City talks about ED tax, parks

By CINDY POTTOROFF
Staff Writer

A public discussion of the proposed half cent economic development tax was held by the City Commission on Monday night.

Mayor Wes Fisher told those present that he has asked the Chamber of Commerce to support the proposed tax and will ask the school board and the county for support by the end of the month.

Joe Kerr asked commissioners if the money generated could be used as, "a loan to an institution."

Commissioner Tom LeGate responded that one use for the money could be a revolving loan fund. Also, "10 percent of your money can be used for promotion. We don't know what the word 'promotion' means exactly."

"We'd like to point out that this tax is no brain child of the city," said Fisher. "The legislature passed this and we're putting it before the people to vote on so they can decide."

In unrelated business, the city adopted a tax rate of 42 cents per 100 of taxable value.

While in the process of adopting the 1990-1991 budget, the city granted City Manager Darwin McGill a raise.

Bill Allen asked the commission to fund the golf course at a higher level before approving the new budget. He pointed out that the playing area needs upkeep, mentioning that the playing area needs mounds in the fairway.

"One of the main industries in our communities is retirement," said Allen. "The city has the infrastructure to foster the retirement industry. People play to play the courses, not play in a pasture."

Commissioners passed the new budget without increasing any area besides McGill's pay. Fisher pointed out that the city has a $50,000 contingency fund to use at its discretion for needs that arise throughout the upcoming year, "so we're protected by the budget."

Kerr asked the commission: "Have you appointed a golf advisory committee yet? We asked Darwin about it a couple of months ago and he told us he would have to ask you to form a committee because he didn't have the authority."

The commission had not yet appointed a committee, but Fisher promised that one will be formed.

"Golf season is now under way and procrastination hurts," responded Kerr.

A small but concerned group of citizens questioned commissioners about the state of Hereford's parks. The Kiwanis Club was mentioned as a good example of what the community has done to beautify Hereford. However, commissioners were criticized for not taking responsibility for the parks.

Fisher responded, "The way I see it, the parks are a whole community project. Sure, we're responsible for city parks. But the final decision rests with the people. We need input."

Mauri Montgomery was praised by the commission as someone who is trying to give the city concrete, workable proposals to improve Hereford's parks.

Permanent restrooms are "not an option," in Hereford's parks, said Fisher. Putting them in would be a mistake because of vandalism and also because "the police department has problems with perverts" in permanent public restrooms, according to Fisher.

"You're more worried about something being torn down than in making improvements," said Ron Weishaar.

At one point, McGill complained about Sunday's parks article in the Brand. He pointed out that Plainview is a larger city with more people, a larger budget, and a higher tax rate than Hereford has. For that reason, he felt the comparison between Hereford and Plainview made in the article is unfair.

McGill also mentioned a number of positive aspects of Hereford's parks that the article overlooked. For example, the YMCA co-sponsored a soccer program. In addition, nine picnic tables, eight grills, and one swingset have been moved to Veteran's Park.

Fisher mentioned the tennis courts and Kids Incorporated as two positive aspects of the parks system that were overlooked.

Congratulations, Mike!

Mike Manchee, left, of Hereford, accepts the congratulations of Hereford High School teacher N.D. Kelso after Manchee won first place in the area division of the Texas Panhandle Citizen Bee on Saturday. Manchee will compete in the state contest in April for a shot at the national competition in Washington, D.C. in June.

Manchee wins area Bee

Mike Manchee of Hereford won first place in the area division of the third annual Texas Panhandle Regional Citizen Bee on Saturday at Amarillo College.

Manchee and other students in the Citizen Bee were questioned about their knowledge in social studies, including American history, culture, economics, geography and current events.

Manchee will represent the area at the state Citizen Bee in Houston in April for a chance to go to the national event in Washington, D.C. in June.

Manchee won an expenses-paid trip to Houston for the state competition, a $500 U.S. Savings Bond from Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., and $50 cash from the Amarillo Republican Women's Club.

Manchee's teacher-sponsor is N.D. Kelso of Hereford High School.

Hobby wants more tax on cigarettes for schools

AUSTIN (AP) - Although Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby says a 14-cent-a-pack cigarette tax increase would pass the Legislature "in a minute," Gov. Bill Clements again vowed to veto any new taxes approved by lawmakers struggling to reform the public school finance system.

"I haven't seen any bill, but I guarantee you if there are any taxes that are in there, I will veto it," Clements said Monday after Hobby proposed the cigarette tax increase, which would raise an estimated $150 million a year.

Hobby said the state could get federal matching funds if it dedicated the cigarette tax to Medicare and other health care services, freeing up other state funds for education. The Department of Human Services has reported a funding shortfall.

"That's quite a few hundred million dollars out there, just lying on the table, to be raked in," Hobby said.

The current cigarette tax of 26 cents a pack yields $374 million annually, said John Bell, director of cash-flow forecast for the state Treasury, which administers the cigarette tax.

A 14-cent increase would yield about $150 million in additional money over a year's time, Bell said.

That money would not be enough to solve the state's financial problems, but it would help, Hobby said. He said he called for the cigarette tax increase at a Texas Cancer Council luncheon he attended in Houston with Clements and House Speaker Gib Lewis.

Sen. Carl Parker, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, said Clements might be privately less averse to increasing cigarette or liquor taxes for school finance reform, but the governor said that's not true.

Parker, D-Port Arthur, said, "I'm hearing talk about all kinds of schemes. I've heard that the governor may not be as opposed to so-called sin taxes as his public posture indicates."

Clements responded: "I don't think Parker really knows very much about me, one way or the other."

"There is not going to be any tax bill, as far as I'm concerned," he said.

A Senate subcommittee on Monday discussed school finance reforms proposals, including a bill co-sponsored by Parker, Hobby and Sen. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, that would cost the state an estimated $783 million the first year.

The special session that began Feb. 27, two weeks before the March 13 primary, was called by Clements for lawmakers to address the Supreme Court's school finance decision and a federal court ruling that calls for the state to change the way state judges are elected.

County spellers compete this week

The Deaf Smith County Spelling Bee, sponsored by The Hereford Brand, will be conducted Thursday and Friday in the Heritage Room at Deaf Smith County Library.

The Bee starts at 3 p.m. each day, with the junior division being held Thursday for 4th and 5th graders. The county champion will be determined Friday when sixth through eighth-grade spellers enter the competition. The Junior Bee winner also advances to the county bee.

The county champion will receive $100 in cash awards—$50 from First National Bank and $50 from The Hereford Brand. The runnerup will be presented with a $50 bond from AmWest Savings. In the junior bee Thursday, the winner earns a $50 bond from Hereford State Bank and the runnerup gets a $25 share account at Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union.

The county champion advances to the Regional Bee at West Texas State University on April 7. Each county champion and junior champion receive awards at the regional contest.

The winner of the Regional Bee receives an all-expense paid trip to the national finals in Washington, D.C., sponsored by The Amarillo Globe News and WTSU.

Participants in the county spelling bee are determined by school contests. The number of eligible spellers from each school is based on enrollment in the different grades.

Those qualifying for the senior bee: Hereford Junior High—Chris Lyle, Richard Drager, Jessica Polk (8th graders), and Josh Liscano, Sue Ann Sanford and Shawn Lance (7th graders). Bluebonnet 6th—Connie Tena and Rene Valdez; West Central 6th—Natalie McWhorter and Heather Hodges; Shirley 6th—Andrea Cepeda; St. Anthony's 6th—Aimee Alley; Nazarene Christian Academy 6th—Tyler Merrick.

Consumers given quiz

NEW YORK (AP) - The American Dietetic Association in Chicago has devised the following nutrition quiz to test consumers' nutrition savvy.

Q: Peanut butter should be avoided. True or false.

A: False. Although 1 tablespoon of peanut butter has 8.2 grams of fat and 95 calories, it is free of cholesterol and low in saturated fat, and therefore can be used in moderation.

Q: Exercise is one of the best ways to increase your HDL (good cholesterol) level. True or false.

A: True. Higher levels of HDL usually are found in people who exercise regularly. People who exercise, don't smoke, and stay at a desirable weight also have higher HDL levels. Therefore, quitting smoking, exercising regularly, and losing weight (if overweight) are ways to raise HDL levels.

Q: Which oil is higher in monounsaturates? (a) canola oil (b) olive oil (c) sunflower oil.

A: (b) Olive oil has the highest percentage of monounsaturates at 77 percent. Canola oil is close at 62 percent monounsaturates, while sunflower oil has only 20 percent monounsaturates. It is currently recommended that 10 to 15 percent of your total daily calories come from monounsaturated fat.

Q: Ounce for ounce, meat, poultry and most cheeses have about the same amount of cholesterol. True or false.

A: True. But, cheeses, for the most part, have much more saturated fat. Therefore, substitute low-fat and imitation cheeses whenever possible for natural, processed and hard cheeses. Choose low-fat cheeses that have between 2 and 6 grams of fat per ounce.

Q: All fruits and vegetables are low in fat and calories. True or false.

A: False. Avocados and olives are high in fat and calories.

Q: Which has more fat? (a) 1 ounce of turkey breast (b) 1 ounce of lean ham (c) 1 ounce of turkey frank.

A: (c) The turkey frank has more fat. Turkey breast has 12 percent fat.

DEAR HELOISE:

You recently asked to hear from readers who have different type pets, so I thought you would be interested in cavies. Commonly known as guinea pigs, they make interesting pets and companions that may be kept in a pen without a top because they don't climb.

These intelligent little communicators make at least a dozen different sounds. They have adorable babies which are born with their bright eyes wide open. Many people don't know they are also a popular show animal. A great many shows are held each year all over the United States where 10 breeds in 23 color varieties compete for trophies and ribbons. — Betty Schultz, Dalton, Ga.

You're so right. They are adorable and make good pets. Thanks for reminding us of these cute little animals. — Heloise.

Helping with drive

Four local Boy Scouts troops participated in a door-to-door food drive Saturday. The troops collected 304 sacks of food and delivered them to the local Red Cross office. The food will be donated to San Jose Catholic Church food bank, Operation Good Shepherd, Country Road Church of God food program and the Red Cross. Sorting out the canned food are, from left, Betty Henson, executive director of the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross; Tommy Denton, Kyle Moody, Jeremy Lomas and Andrew McElroy, members of the Boy Scouts Troop #52; and George Denton, troop leader. Also, assisting with the drive were Boy Scouts from Troops #55, #50 and #51. Red Cross Uniformed Volunteers served punch and cookies during the campaign drive.

Wildflowers topic of study club program

"The Wildflowers of Texas" was the topic presented by Art Stoy when Bay View Study Club met at the Country Club recently. Mmes J.A. Buran, W.J. Gililand, and M.M. Morrow were hostesses for the meeting.

Using slides to illustrate his remarks, Stoy explained that all varieties of flowers were uncultivated at one time but have been hybridized and grown under controlled conditions to produce the kinds of plants which are used by Stoy and his wife, Mary, on various travels across the state as well as in nearby sites in Deaf Smith County. A question and answer time allowed club members to participate in the program. Texas in Bloom and Wildflowers Across America were books recommended by Stoy for persons to learn more about the identification and culture of wildflower varieties.

Mrs. Pete Caviness was a special guest.

The next meeting of Bay View will be held on March 15 with Mrs. Paul Scott as hostess. Dr. Steve McElroy will be the guest speaker. Present for the meeting were Mmes. J.R. Allison, Dudley Bayne, Charles Bell, Buran, R.W. Eades, Wes Fisher, Alton Fraser, B.H. Futrell, D.N. Garner, Don Graham, N.C. Hays, Ernest Langley, Morrow, Austin Rose, Scott, Howard Gault, Gililand and W.S. Kerr.

Thompson, 52, surrendered to the district attorney's office Monday and was freed on $2,600 bail.

He is charged with sexual assault for allegedly grabbing the woman's breast and simple assault for allegedly punching her during an argument about whether the interview should take place in a hot tub.

Thompson, whose "gonzo" journalism is laced with drug references and wild hyperbole, said he is innocent and believes the woman wants publicity for her new venture, which he said is selling sexual aids and lingerie.

Officers from the district attorney's office said they searched Thompson's house on Monday and found a small quantity of suspected cocaine and marijuana.

Meeting date changed

The Deaf Smith County Genealogy Society will meet a week later this month at 7:30 p.m. on March 15 in the room behind the Heritage Room at the Deaf Smith County Library.

The program will be given by Jack Walser on "Family Research: How We Did It." Walser will be accompanied by family members, Guy Walser, W.H. Walser, Leatus Clark, and possibly by their father, Charlie Walser, who will be 102 years old on March 20. Three generations of the same family will explain how they gathered and organized information on the Walser family.

Visitors are welcome to the genealogy meetings. The Society regularly meets on the second Thursday of each month except for June, July, August, and December. Membership is open to all who are interested in learning how to do family research.

Plummer receives degree

Paul Matthew Plummer of Hereford was among the 1,379 Southwest Texas State University students who were candidates for degrees awarded in fall commencement ceremonies Dec. 15, 1989.

Plummer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben R. Plummer of 122 Ave. B, received a bachelor of science in technology degree with a major in industrial technology-manufacturing technology. While at SWT, Plummer was certified as a manufacturing technologist and was on the dean's list.

Netters come up aces at Odessa tourney

The Hereford Whiteface tennis team sailed through the B Division of the Odessa Invitational held Friday and Saturday in Odessa to claim the team title by 30 points.

Kristie Allison and the doubles team of Gina Alley-Misty Reed and Torey Sellers-Eric Cortez all claimed championships as the Herd amassed 46 points in the team standings.

Allison sailed through the girls singles bracket unscathed, defeating Gracie Lars of Dunbar in the championship match.

Brenna Reinauer added to the Herd's point total by reaching the quarterfinals in girls singles before falling to Abilene Cooper's Lisa Holloway, 6-2, 6-1.

In boys singles, Greg Coplen reached the semifinals where he was downed by S. Silvas of Fort Stockton, 6-3, 6-3.

Cortez and Sellers never dropped a set in taking the boys doubles crown with a 6-4, 6-1 decision over Mority and Liles of Abilene Cooper.

The Cooper pair had knocked off Hereford's Randy Robbins and Jeff Eades in the quarterfinals.

Alley and Reed also swept through the bracket without dropping a set. The twosome had a close call in the quarterfinals where they eked out a 7-6, 7-6 win over Robin Bender and Lisa Montgomery of Odessa Permian before blasting Plainview's Risa Riser and Camille Carpenter, 6-1, 6-0.

Trisha Munoz and Lori Sanders were ousted from the tourney in the first round by Brenda Ferguson and Shelly Harding of Abilene Cooper, 6-2, 0-6, 6-1.

Hereford also entered four singles players in the C Division of the tourney.

In the boys play, Jamie Kalka ousted teammate Donny Perales in the semifinals, 6-1, 6-2, before dropping the championship match to Z. Edwards of Seagraves, 6-4, 7-5.

Teresa Baker reached the semifinals before bowing to Abilene Cooper's Vanessa Salazar, 6-3, 2-6, 7-6. Robyn Sublett lost out in the second round to Cooper's Lisa Crowder, 6-1, 6-3.

The Herd will travel to Amarillo today for a dual meet at 4 p.m. at Tascosa and will hit the road again Thursday for a dual meet with Plainview.

Trip winner

Patsy Hoffman, past president of the Hereford Country Club Tennis Association, presents Raymond White with a round-trip ticket for two to Las Vegas as grand prize in the association's drawing from entries in the 1989 summer tournaments. Hoffman announced that plans for the 1990 tournaments are being made and that another year-end drawing with a similarly attractive prize will be held. ## Girls pace Angelo field

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces ran away with the Division II team title Saturday at the Concho Belle Relays in San Angelo, racking up 183 points to easily outdistance second-place Fort Stockton.

Hereford scored points in 14 of the 16 events, being shut out only in the 100-meter dash and the shot put, and brought home gold medals in nine.

"This was a great meet for us," Coach Martha Emerson said. "All of these young ladies competed well. The girls were excited and put out a lot of effort."

"Our field event girls scored 54 points, and that's great. Our distance also scored well with 41 points in the three long races."

Posting first place were Daphne Roddy in the 200 (25.85), Rachel Alaniz in the 400 (66.80), Minerva Salazar in the 800 (2:32.30), Teresa Castillo in the 3,200 (13:05.53), Candie Robins in the discus (113-2), Robin White in the high jump (4-8), and Jill West in the long jump (15-1).

Salazar, Castillo, West and Roddy also teamed to win the 4X200 (1:48.19) and 4X400 relays (4:13.59). The Herd managed to have all three entries place in three races, including a 1-2-3 sweep of the 400, and also placed in all three relay races.

"This is the first time we've won two relays early in the season in a long time," Emerson said. "The time in the 800 relay is probably the best we've run in at least five years. And the time in the mile relay is good, especially since we weren't pushed. We were 16 seconds ahead of second place."

Three Hereford athletes also set personal records at the meet to score points. Jayme Moore went 14-11 1/2 in the long jump for fourth place while triple jumper Lindsay Radford leaped 31-2 and miler Lisa Zepeda ran a 5:57.52 for a pair of second-place finishes.

The Lady Whitefaces will run at the Raider Relays at Randall on Saturday before hosting the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Invitational on March 17.

Cause of Gathers' death still unknown

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The cause of Hank Gathers' death apparently won't be known for a week or more.

Meanwhile, officials at Loyola Marymount declined to answer questions about Gathers' medical history during a news conference Monday, less than 24 hours after one of college basketball's brightest stars collapsed on the court and died.

Gathers, who had fainted during a game less than three months ago, went down again early in Sunday night's West Coast Conference tournament game against Portland at Gersten Pavilion.

The 23-year-old senior center was taken from the court in full cardiac arrest and, less than two hours later, was pronounced dead at nearby Daniel Freeman Marina Hospital when resuscitation efforts failed.

When he fainted during the second half of a game against UC Santa Barbara on Dec. 9, Gathers was diagnosed as having cardiac arrhythmia, an irregular heartbeat.

Gathers had been under a doctor's care for the condition. He had complained that prescribed medication made him feel sluggish and that, with the consent of physicians, had reduced the dosages. Gathers said the reduced dosages made him feel his strength was returning.

Bob Damboer of the Los Angeles coroner's office said Monday that results of an autopsy have been deferred pending the completion of toxicology and tissue studies.

"So there is no determination yet as to the cause of death," he said, adding that the results probably will not be announced for a week to 10 days.

Bo Kimble, one of Gathers' best friends and teammates dating back to their teen years in Philadelphia, said Gathers "was taking his medication."

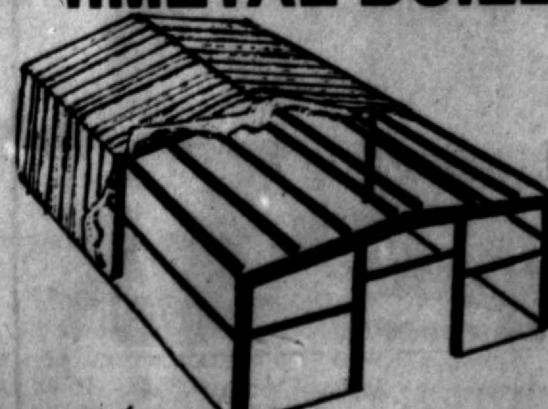

Dr. Mason Weiss, the attending cardiologist at the hospital where Gathers died, said: "As far as I know, everything was done to make sure that it was safe for him to play. And to the best of what medicine can do to predict these things, everything was correctly done. He was still taking his medication. He took it Sunday afternoon."

A hospital statement, which was read during the news conference on campus, said in part that Gathers had been monitored regularly since the heart problem was discovered in December.

Gathers, a 6-foot-7, 210-pounder, was tested extensively, then placed on medication before being allowed to return to the lineup. He was sidelined for three weeks, missing two games.

Teammate Jeff Fryer said Gathers, the leading scorer and rebounder in the country a year ago and one of the nation's top scorers this season, was so excited about playing Sunday that he did something out of character. He took a run around the track at Loyola.

Lady Whiteface golf 3rd at Hobbs

The Hereford Whiteface golf teams played in the Hobbs Invitational at Hobbs, N.M. over the weekend with varying amounts of success.

The Lady Whitefaces finished third in a five-team field at 416, 28 strokes behind winner Roswell, N.M. Goddard.

The boys A team finished ninth of 10 teams at 352, 37 strokes back of Goddard while the B team placed sixth in a nine-team field at 356 19 shots behind Hobbs.

Paula Britten paced the Lady Whitefaces with a round of 96, 14 strokes back of the lead, to finish fourth in the medalist standings. Naomi Grijalva and Krystal Sims both shot 101 for the day while JoJo Lytal added a 118 and Jennifer Prater posted a 134.

For the A boys, Jayson Mines shot 79 to tie with two others for sixth in the medalist race, three shots back of a three-way tie for the lead. Other scores for the Herd were Anthony Gale, 87; Robert Jones, 92; Clay Cantrell, 94; Mikel Walser, 96.

In the B division, Kevin Kelso shot 87 for a three-way for eighth, seven strokes back of the lead, while Keith Kelso and David McCarter went around in 89 shots. David Bone added a 91 and Sandy Hacker a 106 for the Herd.

Both boys and girls teams will play on their home course Friday and Saturday when they host the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Invitational at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

Mason, Betzen win at Lubbock meet

Pole vaulter Brad Mason and discuss thrower Phillip Betzen posted wins in their specialties Saturday as the Hereford Whiteface track team scored 35 points to finish sixth at the Lubbock Invitational.

Betzen hurled the platter 132 feet, five inches while Mason cleared 12-6 for their first wins of the year.

High jumpers Tate Smith and Sean Smith both cleared 6-0 with to finish fourth and sixth.

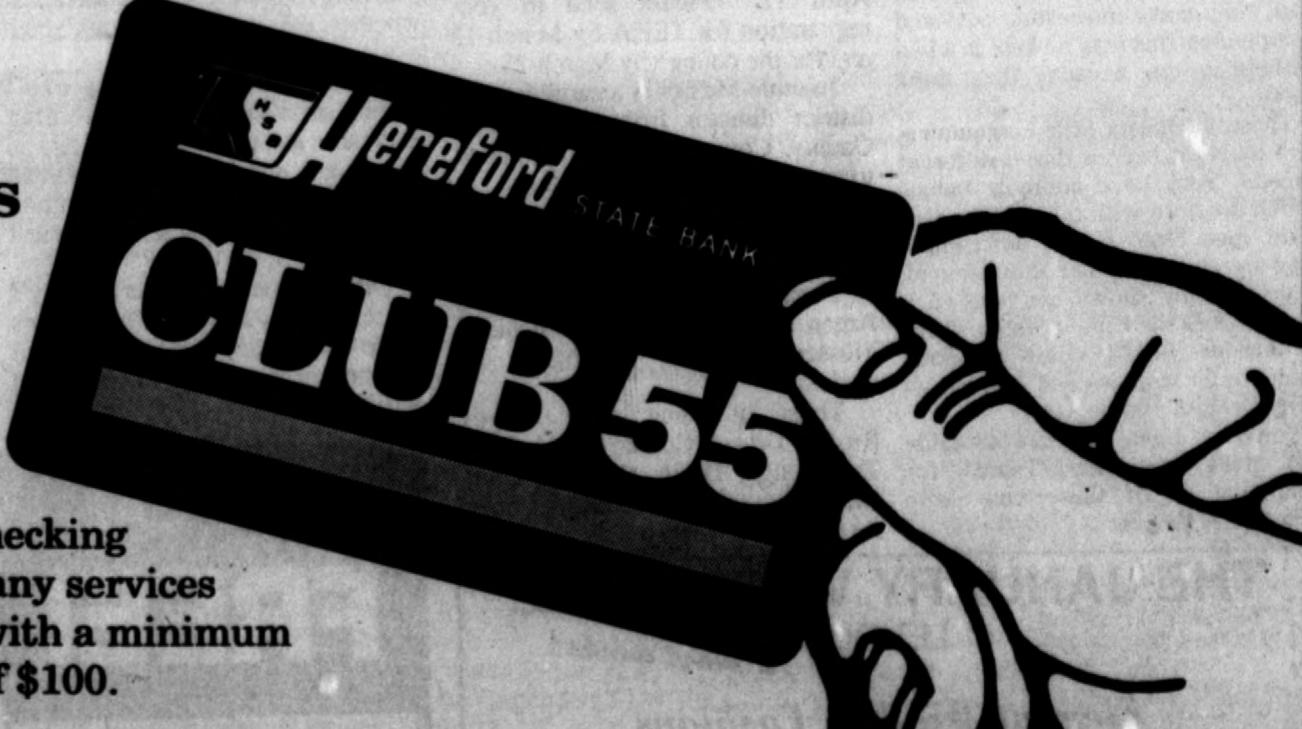

The Herd also picked up points in the 400-meter dash as Blas Cantu ran the lap in 52.56 seconds for fifth place

Herd stumbles to 0-3 start at AIT

Stepping into spring

Tab Hathaway of the Hereford Whiteface JV steps into a pitch during Monday's 12-5 win over Randall at Whiteface Field. The game was season opener for the Herd JV while the varsity will make its 1990 home debut March 13 against Amarillo High.

JV walks past Raiders

The Hereford Whiteface junior varsity finally got their season started a week late Monday and made up for lost time with a nine-run first inning en route to a 12-5 win over Randall at Whiteface Field.

The Herd's first four batters drew walks of Raider starter Matt Hall, who gave up nine free passes in only two-thirds of an inning.

The Herd sent its 12th batter to the plate before Andy Kalka drove in three runs with a triple for the first hit.

Herd starter Ralph Holguin pitched three innings, giving up four runs, in earning the win.

Jerry Rincon and Sammy Casarez split the last three innings on the mound as the game was called because of darkness after the sixth.

The Herd JV will travel to Pampa on Saturday for a doubleheader beginning at 11 a.m. The squad's next home appearance will at 4:30 p.m. March 19 against Dumas.

Opening Day's fate to be decided soon

NEW YORK (AP) — Both sides in baseball's labor negotiations agree that if a settlement is not reached this week, opening day will just have to wait.

Negotiators for the owners and players met Monday to discuss their positions, but said nothing was accomplished.

They'll try again today, the 20th day of the spring training lockout.

Opening day is scheduled for April 2 - less than a month away - and the clock is ticking louder every day.

"I would suspect if we don't have an agreement by the end of this week, opening day is wholly at risk," Chuck O'Connor, the owners' chief negotiator, said.

"This is the week which once and for all relates to whether the season will be affected," Commissioner Fay Vincent said.

Realizing that time is running out, the owners have even changed some of their plans for the rest of the week.

Owners canceled meetings of the Player Relations Committee and the American and National Leagues that were to have been held Wednesday outside Dallas, and instead decided to have the PRC convene today in New York.

"There's no way we can work out an agreement if the PRC isn't going to approve it," Vincent said. "My sense is that we're going to make a determined effort to get this done, and we would have been wasting two days by going to Dallas on Tuesday."

The owners will, however, have a joint meeting in Texas on Thursday.

"We Reach Thousands Every Day!"

The Hereford Whitefaces got the 1990 baseball season off to a rocky start as they dropped three games over the weekend at the Abilene Invitational Tournament.

The Herd dropped its Friday opener to Estacado, 8-4, and added losses against San Angelo Central, 7-0, and Lubbock High, 9-5.

Herd Coach T.R. Sartor said inconsistency was the major problem plaguing the Herd in the rain-shortened event, adding that there were flashes of what he hopes to see on a regular basis.

"At times we played extremely well on defense," he said, "but our pitching hasn't had a chance to come around yet."

Sartor said indoor workouts forced by inclement weather the past two weeks has slowed the team's progress.

"There's just not much you can do in the gym," he said. "We need to get out on the field and play."

Estacado 8, Herd 4

Hereford jumped out on top with a three-run first inning, but the Matadors touched starter Russell Backus for four runs in the second to take the lead for good.

Leadoff man Matt Bromlow reached after being hit by the third pitch he saw. Bromlow came home on Jim Andrews' single. The Herd added runs from Backus and Andrews on hits by George Jowell and Cody Page.

The Mats used three hits and an error in plating their first four runs.

Backus, who took the loss, gave up three more runs in the fourth before being lifted.

San Angelo Central 7, Herd 0

Jason Walterscheid was hung with his first loss after giving up a four-run first to the Bobcats.

The right-hander allowed the first seven batters he faced to reach base before getting out of the inning.

The Herd's only offense came on singles by Jowell and Andrews in the fourth and another by Matt Smith in the fifth.

Hereford advanced only two base runners as far as third base in the game.

Lubbock High 9, Herd 5

Five unearned runs proved to be the difference as junior Chad Brummett became the third Hereford pitcher to start the season 0-1.

The Westerners scored four runs in the fifth, all unearned, to take control of what had been a close game.

After two Lubbock runs in the top of first inning, the Herd came up with one in their half as Jowell drove home Bromlow.

The Herd went ahead in the second as Brummett and Jim Anima drew back-to-back walks and scored.

Two errors and a pair of passed balls in the Lubbock half of the fifth set up the Westerners' outburst.

The Herd returns to the diamond at 4 p.m. today when they take on the Caprock Longhorns at Potter County Memorial Stadium in Amarillo.

The Herd will play in the Dumas Invitational Tournament Friday and Saturday before playing its home opener at 4 p.m. March 13 against Amarillo High.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: We were informed that sleeping with an electric blanket can cause cancer. The electric coils in the blanket cause the cancer. We do put a sheet under the blanket before it touches the body. Is there any scientific medical evidence that sleeping with an electric blanket can cause cancer?

DEAR READER: There is a possibility that electric currents may increase a person's risk of cancer. There simply is not enough information right now to say if it is a minor risk or no risk at all. The whole idea about electricity causing cancer got started with concern about the big power lines. Now it looks like the problem, if any, is closer to home. The wiring to the house itself may generate as much or more of a problem as power lines. Then household appliances, from the kitchen to the bedroom are part of the picture. If there is a problem, it is true that an electric blanket creates as much as five times the electrical field that a person may be exposed to by power lines.

Flowing electricity does produce a magnetic field around it and it alternates because of alternating current. That does influence cell function. But whether you can translate that change in cell function to cancer has not been established. Much research is now being done on the problem.

I have discussed the concepts of electricity in the home and cancer risk in Does Electricity Cause Cancer? in THE HEALTH LETTER 35-03, which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send $2 with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/35-03, P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713.

A sheet under the blanket will have no effect on the electromagnetic field.

DEAR DR. LAMB: If you are a human that cares about children and the human rights they deserve to have protected, then I'm hopeful you will help eliminate all circumcisions at birth and at any other time, unless there is a definite chance of death because of an infection. Every child born has a genital protection that's there for a physiological reason.

Those who through a cunning disguise behind a surgical mask, combined with their own dictatorial arrogance, vindictiveness and imagined self-importance have taken from me that which can never be returned. Hack-hack-hack, Goes the quack-quack-quack, Making all that loot, Violating the boy's birthday suit.

DEAR READER: Your motivation is excellent, but there are pros and cons on the subject. In the past it was believed that the foreskin protected the baby from urinary tract infections. More recent controlled studies of large populations have proved just the opposite, and the uncircumcised baby has a much greater risk of such an infection. Nature didn't plan on the lower part of the stomach have been done. These procedures can help a person lose weight because he eats less. You are really back to the basic truth that weight loss depends on consuming fewer calories than your body uses. If you could restrict your calories just as much without the operation, you would have the same results.

There are complications. Initially there may be problems with nausea and vomiting. Others have the "dumping" syndrome. The small stomach means that whatever you consume is immediately dumped into the small intestine. This may cause attacks of flushing, rapid heart beat and even fainting. Doctors who have removed a major part of the stomach in the treatment of peptic ulcers are quite familiar with this complication.

Circumcision was advocated also because it was believed a woman who have sexual relations with uncircumcised males were more likely to develop cancer of the cervix — which has been proved to be untrue. Another reason advocated for circumcision is that the uncircumcised male is more likely to develop cancer of the penis. If a baby is not circumcised, extra efforts are needed for hygiene in infancy and later as an adult. The risk of cancer of the penis is no greater in uncircumcised males than circumcised males if adequate hygiene has been practiced.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I have been trying to lose weight for years. I'm a 25-year-old man. I met someone while going to school who mentioned how he was able to lose weight. He told me he had his stomach stapled. Do you have some information about getting your stomach stapled and what the benefits and disadvantages are? What long-term problems can a person have from this procedure?

DEAR READER: Stomach stapling has a checkered history. At first the operation was done simply by stapling a row of staples across the stomach, making the upper stomach a small pouch. The row of staples was interrupted in the center area to allow food to pass slowly through the opening into the lower stomach chamber created by the row of staples.

There were some glowing reports, but this procedure was really not very good. The staples often came out and there were many complications.

Because of its failure, several stages of modification have been developed. Using a different method to segment the stomach and actually closing the top chamber of the stomach completely while rerouting the small intestine to bypass most of

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Look closely at the enclosed ad for decaffeinated tea, and you will see that every one of the nurses photographed in this hospital maternity ward in Stamford, Conn., have stethoscopes dangling from their necks. In my opinion, they wear these instruments to make the statement, "Hey! Look at me. I'm a professional."

Loose stethoscopes can be dangerous. I wonder how many babies in that Stamford hospital have been hit in the head by dangling stethoscopes.

Why can't nurses keep their instruments in their pockets or at their station until they need them? How many times during the day does a nurse use a stethoscope anyway?

Please see what you can do to get these dames to put away their stethoscopes until they need them. If they want to look like professionals, they ought to start wearing caps again. -- A Virginia Reader

DEAR VIRGINIA: I thought that after 34 years of writing this column, I had seen everything, but this is a new one.

I have never heard of anyone being injured by a nurse's stethoscope. If I have missed something, I hope the readers will let me know.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Three months ago our 21-year-old daughter was abducted by two men as she was walking from the library to her college dormitory late at night. She was blindfolded, tied up and driven to a wooded area where she was beaten and

NEW YORK (AP) - President Bush has found a rich vein of joke material: the divorce battle between Donald and Ivana Trump.

On a fund-raiser for a Republican candidate in a Staten Island congressional election, Bush said his visit to New York had put him in the midst of "one of the greatest contests of 1990," a battle with "a lot at stake, a lot of money spent on both sides, a lot of press attention."

Pause.

"But I'm not here to talk about the Trumps."

The president, who received a good deal of positive press when the first dog, Millie, had a White House litter, also offered advice to congressional candidate Susan Molinari:

"Puppies: worth 10 points easy."

raped. After several hours, her abductors turned her loose on a deserted country road.

"Paula" has since become active in a program called "Take Back The Night." This is a group that fights violent crimes committed against women ranging from sexual assault to murder.

Several months ago, she persuaded her father, a retired Army Ranger, to buy her a handgun for protection. For Christmas, he gave her a .38-caliber revolver, which she carries in her purse or tucked in the belt of her jeans.

I have no doubt that Paula would not hesitate to shoot and kill any man who tried to mug or rape her. I have told her several times that I am opposed to people carrying guns for protection. She says I am naive and unrealistic and that several of her girlfriends at school also carry guns.

Ann, I worry more about her carrying that gun than I worry about her getting raped again. What is your opinion? - A Concerned Parent in St. Louis

DEAR ST. LOUIS: I'm with you. There are already far too many guns out there. Witness the fact that guns were the NO. 4 cause of death in the United States last year. In 1988, four times as many people died from gunshot wounds in Washington, D.C., than in the entire country of Japan.

Statistics show that the proliferation of firearms has not decreased the number of muggings or rapes, it has only increased the number of shootings of innocent people.

The best way to avoid being mugged or raped is to travel in groups and stay off dark, isolated streets at night -- campuses included. Carry a police whistle at all times. Keep car doors locked and do not get out of the car at night for any reason. Men who cause rear-end collisions with lone female drivers and then drag them off have been reported all over the country.

Caution is the watchword. The woman who heeds this advice will fare much better than one with a gun.

Is life passing you by? Want to improve your social skills? Write for Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Make Friends and Stop Being Lonely." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.15 (this includes postage and handling) to: Friends, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $5.05.)

Barbers honored recently in Lubbock

The Downtown Rotary Club of Lubbock named Harlan and Helen Barber of Hereford as Paul Harris Fellows during a recent ceremony. The award was presented by their son, Virgil. The award is the highest Rotary honor given for community service and humanitarianism.

In 1979, the Rotary Foundation within the Lubbock Rotary Club instituted a campaign to encourage members to become Paul Harris Fellows by investing financially in the programs of the Rotary Foundation or by contributing monetarily in honor of a particular person for their service to the community, city, or to Rotary.

Virgil Barber explained that 10 years ago he began giving to the Rotary Foundation in order to honor the couple he loved and respected more than anyone else in the world.

He spoke of his parents as a Christian couple who began their married lives 50 years ago and from that day forward they began a bond together that has touched the lives of hundreds of individuals around the world.

A few examples of the ways these two individuals are always helping in time of need are by taking food to someone sick or in sorrow; harvesting a neighbor's crop in time of need; driving a handicapped person for medical treatment; giving to a mission in a foreign country; buying toys for their farm workers terminally ill child; or caring for a dying friend in a Hospice," Virgil Barber said.

"Wherever they go, from children in church to senior citizens in a rest home, eyes light up when they walk in. They are always there doing what needs to be done, without reservations or any restrictions to race, color, creed, or religion. They are truly the objective of Rotary and that being service about self, which is thoughtfulness and helpfulness to others," Virgil added.

"It is always great to go back to Hereford and be able to go anywhere with these two people and see the love and admiration that everyone has for them," Virgil said.

"The American Heart Association cautions consumers about the bottom-line effects of some convenience foods. Many have high fat content, especially the saturated kind. High blood cholesterol, a major risk factor for coronary heart disease, is attributed to excessive intake of saturated fats. Many of the 300-calorie convenience meals contain much more fat than recommended by the AHA. Reading food labels is especially useful if you are on a fat-controlled diet."

"If the fat content of the dinner is 12 grams, for example, you'll be eating 108 calories of fat from a 300 calorie meal (1 gm. fat equals 9 calories). This 'lean' dinner contains more than 30 percent fat," Flood said.

The American Heart Association recommends that total fat in the diet be limited to 30 percent of daily calories. Unfortunately, many

Labels on food may be misleading buyers

What you see isn't always what you get when it comes to convenience foods. Some popular products are labeled in ways to make you think you're buying healthy, low-calorie meals. In reality, some of these products may contain large amounts of fat, cholesterol or sodium, or a combination of all.

"Although there are nutritious and low-fat, low-cholesterol convenience foods on the market, it pays to read the labels carefully to determine if that 'lite' or 'lean' frozen dinner is really the best choice for you," advises Karen Flood of the Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Heart Association.

"There's no arguing that these entrees are a great timesaver since you can put the frozen dinner in the microwave or the oven and have a hot, tasty meal in minutes," Flood says. "And since the labels on products may indicate the product contains fewer than 300 calories per serving, these items often have great appeal to today's weight-conscious shoppers."

The American Heart Association recommends that total fat in the diet be limited to 30 percent of daily calories. Unfortunately, many Americans are including more than 30 percent fat in every meal, every day.

"By reducing total fats, you can more easily reduce the saturated fat, which will reduce blood cholesterol in most people," Flood said.

Another important factor in reading product labels is to note the type of fat used in the product. If safflower, corn and partially hydrogenated soybean oils are listed in the ingredients, you are making a better choice. These oils contain primarily polyunsaturated fat, the kind that tends to lower cholesterol. If lard or animal shortening is used in the product, animal fat is part of the product.

The American Heart Association is the nation's largest voluntary health organization dedicated to the reduction of disability and death from heart and blood vessel diseases, which annually kill almost one million Americans. Last year the AHA spent more than $150 million for research support and public and professional education and community programs.
