Legal Advertising Has Little Impact

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

The sharply divided Supreme Court decision Monday giving lawyers the right to advertise their fees for routine services won't provoke drastic changes in Hereford law practices, according to four attorneys.

THREE ATTORNEYS expressed apathetically mixed feelings over the 5-4 decision, which permits advertising for routine services such as drawing up wills and handling uncontested divorces, while one Hereford lawyer showed disgust over the ruling.

"Apparently, from your (this writer's) explanation of their decision, it is on a limited basis. The problem is to maintain those limits," said Wayne Thomas. "No, I am not in favor of the decision. I don't think it serves public interest."

"The thing that disturbs me is that advertising may spell out, 'Are you sure you're happy with your spouse?' I do not like the result of that from the public interest standpoint."

Thomas said he would like to see the opinion of the court to determine the limits of the advertising. He also said he is interested in knowing the results of a Supreme Court decision, probably to be made today, on whether advertising legal services would be expanded to a broader range.

"THIS ULTIMATELY could lead to advertising whereby lawyers may encourage persons to sue others. I would like to have the opinion to see the scope of their decision."

The court ruled that state rules prohibiting lawyers from advertising fees for some services violate the First Amendment's guarantee of free speech. The decision overturned one of the legal profession's most cherished traditions, that lawyers do not commercialize their work by advertising in newspapers and through other outlets of the media.

The court overturned the Arizona Supreme Court's rule in prohibiting lawyers from advertising and providing disciplinary measures for violators. Most other states, including Texas, enforce similar bans.

THE AMERICAN Bar Association's ethical standards do not permit lawyers to advertise their fees, although the ABA recently modified its rules to permit lawyers to list their names in the classified section of a telephone directory.

Ernest Langley, Hereford city attorney and part of the law firm of Witherspoon, Aikin, Langley and Woods, does not feel the ruling will make much difference to Hereford lawyers.

"I doubt that lawyers would be any more prone to advertise that they write a will for a certain amount of dollars. If people want to know what it costs, all they've got to do is call."

Langley does not anticipate a price war. "I doubt if you'd see that here. You might in your larger cities but it will not likely be much different here in Hereford."

THOMAS AGREED. "I do not anticipate any change locally. I do not think that people choose lawyers based upon whether or not they are the cheapest but rather on their personal trust or confidence in a lawyer."

R. C. Hoelscher, another Hereford attorney, added, "People in a town the size of Hereford rely enough on an attorney to have confidence in whatever he does. I don't think they'll go to somebody that charges less."

"I don't see anything like a price war here. People want to feel they're getting their money's worth and if they don't get their money's worth from one attorney, they'll sure go somewhere else."

It might be a different situation in larger cities, according to Mack Tubb of the Tubb & Easterwood law offices.

"AMARILLO MIGHT be something else. (The Supreme Court decision probably will have an effect in (See ADVERTISING, Page 2))

First Day Of Harvest

Workers clip tops and sack onions on land farmed by Griffin & Brand on the city's northern edge as the local vegetable harvest got underway Monday. The price of onions is nearly double that at which the vegetable harvest opened in 1976, and a spokesman for a local packing shed reports the demand for the drop should be fairly good this season. Harvesting of both onions and potatoes should be in full swing by next week, with the potato harvest expected to kick off July 5. The harvest season means work for large numbers of people who perform the hand labor required to gather the crop without damaging it. [Photo By Jim Steiert]

Vegetable Harvest Beginning On Brighter Note This Year

BY JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Deaf Smith County's 1977 vegetable harvest should be in full swing by late next week, and at least one local packing shed started packing locally-grown onions for shipment Monday morning.

WORK IS BEGINNING in the county's fields on a much brighter note in 1977, as the onion market is already higher than the peak price of 1976, when local growers were hard-pressed to give their aromatic crop away.

Wes Fisher of Dick Barrett Produce here reported that his shed began packing onions Monday and the local potato and onion harvest is expected to kick off on a large scale July 5.

"The price of onions is just fair with slow movement at this moment," said Fisher. "The market is already better than last year though, because the onions are already selling for $4.50 to $5 per 50 pound bag and last year they only brought $2.50 to $2.75," he added.

Most of the early onions will be shipped to points in the northeast and southeast.

FISHER POINTED out that no onions will be going west, as the California crop is "running heavy."

Viking variety red potatoes will be among the first to move locally, and Fisher reports that the market should be fair as the spud harvest gets underway next week.

"The rains haven't caused us any problem, other than slowing things up a little thus far, and there seems to be plenty of labor available to handle the work in the fields, so the harvest should kick off fairly smoothly," Fisher commented.

He added the "big push" in the vegetable harvest should come by June 12, with a great volume of Deaf Smith County vegetables moving to market by that time.

Associate Implicates Yarbrough In Killing

AUSTIN (AP) - The county grand jury planned to hear today from a former business associate of Don Yarbrough, who claims the supreme court justice forgery rubber gloves, supervised the forging of an automobile title.

A subpoena was issued Monday for John William "Bill" Rothkopf, who also has told the Houston Post that Yarbrough plotted the murder of Victoria banker Bill Kemp.

Rothkopf, a 58-year-old salesman, claims Yarbrough plotted to hire a $2,000 hit man to keep Kemp from testifying before a Houston grand jury about an allegedly forged $200,000 letter of credit.

The auto title forgery case falls in Earle's jurisdiction because Rothkopf said Yarbrough supervised the alleged criminal act in the justice's Austin motel room on May 16.

"I intend to initiate and conclude this matter with all dispatch," Earle told reporters after a 2 1/2-hour conference with Dist. Atty. Carol Vance of Houston.

He said Yarbrough would "be afforded the opportunity right away to come and tell his side of the story."

Yarbrough declined through his secretary to comment.

Earle said "other matters" concerning Yarbrough might also come before the grand jury.

"Anything else I would say would be in the nature of rank speculation," Earle said.

Vance said he couldn't comment further because "my office has an ongoing investigation concerning allegations Mr. Rothkopf has made."

He said the kill-for-hire allegation is "under investigation at this time. We can't predict where that might wind up," he said.

Yarbrough called Rothkopf's tale of the alleged plot on Kemp's life "absolute fantasy. It reads like a dime novel."

The Houston Post said the auto title figured in a Houston civil court case when Yarbrough testified Jan. 26 that he decided the vehicle to Rothkopf in return for what he owed a Houston contractor for bookcases.

Yarbrough produced a purported receipt signed by Rothkopf to show that if anyone owed money for the bookcases, it was Rothkopf.

But Rothkopf's story, as told to the Post, is that the car belonged to Yarbrough in 1974 when he controlled the Commercial Bank of Victoria. He said Yarbrough gave him the car to stay out of sight when any legal actions arose involving Yarbrough, a former Houston lawyer and businessman.

Rothkopf said the alleged Austin forgery was a step in obtaining a Texas title and license plates in a third person's name. He said Yarbrough had Alabama plates for the car.

He said Yarbrough wore rubber gloves when he handed him the title and told him to write the name of a third person "in bad handwriting" on the document.

Nixon Can't Hang Onto Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court ruled today that former President Richard M. Nixon is not entitled to control the White House tapes and 42 million pages of documents left behind when he resigned from office.

The justices, voting 7-2, decided that Congress acted within its authority when in 1974 it passed the Presidential Recordings and Materials Preservation Act, seizing all of the documents and tapes generated by Nixon's presidency.

The act calls for regulations to be drawn up by the General Services Administration to allow the public access to the papers and tapes.

The court rejected all arguments by Nixon's attorneys that the law was unconstitutional.

The decision is a victory for the government, which has fought for the last three years to hold on to the nearly 5,000 hours of tape recordings and the millions of pages of documents.

Specifically, the court's majority ruled that the law passed by Congress to prevent Nixon from taking the tapes and documents with him to San Clemente after his resignation on Aug. 9, 1974 did not violate the doctrine of separation of powers between the branches of government, did not violate Nixon's privilege of confidentiality or his right to privacy.

The court also said the law was not a "bill of attainder" - an individualized penalty imposed by a legislature rather than a court.

Justice William J. Brennan wrote the court's majority opinion, joined by Justices Potter Stewart, Thurgood Marshall and John Paul Stevens.

Justices Byron R. White, Lewis F. Powell and Harry A. Blackmun joined most parts of the decision.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice William H. Rehnquist dissented.

Among the almost 900 reels of tape covered by the court's decision are the now famous 30 tapes which helped force Nixon from office in disgrace in the wake of the Watergate scandals. The 30 tapes were used at the Watergate cover-up trial of Nixon's closest aides.

Nixon estimates that of the 42 million pages of documents held by the government - at the White House and the National Records Center in Suitland, Md. - he personally wrote or reviewed some 200,000 pages.

The tapes now will remain with the government until archivists sift through them to determine which can be released (See NIXON, Page 2)

The Branding Iron Counting Corn May Have Helped Transition B.F. Cain

BY KEITH RIBNICK
Brand Staff Writer

Counting a row of vegetables as a farmer is quite different than counting and keeping county records, but Deaf Smith County Clerk B.F. Cain made such a transition 17 years ago. Cain farmed for 15 years in Deaf Smith County before he was elected county clerk in 1960.

"When (former county clerk) Ralph Smith died in 1960, some friends asked me if I would run for the vacant office," Cain said of his start as a county official. "It has not been a difficult change and I've thoroughly enjoyed this job. It's a good place to work."

Born in a small Oklahoma community, Cain moved to Shamrock in 1928 at the age of 12. He graduated from Shamrock High School, spent two years at West Texas State College, and studied a year at Texas A&M University. Cain married then moved back to Shamrock in 1938, where he stayed until World War II.

Cain spent the early 1940's in the U.S. navy as a radio man, first class. He was stationed in Florida, Idaho, and in South America. Cain left the service in late 1945 and came back to the Panhandle to farm.

Deaf Smith County was Cain's destination after the war; he bought a farm seven miles west of Hereford and raised assorted vegetables, wheat, and milo. He was an active area farmer until 1960, when the county clerk position became vacant.

As county clerk, Cain's office keeps birth records, marriage and death records, warranty deeds and trusts concerning realty, contracts and financial records, criminal records for the county courts, civil records for county courts, and county probate records. The clerk's office issues marriage licenses and hunting and fishing licenses and keeps records of all county cattle brands.

Cain stays involved in various Hereford organizations and plays golf on weekends. He is permanent financial secretary for the Hereford Lion's Club, a board member of the First Christian Church, a member of the American Legion and a Mason.

Cain and his wife, Morgan, have two children raised in Hereford. Frank Cain is a lawyer with a law firm in Ft. Worth and Phillip Cain is a doctor with the Scott & White Clinic in Temple. Mrs. Cain is secretary at the First Christian Church.

"Hereford is a good place to raise a family, it's been good to our family," Cain said.

Commissioners To Open Bids On House, Garage

BY PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County commissioners meeting in regular session Monday voted to allocate the historical society of the Deaf Smith County Museum no more than $5,000 for the Black House from revenue-sharing money for next fiscal year.

The commissioners court did not guarantee the historical society more money to improve its opening as part of the museum but said if money is to be allocated, the total would not exceed $5,000.

The county will advertise for bids on a house and five-car garage on the Black House property. The house and garage will have to be moved after the sale and the money earned through the transaction will go toward improvements in the Black House.

In other business, the court renewed the child welfare contract, agreed to advertise for bids for a 15-foot folding mower for Precinct No. 3, and approved use of the Bull Barn for a square dance on April 28, 1978.

Marvin Coffey of Plains Insurance told commissioners that a yearly 13 per cent refund for county workman's compensa-

Remedial Programs Okayed For Courts

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court, reaffirming the role of federal judges in ending school segregation, says courts have the power to require remedial programs for children whose education has suffered because of past discrimination.

Supplying what one attorney called a "banner day for the cause of civil rights" the court ruled Monday in a pair of unanimous decisions in cases from Dayton, Ohio, and Detroit.

The justices ruled that the powers of federal judges in cases of unlawful school segregation are not limited to the reassignment of pupils.

While the justices decided that the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals went too far in ordering a system-wide desegregation plan for Dayton schools, they said widespread solutions may be fashioned if widespread discrimination is found.

Officials Recover Stolen Rembrandt

BUFFALO (AP) - The FBI has recovered a stolen Rembrandt painting, arrested two prominent Buffalo officials and extended a crime and corruption investigation to six other states, agents say.

Federal, state and local investigators operated video tape cameras in a store where an FBI informer bought stolen goods for 15 months, leading to the arrests and extending the probe, according to FBI and local officials.

The informer has been given a new identity and is no longer in Buffalo, officials add.

Twenty-three persons, including the Democratic majority leader of the Erie County Legislature and an assistant district attorney, were arraigned on state and federal charges, including burglary, grand larceny, robbery, arson and possession and transportation of stolen goods.

Police valued the recovered stolen property at $500,000, including the $250,000 Rembrandt painting, "Le Rabbin" or "The Rabbi," that was taken from The Leon Bonnat Museum in Bayonne, France, in 1971.

Russia Says Cotton Its Success Crop

WASHINGTON (AP) - A team of U.S. experts says the Soviet Union has made cotton "the success story" of its agriculture.

"By 1980 it is likely that the USSR will be producing nearly 15 million bales of cotton, compared with 12.1 million bales in 1976," the group said in a report issued Monday by the Agriculture Department.

"It seems almost certain that some of this increased production will be exported in competition with the U.S. cotton exports," the report said.

Further, the use of cotton by Soviet Textile mills "has surpassed consumption in the United States since 1969-70 and continues to rise steadily," the report said.

"The USSR has been the world's largest cotton-producing nation during five of the last eight years. During the 1975 crop year, when U.S. exports declined, the USSR became the world's largest exporting nation."

Police Report

Hereford police made 10 arrests for either driving while intoxicated or public drunkenness and investigated two thefts, one report of vandalism and a criminal mischief complaint, according to arrest offense reports from Friday through Monday.

Money totaling $130 reportedly was taken from a residence at 134 Ave. C some time Thursday and a citizen's band radio antenna was removed from a car owned by Marjorie Hayes of 202 Clement.

The antenna, stolen between 10 p.m. and midnight Saturday, was valued at $25.

John Orsborn Buick-Pontiac Used Cars reported that doors to two vehicles were dent between 6 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday. Total value was approximately $200.

A woman told police somebody had stolen her car over the weekend, then later reported that the car was parked by a friend who had forgotten where the car was left.

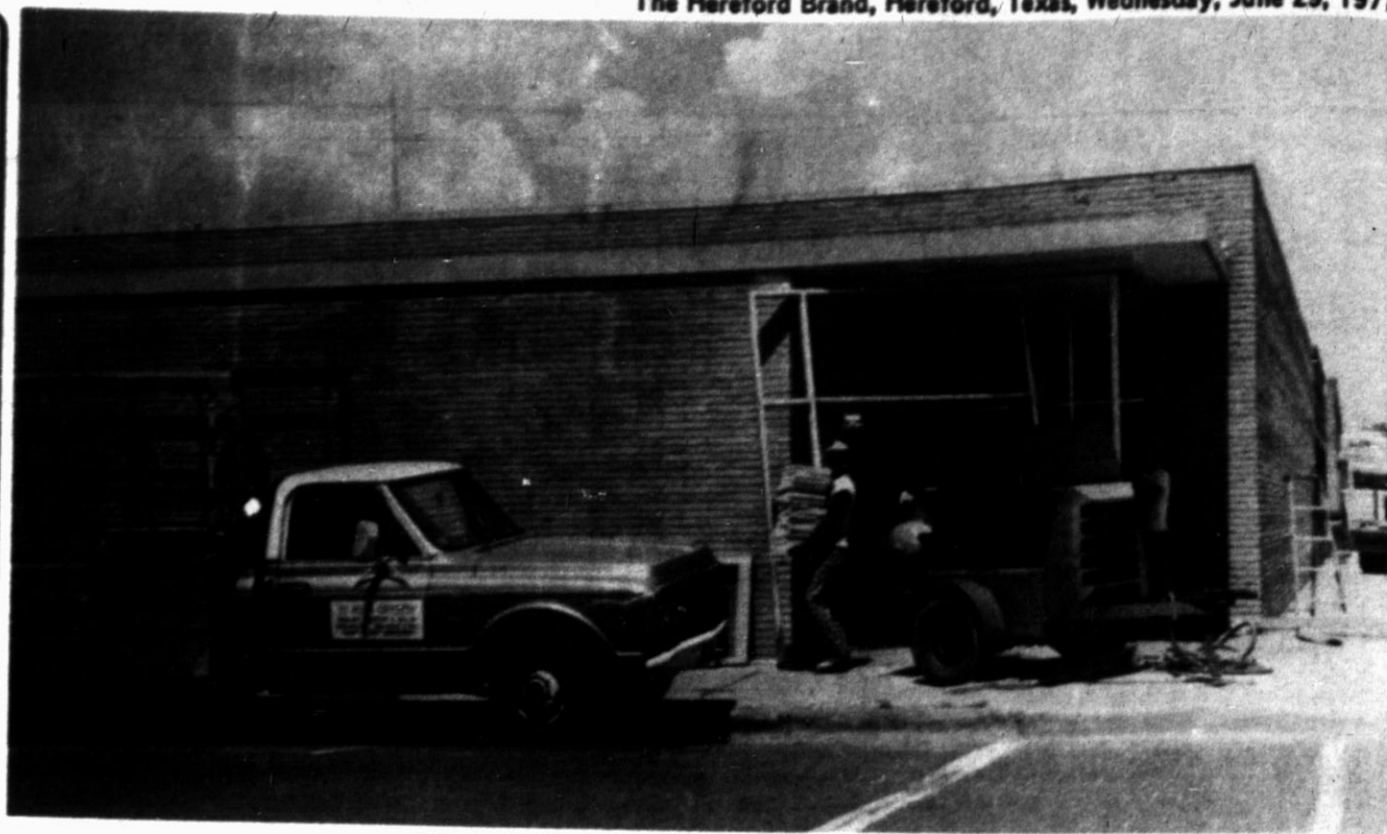

Clifton Cattle Co. reported that a beer bottle had been thrown Sunday through a window, causing a large picture window to also break. Total value of the damage was $280.

Police also investigated five minor traffic accidents over the weekend.

Weather

West Texas: Partly cloudy through Wednesday. Widely scattered thunderstorms most sections today and over the area tonight. Very warm today and Wednesday. Highs today and Wednesday near 90 north to near 105 Big Bend. Lows tonight mid 60s north, mid 50s mountains to low 70s southeast.

ion would be discontinued and the county should consider dropping the policy to accept lower insurance rates offered through the Texas Association of Counties.

The commissioners will make a decision prior to the July 1 due date for the Plains Insurance workman's compensation

Commissioners voted to budget $1,000 for the salary of Ruth Lueb, district clerk secretary, in order to make her a full-time employee. She has been working on a half-time basis.

John Gilliland was appointed Panhandle Emergency Medical Service representative from Hereford, replacing Ron Welty, administrator of Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Welty had commitments which did not enable him to attend meetings of the PEMS in Amarillo. Dr. Lewis Finney, PEMS president, wrote to County Judge

Sam Morgan to request that a new representative be appointed.

Commissioners also discussed pavement damage in Precinct No. 1 where a gas line had been removed from a road, causing the surface to sink. No decision on allocating money for the repair of the road was made in Monday's meeting.

Commissioners will meet at 10 a.m. Wednesday in special session to open bids for tractors in Precinct Nos. 1 and 2.

metropolis areas. Those you have more impersonality.

Tubb would not say if he is in favor of the ruling.

"We don't have anything to compare it with because we've never done it before. But it's a dramatic change and it could have a profound effect on the legal profession."

Tubb was the only one of four attorneys interviewed by the Brand who mentioned the decision might have a favorable effect.

"I think there's a misconception of the general public that a lawyer is too high. They don't think they can afford a lawyer and they really can. They're afraid to ask, this might help."

JUSTICE LEWIS F. POWELL was one of the Supreme Court dissenters Monday.

"Today's decision will effect profound changes in the practice of law," Powell wrote in a dissenting opinion.

But Justice Harry A. Blackmun, writing for the majority stressed the decision allows lawyers to advertise only in a very narrow area and that the court would wait until another day to decide whether a broader range of legal ads also would have protection through the First Amendment.

The majority said the decision is a boon for consumers, arguing that it serves no purpose to deny individuals the information they might gain from lawyers' ads.

Vegetables

the volume of production on the West coast, could be better this year in light of drought conditions in California which should cut production there.

Last year's onion harvest got underway with the price of a 50 pound bag of jumbo onions resting at the $3 mark, and the bottom quickly fell away from there.

Before the harvest was over, the market was bringing as many tears to the eyes of the growers as the crop itself.

The volatile vegetable market has been a virtual rollercoaster for the past several years.

POOR MARKETS greeted the 1974 crop, but a sharp recovery was noted in 1975 and local growers enjoyed a reasonably good market for their produce.

The market did an abrupt about-face last summer, however, and plunged into another downturn—an off year that tends to run with the good ones in the vegetable business.

Growers who took a licking in the market last year are hoping for a sharp upturn in the market this summer in order to recoup some of their losses.

to soar for vegetable growers in recent years as the cost of chemicals, fertilizer and irrigation have shot upward.

Production costs at one time were $200 per acre and had spiraled to an estimated $400 by 1974. They have continued to rise steadily since that time.

Traditionally, local growers gamble on whether their crop can reach the market a week or two earlier than the crops from other states.

This allows county growers to take advantage of a market peak and obtain the top price, before a large flow of produce tends to take the market down.

Nixon

to the public and which may be returned to Nixon. The tapes include conversations in the White House Oval Office, the Cabinet Room, the Lincoln Sitting Room and Nixon's offices at the Executive Office Building and Camp David in Maryland.

Congress passed the 1974 law after determining that Nixon was not reliable custodian for the documents and tapes.

Brennan alluded to the passions of 1974 in his opinion.

"We, of course, are not blind to Nixon's plea that we recognize the social and political realities of 1974," the court's decision said. "It was a period of political turbulence unprecedented in our history."

"But this court is not free to invalidate acts of Congress based upon inferences that we may be asked to draw from our personalized reading of the contemporary scene or recent history," Brennan said in the 56-page decision.

Before leaving Washington, Nixon reached an agreement with the General Services Administration that he would retain title to all his presidential materials. The former president agreed to donate a substantial portion of those materials to the government after he had decided which documents and tapes to withhold.

At the urging of the Watergate Special Prosecutor's office, which feared that the agreement would cut off access for potentially useful material for future criminal trials, the Ford administration refused to implement the agreement.

Congress then passed the law, nullifying the Nixon-GSA agreement.

The act orders the GSA to retain possession of the materials, while allowing Nixon access, and to set up regulations providing for "public access" to most of the materials.

Government archivists are to sift through the material, determining which of it is "general historical value" and should be made public, and which of it involves purely personal matters - conversations between Nixon and members of his family, his personal diary and the like.

The regulations which would make available to the public most of the Nixon-generated materials will have to be approved by Congress, and so far three sets of regulations proposed by the General Services Administration have been turned down.

The court's ruling probably won't end

Nixon's fight over the tapes and documents. More lawsuits are likely over the "public access" regulations eventually adopted.

Nixon's lawyers had argued before the high court last April that if the 1974 law was allowed to stand it would inhibit a free exchange of ideas within the executive branch - between a president and his aides.

The lawyers also said that if Congress could pass a law affecting the materials of a president, it could pass a law seizing the papers of a Supreme Court justice.

Heat Detectors Seek Scout-Slaying Suspect

LOCUST GROVE, Okla. (AP) - Authorities here were banking on airborne heat detectors Monday night in what may be a final major effort to locate a 33-year-old jail escapee charged in the sex slayings of three Girl Scouts at a camp near here.

During the day, the devices were placed aboard a National Guard helicopter after four days of searching by officers - and at one time volunteers - failed to locate Gene Leroy Hart, a Cherokee Indian charged with first-degree murder in the June 13 deaths.

The helicopter was recalled after one-hour-and-forty-minute searches because of rapid buildup of ground heat. The 90-plus-degree temperatures rendered the devices incapable of distinguishing between body heat and heat emanating from the ground.

Lt. Kenneth Vanhoy, Oklahoma Highway Patrol spokesman, said although no trace of anyone had been found in the dense woods, the special helicopter accompanied by an airplane equipped with a heat sensor went out again at night as the ground began to cool.

Another sweep of the area around Camp Scott was set for early today.

"If they fail to find anything then," Vanhoy said, "I suppose we'll have to reconsider the search. It won't be abandoned, but we'll have to decide if we're going to continue to commit this many men to it."

Five Special Weapons and Tactical Teams SWAT, including one comprised of FBI agents have been poised throughout the area. They were ready to rush in if state troopers in the air radioed any possible sightings.

The detectors were the latest in a series of techniques employed in the search for Hart, who is accused of killing Lori Lee Farmer, 8, Michelle Guse, 9, and Doris Denise Milner, 10, all of the Tulsa area.

Since Thursday, when the charges were filed, officials have resorted to a phalanx of searchers, tracking and attack dogs, aircraft and stake-outs by sharpshooters in the snake and tick-infested woods and hills.

"He Hart may be here and he may not," Vanhoy said.

Officials have admitted that the charges against Hart have not slowed their investigation of other possible suspects. However, they refuse to name any others under investigation.

Some officials contend Hart probably is still in the area, despite a letter his mother received which had been dated Nov. 25, 1973, within a month after Hart had escaped from the Maves County Jail. It was postmarked from the town of Calgary, in the Canadian province of Alberta.

Jury Selection Moves Swiftly in Amarillo

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) - Attorneys in the capital murder trial of Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis say the preliminaries of jury selection are moving along at a much faster clip than Davis' first trial.

Attorneys were to begin individually questioning 138 Potter County residents today after the prospective juror list was pared from 650.

Twenty-nine persons were excused Monday because they said they had already decided on Davis' guilt or innocence.

Davis is charged in the shooting death last summer of his 12-year-old step-daughter, Andrea Wilborn. His first trial was declared a mistrial after two months of jury selection.

Chief defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes said the jury selection procedure was moving "very expeditiously."

Attorneys in the case have predicted the jury selection process will take four weeks.

Local courthouse observers, however, said it has never taken more than six days to pick a jury for a capital murder case in Potter County.

The case was moved to Amarillo on a change of venue after the mistrial was declared last April. State District Court Judge Tom Cave, who heard the case in Fort Worth, said Amarillo has a favorable population makeup and has not been exposed to too much publicity about the case.

'Last Picture Show' May Be

Torn Down

ARCHER CITY, Tex. (AP) - A sequel to the Academy award-winning movie "The Last Picture Show" may be forthcoming. But the city council of Archer City, where the movie was filmed, will be writing the screenplay.

City councilmen are considering whether the 86-year-old building housing the Royal Theater, inspiration for native son Larry McMurtry's best-selling book and the motion picture, should be condemned as hazardous structure.

The Royal was gutted by fire about 10 years ago and was closed. The roof was caved in. There's a hole in the floor - and the popularity of television makes talk about restoring Archer City's last picture show seem financially unsound.

Much of the movie depicting life in a small Texas town during the early 1950s was filmed here in 1970. About 100 Archer City and Wichita Falls residents appeared as extras. The finished product was received with mixed reaction because of its explicit language and scenes.

The City Council is experiencing the same mixed reaction as it considers tearing down the Royal. Some people want it saved as a tourist attraction. Others want it restored so they will once again have a picture show. And there are those who would rather it be demolished so the land can be used for a park or modern business.

Bosox Bats Silent; Drop Fourth

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

"We couldn't keep hitting the way we were hitting," said Boston Manager Don Zimmer. "That's unheard of."

The Red Sox bats haven't been heard from lately. Boston dropped its fourth straight Monday night, a 4-1 decision to Dave Roberts and the Detroit Tigers. It was the third consecutive game in which the Red Sox failed to hit a home run after a record power spree of 33 round-trippers in 10 games earlier in the month.

"Their power is in the back of your mind," said Roberts, who surrendered seven singles to Boston in winning his first game in six weeks. It was only the second time this season that the Red Sox did not get an extra base hit.

Zimmer blamed his starting pitchers for the recent skid, which has seen Boston's first-place lead in the American League East shrink to two games over New York.

"Our four starters haven't pitched past the first few innings," Zimmer noted. "They were in a groove for a month, that's why we got to where we're at."

Pacing the Tigers' triumph were doubles by Ron LeFlore, Rusty Staub, Tom Veryzer and Steve Kemp. Jason Thompson chipped in with his 14th homer of the season.

In other AL action, Toronto edged New York 7-6. Minnesota blasted Milwaukee 10-3. Chicago topped Seattle 10-4. Baltimore topped Cleveland 9-2. Kansas City defeated California 7-2 and Texas took Oakland, 5-2.

Blue Jays 7, Yankees 6
Hector Torres, a 219 hitter with just one homer and five RBI before the game, belted the first grand slam home run in Blue Jays history to pace the Toronto attack.

Ron Fairly added a two-run blast for the Blue Jays, while Thurman Munson hit his 10th homer of the season for the Yankees.

Twins 10, Brewers 3
Minnesota continued its torrid hitting pace with Rod Carew leading the way as usual. Carew's 3-for-4 night raised his major league-leading batting average to .408 and gave him 20 hits in his last 32 at bats, a .625 clip. For good measure, Carew also stole home.

Dave Goltz, 8-4, surrendered homers to Sal Bando and Sixto Lezcano in the first inning for the Brewer's runs, the settled down to pitch a seven-hitter, striking out nine and walking one.

White Sox 10, Mariners 4
Chicago also continued its batting splurge, pounding out

13 hits. The White Sox' hottest hitter, Lamar Johnson, had three hits, including a bases-loaded triple, and knocked home four runs.

Orioles 9, Indians 2
Mike Flanagan's eight-hitter and Billy Smith's four RBI led the Orioles past Cleveland. Flanagan, 3-6 went the route, striking out four and walking one.

Smith socked his fourth home run of the season in the seventh inning to chase Cleveland starter Dennis Eckersley, 7-6.

Rangers 7, Angels 2
Pete LaCock slammed a three-run homer to help Andy Hassler capture his first game at Anaheim Stadium in more than two years. LaCock's home run came in the fourth inning off California starter Wayne Simpson, 3-5.

Hassler, a former Angel, got relief help from Steve Mingori and Doug Bird in posting his first victory at California since April 25, 1975.

Rangers 5, A's 2
Texas made Connie Ryan's final game as their manager a victorious one with Claudell Washington hitting his fifth home run of the year, as many as hit all last season with the A's.

Billy Hunter, the fourth manager of the Rangers within a week, arrived at the game in the fifth inning and watched his new charges from the press box. Hunter takes over the Rangers managerial duties tonight.

ATLANTA (AP)— Former Atlanta Falcons linebacker Tommy Nobis has been charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and speeding, police said Monday.

Nixon Wins Twice

Beverly Nixon claimed two firsts and one second to lead the Hereford contingent at the Amarillo Kiwanis AAU Track Meet held at West Texas State University Saturday. Miss Nixon was joined in the winner's circle by former Herd standout James Mays, who won the senior boys 880 with a 1:56.0 clocking.

Miss Nixon won both the intermediate girls 440 and high jump at the meet as well as finishing second in the 100. Her times in the 440 and 100 were 65.2 and 11.8 respectively, while she leaped 4-10 in taking the high jump crown.

Other players for Hereford included Bruce Clark, second in the junior boys high jump (5-5) Kristine Walterscheid, second in the midget girls high jump; Michelle Osborn, third in the midget girls 50 (6.7); Rodney Torres, third in the bantam boys long jump (12-53/4); the bantam boys 440 relay team of Torres, David Burfield, Matt Albracht, and Stephen Boyd (third-62.1); the midget boys 440 relay team of Craig Smith, Gary Long, Labry Welty, and Robbie Snyder (third-57.5); and the junior girls 440 relay team of Elizabeth Hays, Laurie High, Joyce High, and Lori Albracht (third-57.0).

Tascosa Rips Redbirds, 7-3

Tascosa came up with four runs in the third inning, and they were all they needed as the Sheriffs downed the Hereford Redbirds 7-3 at Whiteface Field Sunday.

Five Redbird errors contributed to the loss as Hereford actually outhit the visitors 9-7 in the contest. Dennis Artho and Greg Albracht went 3-4 and 2-3 respectively for Hereford, but the five miscues proved to be too much to overcome.

Hereford took a 3-1 lead after two innings, but the Sheriffs came up with four big runs in the third to move ahead.

Hereford starter Mike Pittard gave up the five runs before being relieved by Chris Hill. The loss was number five against one win for the Redbirds, while Tascosa claimed its third win of the season and second over Hereford.

McCovey Demolishes Reds

BY BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Willie McCovey, taking yet another home run trot around the bases, was thinking of Hank Aaron and Lou Gehrig.

"It didn't hit me until I was half way around the bases," McCovey said Monday. "Then I thought, 'God, I finally passed him.'"

The San Francisco first baseman unloaded two home runs in the Giants' 10-run sixth inning, the only player in major league history to twice hit two homers in one inning, including his 17th career grand slam.

The bases-loaded shot enabled the 39-year-old McCovey to pass home run king Hank Aaron as the National League's all-time grand slam leader.

The homers, McCovey's 12th and 13th of the season, gave him 478 for his 19-year major league career. Gehrig, the former New York Yankee star, holds the major league record with 23 grand slams—a record McCovey concedes.

"But I think I can catch him in career homers," McCovey said. "He has 493. I know that is within my reach."

In other NL games Monday, Chicago nipped Montreal 4-3. Philadelphia defeated New York 4-2. St. Louis downed Pittsburgh 6-1. Houston edged San Diego 7-6 and Los Angeles squeezed past Atlanta 2-1.

Trailing 8-1 after three innings, the Giants bombarded Cincinnati pitching for four homers, two doubles and a triple, with recently activated reliever Joe Hoerner giving up his second grand slam in a week.

Cubs 4, Expos 3
Chicago recorded its seventh straight victory as Mick Kelleher raced home from third on Ivan DeJesus' sacrifice fly, capping a three-run seventh-inning rally. The Cubs took a 1-0 lead in the first on Larry Biittner's fourth home run on the season.

Montreal came back to take a 3-1 lead in the bottom of the first on Ellis Valentine's run-scoring single and a two-run single by Tony Perez.

Phillies 4, Mets 1
A bases-loaded pinch single by Jay Johnstone in the ninth inning drove in two runs and gave Philadelphia its victory over New York. Johnstone's single came off Met reliever Skip Lockwood, 1-4, who relieved starter Nino Espinosa in the ninth and allowed the first three men he faced to reach base.

Cardinals 6, Pirates 1
Mike Tyson hit his first home run of the season and only the eighth of his major league career to lead St. Louis over Pittsburgh.

"Lou Brock was passed out and another guy was lying on the dugout bench when I got back to the bench," said Tyson. "Gene Gieselmann St. Louis trainer was handing out ammonia capsules. I don't know why they were surprised. I hit them out in batting practice."

Astros 7, Padres 6
Bob Watson's single scored Cesar Cedeno to cap a three-run ninth-inning rally as Houston topped San Diego.

Dave Winfield's two-run home run and a run-scoring triple by Gene Tenace had given San Diego a 6-4 lead before Houston's rally.

Dodgers 2, Braves 1
An opposite-field two-run homer by Rick Monday was enough to give Los Angeles its victory over Atlanta. The Braves mounted threats in each inning except the first off starter Burt Hooton, 6-3, but scored only in the seventh, when singles by Gary Matthews, Willie Montanez and Biff Poroba produced the Braves' run.

Twins Shock Sox In Pony Playoffs

The Twins, winners of only two regular season games, pulled off the shocker of the boys pony league playoffs Monday night by beating the Red Sox 7-5. The Sox led to 8-5 overall with the loss after tying the Indians for the regular season title.

In the other playoff game Monday the Indians cruised by the Tigers 11-1 to set up the championship clash against the Twins at 8:30 p.m. tonight. The title game will follow the third-place game set for 6 p.m.

Ken Cosper hurled the Twins to their third win of the year in a two-hit effort against the Sox. After falling behind 5-2 the Twins came up with five runs in the third inning on three hits and several bases on balls to grab the win. Alex Valdez took the loss for the Sox.

In the nightcap Sammy Martinez kept the Tigers at bay and teammate Jamie Frosto crashed a home run as the Indians swamped the cats 11-1. The winners built up an 8-1 margin after three frames, and coasted to the win. Jeff Hazlerigg absorbed the loss for the Tigers.

40 Enter IYC

Approximately 40 Deaf Smith County youths have entered the local qualifying round for the Insurance Youth Classic, local tourney chairman Charles Wagner has announced.

The tourney here is the first step in the road to the national IYC tournament set for August 12-15 at the Silverado Country Club in Napa, California. Local qualifiers will go the state tourney next month to try for a shot at the national tournament.

The local tournament is sponsored by the Tri-County Insurance Agents. The young golfers tee off at 8:30 Tuesday morning at the Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

SAN JACINTO, Calif. (AP)—Bill Viele of Hemet, Calif., birdied the second extra hole of four-way sudden-death playoff Monday to win the third tournament on the Western Amateur Golf Association summer tour at Soboba Springs Country Club.

Billie Jean Has One Shot Left At Record

BY ROBERT JONES
AP Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England. (AP)—Billie Jean King, on the comeback trail after a cartilage operation—her third in all—has her sights firmly fixed on beating the record she shares with Elizabeth Ryan for the winning the most Wimbledon titles—19.

Miss Ryan, American born who has lived in Britain for many years, won her titles—all of them in women's and mixed doubles—between 1914-1934. Billie Jean has equalled that in 11 years and collected a post-war record of six singles titles on the way.

She failed to gain anything here last year, but came back again this time for this elusive 20th win that will stamp her name alone in the record books.

She's only got one chance out of three now of doing it this year. She teamed with Karen Susman and lost in the first round of the women's doubles, then lost again Monday in the singles to Chris Evert.

Her only chance of pulling off the record in 1977 lies in the mixed doubles. With her partner, Phil Dent, she was her way through to the last 16 Monday by beating Ray Ruffels and Virginia Wade in two sets.

Billie Jean, 33, is normally still the same fierce competitor she always has been. But physically, last year's operation has taken its toll.

Miss Evert, who gave Billie Jean her biggest Wimbledon beating since her first year here in 1961, said after her 6-1, 6-2 victory "the fire has gone out of her eyes. She didn't seem to have any zest."

Billie Jean roared with laughter when she heard of the comment. "Mentally I'm in good shape—physically I just don't know," she said.

Will she come back again next year?

"After that (her match against Miss Evert) I'll certainly be back," she said.

Then she hedged a little. "I'll know more about that in six months to a year, when I see how I'm going on physically," she said. "I'm still not quick enough, but I'm working hard on my knee and six months or so should tell me whether I can carry on as I have done. There are still one or two shots I need to work on hard and I find my mind still wanders too much."

Miss Evert meets Britain's Virginia Wade, while Sue Barker, another Briton, meets Betty Stove in the semifinal Wednesday.

Miss Wade beat Rosemary Casali of the U.S. 7-5, 6-2. Miss Barker beat Kerry Reid of Australia 6-3, 6-4, and Miss Stove beat Martina Navratilova, the Czech who now lives in the United States, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1. It will be the first time since 1961 that Britain has had two women in the semifinals.

Today the men were to occupy center stage, with quarterfinals between Jimmy Connors, Belleville, Ill., and Byron Bertram of South Africa; John McEnroe of New York and Dent; Vitas Gerulaitis of New York and Billy Martin of Palos Verdes, Calif., and Ilie Nastase of Romania and Bjorn Borg, the defending champion from Sweden.

Rodriguez Downs Hoover In Finals

Former HHS tennis standout Rocky Rodriguez returned to town last weekend to hand ex-teammate Steve Hoover one of his few defeats as the former won the Men's Singles crown at the Hereford Open Tennis Tournament.

Rodriguez took Hoover in a 6-2, 3-6, 6-3 marathon match in probably one of the finest matches seen in this area for some time.

Hoover wound up a loser for the second time when he teamed with Rodriguez to lose to departing Hereford coach Steve Thomas and Alton Settiff in the men's doubles final, 6-4, 6-4.

Singles winners on Sunday, the final day of the three-day meet, included Dave Hopper in the Men's 35 division and Teresa Barkley in women's play.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Four finalists were paired off today in the southern regional playoffs of the $170,000 World Putting Championship. Monday's card was shortened by rain.

Seeking berths in the quarterfinals were: Robert Smith of Dallas, Gary Benfield of Charlotte, N.C., Eugene Carter of Johannesburg, South Africa, and Rodney Phillips of Lubbock, Tex.

Quarter-finals open Thursday, with the championship round set for Saturday.

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, who have surprised the baseball world by compiling this year's best record, are getting a bigger bombardment from their fans than from their opponents. The team said Monday it has been swamped by telephone calls from fans seeking to purchase tickets. As a result, the club said, a system of ticket purchases via charge cards has been set up.

A team spokesman said fans may buy tickets by telephoning and charging them to their credit card numbers.

MASHPEE, Mass. (AP)—The 72nd annual Massachusetts Open Golf Tournament entered its second day with about 70 golfers remaining at the New Seabury Country Club.

Legion Limelight

Put a baseball bat in Greg Albracht's hands and it almost becomes a lethal weapon. Albracht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Albracht, tops the local American Legion team with an astonishing .485 average.

"Greg is without a doubt our most consistent hitter, and has had at least one double in the last three games," Legion coach Joe Don Cummings commented about his slugger.

Albracht plays second base for the legion team, a new position for him. "He's getting better every game...it's just taken him a while to get used to second, but he's doing a good job," the coach said.

Albracht, a 1977 graduate of HHS played through the Kids, Inc. program, making All-Star

Steve Cauthen Has Another Big Day

NEW YORK (AP)—In the continuing adventures of Steve Cauthen, boy-jockey from Walton, Ky., it was another big day. The 17-year-old riding sensation lost his "bug" but won a race at Belmont Park on Monday and launched himself on a new sideline—promoting sales of his own Country-Western record entitled "And Steve Cauthen Sings, Too."

Cauthen's apprentice era ended at Belmont Park as he completed his first full year of racing, thus losing his five-pound allowance- or "bug." Starting today, he'll be on equal weight terms with the other jockeys.

He rode one winner in four mounts on his final day as an apprentice, completing a year that brought him from obscurity to national acclaim. He has won 284 races this year with purses totaling approximately $3,050,000. Last year he won 240 races before coming to New York. Thus his first year of riding produced 524 winners and more than $5 million in purses earned.

In and New York, Cauthen went to a department store to kick off sales of his record, autographing copies for customers.

The store's record department manager, Frank Lampel, seemed pleased.

"He sold 100 records. He did better than Helen Reddy. She only sold 80," said Lampel. "Considering he's not a major record artist, he had a good day."

Cauthen won with his first mount on Monday as Flying Flunky paid $6.40 in the sixth race. Then, he finished sixth with Harbor Springs in the seventh race, third with Gift-Of-King in the Saranac Stakes feature and seventh in the ninth race on 11-1 Kimberly Lass.

Cauthen's apprentice period was scheduled to end May 27 but he received an extension after being injured in a fall on May 23. He returned to action last Thursday and has ridden eight winners since, including two Sunday at Hollywood Park in California.

Ann Landers Lamenting Wife

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Fifteen years ago I married a handsome, broad-shouldered, flat-bellied fellow with thick brown, wavy hair. Today he is pot-bellied, double-chinned, nearly bald and downright ugly.

I have managed to keep my looks and have been told I am even more attractive today than when I was twenty. I watch what I eat, take pains with my hair and makeup and do my best to present a neat appearance.

I've tried to put Fatso on a diet, to no avail. I encourage him to exercise which he refuses to do, nor will he consider a toupee. His appearance is embarrassing. I hate for people to know I am married to him.

He has wonderful qualities, is a good provider, a hard worker, a loving father and husband, but yucky to look at.

I have tried to concentrate on his good qualities and block out his looks but I can't. I feel degraded making love to such a slob. Going to bed with him is something I put off as long as I can. Is there a solution to my problem? -- Turned Off In Topeka

DEAR TURNED OFF: Yes -- but your husband is the only one who can solve it. I'm not trying to defend "fatso" but there are an awful lot of men who are good to look at but yucky in other ways. A wise wife changes what she can, accepts that which she cannot change, and has the wisdom to know the difference.

Ann Landers tells the behind-the-scenes story on her survey, "Would You Marry The Same Person," in Family Circle Magazine -- on the stands today.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for the woman who is tired of shouting at her deaf mother-in-law.

I understand exactly how you feel. It IS annoying. But nobody WANTS to be deaf. Here are some practical suggestions which I guarantee will help if you will act on them:

1. Be sure your mother-in-law knows you are talking to her. Get her attention before you start.

2. Face her. All deaf people lip-read to a certain extent and gather clues from your facial expression.

3. Speak SLOWLY and more distinctly. Enunciate clearly. Don't slur word endings. Use your lips and your hands when explaining something.

3. Get to the point. Like a good news story, explain first the what, who, when and where. Then go on and elaborate as much as you wish. She needs to know what you are talking about.

5. When there are others present, help her by saying, "We are talking about 'Cousin Joe.'" This will prevent her from interrupting with inappropriate remarks.

6. Raise your voice only when necessary. Shouting in her ear will only make her nervous.

7. If she asks you to repeat, use a different key word. Instead of, "We bought a new car," say, "We just bought a Chevrolet."

8. If you have to say it again, do so graciously. She feels bad enough having to ask you to repeat. Just smile sweetly and think of the stars you are getting in your crown, dear. Signed -- Deaf Also

DEAR ALSO: Thank you for making a solid contribution to this space today. The millions of hard of hearing will bless you.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

A tennis court in Plains, Ga. Don't you understand? Friends, either you are closing your eyes to a situation you do not wish to acknowledge or you are not aware of the caliber of disaster indicated by the presence of a tennis court in your community.

Well, ya got trouble my friends-trouble with a capital T that rhymes with D that stands for DEUCE!

You're probably thinking I'm over-reacting to the tennis court built in Plains, Ga., last month to accommodate its first big World Tennis tournament, but that's what they said when someone broke out a deck of cards in Las Vegas and said, "it's something to do until the symphony hall is finished."

I used to live in a sleepy little hollow that had never heard of tennis. For sport, we used to go into town every Tuesday and watch them change trusses in the drugstore window. Then one day, a city slicker came out and eyed a patch of ground behind the hardware store. He said, "Mothers of Centerville...do your children come in whinnying every afternoon. 'There's nothing to do?' Are you so out-of-shape you need a seat belt for each knee? Is your husband dying of terminal paleness? Do you want to believe that the family that plays together gets their own TV series? Well, Centerville needs a tennis court and you're gonna get it today."

The rest is history. Centerville got its tennis court and was never the same again. Brother turned against brother. ("You creep! If it was on the line don't you think I'd have said so?") Mother turned against daughter. ("Get serious. Are you considering dating a boy who isn't even seeded? What is everyone going to think?")

Neighbor turned against neighbor. ("Look Fred, you and Velma are our very best friends, but you foot-fault one more time and we're going to call it.")

Husband turned against wife. ("I am not coming to bed until you say my second serve in the first game of the third set was IN!")

Families turned against families. ("I don't care if she IS my sister. I can't invite a B player to a A dinner party.")

The town was literally ripped apart. Grass didn't get cut, the livestock didn't get fed, the library was as quiet as a tomb, and the clerics sat around and prayed for rain - in between sets.

The tranquility of the peaceful little community was shattered by shouts of "A little help there, Buddy. Look, turkey. I returned all of your wild balls, now the least you can do is..." and "You know what we have here: We have a sleaze tennis player who signs up for the court using three different names so he can hog it all Saturday morning. There's ways of dealing..."

I hope the good people of Plains, Ga., heed the telltale signs of corruption before it is too late. Are tourists passing by the Carter homestead and asking, "Did Bud Collins really broadcast from here?" Is Billy Carter wearing a sweat band? If so, the first time someone cracks a peanut in their teeth at set point...the whole town could blow!

The first American woman to be ordained a minister was Antoinette Brown Blackwell, ordained in 1853 at the Congregational Church, South Butler, N.Y.

Saccharin was discovered by Constantine Fahlberg on Feb. 27, 1879. He was working under the direction of Professor Ira Remsen at Johns Hopkins University.

Macrame Demonstration

Linda McDowell and her mother Irma Rickman gave a macrame demonstration at the County Library Thursday. They are shown here giving instruction on how to make hanging baskets.

Pre-nuptial Party

Mrs. Terry Beavers [center] was feted last week prior to her marriage Wednesday. Receiving guests with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. Thomas Word [left] and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. David Beavers.

Shower Held Recently

Mrs. Terry Beavers, nee Diane Word, was honored recently before her marriage at a bridal shower in the Community Room of First National Bank.

The marriage took place Wednesday night in Lamar Memorial Garden Room of King's Manor Retirement Home where the bride is employed.

Receiving guests at the recent shower were the honoree, her mother Mrs. Thomas Word, the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. David Beavers, and his grandmother, Mrs. R.H. Beavers.

Mrs. Lonnie Noyes registered guests while cake was served from crystal appointments by Mrs. Sonny Evers and Mrs. Dennis Wosnitzky. The centerpiece was an arrangement of blue and white silk daisies and white silk chrysanthemums in a lead crystal bowl, all resting on a brass and marble pedestal. Flanking the bouquet were blue tapers in brass and marble candlesticks.

Hostesses for the courtesies were Meses. Raynold Herr, Carl Last, Sonny Evers, Charles Danley, Robert Trowbridge, Werner Koelzer, Jacob King, Dennis Wosnitzky, Kenneth Gooch, Wayne Patty, Rayburn Strange and Lonnie Noyes.

"The Mammoth Cheese," weighing 1,450 pounds, was presented to President Thomas Jefferson in the White House on New Year's Day, 1802. This cheese was made by Elder John Leland of Cheshire, Mass., from milk contributed by his neighbors on July 20, 1802.

Cake Club To Give Advanced Classes

A meeting was called by the Sweet and Fancy Cake Club Thursday afternoon with Barbara Pittard, the club's new president presiding.

It was brought up that the club change its usual meeting time to every second and fourth Thursday afternoon. It was voted on and passed.

The club will give an advanced cake decorating class which will be 7:30 - 10:30 p.m. July 18th in the Community Center. There will be a fee of $5. The public is invited to come.

Plans were made to attend the International Cake Show which will be in Dallas during the month of September. The club will attend as a group. For more information concerning the advanced classes or the cake show contact Barbara Pittard at 364-1357.

Those present at the meeting were, Betty Deckard, Kathy Holmes, Elida Balderaz, Evelyn Crofford, Martha Lytal, Johnnie Battey, Betty Hensen, and Barbara Pittard.

If you have not had your pet vaccinated for rabies, do so. Call either vet to do it...Dr. Aaron Hutto or Dr. Bobby Christie. Keep rabbies tag on your dog at all times.

Amazon is Greek for "without breast." Greek mythology told of a race of female warriors living without men, sending away or killing any sons born. The women had their right breasts burned off so they could more easily draw the bow. The word is used today when speaking of brawny women.

Jesko-Wright Vows Pledged Recently

The marriage of Miss Bernadette Jesko and Gary Wright was solemnized June 17 in Temple Baptist Church with the Rev. Jim Bozeman, pastor, officiating.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ambold from California.

The newlyweds are at home at Apt. No. 14, 112 Ave. H.

MARINE PRINTS

MYSTIC SEAPORT, Conn. (AP) — An exhibition of 65 marine lithographs by Currier and Ives will be on display throughout the summer at the Maritime Museum in Mystic Seaport.

The pictures, all published between 1841 and 1887, range from whaling scenes and disasters at sea to portraits of clipper ships, steamships and yachts.

Mrs. Miller Vacations In Hawaii

Mrs. H.E. Miller, 428 Star, has returned from a vacation in Hawaii with her son Jed and his wife Joyce of Odessa.

Describing the Hawaiian Islands as "a postcard of flowers," Mrs. Miller reported that pineapples and sugar cane should be plentiful this year. The Millers rented a car during their stay and drove over much of the islands.

Some of the sites visited by the travellers were lava beds, an active volcano and Pearl Harbor. The trio vacationed on the islands of Maui and Hawaii.

To kiss the Blarney Stone, a stone of the tower of Blarney Castle, Ireland, one must be lowered head first from the battlements. The act is supposed to bestow extraordinary powers of persuasion on the individual.

CB Boom Is Bonanza For Corpus Youth

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) - Breaker, breaker, profit-maker. Citizens Band radio might be lots of fun to millions of enthusiasts around the nation, but to 18-year-old Randy Veselka of Corpus Christi, it's all business.

Randy was a waiter at a restaurant in November 1975. He noticed that CB radio was becoming a phenomenon, and he had $500 in savings.

The $500 bought 10 CB radios and antennas, which Randy sold from his parents' garage. He printed 100 leaflets to advertise his wares and plastered them on auto windshields at shopping centers.

"I got 20 calls, sold all 10 radios in five days," Randy said. The profit was $250.

A $1,500 bank note, co-signed by his father, was paid off in five weeks and another for $2,500 took only 60 days. "I didn't need a co-signer after that," Randy said.

In February 1976 the business turned $10,000 in three and a half weeks.

"I started buying directly from the manufacturers,"

Randy said. "But it was getting to be a little ridiculous. Fifteen to 20 cars with customers were coming by my house after school every day."

The fledgling enterprise outgrew the garage with some help from neighbors who complained about the customer traffic and the electrical interference caused by operation of the CB sets.

A $10,000 loan was obtained to remodel a building to house the business and buy new stock.

In July and August, Veselka's firm grossed $8,000 each month. September sales were $10,000...October hit $15,000, November cranked up to $45,000 and Christmas sales pushed December past $80,000.

Now there are seven full-time employees and one part-time worker.

Veselka's father has sold a physical chain of women's physical fitness salons to throw in with his son.

Randy averages 70 hours a week in his shop, but the rewards are plentiful.

"I've already won five, seven-day, expense-paid trips to London this year," Randy says.

Drop In Coffee, Oil Imports Helps U.S. Balance Of Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)-A big drop in imports of foreign oil and coffee helped cut the U.S. trade deficit in May to $1.2 billion, the lowest monthly deficit so far this year, the Commerce Department reported Monday.

But even though the May figure was less than half the record monthly deficit of $2.6 billion in April, the nation's over-all trade deficit for the first five months of 1977 was still at a record of nearly $9.8 billion.

The deficit also marked the 12th consecutive month in which imports exceeded exports.

The improvement in the May trade report resulted from a 4 per cent increase in exports to a 1977 high of nearly $10.4 billion, while imports declined 8 per cent to just over $11.6 billion.

The Commerce Department said the drop in imports was due largely to a $625 million decline in foreign oil imports and a $144 million drop in coffee from abroad.

The total cost of oil imports in May was $3.1 billion, the lowest monthly total this year.

The reduction in the trade deficit was certain to the welcome news to the Carter administration, since the rising level of trade deficits had become a major potential trouble spot in the nation's economic outlook.

A trade deficit means more dollars are leaving the country to pay for foreign goods than the United States is earning from sale of its goods abroad. It means a loss in purchasing power to Americans and can result in reduced employment and production at home.

Although the May report on oil imports was encouraging, the total value of imports of $17.8 billion so far this year represents a $5.5 billion increase over the value of imports during the same five months of 1976.

On the export side, the Commerce Department said there were increases in foreign sales of machinery and transportation equipment, crude materials, chemicals, beverages, tobacco and manufactured goods.

Total exports in the first five months of the year were valued at $49.8 billion, while imports were at a record level of $59.6 billion.

If the January-May pace of imports continues for the entire year, total imports would be $143 billion for the 12-month period, a 19 per cent increase over 1976.

Life Sentence Pronounced In Schoolroom Murder

DETROIT (AP)-The man convicted of shooting his estranged wife to death in front of 29 children in her classroom was sentenced today to life imprisonment at hard labor, with a recommendation of no parole.

Al Junior Lewis showed no emotion as Recorder's Judge Patricia Boyle denounced his crime as "one of the most vicious I have encountered in my 12 years on the bench."

His conviction on a second degree murder charge came after two days of trial testimony, including that of 10 of the first-and-second grade pupils of the victim, Bettye McCaster, at Burt Elementary School on the city's West Side.

Three of the 10 pointed out Lewis in the courtroom as the man who came into their room last Nov. 10 and pumped five bullets into their teacher's head.

Testimony showed the teacher changed her name and her school assignment after the couple separated last fall.

Witnesses said the couple had quarreled repeatedly in the weeks before their family crisis erupted into gunfire in the classroom.

White Employee May Sue Boss For Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Supreme Court Monday let stand a lower court's ruling that a white employee can sue his employer for discriminating against blacks or other minorities because of the bias deprives the white worker of interracial associations.

While the Carter administration supported the circuit court's ruling, attorneys for the employer charged with discrimination told the justices that the unprecedented decision will overwhelm the federal courts with new and complicated lawsuits.

The decision by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in a California case is seen as a major expansion in how federal courts can apply the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which outlawed on-the-job racial discrimination.

The appeals court reversed that decision, accepting the argument that white employees are "aggrieved" persons within the meaning of the Civil Rights Act when employers' actions discriminate against blacks or other racial minorities.

The appeals court was unanimous in its ruling, a decision one of the judges called "a liberal approach to the question of standing in a civil rights class action."

In urging the Supreme Court to leave intact the appeals court ruling, Justice Department attorneys drew a parallel to a 1972 unanimous decision by the high court in a housing discrimination case.

In that decision, the court said white tenants who allege the loss of benefits from interracial associations as a result of discriminatory policies were "persons aggrieved" within the meaning of the Civil Rights Act of 1968.

The court at that time concluded that injuries caused by living in a segregated environment were sufficient to give the white tenants legal standing to sue.

Government attorneys said the Waters woman, no longer a United Vinters employee, should have the same legal standing when challenging alleged discrimination that effects her "working environment."

Attorneys for United Vinters said Congress did not intend the 1964 act to give legal standing to persons not directly affected by the alleged discrimination.

United Vinters said such an unwarranted expansion of the scope of the statute will diminish the availability of scarce judicial resources and lead to many illegitimate claims.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, June 28, the 179th day of 1977. There are 186 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1914, the heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, was assassinated at Sarajevo, Bosnia. It was the spark that set off the First World War.

On this date: In 1778, the Revolutionary War Battle of Monmouth, N.J., took place. Molly Pitcher's aid to Colonial troops made her a heroine in American history.

In 1838, Britain's Queen Victoria was crowned.

In 1919, the Versailles Treaty was signed in France after World War One.

In 1941, guerrilla warfare against the Nazis began in Yugoslavia during World War Two.

In 1950, in the Korean War, North Korean soldiers captured the South Korean capital of Seoul.

In 1965, U.S. and South Vietnamese airplanes dropped nearly three million leaflets over North Vietnam, appealing to the people to press their leaders to end warfare against South Vietnam.

Ten years ago: King Hussein of Jordan met with President Lyndon Johnson in Washington to discuss Jordan's plight after the Six Day War with Israel.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon announced another withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam and directed that no more draftees be sent to that country unless they volunteered.

One year ago: An Indian Ocean group of islands, the Seychelles, became independent after 162 years under British rule.

Today's birthday: Composer Richard Rodgers is 75.

Thought for today: "I don't know whether war is an interlude during peace, or peace an interlude during war." - George Clemenceau, French statesman, 1841-1929.

FDA Considering Saccharin Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)- The Food and Drug Administration is considering a complete ban on the sale of saccharin.

FDA Commissioner Donald Kennedy told a House subcommittee all sales of the artificial sweetener because of a new Canadian study which shows a high incidence of bladder cancer among males to use saccharin.

He said the FDA is extending until Aug. 31 the comment period on the original proposal to ban the use of saccharin in soft drinks and foods but allow the artificial sweetener to be sold to the public over the counter.

"Our purpose in extending the comment period should not be misinterpreted as a weakening of our decision to remove saccharine from the food supply," said Kennedy.

"Our only purpose is to examine, in the light of important new findings, whether saccharin should remain available for any purpose," he said.

He said he is convinced that this delay will not significantly increase the risk of cancer for those individuals who still believe they must consume saccharin.

"That risk, while increasingly well-documented, appears to be attributable to prolonged consumption of saccharin and to be dose-related," Kennedy.

"During the additional two months required to permit public comment and scientific evaluation of the new studies, the risk to any saccharin user should not increase measurably," he said.

Kennedy said a final decision on a saccharin ban could be reached about Oct. 1. He added that such a ban, if approved, could go into effect this winter or early spring.

Kennedy said his new concern is based on the Canadian study, which shows "there is an estimated 60 per cent increase in the risk of bladder cancer associated with the use of artificial sweeteners in males."

DPW Board Member Urges Look At Nursing Homes

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The Department of Public Welfare should take a close look at its contract with the Department of Health Resources concerning nursing homes, a DPW board member said Monday.

Jamie Clements made his comment in the wake of stories of alleged abuses in some East Texas nursing homes.

A staff investigative report to the board said DPW and the health department have "a dual-agency function and responsibility," but it is the health department that licenses the homes.

DPW Commissioner Raymond Vowell said the department needs the authority to withhold money from nursing homes that are not in compliance with minimum standards.

He also said the department tried during the last two legislative sessions to get authority to file charges in cases of abuse. That legislation "got clobbered like mischief" each time, he said.

Four nurses aides and two nurses were fired at Pine Havel Nursing Home in Lufkin after a report of a patient being beaten with a belt, coathanger and shoes.

The aides allegedly did the beating. The nurses allegedly had knowledge of it.

The investigative report said no evidence had yet been found to confirm alleged abuses at six other nursing homes, four in Lufkin and one each in Diboll and Cushing.

A report by David Holton, chief investigator for the U.S. House Select Committee on Aging, said charges made in Lufkin News stories "are substantially accurate."

"Our investigation indicates, however, that the News, in dealing with limited information, may have erred in one or two instances. With respect to a 93-year-old man who fell from his bed and subsequently died several days later, there appears to be no indications of negligence by nursing home personnel," Holton said.

Fred Biel, DPW general counsel, said "Monday morning quarterbacking" indicates requests for information by the News should have been handled better.

The department answered "technically" without going on to explain that while the specifically requested information could not be disclosed under the open records act, other related information was available and could be released.

The average lightbulb doesn't hold a candle to the firefly. A good bulb converts only about 10 percent of its energy into light, wasting the rest as heat. A firefly operates its lamp without heat at better than 95 per cent efficiency.

Jail Fire Suspect Had Arson Record

COLUMBIA, Tenn. (AP) - A youth who admitted setting a jail fire that killed 42 persons had twice been taken into custody in Wisconsin in connection with arson of threat of arson, authorities said Monday.

Andrew Zimmer, 16, was taken to a Nashville hospital in critical condition Sunday after a fire in his foam-rubber padded cell at the Maury County Jail unleashed toxic fumes that killed 34 inmates and eight visitors.

Maury County Dist. Atty. Gen. Robert H. Gay said he planned to charge Zimmer with arson and would ask to have him tried as an adult.

Roy Martinson, police chief in Superior, Wis., said authorities had first picked up Zimmer on Feb. 28, 1975 in connection with a fire at the Board of Trade Building. Martinson said Zimmer did not admit setting the fire and was referred to a guidance clinic in Superior after the incident.

Martinson said the last contact police had with the youth was on June 17, 1976, in connection with a threat of arson. At that time he was taken to a home for problem children, the chief said.

Attempts to rescue the victims of Sunday's fire were hampered when a deputy sheriff carrying keys to the jail's 12 cells collided with fleeing visitors. He dropped the keys on the floor and was unable to find them for about 12 minutes, officials said.

One husband and wife, who both were prisoners, died in the fire along with his visiting parents and sister. In another family tragedy, a prisoner and five relatives died.

"All the victims had got down on the floor as far as they could, laying down to get some air..." one official said. "It seemed like most of the victims were lifeless," when reached.

Zimmer's mother, Addie L. Zimmer described her son in a telephone interview from her Superior home as "an emotionally disturbed boy."

Authorities in Waukesha, Wis., said records show Zimmer was reported missing from Lad Lake Inc., a residential treatment center in Dousman, Wis., for emotionally disturbed teenagers.

SUMMER CASH BASH!

Placing an order now is to your advantage. This will insure that you get today's machine prices and there will be more time to plan your installation before the growing season. If you buy a quarter section machine, the $2000 Cash Bash savings should take care of your interest well into the 1978 crop season.

WHY BUY NOW?

Orders received by Higromatic during the summer months allow us to maintain an efficient production level during a seasonally slow period. This continued efficiency creates savings that Higromatic will share with you during our Summer Cash Bash (June-August).

Buy any Higromatic™ irrigation system during the summer months and receive a Cash Bash savings direct from Higromatic of $1.56 per foot on the total length of your machine. On a standard quarter section irrigator (1285 ft.) this is over a $2000 savings to you. All machines purchased under this special offer will be shipped at Higromatic's discretion.

*On price of 1285 ft. machine
Dependent on flow rates and end-gun selection.

Higromatic offers the most complete line of pivotal irrigation systems in the industry. The full-size machines cover 130+ acres and are offered in Electric and Water Drive units. A modified Warren Truss design gives your irrigator maximum strength with minimum weight. Higromatic's unique freestanding pivot allows you to build your pivot pad with 1/2 to 1/3 the concrete usually required.

The highly portable line of Fieldhopper™ irrigators are available in one, two, and three tower systems irrigating from 6-50+ acres per circle. A trailer-type pivot option (pictured) makes this line very versatile.

All Higromatic irrigators are constructed with exceptionally high quality parts and a wide variety of options are available to meet your field requirements.

Alyeska Pipeline Ahead of Schedule

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) - Massive pumps have shoved Prudhoe Bay oil over the highest point on the trans-Alaska pipeline, Atigun Pass, about 12 hours ahead of schedule and roughly a month away from its destination.

"It looks great...We're getting about half a day ahead of schedule," Henry Mowell, Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. vice president of operations, said Sunday. Alyeska is the consortium of eight oil companies that built and operates the $7.7 billion line.

Oil began flowing through the line to the tanker port of Valdez, 800 miles to the south, on June 20. The first flow of North Slope crude is expected to take between 30 and 45 days to reach its destination.

Mowell said the oil was in the foothills of the Brooks Range south of the pass at an altitude of about 2,000 feet. The 4,800-foot pass is about 170 miles south of Prudhoe Bay.

Getting up the pass is not considered as tough as getting down. Engineers were concerned that the oil - if it were allowed to travel at high speeds - might put excessive pressure on curved sections of pipe.

"At a point in its descent, a slug of oil will break away...if you let that slug of oil run down the hill it will reach terminal velocity," said W.J. Darch, Alyeska's president. Darch said the momentum created would exert great force on the pipe.

The oil is traced by a mechanical "pig" pushed by the flow and preceded by nitrogen.

When crews want the oil movement slowed, a valve is closed ahead of the nitrogen gas to prevent it from expanding, forming a barrier that acts as a "brake" to keep the downhill flow at about 32 feet per second.

Mowell said the oil was moving at the projected rate of 300,000 barrels per day despite an equipment failure Saturday that shut down the gathering system of British Petroleum-Alaska, operator of the western half of the field.

BP spokesman Charles Towill said a faulty release valve in the firm's gas flaring system blew a four-by-six-foot hole in the roof of a nearby building and damaged several valves.

No fire or injuries were reported, but BP operations were temporarily suspended.
