

Shuval, hospital district get OK

Don Maynard
... here Friday

FCA golf tourney is Friday

Don Maynard, all-pro receiver with the New York Jets, will headline the "name" outsiders teeing it up with local people Friday morning and afternoon in a golf tournament on the Hereford Golf Course.

The Hereford chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes is sponsoring the tournament, which will give each player half his handicap in determining low ball for four-man teams.

A dinner at 8 p. m. in the Bull Barn will end the day's activities. Dress to the dinner will be casual.

Entry fee for the golf tournament is $30 per person. Or persons may attend the dinner, at which Maynard will be principal speaker, by paying $3 each at the door. Tickets also may be purchased today or Friday from either bank. The $30 entry fee includes two dinner tickets.

Proceeds will send local high school athletes to a one-week FCA camp at Estes Park, Colo.

Members of the Texas Tech and West Texas State coaching staffs also will be participating. They have, in general, been spread out so local people will have an opportunity to play with them.

The Tech coaches on hand will be Richard Bell, Jim Ragland, John Conley, Mars hall Taylor, Jack Fligg, Jess Stiles and Tom Wilson, with Tech trainer Bob Bissell also in the field.

From West Texas State are athletic director Gene Mayfield, James Van Pelt, Ronnie Mankin, Jimmy Campbell, Leldon Hensley, Eddie Behrens and Corky Dawson.

Sammy Smith, KGNC sportscaster, will be on hand, as will be Vance Hall, Amarillo sporting goods operator.

Bornstein acknowledged donations from several merchants that will go for prizes. They are First National Bank $50, Hereford State Bank $50, Cais on House $25, WAC Seed Co. $25, Hereford Butane $25, Garrison Seed Co. $20, Brown Sheet Metal $20, McCaslin Lumber Co. $20, Edwards Pharmacy $20 gift certificate, Bucks Sporting Co. two dozen golf balls, and Vance Hall Sporting Goods, merchandise.

The first foursome will tee off at 8:30 a. m. Friday and be followed by six other teams. An afternoon round of 18 foursomes will begin at 1:30 p. m. High school athletes will caddy for the players.

David Bornstein, director of the tournament, said other players desiring to play in the tournament will be worked into play as they show up. Players for the morning round should be at the course at 8 a. m. and for the afternoon round should be at the course at 1 p. m.

Pairings have been worked out, but will be changed if players specifically want to play with each other, he said.

May reduce train speed limit

City retaliates on crossing

The city commission, irred by a letter from Santa Fe Railroad's Amarillo office that said the city is responsible for the uncontrolled crossing at Progressive Road, retaliated Monday by deciding to enforce the speed limits of trains going through the city. Commissioners studied the policy of reducing the speed limit to a near-crawl of 5 miles per hour to guard against another car-train accident in Hereford. The commission authorized city attorney Earnest Langley to get in touch with K. C. May, superintendent of the Amarillo office, and inform him of possible steps by the city.

The commissioners also agreed to put a tap on a city water meter that would provide a hook-up for a line to two baseball fields in southeast Hereford, and tabled a request to reopen the Schley Street-Santa Fe crossing.

Reese Dawson, spokesman for the Boys Baseball of Hereford, asked the city for the hook-up to the water line so adequate water can be provided to the present Pony League field and a field that is under construction just to the south of that field.

City manager Dudley Bayne told the commissioners he received several requests about reopening Schley Street where it crosses the Santa Fe tracks. He said the road can be reopened, but it would probably remain an uncontrolled crossing. Action was tabled until the commission has time to see what can be done about the Progressive Road crossing.

The action taken by the commission came on the heels of two accidents that occurred at the intersection within the past three weeks. The latest accident, which occurred about 8 a. m. Monday, claimed the life of a Farr Better Feed company employee and the first accident, which happened April 26, seriously injured a 19-year-old Hereford woman.

There have been other car-train wrecks at the crossing in the past three years, including one other fatal accident.

Bayne showed a letter to the commissioners that Bob Josseland, manager of Farr Better Feeds, received April 30 concerning the crossing at Progressive Road. Josseland wrote a letter to May the day Betty Morgan of Hereford suffered a broken neck in a car-train accident at the crossing.

In the answer to Josseland's letter, May asked that Josseland contract the city commission about getting protective warning signals installed at the intersection.

New apartments open soon

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer
The 132-unit housing complex of Blue Water Gardens is expected to be completed and accepting families within two months, the construction superintendent said this week.
John Peterson of Albuquerque, said at least three of the 12 two-story buildings should be completed and ready for occupancy by the first of July.

"These three we hope to have ready by then are about 48 apartments. They will be two and four bedrooms, with the one and three bedroom apartments ready shortly after that," he said.
The 12 buildings that make up the block-square complex will be of one, two, three and four bedrooms with refrigerators, stoves and garbage disposals included in the apartments. There are 16 four-bedroom, 64 three-bedroom, 40 two-bedroom and 12 one-bedroom apartments in the complex.

All apartments will be unfinished except for kitchen appliances. A laundry, recreation buildings will be located in the center of the complex. There will be two playgrounds for children of families in the housing project and these will be furnished with swings, slides and climbing bars.

Peterson said the completion of the project is slightly behind schedule because of occasional bad weather throughout the early part of the year. Original target date for completion was mid-July for the entire complex, but Peterson said it would be about 20 days later because that is about the number of days lost because of weather. In an election preceded by little hubbub, the people of Deaf Smith County have decided they want Andy Shuval for district attorney and favor the creation of a hospital district.

Shuval, county attorney the past seven months, won 10 of the 11 election precincts in sweeping past Rex Easterwood, 1,226-883.

Shuval, 38, said "frankly, I was concerned," when he showed up at the county clerk's office at the 7 p. m. closing hour of the polls Tuesday and learned of the absentee results: Easterwood 38 Shuval 15.

Almost without exception, the absentee vote has been an indication of the final outcome in Deaf Smith County. Then there was the suspense of waiting 45 minutes until the first box — Precinct 1 — came in.

Shuval carried it, 362-235, for a 127-vote margin that wiped out his early deficit and put him into a 104-vote lead. He steadily improved on the margin as the night went on, and when Precinct 5 came in at 8:45 p. m. Shuval had 58 per cent of the votes.

Easterwood carried Precinct 11, the Northwest School box, by 30 votes, 299-269. Shuval had all the others, including 235-164 and 172-108 margins at Hereford's two other large boxes. The rural vote went to him by 20-0 at Simms, 19-3 at the J. E. McCathern residence, 54-2 at Ford School, 27-14 at Dawn, 22-8 at Walcott, 8-2 at Bippus and 23-0 at Palo Duro Church.

Shuval said he planned to be in a week vacation Saturday. His term as district attorney will not begin until after the Secretary of State certifies the election results on June 4 or later.

The hospital issue carried 1,471 to 595. All four amendments also carried, although only one passed statewide. The final vote was 1153-897 on No. 1, 1045-964 on No. 2, 1077-981 on No. 3 and 1466-618 on No. 4.

The hospital district passed in seven of the 11 precincts, but the four negative boxes all were in small-vote areas. It fell by one vote in two boxes, six votes in another and 18 votes in another. But it swept to decisive margins of more than 2-to-1 in the four big boxes.

The county commissioners must canvass the results and name seven persons to act as the hospital district board.

"The board then will have an immediate problem of arriving at a budget and how much tax will be necessary to cover it," said Ed Line, chairman of the present Hospital Board. Taxes probably will be assessed by the hospital district beginning this fall.

He said he was uncertain about how the hospital district would fare in the voting.

"I didn't know how well we had gotten out the things we felt about the issue. We hadn't heard much talk about it," Line said. He had "a feeling of satisfaction" when he learned Tuesday night of the outcome, he added.

Amendment No. 4, which provides more bond money for water improvements, was the only one to pass throughout Texas. The other three would have established a commission to recommend ethics and pay for legislature, allow more frequent constitutional amendments and take some of the ceilings off welfare payments.

The water amendment, passed in 5 of the 11 precincts. It fell 25-30 at Ford School and 12-30 at Palo Duro Church.

The welfare amendment won support in only 2 of the 11 precincts, but had enough support in Precincts 1 and 2 to win overall county approval.

The ethics-pay amendment got the okay in 6 of 11 boxes and the amendment allowing more amendments got the nod in 4 of 11 boxes.

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake said in Austin Wednesday he is elated over passage of the water amendment. He sponsored

Andy Shuval
... new DA

ed the proposal and pushed it through the Texas House.

He was indifferent about the failure of the other three amendments statewide, but Sen. Max Sherman was disappointed the others didn't make it.

Acceptance of the Clean Water amendment by voters brought pleasure to both Rep. Bill Clayton and Sen. Max Sherman.

Clayton was elated. He sponsored the measure and carried it through the house.

As for the 3 amendments that failed to pass, Clayton said he personally did not care.

"I think the defeat of the welfare amendment simply means the people are fed up with the welfare program," Clayton said. "As for the ethics amendment, I believe the people need more clear-cut issues to vote on. If the legislature needs a pay raise a figure should be put out there and let the people vote on it."

Passage of the water amendment means that Texas can begin to clean up its streams and rivers and make a great step forward in the field of clean water programs, Clayton added. More federal money can be funneled into the state and used to reclaim sewage and generally give Texas more and better water, which is our greatest need, the legislator said.

Sherman was equally pleased over the passage of the water amendment, which he said was most important to Deaf Smith County and surrounding areas.

He added, however, that he believed the other three amendments were important to the state and that the refusal of voters to accept the welfare amendment could result in a special session.

"Ninety per cent of the regulation of welfare comes from the federal level," Sherman said. "Which means we have to do what they tell us to. At the present level of welfare ceiling the state cannot meet those requirements but this is a major decision that must be made somewhere along the line. The people have voiced their concern at the overload of welfare and show they want reform."

"The lieutenant governor has made some good suggestions along this line and I hope we can carry through with welfare reform."

DOROTHY MANNERS' Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD—James Garner is back on the Warner Bros. lot where, just a few years ago, he had a battery of attorneys trying to pry him loose, and Warner had a battery equally determined that he stay there. His lawyers won.

"Now I am renting the place," he grinned during a lunch break in the Green Room of the commissary. He was finishing "The Skin Game," a joint effort of his independent setup, Cherokee Productions, NBC, and the "new" Warners, with Jim co-producing as well as starring. Gone is the studio old guard that fought so hard to keep him under contract; gone, also, is any mood to gloat over his victory.

James Garner

"Too many are gone from every studio," he said soberly. "This commissary used to be jammed to the walls with actors and technicians. Now only a part of the room is used."

A "nice guy," this man, a very nice guy. Never a part of the Beverly Hills social scene, he and wife Lois and three daughters, Kimberly and Greeta, live a happy family life unto themselves. He lives by no rules of being seen in the right places at the right time, or trying to keep up with whoever is being kept up with at the moment.

"The only thing I've given in on is I've let them 'ground' me from personally racing my sports cars," he said. "I won't be doing any of that while I'm making pictures or after I start my new TV series, 'Nichols.' Anyway, I probably won't drive races anymore. I've got a bad knee, injured originally in Korea and re-injured since. It gave me a bad time in the fight scenes today despite wearing a brace. I can take a hint," he drawled like the Western characters he plays.

Not all Westerns, though, even if "Skin Game" is another. "My big hassle years ago was to get away from 'Maverick' (one of the most successful of all TV series). "God knows I was grateful for the success, but as the years rolled by, I just had to come unglued from it."

Jim's first big jump away from horses and cowboy hats was a giant one—he co-starred with Shirley MacLaine and Audrey Hepburn in "The Children's Hour," a lesbian-problem thesis directed by William Wyler.

"I hated the role, it was a walk-through between the wonderful performance turned in by Shirley and Audrey—but it served its purpose. It got me off a horse." So did "The Americanization of Emily," with Julie Andrews, "Mister Budding," and a dozen or so other films that followed, although his last year's hit, "Support Your Local Sheriff," brought him back to a horse, even though it was a satire. The new series, "Nichols," is a comedy-drama set in the Southwest in modern times.

What Jim doesn't want—and won't have—is someone writing propaganda or "causes" throughout his scripts. "I can't go this business of actors on the march, making speeches and carrying banners for this reason:

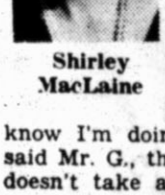

"Unlike college students, professors, others of the intelligentsia, or even millionaires if they are so minded to get involved in protests, a screen star projects TWO images—the personality he has made famous on the screen or TV—and the person he really is.

"The great majority of the public knows us as that fella they see in the movies. Most of these roles are very flattering. So when the STAR gets on his soapbox about whatever cause he or she happens to be hysterical about at the time, he's throwing an unduly strong and virtuous image behind it.

"It's like what he is saying as a PERSON must be right because he's always MR. RIGHT in front of a camera. I don't see it as the actors' purpose in life to tell people how to vote or when to riot or march."

Jim was due back on the set and, being self-employed, he isn't one to hold up a company. He was favoring that bum knee as we walked out of the cafe.

"When you see THIS fight on the screen, and I start panting, you'll know I'm doing it for real," said Mr. G., the nice guy who doesn't take advantage of it.

gates at railroad tracks protect the public and not the railroad, and it is for this reason that cities, counties and states should make funds available to protect the public," the letter from May said.

In an interview last week, a spokesman for the company said funds are available to the Amarillo office for the construction of crossing signs at the intersection, but no definite steps have been taken.

The official, F. D. Chapman, said the city or county has to make formal application to the company for installation of a warning device and the Amarillo office then has to get authorization from the Chicago office for expenditure of money for such a project.

The commission discussed dropping the speed limit to as low as 5 miles per hour through town for trains, and posting a policeman at the city limits. Each time a train came through going more than the city limits, the officer would take down the number of the train and a ticket would be issued to the conductor.

"If enough of this is done, we might get some results on this crossing," Bayne said.

"There is no way to deal with the situation except this," Bayne said referring to a possible reduction in speed limits for the train, "it is just like this letter. It is ridiculous. They are just trying to make it look bad on the city when we actually have no right to become involved."

The city cannot assume the responsibility of the crossing because it is outside the city limits. The city limits stop on the west side of Progressive Road.

Langley said he will make a copy of his letter available to the public when he gets it prepared.

"I think we should let them know in this letter that we feel we have no choice but to reduce the speed limit of trains as they come into the city limits," Langley said.

Accounts by Amarillo news media said the conductor of the train that collided with the Hereford man Monday told them he was going 50 miles an hour at the time of the collision. The speed limit of a train going through town is 30 miles an hour and Langley said the letter should contain some reference to this incident as a "gross infraction" of the law.

Langley said while radio, television and newspaper reports are not sufficient proof that the conductor was actually traveling 50 miles an hour at the time of the accident, trains do have a recording device that tells the speed. These records are a matter of public record, he said, and the city should request a copy.

He said if the copy is "conveniently lost or destroyed," the railroad company will find itself in a great deal of trouble.

Group seeks funds for indigent aid

Indigent patients who in the past have been unable to qualify for free medical care at the Public Health Clinic, now will have the opportunity through a newly organized program.

The program, "We Care," was originated about three weeks ago by Wilma Townsend, president of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce, and Barbara McCrary.

The program got its feet off the ground just this week when it received $375 in donations from two local women's organizations. The Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce donated $100 and the L'Allegria Study Club donated $275 collected from its musical this spring.

Indigent patients do not qualify for care under the migrant program, and to this point have been unable to receive free medical care at the Public Health Clinic. In the past indigents were able to get doctors' services free, but were required to pay for their medications and lab and x-ray fees.

The money, which it is hoped will come from donations by other local clubs and individuals, will be used at the discretion of the clinic staff as the needs arise. The funds will be controlled by the ladies auxiliary of the Public Health Clinic.

The committee in charge of the funds is Mrs. Hugh Bookout, Mrs. J. A. McWhorter, Mrs. McCrary and Mrs. James Higgins.

"We hope that it will be a continuing fund and that people or organizations will contribute to it," said Mrs. Higgins.

A study of the number of indigents served by the Public Health Clinic in the past few months prompted the establishment of "We Care."

From September through December of last year, some 1,255 indigents were treated at the Public Health Clinic. This number did not include the migrants treated during that period.

Since the clinic opened in August, 11,567 persons, including migrants, received treatment at the clinic.

Work on the low-income housing project has been going on since early this year. Peterson said all the rough framing of the 12 buildings is near completion but inside work is just getting underway. There are about 60 men working on the buildings, some from Hereford and others from as far away as Clovis, Lubbock and Amarillo.

The housing will be for low-income families and payment will be adjusted to the family's income.

"Actually, it's really hard to say just exactly how this rent is going to be worked," Peterson said. "We haven't found out much at this time although I have been planning to get in touch with the Albuquerque office for the past few days."

Peterson said a manager for the apartments has not been selected yet, but it "will have to be someone with experience with the low-rental subsidy because of the bookwork involved."

Peace officers plan equipment display at Mall

The Peace Officers Association of Hereford will put on an equipment display Saturday at Sugarland Mall.

The display will be set up at 9 a.m. and will be open to the public through the afternoon. Children will be given identification cards with their fingerprints on them and representatives of the various agencies will answer questions about their offices.

The display will include drugs, weapons, cars, boats, the fire department rescue unit, and possibly the Department of Public Safety helicopter.

You can find out how to get rid of them in "A Guide to Country Living" published here. The book has been compiled by P. D. N. Earle, joint managing director and secretary of the Country Gentlemen's Association and is published by Hutchinsons.

Those bats in the belfry — try smoking them out.

Your horse's warts — Cut an apple in half and rub one half on the wart. Then tie the two pieces together again and hang the apple from a tree. When the apple is withered, the wart will disappear.

Crash victim buried Tuesday

Funeral services for Abelardo LaFuenta, 25, of Amarillo, were conducted Tuesday morning in St. Anthony's Catholic Church. The Rev. Boniface Riedmann, pastor, officiated with burial in St. Anthony's Cemetery by Gilliland Funeral Home.

LaFuenta was killed in a station wagon-pickup truck crash Saturday morning in Amarillo. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Northwest-Texas Hospital.

A veteran of Vietnam, LaFuenta was born in O'Donnell. He married Mary Urias in 1968 in Hereford. They moved to Amarillo the following year where he was employed by Sears.

Among survivors are his wife, two sons Edward and Arnold, both of the home; parents Mr. and Mrs. Pedro LaFuenta; five brothers, Alfredo of Friona, Arnulfo and Gonzalo of Hereford, Pete of Colo. and Enrique of Idaho Falls, Ida; five sisters,

The meeting will begin at 8 p. m.

"The report will give a total picture of the school program, including how and why the Tierra Blanca school was organized, the progress of pupils, the types of programs and materials used in the instruction of pupils, and how this school differs from regularly organized schools," said Robert Holman, assistant superintendent.

Parents will be given opportunity to question a panel of teachers, he added.

Holman said any parents or interested citizens, regardless of whether they have children at Tierra Blanca, are invited to the meeting.

Because of an anticipated large number of parents at the meeting, attendance will be limited to adults, he said. A nursery for children will not be provided.

Rex Kern signs for All-star tilt

LUBBOCK —Rambling Rex Kern, the pride of the Ohio State Buckeyes, has announced that he will play in the 1971 Coaches All-America Football Game scheduled June 26 in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium.

Kern, who led Ohio State to a 27-3 record in his three years at quarterback, will play for Coach Charley McClendon's East team. During Kern's career at Ohio State, the Buckeyes won three Big Ten championships and went to the Rose Bowl twice.

The Ohio State star can break a game open with either a run or pass. In the course of his career, he established a new Ohio State total offense record with 4,159 yards. During the 1970 season he averaged 5.3 yards per carry.

Kern received All-American mention in both 1969 and 1970 and was honored as the Most Valuable Player in the '69 Rose Bowl against Southern California.

An active member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Kern scored 19 touchdowns during his career. He was recently awarded a $1,000 NCAA post-graduate scholarship given to athletes with a high academic standing. He was drafted by the Baltimore Colts.

Kern's teammates on the East team will include Joe Profit, Northeast Louisiana; Murry Bowden, Dartmouth; Otto Stowe, Iowa State; Wes Chesson, Duke; Buddy Lee, LSU; John Andrews, Indiana; Dave Hardt, Kentucky; and Ronnie Hornsby, Southeastern Louisiana.

Players already announced for Coach Bob Devaney's West team include Chuck Dicus, Arkansas; Bobby Wuensch and Bill Atessis, Texas; Clarence Scott, Kansas State; Craig Hanne-man, Oregon State; and Ernie Jennings, Air Force.

Tickets to the all-star contest are on sale at the Texas Tech ticket office.

Train victim's rites conducted

Funeral services for Gonzalo Olivares, 32, killed in a train-pickup crash Monday at the intersection of Progressive Road, were held Wednesday in St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Father Boniface Riedmann, pastor, officiated and burial, under the direction of Gilliland Funeral Home, was in St. Anthony's Cemetery.

Olivares was killed about 8 a. m. Monday as he was returning to work at Farr Better Feeds. He was headed south on Progressive Road when the collision occurred.

The accident was the second this year. The first injured a 19-year-old Hereford woman on April 26.

Olivares was pronounced dead at the scene. The pickup was dragged about half a mile from the crash site.

Olivares was born Dec. 18, 1918 and married his wife, Pabla Morales, in Mathis in 1960. He and his wife came to Deaf Smith County from Mathis last year.

Survivors include his wife of the home, four sons, Rafael and Ricardo, both of the home, Tomas of Edinburg, and Flomemo of Mathis; one daughter, Mrs. Ana Guadalupe of Edinburg; two brothers and 19 grandchildren.

Civic clubs agree on joint efforts

Members of Hereford's civic clubs agreed this week to meet on a periodic basis in the future on areas that need a unified approach.

One of the first probable projects to be undertaken by the group is a series of billboard signs on each major entrance into the city. The signs would welcome persons to Hereford and bear individual signs telling the meeting times and places of the various clubs and veteran and fraternal organizations here.

The clubs agreed to pursue the matter further, including seeking a more definite figure on the cost involved.

Also in the clubs' plan is a better-organized community calendar, through which conflicts of major meetings can be avoided. The Chamber of Commerce will send to presidents of each club a calendar of future scheduled events for the months ahead. The clubs at the meeting agreed to work at seeing that any of their future events are charted through the chamber office, so the date will not conflict.

Guest installs club officers

"Deaf Smith County—Today and Yesterday" was the theme used by Mrs. Charles Bell, guest of La Plata Study Club, for the installation of officers for the 1971-72 club year. The salad supper was held in the home of Mrs. Raymond White with Mrs. Elmer Patterson serving as co-hostess.

One tall taper lighted at the beginning of the installation symbolized that for which La Plata Study Club has stood and will stand.

Incoming officers lighted tapers in a wrought iron seven-branched candelabra, and members indicated their determination to carry out the program of work charted by the officers when each lighted a smaller candle. The ceremony was concluded with a prayer.

Standing committees, announced by Mrs. Dettman for the coming year are: Yearbook, Mrs. Jay Boston, Mrs. Jack Brown, and Mrs. Ken Rogers; Project, Mrs. Frank Prowell, Mrs. A. J. Schroeter, and Mrs. Ansel McDowell; Finance, Mrs. J. C. Brown, Mrs. Urlin Streu, and Mrs. Phillip Shook; Gift, Mrs. Alex Glass, Mrs. J. D. Nell, and Mrs. W. D. Askew; Telephone, Mrs. Raymond White, Mrs. Harlan VanderZee, and Mrs. Pete Cash; and Hospitality, Mrs. Elmer Patterson, Mrs. M. H. Richie, and Mrs. Tom Harkey.

Attending the salad supper were Mesdames Jack Brown, J. C. Brown, Dettman, Harkey, Hughes, Nell, Patterson, Prowell, Richie, Schroeter, Shook, Thames, White, Streu, Moreman, Cash, and Mrs. Kenneth Hung, who was welcomed as a new member.

As Mrs. Bell read the impressive presentation, Mrs. J. D. Neil placed on the bulletin board a sketch corresponding to the pioneer memento chosen to represent each office. Sketches were done by Miss Sara Bell, daughter of the installing officer.

The first pioneers were used to symbolize the office of president, to be filled by Mrs. Emil Dettman. Other officers and the symbol used in their installation are Mrs. Jay Boston, vice-president—the windmill; Mrs. Pat Hughes, recording secretary—the county court house, built in 1910; Mrs. Frank Prowell, corresponding secretary—the crops produced in the county, sent out to make an impression on the world. Also Mrs. A. J. MARCH OF EVENTS

DEMOCRATIC LIBERALS ARE ATTACKING COMMON CAUSE THE "PEOPLE" OF "PEOPLES' LOBBY" SEEM TO BE "PERSON"

By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Some leading Democratic liberals are joining Republicans in attacks against Common Cause, the so-called people's lobby headed by onetime Johnson administration Cabinet member John Gardner.

Former Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody, a Democrat, recently resigned from the group in protest over Gardner's "unfair" criticism of President Nixon's Vietnamization program in Southeast Asia.

Said Peabody: Common Cause should put the pressure on Hanoi, not the President, to end the conflict.

Another devastating challenge to Common Cause comes from Kenneth Crawford, a liberal columnist for the Washington Post.

"Judged by the positions it has taken," says Crawford, "it is hard to detect any great difference right now between Common Cause and Democrats for Democratic Action, long the Democratic Party's ally on the liberal flank."

"There the similarity ends, however. ADA is Democratically run. Its membership decides its positions on the issues after lengthy and often hot debate, whereas Gardner seems to speak for Common Cause without let or hindrance."

Crawford also takes issue with Common Cause because of the group's bogus claim that it represents the interests of all Americans. Gardner calls his group "a lobby in the public interest," concerned only with the good of "the people," and "neither left, nor right, nor center," but promoting "an agenda for all Americans—for the poor, the comfortable, the city dweller and the farmer, for men and women."

Says Crawford: "Gardner is a master of glittering generalization."

This boast of being the spokesman for this nation's "common cause" is the basic objection to Gardner's group. As one observer puts it: "Conservatives in the Democratic and Republican Parties could form an organization and call it Common Cause, a non-partisan people's lobby. But they would fool few knowledgeable Americans."

The latest attacks on Common Cause—from both the political left and the right—indicate Gardner's group will fare little better.

● UNLIBERAL TO LIBERALS—The Republican-controlled New York legislature seems bent on ridding the U.S. House of Representatives of at least one of its most vocal liberals.

The state's new redistricting map apparently will place two Manhattan liberals in the same district. They are Rep. Bella Abzug, the bellicose women's liberation activist and leader of radical "peace" causes, and Rep. William Fitts Ryan, long a foe of the House Committee on Internal Security.

● CAPITAL STAGE WHISPERS—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover may be under attack in the effete parlors of Georgetown, but he is still a hero at the track. Hoover was cheered loudly recently at nearby Bowie Raceway, where he presented the trophy to the winner of a Saturday feature race.

Democratic presidential hopeful George McGovern is no favorite of former Sen. Eugene McCarthy, even though their positions on the issues are nearly identical. "A speech by George McGovern," says McCarthy, "is like a Chinese dinner. It includes a little bit of everything but an hour later you are hungry."

By Mrs. Argen Draper

Home Demonstration Agent

The following are some recipes Argen has collected for readers who may be interested in trying them and perhaps buying some of the ingredients on sale by area 4-H'ers.

FUDGY BROWNIES
Two-thirds bars of World's Finest Chocolate
1/2 cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
4 eggs, beaten
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
Melt chocolate and butter together over hot water. Cool slightly. Gradually add sugar to eggs, beating thoroughly after each addition.

Blend in chocolate mixture. Stir in flour. Then add vanilla and nuts. Spread in greased 9-inch square pan.
Bake in slow oven (325 F.) about 40 minutes. Cool in pan. Cut into squares. Makes about 2 dozen brownies.

NO-BAKE BROWNIES
1 cup chopped walnuts
4 cups graham cracker crumbs
1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 bars World's Finest Chocolate
1 cup evaporated milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Combine nuts, crumbs, and confectioners' sugar in a large mixing bowl. Melt chocolate in evaporated milk over low heat, stirring constantly. Blend well. Add vanilla and then set aside 1/2 cup of the chocolate mixture. Stir crumb mixture into remaining chocolate mixture. Spread in a well-buttered 9-inch square pan.
Spread rest of chocolate mixture over top. Chill. Before serving, cut into bars. Makes about 32 brownies.

DOUBLE-DECK BROWNIES
Two-thirds cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
One-third cup shortening, melted
One-third cup flake coconut

1/2 teaspoon almond extract
One-third bar World's Finest Chocolate
Measure sifted flour, baking powder and salt and sift together. Gradually add sugar to eggs, beating thoroughly. Blend in shortening.
Add flour mixture and mix well. Pour 1/2 cup of the batter into a small bowl; mix in coconut and almond extract.
Add chocolate to remaining batter and spread evenly in a greased 8-inch square pan. Drop coconut batter by teaspoonfuls over chocolate batter and spread carefully to form a thin layer.

Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Cool in pan. Cut in bars or squares. Makes about 20 brownies.
A tasty suggestion: To your favorite vanilla ice cream recipe, add: one half bar of World's Finest Chocolate, grated. Freeze as usual.

CHOCOLATE BAR COOKIES
2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1/4 c powdered sugar
1/2 cup or 1 stick butter or margarine
Mix and pat into a 9x12 inch baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. Mix: 115 oz. can sweetened condensed milk
2 cups flaked coconut
1 teaspoon vanilla (we sell this, too)
Mix well and spread over crust; Bake 10 minutes at 350 degrees.

Melt one 6 oz. bar World's Finest Chocolate, sold by the 4-H'ers, or 1/2 bar or 1/2 package chocolate chips and spread over top. Cut into 24 squares. Chill in refrigerator.

CHOCOLATE PIE
1 6 oz. bar World's Finest Chocolate
1/2 cup milk
20 large marshmallows
1 c whipping cream or whipped topping
1 pie crust either crumb or baked

Salute to agriculture said to be tremendous success

The recent Salute to Agriculture Day in Washington, D. C., was one of the biggest and most successful efforts our Nation has seen to call attention to a positive way to the problems and accomplishments of American agriculture, Frank J. Bezner, Chairman of the (County) Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said this week.

President Nixon launched the Salute with a nationwide radio address calling on all Americans to join him in a bi-partisan tribute to the farmers of this country.

"I have high hopes for the new farm programs which are in effect this year," the President told the Nation. "They remove some of the old restraints in a way which gives every farmer a chance to make more of his own decisions about the kind of farming that suits him best."

Bezner spotlighted other major goals which can help farmers improve their income stated in the President's address:

—Increase agricultural exports from the $7.4 billion this year to an annual $10 billion figure.

—Continue the battle against inflation.

—Increase the level of operating loans insured by the Farmers Home Administration.

—Support applied research for controlling agricultural pests.

—Increase grants for small watershed projects.

—Increase funding for technical assistance on conservation projects.

—Work with farm organizations and the Congress on such problems as farm labor, and farm bargaining legislation.

In a special tribute at the White House, Bezner said, the President climaxed a day of recognition by Cabinet Members and other high government officials with a reception and dinner for several score outstanding farmers and farm leaders and their wives. On the White House lawn, farm machinery exhibits and purebred livestock were on display for the Washington public.

The President said, "Thanks to American agriculture for making us the best fed, the best clothed people in America; thanks to American agriculture for providing the basic industry that is essential for any nation to be strong."

Calling attention to the productivity of American agriculture, the President noted that in the last 20 years American industry has increased its productivity per man-hour by 150 percent, a great achievement. But in that same period agriculture has increased its productivity per man-hour by 300 percent — twice as much.

"I was particularly pleased to see the President discuss farm income and inflation," Bezner said. "The President pointed out that in a free society who ever produces more should be compensated for more. Then he observed that the income per capita of those America's farms has gone up, but not in proportion to their increasing productivity, and not in relation to the increases received by their colleagues who work in American industry."

The President also said, "...inflation hits farmers in two ways. It drives up both the cost of farming and the cost of living. The rate of inflation in the first quarter of 1971 was the lowest in four years, only one-half of what it was in 1970. We are working very hard to ease the cost-price squeeze."

And I agree with the President's statement that "in the final analysis the problems of American agriculture can best be solved by those who know farming best; the farm people themselves, with government backup when necessary." Bezner said. "I guess that's why we both have high hopes for the new bi-partisan farm programs which are in effect this year."

Nance Ranch begins research with seed money

A $20,000 research project on liquid supplements and feed for cattle has been announced Saturday by Taylor-Evans Seed Co. and West Texas State University School of Agriculture.

It will be the first research project undertaken at the newly acquired Nance Ranch east of Canyon. Panhandle area agricultural interests have donated $100,000 to develop and equip the ranch for research programs.

The two-year study begins June 1 under the direction of John W. McNeill, 24, acting head of the Department of Animal Science.

"The term, 'liquid supplement, liquid supplementation or liquid feed' has become common in recent years as it relates to livestock feeding," said Dr. Charles M. Smallwood, dean of the school.

"There is a large amount of information concerning the use of this type of feed in finishing rations; however, very little information is available on its use on cows, even though this is one of its major uses."

Smallwood said the research will seek to learn the effect of extended use of liquid feed on reproduction, the nutritional value when used with various roughages such as maize butts, cotton burs, wheat and native pasture, and the types of rations which can be built around liquid supplements and its ingredients.

The project will be carried out in confined and pasture cow operations and later in feedlot studies, Smallwood said.

The cooperative project was announced by James A. "Doc" Potts, executive vice president of Taylor-Evans, and Smallwood.

Under terms of the agreement, Taylor-Evans will provide tanks and equipment for storing and handling liquid feed supplements and to reimburse the university for expenses not to exceed $10,000 per year. "The primary emphasis of the research will be a long term study of cow herd performance in confinement and on pasture," Smallwood said.

Last year McNeill conducted research into the value of processed milo rations in the feeding of swine. Such milo rations have been successful in beef cattle production.

A native of the Panhandle, McNeill received a Bachelor of Science in animal science and a Master of Science in animal nutrition, both from Texas A&M University. He has had published five articles in his field.

McNeill, who joined the West Texas State faculty last year, received the Distinguished Student Award at Texas A&M and also the American Society of Animal Science Scholarship Award.

'Came from Spain' set at Palo Duro

A new production, "They Came From Spain," is scheduled to open in the Palo Duro Canyon on Sept. 2, with Eddie Thomas of Dallas as the director.

The people of the Panhandle have raised $66,000 in underwriting to produce this show which will play Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays during September and October of 1971. There will also be Sunday evening performances on Labor Day and Columbus Day week-ends. He spoke at the meeting of the Heritage Foundation on Sunday about his plans, and painted interesting pictures of ways the story might be told. He also presented a model of set designs. Thomas knows the Palo Duro well. He lived near it in his youth. He created the role of Calvin, the leading man in the "Texas" production, and played it for two years, learning every whim of the Canyon.

The fall production will reveal the story of the Conquistadores, led by Coronado, as they crossed the plains to take refuge in the Palo Duro Canyon in 1541. They left detailed and intriguing journals and letters of their impressions and experiences. These are the basis for the script of the new show, written by Margaret Harper, who was also one of the authors of the 1965 show.

Deaf Smith County has own meteorite

A small meteorite, found about 30 years ago on a farm southeast of Hereford, is being studied by the American Meteorite Laboratory in Denver, Colo.

Glenn I. Huss, director of the American Meteorite Laboratory, said the stone was purchased from Ray Wilhelm for more than $30.

Wilhelm, who lives one mile south and seven miles east of Hereford, discovered the five-pound meteorite about 30 years ago while he was plowing on his farm. At the time he was certain it was no ordinary earth rock since it was heavy, dark and somewhat rust-colored.

Late in 1969 he wrote Texas Tech University in Lubbock a breakup of the parent body. Under the crust, he said, may be stone of a lighter color, although it may be nearly black also.

Bright silvery bits of nickel-iron metal are scattered through the stone and usually can be revealed by holding the edge of the stone to an emery wheel. As meteorites lie in the soil, the metal rusts and stains the black exterior of the stone to a rust-brown color, but the grinding of a corner of a stone with an emery wheel or sandpaper will still reveal the bright silvery metal, Huss said.

The meteorite will be known as the Hereford, Tex. meteorite.

"Since most meteorites break in the air when they fall and scatter fragments across the countryside, there should be other fragments of this one within eight to 10 miles of the Wilhelm farm," he said. "And other meteorites doubtless lie undiscovered in many other Deaf Smith County fields."

Huss said when meteorites fall on the earth, they are usually covered with a satiny black crust which has been created by the heat of the final aerial

The American Meteorite Laboratory makes tests on suspected meteorites free of charge. Should tests prove a specimen to be meteoritic, an offer of purchase will be made. Prices paid for meteorites currently run from $3 per pound, depending on the variety, condition, and size of the stone.

Kidney treatments are better now

What do you do if you have non-functioning or diseased kidneys? The answer to that question all too often in Texas is: "Prepare to die," says the Texas State Department of Health. But if you can afford it and have the facilities available — hemodialysis can be the difference between living and dying. Kidney transplants also have proved partially successful.

Time is important to a person with faulty kidneys because uremia sets in quickly. This toxic condition is followed by symptoms of headaches, swelling, vomiting, convulsions, coma and death — death, that is, unless a kidney treatment center is available and there is sufficient money to provide the needed care. Patients can purchase their own dialysis machine for home use.

The kidneys are the chief excretory organs of the body. Waste products are carried to the kidneys by the blood stream and removed as the blood circulates through the kidney cells. The wastes pass out of the body as urine.

In dialysis, a tube carries blood through a series of sterile tubes, past various monitors and pumps and then to one side of a semi-permeable cellophane membrane. On the other side, moving in the opposite direction, is dialysis fluid — a man-made liquid with some of the same qualities as blood plasma. By simple diffusion, the waste products and some fluids pass through the cellophane into the dialysis fluid and are flushed away. Another tube carries blood back into the patient's arm. A patient and his partner receive six weeks of training in using dialysis equipment. The partner must be present during training and actual use of the machine to prevent loss of too much fluid and a drop in blood pressure. The average patient spends five hours on the machine three times a week.

enough of them had the necessary facilities — would cost around $25,000 a year. But a home machine costs approximately $1,700. Disposable materials cost some $5,000 a year; however, this figure can be cut by more than half by a technique developed in Austin for reusing some of the disposables. A survey conducted last summer showed that upwards of 500 Texans a year develop kidney problems necessitating dialysis. The study further showed that during the year ending last July 1, only 84 persons actually received it. The State Health Department hopes the day will come when all who need it can get treatment.

Shakespeare, according to estimates, never made a continuous journey as far as a round trip from Boston to New York.

The creation of a hospital district for Deaf Smith County sailed passed the voters Tuesday by a 3 to 1 margin, and County Attorney Andy Shuval won election to the newly created post of Criminal District Attorney for this county by a handy margin as well. The votes on the DA election will be sent to the Secretary of State for canvassing, and the deal will become official shortly after June 4th, according to County Clerk B. F. Cain.

And while the local voters were approving the creation of a hospital district, Amarillo voters were busy turning down the proposed Potter County courthouse. However, the vote was rather close, and we suspect it will come up again soon.

All four amendments passed locally, but the first three were doomed to defeat on the state level, with only Amendment No. 4, having to do with water quality control, and assistance to cities for improvement of sewage systems, etc., passing on the state level. It appeared to be going strong without any problems.

It is also interesting to note that of the 46 precincts (or political units, counties, etc.) that voted on the liquor by the drink question, 45 had passed with only one still in doubt early Wednesday morning. The favorable vote will no doubt encourage other precincts to follow suit.

So, as it now stands, that are at least 45 places in Texas where you can buy your liquor-by-the-jigger.

By the way, perhaps the smallest county (population wise) to vote on the liquor-by-the-drink issue was Loving County. The citizens there approved the measure by an 18 to 15 vote. The far West Texas county opposite southern New Mexico, turned down each of the four constitutional amendments.

The legislators were on the ball concerning this issue. The Texas House Tuesday passed 136-5 a bill taxing mixed drinks and promptly sent it on to the Senate. The bill also requires the drinking places to pay state and local sales taxes when they buy bottled booze from package stores. The tax collectors plan to get them going and coming.

Amarillo Mayor L. Ray Vahue, and a delegation of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, visited in Hereford Monday, lunching with a group of local business leaders, in an attempt to better relations between the two cities. Many people in Amarillo have known for some time that their image has not been the best throughout the area, and they're now trying to do something about it. And it may work out quite well.

Mayor Vahue is a personable gentleman, and we suspect that his efforts will go a long way towards alleviating the ill-will that has prevailed not only between Hereford and Amarillo, but Amarillo and most of the other area towns. It's a good move, and one that is long past due.

Certainly, since Amarillo is a wholesale center for this area, it could not survive without the outlying area towns. On the other hand, Amarillo is important to us too. And there should be a mutual accord shown, and an effort for better understanding between the two communities. The folks up there are trying — and we need to do the same.

Misers, we're told, aren't much fun to live with but they make wonderful ancestors.

Gholsons have visitors from Virginia Beach

Mrs. Tommy Reeves and son Chad of Virginia Beach, Va., are in Hereford for a three-week visit in the home of Mrs. Reeves' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Gholson, 117 Avenue J.

She and two-month-old son are also visiting Reeves' parents, the Ervin Reeves on Austin Road.

Mrs. Reeves is the former Ginger Gholson. She and her husband are both former Hereford residents and attended Hereford schools.

Reeves is on U.S. Navy duty in the Mediterranean Sea where he has served three and a half years. He will be dismissed in October but will return to the states in July.

The Gholsons had a family reunion in the Sam Gholson home at Muleshoe Sunday, "to show off our new grandson," said Mrs. Gholson.

Young Mother of Year named

Mrs. Buri Spears was named Young Mother of the Year at a recent Young Mothers Study Club installation supper making the tenth year the title has been granted a worthy member.

Mrs. Spears was elected by members of the club at election time by secret ballot when she was also named president to serve the approaching term. She was vice president last year.

Qualifying her for the honor was her activity in the club, community and her church and spending many hours with her family doing what is best for her children.

She has been a member of Young Mothers for two years and has two small sons, Richard 8 and Steven 5. Richard plays Little League Baseball and is a Cub Scout. Mrs. Spears says she enjoys getting out and playing baseball with them. She is den mother for Richard's scout troop No. 5 and particularly enjoys sewing and baking.

The Spears reside at 126 Northwest Drive and are members of the Methodist Church.

PESA officers installed at a supper Monday

Officers to serve the Peak of the Panhandle Education Secretaries Association were installed Monday evening at a salad supper by Mrs. Mary L. Smithson, civic and church worker at Dimmitt.

Mrs. Bilye Gwynn Davis, secretary of North Elementary School in Dimmitt, was installed as president. Mrs. Yvonne Simpson, secretary of Hereford's Tierra Blanca Elementary School, will serve as vice president.

Position of secretary-treasurer went to Mrs. Olepha Sanders, secretary to superintendent of schools at Earth.

The buffet-style salad supper was hosted by Mmes. Simpson, Louise Leasure and Florence Robinson, all of Hereford.

Mrs. Georgia Rundell, secretary to superintendent of schools at Farwell, was officiating president for the business meeting.

Tables were covered with yellow cloths accented with yellow daisies and napkins to match.

Bruce Millers
host 35 Chi
Omega members

Thirty-five Chi Omega Sorority members from Eastern New Mexico State University were guests Friday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce L. Miller, Harrison Highway.

The annual retreat, or workshop and business meeting, was held to discuss plans for the coming year.

It was announced that the Chi Omega Sorority will construct the first sorority house at Eastern N.M. State.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:
In reference to your editorial in the Sunday Brand, I feel that it was very unfair to write about only one candidate. And his ad was indiscreetly placed next to the ballot.

But if there is any voter who can't see through your strategy, they should not be voting. I do not intend this to be a reflection on the candidate, but if he can't stand on his own merits, that's his problem.

Also, it was timely to get this slanted reporting in just before the election so no one could voice their opinions if they were not the same as yours.

Yours for a better home town newspaper, one we can point to with pride.

the Earth IS HIS

The soil is God's priceless gift to man. It is a tangible gift neither plant, animal nor man can live without. We depend on soil for just about everything. Although a mixture of dead plants, animals, rocks and other forms of life, it constantly changes through weathering to retain its perpetual productiveness. But man has upset its natural balance with tools and fire and set in motion damaging erosion. Americans are guilty, and that's what we've got to stop. Jeremiah said, and let us say with him, . . . "the whole land is made desolate, because no man layeth it to his heart." Then grieved Jeremiah said, "They have sown wheat, but shall reap thorns." Oh, God, let us be good Stewards of His Precious Soil, for, surely This Earth Is His.

WT gets national letter on all its grid recruits

West Texas State University's new football coaching staff has received a signed national letter of intent from each of its 30 football recruits.

The Buffalo coaches had earlier signed the players to a Missouri Valley Conference letter. The coaches made short tours May 5, on the national letter signing day, but mailed the majority of the national letters and scholarship agreements to players. Those contracts and letters have now been received back in the athletic office.

Eight of the recruits earned various all-state honors this past season.

Bruce Davis, the all-state linebacker from Odessa Permian, and Tascosa's David Herber head the list as both were named to the Class AAAA all-state team.

Davis, 6-1, 195-pounder, played for new Buffalo head coach Gene Mayfield at Odessa Permian High School. Herber is a 5-10, 190-pounder. He is the first Tascosa Rebel to be named Most Valuable Player in two sports — football and baseball. Other all-state players are tackle Gerald Chisholm, center Jim Jeffers, center Kurt Kinsinger, running back Jimmy Lisle, running back Johnny Jackson, and quarterback Robert Edwards.

Jeffers, 6-2, 206-pounder, earned all-state honors in New Mexico for state champion Hobbs. Kinsinger, 6-0, 182-pounder, played center and linebacker at Liberal, Kan., and was second team all-state.

Lisle was a two-year all-state running back for Rule. The 6-1, 187-pounder won the Class B 100 and 220-yard dashes at the state meet last week. He has a 9.7 clocking in the 100 to his credit.

Edwards, 6-1 and 165, was the Class B all-state quarterback for Sundown. Chisholm, 6-5 and 220, was second team Class A all-state for Sudan and Jackson, who scored 44 touchdowns in his career at Kress High School, was named to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram's Class A all-state defensive team.

Most of the other signees earned all-district and all-regional honors at their level of play.

Kenneth Sellers, who was signed as a split end, is considered a top prospect. The 6-1, 170 pounder ran the 440-yard dash in 47.7 and led Crowell to the Class A state championship last week. His 47.7 in the 440 came at the regional meet earlier in Lubbock and he ran 7.9 to win the quarter at Austin.

Vega's Ronnie Fangman, who earned all-district honors two years before this past season, also competed last week in Austin. He placed second in the hurdles. Fangman, 6-3, 195-pounder, missed the final five games this past football season with an injury.

Three other players, besides Edwards, were signed as quarterbacks. They are Mike Wartes of Hereford, Canyon's Swatzel and Fletcher Fuhrman of Independence, Iowa. Wartes, son of the head Hereford High School coach Larry Wartes, was an all-district performer.

Fangman, Lisle and Jackson are joined in the backfield by Lance Copeland of Yorba Linda, Calif., Scott Hindman of Borger and Juan Garza of Alamo. Copeland, who was signed before Mayfield and his staff came to West Texas, is 6-0, 195 and runs the 40-yard dash in 4.7. Hindman is 5-11 and 175. Garza is the younger brother of Buffalo placement kicker Matias Garza. Juan is also a kicker.

Like Davis, Gary Weaver, Don Field and Don White played for Mayfield at Permian High, where then Panthers reached the Class AAAA state finals this past year. Weaver, 6-0 and 179, is a linebacker. White earned all-district honors at center and Field is a 6-0, 210-pound defensive tackle.

Rankin's William Routh (5-10 1/2, 195) was signed as an offensive guard. Henry Hamilton, 6-3, 180-pounder, earned all-district honors at center for Killeen High School.

John Lewis, 6-2 and 190, of Canyon is an offensive and a defensive end. Merced Solis (6-2, 195) from Mission was signed as a tight end.

Spearman's Ronnie Lusby (6-0, 215) Bill Bridge (6-0, 205) or Andrews, Kenny Donathan (6-1, 195) of Vega and Lubbock Monterey's Jim Hart (6-2, 210) all earned all-district honors as tackles last fall. Other tackles signed are Barry Broadway and Ben Bentley, both 6-3 and 200-pounders from Panhandle, and Billy Smith (6-3, 198) of San Angelo.

Cole Fraley, one of the state's blue chip running backs two years ago, has also signed with the Buffaloes, but will lay out next fall and be eligible for three varsity seasons.

Fraley (6-2 and 208) signed last summer with the University of Texas, but decided not to play football. He attended Texas Tech this year and decided to continue his football playing.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. C.B. Schafer Jr., Ann Arbor, Mich., was throwing food to the polar bears at the Toledo zoo when her wedding band slipped off and sailed into an almost empty moat at the bear island.

Supervisor Leonard Romans and other zoo workers rigged a scraper device used to clean animal cages. The ring was snagged just as a big male bear spotted it.

Weed control research paving way to more profitable sugar beet production

Weed control studies over a seven year period have shown that using mechanical equipment is the best method of controlling careless weeds in young sugar beets. Batanal, a new postemergence herbicide, tested for 2 years has given good control of both small grass weeds and careless weeds when applied to sugar beets that have at least 2 or 3 leaves. This herbicide may be able to supplement mechanical tools for controlling weeds in young sugar beets. Treflan and Etam give excellent weed control when used on free sugar beets are treated at layby. Treflan will control weeds for the remainder of the season, and may injure sorghum next spring. Eptam has a shorter residual and may not control weeds for the entire season. Preplant application of Ro-Neet may help control volunteer sorghum that emerges with the sugar beets.

Weed control studies in sugar beets were started in 1964 by Dr. A.F. Wiese, Texas A&M University, located at the USDA Research Center at Bushland, and have been conducted on farmers fields at Plainview, Dumas, Wildorado, Bushland and Dalhart, and at the research centers at Bushland and Pantex. In the past 4 years most weed control research work has been at the Holly Sugar Corporation farm in cooperation with Paul Scott, Agronomist.

Herbicides applied and incorporated prior to planting and irrigation have not given satisfactory weed control. In one trial Ro-Neet gave satisfactory control of volunteer sorghum. Some weed control was obtained with preplant incorporated herbicides if the application date was later than April 15. Apparently, warm weather increased toxicity of the herbicides to weeds. Outstanding weed control has been obtained with injection of Eptam at the time of planting. However, some sugar beet injury occurred and the manufacturer decided against labeling the product for this use.

Preemergence application of herbicides after planting without incorporation has not given weed control. In West Texas, sugar beets are furrow irrigated for emergence. This germinates the weeds but herbicides remain useless on the soil surface.

Many chemicals have been tested for controlling emerged weeds in young sugar beets. Out of approximately 50 herbicides tested, none have proven completely satisfactory. Pyramin has controlled broadleaf weeds in young sugar beets occasionally, however, if the weeds have formed true leaves or the soil is dry, this herbicide is not effective. In the last three years, a new herbicide called Batanal has proven more satisfactory than herbicides previously tested. In 1969, when weeds and grass were 1-inch tall, 1 pound per acre of this herbicide gave about 75 per cent, consequently, this herbicide offers some possibility for 1971 in fields where weeds are not controlled adequately by mechanical means.

The best weed control procedure developed in seven years of study is the application of Treflan and Eptam at thinning. These herbicides can be applied over the top of the crop, but must be incorporated into the soil to be effective. Eptam is very volatile and must be applied and incorporate with the same operation. Treflan will control weeds for the remainder of the season. If this treatment is used it is advisable to delay sorghum planting the next year until after May 15. Increased safety to sorghum can be achieved by plowing the soil to dilute the herbicide. Eptam is a short residual herbicide and two applications may be required to maintain the field weed-free during the rest of the growing season.

Weed control studies for 1971 are located in a field just east of the Holly Sugar Plant. Studies are underway to evaluate the effect of furrow or sprinkler irrigation on preplant herbicides. Additional studies are underway to determine feasibility of following preplant injected herbicide treatments with a combination of postemergence herbicides and cultivation. Another study is underway to evaluate several new postemergence herbicides at two stages of sugar beet and weed growth. A final experiment is underway to determine the earliest possible time to apply and incorporate Treflan and Eptam in emerged beets. Results of these studies will be available in August from the Bushland Research Center or Holly Sugar Company.

4-Hers raise funds through chocolate sale

Deaf Smith County 4-H members will be calling on local citizens this week to purchase a bar of World's Finest Chocolate as a part of a statewide effort to raise funds for a Texas 4-H educational center.

Mrs. A.E. Hodges, local 4-H leader who is heading the county sales campaign, said the county sales goal is 15 bars per 4-H member. The bars will sell for $1 each.

"A state 4-H Center is badly needed," said Juston McBride, county agriculture agent. "Since the Texas 4-H program does not own any type of training or camping facility, the proposed center is being developed by the Texas 4-H Foundation."

The cost of the project is expected to be about $1 million and will accommodate about 175 people. The center will be a focal point for camping-type programs, 4H leader training, citizenship seminars, leadership training labs, international 4-H activities, project training and other Extension Service activities.

When not in use by 4-H members, the center will be available to other groups with educational programs.

"While the 4-H'ers themselves make their contribution, a statewide development council composed of business leaders will help raise the balance of the funds," McBride said.

DRIFTING BOTTLES

SYDNEY — Two message-carrying bottles launched by Japanese school children came ashore in Australia after drifting perhaps 6,000 miles in less than 14 months.

The identical bottled messages said they were launched by the Sea Science Club of Yaizu High School, Japan, and that the children were doing a special project on tidal currents.

One bottle was picked up on Gerrigong Beach, 80 miles south of Sydney, the other at nearby Mollmook Beach.

Mankind and their Country. A reading, "I Am The Nation," was given by Mrs. Holt. Others present for the luncheon were Mmes. Jack Gilliland, G.T. Downing, Tom Harkey, J.J. Durham, Roy V. Smith, L.W. Norvell and Stan Knox.

WESTGATE PARTY HOSTESSES — Hostesses helping with the Saturday afternoon birthday party at Westgate, hosted by the entire Wyche Home Demonstration Club, were from the left, Mrs. C. F. Newsom, Mrs. Wayne Jones and Mrs. L. B. Worthan. Eight Westgate residents were honored for a total of 708 years.

The serving table was laid with white lace cloth over pink. An arrangement of spring flowers flanked by pink candles in glass holders centered the table.

Pink carnation corsages were worn by members of the house-party.

The honoree wore a hot pink lace over satin frock which she made.

Approximately 110 guests called or sent gifts.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Earl Huckabee and Mrs. John Rowland and Sheri, Jeffrey and Shelley from Dumas; Mrs. Ben Old of Amarillo; Mrs. Dennis Francis, Clovis; and Mrs. Marvin Crowson, Kingston, Jamaica.

'Upper-level' colleges can absorb student increases

TYLER — When students began to pour from Texas high schools and hit college campuses in record numbers five years ago, it presented a terrific challenge to Texas, the chairman of the Coordinating Board for Texas Colleges and Universities said Saturday night.

The enrollment ballooned from 316,000 in 1965, when the Coordinating Board was created, to 438,000 last fall. It still is expanding at a rate of almost 53,000 students each two years.

But the state met that problem head-on through a fast-expanding junior college system, attorney Wayne Thomas of Hereford added. Now another innovation is in the works to make sure Texas continues to comfortably absorb the enrollment increase. In a dinner speech after a Coordinating Board meeting in Tyler Saturday, Thomas went into detail about a series of "upper-level" colleges being planned across the state that will offer junior and senior courses to area students, most of whom will be graduates of nearby junior colleges.

"I think the whole concept is really pretty exciting. I think it is the most exciting thing the Coordinating Board has fostered since its inception," Thomas added.

The upper level institution will be different from the traditional four-year institution, Thomas said, in that each one is being planned with the idea of receiving students from the community colleges in its immediate area, using methods and materials which relate specifically to the local situation. All are in high population areas or in areas not close to any state-supported four-year college.

"Since the upper-level institution is designed primarily for local students, it is basically a commuter college and will require few, if any, residence halls," the Coordinating Board chairman said.

"It's going to be a different type of institution, with no dormitories, no freshmen or sophomores. It should be an academically climate lending itself to some real rich experiences," he said.

The Texas Legislature already has approved Coordinating Board recommendations for two such schools at Dallas and Midland-Odessa, which will be called UT-Dallas and UT-Permian Basin. The board recently asked also for upper level institutions in Tyler, Corpus Christi, Houston, Texarkana & Victoria, as well.

Those seven are all that are envisioned so far, Thomas said. But as the junior college system continues to expand — there are 42 junior colleges now and the board hopes eventually to have 82 in Texas — new upper level facilities would be opened to take students from the "feeder" junior colleges.

"Economy plays a large role in this. We will be providing a senior college at the least cost to both the state and student, yet we would maintain a level of excellence in the process." Existing buildings are being utilized in many instances.

Several of the upper level colleges will be operated as branches of existing four-year colleges.

The upper level concept has been tested for the past year at Laredo, with Texas A&I providing instructors for junior and senior courses in teachers' education and business administration on the Laredo Junior College campus. Some 350 students enrolled the past year, and the response from Texas A&I personnel and from a sampling of the students "is overwhelming," Thomas said. The program will be continued next year, with a probability that the variety of courses will eventually be increased, he added.

Program given in three parts at H.D. meeting

Mrs. Gene Bradley was hostess for a Friday afternoon Messenger Home Demonstration Club meeting when Argen Draper gave a three-part program on floor care, sewing lingerie and making a nine-piece baby diaper.

"To remove old wax from linoleum floors I best recommend Bruce floor cleaner," she said. "Or just as good is three capsful of vinegar in your mop water pail."

Roll call was answered with "My Biggest Household Problem" and opening exercise, a true and false game, was won by Mrs. Draper.

Mrs. S.N. Thweatt gave a council report and a nominating committee was selected. They are Mmes. Thweatt, Bradley and N.A. Brown.

President Mrs. Bill Page was presented a hand-sewn quilt by members for her service to the club during the past two and one half years.

Plans were made for an ice cream and cake birthday party for John Garnett, a member's husband, this Saturday.

Mrs. Tom DeShazo will host the May 28 meeting it was announced.

Others present were Mmes. Leo Webb, A.P. Hagan, Elmer Northcutt and John Garnett.

CAR THIEVES NABBED
NEW YORK — A police sergeant and a detective were watching when three car thieves walked over to a new Cadillac at JFK airport. The thieves removed from an attaché case a lock punch, checked the chart listing manufacturers' key codes then fashioned a key on their key making equipment. Then they placed a ready-made sticker on the rear license plate.

When they finished they were arrested.

In the first three months of 1971 police reported 107 cars were stolen from the airport.

UNTIMELY END
SYDNEY (AP)—Frank Carberry, Australian sportsman, was killed when his auto hit a tree at Dead Man's Creek in the outer suburb of Heathcote.

Carberry, 72, was chairman of Tattersalls Club and president of the New South Wales Swimming Association. He was a former Australian champion backstroke swimmer.

"There are no athletes in the foxholes," is a quote attributed to Williams T. Cummings on Bataan in 1942.
