McPherson Removes Padding From Cell

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Employees of the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office Monday afternoon and early Tuesday tore black foam rubber from the walls of the only padded cell in the county jail.

The foam padding then was disposed of in an effort to prevent a disaster similar to the one in Columbia, Tenn., Sunday from happening in Hereford.

A 16-year-old fugitive from a home for mentally disturbed children, used a cigarette given him by a visitor to the Maury County Jail in Columbia to set fire to the foam padding in a cell.

The fire which resulted pumped killing gas through the fireproof jail and deputies trying to free prisoners collided with panicked visitors, losing the keys to the cellblock. Forty-two persons died.

It was not the smoke but gasses from the foam that killed the victims. The only fire was in the padded cell.

IT TOOK 12 minutes to find the keys but firemen estimated the fatalities took place within four minutes of the fire's outbreak.

Jay Spain, Hereford fire marshal, said the gasses released when foam rubber is burned might have killed the persons in Tennessee after a few breaths.

"If the smoke was dense, probably three breaths would be enough to kill somebody," said Spain as he used a cigarette lighter to set fire to a piece of the rubber stripped from the Deaf Smith County Jail cell.

Black smoke and a putrid odor resulted from the small blaze Spain had created. The smoke in the Tennessee jail also was black.

Poor Moisture, Wind Erosion Don't Dent Good Wheat Crop

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Although the price offered for their product is virtually an insult, Deaf Smith County farmers have delivered quality in quantity again in 1977 where their wheat crop is concerned. --And this despite a lack of moisture and severe wind erosion.

SPOKESMEN FOR THREE county elevators report that this year's wheat harvest is in the final stages, and could end by this weekend with some cooperation from the weatherman. Harvesting of the county's remaining irrigated fields resumed Monday afternoon and combines were running full tilt by late Tuesday.

Harvesting of the surprisingly good dryland wheat crop has been completed with the exception of some scattered fields in the northwestern portion of the county in the Simms vicinity.

"The moisture content of the wheat has come back down to good levels following last week's rainfall and the entire wheat harvest should be completed by next Wednesday," commented Joe Artho of Hereford Grain Corporation.

ARTHO REPORTED AVERAGE dryland wheat yields in the 18 to 25 bushel per acre range and added, "We've had a fine crop this year, considering what most people thought about the prospects back in April and May."

Walter Seed of Pitman Grain concurred with Artho in his estimate of irrigated wheat yields, classifying them in the 50 to 70 bushel per acre range.

"We should be closing out the irrigated wheat harvest this week if the weather lets us, but the way the clouds look every evening, it may take a little longer than that," Seed commented.

"The county's wheat is traditionally of good quality, and this year is no exception, although once the wheat matures and gets a rain on it, it loses some weight and color. It's better for wheat not to be rained on after it matures," Seed pointed out.

Film Scheduled For San Jose

Residents of the San Jose area southwest of Hereford are currently attempting to clean up health hazards in their community, and a film presentation will be held at San Jose Friday at 9 p.m. to inform residents on sanitation practices.

Joe Vasquez of the Department of Health Resources office in Canyon will show the film behind the Templo La Hermosa at 210 Barker.

Robert Gallegos, a member of the four man San Jose Steering Committee reported that the film is being shown as part of an expanded effort by the state health department to assist in clearing up problems at San Jose.

Gallegos explained that a volunteer cleanup day at San Jose which had been scheduled for last Saturday was rained out, but has been rescheduled for Saturday, July 9, at 8 a.m.

"We were going to concentrate on clearing out the alleys last Saturday and had plenty of volunteers but the weather forced us to postpone our work. The concern was there though and we look for a good turnout of cleanup workers during our next session," said Gallegos.

He added that San Jose residents have been encouraged to do their own cleanup, but arrangements will be made for cleaning up property of the elderly and disabled.

San Jose residents wishing to contact Gallegos about the next cleanup project should call 364-2218.

Storm Spawns Hail, Funnel Cloud

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

A violent thunderstorm which passed over farmland to the north and northwest of Hereford and then rebuilt in the same area unleashed a hailstorm that damaged crops and spawned at least one funnel cloud Tuesday afternoon.

AND WHILE that storm wreaking havoc with crops north of Hereford, a second storm struck east of Hereford near the Dawn community, pouring down as much as three inches of rain and marble-sized hail.

The peak storm activity in both localities occurred at approximately 4 p.m.

A funnel cloud was reported at the Lawrence Carlson farm 10 miles north and 1 1/2 miles west of Hereford at 4 p.m.

"It came from the north, and lifted about a quarter of a mile north of us, we could see it coming," Carlson reported. "I got in my pickup and started down the road to the east to get away from it, and just as I was leaving the place I noticed wheat straw flying around the cab of the pickup, even though the wheat field is some distance from the house," he added.

CARLSON REPORTED that the storm, twisted trees near his farm, turned over two feed wagons, damaging one, and covered a motorcycle with debris.

Rainfall amounting to .80 inches also accompanied the funnel cloud.

The most severe damage was recorded to the west of the Farmer's Corner community north of Hereford, where hail and high winds stripped corn and virtually leveled sugar beets.

Mrs. Robert Lloyd reported 2.80 inches of rain and severe hail damage at her husband's farm 28 miles northwest of Hereford.

"THE HAIL wasn't really that big, but it was so intense that it really inflicted a lot of damage," said Mrs. Lloyd. "The clouds went over from the west, then the storm rebuilt and hit us. Several farmers had some wheat remaining in their fields, but what was left in this area is on the ground now. I knew we were in for something when those clouds started backing up over us," she added.

Hilton Higgins of Pioneer Fertilizer Co. at Milo Center 11 miles north of Hereford told of keeping watch on a funnel cloud.

"The funnel was just above us for nearly half an hour. A lot of guys just quit work and came in to watch it. When it stretched out the funnel might have extended as far as two miles, but it remained in the clouds and didn't seem to go anywhere. Finally it dissipated," he related.

Higgins pointed out that crops were severely damaged by hail in an area beginning roughly at Farmer's Corner and extending to the west some eight miles, then to the north about two miles.

"THE HAIL started around 4 or 4:30. It just about pounded my sugarbeet crop into the ground and it beat my corn crop up pretty badly too. We're going to have the damage appraised today, but it looks like it is pretty severe. In fact, it's just about as bad as a hail as I've ever seen, and the wind was real bad too," said Higgins.

While fall crops suffered heavy damage in that area, most of the wheat crop had already been harvested.

"I just really don't know for sure which direction the storm came from. All the stalks and stuff are leaning in a direction to indicate that the storm came from the northwest," he added.

Higgins also reported a rainfall amount of 2.50 inches in the area of the hail damage.

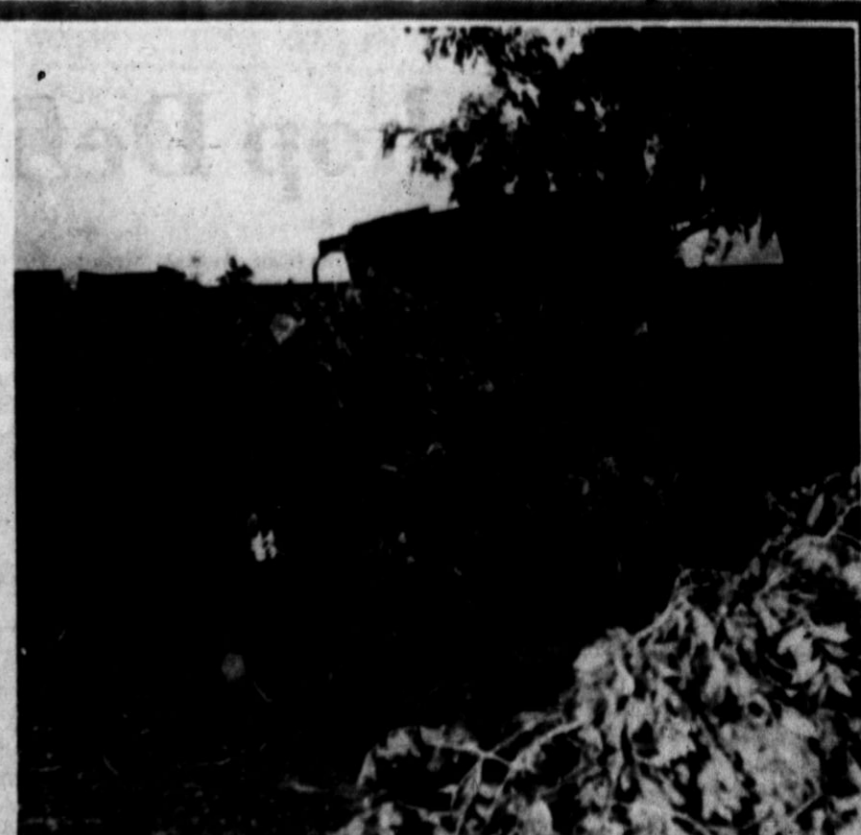

THE SKIES poured forth a virtual deluge which inundated roads for a time near the Dawn community, according to Mrs. Galen Friemel.

A rainfall total of three inches was recorded at her husband's farm 3 1/4 miles north of the Dawn community.

Hail and heavy wind accompanied the rainfall.

"We were getting rain from three to five Tuesday afternoon, and it was coming down real hard and fast. We had finished harvesting our wheat crop only Monday afternoon, so we were lucky on that account. There was some marble-sized hail that shredded the corn up some, but my husband seems to think that it will recover," said Mrs. Friemel. "The heavy weather seemed to be concentrated within a two mile radius, because Dawn

NY Police Seek 'Son Of Sam' Killer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Son of Sam," the 44-caliber killer, has captured New York. The police department added 10 detectives Tuesday to the 50 officers already working fulltime to catch "Son of Sam." It has spent more than $1 million on what has become one of the biggest manhunts in the city's history, and is now canvassing some 2,000 agencies, clubs and businesses to try to track his weapon. The New York Daily News offered a $10,000 reward Tuesday for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer.

The communities of Queens and the Bronx, where "Son of Sam" has struck seven times in 11 months are terrified despite beefed-up police patrols.

Eleven persons were shot in those attacks, the first on July 29, 1976, the latest last Sunday morning. Four women and one man died. One woman remains paralyzed.

Attorneys Battle Pipeline Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for several oil companies are preparing court challenges to the Interstate Commerce Commission order that they lower rates on the trans-Alaska pipeline.

"We certainly intend to challenge it," BP-Canada spokesman Frank Lickwood said Tuesday after the ICC ruled unanimously that tariffs proposed by the companies were too high.

The ICC decision could reap the state of Alaska millions of dollars in extra taxes from the eight companies that own the pipeline. It does not affect the ultimate cost of gasoline at the pump, however.

The eight had proposed tariffs of $6.04 to $6.40 a barrel for moving the oil from Alaska's north slope to the southern port of Valdez.

Rape Not Punishable By Death Says Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that states may not impose the death penalty for the crime of rape.

The court said the death penalty "is a disproportionate punishment for rape."

"It is difficult to accept the notion, and we do not, that the rape, with or without aggravating circumstances, should be punished more heavily than the deliberate killer as long as the rapist does not himself take the life of his victim," the court said in an opinion by Justice Byron R. White.

The court's action, decided by a 7-2 vote, struck down the death sentence a Georgia court imposed on Ehrlich Anthony Coker, convicted for the 1974 rape of a 16-year-old Waycross, Ga., housewife who three weeks before had given birth to her first child.

Although Georgia's law concerned the rape of adult women, the court decision's wording indicated that states may not impose the death penalty even for the rape of children.

Proposed Oil Tax Okayed By Panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—A key congressional panel has approved President Carter's proposed new oil tax, along with a provision that would divide the money it raises among all American adults.

Under the new crude oil tax-and-refund system approved Tuesday by the House Ways and Means Committee, each adult American would get about $222 next year as a share of the money to be raised by this levy.

Beginning in 1978, and ending Sept. 30, 1981, this tax would hike the government-controlled price of U.S.-produced crude oil, which now sells for from $5.25 to $11.28 per 42-gallon barrel, to the uncontrolled world market price currently averaging about $13.50 a barrel.

Government experts expect this to boost the price of a gallon of gasoline by three to five cents and the price of a gallon of home heating oil by three to four cents between 1978 and 1980.

Police Report

Vernon Hope, Hereford police department detective, Tuesday arrested a 16-year-old youth on charges of burglary. The youth was arrested in connection with the burglary of a stereo console from a residence Saturday night and the theft of a skill saw from the back of a pickup truck earlier in the month.

Police Tuesday investigated a minor traffic accident at the corner of 15th and Ave. G. The wreck occurred around 6:28 p.m.

New Buildings Changing Old Rio

BY OSCAR AZEVEDO

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—As old-time residents of Rio de Janeiro look around the town they call the "City Marvelous" it sometimes seems as if the only famous landmarks left are Sugar Loaf and Corcovado's Statue of Christ.

Rio de Janeiro was once a leisurely city of trolley cars, sidewalk cafes, second-hand bookstores and elegant, graceful buildings of two and three stories which dated from the 18th and 19th centuries. Today all but two trolley lines have disappeared and buses belch diesel fumes in the faces of patrons of the sidewalk cafes.

A spokesman for the mayor's office, Ayrton Torquato, said he estimated about 80 per cent of downtown Rio had changed completely in the last 20 years. There are no figures on the number of stately old buildings demolished and replaced by skyscrapers. But he said newspapers continually carry accounts of famous restaurants or old bookstores wiped out by the path of progress.

Replacements include the $2-million city cathedral, a 282-foot-high structure shaped like a rounded pyramid, and the starkly modern office building which houses Petrobras, Brazil's state oil monopoly.

Many famous and beautiful old buildings as well as parks have been demolished because they lie in the path of the city subway, now under construction. Subway construction has so upset life in the "City Marvelous" that it has become the theme of a television soap opera called "Two Lives." The soap opera deals with the problems of shopkeepers and apartment owners of limited resources who must move because of subway construction.

The path of the Rio subway most often resembles the path of low level bombers — gapping holes and piles of rubble. But in Rio, citizens shrug; something is almost always under construction and residents are used to finding streets and sidewalks blocked by boards and confusing wooden walkways that resemble a children's game or a rat maze, where once a tree-lined avenue existed.

One of Rio's most famous spots was Cinelandia, where the best movie theaters were located along with sidewalk cafes and bars like the Amarelho. Musicians, composers and singers used to gather there. It was a peaceful, popular area graced by Portuguese mosaic sidewalks.

Then came the subway and CHANGING SCENE—Sugar Loaf Mountain, in distance behind new Cinelandia, is one of few remaining landmarks in modern Rio de Janeiro.

Cinelandia disappeared for three years in a gaping hole, and jangling guitars were replaced by the thud of the pile driver.

Construction was at last completed in October 1976 and a new Cinelandia emerged. To old-time residents it's just not the same but newcomers find it a cheerful place of broad flower beds and replicas of old-fashioned street lamps. Pigeons flock there and children play.

The movie theaters continue and their customers who stop afterward for a cold beer at an outdoor cafe have an excellent view of the remaining grand old buildings on the Avenida Rio Branco, Rio's main downtown street. These are the Municipal Theater, the National Library and the Fine Arts Museum — which are lit by floodlights at night.

The fine old Palacio Monroe, a structure which served as the seat of the Federal Senate before Brasilia replaced Rio as the nation's capital, was recently demolished, however, to be replaced by a park.

The Galeria Cruzeiro, where there was once a concentration of bars and restaurants at a stop for trolley cars, is today only a memory. A 40-story building stands there now.

Wheat

farmers are satisfied with their wheat yields considering the circumstances they faced during the growing season.

About the only expression of dissatisfaction I've heard has been about the price," Seed related.

Dale Walford of Dawn Co-Op east of Hereford reported that harvesting operations in the Dawn area are about 75 per cent complete while north of Dawn, the harvest has passed the 60 per cent completion mark.

"We've been down only a couple of days because of the moisture and we're hoping to be through cutting by the weekend," said Walford.

Padding

"THE STUFF IN THE jail here (in Hereford) is made out of foam rubber. When it's burning, it puts off a cyanide gas. It's dangerous. You saw how readily it burned and how back the smoke was," Spain said.

The Hereford fire marshal said anything with foam rubber would release a similar gas.

"In your house, things put off the same stuff if they have foam rubber padding. In the United States, 12,000 to 14,000 people died last year in fires. About 9,000 or 10,000 died from smoke inhalation. "The smoke isn't what kills them—it's the poisonous gasses off of their furniture and carpet pads and things of this sort."

DEAF SMITH COUNTY Sheriff Travis McPherson wasted no time in removing the padding in his jail after hearing of the Tennessee disaster.

"I became concerned when I realized this jail was built about the same time the padded cell was built in Columbia. Our jail was built in 1959," McPherson said.

"Right after I heard about the fire early written off, due to severe erosion problems caused by high winds.

A TIMELY WET spell set in during late April and early May however, and moisture-stressed wheat managed to pull through and bear grain on many of the sprawling dryland farms in the county's western sector.

This year's average wheat yields on irrigated acreage may outdistance the 50 bushel per acre average of 1976, when a prolonged drought took its toll on the local wheat crop.

The 1976 crop was labeled as "exceptionally good" quality-wise, and the 1977 crop should follow tradition in measuring up that standard.

Monday morning, I got the jailer to pull some of it out. He lit some outside the jail area and reported that it was flammable and it would burn. So we decided to tear it all out.

The next step is to find a replacement for the padding.

"WE'VE TALKED TO THE Texas Jail Standards Commission to determine what we could put in there that won't burn. As far as I know, most jails in the state have the same substance."

THE HEAVY WEATHER missed the city and areas to the west, with only light sprinkles reported at the Bootleg Corner and Walcott communities and no moisture recorded at the Easter community, south of Hereford.

KPAN radio logged a moisture total of .60 inches for the city while the Holly Sugar Corporation's Hereford plant measured only a trace.

The West Texas forecast calls for partly cloudy conditions through Thursday with widely scattered thundershowers, primarily at night.

Tonight's low is expected to be in the mid 60's and the high tomorrow should climb to near 90.

Archbishop Defies Pope

ECONE, Switzerland (AP)—Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre ordained 14 priests and consecrated 16 subdeacons today in his crusade against modernization of the Roman Catholic church. He said he would continue to defy Pope Paul VI because "we refuse to collaborate in the destruction of the church."

Rejecting the Pope's threat to excommunicate him if he carried out the ordinations, the 71-year-old French prelate said: "We do not hesitate to continue on our course."

He charged that "mercenaries, wolves and thieves" had sneaked into the church to destroy it.

"We will not lend a hand to them, we will not collaborate in this destruction," he declared.

About 4,000 sympathizers crowded around the tent in which the three-hour rites were held near the seminary Lefebvre founded in 1970 to fight the "virus" of ecclesiastical liberalism with the 16th century liturgy of Pope Pius V. Dark clouds hung over the Alpine hamlet. The new priests, who studied for five years at the Econe seminary, included one American, Anthony Cekada, 26, of Milwaukee, Wis. One of the subdeacons also was an American, Terrence Finnegan, 34, of Rapid City, S. Dak.

He rejected the Pope's warning of an "irreparable rupture" between the church and the traditionalist movement, which refuses to accept the celebration of the Mass in vernacular languages and other liturgical reforms ordered by Pope Paul since the Second Vatican Council.

Lefebvre said Pope Paul had accused him of pursuing personal aims.

"I do not believe this," he declared. "I believe I act for the good of the church. We want to guard the faith, we do not want anything else."

Lefebvre, a former Archbishop of Dakar, also opposes Pope Paul's efforts to improve their church's relations with Communist governments and with other churches. Last year he accused the Pope of "dealing with Moscow, communism, Freemasonry and Freudianism, and destroying the Church."

The traditionalist movement has enlisted many thousands of followers in France, West Germany, Italy and Switzerland who believe that the liberal reforms launched by the 1962-65 Second Vatican Council perverted Roman Catholicism.

They are particularly insistent on the celebration of the Mass in the traditional Latin because to them Mass in vernacular languages is a symbol of the church's compromises with other churches and modern social trends.

Pope Paul suspended Archbishop Lefebvre in June 1976, from all priestly functions because he refused to close his seminary. He was the first bishop to be disciplined so severely in 150 years. But he continued to ordain priests trained in his seminary, to celebrate well publicized, well attended masses in Latin and to attack the Pope in sermons and speeches.

The Pope wrote Lefebvre last week that if he carried out the ordinations this week, he might be excommunicated. But the archbishop ordained a priest in eastern France on Sunday and went ahead with plans for the ceremony today.

Police Find Fetuses In Pharmacist's Clinic

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Police here are still unable to discover why four human fetuses, floating in coffee, were kept in pickle jars in the refrigerator of a midwife and licensed pharmacist who was charged last Friday with injuring a child.

Officers and members of the Cameron County District Attorney's staff made the grisly discovery Monday when they raided Miguel S. Orihuela's clinic.

Det. Chris Hess described the site as "sickening."

"The largest one was perfectly formed right down to the fingernails," said Hess. "You could tell it would have been a little boy."

Hess said the fetuses ranged in size from "about as big as your thumbs" to "about the size of your fist."

"It looked like a typical refrigerator that hadn't been cleaned in four or five months," said Asst. Dist. Atty. Joe Hendley.

Orihuela, 44, was arrested Friday and placed under a $500,000 bond for allegedly crushing the head of an infant with surgical forceps during delivery. The child spent five days in the intensive care unit of a local hospital and is now listed in stable condition. However, doctors say the child's brain may be damaged.

Orihuela's 29-year-old wife, Linda, was arrested Monday afternoon and charged with illegally "practicing the art of healing." She is alleged to have assisted her husband in medical procedures only a licensed physician is allowed to

The woman was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Ed Sarabia late Monday and released on $1,500 personal recognizance bond.

Hendley said drugs bearing Mexican manufacturer's labels were found with the pharmacy's regular stock along with items marked "for hospital use only" and materials dispensed by public health agencies.

Arney also announced that several internal organizational changes will be made shortly and that Arney will name several additional divisional chairmen in the near future.

Man Swipes Jetliner, Lands In Persian Gulf

DOHA, Qatar (AP)—A young Lebanese man armed with a pistol and two hand grenades hijacked a Gulf Air jetliner with 68 persons aboard, but troops led by Qatar's crown prince overpowered him today after the plane landed in the Persian Gulf emirate, the Qatar government announced.

A military spokesman said all 60 passengers and eight crew members were "safe and sound."

He said the hijacker was Samir Mohammed Hussein Shararah, 26, from the south Lebanese village of Bint Jbail, near the Israeli border.

Airport sources said moments before his arrest, the hijacker demanded a ransom of $500,000 riyals - $194,000 - in exchange for the other passengers and crew members.

The official Qatar news agency said Crown Prince Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, who is also Qatar's defense minister, led a squad of troops who slipped into the four-engine VC10, overwhelmed the gunman and dragged him out.

The hijacker is being interrogated by security officers to determine his motives and check if any group was behind the crime," the agency said an airport official told it.

The hijacker took over the VC

10 airliner during a scheduled flight from London to Muscat, the capital of Oman, on the Arabian peninsula to the east of the entrance to the Persian Gulf.

Airport sources said the plane landed shortly after midnight in Muscat, then took off and flew along the south coast of the gulf to Abu Dhabi, capital of the United Arab Emirates. Officials there refused to let it land, the plane flew on to Doha, the next international airport to the west.

Armed police and soldiers cordoned off the area as the plane set on the runway with all passengers and crew members still inside. Traffic in and out of the airport was halted. Gulf Air flies between London, the Persian Gulf and Bombay. Its headquarters are in Bahrain and it was linked with British Airways.

Computer Denial Hurt Company Say Executives

NEW YORK (AP) - Control Data Corp. says it didn't receive a fair shake in the administration's denial of its proposed $13 million computer deal with the Soviet Union.

Neither, it feels, did the American people.

Because of the action, it believes the United States and the world have been denied vital weather information that the computer would have provided. Jobs may have been lost. Technology exchange may have been diminished.

Executives of the Minneapolis-based company, which has had a long and smooth relationship with the Soviets, feel a bit better today, after having had their say before a House subcommittee, but it came a few days too late.

Had they been granted an opportunity to correct misunderstandings, they said, the decision might have been different. But, they told the subcommittee, the administration evaded its statutory responsibility.

Following the formal testimony, Hugh Donaghue, a company executive, reiterated his position: a few irresponsible news stories generated concern among elected officials, detracted from the merits, and created a political football.

Faced with that situation, he said, the Carter administration punted. The Commerce Department barred sale of the computer, which it said might be diverted to military uses.

"We weren't granted the hearing we felt we should have got," said Donaghue, vice president and assistant to William Norris, the chairman. Because of safeguards, he said, the computer couldn't have been diverted to military purposes.

The many safeguards, he said, included a systems analyst and engineer at the site, and machine locks and split-second meters, operated only by company personnel, that would control and measure usage.

The list was long. The programming code would be unique, and it would remain in the hands of the resident company analyst; use of any other code would halt the system.

Donaghue conceded there might have been "an honest difference of opinion on the question of diverting the system." But, he said, "we should have been called in and permitted to state our position."

Perez Says Carter Strong In Human Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) - Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez Tuesday praised President Carter's human rights campaign as representing a shift without parallel in the history of the American foreign policy.

At a welcoming ceremony on the White House South Lawn, Perez said the "warmth and sincerity" of Carter's human rights commitment is being felt throughout Latin America.

Carter, in turn, lauded Perez as "an active and effective spokesman for Third World nations, one who can truly represent the highest aspirations of the people of Latin America."

The two leaders are meeting amid signs of increasing American interest in expanding Venezuela's role as a U.S. oil supplier.

Perez represents one of the few democracies remaining in Latin America and is highly regarded by the Carter administration because of his outspoken support of human rights.

The U.S. role as a defender of human rights and the decreased emphasis on the American role as "an economic and military superpower" represents an unparalleled shift in the U.S. global outlook, Perez said.

A 21-gun salute greeted Perez as he arrived here after an overnight stay in colonial Williamsburg.

"Venezuela has earned the admiration of those who believe in freedom and in the open processes of government," Carter said.

He also praised Perez's leadership in seeking reduced military expenditures in Third World countries and his stand against the proliferation of atomic weapons.

He also noted that Venezuelan friendship for the United States was demonstrated in 1973 when, in a boycott by the Arab oil cartel members, Venezuela continued petroleum shipments to this country.

House Votes To Cancel Pay Hikes For Members

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House voted Tuesday to cancel a prospective cost-of-living pay increase for members of Congress, federal judges and high officials. But it faced a close vote on rolling back a raise now in effect.

The vote to rollback the raise may come Wednesday and could result in wiping out the $12,900 annual pay raise members began receiving March 1. Leaders expect an extremely close vote.

Today's vote, 397 to 20, sends to President Carter a bill already passed by the Senate rescinding the cost-of-living raise Congress members and others in the upper pay brackets would get Oct. 1.

Many middle and lower grade federal employees, however, will still get the cost-of-living increase. The bill only denies the cost-of-living adjustment for this year to those who received the big increase in March.

The cost-of-living hike has not yet been computed, but is expected to be about 6.3 per cent, which would have meant approximately a $3,500 raise for members of Congress.

House May Renegé On Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House of Representatives is preparing to vote on an amendment that would have congressmen give back the $12,900 raise they got in March.

Congressmen hoping to repeal the pay raise maneuvered toward a vote today that would focus only on the pay of House members and would not tamper with increases given at the same time to some 20,000 top level federal employees.

Funds to continue the pay raise into the next fiscal year, which begins Oct. 1, are in a legislative appropriation bill before the House. It is these funds the amendment would cut.

An extremely close vote was predicted.

If the House members delete the funds to cover the pay raises for the next fiscal year, the Senate would not have to put the money for their raises back into the bill. Then the measure would be sent to a conference committee, which would try to reach a compromise agreeable to both chambers.

The March pay raise went into effect automatically without the need for a vote. It raised the salaries of congressmen and senators from $44,600 to $57,500 and included pay increases for the vice president, Cabinet members, other high officials and top civil servants and federal judges.

Former Boxer Claims Life More Relaxed Now

DALLAS (AP) - Dallas tire salesman Curtis Cokes has a Farrah Fawcett-Majors calendar on his office wall. There are no reminders of the boxing career of former world welterweight champion Curtis Cokes.

Cokes, 40, is eight years away from the April 1969 night in Los Angeles when he was the first welterweight champion to receive an $80,000 guarantee and lost his title by TKO to Jose Napoles.

Since then there's been divorce and bankruptcy proceedings.

His South Dallas nightclub and many of his boxing mementoes were lost in a 1970 fire. By 1971, his $270,000 in ring money had evaporated into bad investments, extravagant living and "too many loans because I'm a soft touch."

Cokes is now happily married again and making $18,000 per year as manager of a tire store. He ventures into the ring occasionally, but only to referee, and is part owner of a young Dallas heavyweight fighter's contract.

"I'm a pretty relaxed man nowadays," said Cokes from his tiny office in the rear of a Cadillac dealership. "I don't have any problems. I'm just an eight-to-five working man."

Cokes won the world welterweight championship at 29 and held it for three years. He successfully defended his title four times before losing in the 13th round to Napoles.

Two months later, he tried to wrest the title away from Napoles, only to be knocked out in the 10th round.

"Pound for pound he was the best champion in the world at his time," said Dallas insurance executive Doug Lord, Cokes' former manager. "That's not just me saying that. A lot of people in boxing will tell you that."

Cokes retired from the ring in March 1970 but returned five months later to campaign as a middleweight, winning five of eight bouts.

"It was just to pick up some money," said Cokes. "I needed it. I knew there was no way I could win the middleweight championship at the age of 34 or 35, but I had hoped to get ranked so I could have a few good paydays. My heart wasn't in it. I was just going through the motions."

Meanwhile, Cokes was losing most of his championship money in bad loans and business ventures that went sour. And then there was the nightclub fire.

He declared bankruptcy in 1971.

"I was always a sucker when someone had a car payment to make or a house loan payment," said Cokes. "I have no idea how much I loaned out, but in 1975 when I was broke and didn't have a job I lived for nearly a year just going around calling in debts."

Much of the former champanion's money went into the Curtis Cokes Youth Club, an athletic program for black youngsters he established in South Dallas in 1963. It lasted seven years and in one two-year period, Cokes said he personally purchased $45,000 of athletic equipment.

"I get reminded every so often that it was all worthwhile," said Cokes. "When I was honored earlier this year by the All Sports Association, Oscar Roan Cleveland Browns tight end from Dallas came up to me and thanked me for providing him with a place to play when he was a teenager. That meant something to me."

reduced during their terms.

Many congressmen indicated that if the congressional salaries could be linked to those of the federal employees who received raises at the same time, the House members would find it easier to justify a refusal to give back their raises.

Weaver Tops IYC Qualifying Round

Tommy Weaver cruised to five-over par 76 on the John Pitman Municipal Golf Course here Tuesday to take top honors in the local qualifying round for the National Insurance Youth Classic (IYC), which will be held in Napa, California August 12-15.

Joining Weaver in qualifying for the next round of action, the state tourney in Austin July 11-12, were Andy Yocum (79) and James Lyles (81). All three of the qualifiers are from Hereford.

The local tourney was open to young golfers (12-17) in Deaf Smith, Castro, and Farmer counties. Both male and female players were eligible.

The top female finisher was Hereford's state-qualifier Barbara Scott, who carded an 83 in a fourth-place tie with Tony Albracht. The only other female golfer entered, Karen Stevick of Friona, finished the round with a 99.

The local tourney was under the guidance of chairman Charles Wagner. It was sponsored by the Tri-County Independent Insurance Agents.

The three local qualifiers will play in the state tourney at the Morris Williams Golf Course

July 11-12. Top finishers there will qualify for a shot at the national title in the IYC at the Silverado Country Club in Napa, California.

At the IYC, the young golfers play alongside pros, including such notables as Johnny Miller, Tom Watson, John Mahaffey, Grier Jones, Lee Elder, Larry Ziegler, and Bobby Nichols.

Also expected to be on hand in August is the first IYC winner, Eddie Pearce, who won the tourney in 1969 as a stepping stone to the pro tour.

The national winner will be awarded the Robert Trent Jones Trophy, sponsored by Jones, a well-known golf course architect.

McEnroe Cool In Face Of Connors

By ROBERT JONES
AP Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — "I'm not shy," says John McEnroe, 18-year-old tennis sensation from Douglaston, N.Y., in the understatement of Wimbledon's centenary tournament.

McEnroe, son of a lawyer, came here primarily to play in Wimbledon's junior tournament. He's scratched himself from that. He's got far more important things to do, like playing Jimmy Connors in the men's singles semifinal.

McEnroe reached the last four — the youngest in Wimbledon's history to do so — by knocking out Phil Dent, the Australian seeded 13th, 6-4, 8-9, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 in the quarter-finals Tuesday. In the previous round he effectively disposed of the very experienced Sandy Mayer of Mendham, N.J.

In the semifinals Thursday, he's due to meet Connors, the No. 1 seed and hot favorite. He's taking the prospect cool. "I don't know I've even met him," he said.

McEnroe's passage to the last four hasn't been a quiet one. He's already drawn one rebuke for his language. And he threw a temper tantrum once or twice in his match against Dent when calls went against him.

"I'm very intense," he explained afterward, "but I've controlled myself here. Wimbledon is a great tournament, but I'm not letting it intimidate me. That way, you lose matches." The prospect of playing Connors doesn't seem to bother him. But what to do with the prize money does. Even if he loses his semifinal, he'll have netted himself $6,800.

As an amateur, he won't be eligible for any prize money. "I don't know what happens," he said. "I think they give it to me and I have to give it up to someone else. We'll find out about that later."

McEnroe's victory over Dent was one of two shocks in the men's quarter-finals Tuesday. The other was the almost clinical elimination of Ilie Nastase from the singles by Bjorn Borg, the champion who beat Nastase in the final last year.

With Connors having beaten Byron Bertram, the South African, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2 and Vitas Gerulaitis of Howard Beach, N.Y., beating Billy Martin of Palos Verdes, Calif., 6-2, 8-9, 6-2, 6-2, the semifinals Thursday will be Connors vs. McEnroe and Gerulaitis vs. Borg.

The average elevation in the state of Indiana is 700 feet above sea level.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Only the Western Regional playoff remained today before semifinal action begins in the $170,000 World Putting Championship.

Play was completed Tuesday in the Central and Southern regionals, with the two survivors in each advancing to the world quarter-finals which begin Thursday.

In the central regional, Gary Miller of Columbus, Ga., the 1975 world putting titlist, beat Tony Cross of Louisville, Ky., 2 and 1, and Gary Justice of Rockville, Md., beat Jim Borchelt of Cincinnati 1-up in a sudden-death playoff.

In the Southern Regional competition, delayed until Tuesday because of the rain, Robert Smith of Dallas, defeated Gary Benfield of Charlotte, N.C., 2 and 1, and Eugene Carter of Johannesburg, South Africa, beat Rodney Phillips of Lubbock, Tex., 2 and 1.

Dave Purdue, State IYC Tournament Director from Austin (L) and Cal Garrett, local golf pro (R), pose with the top three finishers in the local IYC qualifying round played at Pitman Golf Course Tuesday. The top three from Purdue's list were Tommy Weaver, Andy Yocum, and James Lyles.

Reitz Raps Rabbit Ball For RBIs

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The rabbit ball is alive and well in St. Louis.

"When you hit it," says Ken Reitz, "you know it's going to go someplace. The ball, I think, is a lot better this year than it has been."

Discussed by batters and cussed by pitchers, the ball being used this season has been jumping out of major league stadiums at an alarming rate.

Reitz improved on this year's burgeoning quota with two home runs and eight RBI Tuesday night, leading the St. Louis Cardinals to a 13-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates and a sweep of doubleheaders. The Cardinals won the first game, 6-1.

Reitz' first homer of the night and ninth of the season came with the bases loaded in the fourth inning off Grant Jackson. His second homer, a three-run belt in the eighth, was hit off Mario Mendoza, a reserve infielder who pitched in his first major league game.

Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner brought in Mendoza after Jackson was hammered for 10 runs and 10 hits in the first six innings. Tanner said the Pirates' second double-header in three days had depleted the pitching staff, prompting his decision to pitch Mendoza.

In other National League games, the Chicago Cubs beat the Montreal Expos 4-2 in 10 innings; the Houston Astros turned back the San Diego Padres 5-1; the Philadelphia Phillies whipped the New York Mets 3-1; the Cincinnati Reds stopped the San Francisco Giants 11-4 and the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Atlanta Braves 3-2.

Buddy Shultz gave up five hits through 7 1-3 innings in his first major league start as St. Louis took the first game from Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh scored with none out in the first inning of the opener, then the Cards earned a 1-1 tie the next inning on singles by Keith Hernandez and Tyson, then moved in front to stay when four singles and a hit batsman produced two runs in the fourth.

Cubs 4, Expos 2
Pinch-hitters Genies and Greg Gross drove in runs with sacrifice flies in the 10th to lead Chicago over Montreal. The Cubs loaded the bases against loser Will McEneaney on singles by Steve Ontiveros and Mick Killeher and a fielder's choice by Steve Swisher.

Astros 5, Padres
Enos Cabell hit a two-run homer in the sixth inning and Bob Watson drove in two more runs to support Joaquin Andujar's five-hitter as Houston defeated San Diego.

Andujar, who had never beaten San Diego in four decisions, won for the seventh time in eight starts and improved his record to 9-4.

Phillies 3, Mets 1
Greg Luzinski and . Bake

McBride slammed home runs to power Philadelphia over New York in a rain-delayed game. Luzinski's 16th homer of the season in the eighth inning cleared the right-center field fence to snap a 1-1 tie.

Reds 11, Giants 4
Johnny Bench, on his hottest RBI binge of the season, drove in five runs and Ken Griffey produced four, propelling Cincinnati over San Francisco.

Bench, who had four RBI Monday night - drilled his fifth homer in seven days, had a two-run double, a sacrifice fly and a run-scoring double to boost his season RBI total to 60, seven shy of league leader George Foster.

Dodgers 3, Braves 2
A pinch-hit home run by Ed Goodson broke a tie in the ninth inning and gave Los Angeles its victory over Atlanta. Goodson connected against reliever Max Leon leading off the ninth, sending a shot over the short fence in right at Atlanta Stadium.

The Dodgers had tied the score in the eighth after trailing from the second inning on, with two errors by Atlanta third baseman Jerry Royster contributing to the tying run.

'Aggressive' Sox Demolish Seattle

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

Larry Doby knows why the Chicago White Sox are one of the top hitting teams in the major leagues. He should - he's their batting coach.

"Our hitters are all aggressive," said Doby after the White Sox demolished Seattle pitching for their second straight 10-4 triumph over the expansion team. "But they are also patient and they wait for the good pitch. They worked all spring and it's paying off."

It's paying off to the tune of a .284 team batting average, 382 runs scored and 87 home runs in 71 games. Last season, Chicago hit .255 with 586 runs scored and only 73 home runs.

The hottest Chicago batter is Lamar Johnson, whose 10-game hitting streak includes six homers in the last 10 days-the latest being a two-run smash Tuesday night.

Richie Zisk smashed his 17th home run in the victory over Seattle, but it was his first round-tripper in two weeks.

The White Sox have scored 58 runs in their last seven games but still are one game behind Minnesota in the American League West.

In other American League games, Minnesota upended Milwaukee 8-3; Boston dropped its fifth straight, a 3-2 decision to Detroit; New York won the nightcap of a two-night doubleheader 5-1 in 11 innings after Toronto captured the opener 8-5; Kansas city's Dennis Leonard hurled a two-hitter to beat California 3-1, and Oakland nipped Texas 6-5.

Twins 6, Brewers 3
Paul Thordomsgard, 5-4, pitched his second complete game of the season and earned his first victory at home as the Twins remained atop the AL West. Glenn Adams and Dan Dord drove in two runs apiece in support of the rookie. Tigers 3, Red Sox 2

Ron LeFlore's two-out single in the bottom of the ninth gave Detroit its victory. Boston relief ace Bill Campbell, 5-5, was the victim of LeFlore's hit as the Tigers won their third straight game, equalling the team's longest success streak of the season.

Yankees 5-5, Blue Jays 8-1
The Yankees moved to within 1 1/2 games of the Red Sox in the AL East despite the split. New York scored four runs in the 11th inning of the nightcap, when Mickey Rivers hit a tie-breaking infield single and Grait Nettles added a long double to right.

Toronto won the opener thanks to some sloppy outfielding by the Yankees in the seventh inning. Mickey Rivers and Reggie Jackson misplayed fly balls, Chris Chambliss mishandled a grounder and Thurman Munson allowed a runner to escape a rundown with a bad throw.

Royals 3, Angels 1

Leonard's masterful performance outdid Angels' Frank Tanana, 11-5. Tanana pitched a seven-hitter but lost on a run-scoring double by Buck Martinez in the eighth. It was the third straight complete game for Leonard, 6-8.

A's 6, Rangers 5
The A's ruined Billy Hunter's debut as Texas manager with a two-run, ninth-inning burst. Manny Sanquelin led off with a single, moved to second on a balk by Ranger's reliever Adrian Devine 5-5. Wayne Gross winged Sanguelin home with the tying run and, after a sacrifice, Willie Crawford lined a single to right.

Gold Sox Triumph

By The Associated Press.

It took 20 innings-count 'em-for San Antonio to trim El Paso 4-3 in a Texas League marathon Tuesday night. Two seven-inning double headers were scheduled but the second game had to be canceled for obvious reasons.

The Dodgers were ahead 3-2 going into the seventh inning when El Paso's Tommy Smith hit a homerun to tie it up. After that, neither side did much until the bottom of the 20th when Charlie Meyers led off with a single.

Meyers was sacrificed to second and went to third on an error that put Mark Hance on first. Meyer was thrown out at the plate but Hance moved to second on the play and was brought home by Rick Ollar's single up the middle.

The two teams played 17 innings Sunday night before San Antonio won.

The Arkansas Travelers were busy Tuesday night rapping Jackson for 15 hits and a 14-5 victory.

The Travs broke the game open with six runs in the sixth inning and added four in the seventh. The Mets got all of their runs in the explosive seventh as well.

Ivan Murell proved to be the hero for Amarillo with a two-run homer in the ninth inning for a 13-10 slugfest victory over the Midland Cubs. It was Murell's second four-bagger of the night and his seventh of the year. Also, his sixth against Midland.

Ernie Young provided the power for Shreveport with a bases loaded single in the third inning that helped Shreveport to a 6-4 squeaker over the Tulsa Drillers.

Shreveport had four starters sidelined with injuries so manager Tim Murtaugh cut up his roster and plucked his starting lineup out of a hat.

Grain Reserves Proposed By US

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States has outlined some proposals for creating a basic reserve of food grain, including the possibility of controlling world prices and the production of wheat.

A statement on the U.S. position was submitted Tuesday in London at a meeting of the International Wheat Council. It was also released here by the Agriculture Department.

The proposal, carried to London by Bryce Meeker of USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service, embraced these concepts:

"All major grain testing nations - exporters and importers - would accept meaningful obligations for reserve stocks, with common guidelines for acquisition and release.

"That the participating nations agree to measures to facilitate adjustments of consumptions and production in response to world supply conditions."

Meeker said the goal of the U.S. plan is to reduce extreme price gyrations of wheat, to reduce trade barriers and to improve food security, particularly of poor countries. "We do not want an agreement that would attempt to increase the average price of wheat above its long-term equilibrium price, that is, the level required to provide reasonable returns to efficient producers," Meeker told the council.

In previous proposals, including one in September 1975 by the Ford administration, the United States advocated an international wheat agreement pegged to the quantity of grain held by various countries.

Meeker said "we are now prepared to co-operate" in developing an agreement in which prices will be a trigger for the storage or release of food grain reserves.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland, who has spoken out frequently on what he considers the urgency for setting up a global food grain strategy, said Monday at a news conference that full details of the U.S. proposal, presumably including price recommendations, will not be ready until September.

One of the hangups, he said, is that Congress needs to finish work on new farm legislation before he can move authoritatively in the negotiations. Bergland also has mentioned a need for the United States to move in step with Canada and other big producers in restricting or increasing wheat production.

Bergland now is considering the use of acreage "set-aside" controls to reduce 1978 wheat production and said Monday that he will decide on that by late August. Meanwhile, the U.S. statement presented in London included this related comment: "With respect to the availability of supplies to the world market, we must also consider provisions in a new agreement on the application of export restraints and perhaps even production restraints."

Registration for the 6:30 p.m. get-together is $10.

Vance Not Homesick

WASHINGTON (AP) - No one has yet called Cyrus Vance the "Lone Ranger" of American diplomacy, which was Jimmy Carter's poke at Henry Kissinger during the presidential campaign.

Not could Vance be properly accused - as Carter assuaged Kissinger - of being caught up in a "one-man policy of international adventure."

But the secretary of state hasn't turned out to be a stay-at-home wallflower, as it seemed he might be when Carter introduced him to the nation last December and Vance said he believed deeply in "delegating responsibility to the maximum extent possible."

He's logged 60,000 official overseas miles in his first five months as secretary of state - not all that much less than Kissinger's 87,000 miles over the same span.

He has hit the same major ports of call as Kissinger - the Middle East, Moscow and, in August, Peking - as well as the minor ones: Iran, Spain and Organization of American States sessions.

But he hasn't attracted anything near the acclaim - and criticism - of Kissinger, who had the overreaching habit of operating the State Department out of his hip pocket.

Carter has parceled out authority over foreign affairs to Vance, Zigniew Brezezinski, Walter Mondale, Andrew Young, even to his own wife - and carefully retained a lot for himself.

And unlike Kissinger, who held on tightly, Vance has subordinates like Philip Habib and Anthony Lake on the road occasionally.

The comfortably battered brown fedora he wears and the shrinking press sign-up list for his trips tell it all: Vance is not the sort of fellow who generates excitement.

Kissinger couldn't leave the press alone on long flights. Back to their compartment he would bounce, amusing, informing and also polishing his image.

He would speak off the record or through a "senior official" - who couldn't be held accountable, of course, if things turned out differently than reporters were led to believe.

Vance permits a quick round of questions and responds "on the record" - for attribution. His comments are lawyer-like, careful, without the scope of Kissinger's and not remotely as colorful or quotable.

It's a little early for an assessment. But, so far, he has not left a personal impact on any of the major foreign policy issues - nuclear weapons limitations, the Middle East, relations with the Soviet Union and China.

This summer may mark a turning point. In July he is due to tour the Middle East, trying to nudge Israel and the Arab states closer to a settlement.

In August he will be in China, trying to enhance the accommodation with the Communist regime in Peking that Kissinger helped initiate.

In September, at the United Nations in New York, he will try to reach an agreement with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

And somewhere along the way he and Gromyko will have another whack at the arms problem.

All in all, considerably more activity than one would expect from a man who declared when he was named to the job:

"I have had some experience in negotiating in the past and when necessary I would expect to do that."

"But, I would hope in the first instance, and in many instances, that this could and would be done by the people who have been picked as negotiators, and that it would be unnecessary for the secretary of state to get involved."

Cattlemen Gripe To ITC

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) - United States policy on beef imports was expected to take a beating again, today as 500 cattlemen, lawmakers and unions, confronted International Trade Commission members with their problems.

Today's hearing is one in a series being conducted by the ITC to determine whether the nation's current policy on meat imports is hurting domestic producers. Once the hearings are completed, the testimony will be evaluated and ITC recommendations will be presented to President Carter.

Tuesday's one-sided testimony indicated Texas ranchers and farmers were less than happy with the situation.

Rep. Olin Teague, D-Tex., told commissioners George Moore and Catherine Bedell the Meat Import Act of 1964 should be amended. He also accused the State Department of deliberately altering the law on meat imports.

Teague, who admitted playing a part in passage of the 1964 act, said the State Department had altered the law to negotiate with countries rather than invoke the import quotas the law provides.

"This has resulted in obfuscation of the intent of the law by our own negotiators to serve the interest of foreign relations," he said.

T.A. Cunningham, head of the Texas Cattlemen's Association, added to Teague's condemnation of U.S. policy by calling for the act to be overhauled.

"Because higher supplies lead to lower costs, imports should be limited during periods of high production," said Cunningham. "And in periods of low production, while cattlemen build up their herds toward increased production of high quality beef, the domestic supply should be supplemented by permitting increased imports."

State Rep. Joe Hubanek, D-Rosenberg, told Moore and Mrs. Bedell: "We are not asking for elimination of exports. We know what reciprocal trade means, especially to Texas, which ranks third in agricultural exports. We do, however, ask for a reduction of beef imports, and for a new look at regulations which now permit beef to come in with lesser sanitary restrictions than those imported upon domestic producers."

PREYING-MANTIS

WASHINGTON (AP) - The praying mantis would be better named a preying mantis, says National Geographic, referring to the insect's predatory habits.

Although it is harmless to humans, an adult mantis gobbles up flies, boll weevils, locusts, crickets, wasps, beetles, and grasshoppers. In addition the female often devours the male after mating, says Geographic.

Because of its dining habits, it has gained a new popularity among gardeners as nature's answer to pesticides. While stalking its victims, the insect waits patiently with its long forelegs raised, ready to strike. This "prayerful" posture gave it its name.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams

AUSTIN — Rep. Frank Hartung, backed by House Speaker Bill Clayton, has made a bid to have his state money management bill revived on the agenda for the forthcoming special legislative session.

The Houston Republican told a news conference this week he and Clayton have both written Gov. Dolph Briscoe asking that HB 1984 be included on the agenda of the session now scheduled to begin July 11.

HB 1984, which died in a Senate committee during the last days of the regular session, requires the State Treasury and Depository Board to invest more of the state's money in interest-paying time deposits.

It would also grant the state agency new power to invest in savings and loan accounts, as well as government securities, authority the Treasury doesn't have under present law.

Hartung said the state is currently losing $2 million monthly on money deposited in non-interest paying checking accounts scattered in more than 1,300 banks state-wide.

He said it was appropriate his bill should be included in the special session called to pass a public school finance bill for the next two years.

The approximately $42 million lost every two years because of poor money management could be used to help finance public schools in Texas, he said.

Hartung admitted he hasn't had any indication from the governor that his bill is being considered as a special session agenda item.

Also bidding for a spot in the session are bills to repeal the state sales tax on utilities and to reform the state property tax code.

So far, however, Briscoe had indicated only public school finance will be on the agenda and all other matters are merely under consideration.

Water Agencies

The Texas Water Development Board began last Monday the work of reorganizing the present three state water agencies into one entity to be known as the Texas Water Resources Board.

The WDB is responsible for carrying out the reorganization under a new law passed by the 65th Legislature and effective Sept. 1. The Texas Water Quality Board, Water Development Board and Water Rights Commission are to be combined.

All three of the current executive directors are vying openly for the job as head of the super agency including Hugh C. Yantis (WQB), Gen. James M. Rose (WDB) and Robert Schnieder (WRC).

However, WDB Chairman A. L. Black said after the first meeting the final choice might come from outside the present executive circle. "I wouldn't want to narrow the field down to any one, two or three individuals," Black said.

Hill Will Sue

Atty. Gen. John Hill said this week he will take the Texas Water Rights Commission to court if necessary to overturn its latest order.

Last week the WRC okayed a $50 million, 55-year contract by which the Lower Colorado River Authority will sell water to the South Texas Nuclear Project at Bay City.

Hill maintains the water in the state's rivers and impoundments belongs to the people and while river authorities have the right to control it, they have no right to sell it.

Reminded that several other river authorities in the state are selling water under similar contracts, Hill remarked "I've learned a lot from this case and we'll be looking at some of these other contracts too."

Appointments

Just before leaving on vacation, Gov. Briscoe handed out appointments to various state agencies and institutions by the bunches.

These included three new members to the Texas Southern University Board of Regents, the Rev. Moses L. Price and Ronald Pruitt of Houston, Milledge A. Hart III of Dallas, and the reappointment of Ernest S. Sterling of Tyler.

Texas Tech University also got three new regents in Clint Formby of Hereford, Roy K. Furr of Lubbock and James L. Snyder of Baird.

James R. (Jim Bob) Paxton of Palestine was appointed to a six year term on the Parks and Wildlife Commission replacing long-time member Jack R. Stone of Wells who is resigning.

New Judgeship

Olin G. Wellborn Jr. of Alvin is Briscoe's choice for the bench of the newly created 239th Judicial District Court in Brazoria County.

Judge Wellborn is formerly judge of the 23rd Judicial District Court.

He said he will not be a candidate for election to the judgeship in 1978, stating "my successor should be elected by the people."

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill has held a sheriff may not make an arrest outside of his county for an offense even if it is committed in his presence or within his view. He can only make a citizen's arrest but not act in his official capacity as sheriff, Hill held.

In another opinion Hill held the state auditor should disclose information on charges involving state employees who received payment for non-reimbursable travel expenses.

"The public is entitled to certain factual information from the records prepared in connection with an audit," Hill said in an opinion requested by State Auditor George W. McNeil.

"Whether particular records are exempt... must be determined on a case-by-case basis by examining them in the light of policies underlying that exemption... circumstances might justify withholding of factual information," Hill wrote.

Courts Speak

Fear of nuclear accident can be considered by juries in land condemnation cases involving nuclear power plants, the Supreme Court has held.

In another case, the court set a July 13 hearing on a $500,000 judgment against General Motors and in favor of a Houston man who was blinded when a window of his car shattered in an accident.

A lower court jury had awarded Curtis Lee Simmons $1 million but a Court of Civil Appeals reduced it to half that amount. GM appealed the case to the high court saying the lower court ruling would set a precedent that probably would be used against auto manufacturers in every accident case involving pre-1972 cars and injuries from flying glass.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals last week reversed the murder conviction against Kenneth Dee Stogsdill, a death row inmate, on the grounds there was insufficient evidence to prove he killed Billy Ed Price of Wichita County in 1975.

Revolutionary Government

Revolutionary government is Lt. Col. Mengistu Haile Mariam. His Marxist regime, which has been receiving Soviet arms aid and now reportedly has Cuban "advisers," is fighting a series of civil wars in scattered sections of the strategically located East African country at the entrance to the Red Sea.

Ann Landers Clumsiness Deceptive

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read the letter from "Hard Luck Harry" in the Arkansas Gazette and had to write. I hope his parents read this.

We, too, have a son 19 years of age. We also thought he was accident prone. Like the other lad, our boy totaled a car and was a "regular" in the emergency room of the hospital. A collar bone or an arm had to be set, a head needed to be stitched up—I can't count the number of injuries. Our doctor would just say, "Oh, no, not again."

her, why belabor the point? If it would make you feel better, buy a new bed.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Can a lawyer be disbarred for beating his wife? Please put this in the paper. I want HIM to see it.—Not Proud Of My Name

DEAR NOT PROUD: If HE is a lawyer he already knows the answer, but her it is for you.

A lawyer can be disbarred if he is convicted of a crime involving "fraud or moral turpitude." Although this usually applies to bribery and the like, it can also apply to a felony such as aggravated battery. In some states wife-beating (unless unusually severe) is considered a misdemeanor.

In Illinois, if a lawyer is convicted of aggravated battery (and he loses the appeal) he COULD be brought up before the Illinois Supreme Court Attorney Registration and Disciplinary Commission as a candidate for disbarment, suspension or censure. It should be made clear, however, that the commission would have to evaluate each case on the basis of its individual merit before any final action could be taken.

'Rock Swap' Slated By Lapidary Club

Members of Deaf Smith Lapidary Club planned a "rock swap" as a drawing card for their next meeting on July 25 during a business meeting Monday night at the Community Center.

Jack Nunley, club president, called the business meeting to order and announced that a lapidary display will be featured at the County Library during the month of December. A similar exhibit, sponsored by the lapidary club, was erected at the library in May.

Due to the hot summer weather, members voted to postpone their scheduled field trips until autumn.

Joe Williams presented the program, with his topic focusing on utilization of lapidary magazines and books.

The door prize was presented to a guest, Charles Cirino, who was accompanied by his wife. Orland Newell will provide the door prize for the club's next regular meeting.

Members in attendance included Messrs. and Mmes. Bud Cawthon, Joe Williams, Clarence Botts, Preston Gee, Newell, Cecil Lady, Dale Henson and Nunley. Also, Ruby Boyd and Delbert Ruland.

Children Learning To Fly In Unusual School Course

By PAT DRISCOLL
The Ann Arbor News
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Eddie Hodges taxis down the runway to wait for clearance from the control tower. His takeoff is smooth and not too steep.

Pretty good for a 12-year-old who claims to be afraid of heights.
In the back of the four-seat Cherokee Warrior airplane, navigator Vanessa Murdock pores over a map. She will get the next turn at piloting the plane. Vanessa is 9½.
Vanessa flies by instrument, "a pretty sophisticated technique," according to flight instructor Patrick Navarre. But then she has no choice. She is too small to see over the control panel.
Eddie, Vanessa and five other boys and girls fly each Saturday as part of an aviation class through Emerson school, a private academy for gifted children. Navarre believes his students are the youngest in the country to be involved in a formal flying course.

The aviation class began as an experiment last year with three youngsters. Navarre, who is the husband of Emerson director Jean Navarre, offered the use of the plane, which is owned by his construction company.
"These kids can really fly," says Navarre, although he admits he had to revise the course this year to reduce emotional strain on the young pilots.
We took out certain maneuvers — the stalls and spins — which the kids found a little frightening," he said. And because the students can't perform a stall, they can't land, Navarre adds.

Landings are executed by one of three adult flight instructors. An adult licensed pilot always sits at the duplicate set of controls in the plane. The adult also works the rudder for Vanessa, whose legs do not reach the cabin floor.

Actual flights are backed up by intensive classroom work.
"You have to know your decimals and your angles," says Vanessa. "You have to know your clouds."

The syllabus for the course includes airplane nomenclature and function, basic air communication, radio navigation, weather and plotting a course.
Students learn principles of flight, how to read charts and use a compass. Some of the science and algebra involved in the course normally would be found at the high school levels, Navarre says, although Emerson enrolls students only from ages 4-13.
At the end of the course, the aviation students will earn their wings in a special test. The adult pilot will maneuver the student pilot and two student navigators off course and require them to use their navigational skills to get back to Ann Arbor.

Navarre believes Vanessa will be a fully qualified pilot by the time she is 12, if she continues flying. Federal Aviation Agency regulations, however, require applicants to be 16 before taking the licensing examination.

Fake Art Becomes Booming Business

By HILMI TOROS
ROME (AP) — The wrong arm of the law has developed a booming international business in fake art, counterfeiting some noted paintings so impeccably that even their authors concede they can't be sure.

The lucrative enterprise is estimated by Italian art critics and galleries to net over 30 billion lire, or over $33 million a year.
Giorgio de Chirico, 88, the Italian esteemed as one of the greatest living painters, has emerged as the most copied maestro as police follow the trail of what they call an organized and expert ring catering to museums, galleries and the wealthy at home and abroad.

thetic reproductions of many of his own works, thus encouraging a market for unauthorized copies.
Art critics say museums, galleries and private collectors in Italy, Europe and the United States should do well in ascertaining the authenticity of De Chirico and other contemporary paintings.

What lets fakers get away with counterfeit paintings is that they do more than just produce near-perfect phonies; they also forge, with equal competence, documents from art experts, galleries and even notaries attesting to the authenticity of paintings offered.
Art police are refusing to divulge details of their findings pending conclusion of the investigation. They say, however, that the probe is the biggest crackdown staged so far, but they are somewhat inhibited by reluctance of owners of forgeries to come forth because it would also expose that the customary 14 per cent tax was not paid during the transaction.

After a secret investigation that lasted years, the special art unit of the national Carabinieri police impounded hundreds of De Chirico fakes in Florence recently, exposing the extent of forged paintings. Six arrest warrants were issued, including one against a noted gallery owner.
"A remedy is needed against false paintings," the conservative daily Il Giornale editorialized on its front page, calling Italy "not only the land of masters but also master fakers." It asked for a national system of cataloguing and closer international cooperation.

But, they say, they have no doubt that the ring is composed of calculating and efficient professionals, employing perfectionist forgers of paintings and documents and sales personnel as aggressive as if their products were real.
Some galleries complain of difficulty in having works checked for their authenticity. The only one who would know for sure are the painters themselves and, said one gallery owner, "We have to wait for months for De Chirico to have a painting checked."
But even then no one can be sure. Once shown a forgery of his work, the late Italian master Filippo de Pisis remarked: "That's my best."

"Fakes are inevitable," says Milan gallery owner Philippe Faverio, "because there is a demand for them."
De Chirico, a contemporary of Picasso, is considered an ideal target: his works are in wide demand, a canvas that fetched $5,000 a decade ago now commanding 20 times that much. He is known for fast au-

The Worm Turns into Profit For Man Who Operates Farm

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — While Bob Bricker sleeps the worms in his basement are at work.

They make little worms, which in turn makes more money for Bricker.
He has a million worms in the basement busy making a living for him.
Each of his wigglers produce four to 21 little ones in two to three weeks. Depending on the size of the worm and the status of the market, 1,000 of them sell for $5 to $12.
Five months ago Bricker's basement was a recreation room. Now, the walls are bare, the fireplace unused and there are nine bins of worms.

netted $75,000 last year. Yes, he does nothing but grow worms.

Bricker feeds his worms once a week with a mixture of peanut-hulls, feeding lime, dehydrated alfalfa and chicken mash, all well ground.
He said it costs him 11 cents per bed per week.
"As long as the beds are kept nice and moist, the worms can go without feeding 10 to 14 days. But that's stretching it a bit."
Bricker said each worm is both male and female.
"Mathematically, your population doubles every 60 days," he said.
Their beds are rectangular wooden boxes, each three feet by six feet, filled with eight inches of Masonite chips. Each is covered with burlap because worms don't like light.
He keeps the basement temperature at 55-68 degrees.
Aside from fish bait, Bricker notes, worms are used for soil improvement, breeding stock, pet food, fish hatcheries, zoos, and laboratory experiments.
"Research is under way on the use of earthworms for future animal and human consumption," he said. "These red worms are 70 per cent protein. They can be dehydrated and used as a supplement for live stock feed."

Broadcasters May Be Sued For Using Entertainer's Act

WASHINGTON (AP)- The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that the news media have no constitutional protection from damage suits if they broadcast an entertainer's entire act without his consent.

Splitting 5 to 4, the court said states may grant entertainers a "right of publicity" through their own laws without violating the First Amendment guarantee of freedom of the press.

Dissenting, Justice Lewis F. Powell called the majority ruling disturbing and said "it could lead to a degree of media self-censorship."

Writing for the majority, Justice Byron White stressed that states are under no obligation to authorize such damage suits. In fact, the majority said a state may take the opposite tack and make the news media immune from such suits.

But the First Amendment, as applied to the states by the 14th Amendment, requires neither course, the court said.

The decision came in a case involving Hugo Zacchini, a self-described "human cannonball" who performed his act at a county fair in Burton, Ohio in 1972.

Despite Zacchini's objections, a reporter for the Scripps Howard Broadcasting Co. filmed the act.

The company operates WEWS-TV. The station broadcast the 15-second film of Zacchini's entire act on a news program. In the act, Zacchini is shot from a cannon into a net about 200 feet away.

Filing suit for damages, Zacchini claimed Ohio law gave him a right to control the publicity about his performance and the station should compensate him because it broadcast the entire act without his permission.

The Ohio Supreme Court held that the First Amendment protects the news media from such suits as long as the media does not intend to injure the performer and is not using material from his act for some private purpose.

The Supreme Court noted that Zacchini did not contend anything about his performance.

His complaint is that the station filmed his entire act and displayed that film on television for the public to see and enjoy," White wrote.

"The broadcast of a film of Zacchini's entire act poses a substantial threat to the economic value of that performance," the majority said.

"Wherever the line in particular situations is to be drawn between media reports that are protected and those that are not, we are quite sure that the First and 14th Amendments do not immunize the media when they broadcast a performer's entire act without his consent," the court continued.

This rule is no different than copyright laws preventing the news media from publishing or broadcasting entire theatrical performances without compensating the authors, the court said.

Walton Pop Finds Theater

LOS ANGELES (AP)- In 1975, Ralph Waite, the father of "The Waltons," took a big chunk of his TV earnings, located a beatup theater here in an area not frequented by Beautiful People, and leased the joint.

And thus began his Los Angeles Actors' Theater.

Tonight in many areas, he's on public TV in his "coupe" version of Samuel Beckett's "Waiting for Godot." It's in the fine arts series that PBS stations and Exxon, the oil company, have bankrolled.

Waite is an unlikely prospect for a theater-founder. Now 49, he didn't attend his first acting class until he was 32.

A recovered alcoholic, he'd previously been an ordained minister, a Yale Divinity School Graduate and before that a social worker.

And Hollywood's an unlikely place to start a theater, the legend goes. But not for Waite, who did much of his early acting for Joseph Papp, New York's fiery off-Broadway theater founder.

Waite, a tall, pleasant man from White Plains, N.Y., said he wasn't finding much of his TV work here fulfilling. After each "Waltons" season, he'd rush back to New York, back to the stage and his friends there.

Then, after he finally bought a home here, it dawned on him that many of his New York colleagues had migrated here. And, he said, he thought: Why not rent a theater and put on quality plays?

Which he did, the first production of the Los Angeles Actors' Theater being Eugene O'Neill's "The Hairy Ape."

"I was lucky to be in a position where I didn't care if it paid off," said Waite, who estimates he put more than $100,000 into the theater's first year of operation.

"But I wasn't just burning cash... I knew if we had a theater of integrity and importance, we'd eventually begin to get outside funding, and that indeed has happened just this year."

Waite's theater is a two-story operation that from Thursday through Sunday nights usually has two plays going, one on each floor, according to the actor.

The actor, asked why he'd left the pulpit in 1964, cited these reasons:

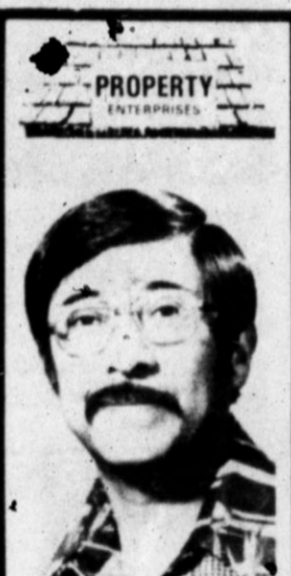

"Like a lot of guys in their early 30s, I had vocational and personal crises pushing me into a corner. I'd gone into the church, not because I felt it an instrument for social justice. It didn't seem to be working out that way.

"And my marriage was breaking apart," said Waite, divorced in 1969.

He said he'd also begun drinking heavily. He took three months off to think, to write, to be alone. Then one day, an actor friend asked him. It started the process of change.

And after stage work in such plays as "Blues for Mr. Charlie," roles in such films as "Five Easy Pieces," he landed a steady role in "The Waltons," which he says he'll probably leave after next season, it's sixth season.

False Imprisonment Suit Filed Over Amarillo Case

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)- Three Roswell men, two of them attorneys, filed a $4 million suit in federal court, claiming they were harassed, libeled, assaulted and falsely imprisoned when they were detained in Texas.

Attorneys Santiago Juarez and Ramon Garcia and an associate Rudy Valadez, filed the suit against the city of Amarillo, the state of New Mexico, two Roswell prosecutors and several police officers. The suit asks for a jury trial.

The men and Juarez' 4-year-old son, Miguel Angel

Juarez, were detained June 2 in Amarillo where they went to interview a witness in a drug case, the suit states.

The suit alleges Dist. Atty. Jay Rosenthal of Roswell, in cooperation with the New Mexico state police, contacted Amarillo authorities and warned them the attorneys were going to attempt to bribe or kill the witness.

The suit contends the Amarillo police arrested the three men and the boy as a result and that the Amarillo police used deadly force and threatened to shoot the men. The suit also alleges the men were arrested and searched without a warrant.

The men contend in the suit that no effort was made to check out their story.

Rosenthal and Amarillo officer Bill Bagley are accused in the suit of making false statements to the press.

The suit names Rosenthal, Roswell Dist. Atty. Michael F. McCormick, state police officers Jesse Franco, Danny Keiper, Glen Alexander and Dean Smith and several Amarillo officers.

B52 Crews Dissatisfied During Vietnam Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP)- Some B52 bomber crews approached the point of mutiny in the closing days of the Vietnam war because inflexible planning resulted in unnecessary and unreasonable losses, a former Air Force pilot has charged.

"The North Vietnamese couldn't have had a better situation if they had had a man in on the planning," said Dana Drenkowski, a 1968 Air Force Academy graduate.

An Air Force spokesman said today records of the period were being reviewed in light of the article but that the Air Force would have no comment until later this week.

The spokesman, however, said, 15 B52s were counted as combat losses in raids known by the code name of Linebacker II, while a total of 17 B52s were lost in Southeast Asia during the entire war. The Linebacker II raids occurred between Dec. 18 and Dec. 29, 1972.

Drenkowski made his charges in an article to be published in next month's Armed Forces Journal International. The article was taken from a multi-part manuscript scheduled to begin publication in the September issue of Soldier of Fortune magazine.

Drenkowski said Strategic Air Command planners forced cell after cell of B52s to fly down corridors at exactly the same headings, altitudes and airspeeds. The same flight plan was required long after chaff-thin aluminum strips which confuse enemy radar drifted away from its protective position.

"The first few cells were not fired on by the enemy defenses, which were apparently taken by surprise," Drenkowski said. "But as the following cells continued flying down the same course, the battle heated up..."

"Crews were not allowed to adjust their course to take advantage of the protection of the chaff," he said, and "...the enemy gunners settled down..."

Unable to force a change in SAC planning, he said, B52 crews vented their frustration in officers' clubs.

"The damage done by the angry crew members became legendary as the losses mounted day by day.

"First three, then four, then six B52s per day went down, yet SAC remained too inflexible to change."

During one three-day period, he said, "aircrews contacted their congressmen or simply refused to fly. One pilot who went to the news media was court-martialed and discharged immediately."

He said flight surgeons "used the term mutiny to describe events."

Sloth Dung

Burns Down

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP)- Park rangers say that the year-long fire fed by dung from the extinct Shasta ground sloth in a Grand Canyon cave has burned itself out.

The fire, discovered smoldering in the remote Rampart Cave last July 14, threatened to destroy the last known source of information on the Shasta sloth, which disappeared about 11,000 years ago.

Dr. Paul Martin, a University of Arizona paleoecologist, accompanied four park rangers and two federal mine safety inspectors to the cave Monday.

"They arrived at the cave about 2 p.m. and found no smoke or heat and the fire had been extinguished," a park ranger reported.

He said scientists would now be able to continue exploration of the cave to determine what kinds of animal life shared the habitat with the giant ground sloth and the kind of vegetation which flourished at that time. The Shasta sloth, which reached 300 pounds at maturity, lived in the caves about 40,000 years ago, scientists say.
