

Power situation okay; don't expect blackout

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

The summer power failures that have plagued the Eastern United States the past few years do not present a problem locally, officials of the two Hereford electrical services said Wednesday.

The Deaf Smith County Rural Electric and Southwestern Public Service have, in fact, given the go-ahead for county residents to use all the electrical power they need this summer and any other.

"By and large," said Carroll McDonald of SWPS, "our generator capacity is such that we have built ahead. We are very fortunate. We have never had a cutback and we would just love for the people to turn everything on."

McDonald said the power failures on the East Coast last summer has given the smaller electrical firms "a black eye." A lot of people, he said, after hearing of the failures such as the one in New York City that left it without electricity for three days, think the situation is the same everywhere.

A report by the Department of Commerce said Deaf Smith

County residents use an estimated 7,574 kilowatt hours a year per resident as compared to a national average of 6,430. These figures were based on an estimate, but actual local figures, provided by McDonald show local consumption was only 5,604 per resident during the past 12 months.

The Federal Power Commission, on the basis of a nationwide survey, said that "some areas of the country may experience shortages as a result of inadequate installed capacity to meet forecasted summer peak loads."

The commission said the reason for this expected shortage is because of many more air conditioners, television sets, electric stoves, washing machines and other appliances in use locally than there were several years ago.

McDonald said the "expected shortage" would not occur here because of the advanced building and planning of the company. Southwestern Public Service, as a backup, has built another station near Lubbock that will join the system soon and this added station will insure no "blackout" will occur here.

Your taxes go up

The sales tax goes up again, effective today.

The new schedule will call for a penny tax on items as low as one dime, including newspapers and coffee, where you find them for that.

The increase was ordered by the Texas Legislature in its last session. It's an increase of three-quarters of one per cent, hiking the state sales tax to 4 per cent. Where there is a city sales tax, as in Hereford, the levy now is 5 per cent.

There's a new twist to the tax business, as added on by the legislature. Something of a "violation" tax. Anyone who gets a traffic ticket or pays a fine for a misdemeanor or felony will get an additional charge added above the price of the fine itself, earmarked for the state of Texas.

An additional set charge of $2.50 will be added to traffic tickets, $5 to misdemeanor fines and $10 to felony fines.

The legislature also passed a 2-cent increase in gasoline taxes, but that was quickly canceled out after Gov. Preston Smith warned he would veto it.

The new tax will be easier to figure, since 5 per cent is easier on the pencil than 4 1/4 per cent.

It will mean many persons no longer will have to refer to a chart to determine how much tax is due. They now will be able to just divide by two and move the decimal points over, since multiplying by .05 is the same as dividing by 20.

If an item costs 80 cents, for example, you know it's four cents tax by dividing the 80 by two and moving the decimal over. The same is true for something that costs $13.88. Division by two gives 69¢, or 69.4 cents, or 69 cents after rounding off.

Dick Montgomery of the Deaf Smith County REC, said his company is "in real good shape — so excellent in fact that we are looking for more customers."

The REC buys its power for rural homes at wholesale price from Southwestern Public Service and doesn't generate any power of its own. Therefore, he said, his company does not anticipate any shortage this summer during the peak months.

"We are running ahead of last year in sales but it is hard to get an accurate picture until you get a whole year compiled," Montgomery said. "Your load peaks are normally during the summer months and our load has been real good. The hotter it gets the better it is for an electric company."

Hereford All-stars host Altus, Okla., July 22-23

The Hereford Bronco League All-Stars, who won area by virtue of being the only team in the area, will host the Altus, Okla., All-Stars in a best-of-two-three series here July 22-23 to determine the district winner.

A single game will be played at 8 p. m., Thursday, July 22, with a second game will be at 6 p. m., Friday, July 23. If a third game is needed to determine the winner, it will be played at 8:30 p. m. July 23.

If the local All-Stars win the area championship they will go to Oklahoma City for the regional tournament. From there, if they win, they qualify for the sectional tournament, to be followed by the World Series in Camarillo, Calif.

Members of the All-Star team are:

Catcher: Archie Crim of the Cubs

First base: Mike Rayes of the Gaints

Second base: Carl Simpson of the Astros

Shortstop: Kent Ellis of the Cubs

Third base: Scotty Taylor of the Angels

Leftfield: Joe Rusher of the Cubs

Centerfield: Alfred High of the Giants

Rightfield: Maxie Truell of the Yankees and Pitcher: Dale Tarr of the Astros.

Other players selected to the All-Star team were Dennis Artho of the Giants, Mike Foster of the Braves, Jim Lawson of the Yankees, Richard Moya of the Yankees, Kelly Kitchens of the Angels and Tim Sandoval of the Cardinals. Mike Pittard of the Astros and Hector Ramirez of the Dodgers were selected as alternates.

Red Durham is manager of the All-Stars and Chuck Cosper is coach.

Recharge attempt made on Ogallala formation

BY MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

The first attempt by man at restoring the rapidly diminishing water supply of the Ogallala formation is being carried out at a test site some 13 miles north of Hereford.

Soil scientists and research engineers from the Southwest Great Plains Research Center at Bushland said they expect to be completed with the test site construction this week. The site is on the H. R. Cowan Jr. farm two miles south and one mile east of the Ford Community.

Arland Schneider, research engineer, said the test site was selected because of the natural composition of the soil which allows unused water to seep back into the underground formation at a rate of one to three feet of water per day. One foot is equal to 225 gallons per minute, per acre.

"We feel that one foot per day is in the ball park, based on the other projects like this," Schneider said.

The test site north of Hereford is the first off-base experiment of its type, Schneider said there have been three such tests conducted on land at the research center just to see if the plan would work. Each of these was one-tenth of an acre and able to operate by gravity flow.

The test site on the Cowan farm will require pumped water from a large playa lake into a type of holding lake then into the percolator area. The pit dug for the percolation is one one-half acre and is four feet deep. It was dug 20 feet above the playa lake level, thus requiring the use of pumps to get the water to the pit.

The pit will hold three acre-feet of water.

"From eight to 24 inches from the top of the ground, percolation is real slow," Schneider said. "That is why we are excavating into the sediments of the soil to the caliche."

Schneider said the only time the water from the playa lake will be used to be put back into the Ogallala formation will be when the farmer has no need for it on his own land. If the land is dry and the farmer feels he needs the playa lake water for his own use, he can use it instead of letting it into the pit.

The Ogallala formation is a natural underground water formation extending from about the Midland-Odessa area of Texas, up through the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles, through Kansas and into the southern part of Nebraska. The main parts of the formation lie here in the Texas Panhandle and in Kansas.

"If this proves successful," Schneider said, "it would be the ideal thing to tie into a large system."

"Because there are 20 to 30 times the amount of water being taken out than that being recharged naturally into the Ogallala formation.

"This probably, to be effective, must be used on a massive scale."

On the bottom of the pit are placed several piezometers in small wells. The piezometers allow the scientists a chance to look at the ground formation below the bottom of the pit to determine if there is any place where the water is not able to

County okays assistant for county agent

Deaf Smith County Commissioners made room in the 1972 budget Monday for an additional $3,600 a year to fund the newly authorized position of assistant county agricultural agent.

The state will pay $5,760, and the county will pay $2,448 plus $1,200 travel expenses for the coming year.

The assistant will spend part of his time helping County Agent Justin T. McBride with the problems facing area farmers, but most of his efforts will be with the county's youth. A man probably will be here to assume the duties by Sept. 1.

"Number-wise, we've been going down the past two or three years in our 4-H Club," McBride said. "It's getting harder to reach the kids and hold their interest, and it is just going to require more effort on our part."

The new assistant is a job that has been sought for the county for many years. It was just with the authorization granted by the Texas Legislature in its last session that the position becomes possible. Money was even put in the budget for several years to fund the position, but state money was never available until now.

There already is an assistant county home demonstration agent, which means there now will be two people available to devote most of their efforts to helping youth with their projects.

The commissioners were reminded Monday that Deaf Smith County is the second largest agricultural county in Texas, and that more of McBride's time is necessarily going into helping farmers with their production and less into working with kids.

Other counties with assistants have had less diversification and less agricultural effect on the economy than Deaf Smith County, it was added.

"As economic production in agriculture gets to be more and more involved, and the farmers' income is cut more, it requires more and more of my time. We can't do justice to either the adult or youth load with the workload we're getting now," McBride said.

The commissioners were solidly behind the proposal.

"If our county agriculture agent was busy years ago, before all this diversification came in, he sure can't handle it all now," said Bruce Coleman, one of the commissioners.

Donald Hicks, another commissioner, said a good side effect of the assistant will be that his work will steer more kids into youth farm programs, and that that would cut down on the juvenile delinquency problem.

"If you didn't reach any more than three or four boys in a year's time, it would be worthwhile," Hicks said.

The commissioners, in other action, went into an agreement with the Broadview, N. M., fire department to pay it $100 for every fire it came into Deaf Smith County to fight.

The county also tended to some business it had passed on informally before. It set the annual salary of Dist. Atty. Andy Shuval officially at the $12,000 minimum, which Shuval had suggested.

County gets 146,000 monthly in social security benefits

Social Security benefits were being paid to residents of Deaf Smith county at a rate of $146,000 a month at the close of 1970, Travis Briggs, social security district manager in Amarillo, said today.

A benefit increase signed into law by President Nixon on March 17 raises the monthly rate of payment by 10 percent for most of the 1,751 social security beneficiaries in Deaf Smith County, Briggs added. A small number of beneficiaries over age 72 who are not receiving regular social security cash benefits will get a 5 per cent increase.

The increased benefit amounts were made effective back to January 1, 1971. First checks in the new monthly rate probably reached beneficiaries on about June 3, Briggs said. Separate checks representing the amount of the increase for the months of January through April will be mailed later in June.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Deaf Smith County, 996 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 531 are receiving benefits as survivors of workers who have died, and 183 are getting benefits as disabled workers on their dependents.

Briggs pointed out that although most social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60. In Deaf Smith County, 583 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each month. Nearly 389 are under age 18, receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits. Most of the 40 beneficiaries in Deaf Smith County between 18 and 22 years of age, are getting students' benefits under a provision in the social security law permitting the continuation of a child's benefits beyond his 18th birthday, and up to age 22, if the child is attending school full time.

Also in this 18-22 age group, Briggs said, are some other types of beneficiaries, illustrating the broad family protection that the social security program provides workers of all ages. A number are children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached 18 and who will probably never be able to work and become self-supporting. The monthly benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely. Benefits are also payable to their mothers if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care.

Briggs said that another relatively small but significant group of youthful social security beneficiaries are those who are receiving benefits as disabled workers. Social security disability payments can be paid to a person who becomes disabled for work even if he has less than 5 years of work under social security. As little as 1 1/2 years of work is required in the case of a worker who becomes disabled before age 24.

Grand jury indicts 2 for murder

A grand jury met in special session Tuesday to consider the murder charges filed against two Hereford brothers after a shooting at a June 19 Emancipation Proclamation Celebration dance in the city.

The jury indicted Wesley High, 41, and Alfred Turner High, 36, in a session that took less than two hours.

The grand jury considered only one other case, a theft over $50 charge against Ricardo Juan Cordova. The panel indicted Cordova also.

Dist. Atty. Andy Shuval requested the special grand jury session to consider the murder charges. About 40 other cases will come before the grand jury next week in what probably will be the last actions of the panel before a new one is chosen.

The jury panel will convene at 11 a.m. Tuesday, and indications are it probably will take two days to sift through and make a determination on the cases.

The High brothers are accused of shooting a Plainview man to death after an argument broke out during the dance, which was in the IOOF Hall at 205 E. Fifth. The dance started the night of June 19, but the shooting occurred about 1:30 a.m.

Police said they were told that White announced to the audience that the dance was over and some of those at the dance wanted it to continue.

In a series of shots that were fired, James Edward White, 35, of Plainview suffered a fatal wound in the head. Three other men also were shot—Chester Collins, 422 Long St., in the thigh; Harold J. Sanders, 433 Long St., in the groin; and Raymond Lemons, Lubbock, in the right forearm. The three were treated at Deaf Smith County Hospital and released.

Bond was set at $10,000 for the two High brothers. They posted it several days later and got out of the Deaf Smith County Jail.

Charles Richards Firecracker time

Firecrackers are only as far away as the nearest city limits sign nowadays, with the Fourth of July approaching, but they weren't always so handy.

A number of years ago, kids often didn't have them. And if firecrackers are sometimes dangerous so are the things used in their place.

Irene McKinster recalled recently that when she was a young girl, they didn't have any firecrackers, so her brother got a shotgun shell, split it open and dumped the powder onto the floor of their basement.

Everybody stepped back. Her brother dropped a match to the powder. Whoof! It exploded in his face.

Irene dashed up the stairs to get her mother, who was whipping cream. Her mother came down, bringing the whipping cream with her, and put it over his face.

Irene's brother couldn't see for three months, and the doctor credited her mother's action in keeping the boy from being permanently scarred and perhaps permanently blinded.

When I was 6 or 7, I used to go out in our garage in Aspermont, Tex., and open up a box of shotgun shells and hit them with a hammer and make them go "bang."

I did it on a number of occasions, but somehow or another, I never got hurt. I haven't figured out why, yet.

Whenever I think of fireworks and the possible dangers involved, several select memories flash into mind.

One was when I was a sixth grader in Levelland, in 1963. In those days, television was relatively new and not everybody had it. We didn't. Just about every kid on the block would play until a couple of hours past dark. It was "kick the can," baseball or something. This night it was firecrackers, and one boy put a firecracker inside a coke bottle. He lit the fuse and started running but he didn't run fast enough. The bottle shattered, and fragments went everywhere. The boy that lit the fuse was cut up pretty badly.

The same year, I got a cherry bomb and poured it into a neat little pile on the concrete driveway behind the weekly newspaper my dad owned and operated. I put a match to it and it flashed up and burned the outside palm of my hand, just under my right thumb.

I ran into the restroom at the back of the office, held my hand under the cold running faucet for five minutes, I guess, and still it was burning hot inside. It hurt for about four days.

Another time, it was Christmas, and I was about 10 and with my family, visiting relatives in Rule, Tex. A boy threw a firecracker but it lay on the ground about 10 seconds and didn't go off. He reached down to pick it up and still nothing happened. Finally he put it in his mouth to bite off the fuse, and it exploded.

He was crying uncontrollably and blood was streaming from his mouth. You could tell several teeth had been knocked out. The recollection of him crying and screaming, holding his hands to his bloody mouth, while they carried him to the hospital always kept me from doing anything like that.

Firecracker stands are open at each entrance to the city, and there'll be a lot of intermittent bangs for the next few days. Somewhere, kids probably will be hitting shotgun shells or setting their powder on fire. Others will be putting firecrackers in coke bottles. Others will be putting what they think are duds into their mouths.

July Fourth parade set for Saturday

A parade, the appearance of "Miss Texas Universe," and a brief ceremony on the courthouse steps Saturday will mark the annual celebration of July Fourth.

Rick Reich, parade marshal, said some 160 invitations have been sent out to organizations, inviting them to participate in the parade. Some 18 other organizations have already indicated they will participate and Reich said he is hoping between 120 and 125 organizations will be in the parade, which begins at 3 p.m.

The parade will start from the parking lot of the Community Center with floats and entries to be lined up on Avenue C and Avenue D back to Union Street. The entries will travel west down Park Avenue to Main Street then down Main to Second Street where they will turn east to Sampson Street. From Sampson Street the parade will travel north to the court house for the brief ceremony.

Brenda Box of Amarillo, "Miss Texas Universe," will be at the court house to award the five trophies to the outstanding floats in the parade. Miss Box, sponsored in her pageants by the Amarillo Jaycees, will ride in the parade in a decorated car of the Hereford Jaycees.

Trophies will be awarded for best float, best band, best riding club (for juniors and seniors) and best decorated bicycle.

Following the presentation of the trophies, the Hereford High School Band will play the "Star Spangled Banner" and the local Veterans of Foreign Wars will give a 21-gun salute. The ceremony will close with a prayer by a Hereford minister.

No speeches will be given and the bells throughout the city will not ring.

The parade, Reich said, may last as long as an hour and the court house ceremony only 15 to 20 minutes.

All three of Amarillo's television stations, KVII, KFDA and KGNC will film the parade for their newscasts, Reich said.

Saturday evening the Oasis Shrine will serve their annual barbecue at the Bull Barn from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. and the Elks will sponsor a dance at their lodge on Country Club Drive.

The water must percolate through about 60 feet of silty sediment before it hits the cap-rock formation. From the cap-rock formation it must travel about 160 feet into the Ogallala formation.

"Where everybody is real excited about ecology and contamination, the water from these pits would be filtered through 60 feet of real fine material and there would very unlikely be any contamination that would reach the underground table," Schneider said.

O. R. Jones, soil scientist, has been assisting Schneider in planning the project.

TEXAS' OPENING — City Commissioner Bartley Dowell, right, of here and State Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo stand beside hostess Sue Pegg at the opening of the "Texas" pageant held at the amphitheatre in Palo Duro Canyon each summer.

Most families own their homes here

Compared with some sections of the country, home ownership in Deaf Smith County is at a high level.

According to the latest official figures, the proportion of local families that own the houses in which they live is relatively large.

The findings are based upon an analysis of reports released by the Department of Commerce, based upon data gathered during the recent Census of Housing.

It shows that no less than 54.8 per cent of all dwelling units in Deaf Smith County are now owned by their occupants.

Most of the upward trend in home ownership took place in the eight years or so prior to 1968, when there was little unemployment, when incomes were moving higher and when the availability of mortgage money at favorable rates made it possible for many families to attain their goal—a home of their own.

The figures for the local area show a total of 5,861 year-round dwelling units, of which 3,280 are owner-occupied.

Nationally, the number of home owners rose 7.1 million in the 10-year period, going from 32.8 million to 39.9 million, the Department of Commerce reports.

However, because of the increase in population during those years, the percentage of families in the United States who were living in their own homes was only slightly higher in 1970 than it was in 1960.

Although there has been much trading up in recent years, with people selling their homes to buy bigger and better ones, there has also been much money spent on improving the older dwellings through extensions, alterations and repairs.

During the past year alone, owners spent $14.8 billion on such upkeep and improvement, the government's figures show.

Because of inflation and the decline in housing construction in recent years, home values have been zooming in most areas.

Pony League to name all-stars

In Deaf Smith County, on the basis of the median price asked for local homes, $13,600, the total value of owner-occupied property comes to approximately $44,608,000, far above what it was in 1960, when the median value was only $10,500.

Commander Robert E. Peary discovered the North Pole on April 6, 1909.

Sir Francis Drake was the first Englishman to travel around the world.

The Pony League All-Stars will be announced Friday at the Bronco League Baseball Park during the games between the Bronco boys and the Campfire girls.

The announcements will be between 7:30 and 8 p.m. and all Pony League boys are asked to be at the game.

Special awards for batting, pitching and sportsmanship also will be presented during the announcing of the All-Stars.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

- Q I am a college student and earned $1,100 from my summer job last year. Do I still have to file a return?
- A If you are single and your gross income is under $1,700 or you are married with combined gross income of less than $2,300, you generally do not have to file a return. But if you had income tax withheld from your pay, you must file a return in order to get your refund.
- Q Are there any special tax benefits for blind taxpayers?
- A Yes. An additional $625 exemption is allowed for a taxpayer's blindness. The extra $625 exemption is also allowed if the taxpayer's spouse is blind. The exemption may be established by attaching a statement to the return to that effect. Blind taxpayers also may be entitled to certain medical expense deductions, such as a deduction for the maintenance of a "Guide" dog.
- Q Can I deduct the sales tax on the car I purchased last year?
- A Yes, you can deduct the sales tax on your car in addition to the amount allowed on the optional state sales tax tables in the back of your income tax return package.
- Q I filed my Federal income tax return, but have not received my refund. When will I get it?
- A If your return is complete and accurate, you should have your refund within 4-6 weeks from the day you filed.
- Q My wife and I are filing separate returns. Can I itemize while she takes the standard deduction?
- A No. On separate returns, each must use the same method of handling deductions. If one of you itemizes, then both must itemize deductions.
- Q I can't find the envelope for my tax return. Where do I send my return?
- A Your return should be mailed to the Internal Revenue Service Center serving your district. The address of the Internal Revenue Service Center for your area is listed on page three of your tax forms package instructions.
- Q Whom should I make my check payable to if I owe taxes?
- A Make check payable to the Internal Revenue Service. Put your Social Security number and what the payment is for on the check so that it can be identified should it become separated from your return during processing.
- Q I paid $10 to see a special showing of a movie for the benefit of our local police boys club. Can I deduct this amount on my income tax return?
- A You can deduct the excess of what you paid over the fair value of any goods or services received. If the regular price of the movie would have been $2, you have made a contribution of $8 ($10 minus $2). The $8 is deductible as a charitable contribution.

QUESTIONS I GET ABOUT U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

By SAM SHULSKY

- Q We are in our late 40s, both working now that our three children are grown, and still find that at the start of a new year we're no better off, financially, than we were a year ago. No investments; no savings. Money just seems to dribble through our fingers. What would you suggest?
- A I can't think of any device which would force you into the nearest savings bank on pay day. BUT, I certainly favor a system which would help you put money aside BEFORE you get your wages: A Payroll Savings Plan which would deduct X dollars a week from your wages to be put into Series E Savings Bonds.
- The U. S. Treasury is conducting its 1971 Savings Bonds drive. Leading executives of American business and industry are engaged in a campaign to boost 1971 payroll savings deductions for E Bonds by 10 percent over last year's goal.

"nest egg" medium is U. S. Savings Bonds.

You can get at the money in a moment; they grow at the rate of 5 percent, plus 1/2 of 1 percent at maturity; they are 100 percent backed by the U. S. Government, AND the accumulation of interest doesn't cost you a penny in Federal income tax until such time as you cash in the E Bonds. (U. S. Savings Bonds are exempt from state and local income and personal property taxes.)

- These men are engaged in a patriotic endeavor—which is fine. What I'm suggesting, however, is that you do something for yourself by building a nest egg this "painless" way; that is, by putting a portion of your wages into tax-deferred E Bonds BEFORE you get it. You'll be surprised at the way the money mounts up.
- Q We are newlyweds, both employed and in a high tax bracket. Our parents argue we ought to build up a nest egg before going into stocks. But the income taxes on the interest cut our effective return down to about 3 percent. Shouldn't we buy low-yield stocks?
- A Not until you acquire a substantial nest egg—as your parents advise. If your joint income puts you into a high tax bracket, your logical
- Q Hasn't the time run out for some of the older E Bonds?
- A No. All outstanding E and H Savings Bonds are still earning interest. The Treasury recently announced a third 10-year extension for E Bonds issued from May 1941 through April 1952, a second 10-year extension for E Bonds issued from May 1952 through January 1957, and a second 10-year extension for H Bonds issued from June 1952 through January 1957. Incidentally, Freedom Shares—sold in combination with E Bonds from May 1967 through June 1970—have been granted a 10-year extension, so they, too, will continue to earn interest.
- Q Should I cash in my old E Bonds and buy new ones paying the higher rate?
- A No. The Treasury Department has advised against this procedure. All outstanding Savings Bonds—regardless of age—have had their yields improved so that they, too, benefit from the "bonus" rate. Further, if you redeemed your older Bonds, you'd be subject to income tax on the accrued interest, and could actually suffer a setback.

MEET YOU AT THE "GALLERY"—Meredith Wilcox and Butch McCaslin, coordinators of the arts and crafts shop, proudly display some of the art work done at the "Gallery," upstairs at Carl McCaslin Lumber Company.

Creativity thrives at Hereford's 'Gallery'

By MARKI McBRIDE
Staff Writer

Surrounded by decorated purses, decoupage boards, and art supplies, a group of apron-clad ladies with paint brushes in hand, talked comfortably while intently working on their toile painting lesson offered in the "Gallery," upstairs at Carl McCaslin's Lumber Company.

The "Gallery" is the new arts and crafts department of the lumber yard, featuring free supervised art instruction from Meredith Wilcox, on any craft drawing interest.

Butch McCasland, who supervises the department, said the idea of the Gallery began to take form about four months ago.

"Originally we wanted a separate department for our picture frames. Then, as we looked at other art departments and talked among ourselves, we became very interested in crafts and decided to include this in the Gallery," McCasland said.

"Our prime reason for opening a department of this type was to meet public demand and to attract the women to the yard. We wanted to make an area appealing to the ladies."

In Mrs. Wilcox, the Gallery has an instructor that can teach many types of crafts. Besides teaching lessons, Mrs. Wilcox manages all phases of the Gallery, including the sales of supplies, pictures frames, and locating area experts to come and help local people with their crafts. A student must buy materials from the department in return for the free instruction.

Toile painting, purse making, milk can creations, gold leafing, decoupage, paper toiling, and keep-sake books are some of the crafts drawing the most interest. Any art and craft that anyone is interested in, will be taught, Mrs. Wilcox said.

Paper mache, furniture refinishing, crackle-art, trans-art, bead necklaces and rings, and plaster of paris are some of the crafts drawing the most interest.

All ages can come. Adult and teen-age classes are now being taught. One may bring cans, boards or anything from home that is paintable.

Many decoupage prints are available, boards of any shape or size, custom frames, and all craft materials are in stock.

The Gallery draws many interested people during each day and everyone is urged by Mrs. Wilcox to come chat and have a cup of coffee.

Mrs. John Gilliland feels that coming to the Gallery is relaxing. "It is more fun to create when you are sharing it with others," she said.

"Coming to the Gallery makes me real happy," said Mrs. Jack McKinster. "The finer things in life come from being happy. Hereford is a fine place and something like this that offers so much was meant for Hereford. I just wish I had more time to spend up here."

Mrs. Wilcox studied art at Oklahoma University, where she received her bachelor of fine arts degree in drama. She has taken private art lessons in Arkansas, Tulsa, and Oklahoma City. She has studied at the Patricia Nimock Connoisseur Art

Man convicted here may win prison release

A Canyon man who was sentenced to 12 years in the state prison in a 1968 attempted murder with malice case here could be freed in a short time, his attorney said last week.

The man, Bill Clifford, drew the Deaf Smith County sentence when he was found guilty of shooting Billy Joe Stevens at a Hereford Feed yard on April 8, 1968. Just prior to the shooting of Stevens, Clifford had shot and killed his wife while his three small children looked on.

Walter Wolfram, Clifford's attorney from Amarillo, said U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward has ordered the state board of pardons and paroles to give Clifford a hearing within 40 days or Clifford would automatically be freed from prison.

Wolfram said the board of pardons and paroles recommended that Clifford be paroled in May of 1970 and the governor accepted the recommendation. He said the board later withdrew the recommendation without a hearing.

Clifford was sentenced to two years in the shooting death of his wife.

Shriners have annual barbecue at Bull Barn

The Oasis Shrine Club will have its third annual barbecue Saturday to benefit handicapped children.

The barbecue will be in the Bull Barn, with serving to begin at 5 p. m., or shortly before if the line is already started, Shriners said.

"Tickets may be purchased in advance from Shriners or at the door for $2 for adults or $1 for children under 12.

"I feel I am a creative individual. I like to create pretty things. This is why I love what I am doing," Mrs. Wilcox said.

Very active in community work, Mrs. Wilcox is a member of the Hereford Art Guild, Women's Chamber of Commerce, on the board of Community Players, and the volunteer coordinator of Satellite.

She and her husband Jack have three daughters, Margaret Ann, 19, Meredith, 16, and Julie, 12. They are members of St. John's Episcopal Church.

LS Club tours Colony

An educational summer trip for Lone Star Study Club members Tuesday began with a luncheon in Amarillo followed by a complete tour of Colonial Catherine, located on the edge of Palo Duro Canyon.

Tour hostess was Mrs. Robert Kenzie, an owner in partnership.

Mrs. Kenzie gave the history of the Colony and explained its craft and art works, paintings, interior decorating, sculpturing and the process of printing material for draperies and wall covering.

Club members visited the art studios of Jack Lane on their way back to Hereford.

Attending were Mrs. W. O. McCutchen, guest, Mmes. S. S. Williams, Hardy Benson, Jim Bookout, H. E. Henslee, Jim Higgins, G. W. Newsom, Ed Warren, Carl Williams and R. G. Blue.

REQUIRES EFFORT

URBANA, Ill. — Development of rural areas into industrial-residential communities requires more effort, more imagination and more money than similar developments in metropolitan areas.

Howard Roepke, president of the Illinois Development Council, said, despite this, information now indicates a higher industrial-growth rate in Illinois' non-metropolitan areas.

A professor of economic geography at the University of Illinois, Roepke estimates that about 13 per cent of Illinois workers in manufacturing are now living in non-metropolitan areas.

Roepke said major disadvantages facing rural communities include lack of facilities and lack of skills — or lack of identification of skills.

Funeral rites conducted for David Solomon

Funeral services for David Thomas Solomon, 19, were conducted Tuesday afternoon in the First United Methodist Church. The Rev. Clifford Trotter of Amarillo, formerly of Hereford, officiated.

He was assisted by the Rev. W. A. Appling, pastor and the Rev. Norman Cobb, associate pastor.

Burial was in Rest Lawn Memorial Park Cemetery by Gilliland Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Marsh Pitman, Wayne Winget, Russell Phillips, Rory McMinn, Tom McGowen and Joe Mac Angel.

Honorary pallbearers were Jimmie Childers, Mike Watts, Dannie Bumpass, Bill Russell, Bill Watts, Carl Brown and John Stagner.

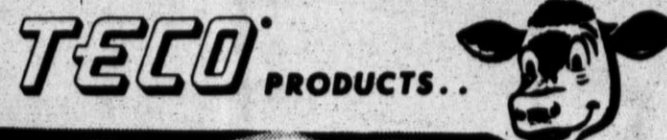

Mr. Solomon died early Saturday morning at the base hospital at Ft. Lee, Va. following a brief illness. He was stationed at Ft. Lee at the time of his death.

A Hereford High School graduate with the class of 1969, he attended West Texas State University for one year before entering the U. S. Army in March 1971.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garland S. Solomon, one brother, Stanley, and two grandmothers, Mrs. Velma Solomon and Mrs. Glennie Hill, all of Hereford.

The family requests that memorials be made to the Crippled Children's Fund at the Hereford State Bank.

BIG MOUTH TO FEED — Bill Harrison, curator of anthropology at the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum, measures the front teeth on the lower jaw of a prehistoric phytosaur. The jaw was recently donated to the museum.

Bill Murren takes WT cage position

CANYON — Bill Murren, a former basketball passing wizard at Texas Tech, has been elevated to the post of assistant basketball coach at West Texas State University from his role this past season as a graduate assistant coaching the freshman team.

Athletic director Gene Mayfield made the announcement Wednesday afternoon. Murren replaces Lonnie Nichols, who resigned recently to become head basketball coach at Tarleton State College.

The 36-year old Murren played for head Buffalo basketball coach Dennis Walling at Decatur, Texas Baptist College and earned Junior College All-American honors.

Murren, whose hometown is Atlantic City, N.J., played service basketball at Fort Meade, MD., prior to enrolling at Decatur Baptist College in 1960.

During his sophomore season (1961-62) at Decatur, he earned all-state and All-American honors, was most valuable player in the Howard County Christmas Tournament and was team tri-captain.

He scored over 1,000 points in his two years of playing for Walling. While at Decatur, he played forward and post man. At Texas Tech he was a ball-handling guard.

Murren started two years for Texas Tech (1962-64) and averaged 10 points per game over the two-year period. He graduated from Tech with a B. A. degree in business in 1964. He attended Tech for one more year to receive his teaching certificate. He is slated to receive his master's degree this summer from West Texas State.

He did his practice teaching in the Lubbock public school system and was then head basketball coach at Coronado High School in Lubbock for three years prior to taking the freshman coaching job at West Texas.

Coronado had a 16-14 record under Murren his first season and fared 14-16 the following year. In his final season Coronado had a 10-1 mark, despite the fact three senior starters were injured or became ill just prior to the start of the season.

In that third year Coronado was picked eighth in the district, but finished seventh in the first half of division play and fourth in the second half.

In two years of coaching service ball teams, Murren had a 22-2 record and he guided intramural teams at Tech to a 26-3 mark.

Murren and his wife, the former Margaret Sims of Fort Worth, have no children.

Camp Makuiwa registration is open for a week

Registration for resident camp, Camp Makuiwa, for Campfire girls has been extended to July 9.

The camp, held at Vadito, N. M., is scheduled for July 25-31. All Campfire girls having completed the fourth grade are eligible for the camp.

Registration blanks may be picked up at the Campfire Lodge. The card must be completed and signed by parent or guardian when it is turned in. A medical certificate must be filled out and signed by a physician and in by July 16.

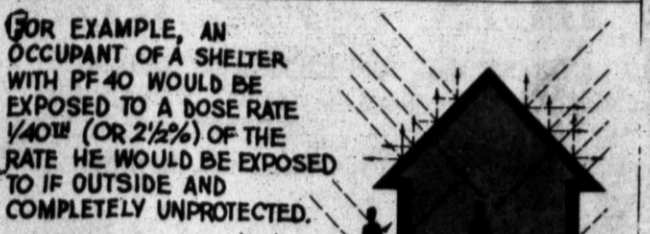

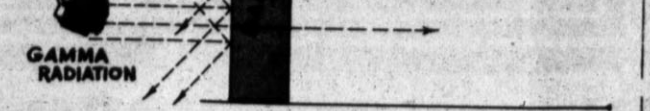

Sponsors will accompany the campers on the trip. More information may be obtained by inquiring at the Campfire Lodge.

Prehistoric animal jaw is given to West Texas State

CANYON — The lower jaw of a prehistoric phytosaur, recently acquired by the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum, suggests that the creature might not have been an ideal house pet.

Judging from the length of the jaw, Bill Harrison, curator of anthropology at the museum, estimates the size of the creature to have been in excess of 20 feet. The jaw alone is about three feet in length, he says.

The fossil was donated by a former Lubbock resident and amateur archeologist, William H. Skelton.

Skelton, a former student at West Texas State University, excavated the jaw himself in nearby Palo Duro Canyon during the late 1930s. He kept it in a cement cast until recently, when he moved to Austin to take a position with the Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Harrison describes the creature as being a crocodile-alligator type amphibian. He says the jaw dates back 180 million years to the Triassic period, when the Panhandle was mostly marshes and swampland.

"This particular jaw is unusually large with many fine teeth," Harrison said.

He said it was also unique in that the six large front teeth, each about three inches long and as big around as a nickle, were found intact.

Harrison said the large teeth probably were used to catch prey. It is believed the creature fed on fish and other marine life.

With the six large front teeth and the more than 30 smaller teeth, is evident the phytosaur's diet was not restricted to small prey, he said.

Harrison said that during the Triassic period phytosaurs were quite prevalent throughout the Texas Panhandle.

For several years, an entire phytosaur skull has been on display in the museum. However, it is smaller than the jaw donated by Skelton and bears few teeth.

Compensation For Frigh?
 Truck driver Fred, on a downhill slope, suddenly discovered that his brakes had failed. To his consternation, the truck began to pick up speed. Finally Fred managed to bring it to a halt against a hillside.
 A short time later, however, he suffered a stroke. Could he collect workmen's compensation for his disability?
 In a court test, the company argued that he could not.
 "There was no physical injury at the time of the accident," said the company. "He just got very frightened. Workmen's compensation was never intended to protect a workman against mere fright."

Adrian news

By ANN BEAVERS

Mrs. Larry Guffey took the Adrian High School Cheerleaders to Lubbock, Saturday morning. They will spend six days at the National Cheerleading Clinic at Texas Tech. Saturday night the girls, Beth Lloyd, Vicki Lloyd, Janie Wood and Belva Jackson, got to participate at the half time of the East West All American Football game in Lubbock. Mrs. Lawrence Jackson will pick the girls up on Thursday.

Saturday night on the late shift at Tommy's Cafe in Adrian, two male tourists came in and ate steaks. Then one went to the men's room and the other one wandered around the cafe for several minutes, and asked the waitress to pour more coffee, while he went outside to make a phone call. The waitress asked where the other one was and he said in the men's room. So she poured coffee and waited, and waited. A check of the men's room showed the screen had been cut off and the man was gone. The waitress checked outside and both were gone. Roadblocks were set up, but no trace was found of the two full men with catsup on their face.

7:30 for the wedding of Miss Tanya Travis and David Vinyard. Rev. and Mrs. Don Travis of Adrian and Amarillo are parents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Vinyard of Amarillo are parents of the bridegroom.

Tanya was given in marriage by her father. Her only attendants were Susie Vinyard, Donette Travis and Leesa Simmers. Groomsmen were Ricky Holmes and Charlie Bates.

The ceremony was performed by Buck Ramsey, a celebrant. A reception followed the ceremony at the cabin home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Vinyard.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Travis of Adrian attended the wedding.

Mrs. Mary Sue Gibson of Shreveport, Mr. & Mrs. Arvie Reeves, Mrs. Mae Crawford & Dwayne and Charles Benton attended the Sorrells family reunion in Wellington this past weekend.

The grove at the Palo Duro Country Club near Canyon was the scene Saturday evening at

Mr. and Mrs. Hambrick reside in Lubbock

Couple is at home in Lubbock

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pat Hambrick are at home in Lubbock following their recent marriage in Central Baptist Church of Lubbock. Dr. E. Harold Henderson officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride, the former Miss Doriss June Horton of Lubbock, are Mr. and Mrs. John Horton of Adrian. Hambrick is son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hambrick of Ballinger.

Her father gave the bride in marriage. She wore a white street-length dress and carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

The couple was attended by Mrs. John E. Curtis of Albuquerque and G. W. Bailey of Lubbock.

A reception followed the ceremony and the couple left on a honeymoon trip to New Orleans. Hambrick is a summer senior student at Texas Tech University.

Georgia is the largest state east of the Mississippi.

REPUBLICAN CONGRESSMAN WANTS NIXON IMPEACHED

By HENRY CATHCART

Central Press Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—By launching a "national dialogue" on impeaching President Nixon, Republican Rep. Paul McCloskey of California concedes he may be bringing his congressional career to an end.

Leading Republicans on Capitol Hill agree. McCloskey may become a national figure through his campaign, but if the Republican establishment has its way, McCloskey is finished in Republican politics.

The first step came recently when GOP leaders forced cancellation of a scheduled McCloskey appearance before the national Young Republican Leadership Training School here.

McCloskey went to the training session anyway, but he drew only 150 to a parking lot rally. Many of those who showed carried signs saying "Impeach McCloskey," "Work for Peace, Nixon Does," and "Build, Don't Wreck."

But the big battle will be fought in McCloskey's northern California district in 1972 when McCloskey will face stiff and well-financed opposition in a Republican primary.

That Republicans of national stature are already planning McCloskey's ouster is an indication of how deeply the GOP feels about this two-term California congressman.

● THE REASON—Why would McCloskey invite isolation from the Republican party in a seemingly hopeless campaign against a Republican President?

The answer to that question can, in part, be found in the friendship that closely links McCloskey to former Rep. Allard Lowenstein, D-N.Y., who launched the 1967 dump-Johnson movement.

The two have spent many an evening here privately talking about the war and how they individually can best stop it now.

"His words," McCloskey says, "have been quite an inspiration." Then, too, McCloskey has never tried to court the favor of the party's faithful. Elected to Congress in a special election in 1967, the former Marine lieutenant colonel and Korean War hero defeated one-time child actress Shirley Temple Black, the GOP organization's choice for the seat.

Once in Washington he quickly established himself as a moderate dove and a supporter of the liberal Republican minority in the House. When GOP Leader Gerald Ford launched his effort to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, for example, McCloskey took the floor to challenge his party's spokesman.

Today McCloskey carefully avoids saying that he will actually introduce the impeachment resolution against the President. But he openly asserts Nixon should be threatened with impeachment as a means of changing the administration's Vietnam policy.

● "LIKE GERMANY"—"We're doing just what we executed Germans for doing at Nuremberg," he said in a recent interview. "We said that it was a war crime."

GOP leaders retort that McCloskey's impeachment threat is so unthinkable that even "radical liberal" Democrats have yet to propose it. "If he feels that way," one Nixonite congressman said, "why doesn't he (McCloskey) leave the party himself?"

That is always a possibility. But McCloskey's California district (located just south of San Francisco) is staunchly Republican though not necessarily conservative territory. He may have to take his chances in a Republican primary.

Anyway, as McCloskey himself puts it, "I will probably have served my last term in Congress."

WHITEFACE FIELD
HEREFORD, TEXAS

School system has big grass problem

The Hereford school system is having problems with the grass on the football field.

Larry Wartes, coordinator of special services, said Tuesday that portions of the field particularly the middle, were reseeded and now they must wait to see if the new grass will take hold.

"We think it is going to be all right. We believe we will have grass by the time our season gets here, but we should know for sure by next week," he said.

The middle of the field was replanted with common Bermuda grass and the edges, where the grass was in better condition, was left untouched.

The entire field got into bad shape because school officials had to wait more than a week to water it because of the Encounter '71 crusade held there last week.

"It just got to where it needed water real bad," Wartes said. "We couldn't water it for several days before the crusade because they had some big trucks coming in and out for several days and then we couldn't water it during the crusade."

"We have been off of it about two weeks now with water and that put us behind."

Wartes said unless "something bad happens," he feels the grass planted last week will come up and be ready for the football season. If it does not come up, the school will go ahead and play out the coming football season then go in and plow up the entire field and replant it.

The field has about two-and-one-half months before a game will be played on it. The first home game for the Whitefaces will be against the Palo Duro Dons during the second week of the season.

"I believe in a week we will know how it is going to turn out. I think it is going to be okay," he said.

The new coordinator of special services said he is not sure of the cause of the problem, other than the lack of water, but it could be in the soil. He said he has been told that when the stadium was built, some extra soil was put in around the middle of the field and "this may have something to do with it."

CHURCH CONVERTED
JARROW, England — Plans to transform the 1300-year-old church of St. Paul's, Jarrow, into a center for evangelism and study have been announced by the rector, the Rev. Harold Saxby. St. Paul's, which was consecrated in AD 685, will be developed as a collegiate foundation for Anglican Benedictines.

Shower honors couple

Miss Cynthia Boren and fiance Jerry Stewart who plan to marry August 5, were honored at an informal shower and party hosted Friday evening by women of the Dawn Community.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boren and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stewart. Both families are residents of the Dawn Community.

Approximately 60 guests were registered by Miss Bette Stewart, sister of the prospective bridegroom.

Hostesses were Mmes. Edgar Sowell, Leroy Johnson, Eldon Owens, Pat Miller, Pat Smith, Dick Golden, J. D. Fowler, Carl Wimberley and Richard Hagar.

Punch and cookies were served by Miss Terri Owens and alternating hostesses from a table laid with beige lace over yellow cloth.

For the evening the honoree wore a one-piece yellow dress with circular skirt and a white carnation corsage tied with yellow streamers and net.

The first shot in the Civil War was fired at Fort Sumter.

Host of Inquiry leads two lives

The host of the television show Inquiry, leads two entirely different lives, or rather plays two parts. He is all that is good to his viewers and quite the opposite in private life. Check this book out today at Deaf Smith County Library.

TALK SHOW
by Noel B. Gerson

Lester Corbett is an American entertainment institution. As the host of Inquiry, he guides and rules and runs the single most popular television show in the United States.

He is indisputably the master of his work, and he is paid a master's price in cash and power and public love.

Lester Corbett's private life is his own, and hard-earned. But even here he likes to spread the wealth—through a compulsive and almost superhuman sexuality that involves him with his constant mistress (Inquiry's chief writer), with other young women who work on the show, even with some of his female guests.

His own wife suffers—he would prefer not to touch her—but the rest of the women around him welcome his use of them, for he is Lester Corbett and very much in control.

His control begins to slip when, on the air, before millions of startled viewers he says something unexpected about a distinguished guest, the Governor of Ohio and his party's nearly unanimous choice for President: Lester Corbett accuses Governor Winston of a ghastly crime.

Public reaction to this startling accusation is swift, and little of it is favorable. Pressure is exerted on Lester Corbett in numerous ways.

By the Governor himself, who puts a detective on him in the hope of uncovering enough about his private life to discredit him. By a right wing sponsor, who couldn't be more pleased at the blow leveled at the Governor's career.

And by Lester Corbett's own network bosses, who promise him permanent obscurity unless he delivers an on-the-air apology and retraction, neither of which he is about to make.

In his attempt to emerge first man and alive, Lester Corbett must face and deal with the whole power structure of the television industry, with blackmail that threatens to make public the most perverse night in his life, and with a murder that is certainly among the most perfect ever perpetrated.

Here, then, is the novel about the world of television and those men who sit upon its thrones, on stage and off.

THE KINGS OF VAIN INTENT
by Graham Shelby
When the book opens the Crusaders are bitterly divided. The King and his advisers who are responsible for the catastrophic defeat at the hands of Saladin are trying to pick up the broken remnants of their authority.

But the unscrupulous adventurer Conrad of Montferrat holds the ace of trumps in the shape of the all-important harbor and castle of Tyre. Both factions are busily intriguing for the support of the great tulers of the West, Richard of England, Philip Augustus of France and the Emperor Frederick Barbarossa, who have solemnly vowed to come to the rescue of the Christian Kingdom.

The clash between the comparatively sophisticated and civilized Saracens and the fierce barbaric representatives of the Christian West is one of the strangest and most exciting episodes in history.

Graham Shelby's first novel about the Crusading Kingdom of Jerusalem, The Knights of Dark Renown, was widely praised for its combination of pace, color and vivid characterization.

In this, its sequel, as in the earlier book, the things which the reader will find most difficult to believe in are those for which there is the best historical evidence.

The story of the Third Crusade could not have been invented by anyone who bothered about probability.

And the character of Richard the Lionheart, who dominates in this book as he did in real life, personifies those extra ordinary contradictions of romance and avarice, of chivalry and cold blooded atrocity that fascinate the most unwilling imagination.

MONSRANCE ACQUIRED
CHICAGO—The Art Institute of Chicago has acquired a monsrance used in special church rituals and processions created by Joseph Moser, an 18th century Viennese goldsmith.

The iconography of the various sculptural details relates to the adoration of the Host. Around the base are placed cut sheaves of wheat and bunches of grapes which symbolize bread and wine.

It was purchased through the Emily Crane Chadbourne fund.

Most poisonous of all snakes is the King Cobra.

American Field Service (AFS) students from 27 countries will be guests of local families during a four-day bus stopover in Hereford July 1-5.

These 16 to 18-year-old passengers, who have spent the past year living with a family and attending school in the U. S., will arrive at Hereford High School Cafeteria at 11 p.m. July 1.

They will be met by the AFS Committee and host families. At least one adult member of the host family should be present at this meeting.

A full schedule of events has been planned for these AFS International Scholarship recipients to help them encounter many sides of American life during their stay in Hereford.

Bus stop chairman, Jack Nunley will welcome them on their arrival at the HHS Cafeteria. Friday will be a day of rest and relaxation and get-acquainted-time with their host families. Mrs. Nunley and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Ruland also are on the bus stop committee. Friday evening, the AFS students and families will be guests at a swimming party at Green Acres Swimming Pool.

Saturday afternoon at 2:30, students and host families will meet at HHS Cafeteria to leave for a picnic supper in Palo Duro Park. The group will attend the production of "TEXAS" in the evening.

Sunday will be family day. A tour of Holly Sugar Plant will be available in the afternoon as will tours of local feed yards.

Monday morning the ASF students will leave from HHS Cafeteria to continue their journey.

From Hereford, this AFS group will caravan to Garden City, Kan., for another bus stopover. From there they will travel to their End-of-Stay Conference in Kansas City, where they will meet with 630 other AFS students from 64 countries to pool their experiences of the past year. The conference will conclude their three-week bus tour prior to returning to their respective homelands.

The purpose of the four conferences, to be held simultaneously for more than 2,700 AFS students from overseas on July 1 and 13 in Kansas City, Mo., Fredonia, N. Y., Detroit and

Washington, D. C., is to broaden their perspective by bringing them into close contact with students from other countries.

Additionally, the conferences provide a transition period prior to their return home trip and help to cushion the break from their host families.

AFS International Scholarships conducts world-wide scholarship programs for 16 to 18-year-old students in 64 countries.

By encouraging participants to examine their own attitudes while gaining insights into the feelings and aspirations of others, AFS seeks to promote understanding between people throughout the globe.

More than 56,000 scholarship recipients from eighty countries have had the opportunity to experience family and school life in another land for over 5 years.

A non-profit, non-political organization, AFS originated during World War I as a volunteer ambulance service.

Bridal shower fetes area girl

Peggy McClendon of Amarillo, the bride of Marcus E. Jacobsen was honored Friday at a bridal shower in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

The couple was married Tuesday evening in San Jacinto United Methodist Church of Amarillo. Jacobsen is the son of the late Mr. John N. Jacobsen Jr. and Mrs. Jacobsen; 209 East Sixth.

Receiving guests with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. R. Ben McClendon and her sister Carol McClendon, both of Amarillo, Mrs. Jacobsen, mother of the groom, and his grandmother, Mrs. John N. Jacobsen Sr.

Mrs. Jerry Bybee of Amarillo registered guests. They were served cookies and punch by Mrs. Eldon Haul and Mrs. Buddy Edwards.

Decorations were done in shades of pink through red. A cutwork cloth overlaid a rose colored cloth on the serving table. An arrangement of pink roses in silver candelabra with burning tapers served as centerpiece.

For the afternoon the honoree wore a white lace dress and pink sweetheart rose corsage.

Approximately 100 persons called or sent gifts.

AUSTIN — Gov. Preston Smith, in an unprecedented move to action, turned the job of rewriting the entire 1973 state budget to a special legislative session next year.

Smith took the axe to $3.1 billion in state spending which he found "unnecessary and unwarranted" for the second half of the biennium. He announced his decision on a statewide television program, and said that he will submit to the lawmakers, before September 1972, a new 1973 budget proposal which will require no new taxes.

Smith made it clear that a 1972 special session is inevitable, anyway, because the Legislature did not appropriate welfare funds for the second year.

Governor's action may accomplish the following regardless of whether a new tax bill can be avoided next year (Texas Research League estimates a $474 million biennial tax bill will be required in the 1972 special sessions):

- Legislators will have to take a sober second look at spending items in an election year when many are faced with general election contests.
- Fact that little additional federal aid is available for welfare spending, in spite of predictions by Smith, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and others, will be partially obscured, since the special session will not be confined to welfare alone but opened to the entire area of government spending for 1973.

Smith declined to reveal his future political plans but left dangling the prospect of a third term race.

Governor claims the public response has been almost 100 per cent favorable to his historic veto. Lieutenant Governor and House Speaker Gus Mutsaers pledged cooperation.

COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court, in a five-four decision, held that an insurance company can't fight its policyholders in suits against uninsured motorists except in unusual situations.

A man fired by an oil company for not getting enough new business in the Beaumont-Houston area was granted a new trial through a Supreme Court order.

High Court upheld the county court at law finding that a San Antonio woman could collect damages from the City of San Antonio for condemnation of her land and for damage to property due to erosion.

Supreme Court heard arguments in the Braniff and Texas International Airways effort to ground the new Southwest Airlines (Dallas, Houston, San Antonio routes).

Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the death penalty of a man convicted of a 1967 knife murder of a Baylor University coed and ordered a new trial. Trial of former San Marcos Police Chief Waymon Dial, for burglary, has been transferred to Harris County.

AG OPINIONS — Texas Water Quality Board may contract for the state with the federal government for federal grants on loans under the federal water pollution control act — subject to a 60-day limitation and the governor's approval — Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

- *El Paso can contract with the Council of Governments for a recreation area partly within the city limits, partly in the county and partly in Dona Ana county, New Mexico.
- *National Guard Armory Board has authority to determine the lowest and best bid and best interest of the state on armory construction which involves unknown factors on a fixed bid, price and congressional factors.

Concentrated Employment Project federal funds are not subject to auditing procedures applicable to county funds.

*A city fireman, on returning from military leave, is entitled to credit for the time spent in service, in figuring city payroll longevity.

*Where the legislature has made specific lump sum appropriations, for hourly wages, the head of a state agency to whom the appropriation is made has the discretion to fix the hourly rate of pay.

APPOINTMENTS — James L. Lindsey of College Station, long-time newspaperman in Midland, San Angelo and San Antonio, was named by Governor Smith to succeed Dr. Elmer Baum of Austin on the State Banking Board.

Smith also recently named: Emory Walton of Eastland — criminal district attorney for the county;

Dr. Hampton C. Robinson of Houston (reappointment) — State Board of Health;

J. R. Owen of Taylor — 26th district attorney;

Jack C. McKenzie of Corpus Christi, Curtis C. Gunn of San Antonio, H. G. Andrews Jr. of Stamford, Dick McAlain of Houston, Finner Tubbs of Lubbock and W. O. Bankston of Dallas — Texas Motor Vehicle Commission; Harold Boyd Harvey of Lubbock — Industrial Accident Board.

Governor also named a 41-member Texas Film Commission. District Judge Tom Davis of Vernon and Earl E. F. Dally of Houston have been appointed commissioners for the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Attorney General Martin is the new president of the National Association of Attorneys General.

Richard Keahey of Austin is now director of the Veterans Land Program and Jim Watson of Lubbock is General Land Office personnel director.

CITIES COLLECT $35.5 MILLION — Texas cities which levy a one per cent local option sales tax received nearly $35.5 million from January-March collections on sales within their boundaries.

Collection for the first quarter of 1971 compared with $39.6 million for the final quarter of 1970 and $36.5 million for the third quarter of 1970.

More than 400 cities levy local option sales tax. Money goes to the state comptroller and is handed back to cities of origin. During the quarter ending March 31, the state retained $719,756 as its service fee.

INSURANCE RATE HIKE ASKED AGAIN — Auto insurance companies were expected to request rate increases of more than 25 per cent at a hearing before the State Insurance Board June 30.

Companies six months ago were granted a 14 per cent increase, but were far from happy and insisted on more. They wanted a 27 per cent boost.

A new law permits motorists to purchase deductible liability insurance if they are willing to assume the risk of the first $250 damage their car may do to property. Another new act gives the State Insurance Board direction to promulgate rules for cancellation and non-renewal of policies.

SIX CITIES WIN CITATION — Six Texas cities received plaques as winners of governor's community achievement award. Cities were Victoria, Trinity, Mansfield, Taylor, Lamesa and Grand Prairie Awards went for efforts to improve the quality of living.

PARKS APPROVED — A $558,600 project for Lake Arrowhead State Park near Wichita Falls has been approved, with state and federal agencies splitting the cost.

Two park projects totalling $510,400 were approved for Dallas; as were a $274,613 land acquisition for Denton park; a $75,200 park land purchase in Pasadena and a $51,200 new park purchase in Terrell.

SHORT SNORTS Construction of a million dollars worth of new ward buildings has been started at Rusk State Hospital.

After September 1, Texas Department of Public Safety law officer recruits must have a semester's college training or agree to get it within two years after enlistment.

Texas Parent-Teachers Association board of managers went on record as opposing busing to achieve school racial balance.

Construction in the state declined four per cent in May after a rise during the last three months.

A total of 16 Texans have lost their lives in water accidents during the last six months, Texas Safety Association noted in warning that the most-dangerous months for such accidents are just ahead.

State Banking Department has applications for new state banks in Richardson, Waco and Longview.

Lieutenant Governor Barnes announced cancellation of the trip of 1,300 Texans to Paris, Stockholm and Moscow to plead for release of American prisoners of war in Indochina, since there was little hope of the trip's success.

Travel costs soar higher

(Special to the Brand)

NEW YORK, June 26 —Deaf Smith County residents who are planning automobile trips to various parts of the country, now that the vacation season is at hand, will find that travel costs are higher than ever this year.

Inflation has had its effect on the prices of overnight accommodations, food, gas and almost every other item of daily need.

According to the latest figures from the American Automobile Association, local travelers will have to spend about 16 percent more per day than they did two years ago.

What it amounts to, for two persons traveling together, is an additional $6.50 a day.

The total needed for essentials, per Deaf Smith County couple, on the basis of the AAA findings, is now $46 a day. This compares with the $39.50 that was considered adequate in 1969. This assumes that they will average 300 miles a day and get 14 miles to the gallon of gas.

The $46 is budgeted as follows: meals and snacks, $16, which is $2 more than in 1969, lodging, $17, an increase of $3, gas and oil $9, up 50 cents, and tips and miscellaneous items, $4, or $1 more than before.

How much a couple may spend over and above these amounts — for amusements, recreation, souvenirs and other purchases — will depend upon their means and their desires.

While considering travel costs, the question that also arises, for Deaf Smith County car owners, is the more fundamental one of how much it is costing them per year to own and operate their cars.

Here, again, the AAA has come up with the current figures. It finds that it costs an average of $1,550, or 15.5 cents a mile, to own and drive a late-model standard sedan in the medium price range at the rate of 10,000 miles a year.

This includes $425 for gas, oil and maintenance, and $1,125 for insurance, depreciation, licensing and registration.

To own and operate the 8,340 cars registered in Deaf Smith County, local residents are spending an estimated $12,927,000 a year.

The record amount of car travel in the area has been a boon to local service stations, whose annual receipts have reached $3,323,000, as against the previous year's $3,236,000.

Harvard University, founded in 1636, is the oldest college in the United States.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

Congratulations to the merchants in Hereford who weekly sponsor the full-page ad of inducement to people to attend church; and in turn congratulations to the churches participating in the crusade. All good things work together — and "God Works With Us, As We Work in Harmony with Him." Consequently this boomerang of food certainly shows in witnessing in Deaf Smith County.

"Director Likes Job With Kids!" This Marki McBride staff writer testimonial and witnessing story means a great deal to me. It directly relates to my reason for having to move from Hereford in 1951. There was no Day Care Center for the children of working mothers and as I was sole support of a son eight, and an infant son, it was vitally important to me to receive the care Mrs. Anna Jo Wilson is now giving.

The Amarillo Day Nurseries helped raise my sons, and since being in California I have seen the good guidance through dedication as that given by Mrs. Wilson helping others to help themselves.

Thank you for printing great human interest witness news of daily life in a hometown of which I have always thought of with great pride!

Floor care is topic of study

Argen Draper presented a program on floor care at a meeting of Cultural Home Demonstration Club Friday in the home of Mrs. Grady Parsons.

Roll call was answered with "an easy floor care idea."

Mrs. Draper suggested the use of a cotton or rayon mop when applying new wax.

Guests present were Mrs. Cap Holden and Mrs. Ronald Corbett and daughter Kathy.

Other members in attendance were Mmes. J. D. Love, M. W. Sumner, J. G. Gandy, Ira Scott, P. M. Houser and Paul Corbett.

The next meeting will be installation of officers Sept. 10. Mrs. Paul Corbett will be installing officer.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor

The pleasure was mine to be in Hereford during "Encounter '71." I don't know when I have met such wonderful people and been associated with such an exciting atmosphere as I was during that week. I express my appreciation to Gerald Mann, pastor of First Baptist Church, and Raymond White, director of the crusade.

I especially want to thank publicly, the stage band that played each evening under the direction of Ben Gollehon, and the wonderful crusade choir that gave their time and talents over and above the call of duty.

Hereford is a wonderful city and I was extremely pleased to be there during "Encounter '71."

Sincerely,
Bob Burroughs

BISHOP RETIRES

LONDON — Bishop Mervyn Charles-Edwards of Worcester will resign his see September 30 to give place to a younger man. He is 68. The bishop was vicar of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, the well-known Anglican church on London's Trafalgar square, from 1947 to 1966, when he was consecrated Bishop of Worcester. He also served as a chaplain to King George VI and to the present monarch, Queen Elizabeth II. While vicar of St. Martin's he pioneered lunch-hour talks on sex in the church crypt.

Tech sets summer orientations to cut usual red tape

LUBBOCK — Upwards of 4,000 prospective entering freshmen for the 1971 fall semester at Texas Tech University are planning to get a head start on making the transition to college by attending one of six new student academic advisement, orientation and early registration conferences scheduled this summer.

More than 640 high school graduates who intend to enroll in Texas Tech this fall have already made reservations for the first of the conferences, July 19-20. The five additional conferences are slated for July 22-23, July 26-27, July 29-30, Aug. 2-3 and Aug. 5-6. As of last week total reservations had reached more than 2,200 — considerably ahead of figures recorded at this time last year.

According to Dr. William H. Duvall, assistant dean of students for programs and coordinator of the conferences, participating students will have the opportunity to fully acquaint themselves with the campus and with all phases of student and academic life at Texas Tech.

By taking advantage of early registration, new students will be left with nothing to worry about except payment of fees and getting to their first classes on time come the fall semester. Tuition and fees will be billed by mail after completion of the early registration conferences.

Entering students who do not attend an early conference will enroll during the regular registration period after an orientation session the last week in August. Residence halls will open for occupancy Aug. 24, and classes begin on the morning of Aug. 30.

Conference participants will even be able to purchase books, obtain a parking sticker, make arrangements for student housing and have their student identification photos taken.

Only students who have submitted all admission documents are invited to attend the early registration conferences, Dr.

Duvall said. These documents include the application, health data blank, high school transcript and the College Board SAT scores.

Students invited as a result of acceptance are responsible for seeing that the conditions of admission are met prior to the beginning of the fall semester.

Dr. Duvall also emphasized that parents are urged to attend the conferences along with their sons and daughters who will be enrolling in Texas Tech, and a large percentage of those already having reservations have indicated they will bring along one or both parents for one of the two-day conferences.

Housing and food service facilities will be made available for participants and their parents who are encouraged, but not required, to live in them while attending the conference.

Following check-in on the first day of the conference, students will report to an information center set up in the lobby of Stangel-Murdough Halls. With the assistance of members of Saddle Tramps, the Tech men's spirit organization, they will receive their conference schedules, schedule of classes booklets, general catalog, personnel folder and other materials.

"We know that new students will have many questions about Texas Tech," said Dr. Duvall, "and representatives from various offices and organizations will be available at the information center to offer assistance. We also encourage students to take time to explore the Tech campus while they are here for the conferences."

Academic advisement and counseling sessions will begin at 10 a. m. on the first day of the conferences, with students meeting with major advisors from the college in which they plan to enroll this fall.

Sample residence halls will be open for inspection by parents, and students who may be waiting for academic advisement, in Horn, Hulén, Weeks and Stangel Halls. A housing representative will be on hand in each of the halls to answer questions.

At 7 p. m. on the first day, students will meet in the University Center Ballroom for further orientation and a special program of entertainment being organized by the University Center Campus Union Committee. Parents will meet for an orientation session at the same time in the auditorium of the Business Administration Building. Assisting in a special program for parents will be Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity.

On the second day, students will resume academic advisement and registration procedures at 3 a. m. Students and parents will check out of residence halls at 4 p. m. on the second day of the conference.

TECHNOLOGICAL EXPERT EDINGBURGH, Scotland—The (Presbyterian) Church of Scotland has decided to employ a technological expert at a salary of 3,000 pounds ($7,200) a year to "pioneer relations between the church and the new world of computers." The Rev. George Wilkie, Industrial Organizer, said the appointment grew out of a recent conference of industrialists, trade unionists and churchmen which recommended deeper involvement of the Church in Britain's industrial life.

Europe is named for the goddess Europa.

Warner and Mrs. W. B. Gibson, shortly before departure Friday for Oklahoma City, where they would meet other students enroute to their native lands.

Washington report: from Bob Price

One of my most discouraging moments in the House of Representatives came last week when the body voted to decrease assistance to farmers just one day after approving additional millions of dollars for welfare.

As I told the House during debate on the amendment to the Agricultural Appropriations bill to limit farm payments to $20,000 per crop, I believe this was a kick in the teeth to the American farmer.

It has been less than a year since the Agricultural Act of 1970 with its $55,000 per crop limitation was adopted. Now, before the ink is dry on that law, the limit is lowered to $20,000. I pointed out, unfortunately to no avail, that farmers have borrowed money, leased land for a period of years, bought new expensive equipment, and planted crops they are now tending in good faith. The House has reneged on its commitment to the farmer made in the 1970 Act.

The urban Congressmen who voted for this reduction cannot seem to understand that it is their constituents, the consumers of food and fiber, who are really being subsidized by government farm payments. Without these payments the consumer will be forced to actually pay what farm products are really worth or will do without because the farmer cannot continue to produce at a loss. Consumers use only 16.9 per cent of their disposable income today for food compared to 25 per cent only 8 years ago.

I will be contacting as many Senators as possible in an effort to have the amendment defeated in the Senate.

The House passed last week, over my opposition, a combination social security-welfare reform bill which will guarantee a minimum annual income of $2,400 per year to a family of four, in addition to food stamps. My main opposition to this legislation came not from the $2,400 per year figure, which is what a family of four on welfare receives in many states today, but comes from the $7,000 annual minimum that many members of Congress are advocating.

I also opposed the bill because it enlarges the Federal bureaucracy by "federalizing" all welfare programs; eliminates state residency requirements for welfare recipients. In addition, the bill will more than double current expenditures for welfare and almost doubles the number of people eligible for welfare.

One of my major objections is the precedent it sets in providing aid to the so-called "working poor." Welfare has always been based on the theory of help for the very young and for older citizens and for the disabled. When you start giving aid to those who have jobs you are getting away from that time honored concept of only helping those who cannot help themselves.

Dozens of letters were received in my office in opposition to a proposed amendment to the agriculture appropriations bill to the watershed program for a which would have cut off funds year. I fought this amendment vigorously on the floor of the House and am pleased to report that we were able to defeat it.

I signed the petition to force the House Judiciary Committee to hold hearings on a bill I and

E. G. Hill and family return from Germany

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hill and sons, Chris and Norman, recently returned from a trip to Germany where they visited Mrs. Hill's parents and family in Frankfurt and Cologne.

It was the first trip "home" for Mrs. Hill since 1962. Her parents spent two months in the states with them, however, in 1965.

Hill, mechanic for Ford, spent two weeks in Germany. He left the states May 26 and returned June 14. His family returned ten days later.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill met and were married in 1958 while Hill was stationed in Germany with the U. S. Army. They reside at 521 Irving.

RECEIVES GREETINGS — Mrs. LeRoy P. Hanson, left, who graduated from Hereford High School in 1948, receives welcoming greetings from members of the Westover Non-Commissioned Officers Wives' Club at a tea sponsored by the club in her honor. (Air Force Photo)

Local woman's husband takes over bomb wing

WESTOVER AFB, Mass.— The husband of a woman who grew up in Summerfield and graduated from Hereford High School has taken command of the 99th Bomb Wing at Westover Air Force Base.

He is Col. LeRoy P. Hanson. His wife, Belle Ra, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Johnson of Summerfield. The colonel arrived in Massachusetts from Seymour-Johnson AFB, N. C., where he was the 68th Bomb Wing commander.

The Hansons were married in April 1950. Mrs. Hanson is a 1948 graduate of Hereford High School and has attended West Texas State University and Texas Tech University.

While her husband was stationed at McCoy AFB, Fla. from 1969 to 1970, Mrs. Hanson was the president of the Beverly Shores Circle Garden Club of Orlando and a member of the Pine Castle Women's Club.

She was also active in the Family Services program at McCoy and was an advisor to the McCoy and Seymour-Johnson Officers' Wives' Clubs.

In the short time that she has been at Westover, Mrs. Hanson has become active in the base's youth program through her position as her husband's representative on the Base Youth Council.

Thomason takes over as Easter Lions president

Buster Thomason received the Easter Lions Club gavel Monday evening, taking over as the club's new president during annual installation ceremonies.

Melvin Jayroe, from Hereford's Noon Lions Club, installed Thomason along with James Dobbs, first vice-president; Alvis Jolly, second vice-president; Lewis Block, third vice-president; Martin Young, secretary; Wayne Walser, treasurer; Roy Parten, lion tamer; and Harlan Frye, tail twister.

Brenda Jolly will serve as the club's sweetheart.

Decorated in the theme "Around the World with Lions," the Easter Community building was the scene of the Ladies Night banquet and ceremonies.

John E. Smith reigned as Boss Lion the past year.

Silver dollars honoring Ike available now

Cong. Bob Price has announced that order forms for the new Eisenhower Silver Dollar can be obtained from his Amarillo, Pampa, Plainview, or Washington offices.

The United States Mint will begin accepting orders for the special coins on July 1.

The Panhandle Representative noted that Proff Coins are highly polished and struck twice with special dies to produce a jewel-like finish. The silver proof coins cost $10 each. Each order is limited to five coins per person.

Uncirculated coins, which are struck once on high speed presses, can be obtained for $3 each with a limit of five per person.

Order blanks can be obtained at the offices of Congressman Price in the Post Office Building at Amarillo and Pampa or 317 Skaggs Building in Plainview or by writing to Congressman Bob Price, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Removing Unsightly Hairs

WHAT IS the safest way to remove hairs from the nostrils?

Dear Mr. M.: Elongated hairs in the nostrils must never be picked or plucked.

At the base of these hairs are bacteria that may invade the tiny opening when the hair is pulled, and set up an infection.

Hairs are nature's protective mechanism against foreign bodies, dust and polluted air.

When, by their length, they become unsightly they should be cut to half their length. It is best to have this done by someone else to be sure that the skin or the mucous membrane lining is not injured.

There are special scissors with rounded edges that can be used with safety. They should be cleaned with alcohol before each use.

It is wise, too, to clean the nostril with soap and water and follow the "operation" with a mild solution of alcohol.

When a spinal tap is performed on a child does it mean that he has a chronic condition?

Dear Mrs. W.: A spinal tap is performed in the hope that information about the spinal fluid will be a contribution to the diagnosis of a medical condition.

It does not, in itself, suggest serious disease. Actually, it should be no more frightening than the examination of blood taken from the arm, a routine test that is similarly done for information.

The purpose of the spinal tap is to withdraw some of the fluid that surrounds the spinal cord and the brain.

This protective fluid contains minerals, sugar, protein and cells. Changes in the quantities of these substances occur in patients who have meningitis (an infection of the delicate covering of the brain and spinal cord).

A wide variety of other conditions are associated with changes in the spinal fluid. Therefore, by measuring the pressure of the fluid in the spinal cord, doctors can gain important information to aid their diagnosis.

The procedure itself is not a painful one and should not cause undue anxiety.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Baby sitters must be carefully screened. It is astonishing how frequently the safety of a child is assigned to the first available person, without a true knowledge of the person's qualifications.

Dr. Lester Coleman has a special eye-care booklet available for readers of this column called, "What You Should Know About Glaucoma and Cataracts." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed 6-cent stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., P.O. Box 5170, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017. READYING FOR CONTEST — Soaring contestants are seen here preparing for last Saturday's contest. Although high winds and clouds canceled the second day's competition, John Brittingham of Ramah, Colo., won first place Saturday in the open class with his Cirrus sailplane, similar to Red Nolan's 52.8 ft. (wingspan) fiberglass plane in the foreground.

High wind, clouds mar glider contest

A scheduled two-day soaring contest by glider planes from Texas and four states was shortened to one day last weekend by high winds and an early morning cloud cover.

John Claypool, contest director, said three men were declared winners on the basis of their speed in Saturday's 78-mile round trip flights from Hereford to neighboring communities.

Don Curphey of Amarillo won the 13-meter wing span class, Alfred Mortemer of Richardson took the 15-meter class, and John Brittingham of Ramah, Colo., captured the open class, which is open to planes of more than 49 feet wing span.

Winds of up to 40 miles per hour kept the planes from going up Sunday. And a cloud cover in the morning prevented the sun from heating the ground, and this kept thermal heating, which the sail planes need to glide well, at a minimum.

Brittingham, whose class has the fastest times because of their wider wing span, averaged 50.2 miles per hour on his trip from Hereford to Dimmitt to Friona and back to Hereford.

Many of the contestants will compete this weekend in Fort Worth at the Texas Soaring Association's contests.

McDOWELL DRUG

IN DOWNTOWN VARIETY PARK — HEREFORD

by MELVIN YOUNG

One must surely have a sense of humor to be in the law enforcement business, but sometimes we wonder about "Chuck" Cospers and Bill Austin. Cospers, as most of you know, is the local game warden and Bill Austin is the district agent for the Liquor Control Board. The two now share an office on the third floor of the courthouse. Which seems to be a good arrangement. It keeps them off the ground floor and out of everyone's way, and really, they don't have a lot of traffic going to their offices so it works out alright.

But if you ever have occasion to call their number, do not be surprised at the way they answer the telephone. It is usually "Whiskey and Wild-life. Can we help you?" Well now, perhaps so. Who knows?

Actually, after hearing some of the stories Cospers told at a recent meeting of the Peace Officers Association, we wonder what his real function is — wildlife or wild life. There is a difference.

—HB—

And with all the new rules and regulations recently imposed by the Texas Legislature, the LCB's function may be somewhat different as well. In years past, a member of a country club, or any legitimate private club for that matter, had to carry in his own booze and any CC operator caught carting the stuff for members faced felony charges of bootlegging. Now, the folks who write and enforce the laws, have done a complete about face.

In the future, if you belong to a country club or other private club, you will have to place your order for your supplies with the operator of that club and he in turn will buy and haul the goods for you. Legal bootlegger you might say.

And taxes? Well, you haven't seen anything in the past. Liquor is going to put a lot of tax dollars in the state coffers although we doubt seriously if it will be more than the lawmakers can spend.

—HB—

It may all work out fine however. The State is going to make it so rough on private clubs that few will survive, and those which do will be well operated, adhering strictly to the letter of the law — and paying a pretty rough tax bite for the privilege. We suspect also, that the state may have a dual purpose in being so hard on the clubs in dry areas — that is, to force the citizens to vote for legalized sales of alcoholic beverages. Whether that will work or not remains to be seen, but it will be interesting to watch developments.

—HB—

And speaking of taxes, the sales tax bite will increase, effective today. From now on, you will be paying 5 per cent on all sales that come under the new law, and that will cover a raft of things that have been exempt in the past. For instance, you have not had to pay a sales tax on your newspaper subscription in the past because the individual sale (each individual paper) is less than 25 cents. But that has changed. The new law reads that any item over 9 cents (and that catches nearly all newspapers) will be taxed. So when your newsboy comes around this month to collect, you'll find that he will be asking for a little more money.

And you'll also find that you now have to pay an extra penny for that 10 cents cup of coffee. That is, if you can still find a 10 cent cup of coffee. A lot of places have gone to 15 cents, and if you find yourself in one of the larger cities, you may pay up to 50 cents for a cup. It probably won't be as good as you have at home either.

But that's another problem.

—HB—

Jack L. Kassahn, a former resident of Hereford and son of Mrs. Frank Gyles of this city, has recently purchased controlling interest in the First State Bank of Bovina.

Kassahn purchased the controlling interest of the bank from Robert Estes and Bob McLean.

Kassahn graduated from Hereford High School in 1941 and later attended Texas A&M University. He has also served as vice president of the First National Bank of Hereford and president of the First State Bank of Shallowater and Quinland State Bank. He will move to Bovina from Brownwood where he has been a vice president and director of the Citizens National Bank of that city.

—HB—

If you're staying in town this weekend, be sure to see the Independence Day parade Saturday afternoon. And if you are going somewhere else for the holidays, drive carefully. We haven't a single citizen to spare.

VA publication available on federal benefits

The Veterans Administration's most popular publication is now available to the public for 20 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

VA said it has an initial supply of 600,000 copies of the booklet, "Federal Benefits for Veterans and Dependents," now in its 23rd edition.

Containing general information about Federal benefits, this year's edition reflects changes due to recent laws, and discusses such GI benefits as education and training, insurance, home and farm loans, compensation and pension and medical treatment.

Working students need not pay withholding tax

A student who is working during the summer but will not earn enough to owe any income tax ($1700), still has time to go back and talk to his payroll office about completing a Form W-4E.

The "E" stands for exemption. A recent change in the tax law allows the employer to let the student take home all his pay under these circumstances. The new law allows the employer to stop withholding on students who will not earn enough to owe any income tax.

It also saves the government the trouble of sending back an income tax refund next January or February.

Massachusetts is the only state governed under its original constitution.

Retired persons organize locally

An organization for retired persons has been formed in Deaf Smith County.

Bert C. Brown of 209 Ave. J in Hereford is president of the chapter, which is affiliated with the American Association of Retired Persons.

All persons over 55, whether retired or not, are eligible for membership. Annual dues are $2.

"Chapters of the association have public service as their watchword and exist to enable their members to help each other and their communities," national president Fred Faasen of Washington said.

"They do effective work in legislation at the local, state and federal levels and volunteer their services to a variety of community projects in an effort to follow AARP's guiding principle of dignity, purpose and independence for older persons."

'World price' for sugar 'is bad, Bunker contends

COLORADO SPRINGS—President John B. Bunker of Holly Sugar Corporation reviewed the Sugar Act in his remarks to stockholders attending the corporation's 66th annual meeting last weekend at the Broadmoor Hotel.

Bunker said that 90 per cent of the world's sugar is grown and marketed within sugar systems similar to the Sugar Act. The 10 per cent produced outside of these systems is "homeless sugar"—sometimes dumped on the market as a distress sale to any purchaser who will buy it, often at a price below the cost of production.

He was critical of proponents of the so-called "world price" for sugar and of the misconception that payments to domestic producers under the Sugar Act constitute "subsidies."

"This price, unfortunately, still persists in commercial publications as the 'world price,'" Bunker said.

In explaining government payments under the Sugar Act, Bunker said that these are made to domestic producers for complying with the provisions of the Act and come from taxes levied on the sugar industry itself.

"In effect, the tax levied on the processor and shared by the grower is recycled into payment to the grower. Actually, the government profits by the arrangement," Bunker said.

He said that more than $611.9 million has gone into the U. S. Treasury over what it costs to administer the Act.

The Sugar Act is legislation controlling the production, marketing and pricing of sugar consumed in the United States. The present Act expires December 31. Extension of the Act passed the House on June 10 and is now in the Senate Finance Committee where hearings are being held.

Bunker pointed out that the Act is "definitely not legislation designed primarily to further the special interest of domestic sugar producers," and that similar programs are now operating in the great nations of the world.

Bunker also touched on the corporation's beet quality control program and on Holly's obligation to operate with responsibility toward growers, customers, the total environment and communities where Holly operates.

"With our factory modernization program virtually completed and our beet quality improvement program receiving top priority, I think we can look to the future with confidence," Bunker concluded.

In the business portion of the meeting, stockholders—

1) reelected the present directors,

2) reappointed Haskins and Sells as independent certified public accountants for the current fiscal year,

3) defeated two stockholder proposals by Lewis D. and John J. Gilbert of New York City and 10 by Rodney B. Shields of Scottsdale, Ariz.

Directors reelected were President John B. Bunker, Thomas S. Moon and Russell T. Tutt of Colorado Springs; John L. Loeb Jr. and Edward C. Schmults of New York; Ben H. Slothower of Salt Lake City, and A. Thomas Taylor of Chicago.

DOROTHY MANNERS' Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD — The day had started out completely disorganized as far as Ann-Margret was concerned and it was only half over when I caught up with her at noon.

Ann-Margret

Her whopping revue, "A-M / P.M.," was due to open at the International Hotel in Las Vegas in 10 days, and the rehearsal studio on La Cienega Blvd. was about to cave in with the stepped-up pace ordered by director-choreographer Ron Field, winner of the Tony for his presentation of "Applause" on Broadway.

The large cast of actors, singers and dancers, including the star, were "flying through the air with the greatest of ease" (and some aching bones). "I get up in the mornings so tired Roger just points me in the direction of the rehearsal studio and the car drives there automatically," she sighed. "Excuse my bare face." Even without makeup, A-M comes under the heading of a natural beauty with delicate features, good bone construction, great skin.

"And, oh yes, I want you to meet my good friend, Norma Collins, who was signed on to be my secretary in Vegas. She is the first secretary I have ever had and she had never been one before agreeing to work for me. Neither one of us knows what to do about secretarialing." And she and Norma had a good laugh over that. "Maybe you can start by helping me find a lipstick," she suggested, pulling up to the top of the table a huge bag that must have weighed 15 pounds.

That bag deserves more than passing notice: into its interior were crammed glasses, curlers, credit cards still bearing her maiden name, some spangles off a dress, a grapefruit spoon ("they so seldom have them in restaurants"), safety pins, scarf, scissors, last year's Christmas list, some old tea bags, her written-out diet ("I can gain weight by just being at the same table with food"), house keys, an old snapshot of Roger Smith (previously referred to as just "Roger"), her husband of four years and co-producer with Allan Carr of the Vegas revue, some costume jewelry—but NO lipstick!

"I told you I was disorganized, but usually not this much," she went on. "It is just that I have been in a whirl for the past six months. I went directly from making 'C. C. and Company' with Joe Namath, to a nightclub tour of the Far East playing Hong Kong, Bangkok, Singapore, Manila and Seoul, then straight to Canada to do 'Carnal Knowledge' for Mike Nichols. And from that, right into rehearsals for Las Vegas." That is a big order, particularly for a girl who considers herself a "lazy Swede."

"When Roger, Allan and I had made up my schedule, we had not known about the offer coming from Mike Nichols for his 'Carnal Knowledge.' But I would have accepted that picture if it had killed me. Miss a chance to work with that genius? Never!"

But the picture, filmed in Canada and New York, had overlapped into rehearsal time for the Vegas revue previously set for a February 24 opening date. A-M rushed back to Los Angeles and the start of the arduous rehearsals and straight into some very sad personal news. Her father was very ill in St. Vincent's Hospital.

"We have always been such a close family, it almost knocked me out to see him in a hospital, putting up such a wonderful fight. He is so good and so cheerful. Each day he tells me, 'Annie, I'll be at that opening of yours in Vegas—you just wait and see.'"

"Every day after rehearsals, I drive down to the hospital to be with him and my mother.

"He loves to hear about the beautiful clothes being designed for my act—and I've sung or hummed so much of the music he knows some of it by heart, including the lyrics."

Joe Namath

From the hospital she goes home to an early (diet) dinner with Roger, no company, no social life. For an hour or so, they look at TV or read. Sometimes she is in bed by 9 p.m. so she can be up at 7 a.m. — when Roger points her in the direction of the rehearsal studio.

Disorganized? I don't know about that.

Let's cook something

Her interests are many

By JANIE BANNER
Staff Writer

With two small, rambunctious sons, at-home employment, outdoor sports and church activities, Mrs. Mike Ranspot keeps so busy she would rather leave cooking and similar household chores alone.

"My appetite isn't the same during summer months as in the winter, so I don't care so much about cooking," she says, "but Mike's appetite never changes. He'll eat anything. He is my garbage disposal."

With all the activities that come with summer months the Ranspots find only enough time to grab a bite to eat before they are off to another event.

For year-round, in-the-home-employment, Barbie paints signs for local businesses, does oil paintings for display in business offices and does artwork for the Hereford Brand. She also does some oil portraits.

Babysitting and sewing for friends and relatives take their places in the same "employment category" and Mrs. Ranspot says she enjoys it all, especially for the convenience of staying home with her sons.

The Ranspot' sons, Shawn,

4, and Yancey, 2½, are baseball fans like their parents.

Mike and Barbie are each in their second year of coaching for the Bronco League and Blue Bombers Women's Softball team, respectively.

Barbie's team of 13 women plays from the latter part of July to mid-August.

Since fishing and swimming are other family favorites, they are looking forward to a summer vacation trip to Pecosum Kingdom where Mrs. Ranspot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Rhodes, own a resort.

More than anything else, however, Mike and Barbie like to read the Bible.

Barbie says "It's really a blessing to read and understand the Bible. I don't like the Old Testament as well as the New because of all the history in it."

The Rev. Prentice Smith, pastor of Greenwood Baptist Church where they are members, is given most credit for helping them understand Christianity and salvation, said Barbie.

"I'm really concerned about people and salvation," she said, "and I want my children to willingly accept Jesus Christ and the church without it being forced on them."

Barbie tries to put church before everyday life and its various activities but sometimes finds it quite difficult.

She is secretary at Greenwood Baptist where her husband is head usher. They take part in the church visitation program on Tuesdays.

Ranspot is assistant manager at Shook Tire Company.

Recipes Barbie would like to pass on to readers are a sandwich she says "is so rich you'll only want to fix them for parties, showers and teas" and an original recipe of Mrs. W. W. Jones, Ranspot's grandmother.

WATERCREST SANDWICH
8-oz. pkg. cream cheese
3 avocados, peeled and mashed one-half cucumber, chopped
Dash onion and/or garlic salt
one-half cup mayonnaise

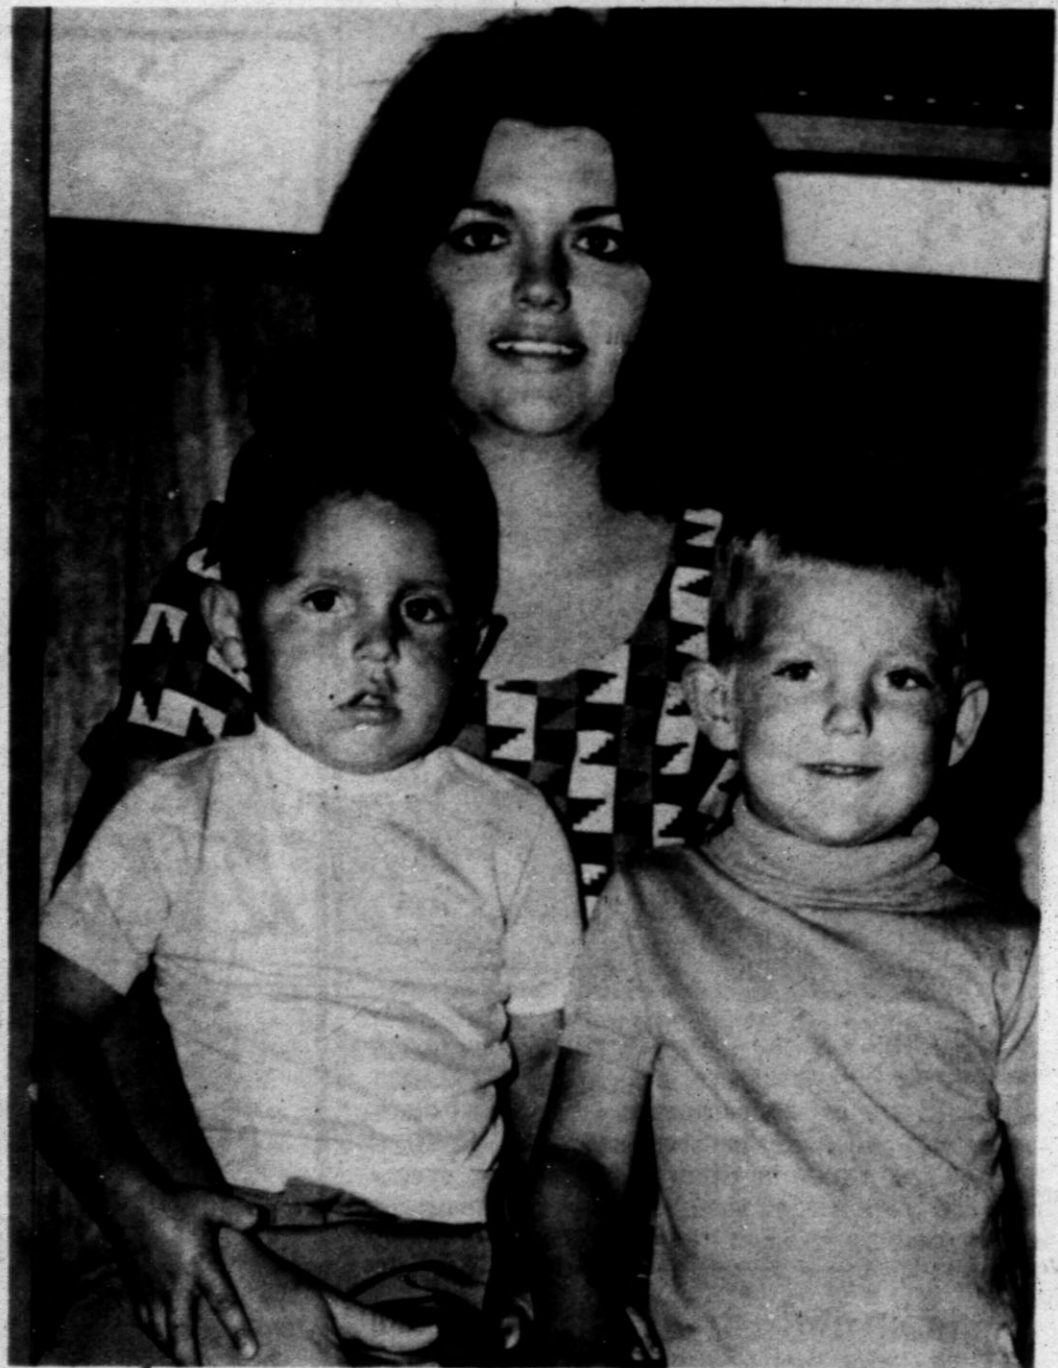

Blend together and chill about one hour. It is a small recipe so you may want to double it.

BREAD AND BUTTER PICKLES
6 onions, chopped or whole
1 gallon cucumbers, size to suit your taste
2 sweet peppers, chopped or whole
2 bags ice and one-fourth cup salt

Let stand for three hours drain.
2-5 cups sugar (to suit desired sweetness)
½ teaspoon turmeric
¼ teaspoon celery seed
2 tablespoons mustard seed

Pour 3 cups vinegar over all of the above ingredients. Cook over medium heat until steaming hot. Put in jars and seal.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return for the year ending January 1-December 31, 1970, or other taxable year

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) Five of us are in a car pool and drive to work every day, alternating the driving each week. Can we deduct some of the automotive costs?

A) No. The cost of repairs, gas and similar items incurred in connection with an auto used to and from work are personal expenses and, therefore, not deductible.

Q) Does the income tax surcharge apply to income earned during the second half of 1970?

A) Yes. The tax law, as amended by the Tax Reform Act of 1969, imposes a 2½ percent surcharge for all of 1970. Thus, tax on income earned by a calendar year taxpayer anytime during the year is subject to the surcharge. The tables in the back of your tax form package should be used for computing the surcharge if your income tax is under $2,020. For a tax of $2,020 or more, multiply your tax by 2½ percent to determine the surcharge.

Q) After accounting to my employer for the expenses incurred in using my car for business, he reimbursed me 10 cents a mile for my travel expenses. Since the IRS allows a standard mileage rate of 12 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use, can I deduct the difference?

A) Yes. But be sure to keep records substantiating your business mileage.

Q) If I seek outside help with my tax return, should I give my tax preparer the tax forms package I received in the mail?

A) Yes. Also, make sure the return your preparer completes for you to file with IRS has the blue pre-addressed label that came with your tax forms package on it. Use of the label, which should be peeled off the front of the tax package and placed in the box at the top of the 1040 form you file, will help eliminate errors in name and Social Security number. Any corrections that are necessary should be made right on the label itself.

Q) I earned almost $20,000 last year. Will the IRS still compute my tax for me?

A) Yes, the IRS will compute your tax if your adjusted gross income is $20,000 or less and consists only of wages or salaries, tips, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities. In addition, you must choose the standard deduction instead of itemizing your actual deductions. If you qualify and want the IRS to compute your tax, merely fill in lines 1 through 18, and 24, 26, 27, and 28, if applicable, on your tax return, be sure to attach all W-2's and all necessary schedules to your return, and mail the return to your IRS Service Center.

Q) I have been doing the bookkeeping and accounting work for my own business. Are there any IRS publications that can help me figure out my taxes?

A) The "Tax Guide for Small Business," Publication 334, is designed to answer many of the questions a businessman might have about filing income, excise and employment tax returns. For your individual income tax return, "Your Federal Income Tax," Publication 17, should prove helpful. Both publications are available for 75 cents each from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. In addition, both booklets contain a list of other helpful tax publications available free from the IRS.

Breakfast Kiwanis is for early risers

One of Hereford's newest civic clubs, the Whiteface Breakfast Kiwanis Club, was established three years ago to provide a club for those men who were not able to attend a noon civic organization, but could take part early in the morning.

Every Friday morning at 6:30 a.m., 30 members have breakfast, a program and share fellowship and comradeship which is the main purpose of all Kiwanis Clubs.

"We try to create a friendly, family-type atmosphere to those belonging to our club. We offer an unusual time so that all men can participate in community activities, including those with busy work schedules," president-elect Mal Manchee said.

Manchee will be assisted the next year by Danny Vermillion, 1st vice-president; Bobby Boyd, 2nd vice-president; Jerry Lane, secretary; and Wayne Williams, treasurer.

The main civic project the club is interested in is helping local and area retarded children. They supported the Summer Help and Recreation Program (SHARP) for retarded children. The club also contributes to Camp Wigwam, a summer camp for the retarded, supplying them with clothing, fireworks, and group pictures.

Last year, headed by Rex Easterwood, the club helped underwrite the Day Care Center, in its beginning and establishment. Recently, a major project has been the sponsoring of Boy Scout troop 51, furnishing its scout master and supporting it financially. Another annual civic contribution is a $200 scholarship for a deserving graduate. This year Sammie Vinson was the reipient.

Selling fireworks is the club's major fund raising project. This year it will have two stands located on 15th Street and West Highway 60. The sales begin today and continue to July 4.

Sugar Blues TOPS Queen of Week is named

Mrs. Homer West was named Sugar Blues TOPS Club Queen of the Week and awarded a basket of fruit Monday evening during the weekly meeting.

Mrs. Holland Cook presided in the absence of president, Mrs. Bartley Dowell.

A new weight loss gimmick introduced to the club is entitled the Sugar Blues TOPS Club report card.

Members were given cards and will be graded on weight and citizenship. They are required to return the card each week, signed by an adult member of their household.

Members will be graded according to this code: A—weight loss of one pound or more; B—weight loss less than one pound; C—weight the same; D—gain less than one pound; F—gain of one pound or more.

Citizenship grades are E or excellent—attendance of three consecutive meetings; S or satisfactory—present at that current meeting; and U or unsatisfactory—missed that current meeting.

Plans for a swimming party and a picnic July 16 at 8 p.m. at Denton Park Pool were made. The group will not meet July 5 for its regular meeting.

Boys, girls to play baseball

Boys Baseball, Inc. members have challenged the Campfire girls to a baseball game and the two groups will meet Friday at the Bronco League Baseball field.

Three age groups, Pee Wees, Minors and Majors will play in games against the Campfire girls. The games will be at 6 and 8 p.m.

The boys, if they throw or bat right handed, must bat or throw with the opposite hand and go with the opposite hand if they are left handed.

Pre-college session for deprived kids begins at WTSU

The Upward Bound Project at West Texas State will start its fifth summer session July 11.

Upward Bound is a pre-college to generate the skills and motivation necessary for success in education beyond high school among young people from deprived backgrounds and inadequate academic preparation.

The Upward Bound student is a young person with academic potential constrained by his background, and one for whom conventional education has had little relevance. The student is likely to be apathetic or even hostile to education — unable to release his real talent. He is likely to have shunned academic achievement or even adequacy because he has not participated meaningfully in an educational experience.

Generally, the potential that the student possesses does not show in traditional educational measurements, such as standardized test scores or grades, but may be discovered more readily through the intuitive judgments of those people who know him. The Upward Bound boy or girl is one of whom a college education may become possible if the student is given experiences and instructions designed to build on the strengths which the student possesses.

"The Upward Bound summer program is an experience. It is by design innovative. Our approach to the Learning Blocks will be challenging. We do not grade by conventional methods. We allow the student to be successful," a WTSU official said. "We hope to turn them on by presenting problem solving that are relevant to today's living and the immediate future. Our instructors are those who have demonstrated the sensitivity necessary to work with young people eager to succeed, but may not have enjoyed very much success before."

The year is divided into two (2) phases, academic year and summer enrichment. During the academic year the faculty meets once a week for four hours with students for tutorial, counseling, and enrichment sessions. The summer phase is a six or eight week period spent on campus for enrichment and counseling. Room and board is free.

The recruiting and service area is within a 50-mile radius of West Texas State University. West Texas State is the host institution.

The primary criteria for the selection of an Upward Bound student: (1) he must meet the income criteria, must show a need for the program, and be of junior or senior standing in high school.

For more information, a person can contact the Upward Bound Office at West Texas State University, phone 656-2737 area code 806 or write Box 94 W. T. Station, Canyon, Texas 79015. He may also contact a Community Action Agency or high school counselor. Applications are available at either.

FEARS AND DUTY

NEW YORK — Declaring that "white racism is an expression of the power of evil," the Rev. C. Freeman Sleeper, of Trinity College, writes in a new book issued by Abingdon, "Black Power and Christian Responsibility," that Christians must rise above their fears and desire for security to "identify ourselves" with the black drive for change. It involves danger, he says, but the gospel demands it.

SAVING HIS LAND — Carl Strafuss, who farms north of the city, looks over the mulching operation he is carrying out on his farm in order to cut down on erosion and retain moisture in the soil. Strafuss said on land where he carried out the same operation last year he has been able to retain moisture that helped his crops.

German industrial meet boosts Texas' reputation

AUSTIN — Texas emerged as an international industrial power at a recent "Invest in the U. S. A." conference in Munich, Germany through the efforts of Texas Industrial Commission officials.

Sponsored by the German Institute of Economic Affairs, the conference was prompted by a growing demand for expanding German industry to the United States.

After presenting the Texas industrial story at the meeting, Texas Industrial Commission Executive Director Jim Harwell and Jim Havey, director of international trade, expressed satisfaction at the German industrialists' positive response.

"They are shying away from the Eastern seaboard because Texas has the ports, resources and growing room industry requires," Harwell said. "We are convinced that Texas is becoming a front-line international trade power."

At least 75 per cent of the companies attending the conference indicated that they would contact the Commission for specific information, Harwell said.

More than 200 West German and English industrial leaders attended conference sessions exploring U. S. investments, legal procedures, taxes and other corporate areas. In addition to state agencies, the U. S. Department of Commerce also cooperated with German experts in conducting the meet.

Export development came under conference scrutiny, and the Texas team assessed the German market as "virtually wide open."

"The expanding German economy is ripe for importing Texas products," Harwell said. "Texas manufacturers are limited only by their vitality and ingenuity."

Harwell said a trade mission to cement West German industrial contacts has reached the drawing board. Similar Commission efforts in Mexico and Australia netted new industry for the state while expanding its export markets.

Community to host 42 party

Easter Community will host a 42 party tomorrow evening for all residents of the community and their guests.

Members of the community are asked to bring card tables and dominoes. Community women will provide refreshments.

The party will begin at 8 p.m. in Easter Community Building.

Special game set Saturday

A baseball team from Mexico will meet the summer team from Hereford in a game Saturday at Whiteface Field.

The game, billed as Mexico versus Texas, will pit the Tripoli Acuna, Mexico team against the Hereford Rebels. The game will begin at 3:30 p.m.

HARMAN'S

Mrs. Marcus E. Jacobsen
... nee Peggy McClendon

Couple exchange vows in Amarillo

Peggy Lynn McClendon of Amarillo and Marcus E. Jacobsen, 209 East Sixth, exchanged marriage vows Tuesday evening in San Jacinto United Methodist Church at Amarillo. Dr. Woodrow Adcock, pastor, officiated. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. Ben McClendon of Amarillo and the late John N. Jacobsen Jr. and Mrs. Jacobsen 209 East Sixth.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk organza gown trimmed in Venise lace featuring puffed sleeves. Her chapel length train was attached to a button-styled back and her illusion veil fell from an organza and seed pearl headpiece.

She carried white carnations and pink and red roses on a white Bible which was carried by her mother at her wedding.

The couple stood before an altar decorated with pink carnations, palm ferns and spiral tapered trees with taper arcs in the background.

Miss Carol Ann McClendon, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and Gerry Bybee was best man. Dan McWhorter of Hereford and Gayland Ward of Lubbock were ushers.

The only attendant wore a pink silk chiffon over crepe dress with a white lace bodice and cuffs. Her bouquet was white carnations and pink roses.

Miss Maria Bybee and Miss Melodee Borger served cake and punch at the reception which immediately followed in the church friendship hall.

Miss Prestine Wells invited guests to register.

Pink and red carnations, pink burning tapers and the three-tiered wedding cake centered the serving table.

For a honeymoon trip to Galveston and Houston, the bride wore a creme-colored, linen suit with navy and red accessories. The couple will make their home in Canyon after July 6.

The bride graduated from Amarillo High School, attended Amarillo College and West Texas State University, and is currently employed at Colbert's Suburban Shop.

Jacobsen recently received his masters degree in finance at WTSU.

Texaco owner gets award for service

A special award was presented last week to Guy Lawrence, owner of Phillips and Lawrence Texaco Service in Hereford.

The award, a plaque bearing two rare silver dollars, two Kennedy half-dollars, and a specially minted commemorative coin set in an automotive engine design, was presented for exceptional customer service by a representative of The Gates Rubber Company.

The Denver-based rubber company sponsors a nation-wide contest (now on its 39th year) to reward service station personnel who provide exceptional customer service. A fleet of "Gates Mystery Cars" regularly travels across the country stopping at service stations.

Each "Mystery Car" has a worn fan belt. Award plaques are presented to station personnel who notice the defective belt and offer to replace it.

ARCHBISHOP IS CLOSE

LONDON — A popular pub and eating place, where the waitresses wear some of the miniest skirts in town, is called the Cardinal and is right opposite Archbishop's House, Westminster. Although one restaurant is called The Bishop's Table and another The Cardinal Grill, landlord Peter Broderick says he hasn't seen John Cardinal Heenan, from over the way.
