Trustees Approve Teacher Contracts

The Hereford School Board of Trustees approved the local textbook committee listings, renewed contracts for most teachers at all campuses, accepted insurance proposals for vehicles and school board members and appointed three members to the Board of Equalization at a regular meeting Tuesday at the school district administration building.

reports on the Early Childhood for the Handicapped Program, reviewed a request from the American Civil Liberties Union for a school sponsored essay contest, amended the budget for 1974-75 and discussed run-off election date possibilities.

THE TEXT BOOK listings included those recommended by the state textbook committee for consideration by the local committee. The committee had been meeting during the past few months to consider orders of new books as needed by the various classes.

The school trustees approved the total list so that books not ordered now and desired later could be purchased in the future.

Superintendent Roy Hartman said that books not approved by the board could not be ordered at a future date.

A TOTAL OF 333 teacher contracts were renewed by the board after a closed session with principals to discuss specific cases. The board approved all teachers including first year employees as recommended by principals.

Five teacher contracts were not renewed at this time for various reasons, but will be reconsidered in May, Hartman said.

Concerning the insurance proposals, the trustees decided to purchase increased coverage of $100,000 for any one person and $300,000 maximum for any one accident on the total school district fleet of vehicles including all buses. The present coverage is now $25,000 over $50,000.

Board member Ron Zimmerman suggested the board and administration investigate the possibility of umbrella coverage. Jim Conkwright agreed and moved that the umbrella policy be accepted for amount of $1-million or more depending on cost.

ALSO APPROVED was an insurance policy on board members to protect them from actions made while serving. The U.S. Supreme Court recently decided that school boards could be sued for damages.

Appointed to the Board of Equalization were Ralph Owens, Bill Davis and Frank Zinser. All had been serving on the board.

The Early Childhood for the Handicapped Program report was presented by Mary Ruth Baird. She explained with a color slide presentation how she and her three aids help to offer 24 students in the program, which is housed at Shirley Elementary School.

The program is funded for three more years through the Panhandle Educational Services Organization (PESO). At the end of the period, the local district may continue it but at their own expense. However, it is expected the state will have a statewide program by then. Only two other districts in the state have such a program.

REV. JOSE GILLIGAN asked the board for an ACLU sponsored essay contest on the "Bill of Rights, How It Was Created and How It Functions." The board didn't have to act on it and instructed the administration to handle it as other such essay contests are handled.

The ACLU is offering prizes in the form of either a scholarship or savings bonds. It will be conducted through the history and English departments and judged by West Texas State professors.

The amended budget is adjusted for an additional $243,000 in revenue. This occurs from the emergency school funds received from the state and other sources. The total revised budget is for $4,390,230 as opposed to the original budget of $4,147,230.

A run-off election will be held within 30 days of the April 5 election as specified by law. However, no statements were available as to time limits.

The consensus of the board was that the run-off needed to be as soon as possible after the election.

All school board members were present.

THE QUARTERLY MEETING of the C of C is scheduled next Tuesday with all civic clubs also asked to join the session. The program is to be presented by the Bicentennial committee and tickets are on sale at both banks for $2.50 each. The meeting will be held in the Bull Barn with serving to start at 11:30.

HUGH CLEARMAN, president of the school board, and Hap Cavness, city commissioner, are not seeking re-election to their respective posts and it is disappointing. Both have been real assets to the school and city business and they will be missed. But we can understand them wanting to step aside after a number of years and let someone else serve the community.

Hugh and Hap contributed not only a lot of business sense to the governmental units but plenty of plain, everyday common sense to the deliberations of the two bodies. I'd like to be among the first to commend them for great service to the community in relatively thankless jobs, where personal satisfaction for a job well done is about the only reward.

HEREFORD is host to the High Plains Irrigation Conference Friday and the session should draw farmers from a wide area. Irrigation has played a vital role in the agricultural economy of the Hereford area, and the conference will highlight new developments and explore the availability and costs of natural gas and electricity.

THERE'LL be lots of action for sports fans here this weekend. The Deaf Smith C of C Baseball Tourney gets underway this morning with seven teams vying for the title. Hereford's Whitefaces are off to a good start with a 5-1 record and will be seeking to keep the trophy at home. Sports fans will also have the opportunity to see a girls' track meet here Saturday at Whiteface Stadium.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS, congratulations to Larry Wartes on being named to the Coaches Hall of Fame. The former Whiteface athletic director will be inducted into the Hall this summer at the annual Texas Coaches' School. Wartes, now an administrative assistant, probably couldn't be more pleased with the timing of the honor. His son, Mike, is graduating from West Texas State and will be attending the state meeting as a rookie coach.

Commissioners Eye Proposals To Benefit Kids, Alcoholics

By O.G. NIEMAN

Deaf Smith County commissioners adopted two resolutions and took care of some routine business during a regular meeting Monday, but much of the session centered on requests for the county to participate in two community programs—one for kids and the other for alcoholics.

Chuck Cosper, president of Kids, Inc., told of the organization's hopes to build a baseball complex to meet the increasing demand for boys' and girls' summer programs. The local board of directors is seeking land and financial support from the city and county governments, as well as community organizations and individuals.

Bobby Owen, spokesman for a group of interested citizens, reported on the need of a "halfway-house" facility in Hereford to provide help for alcoholics and drug addicts. Such a project would also require land and financial aid.

COMMISSIONERS took both requests under consideration, and County Judge Sam Morgan said he thought the county would like to participate in both programs.

"However, they are both community-wide projects and would need broad-based support," added Morgan. He said the commissioners would want more information on both programs and would take them under consideration.

In other business, the court approved a resolution to continue the assistant district attorney program under the Justice Council grant; approved a resolution on a crime prevention program sponsored by the Panhandle Region Planning Commission; approved the temporary use of a corner of the library basement for the Cowgirl Hall of Fame; heard a financial report from county treasurer Vesta Mae Nunley; and approved monthly bills.

Commissioners endorsed the assistant DA grant for the third year with the intent to continue the program at the conclusion of the funding next year. Andy Shuval, criminal district attorney, presented the court with an evaluation report which was compiled by two area district attorneys and one district judge.

THE EVALUATION committee recommended the continuation of the program under the grant and that the assistant DA be made a permanent part of the criminal justice system in Deaf Smith County. The committee noted that CJC monthly reports revealed there has been a 54 per cent decrease in the number of felonies awaiting trial in the past year and a 21 per cent decrease in the backlog of misdemeanor cases.

The report also noted there has been a substantial decrease in the length of time that cases are pending. In district court, several triable cases which have been pending more than a year are set for trial in April. After that week, the case with the oldest arrest date should be Jan. 5, 1975. In county court, the objective is to have every case called for trial within four months of filing. The report added that the caseload in the county is higher than

Consumers Coop Has Good Year Despite Energy Shortages

Despite energy shortages and economic setbacks the stockholders of the Consumers Fuel Cooperative Assn. Inc. had a better than average year.

This was evident Saturday at the 47th annual stockholders meeting, when $109,000 in dividend checks were distributed to the members.

The Consumer Fuel Coop is a non-profit organization. All profits made are given back to the patrons.

"The 1974 fuel business was awful, but it was a much better year for us than in 1973, with $59,000 more profit earnings," said Coop manager Bud Sparks.

The annual meeting held in the Community Center consisted of selection of new directors including, Kenneth Artho and G.W. Duncan.

Also the routine business of the '74 year was reviewed. There were 125 persons present.

School Candidates Air Views to Rotary

BY BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

The Hereford School Board of Trustees race is being closely scrutinized and all eyes were definitely on seven of eight candidates as they kicked off the first week of campaigning with speeches before the Rotary Club Monday.

Appearing were James Gentry in place 1; Rev. Jose Gilligan, Bobby Veigel and Jim Arney in place 2; and Clark Andrews, Bud Snyder and Joe Whitley in place 3. Bob Josseland, running in place 1, was unable to appear apparently because of timing conflicts.

GENTRY, a businessman with agricultural interests, went to the podium first and stated that he was qualified as a school trustee because "the board should be made up of business minded people who have experience in setting policies and guiding employees."

"In order to be effective, a board member must make all his decisions with as many facts available as possible and with the primary interest in mind being the best possible education of the children of the community," he said.

"People with personal grudges, personality conflicts, special interests, or any other axe to grind, should not be elected to the board."

He added that another prime concern is that of making the best possible use of the taxpayer's money.

REV. JOSE GILLIGAN, pastor of the San Jose Catholic Church, spoke next. "I naturally don't have the credentials of the other candidates as a father in the paternal sense. . . but I do possess a background of teaching experience."

Although noting that teaching experience is valuable, he said an interest in young people is just as necessary.

Concerning his contact with the local Mexican-American community, Rev. Gilligan said, "While I can't speak for all Mexican-Americans, I do have an ear for them especially since the local schools contain 52 per cent Mexican-American students at least as of the most recent figures available to me."

"I would work for all people, but the Mexican-Americans do need some channel of communication," he explained. "I am not running for any special interest. . . just as a good Christian, I hope."

BOBBY VEIGEL, an area cattleman, lead off the place 2 candidates by saying that he was proud of what the district has and has accomplished. "Hereford has special problems, but we have found special solutions."

Although he was an incumbent in place 3, he said he was running again because, "some seniority is needed and I have learned a lot since becoming a board member." He originally said he would not run because he desired new thoughts and ideas on the board.

"Open mindedness is needed," he concluded.

JIM ARNEY, place 2 incumbent, said that he too was very proud of the school system, but that a check and balances policy was always necessary.

"You the voters have a check on us through elections and we in turn on the administration of the schools."

While a board member, Arney, a pharmacist, said, "I have done what my conscious has dictated and I make no apologies for my decisions. As a democratic society, we have to have more than one view expressed."

CLARK ANDREWS, an area farmer, was the first of place 3 candidates to speak. As a former board member, "I have had a lot of contact with the schools and I have never seen any school I thought better than those here."

More specifically Andrews has been "a bit surprised at some of the course lists brought home by the kids."

"With as many courses that are offered, I think some post graduate work ought to be arranged. A second diploma or something. There's not enough time to take all the courses that are offered.

"Decisions are made (by school boards) on the basis of facts which are then discussed," he said. "I encourage visitations to board meetings."

BUD SNYDER, a vegetable growing specialist, said, "Much criticism falls upon school trustees and the job isn't easy, but fun. I feel it is an opportunity to serve on the school board."

"Schools will be facing the hardest time yet," Snyder explained in reference to the tax situation. "With low cattle numbers, we will have less taxes. There are tough times ahead with the crops, especially six months from now."

"I feel that a background in banking, farming and education, will be valuable to the board," he said. He has been a teacher and banker in Wyoming as well as a grower here.

JOE WHITLEY, a dentist, went right to the heart of his concern by saying that he had proven 80 per cent if not 100 per cent interest in young persons. He cited his sponsorship of the Summer Track Program as an example.

"With my intellectual thinking, I am an issues-oriented human being and I will carry it to the board," he said. "It's just the way I am and I want to say that I have no personal axe to grind with anyone." Clearing up some apparent misunderstandings, he explained, "My contacts with the school system have been good and I have based nothing on incidents which have occurred in the past."

ON ONE ISSUE, Whitley said that while he is the father of "four girls who are athletically inclined," he would equally support all girls and boys sports programs.

"It may seem silly, but a few people will have the idea of girl's football in the back of their minds," he said. "But I don't want any of my girls playing football."

The only question asked, was concerning alternatives to the low cattle tax situation. Veigel answered that the district is fairly confident that the refinancing bills before the legislature will increase revenues to the district for its special programs such as the bilingual education program.

Figures Reflect 500 to 1,000 Person Gain

Hereford Experiences Population Growth

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

It's been five years since the population of Hereford was accurately gauged by the U.S. Census Bureau, but since then (1970) an estimated growth of at least 2,500 persons and possibly 3,500 persons has occurred, according to a recent survey of local utility connections.

The population last year was estimated at between 15,200 and 15,700 persons and current estimates put the population between about 16,200 and 17,000 persons depending on method of calculation and figures used.

THE POPULATION is officially based on the U.S. Census, but it is only taken every 10 years. This naturally leaves gaps from year to year of exactly what growth has or has not been experienced.

In Hereford's case, it has definitely been growth. But how much growth? Based on local utility connection figures, estimates of population have been put at around 17,000 persons although more conservative guesses are much less.

According to computations of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, the local population is 17,031, figured on a historic increase of about five per cent a year.

Bill Albright, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith C of C, explained that he had arrived at a more exact population estimate of 17,311 persons, when he multiplied the number of residential electrical meter connections in Hereford city limits by a factor of 3.5 persons per family. The electrical connections as of the first of the year were 4,946.

"I FELT this figure was a bit inflated, so I checked the estimate using the five per cent annual increase," he said. "I think this is a more accurate estimate of the population."

The C of C is interested in the population not only to measure local growth, but also to update the signs located at the city limits. These still reflect the population figured in 1970, which was 13,414.

"We plan to ask the city and the state to update the signs with the most current population figure," he said.

The C of C estimate does not include any commercial electrical meter connections and Albright feels that his 3.5 factor also is rather conservative. It was arrived at by examining school district pupil totals.

HOWEVER, THE CITY feels the population might not be quite as high as the 17,031 total of the C of C.

Dudley Bayne, city manager, said he thinks the population stands at about 16,000 persons. Although no computations of the population have been taken by the city recently, Bayne doesn't feel that it has grown as much as 1,000 persons over the past year.

Usually, the city figures population when required to do so for federal revenue sharing funds. The city has in the past taken an average of all the local utility figures and multiplied them by a "persons per family" factor.

As of about Jan. 1975, the utilities reported the following residential connection figures: telephone — 4,260; gas — 4,610; electric — 4,946; and water (city) — 4,689.

USING THE AVERAGE of these figures and a 3.5 persons per family figure, the population of Hereford is 16,190, which indicates a growth over last year of at least about 500 persons.

The population for Deaf Smith County according to C of C calculations is 24,128 persons. The city figures show that the county population is in the neighborhood of that figure since the population has been projected in 1975 to about 25,000 persons.

No matter which figures are used, Hereford and the county have experienced growth to the extent that even the projections have been beat.

And the growth hasn't by any means stopped as the Texas Industrial Commission projects the population to increase to about 21,597 by 1980 — the time of the next official U.S. Census.

Water People Flood Town For Meeting

Hereford will be flooded Friday with water people as the High Plains Irrigation Conference convenes at 9:30 a.m. at the Bull Barn.

Large numbers are expected to consider the latest in irrigation equipment and energy supplies and costs as they pertain to running irrigation pumps.

According to Deaf Smith County Extension Agent Juston McBride and Charles Schlabs, chairman of the Deaf Smith County Water Association, the conference will deal with the outlook for irrigation in 1975.

THE ONE-DAY event begins at 9:30 a.m.

An elite three-member panel, consisting of top officials of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, Pioneer Natural Gas and Southwestern Public Service, will lead an afternoon session on energy. Particular attention, says McBride, will be directed to the availability and costs of energy for irrigation purposes.

McBride will moderate the morning session. A Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service engineer, Paul Fischback, is slated to get the conference off on an optimistic note about new developments in automated gated pipe irrigation systems. He'll also discuss limited water applications through the center pivot sprinkler system, a new concept in sprinkler irrigation, McBride adds.

RESULTS OF GROWER irrigation field tests will be reported by Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialist Leon New of Lubbock. The tests were conducted in Castro, Parmer and Deaf Smith counties.

Dr. Nolan Clark, USDA-Agricultural Research Service engineer from Bushland, will update the gathering on irrigation research conducted at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center.

Water importation into the West Texas area is not a dead issue. That thought, along with new information about the status of water importation, will be presented to the conference by Duncan Ellison, executive director of Water Incorporated of Lubbock.

A.L. Black, a Friona grower and member of the Texas Water Development Board of Directors will address noon luncheon guests. He will detail the actions required to maintain irrigated production levels on the Texas High Plains. Moderator for that noon session is Bill Albright, executive vice-president of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Moderating the afternoon session will be Charles Schlabs. Wayne Wytst, of the Austin-based Texas Water Development Board, Groundwater and Protection Division, leads off with a discussion on strong and weak underground water supply locations. He'll also comment on potential use of the Santa Rosa water formation which lies below the presently used Ogallala water formation.

THEN COMES the panel discussion on energy, with James Hull moderating. Hull is manager of the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative.

Serving on the panel with him will be K.B. Watson, president of Pioneer Natural Gas, Amarillo, and Bert Springer, executive vice-president of Southwestern Public Service in Amarillo.

Rounding out the day's program will be Wayne Keese, agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at College Station, talking about pumping equipment costs and efficiency.

The irrigation conference is co-sponsored by the Extension Service, Deaf Smith County Water Association, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, and the Panhandle Economic Program, a volunteer organization of citizens interested in the social and economic growth of the Panhandle.

Irish Crown Offered

Local Miss Joins Pageant

Monica Herring, Miss Hereford 1975, will participate in St. Patrick's Day celebration activities Saturday at Shamrock.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, Miss Herring will be an entrant in the 29th annual Miss Irish Rose contest. Based on beauty, poise and personality, the pageant will award scholarships of $300, $150 and $100 to the first, second and third place winners, respectively.

The top-ranking trio will receive various prizes from Shamrock merchants and Miss Congeniality will be presented a $50 scholarship. The coronation is to be conducted in the National Guard Armory.

MISS HERRING, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Herring, is a senior student at Hereford High School. She was Miss Teen Hereford 1974 and received the Miss Congeniality award that same year.

Currently serving as Kiwanis sweetheart, she is 1975 Basketball Queen and a member of National Honor Society. The reigning Miss Hereford has school memberships in Leo Club, Future Business Leaders, Future Teachers of America and the varsity tennis team.

IN ADDITION to the pageant, Miss Herring will ride a float in the St. Patrick's parade Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. Also to appear in the hour-long march will be the Kiltie (all girl) Band of Oklahoma City.

Making a traditional pilgrimage to the annual parade will be the Khiva Shrine group, including band, drum and bugle corps and klowns. Also, a 75 millimeter cannon drawn by eight horses will be accompanied by personnel dressed in uniforms of various wars waged by the United States.

Fifteen decorated floats, riding clubs, comic entries and a kiddie parade section will appear.

Following the Irish Rose coronation at 3 p.m. the Donegal Beard contest will be held under the direction of Chief Fuzzer Junior Vinyard. One of the judges will be the newly-crowned Miss Irish Rose.

MEANWHILE at Clark Auditorium, the Old Fiddlers will be performing for about $400 in prize money. This event is managed by Mr. and Mrs. Bill King.

Shamrock's Ministerial Alliance will present a program with Bob Wills inspirations at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The celebration will culminate in the annual St. Patrick's Dance at the Armory at 9 p.m. Music will be furnished by R.T. "Windy" Wood and the New Sons of the West.

Teenage youth will conclude the day at a dance featuring Billy and the Kids at 8 p.m. in the junior high school gymnasium.

Shamrock, with a population now of 3,086, started the Irish celebrations in 1938 at the urging of the late Glen Truax, former bandmaster of Shamrock High School. The observance was interrupted from 1942-1949 and in 1951 but has been staged yearly since then.

The sixth-grader's project, as explained by the poster in the background, shows how electricity is generated with water. Joey Mazurek and John Casarez were named joint winners of the science fair.

it was two years ago when the assistant DA program was started.

Roy Faubion appeared at the meeting to make the request for temporary space for the Cowgirl Hall of Fame. He explained that with the start of a professional Cowgirls' Rodeo here in May, Hereford had secured the sanction of the Girls Rodeo Association to install the Hall of Fame here.

Faubion said future plans called for building a facility to house the hall of fame, but temporary space was needed for a year or two to place trophies and other memorabilia. He requested an unused corner in the basement of the new library for that purpose. Commissioners approved the request, subject to a 60-day notice on clearing the area if it became necessary.

While discussing the Kids, Inc. program, Cosper said the boys' baseball program involved about 800 youngsters. The organization added girls' softball last year on a limited schedule and expects to have some 400 girls participating this summer. The Kids, Inc. budget is about $20,000 this year, with about $5,000 coming from the United Fund.

The remainder of the budget comes from team sponsors, sign sponsors at the baseball parks, and other fund-raising projects. He said the group would like to build a facility with eight baseball parks in one location. He showed the court drawings of a facility in Altus, Okla., which had six parks and was built at a cost of $25,000.

After being questioned as to what was expected from the county, Cosper said the primary need now was to "tie up" the land needed for such a project. He also spoke of the possibility of securing a state grant with matching local funds. Cosper said he had met with the City Commission and received "sympathy" but no definite consideration for the program.

The group which discussed the alcoholic problem in the county included C.H. James, counselor for the Community Action Council on Alcoholism; Rev. Bill Lang, Episcopal minister; Rev. Gene Brink, First Christian minister; Sheriff Travis McPherson; and Jewell Smith, county welfare officer. Brink explained that if it was not an organized group but a number of individuals interested in the problems of helping alcoholics and drug addicts.

Owen explained that the group was attempting to determine whether or not there was justification in pursuing the idea of forming a halfway-house facility here. Commissioners apparently thought the idea should be pursued, and Judge Morgan suggested the interested people form a non-profit entity and determine the avenues available for financing. Judge Morgan said he felt the county would support the program if possible, and asked for representatives to return when specific information and plans are determined.

A monthly fire report for February showed the county was charged with five calls and the city nine. Mrs. Smith received approval for several medical bills for the indigent. The court rejected a proposal for a maintenance contract on the library elevator.

All members of the court were present for the meeting. The next regular session is scheduled March 24.

Telephone Cooperative Meets Tonight

The 21st Annual meeting of the West Texas Rural Telephone Cooperative is scheduled for 7 p.m. today in the Hereford Community Center.

All members are encouraged to attend as election of directors for the following community exchanges will be held: Frio, Oklahoma Lane, Summerfield, and Milo Center.

Door prizes will be awarded for a lucky few whose names are drawn.

Besides the annual report of activities, the meal will be furnished all members and their families.

Joint Luncheon To Host Clubs

All Hereford civic organizations will assemble for a joint Bicentennial meeting and luncheon at 11:30 Tuesday in the Bull Barn.

Regularly scheduled meeting of participating groups will be altered to coincide with the Bicentennial program.

A VARIETY of community activities will be announced and Bicentennial commemorative coins will be auctioned. Funds from this segment of the luncheon will be used for celebration locally of the nation's 200th anniversary of Independence.

Reports of a recent trip to Washington, D.C., will be given by seven local cattlemen who communicated directly with U.S. legislators. The Hereford delegation will give impressions of the visit to the nation's capital city.

THE BICENTENNIAL assembly is open to the public and reservations may be made at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Downtown Merchants Set Friday Meeting

A meeting of all Downtown Merchants and business places will be held at the Civic Center on Friday, March 14, according to Bill Frazier, president of the Downtown Variety Park Association.

The 9:30 a.m. meeting will be to discuss matters which will pertain to the growth and well being of the area, and businessmen and merchants are asked to attend whether they belong to the Downtown Variety Park Merchants Association or not.

Weekend Vandals Hit City Windows

Vandals seemed to take a liking to window breakage over the weekend as several large windows were broken with rocks and many businesses had windows shot with BB or pellet guns.

Abbie's Mister Shop, 319 North Main, had a large plate glass window broken out sometime Friday night. Apparently a rock was thrown at the window to cause it to break. Estimated cost to replace the window is $200.

Stan Knox TV and Music also received a broken window during the night Friday. A rock was apparently thrown through the window is $300.

Trevino Conoco at 201 East First had three windows broken out during the night Friday, all apparently broken by rocks. Cost of replacing the windows is estimated at $400.

Two phone booths at Seventh and Highway 205 were vandalized in the early morning hours Monday. Window panes were broken out of the sides and doors of the phone booths, apparently with rocks.

A window was noticed broken by patrolling officers Sunday at about 7:10 p.m. at Hereford High School. School officials said apparently nothing was stolen from the school. Central School at Fifth and Jackson had a door window shot out with a BB or pellet gun. The vandalism also was noticed by officers on patrol.

Lupe Lopez, 21, of 125 East Virginia, was arraigned before County Judge Sam Morgan Monday morning following his arrest in connection with the theft of an air grinder from A.D. Gugenhiem and Company. Lopez was arrested at about 2 p.m. Saturday while trying to sell an item police said he had apparently stolen from Gugenhiem to a service station. The service station phoned police and Lopez was arrested.

According to the county judge's office, Lopez pled guilty to a charge of theft, was fined $100 and court costs and sentenced to 15 days in jail.

Three spotlights were torn from the front wall of the Hereford Medical Clinic at 343 North Miles sometime Friday night. Two of the spotlights were stolen and the third left hanging by its wires. Cost to replace the vandalized lights was estimated at $80.

Chick Holbert, a used car salesman, reported that a car stereo had been stolen from a car parked on a used car lot.

A Dimmitt man and Hereford woman were involved in a collision at 11:06 a.m. Saturday on North Miles. Andy McAfee of Dimmitt was southbound on North Miles. Jane Hampton Gulley of 701 Country Club Drive was parked along the curb on Miles, with the front heading south. The Gulley vehicle pulled out of the parking spot and the two vehicles collided.

Hereford Student Maintains An Active College Life Style

After graduation Mary Lou Mercado, a West Texas State University junior from Hereford, plans to work on her master's in law. But before that, she has other things to do. Miss Mercado, a member of El Chicano, is majoring in social work and minoring in Spanish and psychology and is a member of the Student Senate. In the Senate, she is chairman of the Student Life Committee and of the Student Services Fee, a special committee created by Dr. Lloyd Watkins, University president.

The special committee was appointed to submit a report on allocations provided by the fee to the administration.

As chairman of the committee, Miss Mercado has researched allocations and possible options in paying the activity fee in addition to planning a student opinion poll concerning the mandatory fee.

In addition to her activities, she enjoys the University as a whole.

"WT was the closest four-year school for me. I did look at Texas Tech and the University of Texas at El Paso, but decided on here."

"The student-teacher ratio here is much lower. I've met a lot of people and learned a lot of things," she said.

"It's just a good all-around school with an easy-going manner."

After graduation, Mary Lou plans to work a year "For experience" and attend a law school either out-of-state or at the University of Texas at Austin.

A Corn Production meeting is set for March 17 in the Agricultural Community Building at Olton, according to District Extension Agent Billy C. Gunter.

The evening event, says Gunter, is designed to inform producers and others of latest developments, methods and techniques known for production of corn on the High Plains.

Olton's Agricultural Community Building is located one block south and one block east of an intersection of Highway 70 with Farm to Market Road 168.

The 8 p.m. meeting is open to producers and others interested in improved production practices of corn, Gunter adds. List of topics will cover the outlook for grain sorghum and corn prices in 1975, irrigating for maximum profit, controlling corn damaging insects and improved cultural practices for maximum profit.

South Plains County Extension agents of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are sponsoring the special meeting.

Three Lubbock-based Extension specialists and an Extension county entomologist will address the gathering. Marvin Sartin, area extension economist in farm management will discuss factors to consider in selecting the most profitable crop, along with projections for grain sorghum and corn prices this year.

Sartin will be followed by Leon New, Extension irrigation specialist, talking about irrigation methods and systems which may provide top returns in corn production.

Eugene Latham, Hale County Extension entomologist, will bring producers up to date on available information about corn insect pests common to the High Plains.

Rounding out the discussions will be Dr. James Supak, area Extension agronomist, talking about improved cultural practices which could lead to maximum profits in corn production.

Eye Bank Month Proclaimed

EDITOR'S NOTE—A great need exists for donations of eyes to benefit those who live in total darkness and just hope for the opportunity to see. The work of those who help fill this need is to be complimented, but much remains to be done. In a plea for help from those who can't see, the Lions Eye Bank of Texas with the cooperation of the Governor have proclaimed this month Eye Bank Month. The following release explains the work being done and what needs to be accomplished.

Governor Dolph Briscoe has proclaimed March, 1975 Eye Bank Month in Texas, and added: "The eye banks of our State—as exemplified by the Lions Eye Bank of District 2-T1 Inc. that serves the Panhandle area—have done much to help combat the problems of sight in Texas by research and assistance in eye surgery."

To the thousands of blind individuals in America today, the best thing that life could offer is the ability to see again. Would you mind if, after your death, your eyes were used to give some totally blind person the precious gift of sight... making it possible for one or more persons to emerge from constant darkness?

That gift is made possible by the 72 Lions Clubs in the Panhandle of Texas by the organization of the Lions Eye Bank of District 2-T1, Inc. This is not a drive for financial donations.

The eye bank is sponsored and supported by the Lions

Clubs in the Panhandle. This is a drive inaugurated by the eye bank to obtain eye donors so that we may provide physicians with the needed eye tissue—to restore vision through corneal transplant surgery.

The quality of your vision makes no difference whatsoever. If the cornea, sclera and vitreous are not diseased, the tissue can be used. Actually, six people can be helped by one pair of eyes. Two corneal transplants can be performed, two sclera (white part of the eye) can be utilized for ruptures, and vitreous (fluid in the eye) can be used for two vitreous implants.

It is not possible to buy or sell eyes. They must be donated by some generous person to be used at his death. The eyes are furnished to the ophthalmologist and his patient free. Of course there is the usual hospital charges, and the surgeon will charge his usual fee.

More than 30,000 persons in the U.S. remain on physicians waiting list for donated eyes. Many of them will become totally blind unless we can provide the needed tissue. Now, as never before the opportunity exist to help at least a portion of this number to become employed, tax paying citizens.

Since July 1, 1974 the Lions Eye Bank of District 2-T1 has helped with 17 corneal transplants. Since 1961—363 persons have regained their vision as a result of our assistance. We have more than 620 eye donor pledges on file.

Remember, it costs nothing to give your fellow person your eyes after death.

AUSTIN—House members have sent the Senate a bill limiting penalties for speeding up to 70 miles per hour to a maximum $25 fine with no insurance rate penalties.

Representatives also approved extension of the 55 mph speed limit, but did not provide the necessary 100 votes to place it into immediate effect. The present limit, passed more than a year ago in conformity with federal energy-saving mandates, expires at the end of this month.

At issue is whether Texas again goes along with the federally imposed limit and retains eligibility for allocation of $300 million in federal highway funds this year.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe said he fears "there is a very definite possibility" the fine ceiling for speeds over-55 and up-to-70 (the old limit) may endanger federal funds for the highways.

Briscoe said he would prefer a simple extension of the 55 mph speed bill as an energy saver, as well as a life saver and a highway aid saver.

However, the Governor stopped short of saying he would veto the fine bill, which provides for maximum penalties, including court costs, of $25 without charge to a driver's violation record.

Representatives hope to force the Senate to go along with the fine limitation by withholding 100 votes from the 55 mph bill until both measures are cleared by the upper chamber.

REGISTRATION PLAN PASSED

All Texas voters will have to re-register between October 1 and January 31 under a bill passed by the Senate last week.

The relatively non-controversial bill sets up a new computer-policed permanent voter registration system for the state.

Once all voters are signed up again, local registrars every two years would send out new certificates automatically. To help weed out ineligible, the certificates will be mailed in non-forwardable envelopes so they will be returned if the voter has moved.

Up to 30 per cent on current voter rolls are believed to be ineligible, mainly by reason of having moved, according to Secretary of State Mark White Jr.

A computerized file will be maintained in the secretary of state's office to help prevent this situation from occurring again under the new law and local registrars will be compensated for removal of ineligible names as well as for addition of valid new voters to rolls.

READABILITY DESIRED

Governor Briscoe and Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie are backing legislation to make health and accident insurance policies "perfectly clear" to the insured.

The bill would require presentation to each policy holder of a simplified explanation of its terms.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Ronald Coleman of El Paso, also seeks to establish minimum standards for health insurance coverage, including a basic level of compensation and uniform application from one policyholder to another.

Fuel Economy Now Boater's Concern

The price and availability of gasoline is no joking matter for the recreational boater, so fuel economy should be foremost in each captain's mind, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

Here are a few of the suggested ways to save fuel:

—Keep your boat clean. If one barnacle on the boat's bottom slows her by a factor of X, then the same barnacle on a propeller will slow her by a factor of X times 5 or more. Cleaning props on outboards or outdrives is easy, as they can be tilted up within easy reach. On conventional drives, cleaning involves a haul-out or donning a face mask and taking a swim with a wire brush.

—Clean the trap. The backfire trap or flame arrester is intended to quench flame which might spit back from the carburetor. Clean the trap once each six weeks, blowing and washing all dirt from it so air can whistle through freely.

—Make sure your choke is adjusted. When the engine is warm the butterfly plate (a round disc) should be parallel to the air horn, offering minimum resistance to air. The choke plate on manually operated chokes must be fully open when the choke button is pushed in.

—Fine-tune the engine. It is important to adjust the engine to factory specification. Time the engine by the book, since an engine time outside the manufacturer's tolerances will waste gas. This same attention should be paid to point clearance and dwell specifications. Spark plugs should be clean and properly gapped, and all wiring in good condition for maximum efficiency.

—Don't overcool your engine. Running a modern marine engine too cool wastes gas because combustion is not as clean or complete, and internal friction is greater in the over-cooled engine.

—Use the right oil. Overly high-viscosity oil generates engine friction and wastes fuel. Particularly bad is oil which has been overloaded with one of the super-viscous additives intended to reduce oil-burning in a worn engine.

—Select the best propeller. A copy of this leaflet and other boating and boating safety information is available from "Boating Safety," Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building G-11, Austin, TX 78701.

Social Security

Questions and Answers

BY TRAVIS C. BRIGGS

Q. I understand that if I wait until after I am 65 to begin my social security benefit, it will be higher. Is that correct?

A. Your benefit will be increased 1 per cent for each year after age 65 that you do not receive a benefit up to age 72.

Q. My husband of 25 years divorced me last year. He has not given me any money since our divorce. I hear that he has filed for his social security. Can I receive any social security on his record?

A. If you are at least 62 years old or have a child of your husband's in your care, you may be entitled to a monthly benefit.

Q. What is the new law on additional social security credit for military service?

A. Additional credit in the amount of $1200 per year can be granted for people in military service in the years 1957-1967. Anyone receiving benefits on the record of a person who had military service in these years should contact their social security office.

Q. Is it true that the 1972 Amendments to the Social Security Law did away with the six months waiting period for disability benefits?

A. No, the amendments did not do away with the waiting period. However, they did reduce the six months waiting period to five months, effective January 1973. A waiting period consists of the first five full months an individual is too disabled to work. However, application for payments may be made as early as it is known the worker will be disabled for 12 or more months.

Rural Road Picture Far From Rosy

By Sen. Lloyd Bentsen

It is time for Congress to shift its emphasis to the overlooked transportation problems of rural areas in Texas and across the country.

For the past twenty years, the Federal government has concentrated much of its resources on completion of the Interstate Highway System. Last year, a comprehensive mass transit bill was passed to help our cities move people as efficiently as possible through a blend of public and private transportation.

This year, as Chairman of the Senate Transportation Subcommittee, I intend to focus on the transportation problems of our less populated regions. And although they are different from those our cities face, the need for immediate solutions is equally great.

One of the paramount issues is future financing of highway construction.

The Administration favors a continuation of the Highway Trust Fund, but only for the completion of the Interstate System. This position has brought deep concern to local governments in Texas and other parts of the nation.

Counties are now responsible for maintaining and improving about two-thirds of all highways in the nation. They also control the bulk of the secondary road system and those urban systems created under the 1970 Highway Act.

Unfortunately, many of these roads have been badly neglected since 1966, when this nation made an all-out commitment to the Interstate System. Yet, many of them are located in areas of heavy population growth. Many are important arteries serving thousands of people.

We can't afford to concentrate on the Interstate to the exclusion of these other needs. Whatever the structure of future Federal aid to highways, we must insure that county roads receive their fair share.

And there are other problems unique to our rural sections. Rail abandonment, with an average yearly decrease of 1,000 linehaul miles, has a severe impact on agriculture at a time when it is under increased pressure to meet export demands. Those demands cannot be met without adequate transportation systems.

And the rural road picture is far from rosy. Only about one-fifth of our rural roads have a high load-bearing capacity and bridges on these roads are often in bad shape.

The Chief Engineer of Texas Highway Department points out another problem—the growing number of categorical programs eligible for Federal aid. So many projects have been added so fast that there are now 37 different programs, each with its own procedures and each receiving a different federal share.

In order to deal with the mushrooming number of programs, the Texas Highway Department has had to increase its administrative work force by over 400 per cent in the last few years. This trend especially must be reversed. We have to explore new methods of turning more Federal funds back to States, and giving the States more leeway to set their own priorities.

Most importantly, in all that we do in transportation this year, we cannot think merely in terms of dollars spent, or miles of roads constructed, or even of jobs created. We have to think of the people who will be affected.

Many of our rural poor and elderly are geographically and economically isolated. Jobs depend on transportation. Without it, rural areas lose talented people, lose their tax base and either stagnate or fall far behind their urban counterparts. Without it, that rural factory worker in East Texas loses his livelihood when he can't get to his job. And that school child in West Texas must spend hours travelling to school.

In all our sophisticated talk about impoundments and rescissions and deferrals, we cannot forget that transportation is not only the lifeblood of our economy but an essential life for millions in Texas and across the country. We cannot forget that human element. We consider it during the years we've devoted to completing our Interstate System. We considered it in 1974 when we passed the mass transit bill to aid our congested cities.

And, as Chairman of the Transportation Subcommittee, I will make sure we consider it this year, as we turn our time, energies and resources to the special transportation needs of our rural areas.

Herd Baseballers Beat Rebs; Record Now 5-1

The Hereford Whiteface baseball team downed the Tascosa Rebs 9-2 Monday afternoon and then had a game against Palo Duro for Tuesday afternoon cancelled due to the inclement weather. In addition, the Herd will play host to a seven-team tournament that begins today.

The Herd won their fifth game in a row and avenged their only loss of the season when they downed the Tascosa Rebels 9-2 Monday. In their previous meeting this year, Tascosa won over the Herd at the Reb diamond 6-4.

Mike Crim collected his second win of the year as he allowed Tascosa only two runs on five hits. Crim was relieved in the sixth by Vance Hennington, who was later relieved by Harvey Torres. The Herd collected nine runs on 10 hits. Hereford had three errors and Tascosa had one.

Mike Artho and Mike Crim had two hits each to lead the Herd hitting. Artho was credited with three rbi's. Pete Hale had two rbi's. Roy Martinez hit a homer over the left field fence in the sixth inning with no one on base.

The Herd scored four runs in the first inning. Harvey Torres singled as the first batter of the afternoon. Then Martinez struck out. Mike Dudding and Mike Crim had back to back doubles, scoring Dudding and Torres. Chris King flied out to left field and then Pete Hale walked. David Artho singled in Crim and then Mike Artho singled in Hale.

In the fifth inning, Hereford scored two runs. Mike Crim walked and Lynn Tarr went in the game as a pinch runner for Crim. Tarr went to second on a sacrifice bunt and then Hale got to first on an error by the Rebel first baseman. Tarr moved to third and Hale to second on a pass ball. Mike Artho singled in Tarr and Hale.

Three runs were scored in the sixth inning. Martinez hit his homer after Torres opened the inning by striking out. Crim singled and moved to second when King singled. A pass ball moved both up a base and then Pete Hale singled up the middle to score both Crim and King. Tascosa's scoring came on single runs in the fifth and sixth innings. In the third inning, Tascosa loaded the bases with only one out. Tascosa's number five hitter, Reinboel, hit a line drive to Herd third baseman Mike Dudding and Dudding stepped on third for an unassisted double play. Mike Hartman was the losing pitcher for the Rebs. He was relieved in the first inning by Baker, who then went the remainder of the game.

The Herd will be the host team for a three day tourney beginning Thursday. The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the seven-team tournament.

Thursday's schedule finds Canyon playing Amarillo High in the first game of the day at 10:15 a.m. Hereford will meet Dumas at 1:30 p.m. and Pampa will play Levelland at 4 p.m. Borger will have a bye in the first round of the tourney. The first game will be played at 10:15 a.m. each day.

Golf Team Shoots Practice Match

The Hereford golf team played a practice match here against Coronado Saturday, and the Herd golfers will play in the second round of district at Plainview Friday.

The second district 4-AAAA matches will be played at the Plainview Country Club with the Plainview Bulldogs being the host club. Tee-off time Friday will be 9 a.m. Golfers will start from the first and tenth tee boxes instead of a shotgun start.

Hereford had only eight golfers for the practice match with Coronado, so the varsity squad played against the Coronado varsity and junior varsity. The Coronado jayvees, who are second in the district, scored a team total of 347 while Hereford and the Coronado varsity tied at 339. Coronado is third in the district. Chilling winds and 30-degree weather made playing conditions less than desirable. Curtis Stoerner was the only player on either team to break 80 and he shot a 79. George Youcum carded an 84, Billy Word shot an 87, Greg Pagett was at 89 and Kelly Lea scored a 101. Doug Walterscheid shot a 102, Don Shaw carded a 96 and Randall Herr was at 97.

TALL FIREMAN RESCUE
SAN FRANCISCO--When Millie Lagomarsino was about to make a perilous 14-foot leap from a second-story window of her burning home, an off-duty fireman, Ernie Tordes, drove his camper against the house, stood on the hood, reached up and helped Mrs. Lagomarsino to safety.

Relay Team Trophies

The Hereford girls track team collected two first place trophies at their first track meet, the Top-of-Texas meet in Pampa last Friday. The 44-relay team, standing from left to right, included Debbie Albright, Terry Hetzel, Suzanne Duvall and Renee Payne. Running the 880-yard relay with Hetzel and Duvall were Sharon Strafass, kneeling left, and Grace Abalos.

Girls Track Wins Relays, Third Place

The Hereford girl's track team won two first place in their first track meet of the season, taking both the 880-yard relay and 440-yard relay. The team scored 97 points to end up in third place at the Top-of-Texas Track Meet in Pampa.

This week the girl's track team has been preparing for the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce-sponsored girl's meet to be held at Whiteface Stadium Saturday. Coach Roy Shipp said there would be a total of 18 schools represented at the meet. There will be a high school division and a ninth-grade division. Shipp said he was especially pleased with the performance the girls turned in in the first meet. Hereford placed third behind Perryton with 117 points and Amarillo High with 112 points. Borger was fourth with 58 points, Caprock fifth with 48, Pampa and Dumas in sixth at 28 points each, and Alamo Catholic in last place with 10 points. Alamo sent only one girl to the meet and she earned ten points.

Hereford's 440 relay team won first place with a time of 52.6. Renee Payne, Suzanne Duvall, Terry Hetzel and Debbie Albright were team members. Sharon Strafass, Grace Abalos, Terry Hetzel and Suzanne Duvall won the 880 relay with a time of 1:54.6. The mile relay team of Pam Bradford, Terry Hetzel, Beverly High and Micki Merrit finished in fifth place with a timing of 4:46.1.

In individual events, Suzanne Duvall won fourth place in the 440-yard dash with a 65.8 and was third in the shot with a throw of 30'11". Debbie Albright placed second in the 220-yard dash with a 27.1 timing, placed second in the 100-yard dash at 11.8, and was fifth in the high jump with a leap of 4'3". Grace Abalos finished seventh in the 220-yard dash, placed sixth in the 880-yard dash with a timing of 2:43.4 and was third in the triple jump with a 31'6 1/2" jump. Donna Hamilton was second in the 60-yard dash and sixth in the 100-yard dash. Tami Lawson was fifth in the 60-yard dash.

Renee Payne finished third in the 80-yard hurdles with a time of 11.9 and Sharon Strafass finished fifth in the triple jump with a 30'6".

Boxers End Season

The Hereford Boxing Club ended their regular season Saturday night with four wins in five bouts hosted by Muleshoe. Coach and sponsor Harold Wheeler said the team members will compete in championship tournaments before the end of the season.

Felipe Luna, who boxed in the AAU Junior Olympic program three years ago, will travel to Fort Worth for the state Golden Gloves Tournament this weekend. Luna will box in the open division under the sanction of Amarillo Golden Gloves team.

At Muleshoe Saturday night, Hector Guerrero moved his winning streak to 29 straight victories and Eddie DeLeon upped his tally to 21 straight winning bouts. Guerrero downed Joe Salazar of Amarillo in the 105 pound division on a decision while DeLeon scored a second round knockout of Ronald McDonald of Muleshoe in the 147-pound class.

Vincent Guerrero collected a win over Manuel Diaz of Amarillo in the 105-pound division on a decision. Mario Tijerina won a decision over Timmy Flores of Amarillo in the 135-pound class.

The only Hereford boy to lose a bout was Abelardo Tijerina in the 70-pound class. He lost a decision to Isreal Reyna of Muleshoe.

Several Hereford boxers will travel to the AAU Junior Olympic Region Nine Tournament held in Beaumont in June.

View From The Plains

BY J.D. PEER
TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE DEPT.

The annual survey of Rita Blanca Lake, south of Dalhart, in the northwest corner of the Panhandle, has been completed. What the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists found would make any fisherman happy.

Ten samples were taken of the stable trout population and over 100 rainbow trout were checked. These fish weighed from 1 1/2 pounds to 2 3/4 pounds and the longest fish measured 17.9 inches.

"We estimate that these trout are the results of the 1973 May and October stockings of over 16,750 rainbows put in Rita Blanca," Joe Kraai, project fishery biologist, said.

"The average trout measured 15.6 inches and weighed 2.04 pounds, which indicates excellent growth," Kraai continued.

The lake water temperature is a cool 39 degrees, but trout like this fine, and Kraai stated that the trout were getting ready to spawn. Department fishery personnel do not expect natural reproduction in Rita Blanca Lake.

More than 16,800 rainbow were stocked in 1974 and fishermen have a chance to catch one of Texas' most flashy, colorful fighters now.

Boats Need Checking Before First Outing

Don't be surprised by spring, warn the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's boating safety experts.

In Texas, cold, dreary weather gives way to spring rather quickly, catching outdoor recreationists with their boats totally unprepared for the first outing.

If your boat has sat inactive for the past few months a little maintenance is probably in order. This could range from a few minor checks to avoid inconveniences to very important matters which could make your day in the sun not so much fun.

First, give your boat hull a good cleaning while it is still on the trailer. Be sure to drain any standing rain water if your boat is stored outside and give the interior a good scrubbing.

Wooden boats should be stripped of all old and cracked paint and be repainted.

While you're chipping away at the old paint, check the caulking to see if it is still smooth and doing its job. If it's cracked, replace it with fresh caulking before you repaint. Fiberglass hulls should be cleaned thoroughly and given a luxuriant coating of wax. This helps the boat slip through the water, producing both speed and fuel economy.

Safety equipment should get more than just a quick nod. For example, your personal flotation devices, by law, must be serviceable. Yank on the straps. If the fabric tears, it's rotten and the device should be replaced. The kapok bags inside should be fluffy and light. If the PFD feels heavy, one of the bags may have ruptured.

Make a quick check of your running lights and horn and replace any bulbs which don't shine. If they all shine but seem dim, your battery probably needs charging and you can consider yourself lucky to have found this out before you reached the lake.

Your fire extinguisher also needs a check for cracked or broken hoses or obstructed nozzles. Check the pressure gauge, locking pins and sealing wires. Recharge if your gauge indicates extinguisher pressure is low.

Having the engine on your boat cough and sputter to the middle of the lake and then die can spoil your day, so it would be a good idea to tune it before your first trip out.

Boat checked out? Then you're ready to go, right? Not quite. If you haven't checked the wheel bearings on your trailer, you should know replacement bearings are hard to find on a Sunday afternoon.

Wheel bearings should be packed with grease at the first of the season. If you find pits or rust on the bearings, replace them.

There are some other moving parts on your trailer which need attention. Lubricate all working parts of the couplers, winch, tilting mechanism, moving brackets and rollers.

Check your tires for proper pressure and wear, and see that the hitch on your car is tight. Hook your trailer to the car and test the lights.

A little extra time taken for these precautions can mean a big difference on whether your first boating trip of the season is a boom or a bust.

Team totals placed Pampa first with 117 points with Tascosa in second with 98 points and Hereford third with 92. Dennis Collins was the only junior varsity performer to claim a first place with a 5:01.0 in the mile run. The jayvee 440-relay team won third place with a 47.8 Mike Turner, Preston Jobe, Terry Brady and Doug Reinart were the runners. Preston Jobe, Tony Benavidez, Turner and Brady ran a 4:02.7 in the mile relay.

West Texas C of C Survey Uncovers Expectations of Improved Economy

A sample of West Texas Chamber of Commerce members (60 per cent) expect an upturn in the nation's economy while 24 per cent expect a downturn and 16 per cent expect no change according to results of a recent survey of a sample of one-fourth of the membership.

The results of the survey of a cross-section of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce membership were announced today by Executive Vice President J. Pike Godfrey, 822 members were sent surveys and 238 members returned the survey. It covered such diverse topics as the recession, determining what the members considered as the Nation's, the State's, their cities' and their own business' biggest problems are for 1975.

The West Texans were about evenly divided on whether the recession would take an upturn in 6 months (58 per cent) or would by a year or longer (42 per cent).

As for our National Problems, those returning the survey indicated that "Inflation," "Recession," "Government Spending" and "Leadership by the Administration" were closely bunched at the top of the list.

"National Regulations on business," "Action of Congress and Welfare Reform" were grouped in a second level of concern. And bringing up the bottom of concern were: "Actions of the Supreme Court," "Health Care," "Detente with Russia and China" and the "U.S. Post Office" in that order.

The State of Texas' biggest problems for 1975 were headed by "Actions of the Legislature" as number one followed at a lower level by "State Budget Demands," "State leadership of Highest Office Holders," "Local Education," "State Regulations on Business," "Welfare Program" and "State Budget Cuts." All closely bunched and in the order listed.

At a low level of concern was "Higher Education." The local cities problems that were considered to be of the most concern for 1975 were "School Financing," "Housing and Local Taxes" closely bunched at the top, followed at a lower level by "Expansion of Needed City Services," while bringing up the rear at a much lower level was "Medical Services."

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce members listed their Business' Biggest Problems for 1975 as "Cost of Doing Business" as number one and "Inflation" number two. "Recession" was listed third but at an appreciable lower level along with "Federal Government Regulations."

Following together in a crowd at a lower level of concern in the following order were "State Government Regulations," "Making a Profit," "Capital Monetary Needs for Your Business," "Shortages" and "Drop in Business," "Labor Supply" and "Price Resistance by Customers."

Finally, at the bottom of West Texas business problems for 1975 were "Filling orders or having enough merchandise or being able to provide enough of the service you sell."

Results of the survey would seem to indicate that West Texans' major problems are caused by the Federal and State Governments.

Spring Planting Underway . . . March 17 Important Date . . . Census Forms Still Needed.

Texas generally enters the 1975 planting season with one of its best moisture supplies in years. There are exceptions of course, but good amounts of sub-soil moisture are reported over most of Texas.

And while farmers in the northern reaches of the state shiver from cold temperatures, planters are rolling in fields in South and Central Texas.

Grain sorghum planting for the state is already about 10 per cent complete which is well ahead of last year. Planting of sorghum has been reported as far north as the central Blacklands. Rapid progress will be seen in the coming weeks as temperatures begin to rise.

Cotton planting is underway in South Texas and will soon pick up momentum in other parts of the state in the coming weeks. Indications as of Jan. 1 project a 23 per cent cut in acreages for Texas this year.

Corn planting is now about 10 per cent complete, and is also well ahead of a year ago. Rice seeding is in progress along the Upper Gulf Coast.

Meanwhile, wheat continues to make good growth on the High and Low Plains. Livestock have been moved off fields where a grain crop is expected. Prospects at this time are described as excellent.

Peach trees have been blooming from Central Texas south. Pecan trees are budding in most southern areas. Citrus harvest is virtually complete. Vegetable harvest is underway in the Valley and Winter Garden areas.

All in all, farmers are either busy planting, or preparing to plant for the 1975 season.

WHILE ALL THIS ACTIVITY is going on, farmers are also waiting—as are others—for March 17. That's the date for the March 1 planting intentions report which should provide a good insight into the anticipated acreages for major crops this year.

That report will be read more closely than ever because of renewed interest in food and fiber production.

CONDITION OF LIVESTOCK, particularly in the eastern half of the state, is poor. This is due to malnutrition as well as an increase in internal parasites. Low cattle prices are also causing many livestock producers to follow less than normal animal husbandry practices.

HALF-AND-HALF, That's about the situation regarding the 1974 agriculture census. About half the forms have been returned; about half have yet to be returned.

Officials of the Census Bureau are urging farmers to complete the forms as soon as possible and return them. Farm owners are required to answer the questions which apply to their particular operation.

Census officials again emphasize the returns will be treated in strictest confidence. No other government agency will have access to the report. Individual reports will be compiled into county, state and national totals.

Farmers who have difficulty in answering any question should contact the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office with which they do business. ASCS is the "answer man" for this project.

Plains Winds Used to Help Improve Grain Sorghum

An agricultural scientist in Lubbock is four months behind in harvesting part of his grain sorghum. What's more, the crop—some of it standing, some fallen over—won't be harvested for another two to four weeks.

Dr. Darrell Rosenow, associate professor with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, is using High Plains winter winds to improve experimental sorghum varieties.

More specifically, his aim is to develop a sorghum plant that won't readily fall over, bend, break, or lean under weather stress after it matures. Scientists and farmers alike refer to each of these maladies as lodging.

"Strong winds, which reach 50 mph or higher several times during the winter cause most commercial hybrids to become 100 percent lodged," says Rosenow. "By comparison we have several experimental sorghum lines that lodge less than five percent under the same conditions."

Plants which are bent, broken, or leaning prevent efficient harvesting, or cannot be harvested at all.

"Moisture stress, weak neck lodging (heads broken over at base by winds or ice), and stalk breakage caused by strong winds are the major problems encountered on the High Plains," Rosenow explains.

"Severe moisture stress late in the season can turn a well irrigated sorghum field into a mass of fallen stalks with poorly developed grain. When plants go into severe moisture stress during the grain development stage, stalks are weakened and charcoal rot often develops inside the stalk."

Charcoal rot is a threat to both irrigated and dryland farmers alike, Rosenow adds. In tests at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center where lodging test plots are grown, irrigation water is cut off late in the season to induce moisture stress. Then charcoal rot-infected tooth-picks are inserted into the base of the stalks, allowing researchers to identify experimental sorghum lines with superior charcoal rot resistance.

ANXIETY ABOUT THE BUSTLINE

Dear Dr. Esse: The problem of small breasts has occasionally been mentioned in your column. But I am still looking for some specific way to increase size.

Please help! What does one do? Who does one turn to? Who can help?

Everywhere in our society there is a glorification of large breasts. Playboy clubs, topless waitresses, brief bathing suits, worship of girls with big busts on Wall Street, etc. It seems that the ultimate value of a woman is judged by the size of her breasts.

Please don't evade the issue in your column! Help us do something about the problem. Millions of women would like to know exactly where to get silicone injections to increase breast size. What we would like is a list of doctors and addresses, where we can get help.

I'm sure so many of these women would be grateful. We less endowed women want to be part of the bosomy society so that we can compete on equal grounds. We are the victims of discrimination and unequal rights. We want to inflate our egos by inflating our bosoms with silicone. How do we know where to go? — Desperate REPLY: Silicone injections into the breast? Better put that out of your mind. We are not sure the procedure is safe and effective. In fact, the Food and Drug Administration has withdrawn permission for the use of silicone injections.

I doubt that you will accept my advice when I suggest it would be better if you treated your state of mind and made emotional and mental adjustments to small breasts.

But if you insist on getting help, don't accept promises from just anyone. Ask your doctor for the name of a well-known, well-trained plastic surgeon. He may suggest some other way to enlarge breasts, but I doubt it will be by use of silicone injections.

Dear Dr. Esse: I have chronic bronchitis. I smoke about eight cigars a day. But no cigarettes! Are the cigars harmful? — Mr. H.

REPLY: Cigarettes, pipe, cigars — all are harmful to the breathing apparatus, whether in the throat or in the lungs. Too long have cigarettes alone been allowed to carry the stigma.

A recent study in England, on rats exposed to smoke in a laboratory, showed definite bronchitic changes. The doctors found only marginal differences between cigarette and cigar smoke.

Tomorrow's Beef May be More Bull

Research shows that young bulls gain faster, on less feed per pound of gain, than either steers or heifers. They also yield a higher percentage of the retail cuts that consumers want.

Housewives prefer beef that is lean and palatable. There doesn't seem to be any question that bulls rather than steers will give faster gains with the desired leanness. But on the question of relative palatability between bull and steer beef, the results seem to be conflicting.

The consumer uses tenderness, juiciness and flavor in evaluating a steak for its palatability. Of these factors, tenderness appears to be the most important influence on overall palatability, according to Zerle Carpenter, meat scientist with the Experiment Station.

Several techniques are used by meat scientists to study palatability of meat. One of the most common is use of a taste panel trained to detect differences in tenderness, flavor and juiciness of meat. It has been learned that the human sense for detection is still far more reliable and sensitive than the most sophisticated instruments.

Tenderness can be measured by various mechanical devices; one of these, the Warner-Bratzler shear, measures the amount of force required to cut through cores from a steak. Past research showed that these measurements really are indicative of meat tenderness.

But according to the USDA, bull carcasses cannot be graded by the same standards as steer carcasses. The standards are based on conformation, maturity and marbling, although research has shown these factors are not closely related to the expected palatability of meat.

According to the standards, young carcasses with high marbling scores are expected to be more palatable than older cattle with lower marbling scores. And nearly every bull vs. steer study has indicated that steers produce more youthful appearing carcasses with higher marbling scores than bulls.

Usually steers produce carcasses that yield retail cuts which are more tender than those from bull carcasses.

While some bull carcasses may be equal to steer carcasses in tenderness, there appears to be a greater amount of variation within bulls for this trait. This variation can be minimized by treatments following slaughter. TAES research has shown that the use of the TAMU Tenderstretch process, or delayed chilling treatments, is effective in improving the bull beef to the extent that it is highly acceptable to consumers.

Juiciness and flavor are other important factors affecting the overall palatability of meat. Studies show that essentially there's no difference in juiciness or flavor between steaks from bull and steer carcasses less than 400 days of age, Carpenter says.

There have been conflicting reports on flavor differences, apparently related to the age of the animal. A high percentage of the bulls slaughtered over 400 days of age yield carcasses that seem to have less desirable flavor.

So it appears that if we're to capitalize on the ability of young bulls to make fast gains of desirable beef with less feed fed per pound we must: 1) have animals ready for market well before 400 days of age, 2) process the bull carcasses by the TAMU Tenderstretch or other methods to improve the palatability and 3) consider changing our grading system to more accurately reflect bull beef quality.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT - That romance between RAQUEL WELCH and FREDDIE PRINZE, the star of the "Chico And The Man" TV series, started out with both of them saying how wonderful the other was - and just ended with neither having anything nice to say about the other. Freddie's new girl is PAM GRIER, the breather who starred in so many of those big money-making black exploitation films. When Freddie stepped out of Raquel's life, SONNY BONO jumped in. But don't give up hope yet, fellas. Raquel says Sonny's really a great guy, but she also says their dates are for laughs not love. Raquel's still searching for Mr. Right, but says she's beginning to wonder if he'll ever come along. Raquel, who had been tied up with one guy for more than three years, dress designer, RON TALSKEY, until they broke up a few weeks ago, says she can't stand doing the single scene - but even sex symbols get lonely... LUCILLE BALL is making noises which would indicate she might return to TV in another weekly series.

CANDID CLOSE-UP - RODDY McDOWALL doesn't tire of his "Planet Of The Apes" role because, between the movies and TV, he has played three different apes. "This one is a lot of fun," he adds. "He's a bit of a con man and has a sense of humor."... TELLY SAVALAS' wedding to SALLY ADAMS had the blessing of his family. Brother George, who plays the detective who talks to plants on the "Kojak" series, said of Telly's divorce from his wife of 11 years: "If there's something in your life that makes you miserable, you have to cure it. Situations, marriages, wives, they come and go but it's your own blood you worry about. Telly is my blood." George has six children from two marriages... CBS will try again with DON RICKLES in two 1975 specials. Said one of the brass, "Don's act is tremendous but it's so biting it loses its appeal week after week. People become immune as with bee stings."

EYE ON TV - CARROLL O'CONNOR will leave "All In The Family" after this season - his agent is already scouting around for suitable film scripts. Insiders say that Carroll's new complaint about the series is the lack of fresh material for Archie Bunker... the show has simply been too successful, and most of its writers have just about burned themselves out keeping it afloat as long as they have.

The Lieutenant Governor's Report

By Bill Hobby

AUSTIN—In a speech to the Galveston Chamber of Commerce recently I announced a five-point program to deal with the rising medical malpractice insurance rates in Texas.

It is imperative that steps be taken now to make certain that the physician and the hospital can obtain professional liability insurance at affordable rates.

Hospital malpractice rates last year in Texas were about $80 to $100 per bed. Today they are as high as $500 to $600 per bed.

In California, they are currently paying $1,500 per bed. Charting of our current Texas progress, we appear to be heading in the same direction.

A brief example of the Texas experience will illustrate the problem. With uncontrolled malpractice rates in Texas, one major hospital insurance program which insures 170 general hospitals with 15,189 beds, is currently costing a total premium of $1,466,650. On February 17, 1975 those same hospitals had their rates increased to $3,600,814, and the same hospitals, in five short months, (July 1, 1975) will be required to pay $4,098,600 in premiums.

If that same experience were programmed over all 493 hospitals in Texas—and all of these hospitals have some kind of insurance, though at varying rates—it is estimated that their premium which would have been $4,615,653; on February 17, would be increased to $10,414,000, and, in July, would soar to $14,000,379.

These runaway insurance costs ultimately must be paid by the health care recipient.

Here are the five steps I propose to help solve the problem:

1) Reduce the time limit for filing a malpractice lawsuit to two years. Under current court interpretations, such suits may be brought two years after the alleged injury is "discovered."

2) Establish a method for prospective filing of malpractice insurance rates and rating information with the State Board of Insurance prior to the use of those rates.

3) Require all malpractice carriers to report all Texas claims filed and the amount of settlements and judgments to the Insurance Board to accumulate data for determining whether the rates are justified. I believe insurance companies are using nationwide experience in rating Texas hospitals and physicians, resulting in inappropriate premium increases.

4) Provide that contracts of professional liability insurance be annual with premiums guaranteed for one year to allow the proper budgeting of this cost by hospitals, with the further requirement that three months' notice be given to the insured in the event of a proposed premium change or a non-renewal action.

5) Establish an interim committee to look into the entire problem and determine the feasibility of establishing an alternative system for Texas.

The problem is tremendously complex but this must not deter viable and immediate attempts at a rational solution.

Senators A. R. (Babe) Schwartz of Galveston and Don Adams of Jasper have introduced Senate Bill 466 and Senate Resolution 234 to accomplish the five points listed above. I hope the Legislature will give these measures their prompt, affirmative attention.

Henry Jackson Now Democrats' Leading Contender For 1976

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Senator Henry Jackson's chances for his party's nomination seem better at the beginning of 1975 than they have ever been. He attended the Democratic off-year convention at Kansas City last month and scored points with liberals now dominant in the party.

That he felt it necessary to mend liberal fences is ironic because Jackson has a liberal record on domestic issues dating to 1941 and the days of Franklin Roosevelt. And his record on economic (gut, election issues) places him favorable to capitalize on the present recession.

His stance on foreign policy in recent years, including backing of his President (Lyndon Johnson, and Richard Nixon) in certain Vietnam policy earned him a reputation among war protesters as a hawk.

If it enhanced his standing with George Meany and those who, generally, support U.S. Presidents coping with the Vietnam dilemma (many in the South), it also produced the moderate or conservative Jackson image or description in some liberal circles.

That illusion should be permanently laid to rest by the summer of 1976. Jackson, in fact, partially alienated George Meany, and some conservatives, at Kansas City. His recent attacks on the Vladivostok agreement as permitting both super powers too many nuclear missiles and his blunt assault on the oil companies endear him more to the left.

He has a valid claim for black support, having voted for civil rights bills for years and in 1972, when all Democratic candidates were publicly calling for forced busing to achieve school integration, Jackson was the most honest; he said he didn't favor busing in every situation. Yet he was the only leading Democratic contender who was then sending his children to integrated schools.

As for his standing with the Jewish minority, so important financially and otherwise in the Democratic Party, it is almost too good. Jackson has been Israel's champion to such an extent it has threatened to sour those who felt he was dangerously overdoing it for Jewish support.

He has been all-out for Israeli aid and diplomatic support and has led a now-celebrated fight against the State Department to force the Soviet Union to allow more of its Jewish citizens to emigrate to Israel; his success caused Russia to cancel the U.S.-USSR trade agreement.

Cattle, Calves On Feed Dip 40 Percent

AUSTIN—Texas cattle and calves on feed for slaughter dropped 40 percent from January 1974 numbers, reflecting the depressed cattle market, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said recently.

Animals on feed totaled 1,327,000 head in January compared to 2,205,000 a year ago.

Total marketings in the state from January through March are expected to be 850,000 head, down some 13 percent from 992,000 head marketed in the same period last year.

White said steers and steer calves represented the largest number of cattle on feed in January with 858,000 head compared to 1,450,000 in 1974. Heifers and heifer calves totaled 464,000 head, while they numbered 750,000 last year. Cows and others remained steady at 5,000 head.

The lowest numbers of cattle and calves on feed for Jan. 1 since 1965 have been reported from 23 major states, including Texas. According to the U.S.

Department of Agriculture Crop Reporting Board, 9,619,000 head are on feed, 26 percent lower than last year and 31 percent off 1973 figures.

During January-March, cattle feeders in these states expect to market 5,338,000 head, eight percent below last year and 16 percent below the first quarter of 1973.

Texas Medical Association

Texas Medical Association
1801 North Lamar Austin Texas 78701

Cholesterol has become a major target in the battle to prevent heart disease. So much emphasis has been placed on the link between high blood cholesterol levels and heart attacks that there may be some confusion.

The Texas Medical Association reminds that cholesterol is not, of itself, a harmful substance. It is needed for all body cells and for the production of hormones that regulate many body processes. Your body automatically produces a certain amount of cholesterol, and under normal circumstances, as you take in cholesterol through the food you eat, the body's production of it decreases. But when the intake of cholesterol in food is excessive, this balance cannot be maintained. The surplus cholesterol tends to form deposits in the arteries and, in many people, this sets the stage for a heart attack.

One of the most concentrated sources of cholesterol in the ordinary diet is the egg yolk. Consequently, eggs are among the first foods to be restricted when a patient's blood studies reveal that he has high cholesterol level. Unfortunately, giving up eggs relinquishes a valuable food containing not only fat, but also protein, vitamins and minerals.

Accordingly, many doctors, in working out revised dietary habits for their patients, do not banish eggs but restrict them to three egg yolks per week. (Egg white contains no cholesterol, though it does have protein.) Another alternative now available to high-cholesterol patients are cholesterol-free egg substitutes, sold in many markets.

Proper monitoring of cholesterol intake does not lie in the avoidance of any one food. Though eggs are a high source of this form of fat, cholesterol is also present in all dairy products (except skim milk). Margarine is generally considered preferable to butter in this respect, but many nutrition experts take the position that any fat which maintains a solid state at room temperature does little to solve the cholesterol problem.

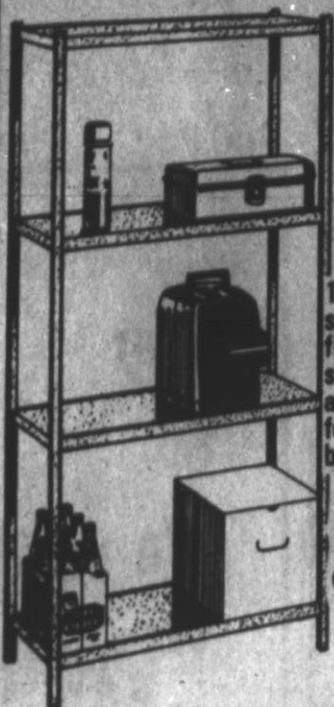

Most meats are rich in cholesterol, although the leaner the meat, the less the risk. Sweetbreads, liver and shellfish are also high in cholesterol.

Low cholesterol diet will rely heavily on fish, poultry, nuts, beans, and vegetables of all kinds. For cooking and for mixing salad dressing, use a vegetable oil, such as corn or safflower.

Unless your doctor specifically tells you that you have a cholesterol problem, it is probably safe for you to eat what you enjoy, but to eat in moderation. A well-nourished, well-exercised body that never reaches obesity is a major protection against most health problems.

Extravaganza To Showcase Arts, Crafts

Promising to be one of the largest collections of artwork ever displayed locally, an Arts and Crafts Extravaganza will begin Saturday morning in Community Center.

Sponsored by Hereford Art Guild, the exhibit and sale will be conducted from 10 a.m. - 8 p.m. Saturday and from 12 noon - 6 p.m. Sunday. Rental from art and craft booths will be used by the Guild for improvements in the art room of Community Center.

Celebrated artists Ben Knois and Danny Gamble, both of Amarillo, will be among the 62 artisans who plan to market assorted artworks. In addition to paintings in oils, watercolors and acrylics, the extravaganza will showcase cast bronze and wrought metal sculpture. Unusual items such as African trade beads and rock art scenes will be included with pottery, painted China, western photographs and Indian turquoise jewelry.

General chairman of the elaborate show is Mrs. Dale Furr, Art Guild president. She stated that the extravaganza will offer a large variety of artwork suited to art buffs of diverse tastes.

"This year's extravaganza will host a wide assortment of art objects and crafts. These will range from the classic western theme portrayed by Travis McPherson to scenic studies by Jon Birdsong and Ben Knois," stated Mrs. Furr.

"Intricate sculpture, such as that crafted by Pam Trotter, will be on sale," she continued. "Contrasting canvas will be exhibited by such artists as Danny Gamble and Elaine White, high school art instructors."

A publicity committee directed by Mrs. E.E. Doak consists of Mmes. John Gilliland, Jan Harper, Linda Warrick, Ben Childers, Kathy Axe and Hilery Aven.

Mrs. Dale Furr, president of Hereford Art Guild and general chairman of the art extravaganza, works out final details for the show. Canvas signed by Peggy Furr will be featured.

Portrayal of poignant rural scenes has earned nation-wide recognition for Danny Gamble, Amarillo artist. His paintings, utilizing watercolors and acrylics, will be included in extravaganza merchandise Saturday and Sunday. A native of Hollis, Okla., Gamble's illustrations range from bold floral paintings and mood studies to monochromatic (several hues of one color) pictures.

Detailed western sculpture, such as this one done by Mrs. Pam Trotter, at right is admired by Mrs. Elaine White, Travis McPherson and Jon Birdsong.

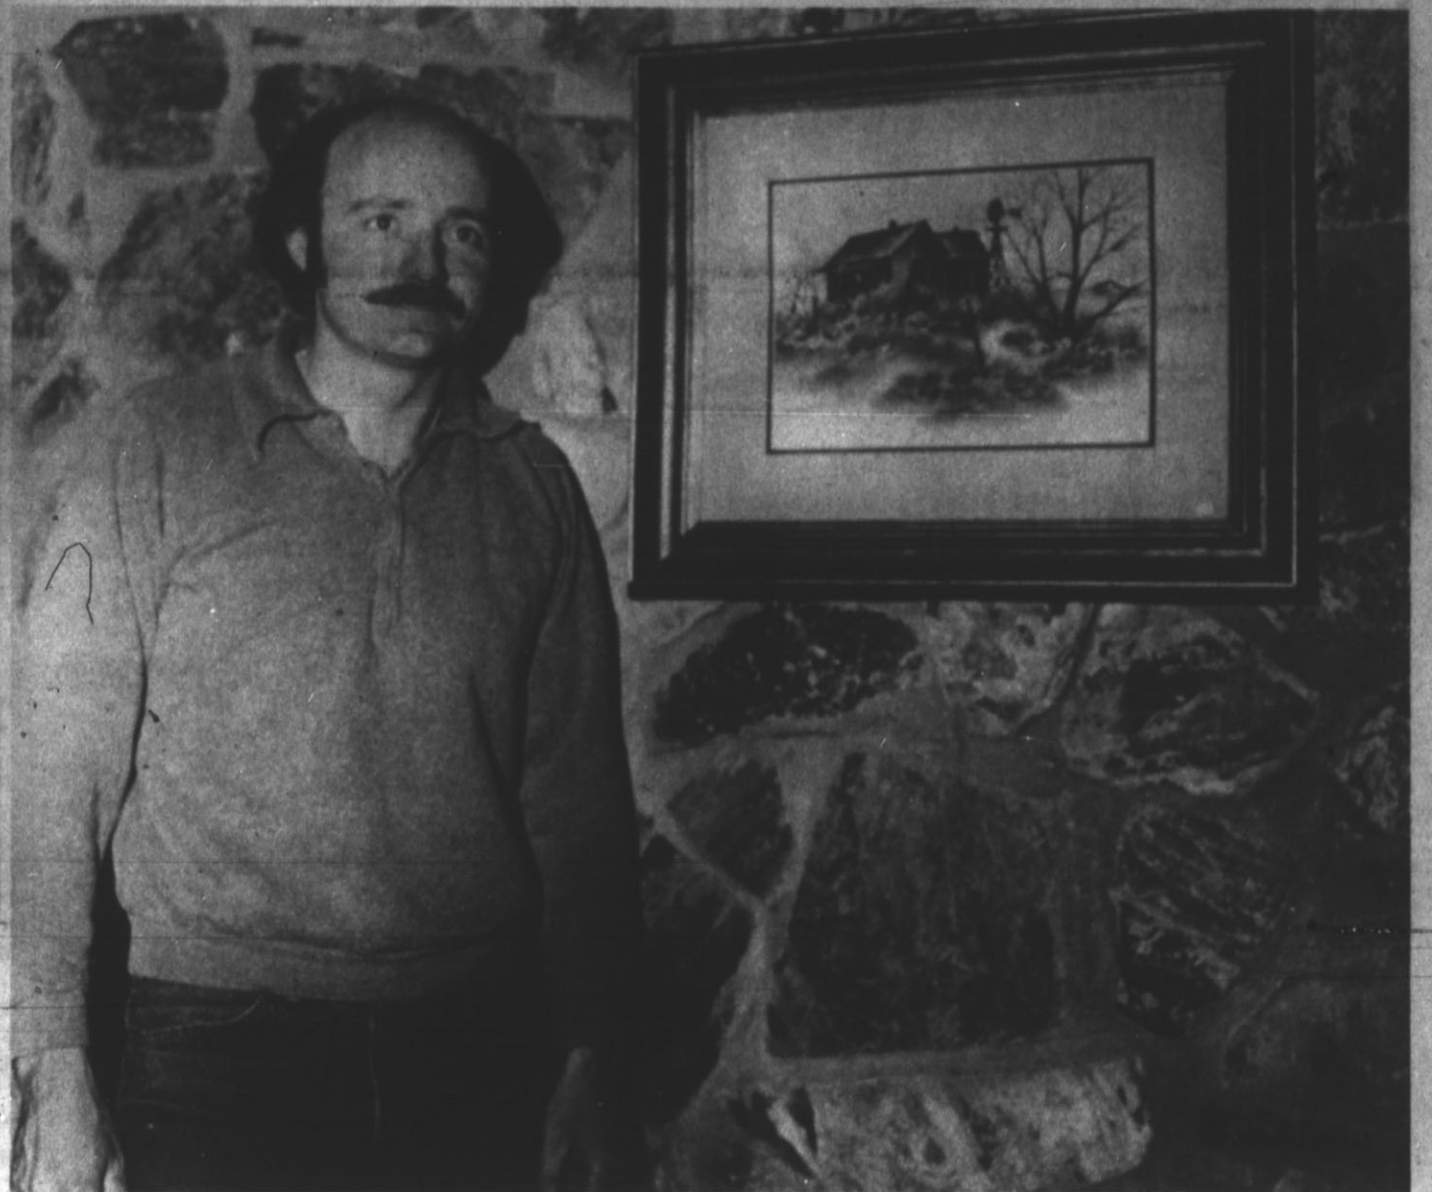

The show will include metal wrought, cast bronze and wooden sculpture objects.

China plates with delicate floral patterns will be booth items submitted by Mrs. A.L. Wilson, extravaganza hostess. More than sixty artists and craftsmen will be represented through booth articles.

Mrs. E.E. Doak, chairman of the extravaganza, which is sponsored by Hereford Art Guild. No admission will be charged.

Recipient of numerous art awards, Jon Birdsong will market several paintings. Another prominent area artist, Ben Knois of Amarillo, will be welcomed.

Pioneer Club To Continue Project

Members of Pioneer Study Club voted to continue selling spring flowering bulbs to local residents during their regular meeting and luncheon Tuesday afternoon in Caison House.

Proceeds from the annual sale are given in the form of donations to Texas Federal organizations and local organizations including the Day Care Center, Girlstown and the piano fund for Deaf Smith County Library.

It was also announced during the business meeting by Mrs. Tandy Legg, Federation chairman, that the Top of Texas District Convention will be held April 4-5 at Amarillo.

Roberta Campbell, program leader, introduced Mrs. Ralph McCullough who presented the history of Texas seceding from the Union.

With Mrs. Frank Ball acting as presiding officer and portraying a Justice of the Supreme Court, a skit written by club members was given.

This skit depicted the convention held in Austin Jan. 28, 1861, to vote on secession and to draw up a declaration of causes for the vote to secede from the United States and join the Confederacy.

Mrs. Bess Warner, leading proponent, represented Edward Clarke, Lieutenant Governor of the State of Texas and opposition was led by Mrs. Art Manjeot who played the role of Governor Sam Houston.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mes. Legg, L.H. Lookingbill and John Patton. There were 25 members present.

Beef Plentiful At Groceries

Beef is plentiful at reasonable prices, with no major changes in sight for awhile, one observer predicted this week.

"The nation's beef herd is at an all-time high with beef and calf supplies well above last year's level—a trend which is expected to continue," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt said.

"For economy, look for pot roast specials at bargain prices. Also, check values on round steaks and roasts, ground beef, arm and blade pot roasts and steaks," the consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, advised.

Vegetable news this week centers on potatoes and onions, while fruit bargains are oranges and grapefruit.

"Potatoes are at record levels with substantially lower prices, and best grapefruit economy is by-the-bag in medium sizes," Mrs. Clyatt said.

Other vegetable buys are broccoli, cabbage, carrots, celery and some squash, particularly hard-shell varieties. Also cooking greens, turnips and rutabagas.

Fruit buys include pears, bananas, pineapple, tangerines and strawberries.

"Pork values focus on loin roasts and chops, shoulder roasts and steaks, while fryer chickens remain a bargain in most meat departments," the specialist added.

"Retail prices on fluid milk will continue edging upward to reflect higher feed prices, but supplies on manufactured dairy products, especially butter, cheese and nonfat dry milk, are plentiful."

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Pears sold in the markets aren't completely ripe—but they will ripen at room temperature in four to six days and will yield to gentle pressure of the hand.

Mrs. Mountz Is Hostess For Class

Also, Mmes. A.L. Manjeot, R.E. Caddell, Alice Brown, G.K. Horton, J.J. Buckner, Walter Easter, J.V. Pickens, J.W. Israel, H.E. Danforth and Wirt Phillips.

Scribbles and Scratches

FESTIVALS, EXTRAVAGANZAS, bazaars and fairs are swamping the social calendar for the next three months. Although all that activity can be hectic, these activities are a real bonus for local residents. Scheduled this week are two bonanzas, the annual Junior Music Festival and the Arts and Crafts Extravaganza.

Young musicians and vocalists in this area will seek merit honors during the 1975 festival tomorrow at First Baptist Church. Directed jointly by Hereford and Dawn Music Study Clubs, the festival does not involve paired-off competition, but each participant is judged on individual performance. The contest is not a public recital; it is designed to rank music students on predetermined levels of excellence.

Whether you're a browser or veteran art connoisseur, the Arts and Crafts Extravaganza this weekend will appeal to every art taste imaginable. Sixty-two artists and craftsmen will have articles for sale.

In addition to finding a beautiful art object, one has the satisfaction of helping Hereford Art Guild improve the Community Center art room. Booth rental funds will be instrumental in this cause.

Religions of several denominations will be represented during the Religious Arts Exhibit March 23-28 at First United Methodist Church. Organized by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, the gallery will showcase Easter-oriented artwork, ranging from decorated eggs to reverent illustrations.

Exhibit hours will be from 2-5 p.m. Sunday the 23rd and from 11 a.m.-12 noon weekdays, March 24-28.

April will be highlighted by the annual Fine Arts Festival which will feature music, literature, arts, crafts and hobbies. The mammoth show has invited 71 local organizations to participate April 12-13 at Deaf Smith County Library.

The Arts Festival, sponsored by the Women's Division, will spotlight numerous Bicentennial displays in different entry categories.

An interesting sidelight of the Fine Arts Festival is that its approach has spurred local clubs to seek a piano for the library's Heritage Room. La Plata Study Club is spearheading the fund drive and has established piano depositories at Hereford State Bank and First National Bank.

It is hoped that the piano can be purchased before the Festival. Of course, the instrument would be a lasting contribution which would increase the program potential at the new library.

OOPS! Our petticoats are showing again. In the article in Sunday's paper, there was a mistake in the story about a Golden Wedding reception for Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Reynolds, former residents.

To set the record straight, Beulah Pate married Elmer Reynolds March 8, 1925 at Childress. They came to this city in 1927 and lived here for 43 years.

It is hoped that this error did not mar the Reynolds celebration in any way.

Included on the San Marcos list were David L. Hicks of 107 Douglas, Rita A. Schumacher of Route 2 and Rhea Anne Wesson of 216 Centre.

Communists To Discredit U.S.

Snowball by Ted Allbeury is the novel being featured this week at Deaf Smith County Library. Now, in the 1970's, the Communists have discovered documented proof of America's WWII perfidy and are about to put it to use in a skillfully staged operation to discredit the U.S. Code, Snowball.

The library is open to the public free of charge on Monday and Thursday from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m., weekdays from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. and Saturday until noon.

SNOWBALL
By Ted Allbeury

In 1940, FDR and Canada's Mackenzie King privately agreed to abandon the Allies if Hitler successfully invaded Britain. This long-buried American secret—shocking, intriguing in its implications, disturbingly plausible—is at the core of Ted Allbeury's latest fictional excursion into the world of espionage and international power politics.

Now, 30 years after the fact, the Communists have discovered documented proof of America's WWII perfidy and are about to put it to use in a skillfully staged and highly sophisticated propaganda operation to discredit the U.S. Code named "Snowball," the scheme is meant to drive America out of NATO, creating a power vacuum the Russians are ready to fill.

Once "Snowball" is put in motion, it will gather momentum that will make increasingly difficult to stop. Is there a way to halt its progress and save Europe's crucial balance of power?

Top ranking British special intelligence officer Tadeuz Anders is put in charge of the efforts to defuse "Snowball." Half Polish, half English, totally professional, Anders is plunged into a series of desperate maneuvers to immobilize the apparatchiks, the underground agents in England who are about to be activated by the Russian KGB.

It is a cruel and violent game to which Anders is committed, with sudden death erupting in shadowy places and cold-blooded extermination an ever present threat. Along the way there are pawns which must be sacrificed—one of the most vulnerable, the beautiful French agent, Marie-Claire Foubert, whose willingness to help Anders far exceeds the requirements of her job.

Connoisseurs of realistic suspense fiction will appreciate Snowball's carefully conceived premise, tauntly woven plot, muted love story, and chilling authenticity.

general chairman of the annual project.

Launching the clean-up drive Saturday, April 19, will be a litter parade incorporating Hereford youth groups. It is projected that 4-H, Campfire, Boy Scout and other such youth clubs will participate.

In observance of Arbor Day April 23 and 25, the clean-up volunteers will focus on the outlined nature trail at Veterans' Park. The beautification committee will donate a tree to be planted at that site.

Grade school youngsters will play a role in the anti-litter cause by competing in a poster contest. Deadline for poster entry will be April 16 with judging to take place that afternoon at Community Center.

A winner from each elementary school will be awarded a $5 prize and a $10 gift will be presented to the overall poster champion. The clean-up posters will be exhibited at local businesses throughout the week.

Clean-up Week is an annual campaign designed to remove unsightly trash and promote community beautification.

City Clean-Up Slated April 19-25

April 19-25 was approved for a city-wide clean-up campaign to be conducted by the beautification committee of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

Food Plans Revised

The U.S. Department of Agriculture provides "Family Food Plans" to help families estimate their nutritional needs and plan budgets, Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist noted this week.

"The latest revision of these plans—at low, moderate and liberal cost levels—was released in December, 1974, using the most recent complete and reliable information," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

preschool children ages 1 and 5, who use the low cost plan would need 13 quarts and 1 cup of milk every week.

"Or they could use a combination of milk and dairy products that furnished the same amount of calcium as the 13 quarts and 1 cup of milk."

The specialist noted dairy products that provide an equal amount of calcium to 1 cup of milk include: 1 ounce of Swiss cheese; 1 1/2 ounces natural cheddar cheese; 1 1/2 ounces process cheese; 1 cup ice cream; 1 cup yogurt; 1 to one third cup creamed cottage cheese; 1 cup reconstituted nonfat dry milk; and 1 cup reconstituted evaporated milk.

Excursion Explained To Club

Escapades in Africa were recounted by Mrs. Harold Wester Tuesday afternoon for members of Lone Star Study Club in the home of Mrs. Dale Tinnin.

As guest speaker, Mrs. Wester described the modern, beautiful city of Capetown, which is surrounded by grape vineyards, orchards and wheat acreage. A bumpy ride on an ostrich and wildlife confined to game reserves were highlights of the vacation taken by the local couple recently.

Fashion

The woman or youngster who knows how to sew can dress on the fraction of cost demanded by the person who buys everything ready made.

Not all people are gifted in this art but patience, perseverance and good, easy patterns help a great deal.

Baptist Revival To Begin

An invitation has been extended to the public from Frio Baptist Church, located six and a half miles south of Hereford, for a spring revival starting Sunday.

Clyde Hankins of Calhoun, Ky., will be delivering the sermon at 8 p.m. week nights. Brother Hankins is a former missionary to Brazil. Services Sunday will be at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Traveling on a wide revival circuit, Ed Shubert of San Jacinto Baptist Church at Amarillo, will be guest song director. Pastor of Frio Baptist congregation is Lon Conner. Nursery services will be provided.

GOD'S SERVANTS

Christ taught his disciples that we are all God's servants, including Christ Himself. Before the Last Supper when the disciples were gathered together Jesus filled a basin of water and began to wash their feet.

He said "I am among you as one who serves." (Luke 22:27).

He meant this as an example for all men to follow. Serve the Lord with gladness. Become one of God's servants.

Festival To Rank Young Musicians

Students of area music teachers will seek high individual merit ratings Friday during a Junior Music Festival at First Baptist Church.

Hereford and Dawn Music Clubs have joined forces to sponsor the annual festival. The competition comes under auspices of Texas Federated Music Clubs. The quality of each young participant will be based on a predetermined scale. Entrants will not compete against each other, but will be judged on individual performance.

More than 130 selections are slated with the first to begin at 8:45 that morning. Contest categories will include vocal, piano, organ and clarinet. Students in the vocal division are under tutorage of Mmes. Eva Miller, Dolson Palmer of Allen Cansler. Instrumental entrants will represent Mmes. Joe Hacker, Cecil Holman, Carl Wimberley, Lewis Newell and Jonnie Walters.

Judging the singing portion of the festival program will be Mrs. Wesley Gulley, former choir director. Mmes. Thomas Hambric, Robert Goodnow and Ruth Thurman are coming from Amarillo to judge instrumental performances.

Festival chairman is Mrs. Ray Stewart, recording secretary of the TFMC state board. She is a member of Dawn Music Study Club.

Performing Pianist

Phillip Zinser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zinser Jr., rehearses a piano selection which he will perform tomorrow during the Junior Music Festival at First Baptist Church. Mrs. Joe Hacker, pictured above, will be one of eight music teachers to be represented by students. The festival is an annual merit contest sponsored jointly by Hereford and Dawn Music Study Clubs.

Top 4-H Winners To Attend Show

Eight Deaf Smith County youths will attend the annual District I 4-H Food Show Saturday, at Amarillo's Bonham Junior High School.

Four high school seniors and four juniors from this county are competing, said Sherry Harder, assistant county extension agent.

Senior girls to vie for top honors include Sandra Stallings, Micki Merritt, Rhonda Hager and Jo Ann Wagner. Junior girls to compete are Joycelyn Aven, Phylecia Rowland, Gail McCabe and Carla West.

Competing in four food classes, the entrants will strive for the right to represent the 22-county extension District I in the State 4-H Food Show in June at Texas A&M University.

Approximately 150 youth are expected to attend the district food show which will use the theme Foods of the Southwest.

According to district extension agent, Sue Farris, exhibits of food entries will be on display in the school cafeteria at 1:15 p.m., with the awards program beginning at 1:45 p.m. in the auditorium.

Senator Max Sherman, with a representative of Morrison Milling Company of Denton, which is co-sponsoring the food show, will present ribbons to all contestants and special awards to top winners.

Judging will focus on knowledge of nutrition, meal planning, food buying and meal service as well as on ability to prepare food, explained Mrs. Harder.

There will be no further competition for junior winners beyond the district level.

The District 4-H food show is conducted each year by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

painting, literature and needle work.

These will be displayed from 2 to 5 p.m. March 23 and from 11 a.m. to noon March 24-28 in Ward Parlor.

The art show will be a community-wide interfaith display in celebration of Easter.

Entries in the festival can be picked up Saturday, March 28.

Fewer trips to the grocery store will result in a lower food bill. Plan the shopping list carefully so that a once-a-week trip to the grocery store is all that's necessary, suggests Sally Springer, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Wise Fertilizer Use Urged For Home Lawns

Due to short fertilizer supplies and resulting high prices, homeowners are urged to use fertilizer wisely for lawn maintenance.

"With the world food crisis that has resulted in part from short fertilizer supplies, we can all do our part in conserving scarce plant nutrients," contends Dr. Richard Doble, turf specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Although less than three-and-a-half per cent of the fertilizer consumed in the United States is used on lawns and other landscape areas, judicious use of plant nutrients is important.

What can the homeowner do to conserve fertilizer? "First of all, a knowledge of fertilizer requirements for your lawns is important. St. Augustine, centipede and zoysia grasses all require less nitrogen fertilizer than does bermudagrass," points out Doble.

"Bermudagrass requires three or four applications of fertilizer per year to maintain a complete turf cover while the other grasses only require spring and fall applications."

Spring and fall fertilizer applications should be at the rate of two pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn area. For a fertilizer containing 10 per cent nitrogen, 20 pounds per 1,000 square feet would be needed to meet this requirement.

For a rapid greening response during summer months, a soluble fertilizer material should be used at a rate of one pound of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet.

The Texas A&M University System specialist recommends fertilizing in the spring and fall to encourage root development of the grass without excessive leaf growth.

"Deep root systems make better use of available soil nutrients and moisture and help grasses survive summer and winter stress periods.

"Increasing the mowing height of the lawn in early summer also helps promote deeper root development. St. Augustine grass lawns should be mowed at least one-half inch higher in the summer, or at a height of two-to-two-and-a-half inches. Higher mowing heights also reduced the frequency of mowing."

Doble advises against removing grass clippings after mowing. "Clippings contain plant nutrients that can be recycled into the lawn when they are left to decompose. Removing these clippings may double the lawn's fertilizer requirement. Clippings will not significantly contribute to thatch build-up when lawns are mowed regularly."

The specialist also has some tips on watering lawns to conserve both water and fertilizer. "Water after applying fertilizer to prevent run-off losses that may result from a heavy rain. Repeat light waterings for several days to dissolve soluble fertilizer granules and to move the insoluble granules into the turf where they can be dissolved slowly.

"Water lawns at infrequent intervals and only when the grass shows moisture stress—wilted leaves and dark discolorations. Water at rates that the soil can effectively absorb and in sufficient amounts to wet the soil to a depth of four-to-six-inches. This will encourage a deep-rooted turf that can use water and plant nutrients more efficiently."

Vigorous, healthy lawns are a boon to the landscape and the environment. And they can be kept that way with proper care. This included the wise use of scarce fertilizer materials.

USDA Examines World Food Situation

There's enough land and raw materials to greatly increase the world's food output, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service in a comprehensive analysis of the world food situation.

Much of the potential must be realized in the developing countries, however, if they are to have adequate food supplies. This will hinge on modifying certain policies, in developing as well as developed countries, that have led to the great imbalance between food production and consumption in the rich and poor countries of the world.

Issues needing immediate attention are farm level prices relative to international prices, the optimum amount of grain reserves necessary for world security and reasonable price stability, objectives of food aid programs, and the problem of adequate fertilizer supplies in developing countries.

The ERS study examines these issues and demonstrates how developments over the past two decades prior to 1972 have made them so important.

Also included in the study are projections to 1985 of world food supply and demand, a discussion of resource availability for producing food and the income distribution factors that affect demand for food, and a report on the World Food Conference held recently in Rome.

To obtain a copy of The World Food Situation and Prospects for 1985, write to the Economic Research Service, U.S.D.A., Washington, D.C. 20250.

Feed Quality Workshop To Be Held at A&M

COLLEGE STATION [Sp]—Feed industry personnel have an opportunity to receive intensive training in the detection of inferior quality feed ingredients at an upcoming workshop at Texas A&M University.

A Feed Microscopy and Feed Quality Workshop Mar. 17-19 is designed to help purchasing agents, nutritionists, mill managers and quality control personnel do a better job in finding low quality feeds that are a major factor in periodic performance problems.

Topics to be covered during the three-day workshop include identification and quality determination of plant and animal feed ingredients, commercially import fish meals and grains, and individual and group instruction in the use of compound and dissecting microscopes.

According to Dr. Fred

Thornberry, poultry specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, participants will have an opportunity to do actual laboratory work to check the quality of feed ingredients. Training will be provided by Larry Whitlock and Mrs. Ruby Gandy with the Agricultural Analytical Services at Texas A&M and by Lewis Barefield with Arkansas State Plant Board. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Agricultural Analytical Services are sponsoring the workshop along with the Texas Feed and Fertilizer Control Service.

For enrollment in the workshop, contact Whitlock at the Reed McDonald Building on the A&M campus.

A&M Given Champion Steers

The Texas A&M University Animal Science Department has been given both the Houston Livestock Show's record-breaking champion steer and the reserve champion.

The gifts marked the second year in a row that the university has received the champion and the first time for both top animals to be donated.

Seventeen-year-old Len Weinheimer of Fredericksburg sold his 1,091-pound Simmental-Hereford cross for a new world record of $60,000 to Mrs. Edgar W. Brown, Jr., of Orange and Mrs. E.J. Gracey of Houston.

The reserve champion animal, a 1,088-pound Limousin-Angus cross, was sold by Tana Yates of Stanton for $12,500. Buyers were Gordon Edge and James J. Johnston of Houston. Dick Freeman of Houston contributed $1,000 toward the total price.

Dr. O.D. Butler, head of the A&M Animal Science Department, said Edgar W. Brown, Jr., of Orange gave last year's champion to the university after it was bought in his name by a group of friends.

Butler said Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Gracey, Edge and Johnston donated the 1975 champions for research purposes in the purposes in the A&M Meats Laboratory. The animals will take their last walk Thursday (Feb. 6).

The department head said that after the steers are slaughtered, data will be collected for the Houston Livestock Show carcass contest. Research will cover tenderness, taste panel palatability test, and lean-fat-bone composition.

Later in the semester, the meat will be served at the annual A&M Saddle and Siroin Club banquet.

But until the steers go to the meats lab, they will be displayed in the A&M Animal Science Pavilion.

Butler noted that Texas A&M figures prominently every year in the Houston show. This season, 40 animal science students helped with the various events, and at least 35 staff members served as superintendents or judges.

Dr. R.C. Potts, associate dean of agriculture, said the Houston show also provides many scholarships and research funds. One youngster per year in each of 29 designated counties in the Houston trade area receives a scholarship. In addition, there are 20 scholarships amounting to $1,000 a year for four years, which can be awarded anywhere in the state.

Recipients can attend the school of their choice, but they must agree to study agriculture, Potts said.

He said there are now 59 students in the A&M College of Agriculture on Houston Livestock Show scholarships. And there are at least four active research projects at A&M being funded by the show through the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Agriculture Laws Need Changes

The Senate is in the process of making a badly needed revision of our present farm laws to accommodate today's agricultural needs. The Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry has now completed hearings on bills that would alter the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973.

When that bill became law, the level of target prices and loan rates reflected the conditions and a tremendous lack of confidence, are causing wide differences in the planting intentions of individual farmers.

I believe farmers prefer the price and profit mechanisms of the free market to direct government control. I'm opposed to a return to the policies that lead to government-held commodities which serve as a fundamental tools of the commodity loan program to work. The loan is intended to be a marketing tool that will enable farmers to sell not just at harvest time, but over a period of months, thereby taking into consideration the normal price fluctuations in the market.

The last two crop years graphically demonstrate the need for a stable market. During 1973, farm prices were high enough to cause a step up in production and to meet rising costs. In 1974, the situation was virtually reversed. Costs caught up with prices and swept past. Today, low market prices, coupled with uncertain conditions and a tremendous lack of confidence, are causing wide differences in the planting intentions of individual farmers.

The 1973 Act was designed to let the free market determine prices through the law of supply and demand, which I think is a sound premise. But the law fell short by not permitting the price depressant. Loan prices, therefore, must not be set at such high levels that over-production will be encouraged because this hurts both the government and the farmer. Loan and target prices must be set at realistic levels that are fair to farmers, taxpayers and consumers.

This nation has been blessed with the most efficient and dependable producers of food anywhere in the world. If we are to continually place new demands on producers, we must recognize and respond to the needs of the farming community.

Farmers and consumers must work together to hold down the price of food. This will require an end to the pointing of fingers, and a mutual understanding of the problems facing both producers and consumers.

The consuming public has to realize that a farmer must be able to make a livable return on his investment if food production is to remain high. The farmer, like any other businessman, will cut costs by cutting back on production if he is losing money on the crop he sells.

Agriculture is American's most important business, and Americans are the most important customers of American agriculture. Exports are important as a source of farm income and as a partial solution to our balance of payments problems, but our farm policy must be tailored to the conditions in the domestic marketplace.

National dependency on agriculture goes far beyond the farm. Agribusiness is the nation's largest industry. It provides jobs for 40 per cent of the work force in some sectors, including retail outlets, packaging, transportation, as well as the manufacturing of fertilizer, tractors, tires and other farm-related products.

The government's involvement in agriculture now goes far beyond the programs administered by the Department of Agriculture. Such agencies as the Federal Power Commission, the Federal Energy Administration and the Environmental Protection Agency play increasingly important roles as do those agencies involved in foreign relations and trade.

We can have a free market system in agriculture without having a complete separation of government involvement. The free concept can and will work with a farm program that provides production incentives and protection devices. A sound farm bill can provide incentives and provide safety devices, and still prevent government acquisition of huge stock piles of commodities. This is the kind of agricultural program that I am working for now.

Tech Sets Bull Sale

Purchasers may choose from the largest selection of cattle breeds in history of the annual Field Day and Performance Tested Bull Sale at the Texas Tech University Center at Amarillo (Pantex) March 13.

They may select from Angus, Charolais, Herefords, Santa Gertrudis, and Simmental, Maine Anjou, Limousine and Chianina crosses. More than 100 performance tested bulls will go on sale at the center at 1:30 p.m. with Bert Reyes as the auctioneer.

The bull with the highest index is a senior Simmental cross belonging to Conley Farms of Perryton. The animal has an index rating of 156. The second highest index rating went to a junior Simmental belonging to Don Allred of Wildorado with a mark of 138.6

The index is based on fat measurements, daily gain on the 140-day test, weight per day of age, and grading of the animals by the cooperators in the PanTech Performance Proven Bull Sale Association. The bulls are indexed by divisions within breeds, according to Dr. Boyd Ramsey, professor of animal science at Texas Tech.

The program for the annual field day will begin at 8 a.m. with the inspections of bulls.

Speakers will be Dr. Gary Conley of Perryton on "Genetics: A Practical Tool in Beef Production" and Dr. Ramsey on "Carcass Composition, Animal Performance and Production Efficiency."

PUBLIC NOTICES
BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW
(Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one promise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that insignificant beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local government today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertisements. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be so long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.)

LEGAL NOTICE
THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO: CAROL JEAN McDOWELL Respondent, Greetings:
You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable District Court 69th Judicial District of Deaf Smith County at the Court House thereof, in Hereford, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 7th day of April A.D. 1975, then and there to answer Petitioner's Petition filed in said Court, on the 5th day of February A.D. 1975, in this cause, numbered DC-7335 on the docket of said court and styled IN THE MATTER OF THE MARRIAGE OF W.C. McDOWELL AND CAROL JEAN McDOWELL.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:

Petitioner, W.C. McDowell, brings an action for divorce against Respondent, Carol Jean McDowell, praying for dissolution of the marriage between Petitioner and Respondent, and for such further relief as the Court may deem proper to grant, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.
The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

ASK YOUR TAX MAN BY SAUL SILBERT
DEAR MR. TAX MAN:
Last night my husband and I went to an expensive restaurant to celebrate our anniversary. The wine list showed liquors and wines costing up to $5,000 a bottle! I could hear the people at the next table talking about this, and their host said, "Order what you want, it's a deductible expense." Can a businessman actually get a tax deduction for a $5,000 bottle of wine?
AMAZED
Businessmen can and do get deductions for all sorts of seemingly outlandish expenditures (airplanes, boats, hunting camps, hot air balloons come to mind), provided the expenditure is made for a legitimate business purpose. The deduction for a $5,000 bottle of wine might therefore be allowed. Of course the deposit on the bottle would have to be reported as income.
DEAR MR. TAX MAN:
The government gave me a $6,200 disaster loan when my home was partially wrecked in a tornado last year. The loan was cancelled when I was unable to repay it. But now the IRS wants me to pay taxes on the $6,200. Is that fair?
BROKE
The cancellation of a loan results in income to the debtor, unless a gift tax return is filed by the ex-creditor (the way Rockefeller did). Government agencies don't file gift tax returns. Looks like you received taxable income of $6,200.
DEAR MR. TAX MAN:
I deducted the $100 dividend exclusion from the income I received from my corporation last year. The IRS said the exclusion did not apply to Subchapter S Corporations. I didn't know that. I thought a dividend was a dividend.
BEWILDERED
Yeah, and a dumkopf is a dumkopf. In your case, you did not receive a dividend; you received a distribution from your Sub S Corporation, enabling you to avoid corporate taxes. You want an egg in your beer, too?
DEAR MR. TAX MAN:
When my daughter went off to college, she was able to get a student loan at our bank, based upon a note which I co-signed. She's out of college now but with the recession and all she hasn't been able to find work. I have to pay off the note plus the interest. Although it's her note, can I claim the interest deduction?
POP
No interest deduction is allowed a taxpayer unless he is legally liable to pay the interest. Since you co-signed your daughter's note, that made it your obligation too. Claim the interest deduction.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

The Venereal Disease Division of the Texas State Department of Health has reported a 50 per cent decrease in cases of infectious, or contagious, syphilis in the past four years. In 1970 there were 2,800 reported cases, but only 1,400 cases were reported in 1974.
Much of the progress that has been made in recent years against other communicable diseases, such as polio, smallpox, and Rubella, can be attributed to the widespread use of vaccines. However, there is no vaccine against syphilis. State health authorities say that the dramatic decrease in the incidence of syphilis can be attributed to three principal causes.
First, the victims themselves. More people who are infected with syphilis have become willing to present themselves for diagnosis and treatment. No one gets syphilis on purpose, yet in the past there has been such a stigma attached to the disease, and so much shame associated with it, that people stayed away from medical care even when they suspected they needed it.
But in recent years, venereal disease has come out in the open. Syphilis is discussed frankly and factually in the effective treatment, and counselling services to enable the syphilis victim to prevent the further spread of the disease. Every patient has the opportunity to discuss the disease with a professional interviewer-counselor. Most patients respond by either bringing their contacts in for treatment, or assisting public health authorities in identifying and locating the contacts. At every stage, the patient is reassured that all of the services available to him are completely confidential.

Furthermore, public health services to control venereal disease are available to everyone, including minors. The Texas Legislature has passed laws which permit the diagnosis and treatment of any communicable disease, including venereal disease, in persons of any age on the basis of complete confidentiality. Parental consent is not required for minors to be treated for venereal disease.
According to state health officials, it is not necessary for any baby to be born with congenital syphilis. Nor is it necessary for anyone to be blinded or paralyzed by syphilis, and syphilis need not be the fatal disease that it once was. Treatment for syphilis is effective, fast, and readily available. As even more people are treated and cured quickly, the number of cases will continue to decline.
Medical scientists are continuing to search for a vaccine to prevent syphilis, and treatment methods are constantly being improved. State health authorities say that cutting the syphilis rate by 50 per cent is only a beginning; the rate can be cut even more drastically, as the general public—and especially the potential victim—become more aware of the disease and the availability of treatment.
If you'd like to know more about syphilis and other venereal diseases, write to "Accent on Health," Texas State Department of Health, 1100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas 78756.
Between 5 per cent and 10 per cent of all those who are blind can be given restored sight through transplants of corneal tissue from the eyes of a recently deceased person.
Pledges are made to the Lions Hi-Plains Eye Bank of District 2-T1, Inc.
The Veterans Administration approved 106,000 GI home loans during the first four months of fiscal year of 1975, a 5.4 per cent increase over the same period in fiscal year 1974.

"The Friday Comedy Special"

The Friday Comedy Special will premiere Friday, March 14 from 7:00-8:00 p.m. on the CBS Television Network. It is a new weekly comedy series that will be "Love Nest," starring Florida Friebus and Charles Lane. "Love Nest" will be followed in succeeding weeks by a representative selection of pilot comedy projects developed for the network's 1975-76 season. Titles to be announced at a later date.

"We'll Get By," created by Alan Alda, star of "MASH" on the network, stars Paul Sorvino and Miltzi Hoag.

In "We'll Get By," Sorvino stars as George Platt, and Miss Hoag as his wife Liz. The Platts are an average, middle-class couple who live in New Jersey with their three children. The series, developed and written by Alda, revolves around the events that might occur within any family. Its approach is contemporary, good-natured, honest and real. Sorvino garnered the critics' laurels for his powerful performance in the Broadway production of Jason Miller's "That Championship Season." He was also starred in the Emmy Award-winning drama "Tell Me Where It Hurts," which was broadcast on "GE Theater" on the network.

Both stars are veteran performers. Miss Friebus is known for, among many other credits, her role on the "Dobie Gillis" series and her appearances as a member of the therapy group on "The Bob Newhart Show." Lane has played in more than 400 motion pictures and in almost every situation comedy ever made for television.

"Jane Goodall and the World of Animal Behavior—The Hyena Story"

The hyena, one of the most misunderstood of all creatures, is studied and explained by animal behaviorist Jane Goodall, in association with her husband, wildlife photographer Hugo Van Lawick, in "Jane Goodall and the World of Animal Behavior—The Hyena Story." The ABC News presentation, the next in the Emmy Award-winning series, will air Wednesday, March 19 (7:30-8:30 p.m.) on the ABC Television Network. Hal Holbrook will narrate the special.

Exploring East Africa's Ngorongoro Crater, a protected haven for hyenas and other wildlife, Miss Goodall is able to clear up many of the misconceptions about the hyena—notably that he is a cowardly scavenger. Other revelations are that hyena society is dominated by the larger and more powerful females and that the animals belong to and travel with specific clans.

Miss Goodall focuses her attentions on the Lakeside Clan, whose leader, Mizz, mothers two cubs—Willie and Thistle—with the former submissive to its sibling and a source of worry to its strong-willed parent. Mizz rebuffs a maverick hyena, Shadow, and then asserts her leadership when another group, the Scratching Rock Clan, poses a threat to the Lakeside territory. Excitement builds when a confrontation between them appears imminent.

After a futile hunting spree and constant rebuffs from the Lakeside hyenas, Shadow makes one more effort to join Mizz. This time his efforts meet with success and he is accepted by the matriarchal leader.

Among Miss Goodall's revelations about the hyena are some little-known facts:

The hyena follows an intimate, communal life style, with each animal a part of a social unit or clan.

The female hyenas are larger and stronger than the males, and the packs are led by females.

The females nurse their cubs for 18 months, longer than any other carnivores.

Hyena cubs already have many teeth at birth and are born in a more advanced state of development than most carnivores.

It is impossible to tell the sex of young hyenas, and both sexes look exactly alike until females have their first litter.

Hyenas in large numbers have no fear of the female lion, but will avoid a confrontation with the male.

Hyenas are skilled hunters and often kill their own prey.

Although hyenas are guilty of vulgar habits, discordant
