Football Optimism Growing

Enthusiasm began to mount this week among players, coaches and fans as football workouts began and the candidates for the team prepared to put on pads for the first time this weekend. Coach Eddie Cook had 51 boys out by Tuesday and said that the attitude of the candidates was good. "We are pleased with the way the kids are picking up our system," he said. "The boys are really small, but enthusiastic," Cook commented. With a scrimmage against Levelland coming up next Friday, Aug. 23, Tiger Club president Curtis Aycock has called a meeting of the booster organization for 8 p.m. Monday night in the clubhouse. He said he hopes for another good turnout of fans to show the coaches and boys support. Plans to paint a sign reading "Slaton Tiger Pride" on the west side of the gymnasium next to the practice field were approved by the school board Tuesday night after one of the players, Ricky Denzer, and Coach Cook presented the proposal to the board. There also will be a picture of a tiger. Denzer and others will do the art work.

RESIDENTS MUST PAY Opportunity Offered For Street Paving

Slaton residents with dirt roads along their property now have a chance to have them paved. City Secretary Alex Webb said this week that the paving company will be working on Russell Park soon, and citizens should take advantage of their being in town. Webb outlined a three point program for obtaining paving, and stressed that the deadline for completion of the program is Sept. 1. The first step for having a street paved is to get everyone on the block (both sides of the street) to sign a petition requesting paving. "Anyone can instigate this petition," said Webb, "and all that is needed is the consent of all the property owners along the street." Money In Escrow After the petition is signed, the citizens must then put in escrow the cost of the paving. Webb illustrated his point by giving an example. "The cost of the paving is $8.75 per foot. Someone who has a 50' lot facing the street will have to put up $437.50 for his share of the paving." As the third point in the program, Webb said everyone must sign the petition before any paving could be done. "We have to have the entire block sign. We can't pave half of the street." Webb said the $8.75 cost per foot is a reasonable cost, and if residents delay in having their paving done, it will probably go up. When the residents have

School Tax Rate Raised; No More Test Exemptions

A 10-cent increase in school taxes effective with tax statements to be sent out this fall was voted by the board of education of Slaton schools Tuesday night, a move which, coupled with some other developments, made the financial outlook of the school district somewhat brighter. In another action of considerable interest to students and teachers, the board voted 5-1 to eliminate exemptions from exams for all except seniors in the spring semester. The long-range outlook for next year still shows an anticipated deficit of about $45,000 at the end of next August, but the amount the district expects to be in the red at that time now appears to be considerably less than had been feared earlier. Current Deficit The money picture also looked better in a matter of more immediate concern — the amount which the school expects to be in the red as this school year winds up in a couple of weeks. Earlier, Supt. J.C. McClesky had told the board that a deficit of about $40,000 could be faced at the end of the current year. However, this figure has been cut to about $25,000, he said Tuesday. A new budget of $1,964,922 for the coming school year was approved by the board. This figure is $232,941 more than the budget for the current year, although about $100,000 of this increase in funds for SELCO operations, which are paid entirely by state and federal funds and cost the local taxpayers nothing in school taxes. SELCO is an abbreviation for Southeast Lubbock County, a program which provides special help for youngsters with learning problems. Four Districts Operated through the Slaton system, the program also serves Roosevelt, Cooper and Southland schools. Mrs. MayBelle Kern, director of SELCO, told the board Tuesday that the coming year's program would see an increase in the SELCO staff from 41 to 53 persons. The new budget is figured on the tax rate of $1.85 per $100 valuation as compared to the present rate of $1.75. The 10-cent hike voted by the board Tuesday was the first increase in six years. From each $1.85 collected in taxes, $1.40 will be put into maintenance and 45 cents will be put into the fund for retiring bonded indebtedness. The current year's $1.75 was split into $1.28 for maintenance and 47 cents for interest and sinking fund. The new budget calls for $1,191,907 to be put into the fund for operating the schools, compared to $1,070,021 this year, and $114,360 to be put into the interest and sinking fund. Food service budget has been increased from $96,607 to $100,000 next year, and the athletic budget has been jumped to $29,718 from the current $27,211. Laundry Equipment Bids from the Borden Co. for milk and from Gulf for gasoline were approved by the board. The board also voted to buy a commercial-type washer and dryer to be used by the athletic department. The equipment will cost about $3,000. After a brief discussion of the school dress code, the board voted to leave it as it has been. But the group moved to eliminate the current final examination exemption policy except for seniors in their final semester who are passing the course and have no more than five absences during the semester. Slaton Classroom Teachers had recommended that the matter of exemptions from final tests be left up to the teachers in each course. However, the board decided to do away with exemptions except for the seniors. This means final exams must be given in all secondary classes except physical education, band, annual, photography and office.

One Burglary, Wreck Listed

One wreck and one burglary were investigated by Slaton Police Dept. during the last week. Last Thursday a wreck in the 100-block of W. Scott involved a 1968 car driven by Robert Edward Martinez, 1225 S. 10th, and a 1970 car driven by Eiland Maurice Wood, 1475 W. Crosby. Total damage was estimated at $150. Bernice Hardwick, 965 Johnson, told police of a burglary at a cafe at 620 New Mexico, where an undetermined amount of coins was taken from a juke box and pool table and about $100 damage was listed. CLASSROOM TEACHERS HEAR BANK EXECUTIVE Slaton Classroom Teachers met Wednesday morning at West Ward Cafeteria and heard an address by J.W. Holt, executive officer of Citizens State Bank. Holt touched on the increasing complexity of teacher's responsibilities in view of the trend of youth to challenge authority.

SPORTY MAT — These red and black entry mats boosting the Slaton High School athletic program are being sold this week by Slaton Jaycees as a fund-raising project. Jaycee President Jim Dulin, left, said the proceeds would be used locally in worthwhile projects. Coaches Gay Benson and Eddie Cook admired the mats, which sell for $30 each and which are large and durable. They say "Welcome to Slaton, home of the Tigers and Tigerettes" and show a basketball with a number one, signifying that the girls won state this year. (SLATONITE PHOTO)

RAISE THE LORD

By LENDA WOOD

God Can Be Seen
Do you ever wonder what God looks like, or do you suppose He is so invisible that He has no form?
There are scriptures that refer to Him being invisible all right. I Tim. 1:17 says, "Now unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honour and glory for ever and ever. Amen."

"invisible" in this way: From where we live, Chicago is invisible to us, but the fact remains very sure that it is there. God is invisible to us right now, but the fact remains, without a doubt, that God is!

Many people testify that they have actually seen God. Many others testify that they have actually seen angels. Others testify they have heard God speak, even in our generation.

This much indicates He does have a form and He does have a voice, so He must have a body of some kind — not flesh and bones.

Heb. 1:3 says that He is a person.

Dan. 7:9-14 describes God: "I watched as thrones were put in place and the Ancient of Days — the Almighty God — sat down to judge. His clothing was as white as snow, his hair like whitest wool. He sat upon a fiery throne brought in on flaming wheels, and a river of fire flowed from before him."

Silence

There are times in life when silence is the greatest virtue of all. There are times when silence is a positive thing, a show of strength.

Silence is best when the urge to criticize begins to boil toward the surface. Silence is best when envy brings unkind words to mind.

Read Galatians 6:1-10

Do not be deceived; God is not mocked, for whatever a man sows, that he will also reap. (Galatians 6:7)

A mother suggested to her eight-year-old son that he run into the bedroom and get a handkerchief which he obviously needed. He returned waving it and shouting, "Who needs this handkerchief?" His mother and I chorused, "Your need it!"

God's prophet Nathan told King David a parable of a rich man with many flocks who took a poor man's only lamb to serve to his guest. David was indignant and declared that a person who would do this deserved to die. David was unmindful that he had taken more than a lamb. He had taken a loyal subject and had had him killed in battle so that the man's wife could become his wife. So Nathan simply said to him, "You are the man." Only then did David get the point!

We too have our blindspots. How can we be freed from self-deception? As we turn to God daily in honest prayer, His Spirit reveals our blindspots. If we confess all before Christ, and trust in Him, He brings liberation from the sin or fault which is crippling us.

PRAYER: Christ, help me to cease from my self-defense and alibis and really face myself as You see me. It is painful but help me to know my faults, for I long to be made whole. Amen.

The First Day Of The Week

The first day of the week holds a place of special significance for the Christian. Many important Bible events took place on this day:

1. Jesus rose from the dead, ratifying the covenant of grace and pardon (Mark 16:9).
2. Jesus appeared to his disciples to comfort and direct them (John 20:19, 26).
3. Jesus sent the Holy Spirit to the apostles to endue them with power and divine guidance (Acts 2:1-4; Lk. 24:49; Acts 1:4, 5). (Note: The day of Pentecost came on the first day of the week — Lev. 23:15, 16.)
4. The kingdom, or church, had its beginning on this day (Mk. 9:1; Acts 2; Acts 11:15).
5. The Lord's Supper was observed on this day (Acts 20:7).
6. New Testament Christians met for worship on this day (1 Cor. 16:1-2; Acts 20:7).

A sincere welcome is yours at every service of the church of Christ:

Bid Accepted On Paving Project Here

Mayor pro tempore Otis Neill conducted the Tuesday meeting of the Slaton City Commissioners, tabling several matters until the return of Mayor J. N. Landreth. Police Chief Fred Clark appeared before the Commission, requesting the hiring of Wayne Rasmussen as a patrolman. Rasmussen was a city policeman from Feb. 1973 through April 1974. He quit to take a job in Lubbock, and the Commission rehired him by unanimous vote.

Clark said, "Wayne made us an outstanding officer, and the people of Slaton like him."
Rasmussen will replace Rick Majors, who resigned this month. The hiring of Rasmussen brings the Slaton Police Department to full force with six officers.

In other action, the Commission approved the low bid for the paving of Russell Park. They approved the $13,088 bid from Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, rejecting a $16,171 bid from another company.

The Council also agreed to close the alley behind United supermarket if and when United buys the land.

The Commission also voted to renew the KCAS lease and denied a request by the water and sewer superintendent for a secretary. Minutes of the previous meeting were approved and the Commissioners voted to pay the July bills before adjourning.

Postal Employee Retires Friday

Barry Ford, a 28 year employe of the Slaton postal system, will retire Friday. Ford and his wife Mary will then move to Middleburg, Fla., which is near Jacksonville.

Ford has lived in Slaton for 36 years, working for the railroad, in the oil fields and in shipyards before becoming a postal employe.

During his tenure with the post office, Ford has been everything from a carrier, to clerk, to acting postmaster.

Rush Wheeler, postmaster, said, "Barry is a fine man, and he's given us nothing but excellent service."

When Ford began as a postal employe, letters were three cents each and Christmas cards could be mailed for two cents. "We don't get as many Christmas cards now as we used to," he said. "I guess people just can't afford to mail them out."

Of all the work he's done, Ford said he enjoys the people part of his job best. "My only regret is leaving the wonderful people of Slaton," he said.

RESCUE . . . Chicago firemen believe their helicopter unit and its huge cone-shaped net would provide a "first line of defense" against tragedies like the high rise fire in Sao Paulo, Brazil. The rooftop net can hold four persons and can be extended from a helicopter on a 100-ft. cable, enabling the unit to whisk four persons off a smoky rooftop and to a near by building.

Tips For Drivers
Motor vehicle operators across the country are naturally concerned with higher fuel prices, with possible shortages. How far your car will go on a gallon of gasoline becomes more important with each passing day.

Most 1974 vehicles come equipped with something new — a sticker with fuel consumption information. The sticker provides statistical information. If you want to get the most mileage from your automobile, you must look to the considerations of proper operation and maintenance.

Avoid high speed driving; break away starts; never leave motor idling excessively. Even in cold weather, a long engine warm-up is not necessary; just drive at moderate speeds until engine warms up. Stop and go driving eats up fuel. Try to time city driving to avoid stops at each red light.

Carefully follow manufacturer's directions for maintenance and tune-ups. Worn spark plugs reduce fuel economy.

The Consumer Alert

An ancient Roman philosopher once said we are all equal in the face of death. All of us at some time are equally touched and saddened by the death of a relative or friend.

And many of us must, at that time, take on the responsibility of arranging a funeral.

What the majority of people faced with such a difficult task too often forget, or dismiss as inappropriate to the occasion, is that decisions about funeral arrangements are also major decisions—decisions involving hundreds, even thousands of dollars.

It may be easier to prepare ourselves for the possibility of making such decisions, however, if we learn in advance what we may be called upon to decide.

Perhaps the first thing to determine is who shall make decisions about funeral arrangements. Some consumer experts recommend that a relative outside the immediate family or a close family friend be entrusted to make preliminary arrangements, with the immediate survivors having final approval.

Such a person would know the family's financial situation and perhaps be able to make necessary choices more rationally, since extreme grief could cause families to be susceptible to extravagance.

While it is natural to say "price is no object" at such times, the responsible consumer will want to make decisions that are in keeping with the way the deceased lived, and will arrange a funeral that is both appropriate and affordable.

The Texas Funeral Directors Association points out that there are four categories of funeral charges to consider:

—Those involving the funeral home facilities and staff, the casket, and other merchandise purchased from the funeral home.

—Those relating to disposition, such as cemetery lot and charges, cremation and cost of urn if desired, or mausoleum crypt.

—Gravestone, monument, or marker, or niche for urn containing ashes.

—Other expenses, such as clergyman's fee, limousines, flowers, newspaper notices, police escort, and out-of-town transport of the body.

This and other information can be provided by a trained funeral director who is licensed by the State Board of Morticians and whose experience in such matters can be a great help.

However, there are in the funeral business, as well as in any other, a few unscrupulous persons who may engage in questionable practices, and who may take advantage of persons when they are at their most vulnerable.

Our Consumer Protection Division attorneys say the best defense against such tactics is to be informed and to ask pointed questions about the price of all merchandise and services offered by a funeral home.

They point out that a recent Federal Trade Commission survey of Washington, D.C. funeral homes revealed that, although information on funeral prices is available, it must be aggressively sought out by consumers.

The FTC survey also found that there are a wide variety of choices available about funeral arrangements, that funeral prices vary substantially, and that inexpensive funerals are obtainable, but that information about them may not be offered unless it is requested.

Least expensive funerals at individual Washington funeral homes range from $240 to $900, and the average price for a complete funeral ranged from $500 to $1,800. Cemetery and other expenses are additional.

The casket is the most expensive item provided by a funeral home, averaging 20 per cent of the funeral home's charges.

Persons may need to ask to see less expensive caskets, since they often are not displayed. The casket cost can be a good guide to the entire funeral home bill.

Methodist Sets Opening For New East Building

The new east building of Methodist Hospital is scheduled for a public open house on Sunday, Aug. 25.

Doors will be opened to visitors immediately following brief ceremonies starting at 1:30 p.m. outside the 19th Street entrance. Dr. Alsie H. Carleton, Bishop of the Northwest Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church, will conduct the consecration ceremony. Ribbon cutting will follow with Don G. Furr, chairman of the building fund campaign, wielding bandage scissors on a surgical gauze ribbon stretched across the doorway.

At 2:30 p.m., the new C.A. Bickley Memorial Chapel will be dedicated by Bishop Carleton with other church officials in attendance.

Construction on the eight-story, 190 private patient rooms addition was started on Jan. 14, 1972, with a contract of $9,000,000. Furnishings and equipment costs total $2,000,000.

George M. Brewer, president of Methodist Hospital, said, "It is with great pride that we show our new facility to all who are interested. It has taken ten years of planning by scores of volunteer trustees and doctors, hundreds of campaign workers, and many employees and craftsmen to achieve this goal."

Plans for the open house include self-guided tours with the help of a printed guidebook. Auxiliaries and Candy Strippers will also be on hand to assist in the opening activities. Department heads of the hospital, supervisors, nurses, and other employees will be on duty at their stations in the new building to explain the purposes and methods of operations in each area visited.

Brewer announced that several departments of the hospital will move into the new East Building shortly following opening activities. All moving, including the transfer of patients, will be completed by Sept. 10. Those departments changing locations at this time will be surgery, recovery, surgical intensive care, radiology, laboratory, pharmacy and central supply.

In the basement are the departments of pharmacy, nuclear medicine, central stores and sterile supply.

The first floor has an entrance on the north from 19th Street to a spacious lobby and information desk, and an entrance on the south from the large parking lot on 21st St. Patient services here include clinical laboratories, diagnostic radiology, drive-in emergency center on the east end, and the Bickley Memorial Chapel west of the main lobby. On the south side of the ground level is a strolling area with grass, shrubs, trees and curved concrete benches.

An extensive new surgical center is located on the second floor with 21 operating rooms, cardiac diagnostic laboratory, recovery room for 19 patients, surgical intensive care unit with 19 beds, two waiting rooms, two family consultation rooms, doctors' and nurses' lounges, treatment rooms and conference rooms.

The third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh floors each have 38 private patient rooms with latest equipment and color-coordinated furnishings, including carpeting, draperies and color television throughout. On each of these patient floors are nursing stations, unit managers' offices, treatment rooms, doctors' dictation areas, conference rooms and nurses' lounges. Outside the third floor is a sundeck with plants to provide shade and sunning tents receive patients. A large area located on the dedicated training, continuing education, professional staff meetings. Trustees meet during regular care patients with usual in the West Building and usual complete around-the-clock. Home Ova tergent or a detergent paste may help.

The stickiness is more noticeable on the area around the door opening, on the lint screen and the lint screen holder. This causes lint to cling. To remove it from these areas, the specialist suggested wiping them with a wet cloth. Wash the lint screen in water and then dry it to remove the residue.

Another problem is that the thermostats may become coated with lint if the softener has been sprayed through the perforations of the door opening—the duct ring.

"If it has been sprayed through the perforations at the drum rear, the back side of the drum and other parts of the dryer may also develop a brown residue."

Child's Separation Anxiety Can Be Eased By Parents

Joey starts kindergarten today.

Mother takes him through the school's big double doors, and he starts looking around.

After filling out a form and talking to the teacher for a few minutes, mother turns to go. But Joey spots her and suddenly throws a tantrum of a kind she has never seen before. His crying seems more desperate than she has ever heard.

Does it have to be this way?

No, say child development specialists and even when there are tears or other problems, there are ways to smooth the path from home to school.

What Joey's mother has witnessed is what is usually called "separation anxiety," and is quite normal.

Looked at from the child's point of view, his fears are understandable enough: he is suddenly, without much preparation, going to spend long hours away from home in a room full of children he doesn't know. He is now expected to follow strange rules from an adult not his parent, a person whom he fears may have no concern for him. Certainly this adult cannot be expected to give him the kind of support his parents do. He even worries about whether or not his mother will really pick him up at the end of the day as she said she would.

Going to school for the first time is truly a big step for a child, and if parents treat it as unimportant, they may be in for a big surprise.

One way to help a child get ready for school is to talk to him about what to expect, neither picturing school as all fun and games nor as all work and drudgery. Stressing the advantages such as "getting to know other children your age and playing with them" and "learning how to do some things like painting and reading" will help stimulate interest.

It is even a good idea to take him by the school several times, cheerfully pointing it out, and stopping at least once to take him up to look in the door and around the building.

If the school is open, get permission to take him in the building to look over his future classroom.

James L. Hymes Jr., California early childhood consultant, recommends that you go alone to "Meet your child's teacher before school years start. Call on her at school, or better yet, invite her to visit you."

"Tell her your youngster's nickname, his enthusiasms, his hobbies, his pets, his fears and what he doesn't like to eat, his prides and joys and special pet peeves. Talking will make your youngster come alive to the person who is going to work with him."

Hymes thinks that you shouldn't feel foolish about being so forward. Most teachers today are looking for openings to meet you. And the information you give makes their job easier. This is a boost for your child but a favor to his teacher too."

Hymes agrees that in some cases you might find a suspicious teacher, but that you shouldn't be discouraged when this happens. Show them that you want to work with them and you probably can overcome their suspicion that you are "meddling," he says.

Somewhere along the way you may want to let your child meet the teacher and let them have a friendly talk. You can combine operations, suggests Hymes.

With the right amount of pre-planning, most children can be basically prepared for school that first day, and very few are apt to have all the tears and fears associated with first day blues.

Easing the way into school may very well set the tone for a child's relationship with school for the next twelve years.

Planning Needed For Retirement provides the possibility for these people to retire anytime between the ages of 62 and 72.

"Many self-employed people work as long as they are able," Hayenga points out. "When they do retire, often it is as a result of poor health or adverse business conditions. This usually does not lead to a happy retirement period."

Although Social Security retirement benefits have continued to increase, these benefits are designed to cover only the bare living essentials, and no more. So other sources of income are often needed, contends the economist.

Many farmers continue to do some farm work after retirement to provide extra income. According to the last Census, more than 16 per cent of the farms in Texas were operated by people over 65. Most of these farmers receive only a small amount of farm income, but others continue to operate larger farms and collect reduced or no Social Security benefits.

"After retirement, renting the farm to a family member or another farmer may provide extra income. Rental income, regardless of the amount, will not reduce one's Social Security benefits when one does not participate materially in the operation or management of the farm," explains Hayenga.

Some farmers want to sell their farm upon retirement.

The money received from the sale of a farm can be put into investments or savings and used for supplementary income.

"Making an installment sale of the farm is another possibility," according to Hayenga. "This usually reduces the income tax due on the sale. To qualify for this savings, the amount received in the year of sale cannot exceed 30 per cent of the selling price."

The economist suggests contacting an insurance agent or banker on other ways to provide for retirement income, including annuity plans which have tax saving provisions.

"In planning for retirement, keep in mind that inflation will mean more and more income will be required to live well in the future. It has been estimated that Social Security will provide only about 60 per cent of basic living cost," notes Hayenga.

"The most important thing to remember is that plans for retirement income should be made before, not after, retirement."

Federal Agencies Have Openings Now

The U.S. Civil Service Commission is accepting applications for Equal Opportunity Specialist positions. These positions exist in various Federal agencies throughout Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. Applications must be postmarked not later than September 23, 1974.

Equal Opportunity Specialists are concerned with civil rights and equality of opportunity for minorities and women in such areas as employment, housing, education, medical services, social services, and business development. They advise and assist employers, administrators, managers, community groups, and State and local officials on matters pertaining to civil rights or equal opportunity; evaluate Federal laws and policies with respect to equal protection of the law; investigate the operating practices of organizations to determine compliance with Federal laws; or investigate and conciliate specific complaints of individuals or groups.

These positions will be filled at the GS-5 and 7 level, starting salaries are $8,055 and $9,969 respectively. No written test is required. Applicants for these positions must be citizens of or owe permanent allegiance to the United States.

Federal employees enjoy many "fringe benefits" such as vacation leave each year, sick leave with pay, low cost life insurance and health insurance for which the government shares in the cost. Salaries are based on the standard work week of 40 hours.

If you have a genuine concern for the rights of people, and you are interested in obtaining additional information pertaining to a career in the Equal Opportunity field, you may obtain a copy of the Equal Opportunity Specialist Announcement No. DA-4-07 with appropriate application forms from the U.S. Civil Service Commission, free of charge, by dialing toll-free 1-800-492-4400 or apply in person at the Federal Job Information Center, 1100 Commerce St., Rm. 1C42, Dallas, Texas 75202.

Fertilizer Picture

Texas Agricultural producers will likely take a "wait and see" attitude as far as fall application of fertilizer for next year's crop is concerned.

According to Dr. Charles Welch, soil chemist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, "The fertilizer picture is considerably different now compared to a year ago. Last year fertilizer supplies were available and prices were still down. But there has been a complete turnaround in the fertilizer cost situation and in a number of fertilizer materials."

Welch points out that last year conditions were generally favorable for fall application of fertilizer. A good crop year had been completed and farmers had received high prices for their commodities. In addition there was growing concern that fertilizer would be scarce in 1974.

"This year producers are faced with a different situation. Fertilizer supplies are limited and what is available is at a high price. Special formulations of fertilizer are almost nonexistent. Producers must often buy a complete fertilizer (one with nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium) regardless of whether or not they need all three nutrients."

"And the percentage of active ingredients is also being reduced in many instances so that it takes a larger volume of fertilizer to provide the necessary nutrients. This means increased transportation and handling costs."

What all this amounts to, according to Welch, is that producers will have to take a close look at their particular situations to determine their fertilizer needs and time of application. "Soil testing will be especially important in determining profitable fertilization practices for each field and each crop."

Although U.S. fertilizer production was up 6 per cent during the year ending June 30, the amount sold was up 15 to 20 per cent. This means that inventories are now low at the retail level as well as at the manufacturing point.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

High Plains cotton production estimates at this time of year are always subject to error because of the unpredictability of weather, says Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "but conditions this year make predicting the crop even more hazardous."

Referring to the 1,468,600 bale projection released August 8 by the joint PCG-Lubbock Cotton Exchange Estimates Committee, Johnson pointed out that the figure assumes normal weather for the remainder of the growing season, an average frost date of November 5, and reasonably favorable harvesting weather.

"Only about 1.5 to 1.6 million of the estimated 1,924,600 standing cotton acres in our 25 counties are irrigated," the PCG executive notes, "and the condition of the remaining dryland acreage dictates that by far the bulk of 1974 production will have to come from irrigated land."

Virtually all dryland cotton on the Plains is severely drought-stricken and will require above average rainfall in August if it is to even produce enough cotton to justify harvesting.

Most irrigated cotton is looking good, Johnson continues, "but much of it is late planted cotton in counties to the north of Lubbock, which means its ultimate yield will be determined by the frost date, temperatures and sunlight during the next three months."

With more rain on dryland cotton that has not yet deteriorated beyond recovery, and with the right kind of weather, the Plains can reach or exceed the latest estimate, he concludes, "but wet cool weather and an early frost such as that seen in 1971 could turn the crop into an even bigger disappointment than is now expected."

The current estimate of just under 1.5 million bales compares with the record-setting 1973 harvest of almost 2.9 million produced at the rate of 492.2 pounds per acre. The 1974 estimate reflects an expected per-acre yield of only 362.2 pounds.

County-by-county production and standing acreage as estimated by the PCG-LCE Committee with actual figures from 1973 for comparison, follow:
