Permanent Banking Connection

—A permanent banking connection is a wise provision against the accommodation you may later need. Do not overlook the importance of a dependable banking connection in the handling of your affairs. Come in and talk the matter over with us.

—Thoughtful people TODAY save a little of their earnings—for the time when their earning power may not be so great. Protect yourself by starting an account with us now, and be prepared for any emergency.

—The most important thing for the average depositor to learn is that his bank can be useful to him in many other ways other than being a place to keep his money. This ought to be true of all banks; we have made it particularly true of this one.

ICE AND LIGHT PLANT AT LUBBOCK BURNED, WITH $200,000.00 DAMAGE

Lubbock, Nov. 15.—Fire tonight totally destroyed the ice and electric light plant of the Texas Utility Company here. The loss was estimated at $200,000. The origin was not known. The plant, were also burned, and for a time about 40 car loads of cotton seed and other farm products on switch tracks near the ice and electric plant were threatened by the blaze, but a speed-breaking run by a switch engine from Slaton saved the cars. After the blaze was seen to be beyond control, efforts of the fire fighters centered on saving that end of the town from becoming fired.

STORES CLOSE THANKSGIVING.

A petition has been circulated for signatures from the business people to close their stores Thanksgiving, and business will be suspended in Slaton on that day. So please take notice, order your groceries and do your shopping before then.

DISASTROUS FIRE NARROWLY AVERTED IN TAHOKA MONDAY

(Lynn County News.)
Monday morning about 10 o'clock a fire alarm was turned in from the general merchandise store of H. M. Larkin on the southwest corner of the public square. A large oil tank directly back of the two-story brick building became ignited, and but for the quick response of a score or more of citizens aided by a bountiful supply of city water, which was turned on from the fire plug at the corner, the building, together with a large stock of merchandise, would have been a total loss. As it was the leaping flames were extinguished before they had entirely eaten their way on the inside of the structure.

The oil is said to have caught from a burning trash pile.
The city of Tahoka recently laid a large water main in the business section, and the saving of this one building and the stock of goods well worth the cost of the water main, outside of the future protection the town will receive from the main.
It is learned that the city dads have in transit 1,000 feet of hose, and it is the intention of the business men to organize a volunteer fire department. This would be a long, progressive step forward, and with a few more fire plugs stationed over the city, destruction by fire would be greatly lessened and the insurance rate cut down considerably.

AN APPRECIATION.

We shall always remember the many kindnesses shown our beloved wife and mother during her short illness, by the people of Slaton and the efforts made to lighten our burden when God saw fit to remove her cheer from us. Especially do we thank you for the many pretty flowers which were so emblematic of her virtues. We remain a very sad family, but we know that our Heavenly Father doeth all things well and that it will be but a short time before we will again see her smiling face where there will be no separation.

FARM BUREAU COTTON HAS BEEN ORDERED SHIPPED

Lubbock, Nov. 14.—The first shipment of Farm Bureau cotton from this point will be made this week. This cotton is sold from samples that are sent in to the general offices daily from the local compress, and delivery is made as the cotton is needed to fill orders. Thus far orders have been filled from the warehouses nearest ports, but as these supplies are depleted cotton from farther distant points is ordered shipped. Contracts are being filled at the rate of from 1,000 to 1,500 bales per day, and when the market improves so that selling may be resumed cotton will be called in from storage much more rapidly than for the past few weeks.

The Lubbock County Farm Bureau has approximately one thousand bales of cotton stored in the local compress. This cotton has been delivered by wagon from the local gins and shipped in for concentration from neighboring communities. This shipment of cotton to ports will greatly relieve the congested conditions at the compress.

Beryl Hardesty is Eleven.
Little Miss Beryl Hardesty was hostess to a merry party of youngsters last Saturday when she celebrated her eleventh birthday from 3 to 5:30 o'clock. Tennis tournaments and numerous indoor games were diversions for the afternoon.

Before leaving the guests were invited into the dining room where they were served with hot chocolate and cake. The cake bore eleven candles. When it was cut Celia May Martin drew the ring, Noel Weaver the dime and Adrian Owens the needle.

Beryl was the recipient of many nice and useful gifts.

Young Women's Missionary Society.

The Young Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church met Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with a large attendance. The girls are doing excellent work under the efficient leadership of Mrs. L. C. Odom. They observed the "week of prayer," their part of the program being rendered on Thursday, which was enjoyed by a large number of visitors. Girls, come and join them. You will feel repaid for your coming every time.

Bussell-Lynn.

A. R. Bussell of Morgan school community and Miss Kitty Lynn of this city, were married Wednesday at the home of Rev. D. J. Hubbard, that minister officiating.

The bride in this happy event is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Lynn, and the groom is a son of Rev. Russell, Baptist pastor at Morgan.

The Slatonite joins in extending congratulations and best wishes.

Vern Eastridge Seven.

On Saturday afternoon, October 5, eight little boys and girls gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Eastridge to help their little son, Vern, celebrate his seventh birthday. Miss Pearl Olive was assistant hostess. Many games were played and just before their departure the following guests were served fruit salad, cake and candy: Imogene Haney, Cleo Hollingsworth, Pauline Owens, Catherine Walker, William Lee Olive, Cecil and C. S. Greer, and Jno. Hardesty, Jr. Vern was the recipient of many nice gifts.

Y. W. A.

The Y. W. A. met in regular session at the Baptist church Tuesday night. Three new members were added to our growing roll. We welcome them.

A brief business meeting was held before the program was rendered, in which Miss Cleffie Watson was elected president to succeed Miss Norene Robertson, who resigned. Miss Audie Meador was elected vice president. Plans were discussed relative to holding a bazaar in Slaton immediately before the holidays.

The program was well rendered, each member being present and prepared with her part.

An interesting program has been arranged for next Tuesday night.

William Lee Olive Celebrates.

William Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Olive, celebrated his sixth birthday anniversary Friday, Nov. 4, with a party for his little friends. Twenty-eight little boys and girls spent from 3 to 5 o'clock at William Lee's home, enjoying themselves as only children do. Refreshments of cream cones, birthday cake and chocolate candy were served to the following: Dorothy and Tommy Childress, Junior Todd, Billie and J. C. Sumner, Murray Reeder, Ted and Herman Reeder, Pearl Forschon, Verne Eastridge, Manning Holland, William DeLong, Frederick

The little host received many nice and useful gifts.

The Epworth League.

Sunday evening a number of young people met at the Methodist church for the purpose of organizing an Epworth League. The mission of this institution is manifold. It is to uplift the community religiously, socially, and intellectually. With our enthusiastic young people, led by their energetic president, hope to make each meeting interesting and inviting. All young people who do not enjoy the benefits of a similar organization in their own church are asked to meet with us.

Charles W. Taylor was elected president of the society. Completion of the organization was postponed until the meeting November 13 at 6:45 p. m. After the business has been attended the following program will be rendered:

Song.
Scripture reading, Matt. 4:18-22; 9:9-10; Acts 18:24-34.

Talk by leader, Mamie Lou Hill.
Vocal solo, Mrs. Lewis Smith.

Is social life to win young people to Christ a compromise measure or a legitimate appeal to a God-implanted instinct, G. A. Van Natta.

Veni Spiritus Creator, Faye Tucker.

Song.
League benediction.

Richardson-McCaffree.

Hosea C. Richardson of Vernon and Miss Nora McCaffree of this city, were united in marriage at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Baptist parsonage, Rev. Jno. P. Hardesty officiating.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McCaffree of this city. The newlyweds will reside in Plainview.

The Slatonite joins in extending congratulations and best wishes.

Sunday, Nov. 13.

Subject, "Patriotism."
Group 2 in charge.

Scripture reading, Isa. 2:3-4, by group captain, J. C. Murphy.

Song, "America."
Prayer.

Song, selected by youngest member present.

Duty of every citizen as to prayer for their country: (a) Psalm 122:6-7, Mable Stottlemire; (b) Isa. 64:9, Noel Weaver.

Examples of true patriotism from the Bible: (a) Heb. 11:24-26, Allyne Tucker; (b) Gen. 31:3, Fern Watson; (c) II Sam. 10:12, Temple Leverett; (d) Kings 11:21-22, Bessie Adams.

Impressive examples of patriotism during our day: (a) Virginia Montague; (b) Weldon Montgomery; (c) Eunice McDonald; (d) Rector Jordan. Minutes, business.

Closing song and prayer.

Missionary Society.

The business and social meeting was well attended. Reports were given from the different departments of the work. Our society is growing in interest at each meeting and were glad to add to our roll the names of Mesdames Gates, Eppler and Harvey.

The program for first day of week of prayer was led by Mrs. Adams. The topic was "Prayer and Missionary Achievements." We find in every religion worthy of the name prayer is an established principle and may we ask, as did the Disciples, Lord teach us how to pray. Some achievements through prayer were discussed by Mesdames Donald and Hendricks.

Second day was led by Mrs. Edwards. Topic: "Prayer and Gifts for Holding Institute."

Third day: "Prayer and Gifts for Lambuth Training School."

Free will offerings were given to meet the urgent needs of holding institute at Laredo, Texas, on School for Mexicans and our Lambuth Training School for Christian workers in Japan.

"O thou by whom we came to God
The life, the truth, the way,
The path of prayer, thyself hast trod,
Lord, teach us how to pray."

At the close of this splendid service all were ushered to the basement where refreshments consisting of sandwiches, pickles, pumpkin pie with whipped cream and ice tea were served by the hostesses, Mesdames A. E. Whitehead, T. A. Worley, G. A. Van Natta and W. H. Proctor.

An all-day session of the society will be held at the church Monday, Nov. 14, beginning at 10:30 a. m., in our Mission Study, conducted by Mrs. Shankle. We are trying the Relay Plan in our new book, "The Kingdom and the Nations." The program has been well arranged, a committee appointed to prepare the luncheon and we hope to have a good attendance, as each one who is seeking to bring the world to the knowledge of the Glory of God must from time to time lift their eyes from their portion of the task to behold the foundations of the Kingdom of God, taking form in its strength and beauty, and to see the purposes of the Lord as we study "The Kingdom and the Nations."

MARRIAGE AT WILSON AND OTHER HAPPENINGS

Walter Steen and Miss Alma Neiman were united in marriage at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. Johnson officiating. Both are highly respected young people of the Wilson community. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Steen, and the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Neiman.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Forrester were visitors in Slaton Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. May went to Roswell, N. M., last Wednesday to be with their son Edwin, who had undergone an operation on his ears. Mr. May returned Friday and reported Edwin doing nicely that Mrs. May would remain with him a few longer. It is hoped that he will soon be well and strong again.

Mr. and Mrs. Melcalf of Southland visited their son Rayburn Metcalfe and family here Sunday.

Rev. Heath filled his regular appointment here Sunday. The weather was very pretty and baptizing was held at the north tank in Mr. Lumsden's pasture, two miles from town.

Some of young people attended the Hallowe'en party at New Home school house Friday night. A good time was reported and that the building was artistically decorated with all sorts of spooky designs.

Misses Clara and Celia May visited Miss Inez Edwards at Tahoka Sunday. Miss Lillie Edwards and Mrs. E. P. Edwards of New Home were shopping here Tuesday.

Mrs. R. A. Metcalfe was sick with tonsillitis Sunday and Monday and Miss Annie West had charge of her room at school Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pilley of the Joe Stokes community, visited G. W. Pilley and family Tuesday.

FOSTER'S WEATHER BULLETIN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—The week centering on Nov. 23 is expected to bring a mixture of weather events but generally the well known Indian Summer features will prevail. That week will be midway between two severe storm periods, on centering on Nov. 14, the other on Nov. 28, and therefore the first and last part of that week may get touches of these two storms. Temperatures of that week are expected to average above and precipitation below normal. The general prediction for November was warmer, and less precipitation than usual. This forecast for the month indicated poor crop weather for Winter grain for this month. These conditions for the week centering on Nov. 23 are expected to cover the northern Rockies near Nov. 20, meridian 90 near 23, Ohio and eastern sections 25. Unusually warm weather and no severe cold waves are expected.

The week centering on Nov. 28 will be under the influence of severe storm. High temperatures will reach western Canada and northwestern America near Nov. 6, followed by severe storms, increasing snows or rains and a moderate cold wave. These conditions will cross meridian 90 near 28 and reach eastern sections near 30. Much better crop weather for Winter grain will come to large parts of the continent with this storm. But some sections are doomed to drouth and a failure of Winter grain.

Indications of an excessively cold Winter are not yet in sight. But dry weather in some sections and not much snow in some sections are the dragons that threaten certain sections of Winter grain. I have previously given warnings of these and the great drouth with probabilities of famine in Oceania, southern India and southern China. December will average warmer than usual; very warm on the weeks centering on Dec. 1, 12, and 28; cooler than usual during the weeks centering on 6, 19 and Jan. 2. Less than usual precipitation. Most rain or snow during the weeks centering on Dec. 1, 9, and 25. Most severe storms during week centering on Dec. 29.

I have repeatedly advised American and Canadian farmers not to sell their products at this time. We are approaching a time when there will be great demand for everything that North American farmers can produce. Most farmers must sell. Those who can hold cannot hold more than the amount that goes to foreign countries, therefore, if they hold, no harm will come of it to North Americans. India South America and Australia are selling their surplus and will suffer because of it not long hence. Their most disastrous drouth will begin within twelve months from now in Oceania, Australia and southern India and a less severe drouth in South America. In these countries a long period of less than usual rain will begin in April or May, 1922.

The secretary of Agriculture is giving good advice to farmers. They now have good and powerful leaders in the Congress of America. I am not well acquainted with government leaders in Canada. I advise to produce everything possible; be careful what crops you plant and sow; a great demand is coming.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.

The State of Texas. To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Velma Agnew by making publication of this Citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 72nd Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest district to said 72nd Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Lubbock County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, on the second Monday in December, A. D. 1921, the same being the 12th day of December, A. D. 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 25th day of October, A. D. 1921, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 1489, wherein E. E. Agnew is Plaintiff, and Velma Agnew is Defendant, and said petition alleging that plaintiff has been an actual bona fide inhabitant of Texas, more than twelve months and a resident of Lubbock county more than six months prior to filing his petition herein. That he was lawfully married to defendant July 18th, 1917, and lived together thereafter as husband and wife until about the 15th day of December, A. D. 1917, when she voluntarily left his bed and board, with the intention of abandonment and said abandonment has continued for more than three full years, prior to the filing of this suit.

Plaintiff prays that upon final trial hereof, that he be granted a divorce from the defendant, and that the bonds of matrimony heretofore existing between them be dissolved, and for general and special relief, in law or in equity to which he may be entitled, etc.

Herein fail not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the Seal of Said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this the 25th day of October, A. D. 1921.

"BREAD" OF STARVING RUSSIA

Called "Lebeda," the Stuff is Made of Leaves and Grass, Boiled and Dried.

A peasant in the government of Samara (soviet Russia) told me of how they make lebeda bread. Here is the story:

"In our village they take some linden leaves and grass, chop them up to the size of a flea, and then boil the mixture. After the water has boiled, they squeeze it out and put the stuff again into boiling water. Then they run it through a sieve, and keep the mass until it is dry. After that they grind it fine and add one-third flour.

"The bread you get is green in color and indigestible. And when there is no flour, they just bake the ground mixture as it is. It does not taste very badly; but after a man eats it for a while he swells up and gets worms in his stomach, and soon after that he dies."—Moscow Pravda.

DO YOUR TOES SPREAD OUT?

Mary E. Bayley, R. N., Tells What, in an Expert's Opinion, the Feet Should Be Like.

Does the great toe of your foot (the big toes of both feet) continue with a straight line from the heel? do your other toes spread apart? This condition exists you have good under-standing feet, according to Mary E. Bayley, R. N., who tells in the Delinquent what feet should be like. Her article has been approved by Dr. Virgil P. Giney, surgeon in chief of the Hospital for the Relief of the Ruptured and Crippled, New York, and therefore bears the stamp of authority.

Too much care cannot be taken of the feet, Miss Bayley continues, as they are the keystone to correct body position and have much to do with one's health. Particular attention should be paid to shoe fitting between the ages of nine and fourteen, since this is the period of growth and expansion. Stockings, too, come in for discussion, as tight-fitting ones compress the toes and interfere with the circulation.

No missionary work is so effective as the exemplary kind.

Just a Little Smile

USES OF ADVERSITY.

"I don't suppose we will ever find a way to run a government without requiring the people to pay taxes."

"Maybe it wouldn't be altogether desirable," replied Senator Sorghum. "Some of us politicians base our most convincing speeches on our sympathy with a tax-burdened constituency."

Pleasing the Masses.

"Do you call that art?" sneered the high-browed person.

"Just because that motion picture comedian sat down in a bucket of live crabs?"

"Yes."

"Well, it may not be art, but it got a whoop out of several hundred cash customers."

Bridge Disaster Nearer Home.

Brown—Wasn't that bridge disaster terrible?

Black—Who told you about it?

Brown—The papers, of course.

Black—Ah, yes, certainly. For the moment I thought you were referring to my wife losing all her pin money at the game last night.

Qualified.

"The man I marry," said the haughty girl, "must have a family back of him."

"Oh, I can fill that requirement all right," he replied confidently. "I've gone away ahead of any of my relations."

The Able Orator.

"That was a splendid speech you made."

"It had to be a good speech," replied Senator Sorghum. "I had such an almighty poor argument that I was obliged to depend almost entirely on the rhetoric."

Coldly Practical

"What do you say to that young man who proposed to you?"

"I told him the simple truth," answered Miss Cayenne. "I'd rather go on receiving flowers and confectionery than worry about groceries and fuel."

WELL MATED

"They're well mated."

"That so?"

"Yes. She knows as much about football as he does about playing bridge whist."

Quite the Opposite.

When the sly breeze blows off a hat Bystanders often notice that The owner makes while chasing it Remarks that are not chaste a bit.

One-Sidedness.

"There are two sides to every question," said the ready-made philosopher "Perhaps," answered Senator Sorghum. "But when you're in a political debate you are expected to conceal that fact as far as possible."

Her Permission.

"Slim kissed me last night," confessed Blondie of the rapid-fire restaurant.

"Did ya have to let him?" asked Heloise of the same establishment.

"Have to let him! I had to ask him what he s'posed he was there for!"

Suggestive of Rarity.

"They tell me you made a very clever remark last night."

"Yes; it's awfully discouraging."

"What is it?"

"Why, the way everybody is talking about it."

Two Rules for Success.

"To what rules, Mr. Gotthers, do you attribute your wonderful business success?"

"To these: 'Give a good man authority,' and 'Give a dub the air.'"

Wise at That.

"I'd hate to grow old."

"Why, Bud?"

"'Coz I don't want ever to get like pa and find fault with the apple pie ma makes."

YOU CAN'T TRUST CALOMEL AT ALL

It's Quicksilver, Salivates, Causes Rheumatism and Bone Decay.

The next dose of calomel you take may salivate you. It may shock your liver or start bone necrosis. Calomel is dangerous. It is mercury, quicksilver. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild-cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.—Advertisement.

DYED HER BABY'S COAT, A SKIRT AND CURTAINS

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her old, worn, faded things new. Even if she has never dyed before, she can put a new, rich color into shabby skirts, dresses, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hangings, everything. Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is guaranteed. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade or run.—advertisement.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable results maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merits and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and get treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test the great preparation send ten cents to Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure to mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Homily on Golf.

Men take up golf for the exercise as a game it makes walking most interesting.

An inexperienced player going on an 18-hole course will perhaps cover five miles. The more proficient he comes at the game the less he walks, ergo, the less exercise he gets.

So, if you are taking up golf for exercise, what is the sense of being expert and thus reducing the amount of exercise? The answer is that an American doesn't want to be a "dub" at anything.—St. Louis Star

THIS WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Brings a Ray of Hope to Childless Women

Lowell, Mass.—"I had anemia from the time I was sixteen years old and was very irregular. If I did any house-cleaning or washing I would faint and have to be put to bed, my husband thinking every minute was my last. After reading your text-book for women I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Sanative Wash, and have never felt better than I have the last two years. I can work, eat, sleep, and feel as strong as can be. Doctors told me I could never have children—I was too weak—but after taking Vegetable Compound it strengthened me so I gave birth to an eight pound boy. I was well all the time, did all my work up to the last day, and had a natural birth. Everybody who knew me was surprised, and when they ask me what made me strong I tell them with great pleasure, 'I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and never felt better in my life.' Use this testimonial at any time."—Mrs. ELIZABETH SMART, 142 W. Sixth St., Lowell, Mass.

This experience of Mrs. Smart is surely a strong recommendation for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is only one of a great many similar cases.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SEA CAMP AT MARION, MASS.

In the little town of Marion, Mass., by the unruffled waters of Sippican harbor, is a sea camp for the Boy Scouts of America. Here under the patronage of old seafaring skippers, boys are taught the tricks of the trade of sailing and seamanship. From the rudiments of knot-tying, splicing, rowing and the kindred subjects that a good sailorman must know, they are brought through an exhaustive training for the sailing and the trials that await them outside the snug little Sippican harbor in the wide expanse of the blue waters of Buzzards bay.

Through the timely aid of William H. Todd of the Todd Shipbuilding corporation and the kindness of the Tabor Nautical academy, in turning over their entire school to Chief Seascout James A. Wilder for a summer camp, dreams became realities.

The "William H. Todd" is the first of a series of camps conducted by the sea scouts. Sea scouting is a nationwide scheme, and the camp itself embraces boys from as far south as Texas, west to Chicago and north to Maine. In following summers camps will be located at other points in the United States, thus providing the same training for boys in other localities. The high spots of the training are life-saving, under the distinguished leadership of Commodore W. E. Longfellow, rowing and sailing, under vouched-for leadership.

The second program is the official older boy program of the Boy Scouts of America; a scout must be at least fifteen years old before joining. It is a club run like a ship, involving strict discipline and immediate obedience—sea ceremonies and general snappy work; for the perils of the sea become greatly intensified if the crew fails to respect and properly obey their officers. The boy scout, when he joins a seacoast ship, enters into a line of work which is divided into five stages; The sloop class, for apprentices, schooner class for ordinary sea scouts, barkentine class for able sea scouts, bark class for extra sea scouts, and lastly, the ship class for those who have reached the top.

BLINDNESS NO HANDICAP.

Every now and then we hear of the remarkable achievements in Scouting of blind boys. In Overbrook, a suburb of Philadelphia they have a whole troop of blind youngsters who astonish everybody who watches them by their prowess. They do practically everything other scouts do and in some things even excel their comrades with two good eyes. They have an almost uncanny sense of direction and highly developed touch perception.

"The blind boy," says Mr. Hartung, their scoutmaster, "has landmarks the rest of us know nothing about. They are practically unlosable in the woods, and can pitch their tents, gather wood, make fires and cook outdoor meals precisely as if they had their vision. When they go in swimming they seem to dump their clothing just anywhere along the bank, but each returns to his own unerringly."

Worry in Store.

Harold Lloyd is telling the story of an old darkey "extra" who took two or three days to moan and groan his way through the income tax paper. "An' now Ah got more worry," he announced after he had dotted the last "T" and crossed the final "T." "What's wrong now?" asked Harold. "Now," was the answer, "now befo' Ah can pay mah taxes Ah got to hunt all 'round an' locate the federal taxidermist's office." — Philadelphia Ledger.

He Knew.

A tenderfoot arrived in the wild lands where the real cowboys come from. He had been told to ask for a certain ranch foreman who would give him a job. He went up to a man in the first village he came to.

"Have you seen a tall fellow with a dark beard hanging around here?" he asked.

"Yes," said the man, "day before yesterday."

"You're sure?"

"Oh, yes. I had hold of the rope."

THIN, FLAT HAIR
GROWS LONG, THICK
AND ABUNDANT

"Danderine" costs only 35 cents a bottle. One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and, in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, so soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful, stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.—Advertisement.

King George's Superstition.

King George, sane, healthy-minded man though he is, owns up to certain superstitions. He can't endure that a wineglass should ring, if accidentally touched, at his dinner table. The ringing will mean a death in his family, so he firmly believes. And if the slightest ring is heard, every member of his family and guest at his table rises up on the instant and stands in silence. It's his wish.—London Opinion.

Breaking the News.

"Mrs. Brown, I got t' tell yuh, th' sheriff came today an' took your husband's clothes."

"What! Outrageous! I wish you'd find my husband and tell him right away."

"He knows it, M'm. He was wearin' 'em at th' time."

Ex-Sheriff of Dallas County Strongly Endorses Ware's Black Powder

Dallas, Texas, November 29, 1919.
The Ware Chemical Company, Dallas, Texas.

Gentlemen:

In 1906 my mother was suffering with a bad case of stomach and bowel trouble and could not eat or retain any kind of food in her stomach.

Some of the best doctors in this country were called in and diagnosed her affliction as incurable, and told me that my mother would live but a short time, and that they could do nothing for her. She was then 75 years old.

About this time someone suggested that we try Ware's Black Powder. We did so, and soon she began to improve and finally got in good health for a lady of her age. She lived until she was 85 years old.

Since that time I have been strong in my commendation of Ware's Black Powder; I am convinced that there is no better remedy for stomach and bowel trouble.

Yours very truly,

SNYDER, SLATON AND POST
 CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE
 HELD A JOINT MEETING

(From Snyder Signal.)

A joint meeting of the Chambers of Commerce of Snyder, Slaton and Post was held on last Friday evening at Snyder. The meeting was called to order by Secretary E. J. Anderson of Snyder, in order that a closer working relation might exist between the bodies to the end that a mutual benefit be derived.

The body went into organization and elected Mr. Hartford of Post, chairman, after which a general discussion of things most needful was gone into.

The primary aim of the joint meeting of these Chambers of Commerce was to discuss ways and means to improve the Colorado to Gulf Highway and to get before the traveling public this route and its advantages.

Hon. R. A. Baldwin of Slaton, Representative of that district, discussed in detail the advantages of the Colorado to Gulf Highway and presented some plans by which the combined co-operation of these towns, if carried out, would result in great good to every town along the route. Mr. Baldwin said that we did not visit each other in this way as much as we should, and that Snyder did not go to Slaton and Post as often as she should. He emphasized the fact that accomplishments were made by a united effort and a harmonious working of an organization. Advertising, he said, was absolutely essential. Advertisements should be put in some of the leading papers in the eastern states showing the Colorado to Gulf Highway.

Other talks were made by Mr. Thrane of Snyder, Mr. Greenfield of Post, Rev. B. W. Dodson of Post and B. M. Holland of Slaton.

A motion was made and carried that a uniform log be made of the Colorado to Gulf Highway representing each town along the route. Mr. E. J. Anderson, Secretary of the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce, was appointed to get up the log, also to place a big sign at Roscoe with a general description of the route and towns along the way.

This meeting is the beginning of greater things to be accomplished through the workings of these bodies together. A spirit of friendliness and co-operation prevailed throughout the meeting and a desire expressed by all the different organizations that these occasions should happen more frequently.

We people of Snyder are glad to have you come and hope we may have the pleasure of your visits often that good will and fellowship may abound and mutual benefits be derived.

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN—IT YOU

If you want to live in the kind of a town That's the kind of a town you like, You needn't slip your clothes in a grip, And start on a long, long hike.

You'll find elsewhere what you've left behind, For there's nothing that's really new It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town, It isn't your town it's you.

Real towns are not made by men afraid, Lest somebody else gets ahead; When everyone works and no one shirks, You can raise a town from the dead.

And if, while you make your personal stake, Your neighbor can make one too, Your town will be what you want to see— It isn't your town, it's you. SELECTED.

KELLY WHITE TO PUBLISH CROSBYTON REVIEW

Mr. and Mrs. K. S. White have moved back to their home at Crosbyton, where Mr. White will be engaged in the publication of the Crosbyton Review. Mr. White has been in the mechanical department of The Reporter for the past two months, and the entire force became his friends. He is true as steel, honest to the fullest degree, and one of the cleanest and truest men in speech, thought and actions that we have ever known and the entire Reporter force wishes for him and his family success and prosperity in his new field of labors. We wish that the world was full of such true men as K. S. White, there would be no use for peace officers, court houses and jails, and everybody would live in happiness. Success to you, friend White, and remember your old friends down here.—Sweetwater Reporter.

WHAT ADVERTISING DID.

You probably read the statement published some months ago to the effect that 84 per cent of all business failures in 1920 were of non-advertising firms. Maybe you didn't believe it.

Maybe you thought it was just a coincident. But probably you did not stop to investigate.

The head of a firm that builds standard and special buildings made up his mind to look into the matter further. He decided that if there was such a direct relation between advertising and successful business it was worth knowing about. He set out to investigate the relation of advertising to the firms with which his firms did business—the firms that had installed new buildings or enlarged old ones.

Here is what he found: Of all the factory buildings which they erected during a term, 83.3 per cent were erected for firms which advertised.

Measuring in floor space, he found that 92.6 per cent of the new floor space his firm had provided was for increased production of advertised commodities.

Here are his conclusions: The advertising manufacturer is five times as likely to stay in business as his non-advertising competitor; he is five times as likely to need more floor space, which he will probably buy in two and one-half times the quantity required by the non-advertiser who buys any at all.

It is needless to say that this firm has increased its own advertising, and its is telling the world about what it discovered with respect to the relation of advertising to business success.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

100 CHICKENS, FOUR COWS AND THREE SOWS CAN MAKE LIVING

The spirit of both the business men and the farmer of the West is ever progressive, and which many of our older sections may well follow with advantage, as shown from letters received by officials of the United Campaign for Better Agriculture, in Dallas, from the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, which is putting on a campaign for 100 chickens, four cows and three sows on every Scurry County farm, and from which there is expected to be derived a million and a half dollars to Scurry County farmers within the next one or two years. This is safe and sane farming and if a home garden is added, will practically make a living at home for every farmer. Money saved is money made, and every dollar kept at home from these products gives added purchasing value to the farmers' dollar, to be expended in the home market.

With approximately 40,000 Texas farms on which there is not a cow, and possibly an equally larger number without chickens, hogs or a home garden, all Texas would do well to follow this lead.

RIP VAN WINKLE HAS NOTHING ON KANSAS CITY MAN

Kansas City, Nov. 15.—Rip Van Winkle came back after twenty years and marveled at the villagers grown old. His shock was nothing to that of James Petty, 60, who, after thirty-two years of darkness, had sight restored to him by an operation here and saw for the first time.

Women and girls in knee length dresses and rolled down hose. Buildings towering twenty stories. Carriages without horses and street cars without mules.

Electric signs, movie theaters, tight skirts and rouged cheeks.

When led to the street from the physician's office where a cataract had been peeled from an eye, one of his first exclamations was:

"Why do they wear 'em to the knees. I had heard they did, but I could not believe it."

Mr. Petty said his next greatest shock was when he looked in the mirror. All human beings disappointed him in appearance.

"They're not as good looking as they used to be," he said. He constantly marveled at the beauties of the material world.

"Everything is so beautiful, so clear and so close," he said again and again.

AT THE WILSELMA.

"The Penalty."

Our object in running a motion picture theatre is to give you the best that we can get so that you will be afforded a pleasant evening's entertainment. But this time we are offering you more than that in "The Penalty," which will be shown at this theatre on Thanksgiving day, next Thursday. It tells an amazing story of one of the most original characters in fiction. No more bizarre forceful, yet convincing character is to be found in any picture than this.

If you see "The Penalty" Thanksgiving you will never forget it! If you don't you'll have something to regret for a long time.

We will give a matinee Thanksgiving afternoon at 2:30. Come out.

On Thanksgiving night we will give you a free athletic show in connection with this feature picture. Tell Bentley of Colmean will meet Loyd Fowler of Crosbyton in a 10-round boxing match. Also good preliminaries.

TAKING NO CHANCE.

The editor poised his blue pencil. "You say here that Mr. Longhow is lying at death's door. We'll just make that 'laying.'"

"But that's not good English," protested the reporter.

"No," replied the editor, "but it's better to make a grammatical error than offend Longhow's relatives. His reputation for veracity is notoriously bad."—Boston Transcript.

RAILROADS MUST PROVE IT.

A dispatch from Chicago announcing the intention of the class A railroads to post notices of another cut in wages, says:

"Before the notices are posted, however, according to executives here, a committee of the American Association of Railroad Executives will confer with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington and discuss lower freight rates on basic commodities. It is the intention of the carriers, it was said, to make it clear that the wage reduction sought would be translated into reduced freight costs in the hope of stimulating business."

This looks suspiciously like an attempt to join irrevocably in the public mind the question of rate reduction with that of further reductions in wages. Such a connection may indeed exist in fact, but the railroads are under obligations to prove it to the public before they can expect support for another move for reduced wages on that score. Freight rates are too high. But wages have been reduced and rates have not. When the present scale of rates was made the chief plea made was that the increase in wages made it necessary. Moreover, almost everything the railroads use has come down in price in the meantime. Everything is cheaper. Besides that there is reason to believe that the payrolls were unnecessarily overloaded at the time the rates were fixed, and much efficiency has been introduced into the operation of the roads in this respect since. Instead of insisting that wages must be reduced further before there is a cut in rates, it would seem that it is up to the railroads to show why rates should not be reduced now. The Railroad Labor Board should not be placed in the position before the public of standing in the way of a reduction of rates, if it finds the railroads are not entitled to a further wage reduction.

All this may be superficial. But it is up to the roads to make out a case before the public.—Star-Telegram.

WHO MAKES THIS TOWN

It isn't any one man, or any half dozen or dozen. It is every person in the town, as well as those who make a practice of coming to town.

We have citizens who are so modest and retiring that they imagine their influence is of no value, or has no weight—that it makes no difference to the town what they do or do not do. They are mistaken.

We have become so accustomed to the progressive citizen that we expect to hear from him on any subject or any importance. We would be more or less nonplussed if he did not come to the front.

But is the action of the quiet and retiring element that adds impetus and puts real life into movement for civic improvement. They may not assume to be leaders, but when they get behind and push, the weight is so great there is no such thing as a premature halt.

Little wavelets lapping up on the seashore always precede the great tidal wave that sweeps everything before it.

It is so in community life. In each community there are a few who are always promptly active in every good movement. They are the little waves that never rest, that ever creeping upon the beach, advancing and receding, incessantly on the move until they create the great wave of public sentiment that moves irresistibly on to victory and achievement.

It is the mass of quiet citizens who constitute the bulk of that public sentiment. It is the citizen who possibly thinks that his own individual opinion has but little influence upon community life. It is the one who acts after all others have talked.

You, therefore, are one of the number who make this town.

You are expected to aid in making it even a better town.

You can do it, if you will.

HOOD AND PARKER COUNTY RESIDENTS HEIRS TO EIGHT HUNDRED MILLION ESTATE

Weatherford, Nov. 15.—The $800,000,000 estate of Joseph Baker, which included valuable oil lands in Pennsylvania and property in New York, is to be divided among the heirs after being held in trust for 100 years, as provided in the will of the original Baker. It is estimated that there will be 300 heirs after false claimants have been eliminated. The estate will be divided proportionately to the age and relationship.

Several of these heirs live in Hood and Parker counties, among whom are the following:

Mrs. Gaylor, formerly Mrs. Bolton, whose husband died in Oklahoma several weeks ago. She also has several children in the Baker community. They are Mrs. J. W. Rains and Ed, Nick and Ollie Bolton.

Some of the first generation of nearest kin have already received their portion of $8,000,000 each.

Mrs. Gaylor has been notified that her share would be approximately $2,000,000.

Y. W. A.

The members of the Young Women's Auxiliary met at the Baptist church Tuesday evening. Our leader, Mrs. Hagan, was absent on account of the illness of relatives. Mrs. Jno. P. Hardesty very ably led the lesson, reading several scripture quotations.

A committee composed of Misses Ruth Wadley, Edith Marrs, and Faye Tucker was appointed to inform every absent member of a called meeting for Monday night at 6:30. It is expected that some very important business will be transacted. Members of the society please take notice. We very much desire your presence at this meeting.

The members are already at work perfecting arrangements for a Pure Food and Style Show, to be held just before the holidays. This will be something new in the way of church fairs for Slaton, and a great deal of interest is being manifested in the coming event. We hope to have the co-operation of every member of the church in making this affair a big success. The proceeds are to be used in paying for the new pews.

Missionary Society.

Under the efficient leadership of Mrs. R. G. Shankle, our all-day session of the Mission Study was a success. Following closely the "Relay Plan," the idea was to get as many members as possible to take part. Some three weeks in advance the superintendent secured leaders, dividing some of the largest chapels into two parts and gave each one her assignment. After the Bible lesson and prayer the study of the Kingdom and the Nations was taken up. Each reviewer was well prepared and deserves special mention, but space forbids. As we learned of the great needs in Japan, Korea, China, India, Africa and Latin America we realized more fully that the Kingdom among the nations will not be built by the Christianizing of the people alone; but requires also the Christianizing of the relatives of nation with nation.

At 12 o'clock a splendid luncheon was served by the committee and we spent about an hour eating, and having a real social time. There were about fifty served, with the visitors present.

The afternoon program was very interesting, each one giving the gist of the part assigned them. We were favored with a solo by Mrs. L. W. Smith and a reading by Miss Faye Tucker, to the enjoyment of all present. We were all so enthusiastic over the success of the day that we were glad we tried the "Relay Plan," the foundation which the missionary enterprise is seeking to lay in every land—men and women who have faith in Christ. Our part in the laying of that foundation requires that we have faith. If we do our share we shall put our lives without reserve into His hands. Steadfastly seeking to learn His will and to do it we shall become more and more skillful in ministering to others in His name, in bearing our part in transforming the nations of this world into "The Kingdom of Our Lord." For the Kingdom is the Lord's and he is governor among the nations.

We were glad to add the name of Mrs. Rhodes to our list.

Thanksgiving night we will give our patrons a free athletic show in connection with our feature picture. Tell Bentley of Coleman will meet Loyd Fowler of Crosbyton in a 10-round boxing match. Also good preliminaries.

TEXAS PRINTER GETS BACK AT DOCTOR IN HIS OWN COIN

Charley Harris, a printer of Fort Worth, got slightly peeved at a letter from a doctor who wanted bids on several thousand letterheads, different sizes, different grades and different colors, and wanted the printing form held standing. So Charley took his typewriter in hand and wrote as follows, according to Kansas City Post: "Am in the market for bids on one operation for appendicitis. One, two, or five inch incision—with or without ether—also with or without nurse. If appendix is found to be sound, want quotations to include putting same back and cancelling order. If removed successful bidder is expected to hold incision open sixty days, as I expect to be in the market for an operation for gall stones at that time and want to save the cost of cutting."

"LIVE AT HOME DAY" MEETING AT LUBBOCK SATURDAY

B. M. Holland, cashier of the Slaton State Bank, is in receipt of the following letter from J. W. Jennings, county agent. It is self-explanatory and is quoted below:

"Dear Mr. Holland: As vice chairman of arrangement and entertainment committee from your community, I am taking the privilege of asking you to assist in advertising the "Texas Live at Home Day," for Saturday, the 19th, as is being promoted by the United Campaign for Better Agriculture, with headquarters in Dallas.

"We are preparing to have a county wide mass meeting of bankers, business men and farmers at 1 o'clock in the afternoon on the above date, and would appreciate very much your coming and bringing a representative crowd of your business men and farmers.

"Anything you can do in this connection will be highly appreciated. Thanking you in advance for your cooperation, I am, very truly yours,

NEW RESIDENCE OF MR. AND MRS. J. S. LANHAM WILL SOON BE COMPLETE

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Lanham are having a very pretty new home erected in the east part of town. Chas. H. Lewis has the contract.

This home consists of six rooms and bath, is finished with pebble dash stucco on the outside, the inside being plastered over metal lathe and finished with enamel. Under the direction of Mr. Lewis, Mrs. Lanham has had many conveniences built in this modern home. In the large living room are two book cases, in the hall are large double closets, in the kitchen is a cabinet and work table full length of the room, containing kitchen sink, large bins and every other convenience found in an up-to-date kitchen cabinet. An ironing board is also built into the kitchen wall, when not in use being concealed by a door that fits closely over the opening. Between the dining room and kitchen is a large china closet and combination buffet, opening into each room.

This home is very conveniently arranged, has a large porch with east and south exposure, and is modern in every detail. Mr. Lewis has spared no effort to make this one of the prettiest places in Slaton, and he has succeeded.

DON'T SHIRK YOUR DUTY

You would be a very unnatural parent if you did not wish to give your boy or girl the best educational advantages that are in your power,—a very thoughtless parent if you sent him to the first school that mailed you a catalogue, and an unpardonable parent if you entered him in a school without first investigating its location, equipment, character of student body, faculty, system of discipline, and above all the moral surroundings. Yours is the duty of investigation, comparison and ultimate decision.

Your boy or girl is the hope of your life. In him or her is centered your most cherished ambitions. His or her worth to you can not be measured by dollars and cents, but his or her value must be measured by the training which he receives in home and at school.

Our 236 page catalogue will tell you of America's largest business school, which has had over 30,000 students from thirty-nine different states and seven foreign countries. It will tell you of the endorsements by the best business men, ministers, lawyers and bankers. It will tell you the experience of young people who came to us with limited means and who achieved success after a short time in our school.

We know you are bound to be interested, so ask us to furnish the proof. Our large beautifully illustrated catalogue is free if you will fill out this coupon and mail to Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas.

More Calls Are Made for Suits

It is hard to pry the American woman loose from her friend, the tailored suit. It is one of her most becoming assets. She likes it, she feels well dressed when she wears it, and hers is the figure that displays it to the very best advantage. And, observes a fashion authority, when the calendar says that autumn is here, the suit becomes the first noticeable change in dress expression.

A prominent maker of suits—a man who has devoted the whole of his life to the study of this one by-path in women's wear—said that he had had just as many, if not more, calls for suits this season as he had had any season in the past. This statement was made in the face of the fact that the general impression seems to be, in fashion circles, that the suit is losing some of its popularity. Now this tailor believes that the suit can never die. He says he knows that women have adopted it for their uniform, just as the men need the suit for theirs. He realizes the fact that women diverge from the suit in many and varied manners, but he says that this costume as the foundation of a wardrobe is just as simple a thing as is the coffee they drink for their breakfasts.

You ask him: "Does the style of the suit change?" and he wittingly answers that it does most decidedly. Then, if you look at it with an untutored eye, it is hard to see just where the changes come in. They are subtle, and they are slow, but, he assures you, they are changes, and the last minute of fashion standard demands that they shall be made.

Length of Skirts.

The encouraging side of all this slowness and subtlety is that it is not greatly noticeable—that the old suit, if it is designed along conservative enough lines, will last on indefinitely. And, combined with the smart hat and the proper accompaniment of fur, it does itself proud in the marching throng.

The lengths of the skirts in the suits, it is nice to be able to say, have

Peacock Green Duvetyn for Blouses

A Russian blouse suit was made of peacock green duvetyn with a very thick and heavy surface. The bloused section of the coat was long enough to completely cover the hips, and underneath that was a straight sort of peplum of the width of only about five or six inches. There was a twisted girdle of heavy silk threads with the longest imaginable tassels ending it. And there were collars and wide cuffs of krummer in a very dark gray shade. Another suit of this same character and general line of cut in a deep rust shade had for trimming an arrangement of heavy, loose knots of dark gray wool that were massed together quite evenly until they took on a surprising look of krummer or some other lamb's wool fur.

Fur, indeed, is used for trimming many of the winter suits, but the fact of the matter is that in most cases it is very sparingly used. There are straight, choker collars and the smallest of cuffs, and only seldom is there a band of fur seen around the bottom of the peplum. And the furs not changed so materially that the change is quick to catch the eye. They seem to be about the same, although they are really longer than those extreme knee-length ones of the summer. It behooves us to stop and think, however, that certain members of the community attempted these ultra-short affairs, and that most of the suit skirts, in particular, remained a distance of from ten to twelve inches from the floor. And that is what they are today—preferably ten, but rising to twelve where the figure is tall and slim enough to demand that concession to its own proportions.

There is the sport suit, for which America and Americans have become so famous; there is the medium suit for every occasion, and there is the dressy suit which, this season, has dissolved itself into the costume dress. But each is as popular and as necessary as the other in its own way, and each one of them is destined to hold a place in the season's fashions.

Among the tailored suits there are many with coats that are very long. That is, they may safely be called three-quarter length, for there is only a fraction of a skirt left showing beneath the ending of the coat. Then, these suits are cut in such a manner that they can keep the straight, long lines for any figure. They are totally without fullness, to be sure, but they have a miraculous way of keeping straight in spite of everything. Everything about them is seemingly tightly fitted. The sleeves are, indeed, skintight and the armholes are rounded and fitted to a nicety. Sometimes there is a belt set at a low waistline and tied into place, the exact placing of the waistline being in accordance with the individual proportions of the figure. Then, some of these three-quarter tailored coats are slit at the sides from the bottom, so that the ends have a trifle of "give" to them, not being keyed to the line of the figure so unrelentingly. A tailored suit of this variety was made with bindings of its own material, which material was broadcloth, by the way, and these were cut almost an inch in width. These were laid on as flatly as could be around every conceivable edge and stitched closely on either side. The color of the suit was a dusty taupe and the stitched edgings made a good-looking finish.

Have Low-Cut Revers.

Most of these strictly tailored suits have low-cut revers, so that the closings of the coat come just above the waistlines. Then, this opening leaves room for the whitest and daintiest of French blouses, the latter being the touch without which the suit remains as nothing worthy of notice.

Suits with more or less of trimming come to us from the French designers, and, with a certain type of woman, are generally appreciated and worn in this country. Most of these, this season, are made with the longer waists and with slightly bloused effects at the waistlines. Then the embroidery is used for a wide or a narrow band around the bottom of the peplum, for the cuffs, for the collar, and sometimes for a band to run along the line where the closing of the coat is effected. One of these from Paris was made in that darkest of brown shades, which the French are pushing this season. It was then trimmed with masses of silk embroidery in a slightly lighter shade of the same color, and the trimming was concentrated over the hips in large triangular sections grouped of smaller triangular figures. This was all the trimming there was about the suit, for the cuffs of the rather loose sleeves were left plain, as was also the collar, which but toned tightly around the throat.

HIS HEART IN RIGHT PLACE

Circus Tentman Evidently Remembered That He Had Once Been a Small Boy.

A little boy bobbed his head around a wagon where the circus train was unloading.

"Please, sir," he said to a tentman in overalls, "please, have you got any elephants to water?"

The tentman shook his head. It seems elephants are watered by machinery or something these days. At least there's no earning one's way in by way of the water-bucket.

The little boy was slinking off forlornly when the tentman turned around.

"Here," he grunted, "hold this for awhile," and he stuck a rope into his hand without apparently seeing that the little boy's chin had stopped wagging.

But he found other things to be done, chairs to be lugged, and such.

And an ecstatic little boy that sat on the front row that afternoon with an awestruck eye, winked at the tentman, passing by.

This little bit of advice may help you regain your Health, Strength and Vitality

Thousands of people suffer from nervousness. They are run down and miserable without knowing the reason why.

They do not stop to think that much of their trouble may be caused by drinking tea and coffee which contain the drugs, thein and caffeine. When you over-stimulate the system for any period of time, the result may be nervousness with its many accompanying ills. You may fail to sleep properly and your sleep does not refresh you as it should.

Postum, made from scientifically roasted cereals, will help you to overcome all these conditions. For it contains only healthful substances, instead of drugs, as are found in tea and coffee.

Postum helps build sound nerve structure, by letting you get sound, restful sleep.

In flavor, Postum is much like high-grade coffee. In fact there are many people who prefer Postum for its savory flavor alone.

Order Postum from your grocer today. Serve this rich, fragrant beverage for the family. See how the children will like it, and how much better everybody will sleep at night.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

He was risking everything for the sake of speed. He gave no heed to the fallen timber that might have torn the web of his snow shoes to shreds. Because he shut out all thought of it, he had no feeling of fatigue. The fight with Cranston had been a frightful strain on muscle and nerve; but he scarcely remembered it now. His whole purpose was to return to Snowbird before the wolves lost the last of their cowardice.

The jerked venison that he had munched had brought him back much of his strength. He was wholly unconscious of his heavy pack. Never did he glide so swiftly, so softly, with such unerring step; and it was nothing more or less than a perfect expression of the iron-clad control that his steel nerves had over his muscles.

Then, through the silence, he heard the shout of the pack as the wolf had leaped at Snowbird. He knew what it meant. The wolves were attacking then, and a great flood of black, hating bitterness poured over him at the thought he had been too late. It had all been in vain, and before the thought could fully go home, he heard the dim, far-off crack of a pistol.

Was that the first of the three shots, the one she might expend on the wolves, or had the first two already been spent and was she taking the last gateway of escape? Perhaps even now Lennox was lying still on the sled, and she was standing before the ruin of her fire, praying that her soul might have wings. He shouted with all the power of his lungs across the snow.

But Snowbird only heard the soft glide of the wolves in the snow. The wind was blowing toward Dan; and while he had heard the loud chorus of the pack, one of the most far-carrying cries, and the penetrating crack of a pistol, she couldn't hear his answering shout. In fact, the wilderness seemed preternaturally still. All was breathless, heavy with suspense, and she stood, just as Dan had thought, between the ruin of her fire and the sled, and she looked with straight eyes to the oncoming wolves.

"Hurry, Snowbird," Lennox was whispering. "Give me the pistol—for that last work. We have only a moment more."

He looked very calm and brave, half-raised as he was on the sled, and perhaps a half-smile lingered at his bearded lips. And the bravest thing of all was that to spare her, he was willing to take the little weapon from her hand to use it in his last service. She tried to smile at him, then crept over to his side.

The strain was over. They knew what they had to face. She put the pistol in his steady hand.

His hand lowered to his side and he sat waiting. The moments passed, the wolves seemed to be waiting, too, for the last flickering tongue of the little fire to die away. The last of her fuel was ignited and burning out; they were crouched and ready to spring if she should venture forth after more. The darkness closed down deeper, and at last only a column of smoke remained.

It was nothing to be afraid of. The great, gray leader of the pack, a wolf that weighed nearly 100 pounds, began slowly and deliberately to set his muscles for the spring. It was the same as when the great bull elk comes to bay at the base of the cliffs; usually some one wolf, often the great pack leader, wishing to remind his followers of his might, or else some full-grown male proud in his strength, will attack alone. Because this was the noblest game that the pack had ever faced, the leader chose to make the first leap himself. It was true that these two had neither such horns nor razor-edged hoofs as the elk, yet they had eyes that chilled his heart when he tried to look at them. But one was lying almost prone, and the fire was out. Besides, the madness of starvation, intensified ten times by their terrible realization of the wound at her hip, was upon the pack as never before. The muscles bunched at his lean flanks.

But as Snowbird and her father gazed at him in fascinated horror, the great wolf suddenly smashed down in the snow. She was aware of its curious, utter collapse actually before the sound of the rifle shot that occasioned

It had penetrated her consciousness. It was a perfect shot at long range; and for a long instant her tortured faculties refused to accept the truth.

Then the rifle spoke again, and a second wolf—a large male that crouched on the other side of the sled—fell kicking in the snow. The pack had leaped forward at the first death; but they halted at the second. And then terror came to them when the third wolf suddenly opened its savage lips and screamed in the death agony.

Up to this time, except for the report of the rifle, the attack had been made in utter silence. The reason was just that both breath and nervous force are needed to shout; and Dan Felling could afford to waste neither of these vital forces. He had dropped to his knee, and was firing again and again, his gray eyes looking clear and straight along the barrel, his fingers without jerk or tremor pressing again and again at the trigger, his hands holding the rifle as in a vise. Every nerve and muscle were completely in his command. The distance was far, yet he shot with deadly, amazing accuracy. The wolves were within a few feet of the girl, and a fraction's waver in the gun barrel might have sped his bullet toward her.

"It's Dan Felling," Lennox shouted as the fourth wolf died.

Then Snowbird snatched her pistol from her father's hand and opened fire. The two shells were no longer needed to free herself and her father from the agony of fangs. She took careful aim, and although a pistol is never as accurate or as powerful as a rifle, she killed one wolf and wounded another.

Frenzied in their savagery, three or four of the remaining wolves leaped at the body of one of the wounded, but the others scattered in all directions. Still Dan fired with the same unbelievable accuracy, and still the wolves died in the snow. The girl and the man were screaming now in the frenzied joy of deliverance. The wolves scurried frantically among the trees; and some of them unknowingly ran full in the face of their enemy, to be shot down without mercy. And few indeed were those that escaped—to collect on a distant ridge, and, perhaps, to be haunted in dream by a death that came out of the shadows to blast the pack.

Again the pack song would be despairing and strange in the winter nights—that age old chant of Famine and Fear and the long war of existence with only Death and Darkness in the end. And because it is the voice of the wilderness itself, the tender-foot that camps in the evergreen forest will listen, and his talk will die at his lips, and he will have the beginnings of knowledge. And perhaps he will wonder if God has given him the thews and fiber to meet the wilderness breast to breast as Dan had met it; to remain and to fight and to conquer.

And thereby his metal will be tested in the eyes of the Red Gods.

Snowbird stood waiting in the snow, arms stretched to her forehead as Dan came running through the wood. But his arms were wider yet, and she went softly into them.

"We will take it easy from now on," Dan Felling told them, after the camp was cleared of its dead and the fire was built high. "We have plenty of food; and we will travel a little while each day and make warm camps at night. We'll have friendship fires, just as sometimes we used to build on the ridge."

"But after you get down in the valleys?" Lennox asked anxiously. "Are you and Snowbird coming up here to live?"

The silence fell over their camp; and a wounded wolf whined in the darkness. "Do you think I could leave it now?" Dan asked. By no gift of words could he have explained why; yet he knew that by token of his conquest, his spirit was wedded to the dark forests forever. "But heaven knows what I'll do for a living."

Snowbird crept near him, and her eyes shone in the bright fire light. "I've solved that," she said. "You know you studied forestry—and I told the supervisor at the station how much you knew about it. I wasn't going to tell you until—until certain things happened—and now they have happened. I can't wait another instant. He said that with a little more study you could get into the forest service—take an examination and become a ranger. You're a natural forester if one ever lived, and you'd love the work."

"Besides," Lennox added, "it would clip my Snowbird's wings to make her live on the plains. My big house will be rebuilt, children. There will be fires in the fire place on the fall nights. There is no use of thinking of the plains."

"And there's going to be a smaller house—just a cottage at first—right beside it," Dan replied. He could go back to his forests, after all. He wouldn't have to throw away his birthright, fought for so hard; and it seemed to him no other occupation could offer so much as that of the forest rangers—those silent, cool-nerved guardians of the forest and keepers of its keys.

For a long time Snowbird and he stood together at the edge of the firelight, their bodies warm from the glow, their hearts brimming with words they could not utter. Words always come hard to the mountain people. They are folk of action, and Dan, rather than to words, trusted to the yearning of his arms.

"We're made for each other, Snowbird, darling," he told her breathlessly at last. "And at last I can claim what I've been waiting for all these months." He claimed it; and in open defiance to all civil law, he collected fully 100 times in the next few minutes. But it didn't particularly matter, and Snowbird didn't even turn her face. "Maybe you've forgotten you claimed it when you first came back, too," she said.

So he had. It had completely slipped his mind, in the excitement of his fight with the wolf pack. And then while Lennox pretended to be asleep, they sat, breathless with happiness, on the edge of the sled and watched the dawn come out.

They had never seen the snow so lovely in the sunlight.

SET RECORD FOR PROFLIGACY

Danish Courtier, Hundreds of Years Ago, Started Fashion Copied by Some Modern "Sports."

The "sport" who lights his cigars with $5 bills had the pace set hundreds of years ago by courtiers in the reign of Queen Caroline Matilda of Denmark. Bills worth $30 were used by them as pipe lighters, and the leadership was taken by an old rone, Count Rantzau, who, although 60, won the love of the beautiful Sophia Livernet, of the royal ballet, a maid of 18 years. Rantzau was the brains behind the plot that broke the rule of the giddy queen and her lover, Dr. Struensee, and put the dowager queen, Juliana Maria, in power.

That astute lady promptly turned on Rantzau and ordered him banished. He was sunk in melancholy, but brightened long enough to give a series of balls and entertainments more brilliant than any the kingdom had known. Then he drew his pistol, and all would have been over had not the lovely Sophia entered at that moment and by singing a trio of old melodies to the tinkle of her harp, won back his desire to live. He did not die until many years later, and then died as he would have wished to die with his boots on, and as the result a duel in France over the favor lady.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 20

PAUL BEFORE THE KING.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 25:1-26:32.
GOLDEN TEXT—Now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept.—I Cor. 15:20.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—I Cor. 15.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Tells How He Came to Obey Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Before King Agrippa.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—An Appeal to Caesar.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul's Courageous Testimony Before King.

I. Paul Before Festus (25:1-12).
As soon as Festus, the new governor, goes to Jerusalem, he is besieged with accusers against Paul, and they desire that he be brought to Jerusalem for trial, intending to lie in wait and kill him on the way. Festus refused their request, but agreed to give them an opportunity to accuse Paul if they would go down to Caesarea. They go, but are unable to prove anything against him. Festus, willing to please the Jews, proposes to send him to Jerusalem for trial. For this Paul issues a rebuke to Festus by asserting that he very well knew that he was innocent. Seeing that it was impossible to get justice before Festus, Paul makes use of his right as a Roman citizen, and appeals to Caesar. Paul well knew that to go to Jerusalem meant death, and since Festus was too much of a time-server to release him when he knew that he was innocent, he makes use of the radical step of appealing to Rome as the last resort. Festus seems to have been taken by surprise. His failure to release an innocent man had placed him in an awkward position, for he could give no explanation as to why an innocent man should go to Rome for trial. For a man to appear before Caesar would cast reflection upon Festus. He now consulted his council as to what to do, but since the Roman law gave every man the right of appeal to the emperor, there was nothing left for him to do but to grant his request.

II. Paul Before Agrippa (25:13-26:32).

1. The occasion (25:13-27). This was the visit of Agrippa and Bernice to Festus. Upon their arrival they expressed a desire to hear Paul, whereupon Festus told them of his perplexity; so it was arranged that Paul be brought before them for examination.
2. The defense (25:1-27). (1) The Introduction (vv. 1-3). In this he expressed his delight that he now could speak and tell his case to one who was able to follow his line of argument, for Agrippa was an expert in questions concerning the Jews; but most of all he was now happy in that he could witness to him of the Savior and perhaps lead him into the light of God. (2) In his manner of life (vv. 4-12). This he showed had been in strictest accord with the most rigid sect of the Jews. He possessed the same hope—that of a coming Deliverer—and reminded them of the fact that formerly he was most bitterly opposed to Christ, as his zeal would prove. These facts make the change from a persecutor to an ardent advocate all the more remarkable. (3) His supernatural conversion (vv. 13-15). Jesus Christ appeared to him on the way to Damascus and revealed himself to him. (4) Jesus Christ commissioned him for his work (vv. 16-18). He was sent unto the Gentiles (a) to open their eyes, so awfully blinded; (b) to perform the blessed work of turning them from darkness to light; (c) to turn them from the power of Satan unto God; (d) that they might receive forgiveness of sins; (e) and that they might obtain an inheritance among the saints. (5) His consecration (vv. 19-23). As soon as he received his commission he obeyed. The very vigorous prosecution of his work brought him into conflict with the Jews, for which they sought to kill him. (6) The interruption by Festus (v. 24). Seeing how thoroughly in earnest Paul was, he attempted to account for it by calling him a crank, attributing it to the ravings of an unbalanced mind. (7) Paul's appeal to Agrippa (vv. 25-27). Still maintaining his courtesy, he appealed to his knowledge of the work of Jesus and of the prophets, for they have an intimate connection.
III. Agrippa Almost Persuaded (26:28-32).
Whether this answer is a contemptuous sneer or not, it is evident that his soul was unwilling to yield. Paul took Agrippa seriously. Paul's heart longed that Agrippa and all concerned would accept Christ and be saved.

Frederick, Okla.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines for at least 40 years. I am 59 years old at the present time, and I think Dr. Pierce's Anuric Kidney Tablets saved my life. I was very poorly four years ago this spring, the doctor said I could not live 6 months. I had a dull aching pain over my kidneys. I did not dare to eat very much of anything. Now I feel so much better and can eat without fear. I could not think of doing without Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. I keep them in the house for all of us to use as needed."—Mrs. Ida Roady, 213 E. Amethyst Ave.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial pkg. of Anuric. You will receive FREE medical advice.

What Father Thought An Expense, Son Makes an Investment

—A Middle Western farmer tills the same acreage that he, his brother and father used to farm. His father used the implements others threw away, unknown makes, for which repairs were hard to get or unobtainable. To him, farm implements and tools were an expense. The son buys known tools—the best. He believes that good tools to a great extent determine his profits—that they are a good investment.

—If you want any kind of tools, implements, shelf hardware, heating and cook stoves and high grade house furnishings of the best known makes—this is the place to get them. IT IS ALWAYS A PLEASURE TO SHOW THESE GOODS.

Chiropractic and Thanksgiving

—There are hundreds of folks around you who will be thankful this Thanksgiving because they have broken the chains of superstition and tradition and have not only sought but have found in CHIROPRACTIC a way by which they have regained their much-valued possession—HEALTH.

Without HEALTH nothing worth while is possible.

With HEALTH anything is possible.

—Lack of Health is Disease and a large percentage of Disease is caused by Nerve Pressure, which in its turn is caused by subluxation (misplacement) of the vertebrae (small bones of the spine), preventing the Vital Force, that all mysterious "Something" from flowing freely from the brain through the nerves to the various organs. The competent Chiropractor releases this pressure, by means of what is termed a Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustment, putting the bones back in their normal positions. The Vital Force again flows uninterruptedly. The organs, now they are receiving their full quota of that force, function normally and Health reigns supreme. Disease has been vanquished.

—TRY CHIROPRACTIC FOR YOUR HEALTH NEEDS. You will surely never regret doing so and will have reason to be thankful.

CONSULTATION AND SPINAL ANALYSIS FREE.
