Around Town

Despite high humidity that really saps the energy, Hereford still hasn't recorded 100 degrees this summer. Last year, we didn't have a single day when the official thermometer reached 100, which is really some-thing in this climate. Our hu-midity has generally been high-er this summer than is customary, which makes it slightly uncomfortable. But, for an optimistic outlook, think what it would be like with high humidity and temperatures above

The Fourth of July was just about perfect, as far as the weather was concerned. In fact, it was so good that a lot of Hereford folks got dandy sunburns, Mrs. Marvin Coffey got hers water-skiing at Conchas, Patsy Livesay spent too much time at the Lucky U pool. We burned out back working in the yard, which makes it a lot more painful than if we had been doing something more pleasant.

Cardinals Take Final LL Game

Cardinals rallied to take the final Little League game of the season Friday night, downing Giants 6-4. The Giants got three big runs in the top of the first on two walks and singles by Roger Beasley, Sidney Shaw, Jackie Meredith and Russell Phillips.

First two runs for the Cardinals came in the last of the third. John Stagner got on by fielder's choice. They came in on a ground ball, a walk, a single by Ricky Grubbs and another walk that left the bases loaded.

The Cardinals finally tied the score 3-3 in the last of the fourth as Joe Sanchez singled and moved around on a walk, a stolen base and a wild pitch.

In the bottom of the fifth, the Cards took the lead with a three-run scoring spree. Johnny Wall and Grubbs got on by er-ror, David Ruland walked and Robert Clark singled. A walk and a passed ball allowed the last run to score.

.The Giants tried hard but could get just one run in the sixth as Russell Phillips singled and came in on two errors.

Joe Sanchez went all the way for the winners, scattering seven hits. Dean Riddle and Sidney Shaw shared mound duties for the Giants.

BY JIMMIE GILLENTINE Hereford has the reputation as town which does things and, every once in a while, folks are prone to ask about this intangible factor. Generally, I can come up with a lot of different things which sound pretty good — but frequently I get to wondering about it myself, and finally have come to the conclusion that it is sheer, unadulterated optimism. I do not believe there is another place in . the world where folks are so prone to anticipate the future in such rosy hues. Friday morning I was talking with Henry Sears, who was predicting a big sugar mill and feeding lot any time now. Dub Reeves came along and predicted that we are sure-fire to get something in the Shrine hospital line within six months: I went on down the street and ran into an argument about whether Hereford would be 25,-000 or 30,000 population by 1965. Honest, I never saw anything like it - and everyone reports that general business is on the upswing.

Furthermore, they might be right. If you own property or business in the area, you are fortunate. Things really are looking up. We may not hit. 30,000 but we are due to see some real gowth within the next two or three years.

W. E. Pritchard Dies In Canadian

William Elmer Pritchard, Santa Fe Railway Express agent for 50 years, died at his home in Canadian on Wednesday, July 4. He was 75. He was the brother of Mrs. Prudy Black of Hereford.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Friday, July 6, at the Canadian First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Joe Vernon, pastor, officiating. Grave-side rites were held at 3 p. m., July 6, at Dreamland Cemetery, Canyon. Burial was under the direction of Stickley Funeral Home.

A native of Tennessee, Mr. Pritchard was born July 10, 1886. He had been a resident of Canadian since 1924, and he retired in 1957.

Survivors include his wife. Ruth, of the home; two sons, Butch Pritchard of Canadian, and J. D. Before you advise your son on a career in the profession of law, here are some brief points you need to know . . The average lawyer has had: at least six years of university training, three of those years devoted exclusively to the study of law. He has two or more college degrees, at least one from a school of law. He has passed the rigorous bar examination, and has been licensed to practice law by the Supreme Court of Texas, after being thoroughly screened as to his character and integrity.

however, in the failure of teachers to

Does it do any good to write your congressman?

This question is heard often these days, and many people have come to the conclusion that writing congress and government officials is strictly a waste of time. Frankly, we doubt if they could possibly be more wrong than on this assumption.

Congress, for instance, has faced more pressure for special legislation from President Kennedy and the present administration than any previous congress in the history of the United States. Yet, out of Mr. Kennedy's: 32 pet projects, only one has passed: the job re-training program. Why? The one big big answer is "mail from home".

While Mr. Kennedy has put extreme pressure on congressmen in every possible manner, so have the people back home. More letters, telegrams and telephone calls have poured into Washington than ever before. Consequently, most of the proposals are still in committee; others have been compromised and frequently "watered down". Your letters do count - and they count for perhaps more than most of us realize.

We admit that the replies are often discouraging, non-committal and leave the senator or representative wide open -

Preachers Went To Work

Hats off to the Ministerial Alliance of

We have in mind their current drive to raise funds with which to light the baseball field, and we do not specifically confine our plaudits to their immediate interest. The story goes back much further than the current drive.

A few months ago this same group protested and pretty well killed a drive to finance the lighting through a lottery. The ministers protested the move on grounds that it did not meet their ethical and moral standards. Once the drive was shelved, so was the lighting program.

The minisfers, on the other hand, did not forget. They had no objection to baseball or to athletics, and they apparently felt that they should assume some responsibility after having punctured the other balloon. Anyway, they have taken over sponsorship of the project and will no doubt follow it through to completion.

Somehow, it strikes us that this is one of the most Christian outlooks we have seen in modern times. Christ often took a negative stand during his ministry on earth but, when you analyze each point; instead, he came forth with an answer to the problem and gave the people an alternative along the lines he endorsed.

Churches and ministers, once they adopt this attitude generally, will have taken their first long stride toward filling the auditoriums of their meeting places to capacity each Sunday. A certain amount of negative criticism is consistant with any religion, but Christianity has ever been based on love, hard work and progress within the human

Rainmakers Bring Rain To San Angelo Region

Telephone advice from San Angelo state that following the efforts of the rainmakers there, a light shower fell Wednesday between 12 a.m. and 2 p.m. At Carlsbad a much heavier shower fell at the same time. The Hatfield Bros. got their rainmaking machine in operation Wednesday and soon there after clouds began to form in a cloudless sky, and suddenly, without any apparent cause, the rain began falling. The shower appears to have fallen hard for a brief period, communication between San Angelo and Eden being made difficult by the dashing of the rain against the San Angelo exchange. The Hatfield Bros. have an entirely different system of rainmaking from that adopted by C. J. Post in bringing rain at Post City. Post used dynamite with which to bombard the skies and bring the desired moisture, while the Hatfield Bros; employ a chemical preparation which is placed in a vat and allowed to evaporate. Their proposition to San Angelo is to guarantee ten inches of rainfall during the period of 90 days for the sum of $3,000, the rain to gover an area of forty miles square, payment conditioned upon the fulfillment of the contract. 25 YEARS AGO

Prospects for more than a million bushels of wheat for the territory seemed probable this week as the harvest season continued and farmers worked day and night to get their wheat to the elevators. The price of wheat Monday went to $1.09 a bushel, the highest price paid here since 1934, but it dropped to $1.08 through Tuesday and to $1.07 Wednesday. The price of wheat remained at $1.07 on Thursday. Less than half of the wheat in this section was reported to have been harvested but the average yield was reported to be on a decline as later wheat began coming to the elevators, some of the late wheat averaged over 20 bushels. Many farmers in this area have not entered their fields yet, but most of them expect to begin within the next few days.

About, 771,000,000 acres, or any FREE LANDS available to has given rise to so-called "land one-third of the gross area of the public from the Federal Go- locators" who offer certain serthe United States, are public vernment, some of the public vices for a fee. When the moralands which still remain in the lands are sold to individuals torium on applications was anand State and local govern- nounced, Secretary of the Inments. The Government places terior Stewart L. Udall stated some small tracts on sale to that in recent years unethical the public and until very re- land locators and promoters cently it has been possible for have abused the privilege of filpeople to file applications for ing non-mineral applications and public lands under most of the petitions for public lands at a cost of millions of dollars to the public. The land offices of the Department's Bureau of Land Management have been deluged with thousands and thousands of non-mineral public land applications, Secretary Udall said.

In announcing the lifting of the moratorium on public land applications in Montana, Utah, North Dakota and South Dakota, Secretary Udall cautioned people seeking public lands to beware of unethical land locators or promoters - people who in the past have bilked thousands of people out of millions of dollars by selling useless services. Dealing with an intermediary in public lands is like buying any kind of real estate - people should know the reputation of the person or firm and they should fully know the Federal laws and rules under which they hope to obtain the land. It is not essential for people to obtain the services of so-called land locators or filing services, Secretary Udall stressed.

Mining Claim Locators Although public land administration has long been plagued with unethical "land locators" the so-called "mining claim lo cators" are a new breed of businessman. As previously stated. mining claims may be staked on much of the public domain, including the national forests, after making a valid discovery of minerals. For a fee, these mining claims locators and firms will "sell" an interest in mining claims staked under the old General Mining Laws of 1872.

Because of loopholes in the mining laws; these tens of thousands of old claims can be bought and sold almost like ordinary real estate. Some of the mining claim locators peddle these old claims like cabin and recreation sites.

Many purchasers of mining claims think they acquire valid title to land. Such is not the case; since title to the land rests with the Federal Government As to the value of the claims sold, Dwight F. TEMPERS FLARE AT ZONING MEET

Tempers flared at the public hearing on the proposed zoning ordinance Monday night. At times, the hearing appeared to be some type of theatrical 'performance as some of those attending applauded speakers. Approximately 80 persons attended the hearing. A standup vote was asked by several of those attending and after much deliberation a vote was taken. There were about 40 persons against with four being in favor of the measure. The remainder did not express themselves. The City Council, who called the public hearing, listened to the discussions that went from the proposed zoning ordinance to other areas of the city government to personal blasts at members of other city bodies.

SHELL TO BUILD NEW REFINERY

A small gasoline plant, another industrial payoff for Hardeman County's fast-growing Conley field, will be built near the field by Shell Oil Co., the Tribune-Chief was advised this week. Shell officials at their Midland production office confirmed a report originating in Hardeman County and said the plant would be located "halfway between Quanah and Chillicothe" and would process the petroleum production from the Conley field.

CITY-COUNTY FIRE CALL ROW CONTINUES

City and county officials are squared off again this week on the perennial controversy over payment for rural fire calls by the Canyon Fire Department. City firemen have been answering rural calls under a city-county contract providing for payment of $100 to the city by the county for each call. City officials Monday night indicated that failure to meet such payments without deduction would constitute breach of contract on the part of the county. Such a breach would automatically throw legal brakes on city fire equipment at the city limits, according to Truitt Hall, city attorney. This would mean that city equipment could no longer leave town to fight rural fires.

BUILDING PERMITS INCREASE

Building permits issued in Friona since January have increased by $81,425 over the first six months of 1961, according to figures released this week by Jake Outland, city manager. Through June 25 a total of 40 permits have been issued for construction valued at $304,875. This compares to a total of 31 permits for the first six months of 1961, when $223,450 worth of construction was applied for. Every category experienced an increase with the exception of residential building which was off slightly.

A wildcat well - to be drilled to a depth of 10,000 feet or to granite - has been staked on the Hubert Tindall Ranch in Collingsworth County, five miles east and seven miles south of Shamrock. The producer is listed with the Pampa office of the Texas Railroad Commission as Harold D. Park. The well was started last winter and drilled to a depth of between 3100 and 3200 feet before operations were halted. This will be the first exploratory test ever drilled in that area. The nearest test was the Lubbock Machine Co. No. 1 Alexander, six miles southwest of the present location. It was abandoned in Feb., 1954, at 4570 feet in the Pre-Cambrian formation.

THE BOOTLEG ---Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm discusses another angle of the tax situation this week, but he won't get anywhere with it.

Dear editar:

A neighbor of mine who apparently reads The Brand came by my house yesterday and said it's all right with him if the government wants to tax cats, he's got ten or twelve around his house he'd be pleased to have revenue agents foreclose on and put up for public sale, but that what he's really interested in is not in helping the government find new sources of revenue, what he wants is help in paying the taxes the government has already thought

This sounds like a reasonable request and I have started off with a method to pay income tax installments on the installment plan. It's not as complicated as you think.

The government makes a lot of people pay their income tax in weekly installments, doesn't it? Everybody knows what the withholding tax is. But some weeks a man needs all his money, not just the part that's left after the government withholds its tax.

In such a case, which I figure occurs most of time, the thing for the government to do is to sell the man a money order on credit to pay his withholding tax with. This way he'd get all his money to pay out on all the other installments he owes, and the government would get its money from the post office.

Where the post office would get its money to make the money order negotiable involves another point, but it'll be a sad day in this country when one branch of the government can't trust another. The post office can take its money orders and put them up as collateral and borrow against them from some other branch of government.

Where this other branch will get its money is still another question, but the way I see it, the government has so many different branches it'd be years, maybe generations, before it ran out of still another one to borrow from, and by that time a new gereration would be on hand and that'd be its worry.

After all, each generation has enough to worry about on its own without taking on the generations still to come. The world has come to learn how to live with debts. In fact, if you will point out to me any government on earth which is out of debt, or ever seriously expects to be, I'd like to hear about if. Make a good place to float a loan.

Yours faithfully,
