SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

It was the perfect spot for an upset, an event that is more common this young football season than rare. Texas Tech had just flown high to defeat Texas. Baylor had upset Oklahoma State the week after the Cowboys had upset Arkansas, which had upset Southern Cal.

And when Charlie Weatherbie sliced around the right side for 40 yards and a touchdown on OSU's first possession, there were dark mutterings of oh, no, not this week.

Fortunately, lightning failed to strike, but not before West Texans lost inches off their fingernails from biting hard. It was that type of game right up to the final whistle.

Of course the actual difference in the game were two placements by Brian Hall and Sam Lisle being stopped by Curtis Jordan and Randy Olson at the goal line on a try for two points in the third quarter. Indeed, had Lisle gone in, it's doubtful that Tech would have won.

But there were other key things. Looming large was the freak pass play that bounced oblique off to Pat Felix, who made a first down at the OSU 7. That led to a touchdown.

There were two missed field goal attempts by Abby Daigle, either of which would have turned the tide for the Cowboys.

Then there was great punting by David Kuykendall, especially a punt from the Tech 20 to the OSU 38—against the wind 42 yards—with 8:43 left in the game. A bad punt and zap! That could have been the ball game.

There also was the punt by Kuykendall into the wind with only 47 seconds left, with the Cowpokes rushing 10 men. They forced the kick, but Kuykendall got it to the OSU 33, a key 32 yarder.

At this point J.T. King remarked that he hoped OSU thought it had to pass. The Cowboys immediately obliged, throwing three times in vain. OSU would have been deadly with a passer. Instead, they had no completions in 10 attempts, with two intercepted.

After the game a writer asked Jim Carlen whether he had been worried when Daigle tried a 68-yard field goal. "Are you kidding?" Jim exclaimed. "Listen, I was on the field before the game and I was watching their punters and field goal kickers. They put the ball on our 46—that's 64 yards—and he kicked two out of three sky high through the uprights. Worried? You bet I was. For a little guy, I never saw anyone with a stronger leg."

Somebody else asked Carlen if he didn't think that Tech had been fortunate in getting the breaks.

"You're always glad to get breaks," he replied, "but I think a lot of that is due to the way a team plays. We had one turnover tonight, which is what we averaged per game last year."

"But after awhile, a good team believes that when good things happen, they're going to keep on happening."

No, it wasn't an impressive victory, but it was a victory—and it could just as easily have been a loss. The Raiders played well, all things considered. They weren't nearly as inspired as they were against Texas, but they were higher than when they played New Mexico.

But the second half was hairy, especially when you consider that Tech gained a net of only 39 yards rushing, minus three yards passing and only three first downs.

"I wasn't happy about our offense the second half," Carlen declared late Saturday night, "but you have to give Oklahoma State a lot of credit. They were a big, physical team. I'd say that their defensive line whipped our offensive line."

About the thwarted try for two extra points, Carlen said he wanted OSU to kick the ball.

"I think if he'd (Daigle) kicked, Blossom (Tom) would have blocked it. Blossom blocks 'em," Carlen said with a grin.

"Coach, who said you weren't colorful?" Mike Cochrane of the AP asked. Mike long has good naturedly needled Jim about not making colorful remarks a la Darrell Royal (you remember him, surely!)

Anyway, like the Texas game, the OSU battle is being forgotten. This week Tech travels to Texas A&M and the Aggies are big, strong and experienced. The Raiders haven't lost to the Aggies since 1967.

"We're bruised right now," Carlen declared, "I wish we were playing Santa Clara, no, it was Santa Barbara, wasn't it. We've played three physical teams—Iowa State, Texas and Oklahoma State. And A&M will be just as physical as Oklahoma State, maybe more so."

Carlen, in looking ahead, made the statement that at least four of Tech's next opponents probably would be in the top 20 when Tech played them—A&M, SMU, Arizona, Arkansas.

SMU? "You bet," Carlen answered. "They're 3-1 and played Ohio State a whale of a game. And who have they got next? TCU and Rice? Yep, they'll be there. Arizona will be undefeated when we play them."

"Fellows, the conference is stronger. Everybody is stronger. I'm not surprised at the upsets. The competition is just that much stronger." Okay, pack up your overnight bag and go to College Station this week. The Raiders need all the vocal support they can get. And don't be surprised if they play A&M the same way they did Texas. This team believes in itself.

Fresh, warm air gently circulating from floor to ceiling . . . so nice to take for granted. Comfort is clean gas heat.

And that dependable comfort is such a bargain here in West Texas. Though gas energy costs a little more than it use to, gas furnaces still cost less than one-third as much to operate as similar electric furnaces.

And at the same time you're saving money with gas heating, you can also have a warm feeling knowing that you're helping conserve energy. Gas heating uses only half as much energy as an electric system doing the same job.

Comfort, efficiency, and economy . . . you get it all with natural energy gas heating.

The Roosevelt Eagles won over the Frenship Tigers Friday night at Roosevelt with a 32-0 score.

Neither team scored in the first quarter but at the half, the Eagles led 13-0. By the end of the 3rd quarter, the Eagles were still ahead with a 19-0 lead.

Frenship gained possession of the ball several times on fumbles but lost the ball on fourth downs.

Rays of Hope

by Pat Stanton

There is a beautiful hymn entitled "God is a Good God". There is a great truth here that we as believers fail to live by at times. We forget the goodness and mercy of our Father and we are tempted to dwell on the hard things of life.

We sometimes attribute everything bad that happens, to God, and fail to recognize him in the good things of life.

Yes, God is Supreme and Sovereign, but we forget a man named Adam that sold out to the devil, thereby leaving us in a world filled with many destructive forces. God has given every man a free will to operate with.

We hear people say "Why did God cause that tragedy or heartache?" If you will look closely, you will usually find that the person or persons involved have violated the laws of nature that God himself created.

Someone is hit by a train or car and we hear people say "Why did God let that happen?" God had nothing to do with it. The person involved was negligent and the law of nature says that a stronger force will always overpower a smaller force.

When we are living outside the will of God we are outside of his protective love. We are living in a world that is filled with Satan and his demon spirits (Eph. 6:10-18). If a person continues to be ignorant of this fact, he will continually be attacked with things that destroy, kill, and rob him of life and peace.

Jesus made an eloquent contrast between himself and the devil. He said, "The thief (devil) cometh not but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that you might have life, and that you might have it more abundantly." So whatever is of life is of God. What does life consist of? Food, shelter, clothes, health, peace of mind, love, joy. The Good things.

From the beginning, God wanted to bless man. It is his desire that we have our needs met and that we live in peace.

Yes, God does chastise those who belong to him. But he does not willingly afflict us with pain. We bring it on ourselves because we do not abide in the "Secret Place" of the Most High. Ps. 91:1.

Mel Wright caught two passes but the offense couldn't move over the goal line before time ran out.

Both teams suffered injuries with Eddy Prather and David Welch out for Frenship, the Tigers couldn't get the game going. The final score was 32-0.

The Tigers play Tahoka here Friday, Oct. 11 at 7:30 p.m.

GSPA Seeking New Members

Grain Sorghum Producers Association President A.W. Anthony, Jr., of Friona, Texas, announced the organizations fall membership campaign, launched October 1st. Anthony said GSPA has become "one of the nation's most influential commodity groups, especially in Washington." As proof of this, he said GSPA directors serve on several top level advisory committees, including the Federal Energy Advisory Committee, USDA's Feed Grain Advisory Committee, and the National Cost of Production Advisory Committee. Other GSPA county directors serve on state and county level committees, advising ag-officials of the sorghum grower's viewpoint.

Anthony urged area farmers to mail their membership dues early this year. He stated that "membership in GSPA is one of the best bargains available. For just $10 annually, you get representation in Congress, contribute to world-wide market development and have your production problems gain the attention of prominent sorghum researchers. You also receive the Grain Sorghum News without additional charge."

Citing some of GSPA's goals,

Anthony said, "We stand solidly opposed to any type of embargo on sorghum exports, we will continue to work to guarantee our farmers an adequate supply of fuel, and we are putting a great deal of time and effort into solving the problems of increased production costs."

Anthony said membership dues and application cards are now being mailed to all producers on the GSPA mailing list. Anyone who wishes to join GSPA may do so by sending a $10 check with his name and address to: Grain Sorghum Producers Association, 1708-A 15th St., Lubbock, Texas 79401.

Reasons Given For Increase in Sugar Prices

Why the big increase in sugar prices? is a frequently asked question these days. Although there is no one answer, one consumer marketing information specialist suggests that the biggest reason for the jump in the cost of sugar is the same reason that has upped many other food prices—demand has increased.

As people around the world are becoming more prosperous, they are buying and using more sugar. Supplies are not keeping up with the demand.

The sugar industry has not been an expanding business. Historically, sugar has always had a small profit margin, and investors are not anxious to put their money into sugar mills and refineries when other investments promise greater financial returns.

This, along with tripled building costs, does not suggest any immediate increase in the building of sugar mills and refinery facilities.

Another deterrent to building new facilities is the uncertainty of the supply of raw product. The largest part of our sugar comes from sugarcane, with nearly one-third of our domestic supply produced in Hawaii, Louisiana, Florida, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

Sugarcane production has decreased about 10 per cent in the last decade. Expansion of sugarcane production is not a speedy process as it takes nearly two years for sugarcane to get into commercial production.

But what can consumers do?

Sugar can be decreased or omitted altogether in canning and freezing. Ripe fruits may be canned in water, fruit juice, or a light syrup instead of a medium or heavy syrup. Small fruits such as berries can be frozen whole on trays without sugar and then packed into freezer containers.

But we can't eliminate sugar in jams and jellies because sugar is essential for a high quality product which keeps well.

Also, with obesity a major nutritional problem in this country, many of us could well afford to cut out some of the sugar in our diets. Many times we add sugar out of habit to foods that really don't need any additional sweetening such as ripe berries and grapefruit.

Another way to reduce the use of sugar is to serve custard, pudding, fresh fruit and other less sweet desserts to replace pies, cakes and cookies.

Current Market News Available 24 Hours Daily

Current news on crop and livestock markets is now available to High Plains agriculturalists on a 24-hour basis.

According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, a new automatic market news telephone has been installed at Spur, Texas, by the Texas Department of Agriculture's Market News Office. The phone number is 806-271-4505 (not toll free).

Taped messages will include current High Plains grain prices, carlot meat reports, swine prices from major markets and some cotton information.

The automatic telephone answering service has been provided by the Caprock Telephone Company to benefit the High Plains agricultural community.

The Spur installation joins those in Lubbock, Amarillo and Vernon in providing daily grain, livestock and meat prices for West Texas and the High Plains.

Contest to Rename New Mexico Park

A region-wide contest to rename the New Mexico Zoological-Botanical State Park of the Southwest in Carlsbad, has opened and valuable prizes will be awarded the winner and his family.

Sponsored by the tourist promotion committee of the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce, the prizes will be awarded to the person who submits the winning name for the popular state park.

A move to rename the park was begun after tourism experts said the present name was too long and complicated. A shorter, more graphic name is being sought.

Among the prizes being furnished by Carlsbad merchants and individuals are a food disposal; free meals for a family in Carlsbad Caverns National Park; a year's pass to Million Dollar Museum in White's City.

Entries should be mailed to "Name The Park Contest", Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 910, Carlsbad, N.M. 88220. Deadline for entries is November 1st.

Hockley County Extension Agent Reassess Your Accessories

Accessories are the spice of a wardrobe's life—one of the best and easiest ways to extend a small wardrobe.

Carefully gathered, a collection of jewelry, scarves, belts, hats, handbags and shoes can give almost limitless variety to only a few outfits.

Consider your accessories collection to determine its usefulness.

1. Are you using every item to fullest capacity?

2. Try new combinations, new ways to wear a scarf, a pin, a group of beads and chains.

3. When you shop, think in terms of multiple use for everything you buy.

4. When you try on a garment, also try on all the accessories you will wear with it. If you don't like the way the total outfit looks, give it up.

It's often not worth saving the clothing that requires a completely new set of accessories to make you feel happy in it.

Nonmatching separates look made for each other if you wear them with matching accessories, shoes, belt, beads, handbag and hat.

Needed: Mature Parents

Confusion and conflict are likely to result from early parenthood, especially for young women.

The too young mother tends to mix the social roles of child, adolescent and parent. Over a time, early parenthood may be related to marital instability, poverty and low educational achievement.

When young people get involved in educational programs related to family life and parenthood, they have a better chance to avoid being affected negatively by the early start of parenthood.

Community sources of family life education and county extension agents can help groups and individuals plan programs to better understand child development, family life and parenthood.
