

Wildcats Throttle Coyotes In Zone Play Opener

The Wildcats have just won their first district ball game by beating the Coyotes 26 to 0. The Cats gave a real good effort in defense but offense got off to a real slow start. Offensively we were sluggish most of the night but did show some bright spots. Randy Woods was an outstanding receiver and blocker playing his best offense. Randy Woods caught a pass, thrown by Craig Campbell and ran 10 yards making a touchdown. Toney Rimer was the key blocker for this play.

The only threat that Richland Springs made was aided by two 15 yard penalties and two five-yard penalties. The Coyotes got to the Rising Star 1 first and goal then they gave up the ball on the eight yard line four plays later. This gave the Wildcats a definite lift.

Coach Gray says that to win district we must win this next game with Eden. It will be this Friday night at 7:30 p.m. here at the Wildcat Field.

T.F.B. Warns Against Restricted Sales

WACO - The president of the Texas Farm Bureau has warned that the Ford Administration "must accept responsibility for the unusually sharp price declines in certain crops that are dependent upon foreign markets."

J.T. (Red) Woodson said the "so-called voluntary system for limiting exports of wheat, soybeans and feed grains will not be acceptable to American farmers if this plan results in continued disastrous price drops and loss of future export markets."

In a telegram sent to President Ford on Tuesday, Woodson said, "We respectfully request that you not use Presidential powers to restrict legitimate dollar sales of any farm commodity to any nation."

The president of the state's largest farm organization said the best solution to economic problems is non-interference by the federal government.

"The current supply-demand situation in grains and the problems in the livestock and dairy industries mostly have resulted from price controls and government-caused inflation," Woodson said.

"We must let the market system work if we are to have adequate supplies of food and fiber for the American people with enough left over for earning much-needed dollars in foreign markets," the farm leader said.

"All farm exports represent a significant part of the total market for our agricultural production," Woodson continued. "If this hard-earned foreign market is taken away by Presidential decree, it will disrupt the entire agricultural economy for years to come. In this era of shortages, the greatest shortage of all may then be a shortage of food."

May Club Sponsors "Hobo Party"

The May Community Imp. Club sponsored a "Hobo Party" and met for the hobo stew at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 14.

The invocation was given by J.W. Moore. Stew was shared by approximately fifty members and guests.

The guest list included the entertainers who were Mr. Henry Storey and his Misfits. Mr. and Mrs. William Long, Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Seward and Mr. and Mrs. James Blair of Brownwood.

The two masked guests appeared to be Mr. and Mrs. X. They danced to the music of the Mis-Fits and had many people curious as to their identity. They unmasked at the end of the party and were identified as Mrs. O.A. Burnett and Mrs. Marshall Campbell.

Other guests were Mrs. Bell Touchette, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Madison, Mr. and Mrs. Max Barker, Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Gee, Mr. and Mrs. A.F. Michaels, Mr. and Mrs. Marion West, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver West and Amy, Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Moore, Mrs. Ludene Michael, Mrs. Janice Harvey, Mrs. Billie Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Reno McGregor.

Hostesses were the Messrs. O.A. Burnett, Mary Michaels and Frank Madison and Oliver West.

'74 Homecoming - "Best Ever"

An enthusiastic ex-student of the Rising Star High School described the events of last Saturday as "the best homecoming ever".

In closing, Dr. Barnes congratulated the Rising Star schools for the Progress that has been made through the years in the local system.

Dr. Barnes presented an aerial photo of this area of the state to the City of Rising Star. Mayor Carroll accepted the gift and expressed his appreciation and that of the local citizenry for the unusual picture.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Gene Roach of Los Angeles, Cal., and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Barnes of Santa Anna, Cal., were recognized for having driven the farthest distance to attend homecoming activities.

Mr. Sam Jones of Stephenville, former superintendent of Rising Star schools was recognized and Mrs. Houston B. Self of Abilene, wife of the late Houston Self, also a former superintendent.

A new slate of officers was elected as follows: Mrs. Irene Mayfield, president; Mrs. Laverne Carroll, vice president; Mrs. Bobby Wilson, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Alta Briscoe, class of 1911, was elected the homecoming queen, and Dr. Charles Barnes was chosen homecoming king.

A delicious luncheon of turkey and dressing was served in the school cafeteria by members of the local Parent-Teachers Organization.

Former members of the Wildcat Band met in the band hall for a first reunion. Officers were elected as follows: Dr. Beryl McKinnerney, president; Lloyd Gonzales, vice president; and Mrs. Jim Fleming, secretary-treasurer. It is hoped that this band reunion will become a

Stark Family Reunion In Crosbyton

For the first time since their father's death April 1, 1937-37 years ago--the Stark family was together Saturday and Sunday in the Crosbyton home of Sheriff and Mrs. Fletcher Stark.

Mrs. Oscar McLane arrived Friday night from her San Diego, Calif., home to complete the gathering of the seven Stark brothers and sisters and most of their spouses.

Present for the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. M.J. Dukes (Ruby Stark) of Rising Star, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Bellitt (Pearl Stark) of Boulder, Colo.; Mrs. Oscar McLane (Neta Stark) of San Diego, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Tom B. Stark of Cisco, Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Stark of Crosbyton, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Stark of Crosbyton, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Stark of San Angelo, Bill Aujry of Ralls, Bill Taylor of Crosbyton, Frank Hash and family, Misty and Sandra of Lubbock, Debbie and Wayne Youngblood of Lubbock, Frances and Tany Mathew of Lubbock.

Tommy, Kalita and Kelly Roberts of Lubbock, W.A. and Burnice Cox, Marie and Ozell Macon and Elvis Cox of Lubbock, Galda and Boats Durrett of Lubbock, Ducie Erwin and Corral Harrel of Hobbs, N.M.; Ronald Erwin and Linda Rogers of Hobbs, Aubrey Jaqua and Eric Stark of Lubbock, Wilda Jean Erwin and Belinda of Hobbs, N.M. and a host of friends from Crosbyton and Ralls attended the reunion.

ments or lack of accomplishments, but rather in our innermost feelings regarding our fellow man and ourselves."

This opinion was shared by the host of homecomers who gathered in Wildcat Gym on Saturday morning for a coffee registration, this was a period of greeting old friends and reminiscing of school days gone by.

Mayor C.M. Carroll opened the morning session with the invocation and extended a hearty welcome to the returning exes, teachers and friends.

Mrs. Golden Ware, president of the Ex-Students Association, presided at the business meeting, and Mrs. Kenneth Willett, secretary and treasurer of the organization, read the minutes and financial report.

Mrs. Ware introduced Dr. Charles Barnes of Houston as the speaker of the day. Dr. Barnes, a 1948 graduate of Rising Star High School, posed the question, "Is This All There Is To Life?" Barnes reminisced about his early childhood days on his father's dairy farm near Rising Star, his school days and recalled that he had asked himself on graduation day, "Is This All There Is To Education?" Remembering his years of military service during war time, the hunger of the masses, and the devastation of the bomb, he asked again, "Is this all there is?" In speaking of his work in the space program, he recalled the first moon landing, and the profound statement, "One small step for man, one giant leap for Mankind" and once again he asked "Is this all there is?"

Barnes continued with "when we think on all these happenings, we realize that the motivating force in our lives lies not in our sense of accomplishment or lack of accomplishments, but rather in our innermost feelings regarding our fellow man and ourselves."

At the colorful halftime activities of the Wildcat Band, Sharon Wilson was crowned "Football Sweetheart" and Mrs. Alta Briscoe, escorted by Dr. Charles Barnes, was presented as Homecoming Queen of 1974.

As has been previously stated, Homecoming '74 was the best ever.

Mrs. Ware expresses her appreciation to the various committees and individuals who cooperated to make this event a success.

Homecoming pictures are available, contact Calvin Diddle, Rising Star.

Taxpaying Follows Pattern

Taxpaying at both the city and school collection offices follows a predictable annual pattern, according to officials.

During the week immediately after mailing of the bills on Oct. 1, there is always a spirited rush of payments by a proportion of taxpayers who want to get done with the agony and able to look forward to a pleasant period of no impending payments.

In the case of both the city and the schools, according to Mrs. Lavonne White and Mrs. Rowena Chambers, collectors respectively, the percentage of early payment runs about 15 percent of the totals. This is because the same people, most generally, make the payments. In the case of the schools, a small discount is allowed for early payment and this has some influence.

The bulk of the taxes are paid later in the season and before the deadline on January 30. The schools, whose district extends beyond the limits of the city's jurisdiction and into small parts into Brown and Comanche counties, collects much the greater proportion of these payments. Both the tax rate and the percentage of valuation are greater in the case of the schools, too.

The city's rate of assessment, which of course applies only to property within the city limits, is 25 percent of reasonable market value and the tax rate is $1.50 per $100 of valuation.

Total city tax billings amount to $15,600 on a gross valuation of $1,041,000 in round figures.

The same is true with respect to the school collections which have a better collection rate because of the school's more insistent need for tax revenue. Unlike the city, the schools depend upon tax collections not only to furnish funds but to justify some part of what it receives from the state, and a fuller collection of local levies is an imperative.

More aggressive collection methods have resulted in a smaller delinquency rate than the city's, total tax revenue last year amounting to 94 percent of the assessment, said Mrs. Chambers.

The school assesses property at 47 1/2% of its market value and bills the taxpayer at a rate of $2.00 per $100 of this valuation. The total of district school tax valuations is $6,250,000 in round figures, she said. This figure has almost doubled since 1968.

She said there has been no increase either in valuations or the tax rate since last year.

Much of the district tax collections go toward payment of a school bonded debt of approximately $225,000. The larger part of the cost of operating the school system is derived from state apportionments.

The city, in addition to its ad valorem taxes, receives income from the City Utilities which furnishes water and natural gas to its customers and sewer service. In addition the city is now receiving revenue sharing payments from the federal government at the rate of about $8,000 per year. This money is restricted to certain purposes having to do with the capital investments, such as streets, utility service assets, fire department equipment, etc.

The first check for the 1975 fiscal year, which begins on July 1, was received by the city treasury Monday. It amounted to $1,913. This compares with a payment of $2,036 for the preceding quarter, Mrs. White said.

There has been no change in either the tax rate or the rate of assessment. On the basis of last year's collections Mrs. White said she anticipates a net collection amounting to 91 percent of the $15,600 gross. Some of this is collected at the end of the tax period when taxpayers who have overlooked paying their assessments respond to notices mailed about Sept. 1. But most of it is owned by individuals who are perennial delinquents. A proportion is uncollectible because the taxpayers are unknown or their whereabouts are unknown. In such cases the taxes accumulate against the property, as in all cases of delinquency, and the city's hope of collection rests upon the prospect that title transfers will demand that the tax accounts be satisfied.

Antique Dealers Form New Association

San Marcos, Tex. - Antique dealers and collectors across Texas are forming a unique new association to bring together buyers and dealers in antiquities.

The American Anti-ques Association, Inc. (AAA), a Texas based corporation, will have as its membership "card" a commemorative plate.

The plate, bearing the seal of the AAA, will be displayed in businesses as assurance that the dealer member abides by the organizations Code of Ethics.

Members may also be identified through decals and use of the AAA insignia in advertising.

A guide book, the Guide To The Antique Shops of Texas, will be prepared from membership lists and distributed throughout the state.

The Guide will make it easier for the traveling public and "Sunday Antiquers" to locate dealers in large and small cities.

AAA president Charles Martin said the association was formed "because we felt that there are thousands of other antique buffs like myself who would like to know others in their area...people with the same interests."

Farm Bureau To Meet Oct. 21

The Eastland County Farm Bureau's Annual Convention will be held Monday night, Oct. 21, 1974, at 8:00 p.m. at the First Christian Church Annex in Eastland.

During the convention, new officers and directors will be elected by the membership. The nominating committee with Ray A. Norris as chairman, will offer a slate of 10 new directors, one from each community in the county. Everyone should remember that nominations from the floor will be in order. Mr. Cozart said.

This is also the important time of the year when each member has a voice in adopting our county resolutions and, as always, it is our objective to give every member an opportunity to help develop Farm Bureau Policies at the grass root level. This way, each member can help to decide the policies of our county, state, and national organization for the coming year. Mr. Cozart said.

Mr. Cozart said that if you want your opinions heard, the right policies in force, and the best man to represent you, you must participate by attending this annual meeting. It's an exercise in democracy. Husbands and wives are both entitled to vote.

All members are urged to attend and visitors are always welcome. Refreshments will be served. Door prizes will be given.

INDIAN SUMMER

One of the most beautiful and peaceful seasons of the year is at hand. We know it as "Indian Summer"--a short period of pleasant weather, characterized by an almost cloudless sky, calm light air, a hazy atmosphere, and mild temperature in the daytime.

In place of autumnal cold, the genial influence of warm summery days and mellow sunshine are felt for a time. It is preceded by squaw winter when the temperature first dips below the freezing point.

The nights have grown colder and longer, and the retreating sun has entered the sign of the Scorpion. Birds are sailing through the leaden air from ice-bound desolate northern bays to the shores of warmer lands.

Harvests have been gathered and the wild winds of autumn wrestle the trees of the forest. All signs point to a long winter.

Bees, with prophetic instinct of want, have hoarded their honey until hives overflow. The fur is thick on animals of the wood; squirrels and birds have stocked well their winter-homes.

Then follows that beautiful season of "Indian Summer". Peace seems to reign upon earth, and the restless heart of the ocean seems for a moment consoled. All sounds are in harmony blended.

Voices of children at play, the crowing of cocks in the farm yards, the whir of wings in the drowsy air, the cooing of doves--all are subdued and low as the murmur of love.

The great sun looks with a kindly eye through the golden vapors around him. While arrayed in its robes of russet, scarlet and yellow, bright with the sheen of the dew, each glittering tree of the forest flashes as if adorned with a mantle of jewels.

Indian Summer is an interlude of peace and quiet and beauty, to be appreciated and enjoyed by all who believe that Nature is kind and generous. It is the one touch of Nature that makes much of the world kin.

for your child's safety

Thousands of children are the victims of terrible accidents every year, many of them unavoidable. But, according to Dr. Albert H. Domm, child safety specialist and medical director of the Prudential Insurance Company, many tragedies could be averted by clear, demonstrative parental warnings.

"The most important aspect of teaching youngsters proper safety habits is to be sure to associate the danger with the warning or admonishment," Dr. Domm stresses. "Too often, pre-school children don't connect disciplinary action with the behavior that prompts it."

As an example, he points out the hypothetical case of the tot who was told by his mother that he would be spanked if he went into the street. Thus, the next time the tot crossed the street, instead of looking for traffic, he glanced back over his shoulder to see if his mother was watching, and was struck by a car.

"You see," says Dr. Domm, "the child was fearful only of a spanking, and was not aware of the real danger -- the automobile."

He reminds parents that in addition to making the danger clear to their young ones, they must protect and teach them through action and example.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Money By Mistake

Martin took a $37.50 check to the bank to be cashed. But the teller, absentmindedly overlooking the decimal point, counted out $3,750. Martin accepted the money without a word and went home rejoicing.

But his joy did not last long. The bank discovered the mistake, reclaimed the money, and then had Martin arrested on a charge of larceny.

At the trial, he pleaded not guilty. "It was their error, not mine," he reasoned. "They gave me that money of their own free will."

Nevertheless, the court ruled that Martin was indeed guilty of larceny. The court said he committed the crime by taking money that he knew wasn't his, fully intending to keep it.

Courts generally agree. In the view of the law, an accidental overpayment is supposed to be handed back at once.

But what if Martin had accepted the money in all innocence, not discovering the error until he got home? If he decided at that point to keep it, would he be guilty of larceny?

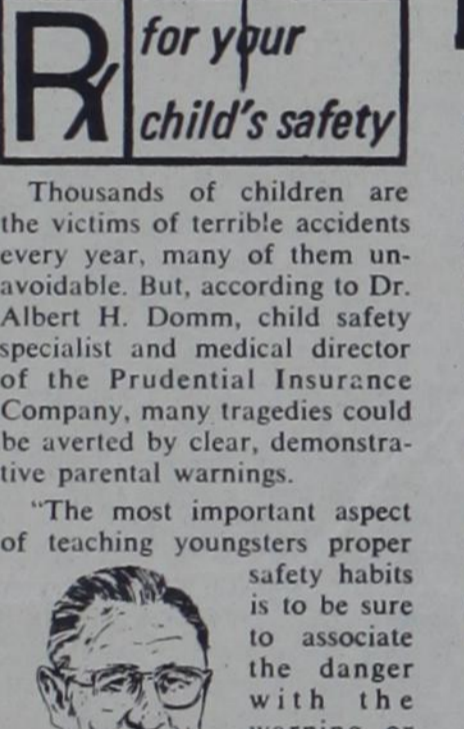

Many courts say no, although he would probably be guilty of a lesser offense. As one judge explained, larceny technically involves a dishonest purpose at the very moment of taking.

Nor is it larceny if someone takes another person's property under the mistaken—but reasonable—belief that he has a legal right to do so.

That kind of a case arose when a landlady noticed that one of her roomers had spilled ink on a carpet. To make sure he would pay for cleaning the carpet, she took a watch out of his room as security.

As a matter of law, she had no claim on the watch. But when the roomer had her haled into court on a charge of larceny, the judge found her not guilty. The judge said she had acted in good faith, without the slightest intention of keeping the watch for herself.

This is an Editorial appearing in the Palo Pinto County Advance several years ago. I would like to share it with all those of Our Community.

"Nearly every businessman complains of at least one ulcer. Think how many ulcers the poor businessman would have if he worked under the same circumstances as the average minister?"

Just suppose, Mr. Businessman, that you were overseer of 100 workers. Just suppose only 50% of them ever showed up for work at a given time and only 25% could be relied upon.

Suppose that every time a simple flash of lightning appeared in the sky a large number of your workers pulled the covers over their heads and failed to report for duty.

Suppose your workers only worked when they felt like it, and yet you must be very sweet and never fire one of them. To get them back to work you must beg them, plead with them, pat them on the back and use every means under the sun to persuade them without offending them.

And suppose you were in competition with a notorious rascal, the devil, who has no scruples, and is far more clever than you are and uses such attractive things as fishing rods, guns, soft pillows, television and a thousand other things to attract your customers.

And suppose you had to depend upon your own work force for operating capital to carry on the biggest business in the world... and they only gave when they "felt led".

How many ulcers would you have?"

Are you an active member. The kind that would be missed.

Or are you just content That your name is on the list? Do you attend the meetings. And mingle with the flock. Or do you stay at home

And criticize and knock? Do you ever work on committees.

To see there is no trick? Or leave the work to just a few

And talk about the clique? So come to meetings often And help with hand and heart.

Don't be just a member But take an active part. Anonymous

Many of our members and friends are recovering from illness, we wish and pray for all a speedy recovery. Don't hesitate to call the pastor, if you feel the need of someone to assist you. We would want each of you who has been missing the worship services as of late to know we do miss you!

Hubert Taylor, Pastor

To know God as He really is, is to want readily to worship and serve Him. He reveals Himself in three ways: in creation (Psalm 19:1-6; Romans 1:18-23) in the conscience (Romans 2:12-16) and through Jesus Christ (John 14:7-9). The latter phase of this revelation of, and from God, is transmitted and preserved in the Scriptures (Psalm 19:7-14; Hebrews 1:1-2; 2 Timothy 3:16-17) and these explain to us who the Creator is, the origin and reason behind the conscience, and the way by which we can please God. We can be thrilled by the majesty and beauty of nature and we can be troubled by the agonies of conscience, but the picture is incomplete without the written Revelation.

Be with us on Sunday morning at 9:30 for detailed Bible Study as well as on Wednesday evening at 7:30 and in the Assemblies on Sunday at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Ladies Bible class is Wednesday at 9:45 a.m.

We appreciated the presence of many visitors Sunday, here for the Homecoming. Plans are being laid for a Homecoming for all former members of the Church of Christ in Rising Star, to coincide with the High School Homecoming next year, but on Sunday.

Our sympathy goes out to all the relatives among us, and others, of Otto Adams who passed away last Friday.

Our sick seem to be on the mend. Douglas Walker came home from the Eastland Hospital Wednesday and is doing fine. He was with us Sunday morning. Lovie Jarrell is much better, following her auto accident in Baytown recently. Her address is c/o Homer Sandefer, Box 281, Baytown, Texas 77520. Willie Hughes is back home, having returned Friday evening, but is still quite weak. U.Z. Aaron is much better and was able to be at church both Sunday morning and evening. Norene Rust is doing fine and was also able to be at church Sunday. Mrs. Matilda Elliott had several bad days last week. Etta Mae Tyler is slightly improved. A son-in-law of Alice Rucker recently underwent surgery. The cast is now off Lorene Cox's arm.

Some will be attending Homecoming activities this week at Abilene Christian College. Have a good week. Call on us if we can serve in any way. ---Owen Aikin

I read of a man who said, "When I used to walk to get some place, car drivers were a menace to the human race! But now that I, too, drive a car, I discover what fools pedestrians are."

How much like the testimony of many who become a Christian. "Before I accepted Jesus Christ as my savior I thought being in church a drag, tithing to the Lord's work fanatical, saying no to the bad habits narrow mindedness, being in a Bible study and praying together boring. Now I find church going a worship experience, tithing a privilege, saying no to bad habits rewarding and Bible study and prayer strengthening.

This is what Paul expressed, "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creation; old things are passed away; behold all things are become new."

What's new for you today? This Saturday a special program of interest to all will be presented over Abilene KTXS, channel 12 from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m.

The Cisco Baptist Association is helping to sponsor this telecast. At the Sunday morning service "How to Invest in God's Program" is another study by the pastor in the Sermon on the Mount.

School Lunch Program Has 28th Celebration

National School Lunch Week, an annual celebration recognizing the National School Lunch Program, is set for Oct. 13-19.

The week, as proclaimed by President Ford, is to recognize this program that provides nutritious and well-balanced meals to more than 26 million children across the nation.

This U.S. Department of Agriculture program is in its 28th year of operation. In Texas last year about 1,387,000 students in more than 5,000 schools ate the school lunch daily.

Recent national goals of the National School Lunch Program include extending the program's benefits to schools that do not have lunch or other food programs for their students. And there is a stepped up effort to increase student participation at schools that already have a lunch program.

As the President said in his proclamation, "Only healthy, well-nourished students can realize their fullest mental and physical potential and transform equality of opportunity from an ideal into a reality".

The National School Lunch Program is administered in Texas by the Texas Education Agency in cooperation with USDA's Food and Nutrition Service.

Turn Lilliston loose on your peanut crop—
Count on the highest possible harvest returns

Lilliston 1500 Peanut Combine

It has been called as near perfect a machine as ever built. Few implements of any kind anywhere have been as effective, as versatile, as dependable as the Lilliston 1500. That's why there are far more of them picking the world's peanuts than any other combine made.

Sixty-four years of peanut production experience are squarely behind this world-famous Combine. Proof enough that it will pick better, work more dependably, last longer and trade higher—a combination that can only build bigger profits for you.

Lilliston 6000 Hi-Cap Peanut Combine

Here is a completely new dimension in peanut combining, a working concept that goes far beyond anything else operating in peanuts today. The capacity of the Hi-Cap 6000 is massive. In many conditions the 6000 will harvest at twice the speeds of conventional units.

Besides being engineered for greater harvesting capacity, the Hi-Cap lowers pod damage and produces superior cleaning. This is the big one—the super harvester—first, fast and in all ways superior to any other harvester in the field.

 The satisfying warmth of a fire after the crisp coolness of the outdoors;
 This is autumn.

Football, Homecoming, Halloween, bonfires and pep rallies;

All these remind us of the end of summer.

But who really cares?
 Man rests assured that it will return
 And enjoys the change in seasons.

Autumn is a time of harvest, of memories, of preparations.
 Autumn is a time of life.

TODAY NOT TOMORROW

Wasn't Homecoming the best? It was really fun working all week on floats and signs. The High School was decorated in great splendor. We hope everyone enjoyed the festivities.

This week we play Eden at Wildcat Stadium. Our guys have been doing great and I'm sure everyone wants to see this game.

After a week of getting out of class to decorate it's really been hard to study much. In American History we've started studying Chapter eight. We have been working with work sheets in Bookkeeping.

That's all for this week
 Marilyn

MOVIN' RIGHT ALONG

Hi! I hope you all had a nice homecoming and enjoyed the parade. We kids sure did work hard this week, painting signs, working on our floats, decorating the halls, and fighting over turf. We haven't had any classes hardly this week. So, I guess that's about all for this week.

See ya' around,
 Gwen

IN THE FISHBOWL

Hello "Fish" fans! Well the Homecoming was a big success. The Wildcats beat Richland Springs 26-0. This means that the Wildcats are 1-0 in District play. Sharon Wilson was crowned Football sweetheart. The stands were full and everyone had a lot of spirit. The freshmen float didn't get a prize but in all of our hearts we know the "fish" had a good float. Thank you for working on the float, freshmen!

This week we play Eden. The hardest game of the year. If we win we will probably win district. But one step at a time. Well I better hush for this week---Just remember what's the good word?"

Beat Eden!

 Jeanne

TOWARD NEW HORIZONS

Hi, everyone and I hope you're having a wonderful week. The F.H.A. boys and girls seem to be having a blast. The Homemaking I girls are studying food nutrients, diseases and vitamins. Listen real close girls it may come in handy some day. Homemaking II girls are working with fruits and vegetables, when are you going to cook dinner for us?

The Home and Family Living students are in the process of learning about marriage mates and the problems connected with these. The H.E.C.E. class members are working on the assignments connected with their jobs, and are still working on repairing toys for the kindergarten children. We still need any old toys you may have that are repairable.

Work on the float was held at the Ware Feed Mill. Denise Willett, our President, presided over the work. We have had a good response to our newspaper and aluminum can drive and would like to thank you again and ask for your continued support.

See ya next week,
 Bonnie

TRUCKIN' ON

Hi!
 This week has really been hectic. Everyone loves Homecoming, but I'm one person who is glad to see it over with.

We haven't done too much this week with Homecoming at its peak. We have only been scribbling a little bit. The workbooks are filled with a lot of pep and everyone is full of spirit.

Have a nice day
 Pam

WILDCAT COUNTRY

Hello Wildcat fans after a happy Homecoming. The Cats opened district play with a 26-0 win over Richland Springs. The Cats really played good and made the Rising Star Exes feel good to come home. The parade and pep rally were real good and you could feel the spirit in the air. The Cats are now 3-2-1 on the season and 1-0 in district play.

This week Rising Star plays probably the toughest team they will meet this year. They play the Eden Bulldogs here in Wildcat Stadium. Eden is rated 9th in the State by the Harris Poll and only lost to no. 3 rated Bronte. They are 5-1 on the season and opened district with a 19-0 win over Gorman. It ought to be a good game and we will really need a big crowd as this game might decide the West Zone of District 6-B. Game time is 7:30. Be out there and bring some spirit.

Back the Cats,
 Ken

"Specs" In A New Frame

By B.A.B.

The question has often been asked, "What is the space program worth to justify what it costs?";

Now comes a Rising Star native -- Dr. Charles M. Barnes, a space scientist high in the councils of NASA at Houston -- to point to one direct and substantial dividend to this area, a dividend indicative of many others that contribute to the well-being of people around the globe. He was here last Saturday to speak to fellow Exes of Rising Star High School at their annual Homecoming and also to appear on Harry Holt's farm show over KRBC - TV at Abilene.

Dr. Barnes is in charge of the Health Application Services of NASA at the Johnson Space Center, meaning that he directs projects having to do with the application of space technology to problems of environment affecting food supplies, disease prevention and the general welfare of people.

Of direct interest to the agricultural economy of this area is a five-year international pilot program to assist in the eradication of the screwworm, a pest responsible for millions of dollars in annual losses to the livestock producers of the United States and Mexico. It should be pointed out that Dr. Barnes and his co-workers are not charged with the elimination of the parent fly. That is the work of the Agriculture Departments and allied agencies. The objective of the NASA people is to develop a technique that will help these agencies do a better and cheaper job by utilizing the vast, almost magical information gathering resources of the space satellite system.

Strategy for control of screwworm infestation in the U.S. is presently based upon maintaining a broad "barrier belt" extending from Brownsville to San Diego along the Mexico - United States border. Taking into account among others the fact that the female screwworm fly will accept only one mate, agricultural scientists have devised a technique for dropping great masses of flies sterilized by radiation into "barrier belt" zones where a preponderance of neutralized males mate with females. The infertile eggs do not hatch and the generation dies out, or at least the progeny is so reduced that infestation is minimal.

But the barrier is costly to maintain and it leaves unprotected vast areas of Mexico through which new swarms of the fly constantly assault the protective strip. The five-year program that Barnes is directing is aimed at pushing the barrier into the narrow, isthmus-like boundary of Mexico and Central America, an area which contains the warm coastal regions to Mexico which the fly is native. Success in this and the other economies made possible would result in a saving of at least $25 millions annually in the cost of the treatment alone, Dr. Barnes estimates.

To accomplish this it is necessary to chart accurately and day by day bodies of infestation and the emigration routes followed by the flies as they move northward in search of the wounded livestock necessary as hosts to their eggs. The techniques by which this charting can be accomplished is basically an evaluation of broad-ranged temperature studies. The screwworm fly is very sensitive to slight variations of weather heat. Below 58 degrees, points out Dr. Barnes, the fly is dormant, and above that within a certain spectrum it becomes ranging and aggressive.

In the United States this regional temperature mapping is possible because of the large number of U.S. weather stations. But in middle Mexico there are very few. To accomplish the NASA objective under such conditions it would be necessary to constantly "seed" most of the national area of Mexico, a project so vast in degree and expense to be entertained. It would multiply to an unacceptable magnitude what already exists with respect to the present barrier.

In this extremity the remarkable, almost unbelievable information gathering resources of the space satellite, with its eye fixed upon a belt of earth hundreds of miles below it, comes into use. Believe it or not, the sensors in such a satellite can map such minute differentials of temperature and humidity, among other miracles of recognition, that the result reads like the veriest science fiction.

For practically no expense once the satellite is in orbit, it scans the earth for a constant stream of day to day information which it transmits to computer memory banks below. Out of this encyclopedic fund scientists working a variety of purposes can program patterns of information specified to their needs. The information is withdrawn in the form of "electronic images" similar to television pictures, but much more critical because they are strung upon lines numbering 1,000 to the inch as compared with TV's 420. From these charts, color-coded or in black or white, studies of insect habits, animal life, water resources and their quality, forestry and range characteristics, soils, topographical features and a multitude of other data may be accomplished. The satellite sensors, recording in terms of temperature and humidity variations, can distinguish desert and grass lands, soil types, salt and salt water and definitions of murkiness or pollution, forest characteristics such as pine or hardwood areas, dry areas and areas wet with rain, coastal and warm regions ideal for mosquitoes, and many other details.

For their purposes, Dr. Barnes and his staff program electronic images to show temperature differentials over the regions under study. By applying certain known factors to the "charts", such as the effect of temperature levels upon screwworm flies, a scientist can develop accurate information about areas of heaviest infestation, corridors of migration, etc., which will enable the people charged with eradication practices to apply their techniques more selectively and efficiently. A lot of expense otherwise wasted upon uninfested sectors is saved.

Meanwhile the accuracy of satellite-obtained data is spot-checked by a grid of observation posts on the ground. The project has been under way a comparatively short time but the results so far are promising. At the end of the five-year pilot period the surveillance, if proved successful, will be turned over to agencies charged with the eradication work.

This is only one aspect of a space agency program of many facets. Its success portends extension of its techniques to mosquito control, to control of the tsetse fly in Africa and to many other environmental problems of health and welfare.

Dr. Barnes has never flown in a space ship. But he is one of that number of dedicated men and women who are utilizing the practical values of heroic space episodes in application to human needs and problems, a harvest of benefits being realized all too far from the recognition it deserves.

"Braceros" Needed In West Texas

A survey made by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in September reveals that over 55,000 Mexican National "Braceros" agriculture workers are needed in the 132 county West Texas area.

Three hundred and seventy five agriculture loan officers of banks and county agents in West Texas were asked: "If a good, workable, new bracero program could be worked out between Mexico and the United States, how many braceros do you estimate would be needed in your county?"

A tabulation of the replies from 112 of the 132 West Texas counties indicates a need for 55,854 bracero agriculture workers.

In a letter to President Gerald R. Ford dated Oct. 3, J. Fike Godfrey, executive vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, stated that "over a year ago on August 1, 1973, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce formally called for a reinstatement of the bracero program and, at that time, urged the West Texas members of Congress and the two Texas senators to work for the establishment of a workable program."

"The 132 West Texas counties produce approximately 55% of Texas agriculture income and using this percentage as a projection for the state, it would seem to indicate that Texas agriculture might be able to use as many as 100,000 bracero agriculture workers."

The survey was made as a direct result of a newspaper wire service story on August 7 from Mexico City quoting the American Embassy's reply to the Mexican Government's request for reinstatement of a bracero-type program. The American position was outlined in a press statement issued by the embassy in reply to the Mexican proposal for an agreement on June 19. The American press statement noted, "very limited numbers of imported workers are needed by the United States....There exists a serious unemployment situation among farm workers in the United States...."

In his letter to President Ford, the WTCC executive vice president stated that "the results of the survey would seem to indicate that the American Embassy in Mexico and people close to agriculture in West Texas hold two widely different views on the availability and need for agriculture workers."

President Luis Echeverria of Mexico has been quoted in a recent newspaper wire service story from Harlingen that "he would like to send as many as 300,000 workers to the United States."

In another wire service story from Mexico, President Echeverria announced in Mexico City that he soon will meet with President Ford at the Mexican-American border to discuss American migrant workers in the United States. "We will discuss the bracero problem", Echeverria said.

"Because of this announced meeting between you and President Echeverria, and the upcoming discussion on the bracero program," Mr. Godfrey wrote, "the West Texas Chamber of Commerce felt the survey results would be helpful to you."

Accompanying the letter were supporting data and material on the actual survey which included a map of the service area of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; a sample survey form; a tabulation of the returns by Texas counties; and some unsolicited comments returned with the survey.

Wilda Jean Erwin, Belinda Roland and Linda Rogers of Hobbs, New Mexico, were down over the weekend for Homecoming and visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M.J. Dukes.

Use at least the amount of detergent recommended on the package, perhaps a little more to compensate for the limitations of cold water. A bleach substitute such as Borateem Plus is a big help, too.

If you plan to use cold water washing to conserve energy, it may be necessary to take extra steps to achieve satisfactory results.

Do not overload the washer, for that limits the cleaning action of the machine. But do wait for full loads to accumulate to save energy.
