Says Back to Texas For Him If He is Not Sent to France
---Wants Green Tomatoes

Syracuse, New York,
August 4 1917.

Mr. Charles P. Ross,
Dear editor and friends:

I will endeavor to write a few more words to the paper and tell all of you the 9th Regiment is still in the U. S. A. but listening for orders to get out at any time

I am still enjoying good health and having plenty of excitement but would enjoy the pleasure of being at home just a few days now more than any place I know.

We have been having some extremely hot weather up here lately. There has been lots of people died here from sun stroke.

We have been making three hikes a week. We leave camp at 8 o'clock in the morning and come in at 11:30. We don't get any water to drink until we come in, so you see they are trying to make real soldiers of us.

I guess Odell will look a little blank when the boys are called in for duty. I think if we are not shipped to France right away that we will be sent back south. If so, Texas for me.

Good luck and best wishes to all,

John F. Lowry,
Co. A 9th Inf.

P. S.—Is A. P. Morris still handling green tomatoes? If so have him to send me a "batch"

Mass Meeting Set for Saturday Evening

Effort Will be Made to Institute Red Cross Work in Odell

The Reporter has been requested to announce that there will be a Mass Meeting at the Odell Methodist church Saturday evening at five o'clock. The purpose of the meeting being to establish an auxiliary Red Cross branch of the Chapter that is at work in this county. And thereby institute Red Cross work in Odell and vicinity.

A delegation of Red Cross workers will be here from Vernon to explain the work and assist in the organization and it is desired that a good attendance will greet them, not only made up of those who live in Odell, but people of the surrounding country. For Red Cross work opens an avenue through which those who stay at home, while our country is at war can be of assistance, while the khaki clad boys shoulder the gun.

A Red Cross representative of Vernon who was here this week, named the following ladies of this community as an arrangement committee. Each of these ladies will receive instructions by mail as to the general work assigned them

The committee follows:
Mesdames. W. M. Scott, R. E. Burns, G. M. Still, J. W. Tombs, J. R. Huie and Miss Maude Ross.

Mrs. Hardy of Martha, Oklahoma, is visiting the families of B. D. Smith and W. W. Matthews

Odell Soldier Boys Dine With Friends at Condon Springs

Chickens, Pies And Cakes, Spread on Green Lawn Enjoyed

The Odell division of the Wilbarger County guards were again made to realize this week, that in offering their service as a soldier for the country, in order that a world-wide democracy might be established, that their comfort and pleasure were considered in a measure, by their mothers, fathers, and friends at home.

On Monday evening of this week, the ladies whose names are listed below, in company with several of Odell and country surrounding, met the Odell soldier boys at Condon Springs, and there on the pretty bermuda lawn that surrounds the gushing springs, spread and ate supper with them, possibly for the last time, with some of the division.

An abundance of fried chicken pies and cakes, and many other good things that are palatable to an appetite was spread, and the soldier boys were given a convenient place at the table as honor guests at the meal.

Mrs. Mark Burch, as a member of the Baptist Ladies Aid Society at this place, in an appropriate manner presented several of the boys with a New Testament, informing them it was a little remembrance of the Society, and admonished them to refer to the little book, when in doubt as to the right course to take in war-life.

Short speeches were also made to the soldier boys and members of the party, by Messrs. Parnell and Nichols of Vernon, and Dr. W. D. Herring of Odell.

At the Springs, the same evening, a short distance from the Odell crowd, a little party from the Fargo neighborhood, consisting of loved ones and friends of the Fargo soldiers, spread the white linen on the green lawn, relieved the baskets of the good eatables, and partook of the dainties in picnic fashion.

Among the ladies from the Odell community who prepared supper for boys at the picnic were:

Mesdames. W. P. Starr, W. M. Scott, W. W. Matthews, J. W. Tombs, Ida Turner, J. C. Hughes, Roy Bell, H. A. Bell, D. C. Vasey, Mark Burch, S. B. Starr, C. E. Foster, I. M. Fulcher, Willie Tombs, J. C. Tidmore, G. M. Still, A. C. Daniel, W. D. Herring, Ed White, Luther Worley, J. C. Mitchell, R. T. Dooley.

S. W. Gable and family left this week for Tahoka, to visit W. J. Johnson and family.

Many Attended Jackson Spring Annual Ass'n.

Many Noted Elders of Church Occupy Pulpit During Meeting

According to a statement made by a local citizen, and who is reckoned as one of the leading members of the Primitive Baptist church in this section, the Association of the Old Baptist that closed at Jackson Springs Sunday, was one of the most harmonious and peaceful sessions that has been held at the tabernacle. The attendance this year too, was estimated to be equally as large as that of last summer.

As the Reporter explained last week, it is a rule of the denomination each year for one of the churches included in the Association, to entertain the other members, it was voted that meeting be held with the Jackson Spring church next year.

Among the prominent ministers of the gospel who were present at this last Association and occupied the pulpit during the meeting were:

Elders Ira Hollis; Ivy Caldwell of Rocky, Oklahoma; Phipp, of Wellington; L. J. McCarty, of Roaring Springs; and J. B. Little, of Abbott, Arkansas.

J. V. Scott and wife are making preparations to move back to Dallas, which was their home before moving here something like a year ago.

Miss Geneva Hatcheson of Quanah is visiting friends in the community.

Pastor Announces Tonight, Fri. And Sat. Night Will be Children's Service

The Methodist revival at the church, under the leadership of pastor Rev. R. E. Burns, continues with a fair size attendance at both the day and night services.

Just when the meeting will close, the Reporter is not in position to state, but according to a statement made by Rev. Burns in the pulpit, during the meeting, the revival may be going on when frost comes, as he says he is on the job to fight sin in Odell and community.

Rev. Burns has designated three night sessions this week for children services, which will be tonight, Friday night and Saturday night.

Red River Teacher Elected

T. A. Hamilton was in town the first of the week and informed the Reporter editor, that the school board of the Red River district, of which he is a member, closed a contract last week with Miss Ruth Hester, of Plains Texas, to teach their school this next session. Mr. Hamilton also says, Miss Hester is an experienced teacher and has been well recommended to them. He also stated, that since several families would move out of that community this next year and thereby cut down the attendance of the school, that they would only employ one teacher.

We haven't seen a home-grown watermelon this summer.

"Vernon has a shortage of water. Mayor Bonner has requested the citizens to discontinue lawn sprinkling altogether. At Altus the town is too dry to mention. All laundry has to be sent away, and the sewerage system has for months been put out of commission. Quanah and Childress are suffering from the disease. At Crowell the situation in some respects is a little better—cisterns are plentiful, but two thirds of them are practically empty. Its a pity these towns are not blessed with abundance of water like Chillicothe.—Chillicothe News"

Yes and like your nearest neighbor to the north News. When you think of water that ought to remind you of Odell. Since we have often heard our little city referred to as "the water town on the Orient". Practically all this summer a day and night pumper have been busy at the water station, pumping "aqua" to the surface to be shipped out by the car load

How often at a funeral have you heard the expression: "He was a good man," and how often did you hear that expression when the corpse was alive. Maybe you said that same thing of several corpses. Why did you wait? It didn't make the corpse happier; it would have made the living man much happier. Did you dislike him living, and wait till he was dead to say a good word for him? If so, and your neighbors knew of your animosity can you blame them for looking upon you as something of a hypocrite? The dead need no encomiums. If the living man deserves no praise, his dead body does not. In doing unto others as you would have others do unto you, a kindly word are among your duties. Kind words are among the brightest buds of flowers for the living; kind deeds are the full blown roses.—West News.

Saved and Lost

It does not follow that "a penny saved is a penny earned." Much depends upon what the penny is saved from and what it is saved for. A penny or a dollar saved when it ought to have been spent or given away, is really lost; lost in the most hopeless fashion. So with time and strength. One may save time and conserve energy by narrowing his interests in life. Thus one man cuts out church-going in order that he may have more time for other things; another gives up his Sunday school class for the sake of selfish enjoyment—still another drops out of active helpfulness because such service tires him too much. The question, however, remains as to which kind of labor is best entitled to tax us. The spirit of love glorifies not in what it gives God has no blessings for the bargain hunting spirit. What we get cheaply is a cheap thing after we get it—at least so far as our souls are concerned.—George Clark Peck.

Conservation our Only Hope

Joseph was the first conservator of food. He was also the first exponent of government control of food supplies and prices. He was the Hoover of Egypt. He was Pharaoh's secretary of agriculture. He foresaw the coming famine. He urged and enforced food conservation. He also kicked out the food speculator and established government storage plants. Then when the famine came he supplied the people under a system of government distribution and at government prices. It saved the nation and protected the people from robbery by food shysters. It may be that we shall have to come to this in modern times. Government storage plants—or storage plants under government control. Prices regulated by the cost of production, so that the producer and distributor would be held to a margin of reasonable profits and the consumer saved from graft and extortion. Why not? Here are some suggestive facts: The people are paying from $5 to $10 a ton for coal. The government gets it at $3. The newspapers are paying from 3 to 7 cents a pound for print paper. The government is getting it at 2 1/2 cents. The people are paying from $7.50 to $15 a pair for shoes. The government is getting the best made army shoes at $4.73 a pair. The greed and graft of those controlling commodities of necessity may yet force a policy of general government control by which the government will become purchasing and selling agent for the people.—The Texarkanian.

We talked with a farmer on the streets the other day who was "down in the dumps" from reason of dry weather and the outlook of the cotton crop in the country. The same day we approached another fellow with a down cast look who feared that cotton would waste in the fields this fall, because drafting the young men in the army would bring about a shortage of labor. A number of us this way are crossing the bridges before we get to them. And for the sake of those who try to see the silver lining in every cloud, its a moral duty on the part of each of us, to try and look at the bright side of a question instead of throwing a shadow in the optimistic fellow's light. While it is true that a number of us at this season of the year, have seen better prospects for a cotton crops in the country than there are now. But if we wish to take a brighter view of the situation, we can remember there are chances of there being a late late frost this season, and if such be the case, with a little moisture, there is ample time for a good cotton crop to be raised in the country yet. As to the gentlemen's case who sees a shortage of labor because of the draft measure, that's a conditional proposition too. According to official notice, the new national army will be called out for training service about September 1st. There were something near ten million young men between the ages of 21 and 31 who registered in June. Out of that number the Government only wants 687,000 in the first call and they will be taken from all portions of the United States. Most every year when we grow a fair size cotton crop, young men and men with families drift this way to help us gather it. Then why shouldn't they this fall? Since only a small per cent of the young men who registered, who follow cotton picking, will be in the army when we need them.

Life Was a Misery

Mrs. F. M. Jones, of Palmer, Okla., writes: "From the time I entered into womanhood . . . I looked with dread from one month to the next. I suffered with my back and bearing-down pain, until life to me was a misery. I would think I could not endure the pain any longer, and I gradually got worse. . . Nothing seemed to help me until, one day, . . . I decided to

The Woman's Tonic

"I took four bottles," Mrs. Jones goes on to say, "and was not only greatly relieved, but can truthfully say that I have not a pain. . . . It has now been two years since I took Cardui, and I am still in good health. . . I would advise any woman or girl to use Cardui who is a sufferer from any female trouble."

If you suffer pain caused from womanly trouble, or if you feel the need of a good strengthening tonic to build up your run-down system, take the advice of Mrs. Jones. Try Cardui. It helped her. We believe it will help you.

OFF TO MARKET

Consistent with our policy to always be in the lead and to serve our customers with the very best merchandise obtainable, our Mr. Roy C. Russell together with three other buyers in the interest of our 3 Big Stores leave this week on a buying tour to the Eastern Markets where they will complete the purchase of Fall Merchandise. Our buyers visit all the recognized Market Centers in the East including St. Louis, Chicago, and New York City. There they get in touch with everything that goes with Modern Merchandising and nothing is passed up that would tend to help us serve our customers more efficiently.

Another thing of great importance, we take all Cash Discounts Possible, this with our consolidated buying facilities enables us in turn to make the best prices possible on strictly fresh from the Mill High Grade Merchandise. As most of you know we operate one of the largest and most up-to-date Department Stores in southwestern Oklahoma at Altus, and another at Tipton, Okla., this enables us to make our purchases direct from the mills in large quantities thereby effecting savings that will in the long run affect you.

To sum it all up in short our first Fall Opening Display will be an exhibit of one of the most complete stocks of Men's Clothing' Mens and Ladies' Furnishings and Shoes for the entire family, ever arrayed in Odell, or its territory. The styles right up to the minute at prices that will appeal to the most discriminate. Some of our contracts for merchandise to be delivered this fall were made in some instances a year ago, in the face of the present unsettled condition this has become an important factor.

We earnestly solicit a liberal share of your patronage. We list below a few prices on merchandise in demand at present.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

F. A. Vanderlip On The Business of Banking

The farmers of this nation to come into their own must study business. We must, as a class, understand the fundamental principles that underlie every industry. Its functions to society and its relation to agriculture for there can be no intelligent co-operation without understanding. Mr. F. A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank of New York, when asked "What is a Bank" said in part:

"The first and most familiar function of a bank is that of gathering up the idle money of a community small sums and large, and thus forming a pool or reservoir upon which responsible persons may draw as they have temporary use for money. It is evident that this makes large sums in the aggregate available for the employment of labor and the development of the community. But much more is accomplished than the use of the money actually deposited in the banks, for by the use of drafts, checks and bank notes the efficiency of money is multiplied several times over. A very large business, for example one of the great beef packers, may use very little actual money; on one side of its bank account will be entered the checks and drafts it is daily receiving from everywhere in payment for meats, while on the other side will be entered the checks it draws in payment for cattle, etc., its only use of money being for small payments, to labor and otherwise.

If there were but one bank in a community and everybody paid bills by drawing checks on that bank, and everyone receiving a check immediately deposited it in the bank, the amount of money in the bank evidently would not change at all and the entire business of the community would be settled on the books of the bank. And the situation is but slightly changed when there are several banks, for they daily exchange among themselves all the checks they receive on each other, which practically offset themselves, although the small balances are paid in cash. This is called 'clearing' and in every large city there is a 'Clearing House' where representatives of the banks meet daily to settle their accounts with each other.

A bank is constantly receiving from its customers, particularly those that are shipping products to other localities, drafts and checks drawn on banks in other cities, which it usually sends for deposit to a few correspondent banks in the central cities with which it maintains permanent accounts. In this way these scattered credits are consolidated and the bank draws upon these accounts in supplying customers with the means of making payments away from home. As each local community sells and buys about the same amount abroad in the course of a year, these payments largely offset each other. It is evident that the banks are very intimately related to the trade and industry of a country. The banker is a dealer in credit much more than a dealer in money, and of course his own credit must be above question. He exchanges his credit for the credits acquired by his customers, and lends credit for their accommodation, but he must conduct the business with such judgment that he can always meet his own obligations with cash on demand. This is the essential thing about bank credit, that it shall always be the same as cash."

Very Serious It is a very serious matter to ask for one medicine and have the wrong one given you. For this reason we urge you in buying to be careful to get the genuine— THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine The reputation of this old, reliable medicine, for constipation, indigestion and liver trouble, is firmly established. It does not imitate other medicines. It is better than others, or it would not be the favorite liver powder, with a larger sale than all others combined. SOLD IN TOWN
