Rotarians Told Job Needs

Members of the Slaton Rotary Club were told in a meeting Tuesday by Dr. Walter Rogers, professor of mechanical engineering at Texas Tech, that the development of 200 new jobs are needed in the Slaton area and have been sought for the past year.

Dr. Rogers stressed that through education and training, the majority of the present work force cannot meet the challenge and charges because these people need a more versatile training and education background to master the automation devices and procedures that are being developed. The future is sure to see more complex controls of automatic manufacturing.

Dr. Bennett stressed that special economic and special courses must be developed for the present work force and the tremendous "baby crop" of the post World War II years that will begin descending upon the college classrooms and the labor markets beginning next year.

The quality of elementary and secondary education must be improved, especially in the mathematics and reading departments. "If a person can read and reason from the first grade on, then when he gets to college or into specialized training he will be prepared to meet the challenges of the future."

In the area of training the learned professor said, "private enterprise and labor must sit down at the bargaining table and design a course of training for the senior craftsmen so that the seniors will be able to train on down the line to the beginners."

"A more realistic tax structure must be devised. The present tax structure will not allow improvement and purchase of new equipment.

At least 50 percent of the industrial equipment now in operation in the United States is obsolete; therefore, a realistic tax structure must be developed for a continual, social and productive growth."

With the increased changes that are obvious, both employee and employer must improve their relations with each other, Dr. Bennett said.

On April 25, Dr. Walter Rogers of Texas Tech will speak to the local Rotary membership on "Social Aspects of Automation." This series of talks will be concluded May 2 on Economic Aspects of Automation.

Apartment House Need Questioned In C-C Survey

A questionnaire, prepared by the Chamber of Commerce, is found elsewhere in the Slatonite, wherein the public is asked to express opinion regarding need of apartment housing in Slaton.

This information is being sought, not for any C. of C. project, but rather as a survey with the results to be made available to inquiring developers.

A coupon is printed in the published ad, and readers are urged by Mrs. Julia Bisbee, Chamber secretary, to fill in the coupon, returning it to the C. of C. office as soon as possible.

Boys Selected: Expense-Paid Boys State Trip

Two Slaton boys have been selected for attendance and expense-paid trip to the American Legion Boys State to be staged in Austin in early June.

Jim Bob Chriesman and Travis McCormack will be Slaton representatives. Both are Juniors in high school, and they were selected by a secret committee on basis of scholarship, character, ambition, leadership ability and the ability to get along with fellow students.

Though both boys are sponsored by the Legion here, McCormack's expenses will be paid by the Slaton Rotary Club and Chriesman's expenses paid by the Legion. This is the first time that two boys have been enabled to attend from Slaton.

Object of Boys State is defined as "education of our youth in the duties, privileges, American citizenship." It is wholly a plan for training in the practical aspects of government. Every boy attending will have a definite and integral part in the program of Boys State, local Commander Luther Gregory states.

Evans Contract Is Awarded In Tuesday Meeting

Contract for construction of a 4-classroom addition to Austin school was awarded Tuesday to the Holiday Construction Company for sum of $28,651. Plans had been revised, according to the Slaton Board of Education, to allow the price to be within range of money available for this construction.

The final price was more than $3,000 under original contract for this building at a cost of $8.48 per square foot.

The hall will be terrazzo tile floor and tile wainscoting, as on all school buildings that have been built recently. The classroom walls will be painted concrete blocks, similar to other additions in the past few years. The overall construction is semi-fireproof as on all new construction in the past fifteen years, providing the Slaton Independent School District an economical rate of insurance.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Observations and Potpourri

If a nation expects to be ignorant and free in a state of civilization, it expects what never was and never will be. . . where the press is free and every man able to read, all is safe.

—Thomas Jefferson

During the next five years, approximately 325,000 young Texans will walk out of school between the ninth grade and high school graduation, a state school official estimates.

In dollars and cents, this step represents a loss of close to $75 billion in lifetime income.

Some startling facts about the dropout problem are reported in the April issue of the "Texas Outlook," the Texas State Teachers Association magazine.

Out of every five pupils in the first grade in 1949-50, only two were graduated from Texas high schools in 1960-61. There were 298,452 in that first grade and only 85,102 of them received a high school diploma.

The graduating class of 1965 was in the eighth grade in 1960-61, and there were 176,988 of them. Education officials already are predicting that 70,000 of these boys and girls won't be at graduation ceremonies in 1965.

The transition from the ninth to the tenth grade is considered the first really critical point. Most boys and girls become 16 years of age that year, and the compulsory attendance law no longer applies to them and their parents. Moreover, they are moving from junior to senior high school, with a stiffer curriculum.

Dropouts face a dead end in a world where education and its skills in the employment field are becoming a necessity, the "Outlook" article states.

"Automation is eliminating the menial kinds of jobs which these kids can do," says Victor Sumner of the Texas Education Agency research division, who made the dropout estimate.

"People in the employment field tell me that the hard core of unemployment now is composed of dropouts from 20 to 30 years ago."

For the sixth consecutive year, May Day has a special significance in this country. May 1st will again be observed as LAW DAY U. S. A. This is special day dedicated across our nation to observance of the fact that we have a government of law instead of men. It is particularly appropriate that Americans set aside this day each year to demonstrate to the world and to ourselves - that our belief in individual freedom under law remains strong and unshakable.

Why is it that some men are able to live in freedom while others cringe under a rule of tyranny? We owe our rights and freedoms to our state and national constitutions, our laws, and our courts. In other lands, there are no rights and people are subjected to the edicts and whims of individuals unhampered by legal restraints.

Most of us tend to take for granted that an individual is free to think for himself and that his rights are protected by law. We know without actually admitting it that our whole way of life is governed by this rule of law.

Law is the intangible force guaranteeing all of us freedom, peace and progress — ideals which have been, and are, dependent upon the adequacy of our legal system and the protection awarded the individual by our courts.

On May 1st this year and every year, with the nation's attention focused on LAW DAY U. S. A., it behooves us to rededicate our belief and faith in this rule of law that is the birthright of all Americans.

"See? We've forgotten the salt, mustard, potato salad and napkins . . . aren't you glad we rehearsed our picnic before starting out?"

It is this liberty and equality under law that distinguishes our system of government from communism. Without laws and the courts; these freedoms we take so for granted would be meaningless.

Our respect for law is vital to the continued growth and strengthening of our nation; our thoughtful observance of LAW DAY U. S. A., in a real sense distinguished America from those who today live under tyranny; it is our answer to communism. LAW DAY U. S. A. is the American way.

With Eyes To The Future . . .

Newspaper people of the Gulf Coast area last week-end had an opportunity to learn more about the NASA program now getting into full play in the Houston area. Most, we are sure, were impressed with the magnitude of the whole project — and the economic impact of the operation of NASA (National Aeronautic & Space Administration) in the Houston area.

Some Americans may fail to see the need of the billions of dollars of investment in our space program, as planned by NASA, but assuming the necessity of probing space and keeping abreast of other world leaders in this important field of research, one can be properly impressed with the scope of the program being planned.

A city of nearly 200,000 people is expected to result in the Clear Lake area southeast of Houston as result of the decade or more of activity designed to send Americans on the moon and back.

Whole new model communities are now in early stages of construction. Tremendous investment in new highways, utility services schools and all of the many facilities required for modern living are on the drawing boards for the future.

And Houston proper, as well as the immediate area around Clear Lake, is reacting to the stimulus of the new project. Texas' largest city, already enjoying a tremendous growth, has apparently redoubled its rate of expansion on many fronts.

Houston, and all of Texas, can take pride in the fact that this state's tremendous resources and available land area resulted in location of the NASA project in the Lone Star State. It will be interesting to see what the future brings.

Shorter Exam Is Initiated For Peace Corp Jobs

A new—and much shorter—Peace Corps Placement Test will be given for the first time Saturday, April 27, in more than 800 communities across the nation.

The basic new test will be only one hour in length. By contrast, the old exam used by the Peace Corps lasted a minimum of four hours and, in specialized instances, could last up to eight hours.

The new, short test—like the old one—is non-competitive. It is used as a device by Peace Corps officials to determine if an applicant is basically qualified for Peace Corps service and at what level.

Applicants who have already taken the old test do not need to take the new one.

In addition to the one-hour test, applicants who have knowledge of French or Spanish must take an additional one-hour language achievement test.

Dr. Edward R. Henry, director of the Peace Corps' selection division, explained that the new, short test has been designed on the basis of information gained after two years' experience with the longer exam.

"Some tests in the former battery have been found to be of low validity in relation to the success of Volunteers in training and overseas. Other sections were more useful for proper class placement in training than they were for selection," he explained.

The new tests will be given at 8:00 a. m., April 27, at designated Civil Service testing centers all over the nation. Information concerning the locations of such centers may be obtained at local post offices.

To be eligible to take the exam, applicants must either have submitted a questionnaire to the Peace Corps or must bring a completed questionnaire to the test site with them.

More than 5,000 successful applicants are now at work in 45 countries in Asia, Africa and Latin America or completing training for their overseas assignments.

The number of Volunteers has increased 78 per cent (from 2,816 to 5,009) since last June 30, Peace Corps officials say they expect a similar increase this year.

Peace Corps opportunities cover hundreds of different kinds of jobs in education, agriculture, health, construction and community development.

All applicants must be U. S. citizens who are at least 18 years old. There is no upper age limit. Married couples without dependent children may qualify for the same project.

Although many Peace Corps jobs require technical skills, some do not. For example, liberal arts graduates are often assigned to community development after receiving special training. Also, applicants with general farm backgrounds might be assigned to agricultural projects without being highly skilled in any of the many agricultural specialties. A college degree is not needed for many Peace Corps assignments.

Naval Reserve Platoon Set Up On South Plains

Slaton and Southland High School junior and senior boys now are eligible to become members of the newly created South Plains Naval Reserve Platoon, a group of area reservists who will travel and train together.

Opportunities in this special platoon will be outlined at 11:00 a. m. in Slaton High School and 1:15 p. m. in Southland High School during Career Day Assemblies.

Speakers will be Petty Officers Earl Maples and Dan Kelly of Lubbock's U. S. Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center.

Fourteen high school and college men already enlisted in the Navy platoon. They and others who join during April and the early part of May will comprise the platoon.

Thursday, April 25, 1963

The Slaton Slaton

The men will travel together by commercial airline at government expense to San Diego, California, where they will spend two weeks in the same company at recruit training camp.

Platoon members also will be eligible for a two-week cruise sometime in July aboard one of the Navy's 34 reserve training ships. These ships range in size from destroyers to aircraft carriers and depart from ports along each coast and the Gulf of Mexico.

By joining the Naval Reserve, the men will begin fulfill their six-year military obligation. They can request their required two-years active or they can request a deferment until they complete college.

Naval Reservists in college also can apply for the Reserve Officer Candidate program which after two eight-week summer sessions at Newport Rhode Island, they will be commissioned an Ensign in the Naval Reserve upon graduation from college.

Is there an adolescent in the house?

If you're a parent, there are times when nothing in the world seems more unhappy than the trials of adolescence. And if you're a young person, the desire to be "all grown up" fights with the feelings of love and respect that you've always held for your parents.

Where's the common ground that can ease this difficult period in life? Often it's at the place where you worship.

Faith does move mountains—of misunderstanding, anger, frustration. It helps parents to see, understand, and have tolerance for their youngsters' problems. It helps young people have a sense of worth about themselves now—and about the adulthood they'll soon assume.

Worship—together—this week... and add new, true values to your life!

Costume Jewelry From Insects

An astonishing fad in costume jewelry is causing grave concern among quarantine officials in Texas and the nation. Large insects bedecked with gem-cut colored stones and glass are being smuggled into the United States and sold as "living jewelry."

The jeweled beetles are being prepared and sold as curios in Mexico, USDA quarantine inspectors report. The importation of insects to the United States is strictly forbidden but the large, gaudy bugs are being smuggled across the border and sold for relatively high prices as novelties.

Many of the beetles that have been seized are about an inch long and have a small chain glued on for fastening to the owner's clothing so the bug can crawl around as a living ornament. Some have been found for sale in San Antonio as well as New York and other large cities. A prime sale point seems to be from bars where male customers buy them for presentation to wives or girl friends.

Importation of any live insect pest is restricted because of the danger that they might escape and start damaging crops, forests or ornamental plants. The two species most commonly used as "live brooches" are reported to feed on wood. They are not known to be present in this country in a natural state.

Movement of insects to new geographical areas can result in great losses to farmers and consumers alike. The Japanese beetle, an extremely damaging pest in the United States, was not considered a serious pest in Japan where natural enemies kept its numbers under control. The "living jewelry" is an unknown factor in this country and every effort is being made to prevent its importation.

This fad could possibly have serious implications in this country, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White warns. And it seems almost incredible that the ornamented bugs brought a price as high as $12.50 in San Antonio bars.

Agricultural Research Service inspectors of the USDA have seized a number of the jeweled insects along the Mexican border during recent months. Yet an unknown quantity is known to have penetrated far inside the borders. Customs officials recently seized nearly 200 of them in New York City.

Persons who know of the pests being offered for sale are urged to contact Texas or United States Department of Agriculture officials immediately.

Hawkins-Duckett Wedding Vows Pledged at Lubbock

In a candlelight service read at 8 p. m. Friday, April 19, Miss Linda Sue Hawkins became the bride of Leland Boyd Duckett. The couple pledged double ring wedding vows before the altar in the sanctuary of Overton Methodist Church in Lubbock.

The Rev. W. F. Gaede, (cq) pastor of Olton Methodist Church performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hawkins, 307 42nd St., Lubbock, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of L. L. Duckett of Abernathy and Mrs. J. E. Vannoy of Slaton.

Baskets of red carnations and palms stood before the church altar to form a setting for the ring rites. White tapers in antiqued candelabra and a kneeling bench complemented the scene.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of taffeta and chiffon which she designed and made. The floor-length gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves which tapered to petal points over her hands.

Billowing layers of white chiffon were caught to the fitted bodice then floated over the taffeta skirt to form a chapel train.

A large bow of taffeta iced with chiffon caught her bouffant veil of silk illusion. She carried a white Bible, a gift from the bridegroom, and a cascade of red carnations. Her bouquet, tied with red streamers, was showered with dainty green: and bridesmaids, dressed of emerald green Beverly (cq) Hawkins, a sister of the bride, attend maid of honor. She wore a frock of ice green.

Each attendant wore a net caught to a circlet of de soie in a shade which ed her dress. A tiny bow at the front of each head. Each attendant carried a red carnation framed nosegay ruffle of embossed gandy. The long stem of flower was wrapped in satin ribbon and embossed by green satin leaves.

The women wore white length gloves and gold bracelets, gifts from the bride.

Miss Connie McMillan, maid of honor, was gowned in jewel

LET'S FACE IT IT JUST AIN'T SO

No one consistently sells furniture and home furnishings at greatly reduced prices and remains in business. The expense of doing business, taxes and service, plus the competitive market of today's business climate have eliminated drastic price cutting of the so-called discount houses. It just ain't so . . . Of course there is no way to stop the tricks and advertising gimmicks and "sucker come on" that these operators (well chosen word) use to entice the unwary.

One trick is to deliberately have a living room suit made up for them with the upholstery put on wrong side out, then they use this as an advertising leader. They represent it as a factory defect and quote a low, low price. When you go in to see it . . . naturally you do not want that suite so they sell you up to a better suite at regular prices available anywhere from legitimate dealers at probably a lower price.

Another "come on" is to advertise a well known item . . . say, 5 piece dinnette for $19.95, they just failed to mention that it is a beat-up used suite, but it serves the purpose of pulling the unwary into their store where they become fair game for the unscrupulous operator.

Still another gimmick is to advertise a leader and NAIL it to the floor. If the sales person sells it, he not only loses his commission on the sale, but pays a $5.00 penalty to the store from his own pocket. It is pretty hard to buy one of these nailed down leaders under these conditions.

We recommend that you investigate the merchandise you buy, know and trust the dealer from whom you buy and be sure he is eager to back up the items he sells.

ice green peau de soie fashioned with a scoop neckline and puffed sleeves. The dress was tied with a wide cummerbund was flower girl. She sash in jewel green. Her head-length dress of piece was of miniature copy of the hat worn by Miss Beverly (cq) Hawkins. She carried a white basket tied with green ribbon streamers.

Dorwin Duckett attended his brother as best man and groomsmen were Doyte Tucker of Slaton, Johnny Johnson, and Joe Culpepper of Cactus, cousin of the bridegroom.

Johnny Hawkins, brother of the bride, carried the couples' simple gold wedding bands on a white velvet smocked pillow which Mrs. Carrell had used for her wedding.

Candles were lighted by Paul Smith and Russell Morris, members of the Junior Choir at Overton Church. The bride is director of the choir.

Larry Courtney, organist, accompanied Danny Hood in wedding selections. He sang "One Hand, One Heart," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer". Immediately following the prayer, the bride turned to her new husband and sang, "Whither Thou Goest."

Mrs. Hawkins chose a dress of beige linen weave embroidered with a scroll design in toast for her daughter's wedding. She added beige shoes in leather, a beige leather bag, and toast gloves. Her straw hat was frosted with beige and toast veiling entwined with soft green net. Her corsage was of red carnations.

The bridegroom's mother chose a two piece dress of beige silk and a beige flower hat. Her shoes were in cream patent and her gloves were beige. Her corsage was also of red carnations.

Members of the house party at the ensuing reception included Mmes. C. H. Courtney, Dorwin (cq) Duckett, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Jack D. Smith, Neely (cq) Duff, C. O. French, and Miss Sandra Watkins, cousin of the bride.

Wedding guests were received by the newlyweds and their parents in the fellowship hall of the church. They were served wedding cake from a table laid with ecru linen and appointed with crystal and silver. White tapers in crystal candle holders filled with red mums and leaves illuminated the setting. The table was dominated by a large four layer wedding cake which had been made by the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. J. B. Butler Jr., of Cactus, Texas.

When the couple departed for a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., the bride was wearing a dress and coat ensemble in spring green. Her light weight wool coat of green was lined in a silk print in tones of green and blue which matched her dress. She added accessories of black leather.

Mr. and Mrs. Duckett will make their new home at 1501-A 30th St., Lubbock. Mrs. Duckett is a graduate of Monterey High School and has attended Texas Tech. She is employed at Dunlap's Executive Offices. Her husband was graduated from Slaton High School and attended West Texas State College at Canyon. He is employed by Yellowhouse Machinery Co.

FORERUNNER OF TODAY'S TV COMMERCIALS?— These are ads that dominated pages in the Slatonite 44 years ago, proved by a weathered and tattered copy of a June issue, 1919, still in the hands of Mrs. W. L. Housour who brought it to the Slatonite Office recently. Bull Durham and Riz-La-Croix, veritable trademark of the old West, bring back nostalgic memories to lots of us, and what person of the pre-20's failed to read the patent medicine ads?

The Slatonite contained a number of local ads, also, with probably the Slaton State Bank message being the most unique, reading: "JOIN THE FASHION PARADE, the line of march extends from Thriftless Alley to Easy Street, via Safety Lane... the way is paved with Golden Opportunity—war savings stamps and savings bank deposits". Directors of that bank were listed as A. B. Robertson, E. N. Twaddle, A. L. Robertson, C. M. McCullough and Carl Rippy.

Adjacent to the above mentioned ad was the advertisement of the First State Bank, J. S. Edwards, president, and J. H. Brewer, cashier.

Masthead of The Slatonite proclaimed W. Donald as publisher and owner, with subscription price at $1.50 per year.
