PLANS TO BE MADE --

First Attempt Unsuccessful For Purchase Of "Lake" Area In Slaton

Change To Be Made In Charge For Collection Of Trash

A first attempt by the Slaton City Commission to purchase the lake property west of the Union Compress was unsuccessful, according to a report from the regular meeting of the Commission Monday night.

At a prior meeting the commissioners voted to attempt to purchase the land for health and civic improvement. The owners, John Jarrett and Harold Dutton, both of Lubbock, offered the land at $200.00 and $250.00 per acre respectively, but the Commission decided the price was too high.

Mahon Urges Higher Level For '62 Acreage Allotment

Washington, D. C. -- Representative George Mahon advises that he has urged Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman, to fix the national cotton acreage allotment for the 1962 crop at a higher level than the 1961 allotment, and in no event at a lower figure. The 1961 allotment is 18,400,000 acres. The Secretary is required to make his decision by October 15.

Mahon stated that a moderate increase in 1962 over 1961 is necessary in order to make sure that the American cotton producer will be able to maintain his fair share of the world market in addition to supplying domestic needs. He said that a reduction would stimulate foreign production and be unacceptable to domestic growers. Cotton growers and producer groups have appealed to Members of Congress and government officials in regard to the cotton acreage matter. Mahon stated that he had discussed the matter with various officials of the Department of Agriculture in addition to the Secretary and had wired the President and discussed the acreage situation with members of the White House staff.

Farm Facts

According to Francis E. Clark, U. S. Department of Agriculture microbiologist, earthworms are to be considered an indication of good soil fertility rather than its cause.

Sharp differences of opinion exist, he says, concerning the relationship of earthworms to soil fertility. Some people insist that earthworms almost singlehandedly are responsible for good fertility. Clark notes in the USDA's Yearbook of Agriculture that such a viewpoint has little basis in fact. He says organic residues ejected by earthworms are poorer in nutrients than the original residues ingested.

The beneficial effects of earthworms on plant growth are largely those associated with improved aeration and improved tilth. They are im-

TELEPHONE TALK

by J. C. Oakley, Manager

TO EACH HER OWN "PRINCESS"

The ladies of Slaton seem to have taken "Princess" telephone as though it were just for them. And in many ways, I guess. For instance, it's little, light and easy to style to add a smart touch to any house. And it lights up at night when the receiver. This makes it especially and practical as a night phone next to the bed. "Princess" is available in five beautiful to suit every lady's good taste.

To make the princesses in your home even give them a Princess phone for their birthday. To order, simply call the telephone business or ask any telephone service man.

BACK TO SCHOOL REMINDER

It's the responsibility of every one of us to be safely the year 'round. But it's a good idea especially careful at this time of year, particularly around school neighborhoods.

During their vacations, our children here in town may have been so busy playing and having good time that they may have forgotten the safety rules about crossing at corners, at stop signs or traffic lights and other precautions.

So, while the kids are getting the hang of the rules again, let's all be extra careful when we're around school neighborhoods.

TELEPHONE "PIONEERS" OBSERVE 50TH ANNIVERSARY

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the Telephone Pioneers of America. Back in 1911 the Pioneers' organization was founded. Telephone Pioneers with at least 21 years service with the company were members then as they are now.

Today, membership in the association is exclusive. But the Pioneers have grown into a wide organization devoted to three things: to the telephone industry, devotion to the welfare and Christian responsibility.

At Southwestern Bell, one out of every five employees has 21 or more years in the telephone business, and is eligible to belong to the Pioneers. In addition, these years of experience mean that you can count on each member of the Pioneers to be the best possible service--in a courteous, helpful manner.

Telephone Pioneers are proud of the years spent bringing you good telephone service. They take pride, too, in their group's service to the community and to their fellow man--by assisting the handicapped or devoting their time to worthwhile community projects.

Slaton's Tigers go into district action Friday night as they travel to Tahoka to meet the Bulldogs in the initial 3-AA contest.

Record-wise Coach M. W. Kerr's gridders show a slight advantage, having accumulated a 2-4 mark. Tahoka has collected only one victory in its six games.

However, by mutual comparison the teams should be on an equal basis as Tahoka's victory came over Idalou by 14-8, and Slaton downed the same opponent by 12-6.

The Bulldogs fell to Frenship by 20-0 in the season opener and then lost to Crosbyton by 19-0. They then fell to O'Donnell by 6-0 before winning the Idalou game.

In spite of the record, Tahoka has displayed a better record defensively than have the Tigers. Tahoka has allowed its opponents a total of 81, while a total of 170 points has been scored against Slaton.

Offensively, however, the Tigers have compiled a total of 64, while Tahoka has scored only 29.

In pre-district ratings the Bulldogs stand in the cellar of 3-AA tied with Post, also at 1-5.

Slaton's victory, other than Idalou was over Frenship by 30-18. They have fallen to Canyon, Rotan, Crosbyton and Lockney.

All season the Tigers have been a second-half squad. Even in their worst defeat, which came at the hands of Canyon by 50-6, the Tigers came back to battle their opponents on an equal basis in the final quarters.

Following the Tahoka game, the Tigers will rest one week before going against Post in a home game.

Ministerial Alliance Ok's CROP Program

The Slaton Ministerial Alliance took the unified project of promoting the Christian Rural Overseas Program at its last meeting.

The night before Halloween, October 30, local church youth will be "trick-or-treating" for CROP. Rev. E. A. Wilbur and Rev. Leroy Deans were appointed to head the program for the young people of all Slaton churches. The youth will be well identified and will be asking for a donation for CROP instead of the usual trick-or-treat indulged in by children on Halloween.

Charles Wood are in charge of hosting the combined group of young people and Rev. Rollo Davidson will be in charge of the closing devotional.

All youth will meet in Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church on the evening of the project, later returning for refreshments and dedication of the offering which goes to help feed the refugees and displaced persons of foreign lands.

In 1960, CROP shipped over 287,497,000 pounds of surplus food to the hungry overseas. This was distributed by volunteer church workers and missionaries.

VIEWING

Your City Government by J. J. Maxey, City Secretary

City Government has many facets and many responsibilities one of which is the collection and disposal of trash and garbage. For many years the city tried to pick up trash and garbage in an old flat bed truck. Of course, this was inadequate to do the job right so a packer type truck was bought at a cost of $5,901.86 in September of 1948. This was a welcome addition to the sanitation department and enabled them to really take care of the situation for the first time. The cost of this equipment and the added cost of personnel was taken care of by taxes until June of 1956 when the first ordinance was passed placing a $1.00 per month charge on this service.

Professional men, business men, housewives, in fact almost every one realizes the problem that exists today in keeping income abreast of ever rising costs. The expense budget for the sanitation department this year is $23,746.95. The $1.00 per month service charge will bring in approximately $20,000.00 this year. In addition to this the commission has found themselves faced with the problem of putting on an additional truck to take care of the expanded needs of the city. This truck was purchased for $6,470.00 and will call for additional personnel of at least two men. This truck will be used primarily in the downtown area and to pick up larger pieces of scrap or junk that is placed in the residential alleys.

It has been the practice of the department to make one pick-up each week in the residential area and from one to six pick-ups per week in the downtown area. Of course when weather interfered or in case of equipment failures this schedule could not be religiously followed. In the beginning or some five years ago when our sanitary ordinance was first passed the $1.00 per month charge was adequate to take care of the expense of the department thereby relieving the tax department of this additional burden. As each year passed it was found that the cost was increasing with the increase of population and added demand for service. Being aware of this situation the commission has run three different surveys on cost of collection, particularly in the downtown area where service is required each day. The first survey was made in December of 1958 and the other in November of 1960 and August 1961. In the majority of cases it was found that the $1.00 per month charge was inadequate to take care of the cost of services to businesses. In fact in some cases the cost on some businesses ran from $3.50 to just under $60.00 per month. These surveys were made only on cost of picking up trash and rubbish and not including the trip to the canyon to dump.

Taking all of the foregoing into consideration the commission has decided to increase the minimum charge to businesses to $1.50 per month and where the survey shows the costs to be considerably higher than this to make an additional charge in accordance with approximate costs. Each business man that is charged more than $1.50 per month will be written a letter explaining the results of the survey and advising him that in case his service requirements have lowered enough to justify a change the city will be glad to re-check actual time used in picking up trash and rubbish from his premises.

The commission also realizes that service has not been as good as they would have liked for it to be. Lack of personnel and equipment has caused this. More equipment has been secured and the personnel is now available and the commission expects to keep the alleys clean by making six pickups per week in the downtown area. Every businessman can help by providing the proper receptacle for rubbish and by seeing that papers and trash is placed in it.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT:

I'd rather SEE a sermon than hear one any day. I'd rather one would WALK with me than merely tell the way. The eye's a better pupil and more willing than the ear; fine counsel is confusing, but example's always clear. The best of all the preachers are the men who live their creeds, for to see good put in action is what every-body needs. I can soon learn to do it, if YOU'LL let me see it done. I can watch YOUR hands in action, but your tongue too fast may run. The lectures you deliver may be wise and true, but I'd rather get my lessons by observing what YOU do. I may not understand the high advice you give, but there's no misunderstanding how YOU act and how YOU live.

WHAT WILL MONEY BUY? ? ? ?

- it will buy books, but not brains.
- it will buy food, but not an appetite.
- it will buy finery, but not beauty.
- it will build a house, but it cannot buy a home.
- it will buy medicine, but not health.
- it will buy amusement, but not happiness.
- money will buy preaching, but not the truth.
- it will buy a church building, but not salvation.

A man who had been waiting impatiently in the post office could not attract the attention of either of the girls behind the counter.

"The evening cloak," explained one of the girls to her companion, "was a red-ink design in gorgeous lame brocade with fox fur and wide pagoda sleeves."

At this point the long suffering customer broke in with, "I wonder if you could provide me with a neat purple stamp with dinky perforated hem--the tout ensemble deliberately treated on the reverse side with mullage. Something at about 4 cents."

John George, Slaton's 150-pound guard was named this week as the "Player Of The Week," following last week's game with Lockney.

A junior this year, George has ranked through the season as one of the hardest-hitting linemen among Coach M. W. Kerr's gridders.

Although George had little experience prior to this year, he has been a regular both offensively and defensively for the Tigers, and should develop into one of the area's top linemen.

Sewer Superintendent, appeared before the Commission and brought up the question of sewer service charges to drive-in cafes. When the charges were set on cafes they were placed at $3.00 per month but after discussion the Commission agreed that the charge to drive-in cafes should be $1.50.

Mr. Willis also recommended that the water tower at the compress be painted on the outside at a cost of $1,465.00. After discussion the Commission voted unanimously on motion by Mr. Eckert and second by Mr. Stokes to authorize this work to be done and if it was found necessary to install a new overflow pipe on this tower at an approximate cost of $350.00.

Mr. Willis advised the Commission that Mr. Melton and Mr. Dowell would like to build a new building on their property in block 90 West Park Addition to be used as a coin operated laundry and that the water line serving this property was a dead end line. It was estimated that the cost of serving this property with the proper size line would be approximately $1,200.00. After discussion the Commission voted unanimously on motion by Mr. Eckert and Second by Mr. Stokes to authorize Mr. Willis to assure these gentlemen that they would be furnished water in the proper amount and for the Superintendent to have detailed figures for the next meeting.

It was agreed by mutual consent to keep the City Hall rest rooms open on Saturday afternoon and Sunday to accommodate transient workers.

Mr. L. R. Gregory, Civil Defense Director, appeared before the Commission and reported on progress of Civil Defense plans and suggested that some control should be put on building of fall-out shelters in the City. It was decided that about the only control needed was that they should be inspected for safe construction.

Chief Martin was present and the Commission advised him that they had had some complaints from citizens regarding the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks and suggested that he publicize the fact that there is an ordinance against riding bicycles on sidewalks.

The Commission had studied surveys made on collection of trash and rubbish in the downtown area at two previous meetings and came to the following conclusions - that the $1.00 per month sanitation charge was inadequate in the downtown area and that it would be necessary to raise the minimum charge to $1.50 per month and where the survey showed the cost to be greater to charge in accordance to costs, to mail a letter of explanation to each of the businessmen that were charged more than the minimum of $1.50 per month, and to have amendment to the sanitary ordinance prepared for the next meeting of the Commission.

Newspaper Week Commemorated

It has been said "the road to Hell is paved with good intentions." The road to dictatorship is paved with the bones of free newspapers and editors.

Two centuries ago, Thomas Jefferson summed up the purpose of a newspaper to a community and nation far better than any other man of succeeding generations.

Jefferson said, and this has been quoted many times, "The first object of government being the opinion of the people, the first duty of the citizen should be to keep that right and were in left to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers without a government. I should not at a moment prefer the latter."

The freedom of the press and its importance to the freedoms of the people was given impetus during the early and troublesome years before the Revolutionary War, courageous men discarded pamphlets and a small newspaper, denouncing tyranny and oppression. There were arrests and trials but still men who were free, put a foundation under their freedoms with a free press.

Because of their love for freedom, and because of thinkers like Thomas Jefferson, that the founders of the United States inserted a guarantee of a free press in the amendment to the Constitution, the first of the famed ten rights.

Press shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging freedom of speech or of the press guarantee was written into the Constitution and it has stood there for one and three-quarter centuries; inviolate beacon light for a free people in a great country.

Through the years there have been attacks on the freedom of press and efforts by officials and others to abridge the right of the people to know what is going on within and without the country. But none of these efforts has been successful.

During World War II when there was talk of censorship, newspapers of these United States imposed a voluntary curfew upon themselves and no critic of the press could do anything but helping the war efforts.

Through the years, as it operated under this guarantee of freedom from oppression by government, the press of this country kept a close watch upon itself.

There have been and always will be newspapers that suppress the rights of others and which themselves suppress their rights, but these are in the minority.

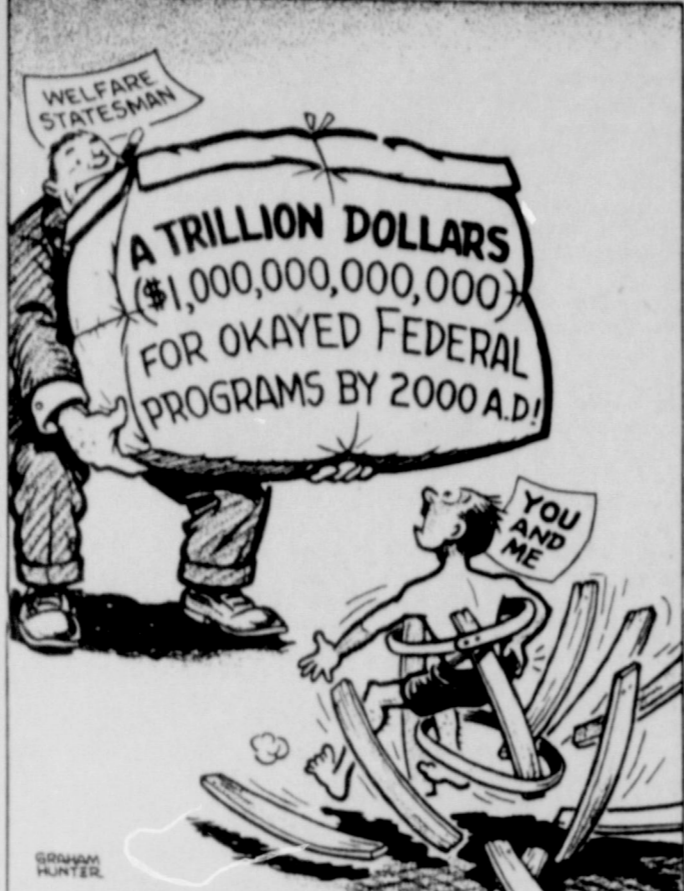

The majority of the editors in these United States know that they edit is a "heritage of truth and a frontier of freedom." They know that freedom does not give the right to oppression.

The examination of the newspapers in this nation—daily and weekly alike—reveals they have a conscience and a desire to serve their communities and their country to the fullest of their ability.

Without a newspaper is not a real community. The importance of the newspaper to the free people is evidenced by the fact that in the State of Texas there are more than 100 weekly newspapers and more than 100 daily newspapers. Every community that is more than a crossroads has a newspaper. Each newspaper played a vital role in the development of the area it serves.

In the past two decades we have seen a free press in many countries of this world. Would-be dictators cannot rise to power without a controlled press.

EVEN THE BARREL'S GOING!

From the column, "Drifting Sands," in the Andrews County News, comes the following commentary on the massive business of fund raising in the nation:

Women are unpredictable. You never know how they're going to get their own way.

A group of housewives in a small town in Ohio started a movement several years ago that currently is still causing ripples across the nation.

The housewives, like mothers everywhere, had given countless hours of valuable time to work as volunteers in ringing doorbells for charity drives. Finally, they decided they had had enough. They called a halt to the 41 separate drives held each year in their community.

They staged one health drive, took the proceeds and offered the funds to national health organizations. All but one, the National Foundation, took the money.

The idea spread into Cleveland where it was adopted by industrial and civic leaders tired of the disruption of work by the soliciting of funds for health organizations. And from Cleveland the idea of one drive for all agencies has spread across the nation.

The revolt by the housewives in Ohio has brought about another long-reaching development—the practice of tearing aside the long, sanctimonious veil surrounding the work of most health organizations, and taking a long, searching look at the financial operations of the national organizations.

And some of the information revealed in the searching look has not made for pleasant reading, especially those citizens who have donated freely of their time...and money...to worthy causes.

Fund-raising for health purposes in these United States is mighty big business . . . last year 40 of the big independent national health organizations... with the Red Cross... raised well over $200,000,000... a figure that cannot be pinpointed exactly because one agency, the National Foundation, does not reveal its take.

And many of the big organizations have push operations. In a report last March, Look magazine reported that the National Foundation does not pay its head man, Basil O'Connor, a salary but in one year his personal traveling expenses account amounted to $72,000.

The same outfit also paid $25,000 to a public relations firm in New York for putting on one dinner. It also sent a man to Europe, as well as all around this country, to find especially photogenic young victims of paralysis to ride in the polio float in a Rose Bowl parade.

This same outfit is the one that has refused to join the United Fund in Andrews or any other community in the nation for fear that "it would lose its inherent educational value."

Of the $200,000,000 raised by the big national health organizations, do you know how much money went into research for cancer, polio, birth defects, arthritis, and all the other special ills of the human race? A total of $35 million!

And at the same time, the federal government's expenditures in health research, incidentally, totaled $30,000,000. And the funds went to research in heart, cancer, mental disease and other fields which are the specialties of the 40 national volunteer health organizations.

This is not to say that many of the nation's health organizations do not have a vital, necessary place in providing funds to meet the many and varied needs of charitable institutions.

But it does point up the need for some means by which the work of the organizations and their needs can be carefully scrutinized and studied.

And in Andrews, we believe the most effective outfit for such a task is the United Fund organization.

Goals or quotas established by the various agencies are carefully studied for actual need and comparisons are made with other communities of like size and quality.

And above all, a one-drive-for-all curtails the valuable loss of time—and dollars—inherent in multiple drives for funds.

For example, here in Andrews, 87 per cent of the funds received by the United Fund comes from two sources: businessmen and their employees, and from school personnel.

For them...the biggest backers of local charity...the most efficient, orderly, non-time-consuming method of dealing with charity and health organizations is through the United Fund.

And the people who foot the bill should be able to call the tune; and if they want to give and donate their time once—through the United Fund—and that's all, then that's the way the ball should be bounced.

Hometown Business News

by Vern Stewart

Some Slaton Merchants are discussing the prospects of starting a city wide dollar day once each month.

Many benefits of such a promotional event are not known by those merchants who have never seen the results of a community-wide promotional day once each month.

Contrary to most promotional, a Slaton Dollar Day would not obligate a single merchant in any way. It would merely be a cooperative effort.

Almost every merchant likes to have special prices on certain articles each month. By banding together and having these "specials" on the dollar day, or dollar day weekend, the effort would attract more interest than the regular uncoordinated series of small specials.

In towns much smaller than Slaton, a well-established dollar day, usually the first Monday of each month draws shoppers to town in sizeable numbers.

A young man whose ambition leads him to become wealthy in this age is certain to do a lot of explaining to the government. One of the questions he will answer must justify his preference to becoming successful rather than doing less and allowing the state to assume the problem of his future security.

It doesn't require any talent to be lazy, but only a genius putting in full time can supply excuses to justify averston to work.

When a man decides to get married he doesn't need any advice. Attempting to influence him, in fact, is as futile as attempting to influence an alcoholic while he pours another of a series of drinks.

Political science has developed a system of fence-building designed to keep friends in and enemies out. The singular fault is that each faction sometimes gets on the wrong side of the fence.

Driving whiskey should be poured in the gas tank where its effects can be kept under control.

As stated above, not a single merchant would be obligated to any advertising costs, nor even to cooperating, but if a majority of the merchants will join in and help establish a regular dollar day, none of them will ever want to fail to put a dollar day ad in the paper or have a sale during the dollar day weekend.

An established dollar day is just as beneficial to the customer as it is to the merchant. It enables shoppers to take advantage of all the bargains offered during one shopping trip.

The dollar day is not intended and never can take the place of major sales promotions of hometown businesses, but it undoubtedly is a most valuable addition and one that would help Slaton in its "trade at home" efforts.

Boys Ready For Punt, Pass & Kick Contest

More than 150,000 grade school boys throughout the United States have registered for the "Punt, Pass and Kick" program being conducted during the current football season under the joint sponsorship of the Ford Division of Ford Motor Company, its dealers and the National Football League.

Registrations close Oct. 14 at the 5,200 participating Ford dealerships across the country, with most local contests scheduled to end Oct. 16.

The program's objective is to create interest in sports and physical fitness among American youngsters by giving them a chance to test their skill in punting, passing and place-kicking a football in competition with other youths of their age.

The boys, aged six to 10, will be competing for prizes that will include, for the national winner in each age bracket, a trip with their dads to the National Football League's championship game late in December and a visit to the White House.

The five first-prize winners of local contests in each age group in the 14 National Football League team areas will qualify for regional contests to be held at halftime of NFL games Nov. 12 in Washington, New York, Pittsburgh, Minnesota, St. Louis and Los Angeles; Nov. 19 in Baltimore, Cleveland, Dallas, San Francisco and Green Bay; Nov. 23 in Detroit, and Nov. 26 in Chicago and Philadelphia.

"Yard Of The Month" Chosen For October

Slaton's "Yard Of The Month"

If you drive by 810 South 22nd, it's easy to see why the Slaton Garden Club chose the home there as having the most beautiful "Yard of the Month."

A new home, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Schlueter, the yards were landscaped when the home was built, and upkeep has provided for the beauty of the present surroundings.

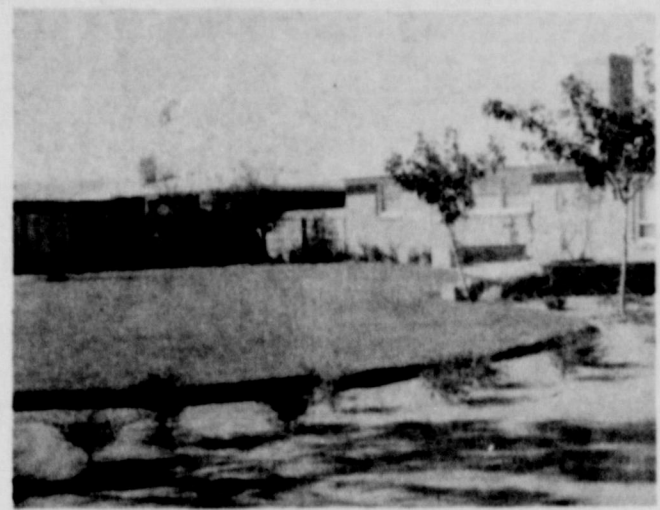

In the front of the home are white roses, with trees planted around the front.

In the back yard, the lawn section has been raised (see picture) and is held with a five-inch strand of welded steel.

Around the raised lawn are trees, with a cement patio.

Each month the Garden Club selects a home for the month, regardless of whether the home belongs to a member or not.

The last regular monthly meeting of the club was held in the home of Mrs. T. H. Swanner. Mrs. Hanna is chairman of the selection committee for the home of the month.

Develop Wheat Survival Ration

A compact, long-keeping emergency ration made from whole wheat has been developed and tested by U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists. It was developed for stockpiling in fallout shelters.

The product, in the form of wafers, has an estimated shelf life of five years or longer. They are made from whole grain wheat that has been parboiled, fried, puffed, then crumbled and made into a cookie-sized wafer.

Research was done at USDA's Agricultural Research Service laboratory at Albany, California, under contract from the Office of Civil Defense Mobilization.

The wafers pack a lot of food value into a small space; are quick and easy to serve and plentiful supplies of wheat make it practical for stockpiling. In a series of three tests, each involving 100 volunteers living in the fallout shelter for varying lengths of time, meals based on the wafer brought few complaints and worked best in maintaining volunteer's weights.

The wafers can be eaten plain and with other foods such as milk, peanut butter, bouillon and spaghetti. The last two items and other seasoned toppings can be stored in dried form and mixed with water for heating and serving.

Each wafer furnishes 84 calories. In the shelter test diet, 12 wafers a day supplied a little more than half the day's 2,000 calories and about a third of the protein. Milk and peanut butter supplied the rest of the protein. This fare does not measure up to all recommendations for a balanced diet, but during an estimated shelter stay of two weeks, human survival and health would not be affected. Scientists said large scale production of the wafers depends on additional research on production and packaging methods. Also needed, they said, are additional ways to add variety to the wheat wafer diet, and more exact knowledge of nutritional needs in fallout shelters.

Whether you plan to keep your present fishing rig for 10 years or trade it off in a few months, you can maintain high trade-in value by keeping it in top shape.

Depreciation on an outboard rig is directly proportionate to the care given it. A well-cared-for rig even 10 years old will command a good trade-in value.

If you clean your rig after each outing there is little work to do. But if you put off the cleaning job until after a dozen or so fishing trips—man it becomes work and it can get costly.

Hull and motor cleaning is simple. You can do that with a garden hose.

Thoroughly wash out all grime and dirt, then dry with a chamois. Be sure to dry the hull well inside and out.

Don't let water stand inside the hull. Long standing water will lead to deterioration of a wood hull, corrosion of a metal hull, and discoloration of a fiberglass hull.

Hull and motor washing is an absolute must when a rig is used in salt water. If you allow salt deposits to build up, you can run into some major expenses—particularly with your motor.

Boat Trailer Care Pays

Don't forget the boat trailer. It's an important part of the rig. But it's often overlooked.

Every time you unload and load the boat, you back the trailer wheels into the water. Eventually, some of this water will seep into the grease seals.

If you have zerk fittings, a few squirts from the grease gun will force out any water that may have seeped through the seals. If you don't have zerk fittings, then remove the wheels and pack the bearings with grease.

Be sure to keep the boat winch and keel roller axles well greased. And remember that salt water is particularly hard on all metal parts.

When your trailer shows signs of wear, have it sand-blasted. Put on a protective coat of rust inhibitor before applying the finished coat of paint.

Check the wiring system that runs to the trailer lights. If worn or frayed, replace the entire system. Wiring should be of the waterproof type for at times it will be under water.

If you use the trailer on sandy beaches, periodically dismount the tires and check the casing walls for deposits of sand that could wear holes in the tubes and cause blowouts on the highway.

While the tires are off, check the rims for rust spots. Clean and repaint.

Windshields Need Attention

Wrap-around plastic windshields are nice, but they can be the source of a lot of trouble if not properly cared for.

Plastic windshields develop static charges and attract dust, with heavy deposits especially common after a trailer trip over the highways. Salt spray dries and leaves highly abrasive salt deposits, so keep that fact well in mind if you use your rig in the Gulf Coast area.

When cruising on a muddy river or lake, the silt-laden droplets can create pumice-like specks. Sand can get on the foredeck and grains of it will adhere to the windshield when wet.

Windshields do require special care. Here's how to do the job properly:

Rinse the windshield with plain water. Follow up with a gentle washing with mild soap and a soft cloth. Never use household or auto glass cleaners because they can dull the finish of the plastic.

You can purchase special cleaners for plastic windshields, some of which contain agents to minimize formation of static charges or leave a protective film.

There is one thing you should never do in windshield cleaning. Don't try to wipe off dust with a dry rag. It will scratch and scar the plastic.

What Will You Tell Your Children?

How Will You Explain When Your Youngsters Ask You About The America That Was?

From The Ledger, Montrose, California

Oftentimes, for the sake of argument, one must stipulate to certain points as facts. Let's hope that our friends who see no danger in the Communist program will agree, for the time being, that there is such a danger and that the danger may suddenly overcome America, just as it did Czechoslovakia. What will you tell your children?

Let's say, for the sake of argument, that the Reds assume control: they are in control of communications, they are in control of public utilities, they have slaughtered or imprisoned the police, they have clobbered resistance, and America lies prone, awaiting the blood purges that must certainly follow, enduring the terrifying period of vacuum before the calked heel of godless Communist tyranny comes smashing down.

What will you tell those youngsters clustered at your knee? How will you tell them their nation, strong, dynamic, compassionate a few years ago, is now gone? How will you tell them that you cannot go to the store and buy food for them because the store is locked against its owners and that your money is no longer any good? How will you tell them that the policeman on the corner is no longer a friend — he has been replaced by a tyrant from the steppes of Asia or from the jungles of Africa? How will you tell them that the America your fathers gave to you, has been lost?

What will you say when your little son, who feels you are a Marshal Dillon or a Hop-along Cassidy, asks you why you don't take a gun and go out to set things straight? What will you say when your teen-ager asks you what you have done to prevent this takeover? Will you tell him you played golf or went fishing or learned to water ski or worked in the garden or learned to make ceramics or hiked in the hills or a million other things, while your nation went down the drain?

What will you say when these children, whose lives have already been blueprinted for them, ask what they should do? How will you advise them when they ask if they should resist? What will you say if they ask you if they should continue to adore God, despite the ultimatum of the New Order? What will you do when the order comes to gather your children and ship them into State camps where they can become robots of the State?

Communist writings openly predict that they will seize control centers, and that the great mass of population will be prostrate to swoop down on the helpless, motivated in part by the same drive that causes looting after floods have driven people from their homes. Can you be sure that this will not happen — especially after you read of the riots on Memorial Day in Griffith Park? There is certainly no motivation to justify attacks upon citizens and property and the destruction of private property. How would these people react if all law were suddenly eliminated?

Or, suppose you lived through the blood baths, and 15 years from now your youngsters ask about the America that was. Will you tell them of the freedoms you had, the freedom to go where you wished to do what you wished, to say what you wished? Will you tell them of the fun you had and the happiness you had? What will you tell them when they ask how these things happened to slip away?

Will you admit that you dismissed all efforts to halt the drive toward Communism as "McCarthyism," that you helped anyone who tried to point out the danger?

It may seem a flight of fancy to ponder what could happen to America, but remember — the Pentagon, charged with protecting you and yours from all dangers, foreign and domestic, has already made a study as to the best time to surrender! Ponder that!

If you are a father or mother, look at your children. If they are asleep, walk in and look at them — peaceful, contented, trusting. Are you doing anything to prevent just such a terrifying picture as we have painted? Do you bother to inform yourself on the subject towards tyranny? Or do you plan to collaborate with the enemy "make friends" with the new order?

If America is to be spared this terror, it must be because people have forbidden it. If the people will not stem the tide, each American must face the terror that has already been visited upon Czechoslovakia, Poland, Yugoslavia, East Germany, Lithuania, Estonia, Manchuria, and many, many other lands. And, Mister, what will you tell your children?

Also attending was James Vaughn, who told of his experiences in Japan while there in the Navy.

Table decorations during snack times depicted different countries, and meals were furnished by the four "Colonies" of the church. Colony shepherds are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reasoner, 1; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, 2; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Herrin, 3; and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Langham, 4.

A statement from officials of the church stated, "A School of Missions has some important elements of a festival and a revival. The whole congregation should, through fellowship activities, gain a new feeling of unity and enthusiasm...a trip to various countries. Not only to gain enthusiasm for missions but a new spirit regarding the whole program of the Church."

A woman lived adjacent to a private zoo. She informed police that she had a skunk in her cellar.

"Make a trail of crumbs from the cellar to the garden and wait for me to follow it outside," the police officer said.

Half an hour later she rang a second time.

"Now what, madam?" the officer, recognizing her, asked.

"I did what you said," she said. "I've got too skunks in my cellar."

Guard Against Grain Insects

some instances this could turn into large losses if the storer is careless about insect damage, say C. F. Garner and R. L. Ridgway, extension entomologists. Proper care on the part of the storer can prevent such damage, however.

Periodic inspections at about two-week intervals should be made to determine whether or not injurious insect infestations are present. By taking probe samples at various areas and depths, and then sifting the grain through 10 to 12 mesh screens, the owner can determine if insects are present. If one granary weevil, rice weevil or lesser grain borer, or as many as five insects of other species such as flour and grain beetles, cadelle or grain moths, are found per quart sample of grain, the storage bin should be fumigated, say the entomologists.

Before fumigating the bin, the owner should remove any wasted grain that may have accumulated outside the structure. A recommended residual spray should then be applied to the outside walls and any other areas around the structure that may harbor insects.

There are several precautions that should be taken before and during the fumigation process. All electrical equipment should be checked and any defective wiring repaired. No one should be allowed to smoke near the building or equipment during fumigation. Any hose used should be long enough to allow the equipment to be placed a safe distance away from the structure, and all hoses and connections should be checked for leaks. In most cases, especially if they are working inside the storage structure, the persons applying the fumigant should be equipped with proper gas masks. A mask with a full faceplate and a United States Bureau of Mines approved canister should be used. No canister should be used after it has had 30 minutes continuous exposure to the fumigant. Any fumigant that comes in contact with the user should be washed off immediately.

TSCRA Inspection Biggest Obstacle For Cattle Thief

Fort Worth -- The inspection service carried out on posted markets in Texas by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association is the biggest obstacle faced by the man who has a yen to steal a cow today.

This was the testimony of livestock producers from throughout the state, law enforcement officers, and officials of county, state, and national governments who entered testimony at a USDA hearing in Austin recently which is to determine whether or not the TSCRA will have authority to inspect cattle on the posted markets.

The present authority expires Nov. 1, 1961, and a rash of cattle thefts, particularly in East Texas, has livestock producers in that area highly aroused.

At the hearing Attorney General Will Wilson said: "It is a well known fact that Texas cattle rustling is not confined to television, but were it not for the cattle raisers association it would have been much worse.

Prices Steady As Numbers On Feed Up

Prices for both slaughter cattle and feeder cattle remained generally steady during September. The number of fed cattle marketed from the twenty-six feedlots reporting information to the "Texas Feeder Report" declined during the month while the number of cattle placed on feed in these feedlots increased by 26 per cent.

In the monthly summary for September, Lloyd Bergsma, Director of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association Cattle Feeders Division points out that although placements in Texas feedlots during September increased from the previous month, indications are that number on feed in Texas are below last year at this time.

"The uncertainty of feed grain prices resulting from the government Feed Grain Program coupled with a narrow and sometimes negative margin between slaughter and feeder cattle prices has caused hesitation on the part of many feeders to purchase feeder cattle at this time," Bergsma said.

House, Senate Approve Final CRWMA Bill

A message from Congressman George Mahon to Slaton last week indicated that with the adjournment of Congress, both the House and the Senate approved the final version of the Canadian River Project bill.

The bill, providing for the first funds for construction, then went to the President, and Mahon stated that there was no doubt that he would approve it.

This will mean that the first actual construction for the dam on the Canadian River will begin. The project will furnish water to 11 Panhandle and South Plains cities when it is completed.

Still At Work On Depletion

One more step was taken this month toward a long-sought goal--the goal is a federal income-tax deduction for the depletion of underground water within the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District.

A pre-trial hearing was held in the U. S. District Court in Amarillo, September 25, before Judge Joseph B. Dooley as a prelude to the full-fledged trial which has been scheduled by the Court for January 3 in Lubbock.

The purpose of the pre-trial hearing was to establish agreement between the attorneys and the Court concerning procedures to be followed in the trial and to agree upon certain stipulated facts pertinent to the case.

Marvin and Mildred Shurbet, a farm couple who reside in southwest Floyd County, filed this most-important legal suit against the Internal Revenue Service, Mr. Shurbet is a former member of the Board of Directors of the High Plains Water District.

The Shurbets contend that property owners who can establish an actual cost in the underground water beneath their land and who are using the water to produce income should be entitled to deduct this cost on their tax returns as the water is exhausted.

Our Farms Beat Russ By 60%

American farmers annually produce some 60 per cent more food and fiber than the Russians, even though the U.S.S.R. has three times as much land and eight times as many agricultural workers.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, in an article in IMC WORLD, employee publication of International Minerals and Chemical Corporation, points to these figures as evidence of "an unparalleled success story . . . which will attract hungry people even before the story of man in space."

Freeman writes that this is a "remarkable demonstration of the superiority of private versus State agriculture" within Russia itself.

He reveals that although less than five per cent of Russia's titled acreage is privately owned, this private agriculture produced 65 per cent of Russia's potatoes, 82 per cent of its eggs, and 50 per cent of its green vegetables.

Consumption Of Vegetables Up

Americans today eat more vegetables on the average, per person, than their grandparents did 50 years ago, according to a report issued recently by the USDA. But the report indicates there has been a shift in consumption away from fresh vegetables. This decrease in the use of fresh vegetables has been offset by marked increases in consumption of processed vegetables during recent years, the report shows. Vegetable consumption per capita is about 15 per cent greater today than it was 50 years ago.

City householders are larger consumers of vegetables than are rural dwellers, but the difference in narrowing as commercial supplies become more widely available in rural areas. High income groups are larger consumers of vegetables than are those with lower incomes.

Per capita consumption of potatoes, sweet potatoes, and dry beans and peas is much less today than it was 50 years ago. However, increased use of potatoes in various processed forms has halted the decline of consumption of this product, and the processing of sweet potato items has slowed a downward trend in their use.

Looking ahead, it appears likely that per capita use of vegetables and potatoes may not change much during the next 10 years, though further shifts to processed forms are indicated.

15 years from now you will be surprised at how much you will have accomplished. You will have grown into a man or woman of stature. You will have learned the value of hard work and the rewards of success. You will have experienced the joys of friendship and the responsibilities of citizenship. You will have grown into a person who is capable of making a difference in the world.

that many unbranded cattle have been recovered for their owners and the thieves apprehended.

Among the exhibits introduced by TSCRA at the hearing were: 142 letters from cattle producers in the state in support of the service; Petitions signed by 3,151 persons in Texas (Mostly cattlemen) who favor continuation of the service; Twenty-five narrative reports from TSCRA inspectors regarding cattle theft cases; Forty-one letters from district attorneys and district judges and other law enforcement officers; Twenty letters from agricultural and law enforcement groups; Two hundred and thirty letters and resolutions from county commissioners courts in Texas; Letters from 254 sheriffs in Texas favoring the inspection service. (Every sheriff in every county of the state) and letters from 91 auction market owners in the state favoring the service.

Those protesting the inspection service are nine auction markets in East Texas; J. D. Vann & Son of Fort Worth, order buyers of livestock; and Riley R. Kothmann of Uvalde.

G. Osmond Hyde was the Chief Hearing Examiner, and he said additional written testimony would be accepted when post-marked not later than Sept. 27, 1961.

If you would like to present your side in this controversy, you can still do so by submitting written statements in quadruplicate to: Director, Packers and Stockyards Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, Washington 25, D. C.

"Unless the Association is permitted to do this inspection service . . . the USDA will have created a hole in the law enforcement net which will be a beacon light to every cattle thief in the law enforcement net which will be a beacon light to every cattle thief in the state to dump his cattle at such market or markets as have no inspection of brands and markings."

Similar testimony was entered by Congressman Poage of Waco, Gov. Price Daniel, Joe S. Fletcher of the Texas Department of Public Safety, L. E. Berry, executive secretary of the Sheriff's Association of Texas, and a number of others.

John White, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, was among those who emphasized the value of the inspection service as a deterrent to cattle theft, and Dr. R. G. Garrett, Texas Animal Health Commission Director, pointed out that the inspection service was of considerable benefit in the control of animal disease outbreaks.

Dolph Briscoe, Jr., of Uvalde, TSCRA president, said the Association has the most efficient system to fight cattle theft, and TSCRA first vice-president Leo Welder of Victoria pointed out that this service proves equally beneficial to the small and the large livestock operator.

Testimony introduced by a number of witnesses substantiated the Association's claim

EGGS BELONG
In Everybody's Breakfast
...And Add Appeal To Any Meal
Dear friends:
It's got to the point where our chickens and our cows and our hogs are eating better than our children. Particularly our teenagers.
Parents have reason to be concerned. And so do the people in the food industries.
University experiment stations and food agencies have checked teenagers' eating habits. Different investigations have showed that . . .
... 14 per cent of teenage boys and 28 per cent of teenage girls (16 to 18 years) often go without any breakfast at all.
... Breakfast sets the pattern for the day. And teenagers who skip breakfast generally do not make up, later in the day, for the foods they missed, resulting in a daily shortage of nutrients.
... 50 per cent of teenage girls don't get enough protein and iron.
... After they're 12 years old, girls don't get enough calories, don't get enough protein, don't get enough calcium, don't get enough iron or enough thiamine or enough riboflavin or enough vitamin C.
It's bad enough that children in their teens should be eating so poorly. But even more alarming is the fact that as these teenagers grow older their eating habits become even worse. Improper eating habits are contributing to alarming nutritional deficiencies.
It seems incredible that this can be happening in a country where there is no shortage of food and no shortage of money to pay for it.
