A teacher finds satisfaction in working with retarded

BY MARKI McBRIDE

The new teacher of the Satellite School knelt beside a low table in a room with yellow walls and orange-striped curtains. Children drinking juice and eating cookies surrounded her.

At the table, knee-high to the teacher, a little girl with big brown eyes, dark brown hair, and rosyplump cheeks looked at her teacher and gave her a big smile.

"Thank you," the child said, as she took another cookie. The scene in the nursery of First Christian Church was little different from any other morning nursery hour, except that these children were mentally retarded.

The teacher is Agatha Cardinal. She took on the frustration and the satisfaction of working with Hereford mentally retarded children June 1. She previously had babysitted in her home for numerous children, including a few who were mentally retarded.

The previous teacher, Maxine Thompson resigned. The board offered Mrs. Cardinal the job and she accepted, going right to work after attending an in-service training session at the Amarillo State Service for Human Development.

Mrs. Cardinal has a morning class for nine pre-schoolers and an afternoon class for six older children. All are below the level required even to get onto the special education program operated by the public school. Whenever a student "graduates" into a public school program, Satellite School officials are happy they have helped a child.

The Satellite program consists of field trips; swimming, to help in body coordination; lessons in recognition of objects and animals; games, to teach group cooperation; and job training, to teach how to handle money.

Working with retarded children can create depression and confusion plus impatience.

Mrs. Cardinal feels she has acquired the necessary patience by years of babysitting.

"I can't get angry at these children, because they don't know right from wrong like normal youngsters do," Mrs. Cardinal said.

Like anyone else, she experiences depression when working with the retarded, but it hasn't been a major problem for her.

"By faith in a God I understand and dwelling on the good of a situation, not the bad, I can overcome a depressed feeling," she said.

"There are so many rewards and accomplishments in my line of work. The slightest note of progress in a child is rewarding. These many accomplishments overpower the bad times. I have to give of myself. When there are good things being done, I can't sit back uninvolved. I have to give in order to keep the things that are good," Mrs. Cardinal said.

Thirty teen-age volunteers, some of whom have been trained at the Amarillo State center, are assisting Mrs. Cardinal.

Satellite is a branch of the Amarillo State Service for Human Development, operating on local contributions. Bruce Coleman heads an advisory board which handles the financial arrangements.

Mrs. Cardinal was born in Santa Fe, N. M. and moved to Hereford when she was 3. She has lived here most of her life, except for summers spent in Colorado, where her father operated a dude ranch.

She and her husband, Lonnie, have three children—Ervin, 11, Kris, 9, and Kerrie, 6. When she isn't teaching or looking after her family, she likes to knit or crochet.

Working with retarded children has always been a part of Mrs. Cardinal's life, whether in the home or at school.

"I love my job, and it is wonderful to see a child progressing. The school provides the opportunity for a child to get out into the public, no longer hidden from the world as he once was. He can learn how to contribute something to society, for he is human just like the rest of us," Mrs. Cardinal said.

Elderly housing plan proposed

A 150-unit housing project for the elderly that would be controlled by a local housing authority has been proposed for Hereford by an out-of-town concern.

The final decision on the project rests in the hands of the city commission to approve and make appointment to the housing board. This is expected to be discussed at the commission's next meeting on Monday.

Dudley Bayne, city manager, said the project, if it is approved, will be located near the downtown area and will be of better quality "than anything we have seen along this line."

Bayne said the project probably will be three or four story units made of fire proof brick and furnished with air conditioning and complete kitchen appliances. The cost of the project, he said, would be estimated at about $1.5 million.

"The people have already got an option on the land in the central part of town," Bayne said. "This is one of the stipulations of the project, that it be located in or near an area of churches, parks, and businesses so the elderly, if they have to, can walk to these places."

Persons eligible to live in the units will be limited to those 62 years of age and older and possibly those who are handicapped. These people will be required to pay rent but this is partially subsidized by the federal government.

The elderly will be required to pay for maintenance, taxes, and utilities on the units.

"This," Bayne said, "is probably the best program, federal-wise, we have ever seen for housing the elderly.

"This five-man board will be appointed by the city and will be composed of local people. These people will be the controlling factor on how it is managed and it will set the rules and regulations and rent."

The members of the board will not be paid.

"The project will be of no benefit to the city other than from the standpoint of taxes, but there are probably a lot of elderly people who will benefit. There are probably a lot of them who want to get rid of their homes and away from the upkeep of yards and get into something like this," he said.

"This will be a beautiful thing—landscaped with lots of parking space."

The proposed project here is similar to several that are being built across the state by the same firm. The firm that is constructing the units are allowed to receive only 8 per cent profit of the construction cost and is then put out of the picture. The project then is under the direction of the housing board.

70TH YEAR — NO. 24

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY

Price says he wanted to keep us

Cong. Bob Price expressed regret Wednesday that the Texas Legislature removed Hale, Lamb, Bailey, Farmer, Castro, and Deaf Smith Counties from his district. But he assured residents of that area of his continued interest in their problems.

"These southwestern Panhandle counties will still be in the 18th District until January, 1973, and I plan to continue to render the same service to residents of the six counties that will be leaving my district as I have in the past," Price said.

Price said his district representative, Charles Lanehart, will continue to be in all the counties of the 18th District, with the exception of Hale, Potter and Gray where district offices are located on a monthly basis.

"I will personally continue to visit all the present counties of the 18th District as frequently as possible and look forward to seeing my many friends," Price said.

Look for higher taxes, new board suggests

Hospital Board members expressed pessimism this week about the prospect of combined county and hospital district taxes this year being kept below county taxes of the past year.

The rising cost of providing hospital care to those who say they are unable to pay probably will necessitate levying taxes for that purpose and rule out any chances that, overall, John Q. Hereford will pay less taxes over the next year.

L. J. Strafuss and Tommy Carnahan led a move to keep the hospital district taxes as low as possible, particularly in the first year of the district's existence. If for no other reason, Deaf Smith County voters were led to believe that formation of a hospital district would result in lower taxes, they said.

"I don't know if you noticed," said Strafuss, at the hospital board's Tuesday morning meeting, "but four precincts (out of 11) voted against the hospital district."

"Because they thought it would raise their taxes," added Carnahan.

Dr. J. H. McCrary said then, "It will raise their taxes. . . We didn't say taxes wouldn't go up. As I understand, we say we probably wouldn't be able to decrease costs but we would have less of an increase. Taxes have to go up."

The county commissioners reduced the county tax rate from 24 to 22 per cent of 100 per cent valuation Monday, because money assessed in past years for hospital maintenance and retirement of three hospital and issues will from now on be handled by hospital district taxes. The reduction will mean county taxes will be about $85,000 less next year.

"But the county apparently has not cut the total taxes enough even to offset the interest and sinking requirements," hospital administrator T. E. Seigler said. "It has been our hope that the total of both could be less." He said he feels the only way for the hospital to meet the rising charity costs and still keep taxes down is to raise hospital room rates.

The new county budget includes some new programs not covered a year ago. The major items are about $4,000 more for salary in the changeover from county to district attorney, $2,000 more for DA secretary's salary, $2,500 more for books for the law library and about $21,000 for a bond issue to widen U. New man hired for Chamber job

A 30-year-old Oklahoman, one of only seven persons in the state to be named to the "Outstanding Young Men in America" list for 1971, was hired by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Wednesday to become its new executive vice president.

He is Jim Lindsey, who has headed the Durant, Okla., chamber for the past two years. He succeeds Bill Thompson, who resigned in May to become executive vice president of the Leavenworth, Kan., Chamber of Commerce.

The hiring Wednesday culminated a search of several weeks for a new chamber executive. He impressed local persons with his enthusiasm, apparent leadership and ability to meet people.

He was to resign at Durant Wednesday and remain there through July 15, taking over here on July 19.

Lindsey, who is married and has a 5-year-old daughter, was an all-state quarterback at Tipton, Okla., High School in 1958 and played four years at Southwestern State College in Weatherford, Okla., as a split end. He is 6-foot-3, 185 pounds.

He is president of the booster club in Durant, an officer in the Durant Jaycees, a director of Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce Executives, a member of the Durant Lions Club and a member of Durant Country Club.

He was state vice president of Young Democrats in 1961, state director in the Jaycees in 1968. Prior to becoming Durant Chamber executive in January 1969, he was sales manager of KTOW Radio in Sands Springs, Okla., for two years. The three years before that, he was personnel director for Westinghouse Air Brake Co., Enid, Okla.

He has his honorable discharge from the military service.

Lindsey said in a telephone interview Wednesday morning he is "real enthused" about the Hereford job.

"I might say this, I'm really looking forward to this job in Hereford. I hope we can all work together and build a better place to work and make a living," Lindsey said.

He came to Hereford last

JIM LINDSEY . . . new chamber executive weekend to look over the community and talk with the Chamber directors in charge of recommending a new executive. The tornado siren went off on both Friday and Saturday, the two days he was here, but apparently that didn't deter him.

"I think there's no question that Hereford's growth potential is outstanding," Lindsey said. "I see some things that need to be done, I'm not sure what the needs are right now, but we need to get together and work things out."

One of his first priorities when he arrives will be to "get out and meet everyone." Then, he said, he wants to get busy on the possibility of putting together an industrial team and bringing new industry to the area.

Lindsey reportedly was a major force behind the recent acquisition of a LeTourneau plant at Durant. LeTourneau specializes in heavy machinery.

He is married to the former Dianne Lee Rose of Tulsa. She is an elementary teacher, and inquiries have been made about the possibility of her teaching in the local school system this fall. Their daughter's name is Brenda Rose.

WHEAT HARVEST — Mark Koenig, left, manager of Farmers Corner elevator, watches as Carl Strafus unloads the elevator's first load of wheat. This was the first load delivered at Farmers Corner. Strafus, who farms 14 miles north of Hereford, delivered the load Monday.

Area wheat harvest starts

Harvest on the Panhandle's worst wheat crop since 1956 is expected to get into full swing here this week according to Leo Witkowski, president of the Texas Wheat Growers Association.

Witkowski said some wheat already has been harvested in the eastern portions of the county. This has been irrigated wheat and yields are expected to average about 45 to 50 bushels.

"Dryland just won't make it though," he said. "There probably will be some with 10 to 15 bushels on dryland, but most of it won't even be cut."

Witkowski said most of the dryland will average about six to eight bushels but this will probably just be enough to pay the expenses or allow the farmers to break even.

Based on June 1 prospects, Texas wheat production is forecast at 29,298,000 bushels according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

Bradshaw, Patton plan special clinics

Terry Bradshaw, professional footballer, and Debbie Patton, Miss Teenage America, will conduct special clinics Tuesday before their appearance that night for Encounter '71.

Also, free baby sitting will be available to parents who wish to attend any of the crusade services, Sunday through Thursday at 8 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium.

Nurseries will be open each evening at the First Methodist,

First Christian, First Baptist and Avenue Baptist churches, and at the Day Care Center.

Children left at the nurseries will be under the supervision of trained attendants.

Bradshaw will conduct a football clinic for boys 13 and under. The clinic will be from 2 to 3 p. m. Tuesday at Whiteface Stadium.

Miss Patton will conduct a charm clinic the same day, from 2 to 3 p. m. at the Community Center. The charm clinic is sponsored by the Hereford cheerleaders and is open to girls 18 and under.

Miss Patton and Bradshaw will appear as the featured guests that night for the crusade then will be hosted at a special reception at 9:15 p. m. in the La Plata Junior High gymnasium. Bradshaw and Miss Patton will sign autographs and answer questions.

Refreshments will be served.

The crusade, the first interdenominational crusade of its kind in this area, will feature a well-known performer each night. Sunday, the opening night of the crusade, will feature Dale Evans, followed on Monday night by Tom Lester of television's "Green Acres."

Bradshaw and Miss Patton will be on hand Tuesday, followed by Vonda Kay Van Dyke, former Miss America, on Wednesday. Paul Anderson, "world's strongest man," will be the guest on the final night of the crusade.

Dr. Gerald Mann, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will deliver the message each evening.

A special committee of counselors will be at the crusade each night to meet with persons who announce a decision for Christ. This committee has been trained especially for this work of the crusade.

Small talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Womens Editor

IT SURPRISED me lately when a young friend from another city, planning to be married during this month of brides, said sensibly but regretfully that she and her fiancé had decided it was best to just go to a justice of the peace for the wedding.

They didn't want to spend all their money and go in debt for a "real wedding," she continued, since they are still in college, earning their own way. Her mother, a widow with slender resources and younger children, could not afford and did not have space for even a home wedding.

Since she seemed to feel that a civil ceremony was not what she wanted for her wedding, I surprised her in turn by asking why they didn't simply go to the pastor's study at her church to be married, or ask the minister to marry them in the college chapel, or even come to her mother's home with only the immediate family in the small living room.

LABOR TROUBLES
CALCUTTA — Labor troubles forced 14 factories to close in the past year in West Bengal state, the state's labor minister Krishnapada Ghosh told the state assembly. The factories employed 7,371 workers, he said. Earlier, members had complained that during the one-year rule of the Communist deomiated state government labor troubles had forced many factories to close.

Grass mite poses threat to area grain sorghum crop

The No. 1 threat to Texas' No. 1 grain crop, grain sorghum, may well be the Banks grass mite in 1971 because of its growing resistance to formerly effective chemical treatment.

This pesky mite is posing the latest and most serious threat among the many pest problems which put a big management load on growers.

Texas Tech University entomology Prof. Charles R. Ward said the mite problem is aggravated by necessary greenbug control. Greenbugs attack emerging plants, and although these insects can be destroyed by chemicals, the process causes Banks grass mites to build up resistance to the chemicals formerly useful in their control.

When the mites follow the greenbugs into the field this year, there is evidence that they could wield a "free reign," Dr.

Ward said.

The mites suck juices from the plant. Where water is limited, the plants go into severe water stress which weakens them and makes them more susceptible to disease. At harvest, extensive lodging may occur—both as the result of the mite attack and the harvest difficult.

The solution, according to Ward, could lie in a combination chemical and biological control program.

In looking for a new control, Ward pointed out that alternative chemicals must be found that can be registered for use on grain sorghum or corn. Registration is under the control of the federal Environmental Protection Agency which requires that the chemicals be effective, constitute no public health hazard, leave a residue at harvest that is within an established tolerance limit and do not cause bad side effects.

"New chemicals will have to be found," Ward said, "but it is important to look at some of the known predators of the Banks grass mite because these could offer additional biological control possibilities."

"Chemical control is only a temporary measure to reduce mite damage until alternate, more effective and, in the long run, cheaper methods of control can be developed."

Ward added that sorghum producers need to look also at the sugarcane rootstock weevil, although it is not as dangerous to this year's crop as the Banks grass mite. Because this insect has only recently been discovered in large numbers on the Texas Plains, reasonable recommendations for control cannot be made because chemical control data for this area are not available, he explained.

"In regard to this insect," he said, "insecticide screening tests are desperately needed so that data will be available on which to base proper recommendations."

Ward also proposed that weevil populations be monitored on a continuing basis, so that some advance warnings of any large infestation might be afforded producers during the coming season.

The entomology section of Texas Tech's College of Agricultural Sciences, he said, also is concerned with developing the life history and habits of the weevil in West Texas in order to understand better any future problems it may cause.

Although other pests affect sorghum harvests, Ward said, they are not as critical this year as the Banks grass mite and the sugarcane rootstock weevil.

In addition to the troublesome greenbug and the corn leaf aphid, the corn earworm and the southwestern corn borer may increase as the corn acreage is increased, he said. Stinkbug infestations may depend more upon the maturity date of forage crops. In the case of false chinch bugs, the proximity of pasture land to the grain sorghum crop is a factor.

Ward and others in the entomology section of the Department of Park Administration, Horticulture and Entomology have worked with pest controls for grain sorghum since 1961 and have had particular success with their studies on the grain sorghum midge. Their research has been conducted not only in West Texas but as far away as Argentina and Hawaii.

The height of happiness — that's when you glance down after spotting the highway patrol radar check and note that you're under the speed limit.

—HB—

Crops locally are looking real good in spite of the fact that we have had little moisture, but one needs only to drive a hundred miles south to see what effect the drouth has really had on Texas. Many, many cotton farmers in the Lamesa, Seagraves, Seminole area are just now getting their cotton out of the ground and many more apparently have not been successful in getting a stand. There is irrigation in that area but the trouble has been with the blowing sand. Many fields which had been plowed — and we assume, planted — recently, were covered in spots with the blowing sand. And it's getting a little late to plant cotton even there.

The folks in the Dawson and Gaines County areas had expected to plant a record number of acres to cotton this year due to changes in the farm program, but as is true so often in West Texas, the weather didn't cooperate.

Of course, there is a lot more cotton grown down there than milo, but from the reports we have had recently, milo production in all these counties and throughout central and south-eastern Texas will be down considerably. This fact could mean better prices for the milo grown in this area however, and will probably be a boon to the local irrigation farmers. Our own dryland areas will produce very little although some early maturing varieties may have been planted in the last couple of weeks — depending on where the moisture fell.

It seems though, that we've had more wind than rain recently and it would be a little presumptuous to say the drouth has been broken.

Since Harry Truman referred to the 82nd as the do-nothing-Congress, we cannot remember a time when there was as little rapport between Congress and the administration as now exists. And maybe it's, good. Regardless, we note that the present House passed a $5.5-billion economic-development bill and sent it to President Nixon in spite of the fact that many close to the administration believe it will be vetoed.

The roll-call vote that completed congressional action was 275 to 104, with 65 Republicans joining 210 Democrats in ignoring the statement that the measure is "totally and wholly unacceptable to the administration."

It will be interesting to see what happens. Sometimes we think a threatened veto is nothing more than a lot of talk to get the administration off the hook with those voters who think the government is spending entirely too much money, and still get it spent to satisfy those who are in favor.

—HB—

Well, it appears that the pendulum is swinging back the other way, with the big banks raising their prime interest rates again. The latest, the Bank of California, has raised its prime lending rate to 6 per cent from 5%. Others will surely follow.

We're not sure what this will do to those of us who have to pay the "not-so-prime" interest rate, and frankly, we're afraid to ask.

Sometimes, we're told, people in the social swim take high dives.

PRESSURE PUTT — Earl Stagner congratulates his partner, Don Martin, center, for a birdie putt of two feet on No. 1 that gave the pair the second-flight championship last weekend in the Hereford Partnership Golf Tournament. Martin hit a six-iron stiff to the pin and sank the birdie for a sudden death triumph over Jerry Hodges, right, and Dorven King. The two teams were tied after 36 holes at 143, one stroke over par.

GOLF CHAMPS — Gary Fletcher of Canyon signs the scorecard that at-tests to the 15-under-par 128 he and partner Bill Glenn, left, of Dimmitt shot last weekend in Hereford's Partnership Golf Tournament. Carroll Mc-Donald of Hereford, who played with Joe Kerr of Hereford in the same foursome Sunday, looks on. Kerr-McDonald tied for fourth at 136, six under par.

Genie Robbins attends Girls State meet

Genie Robbins, daughter of the Frank Robbins, left Tuesday to attend the 27th session of Girls State, on the Texas Lutheran College campus, at Seguin.

A record enrollment of 489 girls, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, are participating in actual do-it-yourself political program. Political parties are formed, cities are governed, and state officials are elected.

The elected officials of Girls State will be sworn in during ceremonies at noon Monday, in the rotunda of the State Capitol.

Besides inaugural ceremonies the girls will tour the capitol building, archives and other government buildings in Austin.

Prominent speakers from local, state, and national governmental posts address the citizens throughout the program. U. S. Sen. John Tower, will address the girls Friday.

Key education figure PRPC issue makes Hereford visit rises again

The commissioners of the State Coordinating Board for Higher Education met with Wayne Thomas, chairman of the board, in Hereford Monday about policy matters for the coming year.

Dr. Bevington Reed arrived in Hereford at 11 a. m. Monday, visited with Thomas right through the noon hour and was walking out of the office less than two and one-half hours later to return to Austin.

"I thought it was necessary for the chairman of our board and the commissioner, at this point of time, to go over proposed changes in the Texas Opportunity Plan loan program. That was the main thing," Dr. Reed said in a short interview while here.

The Coordinating Board gave Thomas and Reed the authority to work with the federal government in determining what changes in the loan program will be necessary to get the federal government to insure loans under the Hinson-Hazlewood Loan Act.

The proposed changes agreed upon by Dr. Reed, and Thomas Monday will be refined in the coming weeks and presented to the full Coordinating Board at its July 14 meeting in Austin in the form of a recommended change.

"This matter of federal insurance is a major step in the Texas Opportunity Plan," Thomas said.

The Texas Legislature recently granted the Coordinating Board the right to seek federal insurance of the loans. Dr. Reed said the insurance of loans, which would put it upon the federal government to follow through to see that loans are repaid, is almost as important as the loan program itself. It is necessary to have a successful program, he said.

Among the matters Dr. Reed and Thomas discussed was the Legislature's recent move to help private colleges. It passed a tuition equalization program to make possible a grant of up to $600 for needy students who wish to attend private colleges.

"The staff of the Coordinating Board has been working with an advisory committee made up of some of the private college presidents and the financial aid advisers of five private colleges to design a set of rules and regulations under which this program could be operated," Dr. Reed said.

The proposed guidelines will be submitted for the approval of the full board.

"We anticipate this matter will be on the July agenda of

Out-of-town duo takes golf title

Gary Fletcher of Canyon, operating a red-hot putter, teamed with Bill Glenn of Dimmitt last weekend for a 14-under-par 128 that carried them to an easy victory in the championship flight of the Hereford Partnership Golf Tournament.

Hereford teams won the second and fourth flights, but out-of-town golfers took home the prize money in the championship, first and third flights.

Fletcher and Glenn shot identical 64s in their Saturday and Sunday rounds. They took a one-stroke lead into Sunday's play but widened the margin over Jimmy Cash and Ken Hicks by two more strokes on the final day. Cash and Hicks, both of Amarillo, finished second at 131.

Ken Bailey and Hack Cogburn of Amarillo were third with 67-66-133, with Hereford's Carroll McDonald and Joe Kerr tying for fourth at 66-70-136.

Don Martin hit a 6-iron to within two feet of the cup and then sank his putt for a birdie that gave him and Earl Stagner the second flight championship in a sudden-death playoff with Dorven King and Jerry Hodges.

Both Hereford teams had deadlocked, with one-over-par 143a after the regulation 36 holes.

Rocky Lee and Roland Hairgrove of Hereford won the fourth flight title, also in sudden death. Lee sank a birdie putt on the first extra hole to provide his team with the first place money, over Jasper Peebles and Stanley Gardner of Dumars.

Both teams were at 11-over-par 153 after 36 holes.

The first flight went to Skip Martz and Jerry Barrett of Amarillo (133) and the third flight to Ron Mills and Jerry Jacobs of Canyon (146).

First place was worth $92.50

The simmering issue of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission was brought back to life Monday when representatives of the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation board met with the county commission to get its opinion of the organization.

The commissioners, who earlier this year turned thumbs down on the PRPC, told the conservation board they felt it would be a mistake to join the governmental planning body but suggested the board contact its superiors and other high government officials to "get their thinking" on the subject.

Gerald McCathern, president of the conservation board, told the commissioners his board is not wholeheartedly sold on the PRPC, but the time might come when all the board's grants must come through the commission.

"We have ideas it might be beneficial to us to join," McCathern said, "but we are just trying to educate ourselves as to what it is and what it will be in the future. We feel the time might come when we will be forced to go through this commission to get our grants, whether in merchandise to each partner in fourth flight and $100 each in the four other flights. Merchandise prizes also went to other places.

e like it or not. "And we feel we would be in a better position if this day does come, to be a part of the planning commission. That way we would be in a position to vote and have a say-so," he said.

A representative of the PRPC visited recently with the Soil and Water Conservation board to see if the board would be interested in joining the organization, McCathern said the representative told the conservation board it would cost only $50 per year for it to be a member.

Both the city and county, when approached by the PRPC earlier this year, turned the proposition down. Their actions followed warnings by the PRPC that the city and county might find themselves left out in the cold without state aid if they refused.

The cost for the city and county was expected to run about $1,200 per year, based on a certain amount per capita.

"We felt they (PRPC) didn't have anything to offer that would be beneficial to the county, so that is why we turned them down," said commissioner Marcus Latham. "We didn't see where we could justify spending the taxpayers' money by joining and they couldn't show us where they could actually help us."

McCathern said the soil and water conservation board was just feeling out the possibility of joining, mainly because it was afraid if the PRPC finally did gain absolute control, it would have the authority to grant or deny any and all requests made by the local board. Though this is not the case now, McCathern said, it could happen and the conservation board would find itself without the funds for projects.

"We would need to be in it to have a vote," he said. "We have to use a little judgement on our own part."

"Are we cutting off our nose to spite our face just because some 'jack' in the commission said a few things he shouldn't have?" he said, referring to the charges that the county and city would be left out of state funding.

Commissioner Donald Hicks informed the conservation board the PRPC does not have much authority, at this point, to say whether a city, county or any other organization has the right to receive state aid for projects. He said the planning commission is on the same level with the counties and cities as far as "pull" in Austin.

"Well, if there is no power, there is no advantage for them," McCathern said. "If they had the power to recommend or turn down grants and the people in Austin listened to them, I can see where we would want to join. It would be beneficial to us."

"But, if they are no more powerful than we are, I don't see any advantage for us."

Hospital

S. 69 west of Hereford. Charity costs were $200,000 last year, which the hospital absorbed in the revenue raised by fees to patients. But salaries will be an estimated 5 per cent higher and supplies an estimated 15 per cent higher over the next year, Seigler said.

The board members said in order to keep the taxes from going up they may be forced to adopt a policy separating the charity cases into those who actually indigent and cannot afford to pay and those who are able to pay but don't.

To do that, hospital officials would have to start checking out patients to determine their ability to pay, instead of taking their word for it. Also, the hospital might start a policy of allowing only in-county charity cases, not those who come in from other counties.

"Regardless of public opinion, I think maybe we should look into the possibility of suing to collect," Seigler added.

County commissioners had considered lowering the rate to as low as 21 per cent per 100 per cent valuation, but felt this would be too low.

They said the 22 per cent rate would allow the hospital district to get along with its rate and at the same time not cause any drastic changes in the county financial needs.

"What this amounts to," said commissioner Donald Hicks. "is a 9.4 per cent reduction in county taxes from what was paid last year."

The 24 per cent tax rate of last year was based on a $60.5 million valuation on the county tax roll. This figure was reduced to $54 million for the coming year as a result of the formation of the hospital district that will not be handled by the county.

of two trucks that averaged about 58 pounds per bushel with 11.5 per cent moisture.

Wheat prices in recent weeks have been running between $1.45 and $1.40 in this area.

"It looks like it just wasn't the year for wheat," Witkowski said.

Wheat

This is the lowest production since the 1956 crop and down 46 per cent from the 54,408,000 bushels produced last year.

Yields, based on the June 1 prospects, are expected to average about 19 bushels per acre as compared with 24 bushels per acre last year. A great deal of the wheat in some sections of the state was damaged by rain, hail and wind, and this is expected to reduce production even more.

The first reported load of wheat for this county was Friday at Dawn Coop. H. R. and Ray Stewart brought in the load

All previous funds and debts held by the county regarding the county hospital, were transferred to the hospital district following the formation of the district. The hospital district will assume the responsibilities of setting its own tax rate, and all money will go to the hospital, with none going to the state, as it does in county taxes.

"The county is in real good shape," said tax officer Vance Crume. "As a matter of fact it is in better shape than a lot of other counties, taxwise."

Crume said what the actual reduction in the tax rate means is that a person who owns a $20,000 home, who was paying $73.44 a year in county taxes, now will pay only $65.12.

The total valuation of property in the county was set at $257,161,890. This gives a tax base of approximately $56 million for the county.

Army recognizes Rodney Goheen for VN efforts

Army Chief Warrant Officer Rodney G. Goheen, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Goheen, 300 Centre, recently received the Bronze Star medal while serving with the 17th Air Cavalry in Vietnam.

He was presented the Bronze Star medal for distinguishing himself through meritorious service in connection with military operations against hostile forces in Vietnam. The medal, adopted in 1944, recognizes outstanding achievement.

CWO Goheen received the award while assigned as an aviator in Troop B of the Cavalry's third squadron near Phu Lo. He holds the Air medal and the Army Commendation Medal.

State senator presides at special Mason event

Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon, the Grand Master-elect of the Masonic Lodge in Texas, came to Hereford Saturday to preside over the presentation of long-service awards to local Masons.

Hightower spoke at the Past Masters Night activities Saturday night and ate lunch with local Masons earlier in the day after driving here from Vernon.

Hightower presided over a Saturday evening ceremony in which 50-year service pens were given to James Lipscomb and Jim Black.

The Past Masters Night activities, which were open to the public, also featured the presentation of pens for 5-year service to 43 members of the local lodge.

Getting the 25-year pens were Walter Andrews, Jack Brown, Orpha Click, Herman Ford, W. R. Hair, Rufus Hutson, D. R. Holt, Mack Noland, J. B. Noland, A. Peterson, William A. Phipps, Robert L. Thompson, B. F. Cain, Tom Draper, Norman Gray and Ralph Hastings, all of Hereford.

Also, Altus Higgins, Lynn C. Kester, Burrow H. Kirby, Troy Moore, John C. McCracken, Charles T. Noland, John H. Patton, Muri A. Parker, T. E. Seigler Jr., M. H. Wiseman, Robert G. Lewis, John F. Martin, C. L. Collins, Paul Harvey, Clinton Jackson, Bernard Roberson, O. R. Sanders, P. B. Sowell, George Suggs, S. R. Suit, R.E. Wagoner, G. R. Walser and W. B. Wilson, all of Hereford.

Out-of-town lodge members similarly honored were James E. Kirby of Las Cruces, Carl D. Mountz of Plainview, Grady H. Rogers of Scottsdale, Ariz., and John R. Baird of Washington State.

Hightower, who has been in the Texas Senate the past six years, said in an interview Saturday afternoon he thought the legislators had a fairly good session, considering everything they had to do.

"Really, it is too soon to properly evaluate the work of the session.

The main problems were attacked — taxation and, of course, reapportionment. We passed a tax bill that probably was as good as could be done under the circumstances to raise that amount of money," he said.

He was disappointed the legislators left the welfare problem unresolved, but any Texas action must be preceded by action in Washington, Hightower said.

He also expressed dissatisfaction that the Texas Legislature was unable to head off an apparent continued rise in insurance payments.

"I understand there is an imminent prospect for another rate increase," he said.

Redistricting was a muddled issue, with charges of gerrymandering to take care of friends of House Speaker Gus Mutscher and to get rid of his enemies.

"I think the statements made by Delwin Jones (Lubbock representative who drew up the redistricting plan) indicated they sought to try to look after their friends," Hightower said. "I'm not sure I want to be quoted that way, but you saw the stories. Of course, that made it very hard. But traditionally, either house has not involved itself in the reapportionment of the other, leaving to each body the solutions of the problems." A Senate redistricting bill did not emerge before the session ended, which meant that remapping will be handled by a special committee. The Senate came up with a bill that appeared to have the agreement of a majority of Senators. It called for the four westernmost counties of Hightower's district — Bailey, Farmer, Lamb and Castro — to go to this Senatorial district, represented by Sen. Max Sherman. The Congressional redistricting bill that split the Panhandle into different districts also disappointed Hightower.

"Personally, I would have preferred a redistricting plan that would not have combined the 13th and 18th districts," he said. "I think a better way could have been done. It was a difficult problem because the Panhandle area has declined in population, not keeping up with the norm of the state. And the North Texas area around Wichita Falls declined."

As a result, Cong. Bob Price of Pampa and Cong. Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls will be thrown into the same district in next year's election.

Deaf Smith County was portioned into the 19th congressional district of Cong. George Mahon.

"I think the desire of the legislative leadership was to have as good a district as possible for Mahon, and this made it hard for the Price and Purcell districts to survive," he added. "Of course, I don't imagine anyone here is complaining about being in Mahon's district."

Hightower said he voted for the ethics bill passed by the Legislature, and opposed amendments that would have weakened it.

"I do not think that you can create ethics by statute, but because there are as many different concepts to ethics as there are people, it was incumbent on us to put standards to it. You can't legislate honesty, but you can put in a definition of honesty. Hopefully, it will be helpful in restoring some public faith in the government."

Night open house. Beyond him is Jim Cherry, Worshipful Master of the Hereford lodge.

Local guardsman ends training for commission

A Hereford Guardsman, Albert W. Cupell, 408 A East 3rd, is among the 118 officer-candidates now in their final phase of training in Austin which leads to commissions in the Guard.

Graduation for the class of the Texas National Guard Academy will be conducted Sunday. The ceremony will be at Camp Mabry, headquarters of the Texas Army and Air National Guard.

Cupell is a member of Company C, 2nd Battalion, 142nd Infantry, Lubbock.

The officer-course at the Texas National Guard Academy spans one year. There is a two-week initial training period and during the following months, candidates attend Saturday and Sunday monthly assemblies with the academy. The final two-week session is at Camp Mabry.

One year ago, 146 candidates officially enrolled in the course.

Mrs. Charles Atchley
nee Sue Crosthwait

Charles Atchley wed at Olney on weekend

Maella Sue Crosthwait of Garland and Charles Atchley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Atchley of Hereford, were married Saturday in a double ring ceremony in First Baptist Church at Olney by Glenn A. Crosthwait of Colorado City, brother of the bride.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Delbert L. Crosthwait of Colorado City. Atchley resides in Bryan where the couple will make their home.

The bride's father gave her away. The couple knelt before an altar decorated with candelabra and greenery.

Her empire styled gown with high neckline was made of white French mystique over taffeta with an overlay of Chantilly lace and seed pearls on the long sleeves, skirt and chapel length train.

The veil was held by a tiara of mystique and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and white mums on a white Bible.

Mrs. Lloyd Crosthwait of Garland was accompanied by Mrs. A. D. Myers of Olney as she sang Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee, I Love Thee and The Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Crosthwait also served as her sister-in-law's matron of honor. Mrs. Arnold Powell of Hereford and Mrs. Richard Stephenson of Garland were bridesmaids.

The attendances wore yellow dacron dresses with inserts of ribbon trimming the neckline. They carried nosegays of white and yellow daisies.

Cynthia Crosthwait, niece of the bride, was flowergirl. She carried a basket of the daisies.

Rodney Goheen of Hereford was best man and Ron Perry of Elsworth, Neb. and Lloyd Crosthwait were groomsmen.

Ushers were Larry Graber of Weatherford, Steve Olson and Greg Hodges, both of Hereford, and Gene Wright of Pampa.

The bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wright, were hosts in their home for the reception.

In the houseparty were Mrs. Ron Perry and Kay Atchley, sisters of the bridegroom, Mrs. Jackie Sullivan of Ft. Worth and Mrs. Donald Fox of Springtown.

Misses Shirley Crosthwait of Garland and Mrs. Jan Mahler of Houston registered guests.

For the wedding trip the bride wore a yellow sleeveless knit dress accented with white buttons.

A graduate of Olney High School, the bride attended Howard County Junior College and Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. She is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, national music sorority for women, and taught fourth grade the past two years in Garland.

Her husband graduated from Hereford High School, attended West Texas State University and is currently studying at the School of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M.

Lions devote time, efforts to betterment of community

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Hereford's progress has been credited to the aggressiveness and forward thinking of many individuals. The various civic clubs have played a large role. This is the first of a series on civic clubs in the Hereford area.)

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

For more than 40 years the Hereford Lions Club, the city's largest civic organization, has dedicated itself and its members to helping the community in church, civic and social endeavors.

Chartered Feb. 25, 1928 with 24 members, the Hereford Lions Club has seen its ranks swell to 183 active members. And it is through these 183 members that the organization has played a key role in the development and growth of Hereford.

From its meager beginning, the Lions Club has devoted itself to helping the underprivileged, especially the children of this area. Its two main projects—the crippled children's home in Kerrville and the High Plains Eye Bank—receive the complete backing of the organization each year, but other projects play just as important a part of the club's efforts.

"Each dollar produced by any fund raising project is to help people. Helping people is to me our basic purpose in life, whether in civic, social or church life," said Lynton Allred who will be installed in July as the new club president.

"Being a Lion simply gives each member an opportunity to participate collectively with other men in helping people that otherwise we as individuals could not help.

"Also, it gives the people of our community, who support these fund-raising projects with their money, the same opportunity to help someone they may have never even met," Allred said.

The 27-year-old Lions president will be joined on the slate of officers by Ed Wilson, first vice president; John Thames, second vice-president; John David Bryant, third vice president; Albert Ricketts, secretary; Nolan Grady, treasurer; Jim Hale and Homer Garrison, Lion tammers; Pat Hughes and Virgil Walker, tail twisters; and Sam Ratcliff, Bill Brady, Milton Durham and Wayland Smith, directors.

The club sweetheart for the coming year is De'ann Dickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Dickson.

Officers will be installed at 7:30 p.m. July 1 in the Civic Center.

The new officers succeed a group that went through another productive year as heads of the organization. Led by Milton Adams, the organization, in addition to taking part in some 17 annual projects, added to its list in 1970-71, a number of other things.

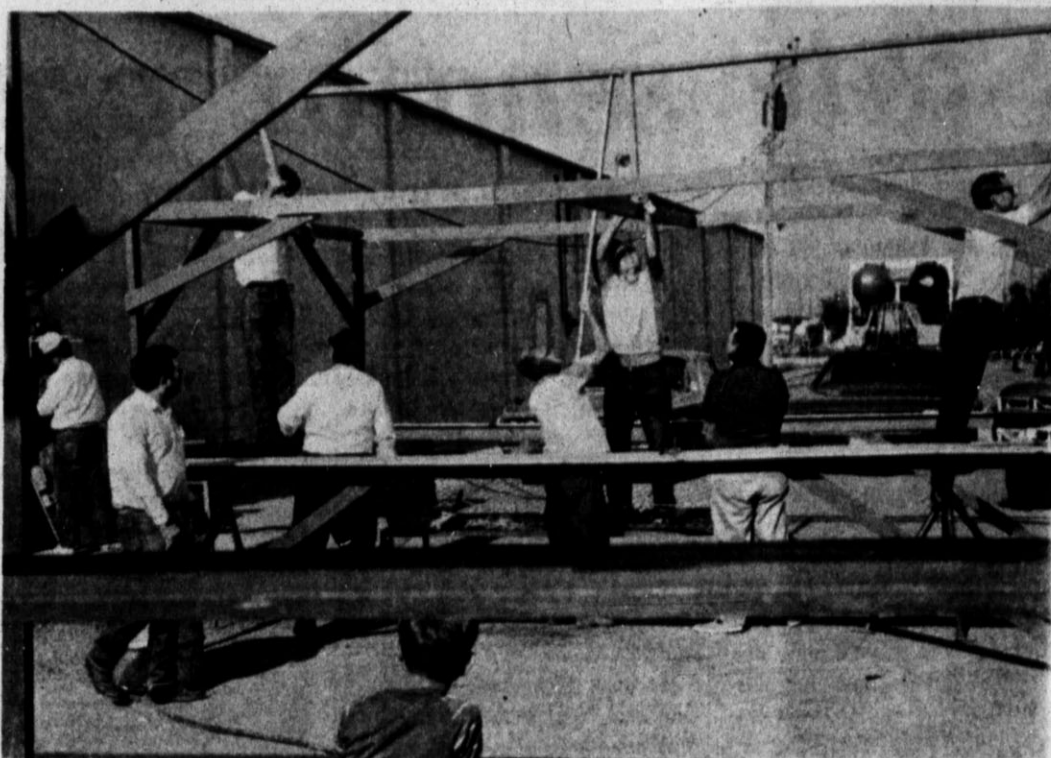

These included monthly donations to the Hereford Day Care Center, monthly donation to the Satellite School Transportation fund, donation to the Hereford tornado disaster fund, a donation to the Red Cross and Salvation Army for a hurricane disaster fund, donation to the Heart Fund and the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas, the Cancer fund, a contribution toward the purchase of dinnerware service for the Bull Barn and the purchase of clothing for two families whose homes were destroyed by fire.

"Basically, our projects for the next year will be the same as far as the year-to-year contributions will go, and our board will decide on other special activities," Allred said.

"We are always looking for some way to help this community because this is where we are and these are the people we want to help."

The basic annual money-raising projects each year are the Lions Club Carnival, July 23-31 this year, its pancake supper, its radio auction and the weekly wrestling matches at the Bull Barn.

"We try to get everybody involved in our basic projects, and I think this is one of the reasons we have such a high rate of attendance. I would say we have about 80 per cent participation and we feel this is real good for a club of 183 members," Allred said.

MAIN PROJECT — Lions Club members turn out in strong numbers each year to give a helping hand in putting up the booths for the club's summer carnival. This is one of several key money-raising projects undertaken each year by the local Lions Club. This picture was taken last July.

The club's involvement in youth is evident in its annual projects.

The club sponsors children for the Crippled Children's Camp each summer and helps provide glasses for underprivileged children through the "fines" imposed on members each week by the club's tail twisters.

This year's tail twisters, Lynn Brisendine and John David Bryant, collected more money than any other tail twisters in the history of the organization and thus provided more pairs of glasses to underprivileged children than in any other year.

The fines are imposed on members for any number of reasons such as sitting down before the club sweetheart does, for spinning plates, throwing bread, eating dessert before the sweetheart, or just plain sitting there enjoying a meal.

Being late, not having on a Lions Club pin, or disorderly conduct also bring about fines.

Other yearly contributions made by the club are to Cal Farley's Boys Ranch; Girlstown; sponsorship of a foreign exchange student each year; contributions to the West Texas State Opportunity Plan, which helps young people meet the financial problem of attending college; and sending several children each year to Camp Wigwam, a camp for the mentally retarded.

Without the Lions Club, there would be one less Boy Scout Troop and one less Cub Scout Pack, one less high school band student who would be able to take a trip overseas each year, one less student who would receive a scholarship for college each year, no free lunch during the annual Oasis Shriner's Children's Clinic, and no LEO organization for young Lions.

"As we see a crippled child laugh, maybe for the first time, a blind person see as a result of a transplant, a young man or woman have an opportunity for a desperately needed education, a retarded child have fun at summer camp or a disaster stricken community needing help to rebuild—all of these are to me reasons any man would enjoy being an active Lion," Allred said.

Lions, taken from the first letters of "Liberty, Intelligence Our Nation's Service," is an international organization. Local dues are $8.50 a month from which the local club pays $6.50 per year per member to the Lions International organization to further Lionism help to other areas of the world. The dues include a meal each Wednesday noon at the Civic Club Center.

"Hereford is most fortunate to have several civic organizations working individually as clubs and yet collectively to build a better place to live and a better heritage for our children," Allred said.

"We as members of the Hereford Lions Club are proud to be a part of Hereford's past, present and future and would invite any man who is not already working in a civic organization to join us in serving our fellow man."

The Lions organization, on an international basis, boasts one million members in 24,400 clubs in 146 different countries and six continents.

PRIVATE CAROUSEL

READING, England — Five-year-old Patricia Williams is queen of the kids in her neighborhood in nearby Tadley. She has her own private merry-go-round.

Her father, Bill Williams, bought the carousel after it had been unused and neglected for 18 years, rebuilt it and gave it to Patricia. The carousel was built in 1903.

"She rides on one of the horses which has her name on it," reported Williams. "Friends ride the others."

Stanton students urge adotion of Rotary's '4-Way Test'

Three Stanton Junior High ninth graders received a total of $40 from the Rotary Club Monday for top-graded essays they wrote concerning The Four-Way Test, a long-time Rotary guideline for honesty and fair play.

Denise Strange won the $15 first prize, Layne Young won the $10 second prize and Gerald Shipley won the $5 third prize.

Each student competing in the contest was asked to write an essay that brought out the four points: Is It The Truth? Is It Fair To All Concerned? Will It Build Good Will And Better Friendships? Will It Be Beneficial To All Concerned.

Here is the first-place essay of Miss Strange:

Meanwhile, up in space, the Smith and Jones families were deep in a discussion. Mr. Jones seems to have the floor.

"It is essential for us to agree upon a few rules. It is vital to the success of this trial run that we maintain peace and friendship. Does anyone have a suggestion?"

After a few minutes of silence he continued.

"It will take quite a plan to keep us at peace for the next two years. We will be in constant contact with one another. I want each of you to think about a plan until we land on Zudoc 11 in about 15 minutes."

Then the group proceeded to get ready for docking.

In the lounge of the space station, many ideas were being brought up and voted down on the matter of rules for living.

After about 20 minutes of complete chaos, Susie Jones, 17, banged on the table until everyone was quiet.

"I think we are all behaving very foolishly. I have an idea and would like it very much if you would listen."

Mr. Jones started to protest, but Mrs. Jones promptly stopped him.

"Our Latin teacher used a set of rules to put us on our honor during a test when I was in high school. He was a Rotarian who got his rules, called the Four-Way Test, from that club," Susie said.

Mr. Smith then helped her out. "I have heard of this test and think it's O. K. You apply everything you do, say, and even think to these four questions: 'Is it the truth? Is it fair to all concerned? Will it build good will and better friendships? Will it be beneficial to all concerned?'"

Then if you think it is still a good idea go ahead. Does anyone have anything against our living by this test?" The Four-Way Test passed by a unanimous vote and became their code for getting along.

As the days passed, the members of each family found out that they could get along very well with one another. There were a few problems, but even these were soon solved. One time, Mrs. Smith felt she should get 10 minutes of the phone call to Earth to talk to her mother. Mrs. Jones felt the same way, but after considering the Four-Way Test, the two ladies decided to write letters and send them back in a satellite.

Two years passed and the whole world was waiting to find out how these two families managed to keep harmony so well among themselves. Upon his return to Earth, Mr. Smith was interviewed.

"Tell us, Mr. Smith," started a television reporter, "how did you manage to keep from tearing each other to pieces while you lived on Zudoc 11 for the last two years? It seems that it would be very difficult with only each other day in and day out."

Mr. Smith just grinned and replied, "We agreed to apply our actions and words to the Rotarian Four-Way Test. Four little questions kept us at peace. 'Is it the truth?' Well, this question eliminated all lying and mistrust, which built up our confidence in each other."

"The second question was, 'Is it fair to all concerned?' This little test cut out all hurt feelings and made everyone feel as though he were being treated equal to everyone else."

"The third question, 'Will it build good will and better friendship?' did just what it stated, I must admit it did a good job, too."

"Last but by no means least, 'Will it be beneficial to all concerned?' This question sort of sums up the other three. All four of them put together made for a great plan by which to live."

"Thank-you Mr. Smith. Mr. Jones, do you have anything to add?" the reporter handed the mike to Mr. Jones.

"Yes, I'd just like to say that if everyone will apply this test to their own lives, the world will be a better one. The words war, crime, riot, and hate would be removed from our vocabulary. They would be replaced by peace, virtue, happiness, and brotherly love. Doesn't this sound like the world you would like to will for the next generation?"

"They need never know the sorrow of pollution, the grief of murders and thieves, Vietnam will only be a name in a history book. The Four-Way Test would take awhile, but nothing worthwhile happens overnight. I know it would work if everyone will cooperate. I do hope you will give it a try. Maybe you don't care about your neighbors or yourself, but think about your sons and daughters. Do it for the sake of those to come."

Mr. Jones and Mr. Smith joined their families and headed for the Medical Center.

"Well, ladies and gentlemen, we have just heard two great speeches. I do sincerely hope you will at least think about what has been said here today. It sounds wonderful to me, but only tomorrow will tell how much you care."

With these closing comments the reporter turned the program back over to the station.

People began to wander toward their cars and home. Some looked confused, some shocked, a few unbelieving, but many looked hopeful.

The hope in their eyes is our hope for tomorrow. Give the Rotarian Four-Way Test a try. Who knows, it may be the best thing you have ever done for mankind.

Think about these four questions: "Is it the truth? Is it fair to all concerned? Will it build good will and better friendships? Will it be beneficial to all concerned?"

Apply them to your life tomorrow, please. It won't hurt anyone and who knows, you may turn out to be a better person with a better world to live in.

The Rotarian Four-Way Test, An Interplanetary Existence:

The radio announcer was standing in the midst of a crowd of people. The launch pad was still smoking and a red object could be seen soaring upward.

"Well, folks, it's really true, Alpha III is carrying our two astronomical families to their new home. How would it feel to be on your way up to Zudoc 11 to spend the next two years of your life? I guess we won't know for six weeks, for the top officials of the space program have decided to communicate with Zudoc 11 only every 42 days, in order to save money."

The radio announcer then went on to the weather report.

THEME WINNERS — Stanton freshmen Layne Young, Gerald Shipley and Denise Strange (left to right) were ranked highest in the Rotary Club's competition for best themes on the club's "four-way test." Gerald holds a reproduction of the four-way test presented to each at Monday's Rotary meeting.

Albuquerque boasts only atomic museum

By GRACE MARIE PRATHER
Albuquerque Journal Writer
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — Albuquerque's Carol Canfield runs the only public nuclear weapons museum in the world, Sandia Atomic Museum.

In her six months as curator, she has acquired 11 major displays for the museum, bringing the total in the collection to 39. Among them are a full-scale replica of the first atomic bomb ever tested, "Fat Man," and a model of "Little Boy," the first nuclear weapon actually dropped.

She said many of the visitors, some of whom have top secret security clearances, are amazed at the vast amount of once classified information revealed there. "We are amazed at some of it ourselves," Mrs. Canfield said.

She had 16 years of experience as inventory specialist for the Nuclear Material Control Division at Sandia before taking over the museum. During that time she started making plans to acquire displays for the museum before it opened Oct. 6, 1969.

One of the museum prizes is a film, "Ten Seconds That Shook the World," a historical documentary of the discovery of nuclear energy leading up to the dropping of the bomb over Hiroshima.

A compilation of government film strips, the major characters in this presentation are J. Robert Oppenheimer, who headed the bomb project; and Enrico Fermi who built the first reactor that demonstrated the feasibility of developing a nuclear weapon.

Ten years ago, a person would have been sent to Leavenworth of the information now available to anyone who walks through the museum. Even the shape of a nuclear weapon was once considered top secret.

"I feel we have a responsibility to the public to show them what the military is doing with its time and money," Mrs. Canfield said. "We still have to clear every word of the written description, everything the tour guide says, and every display we put on the floor through the Sandia classification committee," she said.

None of the displays are actually live weapons, but some are shells of the real thing and others are full scale models filled with concrete. "Every time we get a new display, it's a major operation to move it in. We have to use a 50-ton crane to do it — this isn't just an ordinary museum," she said.

Mrs. Canfield has three men working for her. "Some of my friends told me that the men would resent my being in charge. They haven't at all. I have all the responsibility and they have all the fun."

Cheerleaders hit Tech campus
June 26-July 1
Hereford High School Cheerleaders will leave next week for the eighth annual Cheerleader School on the Texas Tech campus.
Sally Bayne, Nelda Norton, Caye Clearman, Becky Dziuk, Joni Charest, and Kerry Hall will practice yells under the leadership of Lawrence Herkimer, with the National Cheerleaders Association.
Along with 600 others the girls will be instructed in boosting school spirit and sportsmanship, crowd psychology, cheerleading techniques, planning pep rallies, skits, chants, and demonstration of yells.
The evening activities will include contests among the cheerleaders from each high school represented.
The East-West All-America football game on June 28 will highlight the five-day camp. The camp starts that day and continues through July 1.

David Thomas leaves Sunday for NY visit
David Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Thomas, 206 Sunset Drive, will leave for New York City Sunday to take part in the 22nd Annual Odd Fellows' United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth as an observer at the United Nations Headquarters.
After open competition with other Hereford High school teen-agers, Thomas was chosen by Hereford Odd Fellows to represent them on the trip.
Along with other Texas students, David will begin his trip from Irving, and tour historical spots to and from New York City. When he arrives in New York on June 27, he will meet with about 1,000 other young delegates from all sections of the United States and Canada.
While at the U.N. the students will be briefed on the many serious problems existing between member nations, of progress in disarmament and the peaceful use of atomic energy, and of the ways in which problems of health, education, employment and industry in underdeveloped countries are being helped.
Representatives of member nations will be interviewed, some with the aid of interpreters, and Commissions and Committees will be seen in action. They will visit International House, where graduate students from over 80 countries live under one roof. An evening at Radio City Music Hall, and a boat trip around Manhattan Island are a few of the activities scheduled.

Driver's license gets new office
The state driver's license office, previously located on the ground floor of the courthouse, has been moved.
The new location is in the same building as the office of Andy Shural. The address is 211 Schley St. and the entrance to the office is from the east side of the building.
The driver's license office has been operating there the past three weeks.
County commissioners moved the driver's license office from the courthouse about a month ago to make room for the new district attorney's office.

DEAD RINGER
BULAWAYO, Rhodesia — Australian clergyman Fred Eric Thomas Wright, 44, was held for five hours here by police who thought he was Great Train Robber Ronald Biggs. Wright, 6 ft. 1 in., is the same height as Biggs and has other similar characteristics, even to a scar on the left wrist.
"I thought at first it was a joke but when the questions started I realized the whole thing was serious," Wright said. "I showed the police my passport but they said it could be a forgery. They asked me what seemed like thousands of questions which I answered to the best of my ability."
Eventually a fingerprint check cleared the clergyman, who comes from Palmwoods, Queensland. Police gave him his fingerprint chart as a souvenir and said he was a "dead ringer" for the train robber.

Nelson wins director spot on JP board

Glenn Nelson, Justice of the Peace, was elected to the board of directors of the Justices of the Peace and Constables Association of Texas during the 7th annual meeting of the association recently.

Nelson will serve 12 counties in District 1 of the Texas Panhandle. He succeeds Judge W. A. Wilson of Canyon.

Nelson was one of some 450 justices of the peace and constables who attended the annual convention and seminar in Dallas.

The organization elected its new officers and discussed a new law requiring justices of the peace to have at least 40 hours of special training in criminal and civil matters. Justices of the peace will be required to attend two training sessions during the course of one year. The sessions will be 20 hours each and one will be held in October and the other in February.

Each justice of the peace who has not had this type of training prior to the passage of the bill will be required to attend the sessions.

Nelson, who took office late last year and attended a similar session, will have to take both sessions since his first was prior to the adoption of the bill.

"The purpose of this is to upgrade our courts. Too long we have had a 'Blacksmith' type of justice and this will help us," Nelson said.

Rites conducted at Summerfield for Joe Streun

Funeral services for Joe Earnest Streun, 35, of Rt. 1, McAlister, N. M., a former resident, were conducted Monday afternoon in Summerfield Baptist Church by the Revs. Murrell Weathers of Amarillo, Bobby Fuller of Dora, N. M., and Logan Cummings of Brownwood.

Burial in Rest Lawn Memorial Park was directed by Gilliland Funeral Home.

A native of Hereford who grew up in this area, Mr. Streun died of a knife stab at his home west of McAlister Friday evening. He was a teacher at McAlister.

Born here Apr. 2, 1936, he married Mauleine Spright at Elk City, Okla., June 7, 1963.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Cynthia Schilene; three sons, Jeffery Joe, Kyle Rym and John Mark; his father, Jack Streun of the Summerfield community and a brother, Gene Streun of Hereford.

Vega couple are parents of son

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hobbs of Vega are the parents of a son, Howie Lane, born earlier this month in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

He weighed 8 lbs. 1 1/4 ozs. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hobbs of Cameron and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lane of Adrian.

"IMPLIED WARRANTY" CHICAGO — Home builders and contractors, confronted already with rising costs and tight markets, now are finding they've got another problem — they may be held liable for damages for improperly built homes.

Recently the Arkansas Supreme Court upheld the allowance of recovery for breach of warranty because of the improper installation of the heating and air-conditioning ductwork by the home builder. A virtual litany of litigation has been raised against home builders and contractors for faulty workmanship, and the trend is toward more cases being brought against the builders of improperly constructed homes.

Delaware is the second smallest state in the Union.

Stanton and La Plata home economics workshops staged

Forty Stanton and La Plata homemaking girls are earning half credits through participation in summer home economics workshops staged this week and next in La Plata and Stanton homemaking departments.

Courses this week are decoupage and making box purses, each in separate morning and afternoon classes under the instruction of Mrs. Jack Wilcox and Mrs. Mark Hicks.

Mrs. M. T. Burelsmith and Mrs. Joe Bradley, supervisors and coordinators of the summer program, will conduct courses in child care, stuffing cloth animals and cutting cakes next week at Stanton.

Classes have been held this week at La Plata. Hours are 9 to 12 a.m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. This is the first year the workshops have been made available for students wishing to pick up extra credits during summer months. Home projects are also available for students, according to Mrs. Bradley.

Let's cook something

Relish adds zest

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor
A LIFELONG resident of Hereford, Mrs. W. J. Lueb was one of twin girls orphaned at the age of five when their mother died, so she grew up in the home of her aunt, the late Mrs. Mary Hellman.

She was Martha Erdman and she had other sisters in addition to her twin, who now lives in New Hampshire.

"Another sister looked much more like me than my twin, who was tiny and red-haired," says tall, brown-haired Martha Lueb. She attended Hereford schools, was employed as a telephone operator until her marriage, and has majored in homemaking since. However, energetic Mrs. Lueb finds time for outside activity, and has become something of a "pro" as a baby sitter.

SHE HAS been in charge of the nursery at First Christian Church for 16 years, and says she has seen "babies grow up, get through school and marry" since their days in the nursery. In addition to work at the church, she acts as sitter for other children usually in their homes.

Incidentally, First Christian is her "second church" and she goes to her job there each Sunday after attending services at St. Anthony's Catholic Church. She has been active in St. Anthony's women's organizations, holding various offices through the years.

Also, she has served in offices during her six years as a member of North Hereford Home Demonstration Club, and has lately been elected its president for the coming year.

AT HOME, she not only prepares meals for her husband and son, and enjoys the routine tasks of keeping the house clean, but she cultivates the attractive green lawn and flower beds, and does such needed repair jobs as repainting interior walls and ceilings. She has scheduled the living room for such a "going over" this summer.

The handwork she likes to do, is usually done while her charges are asleep when she babysits at night. Needlepoint is a favorite and she has lately completed cushions and a wall hanging for her living room.

Claiming no taste for outdoor work, she still likes to see blissoming flowers in the yard, so she does enough to assure handsome beds like the one beside the front steps of the Lueb home at 807 S. 25 Mile Avenue, where a clump of exquisite white lilies is surrounded by pink and red roses and verbenas.

"Tulips were the prettiest flowers I had this spring, but they were in the back yard!" she says regretfully.

MEAL PLANNING is a bit different for her, from the usual in a household of men. Instead of potatoes, Lueb and son, Neal, like salads with their meat — "any kind of salads. We eat lots of 'em."

Mrs. W. J. Lueb

Great-grandson killed at Austin

Five-year-old Brent Allen Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Brown of Austin and a great-grandson of Mrs. Oren Jones of Hereford, was pronounced dead on arrival at an Austin hospital after he was struck by a car in front of his father's service station.

The funeral was held in an Austin funeral chapel Monday morning and burial was in Assumption Cemetery there.

The Brown family moved to Austin a few months ago from Amarillo. In addition to his parents the child is survived by a sister and a brother of the home, also grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Brohlin and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Murrell, all of Amarillo.

'51 class planning reunion

Graduated from Hereford High School 20 years ago, the class of 1951 plans a summer reunion and has set July 31 as the date. A dinner, dancing, music and reminiscing are on program at Hereford Country Club, beginning at 7 p.m.

This will be the third reunion of the class, which met five years after graduation and then in another five years.

Almost all of the 87 class members have been contacted, reports Mrs. Glenn Wilson, who as Claudia Lewis was one of the '51 graduates, and who has the responsibility of notifying members of the reunion.

Bill Engman, now of Durango, Colo., was president of the class and Leonard Walterscheid, still a Hereford resident, was vice president. Barbara Smith Cowgill, now of Amarillo, was secretary and Pat Walton, now Mrs. Vernon Shirley of Oak Harbor, Wash., the treasurer.

Reservations for members and their husbands or wives are to be made to Mrs. Wilson, 149 Northwest Drive, by July 1.

The alligator is the only animal whose upper jaw is movable.

Texas horse doctor is novel character

Texas, and one of its finest horse doctors, sets the scene for a hilarious novel of the years Ben Green spent showing 'horse sense' in his profession as horse doctor in the days of old in Pecos country, the Rio Grande, and Fort Stockton. Check this book out today at Deaf Smith County Library. THE VILLAGE HORSE DOCTOR by Ben K. Green In the inimitable yarn-spinning fashion of Horse Tradin' and Wild Cow Tales, Ben K. (Doc) Green now takes us back with him to the deep Southwest and the never-a-dull-moment years he spent as practicing horse doctor — working out of Fort Stockton — along the Pecos and the Rio Grande, in one of the last big "horse countries" of North America.

With precious little formal schooling, but with a perfect (if sometimes profane) corral-side manner and plenty of natural wit, Doc became the first to hang up a shingle out there in the trans-Pecos country. And he didn't start small! The territory he had for his practice was 420 miles north and south by 360 miles east and west. And he covered that territory by all means known to man — shank's mare, horseback, buckboard, and (his standby for long hauls) a beat-up old coupe on whose body panels he kept his books in chalk.

To go with Doc on his rounds, visiting his "patients," is a nostalgic and hilarious journey ina liberal education in the kind of horse and cow savvy of which precious little remains in the modern world. As a horseman it was a savvy he came by naturally.

But perhaps he learned most from his own research: his own book on horse conformation, privately published in several printings, is still a bible among practical horsemen; his research in his own laboratory on horse colors and pigmentation has made him an expert on what makes a "strawberry roan" or a "coyote dun."

But the meat of Ben Green's books is in his yarns. To hear him tell the tales of his struggles with mean and friendly stockmen, yellowed fever, banditos, poison hay, and drouth — to say nothing of his canny mix of science and horse sense when treating animals "that ain't house pets" — is a 100-proof old-time pleasure.

INSPECTOR'S HOLIDAY
by Richard Lockridge
Inspector Merton Heimrich of the New York State Police is not the sort of man who would willingly leave his work to take a leisurely winter vacation — until his wife contracts pneumonia.

Because the doctor thinks Susan should convalesce in a warmer climate, Heimrich puts in for leave and they embark on a Mediterranean cruise.

Susan perks up immediately. The accommodations are luxurious, the food is excellent, and they find themselves surrounded by interesting people.

Among them, Sir Ronald Grimes and his beautiful young wife. Sir Ronald is retiring from the diplomatic service and planning to become a country squire, puttering in his rose garden. . .

Somebody changes those plans. When Sir Ronald disappears, the ship's captain calls on the inspector for help. Heimrich begins to suspect that the Englishman has gone overboard — with a helping hand — and his suspicions are heightened when a murder is uncovered on board.

"And it was being such a lovely holiday," Susan sighs. But for Heimrich, the vacation is off.

The luxury liner becomes a tracking ground as he sets out after an elusive killer and finds, along the trail, the bits and pieces of what begins to look like an international intrigue.

Funeral held for Mrs. Doughman In Des Moines

Funeral services for Mrs. Jackie Doughman, 49, of Hereford were conducted Wednesday afternoon in Hamilton Funeral Chapel at Des Moines, Iowa, and burial was in a Des Moines cemetery.

Mrs. Doughman, who had been a resident of Hereford 16 years, previously lived in the Iowa city, where she was born Feb. 23, 1922. She had lived here at 1518 Brevard and was employed by the First National Bank.

Her death occurred Saturday evening in a Des Moines hospital after a five-month illness.

She grew up in Des Moines and was married there to Bob Doughman. Her husband survives, with a daughter, Mrs. Steve Watson of Hereford and her mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Chet Latham of Des Moines.

Officers named for Wyche club

Officers elected by Wyche Home Demonstration Club recently include Mrs. Wayne Jones for a second term as president. Mrs. L. B. Worthan is vice president, Mrs. J. H. Golden secretary-treasurer, Mrs. C. F. Newsum council delegate with Mrs. E. C. Hewitt Jr. alternate and Mrs. Bryon Grover reporter.

The club voted to omit summer meetings, resuming programs the first Thursday in September. Plans were made for filling ditty bags with gifts for U. S. servicemen in Vietnam.

The meeting was in Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Argen Draper, County H. D. Agent, gave two demonstrations, on sewing, lingerie and on care of floors.

P. T. Barnum sponsored Jenny Lind in her American debut.

Tuition rises, but other expenses hold line at West Texas

CANYON, Tex. — The recent Texas Legislature boosted the tuition for higher education at all state-supported institutions but it will be the only increase facing students coming to West Texas State University this fall.

"We feel it is important to hold the line on other student fees at this time because of the tuition increase," said Virgil Henson, financial vice president.

"We are not doing so because additional money is not needed to operate the university," he said. "But we feel a deep obligation to parents and students to hold down costs as long as possible without affecting the quality of education to which they are entitled."

The new tuition bill sets out these rates:

Resident (Texas) students — $4 per semester credit hour but the total of such charge shall not be less than $50 per semester. A student registered for from one through 12 hours would pay the $50 minimum.

Students registered for 13 or more hours would pay $4 per hour a semester (i.e., 13 hours, $52; 14 hours, $56; 15 hours, $60).

Non-resident (out of state) students — $40 per semester credit hour. The legislation provides that students who were non-residents at West Texas State in the spring semester of 1971 will be permitted to pay the old $200 per semester non-resident tuition as long as they continue their education uninterrupted until they obtain the degree for which they are presently working.

Foreign students — $14 per credit hour with a minimum tuition of $200 a semester. This applies to students who are not citizens of the United States but are in this country for educational purposes.

"In effect, a resident student at West Texas State carrying a regular 15-hour course load would pay only $10 a semester more than he has been paying in the past at the university," Henson said.

Dr. Don Cates, dean of admissions and registrar, and Henson said there is no way of predicting what effect the tuition increase will have upon enrollment at West Texas State this fall.

West Texas State had an enrollment of 7,905 last fall, second highest in its history, and had a record 3,001 registrations for the first session of summer school this year.

"There appears to be three factors that could have a positive effect on our enrollment," Dr. Cates said.

He listed them as more adequate housing with the construction of two high-rise dormitories, small class size by providing additional sections rather than having overly large classes and more students from the Panhandle region coming to the university.

"For the last few years, when West Texas State was in a period of rather continuous growth, one of our largest problems was housing," Dr. Cates said. "The amount of housing available on campus for single students and the amount of housing in the city of Canyon for married students presented a constant problem to the university."

Dr. T. Paige Carruth, vice president for student affairs, said "applications for housing for the fall semester are substantially increased over this time last year."

Regarding class size, Dr. Cates said:

"It is becoming well known throughout the region that our class size, especially at the freshman and sophomore levels, is very favorable when compared to similar classes at both public and private institutions our size and larger in Texas.

"For example, freshman English classes did not exceed 25 students in the fall of 1970 and the spring of 1971."

Dr. Cates said class size is a factor that should be strongly considered, especially by beginning freshmen, when comparing universities.

He said surveys conducted by the university the last four years show that although there is "no significant increase in the number of students graduating from Panhandle area high schools we have noticed an increase in the percentage of students from our region who come to West Texas State."

Dr. Cates said there are several factors besides the tuition hike that could adversely affect the university's enrollment this fall.

"I would say the thing that is identified to us through student contact more often than anything else is the severe effect the drought has had on economic conditions," he said.

A second factor affecting enrollment, Dr. Cates said is the "decreasing importance of a selective service deferment for student purposes."

What effect will the tuition increase have at West Texas State? Dr. Cates said:

"Although the minimum charge of $50 will be a disadvantage as compared with previous semesters for part-time students, there is at least one hidden benefit.

"That is students who previously felt they could afford to take only one course will already have paid enough under the new tuition bill to take two or three courses.

"We hope these people will be motivated to take advantage of the minimum charge to enroll for more semester hours and thereby make more rapid progress toward their educational objective, be it a degree, or teacher certification, or the personal satisfaction of attaining a goal at a faster rate."

Registration for the fall semester will be Aug. 26-28, with late registration continuing through Sept. 4. Application from students new to West Texas State must reach the dean of admissions by Aug. 1.

If you arrest my son

Please be brutal...

(Editor's Note: The following is reprinted from the Topoka "Bench Warrant.")

One of the most common phrases heard in our society and our city today is "police brutality." Perhaps I don't understand the meaning, but I would like to give you one mother's viewpoint on this subject.

To begin, I should first tell you that I have two teen-age sons, and being a mother, I cannot help but want the very best of everything for them. I am a "typical mother" in that I do not want to see them hurt by anyone. I am not a typical mother, for I see things many mothers never hear of, much less become involved in, because my husband is a minister and we see the very best and the sordid worst.

I would like for you to be brutal with my sons. Is this a surprise?
If you find them speeding in a car, please be brutal. I have sat at a hospital holding a grieving mother's hand because of someone's mistake. That was brutal. I have gone with my husband to tell a wife her husband was killed. That was brutal. I have helped nurse a beautiful teen-age girl crippled in a wreck. That was brutal. I have played organ music at funeral services for babies, teenagers, and adults because someone drove too fast. That was brutal.

If you should catch my underage sons with liquor in their possession, please be brutal.

I have sat all night by my husband's side trying to piece together two underage young men's lives, both broken by drinking. That was brutal. I have listened to the horrors experienced by another man while he was drunk and heard him recall the many jails he had served time in for this. That was brutal. I have helped feed hungry children because a drunken father didn't come home. That was brutal. I have tried to console a mother whose daughter was killed after being struck by a drunken driver. That was brutal.

If you should find my sons with drugs in their possession, please be brutal.

I have tried to rehabilitate a woman just out of prison for shooting her husband while she was drugged. That was brutal. I have seen a handsome young man turn into an old ugly one because of drugs. That was brutal. I have seen a young mother who was addicted to a drug scream and rave for lack of a "fix." That was brutal.

If you find my sons committing any kind of immoral act or carrying any pornographic materials, please be brutal! I have walked into a hushed, sacred church that was stripped of everything that could be sold. That was brutal. I have seen a lovely, expensive home and yard completely torn up by vandals. That was brutal. I have seen a school and its marvelous equipment torn apart by young vandals. That was brutal. I have wiped a little boy's tears and helped him hunt for his stolen bicycle. That was brutal.

If you should ever catch my sons doing anything illegal, please be brutal. I have come to realize that your kind of "brutality" cannot in any way compare with the brutality that comes from breaking our laws.

My husband and I have tried to teach our sons that their rights end where someone else's begin. We believe they have learned this lesson, but in case they forget, we look to you and others who influence their lives — teachers, coaches, etc. — to see that they remember.

I do not want my two sons to grow into two grown-up boys. I want them to become men, able to assume their places in this world and make good contributions to it. I sincerely hope they won't need your help; but if they do, and if you must, then be brutal.

A Concerned Mother.

RECRUITS MALES
LEXINGTON, Ky. — The dean of the University of Kentucky's School of Home Economics is recruiting male students.

"Home economics long has been regarded as an area of study for girls," says Dr. Betty Jean Brannan. "Every year more young men are entering the field."

She asked the Kentucky Extension Homemakers Association to "take every opportunity you can to inform boys and girls about professional opportunities in home economics."

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Triglone visiting in Joe Reinauer home

★ ★ ★ ★ ★
Couple from Australia stop to see relatives

Visitors from "down under" to the Joe Reinauer home this week have been Brian and Betty Triglone of Queanbeyan, New South Wales, Australia.

On a six-month tour which will take them also to Europe, the Triglones count the trip as a delayed honeymoon; they were married last February. He is a government employe in Canberra, the capital of Australia, and she is secretary to a professor of biochemistry in the University of Canberra.

Triglone is the son of a cousin of Mrs. Reinauer, who has a number of relatives from Australia. Her father came from that continent to America as a young man, was married here, became an American citizen and never returned to his native country.

Members of his family still live there, and Mrs. Reinauer claims "numerous aunts, uncles and cousins scattered about in Australia."

In addition to his job, Triglone continues studies at the University and says he is "making shaky progress toward a degree." He plays the guitar and the couple sings together, folk and popular songs. With another student, they made a trio at the University last year.

The Reinauer family is showing them as much as possible of ranching and cattle feeding operations in this area while they are visiting here, as well as Panhandle scenic spots.

That included Palo Duro Canyon, which they could compare with the Grand Canyon, their "must see" item on their trip across the Western U. S.

They reached San Francisco by air the first of last week, went to Los Angeles and then came by bus across the country so they would have a closer look than they could get by plane.

Voice recitals set for soloists

Solo recitals by two adult voice students of Mrs. Dolson Palmer will be presented on successive evenings in her home, 149 Liveoak, with friends of the singers invited.

Mrs. Tom Burdett, soprano, will give the program this evening, and Raymond Wiley, tenor, will appear in an informal program Friday.

Stabbing charges filed

A 33-year-old Dimmitt man was released on $3,000 bond Tuesday after arraignment before Justice of the Peace Glenn Nelson on charges of aggravated assault.

Charges were filed Monday on Julian Cortez, Rt. 3, Dimmitt. He was arraigned Monday and taken before County Judge H. C. Williams, who delayed setting a trial date until Cortez hires a lawyer.

Cortez was accused of going to the home of Ninfa Arzole, 837 Irving, and forcing his way in. Cortez reportedly went into the bedroom where a friend of Miss Arzole, James Nolan Edmondson, was.

Miss Arzole told officers Cortez pulled a small pocket knife on Edmondson and began stabbing him. Officers said Edmondson was stabbed three times in the small of the back, once in the middle of the back, once under his left arm, then slashed several times across the back.

Miss Arzole told officers Cortez then dropped the knife and she kicked it under the bed. Cortez left for his home in Dimmitt before officers arrived, she said. The suspect was arrested in Dimmitt.

Carlie Burdett is a teacher of piano and music theory in private classes here. She studied with Helen Harpt at North Texas State University. The wife of a Hereford attorney, she has a small daughter, Bliss.

Mrs. Bill Devers will be her piano accompanist for a varied recital beginning with two sacred selections, Rejoice Greatly and Come Unto Him, from Handel's oratorio, The Messiah.

Opera arias she will sing are by Puccini, Mi Chiamano Mimi from La Boheme and O Mio Babbino Caro from Gianni Schicchi. A group of art songs will include Vaghissima Sembranga (Donandy), Si Mes Vers Avalent des Alles (Hahn) and Brahms' Sapphic Ode.

The program will end with a group of songs "in English, I Hate Music, by Bernstein; When I Bring to You Colored Toys, Carpenter; Ebb Tide, Maxwell, and Everything Is Beautiful, Stevens.

Half of Wiley's program will be devoted to religious songs. Residing at 206 Elm, he farms in the Summerfield community, is a deacon in Summerfield Baptist Church and a licensed minister.

He will sing Follow Me (Stanphill), When God Is Near (Ackley), Until Then, by Stuart Hamblen, and No Other Name Like

Members attend state convention

Twenty members of Delta Xi Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma, represented the local chapter at the state convention in Amarillo over the weekend and assisted with hostess duties at the birthday luncheon Saturday, when state scholarships were presented.

Jesus, Robert Irby.

Classical and art songs on the program are Caro Mio Ben, by Giordani; O Cessate di Piagnere, Scarlatti; I Love You, Beethoven; and In the Fields, Duke.

Out-of-town guests expected for his recital are Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Harlan of Dimmitt, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Burge and daughter of Friona and Mrs. Wiley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Inklebarger of Littlefield.

Mrs. J. D. Neill of Hereford was one of the 228 chapter presidents in the state who were honored at the dinner Saturday evening. Officers headed by Lorraine Davis of Texarkana were installed at that dinner. Margaret Ann Garland of Lubbock is the new area director for this region, named by the state executive secretary.

The 1972 state convention will be held in Fort Worth next June, and Texans will be hosts for the biennial international convention in August 1972 at Houston.

Hereford members who went to convention sessions in addition to Mrs. Neill were Margaret Bell, Pat Montgomery, Eleanor Hudspeth, Eloise McDougal, Gladys Legg, Della Stagner, Erma Walker, Betty Mercer.

Also Colleen Billingsley, Lois Laughan, Stella Wester, Marie Ratcliff, Margaret Ann Durham, Betty Jo Carlson, Alice Christman, Audrey Powell, Dorothy Mercer, Nancy Richie and Esther Springer.

MOSAIC DISCOVERED
CHICHESTER, England — A fine Roman mosaic has been recovered under the floor during restoration work at Chichester's 900-year-old cathedral. Mrs. Margaret Rule, curator of the Roman palace at nearby Fishbourne, says the mosaic dates from the second century AD and is one of the best ever unearthed in Sussex county.

A GAS outdoor grill gives food a tangy outdoor flavor without the time and bother of charcoal fire. Char-broiled flavor comes from the smoke of meat juices dripping on hot briquets. Charcoal itself provides no flavor.

Permanent ceramic briquets in the gas grill reach cooking heat in a few minutes, and there is no long wait to start cooking. The heat is regulated manually so there is no need to move a grill up or down.
