going into stores with a purposeful air and poring avidly over contents of the sales displays.

At mid-afternoon I was back on Main Street for a while, and the scene was different. With the thermometer registering past 90, there was a generally languid look. Still a larger than usual crowd on the streets, but nobody moving very fast.

It was just right for the leisurely shoppers, though. Okay to take your time to browse, with no hurrying customers to push you along; no salespeople trying to rush you into buying something so they could go on to another prospect.

It's the ideal time to shop, in fact — the middle of a good hot summer afternoon. Except that it calls for all that energy to get from your air-conditioned house to your air-conditioned car and then to the air-conditioned store. For a really lazy person, there's just no good time to do anything!

AMONG THE late Dollar Day shoppers I did see Ursalee Jacobsen in two different stores. . . Mozelle Childers in conversation with one group and Ruth Word with another. . . Mrs. Mack Noland with a load of packages on her way to her car. . . Gladys Setliff progressing down the street as though she were on her way to buy a definite item and knew just where she could find it.

WHILE SHE was waiting for an order to take out, Elzie Sealy and I fell into conversation at a drugstore fountain and were talking about remembering people and getting the right names with the right faces. That reminded her of an employer she once had, who used the highly recommended (by memory experts) system of associating a name with an object in order to remember it. On her first day at work he introduced her to a customer as Mrs. Simmons. After the customer had gone, she tactfully reminded him that her name was not Simmons, and then she heard about his memory system and why it had failed him. He had remembered the wrong brand of mattresses!

For God So Loved The World

SMOOTH SAILING

That is exactly what all of us dream of. But this is God's world and we certainly must learn the laws of the winds of God if our journey is to be smooth. We must chart our course with caution. We must know how to man the sails. We must read carefully the "guide book for mariners," called The Sermon on the Mount. One must know how to tack and, most important of all, ask the "Great Pilot" what course He recommends.

Let your church attendance and support record, the contribution you make to the cause of good, and your love for the brethren serve as your compass. The smooth sailing of your ship will be determined by the judgment you use in your preparation. You can't make it alone, Mister. Better take God with you.

Mrs. Robert Lemons cooks by taste

Let's cook something

Recipe not necessary

BY JANIE BANNER
Staff Writer

EVERYONE HAS HEARD IT said that the best cooks are those who cook by taste and don't use or need recipes. That's the way Mrs. Robert Lemons does it, but she doesn't claim to be anything more than "an everyday cook."

"I'm a steak and potatoes gal," she said. "I'm no gourmet cook and I don't use recipes except for cakes."

Since she doesn't have hours of leisure time to spend cooking, she gets it done as quickly as possible and makes enough at noon so some will be left over for a light supper.

When she was young, her job at home was washing dishes so when she married she wasn't familiar with cooking.

"ROBERT TAUGHT ME how, and he was good, but as soon as I learned, he promptly forgot how," she smiled.

The Lemons' daughters, Beth and Kay, who are married and have children of their own, admire their mother's organization when cooking. Mrs. Lemons denies that it's organization.

"I don't do things by organizing myself to do them. It's all done by habit," she explained.

Mrs. Lemons feels her daughters are very good cooks. The youngest is Kay or Mrs. Jack Miller, who gave her mother this recipe to try.

"You'll like it," she said, "because it keeps forever in the icebox and is really good."

SHRIMP SALAD
shell macaroni
canned shrimp, chopped up hamburger dill pickles, chopped

fresh green onions, chopped salad dressing or mayonnaise dill pickle juice, to taste

Cook macaroni and drain. Add other ingredients while macaroni is still warm and season to taste. Chill.

Mrs. Lemons suggests eating the salad with doritos, crackers or peppers.

"I cook a lot of things with onion and cream of celery soups. We really like it and it's not 'heavy,'" she said.

FOR INSTANCE, with the canned onion soup and steak, she browns the meat and places it in the oven at 300 degrees for 1-1/2 hours with the soup and water mixture poured over it.

The same is done with the cream of celery soup and pork chops. "It's delicious and so tender it melts in your mouth," she commented, "and you can't ruin it."

A cake Mrs. Lemons makes for special occasions and special friends, is Buttermilk Cake.

"It's a bit expensive to make I suppose and takes time. I guess that's why I only make it for special friends. It's delicious at breakfast time and will keep real well in the icebox," she said.

BUTTERMILK CAKE

- 1 stick margarine
 - 1 stick butter
 - 2 cups sugar
 - 4 eggs
 - 1 cup buttermilk
 - 1/2 tsp. soda
 - 3 cups flour
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - 1/2 tsp. lemon extract
- Cream margarine, butter and sugar. Add eggs one at a time beating after adding each one. Put 1/2 t. soda in 1 cup buttermilk and add to mixture alternately with flour. Add vanilla and lemon extract. Bake in greased and floured tube cake pan at 350 degrees for about one hour.

Parties usher in wedding date

A dinner and a luncheon Wednesday wrote final to the series of parties preceding the wedding of Miss Julia Davis and L. Gary Moore, which will take place this evening in First United Methodist Church.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Moore of Brownfield, were hosts for the rehearsal dinner last evening in Hereford Country Club.

Colors chosen for the wedding, with emphasis on royal blue and white, decorated tables where those most closely concerned with the ceremony were entertained.

Also at the Country Club, the bridesmaids' luncheon was a noon event with Mrs. Earnest Langley and Mrs. Russell Carver, former Hereford resident now living in Amarillo, as hostesses.

Flowers with ribbons of royal blue made a centerpiece for the table, where places were marked ed by cards set on folded linen handkerchiefs. The hostesses' gift to the bride was a silver goblet.

Bridal attendants at the wedding will be Edith Davis, Kathy Urbanek of Plainview, Ava Knapp of Bryan and Mrs. Tommy Deas.

Another recent luncheon was given in Mrs. Ivan Block's home Saturday with Mrs. Wayne

Thomas and Mary Waldrep as co-hostesses. Again the mixed spring flowers favored by the bride were used on tables.

Places were laid for the honoree and her mother, Mrs. W. L.

Davis Jr.; her grandmother, Mrs. W. L. Davis Sr.; Mrs. Austin Rose, Jr., Mrs. Harold Close, Mrs. H. A. Cavness, Mrs. Hilton Higgins, Mrs. Tommy Deas, Mrs. Carver, Mrs. Langley, Edith Davis, Kay Lynn Lyman and Marsha Horton.

Avenue Baptist eyes VBS for exceptional child

Avenue Baptist Church will begin its Vacation Bible School Monday, but this year will have a special school included for trainable exceptional children of first grade through junior high age.

The Rev. Don Larkin, pastor of the church, said if anyone knows of an exceptional child or has one of their own, they may contact either him or Mrs. Jerry Wilburn who will conduct the classes for the exceptional children.

Mrs. Wilburn will act as supervisor for the classes. She has been training in work with exceptional children for some time, attending schools and clinics and working with the school system.

"We hope to begin a regular Sunday School class for these exceptional children," Rev. Larkin said. "This is something that has been terribly neglected. The schools have done a tremendous job in this area."

Vacation Bible School begins Monday at the church and will continue through Friday. Hours will be from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. each day.

White men disturb the Eskimo world

At the Deaf Smith County Library this week is the exciting story of three white men who are lost at sea and end up in the care of Eskimos. Everything is beautiful until mischief arises followed by lust, greed and pride. The Eskimo culture becomes marred. Check it out today.

THE WHITE DAWN

by James Houston

This exciting, beautiful, and haunting novel starts with several brief extracts from a New England whaling ship's log. They establish that on a spring day in 1897, several men in a small boat are missing and presumed lost in the fog-shrouded, icy, white-rimmed Arctic Sea. After that prologue, the narration shifts and the story opens.

There is tremendous excitement when three strangers, unlike any men the Eskimos have ever seen, are brought back to the camp. The strangers, frozen, starved, and very near death, are nursed back to health through skills long known, passed down from one Eskimo generation to the next.

Avinga, the narrator of this tale, relates the delighted curiosity of his people as the three strangers enter the life of the community, and tells how communication without a common language is established, how the strikingly different personalities of each of the newcomers emerges, and how each adapts to a new way of living.

Gradually, as the brief arctic spring and summer pass, the strangers are fully accepted, especially by the young girls, who are excited by them and eager to sleep with them.

Liaisons form and, with the adventure and hazards of the hunt—which provides not only food, but also clothing and implements equally essential to survival—a seemingly happy, vibrant existence evolves.

But, during the long, cruel arctic winter, with time weighing heavily—especially for the New Englanders—mischief arises, followed by misunderstandings and distrust. Then lust, greed, and pride become driving forces.

Even love cannot prevail against them, although it transcends their fury. The aftermath is violent, shocking, and disturbingly meaningful, and the conclusion intensely moving.

The depth and impact of this novel become cogently evident in the reading. In strong, spare prose, the Eskimos' life style is totally and handsomely evoked, its rich detail subtly interwoven with the dramatic story line.

The Eskimo world, isolated and self-contained, had come into a harmonious balance between nature and man. In a hundred subtle ways, life was glorified, respected, celebrated; death was faced with dignity and understanding.

Until the arrival of the whalers, this glorious way of life had been untouched by "civilization" from the south. Now it is all but gone.

Few white men know the Eskimos and their culture as intimately as James Houston. None has written of them more effectively. This outstanding narrative, blending adventure and romance with authenticity and profound meaning makes a singular contribution to our literature.

A FINGER TO HER LIPS

by Evelyn Berckman

The author of The Heir of Starvelings has written a new novel of romance and suspense set in the 18th century Germany—the story of a young woman for whom great love and tragedy seem inextricably linked.

Sybilla-Marie's marriage to the Duke of Volingen-Ilm had been dictated by politics, rather than passion, and when her affair with the handsome English diplomat was discovered, she found herself divorced and disgraced, penniless and exiled.

She knew that her lover waited for her in England. But she knew as well that her intensely proud ex-husband would kill her younger son when he learned it was not his child.

Driven by her love for the boy, she plots to kidnap her own son. She disguises herself and returns to the Duke's castle where she obtains work as a drudge, the very lowest of the servant echelon.

Here she finds herself so imprisoned by the rules of her new social status that she despairs of being able to catch even a glimpse of the child—and is haunted by the terror that she may not reach him in time to save him.

Trash can paint project slated by cheerleaders

To earn money for attending a cheerleaders' camp at Texas Tech University the last week in June, Hereford High School cheerleaders will conduct a campaign to paint trash cans, going from house to house in search of business.

This is the first of several fund-raising projects they plan for the summer, so they will be able to pay for their costumes and supplies in the next school term. They will hold rummage sales later in the summer.

Cheerleaders are Nelda Norton, Kerry Hall, Caye Clearman, Becky Dziuk, Joni Charest and Sally Bayne. Also to attend the camp is Rojean Block, who has been named Scat, the HHS spirit symbol, for next year. Mrs. Don Clark is cheerleader sponsor.

The trash can painting project will further one of the aims of the recent city trash roundup, making alleys more sightly. The cheerleaders will charge two dollars for painting a can, and they supply the paint and tools as well as the labor.

ENOUGH IS ENOUGH
SALISBURY, Rhodesia — Police officials were "pleasantly surprised" by the good behavior of some 15,000 people who attended Rhodesia's first pop music festival. Police turned off electric power when the Glims Stadium gathering ran one hour later than permitted by laws controlling public meetings.

Gas employes are honored in ceremonies here

Awards for on-the-job safety performance were presented Wednesday to area employes of Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America during a program at the company's Hereford facilities.

The awards are presented annually to employes and work crews in 10 states in recognition of individual and group achievement for having worked safely during 1970 without experiencing a disabling injury from a job-related accident.

Natural, a subsidiary of Peoples Gas Company of Chicago, each year moves more than a trillion cubic feet of natural gas energy through its transmission system for delivery to Chicago and Midwest markets.

The Hereford transmission and communications departments will be honored for hav-

Kappa Iotans visit Girlstown

Driving to Girlstown Sunday, six members of Kappa Iota Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, took gifts to some of the residents there, enjoyed a visit with girls and staff members, and had a firsthand view of the home which Beta Sigma Phi has supported since its founding.

In the party of visitors were Mrs. Tom Buchanan, Kappa Iota president, and Mmes. Keny Ruland, Gary Tyler, Kirk Owsley, Merie Goff and Gary Gore.

They reached the residence home near Whiteface in time for lunch with the girls, then were shown over the buildings including dormitory rooms and staff housing.

Mrs. Marshall Cooper, who works with her husband, the executive director of Girlstown, acted as their guide, assisted by girls in residence.
Gifts of pantyhose and cosmetics, collected from all Kappa Iota members, were taken for the girls, and Mrs. Goff took a vacuum cleaner to be used in a housecleaning.
Chapter members are considering special aid to Girlstown, perhaps by sponsoring one of the residents, as a service project for next year.

"We were greatly impressed by how much is done with the comparatively small resources at Girlstown," Mrs. Buchanan said after the trip, "and by the many needs of the homeless girls who have found homes there."

Beta Sigma Phi of Texas adopted Girlstown as a state

Stoerner plays in NAIA golf championships

Wayne Stoerner, a member of the Eastern New Mexico University varsity golf team, is participating this week in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics college championships in Rockford, Ill. Stoerner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Stoerner of Hereford. ENMU earned an invitation to the tournament by winning the NAIA District 7 championship. The district includes all NAIA colleges in New Mexico, Arizona, Wyoming and Colorado. Stoerner, winner of the 1970 KPAN-Hereford Brand News Service Award for golf, finished in third place for medalist honors in the District 7 tournament held in Portales, May 17-18.

Evelyn Kuper begins helping youths find jobs

In order to increase youth employment in Hereford, the local Texas Employment Commission has expanded the Youth Employment Service (YES) program by hiring someone to manage the service. This summer, Evelyn Kuper will help young people find jobs and assist employers in filling openings suitable for youth. She will be taking youth applications and orders from employers. In a special attempt to create jobs for teen-agers, Evelyn will be contacting Hereford employers to encourage them to hire unemployed youth. Lester Rape, employment manager, urges all employers to contact Miss Kuper for assistance. "This is the first year we have been able to hire someone to specifically work with the teen-agers, and with the help of local businesses, I feel this addition will be a success," said Rape.

A recent Freer, Tex., rattlesnake roundup netted 420 reptiles. Jim Pilgrim led with 50 rattlers taken in three days.

Riding on skis behind fleet range ponies, known as skijoring, is a sport enjoyed in Colorado each winter.

Local graduate plans European summer tour

Arvis Southward, a 1969 graduate of Hereford High School, will tour Europe this summer as part of an award presented to him by a private Geological Foundation. England, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, France, Spain, and Portugal are among the countries Southward will be visiting. During his extended tour, Arvis will continue his education at the University of Madrid, Madrid, Spain.

Southward will visit such cities as London, Amsterdam, Bonn, Florence, Rome, Paris and Lisbon. Skiing in the Swiss Alps, cruising on the Mediterranean Sea and a trip down the Rhine River are some of the activities planned for the honoree. After returning in the fall, Southward plans to resume his studies at the University of Houston where he is a junior, and continue his work with the Geological Foundation in their research lab at NASA.

Lately-married couple honored

A couple married June 1, Mr. and Mrs. John Homfeld, were honored Thursday evening when neighbors from their community in Northwest Deaf Smith County were invited to a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Burk. Mrs. Homfeld is the former Miss Donna Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Whitson. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Homfeld. Both families are residents of Bippus community. The bride's sister, Miss Sharon Whitson, served punch and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Kay Homfeld, poured coffee at opposite ends of the refreshment table, which was covered with white net over blue and centered with yellow roses. Wedding gifts were presented to the honored couple and the packages opened for inspection by the guests, who spent the evening in informal conversation.

The couple's marriage took place in Bippus Community Church with the Rev. Gene Brock, pastor, officiating. Miss Sharon Homfeld was maid of honor and Elvis Hudson the best man. A reception in the church dining room followed the ceremony. Mexican jumping beans jump because of the larva of a moth which is inside.

Former Met pitcher Robert Dale Johnson won his first National League game on April 18 when the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Mets 2-1. Gene Alley's home won the game in the ninth inning. John Paul Jones was the first great U. S. naval hero.

Sons continue in father's footsteps

BY CAR LWALTER
Fort Collins Coloradoan

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—John P. Maestes, a sheriff and undersheriff in the rough and tumble country of southern Colorado's Costilla County for 22 years, would be proud of his sons today—as proud as they are of the heritage he left them.

Maestes is dead now, but his love and regard for law enforcement has carried through to three of his sons, and possibly his fourth.

Dave, Charles and John, all of Fort Collins, have followed their father's lead and made law enforcement their professions.

"He was a strict man," said Dave, a patrolman on the police force in this north-central Colorado city at the foot of the Rockies. "I can't ever remember him lying to me. I'll always thank my dad for what he did for me."

Dave, the oldest son at 30, was the last to move into police work, when he signed up here two years ago after a job as a salesman. Charles, 26, is the newest addition to the Larimer County sheriff's office, although he was a patrolman in Montrose, in southwest Colorado, for three years.

John, the youngest brother, has been a member of the nearby Weld County Sheriff's Department for the past 12 months, after a six-month stint as a policeman in Gothenburg, Neb.

Now all but Leroy, 28, live here with their families. An Leroy, now in the Navy at San Diego, Calif., has indicated to his brothers he's considering leaving the Navy to join them in police work.

"Our father was a well respected man," says Charles. "You would never hear people yelling out 'pig' or 'rotte noep' or whatever the terms of this generation are, when he was on the street. People were always friendly."

Like their father, who played a part in the establishment of the Colorado State Patrol in 1932, the sons take pride in their work and enjoy it.

"I don't know why," says Charles, "It certainly isn't because of the pay ... or the hours ... or the working conditions, and it sure isn't for the glory."

The lawmen's father died in July 1968, at the age of 61; and nine years after he retired. The brothers know their line of work is dangerous, and Dave, the elder son, is custodian of three grim reminders.

They're .38 caliber bullets, removed from his father's chest in 1945 after he was wounded by a gunman during a burglary in San Luis.

ductress; Mrs. Charlie Brown, Ruth; Mae Fralin, warder; Bernard Roberson associate patron; Mrs. Arthur Clark, associate matron; and continuing past Mrs. Brown, Vernon Darden, worthy patron; Mrs. Frank Prowell, marshal; Mrs. Herb Edwards, chaplain; Mrs. Deward Roberson, secretary; Mrs. Clarence Saulcy, Ester; Muri Parker, sentinal.

Officers begin duties in OES

Formal installation of 1971-72 officers in the Order of Easter Star Chapter put Mrs. Jack Brown in the worthy matron's chair Saturday evening, succeeding Mrs. Deward Roberson. The ceremony and a reception afterward were held in the Masonic Temple.

Installing officers were Mrs. B. E. Roberson and Mrs. Brown's mother, Mrs. W. S. Fluit. Others officiating for the installation were Mrs. Marvin Coffey, marshal Mrs. J. B. Noland, chaplain; Mrs. R. B. Hutson, secretary, and Mrs. O. H. Culpepper, organist.

Vernon Darden became worthy patron, Mrs. Arthur Clark associate matron and B. E. Roberson associate patron. The past worthy matron will serve as secretary in the new administration and Mrs. Charlie Noland as treasurer.

Opening the evening's program were musical selections by Ben Gollehon and Mrs. G.E. Hamilton, and just before the installation Mrs. Brown's granddaughter, Sandy Gore, played piano solos.

Mrs. Darden is the new conductress with Mrs. Robert Harris as associate, Mrs. Herb Edwards chaplain, Mrs. Frank Prowell marshal, Mrs. Johnny Latham organist, May Fralin warder and Muri Parker sentinal.

Members of the new worthy matron's family who acted as hosts included her mother, her brother, Lyle Fluit of McIntosh, N.M., and her daughter, Mrs. Bill Gore, and family.

Serving as Adah will be Ola Mae Wade; as Ruth, Mrs. Charlie Brown; as Ester, Mrs. Clarence Saulcy; as Martha, Mrs. Steve Powell and as Electa, Mrs. Jim Shaw.

For the reception at which friends greeted the new officers, table decorations were in green, white and silver, the colors chosen by Mrs. Brown for her administration. Her selected flower, the white chrysanthemum, was featured.

Theme of the administration will be Hope, she announced.

Party fetes new office holders

A patio party at the J. B. Noland home west of Hereford honored Karen Scott, worthy advisor, and other new officers of the Hereford Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls, Monday evening. It followed a regular meeting at the Masonic Hall.

An exciting game of volleyball was played before refreshment time. Guests helped themselves to finger sandwiches, and Mrs. Noland served orange and chocolate pound cake as Mrs. Horace Hershey ladled punch at the picnic table.

Sponsors present included Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Brown, Mrs. O. H. Culpepper, Horace Hershey, Joe Hysinger, Mrs. J. A. McWhorter and Miss Scott's mother, Mrs. Paul R. Scott. A special guest was Mrs. Jack Brown, worthy matron of the Order of Eastern Star here, and Jerry Roberts was another guest.

Deaf Smith joins Mahon's 19th Congressional District

Deaf Smith County will join the 19th Congressional District of U. S. Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock, one of the most influential men on Capitol Hill, under the redistricting plan that cleared the Texas Legislature before its adjournment Friday.

Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Parmer and Castro counties also were taken away from the 18th Congressional District now under the jurisdiction of U. S. Rep. Bob Price of Pampa.

The plan seems destined for attack in the federal courts, however, because the Texas House and Senate conferees, in drawing up the plan, did it in such a way to give most incumbent congressmen "safe" districts. Large chunks of population from the metropolitan cities were put in rural districts to build their population to the one-man, one-vote ideal of 466,530. Price's old 18th district will be known as the 13th district. It will stretch east of Wichita Falls and put Price with another incumbent, Rep. Graham Purcell, a Democrat, in the 1972 election.

Mahon is chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee.

The 19th District will stretch south as far as Midland, taking in all of Midland County and half of Ector County. Mahon loses Borden, Crosby, Floyd, Garza and Scurry counties to the 17th district of Rep. Omar Burleson of Abilene and Motley County to the 13th district.

In the new 19th district are Midland, half of Ector, Andrews, Martin, Gaines, Dawson, Yoak-um, Terry, Lynn, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Bailey, Lamb Hale, Parmer, Castro and Deaf Smith Counties.

Deaf Smith County ranks behind Lubbock, Midland, Ector, Hale and Hockley counties in population.

George Washington laid the cornerstone of the national capitol.

Meet our 'easy riding' radial ply tire. Penneys Survivor gives a soft ride and great mileage.

4595 plus 2.66 fed. tax and old tire. ER 70-14 whitewall tubeless.

Some radial tires are made with steel belts. While they give long wear and stability, the ride you get is relatively hard and rigid. Penneys Survivor is an easy rider. It's made with a two ply rayon cord body reinforced with four belts of rayon. This gives the tire tremendous strength and long wear (that's why we named it the Survivor). It gives you a truly soft ride, along with improved traction on slick roads, better cornering and handling. If you do a lot of driving, we urge you to try Penneys Survivor radial ply tires. They're well worth the price.

MAN'S FRIEND FIRST
NEW YORK — Diamonds are a girl's best friend according to that Little Rock girl in Gentlemen Prefer Blondes. However, diamonds were first the man's best friend.

"The most valuable of gems known only to kings." Males still show an avid interest in wearing diamonds, be it on tie clasps, cuff links or wrist watches, says the Bulova Watch Company. American gals are showered with some 500,000 diamond watches each Christmas and Pliny might be delighted if he knew — the male still prevails. He pays the bills.

The Pittsburgh Pirates won the National League East in 1970 with an 89-73 won-lost record.

Woman aims work to help liberate Spanish females

BY PATRICK BUCKLEY
BARCELONA, Spain (AP)— "Spain is a country of men" purrs a female voice in a television advertisement for brandy. And this infuriates Lidia Falcon, First, because it is 99 per cent true. Second, because she is one of Spain's women's liberation advocates and to date she hasn't made much progress.

The Spanish woman, she says, "is a kitchen-bound creature... undoubtedly the most oppressed in the Western world." These are strong words in a country where a woman cannot buy property or have a bank account without her husband's permission and where there is no divorce.

But foreign trends and fashions undoubtedly have influenced Spanish woman during the past two decades and Spanish society daily becomes more permissive.

Still Mrs. Falcon thinks too many college graduates end up in the kitchen and the really good jobs remain a male monopoly. "It even looks as though women's rights in Spain are going backwards," she says. In 1932, during the Second Republic, the 19th century laws that made second-rate citizens of the Spanish women were abolished. Women were given the right to vote, and divorce was approved by the Republican Parliament.

After Gen. Francisco Franco's victory over the Republican troops in 1939, however, the government, backed by the powerful Spanish Catholic Church, annulled most of that legislation.

The legal situation of the Spanish women has improved only slightly since 1939. The government recently granted women equal labor rights but, according to Mrs. Falcon, working women still are being discriminated against. Female farm workers get only 80 per cent of the men's wages and many state employees are forced to resign when they get married, she says.

Mrs. Falcon says the number of marriage breakups in Barcelona every year is comparatively equal to the number of divorces in New York. And thousands of women have clandestine abortions under hazardous conditions. "The government not only does nothing to solve these problems; it ignores them," she says.

But she adds, "the most difficult part of it is persuading Spanish women that they have to be liberated."

Two ex-members return to H.D. club for visit

Two former members of West Hereford Home Demonstration Club were welcomed as visitors Tuesday afternoon, one to give the program in the home of Mrs. W. H. Awtrey Sr.

Mrs. J. B. Shirley was the program speaker, discussing care of floors and various types of floor coverings. Mrs. Carl Schroeder, now living in Pampa, was the other guest.

Plans were made for a covered dish lunch for the next meeting, June 22, in the home of Miss Evelyn Bell. Miss Mary Brady opened the program by reading a poem titled A Time. The hostess gift went to Mrs. John Jacobsen Sr.

Also present were Mmes. D. R. Grimes, U. V. Pierce, Roy Boyd, Robert Boyd, E. M. Cox and W. A. Waters.

Charles Richards

Randy was here...

Randy Matson, bigger and stronger than when he set the world shotput record at Texas A&M four years ago, was in Hereford Tuesday helping peddle season tickets for this fall's West Texas State football season.

Wayne Rape, former Borger and SMU star, now is WT's athletic business manager. He has been accompanying Matson and athletic director Gene Mayfield on the selling expeditions across the Panhandle.

Matson is 6-foot-4 and 270 pounds, about 10 pounds heavier than when he was at College Station. It was in 1967 that he threw the iron ball 70 feet 7 inches for the world record.

The Southwest Conference track meet that year was at Southern Methodist, and Rape recalls the days leading up to the competition.

He was in a track and field class, and the whole group spent several days hauling dirt to the track field, working on the shotput area to make sure it was level. They were anticipating a world record throw from Matson, and the field had to be level for the record to stand.

"And so what happens? He doesn't even break the record," Rape smiled.

Matson remembered, too.

"There was this lady up in the stands. She was saying, 'I think that's just awful. All the trouble they went to, and he didn't even try,'" Matson said.

That's not the worst he's felt. The week after his world record throw of 70-7, he went to Los Angeles and threw the shot under 70 feet, but still an inch farther than the world record had been until he had broken it the week before. The fans booed him.

"I felt like quitting," he said. He remembers going to a meet in Madison Square Garden, where Jim Ryan was running the mile. Meet promoters played up the possibility of a four-minute mile, and went as far as breaking down his quarter times on his best previous race.

"Well, the race started and they ran the first lap in something like 62 seconds, which completely shot down any chances of a four-minute mile. And all the rest of the way, for the last three laps, they booed him. I'll never forget that," Matson said. It was a strategic race, and Ryan stayed back in the pack the first lap and then came to the front later to win.

Matson is 26 now and helps promote West Texas State during the week and competes in meets over the weekend. He's set to compete this weekend in Wichita, Kan., then Eugene, Ore., before a meet against the Russians in Berkeley, Calif.

Competing, he said, "is just as much fun now as when I was in college, except when I'm competing bad." Competing bad includes even winning performances when his effort is below what he knows he is capable of. He got to within an inch of his world record last year but has been about three feet short this season.

He's 26 now, which leaves him several years yet before what many track insiders feel is the optimum shotput age of 30. He's building up to a possible Olympic competition in 1972.

The competition and the demands of his WT job leave him with little free time. Matson has found that his being an Aggie has helped sell a few tickets.

"I sold six tickets to the Aggie banker at Shamrock the other day," Matson emphasized Tuesday, with a grin. When local people were sorting out local prospects for WT season tickets, they leaned toward letting Matson talk to the Aggies. It usually works.

His awesome size might be part of the reason for his success.

The WT crew was in Dumas with one successful sales pitch.

"I kept telling them, if they didn't buy a ticket, Randy was gonna come around and see them."

The goal is 6,000 season tickets by the season opener. They're less than halfway there so far, but early Tuesday the 2,475 already was above last year's total. But then, WT football in 1970 didn't break any turnstile records.

Frank Barrett, avid WT booster, was one of three Hereford businessmen to accompany the Buffalo officials around town Tuesday on the ticket-selling binge.

One of the first questions he asked Mayfield Tuesday was, "Do you have a Texas Tech schedule?"

That was in anticipation of a question that did come several times during the day. Tech has a growing list of supporters in the Panhandle, and the alliance is still with the Red Raiders in some corners, despite the closer proximity of Buffalo Bowl.

Last year, the Buffalo home schedule went right down the line with Tech's. It's better this year.

For one thing, all six of West Texas State's home games are at night, starting at 8 p.m. That automatically cuts the competition somewhat with Tech games later in the season, which traditionally are played in the afternoon.

West Texas and Texas Tech play home games on the same dates, three times this fall. On Sept. 18 both teams have their first home games, the Buffaloes against Lamar Tech and the Red Raiders against New Mexico. On Oct. 9 it's WT vs. Texas-Arlington and Tech vs. Texas A&M, and on Oct. 16 it's WT vs. Northern Illinois and Tech vs. Boston College.

Tech is on television twice when West Texas is in Buffalo Bowl, but both video games are in the afternoon, against Arizona and against SMU. They are Oct. 2 and Oct. 23, respectively, when West Texas is hosting Tulsa and Idaho.

West Texas State is idle on Sept. 25, tuesday Tech plays at Texas.

PRESIDENT HELPED

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — A president once had to intercede to settle an Arkansas gubernatorial election.

It happened in 1872 when Eli-sha Baxter led Joseph Brooks by a small majority. Each claimed victory.

Baxter took office. Brooks went to court, but his case was thrown out. Then Brooks took the governor's office by force, and friends of each candidate kept Little Rock on the verge of civil war for nearly a month. Several skirmishes caused a few casualties.

President Grant then interceded and recognized Baxter as governor.

Outdoors lures mother-of-two to driving giant gravel truck

BY DOROTHY STIVARIUS
Janesville Gazette Writer
ELKHORN, Wis. (AP)—Dale and Marty Rae Dawson are about the proudest kids you'll find.

Their mom is a truck driver. Not a driver of just any little old truck, such as used for deliveries and mail.

She drives a giant gravel truck weighing, with payload, close to 24 tons. And she does it 8 to 10 hours a day, five days a week, still managing to look ladylike ever minute of it. She never forgets to wear her pretty dangly earrings.

Mrs. Marty Dawson, a 32-year-old brunette who wears a size 12 dress, has been piloting the big orange behemoths owned by Mann Bros., Inc., sand, gravel and excavating contractors, since last November.

The owners were a bit startled when she applied for a job, but she showed her chauffeur's license and Teamsters Union card. The three Mann brothers needed truck drivers. They say they haven't been sorry they hired her.

"She turns in as good a day's work as any of the men," says Don Mann.

"She doesn't ask for any special assignments just because she's a woman," adds Dick Mann.

"You don't have to be hefty to operate today's gravel trucks with their power steering, power brakes and hydraulic lifts," explains Lawrence Mann, "but it takes skill and coordination." And ne ve, he might have added.

Mrs. Dawson admits having had a bad scare shortly after taking the job with Manns.

"I was delivering gravel on a steep grade," she recalls. "I had just hoisted the box when I felt the truck begin to slide. I thought I might be a goner, but it stopped against another pile of gravel. Of course, I had to shovel out the wheels before I could drive out."

She makes up to 20 trips a day hauling gravel. Her truck weighs 18,900 pounds and she tries for a load average of 27,000 pounds so that even if there should be some shifting "I'll be safely under the 48,000 pound limit and won't have to shovel."

Another worry is when motorists in the business district suddenly back out their cars in front of the truck.

"They expect me to stop on a dime," she explains. "So far I have."

Motorists and pedestrians frequently do a double take as she drives past. And why not? She wears levis, a knit shirt or a print blouse, soft moccasins and one of her brown, platinum or frosted wigs.

"Ever so often, I'll be pulled up at the stop light and someone will spot me," says Mrs. Dawson. "I can see them pointing and yelling, 'Look! A woman!'"

Why does she drive a truck? For one thing, she likes being outdoors.

"Oh, I've tried office work a few times," she says, "but it is so confining. I really like truck driving better and it pays a lot better. Pay is the most important consideration when you have two children to support."

Mrs. Dawson, a divorcee, has a son, Dale, 12, and a daughter, Marty Rae, 10, of whom she is very proud. They understand why she works all day and leaves them with sitters.

"They really pitch in with the housework, so we can do things together afterwards," she adds.

Mrs. Dawson was reared on a farm in Iowa and says she was "always crazy about trucks, and I had a boy friend who drove one, so I persuaded him to teach me." After she was married her husband taught her to drive his semi-trailer.

She once managed a night club, broke and trained horses at a children's vacation ranch at Guthrie Center, Iowa, hauled cattle, grain and vegetables in Minnesota and dirt for dikes being built in the Red River Valley.

Mrs. Dawson brought her two children to Elkhorn last fall. She has taught them to ride and the three go horseback riding at every opportunity. Some day, she hopes, they will have their own small farm with space for their own horses and lots of pets.

RISE IN EXPORTS

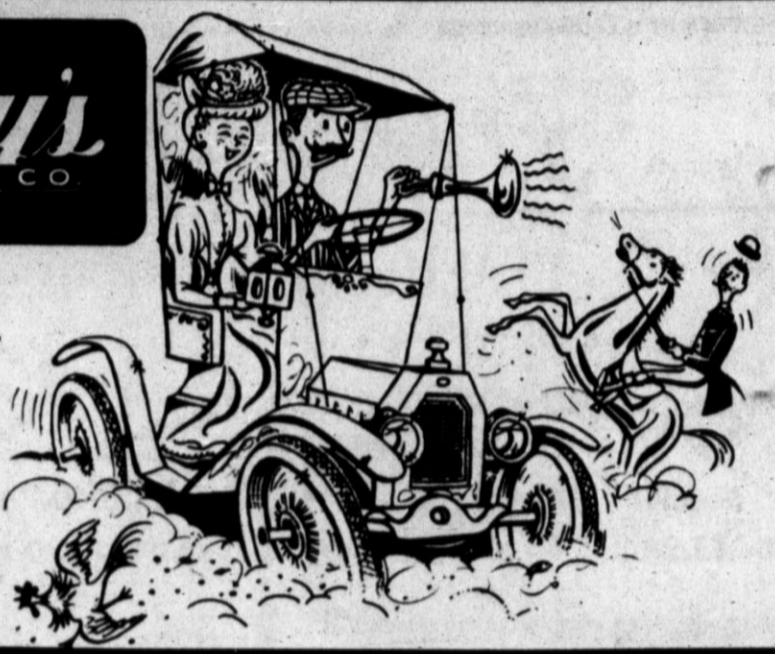

NEW YORK — Continued expansion of U. S. exports to Latin America was forecast by Harold B. Scott, Director of the Bureau of International Commerce, U. S. Department of Commerce, U. S. Department of Commerce. Growth in export trade to Latin America, he said, would probably be more modest than the 15 per cent increase between 1969 and 1970, when exports grew to $6.4 billion.

HOT PANTS WEDDING
NEW YORK — When the Traphagen School of Fashion holds its 48th annual show here, the featured item will be an original hot pants wedding outfit designed and modeled by a student.

LONG-TERM MUSIC
— BEAR MOUNTAIN, N.Y. — Ray Nelson's orchestra holds some sort of a record for longevity. This is the 39th straight year for them in the Bear Mountain Inn dining room. Each of the 10 musicians has played at one time or another with a name band during the swing era.
