Three Are Charged In Weekend Burglaries

Three juveniles ages 15, 16, and 17 were booked by the Slaton Police Department late Tuesday afternoon for the break-in at the Caprock Drive-In Theater here early Sunday morning and the burglary of two other city places the same night.

All three suspects were turned over to the Lubbock County juvenile authorities this morning. The county juvenile authorities will probably charge the trio with felony.

The three victims are all students or former students in the Slaton school system.

Davis Hired By City As Financial Agent

In a called meeting of the Slaton City Commission Monday night, the city officials hired Bob Davis of Columbus Securities Company in San Antonio to act as the city's fiscal agent for the upcoming bond election.

Although the home office of Securities Company is in San Antonio, Davis will work out of the company's Amarillo office while handling the bonds for the city of Slaton.

Other bonding company representatives appearing before the council seeking to be the city's fiscal agent were Bob Estes, Hamilton Securities, Dallas; Joe Smith, First Southwest Company, Dallas; and Jack Gray, Dittmar and Company, San Antonio.

In other business conducted at the meeting, Claude Cravens, Slaton attorney, discussed with the commission some legal problems he is handling for the city.

Cravens advised the commission that the estate of John Jarrot had indicated that it was willing to accept $125 per acre for eight acres of land located in the lake area just west of the local compress and that the sale contract had been prepared and mailed to the estate.

According to Cravens, condemnation proceedings were ready to be started against owners of 12 acres of land immediately adjacent to the Jarrot property.

One tax suit has been filed in behalf of the city, according to Cravens.

In other action by the councilmen, it was voted unanimously to accept an offer from Leo Wendel of $1,000 for the property between Hockley and Terry streets on 18th Street.

The city officials also agreed to extend the alley through this property in an east and west direction.

Present for the called meeting were Mayor L. O. Lemon, City Secretary J. J. Maxey, and commissioners Joe Walker Jr., Robert Hall Davis, J. E. Eckert Jr. and Fernando Gonzales.

He is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bednarz of Ft. I, Slaton.

Dierschke's award in the field of animal science was based on his scholastic record and his proposed research project to be conducted during the 1962-63 year.

Mrs. King And Daughter Move To Community

A joint announcement was made this week by John H. King II, Slatonite publisher, and U. S. Bird in connection with King selling the Robert Lee Observer, a weekly newspaper, to Bird. The sale was effective June 1.

Bird, a native of Coke County, formerly edited newspapers in Coleman and Coke counties. He also has taught religious journalism at Los Angeles, Calif. He was a chaplain in the U.S. Army during World War II, seeing duty in Europe and the Pacific Theatre.

Prior to purchasing the Robert Lee newspaper, he was employed on that paper for several weeks assisting Mrs. John H. King who managed the property from the time that her husband purchased the Slaton Slatonite from Francis E. Perry on May 19 of this year until this week.

Bird and his wife, Josephine, also have farming and ranching interests near Sanco, which is located about 90 miles north-east of Robert Lee.

Mrs. King and daughter, Debra, 9, moved to Slaton this week where they joined their husband and father. The King family resides at 605 South 16th Street.

She plans to take an active part in some of the general and society news duties at The Slatonite beginning the first part of next week.

Mrs. King is a past president of Spoudazio Fora Study Club in Big Spring. She has been active in youth work as well as a primary Sunday School teacher in the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. R. L. Bain had as guests in her home Sunday her son-in-law and his family, Mr. and Mrs. W. Payne Huddleston and girls of Lubbock; her granddaughters, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Buchanan of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Randy Wheeler and

The other two places allegedly victimized by the trio Saturday night was the Wilkins Laundry and the Babe Ruth BKall Park.

All three admitted breaking in and taking items from Wilkins' and the ball park, but all denied any knowledge of the burglary at Tigertown club house.

According to Slaton Police Chief Gene Martin, no leads have turned up on the Tigertown burglary.

About $246.90 in merchandise was taken from the laundry Sunday.

The break-in at the drive in theater occurred about 1:30 a. m. Sunday. Sixty-one speaker poles were pulled out of the ground, and other minor damage was reported.

"The Mid Nighters" was written on the windshield of a pickup truck parked near the drive-in.

The Wilkin's Laundry break-in also occurred early Sunday morning.

Several boxes of candy and chewing gum were reported missing from the ball park. The trio admitted under questioning that they gained entrance to the ball field concession stand by breaking the south window.

Entry to the Tigertown Clubhouse was gained by knocking the door off the hinges.

EDITORIAL Observations Let Youth Be The Theme

One of the most important things that any small or medium size community must do in order to progress and to continue to keep pace with neighboring communities is to invite the young people of the town to return home when they finish their education.

A progressive-minded city must not only encourage businessmen to stay who are already there, but it must also encourage new persons to come into the community.

Many towns do not actively try to get young people from the town to return there when they finish their education — much less encourage young, new blood from other areas to come there.

Too many persons in small communities think that the young persons graduating from college campuses across the land must go far away to greener grass in order to succeed.

A great number of persons in these smaller communities live from day to day not thinking of whom is going to run the city 10, 20, or 30 years from now.

For a young person just finishing his education, his own home town should offer the greatest opportunity for success.

A young person who has been away several years attending college or serving in the armed forces offers the community many things when he returns.

Among the most valuable resources of any city is its youth, its willingness to grow, and its ability to accept new ideas.

Youth is the theme for national and state leaders. Why should it not be the theme for communities across the nation?

Why should Slaton and other area towns not encourage young people to go into business here and help the community progress?

Among the most valuable resources of any city is its youth, its willingness to grow, and its ability to accept new ideas.

Residents in a neighboring town have been heard to complain about the location of that town. "It is entirely too close to Lubbock," is the major complaint heard there.

The residents of this town that is doing so much complaining have failed to do anything to encourage new residents to come to their city.

If this town finds it hard to thrive and stay ahead of towns like Slaton, which is thriving and growing and is closer to Lubbock, what is the answer?

We think the answer lies in the fact that Slaton merchants and civic leaders actively try to encourage young people to return home and others to come here.

Any town that expects to grow and keep pace with more civic-minded communities must continue to keep bringing new, fresh ideas and young people into the community.

Slaton is fortunate in this respect. The town officials and businessmen have encouraged new blood to come into the city and grow with it.

Organizational Union Not The Answer—

There are church leaders in America whose primary goal seems to be the union of all churches. They feel that this is the major problem facing Christendom at this moment. They are devoting their careers to bringing all churches into organizational unity.

This we cannot understand; furthermore, we are completely out of sympathy with the movement.

It is true that divisions among the Christian church are numerous and often harmful. It is true that Christ prayed that his followers be "one." It is true that churches often place undue emphasis on minor differences. It is true that there is often unjustified sniping among denominational bodies.

It is especially true that Christian churches should speak with one voice on essentials, that they should march arm in arm against the forces of evil.

But the simple fact is — there isn't one thing the churches could do through organizational unity that they couldn't do today, if they so desired. Consider the field of evangelism. Consider Tullia. There are those who would say, "Let's have just one church." So far as evangelism is concerned, there isn't a reason in the world that all the evangelical churches of Tullia couldn't have a city-wide, union evangelistic campaign such as the Billy Graham campaign now underway in Chicago. And certainly they don't need organizational unity to accomplish such a project.

So what would be gained in the field of evangelism by having one big church here in Tullia?

The forces which divide Christians are not church walls. They are much more basic than that. Where there is no organic unity, there can be no organization unity.

We would suggest to those who would unite the churches into one organization that they begin by working for organic unity. Then organizational unity would be no problem. It would take care of itself.

There are certain great advantages in having various denominations. People are different. Some people like formal, ritualistic services. Others like informal ones. An Episcopalian would feel very much out of place in an Assembly of God service — and vice versa. Personally, we would feel out of place in both. The Episcopalian has no right to dictate to the devout member of the Assembly of God — and the devout Assembly of God member has no right to dictate to the Episcopalian. And neither has any right to dictate to us.

So why force all these people to compromise their views on church worship form just for the sake of organizational unity. Wouldn't it be much better for these people to work together when they can meet on common ground — such as a Billy Graham city-wide revival — then retire to their own church homes to practice their distinctive views?

In Tullia, we have several service clubs, the Kiwanis, the Rotary, the Lions, the Jaycees, and the like. All exist for the same reason—to serve the community. All are cordial to each other. All will work together on some citywide project which needs the support of all the people. Yet each is distinctive. Each conducts its meetings in its own way.

What would be gained by combining all service clubs into one? There's nothing wrong with having a number of clubs and there's nothing wrong with having a number of church congregations. If they are dedicated to bickering and fighting, that is something else. But even then, the solution isn't in organizational unity.

It's a paradox that those most determined to have organizational unity among the churches are the most non-cooperative when an area for cooperation presents itself — such as a citywide revival.

—H. M. Baggary, The Tullia Herald

You Can't Stand Still—

It's often been said that, when it comes to retailing, the customer is king.

That is more than just a felicitous phrase. There's a world of truth in it. In this, our highly competitive free market economy.

For instance, the nation's major variety chains are aiming at a $300 million sales increase during this year. These chains plan to open about 500 new stores by year-end, and five-year estimates are pegged at 2,200. According to one authority, variety stores will be the biggest general merchandise outlets in 90 per cent of all new shopping centers that are springing up around the country.

The stores have elaborate plans to extend their business and, also, to make their operations more efficient. Various cost reduction practices are being aggressively followed — practices which make it possible to offer better value. At the same time, major effort will be given to improve the attractiveness of the stores in every particular.

The president of one of the biggest of these chains put it this way: "We are expanding to meet the customers' more sophisticated wants. The all-purpose one-stop variety family store is becoming a reality . . ."

What is true in the variety field is true, one way or another, in other retail fields. It's a business in which no one can afford to stand still. You go forward — or you go back.

The Fairer Sex Have Upper Hand—

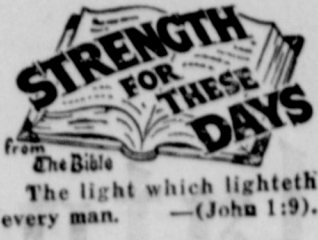

All this talk we hear from seasoned politicians on the need of the party (any party) to win the support of minority groups makes us wonder what's wrong with making a little character with a majority group.

And in case there's any doubt as to who constitute the majority group in the U.S., it's the women — by the score of 91 million to 88 (according to the 1960 census). Not only that, but among the nation's 45 million families there can be little question of who wins the arguments, political included.

Thus, if we were a Congressman who hoped to remain in Washington awhile longer, we would be taking some pains to find out what the women are thinking about among themselves and apart from those issues that equally concern the males. We might remember, for instance, the hullabaloo the girls stirred up about a year ago that resulted in six members of the House Ways and Means Committee presenting bills to outlaw that "temporary" wartime tax on toilet preparations.

And the realization would follow that since none of these bills was passed, a promise to the fair sex remains unfulfilled — fifteen years after this "luxury" tax was to have expired. To say that the distasteful side is furious over those ungalant lawmakers who have turned deaf ears on their entreaties is a distinct understatement. They still regard George III's tax on tea as fair and reasonable compared with Uncle Sam's tax on good appearance—and the good grooming that is as important to a business woman as her transportation and lunch money.

In fact, the women spurned, than whom hell hath no fury like, are on the warpath again, and the members of that tax-planning House Ways and Means Committee are once more receiving them loud and clear — as the saying is — Andrew County News

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
"LOVE'S OBJECTIVE"

By CHARLES STUART
Church of the Nazarene

The world stood by breathlessly while John Glenn was blasted out of earth's atmosphere into orbit around the globe three times. People prayed during re-entry and awaited tensely for news of his recovery and safety after his splash down in the ocean.

When well-wishers were relieved by the news that he was safe aboard a ship, the scientists were rejoicing over the completion of their primary objective.

His primary objective was to place a man in orbit and then get him back safely. There is a primary objective in Christian love, too. That primary objective is to fit a man to glorify Christ here and for glory hereafter.

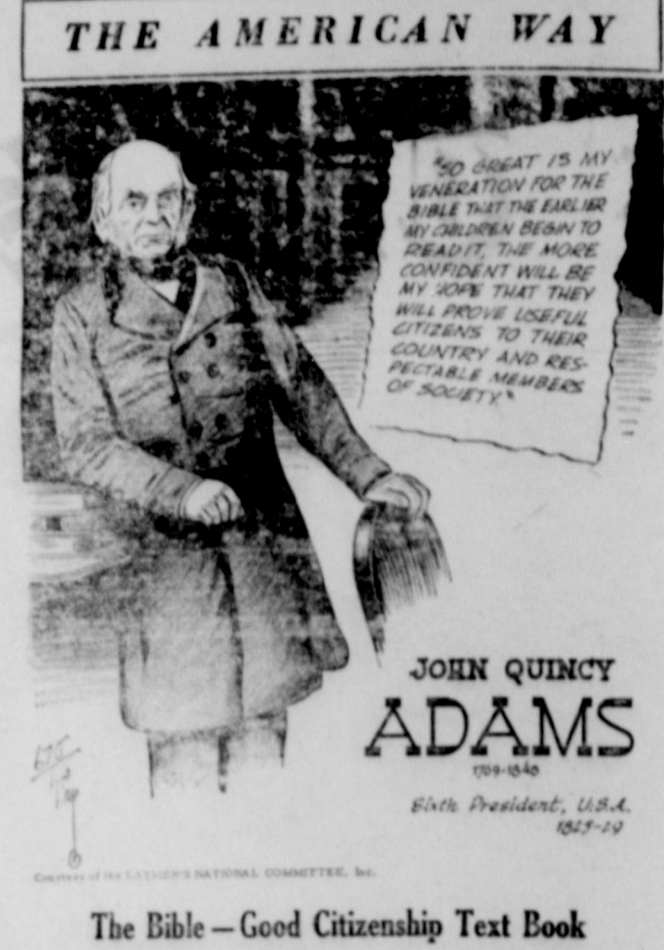

Jesus Christ wishes to blast us out of sin and sin out of us then fill us with His love. This love has as its primary objective the glorification of Christ by keeping us in His commandments. Jesus said, "If a man love me, he will keep my words; and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him. He that loveth me keepeth my sayings."

No man can say he loves Jesus Christ and then not keep His commandments without leaving himself open to the ancient charge of drawing close to God with his lips and yet showing with his life that his heart is far from Him.

But it is a strength to a man to hear the Apostle John say, "And hereby we do know that we know him, if he keeps his commandments." (1 John 2:2).

If the primary objective of Christ's love is to forgive us of our sins and fill us with His love that we might glorify Him, then we need some aids. Our love must be nourished and strengthened. This is realized in at least two ways.

First, our love is deepened by continual revelations of Christ's love and presence. He spoke and reveals Himself to us in His word. Remember, too, that He comes to take abode in our heart. Surely such a personal, intimate fellowship with Him is soul-satisfying and heart-strengthening. Not only on the day we know He has forgiven us our sins, but He continually re-

Human beings are measured by God's standard: PERFECT RIGHTEOUSNESS!

He knows that we do not "measure up"; and that by our own efforts and devising we cannot do so. He knows that, left to ourselves, we could never find the way. That's why He has sent His message, the Bible, to all of us. That's why He has set the church in the midst of us. To neglect either is to neglect ourselves.

Why wait about reading God's message? Why wait about hearing it proclaimed? Isn't it time to think in terms of "measuring up", knowing, as we do, that our days, too, are measured?

"Lord, make me to know mine end, and the measure of my days — that I may know how frail I am — And now, Lord, what wait I for? My hope is in thee. Deliver me from all my intransgressions!"

PSALM 39: 5-8.

Salmon Steaks Alaska

Salmon, one of the tastiest members of the fish family, is an excellent choice for these meatless days throughout the year and especially during Lent. All fish contains nutritional elements, but salmon is higher in protein and calcium and lower in calories and fat than most other species. Not only Alaskans but Americans in five to the waters of the Pacific Northwest, thanks to fast freezing methods and quick shipping of the fresh fish.

Here's a simple recipe for either baking or broiling the steaks. The flavoring trick is Tabasco, the peppery red liquid spice—as indispensable to fish as butter! Tabasco combines with melted butter and lime or lemon juice to enhance the fresh fish flavor.

Salmon Steaks Alaska

1/4 cup butter, melted
4 1/2 teaspoons lime or lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco
4 salmon steaks, fresh or frozen, cut 1-inch thick

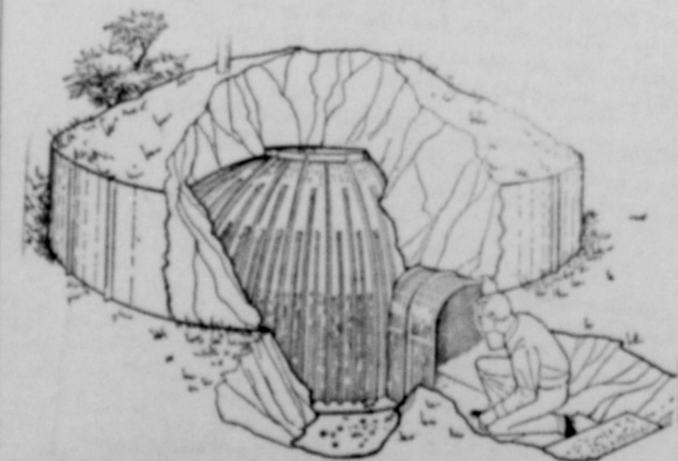

Combine butter, lime juice and Tabasco. To bake, place salmon steaks in shallow baking dish. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Pour to 30 minutes, or until easily flaked with a fork. To broil, place salmon steaks on greased broiler rack. Sprinkle lightly with salt; inches from heat. Broil 15 minutes, or until easily flaked with a fork. If desired, garnish with lime or lemon slices. Serve with *Cucumber Sauce. Yield: 4 servings.

Cucumber Sauce

1/2 pint commercial sour cream
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon snipped dill, optional
1 cup diced cucumber (with peel on)

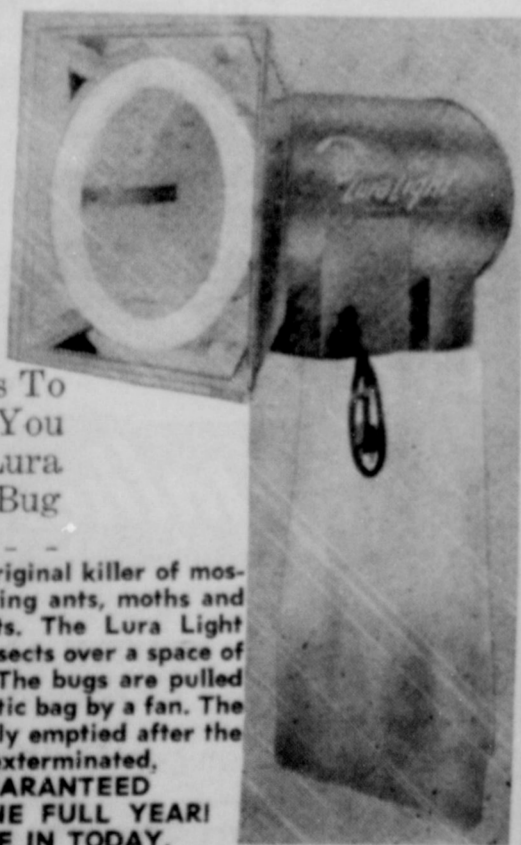

Blend together sour cream and Tabasco; stir in remaining ingredients. Yield: Approximately 2 cups.

AUSTIN - Texas' crime situation looks a little better. FBI reports covering the first three months of 1962, based on statistics from the 12 largest cities, show major crimes down 6.7 per cent. Across the U.S. in cities of comparable size, major crime rates rose one per cent. Texas' crime rate actually is down in number of crimes reported from 1961, despite population growth during the year of some 200,000.

OUT OF JOBS
Finding a job in Texas is a little easier these days. Texas Employment Commission reports April unemployment at 4.3 percent of the labor force as compared to 5.4 per cent a year ago.

Average factory wages rose from $91.21 a week last year to $96.10 this April. Range was wide, however, depending on the industry.

Leatherwork was the lowest paid, an average of $52.13 a week. Oil workers got the most, an average of $132.07 weekly.

Number of Texans working outside agriculture now has passed the 3,000,000 mark. Houston had 19,800 unemployed; Dallas 16,000.

Statewide, 375 persons are working at agriculture. This makes the total working force 3,629,400.

TOO MANY COLLEGES
Dr. Ralph Green of the Texas Commission on Higher Education thinks the Legislature should quit creating four-year, state-supported colleges.

He told a House Committee on Saving Taxes that 20 state colleges are about enough.

Legislators have extended state support to four new colleges in the last four years. Biggest of the new ones, the University of Houston, will enter the state system this fall. This will substantially increase the state's higher education bill.

U of H now ranks second in size to the University of Texas.

WATER SUPPLY
Texas enters the summer with its major reservoirs 76 per cent full.

Texas Water Commission reports that May rains couldn't keep up with use and evaporation, so the water supplies shrunk by 291,000 acre feet.

As June opened, supplies were 76 per cent of capacity, compared with 83 per cent a year ago.

LIVESTOCK RULES AMENDED
The Texas Animal Health Commission, after hearing pleas of livestock market operators, relaxed rules designed to speed up the eradication or at least control of brucellosis (undulant fever).

Commission action amending the rules came just before they were to go into effect June 15.

Before the change, the rules would have required testing for brucellosis before cattle could be moved from one market to another.

As amended, the rule says the cattle may move from one approved market to another approved market without having to take the test. This was put on a trial basis.

Restriction of movement was opposed by representatives of the big stockyards at San Antonio, Fort Worth and Houston. Auction markets also had an ardent champion present.

James D. Sartwell, president of Houston's Port City Stockyards, said the economic effect of the proposed rule could be "dangerous," particularly so in view of "the predicted downturn in cattle prices now beginning."

Sartwell said Texas' cattle inventory includes many so-called "two-way" cattle, entirely dependent on market conditions, which are sold as either stocker or slaughter animals.

Most of these two-way cattle, he said, also are "trader" cattle and loom large as a volume moving from interior markets, purchased by a trader and consigned to the terminals for resale. He saw danger to this cattle movement in the proposed regulation.

G. C. Hagelestein of San Antonio's Union Stockyards felt livestock leaving any market should meet the requirements of its destination. But he said he was interested in protecting the industry and didn't believe the regulation did that.

John M. Lewis, general manager of the Fort Worth Stockyards, thought the Commission proposal would "strangle" the price-making terminal markets.

Old Friends

By J. J. Maxey

We had a very interesting visit with an old friend last week. Tommy Gentry, Class of 1937, was here visiting his mother, M. E. A. Gentry. Tommy is living at 503 Julie Drive, Gallup, N. M. Tommy has been living in New Mexico for the last twenty-one years. He is a conductor on the Santa Fe. Many of you remember Tommy as a member of one of Slaton's better football teams a better than average hand at the many arts of self defense. To my says that Shirley Lucado, Class of 1938 is one of his old neighbors and that J. N. McCollum has two large super marks in Gallup. We gave Tommy the address of Don Shelby who lives at 424 Morningside Drive, N. E., Albuquerque, N. M. Tommy and Don were very close friends in their school days.

Had a nice letter from Mrs. Harvey Allen (Betty Lou Turner) Class of 1942, sending her regrets for not being able to attend reunion. Betty underwent major surgery on June 1 and the doctor says no trip. I remember Betty as one who could literally tear piano up when she was a kid and when I say tear it up I mean burn it down. Betty lives at Beaumont and her address is Box 2 Voth Station.

A note from Bertram Kessel, Class of 1936, saying that he enjoys reading about old friends from Slaton. Bertram and his brothers are in the hardware and appliance business, 5432 E. Grand, Dallas. Bertram says he is amazed at the number of Slatonites who drop in to see them in Dallas. He remarked that Slatonites are a well traveled group and that they are always welcome there. Bertram is finishing his year as president of Rotary club there.

Had a very nice note from my old friend, Jesse Ewing, Class of 1929. Jesse writes that he is still, after twenty-eight years married to Earline McCalister, Class of 1931, and that she reads his mail. Jesse is in the real estate and insurance brokerage business in Texas City and their mailing address is P. O. Box 1610, Texas City.

In a meeting of the executive committee last week there was a discussion on what year various ones graduated. Elton Smith brought up the question of when Chris Kirksey and Roscoe Mer graduated. There were three different opinions as to the exact date, but each one swore that these two were in the senior class that particular year. Now I know that the usual reason for staying an extra year was to participate in football. But, way back in my time one extra year was all they would allow me. Elton pointed out that when Chris and Roscoe graduated, Mr. Lem the principal at that time, cried and said that it was like losing a couple of faculty members. Will some one please clear up the situation for Elton?

Mrs. Douglas Wilson (Laura Saage), Class of 1934, asks that we notify all members of the Class of 1934 that there will be a reunion together and coffee at her home on Saturday morning, June from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Laura lives at 1345 W. Pest Crosby street, Slaton.

Ova Sue Wilson, Class of 1956, is giving a coffee for all members of her class at 10 a.m. on June 30. Ova Sue lives at 755 S. 21st street, Slaton.

The 1941-42 classes are having a banquet and dance on night of June 29 at the club house and American Legion hall. Admission is $5. per couple.

The Class of 1932 is having a coffee and get-together in directors room of the Savings and Loan building at 3 p.m., June 30.

All of the above announcements are extra curricular activities so be sure to keep in mind the general luncheon at the Junior high cafeteria at 12 noon June 30. Price of tickets is $2.50. It will be a program immediately after the luncheon. All of you come and meet a large number of your old friends there.

We have been asked by Bill Ware, president of the Jaycees to announce that there will be a dance at the tennis courts on Saturday night, June 30. All exes will be welcome. Admission is $1.00.

The advertising committee reports that news releases I have sent to many out of town papers. Announcements and students news items are being carried on both radio stations. There will be exes on "Names in the News" and "Community Crossroads" on television Friday of this week and Tuesday of next week. A banner has been put up across the highway in the center of town and "Welcome Exes" will be painted on most merchant windows the last of this week and the first of next. If there is an ex-student that still does not know what is going on we just can help it.

We want to take this opportunity to thank all of the news media for their wonderful cooperation and help in this undertaking. We are trying something that to our knowledge is untried. There to have a reunion without anything to draw except hospital. Everyone is entering into the spirit of the thing and we will know how it comes out in a very few days.

Those paying dues since last week are Frances Bru Holder, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hamilton, Jesse and Earline Ew, Kenneth Lilley, J. L. Benton, Bertram Kessel, Betty Lou Turner, Oleta Colston Kearns, Neuti Nan Watson, Rea Alvis brey, Jolene Tate Fondy, Fern Barnes Pope, Rhea Pierce, I Bartley McBeath, and Tommy Gentry.

John Selman

Cowboy Reunion Slated June 2-4 At Stamford

"Old Cowhands Never Die. They Just Ride" — at least that is the way thousands of spectators and well wishers who visit Texas Cowboy Reunion feel about John Selman, who for 33 years has led the grand entry of 500 to 600 cow ponies and cow pokes into the arena in Stamford.

Selman will again lead the parade this year when he participates in the 33rd annual rodeo July 2, 3, and 4.

John (Scandalous) Selman, 78, began his cowboy work in the 1890's and has never worked at anything else.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Bollinger had as guests in their home Saturday night and Sunday their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Patterson of Olton. Also visiting in their home Sunday were their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. George Du-bose and children of Amarillo, and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kennedy of Tatom, N. M. The Dubose children are staying with their grandparents this week.

LOCAL ARTIST SAYS:

Termites Are Among Top House Pests

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second article in a series by Ira Keys, a local painter. In this article, Keys discusses termites and how they may be exterminated by home dwellers.)

By IRA KEYS

In the dense forest a lone tree falls, making an insignificant noise. As the tree falls, the ground surrounding is showered by tiny organisms. These small creatures — termites — have been silently at work for years, gnawing away, making small rooms, alcoves, and passages through and in their host—the tree.

The tree has served as food, protection, and nursery for the insects while it stood and will continue to do so until it has turned to dust to be absorbed by other vegetation.

But now let's look more closely at those that fell upon the ground surrounding the once proud giant. We find they are bleached white — all, that is, but a few with a brownish hue.

Termites are quite similar to ants in that they abide in colonies, have workers, a larger-than-the-rest queen and even soldiers. Young termites fly from their parental home only to drop their wings upon finding a place of their own.

It is nature's own desire that termites turn dead trees and vegetation back to food for the living. Of course nature organized this scheme before my memory had its start but to the best of my knowledge this all took place before mankind began using the meals of termites for his own miscellaneous purposes.

Termites are no respecters of people and peoples wishes! Here, on the plains, termites could get hungry due to the lack of edibles. Some seem content to build their dried mud tunnels a night around dead weed stems. But after one has eaten a weed, what has one eaten? Dead weeds just don't have the filling capacities that good solid wood has. So, we can imagine, the colony moves and all too often, right into the wooden walls of the "people's houses." And, by George, this suits the termites very well. Since too long an exposure to the sun will kill him, he and the rest of the colony move at night, silently, to human ears, to the under side of a "people's dwelling."

The queen waits safely beneath the surface of the ground, cared for by her attendants, protected by her army of soldiers, and perhaps impatient with the slow progress of the main tunnel. Certainly there will be other tunnels but now she must wait for the primary artery. Her subjects must be fed or they will die.

Water is even more essential to the termite's sustenance than is food with an over abundance of water, the termite cannot live; which explains, partially, that a piece of wood can lie submerged for years in water and still show no signs of termite damage. I have no way of being certain at this time whether it was the lack of termites or the lack of water that would be preserving the short timber that we could have left in the center of the Mojave desert, years back.

I have absolutely no doubt,

"Built-in or free-standing, I like both—I know 'cause I have both," says Mrs. Charles Nelson, 205 Country Club Drive, Lubbock, Texas

Mrs. Nelson lives in a suburban area of Lubbock and shortly after occupying her Medallion Home, she realized that she had a problem... she was a long way from the nearest supermarket. The problem was solved by the addition of a free-standing combination electric refrigerator-freezer. This, plus the capacity of the built-in electric combination that came with the home, makes it possible for her to have a "supermarket" right in her home. Now, visits to the grocery are at her convenience — usually at two-week intervals. You, too, will like the convenience of your own home "supermarket."

TELEPHONE TALK

REPAIR SERVICE

The next time you bill to cover repairs on appliance in your home, replacing parts in you take a long, appreciative at your telephone. Considering the fact of usage it gets, the telephone is an amazingly trouble mechanism. The major our customers seldom have their phones repaired. Should trouble develop normal usage, however, repairs are made quickly without additional charge.

Good, fast repair service comes about because phone people genuinely feel their job is important. "spirit of service" is found all along the line. Kind, fashioned, but it's there. This is just another reason why you can't get your telephone when you need it most.

TELEPHONE TEAMWORK Frequently, in this column, you have heard mention that telephone service provided by the Bell is "nationwide" in scope. It is nationwide. There are Bell companies in every state. But all telephone companies are not Bell companies by any means. As a matter of fact, one-sixth of the telephones in the United States are operated by some neighbor companies.

Here in Texas there are 166 telephone companies besides Southwestern Bell. We do not compete with these companies. We connect with them. Their lines are joined to ours by Long Distance messages. Thus, those served by companies not a part of the Bell System can still be connected with practically any telephone in the United States. Day by day teamwork between telephone companies enables practically anyone, anywhere in the country, to pick up a telephone and talk to anyone, anywhere, clearly and quickly. This is a fact of great importance, furnishing our nation the finest communications in the world.

SUMMER PLANNING By now most of us have begun thinking about summertime plans. Many of us plan to travel. A few will stay home and get things done. Others will go to some camp or resort.

But whatever your plans, it's just good sense to Long Distance to make your summer more pleasant. For vacation planning as an example, it's smart to call ahead for arrangements and reservations.

For arranging visits with friends, too, a call of time will make your welcome warmer when you arrive.

For keeping in touch with home or office when you're on vacation, or with members of your family who are away, Long Distance is fast, easy, economical.

And the nicest, most personal way to say "hello" to friends you've visited is a personal telephone call after you've returned home.

So whether you're going places or staying home, get things done, remember that Long Distance telephoning is the convenient way to make this summer pleasant and satisfying.
