Three Collisions Are Listed In City

Three auto collisions in the city headed the list of police activities on record for the past week, with some new burglaries also investigated by officers.

A 4-month old child was slightly injured in a collision at 22nd and Division last Thursday about 9 p.m. Investigating officer's report showed a 1970 car driven by Donald Lee Jones, Route 1, was in collision with a

Lions View Plans For Projects Here

Slaton Lions Club's new officers and directors met Wednesday morning at the Chamber of Commerce building to discuss plans for current projects and future programs. J. C. McClesky, new president of Lions, presided.

The group discussed sales of tickets to the All-America football game in Lubbock Saturday and also the "Miss America" event scheduled here on July 1.

Other new officers in the club are J. W. Holt, first vice president; Truett Bownds, second vice president; Bob Mohon, third vice president; Joe Miles, secretary - treasurer; Dalton Wood, tall twister; and Carl Zybach, Lion tamer. Directors are Melvin Kinnison, Ronney Jones, Jimmy Sikes and Curtis Christopher.

1970 Dodge pickup driven by John Thomas Miller Jr., Lubbock, causing a total damage to the two vehicles of about $1,500. Bryan Jones, 4 months old, was treated for minor injuries at Methodist Hospital.

At 6:42 p.m. Saturday, cars driven by Gary Michael Foerster, Rt. 1, and Sue Evans Caywood, 935 S. 18th, were involved in a collision at 800 S. 15th St. Total damage to the two cars was set at $700.

On the parking lot of a drive-in grocery on S. 9th St., two cars were in collision at 11 a.m. Sunday. A 1970 vehicle driven by Alvin Ray Cowan of Amarillo and a 1966 car driven by Mrs. Gladys Jones, Rt. 2, Slaton, were involved, with damage totaling an estimated $325.

Last Friday, Harold Cavanaugh, 435 E. Powers, reported that he had interrupted a burglary at his home. He showed officers where a screen had been removed from a window of the west side of his home. Cavanaugh said he and his family had left home about 9:30 p.m. Friday, and returned about 11:30 p.m. At that time, he said, he noticed the window which had been tampered with and he en-

Student Workers May Not Need Withholding

A. G. Weaver, IRS District Director for Northern Texas this week announced that IRS has special withholding tax information for students seeking summer jobs.

Any employee who owed no tax in 1971 and does not expect to owe any in 1972 can request his employer not to withhold Federal income taxes from his pay, Weaver said.

In addition to students with summer jobs, part-time employees are likely to qualify for this special exemption from withholding.

Before the special exemption from withholding was enacted, taxpayers who owed no tax had to file tax returns in order to have their withholding refunded.

Under present law, if a taxpayer qualifies to be exempt from withholding, no Federal tax is withheld from his pay, and he does not have to complete a tax return for the sole purpose of having his money refunded, Weaver said.

The tax law provides for an exemption from withholding of Federal income tax only. Employers are still required to withhold Social Security from their employees pay.

Before an employer is relieved of the responsibility of withholding Federal tax from an employee's pay the em- ployee must file a special withholding exemption certificate, Form W-4E, with him. These forms are available at all IRS offices, Weaver said.

FEDERAL GRANT APPROVED Governor Preston Smith recently announced his approval of a supplemental community action grant of $101,435 in federal funds to Community Action Board in Lubbock County, Inc. in Lubbock for operation of the agency's programs.

The grant is authorized under Title II of the Economic Opportunity Act.

tered the house, finding a front closet open.

The closet apparently had been ransacked, and a small record player had been "folded up for moving." He went to the back door and saw two males and one female throw some objects down south of the house and run away.

Recovered were clothing items of total value set at $240 taken from the front closet. Only item listed as not recovered was a white hat.

Crawford Chevrolet reported a 1972 Chevrolet Impala custom coupe, dark green, was missing. It was believed to have been taken about May 19 by someone pretending to test drive the car. A check of rentals disclosed that the car was missing.

Seven Hurt In Wreck Here

A mother and her six children were injured Tuesday morning as a Volkswagen bus overturned two and a half times four miles southeast of Slaton on U.S. Hwy. 84. None of the

The mother of the girl and the other five children, Wanda Hall, was reported in good condition and the others listed in fair condition with various injuries after being taken to Reese Air Force Base Hospital for treatment. Three were taken by ambulance from Slaton and others by private auto. The Old Masters have performed for civic clubs in the area, for a state convention of optometrists, farmer - merchant dinners, chamber banquets and for a reception honoring California Gov. Ronald Reagan when he was in Amarillo in 1968.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional wedding gown featuring a natural waistline, lace overlay on the bodice and a full skirt with lace tiers.

Miss Raeland Cook served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Gay Bowman of Dallas and Jill Moeller.

Bobby King served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Gary Cook of Wilson and Donald Simmons.

Guests were seated by Weldon Self and Tommy Hargraves. Candelighters were Clay Moore of Post and Miss Gail Scott. Flower girls were Misses Darland and DeLinda Davis of Lubbock.

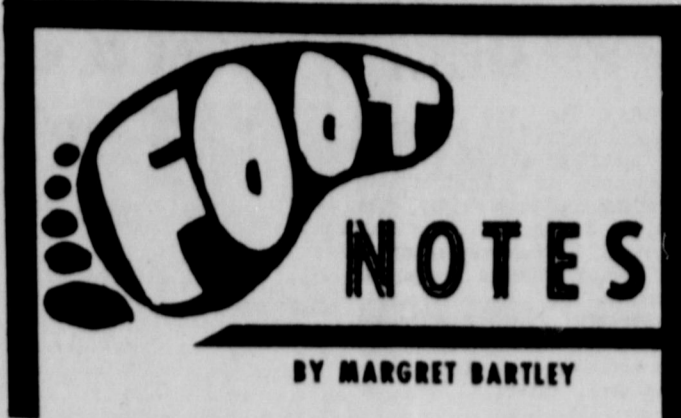

Wedding music was presented by Misses Martha Elder of Dallas and Donna Hatchett, organist.

Serving at the reception were Misses Jackie Moore of Post, Arlene Buxkemper and Linda Scott.

Following a wedding trip to Possum Kingdom and Runaway Bay, the couple will reside at 1000 W. Hockley in Slaton.

Mrs. King is a 1972 graduate of Slaton High School. Her husband is a 1971 graduate of Slaton High School, attends Draughon's Business College, and is presently employed by O'Hara Furniture Co. in Lubbock.

Mrs. Arden Cook was hostess Friday night for a Patio buffet dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Moeller, honoring her daughter, Kathy, and Allen King. Members of the wedding party attending were Rev. and Mrs. Merrill Abbott, Misses Jill Moeller, Raeland Cook, Gay Bowman, Martha Elder, Gail Scott, Darland and DeLinda Davis; Gary Cook, Donald Simmons, Weldon Self, Tommy Hargraves and Clay Moore. Other guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Moore of Post, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy N. Davis of Lubbock, and Miss Ruth Melcher.

The time has really come for backyard barbecues now. Whether you really barbecue, or just cook over the grill outside, it sure beats heating up the whole house with the kitchen range. Just light up and put on the meat, and when it's all done, you can eat outside, or take it into the house where it is still cool as a cucumber. Even one or two burners on your stove can really ruin your cool.

When you're cooking for company, it is much more pleasant to cook outside than to stand over the stove. And here are a couple of reminders from the Safety Council to help you have more fun minus the accidents. Keep a pair of padded mitts and long handled tongs and forks close by for use over the grill. Never squirt or pour charcoal lighter on burning coals. It can flare up instantly. When finished, dump hot coals into a bucket of water. (Little ones are curious, especially after the adults have moved away from the grill). Be careful with power cords for electric rotisseries. They can be dangerous for children as well as adults.

It's nice if you can keep things simple. Very little clean-up, no indoor heat, and usually a lot of good conversation around the backyard grill.

Even in the backyard, you won't want to get too close to the heat with that sunburn! (OUCH) Don't tell me you haven't been to the lake, fishing, swimming, camping, working in the yard, or golfing! The sensible people who never stay long enough to burn to a crisp, must be missing out on a lot of fun.

Four young ladies chosen by the Babe Ruth teams will be around this week working on their money-making project to determine who will be Babe Ruth Queen. The lucky young lady will be crowned after the baseball game June 29. Looks like the Queen should be chosen because she is the prettiest, or because she can play baseball the best! I know that most rodeo queens are chosen the same way. I wonder what happens when the girl who sells the most tickets doesn't even know how to ride a horse.

And speaking of Rodeos, the 12th Annual Tahoka Rodeo will get underway this afternoon with a parade at 5:30, and the grand entry preceding competition at 8:30. The queen will be crowned at that time. Entrants include Karen Edwards from New Home, Brenda Crowson of Wilson, and Jo Anna Adams from Tahoka. Sharon McNeely, 1971 queen, will be on hand to crown the new queen.

Fix-It Tip

Eliminating condensation is a matter of doing many things, a trial and error process. Condensation occurs when warm, moisture-laden air hits a cold surface—basement walls, cold water pipes, toilet bowls. Part of the cure is to eliminate some of the moisture before it enters the air.

Clothes dryers should be vented so that moisture escapes outdoors. Exhaust fans in kitchens will cut down some of the moist air in the house. There should be fans in bathrooms, too. Opening a window when washing clothes or cooking will help.

New Bible Translation Makes Best-Seller List

If you've tried reading from the Bible to youngsters, chances are you wound up doing some paraphrasing. That is, you told it in your own way in order to bring out the meaning.

Sunday school teachers, missionaries and parents have always considered this a perfectly logical, necessary and reverent thing to do. Yet, somehow, it's been a no-no to put this easy-to-understand formula in writing, and to say this, too, is the Bible. As if certain ancient writing FORMS are holy, rather than the content.

Back in 1955, Kenneth Taylor, then a 38-year-old editor for Moody Press in suburban Chicago, would read passages from the King James Version to his children, then would usually have to paraphrase it for them before they could comprehend it and could answer questions on it.

One night, one of his eight children, upon being told what the particular Bible passage had meant, asked with supreme logic: "Then why didn't it say so?"

Spurred by his family's enthusiasm for his written paraphrases, Taylor, son of a United Presbyterian minister, and graduate of Wheaton College and Northern Baptist Theological Seminary, set to work "re-writing" the Bible.

Liberated from the clutch of the archaic forms, Taylor got rid of excessive punctuation, shortened sentences, simplified structure, made perfectly clear who was saying what, and wasn't afraid to add words to bring out the full meaning where he felt this was needed and was unmistakably intended. Footnotes in such cases say "implied."

Sixteen long years later, this very September of 1971, the Living Bible was published, the entire Old and New Testaments paraphrased, with more than 1 3/4 million copies already sold in this country in only six months, and another half million elsewhere. A handsome greenbound edition sells for $9.95.

When he finished the New Testament Epistles in 1962, after six years of work and seven major revisions, four publishers, influenced by the misgivings of evangelical scholars, turned down the manuscript.

"They were afraid of any tampering with God's word," Taylor says, with the suggestion of a wry smile. "Because of tradition, they felt the word-for-word order should not be changed even if the meaning was obscure. I was crushed. My whole background's respect for God's word and belief in its inspiration and authority. My purpose was not to 'tamper' with it, but to convey its content more accurately and clearly -- and thus to affect more lives with it."

Taylor had a few thousand copies of the epistles printed privately. Luckily, the commercial printer became enthusiastic and didn't press him for money. At the Christian Book Sellers national convention later in 1962, Taylor took half a booth, and was able to disseminate about 800 copies.

Billy Graham, America's number one evangelist, ordered a batch for use by his own organization. It was a big boost.

What carries a man through such an enormous task, in the face of initial rejection from those who share his own viewpoint? Does Taylor believe he was "called of God" to do this work?

"I think," he responded simply, "that every Christian is given a particular job to do in life and I think that mine was to paraphrase the Bible."

He gives short shrift to nostalgic arguments about the soaring eloquence of the King James Version.

"I personally was never helped much by the soaring eloquence," he says crisply. "My whole purpose is not to show off the beauty of the English language, but to make clear what we are supposed to learn from the Scriptures."

In England, home of King James, a first edition of 100,000 Living Bibles in paperback sold out in just ten days last November.

Taylor was asked if his own solid conservative evangelical-Protestant background colors or shades the Living Bible from that viewpoint, as perhaps opposed to the way a "mainline" Protestant or Roman Catholic might paraphrase Scripture.

"I can only answer that," he replied, "by saying that my purpose was not to shade it in any way, but to draw out the most exact translation of the intended meaning, and let the chips fall where they may."

He believes the sales figures through the major outlets speak for themselves about widespread acceptance among "mainline" denomination Protestants and Roman Catholics. "In fact," he notes, "I've been told of Catholic schools where the paraphrases are being used

'Gospel Singing' Saturday Night

"The Ambassadors", a singing group from the Arlington Baptist Schools in Arlington, will present a concert of gospel singing this Saturday evening at Bible Baptist Church. The time will be 7:30.

The group is returning from a tour that carried them all the way to California and several other western states. They will be in Slaton for only one service.

The public is invited to attend, according to Rev. H. E. Summar, pastor.

Eight Slatonites On Dean's List

A total of 1141 students in the College of Education at Texas Tech University qualified for the dean's honor list for the 1972 spring semester, according to Dean Gordon C. Lee.

Among these are eight Slaton students: Rebecca Holt Battikis, Diane C. Jaynes, Donna K. Englund, Allen Underwood, Mary Pwonga, Mollie M. Mitchell, Deborah N. McWilliams and Lonnie Kuss.

To qualify for the honor list, a student must be enrolled in 12 semester hours of courses, excluding pass-fail courses, and have at least a 3.0 grade point average. Texas Tech uses a 4.0 grading system.

The College of Education is one of six colleges and two schools at Texas Tech, with a total spring enrollment of more than 19,500 students. The others are the colleges of Arts and Sciences, Agricultural Sciences, Business Administration, Engineering, and Home Economics and the Graduate School and the School of Law.

as texts."

Essentially, much of the Living Bible is what newspapermen might call a good rewrite job. Some rich cadences are inevitably lost, but on the other hand a surprising amount of the familiar and beautiful stays that way, while coming into clearer focus. The lyricism of the Song of Solomon is still there, for instance, but it is arranged and labeled so you know who is saying what.

Why, really, should a contemporary American high schooler have to struggle with "Do ye not after their works" when he can read "Don't follow their example?"

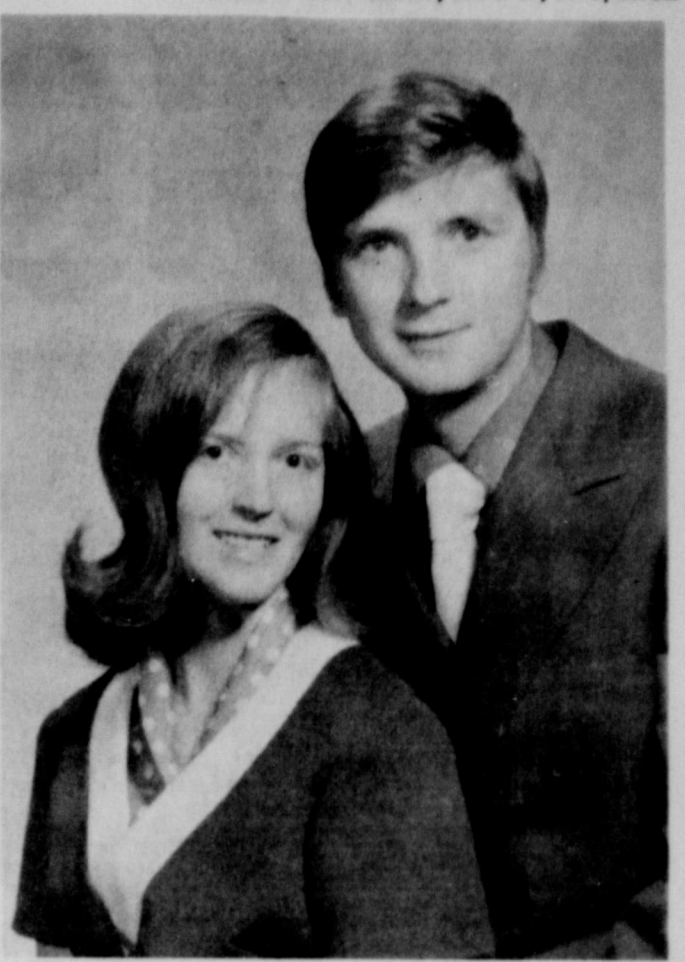

"Modern English versions," Taylor explains, "basically use a word-for-word or phrase-for-phrase translation, and I use a thought-for-thought way. By doing this, I feel, we have made the Bible not only more understandable, but more accurate to the intent of the original writers."

Taylor's name is not found on the title page as author of the paraphrase, or even in the preface.

Asked about that, he shrugged, "Let people evaluate the Bible itself. After all, I didn't write the Bible."

But why not on the preface, which isn't the Bible? "Well, I thought it would be better for people to realize this is the word of God rather than that it came through a particular person, so far as the translation is concerned. It just seemed to me it would be more authoritative without my name on it."

Taylor is on a fixed salary. All royalties -- 15 per cent of the retail price -- go into a foundation set up for distributing the Living Bible and translating it into 43 languages.

NEW PASTOR--Show above are Rev. Darryl Manning, new pastor of Pentecostal Holiness Church, 105 West Knox, with his wife, Regenia. He is a graduate of Norman High School and Oklahoma City Southwestern School of Theology with a Bachelor of Arts in Theology. His wife is from Guyman, Okla.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Another season is officially here -- summer. It represents many things to many different people. Ask a child what his favorite season is, and he'll usually say summer. School is out, but that's only one of the reasons children and most people love summer. Summer is a time when we are close to nature and when we should be closer to God. In the summer, somehow, it is easier to break down the barriers between people. Life isn't as formal as it seems during the colder winter months. We are more open to exciting events. But are we as open with God as we are with our neighbors? God is easy to approach, even in summer. He asks so little of us, yet gives abundantly to us. Customize more than 10,000

Happy Homemaking

By BARBARA BAKER

When hand-washing girdles, hose and other drip-dry items, place them in a colander while changing the water. The water that always accumulates under the m drains away, carrying with it some of the suds. This can even cut down on the number of rinsings needed. If you leave them in the colander to drain a bit before hanging, drying time is shorter. They need not be squeezed or twisted, which might possibly damage the fabric.

Cover the inside backs of lowered closet doors with clear plastic (the kind used on storm sash) to keep the dust out, let light in and keep pesky moths away.

Read Matthew 7:6-12

"Ask, and you will receive; seek, and you will find; knock, and the door will be opened to you." (Matthew 7:7, TEV)

Since girlhood I had known the first part of this scripture verse. It was years later that the "seeking" and the "knocking" phrases took on real meaning for me.

After being married for some years, we moved into the first house that was really our own. I called it our "Happy House." My husband and I had redecorated it and furnished it with antiques we had refinished. Our neighbors were the sort we had always wished for, and our children were in a fine school.

But I discovered that nothing exciting was happening in my Christian life! Something needed to be changed. I was not asking for the best things, was not searching for daily spiritual growth. I was not knocking urgently at the right place.

It became clear to me that the ones who are asking are the one who are receiving. Those who are seeking God are the ones who are finding Him in thrilling ways.

PRAYER: Dear God, thank You for all the joys of life, for home and love and friends. Help us never to stop asking for the best from You and seeking it with all our hearts. Amen.

Attend The Church of Your Choice Sunday

a weekly message relating the world of today to the lessons of Faith and Church...

This is the day which the Lord hath made. —Psalms CXVIII, 24

In the warm breeze of a spring day and the bright sun of a summer morning, look about you. This is the day the Lord has made, full of beauty and wonder, of green and growing things, flowers that turn their face to the sun, streams that flow to rivers and on to the distant seas. It is a beautiful world and those who search can find both beauty and love each day of the year.

SOUTHLAND HOMECOMING
Saturday, August 12, 4 p.m.
Slaton Club House. Bring lunch for your own family. Playground and swimming facilities for the children. Bobby Fields, former Southland resident, will be the guest speaker. "Physco Ceramics" will supply the entertainment and the Outstanding Citizen will be honored. I know that this is early to be putting this in the paper, but we want everyone to hear about it, so if YOU read this, tell someone else about it and maybe the word will get around to everybody. I will be putting reminders in the paper from time to time.

Superintendent and Mrs. Ray Simmons moved to Southland this past Saturday. We all want to give this new family a warm welcome, so when they get settled, why don't you drop by and get acquainted. They are living in the Methodist Parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mason have just returned from a trip to Colorado. Jim said they camped out five days and fished and had a great time!

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Pennell spent this past weekend in Cloudford, N.M.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Janke from Bartlett have been here visiting relatives in and around Southland, Slaton and Wilson.

Happy Birthday to Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Ellis and Edmund this week.

Edmund and Yours Truly visited with Mr. and Mrs. E.
C. Stabeno and Lynn in their home on Sunday along with Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Janke. Later on we visited Edmund's sister, Mrs. Minnie Steinhauer, in Wilson. Others visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Autry and children and Mr. and Mrs.
Gilbert Steinhauer and chil-

TALK ABOUT SAFETY---Water Safety and a new Texas law requiring children 12 years of age and under to wear approved lifesaving devices while riding in any boat is the subject under discussion between boating safety enthusiasts and Gov. Preston Smith. The governor took the occasion to sign a proclamation designating July 2-8 as "Safe Boating Week" in Texas. Providing a demonstration of lifesaving equipment for youngsters is 7-year-old Dana Shingledecker of Austin. Also pictured are (l to r) Lloyd F. ## New Image For Home Economics

LUBBOCK -- Home economics is trading in its "finishing school" image for a new and vital role involving self development and career choices, Dr. Donald S. Longworth, interim dean of the College of Home Economics at Texas Tech University, said here today (June 12).

"Home economics is expanding and becoming more sensitive to the needs of students," Dean Longworth told the more than 700 high school

Future Homemakers attending the FHA Officers Leadership Workshop at Tech. "It now involves preparation for many careers and vocations, as well as homemaking skills," he pointed out, citing courses in consumer education, family relations, nutrition, clothing and textiles, food services and other home economics related occupations (HERO).

"As these are careers in which boys also are interested, home economics is opening the door for males to participate in the leadership opportunities offered by HERO-FHA chapters and to make significant contributions to the entire home economics program," he said.

Dean Longworth was the keynote speaker at Monday's first general session in the University Center Ballroom. Susan Johnson of Amarillo, Area I third vice president, and members of Amarillo FHA chapters presented a skit entitled "The 'Now' Look In Home Economics and FHA programs." Mrs. Betty Romans, state FHA adviser from Austin, led a panel discussion on the recently inaugurated Encounter Program in home economics which encourages students to participate in community service projects.

Debbie Hobgood, state corresponding secretary from Wolfforth, summed up the conference goals in her talk on "It's for Your Consideration."

Following the general session, the workshopers met in small group discussions to explore the workshop theme, "Change, Choice and Commitment." The evening program will include a tour of the Tech campus, visits to points of interest in Lubbock and a rap session on college life in Coleman Hall.

Tuesday (June 13) morning's general session will be in the form of a political rally with members of the various discussion groups presenting their "platforms" on the four major objectives of the conference. These will include reports on "Challenging Personal Goals," "Creative Chapter Goals," "Relevant Programs of Work," and "HERO-FHA as Member of the Team."

Following the general session, the workshopers will again meet in small groups to review conference objectives and to draft suggestions for follow-through plans which they will take home to share with members of their FHA school chapters.

The workshop closes at noon Tuesday (June 13).

Apparel Labeling Aids Consumers

Consumers now will have more convenient information and added protection when they purchase wearing apparel.

A recent ruling by the Federal Trade Commission requires that all articles of clothing with a few logical exceptions, must bear permanent labels which clearly and simply disclose the cleaning instructions for each item.

The new ruling, effective July 3, means that all articles of clothing manufactured after that date must have labels with washing or cleaning instructions permanently attached to them rather than on throw-away tags which can easily be misplaced. (The above applies to all but men's and boys' tailored clothing.
These groups are covered as of October 1.)

Thus, the consumer will always have at her fingertips the correct information to insure that she will not inadvertently ruin clothing by using the wrong method of cleaning.

Mary Lou Rooney, Consumer Education Specialist for 3M's Scotchgard Fabric Protector Division, indicates that home sewers will benefit by the new rule too. All textiles and fabrics which are sold for the purpose of making wearing apparel must be accompanied by similar care labels which the home sewer can attach permanently to her finished article.

Manufacturers of both home sewing fabrics and wearing apparel are responsible for providing the labels for their products. The FTC specifically states that all labels must be designed to last as long as the articles to which they are attached, and must remain legible for the life of the garment.

Hosiery is included under the new rule. Exceptions are shoes, gloves and items used exclusively as headwear.

Imported apparel will be required to comply with the new rules as fully as clothing and textiles made in this country.

Future labels must fully explain to the buyer of the article just what regular care and maintenance is necessary for the everyday use of the item.
And, equally important, labels must state any treatment which could harm the clothing.
Thus, consumers will know exactly what NOT to do, as well as possess the proper techniques to insure a long good-looking life for their clothing.

Here are two examples of how the new tags will read, according to FTC instructions: "Machine wash warm.
Gentle cycle. Do not use chlorine bleach." Or this: "Hand wash cold. Do not twist or wring. Dry flat and reshape.
Do not dry clean."

Mrs. Rooney says only one last problem remains for the consumer: once the new permanent labels are in the stores: how to read the new tags correctly. With the proliferation of fibers and fabrics, it can be confusing, and a misread tag is as useless as no tag at all.

Farmers Concerned About DDT Ban

Texas cotton farmers have little use for DDT. Therefore they have no cause for concern that the well-known insecticide is about to be banned in the U.S. Right? Wrong, says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock-based cotton producer organization.
DDT is used in some parts of the cotton belt, primarily for bollworm control, and is an important production tool in those areas. In Texas DDT is recommended only for control of cutworms and garden webworms, which are minor problems, and for control of flea-hoppers in a mix with toxaphene. It is not used in Texas for control of boll weevils or bollworms, the major pests.

"But the significance of the DDT ban, important as it is to cotton production in some areas, goes far beyond the immediate effect on cotton production," Johnson said.
Federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Administrator William Ruckelshaus on June 14 announced an almost complete ban on DDT use in the United States beginning Dec. 31, 1972. DDT for several years has been under fire from "environmental purists" who maintain its use creates an unreasonable hazard to human health and various species of wildlife.
They claim this hazard outweighs the benefits to crop production and to humanity as a means to controlling mosquitos and thereby furnishing protection against such scourges as malaria, yellow fever, encephalitis and a number of other deadly diseases.

Seven months of hearings were held by EPA in Washington during which DDT opponents attempted to show that DDT causes severe damage to the environment. They failed. At the conclusion, hearing examiner Edmund Sweeney said "There has been proof that, on balance with the benefits, the present essential uses of DDT ... do not create an unreasonable risk."

Accordingly, Sweeney recommended to Administrator Ruckelshaus that essential uses of DDT be continued. But the Administrator has apparently ignored the recommendation of the hearing examiner, ignored the absence of evidence to support claims of detrimental DDT effects, and announced a ban on DDT.

"The alarm being voiced by agriculture is totally justified," Johnson says, "because the ruling denies use of a valuable production tool. But to many of us it is even more alarming that the ban can be made by the EPA Administrator without cause having been shown."
DDT manufacturers and agricultural groups will no doubt take the case to court in an effort to set aside the Administrator's decision. And, if the evidence presented in court is the equivalent of that presented at hearings, the EPA ruling should be reversed. "Hopefully that will be the case," Johnson said.

"If minority groups of ill-informed environmentalists can pressure the EPA into banning DDT in the face of massive evidence that its benefits to society far outweigh any possible ill effects, then one is forced to ask what will be banned next, chocolate ice cream?" At stake in the final court decision on DDT, Johnson believes, is the continued use of all insecticides, herbicides, fungicides and chemical fertilizers, and the loss of these chemicals would mean a return to "organic farming."

And, as Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz has said, we can easily return to organic farming, but first we have to determine which 50 million people in the U.S. are going to starve.

Tea Drinkers
People of Great Britain and Ireland are considered the world's greatest tea drinkers, consuming about 10 pounds per person annually.

Fashion Forecasts

Spring spells a bright new put-together look in men's fashions. From top to bottom, men are shopping for outfits rather than individual items of apparel.

The trend is especially true in sportswear. Men of all ages are buying fun clothes for leisure living. What was once the "Saturday look" in clothing has turned into a week-long way of life. It's a total look built in parts that go together in any variety of combinations.

The layered look in knits is very popular right now in all Ward's men's departments. The young and not-so-young are combining solid-color, zipper-neck collar shirts and striped, sleeveless pullovers with flare slacks of matching colors.

Other shirt styles in vogue include the Wallace Beery neck line, lace-ups, contrasting collars and cuffs, plus embroidery and applique patterns.

Jeans continue as the cornerstone in leisure slacks styles. Solid colors predominate, but now they feature more distinctive pockets. Besides Western-style x-stitched and military flap pockets, two-tone, patch and bush pockets are also in great demand. Jeans and other slacks, of course, still command two-inch belts with bold buckles and lots of hardware.

More and more short jackets are being worn with jeans this season. Most asked-for styles are the brushed denim herd rider, plus knits, leather and suede.

The final touch in put-togethers is in shoes. No longer a necessity, shoes are now an accessory with a personality all their own. Multi-colors are important. With the emphasis on solid jeans, the eye now shifts to tops and to the shoes for color.

And if men seem taller this spring, attribute it to heels. Taking a cue from cowboy and logger boots, the heels on all casual shoes now are higher.
